

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

June 2016 | Volume 5, Issue 6

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 7

Comparative Politics 25

International Relations 33

Methodology 46

Non-Academic 49

Other 49

Political Theory 63

Public Administration 68

Public Law 76

Public Policy 79

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

June 2016 | Volume 5, Issue 6

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (5 listings)

American Government and Politics 7 (45 listings)

Comparative Politics 25 (21 listings)

International Relations 33 (34 listings)

Methodology 46 (8 listings)

Non-Academic 49 (1 listings)

Other 49 (30 listings)

Political Theory 63 (11 listings)

Public Administration 68 (17 listings)

Public Law 76 (7 listings)

Public Policy 79 (17 listings)

Total listings this issue 196

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for June

ADMINISTRATION

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer and Counterterrorism Option Director, MPS-HLS

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Administration

Lecturer and Counterterrorism Option Director, MPS-HLS

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year (with good possibility of renewal), non-tenure track position as Lecturer and Director for the soon-to-be created Counterterrorism Option in the interdisciplinary Master of Professional Studies in Homeland Security (MPS-HLS) online degree program. The position entails the design and teaching of Master's level online coursework on terrorism and counterterrorism as well as management of and advising within the planned Counterterrorism Option.

Candidates should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or in other disciplines related to Terrorism and Homeland Security, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. Professional experience in counterterrorism fields and/or on-line teaching experience is preferred.

For a more detailed description of the Master of Professional Studies in Homeland Security (MPS-HLS) program in which the Counterterrorism Option will be located, please visit the website: <http://www.worldcampus.psu.edu/degrees-and-certificates/homeland-security/overview>. To learn more about the Political Science department, please visit our website at <http://polisci.la.psu.edu/>.

Application review will begin on June 15, and will continue until the position is filled. The start date for the position is August 12, 2016. Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://psu.jobs/job/63846> Please include in your application the following: a letter of application detailing relevant qualifications for the position, a current CV, a writing sample, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations. All candidates should also request three letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: arp20@psu.edu.

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1503

The Brookings Institution

Rank: Project and Research Assistant

The Project and Research Assistant independently provides direct research, writing and administrative support, coordinates special events and Friday Lunch series. Serves as chief point of contact for Senior Fellow (SF) to internal staff and external clients—on issues related to SF's work with Brookings, the Washington Post, Georgetown University and other stakeholders—all with minimal supervision and largely in the absence of SF. Supervise interns.

Administration (40%)

- Helps define and implement SF priorities and objectives; Tracks pending matters for action and follow up.
- Manages SF email and mail; responds to correspondence as instructed.
- Manages schedule, makes all travel arrangements and coordinates appointments for senior staff member, largely in his absence.
- Prepares annual activity report for submission to the Director of Governance Studies.
- Supervises interns.

Research and Writing (25%)

- Fact-checks and copy edits all SF publications; collaborates with co-editors, contributing authors, the Brookings Press and Marketing when necessary.
- Provides research support for writing projects including twice-weekly Washington Post column, journal publications, speeches and lectures, and conference papers.
- Arranges interviews with members of Congress, policy experts, academics and other prominent figures.
- Provides support for funding efforts including drafting grant proposals, coordinating with partnering institutions when necessary and working with Director of Finance and Administration (DFA) and Development staff.

Project/Event Coordination and Outreach (20%)

- Collaborates with and assists SF as needed on special projects; provides substantive information and responses about projects.
- Provides assistance to GS communications team in booking speakers, drafting announcements, coordinating logistics and publicity efforts for GS events.
- Assists in the regular recruitment of speakers, arranging logistics and furthering publicity efforts for SF's commitments.
- Coordinates all media calls, interviews and speaking requests for SF.
- Serves as liaison with Georgetown University for events, lectures, appointments; communicates with students if needed; updates/maintains course syllabi as requested; and coordinates readings.
- Assists with any program overflow as needed.
-

Friday Lunch Coordinator (15%)

- Collaborates with SF to identify topics and speakers for the luncheons; issues written/verbal invitations to public officials (including Members of Congress, political appointees, and other high-level individuals), journalists, and outside scholars.
- Coordinates all aspects of monthly event; maintains list of invitees and contacts outside guests and media to participate; handles Brookings-wide announcements and reservations.
- Oversees Friday Lunch budget in collaboration with Brookings administration.
- Serves as sole point of contact for inquiries relating to Friday Lunch.

Education/Experience Requirements:

Bachelor's degree required, preferably in a social science. Minimum one year of relevant work experience; administrative and event planning experience preferred, on Capitol Hill or in the media. Special interest in politics, public opinion polling, religion and civic values preferred.

Knowledge/Skills Requirements:

Strong interpersonal and organizational skills; ability to work quickly and effectively to communicate complex information; ability to work independently and prioritize numerous duties; strong computer skills required.

Additional Information:

Brookings requires that all applicants submit a cover letter and resume. Please attach your cover letter and resume as one document when you apply. In addition to cover letter and resume this position requires that applicants submit a writing sample

Successful completion of a background investigation is required for employment at Brookings.

Brookings is an equal-opportunity employer that is committed to promoting a diverse and inclusive workplace. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals regardless of race, color, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, physical or mental disability, marital status, veteran status, or other factors protected by law.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/7nz333sszv>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 5/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1457

George Washington University

Rank: Director of Research and Research Professor of International Affairs

Director of Research and Research Professor of International Affairs: The Associate Dean for Research at George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs is seeking a Director of Research who would also be an Assistant or Associate Research Professor of International Affairs. Located in the heart of Washington, D.C., the Elliott School has been ranked by Foreign Policy as one of the top ten international affairs programs in the U.S. The Director of Sponsored Research is responsible for supporting the growth and implementation of sponsored research at the Elliott School with 80% of their time being devoted to the administration of sponsored research. The other 20% of their time can be devoted to their own research.

Responsibilities include working closely with faculty to learn about their research projects; identifying and pursuing sponsored research proposals, including large, complex, interdisciplinary, and sometimes multi-investigator proposals; working with the staff and faculty of the Elliott School's ten centers and institutes as well as with the staff of the office of the Vice President for Research and other parts of the university involved in the sponsored research process; staying abreast of best practices in sponsored research in international affairs; and reporting to the Associate Dean for Research of the Elliott School. A doctorate in some aspect of international affairs is required.

We are seeking someone with broad expertise in international affairs, with 2-3 years of experience in sponsored research and a track record of working with foundations and/or government funding agencies. It is essential that the applicant have strong writing and communication skills and a proven ability to work with faculty members from various disciplines, to set priorities, manage competing demands and provide a timely response to urgent issues are essential. This is a full-time, non-tenure accruing position with annual renewal on an open-ended basis. Salary and benefits are competitive.

Please email cover letter and resume to kbrassfield@email.gwu.edu with "Director of Research" as subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 5/27/2016

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1454

Loyola University, Chicago

Rank: Program Director

Loyola University Chicago

Program Director

Washington, DC Internship Program

Position Description

The Program Director is responsible for developing and maintaining an undergraduate internship program in Washington, DC for Loyola University Chicago. The position is based in Washington, DC and requires residency in DC. In specific instances, the Director may be asked to represent Loyola University Chicago to partners and governmental offices. The position offers an exciting opportunity for an educator to assist the University in developing and maintaining a semester internship program for undergraduates.

Duties

The duties associated with this full-time, twelve-month, non-tenure track position include:

- Develops internship placements with host offices, and places students in those offices
- Manages relations with Chicago campus and student recruitment
- Teaches a credit-bearing Internship Seminar
- Identifies adjunct faculty for additional courses
- Teaches additional academic courses to be cross-listed under Political Science and Communication

Qualifications

- PhD is strongly preferred in a relevant discipline
- Teaching and management experience in an educational setting
- Experience with internship programs
- Demonstrate a familiarity with the DC area
- Demonstrate a familiarity with Jesuit Higher Education and understand its values
- Have a commitment to developing higher education

Additional Information

- This is a faculty appointment: full-time, twelve-month, non-tenure track, one-year, renewable
- Compensation: commensurate with qualifications
- Position is assigned to the Department of Political Science. Program Director reports to the Chair of Political Science
- Budget is managed through Political Science, which is the department home of the Program Director
- Program Director will develop internship placements with host offices, and place students in those offices, in liaison with Vice President of Government Affairs
- Applications will be accepted beginning in March 2016 and will be reviewed beginning on April 11, 2016. The position is open to be filled starting in July 2016.
- Please direct any questions to Professor Peter J. Schraeder (pschrae@luc.edu),

Chair, Department of Political Science

Candidates interested in this position should submit a letter of interest, Curriculum Vitae, and contact information for three references to: www.careers.luc.edu

Loyola University Chicago, as an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, abides by all applicable provisions of federal, state and local law and has a strong commitment to hiring for our mission and diversifying our faculty. As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our mission and strategic plan to deliver a Transformative Education in the Jesuit tradition. Candidates are encouraged to consult our website to gain a clearer understanding of Loyola's mission at <http://www.luc.edu/mission>, and our focus on transformative education at <http://www.luc.edu/transformativeed>. Applications from women and minority candidates are especially encouraged. Loyola does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry, sex, sexual orientation, age, disability, marital status, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by applicable law.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1320

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Open Rank Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration

Specializations: Public Finance & Budgeting, Urban Politics, United States

Tenure-Track Faculty Position
Department of Political Science
College of Natural and Social Science

Position: Open Rank position, preferably Associate Professor of Public Administration

Starting Date: Fall 2016

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. or DPA in Political Science, Public Administration or a related field from an accredited institution of higher education. We are seeking a generalist in public administration to join the faculty nucleus of our NASPAA-accredited Master of Science in Public Administration program. The MSPA prepares students for leadership in professional public and community service within a diverse and dynamic urban environment. The position includes serving as MSPA Graduate Advisor, and teaching and doing research in one or more of the following areas: public administration, public management, collaborative governance, leadership, e-governance, or social policy. Interest and ability to teach the introduction to American government is required. The successful candidate must have demonstrated excellence in teaching at a college level, a record of scholarly activity, involving students whenever possible, and must be able to teach the introduction to American government. Applicants should have the ability to relate well to others within the academic environment, and demonstrate ability and/or interest in working in a multiethnic, multicultural environment.

As a University dedicated to engagement, service and the public good, Cal State L.A. expects the successful candidate to join faculty, staff, students and administrators in a commitment to these purposes.

Duties:

In addition to teaching, duties include student advisement, engaging in scholarly activity, and committee service for the Department, the College, and the University.

Salary: Initial salary commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. Founded in 1947, the University is in the city of Los Angeles, adjacent to the San Gabriel Valley, and has more than 23,000 students who reflect the rich ethnic diversity of the area. The University is a federally recognized Hispanic-serving and Minority-serving institution. Faculty may have the opportunity to establish affiliate status with other academic programs, including the Honors College and ethnic studies.

Required Documentation: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vita, official transcripts, three letters of recommendation and the University's Application for Academic Employment form. www.calstatela.edu/univ/hrm/docs/forms/Empl_applic_academic.pdf Employment contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Application review will begin September 25, 2015. Address applications and required documentation and/or requests for information to:

Public Administration Search Committee
Department of Political Science
California State University, Los Angeles
5151 State University Drive
Los Angeles, CA 90032
Phone: 323.343.2230

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Fingerprinting is required and will be checked by the California Department of Justice and FBI.

In addition to meeting fully its obligations under federal and state law, Cal State LA is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual. To that end, all qualified individuals will receive equal consideration without regard to economic status, race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, pregnancy, national origin or cultural background, political views, sex, sexual orientation, gender identification, age, disability, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran status.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/TITLE IX EMPLOYER

Upon request, reasonable accommodation will be provided to individuals with protected disabilities to (a) complete the employment process and (b) perform essential job functions when this does not cause undue hardship.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 192

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Columbia University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Institute for Religion, Culture and Public Life invites applications for postdoctoral scholar positions, for the 2016-2017 academic year. Renewal for the 2017-2018 academic year is possible, contingent on satisfactory performance and funding.

The Institute for Religion, Culture and Public Life at Columbia University supports academic research, teaching, and scholarship on the study of religion, culture, and social difference at Columbia University. In addition, it convenes academic conferences, public forums, and collaborative programming to support and extend academic and scholarly understanding of these topics, and to disseminate and distribute such new understandings to broader publics and communities.

Candidates must have received the PhD between August 31, 2013 and August 31, 2016 in a discipline engaged with the interdisciplinary study of religion. The Institute is particularly interested in candidates whose research engages critical, interpretive, historical, and genealogical approaches that challenge traditional disciplinary boundaries and who are studying important global issues in the following thematic areas:

Islam in the 21st Century
 Religion and Politics in the Middle East
 Religion in American Public Life
 Democracy, Secularism and Pluralism
 Religion and Sexuality
 Religion and Journalism

Under the mentorship of an IRCPL faculty member, postdoctoral research scholars are expected to further develop and make progress on a proposed research project, teach one class and participate in the intellectual life of IRCPL and Columbia University.

This is a full time salaried position with benefits. Review of applications begins on June 9th, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled. All applications must be submitted through Columbia University's online Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) and must include:

--Cover Letter
 --Curriculum Vitae
 --Dissertation Abstract
 --Research Proposal: A two-page research plan for the scholarship period. This may include, but should extend beyond, revisions to the dissertation.
 --Teaching Statement: Titles and short descriptions (one or two paragraphs each) of at least two undergraduate courses that you could teach under the auspices of your proposed departmental affiliation. Please note that we are not requesting a statement of teaching philosophy or full syllabi at this point. (This will be uploaded as Other Document 1).

--Writing Sample: Only one sample equivalent to a single journal article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter. The writing sample may be published or unpublished. It must be in English. The maximum length is 50 pages.

--Recommendation(s): One academic reference familiar with your research is required. You may submit an additional recommendation but it is not required.

For more information and to apply, please go to academicjobs.columbia.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=62783

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1496

Hope College

Rank: Term Position in American and Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Hope College invites applications for one or more term positions for the 2016-17 academic year. We welcome applications from candidates able to teach in one or more of the following areas: American politics and institutions, research methods, and comparative politics (any focus other than Africa). Hope College is a Christian, co-educational, residential liberal arts college affiliated with the Reformed Church in America.

Qualifications

PhDs and/or ABDs who have made substantial progress on the dissertation are welcome to apply. Candidates should have demonstrated an ability to combine teaching excellence with genuine scholarly promise, and should be committed to the character and goals of a liberal arts college with a Christian perspective.

Application Instructions

Candidates will email a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copies of undergraduate and graduate school transcripts (unofficial versions are okay for this stage of the search), and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching competency. In addition, please arrange for three references to email letters of recommendation to Ryden@hope.edu.

About Hope College

Hope College has about 3,300 students and 270 full time faculty. It is located in Holland, Michigan, a charming city of 35,000 located on the shores of Lake Michigan a half hour from Grand Rapids and within several hours of Ann Arbor and Chicago. Holland is set in an urban area of approximately 100,000, which is enriched by a significant Latino, Asian and African American population. Hope College places a high priority on sustaining a supportive environment that recognizes the importance of having a diverse faculty and staff to better prepare our students for successful careers in our multi-cultural nation and global community. Applications from qualified persons with diverse backgrounds and cultures, including women and persons of color are, therefore, especially welcomed. Hope College complies with federal and state requirements for nondiscrimination in employment.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1490

St. Norbert College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

St. Norbert College invites applications for a one-year, full time position as a Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science for the 2016-17 academic year beginning August of 2016. The successful applicant will have a Ph.D. or be ABD and have a strong background in American institutions, although the areas of specialization is open. The successful candidate will be required to teach a section of research methods in both the fall and spring semester and teach additional courses that meet the needs of the Political Science discipline. Candidates will also be invited to participate in activities related to the St. Norbert College Strategic Research Institute (SRI) that conducts political and other polling on behalf of both public and private clients, including Wisconsin Public Radio.

A complete description of the Political Science discipline, major requirements, and courses is available at www.snc.edu/politicalscience. A description of the SRI is available at <http://www.snc.edu/sri/>.

Visiting assistant professors typically teach three courses each semester. Visiting assistants have no committee or academic advising duties. St. Norbert College prides itself on offering competitive salaries and benefits.

The successful candidate will become a member of a four-person Political Science discipline. The current members represent a broad array of subfields, and share a commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates and collaborating with or supervising them in research and/or internship activities.

Faculty members are expected to support the College's tradition as a Catholic, liberal arts, and Norbertine institution, where people of many faiths and beliefs are valued members. The College's mission includes providing "an educational environment that fosters intellectual, spiritual and personal development." Candidates are encouraged to visit our website (www.snc.edu/mission) to learn more about the College and its mission. The College features Core Curriculum, Honors, and Faculty Development Programs, and extensive overseas study opportunities. SNC is selective in admission with a stable enrollment of over 2,100 students.

St. Norbert College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty.

Please send curriculum vitae/resume, cover letter, and three letters of reference to Dr. John Dose, Associate Dean of Social Sciences, St. Norbert College, 100 Grant St., De Pere, WI 54115-2099. Electronic submissions are encouraged and can be sent to Sue Sorenson (susan.sorenson@snc.edu), addressed to Dr. John Dose. Screening of applications will begin (date TBA) and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1488

American University

Rank: Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Specializations: Electoral Behavior, Presidency, Congress

Position Announcement

Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Department of Government
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of associate or full professor to serve as the Director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies (CCPS) beginning August 1, 2017. The Director is responsible for developing and facilitating high-profile research projects and creating public programming that draws on the expertise of AU faculty and leading analysts from the Washington, DC community and beyond. The Director should ensure that CCPS contributes to the national dialogue about Congress, the Presidency, campaigns, and elections. The Director must secure external funding to support CCPS work and enhance the School of Public Affairs' prominence as a venue for high impact research and policy analysis.

Since its establishment in 1979, CCPS has facilitated collaborative research projects, organized hundreds of forums and conferences related to American politics, promoted curriculum development, and connected its work to policymakers, journalists, students, and academics who put research findings into practice. The new Director will be expected to continue that legacy and position CCPS to become even more influential.

Applicants should hold a doctoral degree in political science with a focus on American political institutions – Congress or the Presidency – and related subfields including campaigns and elections. We seek to recruit candidates who are theoretically sophisticated, methodologically rigorous, and have demonstrated success in externally funded research, high impact publications, and teaching. Depending on qualifications, the candidate will be hired at the rank of either Associate or Full Professor and will be suitable for tenure at the time of hiring.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35010>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of research interests, statement of vision for CCPS, and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

The Center for Congressional Presidential Studies has organized over 300 conferences and academic forums since its founding. The research focus of the Center has been on Congress and the presidency, U.S. elections and issues and policies facing the two institutions. The Center staff consists of full time and part-time affiliated faculty, graduate students, and an administrative staff member. See website: american.edu/spa/ccps for details on all Center videos, programs and publications. The Center publishes the refereed journal, Congress and the Presidency, since 1984. The Center has successfully solicited funding for its research, educational activities, and student scholarships since its founding and has sponsored over thirty visiting research fellows Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1475

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics/Public Law

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics/Public Law to teach courses that include Introduction to American Government as well as courses in public law and judicial politics; advise pre-law students.

Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee.

Strong candidates will have some teaching experience in the courses to be taught either as sole instructor or as a teaching assistant. Some research experience in the area of teaching interest.

Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, teaching philosophy, writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), and graduate transcripts to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2780>.

Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu.

Review of applications will begin on May 23, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1474

Portland State University

Rank: Instructor, American Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Political Parties & Organizations, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Portland State University is accepting applications for Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor in American Politics to begin in Fall 2016. This is a one-year non-tenure track position, but is potentially renewable. Teaching load is 3 courses per trimester (9 courses per year). Teaching duties include undergraduate and graduate courses in American government, political parties and elections, Congress, interest groups, and American political thought. Duties also include student advising and limited departmental service. Applications from both PhDs and ABDs will be accepted, and must be submitted online: <https://jobs.hrc.pdx.edu/postings/19030>. Please contact David Kinsella (kinsella@pdx.edu) for more information about the position. Review of applications begins May 23 and will continue until position is filled. Portland State University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution and welcomes applications from diverse candidates and candidates who support diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1472

Duke University

Rank: postdoctoral associate

Post-Doctoral

Subfields: Political behavior, institutions, and/or political economy.

The Department of Political Science at Duke University invites applications for a postdoctoral position in political behavior, institutions and/or political economy. This is a full-time one-year position beginning in August of 2016. Salary will be commensurate with experience and qualifications. The post doc will be under the direction of Mathew D McCubbins, the Ruth F. De Varney Professor of Political Science and Professor of Law

(www.mccubbins.us). The successful candidate must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree by August 2016. Applicants who do not currently have their Ph.D. in hand must provide a statement from their committee attesting that all requirements will be completed by August 2016.

Applications (including a statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae, a sample of research, and three letters of recommendation) should be sent to Mat McCubbins, Department of Political Science, Duke University, Box 90204, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Durham NC 27708-0204 before May 20, 2016, or by email to Mathew.mccubbins@duke.edu. Duke University is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and we encourage applications from women and minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Date Posted: 5/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1465

Tufts University

Rank: American Politics - Lecturer (Part Time)

The Department of Political Science at Tufts University invites applications for a part-time lecturer position in American politics for the Spring 2017 semester. Applicants may apply to teach one or two courses. One of the courses must be Constitutional Law. The other course can be on a related topic, such as Judicial Politics, First Amendment Law, or Voting Rights. Ph.D. or A.B.D. in Political Science required. College/university teaching experience strongly preferred. Interested applicants should submit a dossier that includes: curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests and/or experience, two letters of recommendation, and a draft syllabus. All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35185>. The search committee will begin screening applications on June 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Peter Morency, Administrative Assistant, at peter.morency@tufts.edu with any questions.

Tufts University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. We are committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Members of underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/12/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1464

Pitzer College

Rank: Adjunct Professor, Political Studies (Full-time, One-year)

Pitzer College, a member of the Claremont Colleges, invites applications for a one-year visiting position in Political Studies. The successful candidate would teach five courses in comparative politics during the 2016-2017 academic year (with preference for South or East Asia). We would also welcome one course in American Politics (and four in Comparative), should the successful candidate like. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is essential. Ph.D. is preferred.

Pitzer College has a strong institutional commitment to diversity in all areas and strongly encourages candidates from underrepresented groups. We favor candidates who can contribute to the College's distinctive educational objectives, which promote interdisciplinary perspectives, intercultural understanding, and concern with social responsibility and the ethical implications of knowledge and action. Pitzer College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. For the successful applicant with the relevant interests, affiliations are possible with the intercollegiate departments of Africana Studies, Asian American Studies, Chican@/Latin@Studies, and/or Women's Studies.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS & DEADLINE

To apply, please visit <http://pitweb.pitzer.edu/dean-of-faculty/faculty-positions-pitzer/>. The deadline to apply is May 24, 2016, or until the position is filled. Applications received before the deadline will be given preference.

ABOUT PITZER COLLEGE

Pitzer College — a private, undergraduate, coeducational college of the liberal arts and sciences — is consistently ranked among the best such colleges in the country. Located in Claremont, California, a city about 35 miles east of Los Angeles, Pitzer is a member of The Claremont Colleges consortium and benefits from the shared resources of seven institutions.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/10/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1462

The Brookings Institution

Rank: Research Assistant, Center for Effective Public Management

Provides research assistance and communications support for senior research staff. Undertakes independent research assignments with minimal supervision; drafts summaries of findings and assists with preparation of publications. Coordinates with CEPM's Director, Deputy Director and Assistant Director on project management. Collaborates on matters pertaining to public or private events, website content and outreach as needed. Coordinates with GS Development staff on matters pertaining to proposals and donor reporting.

Research (80%)

- Researches and collects documents and information from various sources (government agencies, universities, libraries, Internet, non-profit research organizations etc.) on relevant topics in support of Governance Studies (GS) scholars, including, but not limited to: campaigns and elections, government bureaucracy, marijuana policy reform and media studies.
- Collects and prepares data from various sources for quantitative and qualitative analysis.
- Compiles, reads, abstracts, synthesizes, analyzes, and organizes written and electronic material into summarized form.
- Updates and maintains research-related scholar deliverables in the GS impact tracker on a weekly basis.
- Analyzes and produces written summaries of quantitative data.
- Provides editing assistance for research products in preparation for publication.
- Attends symposia, conferences and hearings relevant to research projects; summarizes content of such events.
- Provides general research on a variety of short-term projects and briefs scholars in a timely fashion.
- Updates and checks existing data and footnotes; provides fact checking, editing and proof-reading of documents in preparation for publication (as needed).

- Indirectly provides input on the selection, hiring and supervision of CEPM interns.
- Coordinates with CEPM's Director, Deputy Director, Director of Business Operations and staff, as well as GS communications, administration and finance staff as needed.
- Assists the Deputy Director with organizational, scheduling and logistical needs for research, travel and coordination with coauthors (as needed) in conjunction with the Assistant Director.

Communications / Editorial (20%)

- Primary blog publisher for FixGov, including posts, images and summary content
- Assists with reviewing and editing posts before publishing.
- Conducts relevant research for posts when necessary.
- Manages and updates the FixGov editorial schedule.
- Participates in pitching and developing ideas for blog content.
- With the GS communications staff, develops and executes plans for promoting FixGov content, including outreach to the media.
- Co-authors blog posts with the Fellows and Senior Fellows, and occasionally authors summary content.

Education/Experience Requirements:

Bachelor's degree in a social science or related field required; academic background in political science or related field preferred; familiarity with and interest in American government required; minimum one year of relevant work experience using and applying quantitative methods and statistical packages required (i.e. SPSS, SAS, STATA etc.).

Knowledge/Skills Requirements:

Proficiency in Microsoft Windows - Word and Excel required; prior knowledge of HTML or experience with web publishing a plus. Thorough knowledge of library and online research resources with capacity to conduct independent research and fieldwork preferred; experience writing and editing for a variety of audiences required; strong interpersonal, organizational and communications skills required. Ability to synthesize information and to write clearly and precisely without supervision required.

Additional Information:

Brookings requires that all applicants submit a cover letter and resume. Please attach your cover letter and resume as one document when you apply. In addition to cover letter and resume this position requires that applicants submit a writing sample. Successful completion of a background investigation is required for employment at Brookings.

Brookings is an equal-opportunity employer that is committed to promoting a diverse and inclusive workplace. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals regardless of race, color, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, physical or mental disability, marital status, veteran status, or other factors protected by law.

Apply Here:

Start Date:

Date Posted: 5/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1458

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: American Politics/IR/Research Methods Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full time, non-tenure track position to teach undergraduate classes in the fields of American Politics, International Relations, Race and Ethnicity, and/or Research Methods, beginning September 1, 2016. Appointment will be for one academic year at the Lecturer/Instructor rank, with possible renewal based on need and instructional performance. The appointment entails a 6 course teaching load (3/3) per academic year, a starting salary of $55,000, and includes full health and pension benefits. A PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's undergraduate curriculum, such as American Government, the Presidency, Psychology and Politics, Public Opinion, Introduction to International Relations, Race and Ethnic Politics, Latino Politics, Democratic Political Theory, Comparative Public Policy, Contemporary Politics of the Middle East, Israeli Politics, and Political Science Research Methods.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, list of courses taught, sample syllabi, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/35104> Review of applicants will begin on May 16 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1451

University of West Florida

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate in Elections and Electioneering

The Department of Government at the University of West Florida in Pensacola, FL seeks a Postdoctoral Associate in the field of Elections and Electioneering (124510). The postdoctoral Associate will pursue research, grants, and community partnerships with emphasis on elections, election forecasting and electioneering. They will work with public officials, such as the Supervisor of Elections Office to develop plans for a Florida Center of Elections. Other projects would include work on election modeling and forecasting projects with implications at all levels of government from local, to national and international elections. Research collaboration with departmental faculty who work on election forecasting, Congressional elections, and political party competition in elections is encouraged.

Minimum qualifications: Doctoral degree from an accredited institution or the highest degree appropriate in the field of specialization with a demonstrated record of achievement in teaching, academic research, and service.

In addition to a Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline, the ideal candidate will have specialization in the study of elections and political institutions, election forecasting, or electioneering. Additional qualifications desired would include demonstrated ability in work with quantitative research methods applied to the study of elections, participation in conferences and panels or research groups related to the study of elections, election forecasting, elections and campaigns, or political parties and elections. A demonstrated record of grant-writing would also prove beneficial. Potential for peer-reviewed publications and potential to collaborate with UWF faculty on research projects and grants is desired.

Salary range is $38,000 - $42,000. The posting will close 7/29/16. Application: Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.uwf.edu>. Be prepared to attach your curriculum vitae, letter of applicant/interest, unofficial transcripts, and name/contact information for three references in electronic format.

The University of West Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Access/Affirmative Action employer. Any individual requiring special accommodations to apply is requested to advise UWF by contacting ADA Compliance at 1-850-474-2059 (voice) or 1 850 857 6114 (TTY). A criminal background check is required for successful candidates. E-Verify requirements may apply for employment in certain positions. All applications for employment at the University are subject to Florida public records law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1455

Seattle University

Rank: Instructor in US Institutions

The Political Science Department at Seattle University invites applications for a full time, three year, non-tenure-track Instructor to begin in September 2016. The primary subfield is American Politics.

Successful applicants will be responsible for teaching and service, including advising. Applicants should be able to teach an introductory course in American Politics as well as upper division offerings in the area of US Institutions. Desirable teaching competencies might include, but are not necessarily limited to: American political development, Congress, the Presidency, electoral politics, political communication, sovereignty of Indigenous Peoples, state and local politics.

Required: PhD in Political Science by time of appointment.

Seattle University, founded in 1891, is a Jesuit Catholic university located on 48 acres on Seattle's Capitol Hill. More than 7,700 students are enrolled in undergraduate and graduate programs within eight schools. U.S. News and World Report's "Best Colleges 2015" ranks Seattle University among the top 10 universities in the West that offer a full range of masters and undergraduate programs. Seattle University is an equal opportunity employer.

In support of its pursuit of academic and scholarly excellence, Seattle University is committed to creating a diverse community of students, faculty and staff that is dedicated to the fundamental principles of equal opportunity and treatment in education and employment regardless of age, color, disability, gender identity, national origin, political ideology, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status. The university encourages applications from, and nominations of, individuals whose differing backgrounds, beliefs, ideas and life experiences will further enrich the diversity of its educational community.

Submit applications through <https://jobs.seattleu.edu>, including cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement regarding teaching philosophy and interests, evidence of teaching excellence, and the names and contact information for three references (letters will be solicited upon submission of application). Review of applications will begin June 10, 2015. Open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/9/2016

Date Posted: 5/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1449

Lincoln University of Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Lincoln University of Missouri invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science beginning August 2016. Areas of specialization include Comparative Politics and International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will also include the Introduction to American Government course.

Lincoln's political science program is part of an interdisciplinary department that includes history and philosophy. The successful candidate will be a passionate teacher, mentor, and developer of innovative curriculum. Other job responsibilities include Model UN faculty advisor and Study Abroad participant.

Ph.D. preferred; ABD considered with college level teaching experience.

Application materials should be submitted electronically and include: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of previous teaching experience and three letters of reference. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable during screening. Official transcripts are required prior to employment.

Deadline for applications is July 1, 2016.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Amy Gossett at gossetta@lincolnu.edu.

Lincoln University is a HBCU, land-grant, public university with enrollment of 3000 students and an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 7/1/2016

Date Posted: 5/2/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1447

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in Public Administration

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor to teach courses in Public Administration and American politics, such as Budgeting, Personnel Management and introductory level courses for the 2016-17 academic year.

Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor.

Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee.

Strong candidates will have teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught.

Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, teaching philosophy, writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), and graduate transcripts to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2696>.

Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu.

Review of applications will begin on May 13, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1448

Iowa State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University invites applications for a Full or Part-Time Lecturer position to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses within one or more of the political science subfields: Theory and Methods, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Public Policy Administration. The appointment duration may be one semester to three years depending on department need and it may be Full-Time or Part-Time.

Required Education and Experience: MA or MPA in Political Science or related discipline, or JD. Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities.

Preferred Education and Experience: ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline.

Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities

To apply for this position, please click on "Apply to this job" at <http://www.iastatejobs.com:80/postings/18263> and complete the Employment Application. Please be prepared to enter or attach the following:

- 1) Resume/Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of Application/Cover Letter
- 3) Contact Information for Three References
- 4) Statement of Teaching Interests/Experience
- 5) Statement of Teaching Evaluations- Optional- Please attach as "Other Document(s) 1"

If you have questions regarding this application process, please email employment@iastate.edu or call 515-294-4800 or Toll Free: 1-877-477-7485.

All offers of employment, oral and written, are contingent upon the university's verification of credentials and other information required by federal and state law, ISU policies/procedures, and may include the completion of a background check.

The Department of Political Science has 15 tenure track faculty and a vibrant MA program which serves approximately 32 students and an undergraduate major with approximately 260 majors. Please visit the following site for additional information about the Department at <http://www.pols.iastate.edu/>

Iowa State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, marital status, disability, or protected veteran status, and will not be discriminated against. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1433

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor- U.S Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. POLITICS and PUBLIC POLICY – Job Link# 0407326 -- The Political Science Department at James Madison University invites applications for a visiting, academic-year appointment for the 2016-2017 academic year. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. The ability to offer an upper-level course in substantive public policy areas other than environmental policy and education policy is strongly encouraged.

The department seeks candidates with strong teaching and research skills. Review of applications will begin May 10, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at JobLink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number # 0407326. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), and three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

James Madison University is committed to a diverse and inclusive community and to maintaining a work and educational environment that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability, genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1432

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor and Academic Coordinator

The Department of Political Science and the Thomas W. Smith Institute for Political Economy at Miami University: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor and Academic Coordinator. Searching for a colleague with research and teaching interests in American political economy—the nexus between politics and economics in the U.S.—and/or issues related to the enduring legacy of the Framers of the American constitution. The successful candidate will teach courses, advise students, work closely with the Miami University Janus Forum, and coordinate the academic programming associated with the Thomas W Smith Institute. Academic-year appointment with one month of summer duties (August 1 through May 31); renewable position based on performance and funding.

Required: Ph.D. in political science, economics, or related field, which must be successfully completed no later than December 31, 2016.

Submit cover letter, vita, statement of teaching philosophy and research plans, sample publication/research, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and graduate transcript <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2615>. Questions may be directed to Patrick J. Haney, Chair, Department of Political Science, 513-529-2000. Screening of applications begins April 18, 2016 and continues until the position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1403

Washington & Lee University

Rank: Professor of American Government

American Government

Associate/Assistant Professor

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for a tenure-line position in American Government teaching introductory and advanced courses in American political institutions (Congress, presidency, Supreme Court and constitutional law, political parties, etc.). The successful candidate will also direct our Washington Term program—an annual 6-week course in Washington, DC, during the University's spring (April/May) term—which entails teaching a seminar on-site, arranging relevant speakers, and facilitating field experience for students seeking internships focused on Washington politics and policy-making. Rank is open, but significant experience working in Washington and/or with internships is essential. Initial interviews will be conducted at the APSA annual meeting in Philadelphia, with priority consideration given to candidates interviewed there. Review of applications will begin immediately, but to ensure full consideration please submit complete applications before August 1. A completed Ph.D. is required for an interview. To request an interview, email PoliticsSearch@wlu.edu.

Washington and Lee is a highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,800 undergraduates and 315 law students. All application materials must be submitted electronically to PoliticsSearch@wlu.edu addressed to Lucas Morel, Politics Department Head. Your letter of application should describe why you wish to teach in a liberal arts setting and how your experience equips you to direct a Washington, DC program. Include a curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and research abilities.

Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply. The term of appointment begins July 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1405

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics with research and teaching interests in the not-for-profit sector to begin in the 2016-17 academic year for a one-year position. Expected to teach Introduction to American Government and other courses on the not for profit sector and policy delivery, and not for profit management. Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee. Strong candidates will have teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught. Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, graduate transcripts, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document) to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2556>. Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on April 11, 2016 and will continue until position is filled. Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560. Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1390

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics (two positions)

Specializations: Public Opinion, American Politics, Political Parties & Organizations

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics (two positions) to begin in the 2016-17 academic year for a one-year position. Expected to teach courses including Introduction to American Government, Campaigns & Elections, and a course on media and polarization OR Introduction to American Government, Public Opinion, and courses in area of specialty. Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee. Strong candidates will have independent teaching experience. Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), and transcripts to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2533>. Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on April 1, 2016 and will continue until position is filled. Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1383

Illinois College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Political Behavior

Illinois College invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor position in American politics for the 2016-17 academic year, with possible conversion to tenure-track. We seek applicants who are able to offer a variety of courses on American political institutions and political behavior. The ability to teach an introductory methodology course would be helpful, as would an interest in media/social media and politics and/or national demographic changes and their implications for American politics. We seek a candidate who values the liberal arts and is able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and research. Teaching load is three courses per semester. Completed Ph.D. is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Illinois College is a residential, private liberal arts college located in historic Jacksonville, Illinois, 70 miles northeast of Saint Louis, Missouri, and 30 miles west of Springfield, the Illinois state capital. True to its founding vision in 1829, Illinois College is a community committed to the highest standards of scholarship and integrity in the liberal arts. Illinois College promotes academic freedom, equality of opportunity, and human dignity through an increasingly diverse student population, currently comprised of 26 percent underrepresented students. The College develops in its students qualities of mind and character needed for fulfilling lives of leadership and service, fostering academic excellence rooted in opportunities for experiential learning while preparing students for lifelong success.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, copies of course evaluations, graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation to the Office of Academic Affairs, Attn: Winston Wells, Chair of the American Politics Search Committee, Illinois College, 1101 W. College Avenue, Jacksonville, IL 62650

Electronic submissions are encouraged; please send materials in PDF format to deansearch@mail.ic.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Illinois College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from underrepresented minorities and women.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1380

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DIRECTOR, AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) seeks a dynamic scholar and leader for the position of Director of African American Studies. Founded more than twenty years ago, African American Studies at UTEP offers a rich mix of programming linking students, faculty, staff and members of the community in the El Paso border region and beyond. This context provides exciting opportunities to explore the intersections of African American and Latina/o experiences and draw on UTEP's important civil rights history.

The Director of African American Studies is a member of the UTEP College of Liberal Arts Chairs' Council and has responsibility for leadership of the academic program and research activities associated with African American Studies. The Director generally teaches one course each semester and could also participate in UTEP PhD programs related to their scholarly and research interests. With staff assistance, the Director serves as an advisor for the UTEP Black Student Union and a mentor for many students enrolled in programs throughout the University. The Director works with the UTEP Black Alumni Network (UBAN) and with community partners to build support for African American Studies and address relevant social issues at UTEP and in the El Paso community. The Director and staff, working in collaboration with UTEP students, affiliated faculty, campus organizations and other University and community officials, sponsor a variety of events and activities throughout the year, including Black History Month programs, and initiate new avenues of engagement and outreach.

Required Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in African American Studies or a related academic disciplinary area, and possess a strong record of scholarship commensurate with an appointment as Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure in an appropriate UTEP academic department or program. Demonstrable experience in serving in an administrative role, engaging in community outreach, and initiating and expanding a new program is highly desirable.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP enrolls more than 23,000 students, close to 80% of whom are Latina/o and a majority of whom are the first in their families to attend a university. Ranked overall among the Top 10 universities in the nation by Washington Monthly and #1 for contributing to student social mobility, UTEP is dedicated to becoming the first national research university with a 21st century student demographic. The African American Studies program is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, which is the largest college at the University. In addition to playing a major role in the delivery of the University Core Curriculum to all UTEP students, the College of Liberal Arts serves approximately 7,000 students with majors in 13 departments and 10 programs, including Women's and Gender Studies, Religious Studies, Chicano Studies, Asian Studies and African American Studies.

Application procedures: To apply, applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, a recent publication related to the field, and names of three references with their complete contact information. Review of applications will begin April 11, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Application materials, in one PDF file, should be emailed to: Dr. Maryse Jayasuriya, Search Committee Chair, at mjayasuriya@utep.edu

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1377

McDaniel College

Rank: Visiting Professor in American Politics and Jurisprudence

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at McDaniel College in Maryland, one of the "40 Colleges that Changes Lives," is seeking a Visiting Assistant Professor in American Politics and Jurisprudence for the 2016-2017 academic year. The successful candidate would teach three courses per semester (e.g. American Constitutional Law, American Civil Liberties, American Public Policy, American Political Thought). We are a selective liberal arts college that places an enormous amount of emphasis on excellence in classroom teaching, so evidence of that would be particularly helpful.

McDaniel College is located in central Maryland, an hour's drive from Baltimore and Washington, DC. Its primary commitment is to outstanding teaching and to fostering critical and creative thinking and humane and responsible action. McDaniel College is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution and welcomes applications from diverse candidates and candidates who support diversity.

Application procedures for Visiting Assistant Professor position: Qualified applicants must have a Ph.D. and should submit the following:

* a written letter of application;

* a written curriculum vitae;

- * a teaching philosophy; and
- * three letters of recommendation.

To apply, visit: <http://www2.mcdaniel.edu/jobs/apply.php?id=213> (copy and paste)

Start Date: Spring 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1369

Merrimack College

Rank: Lecturer, American Politics (Non-Tenure Track)

Merrimack College invites applications for a term position in the Department of Political Science beginning in Fall 2016. The successful applicant will teach introductory and advanced American Politics courses, including Political Communication. The teaching load is 3-3. A demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching, research, and service is essential. All specialized subfields within American Politics/American Government will be considered. Ph.D. is preferred by time of appointment.

Merrimack College is a selective four-year Catholic college in the Augustinian tradition, offering programs in the liberal arts, business, the sciences, and engineering for its 2500+ students. The college is located in the Merrimack Valley, approximately 25 miles north of Boston.

Complete applications should include a letter of interest, CV, sample of scholarship, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation. A digital copy of the application materials should be sent to politicalscience@merrimack.edu. All application materials should be received by June 1, 2016. Merrimack College is a four-year liberal arts college in North Andover, Massachusetts. The College is an equal opportunity employer and has a strong institutional commitment to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/1/2016

Date Posted: 3/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1366

Tarleton State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science American Politics

The Department of Social Sciences at Tarleton State University is accepting applications for a full-time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor in the field of American Politics with a general specialization in Public Policy and a specific specialization in Environmental Policy beginning September 2016. This position has a normal teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester. The selected applicant will teach general education survey courses in Federal Government and State/Local Government, upper level courses in the area of specialization, and based on departmental needs, will have the opportunity to teach the senior level capstone course in Political Science. The applicant will be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to serve the department and the university as required (see the Tarleton State University Handbook for Faculty and Administrative Staff available at www.tarleton.edu).

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. (ABD status may be considered as long as all degree requirements, including dissertation, defense of dissertation, and comprehensive examinations, have been successfully completed by the time of appointment); Must have specialization in Public Policy – Environmental Policy.

Salary is competitive, within the assistant professor range, concomitant with experience. More information about our department can be found at: <http://www.tarleton.edu/COLFAWEB/socialsciences/index.html>.

Males, age 18 through 25, must be properly registered with the Selective Service System to be eligible for hire. This position is designated as a security sensitive position and requires a satisfactory criminal history background check.

Tarleton State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer. As a member of The Texas A&M System, Tarleton will provide equal opportunity for employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity and will strive to achieve full and equal employment opportunity through The Texas A&M System.

Special Instructions:

Please apply online at <https://jobs.tarleton.edu>. A cover letter, c.v., transcripts (official or unofficial), three letters of recommendation, and a statement of teaching philosophy should accompany your application. If you are not able to attach the documents when applying, please mail the requested documents to:

Tarleton State University
Dr. Eric Morrow
Department of Social Sciences
Box T-0660
Stephenville, TX 76402

If mailing, please make sure you reference the Posting Number #0801397 and title of this position.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1367

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Postdoctoral Fellowship for 2016-2017. Offered by the Program on Constitutional Government, Harvard University - Harvey Mansfield, Director. The Program on Constitutional Government in the Center for American Political Studies and the FAS Department of Government at Harvard University will offer one postdoctoral fellowship for the 2016-2017 academic year. The stipend is $55,000. Applicants must have received their doctorates no earlier than spring 2013 and no later than June 2016. They should have a record of teaching and writing in the fields of political theory or American government and politics, with an emphasis on the theoretical foundations or institutional and political consequences of the American Constitution. A resume, research proposal, and brief writing sample with names of two references should be sent to Laura Donaldson, CAPS-Harvard, CGIS Knafel K428, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138 (phone # for express shipments is 617-384-9810). Applications review process will begin on May 2, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries should be directed to ldonaldson@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1344

Wesleyan University

Rank: Visiting Professor, American Politics

The Department of Government at Wesleyan University seeks applicants for a one-year visiting position in American politics during the 2016-2017 academic year. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment. We have a slight preference for a specialist in the presidency, political parties, or American political development, but specialists in any area of American politics are welcome to apply. The teaching load is 3-2, including three sections of an introductory American politics course, one survey course, and one seminar. The successful candidate will also be asked to supervise up to two senior theses.

To apply, please go to <http://careers.wesleyan.edu/postings/5322>. Here you will be asked to set up an account that will enable you to upload electronic versions of the items we require: (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a statement about your research and teaching experience (as part of the teaching statement, we invite you to describe your cultural competencies and experiences engaging a diverse student body), and (4) teaching evaluation statistics or other evidence of teaching effectiveness (please do not send copies of individual student evaluations).

After you set up your account, you will be prompted to provide (5) the email addresses of three referees, each of whom we may contact at the appropriate time to request a letter of recommendation for you. The search committee will begin reviewing files as soon as they arrive and will continue to review files until the position is filled. Applications received by May 1, 2016, will receive full consideration.

Wesleyan University is an equal opportunity employer that welcomes applications from women and historically underrepresented minority groups. Inquiries regarding Title IX, Section 504, or any other non-discrimination policies should be directed to Mr. Antonio Farias at 860-685-3927.

Please contact Ms. Kristin McQueeney (kmcqueeney@wesleyan.edu), the Government Department administrative assistant, if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Date Posted: 3/4/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1339

Centenary College of Louisiana

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Centenary College of Louisiana invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in the Department of History and Political Science to begin August 2016.

We are seeking candidates deeply committed to teaching in a liberal arts environment. A Ph.D. is required and teaching and professional experiences are strongly desired. Teaching duties include introductory courses in American politics and upper level courses in constitutional law and civil liberties, the Presidency, and other courses in the American politics and public law subfields. This position includes advising the pre-law program. Centenary faculty also participate on a rotational basis in the College's First-Year Experience, Centenary in Paris, and other non-departmental programs—offered both in traditional and immersive terms.

Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, with the recognition that research pursuits and openness to pedagogical innovation are integral components of undergraduate liberal arts education.

Centenary College of Louisiana is a selective, residential, national liberal arts college affiliated with the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1825, it is the oldest chartered liberal arts college west of the Mississippi river and is a member of the Associated Colleges of the South.

Centenary College is located in the Shreveport-Bossier City metroplex in NW Louisiana, named recently as a "city of opportunity" and listed among Money Magazine's "Best Places to Live" for 2014.

To apply, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, and unofficial transcripts from all institutions of higher learning, and three letters of recommendation to hr@centenary.edu or to:

Political Science Search Committee
c/o Director of Human Resources
Centenary College of Louisiana
2911 Centenary Boulevard
Shreveport, LA 71104

Applications will be reviewed beginning April 4, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Centenary College recognizes that diversity is essential to its goal of providing an educational environment where students explore the unfamiliar, invent new approaches to understanding, and connect their work and lives to the world at large. We thus welcome applicants who would add to the College's diversity of ideas, beliefs, experiences, and cultural backgrounds. www.centenary.edu EOE.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1333

Occidental College

Rank: Non-Tenure Track Assistant Professor

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for a one-year, full-time non-tenure track faculty appointment to begin Fall 2016. The teaching load is six courses (3-3). We seek a candidate to teach Law and Society (POLS 140), Constitutional Law (POLS 244), two sections of American Politics and Policy (POLS 101), and two upper division seminars from the Politics Department catalogue, one in law and one in American Politics. A Ph.D. in political science is preferred at time of appointment, but we will consider candidates who hold a JD or are ABD.

Occidental College is a nationally-ranked small liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body, its commitment to academic excellence and equity, and its outstanding undergraduate research programs. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, Occidental College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in the city of Los Angeles, allowing convenient access to major cultural and natural attractions in the nation's second largest city. As one of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental College affords students and faculty a unique pedagogical engagement with vast resources outside of the classroom. Occidental College has a strong commitment to community engagement, including robust opportunities for experiential learning, community-based research, and internships. The Politics Department has helped lead efforts on campus, along with the Center for Community Based Learning and the Office of Community Engagement, to link the college's academic program with community involvement, including expanding community internships and community-oriented research projects for students.

Full dossiers should be sent to Ms. Romy Corona, Politics Department Assistant, rcorona@oxy.edu. Review of materials will begin on March 21, 2016. Please submit one single PDF in the order listed.

Dossiers should include: (1) a cover letter detailing your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment and your ability to teach in public law and American politics; (2) a current curriculum vita; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy including how you will support and enhance Occidental College's goal of building a strong educational environment in classrooms that have an ethnically, socio-economically, and culturally diverse student body; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (teaching evaluations or other materials); and (5) names and contact information for three references, at least one that can attest to your teaching abilities or performance.

Specific inquiries about the position can be directed to Politics Department Chair Prof. Thalia González at thaliagonzalez@oxy.edu. Specific inquiries about benefits should be directed to Human Resources, <http://www.oxy.edu/human-resources>.

Occidental College is an equal opportunity employer. Occidental College is committed to academic excellence in a diverse community and actively seek applications from candidates who will further this mission; underrepresented minorities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1330

Georgetown University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow for Prisons and Justice Initiative

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a one-year Post-Doctoral Fellow position for the 2016-17 academic year. Applicants should have research background in fields such as international, comparative, or public law; U.S. politics; comparative politics; or related areas. Specific research interests should relate to mass incarceration in the United States—e.g., criminal justice, prisons, and race. The Post-Doctoral Fellow is expected to play an active role in Georgetown's new Prisons and Justice Initiative (<https://prisonsandjustice.georgetown.edu/>), which is seeking to develop and expand its programs and activities. Although the fellowship carries no teaching obligations, the Fellow will work closely with the initiative's director and will assist with institutional grant applications, planning and hosting events, and working with a team of student research assistants. The Department of Government welcomes applications from individuals who will expand our perspective on the world and who are committed to a more inclusive and participatory discipline. The successful applicant should have the Ph.D. in hand by the beginning of the Fall 2016 semester. Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, graduate transcript, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on March 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should apply using AcademicJobsOnline at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7093>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1312

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science

The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science for the 2016-2017 academic year, with the possibility of renewal for AY 2017-2018. The Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center dedicated to revitalizing teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly understood to include the origins and development of the nation's constitutional and democratic traditions as well as their application and reinterpretation in later periods and around the world. Our mission and activities are detailed on our website, <http://democracy.missouri.edu>.

The Kinder Postdoctoral Fellow will teach two political science courses per year on subjects appropriate to the Institute's mission as well as conduct research, and will be expected to be in residence at the University of Missouri during the academic year, contributing to the life of the Political Science Department and participating in Kinder Institute discussions and events. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research focuses on American constitutional and political development and/or American political thought and who would benefit from collaborating with one or more current MU faculty members. Candidates are encouraged to consult the websites of the Department of Political Science (<http://politicalscience.missouri.edu>) and Kinder Institute for information on current faculty research interests and to contact potential faculty collaborators directly. The Kinder Postdoctoral Fellow will receive a salary of $50,000 plus full benefits and will be provided with office space and staff support. Additional funds for travel and research are available from the Kinder Institute and the university. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Government is required by the time the fellowship begins in August 2016.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, research proposal of no more than 10 pages, curriculum vitae, two emblematic examples of their written scholarly work, sample syllabi for courses they would be interested in teaching, and three letters of recommendation (sealed or under separate cover) to: Thomas Kane, Kinder Institute Communications Associate, University of Missouri, 112 Read Hall, Columbia, MO 65211-7500. Materials also can be sent electronically, using Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship Application in the subject line, to KaneTC@missouri.edu. Specific questions concerning the fellowship should be directed to Justin Dyer, Professor of Political Science and Director of the Kinder Institute, at DyerJB@missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is an EO/AA employer. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. To request ADA accommodations, please contact our ADA Coordinator. Review of applications will begin on March 1, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1311

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Professor-American Politics

The Department of Government invites applications from leading scholars in American politics for two tenured positions at the rank of Full Professor. The appointment will be contingent on budgetary approval. The successful candidates will have a highly distinguished scholarly record of publication and demonstrated excellence in intellectual and institutional leadership. The search is open to scholars working in any subfield specialty within American politics. Duties include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, College of Liberal Arts, and the University. The department will begin reviewing applications immediately and continue receiving applications until the positions are filled. Applicants should apply through Interfolio's ByCommittee: <http://apply.interfolio.com/34210>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1294

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Professor-American Politics

The Department of Government invites applications from leading scholars in American politics for two tenured positions at the rank of Full Professor. The successful candidates will have a highly distinguished scholarly record of publication and demonstrated excellence in intellectual and institutional leadership. The search is open to scholars working in any subfield specialty within American politics. Duties include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, College of Liberal Arts, and the University. The department will begin reviewing applications immediately and continue receiving applications until the positions are filled. Applicants should apply through Interfolio's ByCommittee: <http://apply.interfolio.com/34210>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1295

Georgetown University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Race and U.S. Politics

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, to begin in August 2016. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment is preferred, but advanced doctoral candidates will also be considered at the rank of Lecturer. The teaching load is two courses per semester. Candidates who are able to incorporate matters of race/ethnicity into an introductory survey course in U.S. politics will be especially desirable. The Department of Government welcomes applications from individuals who will expand our perspective on the world and who are committed to a more inclusive and participatory discipline. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7085>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching experience, if available. Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Michele Swers, mls47@georgetown.edu. For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before March 15, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1302

Miami University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow or Research Associate in American Political Economy

The Department of Political Science and the Thomas W. Smith Institute for Political Economy at Miami University is searching for a Postdoctoral Fellow or Research Associate in American Political Economy. The position will begin in the 2016-2017 academic year. This position will provide advising and assistance to the Thomas W. Smith Institute and the Miami University Janus Forum; teach one course per term, including (1) an introductory or more advanced course on American political economy and political-economic thought, or on a topic related to the enduring legacy of the Framers of the American constitution, and (2) a course related to the research expertise of the candidate. Duration of appointment is negotiable, 9 to 12 months. Require: For appointment as Postdoctoral Fellow:

Ph.D. in political science, economics, or related field, earned December 2014 through July 2016. For appointment as Research Associate: Ph.D. expected no later than August 2017.

Submit cover letter, resume, statement of teaching philosophy and statement of research plans; if available, but not required, upload sample publication/research & evidence of teaching effectiveness as an "other" document to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2323>.

Three letters of reference are required and should be emailed to chafinca@miamioh.edu.

Inquiries can be directed to Cheryl Chafin at chafinca@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on February 29, 2016 and continues until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to Ms. Mary Jane Leveline at (513) 529-2027. Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1246

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Specializations: Political Psychology, Political Parties & Organizations, Quantitative Methods

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks one or two postdoctoral research fellows for full-time appointment during the 2016-2017 academic year. The fellows will work with Assistant Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and will be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellows will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellows based on their skills and interests. In addition, fellows will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS, teach one quantitative social science course on a subject of their choosing related to their research, and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. Fellows will also join a broader community of post-doctoral social science researchers that includes scholars at QSS, the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows. The stipend for a QSS fellow is $55,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. The fellowship can be extended through the 2017-2018 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2016
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions - Apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/33763>

Please upload:

- 1) Curriculum vitae
- 2) Statement of research interests (no longer than two pages)
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty who would be of interest to the applicant and with whom the opportunity to engage would enhance applicant's work
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A copy of one paper written in English (published or unpublished)

Applications will be reviewed starting on February 1, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1206

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor(s)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for instructors for face-to-face classes on all campuses (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Dublin, and Eastman) for day, evening, and weekend classes to start Fall 2016 or later in the fields of history and political science. We have particular needs for instructors who are interested in teaching one or more of the following courses:

POLS 1101 American Government

POLS 2501 Domestic Issues

POLS 2601 Intro to Public Administration

The Macon campus is located just over one hour's drive southeast of Atlanta.

Minimum Qualifications: To qualify for a teaching position, candidates are required to have a minimum of a master's degree in political science or a master's in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in the discipline.

To Apply: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current CV or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of at least two professional references including email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy, preferably combined as an attachment in a single PDF file, to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, assistant department chair, at christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Informal inquiries welcome.

Middle Georgia State University is a Unit of the University System of Georgia, EEO/AA/M/F/V/D.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/5/2016

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 1170

Augusta University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Augusta University
Department of Political Science
Master of Public Administration Program
Assistant Professor

Augusta University's Department of Political Science and its NAS-PAA-accredited Master of Public Administration Program is seeking to fill a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2016. We seek individuals who can teach courses in American politics and institutions and one or more courses in the MPA program.

ABOUT AUGUSTA UNIVERSITY: On January 8, 2013 Augusta State University and Georgia Health Sciences University consolidated to become a dynamic new institution that maintains its strong traditions of both universities. Augusta University is considered one of Georgia's four research comprehensive universities. The university is experiencing an exciting and challenging period of transition and growth into a university with high research activity and teaching excellence. Founded in 1828, the university includes nine colleges with nearly 10,000 students, 1,000 full-time faculty members and 5,000 staff members. It houses the nation's 13th-oldest medical school, the state's sole dental college, an aligned and integrated health system, a growing intercollegiate athletics program, the highly respected Hull College of Business, the diverse Pamplin College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, among other units. With 650 acres of campus and nearly 150 buildings, the university is a $1 billion-plus enterprise with state-wide and national reach.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: The successful candidate must hold, at time of appointment, a PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, Public Administration, or related field, and have an identifiable research agenda and publishing program. Successful candidates will be able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American Politics, as well as an introductory course to the research methods. All subfield specializations will be considered, including, but not limited to: Congress; the presidency; judicial; and campaigns and elections. Successful candidates must also be able to teach coursework in the Department's MPA program; all specializations and subfields in public administration or public policy will be considered.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Interested candidates must apply on-line through our website at <http://www.gru.edu/jobs/faculty/>. Please make sure you upload a cover letter describing teaching experience, a curriculum vita, graduate school transcripts, and three letters of reference as one document online. Any questions can be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. William Hatcher, Department of Political Science at wihatcher@gru.edu. The committee will begin reviewing applications March 1, 2016.

Augusta University is an equal opportunity and equal access institution and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or sexual orientation in employment or in the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/15/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1115

University of San Diego

Rank: Professor of Practice, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a non-tenure track Professor of Practice in public administration and public policy. Candidates must have a Master's degree or PhD in political science, public administration, public policy, or a closely related field, teaching experience at the community college or university level, practical experience in local or state government, and the capacity to integrate theory with practice.

The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in American politics, urban politics, public policy, and/or state and local government. The teaching load is seven courses per academic year, which includes one internship class each semester. In addition, the candidate will supervise our continuously offered Washington, D.C. internship program and run a 1-unit weekend Sacramento seminar each spring semester.

As a Professor of Practice, the successful candidate must have extensive local, state, and/or national political, legal, and business connections, and will supervise the department's dynamic internship program, including the department's Washington DC internship and seminar program. Responsibilities will include developing new internship opportunities, to further enhance our students' professional development.

USD offers a competitive salary and benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference at their earliest convenience. The position will remain open until filled.

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and look for job IRC18893. Applicants must email all relevant materials— except for confidential letters of recommendation— to dickson@sandiego.edu and upload the same materials to the USD Human Resources site. References must submit confidential letters of recommendation separately to: dickson@sandiego.edu.

Please address all correspondence to Dr. Del Dickson, Chair, Search Committee for Professor of Practice, Department of Political Science and International Relations, 5998 Alcalá Park, San Diego, CA 92110

USD is a private, independent Catholic liberal arts institution dedicated to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. USD is an Equal Opportunity employer, and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from underrepresented and underserved groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1028

University of Southern Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs in Hattiesburg, Miss., is accepting applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of American politics (political institutions). Additional strength in public policy/public administration is also desirable. The successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to American Government and assist with the department's research methods sequences. Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. Candidates are expected to provide evidence of potential for excellence in teaching, research and service. The department serves both the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses and includes a strong undergraduate program, MA and MS in political science and a Ph.D. in international development. The successful candidate will develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and contribute broadly to our master's programs as well as conduct scholarly research and provide service to the department, college, university, profession and/or community.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. A full application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations (if available), graduate transcripts, a writing sample and at least three letters of reference. To apply, please see <http://jobs.usm.edu>

The position is contingent on funding.

The department is committed to improving its diversity in terms of race, ethnicity and gender. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities to apply.

For more information, please see the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs website at <http://usm.edu/polisci>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/3/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 949

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science, Miami University (Ohio), Middletown Campus

Political Science (Middletown Campus) seeks to fill a nine-month, assistant professor, tenure track position in Political Science to begin the Fall Semester 2016. Further information about the Middletown Campus is available at www.regionals.MiamiOH.edu.

Broadly trained tenure-track assistant professor to teach introductory courses in American politics and global politics, as well as a research methods course and upper-division courses in area of expertise. The successful candidate is expected to be an effective teacher, develop curriculum, advise students, provide meaningful service to the department, university, and community, and establish program of scholarship and research. Required: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by date of appointment; demonstration of teaching excellence; evidence of potential for ongoing research and publication in traditional, public, or pedagogical scholarship. Strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, student mentoring, curriculum development, and service (department, campus, university, community, professional). Strong candidates will have an interest in or experience with online or hybrid teaching formats. This colleague will play a vital role in a new multidisciplinary regional campus social science department and contribute to the development of a proposed new four-year degree program, Applied

Social Research. Submit: cover letter and cv to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/jobdetails?jobID=1962>. Upon your completion of the application, the three professional references will be contacted by email requesting letters of recommendation. Please ensure email contact information is provided in the application system as requested. Inquiries about the position can be directed to John Cinnamon at cinnamjm@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2015 and continues until position is filled. Miami University, an EO/AA employer encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami does not permit, and takes action to prevent, harassment, discrimination and retaliation. Requests for reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to Ms. Mary Jane Leveline at (513) 529-2027. Annual Security and Fire Safety Report may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Criminal background check required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 938

American University

Rank: Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics
Specializations: Electoral Behavior, Presidency, Congress

Position Announcement

Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Department of Government
School of Public Affairs

American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of associate or full professor to serve as the Director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies (CCPS) beginning August 1, 2016. The Director is responsible for developing and facilitating high-profile research projects and creating public programming that draws on the expertise of AU faculty and leading analysts from the Washington, DC community and beyond. The Director should ensure that CCPS contributes to the national dialogue about Congress, the Presidency, campaigns, and elections. The Director must secure external funding to support CCPS work and enhance the School of Public Affairs' prominence as a venue for high impact research and policy analysis.

Since its establishment in 1979, CCPS has facilitated collaborative research projects, organized hundreds of forums and conferences related to American politics, promoted curriculum development, and connected its work to policymakers, journalists, students, and academics who put research findings into practice. The new Director will be expected to continue that legacy and position CCPS to become even more influential.

Applicants should hold a doctoral degree in political science with a focus on American political institutions – Congress or the Presidency – and related subfields including campaigns and elections. We seek to recruit candidates who are theoretically sophisticated, methodologically rigorous, and have demonstrated success in externally funded research, high impact publications, and teaching. Depending on qualifications, the candidate will be hired at the rank of either Associate or Full Professor and will be suitable for tenure at the time of hiring.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2015 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/31023>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of research interests, statement of vision for CCPS, and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

The Center for Congressional Presidential Studies was founded in 1979, in the School of Public Affairs. CCPS has organized over 300 conferences and academic forums since its founding. The research focus of the Center has been on Congress and the presidency, U.S. elections and issues and policies facing the two institutions. The Center staff consists of full time and part-time faculty, graduate students, CCPS research fellows and administrative staff. See website: american.edu/spa/ccps for details on all Center videos, programs and publications. The Center publishes the refereed journal, Congress and the Presidency, since 1984. The Center has successfully solicited funding for its research, educational activities, and student scholarships since its founding and has sponsored over thirty visiting research fellows

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/19/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 841

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor of National Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, American Government and Politics

Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Political Science Department invites applicants for the position of Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) of National Security to begin as early as Fall 2016. Past incumbents have been recognized national security experts who have added perspective and depth to their students' academic experience. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate teaching and an ability to lead upper level political science courses related to topics such as: environmental security, regional security, terrorism, cybersecurity, executive privilege, arms proliferation and arms control. Assisting midshipmen with research, offering seminars and lectures and, inviting guest speakers are among the position's objectives.

The DVP position is for two years commencing in August 2016. It is non-tenure track and non-renewable. The position is administered by the Office of the Academic Dean which provides the DVP with an office and administrative support.

Applications submitted by November 1, 2015 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

For more information about the position and to apply, please go to www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/DVPNationalSec.php

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 776

American University

Rank: Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Specializations: Electoral Behavior, Presidency, Congress

Position Announcement

Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Department of Government

School of Public Affairs

American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of associate or full professor to serve as the Director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies (CCPS) beginning August 1, 2016. The Director is responsible for developing and facilitating high-profile research projects and creating public programming that draws on the expertise of AU faculty and leading analysts from the Washington, DC community and beyond. The Director should ensure that CCPS contributes to the national dialogue about Congress, the Presidency, campaigns, and elections. The Director must secure external funding to support CCPS work and enhance the School of Public Affairs' prominence as a venue for high impact research and policy analysis.

Since its establishment in 1979, CCPS has facilitated collaborative research projects, organized hundreds of forums and conferences related to American politics, promoted curriculum development, and connected its work to policymakers, journalists, students, and academics who put research findings into practice. The new Director will be expected to continue that legacy and position CCPS to become even more influential.

Applicants should hold a doctoral degree in political science with a focus on American political institutions – Congress or the Presidency – and related subfields including campaigns and elections. We seek to recruit candidates who are theoretically sophisticated, methodologically rigorous, and have demonstrated success in externally funded research, high impact publications, and teaching. Depending on qualifications, the candidate will be hired at the rank of either Associate or Full Professor and will be suitable for tenure at the time of hiring.

Review of applications will begin on November 1, and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/31023>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of research interests, statement of vision for CCPS, and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

The Center for Congressional Presidential Studies was founded in 1979, in the School of Public Affairs. CCPS has organized over 300 conferences and academic forums since its founding. The research focus of the Center has been on Congress and the presidency, U.S. elections and issues and policies facing the two institutions. The Center staff consists of full time and part-time faculty, graduate students, CCPS research fellows and administrative staff. See website: american.edu/spa/ccps for details on all Center videos, programs and publications. The Center publishes the refereed journal, Congress and the Presidency, since 1984. The Center has successfully solicited funding for its research, educational activities, and student scholarships since its founding and has sponsored over thirty visiting research fellows.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 538

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Georgia Southern University

Rank: Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor in International Studies

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, Developing Nations, International Security

Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor

Search # 30083

Department of Political Science and International Studies

The Department of Political Science and International Studies invites nominations and applications for the position of Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor (i.e., Visiting Assistant Professor).

Georgia Southern University, classified as a doctoral/research institution by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, is a member of the University System of Georgia. As the largest and most comprehensive research institution in southeast Georgia, the University is a residential campus of more than 20,500 students representing 48 states and 89 nations.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges, Georgia Southern offers a comprehensive array of baccalaureate degrees and selected master's and doctoral programs through eight colleges: Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Information Technology, Health and Human Sciences, Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, Public Health, Science and Mathematics, and Graduate Studies. With an emphasis on academic distinction, excellent teaching, research, and student success, Georgia Southern offers both undergraduate and graduate students an attractive campus environment that encourages learning, discovery, and personal growth.

Founded in 1906, Georgia Southern lays claim to being the most beautiful campus in the state. Comprising more than 900 acres, the University grounds are an arboretum-like treasure featuring gently rolling lawns, scenic ponds, and soaring pines. Located in Statesboro, a safe Main Street community of approximately 30,000 residents not far from Savannah and Hilton Head Island, Georgia Southern provides the benefits of a major university with the feeling of a smaller college.

Within this setting, the Department of Political Science and International Studies is committed to providing students with significant educational opportunities offering an international perspective—opportunities that recognize the economic, social, and ecological concerns, and the urgent need for more effective methods of international and intercultural cooperation. The Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor is expected to contribute content and teaching expertise to the Department's academic degree programs.

Position Description. Reporting to the Chair of the Department, the Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor will be responsible for a 5/5 teaching load. Teaching assignments may include Introduction to International Studies and upper-division courses in the candidate's area of expertise. All limited-term positions are non-tenure track, academic (10 month) year appointments. Appointments are for one year only, although there is the possibility of reappointment should funding permit and based upon satisfactory performance. (All reappointments are made on a one year basis.) The salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Required Qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in International Studies or closely related field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in International Studies, by August 1, 2016.
- Evidence of full-time college/university teaching excellence.
- Evidence of teaching excellence in interdisciplinary courses.
- Ability to teach a range of International Studies courses.
- Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Topical expertise in Cultural Studies, Development, Aid, Sustainability, and/or Comparative Military/Security Studies.
- Experience teaching online.

Screening of applications begins June 15, 2016, and continues until the position is filled. The preferred position starting date is August 1, 2016. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; a curriculum vitae; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least three professional references. Other documentation may be requested. Only complete applications and applications submitted electronically will be considered. Finalists will be required to submit to a background investigation. Applications and nominations should be sent to:

Barry Balleck, Search Chair, Search #30083
 Department of Political Science and International Studies
 Georgia Southern University
 P.O. Box 8101
 Statesboro, GA 30460-8101
 Electronic mail: bballeck@georgiasouthern.edu
 Telephone: 912-478-0571

More information about the institution is available through <http://www.georgiasouthern.edu> or <http://www.georgiasouthern.edu/polisci/>. Georgia Southern University seeks to recruit individuals who are committed to working in diverse academic and professional communities and who are committed to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and professional service within the University and beyond. The names of applicants and nominees, vitae, and other non-evaluative information may be subject to public inspection under the Georgia Open Records Act. Georgia Southern University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution. Individuals who need reasonable accommodations under the ADA to participate in the search process should contact the Associate Provost.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 1502

College of William & Mary

Rank: Visiting Instructor/Asst Professor of Comparative/International Politics

The Department of Government of the College of William & Mary invites applicants for a one-year non-tenure track Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor position that will begin on August 10, 2016. Ph.D. in hand by start of the appointment, but ABDs will be considered. We seek an individual with demonstrated experience in teaching comparative politics and international relations. The successful applicant will be expected to be an effective teacher and will have a 3-3 teaching load (two preps per semester). Ability to teach introductory public policy or research methods is desirable but not required.

The Department of Government consists of 25 full-time faculty members, and graduates more than 180 students each year with a major in Government. Students majoring in International Relations and Public Policy complete a substantial number of their courses in the Department of Government. The Department is a major contributor to an interdisciplinary Masters in Public Policy program. The College of William & Mary, the second oldest university in the United States, is one of the nation's most selective institutions. It enrolls approximately 6,000 undergraduates and 2,500 graduate and professional school students.

Candidates must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit curriculum vitae, transcript, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, course evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness and a chapter-length or article-length sample of recent scholarship. Applicants will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by us with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. To insure full consideration, materials must be submitted by June 30. Applications received after that date will be considered if needed. Information on the faculty and Department of Government may be found at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1500

East Carolina University

Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor

Job Description: The Department of Political Science at East Carolina University, Greenville, NC, invites applications for a one-year position at the rank of Teaching Assistant Professor to begin August 15, 2016. This is an undergraduate teaching position with a 4:4 teaching load.

The Department is composed of fourteen full-time faculty. It offers BS and BA degrees in Political Science and minors in Political Science, Leadership Studies and Security Studies at the undergraduate level. At the graduate level, it offers a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration degree, a Master of Science in Security Studies and certificates in public management and security studies. The Department is also a major contributor to the interdisciplinary graduate and undergraduate programs in international studies. The Department emphasizes excellent teaching, quality research, and a tradition of service to the community, university, and discipline. More information about the department can be found at its home page: <http://www.ecu.edu/polsci>.

Minimum Requirements: Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Political Science is expected but ABD candidates may be considered for appointment at the rank of Teaching Instructor. Qualifying degrees must be received from appropriately accredited institutions. Teaching experience at the undergraduate level—both in the classroom and online—is mandatory. The individual chosen must be able to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics, Introduction to International Relations, and courses in European politics.

Preferred Characteristics: Preference will be given to candidates who can also teach one or more courses in at least one of the following areas: Eurasia; the Middle East; South Asia; and/or East Asia. Applicants should have a demonstrated academic background in the subfields and provide evidence of quality teaching experience.

Instructions to Apply: To apply, complete a candidate profile and submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita and statement of research interests and teaching experience/philosophy online at www.jobs.ecu.edu. Arrange for three current letters of reference to be sent to: Dr. Carmine Scavo, Chair, Comparative/IR Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Mail Stop 564, East Carolina University, Greenville, NC 27858-4353 (scavoc@ecu.edu). Official transcripts are required upon employment. Review of applications will begin on June 24, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Equal Opportunity Statement: East Carolina University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to their race/ethnicity, color, genetic information, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, political affiliation, or veteran status. Individuals requesting accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act (ADAAA) should contact the Department of Disability Support Services at (252) 737-1016 (Voice/TTY). Proper documentation of identity and employability is required at the time of employment.

Start Date: Summer 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/24/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1498

Department of Defense

Rank: Social Science Researcher
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Defense, Research Methods, Quantitative Methods

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC), a functional component of the U.S. Strategic Command (USSTRATCOM) uses information provided by the intelligence community to analyze and recommend solutions to some of the most complex problems faced by our military and civilian leaders. JWAC supports both crisis operations and contingency planning. JWAC is seeking motivated individuals who are able to lead a research project aimed at developing advanced tools and methods for defense analysis. Ideal candidates will have experience in political economy, quantitative and formal methods, and analysis of organizational dynamics.

We offer generous benefits (medical, leave, retirement) and competitive pay. We are hiring at the GS-9/11 level in a career ladder position with non-competitive promotion to GS-13 as the employee matriculates to higher performance standards. U.S. citizenship, the ability to attain a TS/SCI clearance, and adherence to drug-testing standards are required for all positions.

To apply visit our website at www.jwac.mil/careers and click on the link titled JWAC Recruiting to submit a resume to our recruitment team directly. Please reference APSA job announcement in the subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/23/2016
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 1486

Hope College

Rank: Term Position in American and Comparative Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Hope College invites applications for one or more term positions for the 2016-17 academic year. We welcome applications from candidates able to teach in one or more of the following areas: American politics and institutions, research methods, and comparative politics (any focus other than Africa). Hope College is a Christian, co-educational, residential liberal arts college affiliated with the Reformed Church in America.

Qualifications
 PhDs and/or ABDs who have made substantial progress on the dissertation are welcome to apply. Candidates should have demonstrated an ability to combine teaching excellence with genuine scholarly promise, and should be committed to the character and goals of a liberal arts college with a Christian perspective.

Application Instructions
 Candidates will email a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copies of undergraduate and graduate school transcripts (unofficial versions are okay for this stage of the search), and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching competency. In addition, please arrange for three references to email letters of recommendation to Ryden@hope.edu.

About Hope College
 Hope College has about 3,300 students and 270 full time faculty. It is located in Holland, Michigan, a charming city of 35,000 located on the shores of Lake Michigan a half hour from Grand Rapids and within several hours of Ann Arbor and Chicago. Holland is set in an urban area of approximately 100,000, which is enriched by a significant Latino, Asian and African American population. Hope College places a high priority on sustaining a supportive environment that recognizes the importance of having a diverse faculty and staff to better prepare our students for successful careers in our multi-cultural nation and global community. Applications from qualified persons with diverse backgrounds and cultures, including women and persons of color are, therefore, especially welcomed. Hope College complies with federal and state requirements for nondiscrimination in employment.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1490

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Demonstrated expertise as a teacher of Political Science, enthusiastic commitment to undergraduate instruction at all levels.

Required Qualifications: Ability to teach the following courses: Civil War and Conflict Resolution, Human Rights, Social Science Research Methods, State and Society in the Non-Western World. Other courses that the instructor may be asked to teach include International Politics, Global Political Economy, US Foreign Policy, and Women and Politics.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1476

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNY Geneseo is seeking applicants for a Visiting Assistant Professor position to begin August, 2016. The appointment is for one year. Duties of the position include:

- Teach undergraduate courses in political science, including courses in comparative politics such as Civil War and Conflict Resolution, Human Rights, and State and Society in the Non-Western World, and a course in social science research methods.
- Opportunity to conduct research in area of interest.
- Contribute to academic advisement to students.
- Contribute to department functioning through committee service.
- Contribute service to the discipline and/or community.

Required Qualifications

- PhD or ABD in Political Science at time of appointment.
- Primary expertise in comparative politics.
- Evidence of preparation to teach undergraduate courses in comparative politics, international politics and social science research methods.

Preferred Qualifications:

- PhD in Political Science, conferred by August 2016.
- Evidence of an active scholarly program in political science.
- Evidence of successful college teaching.

Special Instructions to Applicant

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter that addresses teaching and research qualifications and a CV. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit a letter at the time application is completed.

Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt. To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by June 6, 2016. The final date that letters of reference will be accepted is June 6, 2016.

To apply, submit an online faculty application at <https://jobs.geneseo.edu>. The application will consist of a letter of interest, a vita, a statement of teaching philosophy, writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Additionally, three letters of reference, with at least one addressing teaching, must be mailed to:

Search Committee

Department of Political Science and International Relations

SUNY Geneseo

1 College Circle

Geneseo, NY 14454

All applications completed by June 6, 2016 are guaranteed full consideration. All applicants are subject to criminal background checks.

SUNY Geneseo is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity, Equal Access Employer committed to recruiting, supporting, and fostering a diverse community of outstanding faculty, staff, and students. The college actively seeks applications from women and members of under-represented groups.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1477

University of Mannheim

Rank: Associate Professor in Political Science

The School of Social Sciences, Department of Political Science at the University of Mannheim, seeks applications for a position of an

Associate Professor in Political Science

The position is temporary until 31 August 2020.

The University of Mannheim is looking for an established scholar in the field of comparative politics, international relations. The successful candidate must have a university and doctoral degree, commitment to excellence in teaching, and documented excellence in research. The candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses.

The University of Mannheim offers an excellent international environment, with the Graduate School of Economic and Social Sciences (GESS), the Mannheim Centre for European Social Research (MZES), and the Collaborative Research Centre SFB 884 on "Political Economy of Reforms" at its centre. The candidate is expected to play an active role in the further development of these centres.

Full details can be found at: http://home.sowi.uni-mannheim.de/english_new/jobs/

All applications received before June 9, 2016 will be given full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/9/2016

Date Posted: 5/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1473

University of Tennessee, Martin

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics and International Studies

The University of Tennessee at Martin, College of Business and Global Affairs (CBGA), Department of Accounting, Finance, Economics and Political Science is seeking applications for a tenure-track appointment in Political Science. The position is open to applicants who are either doctoral qualified or ABD in Political Science. The anticipated start date is August 2016.

The position involves teaching Comparative Politics and serving as advisor and instructor for UTM's interdisciplinary International Studies major. Teaching responsibilities would include introductory classes in World Politics and International Studies, a junior-level Political Science course in Comparative Politics, and a capstone course for the International Studies major. The position is a nine-month appointment. Summer teaching is optional and available depending on student demand. Other responsibilities include student advising, research, and service.

The University of Tennessee at Martin is a primary campus in the University of Tennessee System. The campus is located in Northwest Tennessee approximately 125 miles north of Memphis and 150 miles west of Nashville. The University of Tennessee at Martin has a combined graduate and undergraduate enrollment of approximately 7,000 students. The emphasis is solidly on excellence in undergraduate instruction. We seek candidates who demonstrate a similar commitment.

UT Martin is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA employer. The University seeks to diversify its work force. Therefore, all qualified applicants, regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, gender, age, disability or Vietnam veteran status, are strongly encouraged to apply.

To Apply: Applications should be made online at http://www.utm.edu/departments/personnel/fac_emp.php. An application will include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, three references, and graduate transcripts (official or unofficial). Questions may be directed to Dr. Anderson Starling, Search Committee Chair (astarlin@utm.edu); College of Business and Global Affairs; 111 Business Administration Building; Martin, TN 38238. The review of applicants will begin May 20, 2016, and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1468

Pitzer College

Rank: Adjunct Professor, Political Studies (Full-time, One-year)

Pitzer College, a member of the Claremont Colleges, invites applications for a one-year visiting position in Political Studies. The successful candidate would teach five courses in comparative politics during the 2016-2017 academic year (with preference for South or East Asia). We would also welcome one course in American Politics (and four in Comparative), should the successful candidate like. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is essential. Phd. is preferred.

Pitzer College has a strong institutional commitment to diversity in all areas and strongly encourages candidates from underrepresented groups. We favor candidates who can contribute to the College's distinctive educational objectives, which promote interdisciplinary perspectives, intercultural understanding, and concern with social responsibility and the ethical implications of knowledge and action. Pitzer College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. For the successful applicant with the relevant interests, affiliations are possible with the intercollegiate departments of Africana Studies, Asian American Studies, Chican@/Latin@Studies, and/or Women's Studies.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS & DEADLINE

To apply, please visit <http://pitweb.pitzer.edu/dean-of-faculty/faculty-positions-pitzer/>. The deadline to apply is May 24, 2016, or until the position is filled. Applications received before the deadline will be given preference.

ABOUT PITZER COLLEGE

Pitzer College — a private, undergraduate, coeducational college of the liberal arts and sciences — is consistently ranked among the best such colleges in the country. Located in Claremont, California, a city about 35 miles east of Los Angeles, Pitzer is a member of The Claremont Colleges consortium and benefits from the shared resources of seven institutions.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1462

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: United Nations Global Policy Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full time, non-tenure track position to teach in the our United Nations and Global Policy Studies Master's Program, beginning Sept. 1, 2016. Appointment will be for one academic year at the Lecturer/Instructor or Assistant Teaching Professor rank, depending on qualifications, with possible renewal based on need and instructional performance. The appointment entails a 5 course teaching load (3/2 or 2/3) per academic year, a starting salary of $55,000 - $60,000, and includes full health and pension benefits. A PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's new MA Program in Political Science – United Nations and Global Policy Studies, and should be prepared to teach courses on the impact of the United Nations on global affairs, including its role in democracy promotion, human rights, gender equality, and sustainable development. Candidates who have either been employed by the United Nations and/or have participated in cooperative projects with the organization are especially encouraged to apply.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, list of courses taught, sample syllabi, a writing sample in the applicant's central area of research, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/35105> Review of applicants will begin on May 16 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1452

Lincoln University of Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Lincoln University of Missouri invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science beginning August 2016. Areas of specialization include Comparative Politics and International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will also include the Introduction to American Government course.

Lincoln's political science program is part of an interdisciplinary department that includes history and philosophy. The successful candidate will be a passionate teacher, mentor, and developer of innovative curriculum. Other job responsibilities include Model UN faculty advisor and Study Abroad participant.

Ph.D. preferred; ABD considered with college level teaching experience.

Application materials should be submitted electronically and include: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of previous teaching experience and three letters of reference. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable during screening. Official transcripts are required prior to employment.

Deadline for applications is July 1, 2016.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Amy Gossett at gossetta@lincolnu.edu.

Lincoln University is a HBCU, land-grant, public university with enrollment of 3000 students and an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 7/1/2016

Date Posted: 5/2/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1447

Iowa State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University invites applications for a Full or Part-Time Lecturer position to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses within one or more of the political science subfields: Theory and Methods, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Public Policy Administration. The appointment duration may be one semester to three years depending on department need and it may be Full-Time or Part-Time.

Required Education and Experience: MA or MPA in Political Science or related discipline, or JD. Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities.

Preferred Education and Experience: ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline.

Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities

To apply for this position, please click on "Apply to this job" at <http://www.iastatejobs.com:80/postings/18263> and complete the Employment Application. Please be prepared to enter or attach the following:

- 1) Resume/Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of Application/Cover Letter
- 3) Contact Information for Three References
- 4) Statement of Teaching Interests/Experience
- 5) Statement of Teaching Evaluations- Optional- Please attach as "Other Document(s) 1"

If you have questions regarding this application process, please email employment@iastate.edu or call 515-294-4800 or Toll Free: 1-877-477-7485.

All offers of employment, oral and written, are contingent upon the university's verification of credentials and other information required by federal and state law, ISU policies/procedures, and may include the completion of a background check.

The Department of Political Science has 15 tenure track faculty and a vibrant MA program which serves approximately 32 students and an undergraduate major with approximately 260 majors. Please visit the following site for additional information about the Department at <http://www.pols.iastate.edu/>

Iowa State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, marital status, disability, or protected veteran status, and will not be discriminated against. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1433

Stanford University

Rank: Research Associate

The Japan Program at the Walter H. Shorenstein Asia Pacific Research Center is seeking a research associate with a Ph.D. in political science, economics, or related areas to assist in teaching a course on Contemporary Japan.

The position is one-year, fixed-term, renewable based on performance and funding availability. Start date September 1, 2016.

The research associate will assist faculty members of the Japan Program in teaching a course on contemporary Japan:

- Lecture and lead class discussions
- Work with guest instructors
- Hold office hours for students
- Develop topics for short papers and assist faculty instructors with evaluation process
- Promote student awareness of course related seminars and panel discussions that are occurring within APARC and other centers at FSI

The research associate will help the Japan Program organize an international conference/dialogue on womenomics that will be held in November 2016:

- Work with the PI and team to identify speakers and dialogue participants
- Invite speakers and dialogue participants and communicate agenda and logistics
- Participate in the conference/dialogue
- Author, write and publish a detailed report on the conference/dialogue
- Publish the report on the Japan Program website

The research associate will contribute to the Japan Program:

- Conduct his/her own research related to Japan
 - Present his/her own research at Japan Program colloquium and/or the Japan Lunch
 - Interact with other researchers at the Japan Program and collaborate on research
 - Help other research and outreach projects at the Japan Program
- Qualifications

Application Process:

- For consideration, please submit curriculum vitae, cover letter, two writing samples on relevant topics, and the names and contact information of three references by May 31, 2016
- A background check will be required for the final candidate

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and academic staff. It welcomes nominations of and applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

Research Scholar - Requisition ID: 70637

To apply, please click on the following link and search by req ID: <http://stanfordcareers.stanford.edu/job-search>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 5/31/2016

Date Posted: 4/22/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1421

Brigham Young University

Rank: Visiting Faculty

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a one-year full-time visiting position from well-qualified candidates with a completed or nearly completed Ph.D. in the areas of comparative politics or international relations.

The appointment would begin in Fall 2016.

Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience.

Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's Honor Code and Dress & Grooming Standards.

To apply, please go to yjobs.byu.edu/postings/9616 or go to yjobs.byu.edu and search for Political Science - Visiting Faculty (160089). Review of applicants to begin immediately.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1400

Texas Christian University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for two one year lecturer positions. We seek an applicant who combines expertise in either American Politics or political theory and either judicial politics or comparative politics. The appointment will begin in August 2016.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. We seek applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date. Successful candidates will show evidence of teaching excellence. The teaching load for this position is 4-4, and the salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, teaching statement, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials, including letters of recommendation, must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Priority will be given to applications received prior to May 15.

TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 812,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

TCU does not discriminate on the basis of age, disability, marital status or parental status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. TCU is an EO/AA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/28/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1385

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations or Comparative Politics

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations or Comparative Politics to begin in the 2016-17 academic year. Expected to teach introductory course in Comparative Politics "Modern World Governments," an advanced course on the politics in the Middle East, and another course in the area of specialty. Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee. Strong candidates will have independent teaching experience. Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), samples of scholarly writing to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2494>. Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on March 28, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1363

New School for Social Research

Rank: Executive Director of the Zolberg Institute for Migration and Mobility

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The New School for Social Research in New York City seeks to fill an endowed faculty chair with a senior figure in the field of migration. The selected candidate will play a leading role as Executive Director of the Zolberg Institute for Migration and Mobility.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, contact information of four references, and a sample of published work to <https://careers.newschool.edu/postings/12745>. Application reviews begin immediately and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

The New School is committed to maintaining a diverse educational and creative community, a policy of equal opportunity in all its activities and programs, including employment. Applications from members of historically underrepresented groups are welcome. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, physical handicap, veteran or marital status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1245

Le Moyne College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Le Moyne College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science, beginning Fall 2016. We seek a dynamic teacher and scholar specializing in International Political Economy (from either an International Relations or Comparative Politics perspective). The suitable candidate will have a broad background in International Political Economy and a solid background in Economics. Teaching responsibilities will include introductory and advanced courses in IPE/related fields and introductory courses in Economics. The opportunity also exists to contribute to our interdisciplinary programs in Peace and Global Studies, and to the Core Curriculum at the College. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is strongly preferred. The candidate should be able to show excellence in teaching, and evidence of an active scholarly agenda. We are particularly interested in candidates who share the Le Moyne College mission and commitment to social justice.

To apply, applicants should send a letter of application including teaching experience and research agenda, a CV, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional references. Also please submit a statement of your teaching philosophy. Documentation may be submitted to: Diann D. Ferris, Le Moyne College, 1419 Salt Springs Road, Grewen Hall, 2nd Floor (Human Resources), Syracuse, NY 13214 or by following the application instructions (click the 'Apply Now' button) found on our website at www.lemoyne.edu/employment. Review of applications will begin on February 1st and continue until the position is filled. For further information, please contact Dr. Delia Popescu at atpopescd@lemoyne.edu. Le Moyne College is an equal opportunity employer and strongly encourages women, persons of color, and Jesuits to apply for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/18/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1145

Bowdoin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor of Comparative Politics

The Department of Government and the Asian Studies Program invite applications for a one-year position in Comparative Politics at the Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor level for the 2016-17 academic year. Candidates should have a primary research and teaching interest in Asian politics. The search is broad with respect to region, but there is a preference for candidates working on South Asia, Korea, or Japan. There is less need for courses on domestic Chinese politics. The successful candidate should also be able to teach an introductory course in comparative politics. Advanced ABDs or recent Ph.D.s are welcome to apply. Teaching load is two courses each semester.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please visit <https://careers.bowdoin.edu> to submit letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation upon request.

Review of applications will begin on January 20, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

A highly selective liberal arts college on the Maine coast with a diverse student body made up of 31% students of color, 5% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students, Bowdoin College is committed to equality and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage inquiries from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural and ethnic diversity of our college. Bowdoin College does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, creed, color, religion, marital status, gender identity and/or expression, sexual orientation, veteran status, national origin, or disability status in employment, or in our education programs. For further information about the college please visit our website: <http://www.bowdoin.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1068

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science, Miami University (Ohio), Middletown Campus

Political Science (Middletown Campus) seeks to fill a nine-month, assistant professor, tenure track position in Political Science to begin the Fall Semester 2016. Further information about the Middletown Campus is available at www.regionals.MiamiOH.edu.

Broadly trained tenure-track assistant professor to teach introductory courses in American politics and global politics, as well as a research methods course and upper-division courses in area of expertise. The successful candidate is expected to be an effective teacher, develop curriculum, advise students, provide meaningful service to the department, university, and community, and establish program of scholarship and research. Required: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by date of appointment; demonstration of teaching excellence; evidence of potential for ongoing research and publication in traditional, public, or pedagogical scholarship. Strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, student mentoring, curriculum development, and service (department, campus, university, community, professional). Strong candidates will have an interest in or experience with online or hybrid teaching formats. This colleague will play a vital role in a new multidisciplinary regional campus social science department and contribute to the development of a proposed new four-year degree program, Applied Social Research. Submit: cover letter and cv to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/jobdetails?jobID=1962>. Upon your completion of the application, the three professional references will be contacted by email requesting letters of recommendation. Please ensure email contact information is provided in the application system as requested. Inquiries about the position can be directed to John Cinnamon at cinnamjm@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2015 and continues until position is filled. Miami University, an EO/AA employer encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami does not permit, and takes action to prevent, harassment, discrimination and retaliation. Requests for reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to Ms. Mary Jane Leveline at (513) 529-2027. Annual Security and Fire Safety Report may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Criminal background check required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 938

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Waseda University

Rank: Faculty Recruitment Information (International Relations)

Waseda University, an established private university located in central Tokyo, invites applications for two tenure-track or tenured positions* in International Relations at the School of Political Science and Economics. The appointments will be made at the rank of either Assistant Professor, Associate Professor or Professor, effective April 2017 or some later mutually-agreeable date.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. by the start of the appointment. For one of the two positions, we are particularly interested in scholars working in the area of Non-traditional Security / Global Politics, though we encourage applications from candidates, working in any area of International Relations, who combine a clear theoretical focus with systematic empirical analysis. To be appointed as tenured faculty, the candidate(s) should have an excellent record of publications, including articles published in highly-regarded peer-reviewed journals. Tenure-track appointments will be made to promising junior scholars who can demonstrate a record of productive research in a manner appropriate to their career stage. We seek candidates with skills in quantitative methods and/or formal modeling, as these positions will include teaching basic methodological courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate level.

*The tenure status of the appointment will be determined by the applicants' teaching experience and research achievements as well as their performance during the interview process. The initial term for the tenure-track appointments is three years, with a possible extension of two years, contingent on a positive result of the interim review which will take place during the second or third year. If judged eligible, tenure can be granted at any time during the years on the tenure-track. The terms of the appointment will be informed at the final interview with the Dean. The procedures and regulations for tenure and promotion will be explained at an earlier stage of the interview process.

The salary will be determined based on Waseda University's salary table (see, for sample salary scale, http://www.waseda.jp/seikei/files/00000000_ExampleOfBaseAnnualIncome.pdf). Annually, the University provides individual research funds of 210,000 yen and academic conference travel subsidy of 90,000 yen. An additional travel fund (up to 110, 000 yen) for conferences outside of Japan is available upon request. The university provides various research grants on a competitive basis.

Interested candidates should apply electronically via <http://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/?p=6307>. Please make sure that you choose International Relations in "Application Category." Use the appropriate forms (Template Form (A) - (E)) for the relevant sections of "Application Documents" on the website as instructed here.

1. Application Form / Cover Letter: Use Template Form (A)
2. Curriculum Vitae: Use Template Form (B)
3. Statement on Research: Use Template Form (C) and upload it at "3) Additional application material 1"
4. Three major academic research works: Use Template Form (D) and upload it at "3) Additional application material 2"
5. Statement on Teaching with a sample syllabus for an undergraduate-level lecture course: Use Template Form (E) and upload it at "3) Additional application material 3"
6. Proof of a doctoral degree (PDF) to be uploaded at "3) Additional application material 4"

Applications must be submitted online by 1 p.m., July 31, 2016 (JST). The online application system (link above) will be available on June 1. All applications will be acknowledged by email within 10 days after the deadline. Arrange two persons familiar with you and your work to mail reference letters directly to the address indicated below. If you wish to submit a book or a book manuscript with your application, send two hardcopies by registered mail. All correspondence should be sent on or before the application deadline to:

Professor Koichi Suga, Dean

Attn: Application for International Relations 2017
Faculty of Political Science and Economics Waseda University
1-6-1 Nishi Waseda, Shinjuku, Tokyo 169-8050 Japan

Note: the selection procedure will include three stages: 1) Document screening, 2) Interview on campus which includes a lecture, research presentation and an interview with the search committee, and 3) Interview with the Dean.

Inquiries should be made by email to: pse-hr-ir2017@list.waseda.jp.

Institution URL: <http://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/>

Waseda University is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty in order to promote globalization and gender equality on campus. In all matters related to faculty recruitment and promotion, the University prohibits any form of discrimination on the basis of national origin, gender, religion, political affiliation, or disability.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: 7/30/2016

Date Posted: 6/1/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1504

Georgia Southern University

Rank: Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor in International Studies

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, Developing Nations, International Security

Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor

Search # 30083

Department of Political Science and International Studies

The Department of Political Science and International Studies invites nominations and applications for the position of Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor (i.e., Visiting Assistant Professor).

Georgia Southern University, classified as a doctoral/research institution by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, is a member of the University System of Georgia. As the largest and most comprehensive research institution in southeast Georgia, the University is a residential campus of more than 20,500 students representing 48 states and 89 nations.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges, Georgia Southern offers a comprehensive array of baccalaureate degrees and selected master's and doctoral programs through eight colleges: Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Information Technology, Health and Human Sciences, Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, Public Health, Science and Mathematics, and Graduate Studies. With an emphasis on academic distinction, excellent teaching, research, and student success, Georgia Southern offers both undergraduate and graduate students an attractive campus environment that encourages learning, discovery, and personal growth.

Founded in 1906, Georgia Southern lays claim to being the most beautiful campus in the state. Comprising more than 900 acres, the University grounds are an arboretum-like treasure featuring gently rolling lawns, scenic ponds, and soaring pines. Located in Statesboro, a safe Main Street community of approximately 30,000 residents not far from Savannah and Hilton Head Island, Georgia Southern provides the benefits of a major university with the feeling of a smaller college.

Within this setting, the Department of Political Science and International Studies is committed to providing students with significant educational opportunities offering an international perspective—opportunities that recognize the economic, social, and ecological concerns, and the urgent need for more effective methods of international and intercultural cooperation. The Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor is expected to contribute content and teaching expertise to the Department's academic degree programs.

Position Description. Reporting to the Chair of the Department, the Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor will be responsible for a 5/5 teaching load. Teaching assignments may include Introduction to International Studies and upper-division courses in the candidate's area of expertise. All limited-term positions are non-tenure track, academic (10 month) year appointments. Appointments are for one year only, although there is the possibility of reappointment should funding permit and based upon satisfactory performance. (All reappointments are made on a one year basis.) The salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Required Qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in International Studies or closely related field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in International Studies, by August 1, 2016.
- Evidence of full-time college/university teaching excellence.
- Evidence of teaching excellence in interdisciplinary courses.
- Ability to teach a range of International Studies courses.
- Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Topical expertise in Cultural Studies, Development, Aid, Sustainability, and/or Comparative Military/Security Studies.
- Experience teaching online.

Screening of applications begins June 15, 2016, and continues until the position is filled. The preferred position starting date is August 1, 2016. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; a curriculum vitae; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least three professional references. Other documentation may be requested. Only complete applications and applications submitted electronically will be considered. Finalists will be required to submit to a background investigation. Applications and nominations should be sent to:

Barry Balleck, Search Chair, Search #30083
 Department of Political Science and International Studies
 Georgia Southern University
 P.O. Box 8101
 Statesboro, GA 30460-8101
 Electronic mail: bballeck@georgiasouthern.edu
 Telephone: 912-478-0571

More information about the institution is available through <http://www.georgiasouthern.edu> or <http://www.georgiasouthern.edu/polisci/>. Georgia Southern University seeks to recruit individuals who are committed to working in diverse academic and professional communities and who are committed to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and professional service within the University and beyond. The names of applicants and nominees, vitae, and other non-evaluative information may be subject to public inspection under the Georgia Open Records Act. Georgia Southern University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution. Individuals who need reasonable accommodations under the ADA to participate in the search process should contact the Associate Provost.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 1502

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer and Counterterrorism Option Director, MPS-HLS
Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Administration

Lecturer and Counterterrorism Option Director, MPS-HLS

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year (with good possibility of renewal), non-tenure track position as Lecturer and Director for the soon-to-be created Counterterrorism Option in the interdisciplinary Master of Professional Studies in Homeland Security (MPS-HLS) online degree program. The position entails the design and teaching of Master's level online coursework on terrorism and counterterrorism as well as management of and advising within the planned Counterterrorism Option.

Candidates should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or in other disciplines related to Terrorism and Homeland Security, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. Professional experience in counterterrorism fields and/or on-line teaching experience is preferred.

For a more detailed description of the Master of Professional Studies in Homeland Security (MPS-HLS) program in which the Counterterrorism Option will be located, please visit the website: <http://www.worldcampus.psu.edu/degrees-and-certificates/homeland-security/overview>. To learn more about the Political Science department, please visit our website at <http://polisci.la.psu.edu/>.

Application review will begin on June 15, and will continue until the position is filled. The start date for the position is August 12, 2016. Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://psu.jobs/job/63846> Please include in your application the following: a letter of application detailing relevant qualifications for the position, a current CV, a writing sample, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations. All candidates should also request three letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: arp20@psu.edu.

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1503

College of William & Mary

Rank: Visiting Instructor/Asst Professor of Comparative/International Politics

The Department of Government of the College of William & Mary invites applicants for a one-year non-tenure track Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor position that will begin on August 10, 2016. Ph.D. in hand by start of the appointment, but ABDs will be considered. We seek an individual with demonstrated experience in teaching comparative politics and international relations. The successful applicant will be expected to be an effective teacher and will have a 3-3 teaching load (two preps per semester). Ability to teach introductory public policy or research methods is desirable but not required.

The Department of Government consists of 25 full-time faculty members, and graduates more than 180 students each year with a major in Government. Students majoring in International Relations and Public Policy complete a substantial number of their courses in the Department of Government. The Department is a major contributor to an interdisciplinary Masters in Public Policy program. The College of William & Mary, the second oldest university in the United States, is one of the nation's most selective institutions. It enrolls approximately 6,000 undergraduates and 2,500 graduate and professional school students.

Candidates must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit curriculum vitae, transcript, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, course evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness and a chapter-length or article-length sample of recent scholarship. Applicants will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by us with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. To insure full consideration, materials must be submitted by June 30. Applications received after that date will be considered if needed. Information on the faculty and Department of Government may be found at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1500

Columbia University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Institute for Religion, Culture and Public Life invites applications for postdoctoral scholar positions, for the 2016-2017 academic year. Renewal for the 2017-2018 academic year is possible, contingent on satisfactory performance and funding.

The Institute for Religion, Culture and Public Life at Columbia University supports academic research, teaching, and scholarship on the study of religion, culture, and social difference at Columbia University. In addition, it convenes academic conferences, public forums, and collaborative programming to support and extend academic and scholarly understanding of these topics, and to disseminate and distribute such new understandings to broader publics and communities.

Candidates must have received the PhD between August 31, 2013 and August 31, 2016 in a discipline engaged with the interdisciplinary study of religion. The Institute is particularly interested in candidates whose research engages critical, interpretive, historical, and genealogical approaches that challenge traditional disciplinary boundaries and who are studying important global issues in the following thematic areas:

Islam in the 21st Century
Religion and Politics in the Middle East
Religion in American Public Life
Democracy, Secularism and Pluralism
Religion and Sexuality
Religion and Journalism

Under the mentorship of an IRCPL faculty member, postdoctoral research scholars are expected to further develop and make progress on a proposed research project, teach one class and participate in the intellectual life of IRCPL and Columbia University.

This is a full time salaried position with benefits. Review of applications begins on June 9th, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled. All applications must be submitted through Columbia University's online Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) and must include:

--Cover Letter

--Curriculum Vitae

--Dissertation Abstract

--Research Proposal: A two-page research plan for the scholarship period. This may include, but should extend beyond, revisions to the dissertation.

--Teaching Statement: Titles and short descriptions (one or two paragraphs each) of at least two undergraduate courses that you could teach under the auspices of your proposed departmental affiliation. Please note that we are not requesting a statement of teaching philosophy or full syllabi at this point. (This will be uploaded as Other Document 1).

--Writing Sample: Only one sample equivalent to a single journal article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter. The writing sample may be published or unpublished. It must be in English. The maximum length is 50 pages.

--Recommendation(s): One academic reference familiar with your research is required. You may submit an additional recommendation but it is not required.

For more information and to apply, please go to academicjobs.columbia.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=62783

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1496

East Carolina University

Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor

Job Description: The Department of Political Science at East Carolina University, Greenville, NC, invites applications for a one-year position at the rank of Teaching Assistant Professor to begin August 15, 2016. This is an undergraduate teaching position with a 4:4 teaching load.

The Department is composed of fourteen full-time faculty. It offers BS and BA degrees in Political Science and minors in Political Science, Leadership Studies and Security Studies at the undergraduate level. At the graduate level, it offers a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration degree, a Master of Science in Security Studies and certificates in public management and security studies. The Department is also a major contributor to the interdisciplinary graduate and undergraduate programs in international studies. The Department emphasizes excellent teaching, quality research, and a tradition of service to the community, university, and discipline. More information about the department can be found at its home page: <http://www.ecu.edu/polsci>.

Minimum Requirements: Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Political Science is expected but ABD candidates may be considered for appointment at the rank of Teaching Instructor. Qualifying degrees must be received from appropriately accredited institutions. Teaching experience at the undergraduate level—both in the classroom and online—is mandatory. The individual chosen must be able to teach Introduction to Comparative Politics, Introduction to International Relations, and courses in European politics.

Preferred Characteristics: Preference will be given to candidates who can also teach one or more courses in at least one of the following areas: Eurasia; the Middle East; South Asia; and/or East Asia. Applicants should have a demonstrated academic background in the sub-fields and provide evidence of quality teaching experience.

Instructions to Apply: To apply, complete a candidate profile and submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita and statement of research interests and teaching experience/philosophy online at www.jobs.ecu.edu. Arrange for three current letters of reference to be sent to: Dr. Carmine Scavo, Chair, Comparative/IR Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Mail Stop 564, East Carolina University, Greenville, NC 27858-4353 (scavoc@ecu.edu). Official transcripts are required upon employment. Review of applications will begin on June 24, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Equal Opportunity Statement:

East Carolina University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to their race/ethnicity, color, genetic information, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, political affiliation, or veteran status. Individuals requesting accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act (ADAAA) should contact the Department of Disability Support Services at (252) 737-1016 (Voice/TTY). Proper documentation of identity and employability is required at the time of employment.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/24/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1498

University of Oxford

Rank: Department Lecturer in International Relations in association with St Catherine's College

The Department of Politics and International Relations is seeking to appoint a full-time fixed term Departmental Lecturer in International Relations in association with St Catherine's College. The teaching and research topic will be focused on twentieth century international history including the era of the Cold War and the two World Wars. Based in Oxford, this is a fixed term appointment for approximately five years commencing 1 September 2016 or as soon as possible thereafter.

The main duties of the Departmental Lecturer will be to engage in independent research in International Relations; to take responsibility for the organisation, supervision and teaching of Politics to undergraduates at St Catherine's College; to contribute to Departmental teaching and supervision at the undergraduate and graduate level; to participate in College and Departmental administration; and to contribute to the examining and admissions processes as necessary.

Office space and other facilities will be provided in the Department of Politics and International Relations. The post-holder will be elected to a Fellowship by Special Election with Governing Body membership at St Catherine's College and will be a member of the St Catherine's College Senior Common Room with rights of Common Table (i.e.

breakfast, lunch and dinner are provided free of charge on weekdays and when the College is open).

The successful candidate will hold a doctorate in a relevant subject area and will have a strong record of independent research and publication at an international level and preference will be given to candidates with specialist research and teaching capacity that includes twentieth century international history. The ability to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching to high-achieving and challenging students is essential for this role. The post-holder will also require good communication, interpersonal, pastoral and organisational skills.

The closing date for applications is noon, UK time on Thursday 23 June 2016.

Interviews will take place on Monday 1st August 2016.

To apply for this role and for further details, please click on this link: <http://www.politics.ox.ac.uk/index.php/about/vacancies.html>

Applications for this vacancy are to be made online, quoting reference 123436.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/24/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1494

Department of Defense

Rank: Social Science Researcher

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Defense, Research Methods, Quantitative Methods

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC), a functional component of the U.S. Strategic Command (USSTRATCOM) uses information provided by the intelligence community to analyze and recommend solutions to some of the most complex problems faced by our military and civilian leaders. JWAC supports both crisis operations and contingency planning. JWAC is seeking motivated individuals who are able to lead a research project aimed at developing advanced tools and methods for defense analysis. Ideal candidates will have experience in political economy, quantitative and formal methods, and analysis of organizational dynamics.

We offer generous benefits (medical, leave, retirement) and competitive pay. We are hiring at the GS-9/11 level in a career ladder position with non-competitive promotion to GS-13 as the employee matriculates to higher performance standards. U.S. citizenship, the ability to attain a TS/SCI clearance, and adherence to drug-testing standards are required for all positions.

To apply visit our website at www.jwac.mil/careers and click on the link titled JWAC Recruiting to submit a resume to our recruitment team directly. Please reference APSA job announcement in the subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/23/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1486

London School of EconomicsRank: LSE Fellow in EU and International Relations Theory

Department of International Relations

LSE Fellow in EU and International Relations Theory

Salary from £33,784 to £40,867 pa inclusive

This is a fixed term appointment for 13 months until 30 September 2017, with the option of annual renewal to a maximum appointment of three years.

You will contribute to core and specialist teaching on the MSc International Relations programme.

Candidates should have completed a PhD. You should have a broad background in International Relations and specialist expertise in the politics of the EU and contemporary International Relations Theory. You should have relevant teaching experience and a promising research profile.

We offer an occupational pension scheme, generous annual leave and excellent training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1554501.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 17 June 2016 (23.59 UK time). Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Interviews will be held in early July 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/17/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1481

London School of EconomicsRank: LSE Fellow in International Political Economy (International Trade)

Department of International Relations

LSE Fellow in International Political Economy (International Trade)

Salary from £33,784 to £40,867 pa inclusive

This is a fixed term appointment for 13 months until 30 September 2017 with the option of annual renewal to a maximum appointment of three years.

You will contribute to core and specialist teaching on the MSc International Political Economy and to specialist teaching on the BSc International Relations.

Candidates should have completed a PhD. You should have a broad background in International Political Economy, be able to contribute to core and specialist teaching at the MSc and undergraduate level, including 'The Political Economy of International Trade' and 'Economic Diplomacy'. You should have relevant teaching experience and a promising research profile.

We offer an occupational pension scheme, generous annual leave and excellent training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1554505.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 17 June 2016 (23.59 UK time). Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Interviews will be held in early July 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/17/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1482

London School of EconomicsRank: LSE Fellow in International Political Economy (Money in the World Economy)

Department of International Relations

LSE Fellow in International Political Economy (Money in the World Economy)

Salary from £33,784 to £40,867 pa inclusive

This is a fixed term appointment for 13 months until 30 September 2017 with the option of annual renewal to a maximum appointment of three years.

You will contribute to core and specialist teaching on the MSc International Political Economy and to specialist teaching on the BSc International Relations. Candidates should have completed a PhD. You should have a broad background in International Political Economy, be able to contribute to core and specialist teaching at the MSc and undergraduate level, including 'The Politics of Money in the World Economy'. You should have relevant teaching experience and a promising research profile.

We offer an occupational pension scheme, generous annual leave and excellent training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1554503.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 17 June 2016 (23.59 UK time). Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Interviews will be held in early July 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/17/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1483

London School of Economics

Rank: LSE Fellow in International Relations (US Foreign Policy and Politics)

Department of International Relations

LSE Fellow in International Relations (US Foreign Policy and Politics)

Salary from £33,784 to £40,867 pa inclusive

This is a fixed term appointment for 13 months until 30 September 2017 with the possibility of annual renewal to a maximum appointment of three years.

You will contribute to teaching on the BSc and MSc International Relations programme and scholarly research.

Candidates should have completed a PhD. You should have a broad background in International Relations and/or Government with specialist expertise on US foreign policy and politics. You should have relevant teaching experience, outstanding research skills, and exceptional potential for producing high quality scholarship.

We offer an occupational pension scheme, generous annual leave and excellent training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1554482.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 17 June 2016 (23.59 UK time). Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Interviews will be held in early July 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/17/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1484

London School of Economics

Rank: LSE Fellow in International Relations Theory

Department of International Relations

LSE Fellow in International Relations Theory

Salary from £33,784 to £40,867 pa inclusive

This is a fixed term appointment for 13 months until 30 September 2017 with the option of annual renewal to a maximum appointment of three years.

You will contribute to core and specialist teaching on the MSc International Relations Theory programme.

Candidates should have completed a PhD. You should have a broad background in International Relations and specialist expertise in International Relations Theory. You should have relevant teaching experience and a promising research profile.

We offer an occupational pension scheme, generous annual leave and excellent training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1554510.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 17 June 2016 (23.59 UK time). Regrettably, we are unable to accept any late applications.

Interviews will be held in early July 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/17/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1485

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Demonstrated expertise as a teacher of Political Science, enthusiastic commitment to undergraduate instruction at all levels.

Required Qualifications: Ability to teach the following courses: Civil War and Conflict Resolution, Human Rights, Social Science Research Methods, State and Society in the Non-Western World. Other courses that the instructor may be asked to teach include International Politics, Global Political Economy, US Foreign Policy, and Women and Politics.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1476

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNY Geneseo is seeking applicants for a Visiting Assistant Professor position to begin August, 2016. The appointment is for one year. Duties of the position include:

- Teach undergraduate courses in political science, including courses in comparative politics such as Civil War and Conflict Resolution, Human Rights, and State and Society in the Non-Western World, and a course in social science research methods.
- Opportunity to conduct research in area of interest.
- Contribute to academic advisement to students.
- Contribute to department functioning through committee service.
- Contribute service to the discipline and/or community.

Required Qualifications

- PhD or ABD in Political Science at time of appointment.
- Primary expertise in comparative politics.
- Evidence of preparation to teach undergraduate courses in comparative politics, international politics and social science research methods.

Preferred Qualifications:

- PhD in Political Science, conferred by August 2016.

- Evidence of an active scholarly program in political science.
- Evidence of successful college teaching.

Special Instructions to Applicant

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter that addresses teaching and research qualifications and a CV. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit a letter at the time application is completed.

Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt. To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by June 6, 2016. The final date that letters of reference will be accepted is June 6, 2016.

To apply, submit an online faculty application at <https://jobs.geneseo.edu>. The application will consist of a letter of interest, a vita, a statement of teaching philosophy, writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Additionally, three letters of reference, with at least one addressing teaching, must be mailed to:

Search Committee
Department of Political Science and International Relations
SUNY Geneseo
1 College Circle
Geneseo, NY 14454

All applications completed by June 6, 2016 are guaranteed full consideration. All applicants are subject to criminal background checks. SUNY Geneseo is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity, Equal Access Employer committed to recruiting, supporting, and fostering a diverse community of outstanding faculty, staff, and students. The college actively seeks applications from women and members of under-represented groups.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1477

University of California, Davis

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Davis invites applications for a temporary teaching position in International Relations for the 2016-2017 academic year. Availability of this position depends upon final administrative approval and the teaching needs of the department. The Department seeks applicants with demonstrated research and teaching expertise. A completed Ph.D. is required. This position is covered by a Collective Bargaining Unit.

The appointee will offer up to five courses over three quarters. The core courses to be taught will be in the area of International Relations. Compensation is commensurate with ability and experience. Candidates should electronically submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability, two letters of reference, and a writing sample to: <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF00978>. To ensure review of your application, please submit all materials by May 27, 2016 but materials will be accepted until the position is filled.

The University of California, Davis and the Department are interested in candidates who are committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports equality and diversity. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 6/30/2016

Date Posted: 5/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1470

Duke University

Rank: postdoctoral associate

Post-Doctoral

Subfields: Political behavior, institutions, and/or political economy.

The Department of Political Science at Duke University invites applications for a postdoctoral position in political behavior, institutions and/or political economy. This is a full-time one-year position beginning in August of 2016. Salary will be commensurate with experience and qualifications. The post doc will be under the direction of Mathew D McCubbins, the Ruth F. De Varney Professor of Political Science and Professor of Law (www.mccubbins.us). The successful candidate must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree by August 2016. Applicants who do not currently have their Ph.D. in hand must provide a statement from their committee attesting that all requirements will be completed by August 2016.

Applications (including a statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae, a sample of research, and three letters of recommendation) should be sent to Mat McCubbins, Department of Political Science, Duke University, Box 90204, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Durham NC 27708-0204 before May 20, 2016, or by email to Mathew.mccubbins@duke.edu. Duke University is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and we encourage applications from women and minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Date Posted: 5/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1465

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professors in International Affairs

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (National University of Singapore), a premier public policy institution in Asia, invites applications for full-time tenure track positions at the Assistant and Associate Professor level in International Relations/Comparative Politics. Candidates are expected to demonstrate evidence of a high level of competence in policy-relevant, theoretically sound, and empirically grounded research in International Relations/Comparative Politics, be inter-disciplinary in their orientation, and focused primarily on Asia. The School is interested in candidates with a strong commitment to publishing at the highest level and would particularly welcome applications with a demonstrated record of research excellence. As the School will launch a new 2-year Master in International Affairs (MIA) in 2017, we are keen to hire faculty who will contribute energetically to the new programme.

Candidates should possess the following: a PhD degree in the relevant discipline; have a commitment to research and teaching excellence; and an ability to engage with policy and research communities in Asia and around the world.

Application Procedure

Applicants should submit, in electronic form (MS Word or PDF file), the following:

- ? Cover note
- ? Detailed curriculum vitae
- ? Names of three references
- ? Brief statement of past and current research
- ? Top 5 publications
- ? Three courses that you would be interested in teaching (please refer to <http://lkyspp.nus.edu.sg/graduateprogrammes/> for the list of courses)

Those who have a teaching record should submit the following as well:

- ? Teaching dossier including teaching evaluations (for those who have a teaching record)
- ? Representative samples of course outlines (for those who have a teaching record)

Please send the electronic submission to Ms Laura Lim, sppbox92@nus.edu.sg.

Applicants may submit hard copies to the following address:

Ms Laura Lim
Senior Associate Director, Human Resources
Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy
National University of Singapore
469C Bukit Timah Road
Singapore 259772

The deadline for applications is June 30, 2016. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified. Interested candidates are encouraged to find out more about the National University of Singapore and the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy at www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg or to email Kanti Bajpai, Chair of the Faculty Recruitment Committee (sppkpb@nus.edu.sg).

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/30/2016

Date Posted: 5/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1456

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: American Politics/IR/Research Methods Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full time, non-tenure track position to teach undergraduate classes in the fields of American Politics, International Relations, Race and Ethnicity, and/or Research Methods, beginning September 1, 2016. Appointment will be for one academic year at the Lecturer/Instructor rank, with possible renewal based on need and instructional performance. The appointment entails a 6 course teaching load (3/3) per academic year, a starting salary of $55,000, and includes full health and pension benefits. A PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's undergraduate curriculum, such as American Government, the Presidency, Psychology and Politics, Public Opinion, Introduction to International Relations, Race and Ethnic Politics, Latino Politics, Democratic Political Theory, Comparative Public Policy, Contemporary Politics of the Middle East, Israeli Politics, and Political Science Research Methods.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, list of courses taught, sample syllabi, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/35104> Review of applicants will begin on May 16 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1451

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: United Nations Global Policy Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full time, non-tenure track position to teach in the our United Nations and Global Policy Studies Master's Program, beginning Sept. 1, 2016. Appointment will be for one academic year at the Lecturer/Instructor or Assistant Teaching Professor rank, depending on qualifications, with possible renewal based on need and instructional performance. The appointment entails a 5 course teaching load (3/2 or 2/3) per academic year, a starting salary of $55,000 - $60,000, and includes full health and pension benefits. A PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's new MA Program in Political Science – United Nations and Global Policy Studies, and should be prepared to teach courses on the impact of the United Nations on global affairs, including its role in democracy promotion, human rights, gender equality, and sustainable development. Candidates who have either been employed by the United Nations and/or have participated in cooperative projects with the organization are especially encouraged to apply.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, list of courses taught, sample syllabi, a writing sample in the applicant's central area of research, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/35105> Review of applicants will begin on May 16 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/5/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1452

University of Illinois, Chicago
Rank: Assistant Clinical Professor of International Relations

Clinical Assistant Professor in International Relations University of Illinois at Chicago Department of Political Science
 1007 W. Harrison Street Room 1126C
 Chicago, IL 60607-7137

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois at Chicago invites applications for a position at the Clinical Assistant Professor level in international relations beginning fall 2016 subject to budgetary approval. The position is open with respect to field of specialization within international relations and we welcome candidates with additional skills and specializations such as methodology, comparative politics, or political theory. We seek candidates with PhD in hand or very near completion, a research agenda, and commitment to teaching. Evidence of the candidate's research performance or promise and appropriate teaching skills should be provided. IR Clinical faculty members are expected to teach 3 courses per semester and, in fall, must be prepared to teach an international relations introductory level course and a senior seminar with a research paper component. To apply please complete an online application at <https://jobs.uic.edu> click on the job board then the position and upload a statement of research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and copies of publication or papers. For fullest consideration please apply by May 31, 2016.

The University of Illinois at Chicago is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer, dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching in a multi-cultural environment. We strongly encourage applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities and covered veterans. The University of Illinois may conduct background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a conditional offer. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: 5/31/2016
Date Posted: 5/5/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1450

University of West Florida
Rank: Postdoctoral Associate in Cybersecurity and National Security

The Department of Government at the University of West Florida seeks a Postdoctoral Associate in the field of Cybersecurity as it pertains to National Security (124520). The Postdoctoral Associate will pursue research, grants, and community partnerships in security studies with emphasis on cybersecurity with emphasis on security as it relates to cybersecurity, government policy on cybersecurity, and threat assessment and response implications related to cybersecurity. They will build connections with military, law enforcement, government officials, and large local businesses on issues of cybersecurity to assess their needs and how we can support them with research, networking, and collaborative problem-solving. They will work collaboratively with faculty in the Department of Government specializing in Security Studies and with UWF's Center for Cybersecurity on research. Additionally, they will give lectures and hosting panel discussions and mini-conferences on this topic.

Minimum qualifications: Doctoral degree from an accredited institution or the highest degree appropriate in the field of specialization with a demonstrated record of achievement in teaching, academic research, and service.

The position requires a Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline. The ideal candidate will have specialization in the areas of security studies / cybersecurity with demonstrated ability in scholarly networking and conference participation on the topic of security studies / cybersecurity. Additional qualifications desired would include demonstrated ability or experience with engagement of community partners and a record of grant-writing.

Salary range is $38,000 - $42,000. The preferred response date to apply is 7/29/16.

Application: Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.uwf.edu>. Be prepared to attach your curriculum vitae, letter of applicant/interest, unofficial transcripts, and name/contact information for three references in electronic format.

The University of West Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Access/Affirmative Action employer. Any individual requiring special accommodations to apply is requested to advise UWF by contacting ADA Compliance at 1-850-474-2059 (voice) or 1 850 857 6114 (TTY). A criminal background check is required for successful candidates. E-Verify requirements may apply for employment in certain positions. All applications for employment at the University are subject to Florida public records law.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/5/2016
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 1453

Lincoln University of Missouri
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Lincoln University of Missouri invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science beginning August 2016. Areas of specialization include Comparative Politics and International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will also include the Introduction to American Government course.

Lincoln's political science program is part of an interdisciplinary department that includes history and philosophy. The successful candidate will be a passionate teacher, mentor, and developer of innovative curriculum. Other job responsibilities include Model UN faculty advisor and Study Abroad participant.

Ph.D. preferred; ABD considered with college level teaching experience.

Application materials should be submitted electronically and include: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of previous teaching experience and three letters of reference. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable during screening. Official transcripts are required prior to employment.

Deadline for applications is July 1, 2016.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Amy Gossett at gossetta@lincolnu.edu.

Lincoln University is a HBCU, land-grant, public university with enrollment of 3000 students and an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 7/1/2016

Date Posted: 5/2/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1447

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholars

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University seeks applicants for a fellowship to support research on international relations. Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their doctoral degrees within the three years prior to the start of the fellowship, or who will complete their PhD by August 1, 2016. The position involves a year of supported research at Vanderbilt University starting at the beginning of the 2016-17 academic year. The International Relations subfield at Vanderbilt emphasizes theoretically novel research that uses analytically rigorous research methods to study (1) the political economy of conflict and (2) the role of international factors in national governance and state capacity. Priority will be given to interesting research that builds synergies within the department. Postdoctoral Scholars will be expected to teach one course per semester during their time at Vanderbilt. Successful applicants will be given a competitive salary, health care benefits, office space, computing resources, and a research fund.

Applicants should submit a vita and a cover letter describing your research project and what you hope to accomplish while at Vanderbilt. A graduate school transcript, a writing sample, teaching statement, evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available, and letters of reference are also required. Please submit all materials electronically at Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7245>). The department will begin reviewing files as early as May 1, 2016. To assure full consideration, complete applications should be received by May 15, 2016, but earlier applications are welcomed. Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Women, minorities, and members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Vanderbilt University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1427

Stanford University

Rank: Research Associate

The Japan Program at the Walter H. Shorenstein Asia Pacific Research Center is seeking a research associate with a Ph.D. in political science, economics, or related areas to assist in teaching a course on Contemporary Japan.

The position is one-year, fixed-term, renewable based on performance and funding availability. Start date September 1, 2016.

The research associate will assist faculty members of the Japan Program in teaching a course on contemporary Japan:

- Lecture and lead class discussions
- Work with guest instructors
- Hold office hours for students
- Develop topics for short papers and assist faculty instructors with evaluation process
- Promote student awareness of course related seminars and panel discussions that are occurring within APARC and other centers at FSI

The research associate will help the Japan Program organize an international conference/dialogue on womenomics that will be held in November 2016:

- Work with the PI and team to identify speakers and dialogue participants
- Invite speakers and dialogue participants and communicate agenda and logistics
- Participate in the conference/dialogue
- Author, write and publish a detailed report on the conference/dialogue
- Publish the report on the Japan Program website

The research associate will contribute to the Japan Program:

- Conduct his/her own research related to Japan
 - Present his/her own research at Japan Program colloquium and/or the Japan Lunch
 - Interact with other researchers at the Japan Program and collaborate on research
 - Help other research and outreach projects at the Japan Program
- Qualifications

Application Process:

- For consideration, please submit curriculum vitae, cover letter, two writing samples on relevant topics, and the names and contact information of three references by May 31, 2016
- A background check will be required for the final candidate

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and academic staff. It welcomes nominations of and applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

Research Scholar - Requisition ID: 70637

To apply, please click on the following link and search by req ID: <http://stanfordcareers.stanford.edu/job-search>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 5/31/2016

Date Posted: 4/22/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1421

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in International Relations for a one-year appointment as a visiting assistant professor. Successful applicants will be expected to teach two courses per semester during their time at Vanderbilt. Successful applicants will be given a competitive salary, health care benefits, office space, computing resources, and a research fund. The appointment will begin Fall 2016. The department will begin reviewing files as early as April 25, 2016. To assure full consideration, complete applications should be received by May 6, 2016, but earlier applications are welcomed. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by Fall 2016.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Women, minorities, and members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Vanderbilt University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.

All applicants can apply for this position by submitting a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), and three letters of reference electronically at Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7236>).

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1420

Brigham Young University

Rank: Visiting Faculty

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a one-year full-time visiting position from well-qualified candidates with a completed or nearly completed Ph.D. in the areas of comparative politics or international relations.

The appointment would begin in Fall 2016.

Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience.

Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's Honor Code and Dress & Grooming Standards.

To apply, please go to yjobs.byu.edu/postings/9616 or go to yjobs.byu.edu and search for Political Science - Visiting Faculty (160089). Review of applicants to begin immediately.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1400

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations or Comparative Politics

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations or Comparative Politics to begin in the 2016-17 academic year. Expected to teach introductory course in Comparative Politics "Modern World Governments," an advanced course on the politics in the Middle East, and another course in the area of specialty. Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee. Strong candidates will have independent teaching experience. Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), samples of scholarly writing to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2494>. Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on March 28, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1363

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations, open with respect to subfield, but particularly interested in gender and International Relations, or conflict. Expected to teach introductory course in World Politics, upper-level international law, and another advanced course which could include international organization, or a course in the area of specialty.

Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee.

Strong candidates will have independent teaching experience. Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching excellence (if available, as other document), samples of scholarly writing to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2464>. Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on March 21, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1341

New School for Social Research

Rank: Executive Director of the Zolberg Institute for Migration and Mobility

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The New School for Social Research in New York City seeks to fill an endowed faculty chair with a senior figure in the field of migration. The selected candidate will play a leading role as Executive Director of the Zolberg Institute for Migration and Mobility.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, contact information of four references, and a sample of published work to <https://careers.newschool.edu/postings/12745>. Application reviews begin immediately and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

The New School is committed to maintaining a diverse educational and creative community, a policy of equal opportunity in all its activities and programs, including employment. Applications from members of historically underrepresented groups are welcome. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, physical handicap, veteran or marital status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1245

Le Moyne College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Le Moyne College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Science, beginning Fall 2016. We seek a dynamic teacher and scholar specializing in International Political Economy (from either an International Relations or Comparative Politics perspective). The suitable candidate will have a broad background in International Political Economy and a solid background in Economics. Teaching responsibilities will include introductory and advanced courses in IPE/related fields and introductory courses in Economics. The opportunity also exists to contribute to our interdisciplinary programs in Peace and Global Studies, and to the Core Curriculum at the College. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is strongly preferred. The candidate should be able to show excellence in teaching, and evidence of an active scholarly agenda. We are particularly interested in candidates who share the Le Moyne College mission and commitment to social justice.

To apply, applicants should send a letter of application including teaching experience and research agenda, a CV, an unofficial graduate transcript, and three professional references. Also please submit a statement of your teaching philosophy. Documentation may be submitted to: Diann D. Ferris, Le Moyne College, 1419 Salt Springs Road, Grewen Hall, 2nd Floor (Human Resources), Syracuse, NY 13214 or by following the application instructions (click the 'Apply Now' button) found on our website at www.lemoyne.edu/employment. Review of applications will begin on February 1st and continue until the position is filled. For further information, please contact Dr. Delia Popescu at atpopescd@lemoyne.edu. Le Moyne College is an equal opportunity employer and strongly encourages women, persons of color, and Jesuits to apply for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/18/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1145

Bowdoin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor of International Relations

The Department of Government and Legal Studies invites applications for a one-year position in International Relations at the Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor level for the 2016-17 academic year. A second year is possible pending administrative approval. We seek candidates able to offer a range of courses in international relations, including introduction to international relations. Advanced ABDs or recent Ph.D.s are welcome to apply. Teaching load is two courses each semester.

Bowdoin College accepts only electronic submissions. Please visit <https://careers.bowdoin.edu> to submit letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names and contact information for three references who have agreed to provide letters of recommendation upon request.

Review of applications will begin on January 20, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

A highly selective liberal arts college on the Maine coast with a diverse student body made up of 31% students of color, 5% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students, Bowdoin College is committed to equality and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage inquiries from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural and ethnic diversity of our college. Bowdoin College does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, creed, color, religion, marital status, gender identity and/or expression, sexual orientation, veteran status, national origin, or disability status in employment, or in our education programs. For further information about the college please visit our website: <http://www.bowdoin.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 1/20/2016
Date Posted: 12/2/2015
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1067

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor of National Security
Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, American Government and Politics
Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Political Science Department invites applicants for the position of Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) of National Security to begin as early as Fall 2016. Past incumbents have been recognized national security experts who have added perspective and depth to their students' academic experience. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate teaching and an ability to lead upper level political science courses related to topics such as: environmental security, regional security, terrorism, cybersecurity, executive privilege, arms proliferation and arms control. Assisting midshipmen with research, offering seminars and lectures and, inviting guest speakers are among the position's objectives.

The DVP position is for two years commencing in August 2016. It is non-tenure track and non-renewable. The position is administered by the Office of the Academic Dean which provides the DVP with an office and administrative support.

Applications submitted by November 1, 2015 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

For more information about the position and to apply, please go to www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/DVPNationalSec.php

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2015
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 776

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in PSPA beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in International Relations. Other subfield interests are open. Ph.D. in political science with emphasis in International Relations. ABD status will be considered but must possess a Ph.D. degree by the time of appointment.

All applicants must apply on-line at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9222) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 742

METHODOLOGY

Columbia University

Rank: Adjunct Professor

The Quantitative Methods in the Social Sciences (QMSS) MA Program offered through Columbia University's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences invites applications for one-semester part-time adjunct professor positions for a number of our courses in the fall of 2016, from September 1, 2016 to December 31, 2016. Positive performance may lead to further teaching opportunities.

Our courses in need of instructors are:

Theory and Methodology for the Social Sciences:

This course focuses on foundational ideas of social science research, including strengths and weaknesses of different research designs, interpretation of data drawn from contemporary and historical contexts, and strategies for evaluating evidence. Students write memos, make presentations and write a final research proposal for the course.

Data Mining for the Social Sciences: This course is divided into three parts: 1) programming best practices and exploratory data analysis; 2) supervised learning including regression and classification methods; and 3) unsupervised learning and clustering methods. The course is taught using R.

Thesis Course: This course aids students as they conduct original statistical research, present their ideas and write up their results.

A Ph.D. in a social science or a related field, and teaching experience, is required. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. A CV, cover letter, list of professional references and teaching evaluations (if available) should be sent as PDF files to qmss@columbia.edu with the subject line "Fall 2016 Adjunct Instructor Application." An optional writing sample and statement of teaching philosophy may also be included.

About QMSS

QMSS of Columbia University is one of the oldest interdisciplinary applied statistics MA programs of its kind, with more than 15 years of training graduate students. We count hundreds of data scientists, senior analysts and academic researchers among our alumni. We are constantly striving to develop new ways to push the boundaries of where social science and data science meet at Columbia.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/23/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1489

Department of Defense

Rank: Social Science Researcher

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Defense, Research Methods, Quantitative Methods

The Joint Warfare Analysis Center (JWAC), a functional component of the U.S. Strategic Command (USSTRATCOM) uses information provided by the intelligence community to analyze and recommend solutions to some of the most complex problems faced by our military and civilian leaders. JWAC supports both crisis operations and contingency planning. JWAC is seeking motivated individuals who are able to lead a research project aimed at developing advanced tools and methods for defense analysis. Ideal candidates will have experience in political economy, quantitative and formal methods, and analysis of organizational dynamics.

We offer generous benefits (medical, leave, retirement) and competitive pay. We are hiring at the GS-9/11 level in a career ladder position with non-competitive promotion to GS-13 as the employee matriculates to higher performance standards. U.S. citizenship, the ability to attain a TS/SCI clearance, and adherence to drug-testing standards are required for all positions.

To apply visit our website at www.jwac.mil/careers and click on the link titled JWAC Recruiting to submit a resume to our recruitment team directly. Please reference APSA job announcement in the subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/23/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1486

Hope College

Rank: Term Position in American and Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Hope College invites applications for one or more term positions for the 2016-17 academic year. We welcome applications from candidates able to teach in one or more of the following areas: American politics and institutions, research methods, and comparative politics (any focus other than Africa). Hope College is a Christian, co-educational, residential liberal arts college affiliated with the Reformed Church in America.

Qualifications

PhDs and/or ABDs who have made substantial progress on the dissertation are welcome to apply. Candidates should have demonstrated an ability to combine teaching excellence with genuine scholarly promise, and should be committed to the character and goals of a liberal arts college with a Christian perspective.

Application Instructions

Candidates will email a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copies of undergraduate and graduate school transcripts (unofficial versions are okay for this stage of the search), and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching competency. In addition, please arrange for three references to email letters of recommendation to Ryden@hope.edu.

About Hope College

Hope College has about 3,300 students and 270 full time faculty. It is located in Holland, Michigan, a charming city of 35,000 located on the shores of Lake Michigan a half hour from Grand Rapids and within several hours of Ann Arbor and Chicago. Holland is set in an urban area of approximately 100,000, which is enriched by a significant Latino, Asian and African American population. Hope College places a high priority on sustaining a supportive environment that recognizes the importance of having a diverse faculty and staff to better prepare our students for successful careers in our multi-cultural nation and global community. Applications from qualified persons with diverse backgrounds and cultures, including women and persons of color are, therefore, especially welcomed. Hope College complies with federal and state requirements for nondiscrimination in employment.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1490

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: American Politics/IR/Research Methods Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full time, non-tenure track position to teach undergraduate classes in the fields of American Politics, International Relations, Race and Ethnicity, and/or Research Methods, beginning September 1, 2016. Appointment will be for one academic year at the Lecturer/Instructor rank, with possible renewal based on need and instructional performance. The appointment entails a 6 course teaching load (3/3) per academic year, a starting salary of $55,000, and includes full health and pension benefits. A PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's undergraduate curriculum, such as American Government, the Presidency, Psychology and Politics, Public Opinion, Introduction to International Relations, Race and Ethnic Politics, Latino Politics, Democratic Political Theory, Comparative Public Policy, Contemporary Politics of the Middle East, Israeli Politics, and Political Science Research Methods.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, list of courses taught, sample syllabi, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/35104> Review of applicants will begin on May 16 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1451

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor- U.S Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. POLITICS and PUBLIC POLICY – Job Link# 0407326 -- The Political Science Department at James Madison University invites applications for a visiting, academic-year appointment for the 2016-2017 academic year. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. The ability to offer an upper-level course in substantive public policy areas other than environmental policy and education policy is strongly encouraged.

The department seeks candidates with strong teaching and research skills. Review of applications will begin May 10, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at JobLink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number # 0407326. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), and three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

James Madison University is committed to a diverse and inclusive community and to maintaining a work and educational environment that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability, genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1432

University of Virginia

Rank: Lecturer & Postdoctoral Fellow

The Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a Lecturer and Post-Doctoral Fellow in political methodology and Data Science for a one-year appointment starting in the Fall of 2016. Compensation will take the form of full-time salary with full-time benefits. Candidates are expected to teach one graduate class per semester, optimally a course in maximum likelihood estimation and one in another advanced topic. The candidate will also be expected to be an active research member of our department, and an important part of a growing community of quantitative methodologists. The candidate will be an active participant in the College's Quantitative Collaborative and the University's newly established Data Science Institute, and will also be expected to teach two workshops in advanced political methodology. Candidates should have defended their dissertations by August 25, 2016 but an exception may be made for an otherwise well-qualified applicant.

To apply, please submit a Candidate Profile on-line through Jobs@UVA (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>); search on Posting Number 0618542. Please attach: a Curriculum Vitae, cover letter, Statement of Research Interest, Contact information for three (3) references, a Writing Sample (no more than 25 pages), and an unofficial copy of your graduate transcript.

Review of applications will begin on May 20 and the position is open until filled.

Questions should be directed to David Leblang, Chair, Department of Politics, at leblang@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and candidates with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1425

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Data Scientist

Data Scientist Position

Data Scientist

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is seeking to hire one or more data scientists. This is part of a larger interdisciplinary campus-wide Data@Carolina initiative designed to build on existing strengths in data intensive research and education as well as to expand into new areas. The position will be a 12-month non-faculty research associate position.

The position will be located in the Odum Institute for Research in Social Science at UNC (<http://www.odum.unc.edu/>), which has a campus-wide research and training support mission consistent with the Data@Carolina initiative.

Responsibilities of this position include developing and facilitating data intensive research and research proposals, supporting faculty members seeking to develop such research proposals, contributing to the development and offering of data science training workshops, and supporting faculty members seeking to develop data-intensive courses or infuse more data science into existing courses at either the undergraduate or graduate level. Those holding the position will be encouraged to participate directly in grant proposals that will eventually support a portion of their salary. Candidates with expertise at any stage of the research data lifecycle – from the design of data-intensive studies through data collection, cleaning, and aggregation to the analysis, visualization, and presentation of results, and finally the archiving and preservation of research data for reuse – are encouraged to apply. However, those with particular skills at what might be called the data wrangling necessary to collect, manage, and prepare data for analysis are particularly encouraged to apply.

Candidates need not be experts at all facets of data science, but they should hold a holistic view of the research data lifecycle. Applicants may come from a mathematical, statistical, or computational background, or may be rooted in a particular substantive domain. However, candidates must be prepared to work in an interdisciplinary setting. Candidates are expected to have earned a Ph.D. at the time of appointment or have comparable training and experience. Candidates are encouraged to highlight both the breadth and depth of their experiences and technical skills relevant to the position in their application materials.

Information about the position and instructions on how to apply are located at <https://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/93390>. Applications received by April 1, 2016 will receive full consideration, but applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled. Questions or concerns regarding this position should be directed to Tom Carsey (carsey@unc.edu), Director of the Odum Institute for Research in Social Science and member of the Data@Carolina coordinating team.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1356

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Specializations: Political Psychology, Political Parties & Organizations, Quantitative Methods

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks one or two postdoctoral research fellows for full-time appointment during the 2016-2017 academic year. The fellows will work with Assistant Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and will be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellows will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellows based on their skills and interests. In addition, fellows will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS, teach one quantitative social science course on a subject of their choosing related to their research, and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. Fellows will also join a broader community of post-doctoral social science researchers that includes scholars at QSS, the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows. The stipend for a QSS fellow is $55,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. The fellowship can be extended through the 2017-2018 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2016

2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise

3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions - Apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/33763>

Please upload:

1) Curriculum vitae

2) Statement of research interests (no longer than two pages)

3) Names of Dartmouth faculty who would be of interest to the applicant and with whom the opportunity to engage would enhance applicant's work

4) Three letters of reference

5) A copy of one paper written in English (published or unpublished)

Applications will be reviewed starting on February 1, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1206

NON-ACADEMIC

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor of National Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, American Government and Politics

Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Political Science Department invites applicants for the position of Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) of National Security to begin as early as Fall 2016. Past incumbents have been recognized national security experts who have added perspective and depth to their students' academic experience. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate teaching and an ability to lead upper level political science courses related to topics such as: environmental security, regional security, terrorism, cybersecurity, executive privilege, arms proliferation and arms control. Assisting midshipmen with research, offering seminars and lectures and, inviting guest speakers are among the position's objectives.

The DVP position is for two years commencing in August 2016. It is non-tenure track and non-renewable. The position is administered by the Office of the Academic Dean which provides the DVP with an office and administrative support.

Applications submitted by November 1, 2015 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

For more information about the position and to apply, please go to www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/DVPNationalSec.php

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 776

OTHER

Georgia Southern University

Rank: Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor in International Studies

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, Developing Nations, International Security

Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor

Search # 30083

Department of Political Science and International Studies

The Department of Political Science and International Studies invites nominations and applications for the position of Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor (i.e., Visiting Assistant Professor).

Georgia Southern University, classified as a doctoral/research institution by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, is a member of the University System of Georgia. As the largest and most comprehensive research institution in southeast Georgia, the University is a residential campus of more than 20,500 students representing 48 states and 89 nations.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges, Georgia Southern offers a comprehensive array of baccalaureate degrees and selected master's and doctoral programs through eight colleges: Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Information Technology, Health and Human Sciences, Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, Public Health, Science and Mathematics, and Graduate Studies. With an emphasis on academic distinction, excellent teaching, research, and student success, Georgia Southern offers both undergraduate and graduate students an attractive campus environment that encourages learning, discovery, and personal growth.

Founded in 1906, Georgia Southern lays claim to being the most beautiful campus in the state. Comprising more than 900 acres, the University grounds are an arboretum-like treasure featuring gently rolling lawns, scenic ponds, and soaring pines. Located in Statesboro, a safe Main Street community of approximately 30,000 residents not far from Savannah and Hilton Head Island, Georgia Southern provides the benefits of a major university with the feeling of a smaller college.

Within this setting, the Department of Political Science and International Studies is committed to providing students with significant educational opportunities offering an international perspective—opportunities that recognize the economic, social, and ecological concerns, and the urgent need for more effective methods of international and intercultural cooperation. The Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor is expected to contribute content and teaching expertise to the Department's academic degree programs.

Position Description. Reporting to the Chair of the Department, the Regular, Limited-Term Assistant Professor will be responsible for a 5/5 teaching load. Teaching assignments may include Introduction to International Studies and upper-division courses in the candidate's area of expertise. All limited-term positions are non-tenure track, academic (10 month) year appointments. Appointments are for one year only, although there is the possibility of reappointment should funding permit and based upon satisfactory performance. (All reappointments are made on a one year basis.) The salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Required Qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in International Studies or closely related field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in International Studies, by August 1, 2016.
- Evidence of full-time college/university teaching excellence.
- Evidence of teaching excellence in interdisciplinary courses.
- Ability to teach a range of International Studies courses.
- Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Topical expertise in Cultural Studies, Development, Aid, Sustainability, and/or Comparative Military/Security Studies.
- Experience teaching online.

Screening of applications begins June 15, 2016, and continues until the position is filled. The preferred position starting date is August 1, 2016. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; a curriculum vitae; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least three professional references. Other documentation may be requested. Only complete applications and applications submitted electronically will be considered. Finalists will be required to submit to a background investigation. Applications and nominations should be sent to:

Barry Balleck, Search Chair, Search #30083
 Department of Political Science and International Studies
 Georgia Southern University
 P.O. Box 8101
 Statesboro, GA 30460-8101
 Electronic mail: bballeck@georgiasouthern.edu
 Telephone: 912-478-0571

More information about the institution is available through <http://www.georgiasouthern.edu> or <http://www.georgiasouthern.edu/polisci/>. Georgia Southern University seeks to recruit individuals who are committed to working in diverse academic and professional communities and who are committed to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and professional service within the University and beyond. The names of applicants and nominees, vitae, and other non-evaluative information may be subject to public inspection under the Georgia Open Records Act. Georgia Southern University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution. Individuals who need reasonable accommodations under the ADA to participate in the search process should contact the Associate Provost.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 1502

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer and Counterterrorism Option Director, MPS-HLS

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Administration

Lecturer and Counterterrorism Option Director, MPS-HLS

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year (with good possibility of renewal), non-tenure track position as Lecturer and Director for the soon-to-be created Counterterrorism Option in the interdisciplinary Master of Professional Studies in Homeland Security (MPS-HLS) online degree program. The position entails the design and teaching of Master's level online coursework on terrorism and counterterrorism as well as management of and advising within the planned Counterterrorism Option.

Candidates should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or in other disciplines related to Terrorism and Homeland Security, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. Professional experience in counterterrorism fields and/or on-line teaching experience is preferred.

For a more detailed description of the Master of Professional Studies in Homeland Security (MPS-HLS) program in which the Counterterrorism Option will be located, please visit the website: <http://www.worldcampus.psu.edu/degrees-and-certificates/homeland-security/overview>. To learn more about the Political Science department, please visit our website at <http://polisci.la.psu.edu/>.

Application review will begin on June 15, and will continue until the position is filled. The start date for the position is August 12, 2016. Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://psu.jobs/job/63846> Please include in your application the following: a letter of application detailing relevant qualifications for the position, a current CV, a writing sample, sample syllabi and teaching evaluations. All candidates should also request three letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: arp20@psu.edu.

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1503

University of California, Davis

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar

Post-Doctoral Position at the University of California, Davis

We are looking to recruit a post-doctoral scholar for an inter-disciplinary research project on the effects of shocks on interacting social and political networks. This is a one-year position, with a possibility for renewal on a yearly basis. We are seeking candidates from various social, physical, mathematical, and/or informational sciences. The following qualifications are mandatory for this position:

- a. Ph.D. in hand at the start of the position.
- b. Knowledge of and experience in network analysis.
- c. Knowledge of and experience with agent-based modeling.
- d. Strong statistical data analysis and data management skills.

The following skills and experiences would be considered as strong advantages:

- a. Programming experience (Python, Java, C++, C#, R)
- b. Demonstrated research on social and political processes within and among nations.
- c. Demonstrated research on social, physical, or communication networks.
- d. Experience managing research assistants and research teams.

This is a full-time position with an annual salary of $50,000 and UC Davis fringe benefits. UC Davis is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer.

Deadline for the application is June 15, 2016. The start date of the position is August 1, 2016. However, a slightly later date can be arranged.

Candidates should electronically submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of reference, and a writing sample (article, dissertation chapters, etc.) to: <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF01051>. For more information, please contact Zeev Maoz at zmaoz@ucdavis.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 6/15/2016

Date Posted: 5/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1501

University of Oxford

Rank: Research Fellow (Digital News Media)

The Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations is seeking to appoint a researcher to work on a project aimed at analysing media developments in a sample of more than twenty European countries, with a particular emphasis on digital media, news, and politics.

The purpose of the project is to develop a better understanding of media developments in these countries, including the interplay between analogue and digital media and the relation between news provision and news consumption. The project output includes both academic publications and publications oriented primarily at media industry professionals, practicing journalists, and policy-maker audiences.

The person appointed to this position will primarily be working on analysing how born-digital news media are developing across the countries covered, what kinds of “pure players” are being launched, and how they are performing. The researcher will work closely with RISJ Director David Levy and RISJ Director of Research Rasmus Kleis Nielsen (the principal investigators), Nic Newman (lead author of the RISJ Digital News Report), a team of other Oxford-based researchers, as well as a wider network of outside partners from both the academy and the media industry as part of the larger project. The position is an exceptional chance to work on one of the largest comparative media research projects in the world.

The work will primarily be focused on a combination of desk-based research, interviews, and analysis of secondary sources of data (including industry data), some of it in collaboration with others as part of the wider project, which expands our ongoing, annual Reuters Institute Digital News Report (www.digitalnewsreport.org).

This post will be based on fixed-term full-time contract terms at the Reuters Institute, 13 Norham Gardens, Oxford, and is available from 1st August or 1st October 2016 (the latest start date) to 31st December 2018.

The successful candidate will have a completed doctorate (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies; experience in working with desk-based research, interviews, and secondary sources in analysing digital media and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research. The duties and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars, these are available from our website at <http://www.politics.ox.ac.uk/vacancies-and-jobs.html> or from the Personnel Office, Department of Politics and International Relations, e-mail: vacancies@politics.ox.ac.uk.

Applications for this vacancy are to be made online, quoting reference 123408. To apply for this role and for further details on terms and conditions, please follow the link below:

<http://www.politics.ox.ac.uk/vacancies-and-jobs.html>.

Closing date for applications is noon (UK time) Friday 17th June 2016. Applications received after the closing date cannot be considered. Interviews will be held in the week commencing 27th June 2016.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/24/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1495

National University of Singapore

Rank: Faculty Positions: Public Management (Open Rank)

The Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy (National University of Singapore), a premier public policy institution in Asia, invites applications for three full-time tenure track positions (rank open) in Public Management. Candidates are expected to demonstrate evidence of a high level of competence in policy-relevant, theoretically sound, and empirically grounded research on public management.

Applications are particularly invited from candidates with a background in the following areas, in the context of Asia:

- ? Public Administration
- ? Governance
- ? Public Management Reform
- ? Strategic Management and leadership
- ? Human Resource Management
- ? Performance Management
- ? Public Financial Management

Candidates should preferably have a PhD in Public Administration, Public Policy, Organization Science, Management, Political Science or a related discipline; an established record of teaching and research in the area; and an ability to engage with policy and research communities in Asia and around the world.

Applicants with a distinguished record of scholarship can also be considered for an endowed chair appointment as the Li Ka Shing Professor of Public Management.

Application Procedure

Applicants should submit, in electronic form (MS Word or PDF file), the following:

- Cover note
- Detailed curriculum vitae
- Teaching dossier including teaching evaluations
- Representative samples of course outlines
- Names of three references
- Brief statement of past and current research
- Top 5 publications
- The courses that you would be interested to teach (please refer to <http://lkyspp.nus.edu.sg/graduate-programmes/> for the list of existing courses)

Please send the electronic submission to Ms Laura Lim, sppbox92@nus.edu.sg.

Applicants may submit hard copies to the following address:

Ms Laura Lim
Senior Associate Director, Human Resources
Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy
National University of Singapore
469C Bukit Timah Road
Singapore 259772

The post will remain open until filled. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified. Interested candidates are encouraged to find out more about the National University of Singapore and the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy at www.lkyspp.nus.edu.sg or to email Kanti Bajpai, Chair of the Faculty Recruitment Committee (sppkpb@nus.edu.sg).

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1492

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Values and Public Life

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in Values and Public Life. We aim to appoint a highly promising scholar trained in contemporary political theory to provide support for programs in the University Center for Human Values and to carry on a research agenda in his or her area of specialization.

The successful candidate will undertake a research project exploring a contemporary normative problem arising in domestic or global public life. The candidate will be expected to conduct three sections of a non-credit senior thesis workshop in the Center's undergraduate Values and Public Life (VPL) certificate program, under the supervision of the VPL faculty director. In addition, the candidate will work with the director to provide support for the Center's VPL programming.

Qualifications:

Applications are welcome from scholars who have or expect to have a Ph.D. by the start date, September 1, 2016. Applicants must not have held the degree for more than three years by that date. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments, experience relevant to the undergraduate certificate program, and the promise of the proposed research project. Their capacity to serve as a teacher and mentor in the Center's undergraduate program will also be taken into account.

A complete application will include the following materials:

1. A current curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words), conforming to the expectations stated above. Also please supply an indicative title for the project at the beginning of the proposal.
3. A scholarly paper or dissertation chapter (not to exceed 12,000 words) representing your scholarly achievement or potential;

4. Contact information for two referees, who will be asked to comment specifically on your qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

5. A teaching statement and copies of student evaluations.

Application deadline: These materials must be submitted online by Thursday, June 9, 2016, 11:59 p.m. EST. We cannot accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference are to be submitted by end of business day on Monday, June 13, 2016. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately and applications lacking any of the elements listed above may be at a disadvantage. Decisions will be announced by Wednesday, June 22, 2016. This position is subject to the university's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/9/2016

Date Posted: 5/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1471

Pew Research Center

Rank: Research Associate, Journalism

Pew Research Center is a nonpartisan fact tank that informs the public about the issues, attitudes and trends shaping America and the world. It conducts public opinion polling, demographic research, media content analysis and other empirical social science research in the areas of U.S. politics and policy views; media and journalism; internet and technology; science and society; religion and public life; Hispanic trends; global attitudes and U.S. social and demographic trends. Pew Research Center does not take policy positions. It is a subsidiary of The Pew Charitable Trusts. The Center's work is carried out by a staff of about 140.

Position Summary

The Pew Research Center has a need for a Research Associate to support its journalism & media research agenda. This research team studies the state of news and information in a changing society, including how news is consumed, who is reporting it, and how technology is shaping the information landscape. Its goal is to help policy makers, journalists, professional communicators and the public, as well as other researchers and scholars, develop a better understanding of the revolution in the news and media landscape.

The responsibilities of this position concentrate on – but are not limited to – expertise in survey research. Interest and experience in other research approaches, such as content analysis or data science, is preferred, along with a willingness to contribute to projects using those research methods.

The Research Associate will contribute on all aspects of a wide range of its research projects. This includes project management, research design, questionnaire development, management of data collection, and statistical analysis. In addition, the Research Associate writes and reviews report drafts, and fields requests for information from outside sources. This position also contributes to the team's Daily Briefing and Fact Tank blog.

The successful researcher must be able to fulfill his or her primary responsibilities while meeting tight deadlines and balancing multiple accountabilities. The size of our organization, collaborative work environment, and relatively “flat” hierarchy mean that researchers often work directly with the senior staff on targeted research, communications or organizational projects, in addition to contributing to the broader research areas that make up the bulk of Pew Research Center's activities. The Research Associate reports to the director of journalism & media research.

Project design and development

- Propose research topics
- Design survey questionnaires and data queries
- Conduct background research and trend analysis
- Identify and evaluate research vendors or data providers

Project Management

- Help draft project proposals
- Monitor and track project timelines
- Coordinate team assignments
- Communicate with vendors, advisors and management
- Coordinate with other teams around the center

Data analysis

- Conduct analysis of survey and non-survey data, including but not limited to descriptive statistics, crosstabulations, and multivariate analysis
- Prepare topline and other data summaries
- Prepare tables and charts
- Work with data science techniques, manual content analysis and economic data in order to better understand the role of media in society

Writing and Communication

- Write research reports
- Write blog posts
- Respond to external requests for information
- Represent the work of Pew Research Center to media and external groups
- Assist as needed in promoting Pew Research Center work via institutional social media channels
- Assist with the curation of the Daily Briefing—a daily compilation of top media news items

Quality Control

- Number-check and fact-check reports
- Check trends
- Prepare datasets for public release

Education/Training/Experience

- Focus in communication, journalism, political science, sociology or relevant social science field strongly preferred
- Master's degree required, PhD preferred
- Proven experience with quantitative analysis; facility with SPSS and Excel required, knowledge of STATA, R, Python or other statistical software packages a plus
- Familiarity and experience with a range of statistical techniques, including logistic and multiple regression
- Experience in managing research projects, including working collaboratively with other researchers

Requirements

- Strong background in social science research with an interest in news media, journalism, and communication
- Strong quantitative skills, including an ability to use various statistical programs (such as SPSS, R, and/or STATA) to organize and analyze data
- Strong verbal and written communication skills

- Strong analytical and research skills
- Editorial judgment and proven ability to communicate research results clearly and concisely in Pew Research Center's style in both verbal and written form
- Skilled in project development and management
- Ability to work collaboratively and collegially with staff from across Pew Research Center and outside organizations
- Ability to lead research teams
- Familiarity with data visualization and content management systems preferred
- Detail oriented with exacting standards to maintain accuracy and impartiality in all work products
- Ability to work independently to carry out projects from start to finish
- Ability to balance tasks simultaneously

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2apply.net/b6qz68j2k2>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 5/11/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1463

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Professor/Associate Professor

Assistant Professor/Associate Professor
Health Administration

The College of Nursing and Health Professions at Drexel University seeks applications for a full time faculty member (non-tenure track) for teaching health management courses for a department with a growing undergraduate program in Health Services Administration and a Master of Health Administration program.

The program is offered to students in several delivery formats (traditional and online, undergraduate and graduate). Faculty work with a diverse student population whom we are preparing to enter the growing health services administration field. The Health Administration Department offers a variety of health management courses, which include core courses and several elective courses related to health and society, so students are drawn from various health career majors. Other possible courses include those covering health management, long-term care, healthcare leadership, and courses related to topics such as women's health, aging or vulnerable populations.

A doctoral degree in business, a social science or other health-related field or a terminal degree in a field relevant to health administration is required. Candidates who are ABD will be considered, but completion of the degree within one year of the beginning of the contract is expected. Prior teaching experience at the college level, as well as those wanting to pursue a research agenda are preferred.

This position begins September 2016 or January 2017, depending on candidate's availability. For consideration, email as attachments a detailed cover letter explaining how your background, experience, and academic credentials fit this faculty description, as well as the Department, College and University, as well as your C.V. and three references with contact information to www.drexeljobs.com.

If you have specific questions, please contact Dr. Stephen Gambescia at sfg23@drexel.edu.

See us at <http://www.drexel.edu/cnhp/faculty/health-admin/>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/10/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1460

George Washington University

Rank: Director of Research and Research Professor of International Affairs

Director of Research and Research Professor of International Affairs: The Associate Dean for Research at George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs is seeking a Director of Research who would also be an Assistant or Associate Research Professor of International Affairs. Located in the heart of Washington, D.C., the Elliott School has been ranked by Foreign Policy as one of the top ten international affairs programs in the U.S. The Director of Sponsored Research is responsible for supporting the growth and implementation of sponsored research at the Elliott School with 80% of their time being devoted to the administration of sponsored research. The other 20% of their time can be devoted to their own research.

Responsibilities include working closely with faculty to learn about their research projects; identifying and pursuing sponsored research proposals, including large, complex, interdisciplinary, and sometimes multi-investigator proposals; working with the staff and faculty of the Elliott School's ten centers and institutes as well as with the staff of the office of the Vice President for Research and other parts of the university involved in the sponsored research process; staying abreast of best practices in sponsored research in international affairs; and reporting to the Associate Dean for Research of the Elliott School. A doctorate in some aspect of international affairs is required.

We are seeking someone with broad expertise in international affairs, with 2-3 years of experience in sponsored research and a track record of working with foundations and/or government funding agencies. It is essential that the applicant have strong writing and communication skills and a proven ability to work with faculty members from various disciplines, to set priorities, manage competing demands and provide a timely response to urgent issues are essential. This is a full-time, non-tenure accruing position with annual renewal on an open-ended basis. Salary and benefits are competitive.

Please email cover letter and resume to kbrassfield@email.gwu.edu with "Director of Research" as subject line.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 5/27/2016

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1454

Institute for Political Economy and Governance

Rank: Statistical Analyst

JOB ANNOUNCEMENT

Statistical Analyst

The Institute of Political Economy and Governance (IPEG) is recruiting a statistical analyst to work on a research programme examining the structure and covariates of electoral and party behaviour in Europe and North America during the transition to mass democracy (1850-1940). The research programme is linked to an ERC financed five-year research project led by Professor Carles Boix and includes scientific collaboration with major centres of research in Europe and the United States.

The successful candidate may have background in statistics, computer science or an applied discipline such as political science or sociology or related field. Experience in using statistical software, analyzing large datasets, geocoding, and collaboration with research teams are desirable.

Interested applicants should provide:

- (1) Letter of Interest (max. one page)
- (2) Curriculum Vitae
- (3) Contact information for 2 references.

All applications should be submitted before July 1 to Ms. Anna Alsina, IPEG, postdoc-admissions@barcelona-ipeg.eu.

Start Date: Spring 2016

Application Deadline: 6/30/2016

Date Posted: 4/30/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1446

Centenary College of Louisiana

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Centenary College of Louisiana invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in the Department of History and Political Science to begin August 2016.

We are seeking candidates deeply committed to teaching in a liberal arts environment. A Ph.D. is required and teaching and professional experiences are strongly desired. Teaching duties include introductory courses in American politics and upper level courses in constitutional law and civil liberties, the Presidency, and other courses in the American politics and public law subfields. This position includes advising the pre-law program. Centenary faculty also participate on a rotational basis in the College's First-Year Experience, Centenary in Paris, and other non-departmental programs—offered both in traditional and immersive terms.

Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching, with the recognition that research pursuits and openness to pedagogical innovation are integral components of undergraduate liberal arts education.

Centenary College of Louisiana is a selective, residential, national liberal arts college affiliated with the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1825, it is the oldest chartered liberal arts college west of the Mississippi river and is a member of the Associated Colleges of the South.

Centenary College is located in the Shreveport-Bossier City metroplex in NW Louisiana, named recently as a "city of opportunity" and listed among Money Magazine's "Best Places to Live" for 2014.

To apply, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, and unofficial transcripts from all institutions of higher learning, and three letters of recommendation to hr@centenary.edu or to:

Political Science Search Committee
c/o Director of Human Resources

Centenary College of Louisiana
2911 Centenary Boulevard
Shreveport, LA 71104

Applications will be reviewed beginning April 4, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Centenary College recognizes that diversity is essential to its goal of providing an educational environment where students explore the unfamiliar, invent new approaches to understanding, and connect their work and lives to the world at large. We thus welcome applicants who would add to the College's diversity of ideas, beliefs, experiences, and cultural backgrounds. www.centenary.edu EOE.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1333

Georgetown University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Race and U.S. Politics

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a one-year Visiting Assistant Professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, to begin in August 2016. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment is preferred, but advanced doctoral candidates will also be considered at the rank of Lecturer. The teaching load is two courses per semester. Candidates who are able to incorporate matters of race/ethnicity into an introductory survey course in U.S. politics will be especially desirable. The Department of Government welcomes applications from individuals who will expand our perspective on the world and who are committed to a more inclusive and participatory discipline. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7085>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching experience, if available. Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Michele Swers, m47@georgetown.edu. For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before March 15, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1302

New School for Social Research

Rank: Executive Director of the Zolberg Institute for Migration and Mobility

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The New School for Social Research in New York City seeks to fill an endowed faculty chair with a senior figure in the field of migration. The selected candidate will play a leading role as Executive Director of the Zolberg Institute for Migration and Mobility.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, contact information of four references, and a sample of published work to <https://careers.newschool.edu/postings/12745>. Application reviews begin immediately and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

The New School is committed to maintaining a diverse educational and creative community, a policy of equal opportunity in all its activities and programs, including employment. Applications from members of historically underrepresented groups are welcome. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, physical handicap, veteran or marital status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1245

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Post-Doctoral Researcher

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITION

Social Science Experimental Laboratory (SSEL) NYU Abu Dhabi

The Social Sciences Experimental Laboratory (SSEL) at NYU Abu Dhabi is seeking a talented post-doctoral researcher. The position will commence August 1, 2016 (but the exact start date is negotiable) and will be based in Abu Dhabi although the position is likely to involve travel to NYU's New York and Shanghai campuses as well as other locations. The position is for two-years, but can be renewed for a third year after successful performance in the first year. The position provides remuneration higher than internationally competitive rates for postdoctoral positions in addition to generous benefits and travel allowances.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will take a leadership role in conducting lab, lab-in-the-field, and field experiments through SSEL under the direction of Professor Rebecca Morton, SSEL Director. The candidate will conduct own research and experiments in the social sciences under the direction of Rebecca Morton. In addition, the candidate is expected to allocate approximately 25% of your working time to provide assistance to faculty and students conducting experiments in the laboratory.

Qualifications:

Applicants should have a doctoral degree in economics, political science, sociology, or a related field or be near completion of such degree. Previous experience conducting social science experimental research (either lab, lab-in-the-field, and/or field) is essential. The successful candidate will have strong experimental design, data analysis, writing, and organizational skills. Knowledge of Z-Tree programming language is required. In addition, STATA, MATLAB, R, H-Root, ORSEE, and/or other computer languages used in laboratory experimentation is desirable. Candidates should also be self-motivated and willing to travel.

Applications will be accepted immediately. To be considered, all applicants need to submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with full publication list, statement of research and teaching interests, representative publications, and two letters of reference, all in PDF format. For instructions and information on how to apply, please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html>. If you have any questions, please email ssel@nyu.edu

The anticipated appointment starting date is August 1, 2016 and applications will be considered on a rolling basis. The terms of employment include competitive salary, housing, and other benefits. Please note that UAE does not levy income tax.

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of over 15 research and study-away sites across five continents. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems, both local and global.

In its sixth year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are at once distinguished in their research and teaching. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

EOE/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1215

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Director

Director of LLILAS Benson Latin American Studies and Collections

The University of Texas at Austin has opened a national and international search for Director of the LLILAS Benson Latin American Studies and Collections (LLILAS Benson), an innovative partnership that pairs the abundant scholarly resources of the Nettie Lee Benson Latin American Collection with the teaching and research focus of the Teresa Lozano Long Institute of Latin American Studies (LLILAS). The Institute encompasses 160 faculty associates, eight joint faculty members, an endowment totaling over $24 million, a dynamic student program, and a vibrant intellectual community; and the unparalleled Benson Collection is one of the largest and finest library and archival collections dedicated to the history, culture, arts and sciences of Latin America and of Latino communities in the United States. As partners, LLILAS Benson engages in collaborative programs of research and teaching, digital scholarship, and public engagement that make Latin American studies and collections at The University of Texas a high University priority and world-renowned. LLILAS Benson is a Title VI National Resource Center operating with a staff of 30 and a budget of approximately four million dollars. The Director of LLILAS Benson will provide intellectual leadership and vision for our collections and academic programs, will assume principal responsibility for LLILAS Benson's administration and seven million dollar endowment campaign, with the collaboration and assistance of a strong director's team, and will represent LLILAS Benson to its diverse local, national and international publics. For more information on LLILAS Benson and The University of Texas, please visit:

<http://www.utexas.edu/cola/llilas/>
<http://www.lib.utexas.edu/benson/>

Candidates should have demonstrated leadership abilities and strong administrative experience in an academic, library, or comparable setting; experience in donor cultivation and stewardship; and a documented record of excellence in scholarly activity, commensurate with tenure. The successful candidate will be appointed as a tenured faculty member in the College of Liberal Arts. A demonstrated ability to teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels is required. This position will be expected to teach at least one course each semester, which is the teaching load for tenured faculty members serving as Director. Field of expertise will determine the faculty member's home department. Expected start date is Fall 2016.

Applications are submitted via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/32855>) and should include a cover letter, current vitae, a teaching statement, a research statement, and names and contact information for a minimum of three references. Review of applications will begin on January 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions about the position or to submit nominations, please contact: Richard R. Flores, Search Committee Chair and Sr. Associate Dean in the College of Liberal Arts, c/o Hannah McKenna (hannahmckenna@austin.utexas.edu).

The University of Texas at Austin is an AA/EO employer and will conduct a background check on the successful candidate. The University of Texas at Austin is an Equal Opportunity Employer with a commitment to diversity at all levels. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, gender, national origin, age, disability or veteran status. (Compliant with the new VEVRAA and Section 503 Rules)

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/11/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1102

Lingnan University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Lingnan University, a distinctive liberal arts institution in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, is committed to the provision of quality whole-person education informed by the best of Chinese and Western liberal arts traditions. It strives to pursue excellence in teaching, learning, scholarship and community engagement. With three academic Faculties, it offers a wide range of undergraduate degree programmes in arts, business and social sciences. These programmes are distinguished by the following attributes: disciplinary, inter-disciplinary and pre-professional studies that are based on a broad liberal arts foundation; rich co-curricular and extra-curricular activities; ample global learning opportunities; active community engagement and multifarious workplace experience. It also offers post-graduate programmes up to the doctoral level. Applications are now invited for the following post, which will be tenable from mid-August 2016 or by mutual agreement:

Assistant Professor
 Department of Political Science
 (Post Ref.: 15/125/APSA)

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.LN.edu.hk/polsci/>) is committed to preparing students for a competitive and globalized working environment. The Department combines teaching and research in the governance and public policy of Hong Kong and China, international politics, Asian international relations, and environmental studies. It contributes with the Department of Applied Psychology, the Department of Economics and the Department of Sociology and Social Policy to the integrated Social Sciences Programme in the University. In the meantime, the Department is embarking on a 4-year curriculum with a disciplinary major in political science. Applicants are recommended to visit the Departmental web site and Programme web site (<http://www.LN.edu.hk/progs/ssprog/>) for more information.

The appointee will be required to teach and publish research in the areas of Northeast Asian (Japan, South Korean) politics and international relations, and environmental politics. The applicant with additional scholastic expertise in domestic politics and foreign relations of China (including Taiwan and "soft-power" aspects of Chinese diplomacy) will be preferred. The appointee may also be required to teach introductory courses offered by the Department.

General Requirements

Applicants should have a PhD degree in the relevant discipline, with relevant teaching experience and a good research record. Proficiency (written and spoken) in Japanese, Korean or Chinese is required.

Applicants are required to provide information on their research records and evidence of quality teaching. Excellent communication and presentation skills are essential. Administrative experience will be an advantage. The successful appointee is expected to have a strong commitment to teaching excellence and services to the Department and the University community, and to engage actively in quality research and publication.

Appointment

The conditions of appointment will be competitive. Remuneration will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits include annual leave, medical and dental benefits, mandatory provident fund, gratuity, housing benefits and incoming passage and baggage allowance for the eligible appointee.

Appointment will normally be made on an initial contract of three years, which, subject to review and mutual agreement, may normally lead to longer-term appointment with possibility of consideration for substantiation.

Application Procedure

Applicants are invited to forward their dossier together with a completed personal data sheet (Form R1 which is obtainable at <http://www.LN.edu.hk/hr/application-forms>) to the Human Resources Office, Lingnan University, Tuen Mun, Hong Kong by post, by fax (852) 2891-5782 or by email: recruit@LN.edu.hk (as attachment in MS Word format). Applicants should provide names and contact information of at least three referees to whom applicants' consent has been given for their providing references. Review of applications will commence from 23 November 2015 and applications close on 22 January 2016. Please specify the post you are applying for and quote the reference number of the post in all correspondence. Further information on the University and its programmes and activities can be found on the University's web site: <http://www.LN.edu.hk>. Enquiries can be directed to recruit@LN.edu.hk.

The University reserves the right not to make an appointment for the post advertised, or to fill the post by invitation or by search. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/28/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 898

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 734

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 735

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 736

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields is required at the time of appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 738

Mississippi State University

Rank: Associate Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure/tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 733

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

EXTERNAL AD

Requisition #67499

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Iowa has an opening for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in any subfield. Applicants are expected to have expertise in politics or policy issues related to water. This may include research on environmental politics and policy, climate change, common pool resources, cross-border rivers, watersheds, maritime areas, fisheries, dams, natural disasters, environmental justice, and water quantity or quality issues. This position is part of the University of Iowa's Water Sustainability Initiative (WSI) to advance research, education, and outreach activities regarding the stewardship and responsible management of water resources. The ten faculty hired in the WSI group, along with other faculty working on water resources on campus, identify key challenges at local, regional, and global scales regarding the availability, quality, reuse, and health impacts of water resources and their relationship to a changing climate. The appointment begins in August 2016 and requires that a Ph.D. be received by August 17, 2016. The review of applicants will begin on November 1, 2015 and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply for this position, go to <https://jobs.uiowa.edu> and reference Requisition #67499. Candidates should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, graduate transcript, published work or writing samples and three references for letters of recommendation.

The department and the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences are strongly committed to gender and ethnic diversity. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/19/2015

Date Posted: 9/28/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 725

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor in Social Science Informatics

The Departments of Political Science and Sociology at the University of Iowa invite applications as part of a university-wide Informatics Initiative (<http://informatics.uiowa.edu/>) for an Assistant Professor tenure-track position, starting August 2016. Although this is a joint appointment in Political Science and Sociology, the person hired will be able to negotiate the percentage appointment in each department as well as the location of the tenure home. We seek a candidate with expertise and research interests in the use or development of computational statistics, big data analytics, network analysis, data visualization, text analysis, machine learning, spatial and longitudinal statistical analysis, or other areas of social data analytics. The Departments of Political Science and Sociology offer supportive homes for faculty in information sciences, as both have long traditions of strength in quantitative research. Opportunities abound for collaboration within the Departments of Political Science and Sociology, as well as for cross-disciplinary research with economics, environmental sciences, engineering, medicine and public health, public policy, mass communications, digital humanities, law, and other disciplines in liberal arts and sciences.

Successful applicants will show promise of excellence in scholarly research and teaching, as well as interest in research collaboration. Participation in the Informatics Initiative is designed to facilitate the candidate's research agenda as well as help to create the intellectual foundation needed to educate a new generation of experts in this area. The successful candidate for this position will be expected to teach courses in social science informatics or social data analytics. The successful candidate will join a team of faculty as part of this innovative multidisciplinary initiative. Participation in the Informatics Initiative will be an important component in performance evaluations.

Applicants must complete a Ph.D. in Political Science, Sociology, or a similar field prior to August 17, 2016, and must be free to assume the duties of this position on that date.

Candidates should submit applications online at <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/>. Refer to requisition number 67503. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2015 and continue until the position is filled.

Applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, three recommendation letters, a statement on research, a statement on teaching, publications, and manuscripts in progress.

The Departments of Political Science and Sociology and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences are strongly committed to gender and ethnic diversity; the strategic plans of the University and College reflect this commitment. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply. The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/19/2015

Date Posted: 9/28/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 724

University of Delaware

Rank: Assistant Professor - Population Analytics

The University of Delaware's College of Arts and Sciences (www.cas.udel.edu) recognizes the increasing importance of large data sets, technology, and quantitative analytic methods to study complex social phenomena. As such, we are seeking scholars who will advance data driven social and behavior science using analytic techniques to study particular populations. We invite applicants who seek a collaborative and interdisciplinary work environment, with appointments in one or more units, at the rank of assistant professor (tenure track) beginning September 1, 2016.

Applicants should have a demonstrated interest in the study of underserved populations (e.g., racial/ethnic minorities, refugees and immigrants, LGBT persons, disabled persons, victimized populations, offenders re-entering society, children/youth/teens, impoverished communities, or other specific populations). Preferred candidates will have a demonstrated record of scholarship—research, publications, and grant activity—with expertise in one or more of the following analytics skill-sets: advanced statistics, survey research methods, Geospatial analysis, network and computational modeling, quantitative text analysis, data visualization, computer programming, or experimental methods.

Founded in 1743, the University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) combines tradition and innovation, offering students a rich heritage along with the latest in instructional and research technology. Located in scenic Newark, Delaware, within 2 hours of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C., the University is one of the oldest land-grant institutions in the nation, one of 19 sea-grant institutions, and one of only 13 space-grant institutions. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching classifies UD as a research university with very high research activity. More recently, the University of Delaware has received the Community Engagement classification from the Carnegie Foundation. With external funding exceeding $200 million, the University ranks among the top 100 universities in federal R&D support for science and engineering and has nationally recognized research (Carnegie rated, very high research activity). With 23 academic departments, 27 interdisciplinary programs and centers, and more than 10,000 students, the College of Arts and Sciences is the largest college on campus (www.cas.udel.edu). The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from minority group members and women.

Qualifications

Applicants should hold a Ph.D. in a social science discipline with a strong quantitative focus, or a Ph.D. in a computational or statistical discipline with a strong record of application in the social sciences. We anticipate a primary departmental appointment in a social sciences unit, with a possible joint appointment in other departments or Colleges. Applicants should also have demonstrated experience in teaching quantitative methods courses, working on grants and projects related to sponsored research, a strong potential for seeking external funding, and a record of published scholarship. The successful candidate will teach core courses and conduct public lectures advancing data driven social science at all levels.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a letter of application, a current curriculum vitae, three letters of reference, and up to two article preprints or reprints of scholarship. The cover letter should clearly outline analytic competencies and the specific population(s) of study. Additional application materials may be requested by the committee at a later point. Consideration of applications will begin on a rolling basis on November 1, 2015, and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials will be shared with the faculty in relevant departments. Submit inquiries to Professor Ronet Bachman, Chair, Search Committee (Ronet@udel.edu). Application materials will not be accepted through personal correspondence with the Chair or other committee members; they will only be accepted through Interfolio®.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 622

Georgia Regents University

Rank: Chair

The Department of Political Science at Georgia Regents University (GRU) invites applications for the position of Chair. The faculty appointment will be for a 12-month contract starting July 1, 2016. On January 8, 2013 Augusta State University and Georgia Health Sciences University consolidated to become a dynamic new institution that maintains its strong traditions of both universities. After recent accreditation from SACS-COC, GRU is experiencing an exciting and challenging period of transition and growth into a university with high research activity and teaching excellence.

The department offers B.A. programs in Political Science with tracks in International Studies, Legal Studies, and Security Studies. A Master of Public Administration, accredited by the Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs, and Administration (NASPAA), is offered as well as Minors in Political Science, Nonprofit Management, International Studies, and a Certificate Program in European Union Studies. A Secondary Teacher Certification is also offered. The department seeks a visionary and flexible candidate with demonstrated departmental and university leadership, as well as strengths in interpersonal communication, collegiality, and organization to foster an atmosphere of growth and innovation. In particular, we seek experience in program and curricular development at both the graduate and undergraduate level, budget and personnel management, student recruitment and retention, grant writing, accreditation, and assessment. While scholarship will have an increasingly important role in the future growth of the department and GRU, our department prides itself on excellence in teaching, close interaction with students through advising, mentoring of undergraduate researchers, small class sizes, and cross-disciplinary interaction with faculty from other departments.

The candidate must hold a doctorate in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy or closely related field and should be eligible for appointment as an associate or full professor. Academic rank and salary are commensurate with experience, scholarly activities, and publications.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, a current CV and three letters of reference addressed to:

Carolyn H. Burns, PHR

Interim Director, Talent Acquisition & Management

Assistant Director, Executive Search

Georgia Regents University

1120 15th Street

Augusta, GA 30912

executivesearch@gru.edu

Georgia Regents University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. Minority and women candidates are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 557

Catholic University of Chile

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Institute of Political Science of the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile invites applications for two full-time tenure-track positions as Assistant Professor in International Relations broadly defined, including Global Studies, Security Studies, International Law, International Political Economy and Development. We welcome applicants with diverse regional focuses. The University strongly values diversity and we encourage members of all nationalities and backgrounds to apply.

The Institute is among the highest ranked political science departments in Latin America. It offers undergraduate, M.A. and Ph.D. programs. Comprised of a highly international group of scholars, the Institute is a hub of theoretical, empirical and applied research in the region. Located in Chile's capital, Santiago, the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile is consistently ranked as one of the best universities in Latin America. It admits the most talented Chilean students to its undergraduate and graduate programs, and hosts thousands of exchange students and a steady stream of visiting professors from all over the world. Santiago is a vibrant metropolitan area and a short drive from Chile's renowned pacific coast and spectacular Andean mountain range.

Please direct informal inquiries or application packages (in either English or Spanish) by e-mail to Rodrigo Mardones, Chair of the Institute of Political Science. Review of applications will begin immediately but the positions will remain open until filled. We will be available for interviews with prospective candidates at APSA 2015 in San Francisco. The positions' starting date is March 1st, 2016 or August 1st 2016.

Requirements:

Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to high quality research, publication and teaching. Teaching obligations are limited to three courses per year. Fluency in Spanish is valued, but candidates who express the willingness to perfect basic proficiency are encouraged to apply. The Institute offers financial support for language classes and courses may initially be taught in English.

Salary is competitive and complemented by research grants, travel stipends, and support for international exchanges. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science (or its equivalent). ABDs are welcome to apply as long as they obtain their degree by the position's starting date.

Applications should include a personal letter, curriculum vitae and a writing sample (journal article, book or dissertation chapter) that provides evidence of research performance. Applicants should also include teaching evaluations (if available) and course syllabi to assess teaching potential, graduate transcripts, an official copy of their B.A., M.A., and Ph. D. degrees, and three letters of recommendation.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/28/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 117

Bowdoin College

Rank: Senior Faculty Position in Arctic Studies

Bowdoin College invites nominations and expressions of interest for a newly endowed position in Arctic Studies that will focus on the Arctic and some combination of policy, politics, and climate change. Appointment will be at the level of tenured associate or full professor and will begin July 1, 2016.

We seek a scholar-teacher whose work addresses one or more of the following in the context of the Arctic and circumpolar regions: international relations; law, politics, and policy; environmental issues; natural resource management and development; indigenous issues. The successful candidate will demonstrate a capacity for excellence in teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment, active engagement in research, and public leadership in their areas of expertise. This appointment will be in the Environmental Studies program and/or in the appropriate department relevant to the candidate's training and disciplinary affiliations. The candidate may also be affiliated with The Peary-MacMillan Arctic Museum and Arctic Studies Center, one of the only such institutions of its kind at a liberal arts college. The normal teaching load is two courses per semester, including courses in the candidate's area of specialization.

Nominations and expressions of interest may be directed to the office of the Dean for Academic Affairs at acadaffs@bowdoin.edu. Expressions of interest should include a cover letter, c.v. and the names of three references.

Review will begin immediately and continue until an appointment is made.

A highly selective liberal arts college on the Maine coast with a diverse student body made up of 31% students of color, 5% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students, Bowdoin College is committed to equality and diversity and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage inquiries from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural, socio-economic, and ethnic diversity of our college. Bowdoin College does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, marital status, religion, creed, ancestry, national and ethnic origin, physical or mental disability, or veteran status in employment, or in our education programs.?

Bowdoin College offers strong support for faculty research and teaching. We recognize that recruiting and retaining faculty may involve considerations of spouses and domestic partners. To that end, where possible, the College will attempt to accommodate and respond creatively to the needs of spouses and partners of members of the faculty.

For further information about the College please visit our website: <http://www.bowdoin.edu>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/8/2015

Date Posted: 5/13/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 18

University of Alaska, Fairbanks

Rank: Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alaska Fairbanks (UAF) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin August 16, 2015. The position is open with respect to geographic expertise and secondary field, but special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach courses in the American Politics and/or Public Law subfields. The Department is looking for candidates with a strong commitment to undergraduate education, an active research agenda, and interest in contributing to interdisciplinary graduate programs. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the start of appointment is required.

UAF is the flagship campus of the University of Alaska system, and America's Arctic university, with a diverse student body and favorable student-faculty ratio. For information on faculty, programs, and life in Alaska, visit www.uaf.edu/polisci. Application materials include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample of scholarly writing (a recent peer-reviewed publication or dissertation chapter), three letters of recommendation (not more), and graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts will initially be accepted). Visit <https://www.uakjobs.com/applicants/jsp/shared/frameset/frameset.jsp?time=1431539145466> to begin the application process. Only electronic applications will be accepted.

The University of Alaska is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action employer and educational institution. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Applicants needing reasonable accommodation to participate in the application and screening process should contact the Human Resources office. 907.474.7700

Review of applications will begin on May 29, 2015 and continue until the position is filled.

The position is open with respect to geographic expertise and secondary field, but special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach courses in the American Politics and/or Public Law subfields. The Department is looking for candidates with a strong commitment to undergraduate education, an active research agenda, and interest in contributing to interdisciplinary graduate programs. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the start of appointment is required.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/8/2015
Date Posted: 5/13/2015
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 17

Tarleton State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Social Sciences at Tarleton State University is accepting applications for a full-time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor beginning September 1, 2015. This position has a normal teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester. The applicant will teach either or both required core courses GOVT 2305 Federal Government and GOVT 2306 Texas Government. The applicant should also have specializations in one or more of the following fields: International Relations, Developing Nations, African Studies, East and South East Asian Studies. The applicant is expected to pursue an active research agenda and to serve the department and university as required (see Tarleton State University Handbook for Faculty and Administrative Staff available at www.tarleton.edu).

Males, age 18 through 25, must be properly registered with the Selective Service System to be eligible for hire. This position is designated as a security sensitive position and requires a satisfactory criminal history background check. Tarleton State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer.

Special Instructions

Please apply online at <https://jobs.tarleton.edu/>. A cover letter, c.v., transcripts (official or unofficial) and three letters of recommendation should accompany your application. If you are not able to attach the documents when applying, please mail the requested documents to:

Tarleton State University
 Dr. Eric Morrow
 Department of Social Sciences
 Box T-0660
 Stephenville, TX 76402

If mailing, please make sure you reference the Posting Number #0801277, and title of this position.

Application Information

Contact: Tarleton State University
 Online App: <https://jobs.tarleton.edu/>
 More Information on Tarleton State University
 Home Page: <http://www.tarleton.edu>

Requirements:

Ph.D. (ABD status may be considered as long as all degree requirements, including dissertation, defense of dissertation, and comprehensive examinations, have been successfully completed by time of appointment (January 16, 2016).

The applicant should also have specializations in one or more of the following fields: International Relations, Developing Nations, African Studies, East and South East Asian Studies.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/28/2015

Date Posted: 5/1/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 33

Lafayette College

Rank: Visiting Professor

Department of Government and Law
 Lafayette College
 Visiting Assistant Professor: American Politics, 2015-2016

The Department of Government and Law at Lafayette College invites applications for a visiting position in American politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The appointment is for academic year 2015-2016. The Department will consider candidates with specialties in any subfield of American politics except public law. Candidates will be expected to teach an introductory course on U.S. politics and advanced courses in their areas of expertise.

Applications should include a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Please upload application material electronically at <http://govlaw.lafayette.edu/job-opportunities/>. Questions may be directed to Ilan Peleg, Acting Head of the Department of Government and Law, at pelegi@lafayette.edu

Located within 70 miles of New York City and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a selective undergraduate institution with an enrollment of 2400 students. Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive, responsive, and supportive of each and all of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating and maintaining a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from women and minorities.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 7/22/2015

Date Posted: 1/23/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 71

POLITICAL THEORY

European University Institute

Rank: Chair in Social and Political Theory

Specializations: Political Theory, Normative Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a

Chair in Social and Political Theory (SPS10)

The Department of Political and Social Sciences invites applications for a Chair in Social and Political Theory. Candidates who also have empirical research interests in any area of the social sciences are particularly encouraged to apply. The chair may be filled at different levels of seniority.

The EUI is an equal opportunities employer and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation. Applications from Eastern European candidates are encouraged.

Interested applicants should consult www.eui.eu/vacancies for Further particulars.

Deadline for receipt of applications: 20 July 2016.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 7/20/2016

Date Posted: 5/26/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1499

Columbia University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Institute for Religion, Culture and Public Life invites applications for postdoctoral scholar positions, for the 2016-2017 academic year. Renewal for the 2017-2018 academic year is possible, contingent on satisfactory performance and funding.

The Institute for Religion, Culture and Public Life at Columbia University supports academic research, teaching, and scholarship on the study of religion, culture, and social difference at Columbia University. In addition, it convenes academic conferences, public forums, and collaborative programming to support and extend academic and scholarly understanding of these topics, and to disseminate and distribute such new understandings to broader publics and communities.

Candidates must have received the PhD between August 31, 2013 and August 31, 2016 in a discipline engaged with the interdisciplinary study of religion. The Institute is particularly interested in candidates whose research engages critical, interpretive, historical, and genealogical approaches that challenge traditional disciplinary boundaries and who are studying important global issues in the following thematic areas:

Islam in the 21st Century
Religion and Politics in the Middle East
Religion in American Public Life
Democracy, Secularism and Pluralism
Religion and Sexuality
Religion and Journalism

Under the mentorship of an IRCPL faculty member, postdoctoral research scholars are expected to further develop and make progress on a proposed research project, teach one class and participate in the intellectual life of IRCPL and Columbia University.

This is a full time salaried position with benefits. Review of applications begins on June 9th, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled. All applications must be submitted through Columbia University's online Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) and must include:

--Cover Letter
--Curriculum Vitae
--Dissertation Abstract
--Research Proposal: A two-page research plan for the scholarship period. This may include, but should extend beyond, revisions to the dissertation.
--Teaching Statement: Titles and short descriptions (one or two paragraphs each) of at least two undergraduate courses that you could teach under the auspices of your proposed departmental affiliation. Please note that we are not requesting a statement of teaching philosophy or full syllabi at this point. (This will be uploaded as Other Document 1).

--Writing Sample: Only one sample equivalent to a single journal article, book chapter, or dissertation chapter. The writing sample may be published or unpublished. It must be in English. The maximum length is 50 pages.

--Recommendation(s): One academic reference familiar with your research is required. You may submit an additional recommendation but it is not required.

For more information and to apply, please go to academicjobs.columbia.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=62783

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1496

Radford University

Rank: One-Year Position in Constitutional Law/Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Radford University invites applications for a one-year appointment to teach courses in Constitutional Law and Political Theory beginning August 10, 2016. The teaching load is five courses per semester.

Located in the scenic New River Valley, between the Blue Ridge Mountains to the south and the Appalachians to the north, Radford University is a growing university, approaching 10,000 undergraduate and graduate students. A student-focused institution, Radford's commitment to student engagement provides a wide range of opportunities for learning, growth, and collaboration for faculty as well as students.

As the largest college at Radford University and home to Liberal Arts instruction on campus, the College of Humanities and Behavioral Sciences is central to the mission of the university. Faculty members strive to develop in their students a range of intellectual skills and habits of mind that will serve them well throughout their academic and professional lives, as well as in their personal lives as productive citizens. Students regularly engage with faculty in experiential learning activities as well as in professional internships that provide opportunities to serve communities while preparing for careers. Faculty members' scholarly and creative activity is viewed as a vital corollary to the instructional mission of the institution, with faculty encouraged to co-author research with undergraduate and graduate students.

The College of Humanities and Behavioral Sciences at Radford University is in the completion stages of a new 145,000 square foot state-of-the-art instructional facility that will be home to all 125+ college faculty members. Centrally located on the main quad of the campus, it will be the largest academic building at the university and will house an array of specialized teaching and research facilities. The building is scheduled to open in Fall 2016.

Candidates should possess: (1) a Ph.D. in Political Science (ABD will also be considered); (2) the ability to teach Constitutional Law and Political Theory and other courses as assigned; and (3) a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. The successful applicant will be expected to advise students interested in pre-law.

Radford University is an EO/AA employer committed to diversity. All new hires to Radford University will be subject to E-Verify beginning June 1, 2011. E-Verify is administered by the U. S. Department of Homeland Security, USCIS-Verification Division and the Social Security Administration and allows participating employers to electronically verify employment eligibility.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit the following electronically: (1) a letter of application; (2) a current and complete curriculum vita; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (5) a research sample; (6) names, addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers of at least three professional/academic references and (7) copies of unofficial transcripts. All materials should be directed to Reginald Shareef, PhD., Chair, Search Committee at rshareef@radford.edu. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. To receive full consideration, applications must be received by June 24th.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/24/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1487

University of Oxford

Rank: Nuffield Senior Research Fellow in Political Theory

Nuffield Senior Research Fellow in Political Theory

Salary: GBP 86,000 to GBP 101,000 per annum

The Department of Politics and International Relations and Nuffield College at the University of Oxford seek to appoint a Nuffield Senior Research Fellow in Political Theory to provide high-level intellectual leadership and undertake world class research in Political Theory. The successful candidate will be expected to establish the strategic direction of, and to lead, a major research programme in the field of Political Theory; to develop further and broaden the range of Political Theory research at Oxford; to contribute to teaching programmes and academic supervision of graduate students; and to play a full and active role in the academic life of the Department of Politics and International Relations and Nuffield College.

This is one of two senior leadership appointments in the field of Political Theory at Oxford, the other post being the Chichele Professorship of Social and Political Theory, which is expected to be advertised later this year.

The successful candidate for the Nuffield Senior Research Fellowship will be a distinguished scholar in the field of Political Theory with international reputation and with the ability to conduct research of the highest quality and to provide academic leadership in the field. She or he will hold a doctorate in a relevant field and will have an outstanding publication record and excellent reputation in teaching and academic supervision. It is expected that the successful candidate will be capable of operating at the level of professor in a top research university. On appointment the Professorial title may be sought, if appropriate.

The post is full-time and tenable from 1 January 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter. The successful candidate will be based at Nuffield College and the Department of Politics and International Relations.

Further particulars, including information on the duties of the post, the selection criteria, and how to apply, are available from the College web page: <http://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/About/Vacancies/Documents/SRFfps.pdf> or from the College Registrar, Email: academic.admin@nuffield.ox.ac.uk.

The deadline for applications is noon on Friday 17 June 2016.

Queries about the post should be addressed to the College's Warden, Sir Andrew Dilnot (andrew.dilnot@nuffield.ox.ac.uk) and/or Professor Desmond King (desmond.king@nuffield.ox.ac.uk). Queries about the application process should be addressed to the College's Academic Office at academic.admin@nuffield.ox.ac.uk (telephone: +44 (0) 1865 278516).

Applications are particularly welcome from women and black and minority ethnic candidates, who are under-represented in academic posts in Oxford.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: 6/17/2016

Date Posted: 5/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1478

University of Virginia

Rank: DeOlazarra Fellow

The University of Virginia's program in Political Philosophy, Policy & Law (PPL) invites applications for one, possibly two, full-time DeOlazarra Fellows for the academic year beginning August 25, 2016, renewable for a second academic year. Renewals are subject to availability of funding and performance. Compensation will take the form of salary and benefits. Applicants must specialize in contemporary political theory/philosophy, particularly as it applies to the evaluation of important issues in public policy. A background in jurisprudence or legal theory is also desirable. PPL is a selective interdisciplinary undergraduate major in which fourth year students develop substantial research projects in the context of a capstone seminar. The fellow will preside over this seminar during the spring semester as well as teach one fall semester course in his or her area of interest. Applicants for the fellowship must have achieved the status of ABD prior to August 1, 2016. Candidates must combine strong research potential with commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching.

To apply, please complete a Candidate Profile online through Jobs@UVA (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>), and electronically attach the following: a current CV, cover letter, statement of teaching, unofficial transcript and writing sample. Search on posting 0618577.

Priority consideration will be given to applications received by May 20, 2016; however, the position will remain open until filled.

Also, under separate cover by mail, please arrange for three (3) letters of recommendation to be sent to:

PPL Fellow Search Committee c/o Colin Bird
Department of Politics
P.O. Box 400787
University of Virginia
Charlottesville, VA 22904-4787

Questions regarding the position should be directed to:
Dr. Colin Bird

434-924-3615
colinbird@virginia.edu

Questions regarding the application process or Jobs@UVA should be directed to:

Bonnie Bragg
434-924-3603
bb6a@virginia.edu

U.Va. will perform background checks for all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 4/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1435

Texas Christian University

Rank: Lecturer
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for two one year lecturer positions. We seek an applicant who combines expertise in either American Politics or political theory and either judicial politics or comparative politics. The appointment will begin in August 2016.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. We seek applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date. Successful candidates will show evidence of teaching excellence. The teaching load for this position is 4-4, and the salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, teaching statement, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials, including letters of recommendation, must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Priority will be given to applications received prior to May 15.

TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 812,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

TCU does not discriminate on the basis of age, disability, marital status or parental status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. TCU is an EO/AA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/28/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 1385

Trinity College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Trinity College invites applications for a three-semester, full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Theory. The successful candidate will begin January 2017 and will teach through May 2018. The candidate will teach two three-course semesters, and one two-course semester. Applications from candidates with expertise in feminist political theory and democratic theory are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates should be strongly committed to undergraduate and interdisciplinary teaching, have a well-articulated plan for sustained research, and demonstrate an ability to teach undergraduate courses at all levels. The Ph.D. should be in hand or expected by December, 2016. Applicants who do not already have legal permission to work in the United States will not be considered.

To ensure full consideration please submit an application on our website (<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/>) including a letter of application (including statement of research and teaching interests), CV, graduate transcript, sample of scholarly writing, teaching evaluations, and sample syllabi (if available), and contact information for at least three letters of recommendation by July 15, 2016.

Trinity College is an Equal Opportunity/ Affirmative Action Employer. We especially seek applications from minorities, women, and other under-represented groups. Located in Hartford, Connecticut, Trinity is an independent, nonsectarian liberal arts college.

Start Date: Spring 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/25/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1384

Georgetown University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Theory

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a one-year non-tenure-track Visiting Assistant Professor position in political theory. A Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment is preferred, but advanced doctoral candidates will also be considered at the rank of Lecturer. The teaching load is three courses per semester, in a mixture of upper-level undergraduate and graduate-level offerings. Candidates will be expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the political theory program, including potentially supervising undergraduate senior theses, teaching the departmental honors seminar, co-convening the weekly Political Theory Speaker Series, and mentoring Ph.D. students. Candidates are expected to have an active research agenda and excellence, or demonstrated potential for excellence, in publishing in major venues. Applicants should provide evidence of outstanding undergraduate teaching and be prepared to offer courses in some of the following areas of interest: Religion and Politics, Ethics and Public Policy, Contemporary Political Philosophy, Law and Philosophy, and other thematic topics. The Department of Government welcomes applications from individuals who will expand our perspective on the world and who are committed to a more inclusive and participatory discipline. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7150>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching experience. Applications Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Richard Boyd, rb352@georgetown.edu. For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before April 1, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: 4/1/2016
Date Posted: 3/11/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1355

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Postdoctoral Fellowship for 2016-2017. Offered by the Program on Constitutional Government, Harvard University - Harvey Mansfield, Director. The Program on Constitutional Government in the Center for American Political Studies and the FAS Department of Government at Harvard University will offer one postdoctoral fellowship for the 2016-2017 academic year. The stipend is $55,000. Applicants must have received their doctorates no earlier than spring 2013 and no later than June 2016. They should have a record of teaching and writing in the fields of political theory or American government and politics, with an emphasis on the theoretical foundations or institutional and political consequences of the American Constitution. A resume, research proposal, and brief writing sample with names of two references should be sent to Laura Donaldson, CAPS-Harvard, CGIS Knafel K428, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138 (phone # for express shipments is 617-384-9810). Applications review process will begin on May 2, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries should be directed to ldonaldson@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/7/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1344

Miami University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow or Research Associate in American Political Economy

The Department of Political Science and the Thomas W. Smith Institute for Political Economy at Miami University is searching for a Postdoctoral Fellow or Research Associate in American Political Economy. The position will begin in the 2016-2017 academic year. This position will provide advising and assistance to the Thomas W. Smith Institute and the Miami University Janus Forum; teach one course per term, including (1) an introductory or more advanced course on American political economy and political-economic thought, or on a topic related to the enduring legacy of the Framers of the American constitution, and (2) a course related to the research expertise of the candidate. Duration of appointment is negotiable, 9 to 12 months. Require: For appointment as Postdoctoral Fellow: Ph.D. in political science, economics, or related field, earned December 2014 through July 2016. For appointment as Research Associate: Ph.D. expected no later than August 2017.

Submit cover letter, resume, statement of teaching philosophy and statement of research plans; if available, but not required, upload sample publication/research & evidence of teaching effectiveness as an "other" document to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2323>.

Three letters of reference are required and should be emailed to chafinca@miamioh.edu. Inquiries can be directed to Cheryl Chafin at chafinca@miamioh.edu. Review of applications will begin on February 29, 2016 and continues until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to Ms. Mary Jane Leveline at (513) 529-2027. Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/3/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1246

Boston College

Rank: Political Theory: Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Political Science Department at Boston College invites applications for a Jack Miller Center John Marshall Project Post-Doctoral Fellowship for the 2016-2017 academic year. Stipend is $50,000 per annum. The fellow's duties begin in September, 2016, and the Ph.D must be in hand by August 31, 2016. The recipient of the Fellowship will be expected to teach two or three courses on topics related to America's founding principles and history and/or the history of western political thought, and to help administer an undergraduate fellows program.

Interested candidates should upload a letter of interest, transcript, brief writing sample and curriculum vitae to the Interfolio online system at apply.interfolio.com/33778. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by individual writers. Review of applications will begin on March 14, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

No email or U.S.P.S. applications will be accepted.

Boston College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of any legally protected category including disability and protected veteran status. To learn more about how BC supports diversity and inclusion throughout the university please visit the Office for Institutional Diversity at <http://www.bc.edu/offices/diversity>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/22/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1222

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

University of Central Oklahoma

Rank: Instructor

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Health Care, Energy Policy

The Political Science Department at the University of Central Oklahoma is seeking TWO outstanding, dynamic educators and scholars to support the Master of Public Administration (MPA) program, which has grown to enroll over 80 students within its four year life-span.

The individual selected for this position will participate in the University of Central Oklahoma's Edu-Innovator program. The goal of the Edu-Innovator program is to grow blended learning opportunities at the University of Central Oklahoma through collaborative teaching, innovation, and program development initiatives.

The faculty member's primary responsibility will be to teach 9/9/3 credit-hour teaching load at all levels of the graduate and undergraduate curriculum and in online and campus-based formats. Courses will typically be offered in the evening, weekends, or online to serve working, adult students.

This is a one-year, non-tenure track, appointment, with re-appointment potential

The successful applicant will:

- Work in a team environment to help mentor, train, and assist other public administration faculty in development of blended learning and instructional design for the MPA program. These projects will include online, hybrid, and other distance learning courses.
- Focus on starting or bringing innovations to a program, but can extend beyond the parameters of the program to meet needs of the assigned college and may also include team teaching to support sharing of innovative blended learning methods with staff and faculty.
- Demonstrate commitment to working in an environment devoted to transformative learning, professional development, scholarly inquiry, and excellence in teaching.
- Create an environment that acknowledges, encourages and celebrates differences.
- Function and communicate effectively and respectfully within the context of varying beliefs, behaviors, cultural backgrounds, national identities, orientations and physical abilities.
- Seek opportunities to gain expertise working and collaborating in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings with a willingness to change for continual improvement.

Faculty Edu-Innovators are also expected to:

- Advance and align with goals of The Center for eLearning and Connected Environment (CeCE) within the context of empowering blended learning.

- Complete Edu-Innovator training programs for blended learning environment design and delivery, leadership development, and online course facilitation as arranged and provided by CeCE.
- Collaborate with other Edu-Innovator team members to maintain current program information on the program website, create a presence for the program in social media, and contribute to program marketing campaigns.
- Advance interdisciplinary connections and partnerships.
- Develop strong connections between the program and the OKC metropolitan area and UCO Downtown campus.
- Promote growth in courses, undergraduate and graduate programs, and student learning experiences including developing and maintaining a web presence (departmental website, social media, etc.) to market program and its digital curriculum.
- Dedicate 3 hours reassigned time of the normal fall and spring 12-hour teaching load to developing new projects and advancing initiatives as determined by the assigned college in collaboration with CeCE.
- Develop at least one active innovation project, the topic for which will be selected by the assigned college and CeCE. Possibilities could include new program research and planning, program redesign, development of innovative teaching or course design methods, design and delivery of specialized curriculum or student success resources, and so on.
- Coordinate innovative opportunities for practicing professionals serving as adjuncts to work with students and develop programing.
- Serve on Center for eLearning and Connected Environments committees as requested.

An earned doctorate degree in public administration, public affairs, public policy (or specialized policy area), political science, or closely related area (exceptions require Academic Affairs approval) awarded by a regionally accredited or internationally recognized institution is highly preferred.

The MPA program is seeking an individual with demonstrated expertise combining two or more of the following concentrations:

- Administrative Law;
- Comparative Administration;
- Economic Development;
- Emergency Management/Crisis Management;
- Health Policy/Health Administration;
- International Institutions and Administration;
- Nonprofit Management;
- Tribal Governance; or
- Urban/Environmental Sustainability.

Desired Start Date: August 1, 2016

Applicants must apply through UCO's HR website. Quick Link: <http://jobs.uco.edu:80/postings/13391>

The University of Central Oklahoma (University) is committed to an inclusive educational and employment environment that provides equal opportunity and access to all qualified persons. The University will continue its policy of fair and equal employment and educational practices without discrimination harassment because of actual or perceived race, creed, color, religion, alienage or national origin, genetic information, ancestry, citizenship status, age, disability or handicap, gender, marital status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other characteristic protected by applicable federal, state, or local law. For complete details on the University's EEO policy, please visit the Employee Handbook.

Start Date: Summer 2016
Application Deadline: 6/30/2016
Date Posted: 5/13/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1469

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in Public Administration

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor to teach courses in Public Administration and American politics, such as Budgeting, Personnel Management and introductory level courses for the 2016-17 academic year.

Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor.

Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee.

Strong candidates will have teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught.

Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, teaching philosophy, writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), and graduate transcripts to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2696>.

Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu.

Review of applications will begin on May 13, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1448

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Program Director

FACULTY POSITION OPENING

Department: Master of Public Administration
 Effective Date of Appointment: August 1, 2016
 (Subject to Budgetary Approval)

Rank: Program Director
 Associate or Full Professor

Salary: Dependent upon qualifications

About the University:

Serving more than 42,000 students each year, CSUN is one of the largest universities in the United States, and it has an impact to match its size. Money Magazine recently named CSUN one of the top ten values in all of higher education, and the Social Mobility Index ranked CSUN fifth in the nation for elevating its students' economic and social well-being. CSUN ranks 10th in the country in awarding bachelor's degrees to underrepresented minority students, fifth nationally in awarding master's degrees to Hispanic students and enrolls the largest number of deaf and hard-of-hearing students of any U.S. state university. CSUN's 171 academic programs and engaged centers enjoy international recognition for excellence. CSUN currently partners with more than 100 institutions of higher education in 22 countries around the globe and attracts the largest international student population of any U.S. master's level institution. Situated on a 356-acre park-like setting in the heart of Los Angeles' San Fernando Valley, the campus features modern educational buildings and world-class LEED Gold-certified performing arts and recreational facilities recognized as among the best in the country. CSUN is designated as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and an Asian American, Native American, Pacific Islander Serving Institution (AANAPISI) and we value the diversity of all of our students and the campus community. CSUN is a welcoming university that champions accessibility, academic excellence and student success.

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is strongly committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, active learning and diversity. Our values include a respect for all people, building alliances with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity.

As an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, CSUN strives to create a community in which a diverse population can work, teach and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights of each individual. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, age, disability, genetic information, medical information, marital status, or veteran status. For more information about the University, check our website: <http://www.csun.edu>

The Program and Position:

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences invites candidates for an open position of Program Director for the Masters in Public Administration. The CSUN MPA is an interdisciplinary program that resides in the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, and partners with the Tseng College of Graduate, International, and Mid-Career Education for implementation of a cohort-based program with sites across the Southern California basin. CSUN graduates the largest number of MPAs in California, and is the nation's third-largest MPA program, offering both face to face and online cohorts.

Working in partnership with 10 Los Angeles County agencies, eight cities and two counties outside of Los Angeles, CSUN ensures that public sector professionals possess the means to thrive in their chosen fields and within their communities. Since 1985, more than 2,000 graduates have earned their MPA degrees from CSUN. The program is designed for staff and administrators who are currently employed in the public, private or nonprofit sectors and looking to advance their careers, as well as for those seeking employment in these areas. It is also an excellent choice for professionals in other fields who are interested in transitioning to the public sector. Graduates of the program build valuable working relationships with public sector administrators, which serve them throughout their professional lives.

CSUN offers concentrations in high-growth areas of the public sector field, including:

- Health Administration online icon
- Nonprofit Sector Management online icon
- Public Sector Management and Leadership on-campus,

Each of these concentrations provide a sound theoretical foundation, practical applications and exceptional student support services.

The Program Director is the Academic Lead of the MPA Program, providing leadership, direction, and academic oversight. The Director reports directly to the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Qualifications:

Doctoral degree with coursework in Public Administration, Public Policy, Public Sector Management, or related field and a record of successful teaching and peer reviewed published research in a field related to Public Administration. The successful candidate will have evidence of superior communication skills, demonstrable experience in managing an academic unit of faculty and staff, and preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate significant experience with public sector organizations. The successful candidate will have already held tenure at either the associate or full professor level and be qualified for tenure at similar rank in one of the College's ten departments. The candidate must demonstrate the ability to work effectively with a diverse student population.

At time of appointment, the successful candidate, if not a U.S. citizen, must have authorization from the Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services to work in the United States.

Responsibilities:

CSUN is a Learning Centered University, and the MPA Program is one of the largest in the country in terms of students, off - campus cohorts, and partnerships with public agencies. The successful candidate will be expected to lead other faculty and staff in a continuous commitment to active learning, to the assessment of learning outcomes, and to the discovery and promotion of multiple pathways that will enable students to graduate in a timely fashion.

Specific responsibilities include:

- Participate in graduate teaching.
- Manage student and faculty recruitment efforts.
- Carry out program assessment.
- Administer a multidisciplinary department consisting of both tenure line faculty and part-time practitioners, as well as support staff.

- Administer department budget.
- Conduct and publish research.
- Coordinate the development of curriculum.
- Establish strategic goals, objectives, and policies.
- Assure the application of new technologies to the curriculum.
- Manage alumni and external relations with government and the non-profit sector.
- Service on the College Administrative Committee.

Application Deadline:

Screening of applications will begin February 1, 2016. Priority will be given to applicants who meet the screening deadline. However, the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and three current letters of recommendation to the address below. In later phases of the search process, applicants may be requested to provide verification of terminal degrees, licenses and certificates.

Inquiries and applications should be addressed to:

Matthew Cahn
MPA Search Committee
College of Social and Behavioral Sciences
California State University Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8256
(818) 677-3317
cahn@csun.edu

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line at <http://www.csun.edu/sites/default/files/clery-report.pdf>. Print copies are available in the library and by request from the Department of Police Services and the Office of Faculty Affairs.

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Applicants who wish to request accommodations for a disability may contact the Office of Equity and Diversity, (818) 677-2077.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1368

Bridgewater State University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor

The Political Science Department invites applications for two (2) tenure track faculty positions, open rank, in public administration or public policy beginning fall 2016. Candidates will be expected to teach graduate courses in the core and elective curriculum of the department's growing Master of Public Administration program (NASPAA Accredited) and some undergraduate political science courses including Introduction to American Government, and to work closely with and advise graduate and undergraduate students. This is an open field search. Review of applications will begin March 15.

Earned Ph.D., commitment to teaching excellence, and evidence of scholarly activity in the field of public administration or public policy are required. Applicants should be strongly committed to excellence in teaching and advising, and to working in a multicultural environment that fosters diversity. They should also have an ability to use technology effectively in teaching and learning, the ability to work collaboratively, and a commitment to public higher education. Candidates with quantitative and/or qualitative methodological skills, practitioner experience, leadership experience in a Master of Public Administration program, and NASPAA accreditation experience preferred.

Please apply for this position through the online application system managed by the Human Resources Office at Bridgewater State University, which you can locate at the following web address:

<http://www.bridgew.edu/human-resources>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1290

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University invites applications for a one year visiting assistant professor position in public administration beginning in fall 2016. The position includes benefits. Candidates who have completed their Ph.D. are preferred, but advanced ABD's will also be considered. Areas of specialization are open; however, those with the ability to teach online MPA-level courses on budgeting and research methods are encouraged to apply. Successful candidates should have experience and/or interest in teaching undergraduate courses on either American or Texas (state and local) government. The teaching load for this position will be a 4/4.

The Political Science Department has 18 full-time faculty members and is situated within the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. The department offers BS, BA, MA, and MPA degrees and currently has approximately 230 undergraduate majors and 65 graduate students.

Sam Houston State University, the third oldest public university in Texas, is located in historic Huntsville, a city of approximately 35,000 people. Huntsville is located approximately one hour from Houston, the country's fourth largest city. Enrollment at SHSU has consistently increased over the last decade with a record enrollment of 20,181 in fall 2015. For more information about SHSU, please access our webpage at www.shsu.edu.

Those interested should apply online at <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/>. Your cover letter and vitae must be posted to complete the application. Please direct any questions about the position to Dr. Clayton Wukich at wukich@shsu.edu. The search committee will begin reviewing materials immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Sam Houston State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Plan Employer and Smoke/Drug-Free Workplace. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, ancestry, marital status, citizenship, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, veteran status, disability status, sexual orientation, or gender identity. Sam Houston State University is an "equal opportunity" employer. Security sensitive positions at SHSU require background checks in accordance with Education Code 51.215.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1258

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor(s)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for instructors for face-to-face classes on all campuses (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Dublin, and Eastman) for day, evening, and weekend classes to start Fall 2016 or later in the fields of history and political science. We have particular needs for instructors who are interested in teaching one or more of the following courses:

POLS 1101 American Government

POLS 2501 Domestic Issues

POLS 2601 Intro to Public Administration

The Macon campus is located just over one hour's drive southeast of Atlanta.

Minimum Qualifications: To qualify for a teaching position, candidates are required to have a minimum of a master's degree in political science or a master's in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in the discipline.

To Apply: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current CV or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of at least two professional references including email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy, preferably combined as an attachment in a single PDF file, to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, assistant department chair, at christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Informal inquiries welcome.

Middle Georgia State University is a Unit of the University System of Georgia, EEO/AA/M/F/V/D.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/5/2016

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 1170

Augusta University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Augusta University

Department of Political Science

Master of Public Administration Program

Assistant Professor

Augusta University's Department of Political Science and its NAS-PAA-accredited Master of Public Administration Program is seeking to fill a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2016. We seek individuals who can teach courses in American politics and institutions and one or more courses in the MPA program.

ABOUT AUGUSTA UNIVERSITY: On January 8, 2013 Augusta State University and Georgia Health Sciences University consolidated to become a dynamic new institution that maintains its strong traditions of both universities. Augusta University is considered one of Georgia's four research comprehensive universities. The university is experiencing an exciting and challenging period of transition and growth into a university with high research activity and teaching excellence. Founded in 1828, the university includes nine colleges with nearly 10,000 students, 1,000 full-time faculty members and 5,000 staff members. It houses the nation's 13th-oldest medical school, the state's sole dental college, an aligned and integrated health system, a growing intercollegiate athletics program, the highly respected Hull College of Business, the diverse Pamplin College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, among other units. With 650 acres of campus and nearly 150 buildings, the university is a $1 billion-plus enterprise with state-wide and national reach.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: The successful candidate must hold, at time of appointment, a PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, Public Administration, or related field, and have an identifiable research agenda and publishing program. Successful candidates will be able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American Politics, as well as an introductory course to the research methods. All subfield specializations will be considered, including, but not limited to: Congress; the presidency; judicial; and campaigns and elections. Successful candidates must also be able to teach coursework in the Department's MPA program; all specializations and subfields in public administration or public policy will be considered.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Interested candidates must apply on-line through our website at <http://www.gru.edu/jobs/faculty/>. Please make sure you upload a cover letter describing teaching experience, a curriculum vita, graduate school transcripts, and three letters of reference as one document online. Any questions can be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. William Hatcher, Department of Political Science at wihatcher@gru.edu. The committee will begin reviewing applications March 1, 2016.

Augusta University is an equal opportunity and equal access institution and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or sexual orientation in employment or in the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/15/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1115

University of San Diego

Rank: Professor of Practice, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a non-tenure track Professor of Practice in public administration and public policy.

Candidates must have a Master's degree or PhD in political science, public administration, public policy, or a closely related field, teaching experience at the community college or university level, practical experience in local or state government, and the capacity to integrate theory with practice.

The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in American politics, urban politics, public policy, and/or state and local government. The teaching load is seven courses per academic year, which includes one internship class each semester. In addition, the candidate will supervise our continuously offered Washington, D.C. internship program and run a 1-unit weekend Sacramento seminar each spring semester.

As a Professor of Practice, the successful candidate must have extensive local, state, and/or national political, legal, and business connections, and will supervise the department's dynamic internship program, including the department's Washington DC internship and seminar program. Responsibilities will include developing new internship opportunities, to further enhance our students' professional development.

USD offers a competitive salary and benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference at their earliest convenience. The position will remain open until filled.

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and look for job IRC18893. Applicants must email all relevant materials— except for confidential letters of recommendation— to dickson@sandiego.edu and upload the same materials to the USD Human Resources site. References must submit confidential letters of recommendation separately to: dickson@sandiego.edu.

Please address all correspondence to Dr. Del Dickson, Chair, Search Committee for Professor of Practice, Department of Political Science and International Relations, 5998 Alcala Park, San Diego, CA 92110

USD is a private, independent Catholic liberal arts institution dedicated to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. USD is an Equal Opportunity employer, and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from underrepresented and underserved groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1028

University of Southern Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs in Hattiesburg, Miss., is accepting applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of American politics (political institutions). Additional strength in public policy/public administration is also desirable. The successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to American Government and assist with the department's research methods sequences. Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. Candidates are expected to provide evidence of potential for excellence in teaching, research and service. The department serves both the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses and includes a strong undergraduate program, MA and MS in political science and a Ph.D. in international development. The successful candidate will develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and contribute broadly to our master's programs as well as conduct scholarly research and provide service to the department, college, university, profession and/or community.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. A full application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations (if available), graduate transcripts, a writing sample and at least three letters of reference. To apply, please see <http://jobs.usm.edu>

The position is contingent on funding.

The department is committed to improving its diversity in terms of race, ethnicity and gender. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities to apply.

For more information, please see the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs website at <http://usm.edu/polisci>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/3/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 949

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 734

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 735

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 736

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields is required at the time of appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 738

Mississippi State University

Rank: Associate Professor in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure/tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/29/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 733

Ball State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
BALL STATE UNIVERSITY
MUNCIE, INDIANA

Tenure-track faculty position available August 19, 2016 with specialization in the fields of public administration and state and local government. Responsibilities: teach twelve hours of political science each academic semester, including undergraduate and graduate courses in American state and local government and public administration or three hours of assigned time is available for research for active researchers reducing the teaching load. Minimum qualifications: doctorate in political science, public administration or public policy completed no later than August 19, 2016. Preferred qualifications: record of scholarly activity; teaching at the college level; experience/interest in election administration; interest in working with state and local government officials; experience/scholarly interest in the non-profit sector.

Send cover letter specifying application for the state/local position, current vita, official transcripts, writing samples, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations if available to: Dr. Daniel Reagan, Department of Political Science, Ball State University, Muncie, IN 47306. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. (www.bsu.edu)

Ball State University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer and is strongly and actively committed to diversity within its community.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 507

Ball State University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Assistant/Associate Professor, Department of Political Science

Tenure-track faculty position available August 19, 2016 with specialization in the field of public administration.

Responsibilities: teach twelve hours of political science each academic semester, including undergraduate and graduate courses in public administration or three hours of assigned time is available for research for active researchers reducing the teaching load.

Minimum qualifications: doctorate in political science or public administration completed no later than August 19, 2016.

Preferred qualifications: record of scholarly activity; teaching at the college level; working with a university-based public policy center; willingness to travel around the state to meet with public officials and government agencies in conjunction with activities of the department's Bowen Center for Public Affairs; experience obtaining external research funding and administering grants; experience/scholarly interest in the non-profit sector; experience in election administration.

Send cover letter specifying application for the public administration position, current vita, official transcripts, writing samples, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations if available to:

Dr. Daniel Reagan
Department of Political Science
Ball State University
Muncie, IN 47306

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. www.bsu.edu

The university offers an excellent benefits package, including health care and retirement plans, tuition assistance for employees and dependents, and generous time off with pay.

Ball State University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer and is strongly and actively committed to diversity within its community.

101121

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 506

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Open Rank Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration
Specializations: Public Finance & Budgeting, Urban Politics, United States

Tenure-Track Faculty Position
Department of Political Science
College of Natural and Social Science

Position: Open Rank position, preferably Associate Professor of Public Administration

Starting Date: Fall 2016

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. or DPA in Political Science, Public Administration or a related field from an accredited institution of higher education. We are seeking a generalist in public administration to join the faculty nucleus of our NASPAA-accredited Master of Science in Public Administration program. The MSPA prepares students for leadership in professional public and community service within a diverse and dynamic urban environment. The position includes serving as MSPA Graduate Advisor, and teaching and doing research in one or more of the following areas: public administration, public management, collaborative governance, leadership, e-governance, or social policy. Interest and ability to teach the introduction to American government is required. The successful candidate must have demonstrated excellence in teaching at a college level, a record of scholarly activity, involving students whenever possible, and must be able to teach the introduction to American government. Applicants should have the ability to relate well to others within the academic environment, and demonstrate ability and/or interest in working in a multiethnic, multicultural environment.

As a University dedicated to engagement, service and the public good, Cal State L.A. expects the successful candidate to join faculty, staff, students and administrators in a commitment to these purposes.

Duties:

In addition to teaching, duties include student advisement, engaging in scholarly activity, and committee service for the Department, the College, and the University.

Salary: Initial salary commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. Founded in 1947, the University is in the city of Los Angeles, adjacent to the San Gabriel Valley, and has more than 23,000 students who reflect the rich ethnic diversity of the area. The University is a federally recognized Hispanic-serving and Minority-serving institution. Faculty may have the opportunity to establish affiliate status with other academic programs, including the Honors College and ethnic studies.

Required Documentation: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vita, official transcripts, three letters of recommendation and the University's Application for Academic Employment form. www.calstatela.edu/univ/hrm/docs/forms/Empl_applic_academic.pdf Employment contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Application review will begin September 25, 2015. Address applications and required documentation and/or requests for information to:

Public Administration Search Committee
Department of Political Science
California State University, Los Angeles
5151 State University Drive
Los Angeles, CA 90032
Phone: 323.343.2230

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Fingerprinting is required and will be checked by the California Department of Justice and FBI.

In addition to meeting fully its obligations under federal and state law, Cal State LA is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual. To that end, all qualified individuals will receive equal consideration without regard to economic status, race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, pregnancy, national origin or cultural background, political views, sex, sexual orientation, gender identification, age, disability, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran status.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/TITLE IX EMPLOYER

Upon request, reasonable accommodation will be provided to individuals with protected disabilities to (a) complete the employment process and (b) perform essential job functions when this does not cause undue hardship.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 192

PUBLIC LAW

Radford University

Rank: One-Year Position in Constitutional Law/Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Radford University invites applications for a one-year appointment to teach courses in Constitutional Law and Political Theory beginning August 10, 2016. The teaching load is five courses per semester.

Located in the scenic New River Valley, between the Blue Ridge Mountains to the south and the Appalachians to the north, Radford

University is a growing university, approaching 10,000 undergraduate and graduate students. A student-focused institution, Radford's commitment to student engagement provides a wide range of opportunities for learning, growth, and collaboration for faculty as well as students.

As the largest college at Radford University and home to Liberal Arts instruction on campus, the College of Humanities and Behavioral Sciences is central to the mission of the university. Faculty members strive to develop in their students a range of intellectual skills and habits of mind that will serve them well throughout their academic and professional lives, as well as in their personal lives as productive citizens. Students regularly engage with faculty in experiential learning activities as well as in professional internships that provide opportunities to serve communities while preparing for careers. Faculty members' scholarly and creative activity is viewed as a vital corollary to the instructional mission of the institution, with faculty encouraged to co-author research with undergraduate and graduate students.

The College of Humanities and Behavioral Sciences at Radford University is in the completion stages of a new 145,000 square foot state-of-the-art instructional facility that will be home to all 125+ college faculty members. Centrally located on the main quad of the campus, it will be the largest academic building at the university and will house an array of specialized teaching and research facilities. The building is scheduled to open in Fall 2016.

Candidates should possess: (1) a Ph.D. in Political Science (ABD will also be considered); (2) the ability to teach Constitutional Law and Political Theory and other courses as assigned; and (3) a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching. The successful applicant will be expected to advise students interested in pre-law.

Radford University is an EO/AA employer committed to diversity. All new hires to Radford University will be subject to E-Verify beginning June 1, 2011. E-Verify is administered by the U. S. Department of Homeland Security, USCIS-Verification Division and the Social Security Administration and allows participating employers to electronically verify employment eligibility.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit the following electronically: (1) a letter of application; (2) a current and complete curriculum vita; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (5) a research sample; (6) names, addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers of at least three professional/academic references and (7) copies of unofficial transcripts. All materials should be directed to Reginald Shareef, PhD., Chair, Search Committee at rshareef@radford.edu. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. To receive full consideration, applications must be received by June 24th.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 6/24/2016

Date Posted: 5/19/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1487

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics/Public Law

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in American Politics/Public Law to teach courses that include Introduction to American Government as well as courses in public law and judicial politics; advise pre-law students.

Required: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor. Applicant must be a U.S. citizen, lawful permanent resident, temporary resident (admitted for residence as an applicant under the 1986 immigration amnesty law), refugee or asylee.

Strong candidates will have some teaching experience in the courses to be taught either as sole instructor or as a teaching assistant. Some research experience in the area of teaching interest.

Please submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, teaching philosophy, writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available, as other document), and graduate transcripts to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=2780>.

Direct inquiries to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu.

Review of applications will begin on May 23, 2016 and will continue until position is filled.

Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1474

Texas Christian University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for two one year lecturer positions. We seek an applicant who combines expertise in either American Politics or political theory and either judicial politics or comparative politics. The appointment will begin in August 2016.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. We seek applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date. Successful candidates will show evidence of teaching excellence. The teaching load for this position is 4-4, and the salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, teaching statement, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials, including letters of recommendation, must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Priority will be given to applications received prior to May 15.

TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 812,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

TCU does not discriminate on the basis of age, disability, marital status or parental status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. TCU is an EO/AA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/28/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1385

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DIRECTOR, AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) seeks a dynamic scholar and leader for the position of Director of African American Studies. Founded more than twenty years ago, African American Studies at UTEP offers a rich mix of programming linking students, faculty, staff and members of the community in the El Paso border region and beyond. This context provides exciting opportunities to explore the intersections of African American and Latina/o experiences and draw on UTEP's important civil rights history.

The Director of African American Studies is a member of the UTEP College of Liberal Arts Chairs' Council and has responsibility for leadership of the academic program and research activities associated with African American Studies. The Director generally teaches one course each semester and could also participate in UTEP PhD programs related to their scholarly and research interests. With staff assistance, the Director serves as an advisor for the UTEP Black Student Union and a mentor for many students enrolled in programs throughout the University. The Director works with the UTEP Black Alumni Network (UBAN) and with community partners to build support for African American Studies and address relevant social issues at UTEP and in the El Paso community. The Director and staff, working in collaboration with UTEP students, affiliated faculty, campus organizations and other University and community officials, sponsor a variety of events and activities throughout the year, including Black History Month programs, and initiate new avenues of engagement and outreach.

Required Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in African American Studies or a related academic disciplinary area, and possess a strong record of scholarship commensurate with an appointment as Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure in an appropriate

UTEP academic department or program. Demonstrable experience in serving in an administrative role, engaging in community outreach, and initiating and expanding a new program is highly desirable.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP enrolls more than 23,000 students, close to 80% of whom are Latina/o and a majority of whom are the first in their families to attend a university. Ranked overall among the Top 10 universities in the nation by Washington Monthly and #1 for contributing to student social mobility, UTEP is dedicated to becoming the first national research university with a 21st century student demographic. The African American Studies program is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, which is the largest college at the University. In addition to playing a major role in the delivery of the University Core Curriculum to all UTEP students, the College of Liberal Arts serves approximately 7,000 students with majors in 13 departments and 10 programs, including Women's and Gender Studies, Religious Studies, Chicano Studies, Asian Studies and African American Studies.

Application procedures: To apply, applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, a recent publication related to the field, and names of three references with their complete contact information. Review of applications will begin April 11, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Application materials, in one PDF file, should be emailed to: Dr. Maryse Jayasuriya, Search Committee Chair, at mjayasuriya@utep.edu

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1377

McDaniel College

Rank: Visiting Professor in American Politics and Jurisprudence
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at McDaniel College in Maryland, one of the "40 Colleges that Changes Lives," is seeking a Visiting Assistant Professor in American Politics and Jurisprudence for the 2016-2017 academic year. The successful candidate would teach three courses per semester (e.g. American Constitutional Law, American Civil Liberties, American Public Policy, American Political Thought). We are a selective liberal arts college that places an enormous amount of emphasis on excellence in classroom teaching, so evidence of that would be particularly helpful.

McDaniel College is located in central Maryland, an hour's drive from Baltimore and Washington, DC. Its primary commitment is to outstanding teaching and to fostering critical and creative thinking and humane and responsible action. McDaniel College is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution and welcomes applications from diverse candidates and candidates who support diversity.

Application procedures for Visiting Assistant Professor position: Qualified applicants must have a Ph.D. and should submit the following:

- * a written letter of application;
- * a written curriculum vitae;
- * a teaching philosophy; and
- * three letters of recommendation.

To apply, visit: <http://www2.mcdaniel.edu/jobs/apply.php?id=213> (copy and paste)

Start Date: Spring 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1369

Occidental College

Rank: Non-Tenure Track Assistant Professor

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for a one-year, full-time non-tenure track faculty appointment to begin Fall 2016. The teaching load is six courses (3-3). We seek a candidate to teach Law and Society (POLS 140), Constitutional Law (POLS 244), two sections of American Politics and Policy (POLS 101), and two upper division seminars from the Politics Department catalogue, one in law and one in American Politics. A Ph.D. in political science is preferred at time of appointment, but we will consider candidates who hold a JD or are ABD.

Occidental College is a nationally-ranked small liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body, its commitment to academic excellence and equity, and its outstanding undergraduate research programs. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, Occidental College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in the city of Los Angeles, allowing convenient access to major cultural and natural attractions in the nation's second largest city. As one of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental College affords students and faculty a unique pedagogical engagement with vast resources outside of the classroom. Occidental College has a strong commitment to community engagement, including robust opportunities for experiential learning, community-based research, and internships. The Politics Department has helped lead efforts on campus, along with the Center for Community Based Learning and the Office of Community Engagement, to link the college's academic program with community involvement, including expanding community internships and community-oriented research projects for students.

Full dossiers should be sent to Ms. Romy Corona, Politics Department Assistant, rcorona@oxy.edu. Review of materials will begin on March 21, 2016. Please submit one single PDF in the order listed.

Dossiers should include: (1) a cover letter detailing your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment and your ability to teach in public law and American politics; (2) a current curriculum vita; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy including how you will support and enhance Occidental College's goal of building a strong educational environment in classrooms that have an ethnically, socio-economically, and culturally diverse student body; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (teaching evaluations or other materials); and (5) names and contact information for three references, at least one that can attest to your teaching abilities or performance.

Specific inquiries about the position can be directed to Politics Department Chair Prof. Thalia González at thaliagonzalez@oxy.edu. Specific inquiries about benefits should be directed to Human Resources, <http://www.oxy.edu/human-resources>.

Occidental College is an equal opportunity employer. Occidental College is committed to academic excellence in a diverse community and actively seek applications from candidates who will further this mission; underrepresented minorities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1330

Georgetown University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow for Prisons and Justice Initiative

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a one-year Post-Doctoral Fellow position for the 2016-17 academic year. Applicants should have research background in fields such as international, comparative, or public law; U.S. politics; comparative politics; or related areas. Specific research interests should relate to mass incarceration in the United States—e.g., criminal justice, prisons, and race. The Post-Doctoral Fellow is expected to play an active role in Georgetown's new Prisons and Justice Initiative (<https://prisonsandjustice.georgetown.edu/>), which is seeking to develop and expand its programs and activities. Although the fellowship carries no teaching obligations, the Fellow will work closely with the initiative's director and will assist with institutional grant applications, planning and hosting events, and working with a team of student research assistants. The Department of Government welcomes applications from individuals who will expand our perspective on the world and who are committed to a more inclusive and participatory discipline. The successful applicant should have the Ph.D. in hand by the beginning of the Fall 2016 semester. Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, graduate transcript, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on March 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should apply using AcademicJobsOnline at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7093>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1312

PUBLIC POLICY

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: United Nations Global Policy Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, seeks applicants for a full time, non-tenure track position to teach in the our United Nations and Global Policy Studies Master's Program, beginning Sept. 1, 2016. Appointment will be for one academic year at the Lecturer/Instructor or Assistant Teaching Professor rank, depending on qualifications, with possible renewal based on need and instructional performance. The appointment entails a 5 course teaching load (3/2 or 2/3) per academic year, a starting salary of $55,000 - $60,000, and includes full health and pension benefits. A PhD or equivalent terminal degree in Political Science or related field by start date is required. The successful candidate will teach courses in the department's new MA Program in Political Science – United Nations and Global Policy Studies, and should be prepared to teach courses on the impact of the United Nations on global affairs, including its role in democracy promotion, human rights, gender equality, and sustainable development. Candidates who have either been employed by the United Nations and/or have participated in cooperative projects with the organization are especially encouraged to apply.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, list of courses taught, sample syllabi, a writing sample in the applicant's central area of research, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/35105> Review of applicants will begin on May 16 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1452

Iowa State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University invites applications for a Full or Part-Time Lecturer position to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses within one or more of the political science subfields: Theory and Methods, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Public Policy Administration. The appointment duration may be one semester to three years depending on department need and it may be Full-Time or Part-Time.

Required Education and Experience: MA or MPA in Political Science or related discipline, or JD. Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities.

Preferred Education and Experience: ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline.

Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities

To apply for this position, please click on "Apply to this job" at <http://www.iastatejobs.com:80/postings/18263> and complete the Employment Application. Please be prepared to enter or attach the following:

- 1) Resume/Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of Application/Cover Letter
- 3) Contact Information for Three References
- 4) Statement of Teaching Interests/Experience
- 5) Statement of Teaching Evaluations- Optional- Please attach as "Other Document(s) 1"

If you have questions regarding this application process, please email employment@iastate.edu or call 515-294-4800 or Toll Free: 1-877-477-7485.

All offers of employment, oral and written, are contingent upon the university's verification of credentials and other information required by federal and state law, ISU policies/procedures, and may include the completion of a background check.

The Department of Political Science has 15 tenure track faculty and a vibrant MA program which serves approximately 32 students and an undergraduate major with approximately 260 majors. Please visit the following site for additional information about the Department at <http://www.pols.iastate.edu/>

Iowa State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, marital status, disability, or protected veteran status, and will not be discriminated against. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1433

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor- U.S Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. POLITICS and PUBLIC POLICY – Job Link# 0407326 -- The Political Science Department at James Madison University invites applications for a visiting, academic-year appointment for the 2016-2017 academic year. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. The ability to offer an upper-level course in substantive public policy areas other than environmental policy and education policy is strongly encouraged.

The department seeks candidates with strong teaching and research skills. Review of applications will begin May 10, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at JobLink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number # 0407326. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), and three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

James Madison University is committed to a diverse and inclusive community and to maintaining a work and educational environment that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability, genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1432

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DIRECTOR, AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) seeks a dynamic scholar and leader for the position of Director of African American Studies. Founded more than twenty years ago, African American Studies at UTEP offers a rich mix of programming linking students, faculty, staff and members of the community in the El Paso border region and beyond. This context provides exciting opportunities to explore the intersections of African American and Latina/o experiences and draw on UTEP's important civil rights history.

The Director of African American Studies is a member of the UTEP College of Liberal Arts Chairs' Council and has responsibility for leadership of the academic program and research activities associated with African American Studies. The Director generally teaches one course each semester and could also participate in UTEP PhD programs related to their scholarly and research interests. With staff assistance, the Director serves as an advisor for the UTEP Black Student Union and a mentor for many students enrolled in programs throughout the University. The Director works with the UTEP Black Alumni Network (UBAN) and with community partners to build support for African American Studies and address relevant social issues at UTEP and in the El Paso community. The Director and staff, working in collaboration with UTEP students, affiliated faculty, campus organizations and other University and community officials, sponsor a variety of events and activities throughout the year, including Black History Month programs, and initiate new avenues of engagement and outreach.

Required Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in African American Studies or a related academic disciplinary area, and possess a strong record of scholarship commensurate with an appointment as Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure in an appropriate UTEP academic department or program. Demonstrable experience in serving in an administrative role, engaging in community outreach, and initiating and expanding a new program is highly desirable.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP enrolls more than 23,000 students, close to 80% of whom are Latina/o and a majority of whom are the first in their families to attend a university. Ranked overall among the Top 10 universities in the nation by Washington Monthly and #1 for contributing to student social mobility, UTEP is dedicated to becoming the first national research university with a 21st century student demographic. The African American Studies program is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, which is the largest college at the University. In addition to playing a major role in the delivery of the University Core Curriculum to all UTEP students, the College of Liberal Arts serves approximately 7,000 students with majors in 13 departments and 10 programs, including Women's and Gender Studies, Religious Studies, Chicano Studies, Asian Studies and African American Studies.

Application procedures: To apply, applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, a recent publication related to the field, and names of three references with their complete contact information. Review of applications will begin April 11, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Application materials, in one PDF file, should be emailed to: Dr. Maryse Jayasuriya, Search Committee Chair, at mjayasuriya@utep.edu

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1377

McDaniel College

Rank: Visiting Professor in American Politics and Jurisprudence

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at McDaniel College in Maryland, one of the "40 Colleges that Changes Lives," is seeking a Visiting Assistant Professor in American Politics and Jurisprudence for the 2016-2017 academic year. The successful candidate would teach three courses per semester (e.g. American Constitutional Law, American Civil Liberties, American Public Policy, American Political Thought). We are a selective liberal arts college that places an enormous amount of emphasis on excellence in classroom teaching, so evidence of that would be particularly helpful.

McDaniel College is located in central Maryland, an hour's drive from Baltimore and Washington, DC. Its primary commitment is to outstanding teaching and to fostering critical and creative thinking and humane and responsible action. McDaniel College is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity institution and welcomes applications from diverse candidates and candidates who support diversity.

Application procedures for Visiting Assistant Professor position: Qualified applicants must have a Ph.D. and should submit the following:

- * a written letter of application;
- * a written curriculum vitae;
- * a teaching philosophy; and
- * three letters of recommendation.

To apply, visit: <http://www2.mcdaniel.edu/jobs/apply.php?id=213> (copy and paste)

Start Date: Spring 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1369

Tarleton State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science American Politics

The Department of Social Sciences at Tarleton State University is accepting applications for a full-time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor in the field of American Politics with a general specialization in Public Policy and a specific specialization in Environmental Policy beginning September 2016. This position has a normal teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester. The selected applicant will teach general education survey courses in Federal Government and State/Local Government, upper level courses in the area of specialization, and based on departmental needs, will have the opportunity to teach the senior level capstone course in Political Science. The applicant will be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to serve the department and the university as required (see the Tarleton State University Handbook for Faculty and Administrative Staff available at www.tarleton.edu).

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. (ABD status may be considered as long as all degree requirements, including dissertation, defense of dissertation, and comprehensive examinations, have been successfully completed by the time of appointment); Must have specialization in Public Policy – Environmental Policy.

Salary is competitive, within the assistant professor range, concomitant with experience. More information about our department can be found at: <http://www.tarleton.edu/COLFAWEB/socialsciences/index.html>.

Males, age 18 through 25, must be properly registered with the Selective Service System to be eligible for hire. This position is designated as a security sensitive position and requires a satisfactory criminal history background check.

Tarleton State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer. As a member of The Texas A&M System, Tarleton will provide equal opportunity for employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity and will strive to achieve full and equal employment opportunity through The Texas A&M System.

Special Instructions:

Please apply online at <https://jobs.tarleton.edu>. A cover letter, c.v., transcripts (official or unofficial), three letters of recommendation, and a statement of teaching philosophy should accompany your application. If you are not able to attach the documents when applying, please mail the requested documents to:

Tarleton State University
Dr. Eric Morrow
Department of Social Sciences
Box T-0660

Stephenville, TX 76402

If mailing, please make sure you reference the Posting Number #0801397 and title of this position.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1367

Bridgewater State University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor

The Political Science Department invites applications for two (2) tenure track faculty positions, open rank, in public administration or public policy beginning fall 2016. Candidates will be expected to teach graduate courses in the core and elective curriculum of the department's growing Master of Public Administration program (NASPAA Accredited) and some undergraduate political science courses including Introduction to American Government, and to work closely with and advise graduate and undergraduate students. This is an open field search. Review of applications will begin March 15.

Earned Ph.D., commitment to teaching excellence, and evidence of scholarly activity in the field of public administration or public policy are required. Applicants should be strongly committed to excellence in teaching and advising, and to working in a multicultural environment that fosters diversity. They should also have an ability to use technology effectively in teaching and learning, the ability to work collaboratively, and a commitment to public higher education. Candidates with quantitative and/or qualitative methodological skills, practitioner experience, leadership experience in a Master of Public Administration program, and NASPAA accreditation experience preferred.

Please apply for this position through the online application system managed by the Human Resources Office at Bridgewater State University, which you can locate at the following web address:

<http://www.bridgew.edu/human-resources>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1290

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor(s)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for instructors for face-to-face classes on all campuses (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Dublin, and Eastman) for day, evening, and weekend classes to start Fall 2016 or later in the fields of history and political science. We have particular needs for instructors who are interested in teaching one or more of the following courses:

POLS 1101 American Government

POLS 2501 Domestic Issues

POLS 2601 Intro to Public Administration

The Macon campus is located just over one hour's drive southeast of Atlanta.

Minimum Qualifications: To qualify for a teaching position, candidates are required to have a minimum of a master's degree in political science or a master's in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in the discipline.

To Apply: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current CV or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of at least two professional references including email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy, preferably combined as an attachment in a single PDF file, to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, assistant department chair, at christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Informal inquiries welcome.

Middle Georgia State University is a Unit of the University System of Georgia, EEO/AA/M/F/V/D.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/5/2016

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 1170

Augusta University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Augusta University

Department of Political Science

Master of Public Administration Program

Assistant Professor

Augusta University's Department of Political Science and its NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration Program is seeking to fill a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2016. We seek individuals who can teach courses in American politics and institutions and one or more courses in the MPA program.

ABOUT AUGUSTA UNIVERSITY: On January 8, 2013 Augusta State University and Georgia Health Sciences University consolidated to become a dynamic new institution that maintains its strong traditions of both universities. Augusta University is considered one of Georgia's four research comprehensive universities. The university is experiencing an exciting and challenging period of transition and growth into a university with high research activity and teaching excellence. Founded in 1828, the university includes nine colleges with nearly 10,000 students, 1,000 full-time faculty members and 5,000 staff members. It houses the nation's 13th-oldest medical school, the state's sole dental college, an aligned and integrated health system, a growing intercollegiate athletics program, the highly respected Hull College of Business, the diverse Pamplin College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, among other units. With 650 acres of campus and nearly 150 buildings, the university is a $1 billion-plus enterprise with state-wide and national reach.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: The successful candidate must hold, at time of appointment, a PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, Public Administration, or related field, and have an identifiable research agenda and publishing program. Successful candidates will be able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in American Politics, as well as an introductory course to the research methods. All subfield specializations will be considered, including, but not limited to: Congress; the presidency; judicial; and campaigns and elections. Successful candidates must also be able to teach coursework in the Department's MPA program; all specializations and subfields in public administration or public policy will be considered.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Interested candidates must apply on-line through our website at <http://www.gru.edu/jobs/faculty/>. Please make sure you upload a cover letter describing teaching experience, a curriculum vita, graduate school transcripts, and three letters of reference as one document online. Any questions can be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. William Hatcher, Department of Political Science at wihatcher@gru.edu. The committee will begin reviewing applications March 1, 2016.

Augusta University is an equal opportunity and equal access institution and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or sexual orientation in employment or in the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/15/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1115

University of San Diego

Rank: Professor of Practice, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a non-tenure track Professor of Practice in public administration and public policy. Candidates must have a Master's degree or PhD in political science, public administration, public policy, or a closely related field, teaching experience at the community college or university level, practical experience in local or state government, and the capacity to integrate theory with practice.

The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in American politics, urban politics, public policy, and/or state and local government. The teaching load is seven courses per academic year, which includes one internship class each semester. In addition, the candidate will supervise our continuously offered Washington, D.C. internship program and run a 1-unit weekend Sacramento seminar each spring semester.

As a Professor of Practice, the successful candidate must have extensive local, state, and/or national political, legal, and business connections, and will supervise the department's dynamic internship program, including the department's Washington DC internship and seminar program. Responsibilities will include developing new internship opportunities, to further enhance our students' professional development.

USD offers a competitive salary and benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference at their earliest convenience. The position will remain open until filled.

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and look for job IRC18893. Applicants must email all relevant materials— except for confidential letters of recommendation— to dickson@sandiego.edu and upload the same materials to the USD Human Resources site. References must submit confidential letters of recommendation separately to: dickson@sandiego.edu.

Please address all correspondence to Dr. Del Dickson, Chair, Search Committee for Professor of Practice, Department of Political Science and International Relations, 5998 Alcalá Park, San Diego, CA 92110

USD is a private, independent Catholic liberal arts institution dedicated to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. USD is an Equal Opportunity employer, and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from underrepresented and underserved groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1028

University of Southern Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs in Hattiesburg, Miss., is accepting applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of American politics (political institutions). Additional strength in public policy/public administration is also desirable. The successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to American Government and assist with the department's research methods sequences. Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. Candidates are expected to provide evidence of potential for excellence in teaching, research and service. The department serves both the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses and includes a strong undergraduate program, MA and MS in political science and a Ph.D. in international development. The successful candidate will develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and contribute broadly to our master's programs as well as conduct scholarly research and provide service to the department, college, university, profession and/or community.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. A full application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations (if available), graduate transcripts, a writing sample and at least three letters of reference. To apply, please see <http://jobs.usm.edu>

The position is contingent on funding.

The department is committed to improving its diversity in terms of race, ethnicity and gender. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities to apply.

For more information, please see the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs website at <http://usm.edu/polisci>

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/3/2015
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 949

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 734

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 735

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 736

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure-track assistant professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields is required at the time of appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 738

Mississippi State University

Rank: Associate Professor in Public Policy and Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for a tenure/tenure-track associate professor faculty position in public administration and policy, beginning August 2016. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public health, emergency management/information management, public budgeting/financial management, and local government management. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields; and for a tenured appointment, a record of research productivity to meet the standards for tenure in a major research university are required for this appointment.

All applicants must apply online at www.jobs.msstate.edu (PARF #9220) by completing the Personal Data Information Form and attaching a cover letter and curriculum vitae. In addition, please send application materials as well as three letters of recommendation to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 16, 2015 and the search will remain open until filled.

MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/29/2015
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 733

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Open Rank Public Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration
Specializations: Public Finance & Budgeting, Urban Politics, United States

Tenure-Track Faculty Position
 Department of Political Science
 College of Natural and Social Science

Position: Open Rank position, preferably Associate Professor of Public Administration
 Starting Date: Fall 2016

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. or DPA in Political Science, Public Administration or a related field from an accredited institution of higher education. We are seeking a generalist in public administration to join the faculty nucleus of our NASPAA-accredited Master of Science in Public Administration program. The MSPA prepares students for leadership in professional public and community service within a diverse and dynamic urban environment. The position includes serving as MSPA Graduate Advisor, and teaching and doing research in one or more of the following areas: public administration, public management, collaborative governance, leadership, e-governance, or social policy. Interest and ability to teach the introduction to American government is required. The successful candidate must have demonstrated excellence in teaching at a college level, a record of scholarly activity, involving students whenever possible, and must be able to teach the introduction to American government. Applicants should have the ability to relate well to others within the academic environment, and demonstrate ability and/or interest in working in a multiethnic, multicultural environment.

As a University dedicated to engagement, service and the public good, Cal State L.A. expects the successful candidate to join faculty, staff, students and administrators in a commitment to these purposes.

Duties:

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 192

In addition to teaching, duties include student advisement, engaging in scholarly activity, and committee service for the Department, the College, and the University.

Salary: Initial salary commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. Founded in 1947, the University is in the city of Los Angeles, adjacent to the San Gabriel Valley, and has more than 23,000 students who reflect the rich ethnic diversity of the area. The University is a federally recognized Hispanic-serving and Minority-serving institution. Faculty may have the opportunity to establish affiliate status with other academic programs, including the Honors College and ethnic studies.

Required Documentation: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vita, official transcripts, three letters of recommendation and the University's Application for Academic Employment form. www.calstatela.edu/univ/hrm/docs/forms/Empl_applic_academic.pdf Employment contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Application review will begin September 25, 2015. Address applications and required documentation and/or requests for information to:

Public Administration Search Committee
Department of Political Science
California State University, Los Angeles
5151 State University Drive
Los Angeles, CA 90032
Phone: 323.343.2230

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Fingerprinting is required and will be checked by the California Department of Justice and FBI.

In addition to meeting fully its obligations under federal and state law, Cal State LA is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual. To that end, all qualified individuals will receive equal consideration without regard to economic status, race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, pregnancy, national origin or cultural background, political views, sex, sexual orientation, gender identification, age, disability, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran status.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/TITLE IX EMPLOYER

Upon request, reasonable accommodation will be provided to individuals with protected disabilities to (a) complete the employment process and (b) perform essential job functions when this does not cause undue hardship.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2015