

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

September 2016 | Volume 5, Issue 9

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 8

Comparative Politics 56

International Relations 106

Methodology 150

Non-Academic 165

Other 166

Political Theory 194

Public Administration 214

Public Law 229

Public Policy 238

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

September 2016 | Volume 5, Issue 9

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (8 listings)

American Government and Politics 8 (111 listings)

Comparative Politics 56 (105 listings)

International Relations 106 (94 listings)

Methodology 150 (36 listings)

Non-Academic 165 (2 listings)

Other 166 (60 listings)

Political Theory 194 (43 listings)

Public Administration 214 (28 listings)

Public Law 229 (16 listings)

Public Policy 238 (59 listings)

Total listings this issue 562

Resources and Guidance on Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for September

ADMINISTRATION

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Director of School of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Other

The University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applications for the position of inaugural Director of the new School of Public Policy (SPP) at the University's flagship campus. We seek an outstanding and active scholar committed to the study of public problems and their resolution. The appointment will be made at the rank of Full Professor or advanced Associate Professor. Building on the success of the University's Center for Public Policy and Administration, the founding director will help to lead a faculty hiring strategy, elevate the visibility of SPP as a national and international hub for policy debates, and create multi-disciplinary programs that prepare students for lifelong engagement with public issues. The Director will work with faculty and other campus leaders to raise the profile of policy-relevant research on and beyond campus, build partnerships with other campus units that create joint opportunities for policy-related research and teaching, support faculty to increase public engagement with their research, and engage in fundraising working with development staff. The Director, who will report to the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS), will work with faculty to lead efforts to establish new opportunities for undergraduates in public policy and administration and expand existing graduate programs, working in collaboration with departments in the social sciences, natural sciences, public health, engineering, information and computer science and a variety of other fields. The SPP community is interested in problems connected to inequality and has a passion for social change and engaging policy problems at all levels, locally through internationally. The new Director will work collaboratively to develop innovative programs on our main campus in Amherst, with possible new operations in Massachusetts (Boston and Springfield) and Washington, DC where students will gain valuable experience in international, national, state, regional and local governance.

Requirements:

Candidates for Director must have a doctoral degree or equivalent and an exceptional record of research, teaching, and service sufficient to merit appointment as a tenured (full or associate) professor in one of the academic departments of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to research and to undergraduate and graduate education; a vision for how a new policy school will support the campus's strategic planning goals; a commitment to increase the diversity of the faculty, student body and curriculum; an ability to serve as a vigorous champion for public policy research and teaching; and an ability to work effectively across boundaries with faculty members, students, staff, administrators, and external constituencies.

Additional Information:

The university is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University of Massachusetts Amherst is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will holistically assess the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research or other work activities. We will also favorably consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic degree and career.

Application Instructions:

The appointment will be effective on or about September 1, 2017. Interested candidates should apply through Interview Exchange.

Candidates should include a curriculum vitae and a cover letter with a statement about the candidate's views on the role of public policy in a public research university, along with a concise description of the candidate's research and related accomplishments.

All applications will be treated as strictly confidential & letters of reference will only be requested for candidates who are finalists.

For full consideration, ensure that your application is received by October 3, 2016, but review of applications will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1898

San Diego State University

Rank: Dean of SDSU- Imperial Valley Campus

Specializations: Women & Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DEAN OF SDSU – IMPERIAL VALLEY CAMPUS POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

San Diego State University seeks an innovative and energetic academic leader to serve as the Dean of its Imperial Valley Campus, located in Calexico, California, 120 miles east of San Diego.

This historic campus offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs in a variety of disciplines to residents of the desert area of southeastern California. The Imperial Valley Campus is committed to serving a student body that reflects the rich linguistic and cultural heritage of the U.S.-Mexican border. There are currently over 1,000 students enrolled, many of whom are first-generation college students. SDSU-Imperial Valley Campus, located six blocks from the Mexican border, is set in a bicultural and bilingual environment. Mexicali, the adjacent Mexican metropolis, has a population of approximately one million as well as two major universities with opportunities for collaboration. The Imperial Valley Campus serves the 179,000 inhabitants of Imperial County at two sites, one in Calexico and a second in Brawley at the north end of the county.

SDSU-Imperial Valley is a diverse, Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

The Dean of the Imperial Valley Campus, the chief administrative and academic officer of the campus, reports to the Provost of the University, and serves as a member of the university's Academic Deans Council. The Dean is responsible for guiding, directing and overseeing campus educational programs, providing leadership in a context of shared governance for the educational and professional missions of the campus, advancing the success of faculty in teaching excellence and professional growth, promoting student success, supervising the personnel procedures of its faculty and staff, securing resources, and representing and promoting the campus with external constituents in the Imperial Valley. The Dean is also responsible for fostering an effective, collegial relationship between the campuses.

Qualifications: An earned doctorate and a demonstrated record of scholarly excellence and academic achievement commensurate with the rank of Professor. Excellent leadership and interpersonal skills, with capabilities for promoting collegiality and building consensus within the university and with the community. Demonstrated effectiveness with shared governance. Demonstrated university teaching and faculty experience. Broad and extensive research experience and scholarly achievement. Knowledge and understanding of the management and operation of academic and research programs. Demonstrated experience with budgetary and financial management. Experience with advancing diversity and an ability to work effectively in a multicultural campus and community setting. Demonstrated ability to secure external financial support for instructional and research programs, undertake successful fund-raising and advancement activities, and promote community engagement. Familiarity with the use of information and instructional technology, including distance learning.

Applications: Candidates may apply directly by sending a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names, addresses, phone/fax numbers and email of at least five references. References will be contacted only with permission of the candidates. Applications received by September 16, 2016, shall receive full consideration, although application review will continue until the position is filled. To apply, please submit required materials via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36325>

Nominations: Nominations are welcome and if you wish to nominate someone, please submit their name, current position, and email address to provost@rohan.sdsu.edu. We will contact the nominee and ask that they apply through Interfolio.

Additional information about the University is available at www.sdsu.edu and the university's strategic plan can be found at <http://go.sdsu.edu/strategicplan/>. Detailed information about the SDSU-Imperial Valley Campus can be found at <http://www.ivcampus.sdsu.edu/> and its strategic plan can be found at http://www.ivcampus.sdsu.edu/Information/strategic_plan/sdsu-iv_strategic_plan_final.pdf.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

SDSU is a Title IX, equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate against persons on the basis of race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity and expression, marital status, age, disability, pregnancy, medical condition, or covered veteran status

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1887

City of Ames

Rank: Management Analyst

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Administration

Analytical minds wanted! The City of Ames is currently accepting applications for the position of Management Analyst. The selected candidate will assist with or conduct research for departments and the City Manager's office on a special project basis. They will apply for an manage grants and may work directly with City Council. The development and administration of policies, procedures and programs will be an integral part of the role.

Candidates with particular interest in public service and management should apply. We offer outstanding benefits and stable employment in an environment that is values driven from the top-down. For more information and to apply please visit: www.cityofames.org/jobs

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/6/2016

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1792

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor, Director of the Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Administration

WEISER CENTER FOR EMERGING DEMOCRACIES: The International Institute (II) at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor seeks qualified applicants for the Ronald and Eileen Weiser Professorship in Emerging Democracies and the Directorship of the Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies (WCED) to begin September 1, 2017. The II is interested in a scholar who conducts research on emerging democracies, broadly defined, and has interdisciplinary interests in the social sciences or humanities. The successful applicant will be a tenured faculty member in a department, such as Anthropology, History, Sociology, or Political Science.

The II brings together distinguished and diverse faculty and scholars with deep area studies, disciplinary, and international expertise to enrich the university's intellectual environment and to provide the U-M community with the knowledge, tools, and experience to become informed and active global citizens.

The WCED promotes scholarship to better understand the conditions and policies under which democracies emerge and autocracies endure, past and present. WCED takes a multidisciplinary perspective that is sensitive to the historical, social, cultural, economic, and political contexts in which democracies do or do not emerge. While WCED initially focused on transitions in Europe and Eurasia, the II welcomes applications from faculty working in any region.

QUALIFICATIONS

The University will give greatest consideration to the following qualifications:

1. Academic Accomplishment: The candidate should have a strong record of scholarly excellence and be well known in his or her field. The candidate should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, including a statement of teaching philosophy and experience.

2. Administrative Experience: The Director is responsible for overseeing budgets and staff, working with departments and colleagues to promote area expertise, monitoring faculty committees, and overseeing development activities by cultivating ties to people and institutions outside the University in support of WCED activities. The candidate should have a significant administrative background and should be capable of managing a complex organization.
3. Vision and Strategy: The Director is responsible for setting the intellectual agenda and developing WCED programming that will fuel the center's continued growth and global engagement. The candidate should have the ability to articulate and execute a vision for a major interdisciplinary research center.

This is a university year appointment. Applications received by October 3, 2016 will be given first consideration. All applicants should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and names of suggested reviewers. Please provide a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence, and a statement of current and future research plans.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Applicants to this position can apply online via <https://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/apply/1041>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1775

George Mason University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Conflict Resolution (Tenure-Track)

George Mason University

Assistant Professor of Conflict Resolution (Tenure-Track)

The George Mason University School for Conflict Analysis and Resolution (S-CAR) invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Conflict Resolution. The position begins late August 2017. George Mason University has a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff, and strongly encourages candidates to apply who will enrich Mason's academic and culturally inclusive environment. The School for Conflict Analysis and Resolution is committed to the development of theory, research and practice that generate new and innovative approaches to conflict analysis, resolution and transformation. Having established the world's first M.S. program in conflict resolution in 1983, S-CAR is home to degree programs at the B.A./B.S., M.S., Ph.D., and Certificate levels and has an affiliate M.S. program in Malta. With four vibrant centers and multiple projects and programs, S-CAR faculty and students are engaged in significant research and practice worldwide; nationally; and locally, in the Washington, D.C., metro area. S-CAR is a Commonwealth Center for Excellence, recognized for its leadership in the field and its world-renowned faculty. For more information about the school, go to: <http://scar.gmu.edu/>.

Responsibilities:

The responsibilities for this position include:

- Teaching two courses per semester (including undergraduate instruction);

- Maintaining an active research and/or practice agenda;
- Participating in curricular development and other service activities; and
- Contributing to the school's intellectual life.

Qualifications:

The School for Conflict Analysis and Resolution seeks highly qualified applicants whose work strengthens or complements the department's current offerings. Candidates with expertise in any subfield will be considered. Several areas are of particular interest, including: engaged scholarship; organizational or multiparty conflict resolution; critical peace building; and conflict and its resolution in relation to gender, environment, poverty/inequality or arts/media. The department is interested in candidates who engage directly with today's real-world conflicts through intervention, advocacy, consultation, evaluation and other forms of practice. S-CAR invites applicants from a variety of academic disciplines or interdisciplinary backgrounds, and representing various methodological and regional areas of expertise, both domestic and international. Applicants should have completed their Doctoral degree or plan to defend their dissertation by August 1, 2017. For full consideration, applicants must apply for position number F8299z at <http://jobs.gmu.edu/>; complete and submit the online application; and upload a CV, two writing samples (second writing sample may be uploaded into field marked "Other Doc" in the Additional Documents section), a cover letter that includes a statement of interest, and a list of the names and e-mails of three referees who have agreed to write letters of recommendation upon request. For additional information, please contact James Moon, Search Administrative Coordinator at jmoon6@gmu.edu or Dr. Susan F. Hirsch, Search Committee Chair.

George Mason University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, committed to promoting inclusion and equity in its community. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/zxbc7b9qd4>

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1707

University of Arizona

Rank: Director, Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy

The Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy is a University-wide Research Institute/Center (<http://research.arizona.edu/research-centers-and-institutes>), reporting to the Office for Research & Discovery (ORD), that is the intellectual home for interdisciplinary, stakeholder-based policy research and outreach. As such, the Udall Center's charge is to advance cross-cutting inquiry and connect diverse policy research efforts and researchers, gain increasing external support for policy research, and deliver measurable public impact.

Currently, the Center focuses on policy research and outreach in three primary policy areas: environment, Native nations, and immigration. Given the strong record of success in these areas, and the University of Arizona's strategic plan to grow sponsored research, the next Director is expected to focus on further growing interdisciplinary policy research, expanding extramural funding of its activities, and connecting diverse policy researchers across campus in synergistic and thoughtful ways to increase the visibility of University of Arizona policy research to external entities. The Director should bring public policy expertise that complements and/or augments the Center's capacity and focus in order to coalesce and advance a wide range of interdisciplinary policy research, whether or not it is in the Center's current policy domain.

The Udall Center's work is motivated by the legacy of Arizona's Morris K. Udall and Stewart L. Udall, who as advocates and public servants worked on behalf of the environment, the Southwest and U.S.-Mexico border region, Indigenous peoples, and other issues including public health, public lands, and energy resources. To achieve its aims, the Center builds bridges across disciplines, viewpoints, and geography to link research with decision-making and to co-produce and distribute policy-relevant knowledge. It does so by identifying problems, methods of inquiry, and solutions together with partners, constituents, and other stakeholders within the UA, and with other universities, Native nations, governmental agencies, foundations, non-governmental organizations, corporations, and businesses. The Center employs between 35 and 40 staff, including faculty members (most of whom have joint appointments in other units), other professionals, and support personnel, plus about 10 graduate research assistants and several undergraduate students. The Center is supported from a diverse portfolio of funding – grants, contracts, private donations, and program revenue. A network of affiliated policy scholars and associates advise and contribute to the Center's endeavors.

Depending on candidate interest and experience, and fit with the unit's goals and expectations, a tenure-line academic appointment (and accompanying responsibilities) is negotiable in an appropriate academic unit. The Udall Center website can be found at <http://udallcenter.arizona.edu>.

The Director of the Udall Center is responsible for leading and participating in activities that foster interdisciplinary collaboration to address key policy issues, generating increasing external support to grow policy research and outreach that leads to substantive public benefit, and connecting policy research efforts in a considered manner that increases external visibility. The Director also oversees and manages all Udall Center operations including research and outreach programs and relationships both within and outside the university, among them a close relationship with the Morris K. Udall and Stewart L. Udall Foundation (a federal agency). The Director executes these responsibilities in a manner that coordinates and utilizes ORD resources and programs, as well as those of relevant UA colleges. The Director works with Center program directors/managers to determine priorities and supports their work to the highest standards. The Director regularly reports to the Senior Vice President for Research on Center activities, metrics, and outcomes relative to targets and goals.

The ideal candidate will be a researcher of substantial and widely recognized accomplishment relevant to the Center's mission, have significant administrative experience, and is expected to have a clear, strategic and compelling vision for how the Center can grow, expand its impact and increase extramural funding. Specifically, the new Director will be expected to: i) work with ORD services and staff as a part of the university research institute/center mission; (ii) complement the Udall legacy in the Center's approach and outcomes; (iii) oversee multiple, sometimes complex, streams of funding for projects and personnel, including flexible academic arrangements and opportunities; (iv) have a collaborative approach to leadership and management and skills in fostering common goals and teamwork; (v) work productively with a diverse staff, across multiple disciplines and topic areas, and with numerous external and internal organizations and constituencies in a thoughtful, even-handed manner.

Minimum Qualifications:

An earned doctorate in related field with scholarly credentials commensurate with appointment at the rank of Professor at the University of Arizona.

A demonstrated record of collaborative leadership that fosters common goals within a department/program and the broader university community.

Demonstrated success in identifying, cultivating and forming relationships to increase targeted activities and advance success in outcome metrics.

Record of productive collaboration with external organizations and constituencies, in particular with diverse/underserved constituencies.

Preferred Qualifications:

Previous administrative experience as a department head, chair, or other significant administrative responsibilities.

Apply online at <https://uacareers.com/postings/12310>. Applicant review begins on August 23, 2016.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Date Posted: 8/2/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1712

University of Georgia

Rank: Margaret Hughes and Robert T. Golembiewski Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration

The University of Georgia's School of Public & International Affairs, Department of Public Administration and Policy invites applications for The Margaret Hughes and Robert T. Golembiewski Professorship in Public Administration. Appointment begins in August 2017. The position is an endowed professorship, held by a full professor with an outstanding record of scholarship, teaching, and professional activity in public administration, including any subfield of public administration.

A Ph.D. in public administration, political science, or other appropriate discipline is required. Teaching is primarily at the graduate level and includes courses in public administration and/or subtopics in public administration. Successful candidates will contribute to both our MPA and Ph.D. programs and demonstrate national and international leadership in research, combined with excellence in teaching and public service. Applications should include a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and contact information for three references.

Please apply using the FacultyJobs@UGA online system (<https://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/1001>). Include in your application (1) a cover letter (2) a curriculum vitae and (3) contact information for three references. If you have questions or would like more information, please contact Laura Bayne at 706-542-9660 or lbayne@uga.edu. Applications received by November 15, 2016 are guaranteed full consideration.

The University of Georgia is ranked 4th among Public Affairs programs by U.S. News & World Report. For more information, visit padp.uga.edu.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1614

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Full-time Tenure Track Professor

The Management Department of the Wharton School is seeking applicants for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at any level: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in the areas of:

- Entrepreneurial Management
- Human Resource Management
- Multinational /Comparative Management
- Organizational Behavior
- Strategy

Demonstrated ability or potential for high quality research and teaching are important. Applicants must have a Ph.D. (expected completion by June 30, 2018 is acceptable) from an accredited institution.

The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2017.

Interested individuals should complete and submit our online application via our secure website, and must include:

- A cover letter (indicating the areas for which you wish to be considered)
- Curriculum vitae
- Names of three recommenders, including email addresses [junior-level candidates]
- Sample publications and abstracts

To apply please visit our website:

<https://mgmt.wharton.upenn.edu/faculty/faculty-positions/>

Recruitment Committee review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016. Candidates are strongly encouraged to have their completed applications submitted by that date for full consideration.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EOE. Minorities/Women/Individuals with disabilities/Protected Veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 6/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1543

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Garwood Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2017 to June 30, 2018. The Garwood Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University, and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants are required to submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. To apply for a Visiting Fellow position please go to requisition 1600685.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

The deadline for application materials is 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2016 for appointments beginning in September 2017. Awards will be announced in March 2017.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D., Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu / Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1846

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates for the year from September 1, 2017 to September 1, 2018 with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on good performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education in the future. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants should submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> by December 1, 2016; however, applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2017. To apply for a Postdoctoral Research Associate position, please go to requisition #1600687.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D.
Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu
Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1847

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Psychology, Education Policy

The University of Richmond is seeking a social scientist for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS). Although ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. or Ed.D. in public administration, public policy, educational policy, political or social psychology, sociology, or a related field, by August 23, 2017.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars in anthropology, economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, social psychology and religion. We seek applicants who study, or have the potential and desire to study, leadership by drawing on their disciplinary expertise to inform their work. We are particularly interested in candidates whose demonstrated scholarly interests focus on the analysis of policy or processes related to justice and explaining social and economic inequality.

Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in an interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences and Theories and Models of Leadership. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests connect, or have the potential to connect, to leadership, broadly construed. (See <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information.) The JLS supports the University's commitment to promoting an inclusive campus community. For full consideration, applicants must specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the imperatives of diversity and inclusion.

The University of Richmond is a nationally ranked liberal arts university offering a unique combination of undergraduate and graduate degree programs in arts and sciences, business, leadership studies, law, and professional and continuing studies. The first school of leadership studies and a highly ranked business school enhance a strong liberal arts curriculum.

Inaugurated in 1992, the Jepson School of Leadership Studies is an independent academic unit of the University and offers students the opportunity to major or minor in Leadership Studies. With the aim of educating students for and about leadership, the Jepson School offers a challenging liberal arts curriculum delivered by means of a rigorous and innovative pedagogy. Candidates should submit a letter of application and curriculum vitae, and provide the names and emails of three references to <http://jobs.richmond.edu>. Review of applications will begin September 20, 2016; applications will be accepted until October 10, 2016. Preliminary phone and/or Skype interviews will likely be conducted; we anticipate inviting candidates to campus in November 2016.

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body and to supporting an inclusive campus community. In keeping with this commitment, our academic community strongly encourages applications from candidates who will contribute to these goals. The University of Richmond has a generous family leave policy, offers employment benefits to same sex domestic partners, and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, national or ethnic origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, disability, status as a veteran or any classification protected by local, state or federal law.

The University of Richmond is an Equal Opportunity Employer by both policy and practice. Applicants are considered for all positions without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, marital or veteran status, or the presence of a non-job-related medical condition.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/10/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1569

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Raymond Dawson Bicentennial Professor of Political Science

American Politics. The Department of Political Science at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill invites applications for the position of Raymond Dawson Bicentennial Professor of Political Science, effective Fall 2017. We seek an accomplished senior scholar in any area of American politics. Review of applications will begin October 1 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applications from women and minorities are particularly welcome. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer that welcomes all to apply, including protected veterans and individuals with disabilities.

To complete a full application for the position, please follow this link: <http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/105253>

Please attach your cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a sample of current research on this site.

Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265. The web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>. Informal inquires may be directed to Frank Baumgartner, Chair of the Dawson Search Committee, at Frankb@unc.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1943

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for full-time appointment during the 2017-2018 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. QSS fellows also join a broader community of postdoctoral social science researchers at Dartmouth that includes scholars at the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows.

The stipend for the QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, there may be an opportunity for the fellow to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend. The fellowship can be extended through the 2018-2019 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests no longer than two pages that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/37062.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1934

Georgetown University

Rank: Multiple positions--African American Studies

Seizing this pivotal moment in Georgetown's history, the Department of African American Studies invites applications for at least four open-rank positions, which have an anticipated start date of August 1, 2017. This first set of hires inaugurates a multi-year hiring initiative and is an integral part of Georgetown University's plan to expand African American Studies, and establish a Research Center for Racial Justice. We seek scholars who have an ambitious research agenda, a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, and an earnest desire to help build the newly formed department and participate in other university service. Currently, our strengths lie in African American studies and its intersections with literary studies, sociology, history, and performance studies. Building upon these fields, we seek cross-disciplinary, multi-disciplinary, and trans-disciplinary scholarship that strengthens African American Studies' capacity in psychology, visual studies, philosophy, political science, economics, women's and gender studies, and law and criminology. More specifically, we seek applicants whose research interests engage with one of the following topics:

- Structural and cultural causes of and solutions to black inequality
- Black cultural productions and responses to legacies and impacts of slavery, Jim Crow segregation, and imperialism in US institutions
- How Black intersectionality informs equality and social justice

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in African American Studies or related fields by July 1, 2017. Senior candidates with administrative and departmental leadership interests and experience are especially welcomed. All applicants should specify the rank for which they are applying in the letter of interest.

Applicants without tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), three letters of recommendation, and dissertation abstract (if the candidate is ABD).

Applicants with tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), research statement (current and future projects, or career narrative), and names, telephone numbers, and email addresses for three referees.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants without tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36591>

Applicants with tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36594>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1933

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor American Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning July 2017. A Ph.D is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 17, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1939

Cornell University

Rank: Distinguished Professorship in American Politics

Cornell University invites applications for a distinguished professorship for a position beginning July 1, 2017. We seek to hire a senior scholar of American politics with a distinguished record of scholarship and teaching. Interested prospective candidates should submit a letter of application and curriculum vitae. Electronic application materials should be sent to: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7740>. Individuals who are interested in learning more or who wish to nominate someone for the position may contact Stacy Kesselring, sk866@cornell.edu. We will begin to review applications starting October 1, 2016, and will continue until the search is completed. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1924

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling a Visiting Professor (VP) position beginning June 27, 2017. The appointment will be for either the entire academic year, ending in May of 2018, or one semester. The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire women and men to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to the nation. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field, preferably with an emphasis on American Government, International Relations, or Comparative Politics. The candidate must also be strongly committed to teaching undergraduates and be a full-time "career employee" at a US institution of higher education, an academically-oriented think-tank or an educationally-focused organization. The qualified candidate must agree to return to his/her institution in a full-time status following a VP year at the Air Force Academy. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Air Force Academy will reimburse the VP's home academic institution for the visiting professor's salary and benefits during his or her time at the Academy, and moving expenses will be provided. To apply, send a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, and three references (ensure addresses and telephone numbers are provided) from individuals familiar with your professional work to: HQ USAFA/DFPS (Attn: Dr. David Sacko), 2354 Fairchild Drive, Room 6K-160, US Air Force Academy CO 80840-6258. Application packages may also be emailed to David.Sacko@usafa.edu. Applications received by September 21, 2016 will receive primary consideration. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. U.S. citizenship required.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1919

University of the Incarnate Word

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations

Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations (tenure-track, 4-4 load) beginning August 2017.

The successful candidate will have the ability to teach upper division courses in American government, judicial politics and/or public law and a wide range of lower division courses within the field. A strong commitment to undergraduate education is essential.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in American Politics (ABDs considered) with a specialization in judicial politics or public law by July 2017.

The successful candidate will have at least one year of demonstrated university-level teaching experience in the discipline.

Official duties and responsibilities of faculty members at the University of the Incarnate Word include teaching, scholarship, service, and professional activities. In all matters, faculty are expected to maintain the highest standards of professional ethics consistent with the UIW mission.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1920

Azusa Pacific University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Political Theory

Position Tracking Number: F591

School/College: College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Department: History and Political Science

Location: Azusa

Description:

The Department of History and Political Science invites applications for an Assistant/Associate faculty position in Political Science, with primary specialization in political philosophy, secondary specialization in American Politics. Ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus, as is ability to teach writing for the humanities. Candidates should possess an earned Ph.D. in Political Science or Government, and maintain a strong commitment to the liberal arts. The appointment will begin August 2017, and is subject to final funding.

Specialization: Political Philosophy

Responsibilities:

- Teach upper-division courses in political philosophy, American political thought;
- Teach lower-division courses in political philosophy and American Government;
- Ability to teach lower and/or upper division courses in international relations desirable;
- Teach lower- and upper-division writing and research courses;
- Advise and mentor undergraduate students;

- Participate in departmental and university affairs;
- Integrate Christian faith in all aspects of instruction;
- Maintain an active scholarly research agenda.

Level: Assistant or Associate Professor

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or Government.
- A commitment to teaching excellence in an undergraduate, liberal arts program.
- A demonstrated, vibrant Christian faith compatible with the mission of Azusa Pacific University.

Experience:

Demonstrated commitment to scholarship in Political Science and prior university-level teaching experience.

Workload: Full-time position which includes teaching, advising and other departmental responsibilities.

Mental Demands:

- Desire to integrate Christian faith in all aspects of instruction.
- Ability to engage in critical thinking and exercise independent judgment.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality and manage confidential information.
- Self-starter and ability to communicate effectively in written and oral form.
- Ability to develop and maintain a scholarly research agenda.

Hire Date: August 2017

Additional Information:

At Azusa Pacific University we value and uphold God-honoring diversity. Diversity was not our idea, but God's. Therefore, we aim for an environment that respects and honors each individual's uniqueness while celebrating our collective commonalities. It is in this spirit that we continue important discourse on diversity, engage a variety of perspectives, and embrace active listening in a spirit of humility. We continue our efforts to recruit, hire, and support a diverse community in an effort to create a milieu that reflects the mosaic of God's kingdom.

Azusa Pacific University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Azusa Pacific University conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Application Procedure:

To apply, visit <http://www.apu.edu/cp/employment/>. Interested applicants should submit materials by September 15, 2016. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1913

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of assistant professor. This position is pending final budgetary approval.

Basic Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department expects applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework, but has no preferred methodological approach. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/36801> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching/research interest (including a summary of teaching evaluations, if available), and sample publications. In addition, please send at least three letters of recommendation to pscjobs@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 9, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1904

Lund University

Rank: Postdoctoral research position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Quantitative Methods

The postdoctoral position is part of the research project "Explaining radicalization and political violence", a four-year interdisciplinary collaboration among researchers from the Department of Political Science at Lund University and the Departments of Psychology at Lund and Gothenburg University. The project is funded by The Marianne and Marcus Wallenberg foundation with Professor Hanna Bäck as project leader. The project aims to study the psychological mechanisms that lead an individual to become radicalized and/or to use political violence, and investigates such mechanisms by the cross-fertilization of political science and psychology. One of the project hypotheses focuses on the causal relationship between social exclusion or rejection and the likelihood of radicalization. The project applies a multitude of methodological approaches, and is for example based on experimental and survey studies, in addition to analyses of online material/social media.

The post-doctoral fellow will be expected to carry out research that contributes to the fulfilment of the project's overall research objectives. However, the fellow will also conduct independent research and will be free to develop his or her own theoretical ideas, and choose the methods that he or she finds most appropriate. The position is full-time and fixed-term for two years, and the holder of this post will be expected to conduct research (about 80 %) and to teach (about 20 %). In order to allow the research group to function as a team, the post-doctoral fellow will be expected to have the Department of Political Science in Lund as their main place of work.

Eligibility for employment as a postdoctoral researcher is restricted to applicants with a PhD degree in a relevant subject. Priority is given to applicants who have completed their PhD less than three years prior to the deadline for applying to the post. The three-year limit can be extended in cases of parental leave, sickness leave or similar circumstances occurring after the PhD defense. Applicants who have yet to complete their PhDs are welcome to apply but should demonstrate that they will receive their PhD degree before 1 January 2017.

We seek candidates with a PhD in Political Science or related discipline (e.g. Psychology), and competence within the areas of political behavior broadly defined, or political psychology. We are particularly interested in candidates with a background in quantitative or experimental methods. Research skills and academic promise will be the main selection criteria, but teaching skills will also be considered. Proficiency in spoken and written English and the ability to teach in English is a requirement. The ability to conduct research independently and the ability to participate in international research collaboration are very important considerations.

The Lund University job application portal should be used when applying.

For further information, see: <https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what:job/jobID:111445/>

Your application must contain:

- * a cover letter (describing why you are interested in the position and what makes you suitable for it),
- * a CV (which includes information on degrees, completed courses, work experience, and publications),
- * a copy of your Ph.D. diploma (or a document describing when you will finish your Ph.D.),
- * two article-length writing samples (approximately 10000 words), and
- * two letters of recommendation.

For further information on the position, please contact:

Professor Hanna Bäck
+46 46 222 01 61
Hanna.Back@svet.lu.se
<http://www.svet.lu.se/en/hanna-back>

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1907

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law and/or Judicial Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

Political Science: Assistant Professor in the area of public law and/or judicial politics for an appointment as a tenure track Assistant Professor. The position will begin in the 2017-2018 academic year. Searching for a colleague with teaching and research expertise in American politics, constitutional law, civil rights and liberties, and an area of specialty, who will advise students as part of the college-wide pre-law program, and who will develop a record of excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service; contribute to the undergraduate and MA program. The successful candidate will teach an introductory course in American politics and public law/judicial politics as well as other courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels in the area of expertise. Required: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, samples of scholarly writing, statement of research plans, teaching philosophy, graduate transcript and evidence of teaching effectiveness to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=3214>.

For inquiries about posting, contact Dr. Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu.

Screening of applications will begin September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University is committed to equal opportunity, affirmative action, and eliminating discrimination and harassment. Miami University does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, military status, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or protected veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, programs or employment practices. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities related to employment should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or 513-529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1879

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Health Care, Lesbian & Gay Studies

The University of Virginia Arts & Sciences Women Gender & Sexuality Program invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position. We seek candidates dedicated to our mission and passionate about teaching in a world class institution.

Candidates are sought who teach and conduct research in the general area of LGBTQ Studies. Field of specialization within LGBTQ Studies is open, but candidates in any area of LGBTQ health, especially those who work from a global perspective and/or in relation to race and ethnicity are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates from other areas of the humanities and social sciences are also welcome.

In addition to developing external funding to support research endeavors, candidates will be expected to teach and provide service to the University, WGS Program, and professional organizations.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2017, with an anticipated start date of July 25, 2017. Applicants must be on track to receive a Ph.D. in the relevant field by June 2017 and must hold a Ph.D. at the time of appointment.

To apply candidates must submit a Candidate Profile through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>), search on posting number 0619405 and electronically attach the following: a cover letter of interest describing research agenda and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a sample article- or chapter-length scholarship (Attach to Writing Sample 1) and contact information for three references. In addition, please have reference letter writers email letters directly to wgsuva@virginia.edu

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVa should be directed to: WGS Program, wgsuva@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment. The University of Virginia assists UVA faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more about these services, please see <http://provost.virginia.edu/dual-career>.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/24/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1888

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
 Political Science Department
 2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
 Office of Human Resources
 1300 Eagle Rd.
 St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1874

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies
 Academy Scholars Program, 2017-2018

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences (including history and law) with a command of the language, history, or culture of non-Western countries or regions. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in non-Western cultures or regions shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Those still pursuing a PhD should have completed their routine training and be well along in the writing of their theses before applying to become Academy Scholars; those in possession of a PhD longer than 3 years at the time of application are ineligible.

Academy Scholars are appointed for 2 years by the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies and are provided time, guidance, and access to Harvard University facilities. They receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire accessory training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of senior Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $67,000, and predoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until they are awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the 2017-2018 class of Academy Scholars is due by October 1, 2016. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 6, 2016. Notification of Scholarships will be made in late December, 2016. For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <http://www.academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/23/2016
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 1867

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in public policy to begin July 1, 2017.

Applicants should be new or recent PhD graduates with an outstanding record in a PhD program in political science, public policy or economics. The successful candidate will have a background broadly in the field of public policy. Examples include political scientists within the fields of American, comparative or international politics with focuses on: institutions; the politics of policy design; policy implementation. GPS has a special interest in candidates who can provide leadership in our public policy (MPP) program. Applicants must have a PhD conferred or to be completed by July 1, 2017.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including referee information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01172>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1869

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Assistant Professor- Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Environmental Policy

POSITION SUMMARY AND QUALIFICATIONS

This position is a junior-level tenure eligible faculty position in the area of human security to support undergraduate programs in Political Science. The faculty member will have demonstrated experience working and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

POSITION RESPONSIBILITIES

RESEARCH

The faculty member will be central to the political science department's commitment to developing a program in human security. We are looking for researchers who study issues related to organized crime, state violence, refugees/migration, environmental politics, climate change, natural disasters, chronic poverty, and transnational social movements. This can include scholars who focus on domestic linkages to human security issues.

TEACHING

This position in human security contributes to the political science department's curriculum through teaching undergraduate courses such as: human security, human rights, environmental politics, public policy, women in global politics, issues in world politics, and politics of race, class and gender, and future courses related to the above list of human security topics. Strong preference will be given to candidates who will teach our capstone senior seminar and/or research methods.

SERVICE

The faculty member will serve on departmental, College, and/or University committees as necessary, as well as in a professional capacity in their field, e.g., reviewer, conference organizer, etc.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

- PhD in political science at the time of employment
- Demonstrated expertise and potential for publication in the faculty area of research
- Demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU

Pending approval from the dean.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1877

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Position Summary and Qualifications

This position is a term faculty position in the areas of non-profit and civil society studies, public policy, nongovernmental organizations, and/or development. A regional concentration is preferred. The faculty member should have an established record of excellence in teaching. The faculty member will have demonstrated experience working and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

Position Responsibilities

1. Teaching. This position entails a 4/4 teaching load in support of the Nonprofit Organization and Management minor and the Public Policy and Administration concentration as well as the general Political Science curriculum.
2. Service. The faculty member will serve on departmental, College, and/or University committees as necessary, as well as in a professional capacity in their field, e.g., reviewer, conference organizer.

Required Qualifications

-PhD in Political Science or Public Policy, or a closely related discipline at time of employment.

-Demonstrated expertise in teaching at the undergraduate level.

-Demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

Pending approval from the dean.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1878

Western Oregon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Recruitment Number: F1607

Application Deadline: Review of applications begins October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Politics, Policy and Administration Department at Western Oregon University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position specializing in American Government and Public Administration. The position is open to any subfields within these two fields. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement.

Qualifications:

- Ph.D in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or related field (ABD will be considered if degree will be completed prior to start date)
- Experience teaching both introductory and upper division undergraduate courses in both fields

Start Date: September 16, 2017

The position offers a generous sabbatical leave policy, research/travel support, and benefits for health care and retirement.

Contact Information: Questions regarding this position may be directed to Dr. Mary Pettenger, Search Committee Chair, at pettengm@wou.edu

For questions regarding the application process or to submit your application documents, please contact Human Resources at 503-838-8552 or employment@wou.edu.

Application Process

Required application materials:

- A WOU Faculty Application Form (available at www.wou.edu/facultyapp)
- Letter of interest
- Current curriculum vita
- Relevant materials demonstrating teaching ability and experience (e.g. Syllabi, assignment guidelines, course reviews, etc.)
- Names and complete contact information for three (3) references. At least one of the references must address teaching.
- Unofficial copy of transcripts for highest degree

Submit Application Materials to:

F1607, Asst. Professor of Political Science

Western Oregon University

Human Resources Office

345 N. Monmouth Ave

Monmouth, OR 97361

-OR- E-mail as an attachment to employment@wou.edu -OR- Fax to 503-838-8144.

Western Oregon University (WOU) www.wou.edu is a mid-sized public comprehensive university located in the Monmouth-Independence area, the heart of Oregon's lush Willamette Valley. The University serves a large number of first-generation college students. WOU has received national recognition for its commitment and success in serving students. In 2014 Western Oregon University was ranked highest in the Pacific Northwest and 85th in the nation for economic value and employability of its graduates, by Educate to Career, Inc. The campus is about 20 minutes from Salem, the state's capital, about 75 minutes from Portland, the state's cultural hub, and a short drive from the Oregon coast, mountains, and other scenic areas. The university is located in an increasingly diverse, bilingual, and rural area in the Willamette Valley. Our student body of about 6200 undergraduate and 400 graduate students enjoys the vibrant and close-knit intellectual community of a leading liberal arts college.

Western Oregon University is an EO/AA/Veteran/Disability employer committed to increasing the diversity of its workforce.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1872

Texas Tech University

Rank: American Politics --Institutions

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specialization in American Political Institutions. Candidates who study the executive branch (presidency and/or bureaucracy) are especially encouraged to apply. We prefer candidates with strong quantitative or formal methods training and the ability to teach graduate methods courses. Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. Service duties include program-building, as well as commitment to extra-curricular activities. Service to the department, college, and the university is expected. The successful candidate will have his/her PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants for the position will start to be reviewed on 10/15/2016. For questions about the position, contact Dr. Dennis Patterson, Chair, Department of Political Science; dennis-patterson@ttu.edu

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, though their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/22/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1864

Dartmouth College

Rank: Associate or Full Professor

The Latin American, Latino, and Caribbean Studies Program at Dartmouth College (<http://lalacs.dartmouth.edu/>) seeks to hire an Associate or Full Professor in Latino Studies to begin in the fall term of the 2017 academic year. The position will be a joint appointment in LALACS and a Social Science Department (Anthropology, Geography, History, Political Science, or Sociology). We seek a colleague with a demonstrated record of achievement (for example, in border issues, gender, health outcomes, immigration, labor markets, law, politics, or transnationalism in Latino communities) and who is committed to creative scholarship and teaching who complement and augment the LALACS program's interdisciplinary strengths. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2016. Complete applications should include a letter of interest, a current CV, names of three references, and representative reprints. Applications should be submitted to Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/36759

Dartmouth has an undergraduate student body that is over 40 percent nonwhite and an even balance between men and women. It also has a burgeoning postdoctoral program: currently eight postdoctoral fellows have LALACS interests. Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1856

Educational Testing Service

Rank: Assessment Specialist I in Government and Politics

Educational Testing Service in Princeton, NJ, is seeking an entry-level Assessment Specialist I in Government and Politics (position #199063).

BASIC FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Develop tests in Government and Politics.

Write, review, and revise test questions and evaluate item acceptability after testing.

Assemble tests to meet specifications.

Recruit, train, mentor, and manage outside item writers. Develop item writer training materials and facilitate item writer training meetings.

Collaborate with committees of experts in Government and Politics and other related fields (including recommending committee members and facilitating meetings).

Participate in constructed-response scoring activities.

Review and revise program publications and interpretive test preparation materials; participate in teacher training activities.

EDUCATION

A Master's degree in Government and Politics or a related area is required.

EXPERIENCE

Three years of increasingly responsible professional experience, including experience in educational measurement, applied statistics, and/or teaching in government and politics and related areas. Experience in educational assessment and independent classroom teaching are highly desirable, but not required.

Comprehensive knowledge of Government and Politics in order to develop tests in subject area and to serve as resource person for peers, committees, and clients is also required.

For more information and to apply for the position, please use the following link:

<http://ets.pereless.com/careers/index.cfm?fuseaction=83080.viewjobdetail&CID=83080&JID=199063&ctype=True&cfcend>

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1854

Williams College

Rank: Open Rank - Political Science/Leadership Studies
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations
Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Development, History & Politics

The Department of Political Science and the Program in Leadership Studies invite applications for a joint, open-rank position beginning in 2017-2018. The Program in Leadership Studies is an interdisciplinary program focused on the phenomenon of leadership within a wide variety of social, cultural, and historical contexts. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses related to theories and facets of leadership as well as other areas of expertise. Particular areas of interest include but are not limited to: activism and social movements, political history and development, religion, gender, political decision-making, and political thought and culture.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. in hand by September 2017. Please upload a letter detailing current research interests and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample (one article, book chapter, or conference paper), evidence of teaching success, and three letters of recommendation to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/36741. We will begin review of applications on September 15; any application received by October 1 will receive full consideration. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field, and applicants are encouraged to state in their cover letter how they will enhance the diversity of offerings and educational experiences if hired. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>.

Williams College is a coeducational liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Interested candidates may contact the chairs of the respective units, James McAllister (jmcallis@williams.edu) and Justin Crowe (jec3@williams.edu), with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1853

Lafayette College

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

The Department of Government and Law invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in the academic year 2017-2018. The Department will consider candidates with specialties in any subfield of American politics, except public law and public policy. Candidates should be prepared to teach an introductory course in American Politics, courses concerning national political institutions and/or processes, and advanced courses in their areas of expertise. The Department welcomes candidates with additional expertise in the politics of race, ethnicity, and citizenship. Candidates will also be expected to make a contribution to the College's interdisciplinary programs and maintain an active research agenda.

Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community, one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of each and all of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced. Lafayette College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from women and minorities. Located within 70 miles of New York and Philadelphia, Lafayette College is a highly selective undergraduate institution with significant resources to support faculty members in their teaching and scholarship.

Applications should include a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly work, graduate school transcript, evidence of teaching ability (including, if available, syllabi and teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. Please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or community service might support Lafayette College's commitment to diversity and inclusion articulated in the College's diversity statement (<http://www.lafayette.edu/about/diversity-statement/>).

Please upload application material electronically through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36763> by September 30, 2016. Questions may be directed to Helena Silverstein, Department Head, at silversh@lafayette.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/30/2016
Date Posted: 8/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1835

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy
Specializations: United States, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2017 to June 30, 2018. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Among the research fellowships offered are the Ann and Herbert W. Vaughan Visiting Fellowship and the William E. Simon Visiting Fellowship in Religion and Public Life. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (10-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants are required to submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. To apply for a Visiting Fellow position please go to requisition 1600686.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

The deadline for application materials is 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2016 for appointments beginning in September 2017. Awards will be announced in March 2017.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D., Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu / Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1845

Syracuse University

Rank: American Politics

Syracuse University

American Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks two tenure-track Assistant Professors in American Politics. The search is open to candidates whose teaching and research focus on either political institutions or political behavior. We have particular interests in recruiting candidates who study race, American political development, and public policy. The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Campbell Public Affairs Institute or one of Maxwell's other interdisciplinary centers (<http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/>).

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field or a credible expectation of completing all requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2017.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 1, 2016. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled. We encourage dual career academic couples to apply as well.

Syracuse University is an EO/AA employer and particularly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1844

Gettysburg College

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor – American Politics

Position Summary:

Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2017.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a commitment to teaching in the liberal arts tradition and show potential for scholarly engagement. The Department of Political Science seeks candidates in the subfield of American Politics specializing in judicial politics. The successful candidate will have an active research program of scholarship and is expected to offer an introductory course in American Politics, teach upper-level courses in judicial politics, and teach a required research methods course. A Ph.D. in political science or ABD status is required. The teaching load is 3/2.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/1830>. A curriculum vitae, cover letter, writing sample, transcripts, and a separate statement of the applicant's teaching philosophy should be submitted. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until a successful candidate is found. Application materials must be received by October 15, 2016 for full consideration. Inquiries can be addressed to Dr. Donald M. Borock at dborock@gettysburg.edu.

Gettysburg College, an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal, state, local laws and regulations regarding nondiscrimination. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and admission. The College prohibits discrimination and harassment, and provides equal opportunity without regard to race, ethnicity, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, marital/familial status, possession of a General Education Development Certificate (GED) as compared to a high school diploma, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, sex, age, or genetic information in all aspects of employment, educational programs, activities, and admissions. Pursuant to Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, Gettysburg College prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex (i.e., which includes but is not limited to the prohibition of sexual misconduct and relationship violence, including sexual assault and harassment) in all of its educational programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1826

Loyola University Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics with expertise in Political Institutions)

Job Title: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics with expertise in political institutions)

Loyola University Chicago, College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning fall 2017, pending funding approval. The department seeks applicants in American politics with expertise in political institutions. The successful applicant will be joining a department with more than 20 faculty members and more than 500 majors and minors. For information about the department, please visit <http://www.luc.edu/politicalscience/index.shtml>.

Duties and Responsibilities: The position involves teaching undergraduate courses as well as graduate courses in our M.A. and Ph.D.

programs. The applicant will be expected to teach upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses in the area of political institutions, as well as an introductory American politics class.

Qualifications: The successful applicant is expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of the appointment. Applicants for the position must clearly demonstrate the potential for excellence in research and teaching and have a record of (or clear potential for) distinguished scholarship, grant-funded research, and student mentorship. Applicants should be willing to support the mission of Loyola University Chicago and the goals of a Jesuit Catholic education.

Special Instructions to Applicants: Applicants should submit a current Curriculum Vitae, a statement outlining the applicant's research agenda, a statement on teaching experience, and a letter of interest outlining the applicant's qualifications to www.careers.luc.edu. They also should arrange for three recommendations or evaluations from individuals prepared to speak to their professional qualifications for this position, to be submitted electronically to the above website. Samples of scholarly publications and additional materials related to teaching excellence can also be uploaded to this site or mailed to:

John Frenreis, Professor and Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
Loyola University Chicago
1032 W. Sheridan Road
Chicago, Illinois 60660

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. For full consideration, applications should be received by September 30, 2016.

Loyola University Chicago is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer with a strong commitment to hiring for our mission and diversifying our faculty. As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our strategic plan to deliver a Transformative Education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about Loyola's mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission/. For information about the university's focus on transformative education, they should consult our website at www.luc.edu/transformativeed. Applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities are especially encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1817

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks qualified candidates for four tenure-track assistant professor positions. We welcome applications in all sub-fields; however we hope to hire at least one assistant professor in American Politics and another assistant professor in International Relations. The department seeks excellent scholars with a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of politics. The positions are to begin September 1, 2017 pending budgetary and administrative approval. NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Qualifications:

Candidates must possess a PhD by September 2017, in political science or a cognate discipline. S/he will have a record of excellent research that has been published or otherwise disseminated in a manner appropriate to career stage, and have the potential to be a future leader of the profession in his or her field of expertise. Candidates should also have proven ability as excellent teachers at undergraduate and/or graduate level.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at:

apply.interfolio.com/36758

with a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three references, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching and research statements. Applications should be received by September 16, 2016. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply a link to their professional website; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read <http://as.nyu.edu/page/diversityinitiative>. EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/26/2016

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1801

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications in any field for multiple appointments at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2017. Applicants should demonstrate strong skills in analytic reasoning, broadly defined, which may include one or more of the following: formal theory, analytic political philosophy, modelling, and quantitative methods. Successful candidates must hold, or expect to soon complete, a PhD.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Preferred candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information about this statement is at: <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html>). All materials should be submitted via UCSD AP Online RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JP01163>) for position: Assistant Professor, Political Science.

Review of applications will begin September 18, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1820

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Institute Professor of Constitutional Democracy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Institute (Assistant/Associate/Full) Professor of Constitutional Democracy to begin in the Fall Semester 2017. The position is open rank in Political Science and holds a joint appointment with the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy.

Started in 2014 and supported by a generous grant from the Kinder Foundation, a family philanthropic foundation established by Rich and Nancy Kinder, the Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center at the University of Missouri dedicated to promoting excellence in teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly construed.

The successful candidate will teach four classes per year, maintain an active research and publishing agenda, contribute to undergraduate and graduate education, and participate in the intellectual community and activities of the Kinder Institute.

Qualifications

Applicants must demonstrate a track record of excellence in teaching and publication in a subject area that advances the mission of the Kinder Institute. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose prior work bridges subfields in political science and reflects the potential to teach courses in the area of political institutions and/or political and constitutional development. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of the appointment.

Application Materials

Applicants should use the online application system available at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Apply for Job ID 20828. See here for a direct link to this job:

https://myhr.umsystem.edu/psp/tamext/COLUM/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&SiteId=9&JobOpeningId=20828&PostingSeq=1.

Applicants should include a statement of teaching philosophy, and an outline of a current research agenda in the "attachments" portion of the system. Applicants should merge their CV with a brief cover letter and upload the document in the Resume/CV section of the application. Candidates at the rank of assistant professor should also include three letters of recommendation. Candidates at the rank of associate or full professor should may provide the names and contact information for three references.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016.

Other Information

For more information about the Kinder Institute, including descriptions of all faculty, graduate and undergraduate programs, please visit democracy.missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility & ADA Education at 573-882-5835.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1813

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate or Full Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications for a tenured appointment in American Politics at the rank of Associate or Full Professor to begin July 1, 2017. Position is open with respect to substantive focus within American Politics. Successful candidates must hold a PhD.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Preferred candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, the names of at least five independent reviewers, and a statement summarizing contributions, or potential for contribution, to diversity and leadership (information about the required diversity statement is at <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html>). All materials should be submitted via UCSD AP Online RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01170>) for position: Associate or Full Professor of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin September 18, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1805

City of Ames

Rank: Management Analyst

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Administration

Analytical minds wanted! The City of Ames is currently accepting applications for the position of Management Analyst. The selected candidate will assist with or conduct research for departments and the City Manager's office on a special project basis. They will apply for an manage grants and may work directly with City Council. The development and administration of policies, procedures and programs will be an integral part of the role.

Candidates with particular interest in public service and management should apply. We offer outstanding benefits and stable employment in an environment that is values driven from the top-down. For more information and to apply please visit: www.cityofames.org/jobs

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/6/2016

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1792

Hendrix College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Hendrix College invites applications for a tenure track position for an Assistant Professor of Politics to begin in August 2017. The College seeks to extend its tradition of excellence in teaching and scholarship by attracting faculty who combine mastery of their disciplines with broad intellectual interests and commitment to the aims of a liberal arts college. The successful applicant will teach the basic public policy course; one or two upper level, policy specific courses, and generally contribute to the department's American politics offerings. The successful applicant also will teach a section of Research Methods and participate in the Department's undergraduate research seminar, as well as the college's program in engaged learning. Training that would allow the development of a course in some aspect of political behavior is also a plus. Doctorate is expected by the start date; ABD will be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest in teaching in a demanding liberal arts environment, a curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate and undergraduate transcripts, as well as a statement of scholarly interest. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be requested sent via e-mail to facultyrecs@hendrix.edu. Address cover letter to Dr. Kimberly Maslin, Politics/IR Department Chair. Review of materials will begin October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Electronic submissions are strongly encouraged and can be submitted at <https://goo.gl/PcAgQE>. Hendrix is a distinguished liberal arts college located in Conway, Arkansas, thirty miles from Little Rock at the foothills of the Ozark Mountains. The College, affiliated with the United Methodist Church, has a strong commitment to excellence in teaching liberal arts. Hendrix College strives to maintain an environment free from discrimination and harassment, where employees treat each other with respect, dignity and courtesy. The College adheres to the principle of equal educational and employment opportunity without regard to age, race, color, religion, gender, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, or national origin.

The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: Shawn Goicoechea, Assistant Director of Human Resources & Title IX Coordinator 1600 Washington Ave, Conway, AR 72032 501-450-1415 goicoechea@hendrix.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1784

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Political Theory

The University of Chicago Society of Fellows is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. The Fellows are members of the College Faculty whose primary responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into seven year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Fellows teach in four of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Fellows also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2017. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in their original scholarship as well as in teaching.

In most years, Fellows teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. Each Fellow also has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical in the third year of residence. The annual salary for 2017-18 will be $67,650. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2017.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <http://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 31, 2016.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM CDT, Friday, October 14, 2016.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM CDT, Friday, October 28, 2016. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non_discrimination_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1785

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor- American Politics- Behavior

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, pending budgetary approval. Qualified candidates will have a research focus on elections and political behavior. We seek candidates whose work is theoretically driven and methodologically sophisticated and that relates to or complements the department's growing strength in experimental research (regardless of the mode of observation or analysis). We also particularly welcome applications from candidates working on issues pertaining to identity, diversity, or inclusion.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by the end of the summer, 2017. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU5>. Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1783

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor- American Politics-Institutions

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh is conducting a search for an Assistant Professor in American Politics, pending budgetary approval. Qualified candidates should have a primary research program that focuses on the study of American political institutions. Priority will be given to candidates whose work bridges two or more institutions (legislative, executive, or judicial), and also have both strong analytical and methodological skills. We strongly encourage applications from candidates whose research intersects the study of institutions and issues related to diversity and/or inclusion.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by the end of the summer, 2017. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU4>. Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1782

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

The Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a full-time position in ENVIRONMENTAL POLITICS at the assistant professor (tenure-track) or associate professor (tenured) level. The position is open with respect to subfield within political science, and we are especially interested in candidates who desire to work across both subfield and disciplinary boundaries. This is a cross-school, cross-disciplinary effort focused on integrating social, political, cultural and scientific approaches to address environmental challenges. The initiative includes a cluster hire of at least five faculty in the College of Arts and Sciences (Politics, Economics, Environmental Sciences), the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, and the School of Architecture.

We are especially interested in candidates who have an interest in, or demonstrated capacity for mentoring diverse students and colleagues.

We welcome applications from candidates in any--or some mix--of the subfields of Comparative Politics, International Relations, and American Politics.

Applicants at the assistant professor rank must be on track to receive a PhD in Political Science by May 2017 and must hold a PhD at the time of appointment, although those still at the ABD stage in August 2017 may be appointed as acting assistant professor. Applicants at the associate professor rank must hold a PhD at the time of application and must have an outstanding publication and teaching record.

To apply, candidates must submit an online application through Jobs@UVA (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>). Search on posting number 0619320 and submit a "Candidate Profile" that includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and contact information for three references.

Applicants at the assistant professor rank should have their references send letters directly to Bonnie Bragg (EnviroAsstPro@virginia.edu).

Review of applications will begin September 12, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2017, with an anticipated start date of July 25, 2017.

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVA should be directed to Bonnie Bragg (EnviroAsstPro@virginia.edu).

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1774

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis seeks candidates for one position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in the area of American politics to begin Fall 2017 or later. The search is open with respect to substantive specialization within the study of American politics. Duties include research and publication, course teaching, student advising, and department and university service. Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required. In addition, candidates at the associate professor rank must, through research and publication, have made a significant contribution to one or more subfields in Political Science. Washington University in St. Louis is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.

Files received by October 1 will receive full consideration. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through the Washington University HR system (<http://hr.wustl.edu/opportunities/Pages/default.aspx>). Candidates should create an account, search for job requisition number 34389, complete the application form and upload a CV and supporting materials. Letters of reference can be e-mailed to artsci-pschair@email.wustl.edu.

Please note: in order to attach materials to your application, you must EXIT the Wash U jobs site then log back in using your established username and password. Click on "Applications" then "Add Attachment" to upload additional materials.

If you encounter difficulties with the application process, please email Sarah Crean, sarahcrean@wustl.edu, for additional instructions. All other questions may be directed to Heather Sloan-Randick at (314) 935-5852.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1776

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor, Field Open

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor, field open, whose research and teaching expertise are focused on public policy and racial justice in American society. These issues include, but are not limited to, criminal justice; economic, social, and political inequality; health; education; and urban studies, among others.

The McCourt School was established in 2013 with a generous naming gift which allows for faculty expansion, a Massive Data Institute, and a new Institute of Politics and Public Service.

Electronic applications are required and candidates should submit applications here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7621> The committee will begin considering applications on September 1 and will continue to do so until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1770

Hope College

Rank: Tenure-Track Appointment in American and Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Hope College political science department invites applications for a tenure-track appointment beginning the 2017-18 academic year. We seek candidates who are equipped to offer courses in one or more of the following areas: American politics and institutions, comparative politics (open regional focus other than Africa), and research methods. The position also includes exciting opportunities to participate in Hope's highly regarded Washington D.C. honors program. Candidates should have a demonstrated ability to combine teaching excellence with genuine scholarly promise, and should be committed to the character and mission of a liberal arts college firmly rooted in the Christian faith. PhDs and ABD candidates who have made substantial progress on the dissertation are encouraged to apply.

Application Instructions

As part of the online application found at www.hope.edu/employment/faculty, candidates will upload the following documents: a cover letter including a paragraph clearly addressing the ways in which you will support the mission of Hope College (www.hope.edu/about/mission.html), a curriculum vitae, a description of your current research program, and a statement of your teaching experience and approach to teaching. Additionally, please arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent to jobs@hope.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 15th, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding the position may be directed to David Ryden, department chair, at ryden@hope.edu.

About Hope College

Hope College is a four-year liberal arts college where academic excellence and vibrant Christian faith join together in a supportive and welcoming community. Hope offers an academically rigorous, co-educational and residential education to 3,200 undergraduate students from more than 40 states and 45 countries. Affiliated with the Reformed Church in America since its founding in 1866, Hope College is known for its invitational ecumenical Christian atmosphere, friendly campus community, and well-balanced academic and co-curricular offerings. Hope's beautiful campus is located just steps from award-winning downtown Holland, Michigan and less than seven miles from Lake Michigan.

Hope College is recognized as a national leader in undergraduate research and scholarship and for providing exceptional professional preparation and life-changing educational experiences that equip our students for success after graduation. The college has consistently ranked among the nation's top liberal arts colleges and is featured in the book Colleges That Change Lives.

Hope College is financially sound, with more than 40 consecutive years of balanced budgets, an endowment of approximately $200 million and no deferred maintenance, and over $140 million invested in the construction of new facilities during the past 12 years. The college completed its newest buildings, the Kruizenga Art Museum and the Jack H. Miller Center for Musical Arts, in 2015 and will open the Jim and Martie Bultman Student Center in 2017.

In 2015, Hope College launched its 10-year strategic plan, Hope for the World: 2025, which consists of six goals, focused on: academics; Christian formation; global engagement; community; reputation and influence; and value. Developed by the campus community, the strategic plan supports the college's mission, "to educate students for lives of leadership and service in a global society through academic and co-curricular programs of recognized excellence in the liberal arts and in the context of the historic Christian faith."

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1769

The Brookings Institution

Rank: Research Assistant, CTI

The Research Assistant independently provides research, statistical, writing and project logistics support to the Center of Technology Innovation, and other research projects as needed. Responsibilities include the following: coordinates production of project/grant deliverables, implements research and outreach activities, undertakes statistical analysis of survey data; drafts summaries of findings; assists with preparation of publications; coordinates activities and oversees product production; and other duties as necessary. This position will collaborate with the Governance Studies (GS) communications staff on matters pertaining to public/private events, web site content, and outreach; and will coordinate with GS financial and GS development staff on matters pertaining to funding efforts and stewardship through reporting to donors.

Research (75%)

- Prepares and independently analyzes survey data using statistical packages and database tools.
- Anticipates and compiles materials for the Center Director and scholars in advance of meetings; researches background materials, biographical information and articles, prepares presentations as necessary; assembles materials in usable, relevant formats.
- Provides research, writing and communications support for development efforts including prospect research, grant proposals and progress reports. Provides background/briefing materials for meetings to Center Director and development staff as requested.
- Conducts research on project issues and collects data; reads sources for relevancy to research themes; compiles bibliographies and chronologies.
- Writes briefing memos and synthesizes research materials; prepares notes and reports on meetings and conferences; compiles abstracts, summaries, bibliographies and analyses of books and articles.
- Fact checks and copy edits publications upon request (e.g. op-eds, articles, foundation correspondence, policy papers, manuscripts, etc.).
- Provides additional research support as needed to other Governance Studies scholars as needed.

- Works with the Center Director and scholars on the development and implementation of events, convening and collaborations, including providing background research, working with the lead scholars to develop the agenda and generate the list of potential participants, and working with the GS Event Coordinator to invite and follow up with speakers and organize logistics.

Project Coordination (25%)

- Works with the GS Event Coordinator to coordinate all logistical arrangements for public and private events held at Brookings and in the DC area for conference participants and invitees.
- Coordinates production of project/grant deliverables (e.g. reports, conferences, meetings, events, policy papers) including research, writing, editing, and development of event agendas.
- Works with the Center Director and the scholars to develop a marketing plan for each event or written product, in consultation with the GS communications staff, including arranging media coverage as appropriate.
- Assist in other research areas as needed.

Education/Experience Requirements: Bachelor's degree required in political science, public policy, economics, technology policy or related field preferred. Minimum one year of relevant work experience with increasing complexity. Proven track record of organizing and managing complex events with a high volume of participants. Experience using and applying quantitative methods and statistical packages, specifically Stata required. Additional experience with ArcGIS is a plus. Knowledge/Skills Requirements: Familiarity with and interest in health issues, global affairs and/or technology policy. Strong interpersonal and organizational skills required. Must be able to pro-actively problem solve and think of creative solutions to problems or potential problems. Exceptional ability to synthesize information and to write clearly and precisely without supervision required. Must be able to coordinate a variety of tasks simultaneously and consistently follow up on details.

Additional Information: Brookings requires that all applicants submit a cover letter and resume. Please attach your cover letter and resume as one document when you apply.

Successful completion of a background investigation is required for employment at Brookings.

Brookings is an equal-opportunity employer that is committed to promoting a diverse and inclusive workplace. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals regardless of race, color, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, physical or mental disability, marital status, veteran status, or other factors protected by law.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/ck63sm82km>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1771

Nuffield College, University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellowship in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Nuffield College and the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford intend to appoint jointly, with effect from 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter, two Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellows (PPRFs) in Politics, broadly construed to include political science, comparative politics and political economy, political theory, international relations and political history.

The key responsibilities of the Research Fellows are to engage in advanced study and independent scholarly research in politics broadly construed (as above); to disseminate research findings through publication and participation in conferences and workshops; to take part in the intellectual life of the College and the Department by organising workshops, seminars or conferences; to undertake teaching of 24 units per year and to assist in examining for the Department.

To be eligible, candidates should hold a bachelors and/or masters degree in a relevant field and should by 1 September 2017 have completed, or be close to completing, a doctorate. Candidates must be within three years of the award of their doctorate at the time of application. Preference will be given to candidates who have not previously held a research fellowship similar to that advertised for more than one year at the time of taking up the fellowship. Allowances will be made for career breaks (for example, family-related leave) and candidates are asked to provide relevant information. Prospective candidates should also have experience of carrying out independent research and a track record of excellent quality papers appropriate for and commensurate with their career level. They should have the ability to provide excellent teaching to high-achieving students; the willingness to contribute to the intellectual life of the College and the Department; and excellent oral and written communication skills.

The posts are full-time and fixed-term for three years, starting on 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter. The salary offered is GBP 30,114 per annum. Research Fellows are entitled to single accommodation in College (at a subsidised rate). Further benefits include a research allowance, free lunch and dinner in College and child support funds.

Further particulars, including information on how to apply, are available from the College web page: <http://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/About/Vacancies/Documents/PolPPRF.pdf> or from the College Registrar, Nuffield College, Oxford OX1 1NF. Email: pprf@nuffield.ox.ac.uk.

The deadline for applications is Tuesday 13 September 2016.

The College exists to promote excellence in education and research, and is an equal opportunities employer committed to equality and valuing diversity. Applications are particularly welcome from black and minority ethnic candidates, who are currently under-represented in posts in the College.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/13/2016
Date Posted: 8/10/2016
Salary: $30,000 - $39,999
eJobs ID: 1761

St. Edward's University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Public Law & Methodology)
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The School of Behavioral and Social Sciences invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Political Science to begin in August 2017. We seek a broadly-trained scholar with the ability to teach judicial politics, constitutional law, research methods and social science statistics. Preferred candidates must demonstrate a commitment to incorporating quantitative literacy skills into his or her courses. Applicants will also teach courses in the university's General Education program and in the candidate's areas of interest within American Politics.

In line with the St. Edward's University mission statement, the campus is actively engaged in the pursuit of social justice and candidates must demonstrate an appreciation and commitment to diversity. An inclusive faculty body is highly valued as we strive to create a diverse learning environment to prepare our students for success in a global and multicultural world.

The successful candidate will teach four courses per semester (with the opportunity to apply for course reduction to pursue research opportunities), advise undergraduate students, and participate in the wider life of the university and community. Scholarly activity is expected, especially to the degree that it may involve or inspire undergraduate students or have positive contributions to teaching and learning.

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science, be committed to teaching and demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research with undergraduate students. Applicants must be compatible with the educational goals of the School of Behavioral and Social Sciences and the Mission Statement of St. Edward's University which requires faculty to teach students the skills needed to be independent and productive and encourages individuals to confront the critical issues of society and to seek justice and peace.

St. Edward's University is an independent Catholic university founded by the Congregation of Holy Cross and chartered in 1885. It has a current enrollment of over 5,000 undergraduate and graduate students. The University has a long history of welcoming a variety of cultural backgrounds, which has led to a diverse community, and a designation as a leading Hispanic-serving institution. The campus is located on a hilltop overlooking downtown Austin, the capital city of Texas, with a metropolitan population of over one million residents.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until October 1, 2016. Applicants will apply at <https://stedwards.applicantpro.com/jobs/441930.html> and attach the following: A cover letter discussing your qualifications and how your record of teaching, service and research demonstrates your commitment to diversity, inclusion and your experiences or interest in global initiatives as emphasized in the mission of St. Edward's University. CV; teaching statement; research statement summary (1 page); transcripts (unofficial at this stage or a list of courses in which you enrolled in graduate school) sample teaching evaluations and a list of three references. Competitive entry-level salary for 9-month contract; additional opportunities for summer teaching and/or development may be available.

St. Edward's University is an equal opportunity employer and hires only U. S. citizens and documented workers. Applications from minorities and women are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/10/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1764

American University

Rank: Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education

Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education
AY2016-17
School of Public Affairs
American University

American University's School of Public Affairs (SPA) invites applications from accomplished scholars for the position of associate dean for undergraduate education. This position includes a faculty appointment at the rank of (advanced) associate or full professor in the Government Department or the Department of Justice, Law & Criminology beginning June 1, 2017. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. The position offers the unique professional, research, social, and cultural opportunities of a top-ranked school and university located in Washington, DC. In addition, the associate dean for undergraduate education will play a critical role in formulating school policy and be part of a dynamic leadership team.

The School of Public Affairs offers four undergraduate majors, four undergraduate minors, and three highly selective enrichment programs (SPA Leadership Program, Politics, Policy and Law Scholars, and SPA Honors). SPA has approximately 1300 engaged undergraduate students who are research focused and use DC as their laboratory. The associate dean for undergraduate education will provide leadership in the area of undergraduate education and will be responsible for handling all issues that arise concerning undergraduate students in the school. The associate dean directs the activities of the assistant director of recruitment and retention, four academic advisors, enrichment program directors, and serves as the school's Academic Integrity Officer. Duties will also include teaching one course a year in one of the School's degree programs.

American University is reshaping the composition and experience of its undergraduate student body. The University is committed to diversifying the student body in terms of racial/ethnic diversity, geographic diversity, and diversity of socioeconomic status. American University received a record number of undergraduate applications for Fall 2016, resulting in an admit rate of approximately 25 percent. The number of students with SPA undergraduate majors has increased over the past several years. American University is undertaking a multi-year initiative to reinvent the student experience through reimagining service delivery, a focus on student success, and modernization of the undergraduate curriculum. We are looking for an associate dean who will embrace the opportunity to participate in this initiative and shape the future of SPA's undergraduate programs.

Qualifications

Candidates must possess a distinguished record of scholarship in one of the academic fields encompassed by the school's undergraduate programs and meet American University's standards for appointment with tenure at the associate or full professor level. Preference will be given to candidates who have held leadership positions at the university, school, department or program level and who can also provide evidence of advancing their university's academic standing, scholarship, or research productivity.

Application Process

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2016, and continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via:

<http://apply.interfolio.com/35978>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of administrative experience and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1756

Morehouse College

Rank: Assistant Professor -- Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should be trained in the area of American national government, with a specialization in public law, and should be prepared to teach courses in constitutional law, race and law, and civil liberties.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 2-2 load), advising, and mentoring students; executing administrative duties related to the pre-law program; developing and maintaining a scholarly research and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources. The start date for the position is August 2017, and possibly January 2017 if a suitable candidate is identified and appointed. Minimum qualifications include a PhD in political science; commitment to excellence in teaching; evidence of a productive research program; and service to the profession and community.

A successful application will consist of the following: a letter of application providing detail on how the candidate meets the qualifications for the position and why they are a good fit for Morehouse College in particular (no more than 2 pages); a current curriculum vitae (no more than 4 pages); a statement of teaching philosophy (no more than 2 pages); research/scholarship agenda (no more than 2 pages); three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates also have the option of sharing the following: sample syllabi (no more than 2 courses); samples of research (no more than 2 samples); teaching evaluations or summaries of evaluations (no more than 2 courses, but if submitted, only submit full class evaluations and not samples of class evaluations)

All application materials must be submitted online: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36489>

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until September 30th. We will be interviewing at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Service on Friday, September 2nd and Saturday, September 3rd. Applicants who wish to be considered for an APSA interview should send a cover letter and CV, by August 22nd, to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

Morehouse College is an equal opportunity employer. No employee or applicant will be discriminated against in any condition of employment because of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or any other status protected by law.

About Morehouse

Morehouse College is a private historically black liberal arts college for men whose mission is to develop men with disciplined minds to lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of black people. Since the founding of the College in 1867, the faculty, staff, and leadership have worked to inspire, nurture, challenge, support, and engage students with the expressed intent of fomenting a very special kind of development.

Morehouse has a very proud tradition of having developed leaders, with the most notable of course being Martin Luther King, Jr. (class of 1948). Each era has defined the qualities of a Morehouse Man—an expression of the expectations we have of our graduates—a bit differently, but there are some enduring constants. Backed by nearly 150 years of history, we see our work as helping to shape men of acuity, integrity and agency; men who will commit to brotherhood, standing together with their peers to cheer, challenge and support each other; and men who will strive to lead consequential lives, to not just do well for themselves, but to do good in the world.

Our strong legacy is continued now as we claim a number of successes. Morehouse is the number one baccalaureate origin institution for black male doctorate recipients in science and engineering, life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences, education, and humanities over the decade ending 2012 according to the National Science Foundation. We are the top producer of underrepresented minority physics baccalaureates among non-PhD granting institutions over the three years ending in 2013 as measured by the American Physical Society. And the College just this year became the only non-majority college or university to have produced four Rhodes Scholars. Our graduates include not only men like King and Julian Bond, but Spike Lee, David Satcher, Eddie Glaude, Jim Shelton, and many more operating in and out of academia in some way.

The College offers instructional programs in three divisions—business and economics, humanities and social sciences, and sciences and mathematics—as well as extracurricular and co-curricular activities that, combined with the academic program: foster the development of oral and written communication skills; foster appreciation of world cultures, artistic, creative expression and the nature of the physical universe; promote understanding of the specific skills needed to pursue professional careers and graduate study; and cultivate the personal attributes of self-confidence, tolerance, morality, ethical behavior, spirituality, humility, global perspective, and commitment to justice.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1757

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: American Politics - Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Latino Politics, Immigration Policy

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University New Brunswick anticipates hiring 12 new faculty members over the next 4 years, mostly at the Assistant Professor level. Our needs extend to all subfields, although they are particularly strong in American Politics, International Relations, and Methods. As part of this initiative, we now seek applicants for a full time, tenure track Assistant Professor position in Race, Ethnicity, and Politics, beginning September 1, 2017. Our preference is for someone whose scholarship focuses on the United States, who can teach courses such as Race and Ethnicity, Immigration Policy, and/or standard courses in American Politics, although we will also consider applicants whose research has a more comparative focus. Ability to teach methods at the undergraduate or graduate level a big plus.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36596>. Review of applicants will begin on October 1 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 1751

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: American Politics/Political Psychology/ Political Institutions/Experimental Methods

Specializations: Political Psychology, Quantitative Methods, Political Behavior

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University New Brunswick anticipates hiring 12 new faculty members over the next 4 years, mostly at the Assistant Professor level. Our needs extend to all subfields, although they are particularly strong in American Politics, International Relations, and Quantitative (Statistical) Methods. As part of this initiative, we now seek applicants for a full time, tenure track position in American Politics/Political Psychology/ Political Institutions/Experimental Methods, beginning September 1, 2017. We are searching for someone whose research employs the experimental method as a primary research tool, and who will take advantage of the department's Center for the Experimental Study of Politics and Psychology. Ability to teach the design and analysis of field and laboratory experiments, along with standard courses in American politics, a must. Skills with data mining/big data or other advanced statistical methods a plus. We are targeting the junior level with this search, but in extraordinary circumstances a more advanced candidate will be considered.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36593>. Review of applicants will begin on October 1 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 1747

Baylor University

Rank: Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics, Political Thought: Historical

Baylor University is a private Christian university and a nationally ranked research institution, consistently listed with highest honors among The Chronicle of Higher Education's "Great Colleges to Work For." Chartered in 1845 by the Republic of Texas through the efforts of Baptist pioneers, Baylor is the oldest continuously operating university in Texas. The university provides a vibrant campus community for over 15,000 students from all 50 states and more than 80 countries by blending interdisciplinary research with an international reputation for educational excellence and a faculty commitment to teaching and scholarship. Baylor is actively recruiting new faculty with a strong commitment to the classroom and an equally strong commitment to discovering new knowledge as we pursue our bold vision, Pro Futuris. (www.baylor.edu/profuturis/).

Baylor seeks to fill this open-rank faculty position within the College of Arts & Science. The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for a position in American Politics, with emphasis in American constitutional law and political thought, especially that of the Founding Era, beginning in the fall of 2017.

Established research and teaching credentials in these fields are expected, and interests in constitutional principles and the modern political thought in which they emerged will be especially welcome. The search is open in rank. Applicants will be expected to contribute immediately to the flourishing BA, MA, and PhD programs in the department. Review of applications will begin as they are received, and to assure full consideration applications should arrive by October 1, 2016.

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science in the field of American Politics. Please submit a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, official transcripts showing highest degree conferred (ABD, also send official transcript of completed Ph.D. hours), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing samples, and a statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Send application materials to:

Professor David Nichols, Search Committee Chair

Baylor University

One Bear Place #97276

Waco, Texas 76798

254-710-3161

David_Nichols@baylor.edu

Materials may be submitted electronically to: Jenice_Langston@baylor.edu

To learn more about the above position, the College of Arts and Sciences, and Baylor University, please visit the appropriate URL: http://www.baylor.edu/artsandsciences/?_buref=1172-91940 or www.baylor.edu/hr/facultypositions.

Baylor University is a private not-for-profit university affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. As an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer, Baylor is committed to compliance with all applicable anti-discrimination laws, including those regarding age, race, color, sex, national origin, marital status, pregnancy status, military service, genetic information, and disability. As a religious educational institution, Baylor is lawfully permitted to consider an applicant's religion as a selection criterion. Baylor encourages women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1740

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The University of California, Merced opened in September 2005 as the tenth campus of the University of California system. In keeping with the mission of the UC to provide research, teaching, and public service of the highest quality, UC Merced provides educational opportunities at the undergraduate, masters and doctoral levels through three academic schools: Engineering; Natural Sciences; and Social Sciences, Humanities and the Arts.

The School of Social Sciences, Humanities and Arts invites applications for two positions in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations, at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track).

In order to be considered, the selected candidate must have a PhD in political science or a related field at the time of appointment.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2017.

Applications must be submitted online. Completed applications, including letters of recommendation, must be received no later than September 15, 2016 to receive consideration. Applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research; 4) a statement of teaching; 5) up to two writing samples; 6) a list of references with contact information including mailing address, phone number, and e-mail address; and 7) a contributions to diversity statement.

The Contributions to Diversity Statement should describe your past experience, activities and future plans to advance diversity, equity and inclusion, in alignment with UC Merced's mission to reflect the diversity of California and to meet the educational needs and interests of its diverse population. Some faculty candidates may not have substantial past activities. If that is the case, we recommend focusing on future plans in your statement. A more developed and substantial plan is expected for senior candidates. For additional information on what should be included on your Diversity Statement, please visit <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html#Are-there-any-guidelines-for-wr>.

Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than September 15, 2016.

The University of California, Merced is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of diversity among its faculty, students and staff.

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and UC academic salary scales.

For additional information, please contact Courtenay Conrad at cc Conrad@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/apply/JPF00369>.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/8/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1715

Temple University

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Public Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Public Administration
Specializations: Criminal Justice, Education Policy, Health Care

The Department of Political Science at Temple University invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in public policy.

We will consider candidates at any rank. We seek candidates pursuing a program of theoretically-informed empirical research on important public policy issues and processes who would be able to take an active role in our new Master of Public Policy Program. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focuses upon education policy, health policy, or criminal justice policy. Expertise in bureaucracy and public management, policy analysis, the intersection of law and public policy, program evaluation, and budgeting is especially valued. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as evidence of external grant/fellowship support. Temple University, an urban research university in the heart of Philadelphia, values those who are able to work with diverse students and colleagues. Candidates at the entry level are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by the beginning of their appointment. Please send a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a sample of written or published scholarly work; teaching portfolio (e.g., sample syllabi, student and/or peer evaluations); graduate school transcript; and three letters of reference to: Prof. Gary Mucciaroni, Search Committee Chair, Department of Political Science, Temple University, 408 Gladfelter Hall (025-22), 1115 Polett Walk, Philadelphia PA 19122-6089. We prefer electronic applications; please submit these to the Department Coordinator, Latasha Goodman lgoodman@temple.edu. Dossiers will be reviewed as they arrive, but to guarantee full consideration, applications must be received by October 3, 2016. Temple University is an Affirmative Action equal opportunity employer and particularly encourages applications from women and persons of color.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 8/4/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1734

Texas Woman's University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of History and Government at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2016. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics and a secondary field in public affairs/policy. A focus on women and politics is highly desirable. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses in Public Affairs/policy. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience

The History and Government Department offers a Bachelor and Masters in Government as well as the Bachelors in Criminal Justice (co-administered with the Department of Sociology and Social Work). The department has 5 full-time Government faculty members (plus 5 full-time History faculty) offering degrees to approximately 115 undergraduate Government majors and 20 Master's students.

Send a cover letter, graduate transcripts, CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample of scholarly work, and three letters of reference to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Tim Hoye, at THoye@twu.edu. Review of applications will begin on Nov. 1, 2016.

Texas Woman's University strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. Texas Woman's University is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, or against qualified disabled persons.

Individuals may qualify for a Veteran's Employment Preference or a Former Foster Youth Employment Preference at Texas Woman's University over other applicants for the same position who do not have a greater qualification. If you believe you may qualify, click here for more information and instructions on how to claim an employment preference: <http://www.twu.edu/recruitment-selection/6589.asp>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1731

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Boston College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position, beginning September 2017. We are looking for someone who combines a broad interest in American politics with special interest in the politics of regulation. We are interested in applicants who study any form of government regulation. Applicants should have a solid background in the study of American political institutions and policymaking, and be able to teach at least one course on the politics of environmental regulation. Applicants should have completed the PhD or be very near to finishing. Rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor, depending upon degree status.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Interested candidates should upload a letter of introduction, including research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae; graduate transcript; and writing sample; and, if available, evidence of teaching excellence to the Interfolio online system at APPLY.INTERFOLIO.COM/36473. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by the individual writers. Completed applications must be received by October 15, 2016. No email or U.S.P.S. applications will be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1726

Colby College

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Government and Politics

The Department of Government at Colby College seeks applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor to teach American government and politics, commencing September 1, 2017. We seek highly qualified candidates who have demonstrated excellence in teaching and research and who are committed to working with an increasingly diverse student body. With ten faculty members and 180 majors, the department is a thriving community of scholars with broad interests and a strong commitment to deepening our expertise and offerings in the politics of diversity. We are open to sub-fields within the broad field of American government and politics; our preference would be a political behaviorist or social movement scholar who specializes in public policies related to race, ethnicity, income equality, gender, and/or sexuality. The successful applicant will teach at least one section of Introduction to American Government and Politics, one section of an introductory course in multi-methods research, and additional sections in the candidate's area of expertise, chosen in consultation with the department chair. The teaching load is 4 courses the first year, 5 courses per year thereafter, with the possibility of a repeat preparation. An interest in developing an advanced course in quantitative methods is also desirable.

Applicants should send a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, statements expressing the candidate's teaching experience and research agenda, three letters of recommendation, a representative sample of current scholarship, evidence of teaching excellence, and a graduate school transcript to: apply.interfolio.com/36428. To be considered for an interview at the APSA in September, application materials should be submitted by August 15, 2016. We will accept applications until the position is filled. Questions about this position should be directed to: governmentsearch@colby.edu

Colby is a private, coeducational liberal arts college that admits students and makes employment decisions on the basis of the individual's qualifications to contribute to Colby's educational objectives and institutional needs. Colby College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, religion, ancestry or national origin, age, marital status, genetic information, or veteran's status in employment or in our educational programs. Colby is an Equal Opportunity employer, committed to excellence through diversity, and encourages applications from qualified persons of color, women, persons with disabilities, military veterans and members of other under-represented groups. Colby complies with Title IX, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in an institution's education programs and activities. Questions regarding Title IX may be referred to Colby's Title IX coordinator or to the federal Office of Civil Rights. For more information about the College, please visit our website: www.colby.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1723

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Tenure-Track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism

The Communication, Culture and Technology (CCT) Graduate Program at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track

Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism. Candidates' research areas should include, but are not limited to, critical studies in journalism and mass media; relationships between news media, politics, and public opinion; social and cultural representations in media, including social media; and changes in the production, distribution, and consumption of news content resulting from new technologies, such as data journalism. An international dimension will be an advantage. Candidates should be prepared to advise students on their academic program and to mentor thesis projects.

CCT is an interdisciplinary Master of Arts program that focuses on the ways that new technologies of communication and digital media are reshaping human experience on all levels from local to global, and how these technologies are redefining the practice of science, research, education, government, media, business, and culture and the arts. Faculty members are expected to contribute broadly to the interdisciplinary research and teaching of the program.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

For best consideration, send application letter of interest, c.v., and the names of three referees to cctjobs@georgetown.edu by October 31, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/31/2025
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1724

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Institutions and Behavior)

Specializations: American Politics, Legislative Studies, Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in American Politics to begin July 1, 2017. We are interested in candidates with expertise in legislatures, institutions and behavior.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire.

Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <http://apply.interfolio.com/36525>. Review of applications and nominations will begin September 5, 2016, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Yale is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Yale University values diversity among its staff, students, and faculty and strongly encourages applications from and nominations for women and under-represented minorities, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1717

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Race, Ethnicity, Migration)

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in American Politics, specializing in the study of race, ethnicity, and migration. The position will begin July 1, 2017.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire.

Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <http://apply.interfolio.com/35941>. Review of applications and nominations will begin September 5, 2016, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Vesla Weaver (vesla.weaver@yale.edu or 203-432-3237), Search Committee Chair, if you have questions about the application process.

Yale is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Yale University values diversity among its staff, students, and faculty and strongly encourages applications from and nominations for women and under-represented minorities, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1718

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Service

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Political Economy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service at New York University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position with appointment to begin September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise and a record of research in financial management, budgeting, accountability and performance, or the design of institutions. Successful candidates will contribute to our Master of Public Administration and new Master of Science in Public Policy programs and will have demonstrated excellence in research. A Ph.D. in public administration, political science, or a related field is required and must be conferred by August 31, 2017.

NYU Wagner is a multidisciplinary school that prepares public service leaders to translate ideas into actions that have an effective and lasting impact on the public good. The School's nearly 40 full-time faculty members are trained in a wide variety of disciplines and share a commitment to addressing issues of public importance in their teaching and research. Wagner faculty members collaborate with other schools and departments across the university, including the Stern School of Business; the Steinhardt School of Education; School of Law; Politics, Economics, and Sociology departments; and the College of Global Public Health.

Candidates should complete the application available via the link below and submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, two completed research papers, and three letters of reference.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/36182>

NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and is strongly committed to diversity within its community.

Applications received by October 30, 2016 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/30/2016

Date Posted: 8/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1708

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

The Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a position in the field of American Politics. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time.

For best consideration apply by September 1, 2016.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1696

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a position in the field of Comparative Politics. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time.

For best consideration apply by September 1, 2016.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1697

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Associate Professor

The Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center at the University of Oklahoma seeks an established scholar who is also a skilled and enthusiastic instructor as an associate professor.

The Center is a nonpartisan institution devoted to teaching and research related to the United States Congress and to strengthening representative democracy through engaged and informed citizens. The Center was established in 1979 as a living tribute to the ideals, leadership, and accomplishments of the Honorable Carl Albert and houses one of the largest congressional archives in the country.

The new hire will teach four courses each academic year, contribute to the core American Politics and Government curriculum and civic engagement mission of the University, and provide administrative leadership for the Center's diverse array of services and programs including shared editorial responsibilities for Extensions - the Center's biannual journal, the Julian J. Rothbaum Lectureship, and the Center's undergraduate leadership and service learning initiatives - Capitol Scholars, Community Scholars and N.E.W. Leadership.

The position will be jointly appointed to OU's Political Science Department, which houses a doctoral program with major fields in American politics, public administration and policy, comparative politics, political theory and international relations. Center faculty enjoy substantial travel and research support and work directly with talented undergraduate and graduate students. In addition, faculty members enjoy strong relationships with interdisciplinary research and teaching centers at OU, including the Nonprofit Leadership Program, the Center for Applied Social Research, the Center for Risk and Crisis Management, the Political Communication Center, the College of International Studies, Institute for American Constitutional Heritage, and the Environmental Studies Program. As the flagship institution for the state of Oklahoma, faculty work with state policy-makers and leaders of public, non-profit, tribal, and private organizations.

Qualifications

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science and be able to demonstrate an active research agenda in congressional studies, legislative behavior and institutions, or congressional policy-making. The successful candidate should also have an established publication record in high-quality outlets and a commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate, masters and doctoral students. Scholars with an interest in interdisciplinary collaborations or digital humanities are encouraged to apply.

Application and Deadline Information

The position will begin in August of 2017. Applicants should use <https://ou.taleo.net/careersection/2/jobdetail.ftl?job=162365> to submit: a cover letter, a current curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching experience, interests and philosophy, two published articles of significance, and the applicant's teaching evaluations from the most recent two years. Three letters of recommendation should also be sent to mcrac@ou.edu. Initial review of applications will begin on October 14, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Graduate transcripts may be requested by the committee.

For more information, please contact the search committee Chair:

Cindy Simon Rosenthal, PhD
 Director & Curator
 Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center
 630 Parrington Oval, Rm. 101
 Norman, OK 73019
 Phone: 405-325-6372 E-mail: csrosenthal@ou.edu

About OU

OU is a Carnegie-R1 comprehensive public research university known for excellence in teaching, research, and community engagement. OU serves the educational, cultural, economic and healthcare needs of the state, region, and nation from three campuses: Norman, Health Sciences Center in Oklahoma City, and Tulsa Schusterman Center. OU enrolls over 30,000 students and has more than 2,700 full-time faculty members in 21 colleges. In 2015, OU became the first public institution ever to rank No. 1 nationally in freshman National Merit Scholars enrolled.

Norman is a culturally rich and vibrant community located 20 miles south of Oklahoma City. With outstanding schools, amenities, and a low cost of living, Norman is often cited in "best places to live" rankings. Visit <http://soonerway.ou.edu> and <http://www.ou.edu/flipbook> for more information. The greater Oklahoma City metropolitan area has a population of over 1.25 million residents and offers all of the culture, dining, entertainment and amenities typical of a modern metropolis.

OU complies with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, gender expression, age, religion, disability, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. We invite all qualified applicants to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1705

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Faculty Member

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Developing Nations, International Security, International Political Economy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies, is a Department of Defense academic institution providing a forum where current and future military and civilian leaders from 45 Asia-Pacific nations gather to foster improved multinational and interagency security cooperation and coordination in the Asia-Pacific region through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, professional exchanges at conferences, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Center invites applications for:

FACULTY MEMBER

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world class educator to teach, facilitate, and conduct research. Responsibilities include:

- Teaching elective courses and lecturing on selected regional security topics within executive education courses;
- Facilitating seminars and planning and conducting workshops locally and throughout the Asia-Pacific region;
- Contributing to syllabus development;
- Conducting and publishing individual and group research;
- Performing various administrative and staff duties to support Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies academic functions.

Particular expertise is sought in the following areas:

- Crisis and disaster management expertise at the operational and/or strategic policy level, including risk cycles, reduction and resiliency, humanitarian assistance, recovery and reconstruction, and governance, with a focus on crisis prevention and development mainstreaming in the Asia-Pacific region. Knowledge of national crisis and international disaster frameworks, strategies, mechanisms and related subjects is desirable.
- Organizational and crisis leader development education with an emphasis on defense institution building, civil-military, inter-agency and cross-sector coordination, crisis planning and information sharing.
- Security and defense sector governance, development and capacity building, ideally with experience with national security consultations, security sector wide coordination, and/or strategic planning as related to the evolution and transformation of roles and responsibilities of security agencies.

Required minimum qualifications include:

- Master's Degree or equivalent in Security or Defense studies, Political Science, Governance, Disaster Management, Development and Urban Planning, Public Health, Humanitarian Assistance, Political Science, International Relations, or a related discipline with extensive experience in the region. A Ph.D. is desirable, but not required.
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation.

The following is "preferred" for ALL Faculty positions:

- Expertise in security, defense, and/or political-economic issues in one or more countries in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Living or working experience in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Ability to converse in an Asian language.

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $84,384 - $135,000 (includes HI Locality pay but excludes cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 12.05% but subject to change). These are limited-term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years (with the possibility of renewal). Relocation expenses may be authorized.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

- Interested candidates should submit the following items:
 - LETTER OF INTEREST. Provide a brief description of your vocational goals, personal interests and expected areas of study in the coming year, and explain your interest in future career considerations with the Department of Defense.
 - CURRICULUM VITAE. Should reflect the following: educational background, work experience, publications and salary history.
 - TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.
 - TRANSCRIPT(s). Provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting advance degree(s).

- Submit all required documents to physical address:

Chief, Human Resources Department
 Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies
 2058 Maluhia Road
 Honolulu, Hawaii 96815-1949

or email to:

hrdapplications-apcss@hawaii.rr.com

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- Application deadline: Open until filled. First cut off: 31 August 2016; Second cut off: 30 September 2016.
- Applications will be considered against current Faculty requirements. Application packages will be retained for one year.
- Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of the Defense and will not be returned.
- Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to two samples of their own publications.
- The Department of the Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor. U.S. Citizenship is not required however applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
- The Department of the Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrdapplications-apcss@hawaii.rr.com to ensure that the Department of the Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

7. Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: www.apcss.org.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/31/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1687

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and the Institute for Latino Studies at the University of Notre Dame seeks a tenure-track assistant professor with interests in Latino politics. The area of focus can be institutions, behavior, or policy and the methodological approach can be quantitative, qualitative, or mixed. We are especially interested in scholars whose work places Latinos in comparative context with other ethnic/racial groups, addresses issues of intersectionality by gender, social class, generation, or immigration status, and those whose work focuses on social movements or transnational politics.

The University of Notre Dame, a Catholic research university, is an equal opportunity employer with strong academic commitments to racial, cultural, and gender diversity. Individuals from historically underrepresented groups and those attracted to a university with a Catholic identity are particularly encouraged to apply. In 2015, 11% of all 8,500 undergraduates identified as Hispanic/Latino, Asian 6%, African American 4%, and two or more races 4%. Information about Notre Dame, including our mission statement, is available at www.nd.edu.

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and partners with their job search. The City of South Bend has just over 100,000 residents in a metropolitan area of 266,000. Latinos are 12% of the population of South Bend and African Americans are 26%.

All applicants should include a CV, letter of interest, writing samples, teaching evaluations and three letters of recommendation.

All files should be received by September 30 to receive full consideration. Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36443>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1683

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Boston University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in American politics, to begin July 1, 2017, pending budgetary approval. The search is open with regard to substantive focus. In coordination with a multi-department hiring initiative in the College of Arts and Sciences, the department will especially welcome applications from scholars whose work includes critical perspectives on race, ethnicity, gender, and sexualities. The successful candidate will also contribute to the Department's research and teaching in quantitative and/or other innovative research methods.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, research and teaching statements, a curriculum vitae, one writing sample, and arrange for three reference letters to be submitted through <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7523>. The search committee will begin reviewing applications on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1678

CUNY, Hunter College

Rank: Tenure Track Position-Open Rank

The Hunter College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in either U.S. public law or American political behavior to begin in Fall 2017. The priority is to hire in public law but a second appointment in political behavior is possible. Appointments may be made at the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor. For public law, the department seeks a scholar with research and teaching interests in constitutional law, broadly understood. We also expect the successful candidate to share in the teaching of the department's historically-oriented introductory American government course. For political behavior, applications are welcomed from candidates focused on political participation broadly construed.

The department places a high value on both effective teaching and strong scholarship. Hunter College, located on Manhattan's Upper East Side, is a part of the City University of New York, and has a vibrant and exceptionally diverse student body. In addition to teaching undergraduates at Hunter, many department members are part of the CUNY Graduate Center faculty and participate in the doctoral program. A Ph.D. is required for appointment at a professorial rank; the department prefers completion of the degree by the start of the appointment. For appointment as associate professor, substantial publication and teaching experience are required; for appointment as full professor, evidence of an established professional reputation, a strong and sustained publication record, and substantial teaching experience are required. Salary is commensurate with rank and experience. Hunter College is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Please apply online by accessing the CUNY Portal on City University of New York job website <http://cuny.edu/employment.html> and navigating to Careers at CUNYfirst. Current users of the site should access their established accounts; new users should click on the appropriate link to register. Please send cover letter, CV, a writing sample, graduate school transcript, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Please arrange to have three confidential reference letters mailed to: Chair, Public Law Search, Department of Political Science, Hunter College, CUNY, 695 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10065. Please direct queries via e-mail to polsci.search@hunter.cuny.edu. To assure full consideration, candidates should submit all application materials by 9/16/16. The department will continue to review applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1665

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Criminal Justice, American Politics

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICS

Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the Politics of Public Policy. The Department seeks a scholar whose work focuses on the politics of public policy as it relates to issues of race, class, or gender; and/or the impact of policies on underrepresented, marginalized, and/or vulnerable groups. The area or areas of public policy are open, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work focuses on criminal justice, policing, incarceration, health, immigration, education, domestic violence, sexual assault, or human trafficking. Studies that engage the domestic, comparative, or global level are welcome, as are empirical, historical, or critical theoretical approaches.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate and Ph.D. programs in the Politics department and teach one course per year in the proposed MA Program in Social Science and Public Policy. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community, and we encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

RANK: Assistant Professor

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience; academic year (9-month) basis.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected to be conferred by June 30, 2017; Demonstrated record of research and teaching.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1, 2017, with academic year beginning September 2017. Degree must be conferred by June 30, 2018 for employment beyond that date.

TO APPLY: Applications are accepted via the UCSC Academic Recruit online system and must include: letter of application, curriculum vitae, up to 4 samples of written work, research statement, teaching statement, up to 3 sets of teaching evaluations (if available), and 3 confidential letters of reference*. Applicants are invited to submit a statement addressing their contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service. All documents/materials must be submitted as PDF files.

Apply at <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/apply/JPF00368>
Refer to Position #JPF00368-17 in all correspondence.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <http://apo.ucsc.edu/confstm.htm>

CLOSING DATE: Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete and letters of recommendation received by this date. The position will remain open until filled, but not later than 6/30/2018.

UC Santa Cruz faculty make significant contributions to the body of research that has earned the University of California the ranking as the foremost public higher education institution in the world. In the process, our faculty demonstrate that cutting-edge research, excellent teaching and outstanding service are mutually supportive.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. UC Santa Cruz is committed to excellence through diversity and strives to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students and employees. Inquiries regarding the University's equal employment opportunity policies may be directed to: Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064; (831) 459-2686.

Under Federal law, the University of California may employ only individuals who are legally able to work in the United States as established by providing documents as specified in the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Certain UCSC positions funded by federal contracts or sub-contracts require the selected candidate to pass an E-Verify check. More information is available here or from the Academic Personnel Office (APO) at (831) 459-4300.

UCSC is a smoke & tobacco-free campus.

If you need accommodation due to a disability, please contact the Academic Personnel Office at apo@ucsc.edu (831) 459-4300.

VISIT THE APO WEB SITE AT: <http://apo.ucsc.edu>

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/25/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1658

University of Rochester

Rank: American Politics - Open Rank

American Politics. As part of our new initiative in American Politics, the Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in any area of American Politics for tenure-track positions in all ranks starting July 1, 2017. The University of Rochester, an Equal Opportunity Employer, has a strong commitment to diversity and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education. We will consider all applications received by September 9, 2016, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Candidates for a tenure-track position should submit the following documents: c.v., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, and a transcript. Candidates for a senior position should submit only a letter of interest and c.v. Materials should be submitted on-line: <https://www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting/positions/show/3792>

For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department: <http://www.rochester.edu/college/psc/>
EOE Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/9/2016
Date Posted: 7/25/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1653

University of Rochester

Rank: Methods - Open Rank

Methods. The Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates who specialize in Methodology for tenure-track positions in all ranks starting July 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates who apply their research to American Politics. The University of Rochester, an Equal Opportunity Employer, has a strong commitment to diversity and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education. We will consider all applications received by September 9, 2016, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Candidates for a tenure-track position should submit the following documents: c.v., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, and a transcript. Candidates for a senior position should submit only a letter of interest and c.v. Materials should be submitted on-line: <https://www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting/positions/show/3802>

For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department: <http://www.rochester.edu/college/psc/>
EOE Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/9/2016
Date Posted: 7/25/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1654

University of Rochester

Rank: Political Economy - Open Rank

Political Economy/American Politics. As part of our new initiative in American Politics, the Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in Political Economy for tenure-track positions in all ranks starting July 1, 2017. The University of Rochester, an Equal Opportunity Employer, has a strong commitment to diversity and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education. We will consider all applications received by September 9, 2016, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Candidates for a tenure-track position should submit the following documents: c.v., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, and a transcript. Candidates for a senior position should submit only a letter of interest and c.v. Materials should be submitted on-line: <https://www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting/positions/show/3792>

For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department: <http://www.rochester.edu/college/psc/>
EOE Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/9/2016
Date Posted: 7/25/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1656

University of Rochester

Rank: Race & Ethnic - Open Rank

Specializations: Latin American, African American Politics, Asian American Politics

Race and Ethnic Politics. As part of our new initiative in American Politics, the Department of Political Science at the University of Rochester invites applications from candidates working in any area of African-American politics, Asian-American politics, Latina/Latino-American politics, Native American Politics, or other areas in American race and ethnic politics, for tenure-track positions in all ranks starting July 1, 2017. The University of Rochester, an Equal Opportunity Employer, has a strong commitment to diversity and actively encourages applications from candidates from groups underrepresented in higher education. We will consider all applications received by September 9, 2016, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Candidates for a tenure-track position should submit the following documents: c.v., research statement, teaching statement, letters of recommendation, samples of written work, and a transcript. Candidates for a senior position should submit only a letter of interest and c.v. Materials should be submitted on-line: <https://www.rochester.edu/faculty-recruiting/positions/show/3792>

For more information on the University of Rochester Political Science Department: <http://www.rochester.edu/college/psc/>
EOE Minorities / Females / Protected Veterans / Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/9/2016
Date Posted: 7/25/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1655

Washington College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Washington College is seeking an American politics specialist for an entry-level appointment as Assistant Professor of Political Science, tenure-track, beginning August 2017. Ph.D. should be in hand or very near completion; salary is competitive. We seek candidates whose graduate transcripts, teaching experience, research, or other experience demonstrate preparation to teach courses in American political institutions, especially the American Presidency, Congress and the Legislative Process, and Parties and Interest Groups—and several other upper level courses in areas such as Minority Politics and Media and Politics.

The ability to offer a basic research methods course would be an added benefit and the candidate will also teach our introductory level course in American politics as well; faculty are also expected to periodically contribute to the college's first year seminar program. As we have expertise in the following areas already, we are not seeking candidates who specialize in public law, political theory, or religion and politics. Teaching load is three courses per semester. Some senior thesis advising, undergraduate advising, and occasional internship supervision are required.

Washington College, founded in 1782, is a selective liberal arts institution of 1500 students that emphasizes excellence in teaching and a commitment to scholarly research. It is located on Maryland's Eastern Shore, about 1.5 hours from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. For more information about the college please consult the college's website (<http://www.washcoll.edu>) and the department's website (<http://polisci.washcoll.edu>).

Applications should be submitted by October 10, 2016. Materials should be directed to the attention of Dr. Melissa Deckman, Chair, Department of Political Science; e-mail: mdeckman2@washcoll.edu. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts from all institutions attended, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations, if available, through our online portal at https://highereddecisions.com/wcm/current_vacancies.asp. If unable to combine additional materials into one document to upload to Consensus, please send materials to politicalscience_search@washcoll.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Candidates who wish to be interviewed at the APSA Convention's job placement services in Philadelphia should e-mail or call after August 15 to request an appointment. Washington College is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to a diverse cultural environment and encourages applications from women, minorities, disabled persons, and veterans.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/10/2016
Date Posted: 7/25/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1652

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Davis invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics. We are also particularly interested in candidates with strong theoretical and methodological skills.

Applications will be accepted on-line at <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF01095>. Candidates should upload a curriculum vitae, a statement describing their research interests, evidence of teaching ability, as well as sample publications or an article-length writing sample. Applicants will also be asked to provide their references' names and email addresses. A Ph.D. or evidence that the degree would be complete by the beginning of instruction is required. The anticipated starting date is July 1, 2017. Applications must be received by September 23, 2016 to guarantee initial full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled. This recruitment is conducted at the assistant rank. The resulting hire will be at the assistant rank, regardless of the proposed appointee's qualifications.

If you experience technical problems in uploading your application material please contact our Chief Administrative Officer, Jessie Murray, at (530) 752-2183.

The University of California, Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports equality and diversity. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1584

Davidson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Davidson College seeks a tenure-track assistant professor specializing in American political behavior to begin August 1, 2017.

We are looking for a committed teacher-scholar who will maintain an active research agenda; participate in departmental and college-wide initiatives; advise students in Political Science and interdisciplinary programs; and contribute to all levels of the curriculum. Demonstrated or potential teaching excellence is essential. The candidate will be expected to teach upper-level courses and seminars in political behavior, including areas such as public opinion and political psychology, and, in rotation with other department members, offer an introductory course in American politics and a required course on basic research methods. The candidate must also be able to offer a course on some aspect of politics of identity in America, focusing on the politics of race and ethnicity, gender and sexuality, or religion. Applications from PhD-holders and very advanced ABDs will be considered. Teaching load is 4 courses in the first year, 5 courses per year thereafter.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; statements addressing the candidate's teaching experience and interests and research agenda; graduate school transcript; and evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in and enthusiasm for undergraduate teaching. The deadline for receipt of applications is September 18, 2016. All application materials can be submitted at <https://jobs.davidson.edu>

Davidson is a highly-selective, nationally-ranked, residential, four-year liberal arts college located 20 minutes north of Charlotte in Davidson, N.C. Davidson is strongly committed to achieving excellence and cultural diversity, and welcomes applications from women, members of minority groups, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's mission.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/18/2016

Date Posted: 7/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1650

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor.

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor. The School has a particular interest in applicants whose research and teaching expertise are in the areas of public management, especially as it intersects with quantitative analysis, public sector reform, or urban affairs, although exceptional others will be considered. The McCourt School was established in 2013 with a generous naming gift which allows for faculty expansion, a Massive Data Institute, and a new Institute of Politics and Public Service.

Electronic applications are required and candidates should submit applications here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajof/jobs/7494>

The committee will begin considering applications on September 1 and will continue to do so until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1641

Bryant University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Legal Studies

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

The Department of History and Social Sciences at Bryant University invites applicants for a tenure track Assistant Professor in the area of Legal Studies to begin in August, 2017. Candidates must apply by October 31, 2016.

The successful candidate must possess a JD with an advanced degree in law or a related discipline. We encourage the applications of candidates with expertise in the areas of law, ethics, human rights, and the interdisciplinary study of law. We expect that the candidate will have strong communication skills as a classroom instructor and as a presenter of research findings to others.

The successful candidate must be prepared to teach introductory courses in domestic and international business law and a range of advanced topics. The position requires a commitment to quality teaching, research, and university service.

Certain requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate persons with disabilities.

Throughout its more than 150 year history, Bryant University has earned a distinguished reputation for innovative academic programs and technology that are marketplace driven and highly attuned to the emerging needs of industry and society. Bryant's close-knit, student-centered community of scholars delivers challenging academic programs that integrate business and the arts and sciences, with an emphasis on real-world application and a global perspective. Abundant co-curricular opportunities, service learning programs, internships, and practicums allow students to put theory into practice while building character and leadership skills.

Bryant University is comprised of the College of Business and the College of Arts and Sciences. Bryant's academic programs are distinguished by an integration of business and the arts and sciences with a global perspective. Bryant is located on a 428 acre campus in Smithfield, RI, which is situated 15 minutes from Providence, RI, and 45 minutes from Boston, MA.

The Department of History and Social Sciences houses four disciplines: Legal Studies, History, Sociology, and Political Science. There is a Legal Studies minor and a Politics and Law Major.

Candidates must submit their application electronically at <https://employment.bryant.edu>. The application process will require the inclusion of a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, and evidence of quality teaching experience. The applicant should be prepared to include contact information for three references; listed references will be notified electronically to submit a letter of support to your application.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/31/2016

Date Posted: 7/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1637

St. Norbert College

Rank: Assistant Professor

St. Norbert College, a nationally ranked, residential, liberal arts institution with a stable enrollment of 2,200 students, invites applications for a tenure track position as an Assistant Professor in Political Science to begin August 2017. A Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment and strong background in American institutions are required. Commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates in Political Science and general education courses in a liberal arts setting is essential. Responsibilities include teaching three classes per semester, advising students, maintaining an active research agenda, and collegial service. The successful candidate will regularly teach Parties and Elections, Congress and the Presidency, and Research Methods. Other course assignments will be based on departmental needs and the successful candidate's expertise.

St. Norbert College offers competitive salaries and excellent benefits. St. Norbert College, a Catholic institution rooted in the Norbertine tradition, welcomes applications from members of all backgrounds and faith traditions. The College's mission emphasizes the Norbertine vision of community and includes providing "an educational environment that fosters intellectual, spiritual and personal development." We seek those who will contribute to our mission and support our commitment to building a vibrant, diverse and spiritually engaged community (<http://www.snc.edu/mission/statement.html>).

St. Norbert College is situated on an attractive, riverside campus in De Pere, WI, a community contiguous with the city of Green Bay. The Green Bay metropolitan area has a population of 250,000, offers abundant opportunities for recreational and cultural endeavors, is served by its own international airport, and is located 200 miles north of Chicago. For additional information, visit the College website (www.snc.edu).

Interested candidates should submit a detailed letter of application addressing their fit for the position, CV, teaching portfolio (e.g., sample syllabi, assignments, exams, and teacher evaluations if available), writing sample, and three letters of reference addressed to: John Dose, Associate Dean, Social Sciences Division, St. Norbert College, 100 Grant Street, De Pere, WI 54115. Electronic applications encouraged: send to Sue Sorenson (Recruitment Coordinator) at susan.sorenson@snc.edu. A review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

St. Norbert College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Candidates from underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1629

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Public Opinion

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track, Assistant Professor to start in fall 2017 in the field of American Politics. To complement existing faculty strengths, we are most interested in candidates with research expertise in one or more of the following subfield specialties: Congress, the executive branch, public opinion, and political psychology. We particularly encourage applications from those with the desire and ability to teach research methods at an undergraduate level, and we welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum such as internships, simulations, or service learning. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter across three quarters per year in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division American politics courses, introductory courses, and other university requirements. Courses should be taught in a variety of lecture and discussion formats. Faculty at the University of Denver balance their commitment to undergraduate education with the pursuit of rigorous research involving such scholarly works as books, peer-reviewed scholarly articles, and conference presentations. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University and departmental service.

The Department of Political Science is an undergraduate-only department with small classes, intensive writing assignments, and close interaction between students and faculty. We aim to develop student's capacity to think and act in the world that will serve students long after they graduate.

Essential Functions

- Teach the equivalent of six courses per academic year.
- Advise students.
- Pursue a fruitful research agenda that results in published work.
- Contribute to University and departmental service.

Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities

- Expertise in one or more of the following subfield specialties: Congress, the Executive Branch, Public Opinion, and/or Political Psychology.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science or a related social science field, or be near the completion of one. If ABD, the degree must be completed no later than the summer of 2017.
- Experience teaching undergraduate courses in Political Science.

Preferred Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through <https://dujobs.silkroad.com/> to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. Once within the job description online, please click New Resume/CV at the bottom of the page to begin application. We will give priority to applications received by September 23, 2016, but will consider applications until the position is filled. For questions regarding this position, please contact: Doug Booth, douglas.booth@du.edu.

Please include the following documents with your application:

- CV
- Letter of interest
- Research & teaching statements
- Inclusive-excellence statement (The separate inclusive-excellence statement should be a succinct description of how the candidate's research, teaching, and/or service contributes to inclusive excellence and involves effective interaction with members of historically under-represented communities. See <http://www.du.edu/cme/resources/inclusive-excellence.html> for more details.)
- Evidence of scholarly work
- At least three recommenders should provide letters of recommendation, which can be emailed to polisci@du.edu.

NOTE: The online system is limited to uploading 5 files. Please combine content if necessary to get all content uploaded.

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, minorities, members of the LGBT community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1630

University of South Carolina, Aiken

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy at the University of South Carolina Aiken invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor teaching public administration/public policy beginning August 2017. The position requires the ability to teach upper level courses in public administration and public policy (these could include introductory public administration, public personnel administration, public financial management and public policy; other related courses could also be developed). The teaching of an introductory American Government course is expected. Candidate must demonstrate excellence in teaching and potential of research agenda. Research focus is open but should not duplicate existing faculty specializations. PhD in Political Science must be in hand by the time of appointment. Prior university teaching experience strongly preferred. Responsibilities include a 4/4 teaching load (a minimum of 2 preparations per semester), research and productive scholarship, and after the first year student advisement, as well as service to the department, university, and broader community.

Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. USCA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Under a three hour drive from Charlotte and Atlanta respectively, the University of South Carolina Aiken has consistently ranked among the top three public baccalaureate colleges in the South by U.S. News & World Report's annual "America's Best Colleges" guide. USCA is also a recipient of The Chronicle of Higher Education's "Best Place to Work" designation, with top honors for collaborative governance and confidence in senior leadership, and has been designated a Military-Friendly School by Victory Media. Founded in 1961, USC Aiken has grown to serve more than 3,200 students on its beautiful 453-acre campus. USC Aiken is a comprehensive liberal arts institution with talented faculty committed to active learning through excellence in teaching, undergraduate research, scholarship, and civic engagement. A 15:1 student-faculty ratio allows for highly engaged pedagogies with USC Aiken selected as the college of choice by students from 29 states and 20 countries. According to the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE), USC Aiken seniors rank the campus as contributing to their knowledge, skills and personal development at rates significantly higher than other institutions that participate in the survey. Visit: www.usca.edu

Applicants must apply online at:

<https://uscjobs.sc.edu/applicants/jsp/shared/frameset/frameset.jsp?time=1468858963397>

Applicants must fully complete the online application form and upload a letter of interest and current curriculum vitae there. Applicants should send separately three letters of reference, a sample syllabus, a teaching statement, and a writing sample (e.g. article, paper, chapter length) to:

Mrs. Carol McKay
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
471 University Parkway
Aiken, SC 29801

The application deadline is September 30, 2016. Additional materials may be sought at a later date from applicants selected for telephone interviews.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1631

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning in Fall 2017. The position is open to candidates specializing in public policy, public administration, or a related field, with a particular focus on the politics of health policy. Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics, as well as a course in quantitative methods. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2017. To assure full consideration, completed applications must be received by October 20, 2016. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://rowanuniversity.hodesiq.com/jobs/assistant-professor-of-political-science-aft-glassboro-new-jersey-job-5301829>. Rowan will have representatives at the APSA annual meeting in Philadelphia. Please email Lawrence Markowitz to request a meeting at markowizl@rowan.edu.

Submit a cover letter, a C.V., unofficial transcripts, and teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/20/2016

Date Posted: 7/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1625

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for one tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2017. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of democratic representation, particularly as it relates to the study of underrepresented minorities, either in the U.S. or cross-nationally.

Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by November 1, 2017. The application deadline is September 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted until the search is closed. All applications should be submitted electronically via <https://jobs.rice.edu/> (from this page, select "Faculty," then choose "Assistant Professor of Political Science" or "Associate Professor of Political Science," according to your level). A complete application for candidates at the assistant professor level will include (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) two writing samples, and (5) three letters of recommendation. Candidates who currently hold the rank of associate professor are asked to submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, and information for at least three references.

Equal Opportunity Employer – Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1611

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of assistant professor with a specialization in American political institutions, to begin August 2017. The successful candidate will have a productive and rigorous research agenda, excel in the classroom, and seek ways to integrate their scholarship and teaching. Candidates should have an active research agenda focused on the U.S. Congress and be prepared to teach introduction to American government and upper-division courses on Congress and the Presidency. The Department is interested in candidates who can also add to our course offerings in one of the following areas: public policy, political parties and interest groups, race/ethnicity and politics, or gender and politics. The typical teaching load is three courses per semester, and all faculty can apply for a competitive course reduction of one course per academic year. A PhD is preferred, but the College will consider ABDs if the degree will be granted by time of appointment. Applications received by September 16, 2016, will receive full consideration.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a highly selective institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its nearly 6,000 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. The School of Humanities and Social Sciences enrolls over 2,000 majors in 14 academic programs. The Department of Political Science includes seven tenure-line faculty positions and supports over 160 political science majors and 100 international studies majors. For more information, visit www.tcnj.edu.

Please submit the following materials to ampolsearch@tcnj.edu as email attachments: 1) a cover letter describing qualifications and research and teaching interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) unofficial graduate transcript, 4) up to two scholarly writing samples, 5) relevant sample syllabi, 6) evidence of teaching effectiveness, and 7) contact information for three to five references. Applicants should also have at least three referees submit confidential letters of recommendation directly to ampolsearch@tcnj.edu.

Representatives of the department will conduct informational interviews with potential candidates at APSA in Philadelphia. Interested candidates should send an electronic copy of their CV to ampolsearch@tcnj.edu. Please contact Daniel Bowen (bowend@tcnj.edu) with any questions about the position.

The College of New Jersey is an Affirmative-Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/12/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1610

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Behavior and Quantitative Methods, as well as the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2017. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The department of political science has 17 full-time faculty members with over 150 students in the undergraduate major and in two graduate programs; Master of Public Administration and Master of Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins September 16, 2016 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Missouri State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/minority/female/veterans/disability/sexual orientation/gender identity employer and institution. We encourage applications from all interested minorities, females, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and sexual orientation/gender identity.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/8/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1600

Stanford University

Rank: Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all sub-fields

Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields.

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2017. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, a writing sample and a brief statement of research interest (no more than three pages).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 16, 2016, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AcademicJobsOnline.org

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/16/2016
Date Posted: 7/8/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1604

University of Redlands

Rank: Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for the Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017 semester.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics or Comparative Politics with U.S. expertise), with at least five years of professional experience, preferably at a liberal arts institution. We especially welcome applications from candidates from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position.

Please submit application materials (including letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, samples of scholarly work, and three letters of reference, under separate cover) electronically at apply@redlands.edu or mail to: Human Resources, University of Redlands, PO Box 3080, Redlands CA 92373-0999. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2016, and position will remain open until filled.

Inquiries can be directed to steve_wuhs@redlands.edu, including requests for interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in Philadelphia, PA.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and/or experiences in the area of inclusivity. Strongly preferred are candidates with demonstrated experience working with diverse student populations. The University of Redlands is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Employer and actively encourages applications from minority and other members of underrepresented groups. The University of Redlands does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, disability, age, marital status, or sexual orientation in its programs and activities.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1593

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The University of Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy invites applications from social scientists with a PhD in political science, government, public policy or other closely-related discipline for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor rank. Areas of specialization and methodological approaches are open, with a particular interest in candidates with expertise in American politics, world politics, comparative politics, racial/ethnic politics, bureaucratic politics, and public administration. Successful candidates must demonstrate outstanding research potential; ability and willingness to teach core and elective courses in undergraduate, master and PhD degree programs in public policy; and a keen interest in interacting with students, faculty, and policy practitioners in an interdisciplinary professional school environment. Candidates should combine relevant substantive expertise with strong interests in public policy.

Joint appointments or affiliations with other departments, schools, or colleges are possible. This is a university-year appointment and begins on September 1, 2017. First consideration will be given to applications received by October 1, 2016, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. The following application materials should be sent in PDF format to politicalscience@fordschool.umich.edu: a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing samples, statement of current and future research plans, statement of teaching philosophy and experience, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation. The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/6/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1589

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor (Public Policy)
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno is soliciting applications for a tenure-track, full-time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in Public Policy to begin in the Fall semester of 2017. The focus is on a Policy generalist who can offer courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels covering policy theory, policy implementation, and ideally policy analysis. We are open to a variety of substantive policy areas candidates may be pursuing, but those with a link to environmental and/or energy policy are preferred. Research methodology is open, although candidates with statistical methods skills and the ability to teach an MPA course in Policy Analysis are strongly preferred. The selected applicant will be expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower division undergraduate, upper division undergraduate and graduate MA/MPA/PhD). Courses will include offerings in support of a traditional MPA curriculum. Applicants should demonstrate a strong potential for research publication and there is an expectation that the individual hired will have some ability to attract external funding.

Position is open until filled, but review of applications will begin October 7, 2016.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field in hand by August 15, 2017 for appointment as an Assistant Professor. A background check may be conducted on the candidate(s) selected for hire.

To apply online: <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/21273>

HR will attempt to verify academic credentials upon receipt of hiring documents. If the academic credentials cannot be verified, HR will notify the faculty member that an official transcript of their highest degree must be submitted within thirty days of the faculty member's first day of employment.

The University of Nevada, Reno is committed to Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action in recruitment of its students and employees and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, creed, national origin, veteran status, physical or mental disability, and sexual orientation. The University of Nevada, Reno employs only United States citizens and aliens lawfully authorized to work in the United States. Women, under-represented groups, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/6/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1591

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: tenure track appointment, health policy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in political science to begin in August 2017. We are seeking an applicant with demonstrated expertise in U.S., comparative, or global health whose teaching will contribute to both the political science major and the College's emerging Health Studies Program. Health Studies has thus far been a part of the College's student-designed major program through the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies. In response to rising student demand and faculty interest, the College is now in the process of creating a formal program. Candidates for the new position will be expected to design and teach an introduction to health policy course that will serve as a foundation for students who will go on to specialize in various “tracks” within the Health Studies major, which may include Public Health and Global Health. The successful candidate will also offer advanced courses in health policy and other electives within the Department of Political Science in the subfield of either American Politics or Comparative Politics, or International Relations, depending on their area of specialization.

This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College’s published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advance levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. in Political Science or imminent completion required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College’s mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://www.holycross.edu/about-us/mission-statement>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/35993>.

Review of applications will begin on September 16 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done by Skype or at the APSA conference September 1-3 for those who will attend the meeting. Questions about this search may be directed to Vickie Langohr, Chair, at vlangohr@holycross.edu. Candidates are encouraged to contact Prof. Langohr in advance to express their interest and availability for an interview at APSA.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/4/2016

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 1580

Bethel University

Rank: Political Science Faculty (Three Year Appointment)

Bethel University College of Arts & Sciences in St. Paul, MN is seeking applications for a full-time, three year faculty appointment in the Department of Political Science, to begin Fall 2017.

Responsibilities: Teach seven courses or equivalent per year. Teaching assignments may include American Government and Politics, American Political Institutions, Modern Political Thought, American Political Ideologies, and American Public Policy, as well as participation in an interdisciplinary, team-taught General Education course. Other faculty responsibilities include promoting and coordinating pre-law advising, academic advising, faculty committee service, and departmental assignments as appropriate.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science; ABD will be considered. Teaching experience preferred, including demonstrated ability to teach courses in American Government and Politics, and Political Theory in particular. Candidates must be strongly committed to the educational mission and evangelical Christian orientation of the university. They must demonstrate the ability to contribute to Bethel’s anti-racism efforts and cross-cultural understanding.

Salary and rank commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Apply online at www.bethel.edu/employment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1577

Wellesley College

Rank: Open Rank American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for an open rank tenure-track or tenured (at the Associate Professor or Full Professor level) position in American politics to begin in the academic year 2017-18.

We are seeking candidates with expertise in the politics of race and ethnicity, minority politics, immigration politics, or urban politics in the United States. We are particularly interested in applicants who can teach introductory quantitative methods to undergraduates. The person hired will also be expected to teach our introductory course in American politics.

Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, and service that they can contribute to this goal. Familiarity with, and experience using, pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential will be considered a valuable additional qualification.

Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment. Faculty members teach two courses per semester.

Ph.D. completed or near completed required. All applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vita, teaching evaluation summaries, and samples of research. Junior applicants should also include a graduate transcript and three letters of reference. Senior applicants should provide the names of three potential references who will only be asked to write on their behalf if their candidacy for the position moves beyond the preliminary stage.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at <https://career.wellesley.edu>. The deadline for receipt of all application materials is September 15, 2016. If circumstances do not allow you to submit materials through our on line application system please email us at working@wellesley.edu. Wellesley College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 6/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1568

Wheaton College

Rank: Tenure-track Position in American Politics

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Wheaton College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant or associate professor level in American Politics to begin in 2017. Expertise in political behavior, race and politics, or peace and conflict studies is highly desirable but not required. Ph.D. is expected and teaching experience is preferred.

Send a letter describing teaching experience, personal commitment to the Christian faith, and a current curriculum vitae to Dr. Bryan McGraw, Chair, Department of Politics & International Relations (bryan.mcgraw@wheaton.edu). Additional application instructions will be sent to candidates whose expertise aligns with position description.

Representatives of the department will conduct interviews with potential candidates at the 2016 APSA meeting in Philadelphia. To be considered for an APSA interview, please send the above information to the Chair prior to APSA. Review of completed applications will begin September 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Wheaton College is an evangelical Protestant Christian liberal arts college whose faculty and staff affirm a Statement of Faith and adhere to the lifestyle expectations of the Wheaton College Community Covenant. The College complies with federal and state guidelines for nondiscrimination in employment. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply. Read more about Wheaton College and its programs at www.wheaton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 6/18/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1553

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Urban Politics, Economic Policy, Health Care

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in public policy to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any of the following areas of public policy: health policy, social policy, economic development, community development, sustainable development, intergovernmental relations, state and local government, and/or urban policy. Expertise in these areas is expected to be in the context of the United States. Candidates also must possess the capacity to contribute to departmental efforts to increase community outreach and engagement with government officials and practitioners in the greater Montgomery area. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities normally include undergraduate courses offered to political science majors and graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

Public Policy Search Committee

Department of Political Science and Public Administration

Auburn University at Montgomery

P.O. Box 244023

Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 6/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1549

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Carleton College seeks applicants for a tenure track position in American Politics. The department seeks candidates who have expertise in American political institutions and elections and can offer courses at all levels on these subjects. We are particularly interested in applicants with teaching and research interests that relate to the struggle for representation and political power by minority groups in the U.S. political system. Carleton operates on a trimester calendar, with faculty teaching five courses per year. Successful candidates will normally teach one or two introductions to American politics per year. We also expect that successful applicants will be part of a rotation of teachers for our methods course, which is required for all majors. We would be especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated capacity for mentoring students in small-N, qualitative research, elite interviewing or other techniques that complement multivariate statistical analysis. A Ph.D. or its imminent completion is required. The appointment will begin September 1, 2017.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; contact information for three letters of reference; statement addressing the candidate's teaching experience and interests and scholarly agenda; graduate school transcript; teaching evaluations or other evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction; sample syllabi; at least one scholarly writing sample. The deadline for receipt of applications is September 16. All application materials can be submitted at jobs.carleton.edu.

We are particularly interested in candidates committed to teaching a diverse student body. Carleton is committed to developing its faculty to better reflect the diversity of our student body and American society. Women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Carleton College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, ethnicity, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, status with regard to public assistance, disability, or age in providing employment or access to its educational facilities and activities.

Carleton College is a small, high-selective liberal arts college dedicated to providing excellent educational opportunities for students. The College provides generous professional development support for both research and teaching. We are located 45 minutes south of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/16/2016
Date Posted: 6/16/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1459

Beloit College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: African American Politics, Latino Politics, Asian American Politics

Subject to final all-college approval, Beloit College seeks candidates for a position in U.S. politics and race, with ability to contribute to one or more of Beloit's strong interdisciplinary programs. The successful candidate will teach courses related to race, political participation, and U.S. institutions. At least some of these offerings will be expected to employ quantitative analysis and/or have strong experiential components. Faculty in the department also regularly teach senior research or community-based capstone courses related to their fields of expertise. Candidates should demonstrate enthusiasm for liberal arts education, including expected participation in first-year seminars.

Equity and inclusion are central to Beloit's liberal arts education and vital to the thriving of our residential learning community. Beloit College aspires to be an actively anti-racist institution, so collectively commits to ongoing and institution-wide accountability. Beloit seeks committed employees who will actively celebrate our cultural and intellectual richness and be resolute in advancing inclusion and equity.

Located in a diverse community close to Madison, Milwaukee, and Chicago, Beloit attracts students from across the United States and the world. The college emphasizes excellence in teaching, learning beyond the traditional classroom, international perspectives, and collaborative research among students and faculty. It is recognized as one of the Colleges That Change Lives. We encourage all interested individuals meeting the criteria of the described position to apply. AA/EEO Employer.

Candidates should submit a c.v., three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, one or more syllabi, and a writing sample to Rachel Ellett and Ron Nikora, Co-Chairs, American Politics Search committee, Department of Political Science, at polsearch@beloit.edu.

We will be interviewing at APSA and encourage interested individuals to submit (at a minimum) a letter and a CV at polsearch@beloit.edu before August 19th. The final deadline for receipt of all materials is November 1st.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 6/14/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1542

Wesleyan University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Government and Politics

The Department of Government at Wesleyan University seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in American politics with a specialty in the presidency and the executive branch of government beginning July 1, 2017. The ideal candidate will have well-developed methodological skills and a commitment to integrating these skills into his or her courses. The teaching load is two courses per semester. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental and university level. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science by July 2017. Applications received by September 15, 2016, will receive full consideration.

To apply, please go to <http://careers.wesleyan.edu/postings/5497>. At this site you will be asked to upload electronic versions of the items we require, which are (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) an article-length writing sample (e.g., the first chapter of your dissertation), (5) a statement about your teaching philosophy and methods, (6) teaching evaluation statistics or other evidence of teaching effectiveness (but please do not send copies of individual student evaluations), and (7) sample syllabi if available. As part of the cover letter or teaching statement we invite you to describe your cultural competencies and experiences engaging a diverse student body. You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of three referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation (please double-check the accuracy of the email addresses of the referees you name to insure that you have the most up-to-date email addresses for each one). After you have submitted all of the required documents, you will see a confirmation number. At that point, each of the three referees whose email address you have provided will receive an automatically-generated email requesting that he or she submit a letter of reference for you.

Wesleyan University, located in Middletown, Connecticut, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religious creed, age, gender, gender identity or expression, national origin, marital status, ancestry, present or past history of mental disorder, learning disability or physical disability, political belief, veteran status, sexual orientation, genetic information or non-position-related criminal record. We welcome applications from women and historically underrepresented minority groups. Inquiries regarding Title IX, Section 504, or any other non-discrimination policies should be directed to: Antonio Farias, Vice President for Equity & Inclusion, Title IX and ADA/504 Officer, 860-685-4771, afarias@wesleyan.edu.

Please contact Ms. Kristin McQueeney (kmcqueeney@wesleyan.edu), the Government Department administrative assistant, if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 6/14/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1540

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for part-time adjunct teaching positions. The Department may have need of adjuncts to teach a small number of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science and Public Administration. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names, addresses, email addresses and phone numbers of three references. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted. Applications must be received by July 15th.

Successful applicants will be required to submit to a background check as a condition of employment. BGSU is an AA/EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities regardless of age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 6/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1514

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, Americanist/Public Policy

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a one-year visiting position beginning Fall 2016. Rank will be at Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor depending on qualifications. Responsibilities include teaching the introductory public policy course, an upper level course on U.S. Health Policy, and the introductory course in American government.

Teaching experience is preferred. The teaching load is 3/2. Candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, teaching and research statements, teaching evaluation forms and a sample of scholarly writing to apply.interfolio.com/35476. The review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to Prof. Stephen Medvic (smedvic@fandm.edu).

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race or ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, or sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1512

Colgate University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (2 positions in American Politics)

The Department of Political Science at Colgate University invites applications for two appointments in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning fall semester 2017. High scholarly promise and demonstrable excellence in teaching are essential. Candidates are expected to have completed a Ph.D. prior to or shortly after the date of hire. The department seeks candidates whose research and interests center on one or more of the following subjects: elections, public opinion and voting behavior; parties and interest groups; state politics and federalism; bureaucracy and policy implementation; political psychology; urban and local politics; political communication, gender and politics, and environmental politics. Americanists with an interest in comparing the U.S. to other democratic political systems are also invited to apply.

Teaching includes a mix of introductory and upper-level courses to satisfy a five-course annual load. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in all-university programs, including the Liberal Arts Core Curriculum. Applicants must submit a letter of application, current vita, three letters of recommendation, a short writing sample, and evidence of successful teaching via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7283>. Colgate strives to be a community supportive of diverse perspectives and identities. All applications should speak directly to the candidate's ability to work effectively with students across a wide range of identities and backgrounds.

Review of applications will begin on October 3, 2016. Address any additional questions or correspondence to: Professor Michael Hayes, Chair, American Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Colgate University, 13 Oak Drive, Hamilton, NY 13346 (Email address: mhayes@colgate.edu). Applicants with dual-career considerations can find postings of other employment opportunities at Colgate and at other institutions of higher education in upstate New York at www.upstatenyherc.org. Colgate University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer; women and candidates from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1508

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science seeks candidates for a 9-month academic year, tenure-system position in American Government and Politics. Rank is at the level of Assistant Professor. Position begins August 16, 2017. Special consideration will be given to those with research and teaching (graduate and undergraduate) interests in minority politics and, in particular, racial and ethnic politics in the U.S. context. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching ability, and the promise of attracting external funding.

The closing date for applications is October 1, 2016, though later applications may be accepted if the search remains open. You must apply for this position via Michigan State University Applicant Page (MAP), posting number 3464. Please access the MAP system at <https://jobs.msu.edu>. Please submit your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a research statement, one sample of your written work, a teaching statement, and a diversity and inclusion statement, which should discuss your ability and experience working with underrepresented student populations. Please also arrange for at least three reference letters to be submitted.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer, committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce and inclusive culture that encourages all people to reach their full potential. The University actively encourages applicants and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Please contact Ryan Black (rblack@msu.edu), chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 6/1/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1510

American University

Rank: Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Specializations: Electoral Behavior, Presidency, Congress

Position Announcement

Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Department of Government
School of Public Affairs
American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of associate or full professor to serve as the Director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies (CCPS) beginning August 1, 2017. The Director is responsible for developing and facilitating high-profile research projects and creating public programming that draws on the expertise of AU faculty and leading analysts from the Washington, DC community and beyond. The Director should ensure that CCPS contributes to the national dialogue about Congress, the Presidency, campaigns, and elections. The Director must secure external funding to support CCPS work and enhance the School of Public Affairs' prominence as a venue for high impact research and policy analysis.

Since its establishment in 1979, CCPS has facilitated collaborative research projects, organized hundreds of forums and conferences related to American politics, promoted curriculum development, and connected its work to policymakers, journalists, students, and academics who put research findings into practice. The new Director will be expected to continue that legacy and position CCPS to become even more influential.

Applicants should hold a doctoral degree in political science with a focus on American political institutions – Congress or the Presidency – and related subfields including campaigns and elections. We seek to recruit candidates who are theoretically sophisticated, methodologically rigorous, and have demonstrated success in externally funded research, high impact publications, and teaching. Depending on qualifications, the candidate will be hired at the rank of either Associate or Full Professor and will be suitable for tenure at the time of hiring.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35010>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of research interests, statement of vision for CCPS, and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

The Center for Congressional Presidential Studies has organized over 300 conferences and academic forums since its founding. The research focus of the Center has been on Congress and the presidency, U.S. elections and issues and policies facing the two institutions. The Center staff consists of full time and part-time affiliated faculty, graduate students, and an administrative staff member. See website: american.edu/spa/ccps for details on all Center videos, programs and publications. The Center publishes the refereed journal, Congress and the Presidency, since 1984. The Center has successfully solicited funding for its research, educational activities, and student scholarships since its founding and has sponsored over thirty visiting research fellows Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1475

University of West Florida

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate in Elections and Electioneering

The Department of Government at the University of West Florida in Pensacola, FL seeks a Postdoctoral Associate in the field of Elections and Electioneering (124510). The postdoctoral Associate will pursue research, grants, and community partnerships with emphasis on elections, election forecasting and electioneering. They will work with public officials, such as the Supervisor of Elections Office to develop plans for a Florida Center of Elections. Other projects would include work on election modeling and forecasting projects with implications at all levels of government from local, to national and international elections. Research collaboration with departmental faculty who work on election forecasting, Congressional elections, and political party competition in elections is encouraged.

Minimum qualifications: Doctoral degree from an accredited institution or the highest degree appropriate in the field of specialization with a demonstrated record of achievement in teaching, academic research, and service.

In addition to a Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline, the ideal candidate will have specialization in the study of elections and political institutions, election forecasting, or electioneering. Additional qualifications desired would include demonstrated ability in work with quantitative research methods applied to the study of elections, participation in conferences and panels or research groups related to the study of elections, election forecasting, elections and campaigns, or political parties and elections. A demonstrated record of grant-writing would also prove beneficial. Potential for peer-reviewed publications and potential to collaborate with UWF faculty on research projects and grants is desired.

Salary range is $38,000 - $42,000. The posting will close 7/29/16. Application: Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.uwf.edu>. Be prepared to attach your curriculum vitae, letter of applicant/interest, unofficial transcripts, and name/contact information for three references in electronic format.

The University of West Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Access/Affirmative Action employer. Any individual requiring special accommodations to apply is requested to advise UWF by contacting ADA Compliance at 1-850-474-2059 (voice) or 1 850 857 6114 (TTY). A criminal background check is required for successful candidates. E-Verify requirements may apply for employment in certain positions. All applications for employment at the University are subject to Florida public records law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1455

Iowa State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University invites applications for a Full or Part-Time Lecturer position to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses within one or more of the political science subfields: Theory and Methods, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Public Policy Administration. The appointment duration may be one semester to three years depending on department need and it may be Full-Time or Part-Time.

Required Education and Experience: MA or MPA in Political Science or related discipline, or JD. Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities.

Preferred Education and Experience: ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline.

Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities

To apply for this position, please click on "Apply to this job" at <http://www.iastatejobs.com:80/postings/18263> and complete the Employment Application. Please be prepared to enter or attach the following:

- 1) Resume/Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of Application/Cover Letter
- 3) Contact Information for Three References
- 4) Statement of Teaching Interests/Experience
- 5) Statement of Teaching Evaluations- Optional- Please attach as "Other Document(s) 1"

If you have questions regarding this application process, please email employment@iastate.edu or call 515-294-4800 or Toll Free: 1-877-477-7485.

All offers of employment, oral and written, are contingent upon the university's verification of credentials and other information required by federal and state law, ISU policies/procedures, and may include the completion of a background check.

The Department of Political Science has 15 tenure track faculty and a vibrant MA program which serves approximately 32 students and an undergraduate major with approximately 260 majors. Please visit the following site for additional information about the Department at <http://www.pols.iastate.edu/>

Iowa State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, marital status, disability, or protected veteran status, and will not be discriminated against. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1433

Washington & Lee University

Rank: Professor of American Government

American Government

Associate/Assistant Professor

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for a tenure-line position in American Government teaching introductory and advanced courses in American political institutions (Congress, presidency, Supreme Court and constitutional law, political parties, etc.). The successful candidate will also direct our Washington Term program—an annual 6-week course in Washington, DC, during the University's spring (April/May) term—which entails teaching a seminar on-site, arranging relevant speakers, and facilitating field experience for students seeking internships focused on Washington politics and policy-making. Rank is open, but significant experience working in Washington and/or with internships is essential. Initial interviews will be conducted at the APSA annual meeting in Philadelphia, with priority consideration given to candidates interviewed there. Review of applications will begin immediately, but to ensure full consideration please submit complete applications before August 1. A completed Ph.D. is required for an interview. To request an interview, email PoliticsSearch@wlu.edu.

Washington and Lee is a highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,800 undergraduates and 315 law students. All application materials must be submitted electronically to PoliticsSearch@wlu.edu addressed to Lucas Morel, Politics Department Head. Your letter of application should describe why you wish to teach in a liberal arts setting and how your experience equips you to direct a Washington, DC program. Include a curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and research abilities.

Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply. The term of appointment begins July 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1405

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DIRECTOR, AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) seeks a dynamic scholar and leader for the position of Director of African American Studies. Founded more than twenty years ago, African American Studies at UTEP offers a rich mix of programming linking students, faculty, staff and members of the community in the El Paso border region and beyond. This context provides exciting opportunities to explore the intersections of African American and Latina/o experiences and draw on UTEP's important civil rights history.

The Director of African American Studies is a member of the UTEP College of Liberal Arts Chairs' Council and has responsibility for leadership of the academic program and research activities associated with African American Studies. The Director generally teaches one course each semester and could also participate in UTEP PhD programs related to their scholarly and research interests. With staff assistance, the Director serves as an advisor for the UTEP Black Student Union and a mentor for many students enrolled in programs throughout the University. The Director works with the UTEP Black Alumni Network (UBAN) and with community partners to build support for African American Studies and address relevant social issues at UTEP and in the El Paso community. The Director and staff, working in collaboration with UTEP students, affiliated faculty, campus organizations and other University and community officials, sponsor a variety of events and activities throughout the year, including Black History Month programs, and initiate new avenues of engagement and outreach.

Required Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in African American Studies or a related academic disciplinary area, and possess a strong record of scholarship commensurate with an appointment as Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure in an appropriate UTEP academic department or program. Demonstrable experience in serving in an administrative role, engaging in community outreach, and initiating and expanding a new program is highly desirable.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP enrolls more than 23,000 students, close to 80% of whom are Latina/o and a majority of whom are the first in their families to attend a university. Ranked overall among the Top 10 universities in the nation by Washington Monthly and #1 for contributing to student social mobility, UTEP is dedicated to becoming the first national research university with a 21st century student demographic. The African American Studies program is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, which is the largest college at the University. In addition to playing a major role in the delivery of the University Core Curriculum to all UTEP students, the College of Liberal Arts serves approximately 7,000 students with majors in 13 departments and 10 programs, including Women's and Gender Studies, Religious Studies, Chicano Studies, Asian Studies and African American Studies.

Application procedures: To apply, applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, a recent publication related to the field, and names of three references with their complete contact information. Review of applications will begin April 11, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Application materials, in one PDF file, should be emailed to: Dr. Maryse Jayasuriya, Search Committee Chair, at mjayasuriya@utep.edu

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/22/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1377

Tarleton State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science American Politics

The Department of Social Sciences at Tarleton State University is accepting applications for a full-time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor in the field of American Politics with a general specialization in Public Policy and a specific specialization in Environmental Policy beginning September 2016. This position has a normal teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester. The selected applicant will teach general education survey courses in Federal Government and State/Local Government, upper level courses in the area of specialization, and based on departmental needs, will have the opportunity to teach the senior level capstone course in Political Science. The applicant will be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to serve the department and the university as required (see the Tarleton State University Handbook for Faculty and Administrative Staff available at www.tarleton.edu).

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. (ABD status may be considered as long as all degree requirements, including dissertation, defense of dissertation, and comprehensive examinations, have been successfully completed by the time of appointment); Must have specialization in Public Policy – Environmental Policy.

Salary is competitive, within the assistant professor range, concomitant with experience. More information about our department can be found at: <http://www.tarleton.edu/COLFAWEB/socialsciences/index.html>.

Males, age 18 through 25, must be properly registered with the Selective Service System to be eligible for hire. This position is designated as a security sensitive position and requires a satisfactory criminal history background check.

Tarleton State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer. As a member of The Texas A&M System, Tarleton will provide equal opportunity for employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity and will strive to achieve full and equal employment opportunity through The Texas A&M System.

Special Instructions:

Please apply online at <https://jobs.tarleton.edu>. A cover letter, c.v., transcripts (official or unofficial), three letters of recommendation, and a statement of teaching philosophy should accompany your application. If you are not able to attach the documents when applying, please mail the requested documents to:

Tarleton State University
 Dr. Eric Morrow
 Department of Social Sciences
 Box T-0660
 Stephenville, TX 76402

If mailing, please make sure you reference the Posting Number #0801397 and title of this position.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/17/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1367

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science

The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science for the 2016-2017 academic year, with the possibility of renewal for AY 2017-2018. The Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center dedicated to revitalizing teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly understood to include the origins and development of the nation's constitutional and democratic traditions as well as their application and reinterpretation in later periods and around the world. Our mission and activities are detailed on our website, <http://democracy.missouri.edu>.

The Kinder Postdoctoral Fellow will teach two political science courses per year on subjects appropriate to the Institute's mission as well as conduct research, and will be expected to be in residence at the University of Missouri during the academic year, contributing to the life of the Political Science Department and participating in Kinder Institute discussions and events. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research focuses on American constitutional and political development and/or American political thought and who would benefit from collaborating with one or more current MU faculty members. Candidates are encouraged to consult the websites of the Department of Political Science (<http://politicalscience.missouri.edu>) and Kinder Institute for information on current faculty research interests and to contact potential faculty collaborators directly. The Kinder Postdoctoral Fellow will receive a salary of $50,000 plus full benefits and will be provided with office space and staff support. Additional funds for travel and research are available from the Kinder Institute and the university. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Government is required by the time the fellowship begins in August 2016.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, research proposal of no more than 10 pages, curriculum vitae, two emblematic examples of their written scholarly work, sample syllabi for courses they would be interested in teaching, and three letters of recommendation (sealed or under separate cover) to: Thomas Kane, Kinder Institute Communications Associate, University of Missouri, 112 Read Hall, Columbia, MO 65211-7500. Materials also can be sent electronically, using Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship Application in the subject line, to KaneTC@missouri.edu. Specific questions concerning the fellowship should be directed to Justin Dyer, Professor of Political Science and Director of the Kinder Institute, at DyerJB@missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is an EO/AA employer. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. To request ADA accommodations, please contact our ADA Coordinator. Review of applications will begin on March 1, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/26/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1311

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor(s)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for instructors for face-to-face classes on all campuses (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Dublin, and Eastman) for day, evening, and weekend classes to start Fall 2016 or later in the fields of history and political science. We have particular needs for instructors who are interested in teaching one or more of the following courses:

POLS 1101 American Government
 POLS 2501 Domestic Issues
 POLS 2601 Intro to Public Administration

The Macon campus is located just over one hour's drive southeast of Atlanta.

Minimum Qualifications: To qualify for a teaching position, candidates are required to have a minimum of a master's degree in political science or a master's in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in the discipline.

To Apply: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current CV or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of at least two professional references including email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy, preferably combined as an attachment in a single PDF file, to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, assistant department chair, at christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Informal inquiries welcome.

Middle Georgia State University is a Unit of the University System of Georgia, EEO/AA/M/F/V/D.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/5/2016
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 1170

University of San Diego

Rank: Professor of Practice, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a non-tenure track Professor of Practice in public administration and public policy. Candidates must have a Master's degree or PhD in political science, public administration, public policy, or a closely related field, teaching experience at the community college or university level, practical experience in local or state government, and the capacity to integrate theory with practice.

The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in American politics, urban politics, public policy, and/or state and local government. The teaching load is seven courses per academic year, which includes one internship class each semester. In addition, the candidate will supervise our continuously offered Washington, D.C. internship program and run a 1-unit weekend Sacramento seminar each spring semester.

As a Professor of Practice, the successful candidate must have extensive local, state, and/or national political, legal, and business connections, and will supervise the department's dynamic internship program, including the department's Washington DC internship and seminar program. Responsibilities will include developing new internship opportunities, to further enhance our students' professional development.

USD offers a competitive salary and benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference at their earliest convenience. The position will remain open until filled.

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and look for job IRC18893. Applicants must email all relevant materials— except for confidential letters of recommendation— to dickson@sandiego.edu and upload the same materials to the USD Human Resources site. References must submit confidential letters of recommendation separately to: dickson@sandiego.edu.

Please address all correspondence to Dr. Del Dickson, Chair, Search Committee for Professor of Practice, Department of Political Science and International Relations, 5998 Alcala Park, San Diego, CA 92110

USD is a private, independent Catholic liberal arts institution dedicated to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. USD is an Equal Opportunity employer, and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from underrepresented and underserved groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/19/2015
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1028

University of Southern Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs in Hattiesburg, Miss., is accepting applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of American politics (political institutions). Additional strength in public policy/public administration is also desirable. The successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to American Government and assist with the department's research methods sequences. Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. Candidates are expected to provide evidence of potential for excellence in teaching, research and service. The department serves both the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses and includes a strong undergraduate program, MA and MS in political science and a Ph.D. in international development. The successful candidate will develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and contribute broadly to our master's programs as well as conduct scholarly research and provide service to the department, college, university, profession and/or community.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. A full application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations (if available), graduate transcripts, a writing sample and at least three letters of reference. To apply, please see <http://jobs.usm.edu>

The position is contingent on funding.

The department is committed to improving its diversity in terms of race, ethnicity and gender. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities to apply.

For more information, please see the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs website at <http://usm.edu/polisci>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/3/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 949

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor of National Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, American Government and Politics

Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Political Science Department invites applicants for the position of Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) of National Security to begin as early as Fall 2016. Past incumbents have been recognized national security experts who have added perspective and depth to their students' academic experience. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate teaching and an ability to lead upper level political science courses related to topics such as: environmental security, regional security, terrorism, cybersecurity, executive privilege, arms proliferation and arms control. Assisting midshipmen with research, offering seminars and lectures and, inviting guest speakers are among the position's objectives.

The DVP position is for two years commencing in August 2016. It is non-tenure track and non-renewable. The position is administered by the Office of the Academic Dean which provides the DVP with an office and administrative support.

Applications submitted by November 1, 2015 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

For more information about the position and to apply, please go to www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/DVPNationalSec.php

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 776

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

College of William & Mary

Rank: Comparative and/or International Development

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor or Associate Professor level in comparative or international development. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to high-level scholarship, outstanding classroom teaching, and collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level and the master's level in the W&M Public Policy Program.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or related field at the time of appointment (August 10, 2017) and be prepared to teach courses in comparative or international development.

Preferred Qualifications: Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching research methods or comparative public policy, and mentoring successful undergraduate or master's level research projects is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including a statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a writing sample. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 30, 2016. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

The College of William & Mary values diversity and invites applications from underrepresented groups who will enrich the research, teaching and service missions of the university. The College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and encourages applications from women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities. The College conducts background checks on applicants for employment. Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/> and information on the W&M Public Policy Program is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/publicpolicy/>. William & Mary is located in Williamsburg, Virginia, convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1944

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Open Rank (Tenured or Tenure-track)

Cybersecurity and National or International Security Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position (Open Rank) in cybersecurity and national or international security, global affairs, and governance to begin Fall 2017.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline by August 31, 2017. Applicants must have a track record of scholarship, publications, and/or research funding relating to cybersecurity. We are especially interested in candidates who link cybersecurity to broader social, political, economic, and policy questions in the contexts of national and/or international security. The position is part of a cross-disciplinary, campus-wide initiative in the area of cybersecurity. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to collaborate on research and grant applications with faculty in Computer Science, Engineering, and UTSA's highly regarded Cyber Security Program. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Political Science Department's proposed online graduate program in Global Affairs and/or traditional undergraduate or graduate classroom courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. The successful applicant will be expected to teach graduate and undergraduate courses on topics such as Politics and Cyber-Security, New Global Threats, and Global or National Security Policy. Scholars doing cross-disciplinary research in applied cyber security research are encouraged to apply but an applicant's primary field must be Political Science or a closely related discipline. Applicants must demonstrate potential for research publication and a strong potential to attract external funding, and have a strong theoretical grounding in national or international security.

All applicants must provide evidence of scholarly and professional publications commensurate with the rank for which the applicant is applying. All applicants should also provide, if possible, some representative evidence of high-quality teaching – ideally in courses that address cyber security in the context of national or international security, global affairs and governance. Applicants must also be willing to teach a range of courses in international relations or global affairs.

To be considered at the tenure-track Assistant Professor level, successful applicants must be able to articulate a research agenda and have an emerging record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a commitment to service.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor level, successful applicants must have an established research agenda, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their respective fields of specialization and have excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Applicants at the Full or Associate Professor levels should demonstrate an ability to acquire external funding. Preference will also be given to candidates who can teach courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science and international relations/global affairs, and/or in such areas as environmental governance, law and institutions, compliance, and/or transnationalism.

Responsibilities: Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students; pursue an active research and publishing agenda; and serve the University, profession, and community.

All information and materials associated with an application for this position must be sent electronically through <https://jobs.utsa.edu/>. In PDF format, applicants should submit the following items electronically:

1. Letter of application that states the rank for which the candidate is applying, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;

2. Current curriculum vita;
3. Copy of all graduate transcripts;
4. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
5. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
6. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
7. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, it is the policy of The University of Texas at San Antonio to promote and ensure equal employment opportunity for all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or veteran status. The University is committed to the Affirmative Action Program in compliance with all government requirements to ensure nondiscrimination. The UTSA campus is accessible to persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1896

Australian National University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor in Australian Politics and Comparative Public Policy

The School of Politics and International Relations is seeking to make a new continuing academic appointment at levels B-D (Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, or Associate Professor). This position represents a significant future investment in order to build on existing strengths in the School.

We welcome applications from outstanding candidates in Australian politics and public policy. Sub-fields are open but an ability to teach courses on either: Australian Politics, public policy, gender, and methods are desirable. Candidates will be expected to teach introductory courses in political science or public policy.

Successful candidates will have outstanding records of demonstrated excellence in research, publications, and education. As well as teaching, the appointee will be expected to have an active research agenda, supervise honours and PhD students and work collegially with other members of the School.

The standard teaching load is three courses per year, plus work with honours and graduate students.

The School of Politics and International Relations is based in the nation's capital and ranked as the leading international relations department in the country as well as one of the top 10 in the world for political science and international relations.

These positions are based in Canberra.

ANU provides attractive benefits and excellent support to maintain a healthy work/life balance and offers generous remuneration benefits, including four weeks paid vacation per year, assistance with relocation expenses, 17% employer contribution to superannuation and eligibility to apply for 6-month research leave every three years. For more information on working at ANU please visit <http://hr.anu.edu.au/employment-at-anu>

Applications close 14 October 2016.

For more information about these positions including how to apply please go to www.anu.edu.au/jobs

Enquiries: Dr Andrew Banfield, E: Andrew.banfield@anu.edu.au, T 02 6125 2679

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 1938

Georgetown University

Rank: Multiple positions--African American Studies

Seizing this pivotal moment in Georgetown's history, the Department of African American Studies invites applications for at least four open-rank positions, which have an anticipated start date of August 1, 2017. This first set of hires inaugurates a multi-year hiring initiative and is an integral part of Georgetown University's plan to expand African American Studies, and establish a Research Center for Racial Justice. We seek scholars who have an ambitious research agenda, a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, and an earnest desire to help build the newly formed department and participate in other university service. Currently, our strengths lie in African American studies and its intersections with literary studies, sociology, history, and performance studies. Building upon these fields, we seek cross-disciplinary, multi-disciplinary, and trans-disciplinary scholarship that strengthens African American Studies' capacity in psychology, visual studies, philosophy, political science, economics, women's and gender studies, and law and criminology. More specifically, we seek applicants whose research interests engage with one of the following topics:

- Structural and cultural causes of and solutions to black inequality
- Black cultural productions and responses to legacies and impacts of slavery, Jim Crow segregation, and imperialism in US institutions
- How Black intersectionality informs equality and social justice

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in African American Studies or related fields by July 1, 2017. Senior candidates with administrative and departmental leadership interests and experience are especially welcomed. All applicants should specify the rank for which they are applying in the letter of interest.

Applicants without tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), three letters of recommendation, and dissertation abstract (if the candidate is ABD).

Applicants with tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), research statement (current and future projects, or career narrative), and names, telephone numbers, and email addresses for three referees.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants without tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36591>

Applicants with tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36594>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1933

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning July 2017. We are seeking a broadly trained Political Scientist who could teach courses in international relations and political philosophy. A Ph.D. is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 31st, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2016
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 1937

Roanoke College
Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Public Affairs at Roanoke College invites applications for an Assistant Professor position in International Relations/Comparative Politics beginning in August 2017. It is anticipated that the position will be tenure track. The position is full time with a teaching load of three courses per semester.

We seek candidates with broad training in International Relations and who can offer courses in at least three of the following areas: International Organizations/Law, Foreign Policy, Conflict Studies, and Global Civil Society. The successful candidate will also teach Comparative Politics of the Middle East or Comparative Politics of Asia. Preference will be given to candidates who can cover both in alternating years. All faculty members in the Department offer courses in the General Education curriculum, as well as the Department's introductory courses. A Ph.D. with teaching experience is preferred, but an ABD will be considered.

The Public Affairs Department administers majors in Political Science, International Relations, and Criminal Justice. In addition to excellent teaching and collegiality, the Public Affairs Department supports and expects active professional participation and research.

Roanoke College, a nationally ranked Phi Beta Kappa institution is located in the Roanoke Valley of Virginia and is affiliated with the Lutheran Church (ELCA). It is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks diversity among its faculty, staff and students; women and members of under-represented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

Applicants should submit curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations and three letters of recommendation to: Ms. Judith Pinckney, Department of Public Affairs, 119 West Hall, Roanoke College, Salem, VA 24153. Inquiries may be sent to: pinckney@roanoke.edu. Please visit our Departmental website at: <http://www.roanoke.edu/publicaf/> for more information.

Review of applications will begin on October 3 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 8/30/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1929

University of Texas, San Antonio
Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Position
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, International Security

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography
 Position Announcement
 Open Rank (Tenured or Tenure-track)

Global Energy and Environmental Politics

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position (Open Rank) in Global Energy and Environmental Politics to begin Fall 2017.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline. Methodological approaches are open, but the Department is especially interested in attracting outstanding scholars with research and teaching expertise in global energy politics, energy security, the U.S. global energy position, the intersection of energy and environmental issues, and especially the energy-climate change nexus. The position contributes to UTSA's commitment to advancing excellence in research and teaching about the global political implications of contemporary developments in energy and environmental systems. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to collaborate on research and grant applications with researchers working on energy and the environment throughout the university and at the UTSA Texas Sustainable Energy Research Institute. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Political Science Department's proposed online graduate program in Global Affairs and/or traditional undergraduate or graduate classroom courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. Applicants must be willing to develop and teach courses in global energy politics and related areas pertaining to international security, geopolitics, political economy, and environmental governance.

All applicants must provide evidence of scholarly and professional publications commensurate with the rank for which they are applying. All applicants should also provide, if possible, some representative evidence of high-quality teaching - ideally in courses that address energy and environmental issues in the context of global or international security.

To be considered at the tenure-track Assistant Professor level, successful applicants must be able to articulate a research agenda and have an emerging record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a commitment to service.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor level, successful applicants must have an established research agenda, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their fields of specialization, and have a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Applicants at the Full or Associate Professor levels should demonstrate an ability to acquire external funding. Preference will be given to candidates prepared to teach courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science and international relations, and with experience in online course development.

Responsibilities: Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students in the Political Science and Global Affairs degree programs; pursue an active research and publishing agenda; and serve the University, profession, and community.

All information and materials associated with an application for this position must be submitted electronically through <https://jobs.utsa.edu/>. In PDF format, applicants should submit the following items electronically:

1. Letter of application that states the rank for which the candidate is applying, research interests, teaching experience, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. Copy of all graduate transcripts;
4. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
5. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
6. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
7. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the candidate's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, it is the policy of The University of Texas at San Antonio to promote and ensure equal employment opportunity for all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or veteran status. The University is committed to the Affirmative Action Program in compliance with all government requirements to ensure nondiscrimination. The UTSA campus is accessible to persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/31/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1932

Columbia University

Rank: Professor (Open Rank) of Modern and Contemporary Japanese Politics and Foreign Policy

The Columbia University Department of Political Science and the School of International and Public Affairs invite applications for a distinguished scholar at any academic rank, from tenure-track assistant professor to tenured full professor, to fill the Professorship in Modern and Contemporary Japanese Politics and Foreign Policy to begin July 1, 2017. A Ph.D. and the ability to do research in the Japanese language are required. Candidates will be expected to teach and sustain an active research and publication agenda involving public policy issues in contemporary Japanese politics and/or foreign relations. The candidate will be expected to play a leadership role in the Weatherhead East Asian Institute in organizing research and programmatic activities concerning Japanese politics and foreign policy.

Non-tenured applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and at least two brief writing samples. Tenured applicants should submit a curriculum vitae and letter of interest detailing current and future research plans. The Search Committee will begin reviewing applications immediately and the search will remain open until filled. Preference will be given to applications received through October 31, 2016.

To submit an application, please visit our online application site at: academicjobs.columbia.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=63163

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. We are especially interested in qualified candidates whose record of achievement will contribute to the diversity goals of the institution.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1923

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling a Visiting Professor (VP) position beginning June 27, 2017. The appointment will be for either the entire academic year, ending in May of 2018, or one semester. The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire women and men to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to the nation. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field, preferably with an emphasis on American Government, International Relations, or Comparative Politics. The candidate must also be strongly committed to teaching undergraduates and be a full-time "career employee" at a US institution of higher education, an academically-oriented think-tank or an educationally-focused organization. The qualified candidate must agree to return to his/her institution in a full-time status following a VP year at the Air Force Academy. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Air Force Academy will reimburse the VP's home academic institution for the visiting professor's salary and benefits during his or her time at the Academy, and moving expenses will be provided. To apply, send a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, and three references (ensure addresses and telephone numbers are provided) from individuals familiar with your professional work to: HQ USAFA/DFPS (Attn: Dr. David Sacko), 2354 Fairchild Drive, Room 6K-160, US Air Force Academy CO 80840-6258. Application packages may also be emailed to David.Sacko@usafa.edu. Applications received by September 21, 2016 will receive primary consideration. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. U.S. citizenship required.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1919

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of International Affairs at the University of Georgia invites applications for an Assistant Professor position in the field of comparative politics, to begin in the fall semester of 2017. Candidates are expected to have demonstrated an ability to produce high quality research and show promise of external funding. We seek a scholar who specializes in the connections between politics and the environment broadly understood such as the impact of environmental conditions on political development, security, or migration and/or someone who explores the politics of climate change from a comparative perspective.

Minimum qualifications: Completion or near completion of Ph.D. degree in political science required. For ABD applicants, the degree must be completed by August 1, 2018

Prospective candidates should send a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation in electronic form to the UGA Faculty Job site at <http://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/1122>. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 309, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applications received by September 30, 2016 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life both outdoor and urban activities (www.georgia.gov). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1922

Winthrop University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, South Asia

WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences

Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

TITLE: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, Open Field

The Department of Political Science is seeking engaging teachers and active scholars to join our diverse scholarly community by applying for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position. The department welcomes applications in all subfields; however, we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: Comparative Politics (Middle East, Asia), Public Administration, Public Law, and/or American Institutions. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement to join our distinguished department. Considered one of the strongest departments in the University, the Winthrop Political Science department boasts award-winning faculty who are recognized for the quality of their teaching and research alike. The department is also home to a long-standing Model UN program, which just celebrated its 40th anniversary; the Social & Behavioral Research Laboratory, which is home to the renowned Winthrop Poll; and the John C. West Forum on Politics and Policy, a major civic engagement initiative at the University. The department also collaborates with the Master of Liberal Arts program to provide a graduate Concentration in Political and Civic Engagement.

Major Responsibilities:

- Teach a variety of courses in Political Science. Our areas of need include: Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, Politics of Asia, Public Administration, The Judiciary, Constitutional Law: Federalism, and Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Congress, The Presidency, Public Policy, Women and US Politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and/or expertise in Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, and/or Politics of Asia
- Teach both introductory and advanced courses in your areas of specialization, including graduate courses in our Political and Civic Engagement Concentration within the Master of Liberal Arts Program
- Teach a team-taught senior capstone course in Political Science
- Ability to teach research methods or experience in public opinion polling a plus
- Teach courses in Winthrop University's innovative General Education Program, including American Government, which fulfills the Constitution Requirement
- Participate in departmental, college, and university service, including student advising
- Undertake research in the discipline and promote undergraduate research
- Be an interested and energetic participant in an active department
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- The Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field is required for appointment at the assistant professor level. A successful candidate who is ABD at the time of employment will be appointed to a non-tenure track position as an instructor. The successful candidate will also be required to undergo a background check prior to hiring.
- Specialization in areas among those listed above.
- Evidence of excellence in the area of Student Intellectual Development, including teaching excellence and commitment to student learning.
- Evidence in the area of Scholarly Activity, including an ongoing program of research and publication.
- Evidence in the area of Professional Stewardship, including engagement with the discipline, profession, campus, and community
- Preference is given to candidates with experience teaching the courses listed above.

Employment Conditions: A 9-month full-time tenure-track appointment with option of summer employment if funds are available. Salary is dependent upon qualifications. Pending final budgetary approval.

Position Availability: August 16, 2017

Application Deadline: Friday, November 11, 2016. Application materials received after the deadline date may be considered if an acceptable candidate has not been found.

Application Procedures:

- Applications should consist of:
 - letter of application, including a statement of “teaching philosophy,”
 - curriculum vitae,
 - sample of representative written work (article- or chapter- length),
 - evidence of excellence and commitment to student learning,
 - three professional letters of reference,
 - all graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are acceptable for initial review; official transcripts are required prior to final appointment).
- If you are attending the Annual Meeting of The American Political Science Association (APSA) in Philadelphia from September 1-4, please email Department Chair Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney (disneyj@winthrop.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service.

- Applications may be submitted electronically to the following address:

PLSCJobs@winthrop.edu
 Search Committee Chair
 Department of Political Science
 346 Bancroft Hall
 Winthrop University
 Rock Hill, SC 29733
 (803) 323-2209

Winthrop University is a public, comprehensive university located in Rock Hill, SC, 30 minutes south of Charlotte, NC, that is among the very best institutions of our kind in the nation. Through an educational experience that blends liberal arts, professional programs, global awareness, and civic engagement, Winthrop University helps students develop the knowledge, skills, and values that will enrich their lives forever and prepare them for all that the future holds. Winthrop University has 5,000 undergraduate students and 1,000 graduate students. We have a diverse student population, which is 69% women and 36% students of color, and we have a 14 to 1 student/faculty ratio. For more information, visit us at www.winthrop.edu.

Winthrop University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group of individuals on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 8/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1917

Lund University

Rank: Postdoctoral research position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Quantitative Methods

The postdoctoral position is part of the research project “Explaining radicalization and political violence”, a four-year interdisciplinary collaboration among researchers from the Department of Political Science at Lund University and the Departments of Psychology at Lund and Gothenburg University. The project is funded by The Marianne and Marcus Wallenberg foundation with Professor Hanna Bäck as project leader. The project aims to study the psychological mechanisms that lead an individual to become radicalized and/or to use political violence, and investigates such mechanisms by the cross-fertilization of political science and psychology. One of the project hypotheses focuses on the causal relationship between social exclusion or rejection and the likelihood of radicalization. The project applies a multitude of methodological approaches, and is for example based on experimental and survey studies, in addition to analyses of online material/social media.

The post-doctoral fellow will be expected to carry out research that contributes to the fulfilment of the project’s overall research objectives. However, the fellow will also conduct independent research and will be free to develop his or her own theoretical ideas, and choose the methods that he or she finds most appropriate. The position is full-time and fixed-term for two years, and the holder of this post will be expected to conduct research (about 80 %) and to teach (about 20 %). In order to allow the research group to function as a team, the post-doctoral fellow will be expected to have the Department of Political Science in Lund as their main place of work.

Eligibility for employment as a postdoctoral researcher is restricted to applicants with a PhD degree in a relevant subject. Priority is given to applicants who have completed their PhD less than three years prior to the deadline for applying to the post. The three-year limit can be extended in cases of parental leave, sickness leave or similar circumstances occurring after the PhD defense. Applicants who have yet to complete their PhDs are welcome to apply but should demonstrate that they will receive their PhD degree before 1 January 2017.

We seek candidates with a PhD in Political Science or related discipline (e.g. Psychology), and competence within the areas of political behavior broadly defined, or political psychology. We are particularly interested in candidates with a background in quantitative or experimental methods. Research skills and academic promise will be the main selection criteria, but teaching skills will also be considered. Proficiency in spoken and written English and the ability to teach in English is a requirement. The ability to conduct research independently and the ability to participate in international research collaboration are very important considerations.

The Lund University job application portal should be used when applying.

For further information, see: <https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what:job/jobID:111445/>

Your application must contain:

- * a cover letter (describing why you are interested in the position and what makes you suitable for it),
- * a CV (which includes information on degrees, completed courses, work experience, and publications),
- * a copy of your Ph.D. diploma (or a document describing when you will finish your Ph.D.),
- * two article-length writing samples (approximately 10000 words), and
- * two letters of recommendation.

For further information on the position, please contact:

Professor Hanna Bäck
 +46 46 222 01 61

Hanna.Back@svet.lu.se

<http://www.svet.lu.se/en/hanna-back>

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1907

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics or International Relations

Political Science: Assistant Professor in the area of comparative politics or international relations focusing on the politics of the Middle East for an appointment as a tenure track Assistant Professor. The position will begin in the 2017-2018 academic year.

Searching for a colleague with teaching and research focusing on the politics of the Middle East who will develop a record of excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching, conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship, provide institutional and professional service, and contribute to the undergraduate and MA program. The successful candidate will be an expert who studies some combination of the following in a Middle Eastern setting: governance, gender politics, human rights, conflict and conflict resolution (domestic and/or international), identity politics, trade and development, energy, water, agricultural, and natural resource issues, and/or environmental problems. The successful candidate will teach introductory and advanced courses at the undergraduate and graduate level in the area of expertise, including an upper-level course on Middle Eastern politics.

Required: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, samples of scholarly writing, statement of research plans, teaching philosophy, graduate transcript and evidence of teaching effectiveness to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=3238>.

For inquiries about posting, contact Dr. Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu.

Screening of applications will begin September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University is committed to equal opportunity, affirmative action, and eliminating discrimination and harassment. Miami University does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, military status, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or protected veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, programs or employment practices. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities related to employment should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or 513-529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1902

Northern Illinois University

Rank: Open Rank

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

International Relations/Comparative Politics/Southeast Asian Studies

The Department of Political Science and the Center for Southeast Asian Studies at Northern Illinois University (NIU) anticipate hiring a tenure-track position in comparative politics (CP) or international relations (IR), open to all ranks, beginning August 16, 2017. The successful candidate will teach classes and conduct research, in either CP or IR, with a regional focus on Southeast Asia. If the candidate's first field of study is CP it is preferred that their second field of study be IR. Although the search is open to country experts from anywhere in the region special preference will be given to candidates who have studied either Burma or Thailand. Additionally, preference will be given to candidates who can teach quantitative and/or qualitative methods courses at the graduate level.

Evidence of excellence in teaching and the strong likelihood of a sustained publication record are expected. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment is required. The Department of Political Science offers B.A., B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. For more information about the Department, please visit <http://polisci.niu.edu/> and for more information about the Center for Southeast Asian Studies, please visit <http://www.niu.edu/cseas/>. NIU is located in DeKalb, Illinois a welcoming and rapidly growing city 65 miles west of downtown Chicago. It has an enrollment of approximately 20,000 students, including a graduate student body of over 4,800.

Applicants at the junior level must send a letter of application, curriculum vita, three letters of recommendation, appropriate transcripts, writing samples, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants at the senior level must send a letter of application, a curriculum vita, and a list of three references. All materials should be sent via email to polsSEAssearch2016@niu.edu. Specific questions about the position may be directed to Scot Schraufnagel the chair of the department of political science at sschrauf@niu.edu. File completion issues should be directed to April Davis at adavis1@niu.edu.

A pre-employment criminal background investigation is required. Northern Illinois University is an AA/EEO institution and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Review of completed applications will begin on October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1912

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenure track/tenured faculty position in Comparative Politics with a preference for scholars whose work focuses on South Asia or Southeast Asia. The position will begin July 1, 2017; Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire. The successful hire will be based in the Keough School of Global Affairs, with a possible joint appointment in the Department of Political Science.

This position is part of the founding of the first new school at Notre Dame in nearly a century. The Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu/>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a master's degree, and supports undergraduate and doctoral programs.

Candidates at the junior level should submit a letter of interest, a CV and a writing sample, and should arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference through Interfolio. Candidates for a senior position are asked to submit a letter of interest and a CV.

Application materials should be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36961>.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Ted Beatty
Chair, Comparative Politics Search Committee and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
ebeatty@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Notre Dame seeks to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality faculty, staff and administration. The University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to building a culturally diverse workplace. We strongly encourage applications from female and minority candidates and those candidates attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Moreover, Notre Dame prohibits discrimination against veterans or disabled qualified individuals, and requires affirmative action by covered contractors to employ and advance veterans and qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with 41 CFR 60-741.5(a) and 41 CFR 60-300.5(a).

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and significant others with their job search. The University is also a member of the Greater Chicago Midwest Higher Education Recruitment Consortium

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at <http://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/university-policies/background-check-procedure-for-prospective-faculty/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1903

City College of New York - CUNY

Rank: Comparative / International Relations
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, China

The Department of Political Science in the Colin L. Powell School at the City College of New York - CUNY invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics and International Relations, beginning fall 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in the Middle East, although we will also consider specialists in South Asia, East Asia, or China. Applicants must be committed to an active program of research and publication and will have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the start date. We will review applications starting October 15, 2016.

Interested applicants should email the following materials to jwilliams@ccny.cuny.edu with the subject line "Comparative/IR Search:" (1) a cover letter describing your academic background and teaching interests and experience, (2) a CV; (3) one writing sample of no more than 40 pages, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate transcript, if you graduated less than two years ago. You must also upload your CV and cover letter to the CUNY website at: <http://www.cuny.edu/employment.html>. Follow the link to "Browse Job Openings," and filter by City College.

CCNY is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. We encourage applications from historically under-represented groups as well as individuals who have experience with diverse student populations. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1897

Cornell University

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor

The Department of Government at Cornell University welcomes applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Comparative Politics at the rank of assistant professor. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization. A PhD is required no later than July 1, 2017.

Applicants should apply online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7719>. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, and three letters of recommendation, as well as teaching evaluations and materials if available. We will begin to review applications starting September 15, 2016, and will continue until the search is complete. Diversity and inclusion have been and continue to be a part of our heritage. The Department of Government, and the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell embrace diversity and seek candidates who will create a climate that attracts students and faculty of all races, nationalities and genders. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply. Cornell University is a recognized EEO/AA employer and educator.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1886

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Studies and Politics
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: Middle East, Developing Nations, Conflict Processes

The Department of Global Studies and Modern Languages at Drexel University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Middle Eastern politics, beginning September 1, 2017. Positions are subject to final budgetary approval. The Department will consider applications at the Assistant Professor rank. Global Studies is a new, interdisciplinary department at Drexel University, building on existing strength in International Area Studies. This position will include a joint appointment with Drexel's Department of Politics, and teaching may be cross-listed with that department. Founded in 1891, Drexel University is a dynamic, comprehensive, co-op university located within walking distance of Center City Philadelphia.

We seek candidates who specialize in Middle Eastern politics, either from a Comparative or IR perspective. A background in peace studies and/or conflict resolution is a plus, although not required. Successful candidates will also be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to contribute to the Department's undergraduate curricula. This will include teaching and mentoring our outstanding undergraduate students, all of whom have foreign language proficiency and a broad, global outlook. We have a growing Arabic-language program and offer study abroad programs and co-op opportunities in conflict resolution and civic engagement.

All requirements for the PhD must be completed by September 1, 2017.

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three samples of your scholarly writing; and 4) three letters of reference. Only applications submitted via Drexel's online system will be considered.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016 and continue until filled. Questions should be addressed to: Prof. Joel E. Oestreich, <jeo25@drexel.edu>.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, welcomes individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, and believes that an inclusive and respectful environment enriches the University community and the educational and employment experience of its members. The University prohibits discrimination against individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, status as a veteran or special disabled veteran, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions and any other prohibited characteristic. Please visit our website to view all University Policies and Workplace Postings.

Background investigations are required for all new hires as a condition of employment, after the job offer is made. Employment will be contingent upon the University's acceptance of the results of the background investigation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/25/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1894

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Assistant Professor Transnational Feminism
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Women & Politics, Conflict Processes, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

Assistant Professor – Transnational Feminism

The Department of Political Science and the Women's and Gender Studies Program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln seek a tenure-track Assistant Professor with expertise in transnational feminism to begin August 2017. Applicants would hold a joint appointment with 0.40 FTE in Women's and Gender Studies and 0.60 FTE and tenure home in the Department of Political Science. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, a record of achievement in scholarship, research focus in feminism, conflict and human rights; human security; feminist international relations; political behavior and gender; and gender and public policy, or related areas, ability to teach Sex and Gender Around the Globe in Women and Gender Studies program and have the ability to lead WGS research emphasis in Transnational Feminism. Responsibilities include maintaining an active program of research and contributing to the teaching and engagement missions of both units. The Women's and Gender Studies Program and the Department of Political Science have a strong commitment to principles of diversity and actively encourage applications from groups underrepresented in higher education. Review of applications will begin October 2, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. To be considered for the position, please go to <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition F_160174, and click on "Apply to this job." Candidates should attach a cover letter expressing interest in the position, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a list of up to five relevant publications, and contact information for three references. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers. See <http://www.unl.edu/equity/notice-nondiscrimination>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/2/2016

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1885

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy
Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Health Care, Lesbian & Gay Studies

The University of Virginia Arts & Sciences Women Gender & Sexual-ity Program invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position. We seek candidates dedicated to our mission and passionate about teaching in a world class institution.

Candidates are sought who teach and conduct research in the general area of LGBTQ Studies. Field of specialization within LGBTQ Studies is open, but candidates in any area of LGBTQ health, especially those who work from a global perspective and/or in relation to race and ethnicity are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates from other areas of the humanities and social sciences are also welcome.

In addition to developing external funding to support research endeavors, candidates will be expected to teach and provide service to the University, WGS Program, and professional organizations.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2017, with an anticipated start date of July 25, 2017. Applicants must be on track to receive a Ph.D. in the relevant field by June 2017 and must hold a Ph.D. at the time of appointment.

To apply candidates must submit a Candidate Profile through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>), search on posting number 0619405 and electronically attach the following: a cover letter of interest describing research agenda and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a sample article- or chapter-length scholarship (Attach to Writing Sample 1) and contact information for three references. In addition, please have reference letter writers email letters directly to wgsuva@virginia.edu

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVa should be directed to: WGS Program, wgsuva@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment. The University of Virginia assists UVA faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more about these services, please see <http://provost.virginia.edu/dual-career>.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1888

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies Academy Scholars Program, 2017-2018

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences (including history and law) with a command of the language, history, or culture of non-Western countries or regions. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in non-Western cultures or regions shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Those still pursuing a PhD should have completed their routine training and be well along in the writing of their theses before applying to become Academy Scholars; those in possession of a PhD longer than 3 years at the time of application are ineligible.

Academy Scholars are appointed for 2 years by the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies and are provided time, guidance, and access to Harvard University facilities. They receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire accessory training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of senior Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $67,000, and predoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until they are awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the 2017-2018 class of Academy Scholars is due by October 1, 2016. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 6, 2016. Notification of Scholarships will be made in late December, 2016. For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <http://www.academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 1867

Instituto Tecnológico Autonomo de Mexico (ITAM)

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Economy, Regulatory Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Instituto Tecnológico Autonomo de Mexico (ITAM) invites applicants for a position at the assistant professor level in the Political Science Department, commencing in August 2017. This is an open field position with preference for candidates in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political-Economy, Methods (formal and quantitative), and Political Theory (contemporary political theory along with Comparative Politics or Social Choice). Candidates should preferably have a focus on regulatory politics, or policy evaluation.

ITAM is an academic institution committed to scientific excellence and oriented to the international academic community. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to research and should possess a Ph.D. in political science, but ABDs will be considered if there is a reasonable expectation of completion by December 2016. Classes can be taught in Spanish or English. Salary and teaching loads are in accordance to U.S. standards. Candidates can interview at the 2016 APSA Meeting in Philadelphia.

Information about the Department can be found at: <http://departamentodecienciapolitica.itam.mx/es>

CONTACT: Prof. Vidal Romero, Political Science Department, ITAM, Rio Hondo # 1, Mexico City, D.F. 01800, Mexico; email: vromero@itam.mx.

Application Instructions: Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research papers, research statement (2 page limit), and three letters of reference in pdf format to marta.cebollada@itam.mx by November 1, 2016.

For more information, phone: +52(55)5628-4000, x.3788.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1866

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in public policy to begin July 1, 2017.

Applicants should be new or recent PhD graduates with an outstanding record in a PhD program in political science, public policy or economics. The successful candidate will have a background broadly in the field of public policy. Examples include political scientists within the fields of American, comparative or international politics with focuses on: institutions; the politics of policy design; policy implementation. GPS has a special interest in candidates who can provide leadership in our public policy (MPP) program. Applicants must have a PhD conferred or to be completed by July 1, 2017.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including referee information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01172>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1869

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Assistant Professor- Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Environmental Policy

POSITION SUMMARY AND QUALIFICATIONS

This position is a junior-level tenure eligible faculty position in the area of human security to support undergraduate programs in Political Science. The faculty member will have demonstrated experience working and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

POSITION RESPONSIBILITIES

RESEARCH

The faculty member will be central to the political science department's commitment to developing a program in human security. We are looking for researchers who study issues related to organized crime, state violence, refugees/migration, environmental politics, climate change, natural disasters, chronic poverty, and transnational social movements. This can include scholars who focus on domestic linkages to human security issues.

TEACHING

This position in human security contributes to the political science department's curriculum through teaching undergraduate courses such as: human security, human rights, environmental politics, public policy, women in global politics, issues in world politics, and politics of race, class and gender, and future courses related to the above list of human security topics. Strong preference will be given to candidates who will teach our capstone senior seminar and/or research methods.

SERVICE

The faculty member will serve on departmental, College, and/or University committees as necessary, as well as in a professional capacity in their field, e.g., reviewer, conference organizer, etc.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

- PhD in political science at the time of employment
- Demonstrated expertise and potential for publication in the faculty area of research
- Demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU

Pending approval from the dean.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1877

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Position Summary and Qualifications

This position is a term faculty position in the areas of non-profit and civil society studies, public policy, nongovernmental organizations, and/or development. A regional concentration is preferred. The faculty member should have an established record of excellence in teaching. The faculty member will have demonstrated experience working and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

Position Responsibilities

1. Teaching. This position entails a 4/4 teaching load in support of the Nonprofit Organization and Management minor and the Public Policy and Administration concentration as well as the general Political Science curriculum.
2. Service. The faculty member will serve on departmental, College, and/or University committees as necessary, as well as in a professional capacity in their field, e.g., reviewer, conference organizer.

Required Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science or Public Policy, or a closely related discipline at time of employment.
- Demonstrated expertise in teaching at the undergraduate level.
- Demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

Pending approval from the dean.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1878

American University-SIS

Rank: Five Tenure-Track Positions (1=Senior Position)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Developing Nations, Economic Policy

Position Announcement: Five Tenure-Line Faculty Positions
School of International Service
American University

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for five full-time, tenure-line positions to begin August 1, 2017. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. or the highest equivalent degree in a relevant discipline by August 2017.

As a school that includes a diversity of scholarly disciplines and approaches, we seek the best candidates without respect to a particular discipline. We seek scholar-teachers whose work is theoretically grounded, empirically tested, and policy relevant. Candidates should demonstrate excellence in research and teaching and a commitment to school and university service. Candidates should also share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled, except for the Development Studies position, for which review of applications will begin November 1, 2016. For more information about each position and to apply, follow the links below.

*Development Studies (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36539>

*Emerging Powers (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36554>

*Human Security (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36550>

*Race and Global Studies (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36547>

*Transnational/International Security (One Associate Professor or Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36555>

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

Established in 1957, American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs located in Washington, D.C. SIS faculty produce transformational research and prepare our students for global careers in government, nonprofits, and business. SIS's prime location provides opportunities for research, professional training, public service, and internships in the nation's capital and around the world.

Housed in a beautiful LEED-Gold certified building which reflects our commitment to sustainability and ecological stewardship, SIS is a diverse and inclusive community of 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. Our offerings feature a comprehensive liberal arts program for undergraduates, professional education in international affairs for Master's students, and a multidisciplinary program for Doctoral students. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1843

Educational Testing Service

Rank: Assessment Specialist I in Government and Politics

Educational Testing Service in Princeton, NJ, is seeking an entry-level Assessment Specialist I in Government and Politics (position #199063).

BASIC FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Develop tests in Government and Politics.

Write, review, and revise test questions and evaluate item acceptability after testing.

Assemble tests to meet specifications.

Recruit, train, mentor, and manage outside item writers. Develop item writer training materials and facilitate item writer training meetings.

Collaborate with committees of experts in Government and Politics and other related fields (including recommending committee members and facilitating meetings).

Participate in constructed-response scoring activities.

Review and revise program publications and interpretive test preparation materials; participate in teacher training activities.

EDUCATION

A Master's degree in Government and Politics or a related area is required.

EXPERIENCE

Three years of increasingly responsible professional experience, including experience in educational measurement, applied statistics, and/or teaching in government and politics and related areas. Experience in educational assessment and independent classroom teaching are highly desirable, but not required.

Comprehensive knowledge of Government and Politics in order to develop tests in subject area and to serve as resource person for peers, committees, and clients is also required.

For more information and to apply for the position, please use the following link:

<http://ets.pereless.com/careers/index.cfm?fuseaction=83080.viewjobdetail&CID=83080&JID=199063&type=True&cfend>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1854

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (Conflict Resolution)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in any field of political science, with a research and teaching profile that will contribute to the department's highly successful Master of Arts Program in Conflict Resolution. The Conflict Resolution Program offers an innovative and rigorous curriculum encompassing the core skills and multidisciplinary knowledge needed to pursue diverse careers, both in the U.S. and abroad, related to conflict management and conflict resolution. Applicants should have the ability to field core courses in conflict resolution theory and research methodology. The department also has a particular interest in applicants whose research and teaching speak to conflict processes and their relationship to race/ethnicity, gender, youth, development, or media. A Ph.D. in political science in hand by the time of appointment is required, as is evidence of excellence, or potential for excellence, in research and publication. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The department values new perspectives on the world and is deeply committed to building a more open discipline that seeks excellence wherever it may lie. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7687>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, and three letters of recommendation. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Desha Girod (desha.girod@georgetown.edu). For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before September 20, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1862

Northwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Methodology (Tenure-track)

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the field of political methodology at the rank of assistant professor. The department seeks candidates who connect cutting-edge quantitative methodological issues to substantive debates in political science, particularly in domains related to comparative politics or international relations, and whose research trajectories connect with "big data" methods including machine learning, nonparametric statistics, and text as data methods. The successful applicant will teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses. Applications received by October 15, 2016, will be guaranteed full consideration. Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States. The proposed starting date is September 17, 2017. Applicants should provide a curriculum vitae, writing samples, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate transcripts, and contact information for three references. Applications and supporting documents will be accepted only by online submission at www.polisci.northwestern.edu. *For questions and assistance, please contact Jill Decremet at j-rubin4@northwestern.edu.

*The online portal for accepting applications will be open in early September. Once it is available, the link will be posted.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1858

SUNY, Cortland

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, International Security, Post Communist Europe

Start Date: Fall 2017; Salary: Competitive

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Specialization: European Politics, International Relations

The Department Political Science at the State University of New York College at Cortland in Cortland, NY, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position with duties to begin Fall 2017. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment (or ABD with designated date of completion) is required. The Department seeks a person able to teach comparative politics covering Western, Central, Eastern Europe, Russia, and the European Union. Expertise in international relations also. Responsibilities include teaching introductory courses, including Introduction to World Politics, Foundations of Democracy, and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum according to the instructor's expertise.

Course load is three courses per semester. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of international experiential activities (e.g. coordination of Model EU simulation activity, study abroad, internships). SUNY Cortland is an AA/EEO/ADA employer. The College actively seeks applications from women, veterans, individuals with a disability, members of underrepresented groups or anyone that would enrich the diversity of the College. We have a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and have interdisciplinary degree programs in the areas of Multicultural Studies.

Applications should include: a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests; a curriculum vita; the names of three references (with letters to be supplied on request); evidence of teaching effectiveness including sample syllabi if available; academic transcripts from most recent degree; and a publication or writing sample. Applications will be accepted and reviewed on a rolling basis until the position is filled. Final hiring is subject to final budgetary authorization.

SUNY Cortland is a predominantly undergraduate state college located in upstate New York with a total student population of over 7200. The Political Science Department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, but is one of the most active and visible in the college. The department has about 110 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, along with several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in political science, concentration in Law and Justice, and B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Applicants must apply online at: <http://www2.cortland.edu/offices/hr/jobs/> For more information, contact Department Chair, Political Science Department, SUNY Cortland, Box 2000, Cortland, NY 13045.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1852

Williams College

Rank: Open Rank - Political Science/Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Development, History & Politics

The Department of Political Science and the Program in Leadership Studies invite applications for a joint, open-rank position beginning in 2017-2018. The Program in Leadership Studies is an interdisciplinary program focused on the phenomenon of leadership within a wide variety of social, cultural, and historical contexts. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses related to theories and facets of leadership as well as other areas of expertise. Particular areas of interest include but are not limited to: activism and social movements, political history and development, religion, gender, political decision-making, and political thought and culture.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. in hand by September 2017. Please upload a letter detailing current research interests and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample (one article, book chapter, or conference paper), evidence of teaching success, and three letters of recommendation to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/36741. We will begin review of applications on September 15; any application received by October 1 will receive full consideration. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field, and applicants are encouraged to state in their cover letter how they will enhance the diversity of offerings and educational experiences if hired. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>.

Williams College is a coeducational liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Interested candidates may contact the chairs of the respective units, James McAllister (jmcallis@williams.edu) and Justin Crowe (jec3@williams.edu), with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1853

University of Miami

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor of Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure-line position in the field of comparative politics at the junior or senior level. The position is open as to regional and substantive specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who have significant research experience in one or more countries outside of the United States. In the letter of interest, please include a description of such experience, including field research, language proficiencies, etc. Candidates for assistant professor should show promise of high-quality research in top scholarly outlets as well as outstanding teaching, and candidates for a tenured position should show evidence of a national reputation in their research area. The expected teaching load is 2-2, and the position will involve teaching in the field of comparative politics, including an introductory course. Fifty percent of teaching responsibilities will involve undergraduate and graduate instruction within the core curriculum in international studies. All application packages can be e-mailed to cpsearch@miami.edu. Junior scholars applying for the rank of assistant professor should submit a pdf file that includes a cv, a letter of interest, teaching evaluations if available, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a single-authored writing sample. The candidate should arrange for three reference letters to be sent directly to the department at cpsearch@miami.edu. Senior scholars applying for the rank of associate or full professor should email a cv, a letter of interest, and a list of three references to cpsearch@miami.edu. Applications received on or before Monday, October 5, 2016, will be given full consideration. Inquiries about the position can be emailed to cpsearch@miami.edu or to the Chair of the Search Committee, Professor Merike Blofield, at m.blofield@miami.edu. The University of Miami is an Equal Opportunity Employer—Females/Minorities/Protected Veterans/Individuals with Disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants and employees are protected from discrimination based on certain categories protected by Federal law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1839

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications in any field for multiple appointments at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2017. Applicants should demonstrate strong skills in analytic reasoning, broadly defined, which may include one or more of the following: formal theory, analytic political philosophy, modelling, and quantitative methods. Successful candidates must hold, or expect to soon complete, a PhD.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Preferred candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information about this statement is at: <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html>). All materials should be submitted via UCSD AP Online RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JP01163>) for position: Assistant Professor, Political Science.

Review of applications will begin September 18, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1821

Bard College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics-East Asia, Full-time, Tenure-track

Specializations: East Asia, International Political Economy, Quantitative Methods

The Political Studies program at Bard College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in comparative politics-East Asia at the assistant professor level. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introduction to comparative politics, East Asian politics, and courses that place East Asia in a global context and that contribute to inter-disciplinary programs in the curriculum, such as Asian Studies, Human Rights, and Global and International Studies. The ideal candidate will also be able to teach quantitative research methods. Candidates are expected to complete all the requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2017.

To apply, please send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample not to exceed 35 pages, a description of proposed coursework, evidence of teaching excellence such as student evaluations (if available), and three letters of recommendation via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/35634>

For consideration, all materials must be submitted by September 15, 2016.

For more information about the Political Studies program at Bard College, visit <http://politicalstudies.bard.edu/> or contact Omar Encarnacion at encarna@bard.edu.

Bard College is an equal opportunity employer and is especially interested in candidates who intend to contribute to the diversity goals of the institution.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1809

Humboldt State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Politics

Faculty Tenure-Track Position Starting August 2017

Department of Politics

Job #7705

DESCRIPTION: Humboldt State University's Department of Politics invites applications for an academic year, tenure-track faculty position. We seek a broadly trained teacher/scholar of global politics.

PROFESSIONAL DUTIES: Candidates should be committed to teaching excellence and to building a strong research record. Teaching assignments are expected to include an upper-division undergraduate course in global governance and introductory courses in international relations and comparative politics. We also anticipate that candidates will teach some combination of upper-division courses on the following topics: ethnicity and nationalism, international law, political economy, foreign policy, or courses focused on a world region. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to develop courses within their area of expertise. Instructional assignments will be consistent with the programmatic needs of the department and students. Candidates with interdisciplinary interests are encouraged and there is opportunity to engage with the International Studies program and other interdisciplinary programs on campus.

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching; research, scholarship, and creative activity; and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions. Probationary faculty are typically provided ongoing mentorship to be a successful member of the faculty. During the first year of the probationary period, teaching responsibilities will be reduced by approximately one course each semester (6 weighted teaching units per academic year). The reduced teaching load supports the establishment of research, scholarship and/or creative activities required for retention, tenure and promotion.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS: An earned Ph.D. or equivalent in Political Science or related field from an accredited college or university is preferred at the time of appointment. Applicants with substantial progress towards terminal degree completion by appointment date will be considered. Completion of terminal degree is required prior to the start of the second probationary year following initial appointment.

The successful candidate must demonstrate the following:

- * Evidence of, or potential for, teaching effectiveness, scholarly productivity, and expertise in global politics;
- * Commitment to and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds;
- * Record of, or potential for, involving students in research and scholarly activity;
- * Potential for effective teaching or teaching experience using a variety of methodologies;
- * Interest and ability to teach a broad range of courses (major, general education, etc.); and
- * Willingness to participate in the development of online learning experiences.

At the time of appointment, the successful candidate, if not a U.S. citizen, must have authorization from the Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services to work in the United States. For information on the University policy on support for non-immigrant probationary faculty visa acquisition, please visit: http://www.humboldt.edu/aavp/sites/default/files/04-03%20Admin%20Memo%20Approved%20Policy%20-%20H-1b%20Process_4_4_13.pdf.

Evidence of degree(s) is required at time of hire.

GENERAL INFORMATION: The Department of Politics offers majors distinctive concentrations in "Law and Policy," "Politics of Environment and Sustainability," and "Global Politics." We are strongly committed to student-centered education, diversity, and inclusion. For more information, please visit: www.humboldt.edu/politics.

RANK, SALARY AND BENEFITS: We seek to fill this position at the Assistant Professor rank; however, rank and salary are dependent on the appointee's qualifications and experience. The current California State University Salary Schedule is available at: <http://www.humboldt.edu/aps/docs/salary/Salary-Schedule.pdf>.

Humboldt State University provides an excellent benefits package for faculty. Information about benefits plans can be found at: <http://www.humboldt.edu/forms/node/934>.

APPLICATION: Qualified candidates should submit electronically the following materials:

- * Letter of application;
- * Curriculum vitae;
- * Sample of written work;
- * Sample syllabi;
- * Teaching evaluations (if available);
- * Application for Academic Employment: <https://www.humboldt.edu/forms/node/757>;
- * Supplemental Application for Academic Employment (Online Entry): <http://www.humboldt.edu/applicantsurvey/>;
- * Graduate transcripts (unofficial copies are sufficient for initial review); and
- * Three letters of recommendation.

Submission of the application materials should be sent as a single PDF document, in the order listed above to:

politics7705@humboldt.edu

Signed letters of recommendation may be e-mailed or mailed separately from the other application materials. In letter of application, please refer to Job #7705.

Please direct any other questions pertaining to this position to:

John Meyer, Search Committee Chair
 Department of Politics
 Humboldt State University
 One Harpst Street
 Arcata, California 95521-8299
 Phone (707) 826-4494
 Email: politics7705@humboldt.edu

APPLICATION DEADLINE: This position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications received no later than October 3, 2016. Early response is encouraged.

It is the responsibility of the applicant to provide complete and accurate employment information. Evidence of required degree(s), certifications(s), or licenses(s) will be required prior to the appointment date. A background check (including a criminal records check, employment verification, and education verification) must be completed satisfactorily as a condition of employment with the CSU. Certain positions may also require a credit check, motor vehicle report, and/or fingerprinting through Live Scan service. Adverse findings from a background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position. All CSU employees are obligated to respond to and report incidents of sexual harassment and sexual violence. The successful candidate for this position will be mandated to receive relevant training on an annual basis. The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Humboldt State University is committed to achieving the goals of equal opportunity and endeavors to employ faculty and staff of the highest quality reflecting the ethnic and cultural diversity of the state.

Humboldt State University is a Title IX/Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, protected veteran status, or any other legally protected status. If accommodations need to be made during the recruitment and interview process, please contact Human Resources at (707) 826-3626 or hsuhr@humboldt.edu.

Job #7705

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1802

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). Each year the program selects six scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. Fellowships are awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who are expected to return to their positions, who have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and exhibit unusual intellectual promise, but who are still early in their careers.

During the academic year 2017-18, the program theme will be "The Culture and Politics of Resentment." Resentment is a powerful emotion for expressing culture and politics. Experiences and memories of humiliation, oppression, and marginalization have stimulated emotions of resentment, and produced compelling demands for political inclusion and justice around the world. Alternatively, rage against what is seen as the "tyranny of the minority," inequality, the corruption and aloofness of elites, the "foreign," and the illegitimate have generated powerful populist upsurges against the perceived enemies of a homogeneous body of "the people." The goal of the 2017-18 Fung Global Fellows cohort will be to explore the full range of phenomena involved in the culture and politics of resentment, the conditions that produce such sentiments, and the projects they advance. We invite applications from scholars whose work addresses this topic in any historical period or region of the world and from any disciplinary background in the humanities and social sciences.

Applications are due on November 1, 2016. To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. (or equivalent) no earlier than September 1, 2007. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program's theme, the candidate's scholarly record, and the candidate's ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information on eligibility requirements and the application process itself, see the program's website at <http://www.princeton.edu/funggfp/>

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1806

Stanford University

Rank: Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields

Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields.

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2017. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, a writing sample and a brief statement of research interest (no more than three pages).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 16, 2016, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AcademicJobsOnline.org

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/16/2016

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1800

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Associate Professor in Global Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Gender Politics & Policy, International Security

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The Humphrey School seeks to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

With this current search, the Humphrey School seeks to hire a tenure-track or tenured Associate Professor whose research, scholarship, academic leadership and service focus broadly on global policy. We will consider candidates now at the Associate Professor level, as well as candidates who are now at the advanced Assistant Professor level and may meet requirements for appointment as Associate Professor. If the candidate is hired without tenure, we would expect consideration of tenure within three years of the appointment. Although the tenure home and position will be at the Humphrey School, there will be possibilities to collaborate with relevant departments across the University of Minnesota.

The successful candidate must have strong, demonstrated applied research and teaching interests in the international policies of states and/or non-state actors, or the prospects for international coordination and cooperation in various spheres. We encourage applications from candidates who have focused on international security, transnational security threats, emerging security threats, human security, civil wars, internal conflicts, political violence, gender-based violence, gendered aspects of human security, and/or related issues. Candidates with country expertise and/or strong regional interests will also be considered. Candidates must be committed to scholarly and policy-relevant research at the highest levels; willing and able to teach in the School's core curriculum; provide leadership to its established public policy Master's and public affairs Ph.D. programs; be willing to help prepare students for professional careers; and function collaboratively in a multi-and inter-disciplinary environment.

A Ph.D. or equivalent foreign degree is required in political science, international relations, security studies, development studies, economics, public policy, sociology, anthropology, political economy, or related fields, if the candidate's focus has been on international policy and global affairs. The Humphrey School is especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated interest in public policy, broadly construed, whose approach to teaching and research is both innovative and inclusive in terms of race, gender, class and ethnicity.

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota ranks among the top ten professional schools of public affairs in the country. Situated in the vibrant, dynamic and diverse community of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, the Humphrey School's mission is to inspire, educate, and support innovative leaders to advance the common good in a diverse world. The School prepares students for leadership in public affairs in government and the non-profit and corporate sectors, and advances public affairs scholarship, service, and public engagement to address important policy issues and solve problems facing Minnesota, the nation, and the world. The School is nationally recognized for its role in examining public issues and shaping policy and planning at the local, state, national, and international levels, as well as for providing leadership and management expertise to public and nonprofit organizations.

The Humphrey School serves as a major center for public discussion and dialogue within the University and the broader community, hosting hundreds of public events each year, engaging in community-based research, and influencing policy-making at a number of levels. The School offers six master's degrees (Master of Development Practice; Master of Human Rights; Master of Public Affairs; Master of Public Policy; Master of Science in Science, Technology, and Environmental Policy; and Master of Urban and Regional Planning), as well as dual master's degrees with MBA, MSW, JD, MPH, MSCE, and MLA and graduate certificates in Early Childhood Policy, Election Administration, Nonprofit Management, Policy Issues on Work and Pay, and Public Affairs Leadership. The School also offers minors as well as early admissions opportunities for undergraduates (learn more on our website at www.hhh.umn.edu).

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The Humphrey School faculty consists of 31 tenure/tenure-track faculty, 13 graduate faculty and 20+ affiliate faculty members. In addition, there are 65+ staff employees who work in various administrative, research, and lecturing roles at the School. The Humphrey School of Public Affairs seeks to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

We would like to invite you to visit our employment site to complete your application. Applications must be submitted online. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position and attach additional documents.

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, the names and addresses of three references, a sample of recent research, and a cover letter with a brief account of research and teaching interests and experience.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Select the below link to access our site.
2. Sign In to access your account, or if you are not an existing user select the New User link to create one.
3. Review the job description and select the Apply button to begin your application.

https://www.myu.umn.edu/psp/psprd/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST&Action=U&FOCUS=Applicant&SiteId=1&JobOpeningId=312431&PostingSeq=1

If you are a current University of Minnesota employee, please use the following link instead:

https://www.myu.umn.edu/psp/psprd/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_EMP.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST&Action=U&FOCUS=Employee&SiteId=1&JobOpeningId=312431&PostingSeq=1

Applications will be reviewed beginning October 15, 2016. The position will remain open until filled. Please submit applications online and address cover and reference letters to: Search Committee for Global Policy, Humphrey School of Public Affairs, c/o Human Resources, HHH152, 301-19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Salary will be commensurate with experience. Benefits include health, dental, faculty life/disability insurance, retirement, and social security. The starting date for this appointment is August 26, 2017 or as soon thereafter as possible.

To request an accommodation during the application process, please e-mail employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1810

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Political Theory

The University of Chicago Society of Fellows is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor.

The Fellows are members of the College Faculty whose primary responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into seven year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Fellows teach in four of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Fellows also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2017. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in their original scholarship as well as in teaching.

In most years, Fellows teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. Each Fellow also has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical in the third year of residence. The annual salary for 2017-18 will be $67,650. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2017.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <http://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 31, 2016.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM CDT, Friday, October 14, 2016.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM CDT, Friday, October 28, 2016. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non_discrimination_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1785

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor, Director of the Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Administration

WEISER CENTER FOR EMERGING DEMOCRACIES: The International Institute (II) at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor seeks qualified applicants for the Ronald and Eileen Weiser Professorship in Emerging Democracies and the Directorship of the Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies (WCED) to begin September 1, 2017. The II is interested in a scholar who conducts research on emerging democracies, broadly defined, and has interdisciplinary interests in the social sciences or humanities. The successful applicant will be a tenured faculty member in a department, such as Anthropology, History, Sociology, or Political Science.

The II brings together distinguished and diverse faculty and scholars with deep area studies, disciplinary, and international expertise to enrich the university's intellectual environment and to provide the U-M community with the knowledge, tools, and experience to become informed and active global citizens.

The WCED promotes scholarship to better understand the conditions and policies under which democracies emerge and autocracies endure, past and present. WCED takes a multidisciplinary perspective that is sensitive to the historical, social, cultural, economic, and political contexts in which democracies do or do not emerge. While WCED initially focused on transitions in Europe and Eurasia, the II welcomes applications from faculty working in any region.

QUALIFICATIONS

The University will give greatest consideration to the following qualifications:

1. Academic Accomplishment: The candidate should have a strong record of scholarly excellence and be well known in his or her field. The candidate should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, including a statement of teaching philosophy and experience.
2. Administrative Experience: The Director is responsible for overseeing budgets and staff, working with departments and colleagues to promote area expertise, monitoring faculty committees, and overseeing development activities by cultivating ties to people and institutions outside the University in support of WCED activities. The candidate should have a significant administrative background and should be capable of managing a complex organization.
3. Vision and Strategy: The Director is responsible for setting the intellectual agenda and developing WCED programming that will fuel the center's continued growth and global engagement. The candidate should have the ability to articulate and execute a vision for a major interdisciplinary research center.

This is a university year appointment. Applications received by October 3, 2016 will be given first consideration. All applicants should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and names of suggested reviewers. Please provide a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence, and a statement of current and future research plans.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Applicants to this position can apply online via <https://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/apply/1041>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1775

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: William S. Dietrich Endowed Chair in Political Science
Subfield(s): Other, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the inaugural William S. Dietrich II Endowed Chair in Political Science, with appointment to begin in the 2017-18 academic year, pending budgetary approval. The Chair is named in honor of the late Dr. William S. Dietrich II, a former chairman of the University's Board of Trustees who received his Ph.D. from the Department in 1984.

In filling this chair, and in keeping with the interests of Dr. Dietrich, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship in the fields of international relations or comparative politics, or whose interests cut across these and possibly other disciplinary subfields.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh currently consists of 25 tenure stream faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. The Department's NRC ranking has improved dramatically over the past decade, and presently ranks between 20th and 30th among Ph.D. granting departments. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Please submit a detailed cover letter and C.V. electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU3>. Additional information may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1780

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

The Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a full-time position in ENVIRONMENTAL POLITICS at the assistant professor (tenure-track) or associate professor (tenured) level. The position is open with respect to subfield within political science, and we are especially interested in candidates who desire to work across both subfield and disciplinary boundaries. This is a cross-school, cross-disciplinary effort focused on integrating social, political, cultural and scientific approaches to address environmental challenges. The initiative includes a cluster hire of at least five faculty in the College of Arts and Sciences (Politics, Economics, Environmental Sciences), the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, and the School of Architecture.

We are especially interested in candidates who have an interest in, or demonstrated capacity for mentoring diverse students and colleagues.

We welcome applications from candidates in any--or some mix--of the subfields of Comparative Politics, International Relations, and American Politics.

Applicants at the assistant professor rank must be on track to receive a PhD in Political Science by May 2017 and must hold a PhD at the time of appointment, although those still at the ABD stage in August 2017 may be appointed as acting assistant professor. Applicants at the associate professor rank must hold a PhD at the time of application and must have an outstanding publication and teaching record.

To apply, candidates must submit an online application through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>). Search on posting number 0619320 and submit a "Candidate Profile" that includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and contact information for three references.

Applicants at the assistant professor rank should have their references send letters directly to Bonnie Bragg (EnviroAsstPro@virginia.edu).

Review of applications will begin September 12, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2017, with an anticipated start date of July 25, 2017.

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVA should be directed to Bonnie Bragg (EnviroAsstPro@virginia.edu).

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1774

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis seeks candidates for one position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in the area of comparative politics to begin Fall 2017 or later. The search is open with respect to substantive specialization within the study of comparative politics. Duties include research and publication, course teaching, student advising, and department and university service. Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required. In addition, candidates at the associate professor rank must, through research and publication, have made a significant contribution to one or more subfields in Political Science. Washington University in St. Louis is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.

Files received by October 1 will receive full consideration. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through the Washington University HR system (<http://hr.wustl.edu/opportunities/Pages/default.aspx>). Candidates should create an account, search for job requisition number 34390, complete the application form and upload a CV and supporting materials. Letters of reference can be e-mailed to artsci-pschair@email.wustl.edu.

Please note: in order to attach materials to your application, you must EXIT the Wash U jobs site then log back in using your established username and password. Click on "Applications" then "Add Attachment" to upload additional materials.

If you encounter difficulties with the application process, please email Colleen Daues, cdaues@wustl.edu, for additional instructions. All other questions may be directed to Heather Sloan-Randick at (314) 935-5852.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1777

Hope College

Rank: Tenure-Track Appointment in American and Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Hope College political science department invites applications for a tenure-track appointment beginning the 2017-18 academic year. We seek candidates who are equipped to offer courses in one or more of the following areas: American politics and institutions, comparative politics (open regional focus other than Africa), and research methods. The position also includes exciting opportunities to participate in Hope's highly regarded Washington D.C. honors program. Candidates should have a demonstrated ability to combine teaching excellence with genuine scholarly promise, and should be committed to the character and mission of a liberal arts college firmly rooted in the Christian faith. PhDs and ABD candidates who have made substantial progress on the dissertation are encouraged to apply.

Application Instructions

As part of the online application found at www.hope.edu/employment/faculty, candidates will upload the following documents: a cover letter including a paragraph clearly addressing the ways in which you will support the mission of Hope College (www.hope.edu/about/mission.html), a curriculum vitae, a description of your current research program, and a statement of your teaching experience and approach to teaching. Additionally, please arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent to jobs@hope.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 15th, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding the position may be directed to David Ryden, department chair, at ryden@hope.edu.

About Hope College

Hope College is a four-year liberal arts college where academic excellence and vibrant Christian faith join together in a supportive and welcoming community. Hope offers an academically rigorous, co-educational and residential education to 3,200 undergraduate students from more than 40 states and 45 countries. Affiliated with the Reformed Church in America since its founding in 1866, Hope College is known for its invitational ecumenical Christian atmosphere, friendly campus community, and well-balanced academic and co-curricular offerings. Hope's beautiful campus is located just steps from award-winning downtown Holland, Michigan and less than seven miles from Lake Michigan.

Hope College is recognized as a national leader in undergraduate research and scholarship and for providing exceptional professional preparation and life-changing educational experiences that equip our students for success after graduation. The college has consistently ranked among the nation's top liberal arts colleges and is featured in the book Colleges That Change Lives.

Hope College is financially sound, with more than 40 consecutive years of balanced budgets, an endowment of approximately $200 million and no deferred maintenance, and over $140 million invested in the construction of new facilities during the past 12 years. The college completed its newest buildings, the Kruienza Art Museum and the Jack H. Miller Center for Musical Arts, in 2015 and will open the Jim and Martie Bultman Student Center in 2017.

In 2015, Hope College launched its 10-year strategic plan, Hope for the World: 2025, which consists of six goals, focused on: academics; Christian formation; global engagement; community; reputation and influence; and value. Developed by the campus community, the strategic plan supports the college's mission, "to educate students for lives of leadership and service in a global society through academic and co-curricular programs of recognized excellence in the liberal arts and in the context of the historic Christian faith."

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/11/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1769

McGill University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Gender and Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

McGill University
 Department of Political Science
 Assistant Professor, Gender and Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in Gender and Politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, such as Gender and Politics, Feminist Theories and Methodologies, and/or the empirical study of gender, as well as courses in the candidate's specific area(s) of expertise.

The Department welcomes applications from qualified candidates working within any subfield or methodological approach in Political Science. While all applications will be given full consideration, we are particularly interested in scholars whose work addresses the politics of gender and sexuality in their articulation and intersections with indigeneity, race, class, disability, and/or other axes of marginalization, power and identity.

An applicant's record of performance must provide evidence of outstanding research potential and the ability to teach effectively at the undergraduate and graduate level, as well as the ability to provide supervision for graduate students.

Appointment is expected to be at the rank of Assistant Professor, but appointment at a higher rank is possible under exceptional circumstances. Candidates should have already completed the PhD or be very near completion.

Applications should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of reference, a sample of written work and material pertinent to teaching skills. The position start date is August 1, 2017.

For more information about the Department and University, visit our web site at: <http://www.mcgill.ca/politicalscience/>.

The Department maintains a close relationship with several Centers and Institutes on campus that will be possible places of research affiliation for the successful candidate. These include: the Institute for Gender, Sexuality, and Feminist Studies (IGSF), <http://www.mcgill.ca/igsf/>; the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS) <http://www.mcgill.ca/rgcs/>; the Center for the Study of Democratic Citizenship (CSDC), www.csdc-cccd.ca; the Center for International Peace and Security Studies (CIPSS), <http://cepsi-cipss.ca/en/>; the McGill Institute for the Study of International Development (ISID), www.mcgill.ca/isid/; and the European Union Centre of Excellence (EUCE), www.centreurope-montreal.ca.

Inquiries about this position may be sent to the Chair of the Department, Hudson Meadwell, hudson.meadwell@mcgill.ca.

Review of applications will begin on October 10 and will continue until the position is filled.

PLEASE APPLY ONLINE AT: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7567>.

McGill University is committed to diversity and equity in employment. It welcomes applications from: women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, ethnic minorities, persons of minority sexual orientation or gender identity, visible minorities, and others who may contribute to diversification. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 10/9/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1765

University of Zurich

Rank: Assistant Professorship in Political Science with a focus on Direct Democracy and Participation

The University of Zurich invites applications for an Assistant Professorship in Political Science with a focus on Direct Democracy and Participation.

The position is for a six-year period, pending review after the first three years.

Candidates should demonstrate the potential to develop an internationally recognized research track record on the topic of direct democracy and participation, focusing particularly on the behavior of voters and elites.

The assistant professorship is related to an interdisciplinary research project on Direct Democracy and Populism in Europe, located at the Centre for Democracy Studies in Aarau. Teaching is within the BA, MA and PhD curricula of the Department of Political Science (IPZ).

The University of Zurich provides a dynamic and collaborative international environment for teaching and research, and offers generous research and teaching support. In addition, the holder of the position is eligible to apply for Swiss National Science Foundation funding, as well as many other grant programs in Switzerland and Europe.

The position will be filled as soon as possible. Candidates should hold a PhD degree in Political Science at the time of application and have an excellent record of academic achievements in the relevant field. Teaching may be carried out in English; the teaching load is two to four hours per week throughout the semester. Non-German speaking candidates are encouraged to acquire a working knowledge of German within the first two years of appointment. We specifically encourage women to apply.

The closing date for applications is September 25, 2016. Details on the application procedure are available on www.phil.uzh.ch/jobs.html. For further information please contact Prof. Dr. Daniel Kübler, Director of the Centre for Democracy Studies (Daniel.Kuebler@zda.uzh.ch).

<http://www.jobs.uzh.ch/jobDetail.php?jobID=6949>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/25/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: $130,000 - $139,999

eJobs ID: 1767

Nuffield College, University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellowship in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Nuffield College and the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford intend to appoint jointly, with effect from 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter, two Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellows (PPRFs) in Politics, broadly construed to include political science, comparative politics and political economy, political theory, international relations and political history.

The key responsibilities of the Research Fellows are to engage in advanced study and independent scholarly research in politics broadly construed (as above); to disseminate research findings through publication and participation in conferences and workshops; to take part in the intellectual life of the College and the Department by organising workshops, seminars or conferences; to undertake teaching of 24 units per year and to assist in examining for the Department.

To be eligible, candidates should hold a bachelors and/or masters degree in a relevant field and should by 1 September 2017 have completed, or be close to completing, a doctorate. Candidates must be within three years of the award of their doctorate at the time of application. Preference will be given to candidates who have not previously held a research fellowship similar to that advertised for more than one year at the time of taking up the fellowship. Allowances will be made for career breaks (for example, family-related leave) and candidates are asked to provide relevant information. Prospective candidates should also have experience of carrying out independent research and a track record of excellent quality papers appropriate for and commensurate with their career level. They should have the ability to provide excellent teaching to high-achieving students; the willingness to contribute to the intellectual life of the College and the Department; and excellent oral and written communication skills.

The posts are full-time and fixed-term for three years, starting on 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter. The salary offered is GBP 30,114 per annum. Research Fellows are entitled to single accommodation in College (at a subsidised rate). Further benefits include a research allowance, free lunch and dinner in College and child support funds.

Further particulars, including information on how to apply, are available from the College web page: <http://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/About/Vacancies/Documents/PolPPRF.pdf> or from the College Registrar, Nuffield College, Oxford OX1 1NF. Email: pprf@nuffield.ox.ac.uk.

The deadline for applications is Tuesday 13 September 2016.

The College exists to promote excellence in education and research, and is an equal opportunities employer committed to equality and valuing diversity. Applications are particularly welcome from black and minority ethnic candidates, who are currently under-represented in posts in the College.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/13/2016
Date Posted: 8/10/2016
Salary: $30,000 - $39,999
eJobs ID: 1761

Emory University

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations or Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor – International Relations or Comparative Politics
 Department of Political Science
 Emory University
 Atlanta, GA

The Department of Political Science at Emory University seeks to hire an International Relations or Comparative Politics scholar with expertise in political economy, development, or conflict, to begin in the fall semester 2017. The position is tenure-track at the level of

Assistant Professor, though in extraordinary circumstances a senior appointment may be considered. We welcome a range of methods and perspectives.

The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in both research and teaching. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. or be very close to completing the Ph.D. by September 2017. The teaching load is four courses per year and benefits are competitive.

A complete application will consist of a cover letter that includes a research statement, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Application review will begin on September 9, 2016; to ensure full consideration all materials should be received by this date. To apply for this position, please visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/36551> and submit your materials free of charge through Interfolio.

Emory University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Disability/Veteran employer. The Department of Political Science, Emory College, and Emory University are all strongly committed to recruiting female and minority candidates. Women, minorities, persons with disabilities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/9/2016
Date Posted: 8/9/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1743

Morehouse College

Rank: Assistant Professor -- International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should be trained in the area of international relations and be able to teach courses in both international relations and comparative politics. The area of specialization is open, though there is a preference for applicants who can contribute to the College's educational mission regarding African and African-American history and culture and/or the legacy of international peace and non-violence.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 3-3 load), advising, and mentoring students; developing and maintaining a scholarly research and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources. The start date for the position is August 2017, and possibly January 2017 if a suitable candidate is identified and appointed. Minimum qualifications include a PhD in political science; commitment to excellence in teaching; evidence of a productive research program; and service to the profession and community.

A successful application will consist of the following: a letter of application providing detail on how the candidate meets the qualifications for the position and why they are a good fit for Morehouse College in particular (no more than 2 pages); a current curriculum vitae (no more than 4 pages); a statement of teaching philosophy (no more than 2 pages); a research/scholarship agenda (no more than 2 pages); three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates also have the option of sharing the following: sample syllabi (no more than 2 courses); samples of research (no more than 2 samples); teaching evaluations or summaries of evaluations (no more than 2 courses, but if submitted, only submit full class evaluations and not samples of class evaluations).

All application materials must be submitted online: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36492>

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until September 30th. We will be interviewing at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Service on Friday, September 2nd and Saturday, September 3rd. Applicants who wish to be considered for an APSA interview should send a cover letter and CV, by August 22nd, to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

Morehouse College is an equal opportunity employer. No employee or applicant will be discriminated against in any condition of employment because of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or any other status protected by law.

About Morehouse

Morehouse College is a private historically black liberal arts college for men whose mission is to develop men with disciplined minds to lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of black people. Since the founding of the College in 1867, the faculty, staff, and leadership have worked to inspire, nurture, challenge, support, and engage students with the expressed intent of fomenting a very special kind of development.

Morehouse has a very proud tradition of having developed leaders, with the most notable of course being Martin Luther King, Jr. (class of 1948). Each era has defined the qualities of a Morehouse Man—an expression of the expectations we have of our graduates—a bit differently, but there are some enduring constants. Backed by nearly 150 years of history, we see our work as helping to shape men of acuity, integrity and agency; men who will commit to brotherhood, standing together with their peers to cheer, challenge and support each other; and men who will strive to lead consequential lives, to not just do well for themselves, but to do good in the world.

Our strong legacy is continued now as we claim a number of successes. Morehouse is the number one baccalaureate origin institution for black male doctorate recipients in science and engineering, life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences, education, and humanities over the decade ending 2012 according to the National Science Foundation. We are the top producer of underrepresented minority physics baccalaureates among non-PhD granting institutions over the three years ending in 2013 as measured by the American Physical Society. And the College just this year became the only non-majority college or university to have produced four Rhodes Scholars. Our graduates include not only men like King and Julian Bond, but Spike Lee, David Satcher, Eddie Glaude, Jim Shelton, and many more operating in and out of academia in some way.

The College offers instructional programs in three divisions—business and economics, humanities and social sciences, and sciences and mathematics—as well as extracurricular and co-curricular activities that, combined with the academic program: foster the development of oral and written communication skills; foster appreciation of world cultures, artistic, creative expression and the nature of the physical universe; promote understanding of the specific skills needed to pursue professional careers and graduate study; and cultivate the personal attributes of self-confidence, tolerance, morality, ethical behavior, spirituality, humility, global perspective, and commitment to justice.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1759

Tecnologico de Monterrey

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Political Economy, Mexico, Public Finance & Budgeting

The School of Government has one vacant open rank research-professor position. We welcome candidates in public policy, economics, political science, public administration, sociology, law, education policy or other related fields in the social sciences.

Candidates are expected to strengthen the ability of the School of Government and Public Transformation to influence policy debates in areas such as data science for public services and governance, poverty and social policy, inequality, public finance and budgeting, federalism and local government, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy, and environmental policy in Mexico and globally. Other specializations are also welcome and will be considered by the Search Committee. The School of Government offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Candidates must have the ability to conduct high quality, original research and to publish in internationally-recognized peer-reviewed outlets. They should also be committed to teaching and mentoring Masters and PhD students.

Responsibilities include teaching in the graduate programs and undergraduate courses offered by the School of Government, and fulfillment of a research program as presented in the candidate's application. Teaching may be done exclusively in English, although a solid knowledge of Spanish is strongly encouraged. The teaching load is 4 courses per year, and specific agreements will depend on the candidate's rank and potential contribution to the School's mission.

Deadline:

Review will begin on September 19th and continue until the position is filled

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background, and proven interest in empirical research. We specifically search for candidates with a strong background in defining theoretical and applied research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. This is an open-rank search, whereby status as tenured, tenure-track, Assistant, Associate or Full Professor will be awarded on the basis of his/her publishing record, teaching experience, and academic status. We expect candidates to hold a Doctoral degree, and may or may not have a current appointment at another institution. Applications from ABD candidates will only be considered if they include a letter from the chair of the committee stating a date for the defense of the doctoral dissertation. The latter should occur at the latest before May 2017.

Compensation is competitive, and includes incentives and support for research activities. Tec de Monterrey will provide legal assistance in case the candidate is a foreign national, for working permit and visa for the candidate and his/her dependents.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the AcademicJobsOnline.org (see <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/5869>):

- ? Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- ? Teaching philosophy (no more than two pages).
- ? Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- ? Writing sample not exceeding 50 double spaced pages (the candidate should be the first author of the text, preferably a refereed journal article).
- ? Three letters of recommendation written within the last year. In the case of early career scholars (2012-2015), at least one of these letters should come from the PhD advisor.

Contact Information:

Marco Fernandez:

schoolofgov@itesm.mx or
AV Carlos Lazo No. 100
Col. Santa Fe
Delegacion Alvaro Obregon
Mexico D.F.
01389

Additional Information:

<http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1748

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The University of California, Merced opened in September 2005 as the tenth campus of the University of California system. In keeping with the mission of the UC to provide research, teaching, and public service of the highest quality, UC Merced provides educational opportunities at the undergraduate, masters and doctoral levels through three academic schools: Engineering; Natural Sciences; and Social Sciences, Humanities and the Arts.

The School of Social Sciences, Humanities and Arts invites applications for two positions in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations, at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track).

In order to be considered, the selected candidate must have a PhD in political science or a related field at the time of appointment.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2017.

Applications must be submitted online. Completed applications, including letters of recommendation, must be received no later than September 15, 2016 to receive consideration. Applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research; 4) a statement of teaching; 5) up to two writing samples; 6) a list of references with contact information including mailing address, phone number, and e-mail address; and 7) a contributions to diversity statement.

The Contributions to Diversity Statement should describe your past experience, activities and future plans to advance diversity, equity and inclusion, in alignment with UC Merced's mission to reflect the diversity of California and to meet the educational needs and interests of its diverse population. Some faculty candidates may not have substantial past activities. If that is the case, we recommend focusing on future plans in your statement. A more developed and substantial plan is expected for senior candidates. For additional information on what should be included on your Diversity Statement, please visit <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html#Are-there-any-guide-lines-for-wr>.

Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than September 15, 2016.

The University of California, Merced is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of diversity among its faculty, students and staff.

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and UC academic salary scales.

For additional information, please contact Courtenay Conrad at cconrad2@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/apply/JPF00369>.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1715

University of Oregon

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oregon invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning September 2017, and will consider candidates in either of two areas: International Political Economy/International Organization or Comparative Politics with a specialization in Chinese politics. IPE/IO candidates are required to have demonstrated quantitative research interests and teaching abilities and should be capable of teaching an undergraduate/graduate methods course. For comparative/China candidates, we are open to varied methodological orientations. The successful candidate is expected to conduct a rigorous research program, and to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The University of Oregon and the Department of Political Science are committed to creating a more inclusive and diverse institution and seek candidates with demonstrated potential to contribute positively to its diverse community.

Apply online at academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7568. Interested applicants should submit a letter describing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, three letters of recommendation, employment application, one writing sample, syllabi and teaching evaluations, if available. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required by September 15, 2017.

To ensure full consideration, application materials must be submitted by October 1, 2016. This position will remain open until filled. This is a paperless search; contact psjobs@uoregon.edu with questions or concerns.

The University of Oregon is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the ADA. The University encourages all qualified individuals to apply, and does not discriminate on the basis of any protected status, including veteran and disability status.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/5/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1736

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Comparative Politics Assistant Professor

COMPARATIVE POLITICS. The MIT Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure track position in the field of comparative politics at the junior level. The search is open to scholars working in any subfield specialty. Applicants should be at or near completion of the PhD. Responsibilities include graduate and undergraduate level teaching and research supervision. MIT is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities. MIT is interested in applicants with experience and interest in communities of color, cultures other than their own, culturally diverse groups and developing and implementing curricula that address multicultural perspectives.

Applications should include a cover letter, C.V., sample dissertation chapter(s), and three recommendations. Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7587>.

Completed applications must be submitted by September 15th, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/4/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1733

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Tenure-Track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism

The Communication, Culture and Technology (CCT) Graduate Program at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track

Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism. Candidates' research areas should include, but are not limited to, critical studies in journalism and mass media; relationships between news media, politics, and public opinion; social and cultural representations in media, including social media; and changes in the production, distribution, and consumption of news content resulting from new technologies, such as data journalism. An international dimension will be an advantage. Candidates should be prepared to advise students on their academic program and to mentor thesis projects.

CCT is an interdisciplinary Master of Arts program that focuses on the ways that new technologies of communication and digital media are reshaping human experience on all levels from local to global, and how these technologies are redefining the practice of science, research, education, government, media, business, and culture and the arts. Faculty members are expected to contribute broadly to the interdisciplinary research and teaching of the program.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

For best consideration, send application letter of interest, c.v., and the names of three referees to cctjobs@georgetown.edu by October 31, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/31/2016
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1724

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics of South Asia

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics of South Asia to begin July 1, 2017.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire.

Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <http://apply.interfolio.com/35940>. Review of applications and nominations will begin September 5, 2016, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Yale is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Yale University values diversity among its staff, students, and faculty and strongly encourages applications from and nominations for women and underrepresented minorities, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1720

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics of the Middle East

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics of the Middle East to begin July 1, 2017.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire.

Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <http://apply.interfolio.com/35938>. Review of applications and nominations will begin September 5, 2016, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Yale is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Yale University values diversity among its staff, students, and faculty and strongly encourages applications from and nominations for women and under-represented minorities, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1719

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Service

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Political Economy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service at New York University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position with appointment to begin September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise and a record of research in financial management, budgeting, accountability and performance, or the design of institutions. Successful candidates will contribute to our Master of Public Administration and new Master of Science in Public Policy programs and will have demonstrated excellence in research. A Ph.D. in public administration, political science, or a related field is required and must be conferred by August 31, 2017.

NYU Wagner is a multidisciplinary school that prepares public service leaders to translate ideas into actions that have an effective and lasting impact on the public good. The School's nearly 40 full-time faculty members are trained in a wide variety of disciplines and share a commitment to addressing issues of public importance in their teaching and research. Wagner faculty members collaborate with other schools and departments across the university, including the Stern School of Business; the Steinhardt School of Education; School of Law; Politics, Economics, and Sociology departments; and the College of Global Public Health.

Candidates should complete the application available via the link below and submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, two completed research papers, and three letters of reference.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/36182>

NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and is strongly committed to diversity within its community.

Applications received by October 30, 2016 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/30/2016
Date Posted: 8/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1708

Stockton University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Developing Nations, Political Development, Conflict Processes

Comparative Politics
 ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE, Tenure-Track.
 Starting Date: September 2017

A New Jersey public institution with a distinctive interdisciplinary focus and a commitment to teaching excellence seeks a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science specializing in Comparative Politics. The successful candidate will offer undergraduate courses in Introduction to Comparative Politics, advanced courses in Comparative Politics, a rotation of Introduction to Politics as well as interdisciplinary General Studies courses.

Ability to offer courses in one or more of the following areas is desired – Political Economy of Development, Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict, Politics in the Developing World, Gender and Politics, Environmental Politics, Comparative Law, Democratization, or Regional Integration. Regional focus is open.

Teaching load is three courses (12 credit hours) per semester with additional duties as negotiated under the collective bargaining agreement. Applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science completed will be given preference, although ABD candidates in Political Science will be considered. Evidence of excellent teaching experience or a demonstrable pedagogical commitment to teaching excellence is required. A strong commitment to scholarly activity and service is also expected.

Salary is dependent upon experience. Review of applications will begin September 28, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Representatives of the Political Science program will conduct informational interviews with potential candidates at APSA in Philadelphia. Interested candidates should contact Tina Zappile (Tina.Zappile@stockton.edu) to request an informational interview (include an electronic copy of CV with interview request).

To apply please visit: <https://careers-stockton.icims.com/jobs>. Only electronic documents will be accepted. Please complete the on-line application, which will require submission of the following required documents. All required documents must be submitted in order for your application to move forward. You may upload documents using Word, PDF or Videos either as one single file or as individual attachments.

- 1) A letter of application describing qualifications and accomplishments
- 2) A curriculum vitae
- 3) Evidence of teaching excellence (student evaluations, course syllabi, teaching philosophy, professional development related to teaching)
- 4) Graduate transcripts
- 5) Three letters of recommendation/reference

- All offers of employment are contingent upon a favorable background check.
- Individuals with disabilities desiring accommodations in the application process should contact: Sharon Hunt, Recruitment Manager at 609-652-4384.
- Prospective employees may access the Annual Security Report for the University at www.stockton.edu/campuspolice or contact the Campus Police department at 609-652-4378 to request a hard copy of the report.
- Stockton University is an equal opportunity institution encouraging a diverse pool of applicants, visit: http://www.stockton.edu/affirmative_action.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1704

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Faculty Member

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Developing Nations, International Security, International Political Economy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies, is a Department of Defense academic institution providing a forum where current and future military and civilian leaders from 45 Asia-Pacific nations gather to foster improved multinational and interagency security cooperation and coordination in the Asia-Pacific region through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, professional exchanges at conferences, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Center invites applications for:

FACULTY MEMBER

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world class educator to teach, facilitate, and conduct research. Responsibilities include:

- Teaching elective courses and lecturing on selected regional security topics within executive education courses;
- Facilitating seminars and planning and conducting workshops locally and throughout the Asia-Pacific region;
- Contributing to syllabus development;

- Conducting and publishing individual and group research;
- Performing various administrative and staff duties to support Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies academic functions.

Particular expertise is sought in the following areas:

- Crisis and disaster management expertise at the operational and/or strategic policy level, including risk cycles, reduction and resiliency, humanitarian assistance, recovery and reconstruction, and governance, with a focus on crisis prevention and development mainstreaming in the Asia-Pacific region. Knowledge of national crisis and international disaster frameworks, strategies, mechanisms and related subjects is desirable.
- Organizational and crisis leader development education with an emphasis on defense institution building, civil-military, inter-agency and cross-sector coordination, crisis planning and information sharing.
- Security and defense sector governance, development and capacity building, ideally with experience with national security consultations, security sector wide coordination, and/or strategic planning as related to the evolution and transformation of roles and responsibilities of security agencies.

Required minimum qualifications include:

- Master's Degree or equivalent in Security or Defense studies, Political Science, Governance, Disaster Management, Development and Urban Planning, Public Health, Humanitarian Assistance, Political Science, International Relations, or a related discipline with extensive experience in the region. A Ph.D. is desirable, but not required.

- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation.

The following is "preferred" for ALL Faculty positions:

- Expertise in security, defense, and/or political-economic issues in one or more countries in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Living or working experience in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Ability to converse in an Asian language.

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $84,384 - $135,000 (includes HI Locality pay but excludes cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 12.05% but subject to change). These are limited-term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years (with the possibility of renewal). Relocation expenses may be authorized.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

1. Interested candidates should submit the following items:

- a. LETTER OF INTEREST. Provide a brief description of your vocational goals, personal interests and expected areas of study in the coming year, and explain your interest in future career considerations with the Department of Defense.
- b. CURRICULUM VITAE. Should reflect the following: educational background, work experience, publications and salary history.
- c. TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.
- d. TRANSCRIPT(S). Provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting advance degree(s).

2. Submit all required documents to physical address:

Chief, Human Resources Department
Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies
2058 Maluhia Road
Honolulu, Hawaii 96815-1949

or email to:

hrdapplications-apcss@hawaii.rr.com

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

1. Application deadline: Open until filled. First cut off: 31 August 2016; Second cut off: 30 September 2016.
2. Applications will be considered against current Faculty requirements. Application packages will be retained for one year.
3. Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of the Defense and will not be returned.
4. Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to two samples of their own publications.
5. The Department of the Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor. U.S. Citizenship is not required however applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
6. The Department of the Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrdapplications-apcss@hawaii.rr.com to ensure that the Department of the Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.
7. Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: www.apcss.org.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/31/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1687

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Boston University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor specializing in Comparative politics to begin July 1, 2017, pending budgetary approval. This search is open with respect to regional and substantive focus. The ideal candidate will address broad questions in comparative politics with innovative research methods, possibly including but not limited to experimental design, natural language processing, or network analysis. The successful candidate will contribute to the Department's undergraduate and graduate programs and to the Department's connections with the Pardee School of Global Studies.

Boston University expects excellence in teaching and in research, and is committed to building a diverse faculty and a multicultural learning environment. Please submit a letter of application that includes research and teaching statements, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and arrange for the sending of three reference letters to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7522>. Completed applications are due by October 11, 2016.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1674

University of Virginia

Rank: AMBASSADOR HENRY J. TAYLOR CHAIR IN GLOBAL POLITICS

The College and Graduate School of Arts & Sciences with 10,000 students and 750 faculty members, is the largest of the University of Virginia's 11 schools and is the institution's intellectual core. Our mission is to equip our students with the ability and desire to make a difference in the world and inspire others to do the same. We aspire to be a leader in research and graduate education while maintaining our long-standing reputation for excellence in undergraduate education and exceptional teaching.

The UVa Arts & Sciences department of Politics invites distinguished scholars to apply for the newly established AMBASSADOR HENRY J. TAYLOR CHAIR IN GLOBAL POLITICS professorship with tenure. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. and have a record worthy of an appointment at the full Professor rank.

We seek scholars of global politics, broadly defined, who have demonstrated scholarly excellence and leadership in the subfields of Comparative Politics and International Relations, or both. We are open to various substantive and regional specialties, theoretical orientations, and methodological approaches. Competitive candidates will have a distinguished record of scholarly achievement and the promise of more to come. They are also expected to have distinguished records of teaching and service. The Department of Politics is strongly committed to enhancing faculty and student diversity.

This position will remain open until filled.

To apply candidates must submit an online application through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>). Search on posting number 0617065 and submit a "Candidate Profile" that includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references.

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVa should be directed to Bonnie Bragg at bb6a@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/27/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1673

Utah State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor of Political Science
 Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at Utah State University invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning August 2017. We seek to fill a position in comparative politics. While the area of specialization in comparative politics is open, regional expertise in either Asia-Pacific or Middle East is welcome. The salary is competitive.

The position is available beginning August 1, 2017. Application review will begin September 23, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Political Science Department at USU is housed within the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. The Department serves approximately 350-400 International Studies, Political Science, and Law and Constitutional Studies undergraduate majors and minors and a current group of 16 graduate students. Additionally, the department provides service courses or general education to students throughout the broader university community.

Utah State University is a land-grant university founded in 1888. The university is a Carnegie Doctoral Extensive research institution with approximately 23,000 students (19,000 undergraduates and 4,000 graduate students) from all 50 states and 80 foreign countries. The USU campus is located in Logan, Utah. Logan is located in a picturesque mountain valley with a population of over 100,000, about 80 miles north of Salt Lake City. Ski resorts, lakes, rivers, and mountains in the area make it one of the finest outdoor recreation environments in the nation. Visit <http://www.usu.edu> for more information about the University, College, and Department.

Utah State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, status as a protected veteran, among other things, or status as a qualified individual with disability.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will conduct research and teach courses in comparative politics. Teaching responsibilities will include Master's and lower and upper division undergraduate courses in their areas of specialization. Responsibilities will include a primary role in research along with strong undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service. Performance will be consistent with a faculty role in a Carnegie Doctoral/Research Extensive University.

Minimum Qualifications

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a strong research profile in comparative politics. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Political Science or a comparable field of study as of employment date, and demonstrated accomplishment and/or clear potential for success in research as well as undergraduate and graduate teaching in these specialties. They must also generate a satisfactory outcome on a background check.

Preferred Qualifications

Preference will be given to those with a strong research trajectory and demonstrated interest in teaching courses of need to the department.

Instructions to Applicants

Along with the online application, please attach:

- 1) a cover letter;
- 2) curriculum vitae;
- 3) The names and email addresses of three references (your references will be sent an email from USU asking them to upload a letter of recommendation on your behalf).
- 4) a professional writing sample, e.g. article or manuscript (.pdf, .doc, or .docx format);
- 5) a statement of teaching philosophy and, if available, evidence of teaching performance.
- 6) recent transcripts.

To apply go to: <http://usu.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=1580&job=assistant-professor>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/23/2016

Date Posted: 7/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1676

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position in Environmental Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Duke Kunshan University seeks applicants for a cluster hire effort for the newly established Environment Program. Duke Kunshan will grow a core faculty with expertise in environmental economics, policy, and science as part of its interdisciplinary research and education initiative. We are seeking to fill five faculty positions (rank open) to start as early as spring 2017 to staff the Environment Research Center and a new international Master's in Environmental Policy (iMEP) program. Researchers will help to establish a research hub for evidence-based environmental science and policy studies with a focus on big data and empirical methods. Although we will consider high quality applicants from all disciplines related to the environment, we are especially interested in hiring a mix of social and natural scientists. Desired expertise for the environmental social scientist includes, but is not limited to, environmental economics, survey methods, applied quantitative analysis, environmental negotiation, environmental policy analysis and public policy, and political science. For the positions in environmental science, preference will be given to environmental scientists interested in collaborating with social scientists and policy-makers and who brings expertise in modeling and/or working with environmental data. Topics such as air and water pollution, energy, climate change, food, ecology and conservation are of great interest to Duke Kunshan.

Duke Kunshan University currently hosts an active Global Health Research Center and offers master's degrees in global health, medical physics, and management studies. Following approval by China's Ministry of Education, the iMEP will be offered in fall 2017 at Duke Kunshan as a Duke University degree issued jointly by Duke's Nicholas School of the Environment and Sanford School of Public Policy.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in an appropriate field. Postdoctoral research/training experience is highly desirable. Candidates must demonstrate an ability to conduct outstanding independent research. Candidates whose research is interdisciplinary centered on environment science and policy are strongly encouraged to apply.

We request from all applicants a curriculum vitae, a research statement and a teaching statement. Applicants should also provide names and contact information for three references. All these materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online. The application address is <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajojobs/7105>.

The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the position may be sent to environment-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using "Environment Research" as the subject line.

Priority will be given to applications received by September 15, 2016 and applications will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled.

Duke Kunshan University provides excellent compensation, benefits and start-up packages, which are comparable to those of U.S. institutions.

Duke Kunshan University is a partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China. The Duke Kunshan University campus is located 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, which is connected to Shanghai via a 19-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system.

As an international intellectual community that encourages diversity, openness and creative learning, Duke Kunshan University welcomes outstanding faculty from around the world who contribute diverse perspectives and experiences to this global learning and research environment. Duke Kunshan University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1671

Nanyang Technological University

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Global Affairs
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Public Policy and Global Affairs Programme
 School of Humanities and Social Sciences
 Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Young and research-intensive, Nanyang Technological University (NTU Singapore) is ranked 13th globally. It is also placed 1st amongst the world's best young universities.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is the largest school at NTU and offers undergraduate and graduate degree programmes in a full range of disciplines. Interdisciplinary learning and research is especially encouraged in HSS. Please visit the School website www.hss.ntu.edu.sg for more details.

Public Policy and Global Affairs (PPGA) in HSS offers a Minor in Public Administration, a Major in Public Policy and Global Affairs, MA and PhD programmes by research, and general electives.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is inviting applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions.

Tenure-track Assistant Professor positions:

- (1) Comparative Politics and/or International Relations (1 position)
- (2) Public Policy and/or Public Administration in the Context of a Globalizing Asia (1 position)

Candidates should possess a PhD in a relevant discipline, and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in research as well as teaching at both the undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Emoluments

Salary will be competitive and will commensurate with qualifications and experience. The University offers a comprehensive fringe benefit package.

Application Procedure

To apply, please refer to the Guidelines for Submitting an Application for Faculty Appointment (<http://www.ntu.edu.sg/ohr/career/submit-an-application/Pages/Faculty-Positions.aspx>) and email your application package (consisting of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, personal particulars form, teaching and research statements, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available), three selected reprint/preprints of publications, and the names and email addresses of three potential referees) to:

Chair, Search Committee
 c/o Public Policy and Global Affairs
 School of Humanities and Social Sciences
 Nanyang Technological University
 14 Nanyang Drive, #03-86
 Singapore 637332
 email: ppgasearch@ntu.edu.sg

Applications sent by email should include "Assistant Professor (Comparative Politics and/or International Relations)" or "Assistant Professor (Public Policy and/or Public Administration)" in the subject line. Enquiries about the position can also be addressed to the above email address.

Closing date for application is 28 September 2016. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/28/2016
Date Posted: 7/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1672

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor - China/Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Irvine invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in China/Comparative Politics, to begin on July 1, 2017. Salary is commensurate with academic qualifications and experience. Candidates should apply online at: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF03542>.

The online application should include: a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, one writing sample, and evidence of teaching excellence. Preference will be given to applicants well trained in Chinese politics.

Given its commitment to encouraging diversity, UC Irvine also asks that a separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion be included with the application. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by September 15, 2016. Applications will be accepted, however, until the position is filled.

The University of California, Irvine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer advancing inclusive excellence. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, protected veteran status, or other protected categories covered by the UC nondiscrimination policy. It has a National Science Foundation Advance Gender Equity Program and is responsive to the needs of dual career couples in tenure track positions.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1660

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Criminal Justice, American Politics

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICS

Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the Politics of Public Policy. The Department seeks a scholar whose work focuses on the politics of public policy as it relates to issues of race, class, or gender; and/or the impact of policies on underrepresented, marginalized, and/or vulnerable groups. The area or areas of public policy are open, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work focuses on criminal justice, policing, incarceration, health, immigration, education, domestic violence, sexual assault, or human trafficking. Studies that engage the domestic, comparative, or global level are welcome, as are empirical, historical, or critical theoretical approaches.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate and Ph.D. programs in the Politics department and teach one course per year in the proposed MA Program in Social Science and Public Policy. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community, and we encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

RANK: Assistant Professor

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience; academic year (9-month) basis.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected to be conferred by June 30, 2017; Demonstrated record of research and teaching.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1, 2017, with academic year beginning September 2017. Degree must be conferred by June 30, 2018 for employment beyond that date.

TO APPLY: Applications are accepted via the UCSC Academic Recruit online system and must include: letter of application, curriculum vitae, up to 4 samples of written work, research statement, teaching statement, up to 3 sets of teaching evaluations (if available), and 3 confidential letters of reference*. Applicants are invited to submit a statement addressing their contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service. All documents/materials must be submitted as PDF files.

Apply at <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/apply/JPF00368>

Refer to Position #JPF00368-17 in all correspondence.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <http://apo.ucsc.edu/confstm.htm>

CLOSING DATE: Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete and letters of recommendation received by this date. The position will remain open until filled, but not later than 6/30/2018.

UC Santa Cruz faculty make significant contributions to the body of research that has earned the University of California the ranking as the foremost public higher education institution in the world. In the process, our faculty demonstrate that cutting-edge research, excellent teaching and outstanding service are mutually supportive.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. UC Santa Cruz is committed to excellence through diversity and strives to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students and employees. Inquiries regarding the University's equal employment opportunity policies may be directed to: Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064; (831) 459-2686.

Under Federal law, the University of California may employ only individuals who are legally able to work in the United States as established by providing documents as specified in the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Certain UCSC positions funded by federal contracts or sub-contracts require the selected candidate to pass an E-Verify check. More information is available here or from the Academic Personnel Office (APO) at (831) 459-4300.

UCSC is a smoke & tobacco-free campus.

If you need accommodation due to a disability, please contact the Academic Personnel Office at apo@ucsc.edu (831) 459-4300.

VISIT THE APO WEB SITE AT: <http://apo.ucsc.edu>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1658

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Davis invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in Comparative Politics, and we are especially interested in candidates working in developing areas and countries. We are also particularly interested in candidates with strong theoretical and methodological skills.

Applications will be accepted on-line at <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF01094>. Candidates should upload a curriculum vitae, a statement describing their research interests, evidence of teaching ability, as well as sample publications or an article-length writing sample. Applicants will also be asked to provide their references' names and email addresses. A Ph.D. or evidence that the degree would be complete by the beginning of instruction is required. The anticipated starting date is July 1, 2017. Applications must be received by September 23, 2016 to guarantee initial full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled. This recruitment is conducted at the assistant rank. The resulting hire will be at the assistant rank, regardless of the proposed appointee's qualifications.

If you experience technical problems in uploading your application material please contact our Chief Administrative Officer, Jessie Murray, at (530) 752-2183.

The University of California, Davis and the Department of Political Science are interested in candidates committed to the highest standards of scholarship and professional activities, and to the development of a campus climate that supports equality and diversity. The University of California is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1585

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins August 2017.

Minimum Qualifications: The minimum education requirement for appointment to this position is a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or other related discipline. Candidates nearing completion of the doctorate may be considered; however, the doctorate must be complete prior to the beginning of the academic year in August 2017. The successful candidate's first two fields of research and teaching will be International Relations and Comparative Politics, with an emphasis on conflict/security. The regional specialization will be either Latin America or Africa. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in our Master's program by teaching graduate seminars, participating in MA thesis committees, and/or reading Master's comprehensive exams.

Preferred Qualifications: The ideal candidate will contribute to other programs in the department by teaching courses in areas such as research methods, terrorism and homeland security, or other courses that bridge our degree programs. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department's course offerings: <http://catalog.csuchico.edu/viewer/16/POLS/offerings.html>

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department. The successful candidate should also demonstrate the following:

Commitment to and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds

Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our programs. Additional information about our Department is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/pols/>. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/bss/index.shtml>.

Closing Date: Review of applications will begin on October 14, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

How to Apply: All applicants must online apply at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/3718>

Complete online applications must include: CV, complete set of transcripts (unofficial acceptable), writing sample and teaching evaluations (if available). Three letters of recommendation MUST be submitted to the search committee chair at the email below.

Submit letters of recommendation and job-related questions to:

Dr. Jennifer Wilking, Chair
International Relations Search Committee
jwilking@csuchico.edu
(530)898-5960

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for CSU, Chico can be obtained by contacting the University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by accessing the following website: http://www.csuchico.edu/up/clery_report.shtml

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

For disability related accommodations please call ADA Coordinator at (530) 898-5959.

CSU, Chico is an EOE/Minority/Females/Vet/Disability and only employs individuals authorized to work in the U.S. The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1639

CUNY-Baruch College

Rank: Assistant Professor

FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

Baruch College's Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure track position as assistant professor in the field of International Relations or Comparative Politics, open with regard to subfield. The position will begin in the fall semester 2017. Baruch, a flagship college of the City University of New York, is located in the historic Gramercy Park district of Manhattan.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must have a PhD at time of appointment and an active research agenda. Candidates with experience or interest in teaching in online or hybrid formats are preferred.

COMPENSATION

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

STEP ONE - Copy and paste the link below into your browser:
https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=15254&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

To be considered for this position, please submit your application online by clicking on "Apply Now" below. Candidates should provide a cover letter describing research and teaching interests, CV, writing samples, and three letters of reference.

STEP TWO - Go to <https://www.baruch.cuny.edu/hrref/>

All applicants are required to have three confidential letters of recommendation submitted electronically by their references as described below.

Please go to <https://www.baruch.cuny.edu/hrref/> and enter the contact information for three (3) references. The online system will automatically send your references a request to submit a letter via the system. Full instructions will be provided.

Emailed or hard copy applications will not be considered.

To arrange an interview at the APSA Annual Meeting contact Professor David Jones at david.jones@baruch.cuny.edu

If you have any other questions, please contact HR at 646-660-6590

CLOSING DATE

Review of resumes begins on August 3, 2016; to ensure consideration, please apply by September 30, 2016

JOB SEARCH CATEGORY

CUNY Job Posting: Faculty

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1642

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor.

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor. The School has a particular interest in applicants whose research and teaching expertise are in the areas of public management, especially as it intersects with quantitative analysis, public sector reform, or urban affairs, although exceptional others will be considered. The McCourt School was established in 2013 with a generous naming gift which allows for faculty expansion, a Massive Data Institute, and a new Institute of Politics and Public Service.

Electronic applications are required and candidates should submit applications here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7494>

The committee will begin considering applications on September 1 and will continue to do so until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1641

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in fall 2017 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, political theory, and etc.

A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untentured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untentured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 150 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has about 10 faculty members who own overseas PhD degrees, and 4 of them are in political science. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to development a new political science program. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system of the United States and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Selection will begin immediately and continue until the positions have been filled, pending administrative and budgetary approval. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend that meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews. Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1643

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in fall 2017 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, political theory, and etc. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untentured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untentured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 150 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has about 10 faculty members who own overseas PhD degrees, and 4 of them are in political science. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to development a new political science program. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system of the United States and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Selection will begin immediately and continue until the positions have been filled, pending administrative and budgetary approval. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend that meeting and be available for an interview. For those candidates who can attend the conference interview, please submit your application before August 15th. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews. Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1644

Harvard Business School

Rank: Tenure-Track Position: Political Science

Harvard Business School is seeking candidates for a tenure-track position in the Business, Government, and the International Economy (BGIE) unit. We will consider candidates whose research interests include international political economy or comparative political economy. The search is open with regard to methodological approach.

Candidates may come directly from Ph.D. programs or from the faculties of other universities. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2017.

All applicants should have excellent academic credentials and a demonstrated potential for conducting outstanding research. The School is particularly interested in applicants with interdisciplinary interests and strong records of, or potential for, excellence in teaching.

Successful candidates will, at the outset, teach a required first-year MBA course on the economic, political, and social environment of global business. Starting salaries will be highly competitive.

Applications must be received no later than October 1, 2016 and should include: curriculum vitae, description of research, and writing sample (preferably dissertation chapters). Three letters of recommendation should be submitted online directly to the School by the referees.

To apply or submit a letter of recommendation, please go to this website and select "Tenure-Track Position: Political Science" when choosing a position on the application:

<http://www.hbs.edu/research/faculty-recruiting>

Material that can only be sent in hard copy can be sent to: Harvard Business School, Faculty Administration, Attn: BGIE Unit Application, Morgan Hall T25, Soldiers Field Road, Boston, MA 02163.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1609

Bocconi University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management at Bocconi University is inviting applications from political scientists for a faculty position at the assistant professor level, for appointment on September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in applications in the field of comparative politics. Proficiency in quantitative and/or formal methods is appreciated, given the direction of development of the political science group.

Bocconi University is a leading institution for economics and related disciplines in Continental Europe, and it is currently expanding in the area of political science. As part of this development, in 2015 Bocconi launched a Bachelor in International Politics and Government, which has immediately established itself as an ambitious and competitive bachelor program, attracting over 300 applications from international students for the 60 available positions. Political science is a major field also in the Ph.D. Program in Public Policy and Administration, launched in 2014. In addition, political science is an increasingly important component of the well-established master's programs in Economics and Social Sciences and Economics and Management of Government and International Organizations, highly selective programs that attract the best master students in Europe. Bocconi provides an ideal interdisciplinary research environment. The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management combines faculty from several social sciences (economics, political science, sociology, history, demography and public administration), who shares an interest in policy-relevant research. The Politics and Institutions Unit, at the Dondena Center for Research in Social Dynamics and Public Policy, brings together scholars from different departments at Bocconi, who contribute to research in political science and political economy. The Politics and Institutions Unit is also one of the founders of the European Political Economy Consortium, an initiative that will significantly increase the interactions and collaborations of researchers in political science and political economy across Europe.

The successful candidate is expected to teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The excellent terms of employment are competitive. Bocconi University is located in Italy's most vibrant center, Milan, a historical and cosmopolitan city in a metro area of 3 million, conveniently set near the Alps and just eighty miles from the Mediterranean sea.

Applications are due by September 20, 2016. Review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits are going to be scheduled for November and/or early December 2016. To ensure full consideration, applicants must submit:

- a scientific curriculum (including a list of titles and publications);
- titles, publications and documents which the candidates intend to submit for this evaluation ;
- list of highly qualified academic referees providing a reference letter via the on-line e-form with pdf attachments which can be found at www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket.

To complete the online process, applicants will have to include three letters of recommendation. The letters should be sent by the referees to recruiting@unibocconi.it by September 25, 2016.

Applicants who wish to arrange a preliminary interview at the APSA conference should submit their application according to the procedure outlined above by August 2, 2016.

For further information, please contact Prof. Massimo Morelli (massimo.morelli@unibocconi.it) and Piero Stanig (piero.stanig@unibocconi.it).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1624

Marquette University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Tenure Track) – International/Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: Political Economy, Developing Nations, Environmental Policy

The Political Science Department at Marquette University invites applications for an entry-level, tenure-track position in international or comparative political economy. The successful applicant will focus on development or sustainable development. The position begins with the 2017-18 academic year.

The successful applicant will have demonstrated research interests in the political economy of development or sustainable development. Ph.D. or ABD (Ph.D. by August 15, 2017) with graduate course work in the area of comparative political economy and/or international political economy is required.

All applications for this position must be received through Marquette University's online recruiting system (<https://employment.marquette.edu/>). The applicant will upload the following:

- *Letter of application
- *Curriculum vitae
- *List of those who will be submitting recommendation letters
- *Unofficial graduate transcript
- *Writing sample
- *Evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness
- *Syllabi (for courses independently taught and/or a sample syllabus for an undergraduate political economy course focusing on development).

Additionally, three letters of recommendation are required. Recommendation letters cannot be uploaded by the candidate. Applicants must arrange to have their recommendation letters sent to:

Dr. Lowell Barrington, Chair
 Department of Political Science
 540 N. 15th Street, 468 William Wehr Bldg
 Marquette University
 P.O. Box 1881
 Milwaukee, WI
 53201-1881 (USPS); 53233 (courier)

To receive full consideration, applicants must complete the online application process and the Department of Political Science must receive all components of their applications by October 3, 2016.

Applicants who make the list of potential candidates for on-campus interviews will be required to have their official graduate academic transcripts sent to the department chair.

Marquette is a Jesuit, Catholic university and seeks candidates who will contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at <http://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php>. Candidates from underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. Additional information about the university and department can be found at <http://www.Marquette.edu> and <http://www.Marquette.edu/polisci>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 7/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1583

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Assistant Professor - Politics of Western Europe

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one tenure-stream appointment in the field of the Politics of Western Europe. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2017.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field by date of appointment or soon thereafter. The successful candidate will conduct scholarly research on Western Europe that addresses important, general debates in the Comparative Politics subfield. She or he will be expected to conduct innovative research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, externally funded research program. She or he will have an emerging record of scholarly accomplishment including publications in leading academic journals and/or with leading academic presses, or will provide evidence of excellence in research as demonstrated in presentations at significant conferences, awards for work in the field and strong endorsements by referees. Finally, she or he will be equipped to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in Comparative Politics, as well as advanced courses in Western European Politics and will have demonstrated excellence in teaching through teaching accomplishments, letters of reference and the teaching materials submitted as part of the application.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see <http://www.utm.utoronto.ca/~w3pol/> and <http://www.chass.utoronto.ca/polsci/>.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. To be considered for this position, all application materials must be submitted online by clicking the apply link below. Please include a curriculum vitae, a writing sample (e.g., an article offprint or conference paper), materials relevant to teaching experience (e.g., course outlines and handouts, student survey results), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. Applicants should also ask three referees to send confidential letters of recommendation directly via email (on letterhead, signed and scanned) to the Chair, Professor Edward Schatz, at polsci.utm@utoronto.ca. To receive full consideration, applications and all materials (including letters of reference) must be received by September 28, 2016.

Please submit attachments in PDF format only. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. If you have questions about this position, please contact lorna.taylor@utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/28/2016
Date Posted: 7/15/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1627

Villanova University

Rank: CP or IR/Irish Politics
Specializations: Post Communist Europe, International Security, Social Movements

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics/International Relations at the rank of assistant professor starting in the fall semester 2017. Ph.D.

in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2017.

Candidates should have area expertise in Irish Politics with a specialization in European Politics, Security Studies, Nationalism, Immigration, Social Movements or Political Economy. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required, and the ability to teach quantitative methods is desirable. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu/postings/9285>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Finalists will be asked to submit a statement reflecting on the university's mission. All materials must be received by September 16, 2016.

Villanova University is a Roman Catholic university sponsored by the Augustinian order, located in the ethnically, racially, and culturally diverse Philadelphia metro region. Diversity and inclusion have been and will continue to be an integral component of Villanova's mission. The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and seeks candidates who understand, respect and can contribute to the University's mission and values. The department values dynamic and diverse faculty members who are committed to teaching, scholarship, and service. For a more detailed description of the Department, please consult <http://www1.villanova.edu/villanova/artsci/psc.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/16/2016
Date Posted: 7/15/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1552

Centro de Investigacion y Docencia Economicas Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, open to all subfields (CIDE, Mexico City)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at CIDE invites applications for a full-time position at its campus in Mexico City. The position is open field in political science and open rank. An immediate command of Spanish is not required, but within one year of appointment the successful applicant will be expected to teach material in Spanish.

CIDE is a social-science research institute, teaching graduate and undergraduate programs to select students in small groups. Our department was recently ranked as the top political science department in Latin America, measured by publication impact. Faculty members are expected to publish in top international journals and presses. The position offers a competitive salary with a lower-than-average teaching load. For more details, feel free to contact Prof. Luis de la Calle (who will be attending APSA) or any other faculty member.

Candidates should provide: (1) a short cover letter; (2) a detailed curriculum vita; (3) a writing sample; (4) the syllabus of at least a course the candidate has taught or would like to teach, and (5) at least three letters of reference. Applications should be sent to Prof. Luis de la Calle, Search Committee Chair, at contrataciones.politic@cide.edu.

Review of applications will begin in September 10, 2016. Later applications might be accepted but are not guaranteed full consideration. Employment would begin in January 2017, or as soon as possible thereafter.

Department's website: <http://www.cide.edu/divisiones-academicas/estudios-politicos>

Start Date: Spring 2017
Application Deadline: 9/10/2016
Date Posted: 7/14/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1602

Denison University

Rank: Pre- or Post-Doctoral Fellow
Specializations: China, South Asia, Japan

The Department of Political Science at Denison University, a highly selective liberal arts college, invites applications for a two-year pre- or post-doctoral Fellowship appointment beginning Spring 2017 or Fall 2017. One-time funding allows the Department of Political Science to offer a unique opportunity for a beginning scholar to gain valuable experience in the classroom with a reduced teaching load. We invite applications from either advanced ABDs or recent degree recipients who specialize in Comparative Politics, with regional expertise in Asia. Advanced ABDs should be at the revision stage or near completion of their dissertations to apply for a pre-doctoral Fellowship. The Fellow will be asked to teach an introduction to comparative politics of developing areas course and upper division courses in the Fellow's area of expertise and research.

The successful candidate will have broad training in political science and significant interest in undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting. Preference will be given to applicants who demonstrate interest in teaching and a strong commitment to excellent teaching. The prospective teacher-scholar will gain valuable teaching experience in a liberal arts setting, mentoring from faculty colleagues, and benefit from the intellectual life of the campus.

Denison offers extensive support for faculty, including professional-development funding, opportunities for student-faculty research collaboration, and a range of workshops and other opportunities to cultivate our strengths as teacher-scholars. Salary is $50,000 per annum. Full health care benefits, plus a generous stipend for research are provided as well.

Applications must be submitted online at: <https://employment.denison.edu> and should include: letter of application; curriculum vitae; contact information for three letters of reference; statement addressing the candidate's teaching interests and scholarly agenda [including estimated time frame of completion of the dissertation for pre-doctoral candidates]; transcript [official or unofficial]; at least two sample syllabi that reflect the kinds of courses the candidate would teach, e.g. a lower division introductory course in politics of developing states and an upper division course in Asian politics. Applicants should also indicate whether they will be available for an interview at the annual APSA meeting in Philadelphia PA September 1-2, 2016. The department will consider alternative interview arrangements (e.g. Skype, FaceTime) for candidates who are not attending APSA.

To ensure full consideration, completed applications must be received by September 16, 2016.

Denison University is an increasingly diverse, highly selective, residential liberal arts college enrolling approximately 2100 students from across the nation and around the world. Our college is committed to attracting and supporting an academically and culturally diverse faculty. Granville is located just 30 minutes from Columbus, our state capital and a city with a thriving night life and award winning cuisine. Columbus is the 15th largest metro area in the United States. To achieve our mission as a liberal arts college, we continually strive to foster a diverse campus community, which recognizes the value of all persons regardless of religion, race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, disability, or socio-economic background.

For additional information and resources about diversity at Denison please see our Diversity Guide at <http://denison.edu/forms/diversity-guide>. Denison University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

For information, please contact:

Katy Crossley-Frolick, Chair
Department of Political Science
Denison University
Granville, OH 43023
frolickk@denison.edu

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/14/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1622

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for one tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2017. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of democratic representation, particularly as it relates to the study of underrepresented minorities, either in the U.S. or cross-nationally.

Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by November 1, 2017. The application deadline is September 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted until the search is closed. All applications should be submitted electronically via <https://jobs.rice.edu/> (from this page, select "Faculty," then choose "Assistant Professor of Political Science" or "Associate Professor of Political Science," according to your level). A complete application for candidates at the assistant professor level will include (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) two writing samples, and (5) three letters of recommendation. Candidates who currently hold the rank of associate professor are asked to submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, and information for at least three references.

Equal Opportunity Employer – Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1611

Stanford University

Rank: tenure-track Assist. Professor or a tenured Associate Professor faculty position in Islam and gender.

Islam and Gender in the Social Sciences

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or a tenured Associate Professor faculty position in Islam and gender.

The successful candidate will be based in a social sciences department and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts. A focus on the Middle East and/or Southeast Asia is preferred. The appointment can be in one of the following departments in the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, Communication, Political Science, or Sociology. Teaching responsibilities will be determined by the home department.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of teaching and research interests (no more than 3 pages), a curriculum vitae including a list of publications, and a recent writing sample. Assistant level and untenured applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. Currently tenured applicants may submit only the names of up to three references at this time. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 3, 2016.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7445>

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of and applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as from others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016

Date Posted: 7/8/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1598

NYU Abu Dhabi

Rank: FACULTY POSITIONS, Political Science – Political Theory, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

FACULTY POSITIONS

Political Science – Political Theory

NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi invites applications for faculty positions in political theory. The positions are open rank. The expected start date is September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in recruiting faculty whose work focuses on political institutions, political ethics, global ethics, or comparative political theory.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016. Campus visits to NYUAD will be held in October and November 2016, with the visits to NYUNY occurring in the succeeding four weeks. The review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled. We anticipate that the successful candidates can start employment on or before August 15, 2017 subject to final budget approval.

To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit their curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, and representative writing samples. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Senior candidates are not required to submit references at this time.

Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1597

NYU Abu Dhabi

Rank: FACULTY POSITIONS, Political Science, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

FACULTY POSITIONS
 Political Science
 NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi is inviting applications from political scientists for faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenure/tenure track - senior candidacies also welcome) to strengthen its program in Political Science, for appointment on September 1, 2017. We encourage applications from all subfields of Political Science. You may visit the Political Science program's website for a description of its innovative curriculum: <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/undergraduate-programs/majors/political-science.html>

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016. Campus visits to NYUAD will be held in October and November 2016, with the visits to NYUNY occurring in the succeeding four weeks. The review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled. We anticipate that the successful candidates can start employment on or before August 15, 2017 subject to final budget approval.

To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit their curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, and representative writing samples. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Senior candidates are not required to submit references at this time.

Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1595

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor position in SOUTH ASIAN STUDIES

Assistant Professor—Social Sciences

STANFORD UNIVERSITY invites applications for a tenure-line, assistant professor position in SOUTH ASIAN STUDIES to begin in the academic year 2017-18. The scholar appointed will be based in an academic department but is also expected to make contributions to the interdisciplinary study of South Asia across the university.

The appointment will be in either the Political Science or Sociology Department within the School of Humanities and Sciences. Teaching responsibilities will be determined by the home department.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests (no more than 3-pages long), curriculum vitae including a list of publications, and one sample of recent scholarship. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted by the deadline to Academic Jobs Online.

Please go to the following link to apply for this position:
<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7402>

For full consideration, materials should be received by September 15, 2016.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1596

University of Redlands

Rank: Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for the Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017 semester.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics or Comparative Politics with U.S. expertise), with at least five years of professional experience, preferably at a liberal arts institution. We especially welcome applications from candidates from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position.

Please submit application materials (including letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, samples of scholarly work, and three letters of reference, under separate cover) electronically at apply@redlands.edu or mail to: Human Resources, University of Redlands, PO Box 3080, Redlands CA 92373-0999. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2016, and position will remain open until filled.

Inquiries can be directed to steve_wuhs@redlands.edu, including requests for interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in Philadelphia, PA.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and/or experiences in the area of inclusivity. Strongly preferred are candidates with demonstrated experience working with diverse student populations. The University of Redlands is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Employer and actively encourages applications from minority and other members of underrepresented groups. The University of Redlands does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, disability, age, marital status, or sexual orientation in its programs and activities.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1593

NYU Shanghai

Rank: TENURE/TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION Political Science, NYU Shanghai

Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Comparative Politics

TENURE/TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION
 Political Science
 NYU Shanghai

NYU Shanghai invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position in Political Science (rank open). The position is to begin September 1, 2017, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

Candidates must hold a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (or expect it by the start date); must have a record of excellent research and publications or presentations appropriate to career stage; and must have demonstrated teaching excellence and an interest in teaching in a diverse, international setting. Experience teaching non-native speakers of English preferred, but not required.

The terms of employment in NYU Shanghai are comparable to U.S. institutions in terms of research start-up funds compensation, and include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016, and will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Members of the search committee will be available to meet interested applicants during the 2016 Annual Meeting of the APSA in Philadelphia, PA.

To be considered, applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, separate statements of research and teaching interests (no more than three pages each), and electronic copies of up to three recent relevant publications or working papers. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each reference will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Please visit our website at <http://shanghai.nyu.edu/en/about/work-here/open-positions-faculty> for instructions and other information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail shanghai.socialscience.recruitment@nyu.edu.

About NYU Shanghai:

NYU Shanghai is the newest degree-granting campus within the NYU Global Network University. It is the first Sino-US higher education joint venture to grant a degree that is accredited in the U.S. as well as in China. All teaching is conducted in English. A research university with liberal arts and science at its core, it resides in one of the world's great cities with a vibrant intellectual community. NYU Shanghai recruits scholars who are committed to NYU's global vision of transformative teaching and innovative research.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. There are three degree-granting campuses in New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi, complemented by eleven additional academic centers across five continents. Faculty and students circulate within the network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1590

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The University of Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy invites applications from social scientists with a PhD in political science, government, public policy or other closely-related discipline for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor rank. Areas of specialization and methodological approaches are open, with a particular interest in candidates with expertise in American politics, world politics, comparative politics, racial/ethnic politics, bureaucratic politics, and public administration. Successful candidates must demonstrate outstanding research potential; ability and willingness to teach core and elective courses in undergraduate, master and PhD degree programs in public policy; and a keen interest in interacting with students, faculty, and policy practitioners in an interdisciplinary professional school environment. Candidates should combine relevant substantive expertise with strong interests in public policy.

Joint appointments or affiliations with other departments, schools, or colleges are possible. This is a university-year appointment and begins on September 1, 2017. First consideration will be given to applications received by October 1, 2016, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. The following application materials should be sent in PDF format to politicalscience@fordschool.umich.edu: a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing samples, statement of current and future research plans, statement of teaching philosophy and experience, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation. The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1589

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor of Political Science

COMPARATIVE POLITICS - The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position in the field of Comparative Politics. We are interested in candidates at the assistant professor, associate professor, and professor ranks. This is a university year appointment and begins on September 1, 2017. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required. Application review is underway, and will continue on a rolling basis. You are encouraged to submit your application early, allowing time for a thorough review. All applications received by September 1, 2016 will be considered. We are requesting the following application materials: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing samples, statement of current and future research plans, statement of teaching philosophy and experience, teaching evaluations, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Visit lsa.umich.edu/polisci/faculty-hiring to apply.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1586

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: tenure track appointment, health policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in political science to begin in August 2017. We are seeking an applicant with demonstrated expertise in U.S., comparative, or global health whose teaching will contribute to both the political science major and the College's emerging Health Studies Program. Health Studies has thus far been a part of the College's student-designed major program through the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies. In response to rising student demand and faculty interest, the College is now in the process of creating a formal program. Candidates for the new position will be expected to design and teach an introduction to health policy course that will serve as a foundation for students who will go on to specialize in various "tracks" within the Health Studies major, which may include Public Health and Global Health. The successful candidate will also offer advanced courses in health policy and other electives within the Department of Political Science in the subfield of either American Politics or Comparative Politics, or International Relations, depending on their area of specialization.

This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advance levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. in Political Science or imminent completion required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://www.holycross.edu/about-us/mission-statement>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/35993>.

Review of applications will begin on September 16 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done by Skype or at the APSA conference September 1-3 for those who will attend the meeting. Questions about this search may be directed to Vickie Langohr, Chair, at vlangohr@holycross.edu. Candidates are encouraged to contact Prof. Langohr in advance to express their interest and availability for an interview at APSA.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/4/2016

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 1580

Dickinson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Latin America)

The Political Science Department at Dickinson College seeks applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. Successful applicants will have expertise, and be able to teach courses, in aspects of Latin American Politics. Tenure-track faculty at Dickinson teach a five-course load.

Dickinson College values interdisciplinary teaching and learning, and many in the Department teach and research outside traditional disciplinary boundaries. The successful candidate will be expected to support the College's interdisciplinary program in Latin American, Latino & Caribbean Studies.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington DC and Philadelphia.

The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate.

Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to department chair Ed Webb via webbe@dickinson.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1574

Bridgewater State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall semester 2017 at the level of assistant professor. The successful applicant will be a broadly trained political scientist with a primary field of comparative politics. The candidate will be expected to develop courses in comparative public administration, comparative public policy and political economy. An ability to teach introduction to American government would be an asset. Earned Ph.D., commitment to teaching excellence, and evidence of scholarly activity in the field of political science, public administration, or public policy are required.

Applicants should be strongly committed to excellence in teaching and advising, and to working in a multicultural environment that fosters diversity. They should also have an ability to use technology effectively in teaching and learning, the ability to work collaboratively, evidence of scholarly activity, and a commitment to public higher education. Candidates with quantitative and/or qualitative methodological skills preferred. Interested applicants should apply online at the following url:

https://jobs.bridgew.edu/postings/search?&query=&query_v0_posted_at_date=&query_position_type_id=&435=&query_organizational_tier_3_id=any&1426=3&commit=Search

Review of applications will begin October 17.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1567

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: tenure track search, comparative politics

Specializations: Africa, South Asia, Southeast Asia

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment to begin in August 2017. We are seeking a specialist in comparative politics with demonstrated expertise in African or South/Southeast Asian politics. The successful applicant will teach Introduction to Comparative Politics as well as upper-division electives, including a course focused on the politics of the region in which the candidate specializes.

This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. or imminent completion required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://www.holycross.edu/about-us/mission-statement>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/campus-life/diversity-and-inclusion>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/35899>.

Review of applications will begin on September 9 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done by Skype or at the APSA conference September 1-3 for those who will attend the meeting. Questions about this search may be directed to Vickie Langohr, Chair, at vlangohr@holycross.edu. Candidates are encouraged to contact Prof. Langohr in advance to express their interest and availability for an interview at APSA.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/9/2016

Date Posted: 6/28/2016

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 1566

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist

Reporting to the Director of the Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, the Senior Research Specialist will work with faculty members and graduate students in the Politics Department to provide statistical and technical support for their quantitative, laboratory and field research projects.

The position requires one to work closely with faculty and graduate students in the Politics Department to provide timely and creative support for research computing. The Senior Research Specialist will work both on teams and independently, requiring only general supervision.

Essential Qualifications

Position Requires:

- Master's degree in social sciences required.
- Strong background in quantitative, experimental research and statistical methods.
- At least 2 years of extensive, independent, doctoral-level research using large datasets.
- Must be skilled in statistical analysis of individual and macro-level data, including panel or multilevel data, and programming in Stata, R and Python and/or Java.
- Must also have experience with, or willingness to learn, Inquisit, Qualtrics, Z-Tree and C/C++.
- Must be well organized, flexible, detail-oriented, and able to meet deadlines.

Preferred Qualifications

Preferred:

- Ph.D. in political science, psychology, or economics preferred.
- Experience conducting experimental research preferred.

Open Until Filled or See Position Summary

Proposed Start Date

09-01-2016

This is a one year term position with the possibility of extension.

EEO Statement

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Applications will only be accepted online via the Princeton University Jobs site:

www.princeton.edu/jobs

Search for Requisition Number: 1600477

Questions regarding the position or application process may be directed to Wendy Brill, Program Manager of the Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, wendyb@princeton.edu or by phone, 609-258-5227.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1562

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Political Theory)

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in political theory. Preference will be given to candidates able to offer courses outside of political theory, especially in judicial politics or comparative politics. The successful candidate will show evidence of teaching excellence and will have an active research agenda supported by published research or the strong promise of such publication. We prefer applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Have three confidential letters of recommendation emailed directly from the reviewer to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu. Department representatives will attend the APSA meeting, where we will conduct screening interviews. Full review of applications begins on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 830,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 6/21/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1559

Moravian College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Foreign Policy, Conflict Processes

The Political Science Department at Moravian College invites applications for a full time, tenure track position commencing in August 2017. Candidates should be prepared to offer a broad array of classes in international relations such as American Foreign Policy, Human Rights, International Law and Organization, International Security and Conflict Resolution. Candidates should also be prepared to teach courses that entail a geographic specialization with the area being open (e.g., Africa, Latin America, Middle East and the Islamic world etc.) except for Europe and Asia. Candidates should also be prepared to teach in the College's First Year Student Seminar Program with the subject matter for the seminar being at the discretion of the instructor. Ph. D. is expected by time of appointment.

Moravian College is a selective residential liberal arts college located in Bethlehem, PA with a proud tradition of providing an outstanding education in the liberal arts and sciences for men and women. Moravian College highly values excellence in teaching as well as scholarship and seeks to nurture the development of its students through strong personal interactions with its teaching faculty. The College is approximately an hour and a half from New York City and an hour from Philadelphia and is one of six members of the Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges consortium.

Moravian College values diversity, strives to attract qualified women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Moravian seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity.

Applications should be submitted electronically to searchpolsci@moravian.edu. Application materials should include letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of effective teaching, a statement of research plans, and three letters of recommendation with contact information for each reference. Review of application materials will begin July 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1531

University of Toronto

Rank: Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream position in Comparative Politics, with demonstrated research expertise in the politics of Russia/Formal Soviet Union. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence on July 1, 2017.

The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must provide strong evidence of research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by publications in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees. Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, and endorsements from referees. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted online.

Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS word format.

Applicants should also ask at least three referees to send letters directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. To be assured of receiving consideration, applications must be received by September 29, 2016.

For more information about the Department of Political Science, please visit our home page at politics.utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/29/2016
Date Posted: 6/13/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1535

University of Toronto

Rank: Politics of Sexual Diversity
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Other

The Department of Political Science and the Mark S. Bonham Centre for Sexual Diversity Studies at the University of Toronto invite applications for a full-time tenure-stream appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Politics of Sexual Diversity. This is a joint appointment between the Department (51%) and the Centre (49%) and will commence July 1, 2017.

We are looking for a candidate with research and teaching interests in the field of sexual diversity politics. The search committee welcomes a wide variety of applications from excellent candidates but will give preference to candidates with demonstrable research expertise engaging regions outside of Europe and North America and/or the politics of transnational advocacy. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must provide strong evidence of innovative research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by publications in leading academic journals and/or with leading academic presses, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees. Evidence of excellence in teaching is demonstrated by a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, and endorsements from referees. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca> and the Mark S. Bonham Centre for Sexual Diversity Studies <http://www.uc.utoronto.ca/sexualdiversity>

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted online.

Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS word format.

Applicants should also ask at least three referees to send letters directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. To be assured of receiving consideration, applications must be received by October 6, 2016.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/6/2016
Date Posted: 6/13/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1536

University of Zurich

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Position
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Postdoctoral Research Position at the University of Zurich

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich invites applications for a postdoctoral research position ("Oberassistent") in the research group of the chair of public policy held by Professor Fabrizio Gilardi (www.fabriziogilardi.org).

The Department offers excellent research support and is committed to advancing young scholars' careers. The postdoctoral researcher will be expected to pursue his or her own research agenda and produce scholarship with the potential for publication in top journals. Moreover, he or she will teach a year-long undergraduate research seminar on a topic relevant for public policy closely linked to his or her research agenda. Preference will be given to applicants with expertise in experimental methods or automated text analysis.

A minimum of two-year commitment is requested; renewal up to six years is contingent on research productivity, teaching quality, and continued substantive fit. Language of instruction is English or German. Ph.D. should be in hand by June 2017.

Please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing sample, brief proposal for a postdoctoral project (1-3 pages), teaching evaluations (if available), and two letters of recommendations to Professor Fabrizio Gilardi (gilardi@ipz.uzh.ch), who can also be contacted for informal inquiries.

- Start Date: January or February 2017
- Application Deadline: September 11, 2016
- Annual salary: CHF 60,000 (approx. USD 62,000 / EUR 55,000)

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1530

Colorado College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics/Asia

Comparative Politics/Asia

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College invites applications for a tenure track appointment at the Assistant Professor level. The successful candidate will teach departmental offerings in Comparative Politics with a focus on East Asia, and teach one of the sections of the introductory courses for Comparative Politics. We are open to approach or specialization but the successful candidate must be able to teach courses on Chinese politics. Secondly, we seek the ability to teach courses on Chinese foreign policy and welcome additional offerings on East or South Asia. The crucial elements that we seek are a candidate's commitment to, and potential for, excellence in teaching and in scholarly research.

Colorado College is committed to increasing the diversity of the college community. Further, Colorado College is dedicated to the development of faculty and staff who are committed to inclusive practices in teaching, learning, and working. Candidates who can identify the ways in which their experience might contribute to that goal are particularly encouraged to apply.

The College has a unique academic system in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. Formally, faculty members are expected to teach six blocks a year, but professors may apply for a limited number of release blocks to pursue scholarly projects. All requirements for the Ph.D. should be completed by the starting date of September 1, 2017; if not, the initial appointment will be at the level of Instructor.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcripts from college and graduate school, dissertation abstract, sample of scholarly publications, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://employment.coloradocollege.edu/user/new>.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER: Colorado College is an equal opportunity employer committed to increasing the diversity of its community. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, age, religion, gender identity or expression, disability, or sexual orientation in our educational programs and activities or our employment practices.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 6/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1525

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for part-time adjunct teaching positions. The Department may have need of adjuncts to teach a small number of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science and Public Administration. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names, addresses, email addresses and phone numbers of three references. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted. Applications must be received by July 15th.

Successful applicants will be required to submit to a background check as a condition of employment. BGSU is an AA/EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities regardless of age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1514

Bucknell University

Rank: Comparative Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa OR South Asia

Tenure Track Faculty in Comparative Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa OR South Asia

Start Date: Fall 2017

Salary: Competitive

Application Deadline: Open until filled

Subfield: Comparative Politics

Rank: Open

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Comparative Politics of Sub-Saharan Africa OR South Asia beginning in the fall semester of 2017. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach sections of a core course in Comparative Politics, courses in his or her field of specialization, and a course in qualitative or quantitative research methods.

The Department of Political Science has a distinguished record of hiring diverse faculty, whose courses expose students to a variety of racial, ethnic, and cultural perspectives, and we are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to diversity and academic excellence. Evidence of teaching experience, potential teaching excellence, and the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. or be ABD in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in Comparative Politics.

For additional information and to apply, please go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/35496>. Applications must be submitted online via Interfolio ByCommittee. The application should include a cover letter, C.V., statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, syllabi, and teaching evaluations, along with any other relevant materials.

Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Michael R. James at mjames@bucknell.edu.

The review of applications will begin on September 24, 2016.

About Bucknell University -

Bucknell University is a highly selective, predominately undergraduate, private university with approximately 3600 students. Apart from its excellent academic departments and programs, it boasts the Center for the Study of Race, Ethnicity, and Gender, which supports faculty teaching and scholarship in these areas; the Griot Institute for Africana Studies, which provides faculty and student intellectual and creative engagement with the cultures, histories, narratives, peoples, geographies and arts of Africa and the African diaspora; and the Bucknell Institute for Public Policy, which supports faculty research and teaching on issues of domestic, international, and comparative public policy. Bucknell also has a small but growing community of Asia scholars. In the spring of 2014, Bucknell introduced a 5-Year Diversity Plan aimed at enhancing the diversity of the faculty, staff, student body, and curriculum of the university. Located in Central Pennsylvania along the Susquehanna River, Bucknell is nestled in the Borough of Lewisburg, an architectural gem that has been ranked as one of America's best small towns. The Lewisburg area offers a unique combination of outdoor recreation opportunities, and appealing amenities such as art galleries, an art deco theater, historic museums, and charming independent boutiques and restaurants. In addition, the surrounding region offers outstanding schools, medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. For those who crave the city, Bucknell is within an easy three-hour drive to Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Bucknell University, an Equal Opportunity Employer, believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. We seek candidates who are committed to Bucknell's efforts to create a climate that fosters the growth and development of a diverse student body, and we welcome applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1513

Eckerd College

Rank: Comparative Politics and Environmental Policy/East Asia

Eckerd College: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Comparative Politics and Environmental Policy/East Asia. The discipline of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin September 2017. Ph.D. in Political Science required. The department seeks a broadly educated scholar trained in Comparative Politics and Environmental Policy with regional specialization in the politics of East Asia. Teach seven courses (3-1-3) per academic year, including Comparative Politics. Preparation and willingness to teach social science statistical methods required.

Candidates should have a lively interest in scholarly research and a demonstrated background in teaching excellence. Expertise in East Asian politics with any of the following sub-fields is welcome: global environmental politics and climate change, sustainability, wildlife and biodiversity, marine resources, tropical forest environments, international political economy, global security and diplomacy. In addition, field experience in East Asia, previous work in a multi-disciplinary program, and a desire to teach in study abroad programs will be a plus. Participation in an interdisciplinary, values-oriented general education program is required, including a regular rotation in the two-semester first-year program. Eckerd College, the only independent national liberal arts college in Florida, has a tradition of innovative education and teaching/mentoring excellence.

Submit a letter of application, vita, teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy and teaching interests, statement of research interests, graduate and undergraduate transcripts, and contact information for three References so that letters of recommendation can be requested, via www.eckerd.edu/hr/employment. Applications must be complete by October 10, 2016. All inquiries, including APSA interviews, may be sent to Dr. Anthony R. Brunello; brunelar@eckerd.edu. EOE. Applications from women/minorities encouraged. Will interview at APSA 2016 meeting in Philadelphia. Qualified candidates must be authorized to work in the United States for the College.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/10/2016

Date Posted: 6/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1515

Furman University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science at Furman University invites applications for an open rank tenure-track appointment in comparative politics to begin Fall 2017. The candidate's teaching responsibilities will include introductory courses in comparative politics and upper level courses in the area of Middle East politics. The ability to teach a Politics of Africa course and/or an introductory course in research methodology is a strong plus. S/he must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching and excellence in scholarship.

Furman University is a private, selective liberal arts college of about 2,700 residential students located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is situated in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Greenville has a thriving downtown and international community and is within a short driving distance of Charlotte, Atlanta, and Asheville. The Department of Political Science has 15 full-time members. Normal teaching responsibilities are five courses, spread over two terms, typically including two or three introductory courses and two or three upper level courses.

We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. We will also meet with interested and qualified candidates at the American Political Science Association convention in Philadelphia, PA. To apply please go to <https://jobs.furman.edu/postings/5738>. For any questions please contact the chairperson of the search committee Dr. Akan Malici at akan.malici@furman.edu. Furman University is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. Furman offers employment benefits to domestic partners of employees.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1505

Webster University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of History, Politics, and International Relations at Webster University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in international relations. The ideal candidate will be broadly trained in international relations and comparative politics, with area studies expertise in Asia, Africa or Latin America. Applicants should also be prepared to share responsibility for teaching introductory research methods. PhD in hand by the time of appointment is required. The normal teaching load at Webster is three courses per semester and, in this case, will include at least one online class per year at the graduate level. While quality teaching is the most important criterion for success at Webster, the department expects faculty to maintain an active research agenda, participate in faculty governance, and share in student advising and the administration of department programs, including curriculum assessment and student recruitment. Webster University offers substantial support for research and opportunities to teach at our overseas campuses.

The position starts August 2017. Please forward a cover letter, cv, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference to irsearch@webster.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. We will also conduct preliminary interviews at the American Political Science Association meetings in Philadelphia, September 1-4.

Webster University is committed to creating a diverse environment and is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to maintaining a culturally and academically diverse faculty and staff of the highest caliber. Accordingly, Webster University provides equal employment opportunities (EEO) to all employees and applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national origin, ethnicity, age, protected veteran or disabled status, genetic information, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 6/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1511

Iowa State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University invites applications for a Full or Part-Time Lecturer position to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses within one or more of the political science subfields: Theory and Methods, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Public Policy Administration. The appointment duration may be one semester to three years depending on department need and it may be Full-Time or Part-Time.

Required Education and Experience: MA or MPA in Political Science or related discipline, or JD. Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities.

Preferred Education and Experience: ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline.

Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities

To apply for this position, please click on "Apply to this job" at <http://www.iastatejobs.com:80/postings/18263> and complete the Employment Application. Please be prepared to enter or attach the following:

- 1) Resume/Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of Application/Cover Letter
- 3) Contact Information for Three References
- 4) Statement of Teaching Interests/Experience
- 5) Statement of Teaching Evaluations- Optional- Please attach as "Other Document(s) 1"

If you have questions regarding this application process, please email employment@iastate.edu or call 515-294-4800 or Toll Free: 1-877-477-7485.

All offers of employment, oral and written, are contingent upon the university's verification of credentials and other information required by federal and state law, ISU policies/procedures, and may include the completion of a background check.

The Department of Political Science has 15 tenure track faculty and a vibrant MA program which serves approximately 32 students and an undergraduate major with approximately 260 majors. Please visit the following site for additional information about the Department at <http://www.pols.iastate.edu/>

Iowa State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, marital status, disability, or protected veteran status, and will not be discriminated against. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1433

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

College of William & Mary

Rank: Comparative and/or International Development

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor or Associate Professor level in comparative or international development. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to high-level scholarship, outstanding classroom teaching, and collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level and the master's level in the W&M Public Policy Program.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or related field at the time of appointment (August 10, 2017) and be prepared to teach courses in comparative or international development.

Preferred Qualifications: Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching research methods or comparative public policy, and mentoring successful undergraduate or master's level research projects is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including a statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a writing sample. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 30, 2016. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

The College of William & Mary values diversity and invites applications from underrepresented groups who will enrich the research, teaching and service missions of the university. The College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and encourages applications from women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities. The College conducts background checks on applicants for employment. Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/> and information on the W&M Public Policy Program is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/publicpolicy/>. William & Mary is located in Williamsburg, Virginia, convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1944

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Open Rank (Tenured or Tenure-track)

Cybersecurity and National or International Security Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position (Open Rank) in cybersecurity and national or international security, global affairs, and governance to begin Fall 2017.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline by August 31, 2017. Applicants must have a track record of scholarship, publications, and/or research funding relating to cybersecurity. We are especially interested in candidates who link cybersecurity to broader social, political, economic, and policy questions in the contexts of national and/or international security. The position is part of a cross-disciplinary, campus-wide initiative in the area of cybersecurity. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to collaborate on research and grant applications with faculty in Computer Science, Engineering, and UTSA's highly regarded Cyber Security Program. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Political Science Department's proposed online graduate program in Global Affairs and/or traditional undergraduate or graduate classroom courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. The successful applicant will be expected to teach graduate and undergraduate courses on topics such as Politics and Cyber-Security, New Global Threats, and Global or National Security Policy. Scholars doing cross-disciplinary research in applied cyber security research are encouraged to apply but an applicant's primary field must be Political Science or a closely related discipline. Applicants must demonstrate potential for research publication and a strong potential to attract external funding, and have a strong theoretical grounding in national or international security.

All applicants must provide evidence of scholarly and professional publications commensurate with the rank for which the applicant is applying. All applicants should also provide, if possible, some representative evidence of high-quality teaching – ideally in courses that address cyber security in the context of national or international security, global affairs and governance. Applicants must also be willing to teach a range of courses in international relations or global affairs.

To be considered at the tenure-track Assistant Professor level, successful applicants must be able to articulate a research agenda and have an emerging record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a commitment to service.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor level, successful applicants must have an established research agenda, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their respective fields of specialization and have excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Applicants at the Full or Associate Professor levels should demonstrate an ability to acquire external funding. Preference will also be given to candidates who can teach courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science and international relations/global affairs, and/or in such areas as environmental governance, law and institutions, compliance, and/or transnationalism.

Responsibilities: Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students; pursue an active research and publishing agenda; and serve the University, profession, and community.

All information and materials associated with an application for this position must be sent electronically through <https://jobs.utsa.edu/>. In PDF format, applicants should submit the following items electronically:

1. Letter of application that states the rank for which the candidate is applying, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. Copy of all graduate transcripts;
4. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
5. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
6. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
7. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, it is the policy of The University of Texas at San Antonio to promote and ensure equal employment opportunity for all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or veteran status. The University is committed to the Affirmative Action Program in compliance with all government requirements to ensure nondiscrimination. The UTSA campus is accessible to persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1896

Australian National University

Rank: 2 positions - Assistant/Associate Professor

The School of Politics and International Relations is seeking to make two new continuing academic appointments at levels B-D (Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, Associate Professor). These positions represent a significant future investment in order to build on existing strengths in the School.

We welcome applications from outstanding candidates in international relations or international political economy. Sub-fields are open but an ability to teach courses on either: Latin American relations, Europe, gender, and methods are desirable. Candidates will be expected to teach introductory courses in international relations.

Successful candidates will have outstanding records of demonstrated excellence in research, publications, and education. As well as teaching, the appointee will be expected to have an active research agenda, supervise honours and PhD students and work collegially with other members of the School.

The standard teaching load is three courses per year, plus work with honours and graduate students.

The School of Politics and International Relations is based in the nation's capital and ranked as the leading international relations department in the country as well as one of the top 10 in the world for political science and international relations.

These positions are based in Canberra.

ANU provides attractive benefits and excellent support to maintain a healthy work/life balance and offers generous remuneration benefits, including four weeks paid vacation per year, assistance with relocation expenses, 17% employer contribution to superannuation and eligibility to apply for 6-month research leave every three years. For more information on working at ANU please visit <http://hr.anu.edu.au/employment-at-anu>

Applications close 14 October 2016.

For more information about these positions including how to apply please go to:
www.anu.edu.au/jobs

Enquiries: Dr Andrew Banfield, E: Andrew.banfield@anu.edu.au, T 011 612 6125 2679

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 1936

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor American Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning July 2017. A Ph.D is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 17, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1939

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning July 2017. We are seeking a broadly trained Political Scientist who could teach courses in international relations and political philosophy. A Ph.D. is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu.

monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 31st, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1937

Roanoke College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Public Affairs at Roanoke College invites applications for an Assistant Professor position in International Relations/Comparative Politics beginning in August 2017. It is anticipated that the position will be tenure track. The position is full time with a teaching load of three courses per semester.

We seek candidates with broad training in International Relations and who can offer courses in at least three of the following areas: International Organizations/Law, Foreign Policy, Conflict Studies, and Global Civil Society. The successful candidate will also teach Comparative Politics of the Middle East or Comparative Politics of Asia. Preference will be given to candidates who can cover both in alternating years. All faculty members in the Department offer courses in the General Education curriculum, as well as the Department's introductory courses. A Ph.D. with teaching experience is preferred, but an ABD will be considered.

The Public Affairs Department administers majors in Political Science, International Relations, and Criminal Justice. In addition to excellent teaching and collegiality, the Public Affairs Department supports and expects active professional participation and research.

Roanoke College, a nationally ranked Phi Beta Kappa institution is located in the Roanoke Valley of Virginia and is affiliated with the Lutheran Church (ELCA). It is an equal opportunity employer and actively seeks diversity among its faculty, staff and students; women and members of under-represented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

Applicants should submit curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations and three letters of recommendation to: Ms. Judith Pinckney, Department of Public Affairs, 119 West Hall, Roanoke College, Salem, VA 24153. Inquiries may be sent to: pinckney@roanoke.edu. Please visit our Departmental website at: <http://www.roanoke.edu/publicaff/> for more information.

Review of applications will begin on October 3 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1929

Tulane University

Rank: Corasaniti-Zondorak Chair in International Politics

Tulane University's Political Science Department invites applications for the Michael A. Corasaniti and Valerie A. Zondorak Chair in International Politics. This appointment will be made at the full professor level. We seek a distinguished scholar who addresses major policy-relevant contemporary international and transnational issues. The position is open with respect to subfields in the discipline and we are receptive to a variety of substantive, theoretical, and methodological approaches. The pre-eminent candidate for the Corasaniti-Zondorak Chair will have a strong record of external funding and scholarly publication, as well as an established academic reputation, and will be expected to contribute to both graduate and undergraduate teaching and mentoring. This position affords excellent opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration. Applications received by October 15, 2016, are guaranteed full consideration; however, the position will remain open until filled. The appointment will begin July 2017. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, describing research and teaching strengths, and current Curriculum Vitae to: apply.interfolio.com/36928

Queries may be addressed to Associate Professor Chris Fettweis (fettweis@tulane.edu), chair of the search committee, or to Professor Nancy Maveety (nance@tulane.edu), Political Science Department Chair. Equal Employment Opportunity Statement Tulane University is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action/persons with disabilities/veterans employer committed to excellence through diversity. Tulane will not discriminate against individuals with disabilities or veterans. All eligible candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1935

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, International Security

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Open Rank (Tenured or Tenure-track)

Global Energy and Environmental Politics

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position (Open Rank) in Global Energy and Environmental Politics to begin Fall 2017.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline. Methodological approaches are open, but the Department is especially interested in attracting outstanding scholars with research and teaching expertise in global energy politics, energy security, the U.S. global energy position, the intersection of energy and environmental issues, and especially the energy-climate change nexus. The position contributes to UTSA's commitment to advancing excellence in research and teaching about the global political implications of contemporary developments in energy and environmental systems. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to collaborate on research and grant applications with researchers working on energy and the environment throughout the university and at the UTSA Texas Sustainable Energy Research Institute. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Political Science Department's proposed online graduate program in Global Affairs and/or traditional undergraduate or graduate classroom courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. Applicants must be willing to develop and teach courses in global energy politics and related areas pertaining to international security, geopolitics, political economy, and environmental governance.

All applicants must provide evidence of scholarly and professional publications commensurate with the rank for which they are applying. All applicants should also provide, if possible, some representative evidence of high-quality teaching - ideally in courses that address energy and environmental issues in the context of global or international security.

To be considered at the tenure-track Assistant Professor level, successful applicants must be able to articulate a research agenda and have an emerging record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a commitment to service.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor level, successful applicants must have an established research agenda, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their fields of specialization, and have a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Applicants at the Full or Associate Professor levels should demonstrate an ability to acquire external funding. Preference will be given to candidates prepared to teach courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science and international relations, and with experience in online course development.

Responsibilities: Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students in the Political Science and Global Affairs degree programs; pursue an active research and publishing agenda; and serve the University, profession, and community.

All information and materials associated with an application for this position must be submitted electronically through <https://jobs.utsa.edu/>. In PDF format, applicants should submit the following items electronically:

1. Letter of application that states the rank for which the candidate is applying, research interests, teaching experience, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. Copy of all graduate transcripts;
4. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
5. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
6. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);

7. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the candidate's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, it is the policy of The University of Texas at San Antonio to promote and ensure equal employment opportunity for all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or veteran status. The University is committed to the Affirmative Action Program in compliance with all government requirements to ensure nondiscrimination. The UTSA campus is accessible to persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/31/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1932

United States Air Force Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science anticipates filling a Visiting Professor (VP) position beginning June 27, 2017. The appointment will be for either the entire academic year, ending in May of 2018, or one semester. The United States Air Force Academy, located just north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is an undergraduate institution which awards the Bachelor of Science degree as part of its mission to educate, train, and inspire women and men to become officers of character, motivated to lead the United States Air Force in service to the nation. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field, preferably with an emphasis on American Government, International Relations, or Comparative Politics. The candidate must also be strongly committed to teaching undergraduates and be a full-time "career employee" at a US institution of higher education, an academically-oriented think-tank or an educationally-focused organization. The qualified candidate must agree to return to his/her institution in a full-time status following a VP year at the Air Force Academy. The selected candidate will be subject to a security investigation and must meet eligibility requirements for access to the network and the use of government computer systems. The Air Force Academy will reimburse the VP's home academic institution for the visiting professor's salary and benefits during his or her time at the Academy, and moving expenses will be provided. To apply, send a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, and three references (ensure addresses and telephone numbers are provided) from individuals familiar with your professional work to: HQ USAFA/DFPS (Attn: Dr. David Sacko), 2354 Fairchild Drive, Room 6K-160, US Air Force Academy CO 80840-6258. Application packages may also be emailed to David.Sacko@usafa.edu. Applications received by September 21, 2016 will receive primary consideration. The Federal Government is an equal opportunity employer. The United States Air Force Academy values the benefits of diversity among the faculty to include a variety of educational backgrounds and professional and life experiences. U.S. citizenship required.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1919

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Political Economy, at the rank of assistant professor to begin as early as Fall 2017. The search is open as to research specialty and methodology. This position is pending final budgetary approval.

Basic Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department expects applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework, but has no preferred methodological approach. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/36805> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching/research interest (including a summary of teaching evaluations, if available), and sample publications. In addition, please send at least three letters of recommendation to pscjobs@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 9, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

The university and department have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1905

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics or International Relations

Political Science: Assistant Professor in the area of comparative politics or international relations focusing on the politics of the Middle East for an appointment as a tenure track Assistant Professor. The position will begin in the 2017-2018 academic year.

Searching for a colleague with teaching and research focusing on the politics of the Middle East who will develop a record of excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching, conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship, provide institutional and professional service, and contribute to the undergraduate and MA program. The successful candidate will be an expert who studies some combination of the following in a Middle Eastern setting: governance, gender politics, human rights, conflict and conflict resolution (domestic and/or international), identity politics, trade and development, energy, water, agricultural, and natural resource issues, and/or environmental problems. The successful candidate will teach introductory and advanced courses at the undergraduate and graduate level in the area of expertise, including an upper-level course on Middle Eastern politics.

Required: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, samples of scholarly writing, statement of research plans, teaching philosophy, graduate transcript and evidence of teaching effectiveness to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=3238>.

For inquiries about posting, contact Dr. Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu.

Screening of applications will begin September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University is committed to equal opportunity, affirmative action, and eliminating discrimination and harassment. Miami University does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, military status, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or protected veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, programs or employment practices. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities related to employment should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or 513-529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1902

Northern Arizona University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations and Environmental Politics

Job Description

Dependent on funding and final approval, we are seeking applicants whose Ph.D. as well as research activity is in the subfield of international relations with preferred expertise in environmental and/or sustainability politics. The successful candidate will be an active member of the Department of Politics and International Affairs, contributing to our research and teaching missions.

Primary job responsibilities include scholarly activity, teaching and student-related activities and service. The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and contribute to our undergraduate programs in political science and international affairs and our master's and doctoral programs.

Minimum Qualifications

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field completed by August 1, 2017 and academic preparation and research interests in international relations. Candidates must demonstrate an ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in the area of international relations through teaching statements, teaching evaluations and letters of interest.

Preferred Qualifications

Preference will be given to candidates with an ability to teach and research in the area of environmental and/or sustainability politics as well as to candidates who can contribute to one additional subfield (comparative politics, public policy, American politics or public administration) beyond international relations. Preferred candidates will have a strong research agenda (as illustrated through works in progress, publications, and/or external funding). Preferred candidates will compliment departmental foci in environmental politics, diversity politics and/or development politics. In addition, we encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate a willingness to work effectively within a diverse university community, are willing to incorporate web-based delivery strategies in their teaching, who show potential for cross-disciplinary collaboration, and who show an interest in applying for and obtaining external funding.

Specific Department/Program Information

The NAU Department of Politics and International Affairs is a research-oriented department that offers three undergraduate degree programs, two masters degree programs and a doctoral program. The department currently has 18 full-time faculty (both tenure track and non tenure track). The Department's strengths and foci are in environmental politics, global development, and diversity politics. All faculty members are expected to promote student learning and help students achieve academic outcomes.

The university is committed to a diverse and civil working and learning environment.

Salary

Salary will be competitive, and commensurate with experience.

Application Deadline

This position will remain open until filled or closed. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016.

Application Procedure

Specific Application Instructions Will Follow in Early September.

Application must include a single attachment, either a word document or pdf, that contains: 1) letter of interest including your relevant experience for the position, 2) sample syllabi, 3) a teaching statement, 4) teaching evaluations, 5) a research statement and any other evidence of research excellence, 6) a writing sample, 7) a curriculum vita, 8) unofficial academic transcripts, and 9) three letters of reference. Letters of reference should be sent under separate cover by referees to Heaven Johnson, Administrative Assistant, at Heaven.Johnson@nau.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1910

Northern Illinois University

Rank: Open Rank

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

International Relations/Comparative Politics/Southeast Asian Studies

The Department of Political Science and the Center for Southeast Asian Studies at Northern Illinois University (NIU) anticipate hiring a tenure-track position in comparative politics (CP) or international relations (IR), open to all ranks, beginning August 16, 2017. The successful candidate will teach classes and conduct research, in either CP or IR, with a regional focus on Southeast Asia. If the candidate's first field of study is CP it is preferred that their second field of study be IR. Although the search is open to country experts from anywhere in the region special preference will be given to candidates who have studied either Burma or Thailand. Additionally, preference will be given to candidates who can teach quantitative and/or qualitative methods courses at the graduate level.

Evidence of excellence in teaching and the strong likelihood of a sustained publication record are expected. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment is required. The Department of Political Science offers B.A., B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. For more information about the Department, please visit <http://polisci.niu.edu/> and for more information about the Center for Southeast Asian Studies, please visit <http://www.niu.edu/cseas/>. NIU is located in DeKalb, Illinois a welcoming and rapidly growing city 65 miles west of downtown Chicago. It has an enrollment of approximately 20,000 students, including a graduate student body of over 4,800.

Applicants at the junior level must send a letter of application, curriculum vita, three letters of recommendation, appropriate transcripts, writing samples, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants at the senior level must send a letter of application, a curriculum vita, and a list of three references. All materials should be sent via email to polsSEAssearch2016@niu.edu. Specific questions about the position may be directed to Scot Schraufnagel the chair of the department of political science at sschrauf@niu.edu. File completion issues should be directed to April Davis at adavis1@niu.edu.

A pre-employment criminal background investigation is required. Northern Illinois University is an AA/EEO institution and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Review of completed applications will begin on October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1912

Catholic University of Chile

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Institute of Political Science (ICP) of the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position as Assistant Professor in International Relations. We welcome applicants with diverse regional focuses. The University strongly values diversity and we encourage members of all nationalities and backgrounds to apply.

The ICP is among the highest ranked political science departments in Latin America. Comprised of a highly international group of scholars, it is a hub of theoretical, empirical and applied research in the region. The ICP offers undergraduate, M.A. and Ph.D. programs. It admits the most talented Chilean students to its undergraduate and graduate programs, and hosts a large number of exchange students and a steady stream of visiting professors from all over the world. Santiago is a vibrant metropolitan area and a short drive from Chile's renowned pacific coast and spectacular Andean mountain range.

Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to high quality research, publication and teaching. Teaching obligations are limited to three courses per year. Fluency in Spanish is valued, but candidates who express the willingness to perfect basic proficiency are encouraged to apply. The ICP offers financial support for language classes and courses may initially be taught in English.

Salary is competitive and complemented by research grants, travel stipends, and support for international exchanges. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. degree in Political Science (or its equivalent). ABDs are welcome to apply as long as they obtain their degree by the position's starting date.

Applications should include a personal letter, curriculum vitae and a writing sample (journal article, book or dissertation chapter) that provides evidence of research performance. Applicants should also include teaching evaluations and course syllabi to assess teaching potential, graduate transcripts, an official copy of their B.A., M.A., and Ph. D. degrees, and three letters of recommendation.

Please direct informal inquiries or application packages (in either English or Spanish) via e-mail to Carsten-Andreas Schulz (searchicp@uc.cl), Chair of the Search Committee until October 17th, 2016. The position's starting date is March 1st, 2017.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: 10/17/2016

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1890

City College of New York - CUNY

Rank: Comparative / International Relations

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, China

The Department of Political Science in the Colin L. Powell School at the City College of New York - CUNY invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics and International Relations, beginning fall 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in the Middle East, although we will also consider specialists in South Asia, East Asia, or China. Applicants must be committed to an active program of research and publication and will have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the start date. We will review applications starting October 15, 2016.

Interested applicants should email the following materials to jwilliams@ccny.cuny.edu with the subject line "Comparative/IR Search:" (1) a cover letter describing your academic background and teaching interests and experience, (2) a CV; (3) one writing sample of no more than 40 pages, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate transcript, if you graduated less than two years ago. You must also upload your CV and cover letter to the CUNY website at: <http://www.cuny.edu/employment.html>. Follow the link to "Browse Job Openings," and filter by City College.

CCNY is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. We encourage applications from historically under-represented groups as well as individuals who have experience with diverse student populations. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1897

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Studies and Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Middle East, Developing Nations, Conflict Processes

The Department of Global Studies and Modern Languages at Drexel University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Middle Eastern politics, beginning September 1, 2017. Positions are subject to final budgetary approval. The Department will consider applications at the Assistant Professor rank. Global Studies is a new, interdisciplinary department at Drexel University, building on existing strength in International Area Studies. This position will include a joint appointment with Drexel's Department of Politics, and teaching may be cross-listed with that department. Founded in 1891, Drexel University is a dynamic, comprehensive, co-op university located within walking distance of Center City Philadelphia.

We seek candidates who specialize in Middle Eastern politics, either from a Comparative or IR perspective. A background in peace studies and/or conflict resolution is a plus, although not required. Successful candidates will also be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to contribute to the Department's undergraduate curricula. This will include teaching and mentoring our outstanding undergraduate students, all of whom have foreign language proficiency and a broad, global outlook. We have a growing Arabic-language program and offer study abroad programs and co-op opportunities in conflict resolution and civic engagement.

All requirements for the PhD must be completed by September 1, 2017.

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three samples of your scholarly writing; and 4) three letters of reference. Only applications submitted via Drexel's online system will be considered.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016 and continue until filled. Questions should be addressed to: Prof. Joel E. Oestreich, <jeo25@drexel.edu>.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, welcomes individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, and believes that an inclusive and respectful environment enriches the University community and the educational and employment experience of its members. The University prohibits discrimination against individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, status as a veteran or special disabled veteran, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions and any other prohibited characteristic. Please visit our website to view all University Policies and Workplace Postings.

Background investigations are required for all new hires as a condition of employment, after the job offer is made. Employment will be contingent upon the University's acceptance of the results of the background investigation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1894

Oberlin College

Rank: Assistant Professor International Relations

The Politics Department at Oberlin College invites applications for a full-time tenure track faculty position in the College of Arts and Sciences. Initial appointment begins fall semester 2017 at the rank of Assistant Professor. The incumbent will pursue teaching responsibilities (currently 4.5 courses per year) and scholarship in International Security (including state and human security); Armed Conflict (wars, weapons, arms control; cyber security; conflict resolution); and/or International Law (state/human rights and obligations). To be assured consideration, submit a letter of application, a CV, graduate transcripts, and at least three recent reference letters to <https://jobs.oberlin.edu/> by October 10, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/10/2016

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1900

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Assistant Professor Transnational Feminism

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Women & Politics, Conflict Processes, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

Assistant Professor – Transnational Feminism

The Department of Political Science and the Women's and Gender Studies Program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln seek a tenure-track Assistant Professor with expertise in transnational feminism to begin August 2017. Applicants would hold a joint appointment with 0.40 FTE in Women's and Gender Studies and 0.60 FTE and tenure home in the Department of Political Science. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, a record of achievement in scholarship, research focus in feminism, conflict and human rights; human security; feminist international relations; political behavior and gender; and gender and public policy, or related areas, ability to teach Sex and Gender Around the Globe in Women and Gender Studies program and have the ability to lead WGS research emphasis in Transnational Feminism. Responsibilities include maintaining an active program of research and contributing to the teaching and engagement missions of both units. The Women's and Gender Studies Program and the Department of Political Science have a strong commitment to principles of diversity and actively encourage applications from groups underrepresented in higher education. Review of applications will begin October 2, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. To be considered for the position, please go to <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition F_160174, and click on "Apply to this job." Candidates should attach a cover letter expressing interest in the position, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a list of up to five relevant publications, and contact information for three references. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers. See <http://www.unl.edu/equity/notice-nondiscrimination>.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: 10/2/2016
Date Posted: 8/24/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1885

University of Oklahoma - Norman

Rank: Wick Cary Assistant Professor of Brazilian Studies (Tenure Track)

University of Oklahoma
 Wick Cary Assistant Professor of Brazilian Studies (Tenure Track)

The University of Oklahoma's Department of International and Area Studies, a thriving academic department in the expanding College of International Studies, invites applications for the Wick Cary Assistant Professor position in Brazilian studies at the level of Assistant Professor beginning August 2017. This new position accompanies the recent creation of a University of Oklahoma center in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil along with a new center in Puebla, Mexico to expand the university's international presence and to enrich study abroad opportunities for OU students. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests focus on political and economic development, energy and the environment, political institutions, or Brazil's international relations and foreign policy.

The person hired for this position will teach undergraduate and MA-level courses on Brazil as well as thematic courses in their area of expertise. Additionally, the person hired will contribute to teaching at the Rio Center. We hope to welcome a new colleague with a demonstrated commitment to fostering inclusivity and mentoring members of underrepresented groups.

The Department of International and Area Studies (IAS) offers seven undergraduate degrees to approximately 360 majors, and an MA in International Studies with 40 students enrolled. The Department has approximately 20 full-time faculty with collective research strengths in the areas of development, security, and national identity. For more information, please visit the IAS website at <https://www.ou.edu/content/cis/ias.html>. The University of Oklahoma (OU) is a comprehensive public research university with a Carnegie classification of very high research activity known for excellence in teaching and research. OU enrolls over 30,000 students and has more than 2700 full-time faculty members in 21 colleges. Norman is a culturally rich and vibrant town located just outside Oklahoma City. For more information, visit <http://soonerway.ou.edu> and <http://www.ou.edu/flipbook>.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment. The teaching load will be two courses per semester (2-2). Salary is competitive. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2017. Applicants should submit a letter of application, statements of teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, transcripts, complete sets of teaching evaluations, and a writing sample. Submit all materials electronically at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7636>.

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. We especially encourage applications from underrepresented groups as we continue to build a diverse faculty. The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity institution (www.ou.edu/eoo).

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/8y2m36zvt>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/22/2016
Date Posted: 8/24/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1884

University of Oklahoma - Norman

Rank: Wick Cary Assistant Professor, Political Economy or International Development (Tenure Track)

University of Oklahoma
 Wick Cary Assistant Professor, Political Economy or International Development (Tenure Track)

The University of Oklahoma's Department of International and Area Studies, a thriving academic department in the expanding College of International Studies, invites applications for the Wick Cary Assistant Professor position in political economy or international development beginning August 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates working on political economy or international development with respect to sub-Saharan Africa or Northeast or East Asia (excluding China and the Philippines).

The person hired for this position will teach thematic undergraduate and MA-level courses in their area of expertise, as well as regional studies courses focusing on Africa or East or Northeast Asia. We hope to welcome a new colleague with a demonstrated commitment to fostering inclusivity and mentoring members of underrepresented groups.

The Department of International and Area Studies (IAS) offers seven undergraduate degrees to approximately 350 majors, and an MA in International Studies with 40 students enrolled. The Department has approximately 20 full-time faculty with collective research strengths in the areas of development, security, and national identity. For more information, please visit the IAS website at <https://www.ou.edu/content/cis/ias.html>. The University of Oklahoma (OU) is a comprehensive public research university with a Carnegie classification of very high research activity known for excellence in teaching and research. OU enrolls over 30,000 students and has more than 2700 full-time faculty members in 21 colleges. Norman is a culturally rich and vibrant town located just outside Oklahoma City. For more information, visit <http://soonerway.ou.edu> and <http://www.ou.edu/flipbook>.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment. The teaching load will be two courses per semester (2-2). Salary is competitive. The appointment will begin on August 16, 2017. Applicants should submit a letter of application, statements of teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, transcripts, complete sets of teaching evaluations, and a writing sample. Submit all materials electronically at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7639>.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. We especially encourage applications from underrepresented groups as we continue to build a diverse faculty. The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity institution (www.ou.edu/eo).

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/pzxh28rnch>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/22/2016

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1883

Auburn University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Auburn University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning August 18, 2017. The successful candidate must demonstrate the ability to teach a variety of courses in International Relations including National Security Policy, American Foreign Policy, upper level courses in the broad area of national security, and courses at the PhD level. The candidate will also be expected to teach one of the university's core courses: Global Politics and Issues. Required qualifications include an earned doctorate in Political Science by the start date, for the rank of Assistant Professor. However, ABDs will be considered for the appointment at the rank of Instructor. The candidate selected for this position must be able to meet eligibility requirements to work in the United States at the time of appointment and to continue working legally during employment; excellent communication skills required. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until October 17, 2016. To apply, visit <https://aufacultypositions.peopleadmin.com>. Candidates are required to include a cover letter outlining their qualifications for the position, a current curriculum vita, an official transcript of all graduate work, contact information for three letters of recommendation, teaching evaluations (if available), a one-page statement of research program, a one-page statement of teaching philosophy, and a writing sample. Auburn University is Alabama's largest land grant university, enrolling over 25,000 students. The Political Science Department maintains a diverse faculty of 26 tenured and tenure-track members and offers undergraduate degrees in political science, health services administration, and public administration; a Master's degree program in Public Administration (MPA) with graduate certificates in Election Administration, and Nonprofit Organizations and Community Governance; a Master's degree program in Community Planning (MCP), and a PhD program in Public Administration and Public Policy. Direct questions to Dr. Paul Harris, Search Committee Chair, Department of Political Science, 7080 Haley Center, Auburn University AL, 36849. Email: paul.harris@auburn.edu. Auburn University is an EEO/VET/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1868

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies
Academy Scholars Program, 2017-2018

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences (including history and law) with a command of the language, history, or culture of non-Western countries or regions. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in non-Western cultures or regions shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Those still pursuing a PhD should have completed their routine training and be well along in the writing of their theses before applying to become Academy Scholars; those in possession of a PhD longer than 3 years at the time of application are ineligible.

Academy Scholars are appointed for 2 years by the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies and are provided time, guidance, and access to Harvard University facilities. They receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire accessory training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of senior Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $67,000, and predoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until they are awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the 2017-2018 class of Academy Scholars is due by October 1, 2016. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 6, 2016. Notification of Scholarships will be made in late December, 2016. For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <http://www.academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 1867

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Assistant Professor- Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Environmental Policy

POSITION SUMMARY AND QUALIFICATIONS

This position is a junior-level tenure eligible faculty position in the area of human security to support undergraduate programs in Political Science. The faculty member will have demonstrated experience working and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

POSITION RESPONSIBILITIES

RESEARCH

The faculty member will be central to the political science department's commitment to developing a program in human security. We are looking for researchers who study issues related to organized crime, state violence, refugees/migration, environmental politics, climate change, natural disasters, chronic poverty, and transnational social movements. This can include scholars who focus on domestic linkages to human security issues.

TEACHING

This position in human security contributes to the political science department's curriculum through teaching undergraduate courses such as: human security, human rights, environmental politics, public policy, women in global politics, issues in world politics, and politics of race, class and gender, and future courses related to the above list of human security topics. Strong preference will be given to candidates who will teach our capstone senior seminar and/or research methods.

SERVICE

The faculty member will serve on departmental, College, and/or University committees as necessary, as well as in a professional capacity in their field, e.g., reviewer, conference organizer, etc.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

- PhD in political science at the time of employment
- Demonstrated expertise and potential for publication in the faculty area of research
- Demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU

Pending approval from the dean.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1877

American University-SIS

Rank: Five Tenure-Track Positions (1=Senior Position)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Developing Nations, Economic Policy

Position Announcement: Five Tenure-Line Faculty Positions

School of International Service

American University

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for five full-time, tenure-line positions to begin August 1, 2017. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. or the highest equivalent degree in a relevant discipline by August 2017.

As a school that includes a diversity of scholarly disciplines and approaches, we seek the best candidates without respect to a particular discipline. We seek scholar-teachers whose work is theoretically grounded, empirically tested, and policy relevant. Candidates should demonstrate excellence in research and teaching and a commitment to school and university service. Candidates should also share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled, except for the Development Studies position, for which review of applications will begin November 1, 2016. For more information about each position and to apply, follow the links below.

*Development Studies (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36539>

*Emerging Powers (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36554>

*Human Security (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36550>

*Race and Global Studies (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36547>

*Transnational/International Security (One Associate Professor or Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36555>

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

Established in 1957, American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs located in Washington, D.C. SIS faculty produce transformational research and prepare our students for global careers in government, nonprofits, and business. SIS's prime location provides opportunities for research, professional training, public service, and internships in the nation's capital and around the world.

Housed in a beautiful LEED-Gold certified building which reflects our commitment to sustainability and ecological stewardship, SIS is a diverse and inclusive community of 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. Our offerings feature a comprehensive liberal arts program for undergraduates, professional education in international affairs for Master's students, and a multidisciplinary program for Doctoral students. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1843

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (Conflict Resolution)
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in any field of political science, with a research and teaching profile that will contribute to the department's highly successful Master of Arts Program in Conflict Resolution. The Conflict Resolution Program offers an innovative and rigorous curriculum encompassing the core skills and multidisciplinary knowledge needed to pursue diverse careers, both in the U.S. and abroad, related to conflict management and conflict resolution. Applicants should have the ability to field core courses in conflict resolution theory and research methodology. The department also has a particular interest in applicants whose research and teaching speak to conflict processes and their relationship to race/ethnicity, gender, youth, development, or media. A Ph.D. in political science in hand by the time of appointment is required, as is evidence of excellence, or potential for excellence, in research and publication. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The department values new perspectives on the world and is deeply committed to building a more open discipline that seeks excellence wherever it may lie. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7687>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, and three letters of recommendation. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Desha Girod (desha.girod@georgetown.edu). For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before September 20, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1862

John Cabot University

Rank: Visiting Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs

Visiting Assistant/Associate Professor of International Affairs
 John Cabot University, a four year, fully-accredited American liberal arts college in Rome, Italy, invites applications for a visiting faculty position in political science and international affairs at the assistant or associate professor rank. We seek candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service. The candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate courses in international relations. The ideal candidate should be a graduate of an American university or have experience in the American liberal arts educational tradition.

The appointment is for one semester, from January 1st, 2017 to June 1st, 2017 with possibility of renewal. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction, and have permission to work in the EU. Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, letters of recommendation, one or two research papers or journal publications, and evidence of teaching excellence to: plsearchvisiting@johncabot.edu. Review of applications will begin September 5th, 2016. Only short-listed applicants will be notified.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 1849

King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals
 Dhahran, Saudi Arabia

College Name : College of Applied & Supporting Studies

Department Name : Department of General Studies

Positions/Ranks : Assistant/Associate Professor

Field/areas of specialization/experience : International Relations

The Department of General Studies at King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals (KFUPM) in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia invites applications for full-time faculty positions with the rank of Assistant and Associate Professor in the following field:

International Relations

Applicants are expected to hold a Ph.D. degree with a strong commitment to research and teaching. Applicants are also expected to be proficient in English (spoken and written) as the language of instruction at KFUPM is English. Candidates with Middle East expertise and experience are encouraged to apply.

Salary/Benefits: Two-year renewable contract. Competitive salary based on qualifications and experience. Free furnished air-conditioned on-campus housing unit with free essential utilities and maintenance. The appointment includes the following benefits according to the University's policy: air ticket/s to Dammam on appointment; annual repatriation air ticket/s for up to four persons; assistance with local tuition fees for school-age dependent children; local transportation allowance; two months' paid summer leave; end-of-service gratuity. The KFUPM campus has a range of facilities including a medical and dental clinic, an extensive library, computing, research and teaching laboratory facilities and a recreation center.

How to apply:

Please apply online by visiting KFUPM website at: <http://www.kfupm.edu.sa>; then click on jobs link.

You can also contact us:

By email: faculty@kfupm.edu.sa

CC: c-gsd@kfupm.edu.sa

By mail: Dean, Faculty & Personnel Affairs, KFUPM,

Box no. 5005, Dhahran 31261, Saudi Arabia

Fax #: +966 13 860 2429

For additional information and to download application form, please visit: <http://www.kfupm.edu.sa/fpa> or <http://www.kfupm.edu.sa/gsd>

ALL RANKS/POSITIONS WILL REMAIN VACANT UNTIL FILLED

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1829

Northwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Methodology (Tenure-track)

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the field of political methodology at the rank of assistant professor. The department seeks candidates who connect cutting-edge quantitative methodological issues to substantive debates in political science, particularly in domains related to comparative politics or international relations, and whose research trajectories connect with “big data” methods including machine learning, nonparametric statistics, and text as data methods. The successful applicant will teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses. Applications received by October 15, 2016, will be guaranteed full consideration. Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States. The proposed starting date is September 17, 2017. Applicants should provide a curriculum vitae, writing samples, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate transcripts, and contact information for three references. Applications and supporting documents will be accepted only by online submission at www.polisci.northwestern.edu. * For questions and assistance, please contact Jill Decremar at j-rubin4@northwestern.edu.

*The online portal for accepting applications will be open in early September. Once it is available, the link will be posted.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1858

SUNY, Cortland

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, International Security, Post Communist Europe

Start Date: Fall 2017; Salary: Competitive

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Specialization: European Politics, International Relations

The Department Political Science at the State University of New York College at Cortland in Cortland, NY, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position with duties to begin Fall 2017. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment (or ABD with designated date of completion) is required. The Department seeks a person able to teach comparative politics covering Western, Central, Eastern Europe, Russia, and the European Union. Expertise in international relations also. Responsibilities include teaching introductory courses, including Introduction to World Politics, Foundations of Democracy, and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum according to the instructor’s expertise.

Course load is three courses per semester. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of international experiential activities (e.g. coordination of Model EU simulation activity, study abroad, internships). SUNY Cortland is an AA/EEO/ADA employer. The College actively seeks applications from women, veterans, individuals with a disability, members of underrepresented groups or anyone that would enrich the diversity of the College. We have a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and have interdisciplinary degree programs in the areas of Multicultural Studies.

Applications should include: a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests; a curriculum vita; the names of three references (with letters to be supplied on request); evidence of teaching effectiveness including sample syllabi if available; academic transcripts from most recent degree; and a publication or writing sample. Applications will be accepted and reviewed on a rolling basis until the position is filled. Final hiring is subject to final budgetary authorization.

SUNY Cortland is a predominantly undergraduate state college located in upstate New York with a total student population of over 7200. The Political Science Department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, but is one of the most active and visible in the college. The department has about 110 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, along with several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in political science, concentration in Law and Justice, and B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Applicants must apply online at: <http://www2.cortland.edu/offices/hr/jobs/> For more information, contact Department Chair, Political Science Department, SUNY Cortland, Box 2000, Cortland, NY 13045.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1852

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in International Relations for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in international conflict or cooperation. Candidates must possess strong theoretical and empirical skills and can ideally be able to assist in teaching quantitative methods or formal theory. Priority will be given to interesting research that builds synergies within the department. To enhance its growing scholarly reputation, the Department encourages applications from the best possible candidates. The appointment will begin Fall 2017. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files immediately. To assure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 15, 2016, but earlier applications are welcomed and interviews or campus lectures may be scheduled at any time. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by Fall 2017.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Vanderbilt is an AA/EO employer and particularly encourages applications from minorities and women.

All applicants can apply for this position by submitting a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), and three letters of reference electronically at Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7679>).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1857

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in international relations for appointment as Associate or Full Professor. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in the political economy of conflict. Candidates must possess strong theoretical and empirical skills and can ideally be able to assist in teaching quantitative methods or formal theory. Priority will be given to interesting research that builds synergies within the department. To enhance its growing scholarly reputation, the Department encourages applications from the best possible candidates, especially those who can contribute to its focus on substantively important political issues and who have demonstrated excellence in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The successful candidate will also be expected to take a leadership role in mentoring junior colleagues. The appointment will begin Fall 2017. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files immediately. To assure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 15, 2016, but earlier applications are welcomed and interviews or campus lectures may be scheduled at any time. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Vanderbilt is an AA/EO employer and particularly encourages applications from minorities and women.

All applicants can apply for this position by submitting a cover letter and curriculum vitae electronically at Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7680>).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1859

Williams College

Rank: Open Rank - Political Science/Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Development, History & Politics

The Department of Political Science and the Program in Leadership Studies invite applications for a joint, open-rank position beginning in 2017-2018. The Program in Leadership Studies is an interdisciplinary program focused on the phenomenon of leadership within a wide variety of social, cultural, and historical contexts. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses related to theories and facets of leadership as well as other areas of expertise. Particular areas of interest include but are not limited to: activism and social movements, political history and development, religion, gender, political decision-making, and political thought and culture.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. in hand by September 2017. Please upload a letter detailing current research interests and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a writing sample (one article, book chapter, or conference paper), evidence of teaching success, and three letters of recommendation to Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/36741. We will begin review of applications on September 15; any application received by October 1 will receive full consideration. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field, and applicants are encouraged to state in their cover letter how they will enhance the diversity of offerings and educational experiences if hired. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>.

Williams College is a coeducational liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Interested candidates may contact the chairs of the respective units, James McAllister (jmcallis@williams.edu) and Justin Crowe (jec3@williams.edu), with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1853

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks qualified candidates for four tenure-track assistant professor positions. We welcome applications in all sub-fields; however we hope to hire at least one assistant professor in American Politics and another assistant professor in International Relations. The department seeks excellent scholars with a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of politics.

The positions are to begin September 1, 2017 pending budgetary and administrative approval. NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Qualifications:

Candidates must possess a PhD by September 2017, in political science or a cognate discipline. S/he will have a record of excellent research that has been published or otherwise disseminated in a manner appropriate to career stage, and have the potential to be a future leader of the profession in his or her field of expertise. Candidates should also have proven ability as excellent teachers at undergraduate and/or graduate level.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at:

apply.interfolio.com/36758

with a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three references, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching and research statements. Applications should be received by September 16, 2016. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply a link to their professional website; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read <http://as.nyu.edu/page/diversityinitiative>. EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/26/2016

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1801

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications in any field for multiple appointments at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2017. Applicants should demonstrate strong skills in analytic reasoning, broadly defined, which may include one or more of the following: formal theory, analytic political philosophy, modelling, and quantitative methods. Successful candidates must hold, or expect to soon complete, a PhD.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Preferred candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information about this statement is at: <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html>). All materials should be submitted via UCSD AP Online RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JP01163>) for position: Assistant Professor, Political Science.

Review of applications will begin September 18, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1822

Humboldt State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Politics

Faculty Tenure-Track Position Starting August 2017

Department of Politics

Job #7705

DESCRIPTION: Humboldt State University's Department of Politics invites applications for an academic year, tenure-track faculty position. We seek a broadly trained teacher/scholar of global politics.

PROFESSIONAL DUTIES: Candidates should be committed to teaching excellence and to building a strong research record. Teaching assignments are expected to include an upper-division undergraduate course in global governance and introductory courses in international relations and comparative politics. We also anticipate that candidates will teach some combination of upper-division courses on the following topics: ethnicity and nationalism, international law, political economy, foreign policy, or courses focused on a world region. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to develop courses within their area of expertise. Instructional assignments will be consistent with the programmatic needs of the department and students. Candidates with interdisciplinary interests are encouraged and there is opportunity to engage with the International Studies program and other interdisciplinary programs on campus.

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching; research, scholarship, and creative activity; and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions. Probationary faculty are typically provided ongoing mentorship to be a successful member of the faculty. During the first year of the probationary period, teaching responsibilities will be reduced by approximately one course each semester (6 weighted teaching units per academic year). The reduced teaching load supports the establishment of research, scholarship and/or creative activities required for retention, tenure and promotion.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS: An earned Ph.D. or equivalent in Political Science or related field from an accredited college or university is preferred at the time of appointment. Applicants with substantial progress towards terminal degree completion by appointment date will be considered. Completion of terminal degree is required prior to the start of the second probationary year following initial appointment.

The successful candidate must demonstrate the following:

- * Evidence of, or potential for, teaching effectiveness, scholarly productivity, and expertise in global politics;
- * Commitment to and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds;
- * Record of, or potential for, involving students in research and scholarly activity;
- * Potential for effective teaching or teaching experience using a variety of methodologies;
- * Interest and ability to teach a broad range of courses (major, general education, etc.); and
- * Willingness to participate in the development of online learning experiences.

At the time of appointment, the successful candidate, if not a U.S. citizen, must have authorization from the Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services to work in the United States. For information on the University policy on support for non-immigrant probationary faculty visa acquisition, please visit: http://www.humboldt.edu/aavp/sites/default/files/04-03%20Admin%20Memo%20Approved%20Policy%20-%20H-1b%20Process_4_4_13.pdf.

Evidence of degree(s) is required at time of hire.

GENERAL INFORMATION: The Department of Politics offers majors distinctive concentrations in “Law and Policy,” “Politics of Environment and Sustainability,” and “Global Politics.” We are strongly committed to student-centered education, diversity, and inclusion. For more information, please visit: www.humboldt.edu/politics.

RANK, SALARY AND BENEFITS: We seek to fill this position at the Assistant Professor rank; however, rank and salary are dependent on the appointee’s qualifications and experience. The current California State University Salary Schedule is available at: <http://www.humboldt.edu/aps/docs/salary/Salary-Schedule.pdf>.

Humboldt State University provides an excellent benefits package for faculty. Information about benefits plans can be found at: <http://www.humboldt.edu/forms/node/934>.

APPLICATION: Qualified candidates should submit electronically the following materials:

- * Letter of application;
- * Curriculum vitae;
- * Sample of written work;
- * Sample syllabi;
- * Teaching evaluations (if available);
- * Application for Academic Employment: <https://www.humboldt.edu/forms/node/757>;
- * Supplemental Application for Academic Employment (Online Entry): <http://www.humboldt.edu/applicantsurvey/>;
- * Graduate transcripts (unofficial copies are sufficient for initial review); and
- * Three letters of recommendation.

Submission of the application materials should be sent as a single PDF document, in the order listed above to:

politics7705@humboldt.edu

Signed letters of recommendation may be e-mailed or mailed separately from the other application materials. In letter of application, please refer to Job #7705.

Please direct any other questions pertaining to this position to:

John Meyer, Search Committee Chair
 Department of Politics
 Humboldt State University
 One Harpst Street
 Arcata, California 95521-8299
 Phone (707) 826-4494
 Email: politics7705@humboldt.edu

APPLICATION DEADLINE: This position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications received no later than October 3, 2016. Early response is encouraged.

It is the responsibility of the applicant to provide complete and accurate employment information. Evidence of required degree(s), certifications(s), or licenses(s) will be required prior to the appointment date. A background check (including a criminal records check, employment verification, and education verification) must be completed satisfactorily as a condition of employment with the CSU. Certain positions may also require a credit check, motor vehicle report, and/or fingerprinting through Live Scan service. Adverse findings from a background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position. All CSU employees are obligated to respond to and report incidents of sexual harassment and sexual violence. The successful candidate for this position will be mandated to receive relevant training on an annual basis. The person holding this position is considered a ‘mandated reporter’ under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Humboldt State University is committed to achieving the goals of equal opportunity and endeavors to employ faculty and staff of the highest quality reflecting the ethnic and cultural diversity of the state.

Humboldt State University is a Title IX/Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, protected veteran status, or any other legally protected status. If accommodations need to be made during the recruitment and interview process, please contact Human Resources at (707) 826-3626 or hsuhr@humboldt.edu.

Job #7705

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/16/2016
Date Posted: 8/16/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1802

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). Each year the program selects six scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. Fellowships are awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who are expected to return to their positions, who have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and exhibit unusual intellectual promise, but who are still early in their careers.

During the academic year 2017-18, the program theme will be "The Culture and Politics of Resentment." Resentment is a powerful emotion for expressing culture and politics. Experiences and memories of humiliation, oppression, and marginalization have stimulated emotions of resentment, and produced compelling demands for political inclusion and justice around the world. Alternatively, rage against what is seen as the "tyranny of the minority," inequality, the corruption and aloofness of elites, the "foreign," and the illegitimate have generated powerful populist upsurges against the perceived enemies of a homogeneous body of "the people." The goal of the 2017-18 Fung Global Fellows cohort will be to explore the full range of phenomena involved in the culture and politics of resentment, the conditions that produce such sentiments, and the projects they advance. We invite applications from scholars whose work addresses this topic in any historical period or region of the world and from any disciplinary background in the humanities and social sciences.

Applications are due on November 1, 2016. To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. (or equivalent) no earlier than September 1, 2007. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program's theme, the candidate's scholarly record, and the candidate's ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information on eligibility requirements and the application process itself, see the program's website at <http://www.princeton.edu/funggfp/>

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1806

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Director of International Studies

The interdisciplinary Program in International Studies at the University of California, Irvine, invites applications for the position of Director of International Studies. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate or Full Professor in Anthropology, Political Science or Sociology and will begin July 1, 2017. We welcome applicants in any of these disciplines who have a strong record of scholarship, teaching and administrative experience. The program in International Studies is especially interested in candidates who have demonstrated broad interdisciplinary interests in pressing global issues. Familiarity with or interest in international experiential learning initiatives is also desirable.

The International Studies program is housed in the School of Social Sciences but also draws on faculty in the Humanities, Arts, Public Health, Social Ecology, Law, and the Business School at UCI. It is a large and cutting-edge undergraduate major, and is in the process of developing a Master program in International and Global Analysis. The new Director will be responsible for overseeing the major as well as coordinating new initiatives with the Dean and relevant departments in the School and across campus. Given its commitment to encouraging diversity, UC Irvine asks that a separate statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion be included with the application.

Completed applications must include: a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement which addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion and three letters of recommendation. Candidates may also provide a writing sample of recent research. Submit application materials via UC Irvine's online application system, RECRUIT, located at <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF03666>

To receive full consideration, applications should be received by November 1, 2016, although the position will remain open until filled.

The University of California, Irvine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer advancing inclusive excellence. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, protected veteran status, or other protected categories covered by the UC nondiscrimination policy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1786

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Associate Professor in Global Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Gender Politics & Policy, International Security

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The Humphrey School seeks to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

With this current search, the Humphrey School seeks to hire a tenure-track or tenured Associate Professor whose research, scholarship, academic leadership and service focus broadly on global policy. We will consider candidates now at the Associate Professor level, as well as candidates who are now at the advanced Assistant Professor level and may meet requirements for appointment as Associate Professor. If the candidate is hired without tenure, we would expect consideration of tenure within three years of the appointment. Although the tenure home and position will be at the Humphrey School, there will be possibilities to collaborate with relevant departments across the University of Minnesota.

The successful candidate must have strong, demonstrated applied research and teaching interests in the international policies of states and/or non-state actors, or the prospects for international coordination and cooperation in various spheres. We encourage applications from candidates who have focused on international security, transnational security threats, emerging security threats, human security, civil wars, internal conflicts, political violence, gender-based violence, gendered aspects of human security, and/or related issues. Candidates with country expertise and/or strong regional interests will also be considered. Candidates must be committed to scholarly and policy-relevant research at the highest levels; willing and able to teach in the School's core curriculum; provide leadership to its established public policy Master's and public affairs Ph.D. programs; be willing to help prepare students for professional careers; and function collaboratively in a multi- and inter-disciplinary environment.

A Ph.D. or equivalent foreign degree is required in political science, international relations, security studies, development studies, economics, public policy, sociology, anthropology, political economy, or related fields, if the candidate's focus has been on international policy and global affairs. The Humphrey School is especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated interest in public policy, broadly construed, whose approach to teaching and research is both innovative and inclusive in terms of race, gender, class and ethnicity.

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota ranks among the top ten professional schools of public affairs in the country. Situated in the vibrant, dynamic and diverse community of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, the Humphrey School's mission is to inspire, educate, and support innovative leaders to advance the common good in a diverse world. The School prepares students for leadership in public affairs in government and the non-profit and corporate sectors, and advances public affairs scholarship, service, and public engagement to address important policy issues and solve problems facing Minnesota, the nation, and the world. The School is nationally recognized for its role in examining public issues and shaping policy and planning at the local, state, national, and international levels, as well as for providing leadership and management expertise to public and nonprofit organizations.

The Humphrey School serves as a major center for public discussion and dialogue within the University and the broader community, hosting hundreds of public events each year, engaging in community-based research, and influencing policy-making at a number of levels. The School offers six master's degrees (Master of Development Practice; Master of Human Rights; Master of Public Affairs; Master of Public Policy; Master of Science in Science, Technology, and Environmental Policy; and Master of Urban and Regional Planning), as well as dual master's degrees with MBA, MSW, JD, MPH, MSCE, and MLA and graduate certificates in Early Childhood Policy, Election Administration, Nonprofit Management, Policy Issues on Work and Pay, and Public Affairs Leadership. The School also offers minors as well as early admissions opportunities for undergraduates (learn more on our website at www.hhh.umn.edu).

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The Humphrey School faculty consists of 31 tenure/tenure-track faculty, 13 graduate faculty and 20+ affiliate faculty members. In addition, there are 65+ staff employees who work in various administrative, research, and lecturing roles at the School. The Humphrey School of Public Affairs seeks to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

We would like to invite you to visit our employment site to complete your application. Applications must be submitted online. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position and attach additional documents.

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, the names and addresses of three references, a sample of recent research, and a cover letter with a brief account of research and teaching interests and experience.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Select the below link to access our site.
2. Sign In to access your account, or if you are not an existing user select the New User link to create one.
3. Review the job description and select the Apply button to begin your application.

https://www.myu.umn.edu/psp/psprd/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST&Action=U&FOCUS=Applicant&SiteId=1&JobOpeningId=312431&PostingSeq=1

If you are a current University of Minnesota employee, please use the following link instead:

https://www.myu.umn.edu/psp/psprd/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_EMP.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST&Action=U&FOCUS=Employee&SiteId=1&JobOpeningId=312431&PostingSeq=1

Applications will be reviewed beginning October 15, 2016. The position will remain open until filled. Please submit applications online and address cover and reference letters to: Search Committee for Global Policy, Humphrey School of Public Affairs, c/o Human Resources, HHH152, 301-19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Salary will be commensurate with experience. Benefits include health, dental, faculty life/disability insurance, retirement, and social security. The starting date for this appointment is August 26, 2017 or as soon thereafter as possible.

To request an accommodation during the application process, please e-mail employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1810

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of assistant professor. The position requires outstanding research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and, if available, evidence of excellence in teaching. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36630> To guarantee full consideration, all materials should be uploaded and available for review by September 7, 2016. Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1794

Hebrew University

Rank: Tenure-Track Position(s), Department of International Relations

Tenure-Track Position in International Relations: Open to All Fields

The Department of International Relations at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem seeks to fill one or more tenure-track positions beginning fall 2017.

We seek excellent candidates that can complement the strengths of our department. Candidates should be able to demonstrate strong command of international relations theory, broadly construed, conduct research and teach undergraduate and graduate level classes as well as mentor students in one or more of the following:

- 1) The security or political economy of the European Union, East Asia, the Global South or BRICS countries.
- 2) The interface between international relations theory and policy. We are particularly interested in the following domains: the environment; technology and technological innovations; gender.
- 3) Candidates with expertise in quantitative or qualitative research methods.

Junior and senior scholars are encouraged to apply. ABD's are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2017.

Candidates whose substantive research interests overlap with other political-science sub-fields are encouraged to apply also to the Hebrew University's department of political science (contact: Prof. Orit Kedar, orit.kedar@mail.huji.ac.il)

Candidates whose research interests deal with the European Union position are encouraged to apply also to the Hebrew University's European Forum (contact: Prof. Noam Shoval, noamshoval@mail.huji.ac.il)

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years after their arrival.

The deadline for applications is October 5th, 2016. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations will have to compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences.

To apply, please submit the following materials:

- * a letter of intent stating willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2017;
- * a list of required and elective courses that can be taught at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem;
- * a scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years;
- * a Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience;
- * copies of up to 3 recent publications (or conference papers);
- * names and contact information of three letter writers.

Please submit all application materials electronically at: <https://tftp.ekmd.huji.ac.il>

Candidates who would like to meet with a member of our faculty during the upcoming APSA meeting are encouraged to contact Prof. Galia Press-Barnathan at msspress@mscc.huji.ac.il

Questions about the search can be addressed to Prof. Dan Miodownik, dan.miodownik@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/5/2016

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1791

University of Haifa

Rank: Tenure Track Position - International Relations

Tenure Track Position – International Relations
University of Haifa

The School of Political Science at the University of Haifa invites applications for a tenure track position in International Relations beginning 1 October 2017. The position is open to individuals at all stages of their career, but candidates must have their Ph.D. by October 2017. Candidates whose focus includes International Political Economy, area studies other than the Middle East, and research methods are especially welcome to apply. Faculty are expected to achieve proficiency in Hebrew within two to three years of hiring.

Please submit a letter of application and CV including list of publications. Highly qualified candidates will be asked to provide additional materials (letters of reference and a sample of published work). Final decisions, including assignment of rank, are subject to resource availability, consideration of the Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences and the final decision of the Rector (Provost).

Applications should be sent electronically to the Division chair: Prof. Zach Levey -- zachl@poli.haifa.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2017

Date Posted: 8/13/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1787

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor, Director of the Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Administration

WEISER CENTER FOR EMERGING DEMOCRACIES: The International Institute (II) at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor seeks qualified applicants for the Ronald and Eileen Weiser Professorship in Emerging Democracies and the Directorship of the Weiser

Center for Emerging Democracies (WCED) to begin September 1, 2017. The II is interested in a scholar who conducts research on emerging democracies, broadly defined, and has interdisciplinary interests in the social sciences or humanities. The successful applicant will be a tenured faculty member in a department, such as Anthropology, History, Sociology, or Political Science.

The II brings together distinguished and diverse faculty and scholars with deep area studies, disciplinary, and international expertise to enrich the university's intellectual environment and to provide the U-M community with the knowledge, tools, and experience to become informed and active global citizens.

The WCED promotes scholarship to better understand the conditions and policies under which democracies emerge and autocracies endure, past and present. WCED takes a multidisciplinary perspective that is sensitive to the historical, social, cultural, economic, and political contexts in which democracies do or do not emerge. While WCED initially focused on transitions in Europe and Eurasia, the II welcomes applications from faculty working in any region.

QUALIFICATIONS

The University will give greatest consideration to the following qualifications:

1. Academic Accomplishment: The candidate should have a strong record of scholarly excellence and be well known in his or her field. The candidate should provide evidence of teaching effectiveness, including a statement of teaching philosophy and experience.
2. Administrative Experience: The Director is responsible for overseeing budgets and staff, working with departments and colleagues to promote area expertise, monitoring faculty committees, and overseeing development activities by cultivating ties to people and institutions outside the University in support of WCED activities. The candidate should have a significant administrative background and should be capable of managing a complex organization.
3. Vision and Strategy: The Director is responsible for setting the intellectual agenda and developing WCED programming that will fuel the center's continued growth and global engagement. The candidate should have the ability to articulate and execute a vision for a major interdisciplinary research center.

This is a university year appointment. Applications received by October 3, 2016 will be given first consideration. All applicants should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and names of suggested reviewers. Please provide a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence, and a statement of current and future research plans.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Applicants to this position can apply online via <https://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/apply/1041>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1775

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: William S. Dietrich Endowed Chair in Political Science

Subfield(s): Other, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the inaugural William S. Dietrich II Endowed Chair in Political Science, with appointment to begin in the 2017-18 academic year, pending budgetary approval. The Chair is named in honor of the late Dr. William S. Dietrich II, a former chairman of the University's Board of Trustees who received his Ph.D. from the Department in 1984.

In filling this chair, and in keeping with the interests of Dr. Dietrich, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship in the fields of international relations or comparative politics, or whose interests cut across these and possibly other disciplinary subfields.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh currently consists of 25 tenure stream faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. The Department's NRC ranking has improved dramatically over the past decade, and presently ranks between 20th and 30th among Ph.D. granting departments. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Please submit a detailed cover letter and C.V. electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU3>. Additional information may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1780

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

The Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a full-time position in ENVIRONMENTAL POLITICS at the assistant professor (tenure-track) or associate professor (tenured) level. The position is open with respect to subfield within political science, and we are especially interested in candidates who desire to work across both subfield and disciplinary boundaries. This is a cross-school, cross-disciplinary effort focused on integrating social, political, cultural and scientific approaches to address environmental challenges. The initiative includes a cluster hire of at least five faculty in the College of Arts and Sciences (Politics, Economics, Environmental Sciences), the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, and the School of Architecture.

We are especially interested in candidates who have an interest in, or demonstrated capacity for mentoring diverse students and colleagues.

We welcome applications from candidates in any--or some mix--of the subfields of Comparative Politics, International Relations, and American Politics.

Applicants at the assistant professor rank must be on track to receive a PhD in Political Science by May 2017 and must hold a PhD at the time of appointment, although those still at the ABD stage in August 2017 may be appointed as acting assistant professor. Applicants at the associate professor rank must hold a PhD at the time of application and must have an outstanding publication and teaching record.

To apply, candidates must submit an online application through Jobs@UVA (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>). Search on posting number 0619320 and submit a "Candidate Profile" that includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and contact information for three references.

Applicants at the assistant professor rank should have their references send letters directly to Bonnie Bragg (EnviroAsstPro@virginia.edu).

Review of applications will begin September 12, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2017, with an anticipated start date of July 25, 2017.

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVA should be directed to Bonnie Bragg (EnviroAsstPro@virginia.edu).

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1774

McGill University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Gender and Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

McGill University
Department of Political Science
Assistant Professor, Gender and Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in Gender and Politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, such as Gender and Politics, Feminist Theories and Methodologies, and/or the empirical study of gender, as well as courses in the candidate's specific area(s) of expertise.

The Department welcomes applications from qualified candidates working within any subfield or methodological approach in Political Science. While all applications will be given full consideration, we are particularly interested in scholars whose work addresses the politics of gender and sexuality in their articulation and intersections with indigeneity, race, class, disability, and/or other axes of marginalization, power and identity.

An applicant's record of performance must provide evidence of outstanding research potential and the ability to teach effectively at the undergraduate and graduate level, as well as the ability to provide supervision for graduate students.

Appointment is expected to be at the rank of Assistant Professor, but appointment at a higher rank is possible under exceptional circumstances. Candidates should have already completed the PhD or be very near completion.

Applications should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of reference, a sample of written work and material pertinent to teaching skills. The position start date is August 1, 2017.

For more information about the Department and University, visit our web site at: <http://www.mcgill.ca/politicalscience/>.

The Department maintains a close relationship with several Centers and Institutes on campus that will be possible places of research affiliation for the successful candidate. These include: the Institute for Gender, Sexuality, and Feminist Studies (IGSF), <http://www.mcgill.ca/igsf/>; the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS) <http://www.mcgill.ca/rgcs/>; the Center for the Study of Democratic Citizenship (CSDC), www.csdcced.ca; the Center for International Peace and Security Studies (CIPSS), <http://cepsi-cipss.ca/en/>; the McGill Institute for the Study of International Development (ISID), www.mcgill.ca/isid/; and the European Union Centre of Excellence (EUCE), www.centreurope-montreal.ca.

Inquiries about this position may be sent to the Chair of the Department, Hudson Meadwell, hudson.meadwell@mcgill.ca.

Review of applications will begin on October 10 and will continue until the position is filled.

PLEASE APPLY ONLINE AT: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7567>.

McGill University is committed to diversity and equity in employment. It welcomes applications from: women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, ethnic minorities, persons of minority sexual orientation or gender identity, visible minorities, and others who may contribute to diversification. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 10/9/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1765

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Political Economy

Salary is competitive with Departments at our peer institutions worldwide and ranges from $68,000-$83,500 pa.

We are looking to recruit an Assistant Professor in International Relations (International Political Economy).

All candidates must have a research interest in International Political Economy and must also show a clear and visible strategy for future top quality research. We wish to appoint an outstanding candidate but will, among equally outstanding candidates, prefer candidates with research and teaching interests in international trade and the areas of money and finance in the world economy. We are open with respect to methodological and theoretical approaches.

Candidates will need a PhD in International Political Economy or a related field by 1 September 2017. Candidates should also have a proven or developing record of publications in refereed international journals or with highly-respected book publishers based on research that is, or has the potential to be, internationally excellent and, ideally, world-leading in terms of originality, significance and rigour. Some experience of teaching International Political Economy at undergraduate or postgraduate level is desirable.

Successful candidates should have excellent communication and leadership skills and an ability to work as part of a team with colleagues across the School.

The post will start on 1 September 2017.

The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1574028.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 16 September 2016 (23.59 UK time). We are unable to accept any late applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/16/2016
Date Posted: 8/10/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1763

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Security

Salary is competitive with Departments at our peer institutions worldwide and ranges from $68,000-$83,500 pa.

We are looking to recruit an Assistant Professor in International Security

All candidates must have a research interest in international security and must also show a clear and visible strategy for future top quality research. We are open with respect to methodological and theoretical approaches.

Candidates will need a PhD in International Relations or a related field by 1 September 2017. Candidates should also have a proven or developing record of publications in refereed international journals or with highly-respected book publishers based on research that is, or has the potential to be, internationally excellent and, ideally, world-leading in terms of originality, significance and rigour. Some experience of teaching international security at undergraduate or postgraduate level is desirable.

Successful candidates should have excellent communication and leadership skills and an ability to work as part of a team with colleagues across the School.

The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

The post will start on 1 September 2017.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to <http://www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs>. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk quoting reference 1574399.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 16 September 2016 (23.59 UK time). We are unable to accept any late applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/16/2016
Date Posted: 8/10/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1762

Nuffield College, University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellowship in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Nuffield College and the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford intend to appoint jointly, with effect from 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter, two Postdoctoral Prize Research Fellows (PPRFs) in Politics, broadly construed to include political science, comparative politics and political economy, political theory, international relations and political history.

The key responsibilities of the Research Fellows are to engage in advanced study and independent scholarly research in politics broadly construed (as above); to disseminate research findings through publication and participation in conferences and workshops; to take part in the intellectual life of the College and the Department by organising workshops, seminars or conferences; to undertake teaching of 24 units per year and to assist in examining for the Department.

To be eligible, candidates should hold a bachelors and/or masters degree in a relevant field and should by 1 September 2017 have completed, or be close to completing, a doctorate. Candidates must be within three years of the award of their doctorate at the time of application. Preference will be given to candidates who have not previously held a research fellowship similar to that advertised for more than one year at the time of taking up the fellowship. Allowances will be made for career breaks (for example, family-related leave) and candidates are asked to provide relevant information. Prospective candidates should also have experience of carrying out independent research and a track record of excellent quality papers appropriate for and commensurate with their career level. They should have the ability to provide excellent teaching to high-achieving students; the willingness to contribute to the intellectual life of the College and the Department; and excellent oral and written communication skills.

The posts are full-time and fixed-term for three years, starting on 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter. The salary offered is GBP 30,114 per annum. Research Fellows are entitled to single accommodation in College (at a subsidised rate). Further benefits include a research allowance, free lunch and dinner in College and child support funds.

Further particulars, including information on how to apply, are available from the College web page: <http://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/About/Vacancies/Documents/PolPPRF.pdf> or from the College Registrar, Nuffield College, Oxford OX1 1NF. Email: pprf@nuffield.ox.ac.uk.

The deadline for applications is Tuesday 13 September 2016.

The College exists to promote excellence in education and research, and is an equal opportunities employer committed to equality and valuing diversity. Applications are particularly welcome from black and minority ethnic candidates, who are currently under-represented in posts in the College.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/13/2016
Date Posted: 8/10/2016
Salary: $30,000 - $39,999
eJobs ID: 1761

Emory University

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations or Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor – International Relations or Comparative Politics
 Department of Political Science
 Emory University
 Atlanta, GA

The Department of Political Science at Emory University seeks to hire an International Relations or Comparative Politics scholar with expertise in political economy, development, or conflict, to begin in the fall semester 2017. The position is tenure-track at the level of Assistant Professor, though in extraordinary circumstances a senior appointment may be considered. We welcome a range of methods and perspectives.

The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in both research and teaching. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. or be very close to completing the Ph.D. by September 2017. The teaching load is four courses per year and benefits are competitive.

A complete application will consist of a cover letter that includes a research statement, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Application review will begin on September 9, 2016; to ensure full consideration all materials should be received by this date. To apply for this position, please visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/36551> and submit your materials free of charge through Interfolio.

Emory University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Disability/Veteran employer. The Department of Political Science, Emory College, and Emory University are all strongly committed to recruiting female and minority candidates. Women, minorities, persons with disabilities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/9/2016
Date Posted: 8/9/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1743

Morehouse College

Rank: Assistant Professor -- International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should be trained in the area of international relations and be able to teach courses in both international relations and comparative politics. The area of specialization is open, though there is a preference for applicants who can contribute to the College's educational mission regarding African and African-American history and culture and/or the legacy of international peace and non-violence.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 3-3 load), advising, and mentoring students; developing and maintaining a scholarly research and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources. The start date for the position is August 2017, and possibly January 2017 if a suitable candidate is identified and appointed. Minimum qualifications include a PhD in political science; commitment to excellence in teaching; evidence of a productive research program; and service to the profession and community.

A successful application will consist of the following: a letter of application providing detail on how the candidate meets the qualifications for the position and why they are a good fit for Morehouse College in particular (no more than 2 pages); a current curriculum vitae (no more than 4 pages); a statement of teaching philosophy (no more than 2 pages); a research/scholarship agenda (no more than 2 pages); three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates also have the option of sharing the following: sample syllabi (no more than 2 courses); samples of research (no more than 2 samples); teaching evaluations or summaries of evaluations (no more than 2 courses, but if submitted, only submit full class evaluations and not samples of class evaluations).

All application materials must be submitted online: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36492>

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until September 30th. We will be interviewing at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Service on Friday, September 2nd and Saturday, September 3rd. Applicants who wish to be considered for an APSA interview should send a cover letter and CV, by August 22nd, to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

Morehouse College is an equal opportunity employer. No employee or applicant will be discriminated against in any condition of employment because of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or any other status protected by law.

About Morehouse

Morehouse College is a private historically black liberal arts college for men whose mission is to develop men with disciplined minds to lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of black people. Since the founding of the College in 1867, the faculty, staff, and leadership have worked to inspire, nurture, challenge, support, and engage students with the expressed intent of fomenting a very special kind of development.

Morehouse has a very proud tradition of having developed leaders, with the most notable of course being Martin Luther King, Jr. (class of 1948). Each era has defined the qualities of a Morehouse Man—an expression of the expectations we have of our graduates—a bit differently, but there are some enduring constants. Backed by nearly 150 years of history, we see our work as helping to shape men of acuity, integrity and agency; men who will commit to brotherhood, standing together with their peers to cheer, challenge and support each other; and men who will strive to lead consequential lives, to not just do well for themselves, but to do good in the world.

Our strong legacy is continued now as we claim a number of successes. Morehouse is the number one baccalaureate origin institution for black male doctorate recipients in science and engineering, life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences, education, and humanities over the decade ending 2012 according to the National Science Foundation. We are the top producer of underrepresented minority physics baccalaureates among non-PhD granting institutions over the three years ending in 2013 as measured by the American Physical Society. And the College just this year became the only non-majority college or university to have produced four Rhodes Scholars. Our graduates include not only men like King and Julian Bond, but Spike Lee, David Satcher, Eddie Glaude, Jim Shelton, and many more operating in and out of academia in some way.

The College offers instructional programs in three divisions—business and economics, humanities and social sciences, and sciences and mathematics—as well as extracurricular and co-curricular activities that, combined with the academic program: foster the development of oral and written communication skills; foster appreciation of world cultures, artistic, creative expression and the nature of the physical universe; promote understanding of the specific skills needed to pursue professional careers and graduate study; and cultivate the personal attributes of self-confidence, tolerance, morality, ethical behavior, spirituality, humility, global perspective, and commitment to justice.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/30/2016
Date Posted: 8/9/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1759

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: International Relations/IPE
Specializations: International Political Economy, Quantitative Methods, Foreign Policy

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University New Brunswick anticipates hiring 12 new faculty members over the next 4 years, mostly at the Assistant Professor level. Our needs extend to all subfields, although they are particularly strong in International Relations, American Politics, and Methods (statistical and formal). As part of this initiative, we now seek applicants for a full time, tenure track Assistant Professor position in International Relations, beginning September 1, 2017. We have a strong preference towards someone with advanced quantitative and/or game-theoretic skills and an interest in International Political Economy, although other substantive interests in IR will also be considered. Candidate must be able to teach standard undergraduate survey courses in IR. Ability to teach a graduate level course in MLE a big plus.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36595>. Review of applicants will begin on October 1 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/9/2016
Salary: $80,000 - $89,999
eJobs ID: 1750

University of California, Merced

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The University of California, Merced opened in September 2005 as the tenth campus of the University of California system. In keeping with the mission of the UC to provide research, teaching, and public service of the highest quality, UC Merced provides educational opportunities at the undergraduate, masters and doctoral levels through three academic schools: Engineering; Natural Sciences; and Social Sciences, Humanities and the Arts.

The School of Social Sciences, Humanities and Arts invites applications for two positions in either Political Institutions or Political Behavior with a substantive focus in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations, at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track).

In order to be considered, the selected candidate must have a PhD in political science or a related field at the time of appointment.

The anticipated start date for this position is July 1, 2017.

Applications must be submitted online. Completed applications, including letters of recommendation, must be received no later than September 15, 2016 to receive consideration. Applicants are required to submit 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research; 4) a statement of teaching; 5) up to two writing samples; 6) a list of references with contact information including mailing address, phone number, and e-mail address; and 7) a contributions to diversity statement.

The Contributions to Diversity Statement should describe your past experience, activities and future plans to advance diversity, equity and inclusion, in alignment with UC Merced's mission to reflect the diversity of California and to meet the educational needs and interests of its diverse population. Some faculty candidates may not have substantial past activities. If that is the case, we recommend focusing on future plans in your statement. A more developed and substantial plan is expected for senior candidates. For additional information on what should be included on your Diversity Statement, please visit <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html#Are-there-any-guidelines-for-wr>.

Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted online. After an application is submitted, the letters of reference should be electronically uploaded by the letter writers (instructions will be provided by the application system). Letters of reference should be received no later than September 15, 2016.

The University of California, Merced is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of diversity among its faculty, students and staff.

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and UC academic salary scales.

For additional information, please contact Courtenay Conrad at cc Conrad@ucmerced.edu.

To apply, please visit <https://aprecruit.ucmerced.edu/apply/JPF00369>.

Applicants will be notified when the final candidate has been selected.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/8/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1715

West Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice at West Texas A&M University invites applications for a tenure-track position in international relations, beginning fall semester 2017. We seek candidates with a promising research agenda in the relations among nation-states in Latin America, especially issues concerning women and minorities. The ability to teach courses in American national government is required and courses in quantitative and qualitative research design is desired. Additionally, the position includes teaching a mix of introductory and upper-level courses with a 4-4 load and participation in university service.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 12/16/2016
Date Posted: 8/8/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1744

Dartmouth College

Rank: Endowed Chair in Transnational Studies

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for appointment to a newly endowed chair in transnational studies, which includes scholarship on the roles of both state and non-state actors in international relations, in international political economy, and in the maintenance of security and political order. The appointment is open to any rank. The successful candidate's research and teaching should enhance the scholarly reputation of the Department of Government and also advance the mission of the Dickey Center for International Understanding, making significant contributions to contemporary policy debates in the United States and/or the international community. The position requires excellence in research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest and CV, including names and contact information for at least three references.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/28340>

Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/5/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1739

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, International Political Economy

Assistant Professor, International Relations

About University at Albany:

Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,300 students in eight schools and colleges across three campuses.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

The Political Science Department at the University at Albany, SUNY is seeking a tenure-track colleague with a specialty in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor. For the position, we have a strong preference for candidates with expertise in international security and conflict, foreign policy, international political economy, and/or global governance. Priority will be given to candidates with promising research agendas and those that can build synergies with existing subfield members. We will also prioritize hiring a candidate with strong prospects for excellent undergraduate teaching. Candidates with a well-developed expertise in quantitative or qualitative methods and the ability to provide graduate-level training and mentoring in methods are preferred. An ability to teach the International Relations graduate field seminar is also a requirement. Evidence of successful pursuit of external funding and/or experience with online, blended, or experiential learning is a plus. Lastly, evidence of engagement in the broader academic community is a plus.

Located in a major governmental center, the department has 21 full-time members and offers degrees at the bachelors', masters', and doctoral level. International Relations is a separate graduate field with three dedicated lines, and the successful candidate may also play a role in the new Master's in International Affairs. The new colleague will be expected to teach courses in the field at the undergraduate and graduate level and assist with graduate student training and advising. Teaching load is two courses per semester. Salary and benefits are competitive. The University at Albany (www.albany.edu) is one of four designated University Centers in the SUNY system.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

- Candidates should have an earned Ph.D. in hand by starting date, but advanced ABDs may be considered. The degree must be from a college or university accredited by a US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization.
- Candidates must demonstrate the ability to work with and instruct a culturally and otherwise diverse population.

Additional Information:

Professional Rank and Salary Range: Assistant Professor
The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=74742>

A review of applications will start on September 9, 2016, and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1738

University of Oregon

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oregon invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning September 2017, and will consider candidates in either of two areas: International Political Economy/International Organization or Comparative Politics with a specialization in Chinese politics. IPE/IO candidates are required to have demonstrated quantitative research interests and teaching abilities and should be capable of teaching an undergraduate/graduate methods course. For comparative/China candidates, we are open to varied methodological orientations. The successful candidate is expected to conduct a rigorous research program, and to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The University of Oregon and the Department of Political Science are committed to creating a more inclusive and diverse institution and seek candidates with demonstrated potential to contribute positively to its diverse community.

Apply online at academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7568. Interested applicants should submit a letter describing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, three letters of recommendation, employment application, one writing sample, syllabi and teaching evaluations, if available. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required by September 15, 2017.

To ensure full consideration, application materials must be submitted by October 1, 2016. This position will remain open until filled. This is a paperless search; contact psjobs@uoregon.edu with questions or concerns.

The University of Oregon is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the ADA. The University encourages all qualified individuals to apply, and does not discriminate on the basis of any protected status, including veteran and disability status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1735

University of Tennessee

Rank: Assistant Professor--International Relations

University of Tennessee-Knoxville

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in International Relations to begin Fall 2017. While the department seeks a scholar broadly trained in theories of international politics and will review applications from all specializations including international political economy, it has a preference for candidates who can enhance our disciplinary presence in security policy/conflict processes (e.g. political violence, terrorism, civil war) and foreign policy. Applicants with a research focus on sub-state conflict processes are especially encouraged to apply. The successful candidate must have strong research skills, including training in quantitative and/or formal methods, and must have a clear research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed journals. We are particularly interested in applicants who address substantively important questions using rigorous analytical approaches. Ability to contribute to the department's methods sequence would be highly desirable. Preference will be shown for applicants with teaching and research interests that complement existing departmental interests, have a record of extramural funding commensurate with experience, and demonstrate evidence of college/university teaching excellence. The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: <http://web.utk.edu/~polisci>. The Knoxville campus of the University of Tennessee is seeking candidates who have the ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the diversity and intercultural goals of the University.

Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be sent directly to the search committee. All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science must be finished at the time of appointment. All materials should be mailed or sent electronically to: Professor Brandon Prins, Chair, International Relations Search Committee, Howard Baker Center for Public Policy, 1640 Cumberland Avenue, Room 340, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, TN 37996-3340. Review of applications will begin October 5, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Brandon Prins at bprins@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, or covered veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1727

Yale University

Rank: Open Rank Position in International Relations

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applicants for a position in International Relations to begin July 1, 2017.

The position is open rank. We are interested in candidates from all areas of International Relations, though we have a particular interest in those with expertise in International Political Economy and International Organization.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required.

Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <https://apply.interfolio.com/36890>. Review of applications and nominations will begin September 5, 2016, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Yale is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Yale University values diversity among its staff, students, and faculty and strongly encourages applications from and nominations for women and underrepresented minorities, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1716

Georgetown University

Rank: Associate or Assistant Professor of Development

The Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service and the Global Human Development Program at Georgetown University invite applications for a position at the rank of either Associate Professor (tenure level) or Assistant Professor (tenure track) in fields related to development to begin in the Fall of 2017. Relevant doctoral disciplines include economics, political economy, political science, and/or public policy, though others may be considered, with strong expertise in sub-fields directly related to development. While we are especially interested in candidates with strong quantitative skills, candidates bringing other approaches to analysis and research are also welcome.

Applicants should have substantial applied research accomplishments, an ambitious research agenda on development, and a strong record of excellence in teaching. Experience working in developing countries is a plus.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a representative writing sample, and evidence of teaching record (e.g., course evaluations). Those applying for consideration at the assistant professor level should also submit three letters of recommendation.

All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7561> Faxed, emailed, or mailed applications will not be accepted.

Applications accepted immediately with review beginning on September 15, and continuing until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1706

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a position in the field of International Relations. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time.

For best consideration apply by September 1, 2016.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1698

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/?q=node/1>) seeks applications for a tenure track assistant professor in International Relations. We are open with respect to specialization within IR, and successful candidates will add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) to (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files may be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search. Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to International Relations Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1690

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Faculty Member

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Developing Nations, International Security, International Political Economy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies, is a Department of Defense academic institution providing a forum where current and future military and civilian leaders from 45 Asia-Pacific nations gather to foster improved multinational and interagency security cooperation and coordination in the Asia-Pacific region through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, professional exchanges at conferences, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Center invites applications for:

FACULTY MEMBER

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world class educator to teach, facilitate, and conduct research. Responsibilities include:

- Teaching elective courses and lecturing on selected regional security topics within executive education courses;
- Facilitating seminars and planning and conducting workshops locally and throughout the Asia-Pacific region;
- Contributing to syllabus development;
- Conducting and publishing individual and group research;
- Performing various administrative and staff duties to support Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies academic functions.

Particular expertise is sought in the following areas:

- Crisis and disaster management expertise at the operational and/or strategic policy level, including risk cycles, reduction and resiliency, humanitarian assistance, recovery and reconstruction, and governance, with a focus on crisis prevention and development mainstreaming in the Asia-Pacific region. Knowledge of national crisis and international disaster frameworks, strategies, mechanisms and related subjects is desirable.
- Organizational and crisis leader development education with an emphasis on defense institution building, civil-military, inter-agency and cross-sector coordination, crisis planning and information sharing.
- Security and defense sector governance, development and capacity building, ideally with experience with national security consultations, security sector wide coordination, and/or strategic planning as related to the evolution and transformation of roles and responsibilities of security agencies.

Required minimum qualifications include:

- Master's Degree or equivalent in Security or Defense studies, Political Science, Governance, Disaster Management, Development and Urban Planning, Public Health, Humanitarian Assistance, Political Science, International Relations, or a related discipline with extensive experience in the region. A Ph.D. is desirable, but not required.
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation.

The following is "preferred" for ALL Faculty positions:

- Expertise in security, defense, and/or political-economic issues in one or more countries in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Living or working experience in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Ability to converse in an Asian language.

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $84,384 - $135,000 (includes HI Locality pay but excludes cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 12.05% but subject to change). These are limited-term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years (with the possibility of renewal). Relocation expenses may be authorized.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

1. Interested candidates should submit the following items:
 - a. LETTER OF INTEREST. Provide a brief description of your vocational goals, personal interests and expected areas of study in the coming year, and explain your interest in future career considerations with the Department of Defense.
 - b. CURRICULUM VITAE. Should reflect the following: educational background, work experience, publications and salary history.
 - c. TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.
 - d. TRANSCRIPT(s). Provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting advance degree(s).
2. Submit all required documents to physical address:

Chief, Human Resources Department
 Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies
 2058 Maluhia Road
 Honolulu, Hawaii 96815-1949

or email to:

hrdapplications-apcss@hawaii.rr.com

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

1. Application deadline: Open until filled. First cut off: 31 August 2016; Second cut off: 30 September 2016.
2. Applications will be considered against current Faculty requirements. Application packages will be retained for one year.
3. Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of the Defense and will not be returned.
4. Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to two samples of their own publications.
5. The Department of the Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor. U.S. Citizenship is not required however applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
6. The Department of the Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrdapplications-apcss@hawaii.rr.com to ensure that the Department of the Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.
7. Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: www.apcss.org.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/31/2016
Date Posted: 7/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1687

Singapore Management University

Rank: Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor in Political Science

Political Science Position – Open Rank
 Singapore Management University, School of Social Sciences

The School of Social Sciences (SOSS), Singapore Management University, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Political Science at the Full, Associate or Assistant Professor rank.

Candidates with expertise in International Relations, preferably with a focus on Asia, are invited to apply.

We are seeking candidates with a record of, or high potential for, scholarly research, as well as demonstrated teaching aptitude. The position requires a doctorate in Political Science or a closely related field. Successful candidates should be prepared to teach both introductory courses and advanced electives, particularly focused on Asia.

Singapore Management University is a research university committed to an interdisciplinary and integrated curriculum, providing opportunities to work with faculty across the social sciences. The research support is excellent and salary and benefits are highly competitive. The teaching load is comparable to other research universities, and classes are capped at no more than 45 students.

Full evaluation of applications will start 15 September 2016. Interviews for shortlisted candidates will be conducted in October 2016. The successful candidates will be expected to start at Singapore Management University in July 2017.

The application package should be in electronic form and include: a cover letter describing research and teaching interests, an up-to-date curriculum vitae (including teaching experience and a list of referees), and three selected publications (clarifying why the three publications were selected). Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to: The Dean's Office, School of Social Sciences, Singapore Management University, 90 Stamford Road, Level 4, Singapore 178903, or e-mailed to: socialsciencescv@smu.edu.sg

Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/14/2016
Date Posted: 7/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1680

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Open Rank

The Department of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track appointment in the field of international relations, with a specialty in international political economy. Tenured candidates must have a record of excellence in research and teaching. Tenure-track candidates must show promise of excellence in research and in teaching.

The University of Notre Dame, a Catholic research university, is an equal opportunity employer with strong academic commitments to racial, cultural, and gender diversity. Individuals from historically underrepresented groups and those attracted to a university with a Catholic identity are particularly encouraged to apply. Information about Notre Dame, including our mission statement, is available at www.nd.edu.

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and partners with their job search.

All applicants should include a CV, letter of interest, writing samples, teaching evaluations, and three signed letters of recommendation. All files should be received by September 15 to receive full consideration. Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36441>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1682

University of Virginia

Rank: AMBASSADOR HENRY J. TAYLOR CHAIR IN GLOBAL POLITICS

The College and Graduate School of Arts & Sciences with 10,000 students and 750 faculty members, is the largest of the University of Virginia's 11 schools and is the institution's intellectual core. Our mission is to equip our students with the ability and desire to make a difference in the world and inspire others to do the same. We aspire to be a leader in research and graduate education while maintaining our long-standing reputation for excellence in undergraduate education and exceptional teaching.

The UVa Arts & Sciences department of Politics invites distinguished scholars to apply for the newly established AMBASSADOR HENRY J. TAYLOR CHAIR IN GLOBAL POLITICS professorship with tenure. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. and have a record worthy of an appointment at the full Professor rank.

We seek scholars of global politics, broadly defined, who have demonstrated scholarly excellence and leadership in the subfields of Comparative Politics and International Relations, or both. We are open to various substantive and regional specialties, theoretical orientations, and methodological approaches. Competitive candidates will have a distinguished record of scholarly achievement and the promise of more to come. They are also expected to have distinguished records of teaching and service. The Department of Politics is strongly committed to enhancing faculty and student diversity.

This position will remain open until filled.

To apply candidates must submit an online application through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>). Search on posting number 0617065 and submit a "Candidate Profile" that includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references.

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVa should be directed to Bonnie Bragg at bb6a@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1673

Wabash College

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Political Science (International Relations)

The Political Science Department at Wabash College invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position beginning July 1, 2017. We anticipate hiring at the Assistant Professor level, but will consider candidates of any rank. A Ph.D. is expected at the time of appointment.

The successful candidate will teach three courses per semester. Teaching responsibilities will include introductory International Relations and a range of upper-level undergraduate political science courses, as well as all-college courses (Freshman Tutorial and Enduring Questions). Any specialization or regional focus will be considered, but we are especially interested in candidates who are willing to develop courses on Asian, Latin American and/or African politics. An active research program and a commitment to excellent teaching are required, and we will give preference to candidates with a strong commitment to the liberal arts, college-level teaching experience, support for undergraduate research, and an ability to work effectively with a diverse student body.

This position is a Byron K. Trippet assistant professorship, which provides support for research and professional development. Wabash College is committed to immersion learning and in recent years, Political Science courses have included week-long trips to Italy, France, the United Kingdom, Germany, and Cuba. We encourage applications from candidates who are excited to participate in and expand these opportunities for immersion learning through travel.

Wabash College, a liberal arts college for men, is located in Crawfordsville, Indiana, approximately 45 minutes from both Indianapolis and West Lafayette. In addition to the amenities these cities offer, Crawfordsville is located near some of the best outdoor recreational opportunities in the state. For more information about the College and the local area, see <http://www.wabash.edu>.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 15, 2016. To apply, visit <http://www.wabash.edu/employment/home> and submit your cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, undergraduate and graduate transcripts, and e-mail addresses for three persons who Wabash College will contact to request confidential letters of recommendation. In addition to highlighting your research experience and trajectory, your cover letter should indicate which courses you have taught, which courses you are immediately ready to teach, as well as those you would be willing and able to prepare. Initial interviews will be conducted via Skype. Please direct questions to Pam Sacco, Administrative Assistant for the Social Science Division, at saccop@wabash.edu or Ethan Hollander, Chair of the Political Science Department, at hollande@wabash.edu.

The College seeks faculty and staff who are committed to providing quality engagement with students, high levels of academic challenge and support, and meaningful experiences that prepare students for life and leadership in a diverse, multicultural world. Wabash is an equal opportunity employer and welcomes applications from persons of all backgrounds.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/27/2016
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 1677

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position in Environmental Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Duke Kunshan University seeks applicants for a cluster hire effort for the newly established Environment Program. Duke Kunshan will grow a core faculty with expertise in environmental economics, policy, and science as part of its interdisciplinary research and education initiative. We are seeking to fill five faculty positions (rank open) to start as early as spring 2017 to staff the Environment Research Center and a new international Master's in Environmental Policy (iMEP) program. Researchers will help to establish a research hub for evidence-based environmental science and policy studies with a focus on big data and empirical methods. Although we will consider high quality applicants from all disciplines related to the environment, we are especially interested in hiring a mix of social and natural scientists. Desired expertise for the environmental social scientist includes, but is not limited to, environmental economics, survey methods, applied quantitative analysis, environmental negotiation, environmental policy analysis and public policy, and political science. For the positions in environmental science, preference will be given to environmental scientists interested in collaborating with social scientists and policy-makers and who brings expertise in modeling and/or working with environmental data. Topics such as air and water pollution, energy, climate change, food, ecology and conservation are of great interest to Duke Kunshan.

Duke Kunshan University currently hosts an active Global Health Research Center and offers master's degrees in global health, medical physics, and management studies. Following approval by China's Ministry of Education, the iMEP will be offered in fall 2017 at Duke Kunshan as a Duke University degree issued jointly by Duke's Nicholas School of the Environment and Sanford School of Public Policy.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in an appropriate field. Postdoctoral research/training experience is highly desirable. Candidates must demonstrate an ability to conduct outstanding independent research. Candidates whose research is interdisciplinary centered on environment science and policy are strongly encouraged to apply.

We request from all applicants a curriculum vitae, a research statement and a teaching statement. Applicants should also provide names and contact information for three references. All these materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online. The application address is <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7105>.

The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the position may be sent to environment-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using "Environment Research" as the subject line.

Priority will be given to applications received by September 15, 2016 and applications will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled.

Duke Kunshan University provides excellent compensation, benefits and start-up packages, which are comparable to those of U.S. institutions.

Duke Kunshan University is a partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China. The Duke Kunshan University campus is located 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, which is connected to Shanghai via a 19-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system.

As an international intellectual community that encourages diversity, openness and creative learning, Duke Kunshan University welcomes outstanding faculty from around the world who contribute diverse perspectives and experiences to this global learning and research environment. Duke Kunshan University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1671

Nanyang Technological University

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Global Affairs
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Public Policy and Global Affairs Programme
 School of Humanities and Social Sciences
 Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Young and research-intensive, Nanyang Technological University (NTU Singapore is ranked 13th globally. It is also placed 1st amongst the world's best young universities.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is the largest school at NTU and offers undergraduate and graduate degree programmes in a full range of disciplines. Interdisciplinary learning and research is especially encouraged in HSS. Please visit the School website www.hss.ntu.edu.sg for more details.

Public Policy and Global Affairs (PPGA) in HSS offers a Minor in Public Administration, a Major in Public Policy and Global Affairs, MA and PhD programmes by research, and general electives.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is inviting applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions.

Tenure-track Assistant Professor positions:
 (1) Comparative Politics and/or International Relations (1 position)
 (2) Public Policy and/or Public Administration in the Context of a Globalizing Asia (1 position)

Candidates should possess a PhD in a relevant discipline, and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in research as well as teaching at both the undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Emoluments

Salary will be competitive and will commensurate with qualifications and experience. The University offers a comprehensive fringe benefit package.

Application Procedure

To apply, please refer to the Guidelines for Submitting an Application for Faculty Appointment (<http://www.ntu.edu.sg/ohr/career/submit-an-application/Pages/Faculty-Positions.aspx>) and email your application package (consisting of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, personal particulars form, teaching and research statements, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available), three selected reprint/preprints of publications, and the names and email addresses of three potential referees) to:

Chair, Search Committee
c/o Public Policy and Global Affairs
School of Humanities and Social Sciences
Nanyang Technological University
14 Nanyang Drive, #03-86
Singapore 637332
email: ppgasearch@ntu.edu.sg

Applications sent by email should include "Assistant Professor (Comparative Politics and/or International Relations)" or "Assistant Professor (Public Policy and/or Public Administration)" in the subject line. Enquiries about the position can also be addressed to the above email address.

Closing date for application is 28 September 2016. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/28/2016
Date Posted: 7/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1672

University of California, IrvineRank: Assistant Professor - International Political Economy

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Irvine seeks a tenure track Assistant Professor in the International Political Economy subfield of International Relations beginning July 1, 2017. Salary is commensurate with academic qualifications and experience. Applicants are required to focus centrally on IPE (rather than Comparative Political Economy) in their research record, publications, teaching, and scholarly training. IPE themes include the role of international economic institutions, international implications of trans-border movements, global impact of economic inequality, transnational dimensions of global food production, international effects of sanctions, and other topics that transcend the internal politics of states to explain international outcomes. Applicants with a variety of methodological approaches will be considered.

Candidates should apply online at: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF03410>. The online application should include: a letter of application, curriculum vitae, at least three letters of recommendation, one writing sample focusing centrally on IPE, and evidence of teaching excellence in IPE-related courses.

Given its commitment to encouraging diversity, UC Irvine asks that a separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion be included with the application. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by October 15, 2016. Applications will be accepted, however, until the position is filled.

The University of California, Irvine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer advancing inclusive excellence. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, protected veteran status, or other protected categories covered by the UC nondiscrimination policy. It has a National Science Foundation Advance Gender Equity Program and is responsive to the needs of dual career couples in tenure track positions.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1661

Victoria University of WellingtonRank: Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations

Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations
School of History, Philosophy, Political Science and International Relations

The Political Science & International Relations programme seeks to appoint a permanent Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations (equivalent to tenured assistant or associate professor). The starting date is 1 July 2017 (negotiable).

The Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations will have expertise in one or more areas of International Security studies. Applications are welcome from research-active candidates who specialise in traditional or transnational security issues, regional security studies (including in Asia or the Middle East), maritime security, cyber security, or global security perspectives. Strong candidates in other areas of International Security are also encouraged to apply.

A PhD must be in hand prior to taking up the appointment as Lecturer. A PhD and an established research and teaching record are required for appointment as Senior Lecturer.

The successful appointee will be expected to make significant teaching contributions in central undergraduate International Security courses as well as to postgraduate teaching in Strategic Studies and International Relations. Candidates with an interest in contributing to the university's engagement with the policy and diplomatic communities are warmly encouraged to apply.

Further information can be obtained from Kate McMillan, Deputy Head of School, kate.mcmillan@vuw.ac.nz or phone +64 4 463 9595

Please complete the online application form and submit your CV and cover letter by attachment at <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/about/careers/current-vacancies>

Applications close on 18 September 2016 NZ Time.

Reference 1183

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/18/2016

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1667

Saint Mary's College

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science/Gender and Women's Studies

Specializations: International Political Economy, Developing Nations, Gender Politics & Policy

Gender and Women's Studies / Political Science. The Department of Political Science and the Department of Gender and Women's Studies at Saint Mary's College invite applications for a tenure-track joint appointment. We seek doctorally-prepared (ABD considered) political scientists who specialize in international relations and could teach courses in international development and/or global political economy. The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in Gender and Women's Studies (as demonstrated by graduate certification or equivalent), with a specialization in transnational feminisms and/or international feminist movements. Teaching responsibilities include the introductory Gender and Women's Studies course, the survey course in International Politics, and upper-level courses in international relations and transnational feminisms. The teaching load is 3:3. Send a letter of application, c.v., graduate transcripts, three letters of reference, and evidence of teaching excellence (e.g. teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy) to Dr. Amy Cavender, CSC, at searchposcgs@saintmarys.edu. Review of applications will begin October 15. Preliminary interviews will be conducted at the National Women's Studies Association annual conference in November.

Saint Mary's College, a Roman Catholic women's college, was founded by the Sisters of the Holy Cross in 1844. Its mission is to educate women in the liberal arts tradition, focusing on intellectual vigor, religious sensibility, aesthetic appreciation, and social responsibility. Saint Mary's College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. In keeping with the College's mission, Saint Mary's is committed to increasing racial and ethnic diversity at all levels – students, faculty, and staff – and seeks applications from candidates who share this commitment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 7/25/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1657

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Criminal Justice, American Politics

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICS

Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor

position in the Politics of Public Policy. The Department seeks a scholar whose work focuses on the politics of public policy as it relates to issues of race, class, or gender; and/or the impact of policies on underrepresented, marginalized, and/or vulnerable groups. The area or areas of public policy are open, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work focuses on criminal justice, policing, incarceration, health, immigration, education, domestic violence, sexual assault, or human trafficking. Studies that engage the domestic, comparative, or global level are welcome, as are empirical, historical, or critical theoretical approaches.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate and Ph.D. programs in the Politics department and teach one course per year in the proposed MA Program in Social Science and Public Policy. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community, and we encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

RANK: Assistant Professor

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience; academic year (9-month) basis.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected to be conferred by June 30, 2017; Demonstrated record of research and teaching.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1, 2017, with academic year beginning September 2017. Degree must be conferred by June 30, 2018 for employment beyond that date.

TO APPLY: Applications are accepted via the UCSC Academic Recruit online system and must include: letter of application, curriculum vitae, up to 4 samples of written work, research statement, teaching statement, up to 3 sets of teaching evaluations (if available), and 3 confidential letters of reference*. Applicants are invited to submit a statement addressing their contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service. All documents/materials must be submitted as PDF files.

Apply at <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/apply/JPF00368>

Refer to Position #JPF00368-17 in all correspondence.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <http://apo.ucsc.edu/confstm.htm>

CLOSING DATE: Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete and letters of recommendation received by this date. The position will remain open until filled, but not later than 6/30/2018.

UC Santa Cruz faculty make significant contributions to the body of research that has earned the University of California the ranking as the foremost public higher education institution in the world. In the process, our faculty demonstrate that cutting-edge research, excellent teaching and outstanding service are mutually supportive.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. UC Santa Cruz is committed to excellence through diversity and strives to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students and employees. Inquiries regarding the University's equal employment opportunity policies may be directed to: Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064; (831) 459-2686.

Under Federal law, the University of California may employ only individuals who are legally able to work in the United States as established by providing documents as specified in the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Certain UCSC positions funded by federal contracts or sub-contracts require the selected candidate to pass an E-Verify check. More information is available here or from the Academic Personnel Office (APO) at (831) 459-4300.

UCSC is a smoke & tobacco-free campus.

If you need accommodation due to a disability, please contact the Academic Personnel Office at apo@ucsc.edu (831) 459-4300.

VISIT THE APO WEB SITE AT: <http://apo.ucsc.edu>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1658

Stetson University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

POSITION: Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks an individual with broad interests and training in International Relations who has a desire to teach and conduct research in a liberal arts setting. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and offering innovative First Year and/or Junior Seminars, the candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies, Africana Studies, Asian Studies, Gender Studies, Global Development, Latin American Studies, and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies).

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The teacher-scholar model at Stetson requires that tenure-track faculty teach three courses each semester complemented with quality scholarship and service. Primary teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related sub-disciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). Other courses will be based on the candidate's expertise and may include offerings for the University's requirements in General Education, including First Year Seminars and Junior Seminars. The faculty member is also expected to mentor students academically and professionally.

Candidates should demonstrate a passion for the highest quality of teaching, combined with the ability to produce rigorous peer-reviewed academic scholarship. Scholarly activity leading to publication in peer-reviewed journals and service to the Department, the College of Arts and Sciences, the University, and the profession are required. For more information on our expectations in teaching and scholarship, our tenure policies, and our support for faculty development, please see the Office of the Provost and Academic Affairs website: <http://www.stetson.edu/administration/provost/index.php>.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies, Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies, Latin American Studies, Africana Studies, the Honors Program, and Environmental Science and Studies. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, allowing students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 2,800 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered at the main campus and at Stetson University Center in Celebration include Business, Accounting, Elementary Education – Education for Social Justice, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 25,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 15, 2017

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy and a representative sample of teaching evaluations, 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts, 5) three letters of recommendation sent under separate cover by the recommenders via e-mail or mail (at least one of which should include an evaluation of teaching ability), and 6) a statement of research interests and a description of how undergraduate students might participate in that research. Candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on September 20th and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William R. Nylan
Chair, International Relations Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Stetson University
421 N. Woodland Blvd. Unit 8301
DeLand, FL 32723

Stetson University is an Equal Opportunity Employer that affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence at Stetson University. We are committed to achieving equal access in education, employment, and participation through the recruitment and retention of outstanding faculty, staff, and students from diverse backgrounds, and to meaningful academic and intellectual transformation in curriculum, research and service. We are dedicated to actions and policies that foster a community in which individuals with various identities, cultures, backgrounds, and viewpoints work together to create opportunities for engagement through rewarding and fulfilling careers and personal experiences in a culturally and racially diverse society and a globalized world. We strongly encourage members of historically under-represented and economically-disadvantaged groups and women to apply for employment. Stetson University is an EEO, ADA, ADEA, and GINA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1649

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins August 2017.

Minimum Qualifications: The minimum education requirement for appointment to this position is a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, or other related discipline. Candidates nearing completion of the doctorate may be considered; however, the doctorate must be complete prior to the beginning of the academic year in August 2017. The successful candidate's first two fields of research and teaching will be International Relations and Comparative Politics, with an emphasis on conflict/security. The regional specialization will be either Latin America or Africa. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in our Master's program by teaching graduate seminars, participating in MA thesis committees, and/or reading Master's comprehensive exams.

Preferred Qualifications: The ideal candidate will contribute to other programs in the department by teaching courses in areas such as research methods, terrorism and homeland security, or other courses that bridge our degree programs. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department's course offerings: <http://catalog.csuchico.edu/viewer/16/POLS/offerings.html>

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department. The successful candidate should also demonstrate the following:

Commitment to and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds

Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our programs. Additional information about our Department is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu>.

edu/pols/. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/bss/index.shtml>.

Closing Date: Review of applications will begin on October 14, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

How to Apply: All applicants must online apply at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/3718>

Complete online applications must include: CV, complete set of transcripts (unofficial acceptable), writing sample and teaching evaluations (if available). Three letters of recommendation MUST be submitted to the search committee chair at the email below.

Submit letters of recommendation and job-related questions to:

Dr. Jennifer Wilking, Chair
International Relations Search Committee
jwilking@csuchico.edu
(530)898-5960

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for CSU, Chico can be obtained by contacting the University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by accessing the following website: http://www.csuchico.edu/up/clery_report.shtml

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

For disability related accommodations please call ADA Coordinator at (530) 898-5959.

CSU, Chico is an EOE/Minority/Females/Vet/Disability and only employs individuals authorized to work in the U.S. The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1639

CUNY-Baruch College

Rank: Assistant Professor

FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

Baruch College's Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure track position as assistant professor in the field of International Relations or Comparative Politics, open with regard to subfield. The position will begin in the fall semester 2017. Baruch, a flagship college of the City University of New York, is located in the historic Gramercy Park district of Manhattan.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must have a PhD at time of appointment and an active research agenda. Candidates with experience or interest in teaching in online or hybrid formats are preferred.

COMPENSATION

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

STEP ONE - Copy and paste the link below into your browser: https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=15254&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

To be considered for this position, please submit your application online by clicking on "Apply Now" below. Candidates should provide a cover letter describing research and teaching interests, CV, writing samples, and three letters of reference.

STEP TWO - Go to <https://www.baruch.cuny.edu/hrref/>

All applicants are required to have three confidential letters of recommendation submitted electronically by their references as described below.

Please go to <https://www.baruch.cuny.edu/hrref/> and enter the contact information for three (3) references. The online system will automatically send your references a request to submit a letter via the system. Full instructions will be provided.

Emailed or hard copy applications will not be considered.

To arrange an interview at the APSA Annual Meeting contact Professor David Jones at david.jones@baruch.cuny.edu

If you have any other questions, please contact HR at 646-660-6590

CLOSING DATE

Review of resumes begins on August 3, 2016; to ensure consideration, please apply by September 30, 2016

JOB SEARCH CATEGORY

CUNY Job Posting: Faculty

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1642

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Bates College invites applications for a tenure track position in East Asian politics, with a disciplinary focus on international relations, particularly international security. The department conceptualizes security in broad terms to include but not be limited to interstate and intra-state conflict, human security, and environmental security. We seek an individual whose research focuses on inter-Asian security and who can teach classes on East Asia, including security issues in Asia and domestic politics in the region. Candidates should have a Ph.D. completed, or nearly complete. The Politics Department has implemented an innovative curriculum that uses concentrations on broad sets of ideas in political science rather than the traditional subfields. We are interested in candidates who can enhance the diversity of perspectives in the department, who are excited to contribute to the college's ongoing commitment to social and cultural diversity and inclusion, who are attentive to the design of inclusive pedagogy, and who can connect with other disciplinary and interdisciplinary efforts at the college, especially with the Asian Studies program. To be considered for this position, candidates must directly address their experiences, strengths, and opportunities for growth with regard to inclusivity, diversity, and difference in their teaching statement. Those applying should also demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in research and undergraduate teaching. The position requires teaching five courses per year, at least two of which will be cross-listed with Asian Studies. Review of applications begins October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36206>

QUALIFICATIONS

ABD will be considered, Ph.D., preferred.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Review of applications begins October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit the following:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vita
- Statement on teaching philosophy, with attention to how it aligns with the college's commitment to supporting difference and inclusion
- Statement on research aims
- Writing sample
- Graduate transcripts
- Three letters of recommendation

Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1634

Bocconi University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management at Bocconi University is inviting applications from political scientists for a faculty position at the assistant professor level, for appointment on September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in applications in the field of comparative politics. Proficiency in quantitative and/or formal methods is appreciated, given the direction of development of the political science group.

Bocconi University is a leading institution for economics and related disciplines in Continental Europe, and it is currently expanding in the area of political science. As part of this development, in 2015

Bocconi launched a Bachelor in International Politics and Government, which has immediately established itself as an ambitious and competitive bachelor program, attracting over 300 applications from international students for the 60 available positions. Political science is a major field also in the Ph.D. Program in Public Policy and Administration, launched in 2014. In addition, political science is an increasingly important component of the well-established master's programs in Economics and Social Sciences and Economics and Management of Government and International Organizations, highly selective programs that attract the best master students in Europe.

Bocconi provides an ideal interdisciplinary research environment. The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management combines faculty from several social sciences (economics, political science, sociology, history, demography and public administration), who shares an interest in policy-relevant research. The Politics and Institutions Unit, at the Donde Center for Research in Social Dynamics and Public Policy, brings together scholars from different departments at Bocconi, who contribute to research in political science and political economy. The Politics and Institutions Unit is also one of the founders of the European Political Economy Consortium, an initiative that will significantly increase the interactions and collaborations of researchers in political science and political economy across Europe.

The successful candidate is expected to teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The excellent terms of employment are competitive. Bocconi University is located in Italy's most vibrant center, Milan, a historical and cosmopolitan city in a metro area of 3 million, conveniently set near the Alps and just eighty miles from the Mediterranean sea.

Applications are due by September 20, 2016. Review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits are going to be scheduled for November and/or early December 2016. To ensure full consideration, applicants must submit:

- a. a scientific curriculum (including a list of titles and publications);
- b. titles, publications and documents which the candidates intend to submit for this evaluation ;
- c. list of highly qualified academic referees providing a reference letter via the on-line e-form with pdf attachments which can be found at www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket.

To complete the online process, applicants will have to include three letters of recommendation. The letters should be sent by the referees to recruiting@unibocconi.it by September 25, 2016.

Applicants who wish to arrange a preliminary interview at the APSA conference should submit their application according to the procedure outlined above by August 2, 2016.

For further information, please contact Prof. Massimo Morelli (massimo.morelli@unibocconi.it) and Piero Stanig (piero.stanig@unibocconi.it).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1624

Marquette University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Tenure Track) – International/Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: Political Economy, Developing Nations, Environmental Policy

The Political Science Department at Marquette University invites applications for an entry-level, tenure-track position in international or comparative political economy. The successful applicant will focus on development or sustainable development. The position begins with the 2017-18 academic year.

The successful applicant will have demonstrated research interests in the political economy of development or sustainable development. Ph.D. or ABD (Ph.D. by August 15, 2017) with graduate course work in the area of comparative political economy and/or international political economy is required.

All applications for this position must be received through Marquette University's online recruiting system (<https://employment.marquette.edu/>). The applicant will upload the following:

- *Letter of application
- *Curriculum vitae
- *List of those who will be submitting recommendation letters
- *Unofficial graduate transcript
- *Writing sample
- *Evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness
- *Syllabi (for courses independently taught and/or a sample syllabus for an undergraduate political economy course focusing on development).

Additionally, three letters of recommendation are required. Recommendation letters cannot be uploaded by the candidate. Applicants must arrange to have their recommendation letters sent to:

Dr. Lowell Barrington, Chair
 Department of Political Science
 540 N. 15th Street, 468 William Wehr Bldg
 Marquette University
 P.O. Box 1881
 Milwaukee, WI
 53201-1881 (USPS); 53233 (courier)

To receive full consideration, applicants must complete the online application process and the Department of Political Science must receive all components of their applications by October 3, 2016.

Applicants who make the list of potential candidates for on-campus interviews will be required to have their official graduate academic transcripts sent to the department chair.

Marquette is a Jesuit, Catholic university and seeks candidates who will contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at <http://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php>. Candidates from underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. Additional information about the university and department can be found at <http://www.Marquette.edu> and <http://www.Marquette.edu/polisci>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 7/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1583

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Assistant Professor - Politics of Western Europe

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one tenure-stream appointment in the field of the Politics of Western Europe. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2017.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field by date of appointment or soon thereafter.

The successful candidate will conduct scholarly research on Western Europe that addresses important, general debates in the Comparative Politics subfield. She or he will be expected to conduct innovative research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, externally funded research program. She or he will have an emerging record of scholarly accomplishment including publications in leading academic journals and/or with leading academic presses, or will provide evidence of excellence in research as demonstrated in presentations at significant conferences, awards for work in the field and strong endorsements by referees. Finally, she or he will be equipped to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in Comparative Politics, as well as advanced courses in Western European Politics and will have demonstrated excellence in teaching through teaching accomplishments, letters of reference and the teaching materials submitted as part of the application.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see <http://www.utm.utoronto.ca/~w3pol/> and <http://www.chass.utoronto.ca/polsci/>.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. To be considered for this position, all application materials must be submitted online by clicking the apply link below. Please include a curriculum vitae, a writing sample (e.g., an article offprint or conference paper), materials relevant to teaching experience (e.g., course outlines and handouts, student survey results), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. Applicants should also ask three referees to send confidential letters of recommendation directly via email (on letterhead, signed and scanned) to the Chair, Professor Edward Schatz, at polsci.utm@utoronto.ca. To receive full consideration, applications and all materials (including letters of reference) must be received by September 28, 2016.

Please submit attachments in PDF format only. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. If you have questions about this position, please contact lorna.taylor@utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 9/28/2016
Date Posted: 7/15/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1627

Villanova University

Rank: CP or IR/Irish Politics

Specializations: Post Communist Europe, International Security, Social Movements

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics/International Relations at the rank of assistant professor starting in the fall semester 2017. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2017.

Candidates should have area expertise in Irish Politics with a specialization in European Politics, Security Studies, Nationalism, Immigration, Social Movements or Political Economy. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required, and the ability to teach quantitative methods is desirable. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu/postings/9285>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Finalists will be asked to submit a statement reflecting on the university's mission. All materials must be received by September 16, 2016.

Villanova University is a Roman Catholic university sponsored by the Augustinian order, located in the ethnically, racially, and culturally diverse Philadelphia metro region. Diversity and inclusion have been and will continue to be an integral component of Villanova's mission. The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and seeks candidates who understand, respect and can contribute to the University's mission and values. The department values dynamic and diverse faculty members who are committed to teaching, scholarship, and service. For a more detailed description of the Department, please consult <http://www1.villanova.edu/villanova/artsci/psc.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1552

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Political Economy

Assistant Professor of International Political Economy

Department of International Relations and Department of Politics

The Departments of International Relations and Politics invite applications for a tenure-track position in international political economy. The position will be filled at the assistant professor level beginning in Fall 2017. Ph.D. required by the start of the appointment. The ideal candidate should have broad expertise in both the theory and practice of international political economy with particular emphasis on American foreign policy since the end of World War II. Within these broad parameters, we welcome applications from political scientists whose research and teaching interests focus on any of the following: international organizations, international trade or finance, globalization, or international peace and security. In addition to courses on IPE, the successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory course in international relations on a rotating basis. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of strong teaching at the undergraduate level and experience mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

The successful candidate will hold a joint appointment in the Departments of International Relations and Politics. Teaching load is 2/2. Salary is competitive.

Applications must be made online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/> by submitting a cover letter, C.V., graduate transcripts, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement about mentoring a diverse student body, sample syllabuses, and a short writing sample no later than October 1, 2016. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 80 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1607

Stanford University

Rank: Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields

Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields.

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2017. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, a writing sample and a brief statement of research interest (no more than three pages).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 16, 2016, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AcademicJobsOnline.org

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/8/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1603

NYU Abu Dhabi

Rank: FACULTY POSITIONS, Political Science – Political Theory, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

FACULTY POSITIONS

Political Science – Political Theory

NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi invites applications for faculty positions in political theory. The positions are open rank. The expected start date is September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in recruiting faculty whose work focuses on political institutions, political ethics, global ethics, or comparative political theory.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016. Campus visits to NYUAD will be held in October and November 2016, with the visits to NYUNY occurring in the succeeding four weeks. The review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled. We anticipate that the successful candidates can start employment on or before August 15, 2017 subject to final budget approval.

To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit their curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, and representative writing samples. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Senior candidates are not required to submit references at this time.

Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socials-science@nyu.edu.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1597

NYU Abu Dhabi

Rank: FACULTY POSITIONS, Political Science, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

FACULTY POSITIONS

Political Science

NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi is inviting applications from political scientists for faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenure/tenure track - senior candidacies also welcome) to strengthen its program in Political Science, for appointment on September 1, 2017. We encourage applications from all subfields of Political Science. You may visit the Political Science program's website for a description of its innovative curriculum: <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/undergraduate-programs/majors/political-science.html>

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016. Campus visits to NYUAD will be held in October and November 2016, with the visits to NYUNY occurring in the succeeding four weeks. The review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled. We anticipate that the successful candidates can start employment on or before August 15, 2017 subject to final budget approval.

To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit their curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, and representative writing samples. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Senior candidates are not required to submit references at this time.

Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1595

NYU Shanghai

Rank: TENURE/TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION Political Science, NYU Shanghai

Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Comparative Politics

TENURE/TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION

Political Science

NYU Shanghai

NYU Shanghai invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position in Political Science (rank open). The position is to begin September 1, 2017, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

Candidates must hold a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (or expect it by the start date); must have a record of excellent research and publications or presentations appropriate to career stage; and must have demonstrated teaching excellence and an interest in teaching in a diverse, international setting. Experience teaching non-native speakers of English preferred, but not required.

The terms of employment in NYU Shanghai are comparable to U.S. institutions in terms of research start-up funds compensation, and include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016, and will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Members of the search committee will be available to meet interested applicants during the 2016 Annual Meeting of the APSA in Philadelphia, PA.

To be considered, applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, separate statements of research and teaching interests (no more than three pages each), and electronic copies of up to three recent relevant publications or working papers. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each reference will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Please visit our website at <http://shanghai.nyu.edu/en/about/work-here/open-positions-faculty> for instructions and other information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail shanghai.socialscience.recruitment@nyu.edu.

About NYU Shanghai:

NYU Shanghai is the newest degree-granting campus within the NYU Global Network University. It is the first Sino-US higher education joint venture to grant a degree that is accredited in the U.S. as well as in China. All teaching is conducted in English. A research university with liberal arts and science at its core, it resides in one of the world's great cities with a vibrant intellectual community. NYU Shanghai recruits scholars who are committed to NYU's global vision of transformative teaching and innovative research.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. There are three degree-granting campuses in New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi, complemented by eleven additional academic centers across five continents. Faculty and students circulate within the network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1590

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: tenure track appointment, health policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in political science to begin in August 2017. We are seeking an applicant with demonstrated expertise in U.S., comparative, or global health whose teaching will contribute to both the political science major and the College's emerging Health Studies Program. Health Studies has thus far been a part of the College's student-designed major program through the Center for Interdisciplinary Studies. In response to rising student demand and faculty interest, the College is now in the process of creating a formal program. Candidates for the new position will be expected to design and teach an introduction to health policy course that will serve as a foundation for students who will go on to specialize in various "tracks" within the Health Studies major, which may include Public Health and Global Health. The successful candidate will also offer advanced courses in health policy and other electives within the Department of Political Science in the subfield of either American Politics or Comparative Politics, or International Relations, depending on their area of specialization.

This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advance levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. in Political Science or imminent completion required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://www.holycross.edu/about-us/mission-statement>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/35993>.

Review of applications will begin on September 16 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done by Skype or at the APSA conference September 1-3 for those who will attend the meeting. Questions about this search may be directed to Vickie Langohr, Chair, at vlangohr@holycross.edu. Candidates are encouraged to contact Prof. Langohr in advance to express their interest and availability for an interview at APSA.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/4/2016

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 1580

University of California, Santa Barbara

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

The University of California, Santa Barbara Department of Political Science seeks a scholar in international relations with a focus on International Organization and Institutions for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor effective July 1, 2017. Applicants should have completed the Ph.D. by the appointment date. We seek applicants who focus on the causes, consequences, and dynamics of international institutions, and we are open with respect to methodological or theoretical approach. Although the scholar's primary contribution will be to the IR subfield, we are particularly interested in applications from those who use innovative methods and/or whose substantive research relates to the Department's strong interdisciplinary foci in the studies of identity or the environment. The successful candidate must be qualified to teach core graduate seminars in international relations. His or her research should be theoretically informed and must demonstrate mastery of appropriate research methods.

The Department is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service.

Review of files will begin on September 15, 2016 for primary consideration.

Applications must include a curriculum vitae, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (or other evidence of teaching effectiveness), and at least three letters from academic references. All application materials should be submitted via UC Recruit: <https://recruit.ap.ucsb.edu/apply/JPF00750>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/12/2016

Date Posted: 6/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1547

Rochester Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor International Relations & International Ethics

The Department of Political Science at Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT) invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor in International Relations beginning fall 2017. Completion of Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required prior to date of hire. The successful candidate will be able to teach lower-division courses in international relations and international ethics and upper-level courses in international law & organizations and human rights. In addition, the successful candidate must be able to teach and develop upper-division courses on the following: grand strategy, theory & practice of diplomacy, or intelligence & covert action. Moreover, the successful candidate will have a strong commitment to undergraduate education, with the potential for establishing an active research agenda, an ability to support the interdisciplinary efforts of the Institute and/or the College of Liberal Arts, and an ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the college's continuing commitment to cultural diversity, pluralism, and individual differences. The political science department offers an undergraduate major in political science with specializations in political institutions, politics & the life sciences, and politics & information technology. The teaching load is 2-3. This position will also have the unique opportunity to work on a number of RIT's global initiatives, including supporting the Political Science Department's engagement with RIT's current global campuses in Kosovo, Croatia, and Dubai.

We are seeking an individual who has the ability and interest in contributing to RIT's core values, honor code, and diversity commitment.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS:

- Completion of Ph.D. in Political Science or related field prior to date of hire
- Ability to teach lower-division courses in international relations and international ethics
- Interest in teaching upper-division courses on international law & organizations, and human rights
- Interest in teaching and developing courses on grand strategy, theory & practice of diplomacy, or intelligence & covert action
- Strong commitment to undergraduate education
- Potential for establishing an active research agenda
- An ability to support the interdisciplinary efforts of the Institute and/or the College of Liberal Arts
- Ability to contribute in meaningful ways to the college's continuing commitment to cultural diversity, pluralism, and individual differences.

HOW TO APPLY:

Apply online at <http://careers.rit.edu/faculty> Keyword Search: 2470BR.

Please submit: your curriculum vitae, cover letter addressing the listed qualifications and the following attachments: a brief statement on teaching philosophy; a research agenda; the names, addresses and phone numbers for three references; and a Contribution to Diversity Statement.

To receive full consideration all application materials should be received by Friday September 2, 2016.

You can contact the search committee with questions on the position at:

Dr. Lauren K. Hall, Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
Rochester Institute of Technology
92 Lomb Memorial Drive
Rochester, New York 14623-5604
e-mail: lxhgpt@rit.edu

RIT is an equal opportunity employer that promotes and values diversity, pluralism, and inclusion. For more information or inquiries, please visit RIT/TitleIX or the U.S. Department of Education at ED.Gov.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/2/2016

Date Posted: 6/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1541

Moravian College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Foreign Policy, Conflict Processes

The Political Science Department at Moravian College invites applications for a full time, tenure track position commencing in August 2017. Candidates should be prepared to offer a broad array of classes in international relations such as American Foreign Policy, Human Rights, International Law and Organization, International Security and Conflict Resolution. Candidates should also be prepared to teach courses that entail a geographic specialization with the area being open (e.g., Africa, Latin America, Middle East and the Islamic world etc.) except for Europe and Asia. Candidates should also be prepared to teach in the College's First Year Student Seminar Program with the subject matter for the seminar being at the discretion of the instructor. Ph. D. is expected by time of appointment.

Moravian College is a selective residential liberal arts college located in Bethlehem, PA with a proud tradition of providing an outstanding education in the liberal arts and sciences for men and women. Moravian College highly values excellence in teaching as well as scholarship and seeks to nurture the development of its students through strong personal interactions with its teaching faculty. The College is approximately an hour and a half from New York City and an hour from Philadelphia and is one of six members of the Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges consortium.

Moravian College values diversity, strives to attract qualified women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Moravian seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity.

Applications should be submitted electronically to searchpolsci@moravian.edu. Application materials should include letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of effective teaching, a statement of research plans, and three letters of recommendation with contact information for each reference. Review of application materials will begin July 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1531

Lewis & Clark College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs

Assistant Professor of International Affairs: Lewis & Clark College, a private liberal arts college with 2,000 undergraduates, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in the Department of International Affairs, beginning in fall 2017. The preferred teaching and research field is in the Global South. Ph.D. in a field central to international relations is required at the time of appointment as a tenure-track member of the faculty. The usual teaching load is five courses per academic year, with a course reduction in the first year, and there is a one-semester pre-tenure sabbatical. Preference will be given to applicants with an interdisciplinary exposure to international relations with a desire to link their areas of expertise to broader international relations questions and a capacity to weave methodological dimensions into their classes. Potential for excellent teaching and research at an undergraduate institution are essential. A complete application must include (1) a cover letter of application, which includes statements of research interests and teaching experience, as well as a description of how the applicant's teaching and/or work in the campus community will contribute to a culture of inclusion and campus diversity; (2) a statement of teaching philosophy; (3) a statement of research plan; (4) a curriculum vitae; (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (6) sample of scholarship (published articles, and/or works in progress); (7) graduate transcripts, and (8) three letters of recommendation (uploaded separately by the referees). All materials should be addressed to Bob Mandel, Chair International Affairs Search Committee, and must be submitted via Interfolio. <http://apply.interfolio.com/35639> Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Lewis & Clark College will conduct background checks on the finalist(s). Lewis & Clark College is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to status as a protected veteran or a qualified individual with a disability, or other protected status, such as race, religion, color, national origin, sex or age. Questions regarding Title IX may be referred to the Title IX Coordinator or OCR. The College is committed to preparing students for leadership in an increasingly interdependent world, and affirms the educational benefits of diversity. (See <http://www.lclark.edu/dept/about/diversity.html>)

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1529

Texas State University, San Marcos

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Texas State University Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning 8/2017. We are seeking a candidate with a strong background in international security studies. Applicants must have the Ph.D. by the start of the Fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate must have a research agenda focusing on international security, geopolitical conflict, terrorism or nontraditional emerging threats. In addition, the candidate must demonstrate an ability to teach introductory international relations classes as well as advanced classes in the area of international security. Preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate an ability to teach a range of international security courses, who can teach in a second field meeting departmental needs, and who demonstrate effective interpersonal skills, potential for scholarly publication, and potential for teaching excellence.

Review of applications will begin 09/15/2016. All applications will be held in strict confidence and applicants are strongly encouraged to submit materials before the review begins. ALL APPLICANTS MUST APPLY VIA THE TEXAS STATE UNIVERSITY ONLINE PROCESS, FOUND HERE: <https://jobs.hr.txstate.edu/postings/17441>

The confidential review of credentials will continue until the position is filled. To assure full consideration, please submit the following before September 15, 2016: A letter of intent addressing required and preferred qualifications, a curriculum vita, college transcript(s), samples of scholarly work (presentations and/or publications), syllabi (if available), and three letters of recommendation.

The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts from all degree granting Universities.

Questions can be directed to Dr. Robert F. Gorman, Search Committee Chair—Job Posting #20170001FAC at rg06@txstate.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1522

Webster University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of History, Politics, and International Relations at Webster University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor in international relations. The ideal candidate will be broadly trained in international relations and comparative politics, with area studies expertise in Asia, Africa or Latin America. Applicants should also be prepared to share responsibility for teaching introductory research methods. PhD in hand by the time of appointment is required. The normal teaching load at Webster is three courses per semester and, in this case, will include at least one online class per year at the graduate level. While quality teaching is the most important criterion for success at Webster, the department expects faculty to maintain an active research agenda, participate in faculty governance, and share in student advising and the administration of department programs, including curriculum assessment and student recruitment. Webster University offers substantial support for research and opportunities to teach at our overseas campuses.

The position starts August 2017. Please forward a cover letter, cv, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference to irsearch@webster.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. We will also conduct preliminary interviews at the American Political Science Association meetings in Philadelphia, September 1-4.

Webster University is committed to creating a diverse environment and is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to maintaining a culturally and academically diverse faculty and staff of the highest caliber. Accordingly, Webster University provides equal employment opportunities (EEO) to all employees and applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, national origin, ethnicity, age, protected veteran or disabled status, genetic information, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 6/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1511

University of West Florida

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate in Cybersecurity and National Security

The Department of Government at the University of West Florida seeks a Postdoctoral Associate in the field of Cybersecurity as it pertains to National Security (124520). The Postdoctoral Associate will pursue research, grants, and community partnerships in security studies with emphasis on cybersecurity with emphasis on security as it relates to cybersecurity, government policy on cybersecurity, and threat assessment and response implications related to cybersecurity. They will build connections with military, law enforcement, government officials, and large local businesses on issues of cybersecurity to assess their needs and how we can support them with research, networking, and collaborative problem-solving. They will work collaboratively with faculty in the Department of Government specializing in Security Studies and with UWF's Center for Cybersecurity on research. Additionally, they will give lectures and hosting panel discussions and mini-conferences on this topic.

Minimum qualifications: Doctoral degree from an accredited institution or the highest degree appropriate in the field of specialization with a demonstrated record of achievement in teaching, academic research, and service.

The position requires a Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline. The ideal candidate will have specialization in the areas of security studies / cybersecurity with demonstrated ability in scholarly networking and conference participation on the topic of security studies / cybersecurity. Additional qualifications desired would include demonstrated ability or experience with engagement of community partners and a record of grant-writing.

Salary range is $38,000 - $42,000. The preferred response date to apply is 7/29/16.

Application: Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.uwf.edu>. Be prepared to attach your curriculum vitae, letter of applicant/interest, unofficial transcripts, and name/contact information for three references in electronic format.

The University of West Florida is an Equal Opportunity/Access/Affirmative Action employer. Any individual requiring special accommodations to apply is requested to advise UWF by contacting ADA Compliance at 1-850-474-2059 (voice) or 1 850 857 6114 (TTY). A criminal background check is required for successful candidates. E-Verify requirements may apply for employment in certain positions. All applications for employment at the University are subject to Florida public records law.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/5/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1453

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor of National Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, American Government and Politics

Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Political Science Department invites applicants for the position of Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) of National Security to begin as early as Fall 2016. Past incumbents have been recognized national security experts who have added perspective and depth to their students' academic experience. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate teaching and an ability to lead upper level political science courses related to topics such as: environmental security, regional security, terrorism, cybersecurity, executive privilege, arms proliferation and arms control. Assisting midshipmen with research, offering seminars and lectures and, inviting guest speakers are among the position's objectives.

The DVP position is for two years commencing in August 2016. It is non-tenure track and non-renewable. The position is administered by the Office of the Academic Dean which provides the DVP with an office and administrative support.

Applications submitted by November 1, 2015 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

For more information about the position and to apply, please go to www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/DVPNationalSec.php

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/6/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 776

METHODOLOGY

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for full-time appointment during the 2017-2018 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. QSS fellows also join a broader community of postdoctoral social science researchers at Dartmouth that includes scholars at the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows.

The stipend for the QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, there may be an opportunity for the fellow to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend. The fellowship can be extended through the 2018-2019 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests no longer than two pages that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/37062.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1934

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science/Social Data

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position to start Fall 2017 for faculty whose substantive research interests are informed by, or inform the development of, data- or computationally-intensive techniques. We encourage applications at the assistant and early associate level but candidates at any level with exceptional records of accomplishment will be considered. The substantive research area is open although preference will be given to those candidates whose research agendas supplement existing areas of specialization within the department. Candidates should be able to contribute to our new undergraduate Social Data Analytics program (see <http://soda.la.psu.edu/>) and our graduate methods offerings. Faculty positions at Penn State involve substantial research support; in addition, junior positions offer significant release time. Candidates should have a record of publication in high-quality venues, external funding, and quality teaching credentials.

Candidates must have their Ph.D. in hand by appointment date. Application review will begin on October 1, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, samples of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (with a key) at <https://psu.jobs/job/66139>. All candidates should request letters from three references to be sent directly to plscapplications@psu.edu.

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1918

Lund University

Rank: Postdoctoral research position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Quantitative Methods

The postdoctoral position is part of the research project "Explaining radicalization and political violence", a four-year interdisciplinary collaboration among researchers from the Department of Political Science at Lund University and the Departments of Psychology at Lund and Gothenburg University. The project is funded by The Marianne and Marcus Wallenberg foundation with Professor Hanna Bäck as project leader. The project aims to study the psychological mechanisms that lead an individual to become radicalized and/or to use political violence, and investigates such mechanisms by the cross-fertilization of political science and psychology. One of the project hypotheses focuses on the causal relationship between social exclusion or rejection and the likelihood of radicalization. The project applies a multitude of methodological approaches, and is for example based on experimental and survey studies, in addition to analyses of online material/social media.

The post-doctoral fellow will be expected to carry out research that contributes to the fulfilment of the project's overall research objectives. However, the fellow will also conduct independent research and will be free to develop his or her own theoretical ideas, and choose the methods that he or she finds most appropriate. The position is full-time and fixed-term for two years, and the holder of this post will be expected to conduct research (about 80 %) and to teach (about 20 %). In order to allow the research group to function as a team, the post-doctoral fellow will be expected to have the Department of Political Science in Lund as their main place of work.

Eligibility for employment as a postdoctoral researcher is restricted to applicants with a PhD degree in a relevant subject. Priority is given to applicants who have completed their PhD less than three years prior to the deadline for applying to the post. The three-year limit can be extended in cases of parental leave, sickness leave or similar circumstances occurring after the PhD defense. Applicants who have yet to complete their PhDs are welcome to apply but should demonstrate that they will receive their PhD degree before 1 January 2017.

We seek candidates with a PhD in Political Science or related discipline (e.g. Psychology), and competence within the areas of political behavior broadly defined, or political psychology. We are particularly interested in candidates with a background in quantitative or experimental methods. Research skills and academic promise will be the main selection criteria, but teaching skills will also be considered. Proficiency in spoken and written English and the ability to teach in English is a requirement. The ability to conduct research independently and the ability to participate in international research collaboration are very important considerations.

The Lund University job application portal should be used when applying.

For further information, see: <https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what:job/jobID:111445/>

Your application must contain:

* a cover letter (describing why you are interested in the position and what makes you suitable for it),

- * a CV (which includes information on degrees, completed courses, work experience, and publications),
- * a copy of your Ph.D. diploma (or a document describing when you will finish your Ph.D.),
- * two article-length writing samples (approximately 10000 words), and
- * two letters of recommendation.

For further information on the position, please contact:

Professor Hanna Bäck
+46 46 222 01 61
Hanna.Back@svet.lu.se
<http://www.svet.lu.se/en/hanna-back>

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1907

Nuffield College

Rank: Research Officer and Assistant to the Director

Specializations: Research Methods, Quantitative Methods, Political Behavior

The Nuffield College Centre for Experimental Social Sciences (CESS) seeks to appoint a Research Officer and Assistant to the Director. The post would be ideal for a candidate who has recently completed, or is close to completing, his or her doctorate in a relevant social and/or computing science discipline and who would be interested in contributing to the development and promotion of experimental social sciences in Oxford and beyond.

The main duties of the Research Officer and Assistant to the Director include: managing all aspects of the online and virtual lab experiments, including scheduling, assisting with the design of the experimental projects and managing the associated administrative tasks; providing research assistance to the Director of CESS, including managing large databases and programming in R, Stata, and in languages designed to acquire web content in machine-readable format (for example, Python) and related web sweeping and text analysis software; and assisting the Director with the CESS administration. In addition the Research Officer will be expected to engage in independent scholarly research and to take part in the intellectual life of the Nuffield CESS and the College.

Applicants should hold a bachelors and/or masters degree in a relevant Social Science discipline (e.g. Economics, Political Science, Sociology) or Computing Science or Statistics, and they must have completed or be close to completing a doctorate in one of these disciplines. They should also have familiarity with programming on-line survey and virtual lab experiments and with software designed for recruiting and managing the subject pool, and they should be able to manage the cloud servers that run the virtual and on-line experiments. They should have experience with managing large databases and using statistical analysis software (such as R and Stata) and web programming and scripting languages, such as PHP, Ruby on Rails, and Python and related web sweeping and text analysis software. The successful candidate should also have the ability and willingness to undertake independent scholarly research and to deliver courses, including courses associated with the CESS Summer Schools and training courses that CESS provides for both students and external clients (such as civil servants); and excellent oral and written communication and organizational skills.

The salary offered is GBP 34,389 p.a. - GBP 35,951 p.a. (Research Officer Scale). The post is full-time and permanent, with an initial probationary period of twelve months. The starting date is 1 October 2016 or as soon as possible thereafter. The post-holder will be based in the Nuffield CESS in Oxford.

Further particulars and information about how to apply can be found on the College website: <http://www.nuffield.ox.ac.uk/About/Vacancies/Documents/CESSroFPs.pdf>. The deadline for applications is Monday 26 September 2016.

Nuffield College exists to promote excellence in education and research, and is an equal opportunities employer committed to equality and valuing diversity. Applications are particularly welcome from women, black and minority ethnic candidates, who are currently under-represented in posts in the College.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 9/26/2016

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 1891

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
Political Science Department
2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

Northwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Methodology (Tenure-track)

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Northwestern University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the field of political methodology at the rank of assistant professor. The department seeks candidates who connect cutting-edge quantitative methodological issues to substantive debates in political science, particularly in domains related to comparative politics or international relations, and whose research trajectories connect with “big data” methods including machine learning, nonparametric statistics, and text as data methods. The successful applicant will teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses. Applications received by October 15, 2016, will be guaranteed full consideration. Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes including veterans and individuals with disabilities. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States. The proposed starting date is September 17, 2017. Applicants should provide a curriculum vitae, writing samples, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate transcripts, and contact information for three references. Applications and supporting documents will be accepted only by online submission at www.polisci.northwestern.edu. * For questions and assistance, please contact Jill Decremer at j-rubin4@northwestern.edu.

*The online portal for accepting applications will be open in early September. Once it is available, the link will be posted.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1858

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Tenure Track; Open to Subfield; Methods Specialization

This is a tenure-track, academic year position with appointment anticipated September of 2017.

Basic Function:

Applicants will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in research methodology that serves as a requirement for both the Political Science and Criminal Justice undergraduate degrees as well as teach other courses in Political Science. Expected to publish original research open with respect to subfield and advise undergraduate students. Provide service to the department, the university and the profession

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2017. Primary or secondary field in the area of Political Science research methodology. Demonstrated evidence of effective college level teaching commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated expertise in a wide range of methodological approaches. Demonstrated evidence of research excellence; scholarly publications commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated experience working with diverse groups/populations.

To apply, please submit materials at: <https://jobs.uri.edu/>

Instructions to Applicants

Please attach 4 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Employment Application: (#1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position; (#2) CV which includes the names/contacts information for three references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses, and course syllabi and teaching evaluations for the last two years and/or for experience directly related to research methods instruction (as available) (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single PDF document); (#3) a brief research and teaching statement; (#4) an article-length sample of written work.

For additional questions or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Kristin Johnson
Associate Professor
Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
University of Rhode Island
Kingston, RI 02881
kristin_johnson@uri.edu
401 874-5495

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1855

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Formal/Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with expertise in formal or quantitative methods for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. Candidates must possess strong theoretical and empirical skills, and have the demonstrated potential to make notable contributions to substantive literatures in political science. Likewise, candidates must also be able to demonstrate their ability and willingness to assist in teaching quantitative methods and/or formal political theory at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates who are interested in expanding course offerings within the department and broader college, as part of a college-wide effort to cultivate multidisciplinary curriculum in quantitative analyses are particularly attractive. Priority will be given to interesting research that builds synergies within the department. To enhance its growing scholarly reputation, the Department encourages applications from the best possible candidates. The appointment will begin Fall 2017. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files immediately. To assure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 7, 2016, but earlier applications are welcomed and interviews or campus lectures may be scheduled at any time. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by Fall 2017.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Vanderbilt is an AA/EO employer and particularly encourages applications from minorities and women.

All applicants can apply for this position by submitting a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), and three letters of reference electronically at Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7672>).

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1860

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of Formal/Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with expertise in formal or quantitative methods for appointment as Associate or Full Professor. Candidates must possess strong theoretical and empirical skills, and have a demonstrated record of contributing to prominent substantive debates in political science and/or positive political economy. The successful candidate will be expected to take a leadership role in mentoring junior colleagues who employ formal theory in their own scholarship, and must be able and willing to assist in teaching quantitative methods and/or formal political theory at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Candidates who are interested in expanding course offerings within the department and broader college, as part of a college-wide effort to cultivate multidisciplinary curriculum in quantitative analyses are particularly attractive. Priority will be given to interesting research that builds synergies within the department. To enhance its growing scholarly reputation, the Department encourages applications from the best possible candidates, especially those who can contribute to its focus on substantively important political issues and who have demonstrated excellence in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The appointment will begin Fall 2017. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2016. To assure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 15, 2016, but earlier applications are welcomed and interviews or campus lectures may be scheduled at any time. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Vanderbilt University is committed to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of exceptional faculty. Vanderbilt is an AA/EO employer and particularly encourages applications from minorities and women.

All applicants can apply for this position by submitting a cover letter and curriculum vitae electronically at Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7678>).

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1861

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy
Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, Defense

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multi-disciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements: PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience: Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance: Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location: Santa Monica or Pittsburgh office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required: Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

RAND is an Equal Opportunity Employer Minorities/Females/Vets/Disabled

How to apply: www.rand.org/jobs/id4185

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1842

University of Miami

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor of Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure-line position in the field of comparative politics/quantitative analysis at the junior or senior level. The position is open as to regional and substantive specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who have significant research experience in one or more countries outside of the United States. In the letter of interest, please include a description of such experience, including field research, language proficiencies, etc. Candidates for assistant professor should show promise of high-quality research in top scholarly outlets as well as outstanding teaching, and candidates for a tenured position should show evidence of a national reputation in their research area. The expected teaching load is 2-2, and the position will involve teaching in the field of comparative politics, including an introductory course. Fifty percent of teaching responsibilities will involve undergraduate and graduate instruction within the core curriculum in international studies. All application packages can be e-mailed to cpsearch@miami.edu. Junior scholars applying for the rank of assistant professor should submit a pdf file that includes a cv, a letter of interest, teaching evaluations if available, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a single-authored writing sample. The candidate should arrange for three reference letters to be sent directly to the department at cpsearch@miami.edu. Senior scholars applying for the rank of associate or full professor should email a cv, a letter of interest, and a list of three references to cpsearch@miami.edu. Applications received on or before Monday, October 5, 2016, will be given full consideration. Inquiries about the position can be emailed to cpsearch@miami.edu or to the Chair of the Search Committee, Professor Merike Blofield, at m.blofield@miami.edu. The University of Miami is an Equal Opportunity Employer—Females/Minorities/Protected Veterans/Individuals with Disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants and employees are protected from discrimination based on certain categories protected by Federal law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/5/2016

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1840

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for up to three postdoctoral fellows for the 2017-18 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each successful fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently, and the fellow's research agenda should be grounded methodologically in statistics or other computational techniques.

During the 2017-18 academic year, fellows will participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results. The stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, each fellow may teach a one-quarter course on a subject of his or her choosing;

there is an extra stipend for teaching. The postdoctoral fellowship can be extended through the 2018-19 academic year, subject to negotiation between the fellow and the QSS Chair.

Requirements:

1. Ph.D. in any discipline or expected Ph.D. by September, 2017.
2. Substantive interest in any social science field.
3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical or computation methods.
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively.
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research.

Application Materials:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications.
- 2) Statement of research interests, no longer than two pages, that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth.
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant.
- 4) Three letters of reference.
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished.

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016, and interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/36369

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1816

South University of Science and Technology of China

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors in Social Sciences

JOB DESCRIPTIONS: The Institute for Advanced Studies in Social Sciences at the Southern University of Science and Technology of China invites applications for full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in social sciences at ranks of Full/Associate/Assistant Professor, to begin January 2017. The successful candidates will teach general education courses covering the following four core areas: 1) Science, Technology and Society, including history of science, ethics of science, sociology of science, and policy of science; 2) Environmental Studies, including environmental history, environmental policy, and environmental and culture; 3) New Media and Visual Culture, including media and society, science, technology and arts, and cultural industry; and 4) Globalization, including transnational migration, comparative area studies, ethnographic studies and critical theories. The successful candidates will contribute to social science curricula that encourage interdisciplinary approach. Quality undergraduate teaching and mentorship, as well as innovative research and service are expected. With the exception of senior candidates with tenure, initial appointment will normally be made on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. Tenure review and promotion normally takes place before completion of the second three-year contract.

QUALIFICATIONS: Applicants should have a PhD degree in hand from an accredited institution of higher education. Senior candidates are expected to have a high international standing in the fields, with an exceptional track record of high-quality research and scholarly publications. The university teaching languages are English and Chinese. Satisfactory knowledge of Chinese is preferable but not required.

SALARY: Salary is highly competitive, and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include university subsidized housing and health insurance.

UNIVERSITY: Southern University of Science and Technology of China is a public university located in the Shenzhen Special Economic Zone, a mega vibrant city and high-tech center across Hong Kong with a population of more than 10 million people. The university is intended to be a top-tier international university that excels in conducting interdisciplinary research, nurturing innovative talents and delivering new knowledge to the world.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Applicants should send a cover letter and curriculum vitae with at least three names of references by email to shss@sustc.edu.cn, preferably before 31 October 2016. Review of applications begins on November 1, 2016, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1814

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - Methodology

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications in any field for multiple appointments at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2017. Applicants should demonstrate strong skills in analytic reasoning, broadly defined, which may include one or more of the following: formal theory, analytic political philosophy, modelling, and quantitative methods. Successful candidates must hold, or expect to soon complete, a PhD.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Preferred candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information about this statement is at: <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html>). All materials should be submitted via UCSD AP Online RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit>.

ucsd.edu/apply/JP01163) for position: Assistant Professor, Political Science.

Review of applications will begin September 18, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1823

Hope College

Rank: Tenure-Track Appointment in American and Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Hope College political science department invites applications for a tenure-track appointment beginning the 2017-18 academic year. We seek candidates who are equipped to offer courses in one or more of the following areas: American politics and institutions, comparative politics (open regional focus other than Africa), and research methods. The position also includes exciting opportunities to participate in Hope's highly regarded Washington D.C. honors program. Candidates should have a demonstrated ability to combine teaching excellence with genuine scholarly promise, and should be committed to the character and mission of a liberal arts college firmly rooted in the Christian faith. PhDs and ABD candidates who have made substantial progress on the dissertation are encouraged to apply.

Application Instructions

As part of the online application found at www.hope.edu/employment/faculty, candidates will upload the following documents: a cover letter including a paragraph clearly addressing the ways in which you will support the mission of Hope College (www.hope.edu/about/mission.html), a curriculum vitae, a description of your current research program, and a statement of your teaching experience and approach to teaching. Additionally, please arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent to jobs@hope.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 15th, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions regarding the position may be directed to David Ryden, department chair, at ryden@hope.edu.

About Hope College

Hope College is a four-year liberal arts college where academic excellence and vibrant Christian faith join together in a supportive and welcoming community. Hope offers an academically rigorous, co-educational and residential education to 3,200 undergraduate students from more than 40 states and 45 countries. Affiliated with the Reformed Church in America since its founding in 1866, Hope College is known for its invitational ecumenical Christian atmosphere, friendly campus community, and well-balanced academic and co-curricular offerings. Hope's beautiful campus is located just steps from award-winning downtown Holland, Michigan and less than seven miles from Lake Michigan.

Hope College is recognized as a national leader in undergraduate research and scholarship and for providing exceptional professional preparation and life-changing educational experiences that equip our students for success after graduation. The college has consistently ranked among the nation's top liberal arts colleges and is featured in the book Colleges That Change Lives.

Hope College is financially sound, with more than 40 consecutive years of balanced budgets, an endowment of approximately $200 million and no deferred maintenance, and over $140 million invested in the construction of new facilities during the past 12 years. The college completed its newest buildings, the Kruizena Art Museum and the Jack H. Miller Center for Musical Arts, in 2015 and will open the Jim and Martie Bultman Student Center in 2017.

In 2015, Hope College launched its 10-year strategic plan, Hope for the World: 2025, which consists of six goals, focused on: academics; Christian formation; global engagement; community; reputation and influence; and value. Developed by the campus community, the strategic plan supports the college's mission, "to educate students for lives of leadership and service in a global society through academic and co-curricular programs of recognized excellence in the liberal arts and in the context of the historic Christian faith."

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1769

Purdue University

Rank: Assistant/Associate professor in Innovative Qualitative Methodologies

The Departments of Anthropology, Political Science, Sociology, and the Brian Lamb School of Communication in the College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University (<http://www.cla.purdue.edu/>) are conducting a cluster hire for an advanced qualitative methodologist at the Assistant or Associate Professor ranks, starting in the fall of 2017.

This search is concurrent with a search for two advanced quantitative methodologists as part of a larger hiring initiative with departments in the College of Health and Human Sciences (<http://www.purdue.edu/hhs/>), seeking a total of six tenure-track or tenured faculty members (three in each College) to expand campus-wide expertise in social, behavioral, and health science statistics and research methodology. For information about the cluster see: <https://www.cla.purdue.edu/research/clusterhire/index.html>.

The successful candidates for these positions will be expected to contribute to the research and teaching programs of the departments in which they affiliate, and to collaborate with others within the cluster and across the university in interdisciplinary and extramurally funded research. Candidates will also be expected to contribute to an anticipated multi-college, shared graduate training platform to prepare students to address 21st century problems, and including an interdisciplinary graduate certification program in advanced quantitative and qualitative methodologies.

The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue includes ten academic units across the social sciences, humanities and arts and is home to or closely affiliated with a wide range of interdisciplinary programs and research centers, many of these programs focus on addressing global grand challenges, including: Center on Aging and the Life Course, Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Center for the Environment, Center on Religion and Chinese Society, Regenstrief Center for Healthcare Engineering, Purdue Policy Research Institute and the C-SPANN archives. Successful candidates should have a Ph.D. in one of the social science disciplines participating in the cluster hiring initiative, a strong publication record (for Associate-level applicants) or the promise of a strong publication record (for Assistant Professors), a research program with high likelihood of external funding, and the potential for teaching and mentoring excellence. Faculty responsibilities will include maintaining a productive research program, directing graduate student research, and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in methodology in their home department as well as cross-listed courses.

For our qualitative methodologist position in the Cluster, we seek applicants who use innovative approaches to social and cultural research methods for the contemporary global context. They will use leading-edge methods to help understand changes in societies and cultures and to collaborate with others in building more sustainable communities; combining information, problem-solving and answering research questions in innovative ways. They will demonstrate how they use innovative methodologies and methods to work across cultural groups, disciplinary lines, organizational and political contexts, to address human problems or for policy or advocacy work. Expertise may be in one or more of the following: Research Design, textual, discourse, computer assisted or GIS analyses, multi-sited work, mixed-methods, team-based, ethnographic, participatory, comparative historical, visual and digital methods, archival, surveys, mapping, interviews, critical case studies, Evaluation or Assessment, Digital data curation and management.

A background check will be required for employment in this position. Reviewing of applications will begin on October 1, 2016, and continue until the positions are filled. Please send a cover letter outlining qualifications, vita, research and teaching statements, a writing sample, and the names of three academic references via email in PDF format to: cla-adr@purdue.edu. Questions regarding the position may be directed to Professor Melissa Remis, Associate Dean for Research and Graduate Education, College of Liberal Arts Cluster Hire Search Chair, Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN, 47907 (remis@purdue.edu).

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1766

Purdue University

Rank: Assistant/Associate professor in Innovative Quantitative Methodologies

ADVANCED QUANTITATIVE METHODOLOGIES CLUSTER HIRE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS, PURDUE UNIVERSITY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

The Departments of Anthropology, Political Science, Sociology, and the Brian Lamb School of Communication in the College of Liberal Arts at Purdue University (<http://www.cla.purdue.edu/>) are conducting a cluster hire for two positions in quantitative methodologies and/or formal theory at the Assistant or Associate Professor ranks, with initial positions starting in the fall of 2017. This search is concurrent with a search for an advanced qualitative methodologist as part of a larger hiring initiative with departments in the College of Health and Human Sciences (<http://www.purdue.edu/hhs/>), seeking a total of six tenure-track or tenured faculty members (three in each College) to expand campus-wide expertise in social, behavioral, and health science statistics and research methodology. For information about the cluster see: <https://www.cla.purdue.edu/research/clusterhire/index.html>.

The successful candidates for these positions will be expected to contribute to the research and teaching programs of the departments in which they affiliate, and to collaborate with others within the cluster and across the university in interdisciplinary and extramurally-funded research. Candidates will also be expected to contribute to an anticipated multi-college, shared graduate training platform, including a graduate certification program in advanced methodologies.

The College of Liberal Arts at Purdue includes ten academic units across the social sciences, humanities and arts and is home to or closely affiliated with a wide range of interdisciplinary programs and research centers, including: Center on Aging and the Life Course, C-SPAN Archives, Center on Religion and Chinese Society, Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Regenstrief Center for Healthcare Engineering, Purdue Policy Research Institute and Center for the Environment. Successful candidates should have a Ph.D. in one of the social science disciplines participating in the cluster hiring initiative, a strong publication record (for Associate-level applicants) or the promise of a strong publication record (for Assistant Professors), a research program with high likelihood of external funding, and the potential for teaching and mentoring excellence. Faculty responsibilities will include maintaining a productive research program, directing graduate student research, and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in methodology in their home department as well as cross-listed courses. We are particularly interested in candidates with a substantive area of research and who have demonstrated expertise in innovative quantitative techniques. We welcome applicants with expertise in the analysis of large or untraditional data, advanced hierarchical or structural equation modeling, experimental design and causal inference, automated textual analysis, and network analysis, among other areas.

A background check will be required for employment in this position. Reviewing of applications will begin on October 1, 2016, and continue until the positions are filled. Please send a cover letter outlining qualifications, vita, research and teaching statements, a writing sample, and the names of three academic references via email in PDF format to: cla-adr@purdue.edu. Questions regarding the position may be directed to Professor Melissa Remis, Associate Dean for Research and Graduate Education, College of Liberal Arts, Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN, 47907 (remis@purdue.edu).

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1768

St. Edward's University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Public Law & Methodology)

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The School of Behavioral and Social Sciences invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Political Science to begin in August 2017. We seek a broadly-trained scholar with the ability to teach judicial politics, constitutional law, research methods and social science statistics. Preferred candidates must demonstrate a commitment to incorporating quantitative literacy skills into his or her courses. Applicants will also teach courses in the university's General Education program and in the candidate's areas of interest within American Politics.

In line with the St. Edward's University mission statement, the campus is actively engaged in the pursuit of social justice and candidates must demonstrate an appreciation and commitment to diversity. An inclusive faculty body is highly valued as we strive to create a diverse learning environment to prepare our students for success in a global and multicultural world.

The successful candidate will teach four courses per semester (with the opportunity to apply for course reduction to pursue research opportunities), advise undergraduate students, and participate in the wider life of the university and community. Scholarly activity is expected, especially to the degree that it may involve or inspire undergraduate students or have positive contributions to teaching and learning.

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science, be committed to teaching and demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research with undergraduate students. Applicants must be compatible with the educational goals of the School of Behavioral and Social Sciences and the Mission Statement of St. Edward's University which requires faculty to teach students the skills needed to be independent and productive and encourages individuals to confront the critical issues of society and to seek justice and peace.

St. Edward's University is an independent Catholic university founded by the Congregation of Holy Cross and chartered in 1885. It has a current enrollment of over 5,000 undergraduate and graduate students. The University has a long history of welcoming a variety of cultural backgrounds, which has led to a diverse community, and a designation as a leading Hispanic-serving institution. The campus is located on a hilltop overlooking downtown Austin, the capital city of Texas, with a metropolitan population of over one million residents.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until October 1, 2016. Applicants will apply at <https://stedwards.applicantpro.com/jobs/441930.html> and attach the following: A cover letter discussing your qualifications and how your record of teaching, service and research demonstrates your commitment to diversity, inclusion and your experiences or interest in global initiatives as emphasized in the mission of St. Edward's University. CV; teaching statement; research statement summary (1 page); transcripts (unofficial at this stage or a list of courses in which you enrolled in graduate school) sample teaching evaluations and a list of three references. Competitive entry-level salary for 9-month contract; additional opportunities for summer teaching and/or development may be available.

St. Edward's University is an equal opportunity employer and hires only U. S. citizens and documented workers. Applications from minorities and women are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1764

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: International Relations/IPE

Specializations: International Political Economy, Quantitative Methods, Foreign Policy

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University New Brunswick anticipates hiring 12 new faculty members over the next 4 years, mostly at the Assistant Professor level. Our needs extend to all subfields, although they are particularly strong in International Relations, American Politics, and Methods (statistical and formal). As part of this initiative, we now seek applicants for a full time, tenure track Assistant Professor position in International Relations, beginning September 1, 2017. We have a strong preference towards someone with advanced quantitative and/or game-theoretic skills and an interest in International Political Economy, although other substantive interests in IR will also be considered. Candidate must be able to teach standard undergraduate survey courses in IR. Ability to teach a graduate level course in MLE a big plus.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36595>. Review of applicants will begin on October 1 and continue until the job is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 1750

University of Oregon

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oregon invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning September 2017, and will consider candidates in either of two areas: International Political Economy/International Organization or Comparative Politics with a specialization in Chinese politics. IPE/IO candidates are required to have demonstrated quantitative research interests and teaching abilities and should be capable of teaching an undergraduate/graduate methods course. For comparative/China candidates, we are open to varied methodological orientations. The successful candidate is expected to conduct a rigorous research program, and to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The University of Oregon and the Department of Political Science are committed to creating a more inclusive and diverse institution and seek candidates with demonstrated potential to contribute positively to its diverse community.

Apply online at academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7568. Interested applicants should submit a letter describing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, three letters of recommendation, employment application, one writing sample, syllabi and teaching evaluations, if available. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required by September 15, 2017.

To ensure full consideration, application materials must be submitted by October 1, 2016. This position will remain open until filled. This is a paperless search; contact psjobs@uoregon.edu with questions or concerns.

The University of Oregon is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the ADA. The University encourages all qualified individuals to apply, and does not discriminate on the basis of any protected status, including veteran and disability status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1735

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a position in the field of Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. This position is subject to the University's background check policy. For best consideration apply by September 8, 2016.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1699

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Analysis

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in the fields of Formal Theory or Quantitative Analysis. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. Applications are welcome from scholars who have or expect to have a Ph.D. by the start date, September 1, 2017. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members.

Transcripts should be sent directly to F/Q Postdoctoral Fellowship Search, Department of Politics, 130 Corwin Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 15, 2017.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1701

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci?q=node/1>) seeks applications for a tenure track assistant professor in International Relations. We are open with respect to specialization within IR, and successful candidates will add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) to (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files may be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search. Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to International Relations Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1690

Brown University

Rank: Open Rank Position in Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position in quantitative methods (any sub-field) to begin July 2017. Candidates at all ranks are welcome but must have completed the PhD by summer 2017. Review of applications will begin September 26, 2016. Candidates at untenured rank(s) should submit a cover letter identifying their primary interests as well as a current CV, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three letters of reference. Candidates at the tenured level should submit a cover letter identifying their primary interests, CV, copies of major publications, teaching evaluations, and the names of five references with contact information; the search committee will contact referees directly. Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status.

Submit applications to: apply.interfolio.com/36164

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1646

Shanghai University of Finance and EconomicsRank: Tenure Track Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science*Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFU) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in fall 2017 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, political theory, and etc. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 150 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has about 10 faculty members who own overseas PhD degrees, and 4 of them are in political science. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to development a new political science program. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system of the United States and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Selection will begin immediately and continue until the positions have been filled, pending administrative and budgetary approval. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend that meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews. Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/20/2016Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 1643Shanghai University of Finance and Economics*Rank: Tenure Track Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science*Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFU) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in fall 2017 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, political theory, and etc. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 150 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has about 10 faculty members who own overseas PhD degrees, and 4 of them are in political science. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to development a new political science program. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system of the United States and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Selection will begin immediately and continue until the positions have been filled, pending administrative and budgetary approval. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend that meeting and be available for an interview. For those candidates who can attend the conference interview, please submit your application before August 15th. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews. Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/20/2016Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 1644

Bocconi UniversityRank: Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management at Bocconi University is inviting applications from political scientists for a faculty position at the assistant professor level, for appointment on September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in applications in the field of comparative politics. Proficiency in quantitative and/or formal methods is appreciated, given the direction of development of the political science group.

Bocconi University is a leading institution for economics and related disciplines in Continental Europe, and it is currently expanding in the area of political science. As part of this development, in 2015 Bocconi launched a Bachelor in International Politics and Government, which has immediately established itself as an ambitious and competitive bachelor program, attracting over 300 applications from international students for the 60 available positions. Political science is a major field also in the Ph.D. Program in Public Policy and Administration, launched in 2014. In addition, political science is an increasingly important component of the well-established master's programs in Economics and Social Sciences and Economics and Management of Government and International Organizations, highly selective programs that attract the best master students in Europe.

Bocconi provides an ideal interdisciplinary research environment. The Department of Policy Analysis and Public Management combines faculty from several social sciences (economics, political science, sociology, history, demography and public administration), who shares an interest in policy-relevant research. The Politics and Institutions Unit, at the Dondena Center for Research in Social Dynamics and Public Policy, brings together scholars from different departments at Bocconi, who contribute to research in political science and political economy. The Politics and Institutions Unit is also one of the founders of the European Political Economy Consortium, an initiative that will significantly increase the interactions and collaborations of researchers in political science and political economy across Europe.

The successful candidate is expected to teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The excellent terms of employment are competitive. Bocconi University is located in Italy's most vibrant center, Milan, a historical and cosmopolitan city in a metro area of 3 million, conveniently set near the Alps and just eighty miles from the Mediterranean sea.

Applications are due by September 20, 2016. Review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Campus visits are going to be scheduled for November and/or early December 2016. To ensure full consideration, applicants must submit:

- a. a scientific curriculum (including a list of titles and publications);
- b. titles, publications and documents which the candidates intend to submit for this evaluation ;
- c. list of highly qualified academic referees providing a reference letter via the on-line e-form with pdf attachments which can be found at www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket.

To complete the online process, applicants will have to include three letters of recommendation. The letters should be sent by the referees to recruiting@unibocconi.it by September 25, 2016.

Applicants who wish to arrange a preliminary interview at the APSA conference should submit their application according to the procedure outlined above by August 2, 2016.

For further information, please contact Prof. Massimo Morelli (massimo.morelli@unibocconi.it) and Piero Stanig (piero.stanig@unibocconi.it).

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/18/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1624Centro de Investigacion y Docencia Economicas*Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, open to all subfields (CIDE, Mexico City)*Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at CIDE invites applications for a full-time position at its campus in Mexico City. The position is open field in political science and open rank. An immediate command of Spanish is not required, but within one year of appointment the successful applicant will be expected to teach material in Spanish.

CIDE is a social-science research institute, teaching graduate and undergraduate programs to select students in small groups. Our department was recently ranked as the top political science department in Latin America, measured by publication impact. Faculty members are expected to publish in top international journals and presses. The position offers a competitive salary with a lower-than-average teaching load. For more details, feel free to contact Prof. Luis de la Calle (who will be attending APSA) or any other faculty member.

Candidates should provide: (1) a short cover letter; (2) a detailed curriculum vita; (3) a writing sample; (4) the syllabus of at least a course the candidate has taught or would like to teach, and (5) at least three letters of reference. Applications should be sent to Prof. Luis de la Calle, Search Committee Chair, at contrataciones.politic@cide.edu.

Review of applications will begin in September 10, 2016. Later applications might be accepted but are not guaranteed full consideration. Employment would begin in January 2017, or as soon as possible thereafter.

Department's website: <http://www.cide.edu/divisiones-academicas/estudios-politicos>

Start Date: Spring 2017Application Deadline: 9/10/2016Date Posted: 7/14/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1602Stanford University*Rank: Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields

Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields.

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2017. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, a writing sample and a brief statement of research interest (no more than three pages).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 16, 2016, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AcademicJobsOnline.org

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/13/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1612

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Behavior and Quantitative Methods, as well as the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2017. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The department of political science has 17 full-time faculty members with over 150 students in the undergraduate major and in two graduate programs; Master of Public Administration and Master of Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins September 16, 2016 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Missouri State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action/minority/female/veterans/disability/sexual orientation/gender identity employer and institution. We encourage applications from all interested minorities, females, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and sexual orientation/gender identity.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1600

Stanford University

Rank: Tenured position in Political Methodology, at the rank of associate or full professor

Tenured position in Political Methodology, at the rank of associate or full professor

The Department of Political Science at Stanford University is seeking applications for a tenured position in Political Methodology, at the rank of associate or full professor. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2017. Successful candidates must demonstrate substantial evidence of a creative research career, impact on his or her field of study, and a commitment to excellence in teaching and advising students at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Tenured applicants should send a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, bibliography, and a brief statement of research interest (no more than three pages). Additional papers and manuscripts may be requested at a later date. The committee will begin reading applications on September 16, 2016 but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on-line through AcademicJobsOnline.org.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/8/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1606

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor of Political Science

POLITICAL METHODOLOGY - The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position in the field of Political Methodology. We are especially interested in candidates at the assistant professor rank. This is a university year appointment and begins on September 1, 2017. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required. Application review is underway, and will continue on a rolling basis. You are encouraged to submit your application early, allowing time for a thorough review. All applications received by September 1, 2016 will be considered. We are requesting the following application materials: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing samples, statement of current and future research plans, statement of teaching philosophy and experience, teaching evaluations, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Visit lsa.umich.edu/polisci/faculty-hiring to apply.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1587

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Methodology / Data Analytics)

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position beginning in August 2017. We seek an applicant with research methodology expertise in data analytics, with a focus on “big data” analysis involving volume (large quantities of data), velocity (rapidly accumulating data, including real time tools), and variety (data pulled from multiple, often unstructured, sources). Subfields and specializations are open and flexible but the successful candidate will demonstrate both teaching and research agendas in one or more substantive subfields of Political Science. Applications at the associate professor level will be considered.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. We seek applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date. Successful candidates will have an active and productive research agenda and evidence of teaching excellence, with the demonstrated ability to offer introductory and advanced research methods courses, the latter of which would emphasize data analytics, along with courses in their substantive area of expertise. The standard teaching-load is 3-2, and the salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Have three confidential letters of recommendation emailed directly from the reviewer to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu. Department representatives will attend the APSA meeting, where we will conduct screening interviews. Please contact Dr. Joanne Green (j.green@tcu.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA meeting. Full review of applications begins on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 830,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 6/21/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1558

University of Zurich

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Postdoctoral Research Position at the University of Zurich

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich invites applications for a postdoctoral research position (“Oberassistentenz”) in the research group of the chair of public policy held by Professor Fabrizio Gilardi (www.fabriziogilardi.org).

The Department offers excellent research support and is committed to advancing young scholars' careers. The postdoctoral researcher will be expected to pursue his or her own research agenda and produce scholarship with the potential for publication in top journals. Moreover, he or she will teach a year-long undergraduate research seminar on a topic relevant for public policy closely linked to his or her research agenda. Preference will be given to applicants with expertise in experimental methods or automated text analysis.

A minimum of two-year commitment is requested; renewal up to six years is contingent on research productivity, teaching quality, and continued substantive fit. Language of instruction is English or German. Ph.D. should be in hand by June 2017.

Please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing sample, brief proposal for a postdoctoral project (1-3 pages), teaching evaluations (if available), and two letters of recommendations to Professor Fabrizio Gilardi (gilardi@ipz.uzh.ch), who can also be contacted for informal inquiries.

- Start Date: January or February 2017

- Application Deadline: September 11, 2016

- Annual salary: CHF 60,000 (approx. USD 62,000 / EUR 55,000)

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/13/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1530

Furman University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

The Department of Political Science at Furman University invites applications for an open rank tenure-track appointment in comparative politics to begin Fall 2017. The candidate's teaching responsibilities will include introductory courses in comparative politics and upper level courses in the area of Middle East politics. The ability to teach a Politics of Africa course and/or an introductory course in research methodology is a strong plus. S/he must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching and excellence in scholarship.

Furman University is a private, selective liberal arts college of about 2,700 residential students located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is situated in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Greenville has a thriving downtown and international community and is within a short driving distance of Charlotte, Atlanta, and Asheville. The Department of Political Science has 15 full-time members. Normal teaching responsibilities are five courses, spread over two terms, typically including two or three introductory courses and two or three upper level courses.

We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. We will also meet with interested and qualified candidates at the American Political Science Association convention in Philadelphia, PA. To apply please go to <https://jobs.furman.edu/postings/5738>. For any questions please contact the chairperson of the search committee Dr. Akan Malici at akan.malici@furman.edu. Furman University is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. Furman offers employment benefits to domestic partners of employees.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1505

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science seeks candidates for a 9-month academic year, tenure-system position in Political Methodology and Computational Social Science. Rank is Assistant Professor. The position begins August 16, 2017. Special consideration will be given to those who have expertise in applying Bayesian and/or machine learning approaches, broadly construed, to computationally intensive problems in social science. We encourage applications not only from candidates that have been trained in Political Science departments, but also interdisciplinary researchers whose interests intersect with political science topics. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching ability, the promise of attracting external funding for his/her research, and will have the opportunity to join the interdisciplinary Social Science Data Analytics Initiative at MSU.

The closing date for applications is October 1, 2016, though later applications may be accepted if the search remains open. You must apply for this position via Michigan State University Applicant Page (MAP), posting number 3463. Please access the MAP system at <https://jobs.msu.edu>. Please submit your curriculum vitae, cover letter, research statement, sample of written work, and evidence of teaching ability. Please also arrange for at least three letters of recommendation to be submitted.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer, committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce and inclusive culture that encourages all people to reach their full potential. The University actively encourages applicants and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 6/1/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1509

NON-ACADEMIC

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy
Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Methodology, Public Policy
Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, Defense

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multi-disciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements: PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience: Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance: Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location: Santa Monica or Pittsburgh office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required: Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

RAND is an Equal Opportunity Employer Minorities/Females/Vets/Disabled

How to apply: www.rand.org/jobs/id4185

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1842

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Distinguished Visiting Professor of National Security
Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, American Government and Politics
Specializations: International Security, Intelligence, Defense

The Political Science Department invites applicants for the position of Distinguished Visiting Professor (DVP) of National Security to begin as early as Fall 2016. Past incumbents have been recognized national security experts who have added perspective and depth to their students' academic experience. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to undergraduate teaching and an ability to lead upper level political science courses related to topics such as: environmental security, regional security, terrorism, cybersecurity, executive privilege, arms proliferation and arms control. Assisting midshipmen with research, offering seminars and lectures and, inviting guest speakers are among the position's objectives.

The DVP position is for two years commencing in August 2016. It is non-tenure track and non-renewable. The position is administered by the Office of the Academic Dean which provides the DVP with an office and administrative support.

Applications submitted by November 1, 2015 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

For more information about the position and to apply, please go to www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/DVPNationalSec.php

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/6/2015
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 776

OTHER

University of Michigan

Rank: Emerging Democracies Postdoctoral Fellowship

Fellowship period: September 2017 – May 2018
 Application deadline: January 15, 2017

The Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies (WCED) at the University of Michigan invites postdoctoral scholars to apply for the Emerging Democracies Postdoctoral Fellowship. The fellowship supports research on the broad historical, political, economic, and societal conditions under which democracies emerge—and autocracies endure.

Three awards are available in 2017-18. Emerging Democracies Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in WCED workshops and events, and present one public lecture during their fellowship year, while in residence at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

We welcome excellent applicants from all disciplines. Fellows must have successfully defended and filed their dissertation before beginning the fellowship. Eligibility is restricted to those who have received their PhD after January 1, 2015.

Fellowships carry a salary of $50,000 plus $2,000 in research funds, and will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning September 1, 2017 through May 31, 2018). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Candidates will be required to submit:

- A two-page research plan that outlines the research project and how the fellow will spend his/her time during the fellowship year.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter, conference paper, or journal article.
- Two letters of recommendation.

Fellowship applications must be received by January 15, 2017, 11:59 pm EST. Applicants will be notified in March 2017.

Application link available at <https://www.ii.umich.edu/wced/postdoctoral-fellows.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 1/15/2017
Date Posted: 9/1/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1779

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for full-time appointment during the 2017-2018 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government

Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. QSS fellows also join a broader community of postdoctoral social science researchers at Dartmouth that includes scholars at the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows.

The stipend for the QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, there may be an opportunity for the fellow to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend. The fellowship can be extended through the 2018-2019 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests no longer than two pages that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/37062.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1934

Framingham State University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Political Science

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Political Science

About Framingham State University:

Framingham State University is a vibrant comprehensive liberal arts institution located just 20 miles west of Boston.

Framingham State University is committed to Inclusive Excellence through collaborative and sustainable partnerships with faculty, staff, students and the greater community. At FSU, we encourage a supportive, diverse and collaborative environment in which we learn from each other through informed and open communication, institutional practices and community engagement. FSU provides a culturally relevant education that includes a beautiful campus with 53 undergraduate and graduate programs, a highly personalized teaching environment, and unparalleled commitment to excellence in diversity and inclusion. Framingham State University is honored to be recognized for the second year as a recipient of the INSIGHT into Diversity prestigious 2015 Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) award. The HEED award is the only national recognition honoring colleges and universities that exhibit outstanding efforts and success in the area of diversity and inclusion throughout their campuses.

Visit <http://www.framingham.edu/careers> to learn more about employment opportunities at Framingham State University.

Job Description:

GENERAL STATEMENT OF DUTIES: The Department of Political Science at Framingham State University invites applications for a tenure track, full-time position in the areas of American Government and Political Theory to begin September 2017.

We are seeking candidates deeply committed to teaching in a liberal arts environment.

Duties include: undergraduate teaching, research and scholarship, and service to the Political Science Department and Framingham State University. Teaching obligations include: Introduction to American Politics and advanced courses in American government and theory including Legislative Politics, The American presidency, Political Parties, Political Theory and other courses in American politics. Applicants should also have interest in student civic engagement.

Application Instructions:

Candidates must apply online by submitting a cover letter, resume, and the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to provide letters of recommendation online.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. However, the posting may close once an adequate number of applications are received.

Paper applications will not be accepted. If you experience technical issues with the online application process, please submit a helpdesk ticket.

Framingham State University understands that persons with specific disabilities may need assistance with the job application process and/or with the interview process. For confidential assistance with the job application process, please contact the Human Resources Office at 508-626-4530 or humanresources@framingham.edu.

Job Requirements

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

- PhD in Political Science
- Evidence of excellent teaching
- ABD's will also be considered (PhD must be completed by September 2017)

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/ryg3fsr2kw>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1931

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Africana Studies/Political Science. Applicants should demonstrate a proven commitment and capacity for high quality research and teaching, evidenced by publications as well as teaching evaluations, relative to experience. Teaching will include lower division courses, upper division courses in candidate's area of specialization, and graduate courses. 2/2 load with on-going scholarship and publication.

Qualifications:

Required: ABD or Ph.D. by time of appointment in African/Africana Studies or Political Science. Specialization in foreign policy international relations, politics, field experiments, human rights or social justice, and evidence of quantitative research with respect to Africa and the African diaspora.

Preferred: Scholarship and teaching within a transnational context (African diaspora with emphasis on the Caribbean and the US is preferred).

This is a joint position between the Department of Africana Studies and Political Science. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled but for best consideration, dossier should be completed October 31, 2016.

FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA. Internal and external search to occur simultaneously. Anticipated Start Date: Fall 2017

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

Application Procedure: Interested individuals should complete the Academic Jobs application process online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7607>. Interested candidates should submit a State employment application, curriculum vitae, cover letter, teaching statement and samples of written work. In addition, please arrange to have three letters of professional recommendation submitted on your behalf.

Alternatively, submit above mentioned materials to:

Search Committee Chair, Africana Studies/Political Science Search
Department of Africana Studies
S-249, Social and Behavioral Sciences Bldg.
Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4340

STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY IS AN AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER. WE ENCOURAGE PROTECTED VETERANS, INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES, WOMEN AND MINORITIES TO APPLY.

IF YOU NEED A DISABILITY-RELATED ACCOMMODATION, PLEASE CALL THE UNIVERSITY HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES DEPARTMENT AT (631) 632-6161 OR THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL HUMAN RESOURCES DEPARTMENT AT (631) 444-4700.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TITLE II CRIME AWARENESS AND SECURITY ACT, A COPY OF OUR CRIME STATISTICS IS AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST BY CALLING (631) 632-6350. IT CAN ALSO BE VIEWED ON-LINE AT THE UNIVERSITY POLICE WEBSITE AT <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1828

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science/Social Data

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position to start Fall 2017 for faculty whose substantive research interests are informed by, or inform the development of, data- or computationally-intensive techniques. We encourage applications at the assistant and early associate level but candidates at any level with exceptional records of accomplishment will be considered. The substantive research area is open although preference will be given to those candidates whose research agendas supplement existing areas of specialization within the department. Candidates should be able to contribute to our new undergraduate Social Data Analytics program (see <http://soda.la.psu.edu/>) and our graduate methods offerings. Faculty positions at Penn State involve substantial research support; in addition, junior positions offer significant release time. Candidates should have a record of publication in high-quality venues, external funding, and quality teaching credentials.

Candidates must have their Ph.D. in hand by appointment date. Application review will begin on October 1, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, samples of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (with a key) at <https://psu.jobs/job/66139>. All candidates should request letters from three references to be sent directly to plscapplications@psu.edu.

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1918

Azusa Pacific University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Political Theory

Position Tracking Number: F591

School/College: College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Department: History and Political Science

Location: Azusa

Description:

The Department of History and Political Science invites applications for an Assistant/Associate faculty position in Political Science, with primary specialization in political philosophy, secondary specialization in American Politics. Ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus, as is ability to teach writing for the humanities. Candidates should possess an earned Ph.D. in Political Science or Government, and maintain a strong commitment to the liberal arts. The appointment will begin August 2017, and is subject to final funding.

Specialization: Political Philosophy

Responsibilities:

- Teach upper-division courses in political philosophy, American political thought;
- Teach lower-division courses in political philosophy and American Government;
- Ability to teach lower and/or upper division courses in international relations desirable;
- Teach lower- and upper-division writing and research courses;
- Advise and mentor undergraduate students;
- Participate in departmental and university affairs;
- Integrate Christian faith in all aspects of instruction;
- Maintain an active scholarly research agenda.

Level: Assistant or Associate Professor

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or Government.
- A commitment to teaching excellence in an undergraduate, liberal arts program.
- A demonstrated, vibrant Christian faith compatible with the mission of Azusa Pacific University.

Experience:

Demonstrated commitment to scholarship in Political Science and prior university-level teaching experience.

Workload: Full-time position which includes teaching, advising and other departmental responsibilities.

Mental Demands:

- Desire to integrate Christian faith in all aspects of instruction.
- Ability to engage in critical thinking and exercise independent judgment.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality and manage confidential information.
- Self-starter and ability to communicate effectively in written and oral form.
- Ability to develop and maintain a scholarly research agenda.

Hire Date: August 2017

Additional Information:

At Azusa Pacific University we value and uphold God-honoring diversity. Diversity was not our idea, but God's. Therefore, we aim for an environment that respects and honors each individual's uniqueness while celebrating our collective commonalities. It is in this spirit that we continue important discourse on diversity, engage a variety of perspectives, and embrace active listening in a spirit of humility. We continue our efforts to recruit, hire, and support a diverse community in an effort to create a milieu that reflects the mosaic of God's kingdom.

Azusa Pacific University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Azusa Pacific University conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Application Procedure:

To apply, visit <http://www.apu.edu/cp/employment/>. Interested applicants should submit materials by September 15, 2016. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1913

Saint John's University

Rank: Environmental Studies/Energy

The Environmental Studies Department at The College of Saint Benedict/Saint John's University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in fall 2017. Ph.D. in an interdisciplinary social science, environmental studies, or a related field preferred (ABD considered). Undergraduate teaching experience required. Preference will be given to candidates with training in interdisciplinary social sciences and expertise in energy and society. Teaching assignments will include shared responsibility for required courses in the environmental studies major and new upper-division courses on energy and society, the global transition to sustainability, or related topics in the candidate's areas of expertise supporting the Environmental Studies curriculum as appropriate. The ability to contribute to institutional UNFCCC/climate studies initiatives is also desirable. Applicants should be willing to direct undergraduate research, integrate campus and local sustainability issues into their teaching, and contribute to the institutions' Common Curriculum.

Saint John's University, a liberal arts college for men, and the College of Saint Benedict, a liberal arts college for women, are located four miles apart in Central Minnesota just outside St. Cloud and 70 miles from Minneapolis. Both are Catholic colleges in the Benedictine tradition, which emphasize quality teaching and a commitment to intercultural learning. Together, the College of Saint Benedict and Saint John's University offer a common undergraduate curriculum, identical degree requirements, and a single academic calendar. The colleges offer the distinct benefit of two nationally recognized Catholic, undergraduate institutions and one exceptional education. For further information, see <http://www.csbsju.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1906

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Director of School of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Other

The University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applications for the position of inaugural Director of the new School of Public Policy (SPP) at the University's flagship campus. We seek an outstanding and active scholar committed to the study of public problems and their resolution. The appointment will be made at the rank of Full Professor or advanced Associate Professor. Building on the success of the University's Center for Public Policy and Administration, the founding director will help to lead a faculty hiring strategy, elevate the visibility of SPP as a national and international hub for policy debates, and create multi-disciplinary programs that prepare students for lifelong engagement with public issues. The Director will work with faculty and other campus leaders to raise the profile of policy-relevant research on and beyond campus, build partnerships with other campus units that create joint opportunities for policy-related research and teaching, support faculty to increase public engagement with their research, and engage in fundraising working with development staff. The Director, who will report to the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS), will work with faculty to lead efforts to establish new opportunities for undergraduates in public policy and administration and expand existing graduate programs, working in collaboration with departments in the social sciences, natural sciences, public health, engineering, information and computer science and a variety of other fields. The SPP community is interested in problems connected to inequality and has a passion for social change and engaging policy problems at all levels, locally through internationally. The new Director will work collaboratively to develop innovative programs on our main campus in Amherst, with possible new operations in Massachusetts (Boston and Springfield) and Washington, DC where students will gain valuable experience in international, national, state, regional and local governance.

Requirements:

Candidates for Director must have a doctoral degree or equivalent and an exceptional record of research, teaching, and service sufficient to merit appointment as a tenured (full or associate) professor in one of the academic departments of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to research and to undergraduate and graduate education; a vision for how a new policy school will support the campus's strategic planning goals; a commitment to increase the diversity of the faculty, student body and curriculum; an ability to serve as a vigorous champion for public policy research and teaching; and an ability to work effectively across boundaries with faculty members, students, staff, administrators, and external constituencies.

Additional Information:

The university is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University of Massachusetts Amherst is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will holistically assess the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research or other work activities. We will also favorably consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic degree and career.

Application Instructions:

The appointment will be effective on or about September 1, 2017. Interested candidates should apply through Interview Exchange.

Candidates should include a curriculum vitae and a cover letter with a statement about the candidate's views on the role of public policy in a public research university, along with a concise description of the candidate's research and related accomplishments.

All applications will be treated as strictly confidential & letters of reference will only be requested for candidates who are finalists.

For full consideration, ensure that your application is received by October 3, 2016, but review of applications will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1898

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

LSE values diversity and strives to promote equality at all levels.

For this post, we particularly welcome applications by women and ethnic minorities.

Department of Government

Assistant Professor in Political Science

Salary is competitive with Departments at our peer institutions worldwide and not less than £52,427 ($69,458) pa inclusive

The Department of Government at the LSE is looking to recruit a career-track Assistant Professor in Political Science with an emphasis on candidates whose research explores questions of political inequality, identity and representation with respect to gender and/or race.

The Department is working to extend its teaching and research coverage of gender and politics and/or race and politics, broadly defined, at the undergraduate, MSc and PhD levels. The position is open to candidates from across the discipline and with a wide range of methodological approaches and country or regional specialisms.

The successful candidate should normally have, or be close to obtaining (by 1 September 2017), a PhD in political science or a closely related field. Candidates should have excellent written and oral communication skills and relevant teaching experience. Candidates should also have an outstanding research track record and trajectory in this area, as evidenced by existing publications or potential to publish in top journals in political science or closely-related disciplines.

The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk

The closing date for receipt of applications is 22 September 2016 (23.59 UK time). We are unable to accept any late applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/22/2016

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1880

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science and Public Policy

LSE values diversity and strives to promote equality at all levels.

For this post, we particularly welcome applications by women and ethnic minorities.

Salary is competitive with Departments at our peer institutions worldwide and not less than £52,427 ($69,458) pa inclusive

We are looking to recruit a new tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Science and Public Policy. Candidates should have a strong research and teaching interest in comparative public policy, public administration/management and/or executive politics. In order to maintain the capacity to enable research-led teaching, the substantive research interests should be in the field, with in-depth expertise about policy making and implementation.

We would be particularly interested in going beyond the existing portfolio of expertise by encouraging substantive research in and teaching in the following fields: structure or processes of policy making, administration or management in G7 and non-G7 countries, notably Africa, Asia, Latin America or other transition countries; non-market policies, e.g. on the environment, welfare policy or rights (race, gender, LGBTQ and other minorities); new instruments and forms of administrative collaboration, coordination and implementation.

Candidates should also have an emerging research track record and trajectory, as evidenced by existing publications or potential to publish in major journals and book presses in political science and/or public policy/administration and by clear indications of a research trajectory in the field of executive politics, public policy and administration, public management or regulation.

The successful candidate should expect to contribute to and provide courses that fall within the teaching portfolio of our programmes in public policy and related subjects.

The successful candidate should normally have, or be very close to obtaining (by 1 September 2017), a PhD in political science, public policy and administration or a closely related field. Candidates should have excellent written and oral communication skills and relevant teaching experience.

The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any queries about applying on the online system, or require an alternative format for the application, please e-mail: hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk

The closing date for receipt of applications is 22 September 2016 (23.59 UK time). We are unable to accept any late applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/22/2016
Date Posted: 8/24/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1881

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor, Center for Science, Technology, and Society [STS], Drexel University

The Center for Science, Technology, and Society [STS] expects to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor. We invite applications for this expected position at this time. The successful applicant would begin September 1, 2017. This position continues the re-invigoration of the research potential of the STS Center at Drexel University, which included the successful recruitment of a new Director in 2011, an Assistant Professor and Associate Professor in 2012, and an Assistant Professor in 2013. The position will be a joint appointment with the successful candidate's appropriate disciplinary department (e.g. global studies, anthropology, history, political science, sociology, etc.)

We are primarily interested in candidates who investigate the social and political dimensions of information technologies and/or digital infrastructures, especially as those relate to uneven distributions of power. Faculty expertise could, for example, be in the historical, cultural and political dimensions of the development and use of smart grids, patient health records, or digital media; issues of privacy, surveillance and big data; changes in regulatory structures and policies related to information technologies; access to information technologies; and/or the identities and communities created in digital worlds. Although open to any areas of study, we encourage scholars with an international or comparative focus to apply. Computing and society are central to Drexel's strategic plan, and the STS Center would like our new colleague to contribute to this area. We are especially interested in applicants with grounding in the field of STS, and strong methodological skills (e.g., in-depth interviews, focus groups, archival research, fieldwork, GIS or statistics). Applicants' degrees could potentially be in science and technology studies, political science, sociology, anthropology, history, or other relevant fields. We expect that this person's research and teaching, at both undergraduate and graduate levels, will contribute to the STS graduate program and the successful applicant's disciplinary department, and that our new colleague will participate in and initiate collaborations across the Schools, Colleges, and Centers at Drexel.

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three samples of your scholarly writing; and 4) the names, institutional affiliation, and email addresses only of at least three references. Please do not submit reference letters at this time as such letters will be requested at a later date for short-listed applicants. All applications must be submitted online at www.drexeljobs.com. The successful applicant must have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. by August 15, 2017.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016 and continue until filled. Please address all queries to Prof. Kelly Joyce at kelly.a.-joyce@drexel.edu.

Drexel University offers an attractive benefits package including tuition remission, a generous retirement package with matching funds (up to 11%) and an opportunity to join a talented team of professionals directly helping the University achieve its record growth and quality reputation.

Background investigations are required for all new hires as a condition of employment, after the job offer is made. Employment will be contingent upon the University's acceptance of the results of the background investigation.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The Center for STS is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1870

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Director of the Norman and Bernice Harris Center for Judaic Studies

We are seeking an exceptional and dynamic individual in the area of Jewish studies who will lead and serve as Director of the Norman and Bernice Harris Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL), a public land grant research university and member of the Big 10/Committee on Institutional Cooperation, with a total enrollment of over 25,000 students. The Harris Center for Judaic Studies promotes and supports scholarship in Jewish civilization and the nature and history of anti-Semitism. The Center administers an interdisciplinary minor in Jewish Studies, support for undergraduate and graduate research, and a program of public lectures and conferences, and oversees a scholarly community for faculty working on topics related to Jewish Studies.

We are seeking faculty members at the associate to full professor level who have active scholarship or creative activity in Jewish studies. Field of expertise is open within the social sciences and humanities. The tenure home will be within the College of Arts and Sciences. The Director will provide leadership and administrative oversight for the Center and foster the full potential of the Center through innovative collaboration within UNL and outreach to the Lincoln and Omaha communities.

Qualifications include a Ph.D. or equivalent in the social sciences or humanities with expertise in Jewish studies; a distinguished record of teaching, scholarship, and service; and a vision for enhancing the research and educational programs of the Center. Requirements also include excellent communication skills, both oral and written; evidence of community engagement; demonstrable leadership ability; and an interest in working with the University Foundation, donors, and alumni to support fundraising. The preferred candidate will have at least two years of experience in program development and budget planning.

To be considered for this position, candidates should apply online at <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition #F_160185, and complete the Faculty/Academic Administrative form. Application materials should include a cover letter, a curriculum vitae with a full list of publications, the names of three references, and brief research, teaching and administrative statements. Inquiries regarding the position or the application process should be directed to: JSDirectorSearch@unl.edu, or Judaic Studies Search Committee Chair, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, 1223 Oldfather Hall, Lincoln, NE 68588-0312 (Fax: 402-472-1123). Screening of applicants will begin on November 1, 2016; however, the search will continue until a suitable candidate is found. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers. See <http://www.unl.edu/equity/notice-nondiscrimination>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1871

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Grant Development Specialist

The Institute for Social Science Research (ISSR) at the University of Massachusetts Amherst is seeking applicants for qualified candidates to serve as our Grant Development Specialist. Primary job responsibilities are:

- Seek out funding opportunities through various sources including federal, state and local government channels, private foundations, and corporations; working closely with the ISSR Director to determine strategic plans for funding proposal submission and acquisition; and identifying and understanding funding needs and priorities.
- Plan, organize, and manage the grant development functions of the Institute under the supervision of the Director; oversee all SBS grant-seeking to prevent duplication of effort; and maximize revenue through external sources.
- In consultation with the ISSR Director, set an ambitious grant-seeking agenda designed to meet strategic goals; develop relationships with external funding agencies; serve as lead internal consultant on grant development, monitoring grant development trends and applying relevant information to resource development efforts; and anticipate grant development needs and position the Institute to respond.
- Work with the ISSR grants staff in directing the preparation of complex grants and developing and implementing systems to ensure successful grant-seeking efforts, and develop/maintain systems and procedures to ensure the College is aware of grant opportunities, processes, and awards.
- Design and implement opportunities for faculty and staff to develop grant-seeking and grant-writing skills, including social scientific focused workshops; and develop and implement means of tracking improvements in proposals and funded awards.

By way of illustrating the duties described above, specific examples could include:

- Making connections to external funding agencies: communication to lay the groundwork for SBS faculty to connect to the appropriate programs at agencies, allowing faculty to put their time and effort in talking with program officers to best use.
- Targeting proposals: aiding faculty in strategically positioning and framing their work for specific calls for grant proposals in the social sciences.
- Convening faculty interest groups for large interdisciplinary proposals: providing the staffing support, matching expertise, and moderating meetings toward the development of large proposals that support the ISSR mission of meaningful interdisciplinary collaboration for social scientists (e.g., the ISSR sustainability and social science research group).

- Working with existing university offices: coordinating with UMass offices where appropriate, especially the Office of Research Development, but being integrated into SBS with close knowledge of the sciences and scientific community in the college, working with faculty in SBS to find opportunities, and providing workshops to develop grant development skills.

Qualifications: Qualified applicants must have a graduate degree (doctoral degree preferred) in a social science field and a background of grant-related experience in the social sciences. Strong consideration will be given to an individual with demonstrated skills in engaging and managing groups of researchers. Experience in developing relationships with a broad range of people is desired in order to identify and respond to resource development needs. Demonstrated experience in working with grant making institutions is desirable.

This is a non-tenure track position, but with considerable promise for advancement. The initial appointment will be for two years with possibility for renewal contingent on performance and success in procuring external funding.

To Apply: Applicants must apply online through Interview Exchange: <http://umass.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=68995>. Applications must include: 1) cover letter describing interest in this position and funded research plans, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) short writing sample, such as a published article or research grant proposal; these items must be uploaded in Interview Exchange. In addition, three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with your research and mentoring capabilities must be submitted via email or U.S. mail to Karen Mason (mason@issr.umass.edu), Attn: Grant Development Specialist Search, ISSR, 108 Bartlett Hall, University of Massachusetts, 130 Hicks Way, Amherst, MA 01003.

For further information on ISSR, visit our website: www.umass.edu/issr. Please direct questions to Dr. Jennifer Lundquist (lundquist@sbs.umass.edu).

The University provides an intellectual environment committed to providing academic excellence and diversity, including mentoring programs for faculty. The College and Institute are committed to increasing the diversity of the faculty, student body and curriculum. The University of Massachusetts Amherst is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members.

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1865

American University-SIS

Rank: Five Tenure-Track Positions (1=Senior Position)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Developing Nations, Economic Policy

Position Announcement: Five Tenure-Line Faculty Positions
School of International Service

American University

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for five full-time, tenure-line positions to begin August 1, 2017. Applicants should possess a Ph.D. or the highest equivalent degree in a relevant discipline by August 2017.

As a school that includes a diversity of scholarly disciplines and approaches, we seek the best candidates without respect to a particular discipline. We seek scholar-teachers whose work is theoretically grounded, empirically tested, and policy relevant. Candidates should demonstrate excellence in research and teaching and a commitment to school and university service. Candidates should also share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled, except for the Development Studies position, for which review of applications will begin November 1, 2016. For more information about each position and to apply, follow the links below.

*Development Studies (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36539>

*Emerging Powers (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36554>

*Human Security (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36550>

*Race and Global Studies (One Assistant Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36547>

*Transnational/International Security (One Associate Professor or Professor): <https://apply.interfolio.com/36555>

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

Established in 1957, American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs located in Washington, D.C. SIS faculty produce transformational research and prepare our students for global careers in government, nonprofits, and business. SIS's prime location provides opportunities for research, professional training, public service, and internships in the nation's capital and around the world.

Housed in a beautiful LEED-Gold certified building which reflects our commitment to sustainability and ecological stewardship, SIS is a diverse and inclusive community of 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. Our offerings feature a comprehensive liberal arts program for undergraduates, professional education in international affairs for Master's students, and a multidisciplinary program for Doctoral students. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1843

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (Conflict Resolution)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in any field of political science, with a research and teaching profile that will contribute to the department's highly successful Master of Arts Program in Conflict Resolution. The Conflict Resolution Program offers an innovative and rigorous curriculum encompassing the core skills and multidisciplinary knowledge needed to pursue diverse careers, both in the U.S. and abroad, related to conflict management and conflict resolution. Applicants should have the ability to field core courses in conflict resolution theory and research methodology. The department also has a particular interest in applicants whose research and teaching speak to conflict processes and their relationship to race/ethnicity, gender, youth, development, or media. A Ph.D. in political science in hand by the time of appointment is required, as is evidence of excellence, or potential for excellence, in research and publication. The teaching load is two courses per semester. The department values new perspectives on the world and is deeply committed to building a more open discipline that seeks excellence wherever it may lie. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7687>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, and three letters of recommendation. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Desha Girod (desha.girod@georgetown.edu). For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before September 20, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1862

John Jay College - The City University of New York

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor (Law and Society)

The Law and Society major, administered by the Department of Political Science at John Jay College of The City University of New York, invites applications for two tenure-track or tenured positions beginning Fall 2017 in Law and Society. The hiring rank is open. The Ph.D. discipline is open, provided candidates are demonstrably part of the Law and Society scholarly community.

The successful candidates will be part of a new and rapidly growing Law and Society major, with over 500 students, at John Jay. In addition to having an active research agenda in law and society (preferably as a member of the Law and Society Association), the successful candidates will bring enthusiasm and commitment to teaching and curriculum development. Area of research focus is open, though candidates will be expected to develop an undergraduate course that diversifies existing areas of faculty expertise.

Applicants must demonstrate that they are qualified to teach undergraduate courses that introduce students to the interdisciplinary Law and Society approach. In particular, the successful candidates will teach the Senior Research Colloquium in addition to other needed courses in the program (Introduction to Law and Society, Research Methods in Law and Society) and courses developed in the applicant's area of specialty. The successful candidates will also advise students. Forty-seven percent of John Jay students are first generation college students, and the candidates must be eager to work with our diverse student body.

John Jay College of Criminal Justice, a senior college of The City University of New York (CUNY), is an internationally recognized leader in educating for justice, committed to the advancement of justice and just societies. It is a public liberal arts college that enriches the entire learning experience by highlighting themes of justice across the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. Located steps from Lincoln Center at the cultural heart of New York City, the College offers bachelors and masters degrees and participates in the doctoral programs of the Graduate School of the City University of New York. John Jay College is also recognized for serving a broadly diverse student population. Under the leadership of its fourth president, Jeremy Travis, John Jay College has experienced unprecedented faculty hiring, an expansion of its curricular offerings, and the opening in 2011 of a new 600,000 square foot building complete with a black-box theatre, state-of-the-art lab space for students and faculty, a moot courtroom, and a variety of virtual learning settings. As evidenced by so many on-going developments, the College offers its many new faculty and staff the opportunity to shape the future of their institution.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. degree in a law and society-related discipline, although outstanding ABDs will be considered. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, interest in productive scholarship, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution. Candidates holding only a J.D. will not be considered.

OTHER QUALIFICATIONS

The demonstrated ability to teach courses in the law and society tradition. Rank and salary will be based on qualifications and experience.

COMPENSATION

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

If you are viewing the job posting on any website other than CUNYfirst, please follow the instructions below:

- Go to www.cuny.edu and click on "Employment"
- Click "Search job listings."
- Search by job Opening ID number (15095)
- Click on "more options to search for CUNY jobs"
- Click on the "Apply Now" button and follow the instructions

Candidates should provide a letter of application, a CV/resume, a writing sample, and evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness as one document electronically through CUNYfirst following the instructions above. Three letters of recommendation should be mailed in hard copy directly to the Chair of the Political Science Department: Professor James Cauthen, Department of Political Science, John Jay College, 524 West 59th Street, New York, NY 10019.

For more information about the position, email Co-Chairs of the Search Committee, Professor Michael Yarbrough (myarbrough@jjay.cuny.edu) and Professor Jean Carmalt (jcarmalt@jjay.cuny.edu).

CLOSING DATE

Position is open until filled with the review of the applications beginning September 30, 2016.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1848

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Tenure Track; Open to Subfield; Methods Specialization

This is a tenure-track, academic year position with appointment anticipated September of 2017.

Basic Function:

Applicants will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in research methodology that serves as a requirement for both the Political Science and Criminal Justice undergraduate degrees as well as teach other courses in Political Science. Expected to publish original research open with respect to subfield and advise undergraduate students. Provide service to the department, the university and the profession

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2017. Primary or secondary field in the area of Political Science research methodology. Demonstrated evidence of effective college level teaching commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated expertise in a wide range of methodological approaches. Demonstrated evidence of research excellence; scholarly publications commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated experience working with diverse groups/populations.

To apply, please submit materials at: <https://jobs.uri.edu/>

Instructions to Applicants

Please attach 4 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Employment Application: (#1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position; (#2) CV which includes the names/contacts information for three references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses, and course syllabi and teaching evaluations for the last two years and/or for experience directly related to research methods instruction (as available) (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single PDF document); (#3) a brief research and teaching statement; (#4) an article-length sample of written work.

For additional questions or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Kristin Johnson
Associate Professor
Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
University of Rhode Island
Kingston, RI 02881
kristin_johnson@uri.edu
401 874-5495

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1855

California Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Division of the Humanities and Social Sciences at the California Institute of Technology (Caltech) invites applications for a tenure-track position in political science at the assistant professor level. Exceptionally well-qualified applicants at higher levels may also be considered. We are especially interested in applicants doing formal theoretical and/or quantitatively oriented work in political science and political economy broadly defined. We are seeking highly qualified candidates who are committed to a career in research and teaching. The term of an initial untenured appointment is four years, and the appointment is contingent upon completion of the Ph.D.

Interested candidates should apply electronically: <https://applications.caltech.edu/job/politicalscience>

Candidates unable to apply electronically may send a letter of application describing their current research, a teaching statement, three letters of recommendation, current CV, and a sample of original written work to: Chair, Political Science Search, HSS 228-77 Caltech, Pasadena, CA 91125.

Application review will begin October 15, 2016 and applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Caltech is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1837

Harvard University

Rank: Tenured Professor of Government - Open Field

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenured professor. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization. We are seeking candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

The appointee will teach and advise at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Demonstrated excellence in teaching and research is desired. Candidates should also evince intellectual leadership and impact on the field and potential for significant contributions to the department, University, and wider scholarly community.

The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2017.

Candidates are required to have a Ph.D.

Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<http://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement
4. Research statement

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/18/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1830

University of Utah

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor

The University of Utah has created a new, interdisciplinary faculty cluster focusing on Society, Water, and Climate (SWC). This transformative cluster connects research on ecology, hydrology, air quality, climate change, societal response, and policy, melding multiple scientific perspectives to lead society towards sustainable solutions in a changing world. This interdisciplinary cluster is focused on enhancing the University of Utah's core commitment to sustainability, and complementing ongoing, related research across departments, colleges, and centers on campus. The University of Utah has hired an ecophysicist, atmospheric scientist, and a glaciologist as part of the first round of funding. We are concurrently searching for an Earth system scientist as part of the SWC cluster. A full description of the SWC team can be found at <http://www.utah.edu/faculty/swc/>.

Here we are seeking Social or Behavioral Scientist applicants for a tenure-track or tenured faculty position at the advanced Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor rank to begin in July 2017. Candidates should have an excellent and sustained record of research, a demonstrated ability to generate extramural funding, and extensive experience in working with diverse researchers from across the disciplinary spectrum on projects that link the natural and social sciences in the areas of climate and/or water.

The successful candidate must examine the human dimensions of environmental change, as they relate to water and climate change. Research should include theoretically-grounded empirical approaches appropriate within or across social science disciplines. Possible home departments for the hire include: Anthropology, Economics, Geography, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology. The successful candidate will be jointly appointed in the Environmental and Sustainability Studies Program (<http://envst.utah.edu>).

The University of Utah is committed to providing resources to support and grow the SWC cluster. An interdisciplinary committee composed of social and natural scientists will review the applications. The successful candidate must demonstrate potential for genuine collaboration in the SWC cluster.

The University of Utah is a comprehensive and diverse Research I public institution located in the Wasatch Front urban corridor with easy access to research and recreational opportunities in the Rocky Mountains, Great Basin, and the Colorado Plateau. Salt Lake City is a dynamic, high-tech and bike-friendly metropolitan area with high-quality cultural and entertainment amenities, an extensive public transit system, a sunny, dry four-season climate, and "the Greatest Snow on Earth." With an enrollment of about 30,000, it is the flagship university for the state of Utah. The University of Utah is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and educator. Minorities, women, veterans, and those with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply. Veterans' preference is extended to qualified veterans. Reasonable disability accommodations will be provided with adequate notice. For additional information about the University's commitment to equal opportunity and access see: <http://www.utah.edu/nondiscrimination/>.

Review of applications will begin on October 31, 2016, with the position open until filled. Please visit this link for more information about the position and to apply <http://utah.peopleadmin.com/postings/54549>. Using the online application system applicants should provide a cover letter that discusses their climate and water research and addresses their participation in interdisciplinary research teams. In addition applicants should provide a CV and research statement. Applicants need to provide the names, institutions, and email addresses of exactly three references who will only be contacted if the applicant advances past the first round of review. The search committee also requests that candidates upload three examples of published research (journal articles, book excerpts, etc.).

Questions regarding the cluster or positions should be addressed to the search committee co-chairs, Drs. Brett Clark (brett.clark@soc.utah.edu) and Andrea Brunelle (andrea.brunelle@geog.utah.edu).

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1836

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for up to three postdoctoral fellows for the 2017-18 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each successful fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently, and the fellow's research agenda should be grounded methodologically in statistics or other computational techniques.

During the 2017-18 academic year, fellows will participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results. The stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, each fellow may teach a one-quarter course on a subject of his or her choosing; there is an extra stipend for teaching. The postdoctoral fellowship can be extended through the 2018-19 academic year, subject to negotiation between the fellow and the QSS Chair.

Requirements:

1. Ph.D. in any discipline or expected Ph.D. by September, 2017.
2. Substantive interest in any social science field.
3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical or computation methods.
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively.
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research.

Application Materials:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications.
- 2) Statement of research interests, no longer than two pages, that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth.
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant.
- 4) Three letters of reference.
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished.

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016, and interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.in-terfolio.com/36369

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1816

New York UniversityRank: Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks qualified candidates for four tenure-track assistant professor positions. We welcome applications in all sub-fields; however we hope to hire at least one assistant professor in American Politics and another assistant professor in International Relations. The department seeks excellent scholars with a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of politics. The positions are to begin September 1, 2017 pending budgetary and administrative approval. NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Qualifications:

Candidates must possess a PhD by September 2017, in political science or a cognate discipline. S/he will have a record of excellent research that has been published or otherwise disseminated in a manner appropriate to career stage, and have the potential to be a future leader of the profession in his or her field of expertise. Candidates should also have proven ability as excellent teachers at undergraduate and/or graduate level.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at:

apply.interfolio.com/36758

with a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three references, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching and research statements. Applications should be received by September 16, 2016. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply a link to their professional website; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read <http://as.nyu.edu/page/diversityinitiative>. EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: 9/26/2016Date Posted: 8/17/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1801South University of Science and Technology of China*Rank: Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors in Social Sciences

JOB DESCRIPTIONS: The Institute for Advanced Studies in Social Sciences at the Southern University of Science and Technology of China invites applications for full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in social sciences at ranks of Full/Associate/Assistant Professor, to begin January 2017. The successful candidates will teach general education courses covering the following four core areas: 1) Science, Technology and Society, including history of science, ethics of science, sociology of science, and policy of science; 2) Environmental Studies, including environmental history, environmental policy, and environmental and culture; 3) New Media and Visual Culture, including media and society, science, technology and arts, and cultural industry; and 4) Globalization, including transnational migration, comparative area studies, ethnographic studies and critical theories. The successful candidates will contribute to social science curricula that encourage interdisciplinary approach. Quality undergraduate teaching and mentorship, as well as innovative research and service are expected. With the exception of senior candidates with tenure, initial appointment will normally be made on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. Tenure review and promotion normally takes place before completion of the second three-year contract.

QUALIFICATIONS: Applicants should have a PhD degree in hand from an accredited institution of higher education. Senior candidates are expected to have a high international standing in the fields, with an exceptional track record of high-quality research and scholarly publications. The university teaching languages are English and Chinese. Satisfactory knowledge of Chinese is preferable but not required.

SALARY: Salary is highly competitive, and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include university subsidized housing and health insurance.

UNIVERSITY: Southern University of Science and Technology of China is a public university located in the Shenzhen Special Economic Zone, a mega vibrant city and high-tech center across Hong Kong with a population of more than 10 million people. The university is intended to be a top-tier international university that excels in conducting interdisciplinary research, nurturing innovative talents and delivering new knowledge to the world.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Applicants should send a cover letter and curriculum vitae with at least three names of references by email to shss@sustc.edu.cn, preferably before 31 October 2016. Review of applications begins on November 1, 2016, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/17/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1814SUNY, Stony Brook University*Rank: Political Economy Assistant Professor

Stony Brook University, Department of Political Science

Political Economy Assistant Professor

Required Qualifications: Ph.D. degree, or ABD.

Preferred Qualifications: Demonstrated interest in the field of behavioral economics. Experimental approaches to studying political science questions in American or Comparative politics. Advanced methodological skills. Empirical research or an ability to teach graduate game theory.

Responsibilities & Requirements: The Department of Political Science seeks to hire in the field of Political Economics beginning Fall 2017. The Department is particularly interested in the field of behavioral economics and those running incentivized experiments to study political economy questions in American or Comparative politics. The Department of Political Science contains several experimental labs and has an active subject pool. While we are mostly interested in empirical research, an ability to teach graduate game theory is a plus. The Assistant Professor will be responsible for teaching, research and departmental service.

Special Notes: This is a tenure track position. Applications will be reviewed at the junior level. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA. Internal and external search to occur simultaneously. Anticipated Start Date: Fall 2017

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

Application Procedure: Interested individuals should complete the Academic Jobs application process online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7584>. Interested candidates should submit a State employment application, curriculum vitae, cover letter, and samples of written work. In addition, please arrange to have three letters of professional recommendation submitted on your behalf. Electronic submission via Academic Jobs Online is highly preferred.

Alternatively, submit above mentioned materials to:

Chair, Political Economics Search Committee #7584
Department of Political Science
Social & Behavioral Sciences Bldg., S701
Stony Brook University
Stony Brook, NY 11790-4392

STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY IS AN AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER. WE ENCOURAGE PROTECTED VETERANS, INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES, WOMEN AND MINORITIES TO APPLY.

IF YOU NEED A DISABILITY-RELATED ACCOMMODATION, PLEASE CALL THE UNIVERSITY HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES DEPARTMENT AT (631) 632-6161 OR THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL HUMAN RESOURCES DEPARTMENT AT (631) 444-4700.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TITLE II CRIME AWARENESS AND SECURITY ACT, A COPY OF OUR CRIME STATISTICS IS AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST BY CALLING (631) 632-6350. IT CAN ALSO BE VIEWED ON-LINE AT THE UNIVERSITY POLICE WEBSITE AT <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1811

City of Ames

Rank: Management Analyst

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Administration

Analytical minds wanted! The City of Ames is currently accepting applications for the position of Management Analyst. The selected candidate will assist with or conduct research for departments and the City Manager's office on a special project basis. They will apply for an manage grants and may work directly with City Council. The development and administration of policies, procedures and programs will be an integral part of the role.

Candidates with particular interest in public service and management should apply. We offer outstanding benefits and stable employment in an environment that values completion of the PhD is imminent and who demonstrate clear and superior promise of excellent research and teaching may also be considered. Applicants should have research interests that complement existing strengths in the department. The successful candidate will be expected to teach and supervise at the graduate and undergraduate levels in Canadian politics. Candidates must have a PhD (or solid indication of imminent completion). The successful candidate will be expected to maintain a program of scholarly research leading to publication, effective teaching, graduate supervision, and service.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/6/2016

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1792

University of British Columbia

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Canadian Politics

The Department of Political Science, University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in Canadian politics at the level of Assistant Professor, effective 1 July 2017. We are seeking applicants with strong research records appropriate to a research-oriented doctoral program and demonstrated ability and interest in high quality, innovative teaching. Applicants who have progressed to the point where completion of the PhD is imminent and who demonstrate clear and superior promise of excellent research and teaching may also be considered. Applicants should have research interests that complement existing strengths in the department. The successful candidate will be expected to teach and supervise at the graduate and undergraduate levels in Canadian politics. Candidates must have a PhD (or solid indication of imminent completion). The successful candidate will be expected to maintain a program of scholarly research leading to publication, effective teaching, graduate supervision, and service.

The programs, faculty research interests and general activities of the Department of Political Science are found at www.politics.ubc.ca. The University of British Columbia's main campus is located in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The University of British Columbia hires on the basis of merit and is strongly committed to employment equity and diversity within its community. All qualified persons are encouraged to apply. We especially welcome applications from visible minority groups, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, and others with the skills and knowledge to engage productively with diverse communities. Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority. The position is subject to final budgetary approval. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit their applications by 15 October 2016 through the UBC Faculty careers website (<http://www.hr.ubc.ca/careers/faculty-careers/> Job ID: 24265), and be prepared to upload the following in the order listed: a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a description of current and future research interests, a sample of ongoing research preferably in the form of published material, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also arrange to have confidential letters from three referees sent to recruitment@politics.ubc.ca by the same deadline.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1798

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Other, Other

The University of California, San Diego invites applications from outstanding candidates for up to four separate searches (totaling up to eight positions) for TENURE TRACK or TENURED FACULTY POSITIONS in environmental justice, health care ethics, business ethics, and the social impact of technology, medicine, and science.

These positions are part of a bold multi-discipline, multi-year initiative in practical ethics that spans the entire University. In this initiative, traditional normative ethical concerns are embedded in cross-disciplinary research in the humanities, social sciences, physical sciences, biological sciences, geosciences, engineering, business, and medicine.

Each appointment will be made jointly between two divisions or schools in order to facilitate collaborations in new inter-disciplinary fields. These areas include the Divisions of Arts and Humanities, Biological Sciences, Physical Sciences, Social Sciences, the School of Global Policy and Strategy, the Jacobs School of Engineering, Scripps Institution of Oceanography (SIO), the Skaggs School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences, the Rady School of Management, and the School of Medicine.

Appointments generally will be at the Assistant or Associate Professorial level and in exceptional cases at the very early Professorial level. The University of California, San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body.

There are at present four separate areas within the overall initiative:

1. Social Impact of Science, Medicine, and Technology
2. Health Care Ethics
3. Environmental Justice
4. Business Ethics

Candidates may submit an application to one or more of these areas. Candidates must have a PhD in a relevant field. Successful applicants will be expected to teach both graduate and undergraduate students in the participating departments and establish a vigorous program of high-quality research that focuses on innovative approaches in one of the targeted areas.

Successful practical ethics applicants will complement exceptional expertise in multiple areas at UC San Diego, including, but not limited to: environmental sciences and environmental studies, bioethics, U.S. and global policy, public policy, sociology, philosophy, cultural and literary studies, political science, social psychology, political psychology, history of science, engineering, biomedical sciences, healthcare, and business.

The preferred candidate will have demonstrated strong leadership and a commitment to support diversity, equity, and inclusion in an academic setting.

The level of appointment and salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on UC pay schedules.

Completed applications received by October 14, 2016 will be assured of consideration and the positions will remain open until filled.

Applications at the Assistant Professor level, please refer to the links below:

1. Social Impact of Science, Medicine, and Technology: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01132>
2. Health Care Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01136>
3. Environmental Justice: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01134>
4. Business Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01138>

Applications at the Associate or Full Professor level, please refer to the links below:

1. Social Impact of Science, Medicine, and Technology: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01133>
2. Health Care Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01137>
3. Environmental Justice: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01135>
4. Business Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01139>

Required materials are: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) statement of research, including strategy for interdisciplinary research, (4) statement of teaching, (5) writing sample, (6) teaching evaluations (if available for Assistant Professor level), (7) names and emails of 3 potential recommenders for Associate Professor Level or 3 letters of recommendation for Assistant Professor Level, and (8) a separate statement describing past experience in activities that promote diversity and inclusion and/or plans to make future contributions. For further information about contributions to diversity statements, see: <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>.

For applicants with interest in spousal/partner employment, please see <http://academicaffairs.ucsd.edu/aps/partneropp/index.html> for the UC San Diego

Partner Opportunities Program.

Please direct inquiries to: practicaethics@ucsd.edu

The University of California San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action

Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1795

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Political Science: Political Economy or Israeli Politics

Tenure-Track Position in Political Science: Political Economy or Israeli Politics

The Department of Political Science at Hebrew University of Jerusalem seeks to fill one or more tenure-track positions (ranks: Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, or Associate Professor) in the fields of political economy or Israeli politics beginning fall 2017.

We seek candidates with a record of excellence in research. Junior and senior scholars with a PhD in political science are encouraged to apply. ABD's are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2017. Interested applicants are encouraged to arrange meetings with members of the Department at approaching conferences.

Several departments and programs at the Hebrew University conduct searches in fields related to political science. Candidates whose interests overlap with such fields are encouraged to apply also for these other positions. Among them are:

- International relations (contact: Prof. Dan Miodownik, Dan.Miodownik@mail.huji.ac.il)
- Philosophy, political science and economics (PPE) (contact: Prof. Daniel Attas, Daniel.attas@mail.huji.ac.il)
- European Forum (contact: Prof. Noam Shoval, noamshoval@mail.huji.ac.il)
- Public policy (contact: Ms. Meital Stein, meitalo@savion.huji.ac.il)

To apply, please submit the following materials:

- Curriculum Vitae (including teaching experience)
 - Scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years
 - Electronic copies of up to three papers
 - List of required and elective courses the candidate can teach
 - A letter intent stating willingness to begin teaching in the fall of 2017
- Additionally, three letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to the Search Committee (via the website listed below).

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years after their arrival.

The deadline for applications is September 20, 2016. Candidates selected by the Department will compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences for available positions.

Please submit all application materials electronically at: <https://tp.ekmd.huji.ac.il>

For inquiries concerning the search please contact Orit Kedar: orit.kedar@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/20/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1714

Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Rank: Tenure-track position: open to all fields

Tenure-Track Position in Political Science: Open to All Fields

The Department of Political Science at Hebrew University of Jerusalem seeks to fill one or more tenure-track positions (ranks: Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, or Associate Professor) beginning fall 2017. The search is open to applicants from all fields of Political Science.

We seek candidates who complement the strengths of our department, with a record of excellence in research. Junior and senior scholars with a PhD in political science are encouraged to apply. ABD's are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2017. Interested applicants are encouraged to arrange meetings with members of the Department at approaching conferences.

Several departments and programs at the Hebrew University conduct searches in fields related to political science. Candidates whose interests overlap with such fields are encouraged to apply also for these other positions. Among them are:

- International relations (contact: Prof. Dan Miodownik, Dan.Miodownik@mail.huji.ac.il)
- Philosophy, political science and economics (PPE) (contact: Prof. Daniel Attas, Daniel.attas@mail.huji.ac.il)
- European Forum (contact: Prof. Noam Shoval, noamshoval@mail.huji.ac.il)
- Public policy (contact: Ms. Meital Stein, meitalo@savion.huji.ac.il)

To apply, please submit the following materials:

- Curriculum Vitae (including teaching experience)
 - Scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years
 - Electronic copies of up to three papers
 - List of required and elective courses the candidate can teach
 - A letter intent stating willingness to begin teaching in the fall of 2017
- Additionally, three letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to the Search Committee (via the website listed below).

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years after their arrival.

The deadline for applications is September 20, 2016. Candidates selected by the Department will compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences for available positions.

Please submit all application materials electronically at <https://tp.ekmd.huji.ac.il>

For inquiries concerning the search please contact Orit Kedar at orit.kedar@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/20/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1713

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: William S. Dietrich Endowed Chair in Political Science

Subfield(s): Other, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the inaugural William S. Dietrich II Endowed Chair in Political Science, with appointment to begin in the 2017-18 academic year, pending budgetary approval. The Chair is named in honor of the late Dr. William S. Dietrich II, a former chairman of the University's Board of Trustees who received his Ph.D. from the Department in 1984.

In filling this chair, and in keeping with the interests of Dr. Dietrich, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship in the fields of international relations or comparative politics, or whose interests cut across these and possibly other disciplinary subfields.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh currently consists of 25 tenure stream faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. The Department's NRC ranking has improved dramatically over the past decade, and presently ranks between 20th and 30th among Ph.D. granting departments. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops “most livable city” rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Please submit a detailed cover letter and C.V. electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU3>. Additional information may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1780

American University

Rank: Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education

Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education
AY2016-17
School of Public Affairs
American University

American University’s School of Public Affairs (SPA) invites applications from accomplished scholars for the position of associate dean for undergraduate education. This position includes a faculty appointment at the rank of (advanced) associate or full professor in the Government Department or the Department of Justice, Law & Criminology beginning June 1, 2017. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. The position offers the unique professional, research, social, and cultural opportunities of a top-ranked school and university located in Washington, DC. In addition, the associate dean for undergraduate education will play a critical role in formulating school policy and be part of a dynamic leadership team.

The School of Public Affairs offers four undergraduate majors, four undergraduate minors, and three highly selective enrichment programs (SPA Leadership Program, Politics, Policy and Law Scholars, and SPA Honors). SPA has approximately 1300 engaged undergraduate students who are research focused and use DC as their laboratory. The associate dean for undergraduate education will provide leadership in the area of undergraduate education and will be responsible for handling all issues that arise concerning undergraduate students in the school. The associate dean directs the activities of the assistant director of recruitment and retention, four academic advisors, enrichment program directors, and serves as the school’s Academic Integrity Officer. Duties will also include teaching one course a year in one of the School’s degree programs.

American University is reshaping the composition and experience of its undergraduate student body. The University is committed to diversifying the student body in terms of racial/ethnic diversity, geographic diversity, and diversity of socioeconomic status. American University received a record number of undergraduate applications for Fall 2016, resulting in an admit rate of approximately 25 percent. The number of students with SPA undergraduate majors has increased over the past several years. American University is undertaking a multi-year initiative to reinvent the student experience through reimagining service delivery, a focus on student success, and modernization of the undergraduate curriculum. We are looking for an associate dean who will embrace the opportunity to participate in this initiative and shape the future of SPA’s undergraduate programs.

Qualifications

Candidates must possess a distinguished record of scholarship in one of the academic fields encompassed by the school’s undergraduate programs and meet American University’s standards for appointment with tenure at the associate or full professor level. Preference will be given to candidates who have held leadership positions at the university, school, department or program level and who can also provide evidence of advancing their university’s academic standing, scholarship, or research productivity.

Application Process

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2016, and continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35978>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of administrative experience and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School’s programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation’s capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual’s genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively “Protected Bases”) in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1756

National Academy of Sciences

Rank: Executive Director, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education

The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine is seeking an Executive Director for the Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education (DBASSE). This is a rare and exciting opportunity for an individual with experience drawn from a broad range of behavioral, social sciences, and education disciplines to lead a nationally significant science program whose mission is to advance the frontiers of the behavioral and social sciences and their applications to public policy. DBASSE is one of seven program units of the Academies. With expertise drawn from many disciplines, DBASSE's studies and other activities contribute to government decisionmaking and public policy in matters involving the behavioral and social sciences and education.

The Executive Director is responsible for fulfilling the vision, defining the strategic direction, and leading the management of the division. The position reports to the Executive Officer of the National Research Council, and contributes to institutional management and policy-making while establishing current and long-range objectives for DBASSE. The Executive Director's responsibilities include program development, execution, and funding; fiscal management; sponsor and volunteer relations; human resources management; and external communications. In 2016, DBASSE is projected to have revenues between $16 and $18 million and approximately 85 staff. Please see the DBASSE website for additional information:

www.nationalacademies.org/DBASSE

The successful candidate will possess a Ph.D. or Master's degree with equivalent experience in the behavioral or social sciences, education, or other discipline relevant to DBASSE's mission. A minimum of 16 years of scholarship, research, and/or professional experience in a related field of which at least six years include senior management and program development. Experience working in a complex research, educational or technical institution; ability to cultivate strong working relationships with others in the institution, as well as external subject matter experts and Academy members. An understanding of how nonprofit organizations that contract with the federal government operate is highly desirable. The ability to work with senior division leadership to secure financial support for the division's activities is important.

The Academies has retained Opus Partners (www.opuspartners.net) to support the search for the new Executive Director of DBASSE. Nominations, questions, comments, and applications may be sent by email to Craig Smith, PhD, Partner, via craig.smith@opuspartners.net. The selection process is confidential.

The National Academies of Science, Engineering, and Medicine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1742

Princeton University

Rank: Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Research Associate in Bioethics

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a possible opening in September 2017. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical issues arising from developments in medicine or the biological sciences. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

The Shapiro Fellow will spend from one to three years at Princeton conducting research. Candidates will be expected to contribute one course each year to the Center's undergraduate program in coordination with the Center and by approval of the Dean of the Faculty. The Shapiro Fellow will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and will be invited to participate in other activities of the University Center for Human Values including a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty.

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed all the requirements for the Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree by September 1, 2017, and must not have held the degree for more than three years by September 1, 2017. An applicant may have a background in any area of ethical studies, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be related to the field of bioethics.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be taken into account.

Term of Appointment

The term of the fellowship is one year, beginning September 1, 2017, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Search for requisition number #1600647. The online system includes instructions on how to apply.

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words);
3. A scholarly paper (not to exceed 50 pages) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials should be submitted online by Thursday, December 1, 2016. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference are to be submitted by December 5. If a vacancy for this position is confirmed, the selection committee may begin reviewing applications immediately and incomplete applications may be at a disadvantage. We hope to announce decisions by April 3, 2017.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 12/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/8/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1745

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2017-18. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. The program is open to scholars in all disciplines provided their research plans qualify. In recent years fellows have been drawn from fields including philosophy, political theory, literature, history, classics, economics and law, but this list is not meant to be exhaustive.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton and to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates should have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a post-doctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period extends from September 1 to July 1. Fellows normally receive stipends of up to one-half their academic-year salaries (subject to a minimum and maximum set each fall). Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Stipends for independent scholars will not exceed the maximum for fellows holding appointments elsewhere.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> for more information);

The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;

The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates should submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Search for requisition number #1600504. The following materials will be required:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than about 12,000 words) written in the past three years;

3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials should be submitted online by Monday, October 31, 2016. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference are to be submitted by November 3. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately and incomplete applications may be at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced by March 1, 2017.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/31/2016
Date Posted: 8/5/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1737

Harvard University

Rank: Tenure-Track Professor in Political Economy

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Political Economy. We are particularly interested in scholars working on the political economy of developing areas, but this is not a requirement. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2017. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science, Economics, or related discipline required by the time the appointment begins.

Demonstrated excellence in teaching is desired.

Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<http://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2016.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement (describing teaching approach and philosophy)
4. Research statement
5. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received.
6. Writing sample and publications, if applicable.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1730

Princeton University

Rank: Associate Professor or Professor of Religion and the University Center for Human Values

The University Center for Human Values and the Department of Religion at Princeton University invite applications from accomplished scholars working primarily in the field of religion, with a focus on religion, ethics and politics, or closely related areas, for appointment as (tenured) associate or full professor. The appointment will be held jointly in the two units.

We ask applicants to provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and the names of three referees. Applications should be submitted online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> (Job Requisition # 1600638). We cannot guarantee full consideration for applications received after October 15, 2016. We aim for an appointment effective September 2017.

Princeton University is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community. Women and members of underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1729

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Carleton College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Africana Studies with a major emphasis on current African American issues, beginning September 1, 2017. We plan to hire at the assistant professor level; in extraordinary circumstances we would consider an advanced rank applicant.

This position will be at least 60% in the African and African American Studies Program, and up to 40% in a collaborating disciplinary department. The successful candidate will have a PhD in Africana Studies or in a related social science or humanities field, and should have completed their PhD by September 1, 2017.

We seek candidates whose main teaching and research areas are in the field of Africana Studies, and who have thorough knowledge of related models—African Diaspora Studies, Black Studies, African American Studies. The candidate should be able to teach core courses for the Program's majors and concentrators, have demonstrated excellence in teaching and evidence of effective pedagogy in the discipline, and show promise to grow into a leadership position.

Visit jobs.carleton.edu to complete the online application, including cover letter, job-market paper, statement of teaching philosophy, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references. For consideration, all materials must be received by November 1, but we will begin reviewing files as early as September 30, 2016. Shortlisted applicants may be asked for further materials. All preliminary interviews will be held by Skype.

We are particularly interested in candidates committed to teaching a diverse student body, and who will contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. Women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

Carleton College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, ethnicity, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, status with regard to public assistance, disability, or age in providing employment or access to its educational facilities and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1721

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies

The Department of Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies at Washington University in St. Louis seeks a scholar trained in social science methods whose research is non-US based. We particularly encourage applications from candidates whose work focuses on the global south and is interdisciplinary in nature; transnational expertise is also welcome. Candidates must have completed the Ph.D. in gender and sexuality studies or a social science-related field, including anthropology, economics, geography, political science, psychology, or sociology, by July 1, 2017 and be eligible to work in the United States. Candidates at the Associate and full Professor rank must have a distinguished record of publication in the field.

The duties of this position include teaching undergraduate and graduate courses; conducting research and other scholarly activities, including publishing in scholarly journals; and performing departmental and university service and other duties assigned by the University. The normal teaching load is 2/2. Diversity and inclusion are core values of Washington University, and the successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students learn and thrive.

The Department of Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies at Washington University has a vibrant undergraduate major and minor, and a strong and expanding graduate certificate program. We currently have a core faculty of eight, and affiliated faculty across the humanities, in anthropology and sociology, and in law and social work. The department's research strengths include race, gender and cultural studies, sexuality studies, and feminist and queer theory.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest describing their scholarly qualifications and research; current curriculum vitae; teaching statement detailing their approach to teaching and to creating diverse and inclusive learning environments; and three (3) letters of recommendation to wgss@wustl.edu. The committee will review applications until the position is filled, but applications should be received by October 1, 2016 to ensure full consideration.

Requests for additional information may be directed to Professor Andrea Friedman, Search Committee Chair, at afriedman@wustl.edu.

Washington University in St. Louis is committed to the principles and practices of equal employment opportunity. It is the University's policy to recruit, hire, train, and promote persons in all job titles without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1722

Princeton University

Rank: Lecturer

The Politics Department at Princeton University has an occasional need for lecturers (part-time and/or full-time) to teach or co-teach in areas such as American Politics, Comparative Politics, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods, International Relations, and/or Political Theory.

Advanced degree required. Please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of teaching interest. Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Due to the volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No letters of recommendation are required at this time.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1703

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars. Applications are welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D. by the start date, September 1, 2017.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1702

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Analysis

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in the fields of Formal Theory or Quantitative Analysis. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. Applications are welcome from scholars who have or expect to have a Ph.D. by the start date, September 1, 2017. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members.

Transcripts should be sent directly to F/Q Postdoctoral Fellowship Search, Department of Politics, 130 Corwin Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 15, 2017.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/15/2017
Date Posted: 8/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1701

Purdue University

Rank: Academic Operations Manager

Purdue University — Academic Operations Manager

JOB DUTIES

The Academic Operations Manager develops, coordinates and executes undergraduate programming for the Department of Political Science and reports to the Department Head. Political Science has ~25 faculty, ~50 graduate students, and ~200 undergraduate students. The Manager will take a leadership role within the department working closely with faculty, students and University administrative staff. The Manager will understand and interpret political science research and teaching to develop programming for undergraduates as well as to create communication content along various platforms, including: website, social media and promotional materials. The Manager will oversee the administration of the main office and the implementation of the department head's initiatives by working independently to create spreadsheets, manage data, and write reports to inform decision-making. The Manager will oversee faculty affairs, including the preparation of promotion and tenure documents, the administration of faculty hiring activities, and the management of visiting scholar appointments. The Manager will have supervisory responsibility over the administrative/clerical and student staff.

QUALIFICATIONS

Required:

- Bachelor's degree in Social Sciences or related field.
- Three years of experience in communications, student services, or office management/administrative office supervision.
- Exceptional interpersonal skills and the ability to interact in a professional capacity with diverse faculty, staff, students, alumni, and community members.
- Excellent communication, planning, problem solving, and organizational skills including relationship building with internal and external constituents.
- Ability to manage competing demands; prioritize and organize work assignments; work independently to meet deadlines, and supervise staff effectively.
- Ability to manage, analyze, and interpret data.
- Knowledge of Microsoft Word, Excel, Outlook, Publisher, PowerPoint, and SharePoint.
- Demonstrate Initiative and willingness to learn new skills, embrace changing technology and interpret and communicate policies, and procedures.
- Ability to exercise professional judgment and solve problems independently.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality.
- Substantive knowledge in the social sciences.
- Knowledge of academic procedures and structures.

Preferred:

- Master's degree.
- Comprehension of electronic and social media communication tools.

Additional Information:

- Purdue will not sponsor an employment related visa for this position.
- A background check will be required for employment in this position.

For consideration submit resume and apply online for this staff position at: www.purdue.edu/careers and reference Job Number 1601574. (Optional more direct link: <http://purdue.taleo.net/careersection/wl/jobdetail.ft?lang=en&job=1601574>)

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1692

Singapore Management University

Rank: Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor in Political Science/Public Policy

Political Science/Public Policy Position

Singapore Management University, School of Social Sciences

The School of Social Sciences (SOSS), Singapore Management University, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Political Science/Public Policy at the Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor rank.

We are seeking candidates with a record of, or high potential for, scholarly research commensurate with the rank, as well as demonstrated teaching aptitude. The position requires a doctorate in Political Science, Public Policy or a related field such as Sociology or relevant inter-disciplinary arenas by the date of appointment. We are particularly interested in applicants with expertise in the roles of non-state actors in public policy and in cross-sector collaborations, and/or urban and environmental issues. A research focus on Asia is a plus. Successful candidates should be prepared to teach a relevant intro-level course in public management, and in the School's Masters of Tri-Sector Collaboration, in addition to other courses in the candidate's area of expertise. (More details about the Public Policy and Public Management second major can be found at: <http://socsc.smu.edu.sg/double-degrees-and-second-majors#pppm>. Details about the Masters of Tri-Sector Collaboration can be found at: <http://smu.edu.sg/mtsc>.) At the senior level, the appointee is expected to assume a mentorship role in research activities and curriculum development for the School.

Singapore Management University is committed to an interdisciplinary and integrated curriculum, providing opportunities to work with faculty across the social sciences and professional schools. The research support is excellent, salary and benefits are highly competitive, and the teaching load is comparable to other research universities. Classes are capped at no more than 45 students.

Full evaluation of applications will start on 15 September 2016. Interviews for short-listed candidates will commence in October 2016. The successful candidate will be expected to start at Singapore Management University in July 2017.

The application package should include (in electronic form): a cover letter describing research and teaching interests, an up-to-date curriculum vitae (including teaching experience and a list of referees), and three selected publications (clarifying why the three publications were selected). The package should be sent to the Dean's Office, School of Social Sciences, Singapore Management University at the following email address: socialsciencescv@smu.edu.sg. Applicants should also arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the Dean's Office by the above email address. For documents not available in electronic form, hard copies should be sent to: The Dean's Office, School of Social Sciences, Singapore Management University, 90 Stamford Road, Level 4, Singapore 178903. Information about the University and the School can be found at www.socsc.smu.edu.sg.

Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/14/2016
Date Posted: 7/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1681

Victoria University of Wellington

Rank: Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations

Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations
 School of History, Philosophy, Political Science and International Relations

The Political Science & International Relations programme seeks to appoint a permanent Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations (equivalent to tenured assistant or associate professor). The starting date is 1 July 2017 (negotiable).

The Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in International Relations will have expertise in one or more areas of International Security studies. Applications are welcome from research-active candidates who specialise in traditional or transnational security issues, regional security studies (including in Asia or the Middle East), maritime security, cyber security, or global security perspectives. Strong candidates in other areas of International Security are also encouraged to apply.

A PhD must be in hand prior to taking up the appointment as Lecturer. A PhD and an established research and teaching record are required for appointment as Senior Lecturer.

The successful appointee will be expected to make significant teaching contributions in central undergraduate International Security courses as well as to postgraduate teaching in Strategic Studies and International Relations. Candidates with an interest in contributing to the university's engagement with the policy and diplomatic communities are warmly encouraged to apply.

Further information can be obtained from Kate McMillan, Deputy Head of School, kate.mcmillan@vuw.ac.nz or phone +64 4 463 9595

Please complete the online application form and submit your CV and cover letter by attachment at <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/about/careers/current-vacancies>

Applications close on 18 September 2016 NZ Time.

Reference 1183

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 9/18/2016
Date Posted: 7/26/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1667

Brown University

Rank: Open Rank Position in Race & Ethnicity:

The Department of Political Science at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position in the field of race & ethnicity to begin July 2017. Candidates at all ranks are welcome but must have completed the PhD by summer 2017. Review of applications will begin September 26, 2016. Candidates at the untenured rank(s) should submit a cover letter identifying their primary interests as well as a current CV, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, and three letters of reference. Candidates at the tenured level should submit a cover letter identifying their primary interests, CV, copies of major publications, teaching evaluations, and the names of five references with contact information; the search committee will contact referees directly. Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status. Submit application to: apply.interfolio.com/36163

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/21/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1647

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for three tenure-track positions in criminal justice at the Assistant Professor level. The positions begin August 2017.

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology, Political Science, or related disciplines is required. Candidates nearing completion of their doctorate will be considered; however, the doctorate must be complete prior to the beginning of the academic year in August 2017. The research specialization is open within Criminal Justice. The successful candidate will primarily teach courses in the Criminal Justice Program.

Preferred Qualifications: The ideal candidate will contribute to other programs in the department by teaching courses in areas such as research methods or other courses that bridge our degree programs. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department's course offerings: <http://catalog.csuchico.edu/viewer/16/POLS/offerings.html>

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department. The successful candidate should also demonstrate the following:

- Commitment to and/or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds;

Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our programs. Additional information about our Department is available at <http://www.csuchico>.

edu/pols/. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/bss/index.shtml>.

Closing Date: Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

How to Apply: All applicants must apply online at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/3712>

Complete online applications will include: CV, writing sample, complete set of transcripts (unofficial acceptable), cover letter summarizing qualifications and experience, teaching evaluations (if available). Three letters of recommendation are also required and should be submitted to the search committee chair via email at the address below.

Letters of recommendation & job-related questions should be addressed to:

Matt Thomas, Chair
Criminal Justice Search Committee
mothomas@csuchico.edu

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for California State University, Chico can be obtained by contacting the Chico State University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by accessing the following website:

http://www.csuchico.edu/up/clery_report.shtml

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

For disability related accommodations please call ADA Coordinator at (530) 898-5959.

CSU, Chico is an EOE/Minority/Females/Vet/Disability and only employs individuals authorized to work in the U.S. The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1640

University of Pennsylvania, Wharton School

Rank: Tenured/tenure-track position in Legal Studies and Business Ethics

The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position in its Department of Legal Studies and Business Ethics. The Department has nineteen full-time faculty who teach a wide variety of business-oriented courses in law and ethics in the undergraduate, MBA, and Ph.D. programs and whose research is regularly published in leading journals. The Wharton School has one of the largest and best-published business school faculties in the world. In addition, the school has a global reach and perspective, as well as an interdisciplinary approach to business issues (embracing ten academic departments and over twenty research centers).

Applicants must have either a Ph.D., J.D., or both, from an accredited institution (an expected completion date no later than July 1, 2018, for the Ph.D. is acceptable) and a demonstrated interest in ethical issues relevant to business -- for example, the nature of corporate responsibility, the ethical significance of markets, sustainability, business philanthropy, manipulation and deception in advertising, just compensation, etc. We welcome applications from people with training in the humanities, the social sciences, and/or law. The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2017.

Please submit electronically your letter of introduction, c.v., and one article or writing sample in PDF format via the following website by November 1, 2016: <http://lgst.wharton.upenn.edu>. Some decisions for interviews will be made before the deadline; so candidates are encouraged to apply early. Questions may be addressed to Tamara English, lgstrecruiting@wharton.upenn.edu.

The University of Pennsylvania is an equal opportunity employer. Minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1635

Boston University

Rank: George and Joyce Wein Chair in African American Studies and Director of the African American Studies Program

The African American Studies Program at Boston University invites applications for the George and Joyce Wein Chair in African American Studies and Director of the African American Studies Program, beginning July 1, 2017. This search is pending final budgetary approval. This will be a joint appointment at the tenured full professor level with the candidate's disciplinary home in any of the departments within the College of Arts & Sciences. For a list of departments, please visit <http://www.bu.edu/cas/academics/departments/>. We are looking for an established colleague with leadership capacity and an outstanding record of teaching and research on the experiences of African Americans and/or African-descended peoples in the Americas. Boston University expects excellence in teaching and research and is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and a multicultural learning environment.

Initial applications should be submitted to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7375> and include 1. A cover letter addressed to Professor Anita Patterson, Chair of the Search Committee, describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience and 2. A curriculum vitae. References and letters may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on October 3, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 7/13/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1617

Stanford University

Rank: tenure-track Assist. Professor or a tenured Associate Professor faculty position in Islam and gender.

Islam and Gender in the Social Sciences

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or a tenured Associate Professor faculty position in Islam and gender.

The successful candidate will be based in a social sciences department and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts. A focus on the Middle East and/or Southeast Asia is preferred. The appointment can be in one of the following departments in the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, Communication, Political Science, or Sociology. Teaching responsibilities will be determined by the home department.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of teaching and research interests (no more than 3 pages), a curriculum vitae including a list of publications, and a recent writing sample. Assistant level and untenured applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. Currently tenured applicants may submit only the names of up to three references at this time. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 3, 2016.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7445>

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of and applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as from others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/3/2016
Date Posted: 7/8/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1598

NYU Shanghai

Rank: TENURE/TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION Political Science, NYU Shanghai

Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Comparative Politics

TENURE/TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION
 Political Science
 NYU Shanghai

NYU Shanghai invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position in Political Science (rank open). The position is to begin September 1, 2017, pending budgetary and administrative approval.

Candidates must hold a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (or expect it by the start date); must have a record of excellent research and publications or presentations appropriate to career stage; and must have demonstrated teaching excellence and an interest in teaching in a diverse, international setting. Experience teaching non-native speakers of English preferred, but not required.

The terms of employment in NYU Shanghai are comparable to U.S. institutions in terms of research start-up funds compensation, and include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016, and will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Members of the search committee will be available to meet interested applicants during the 2016 Annual Meeting of the APSA in Philadelphia, PA.

To be considered, applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, separate statements of research and teaching interests (no more than three pages each), and electronic copies of up to three recent relevant publications or working papers. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each reference will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Please visit our website at <http://shanghai.nyu.edu/en/about/work-here/open-positions-faculty> for instructions and other information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail shanghai.socialscience.recruitment@nyu.edu.

About NYU Shanghai:

NYU Shanghai is the newest degree-granting campus within the NYU Global Network University. It is the first Sino-US higher education joint venture to grant a degree that is accredited in the U.S. as well as in China. All teaching is conducted in English. A research university with liberal arts and science at its core, it resides in one of the world's great cities with a vibrant intellectual community. NYU Shanghai recruits scholars who are committed to NYU's global vision of transformative teaching and innovative research.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. There are three degree-granting campuses in New York, Shanghai, and Abu Dhabi, complemented by eleven additional academic centers across five continents. Faculty and students circulate within the network in pursuit of common research interests and cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors, both local and global.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/6/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1590

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist

Reporting to the Director of the Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, the Senior Research Specialist will work with faculty members and graduate students in the Politics Department to provide statistical and technical support for their quantitative, laboratory and field research projects.

The position requires one to work closely with faculty and graduate students in the Politics Department to provide timely and creative support for research computing. The Senior Research Specialist will work both on teams and independently, requiring only general supervision.

Essential Qualifications
Position Requires:

- Master's degree in social sciences required.
- Strong background in quantitative, experimental research and statistical methods.
- At least 2 years of extensive, independent, doctoral-level research using large datasets.
- Must be skilled in statistical analysis of individual and macro-level data, including panel or multilevel data, and programming in Stata, R and Python and/or Java.
- Must also have experience with, or willingness to learn, Inquisit, Qualtrics, Z-Tree and C/C++.
- Must be well organized, flexible, detail-oriented, and able to meet deadlines.

Preferred Qualifications
Preferred:

- Ph.D. in political science, psychology, or economics preferred.
- Experience conducting experimental research preferred.

Open Until Filled or See Position Summary

Proposed Start Date
09-01-2016

This is a one year term position with the possibility of extension.

EEO Statement

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Applications will only be accepted online via the Princeton University Jobs site:

www.princeton.edu/jobs
Search for Requisition Number: 1600477

Questions regarding the position or application process may be directed to Wendy Brill, Program Manager of the Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, wendyb@princeton.edu or by phone, 609-258-5227.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1562

University of Toronto

Rank: Politics of Sexual Diversity

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Other

The Department of Political Science and the Mark S. Bonham Centre for Sexual Diversity Studies at the University of Toronto invite applications for a full-time tenure-stream appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Politics of Sexual Diversity. This is a joint appointment between the Department (51%) and the Centre (49%) and will commence July 1, 2017.

We are looking for a candidate with research and teaching interests in the field of sexual diversity politics. The search committee welcomes a wide variety of applications from excellent candidates but will give preference to candidates with demonstrable research expertise engaging regions outside of Europe and North America and/or the politics of transnational advocacy. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must provide strong evidence of innovative research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by publications in leading academic journals and/or with leading academic presses, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees. Evidence of excellence in teaching is demonstrated by a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, and endorsements from referees. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca> and the Mark S. Bonham Centre for Sexual Diversity Studies <http://www.uc.utoronto.ca/sexualdiversity>

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted online.

Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS word format.

Applicants should also ask at least three referees to send letters directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. To be assured of receiving consideration, applications must be received by October 6, 2016.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/6/2016

Date Posted: 6/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1536

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Departments of Politics and Sociology at Princeton University seek applicants for two positions at the rank of postdoctoral research associate, more senior research associate, or associate professional specialist. The primary responsibilities of the positions are to design and teach a series of computing workshops for data analysis in the social sciences. Workshops will be offered throughout the academic year, designed to supplement coursework, targeted to undergraduates, and focused on the R language. All materials developed for these workshops must be released open access. The postdoctoral research associates also conduct their own research and possibly engage in collaboration with researchers at Princeton. These are two-year positions with the second year being contingent on satisfactory performance in the first year. The start date for the position is September 1, 2016. All candidates must have at least a Master's Degree. Candidates for the postdoctoral positions will be required to have a PhD or equivalent.

Interested applicants must apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> and submit a CV, cover letter, one writing sample, research and teaching statements (including a discussion of the applicant's relevant previous teaching experiences), and the names and contact information of three references.

We will begin reviewing applications on July 6, 2016, and we will continue to review applications until the positions are filled.

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1520

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Departments of Politics and Sociology at Princeton University seek applicants for two positions at the rank of postdoctoral research associate, senior research associate, or associate professional specialist. The primary responsibilities of the positions are to design and teach a series of computing workshops for data analysis in the social sciences. Workshops will be offered throughout the academic year, designed to supplement coursework, targeted to undergraduates, and focused on the R language. All materials developed for these workshops must be released open access. The postdoctoral research associates also conduct their own research and possibly engage in collaboration with researchers at Princeton. These are two-year positions with the second year being contingent on satisfactory performance in the first year. The start date for the position is September 1, 2016. All candidates must have at least a Master's Degree. Candidates for the postdoctoral positions will be required to have a PhD or equivalent.

Interested applicants must apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> and submit a CV, cover letter, one writing sample, research and teaching statements (including a discussion of the applicant's relevant previous teaching experiences), and the names and contact information of three references.

We will begin reviewing applications on July 6, 2016, and we will continue to review applications until the positions are filled.

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1521

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

EXTERNAL AD

Requisition #67499

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Iowa has an opening for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in any subfield. Applicants are expected to have expertise in politics or policy issues related to water. This may include research on environmental politics and policy, climate change, common pool resources, cross-border rivers, watersheds, maritime areas, fisheries, dams, natural disasters, environmental justice, and water quantity or quality issues. This position is part of the University of Iowa's Water Sustainability Initiative (WSI) to advance research, education, and outreach activities regarding the stewardship and responsible management of water resources. The ten faculty hired in the WSI group, along with other faculty working on water resources on campus, identify key challenges at local, regional, and global scales regarding the availability, quality, reuse, and health impacts of water resources and their relationship to a changing climate. The appointment begins in August 2016 and requires that a Ph.D. be received by August 17, 2016. The review of applicants will begin on November 1, 2015 and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply for this position, go to <https://jobs.uiowa.edu> and reference Requisition #67499. Candidates should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, graduate transcript, published work or writing samples and three references for letters of recommendation.

The department and the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences are strongly committed to gender and ethnic diversity. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/19/2015

Date Posted: 9/28/2015

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 725

University of Iowa

Rank: Assistant Professor in Social Science Informatics

The Departments of Political Science and Sociology at the University of Iowa invite applications as part of a university-wide Informatics Initiative (<http://informatics.uiowa.edu/>) for an Assistant Professor tenure-track position, starting August 2016. Although this is a joint appointment in Political Science and Sociology, the person hired will be able to negotiate the percentage appointment in each department as well as the location of the tenure home. We seek a candidate with expertise and research interests in the use or development of computational statistics, big data analytics, network analysis, data visualization, text analysis, machine learning, spatial and longitudinal statistical analysis, or other areas of social data analytics. The Departments of Political Science and Sociology offer supportive homes for faculty in information sciences, as both have long traditions of strength in quantitative research. Opportunities abound for collaboration within the Departments of Political Science and Sociology, as well as for cross-disciplinary research with economics, environmental sciences, engineering, medicine and public health, public policy, mass communications, digital humanities, law, and other disciplines in liberal arts and sciences.

Successful applicants will show promise of excellence in scholarly research and teaching, as well as interest in research collaboration. Participation in the Informatics Initiative is designed to facilitate the candidate's research agenda as well as help to create the intellectual foundation needed to educate a new generation of experts in this area. The successful candidate for this position will be expected to teach courses in social science informatics or social data analytics. The successful candidate will join a team of faculty as part of this innovative multidisciplinary initiative. Participation in the Informatics Initiative will be an important component in performance evaluations.

Applicants must complete a Ph.D. in Political Science, Sociology, or a similar field prior to August 17, 2016, and must be free to assume the duties of this position on that date.

Candidates should submit applications online at <http://jobs.uiowa.edu/>. Refer to requisition number 67503. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2015 and continue until the position is filled. Applications should include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, three recommendation letters, a statement on research, a statement on teaching, publications, and manuscripts in progress.

The Departments of Political Science and Sociology and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences are strongly committed to gender and ethnic diversity; the strategic plans of the University and College reflect this commitment. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply. The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/ affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/19/2015

Date Posted: 9/28/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 724

University of Delaware

Rank: Assistant Professor - Population Analytics

The University of Delaware's College of Arts and Sciences (www.cas.udel.edu) recognizes the increasing importance of large data sets, technology, and quantitative analytic methods to study complex social phenomena. As such, we are seeking scholars who will advance data driven social and behavior science using analytic techniques to study particular populations. We invite applicants who seek a collaborative and interdisciplinary work environment, with appointments in one or more units, at the rank of assistant professor (tenure track) beginning September 1, 2016.

Applicants should have a demonstrated interest in the study of underserved populations (e.g., racial/ethnic minorities, refugees and immigrants, LGBT persons, disabled persons, victimized populations, offenders re-entering society, children/youth/teens, impoverished communities, or other specific populations). Preferred candidates will have a demonstrated record of scholarship—research, publications, and grant activity—with expertise in one or more of the following analytics skill-sets: advanced statistics, survey research methods, Geo-spatial analysis, network and computational modeling, quantitative text analysis, data visualization, computer programming, or experimental methods.

Founded in 1743, the University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) combines tradition and innovation, offering students a rich heritage along with the latest in instructional and research technology. Located in scenic Newark, Delaware, within 2 hours of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C., the University is one of the oldest land-grant institutions in the nation, one of 19 sea-grant institutions, and one of only 13 space-grant institutions. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching classifies UD as a research university with very high research activity. More recently, the University of Delaware has received the Community Engagement classification from the Carnegie Foundation. With external funding exceeding $200 million, the University ranks among the top 100 universities in federal R&D support for science and engineering and has nationally recognized research (Carnegie rated, very high research activity). With 23 academic departments, 27 interdisciplinary programs and centers, and more than 10,000 students, the College of Arts and Sciences is the largest college on campus (www.cas.udel.edu). The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from minority group members and women.

Qualifications

Applicants should hold a Ph.D. in a social science discipline with a strong quantitative focus, or a Ph.D. in a computational or statistical discipline with a strong record of application in the social sciences. We anticipate a primary departmental appointment in a social sciences unit, with a possible joint appointment in other departments or Colleges. Applicants should also have demonstrated experience in teaching quantitative methods courses, working on grants and projects related to sponsored research, a strong potential for seeking external funding, and a record of published scholarship. The successful candidate will teach core courses and conduct public lectures advancing data driven social science at all levels.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a letter of application, a current curriculum vitae, three letters of reference, and up to two article preprints or reprints of scholarship. The cover letter should clearly outline analytic competencies and the specific population(s) of study. Additional application materials may be requested by the committee at a later point.

Consideration of applications will begin on a rolling basis on November 1, 2015, and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials will be shared with the faculty in relevant departments. Submit inquiries to Professor Ronet Bachman, Chair, Search Committee (Ronet@udel.edu). Application materials will not be accepted through personal correspondence with the Chair or other committee members; they will only be accepted through Interfolio®.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2015

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 622

Bowdoin College

Rank: Senior Faculty Position in Arctic Studies

Bowdoin College invites nominations and expressions of interest for a newly endowed position in Arctic Studies that will focus on the Arctic and some combination of policy, politics, and climate change. Appointment will be at the level of tenured associate or full professor and will begin July 1, 2016.

We seek a scholar-teacher whose work addresses one or more of the following in the context of the Arctic and circumpolar regions: international relations; law, politics, and policy; environmental issues; natural resource management and development; indigenous issues. The successful candidate will demonstrate a capacity for excellence in teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment, active engagement in research, and public leadership in their areas of expertise. This appointment will be in the Environmental Studies program and/or in the appropriate department relevant to the candidate's training and disciplinary affiliations. The candidate may also be affiliated with The Peary-MacMillan Arctic Museum and Arctic Studies Center, one of the only such institutions of its kind at a liberal arts college. The normal teaching load is two courses per semester, including courses in the candidate's area of specialization.

Nominations and expressions of interest may be directed to the office of the Dean for Academic Affairs at acadaffs@bowdoin.edu. Expressions of interest should include a cover letter, c.v. and the names of three references.

Review will begin immediately and continue until an appointment is made.

A highly selective liberal arts college on the Maine coast with a diverse student body made up of 31% students of color, 5% international students and approximately 15% first generation college students, Bowdoin College is committed to equality and diversity and is an equal opportunity employer. We encourage inquiries from candidates who will enrich and contribute to the cultural, socio-economic, and ethnic diversity of our college. Bowdoin College does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, marital status, religion, creed, ancestry, national and ethnic origin, physical or mental disability, or veteran status in employment, or in our education programs.

Bowdoin College offers strong support for faculty research and teaching. We recognize that recruiting and retaining faculty may involve considerations of spouses and domestic partners. To that end, where possible, the College will attempt to accommodate and respond creatively to the needs of spouses and partners of members of the faculty.

For further information about the College please visit our website: <http://www.bowdoin.edu>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/8/2015

Date Posted: 5/13/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 18

University of Alaska, Fairbanks

Rank: Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Alaska Fairbanks (UAF) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin August 16, 2015. The position is open with respect to geographic expertise and secondary field, but special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach courses in the American Politics and/or Public Law subfields. The Department is looking for candidates with a strong commitment to undergraduate education, an active research agenda, and interest in contributing to interdisciplinary graduate programs. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the start of appointment is required.

UAF is the flagship campus of the University of Alaska system, and America's Arctic university, with a diverse student body and favorable student-faculty ratio. For information on faculty, programs, and life in Alaska, visit www.uaf.edu/polisci. Application materials include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample of scholarly writing (a recent peer-reviewed publication or dissertation chapter), three letters of recommendation (not more), and graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts will initially be accepted). Visit <https://www.uakjobs.com/applicants/jsp/shared/frameset/Frameset.jsp?time=1431539145466> to begin the application process. Only electronic applications will be accepted.

The University of Alaska is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action employer and educational institution. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Applicants needing reasonable accommodation to participate in the application and screening process should contact the Human Resources office. 907.474.7700

Review of applications will begin on May 29, 2015 and continue until the position is filled.

The position is open with respect to geographic expertise and secondary field, but special consideration will be given to applicants who can teach courses in the American Politics and/or Public Law subfields. The Department is looking for candidates with a strong commitment to undergraduate education, an active research agenda, and interest in contributing to interdisciplinary graduate programs. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by the start of appointment is required.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/8/2015

Date Posted: 5/13/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 17

Tarleton State UniversityRank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Social Sciences at Tarleton State University is accepting applications for a full-time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor beginning September 1, 2015. This position has a normal teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester. The applicant will teach either or both required core courses GOVT 2305 Federal Government and GOVT 2306 Texas Government. The applicant should also have specializations in one or more of the following fields: International Relations, Developing Nations, African Studies, East and South East Asian Studies. The applicant is expected to pursue an active research agenda and to serve the department and university as required (see Tarleton State University Handbook for Faculty and Administrative Staff available at www.tarleton.edu).

Males, age 18 through 25, must be properly registered with the Selective Service System to be eligible for hire. This position is designated as a security sensitive position and requires a satisfactory criminal history background check. Tarleton State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer.

Special Instructions

Please apply online at <https://jobs.tarleton.edu/>. A cover letter, c.v., transcripts (official or unofficial) and three letters of recommendation should accompany your application. If you are not able to attach the documents when applying, please mail the requested documents to:

Tarleton State University
Dr. Eric Morrow
Department of Social Sciences
Box T-0660
Stephenville, TX 76402

If mailing, please make sure you reference the Posting Number #0801277, and title of this position.

Application Information

Contact: Tarleton State University
Online App: <https://jobs.tarleton.edu/>
More Information on Tarleton State University
Home Page: <http://www.tarleton.edu>

Requirements:

Ph.D. (ABD status may be considered as long as all degree requirements, including dissertation, defense of dissertation, and comprehensive examinations, have been successfully completed by time of appointment (January 16, 2016).

The applicant should also have specializations in one or more of the following fields: International Relations, Developing Nations, African Studies, East and South East Asian Studies.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/28/2015

Date Posted: 5/1/2015

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 33

POLITICAL THEORYPrinceton University

Rank: James Madison Program Garwood Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2017 to June 30, 2018. The Garwood Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University, and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants are required to submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. To apply for a Visiting Fellow position please go to requisition 1600685.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

The deadline for application materials is 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2016 for appointments beginning in September 2017. Awards will be announced in March 2017.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D., Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu / Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1846

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates for the year from September 1, 2017 to September 1, 2018 with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on good performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education in the future. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants should submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> by December 1, 2016; however, applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2017. To apply for a Postdoctoral Research Associate position, please go to requisition #1600687.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D.
Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu
Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1847

Campbell University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Assistant/Associate Professor – Department of History, Criminal Justice and Political Science

Department: College of Arts and Sciences

This position will be: Full Time

Description

The Department of History, Criminal Justice and Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Campbell University seeks applicants for a full-time (9 month), tenure-track position in political science, either at the assistant or associate level, beginning August 2017.

Requirements | Qualifications

A Ph.D. in political science is desirable, but ABDs will be considered. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach undergraduate courses at all levels, with a particular focus on constitutional law and political theory. The new hire will teach, advise, and mentor majors and other students in a long-established, interdisciplinary and vibrant pre-law curriculum. The typical teaching load is 4 courses (12 hours) per semester. Candidates must be committed to liberal arts education; support the Christian mission of the University; and be dedicated to excellence in undergraduate teaching, mentoring students, and scholarship.

Compensation: Compensation will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include health, disability, and retirement plans.

Additional Instructions

Applications should be submitted online using the link below. Please electronically submit a letter of application citing education, experience, pedagogical approach, and additional qualifications as they relate to teaching at Campbell University. The application packet should also include a current curriculum vitae as well as copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts for all institutions attended. Additionally, please provide names and contact information for three references.

See link below to apply.

<http://www.campbell.edu/about/employment/>

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. Campbell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Campbell University maintains a continuing policy of nondiscrimination in employment. It is our policy to provide equal opportunity in all phases of the employment process and in compliance with applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations. Accordingly, the University is committed to administering all educational and employment activities without discrimination as to race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, ethnicity or national origin, religion, disability, genetic information, protected veteran status and any other characteristic protected by law, except where appropriate and authorized by law. This policy of nondiscrimination shall include, but not be limited to, the following employment decisions and practices: hiring; upgrading; promotions; demotions or transfers; layoffs; recalls; terminations; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; selection for training, including apprenticeship; and recruitment or recruitment advertising. Employees and applicants of Campbell University will not be subjected to any form of harassment or discrimination for exercising rights protected by, or because of their participation in, an investigation or compliance review related to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Executive Order 11246, Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, the Veterans Employment Opportunities Act of 1998, or any other federal or state nondiscrimination law, rule, or regulation.

Campbell University also maintains affirmative action programs to implement our equal employment opportunity policy. Employees or applicants who wish to review appropriate portions of these affirmative action programs may schedule an appointment to do so by contacting the Vice President for Business and Treasurer at the Buies Creek campus, during normal business hours.

Campbell University will no longer be accepting paper applications. Please apply online by clicking "Apply for this Position" below the description of the position for which you are applying. If you have any questions, or if you are an individual with a disability and need assistance completing an application for employment contact the Human Resources Department at 910-893-1699 or email hr@campbell.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1941

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning July 2017. We are seeking a broadly trained Political Scientist who could teach courses in international relations and political philosophy. A Ph.D. is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 31st, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1937

Azusa Pacific University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Political Theory

Position Tracking Number: F591

School/College: College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Department: History and Political Science

Location: Azusa

Description:

The Department of History and Political Science invites applications for an Assistant/Associate faculty position in Political Science, with primary specialization in political philosophy, secondary specialization in American Politics. Ability to teach courses in international relations is a plus, as is ability to teach writing for the humanities. Candidates should possess an earned Ph.D. in Political Science or Government, and maintain a strong commitment to the liberal arts. The appointment will begin August 2017, and is subject to final funding.

Specialization: Political Philosophy

Responsibilities:

- Teach upper-division courses in political philosophy, American political thought;
- Teach lower-division courses in political philosophy and American Government;
- Ability to teach lower and/or upper division courses in international relations desirable;
- Teach lower- and upper-division writing and research courses;
- Advise and mentor undergraduate students;
- Participate in departmental and university affairs;
- Integrate Christian faith in all aspects of instruction;
- Maintain an active scholarly research agenda.

Level: Assistant or Associate Professor

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or Government.
- A commitment to teaching excellence in an undergraduate, liberal arts program.
- A demonstrated, vibrant Christian faith compatible with the mission of Azusa Pacific University.

Experience:

Demonstrated commitment to scholarship in Political Science and prior university-level teaching experience.

Workload: Full-time position which includes teaching, advising and other departmental responsibilities.

Mental Demands:

- Desire to integrate Christian faith in all aspects of instruction.
- Ability to engage in critical thinking and exercise independent judgment.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality and manage confidential information.
- Self-starter and ability to communicate effectively in written and oral form.
- Ability to develop and maintain a scholarly research agenda.

Hire Date: August 2017

Additional Information:

At Azusa Pacific University we value and uphold God-honoring diversity. Diversity was not our idea, but God's. Therefore, we aim for an environment that respects and honors each individual's uniqueness while celebrating our collective commonalities. It is in this spirit that we continue important discourse on diversity, engage a variety of perspectives, and embrace active listening in a spirit of humility. We continue our efforts to recruit, hire, and support a diverse community in an effort to create a milieu that reflects the mosaic of God's kingdom.

Azusa Pacific University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Azusa Pacific University conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Application Procedure:

To apply, visit <http://www.apu.edu/cp/employment/>. Interested applicants should submit materials by September 15, 2016. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1913

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

University of California, Berkeley

Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Recruitment Period

Open August 19th, 2016 through September 30th, 2016 If you apply to this recruitment by September 30th, 2016, you will have until October 7th, 2016 to complete your application.

Description

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley (<http://polisci.berkeley.edu>) invites applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty positions with an expected start date of July 1, 2017. We are open to outstanding candidates in any field, but we are particularly interested in candidates whose work is in the areas of: formal theory, racial and ethnic politics, law and politics, and/or political theory. A Ph.D or equivalent degree is required within one year of start date.

[Basic qualifications]: The completion of all degree requirements for Ph.D or equivalent degree except the dissertation at the time of the application.

To apply, please go to the following link: <http://apptrkr.com/866409>. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, one to three samples of significant written scholarship, and a statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service (optional). Applicants should also arrange to have three to five letters of reference submitted via this web portal. It is preferred that letters of reference be uploaded by referees no later than one week after the final date to apply (October 07, 2016). All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality found at: <http://apo.berkeley.edu/evaltr.html> prior to submitting their letters.

Applications must be received by Friday, September 30, 2016 to be eligible for consideration. Please direct questions to Allison Covington, Academic HR Analyst, at <mailto:allison.covington@berkeley.edu>

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual career couples and single parents. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education. For information about potential relocation to Berkeley, or career needs of accompanying partners and spouses, please visit: <http://ofew.berkeley.edu/new-faculty>.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>.

Job location
Berkeley, CA

Requirements
Documents

Letter of Interest

Curriculum Vitae

Sample of Significant Written Scholarship One - Please provide a sample of significant written scholarship.

Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Two - Please provide an additional sample of significant written scholarship. (Optional)

Sample of Significant Written Scholarship Three - Please provide an additional sample of significant written scholarship. (Optional)

Statement of Contributions to Diversity - Statement addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service. (Optional)

References 3-5 letters of reference required

Copyright ©2015 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<http://www.jobelephant.com/>
jeid-2de876cbde7ce2408f2bca8f802e7a0d

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1915

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
Political Science Department
2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM)

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Economy, Regulatory Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM) invites applicants for a position at the assistant professor level in the Political Science Department, commencing in August 2017. This is an open field position with preference for candidates in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political-Economy, Methods (formal and quantitative), and Political Theory (contemporary political theory along with Comparative Politics or Social Choice). Candidates should preferably have a focus on regulatory politics, or policy evaluation.

ITAM is an academic institution committed to scientific excellence and oriented to the international academic community. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to research and should possess a Ph.D. in political science, but ABDs will be considered if there is a reasonable expectation of completion by December 2016. Classes can be taught in Spanish or English. Salary and teaching loads are in accordance to U.S. standards. Candidates can interview at the 2016 APSA Meeting in Philadelphia.

Information about the Department can be found at: <http://departamentodecienciapolitica.itam.mx/es>

CONTACT: Prof. Vidal Romero, Political Science Department, ITAM, Rio Hondo # 1, Mexico City, D.F. 01800, Mexico; email: vromero@itam.mx.

Application Instructions: Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research papers, research statement (2 page limit), and three letters of reference in pdf format to marta.cebollada@itam.mx by November 1, 2016.

For more information, phone: +52(55)5628-4000, x.3788.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1866

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (Political Theory)

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in political theory, with a special interest in candidates working in the areas of religion and politics, law, liberalism, and ancient and medieval, Continental, or American political thought. The department has a strong record of research and teaching in the history of political thought, broadly conceived, and applications are encouraged from scholars whose work speaks to this tradition. A Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment is required, as is evidence of excellence, or potential for excellence, in research and publication. The teaching load is two courses per semester, typically a mixture of undergraduate and Ph.D.-level offerings. The department values new perspectives on the world and is deeply committed to building a more open discipline that seeks excellence wherever it may lie. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7688>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, and three letters of recommendation. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Richard Boyd, rb352@georgetown.edu. For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive by September 20, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1863

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: United States, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2017 to June 30, 2018. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Among the research fellowships offered are the Ann and Herbert W. Vaughan Visiting Fellowship and the William E. Simon Visiting Fellowship in Religion and Public Life. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (10-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants are required to submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. To apply for a Visiting Fellow position please go to requisition 1600686.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

The deadline for application materials is 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2016 for appointments beginning in September 2017. Awards will be announced in March 2017.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D., Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu / Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1845

Claremont Graduate University

Rank: Tenured Position in American Politics, Political Behavior

Division of Politics & Economics
 School of Social Science, Policy & Evaluation
 Claremont Graduate University
 Tenured Position in American Politics, Political Behavior

Claremont Graduate University's School of Social Science, Policy and Evaluation invites applications for a tenured position in American Politics, focusing on Political Behavior, beginning Fall of 2017. CGU's Department of Politics and Policy offers only graduate-level degrees: the Ph.D. in Political Science and several MA degrees including the MA in Politics (with emphases in American and in Political Philosophy), the MA in Religion and Politics, and the MA in Public Policy.

In keeping with CGU's graduate-only focus, we seek a nationally renowned scholar in the area of American Behavioral Politics. This scholar should also show successful experience working with doctoral students to complete their dissertations in a timely way and to assist them in publication. The successful candidate will demonstrate experience and/or capacity for advising a diverse student body. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester, and the successful candidate should be prepared to teach graduate-level core American behavioral courses such as American Political Behavior, Voting Behavior, Political Psychology, Representation and Elections, and Political Parties in the US. We expect that the successful candidate will be expert in the use of appropriate research methods such as experimental research, survey research, etc.

The School is also interested in scholars and teachers whose work enhances CGU's diversity goals. Current members of Political Science at CGU are interested in diversity issues; for example, our senior American scholar is currently doing work on American Indian voting rights. CGU is a small university with a focus on transdisciplinarity, and therefore applicants with interests beyond one field are also appreciated.

CGU is affiliated with five undergraduate colleges via the Claremont Consortium. Joint research opportunities and teaching with the Claremont colleges may be possible.

Applicants should submit a letter discussing their interest in the position and how they could contribute to Political Science at CGU, a CV, a diversity statement (see below), and the names of four references to dresearch@cgu.edu. Consideration of applications will begin October 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. Any questions should be directed to Eliana Leon, Eliana.leon@cgu.edu.

CGU is an equal opportunity employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, national or ethnic origin, religion, ancestry, sex, gender identity and expression, age, sexual orientation, physical or mental disability, marital status, pregnancy status, or any other basis protected by applicable laws in its employment or hiring practices.

Claremont Graduate University is committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area via their diversity statements. Applicants who have a demonstrated commitment to issues of diversity and inclusion are particularly encouraged to apply as are individuals who have membership in one or more of the following groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding: Alaska Natives, Black/African Americans, Mexican Americans/Chicanas/Chicanos, Native American Indians, Native Pacific Islanders (Hawaiian/Polynesian/Micronesian), and Puerto Ricans.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 8/17/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1818

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications in any field for multiple appointments at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2017. Applicants should demonstrate strong skills in analytic reasoning, broadly defined, which may include one or more of the following: formal theory, analytic political philosophy, modelling, and quantitative methods. Successful candidates must hold, or expect to soon complete, a PhD.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Preferred candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing past and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information about this statement is at: <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html>). All materials should be submitted via UCSD AP Online RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JP01163>) for position: Assistant Professor, Political Science.

Review of applications will begin September 18, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/17/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1819

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Institute Professor of Constitutional Democracy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Institute (Assistant/Associate/Full)

Professor of Constitutional Democracy to begin in the Fall Semester 2017. The position is open rank in Political Science and holds a joint appointment with the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy.

Started in 2014 and supported by a generous grant from the Kinder Foundation, a family philanthropic foundation established by Rich and Nancy Kinder, the Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center at the University of Missouri dedicated to promoting excellence in teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly construed.

The successful candidate will teach four classes per year, maintain an active research and publishing agenda, contribute to undergraduate and graduate education, and participate in the intellectual community and activities of the Kinder Institute.

Qualifications

Applicants must demonstrate a track record of excellence in teaching and publication in a subject area that advances the mission of the Kinder Institute. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose prior work bridges subfields in political science and reflects the potential to teach courses in the area of political institutions and/or political and constitutional development. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of the appointment.

Application Materials

Applicants should use the online application system available at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Apply for Job ID 20828. See here for a direct link to this job:

https://myhr.umsystem.edu/psp/tamext/COLUM/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&SiteId=9&JobOpeningId=20828&PostingSeq=1.

Applicants should include a statement of teaching philosophy, and an outline of a current research agenda in the "attachments" portion of the system. Applicants should merge their CV with a brief cover letter and upload the document in the Resume/CV section of the application. Candidates at the rank of assistant professor should also include three letters of recommendation. Candidates at the rank of associate or full professor should may provide the names and contact information for three references.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016.

Other Information

For more information about the Kinder Institute, including descriptions of all faculty, graduate and undergraduate programs, please visit democracy.missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility & ADA Education at 573-882-5835.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1813

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory/Law

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in Political Theory and/or Law at the rank of assistant professor. The position requires outstanding research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession. The position is open with respect to substantive research focus. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and, if available, evidence of excellence in teaching. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36690> To guarantee full consideration, all materials should be uploaded and available for review by September 7, 2016. Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1793

University of British Columbia

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Political Science, University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in Political Theory at the level of Assistant Professor, effective 1 July 2017. We are seeking applicants with strong research records appropriate to a research-oriented doctoral program and demonstrated ability and interest in high quality, innovative teaching. Applicants who have progressed to the point where completion of the PhD is imminent and who demonstrate clear and superior promise of excellent research and teaching may also be considered. Applicants should have research interests that complement existing strengths in the department. The successful candidate will be expected to teach and supervise at the graduate and undergraduate levels in political theory. Candidates must have a PhD (or solid indication of imminent completion). The successful candidate will be expected to maintain a program of scholarly research leading to publication, effective teaching, graduate supervision, and service.

The programs, faculty research interests and general activities of the Department of Political Science are found at www.politics.ubc.ca. The University of British Columbia's main campus is located in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The University of British Columbia hires on the basis of merit and is strongly committed to employment equity and diversity within its community. All qualified persons are encouraged to apply. We especially welcome applications from visible minority groups, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, persons of minority sexual orientations and gender identities, and others with the skills and knowledge to engage productively with diverse communities. Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority. The position is subject to final budgetary approval. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit their applications by 15 October 2016 through the UBC Faculty careers website (<http://www.hr.ubc.ca/careers/faculty-careers/> Job ID: 24266), and be prepared to upload the following in the order listed: a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a description of current and future research interests, a sample of ongoing research preferably in the form of published material, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also arrange to have confidential letters from three referees sent to recruitment@politics.ubc.ca by the same deadline.

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1799

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Duke University invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor in the field of Political Theory to begin in July or August 2017. We are seeking candidates conversant in the history of political thought whose work engages important contemporary political issues. Candidates should have potential for excellence in teaching and research at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The search is not restricted to any particular subfields within political theory. Successful candidates will be expected to have completed the Ph.D. no later than July 1, 2017.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest describing their research agenda, a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, evidence of teaching excellence, and three letters of recommendation. All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7633>. Address correspondence to: Chair, Political Theory Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Box 90204, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0204.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1778

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Political Theory

The University of Chicago Society of Fellows is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. The Fellows are members of the College Faculty whose primary responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into seven year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Fellows teach in four of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Fellows also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2017. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in their original scholarship as well as in teaching.

In most years, Fellows teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. Each Fellow also has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical in the third year of residence. The annual salary for 2017-18 will be $67,650. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2017.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <http://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 31, 2016.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM CDT, Friday, October 14, 2016.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM CDT, Friday, October 28, 2016. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non_discrimination_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1785

McGill University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Gender and Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

McGill University
Department of Political Science
Assistant Professor, Gender and Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in Gender and Politics. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, such as Gender and Politics, Feminist Theories and Methodologies, and/or the empirical study of gender, as well as courses in the candidate's specific area(s) of expertise.

The Department welcomes applications from qualified candidates working within any subfield or methodological approach in Political Science. While all applications will be given full consideration, we are particularly interested in scholars whose work addresses the politics of gender and sexuality in their articulation and intersections with indigeneity, race, class, disability, and/or other axes of marginalization, power and identity.

An applicant's record of performance must provide evidence of outstanding research potential and the ability to teach effectively at the undergraduate and graduate level, as well as the ability to provide supervision for graduate students.

Appointment is expected to be at the rank of Assistant Professor, but appointment at a higher rank is possible under exceptional circumstances. Candidates should have already completed the PhD or be very near completion.

Applications should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of reference, a sample of written work and material pertinent to teaching skills. The position start date is August 1, 2017.

For more information about the Department and University, visit our web site at: <http://www.mcgill.ca/politicalscience/>.

The Department maintains a close relationship with several Centers and Institutes on campus that will be possible places of research affiliation for the successful candidate. These include: the Institute for Gender, Sexuality, and Feminist Studies (IGSF), <http://www.mcgill.ca/igsf/>; the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS) <http://www.mcgill.ca/rgcs/>; the Center for the Study of Democratic Citizenship (CSDC), www.csdcced.ca; the Center for International Peace and Security Studies (CIPSS), <http://cepsi-cipss.ca/en/>; the McGill Institute for the Study of International Development (ISID), www.mcgill.ca/isid/; and the European Union Centre of Excellence (EUCE), www.centreurope-montreal.ca.

Inquiries about this position may be sent to the Chair of the Department, Hudson Meadwell, hudson.meadwell@mcgill.ca.

Review of applications will begin on October 10 and will continue until the position is filled.

PLEASE APPLY ONLINE AT: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajojobs/7567>.

McGill University is committed to diversity and equity in employment. It welcomes applications from: women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, ethnic minorities, persons of minority sexual orientation or gender identity, visible minorities, and others who may contribute to diversification. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 10/9/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1765

University of North Carolina, Charlotte

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte Department of Political Science and Public Administration invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in Political Theory. Required qualifications include: Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, with a primary focus on questions of race or gender; demonstrated excellence or strong potential in research; and a commitment to teaching in a diverse environment. Candidates with the ability to empirically evaluate political theory regarding race or gender will also be considered. The nine month tenure track position begins Fall 2017.

Applications must be submitted electronically to <https://jobs.uncc.edu>. Please attach the following documents with your electronic application: (1) letter of application outlining your scholarly interests and agenda, including teaching experience, related to the qualifications outlined above; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) a copy of graduate transcript; (4) one sample of professional writing; and (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be sent either electronically in PDF format or by regular mail. All letters must be addressed to John Szmer, Political Theory Search Committee Chair, UNC Charlotte, 9201 University City Blvd, Fretwell 435F, Charlotte, NC 28223 or jjszmer@uncc.edu. Any questions should be directed to Dr. Szmer.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is an AA/EOE and an ADVANCE Institution that strives to create an academic climate in which the dignity of all individuals is respected and maintained. It values diversity that includes, but is not limited to ability/disability, age, culture, ethnicity, gender, language, race, religion, sexual orientation, and socio-economic status. Applicants will be subject to a criminal background check.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/22/2016
Date Posted: 8/9/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1752

Baylor University

Rank: Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics, Political Thought: Historical

Baylor University is a private Christian university and a nationally ranked research institution, consistently listed with highest honors among The Chronicle of Higher Education's "Great Colleges to Work For." Chartered in 1845 by the Republic of Texas through the efforts of Baptist pioneers, Baylor is the oldest continuously operating university in Texas. The university provides a vibrant campus community for over 15,000 students from all 50 states and more than 80 countries by blending interdisciplinary research with an international reputation for educational excellence and a faculty commitment to teaching and scholarship. Baylor is actively recruiting new faculty with a strong commitment to the classroom and an equally strong commitment to discovering new knowledge as we pursue our bold vision, Pro Futuris. (www.baylor.edu/profuturis/).

Baylor seeks to fill this open-rank faculty position within the College of Arts & Science. The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for a position in American Politics, with emphasis in American constitutional law and political thought, especially that of the Founding Era, beginning in the fall of 2017. Established research and teaching credentials in these fields are expected, and interests in constitutional principles and the modern political thought in which they emerged will be especially welcome. The search is open in rank. Applicants will be expected to contribute immediately to the flourishing BA, MA, and PhD programs in the department. Review of applications will begin as they are received, and to assure full consideration applications should arrive by October 1, 2016.

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science in the field of American Politics. Please submit a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, official transcripts showing highest degree conferred (ABD, also send official transcript of completed Ph.D.

hours), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing samples, and a statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Send application materials to:
 Professor David Nichols, Search Committee Chair
 Baylor University
 One Bear Place #97276
 Waco, Texas 76798
 254-710-3161
David_Nichols@baylor.edu

Materials may be submitted electronically to: Jenice_Langston@baylor.edu

To learn more about the above position, the College of Arts and Sciences, and Baylor University, please visit the appropriate URL: http://www.baylor.edu/artsandsciences/?_buref=1172-91940 or www.baylor.edu/hr/facultypositions.

Baylor University is a private not-for-profit university affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. As an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer, Baylor is committed to compliance with all applicable anti-discrimination laws, including those regarding age, race, color, sex, national origin, marital status, pregnancy status, military service, genetic information, and disability. As a religious educational institution, Baylor is lawfully permitted to consider an applicant's religion as a selection criterion. Baylor encourages women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/8/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1740

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Political Theory Assistant/Associate/Full Professor

POLITICAL THEORY. The MIT Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time position in Political Theory, open as to rank. Responsibilities include graduate and undergraduate teaching and research supervision.

MIT is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities. MIT is interested in applicants with experience and interest in communities of color, cultures other than their own, culturally diverse groups and developing and implementing curricula that address multicultural perspectives.

Applicants at the assistant professor level should include a C.V., sample dissertation chapter(s), and three recommendations. Applicants at the tenured level should supply a cover letter, C.V., writing sample, and a list of references. Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7585>.

Completed applications must be submitted by September 15, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1732

Middlebury College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, the Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time two-year term position in Political Philosophy beginning in September 2017. We are seeking broadly trained candidates prepared to teach the introductory course in political philosophy as well as a variety of upper-tier courses. We will consider candidates with research agendas in any area of political philosophy. Appointment will be made at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor. Candidates should provide evidence of commitment to excellent teaching and scholarly potential.

Middlebury College is a top-tier liberal arts college with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in faculty teaching and research. An Equal Opportunity Employer, the College is committed to hiring a diverse faculty as we work to foster innovation in our curriculum and to provide a rich and varied educational experience to our increasingly diverse student body. EOE/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disability.

Middlebury College uses Interfolio to collect all job applications electronically. Email and paper applications will not be accepted. At Middlebury, we strive to make our campus a respectful, engaged community that embraces differences, with the all the complexity and individuality each person brings. In your application materials we encourage you to address how your teaching, scholarship, mentorship and/or community service might support our commitment to diversity and inclusion. Through Interfolio, please submit a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, undergraduate and graduate transcripts, a statement of teaching and research plans, two samples of scholarly work, course evaluations, and three current letters of recommendation, at least two of which must speak to teaching ability and promise. More information is available at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36502>. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

Offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. More information regarding background checks may be found at: <http://go.middlebury.edu/backgroundchecks>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/4/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1709

Princeton University

Rank: Associate Professor or Professor of Religion and the University Center for Human Values

The University Center for Human Values and the Department of Religion at Princeton University invite applications from accomplished scholars working primarily in the field of religion, with a focus on religion, ethics and politics, or closely related areas, for appointment as (tenured) associate or full professor. The appointment will be held jointly in the two units.

We ask applicants to provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and the names of three referees. Applications should be submitted online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> (Job Requisition # 1600638). We cannot guarantee full consideration for applications received after October 15, 2016. We aim for an appointment effective September 2017.

Princeton University is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of our academic community. Women and members of underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/4/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1729

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Carleton College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Africana Studies with a major emphasis on current African American issues, beginning September 1, 2017. We plan to hire at the assistant professor level; in extraordinary circumstances we would consider an advanced rank applicant.

This position will be at least 60% in the African and African American Studies Program, and up to 40% in a collaborating disciplinary department. The successful candidate will have a PhD in Africana Studies or in a related social science or humanities field, and should have completed their PhD by September 1, 2017.

We seek candidates whose main teaching and research areas are in the field of Africana Studies, and who have thorough knowledge of related models—African Diaspora Studies, Black Studies, African American Studies. The candidate should be able to teach core courses for the Program's majors and concentrators, have demonstrated excellence in teaching and evidence of effective pedagogy in the discipline, and show promise to grow into a leadership position.

Visit jobs.carleton.edu to complete the online application, including cover letter, job-market paper, statement of teaching philosophy, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references. For consideration, all materials must be received by November 1, but we will begin reviewing files as early as September 30, 2016. Shortlisted applicants may be asked for further materials. All preliminary interviews will be held by Skype.

We are particularly interested in candidates committed to teaching a diverse student body, and who will contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. Women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

Carleton College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, ethnicity, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, status with regard to public assistance, disability, or age in providing employment or access to its educational facilities and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1721

Ball State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Ball State University is inviting applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position available August 18, 2017, with specialization in the field of classic and modern Western political philosophy with the major focus including background, knowledge, and skills in the area of political philosophy.

Major responsibilities: Teach courses in classic and modern Western political philosophy including American political thought. Additional strengths in comparative politics, non-Western political philosophy, and gender studies are preferred with opportunities available for developing courses in those areas. The normal teaching load is twelve hours per semester with a three hour course release per semester for candidates engaged in active research.

Minimum qualifications: Doctorate in political science with a concentration in political philosophy/theory from an accredited college or university no later than August 18, 2017; ability to teach courses in classic and modern Western political philosophy including American political thought.

Preferred qualifications: Research and/or teaching strengths in Comparative Politics, non-Western political philosophy, and gender studies; evidence of scholarship through publications, presentations, and successful grant proposals; evidence of successful teaching at the college level; successful involvement with professional organizations in the discipline; ability to interact effectively with faculty and staff to contribute to the strategic plans of the Department, College and University.

Candidates for searches must have current authorization to be employed in the U.S. without employer sponsorship.

To apply: We prefer candidates to submit all application materials, except for letters of reference, in a single pdf file. Send a cover letter of application, current vita, copies of official transcripts, writing samples, teaching evaluations if available, and three original letters of recommendation to: Dr. Daniel J. Reagan, c/o: Stephanie Painter, Administrative Coordinator (spainter@bsu.edu), Department of Political Science, Ball State University, Muncie, IN 47306-0255.

Review of completed applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled and the search is terminated.

Ball State University is located in Muncie, Indiana, on an attractive campus 45 miles northeast of Indianapolis. Approximately 21,000 graduate and undergraduate students enroll in one of seven academic colleges that offer 187 undergraduate programs, 84 master's programs, and 16 doctoral programs. In addition to our regular undergraduate Program, we also house an undergraduate Legal Studies Program, and an undergraduate interdepartmental European Studies Program and at the graduate level we offer an MA and MPA.

Ball State aspires to be the model of the most student-centered and community-engaged of the 21st century public research universities, transforming entrepreneurial learners into impactful leaders – committed to improving the quality of life for all. The university offers an excellent benefits package, including health care and retirement plans, tuition assistance for employees and dependents, and generous time off with pay.

EEO/AA Employer/Veterans/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1695

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for a position in the field of Political Theory. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Interested applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. For best consideration apply by September 8, 2016.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1700

University of Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Daniel J. Evans School of Public Policy & Governance, at the University of Washington, invites applications for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in Fall 2017 (100% FTE, 9 month appointment, UW Job Class Code: 0113). Highest priority will be given to candidates whose work addresses institutional discrimination, race and economic inequality, equal opportunity, or the complexities of engaging marginalized communities in governance. Our School values diversity, rigor, and innovative approaches to public policy analysis and public management research and practice. We seek candidates from all disciplines that inform public policy and management, but are particularly interested in applicants with scholarship in one of the following areas: contemporary ethical issues; democratic theory and theories of justice; environmental policy; civil society and philanthropy; or urban and metropolitan issues.

Applicants should provide a formal letter of interest indicating teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, at least three letters of recommendation, samples of research work and teaching experience (with course evaluations if available), and a statement noting how their teaching, research and service have the potential to support the Evans School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. PhD in relevant field, or foreign equivalent required. All University of Washington faculty engage in teaching, research, and service.

The University of Washington's Daniel J. Evans School of Public Policy & Governance is recognized as one of the best public affairs programs in the country. Named after three-term Washington governor Daniel J. Evans, the School is located in close proximity to a strong public sector environment, and has partnerships with the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and other organizations leading the way to drive change for the public good. The UW offers one of the most exceptional research and teaching environments in the United States. Seattle is a region of explosive growth, global trade, technological advancement, a thriving nonprofit community, and a long history of progressive government. It is also a cultural metropolis surrounded by the unparalleled natural beauty of the Pacific Northwest. Seattle offers a quality of life that is among the highest in the country, with beautiful lakes and parks, incredible walkability, bike lanes, and a lively music and cultural scene.

The University of Washington is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, protected veteran or disabled status, or genetic information. In accord with the University's expressed commitment to excellence and equity, contributions in scholarship and research, teaching, and service that address diversity and equal opportunity are among the professional and scholarly qualifications for appointment and promotion.

Applications should be submitted to Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/35931); initial review will begin October 1, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled. Contact: Kimberly Hay, Assistant Director of Academic Services, kfs3903@uw.edu. Candidates who fail to satisfy minimum qualifications cannot be considered for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1664

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICS
Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the Politics of Public Policy. The Department seeks a scholar whose work focuses on the politics of public policy as it relates to issues of race, class, or gender; and/or the impact of policies on underrepresented, marginalized, and/or vulnerable groups. The area or areas of public policy are open, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work focuses on criminal justice, policing, incarceration, health, immigration, education, domestic violence, sexual assault, or human trafficking. Studies that engage the domestic, comparative, or global level are welcome, as are empirical, historical, or critical theoretical approaches.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate and Ph.D. programs in the Politics department and teach one course per year in the proposed MA Program in Social Science and Public Policy. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community, and we encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

RANK: Assistant Professor

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience; academic year (9-month) basis.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected to be conferred by June 30, 2017; Demonstrated record of research and teaching.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1, 2017, with academic year beginning September 2017. Degree must be conferred by June 30, 2018 for employment beyond that date.

TO APPLY: Applications are accepted via the UCSC Academic Recruit online system and must include: letter of application, curriculum vitae, up to 4 samples of written work, research statement, teaching statement, up to 3 sets of teaching evaluations (if available), and 3 confidential letters of reference*. Applicants are invited to submit a statement addressing their contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service. All documents/materials must be submitted as PDF files.

Apply at <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/apply/JPF00368>

Refer to Position #JPF00368-17 in all correspondence.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <http://apo.ucsc.edu/confstm.htm>

CLOSING DATE: Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete and letters of recommendation received by this date. The position will remain open until filled, but not later than 6/30/2018.

UC Santa Cruz faculty make significant contributions to the body of research that has earned the University of California the ranking as the foremost public higher education institution in the world. In the process, our faculty demonstrate that cutting-edge research, excellent teaching and outstanding service are mutually supportive.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. UC Santa Cruz is committed to excellence through diversity and strives to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students and employees. Inquiries regarding the University's equal employment opportunity policies may be directed to: Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064; (831) 459-2686.

Under Federal law, the University of California may employ only individuals who are legally able to work in the United States as established by providing documents as specified in the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Certain UCSC positions funded by federal contracts or sub-contracts require the selected candidate to pass an E-Verify check. More information is available here or from the Academic Personnel Office (APO) at (831) 459-4300.

UCSC is a smoke & tobacco-free campus.

If you need accommodation due to a disability, please contact the Academic Personnel Office at apo@ucsc.edu (831) 459-4300.

VISIT THE APO WEB SITE AT: <http://apo.ucsc.edu>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1659

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in fall 2017 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, political theory, and etc. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 150 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has about 10 faculty members who own overseas PhD degrees, and 4 of them are in political science. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to development a new political science program. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system of the United States and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Selection will begin immediately and continue until the positions have been filled, pending administrative and budgetary approval. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend that meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews. Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1643

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in fall 2017 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, political theory, and etc. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 150 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has about 10 faculty members who own overseas PhD degrees, and 4 of them are in political science. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to develop a new political science program. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system of the United States and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Selection will begin immediately and continue until the positions have been filled, pending administrative and budgetary approval. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend that meeting and be available for an interview. For those candidates who can attend the conference interview, please submit your application before August 15th. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews. Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1644

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one tenure-stream appointment in the field of Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2017.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Philosophy, or a closely related field by date of appointment or soon thereafter. The successful candidate will conduct scholarly research that addresses important debates in political theory. We seek applicants with a demonstrable expertise in history of political thought (ancient and/or modern). The candidate will be expected to conduct innovative research at the highest international level and to establish an outstanding, externally funded research program. She or he will have an emerging record of scholarly accomplishment including publications in leading academic journals and/or with leading academic presses, or will provide evidence of excellence in research as demonstrated in presentations at significant conferences, awards for work in the field and strong endorsements by referees. Finally, she or he will be equipped to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in Political Theory and will have demonstrated excellence in teaching through teaching accomplishments, letters of reference and the teaching materials submitted as part of the application.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see <http://www.utm.utoronto.ca/~w3pol/> and <http://www.chass.utoronto.ca/polsci/>.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. To be considered for this position, all application materials must be submitted online by clicking the apply link below. Please include a curriculum vitae, a writing sample (e.g., an article offprint or conference paper), materials relevant to teaching experience (e.g., course outlines and handouts, student survey results), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. Applicants should also ask three referees to send confidential letters of recommendation directly via email (on letterhead, signed and scanned) to the Chair, Professor Edward Schatz, at polsci.utm@utoronto.ca. To receive full consideration, applications and all materials (including letters of reference) must be received by September 28, 2016.

Please submit attachments in PDF format only. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. If you have questions about this position, please contact lorna.taylor@utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/28/2016

Date Posted: 7/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1628

Centro de Investigacion y Docencia Economicas

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor, open to all subfields (CIDE, Mexico City)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at CIDE invites applications for a full-time position at its campus in Mexico City. The position is open field in political science and open rank. An immediate command of Spanish is not required, but within one year of appointment the successful applicant will be expected to teach material in Spanish.

CIDE is a social-science research institute, teaching graduate and undergraduate programs to select students in small groups. Our department was recently ranked as the top political science department in Latin America, measured by publication impact. Faculty members are expected to publish in top international journals and presses. The position offers a competitive salary with a lower-than-average teaching load. For more details, feel free to contact Prof. Luis de la Calle (who will be attending APSA) or any other faculty member.

Candidates should provide: (1) a short cover letter; (2) a detailed curriculum vita; (3) a writing sample; (4) the syllabus of at least a course the candidate has taught or would like to teach, and (5) at least three letters of reference. Applications should be sent to Prof. Luis de la Calle, Search Committee Chair, at contrataciones.politic@cide.edu.

Review of applications will begin in September 10, 2016. Later applications might be accepted but are not guaranteed full consideration. Employment would begin in January 2017, or as soon as possible thereafter.

Department's website: <http://www.cide.edu/divisiones-academicas/estudios-politic>

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: 9/10/2016

Date Posted: 7/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1602

Stanford University

Rank: Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all sub-fields

Tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields.

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position, open to all subfields. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2017. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a letter of interest along with their curriculum vitae, a writing sample and a brief statement of research interest (no more than three pages).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 16, 2016, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AcademicJobsOnline.org

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/8/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1605

NYU Abu Dhabi

Rank: FACULTY POSITIONS, Political Science – Political Theory, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

FACULTY POSITIONS

Political Science – Political Theory

NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi invites applications for faculty positions in political theory. The positions are open rank. The expected start date is September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in recruiting faculty whose work focuses on political institutions, political ethics, global ethics, or comparative political theory.

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016. Campus visits to NYUAD will be held in October and November 2016, with the visits to NYUNY occurring in the succeeding four weeks. The review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled. We anticipate that the successful candidates can start employment on or before August 15, 2017 subject to final budget approval.

To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit their curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, and representative writing samples. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Senior candidates are not required to submit references at this time.

Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1597

NYU Abu Dhabi

Rank: FACULTY POSITIONS, Political Science, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

FACULTY POSITIONS

Political Science

NYU Abu Dhabi

New York University Abu Dhabi is inviting applications from political scientists for faculty positions at any level (assistant, associate or full professor, tenure/tenure track - senior candidacies also welcome) to strengthen its program in Political Science, for appointment on September 1, 2017. We encourage applications from all subfields of Political Science. You may visit the Political Science program's website for a description of its innovative curriculum: <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/undergraduate-programs/majors/political-science.html>

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

The excellent terms of employment are competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching opportunities.

Applications are due no later than September 15, 2016. Campus visits to NYUAD will be held in October and November 2016, with the visits to NYUNY occurring in the succeeding four weeks. The review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled. We anticipate that the successful candidates can start employment on or before August 15, 2017 subject to final budget approval.

To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applicants must submit their curriculum vitae, statements of research and teaching interests, and representative writing samples. To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload his or her reference letter. Senior candidates are not required to submit references at this time.

Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1595

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor of Political Science

POLITICAL THEORY - The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position in the field of Political Theory. We are especially interested in candidates at the assistant professor rank. This is a university year appointment and begins on September 1, 2017.

Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required. Review of applications will begin on September 6, 2016. We cannot guarantee that applications received after September 13th will receive full consideration. We are requesting the following application materials: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing samples, statement of current and future research plans, statement of teaching philosophy and experience, teaching evaluations, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation. Visit lsa.umich.edu/polisci/faculty-hiring to apply.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/13/2016
Date Posted: 7/6/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1588

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Political Theory)

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in political theory. Preference will be given to candidates able to offer courses outside of political theory, especially in judicial politics or comparative politics. The successful candidate will show evidence of teaching excellence and will have an active research agenda supported by published research or the strong promise of such publication. We prefer applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Have three confidential letters of recommendation emailed directly from the reviewer to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu. Department representatives will attend the APSA meeting, where we will conduct screening interviews. Full review of applications begins on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 830,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 6/21/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 1559

Towson University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Normative Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR TENURE TRACK SEARCH
 DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE – TOWSON UNIVERSITY

ACADEMIC YEAR 2016-2017

Areas of Specialization: Political Theory: Western and Nonwestern Political Theory and Critical Race, and/or Feminist Theory

The Department of Political Science at Towson University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. The position entails teaching general survey courses in western and non-western political theory. Additionally, the applicant should be able to develop and teach courses in critical race theory and/or feminist political theory. Applicants with Ph.D. in hand at the time of application will receive preference, although ABDs may be considered. Applicants must possess a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and a show a solid potential for a productive scholarly program. Interest in pursuing external funding is desirable. The teaching load is six courses during the first year, but will rise to seven courses thereafter. Applicants should send: letter of intent; curriculum vitae; one sample of written work; evidence of teach effectiveness; official transcripts of all graduate and undergraduate work; and three letters of recommendation (all hard copy) to Dr. Jack Fruchtmann, Department of Political Science, Towson University, 8000 York Road, Towson, MD 21252

Application review will begin immediately. The position will remain open until October 1st, 2016.

Towson University is the second largest institution in the University System of Maryland. It is located just outside Baltimore and is only an hour from Washington, D.C. by car or train. Towson is an equal opportunity employer and has a strong institutional commitment to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 6/21/2016
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 1556

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor in Contemporary Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream position in Contemporary Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence on July 1, 2017.

We are looking for a candidate with strong research and teaching interests in contemporary political theory who is also able to teach a range of courses in political philosophy, the history of political thought, and democratic theory. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must provide strong evidence of research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by publications in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees. Evidence of excellence in teaching is demonstrated by a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, and endorsements from referees. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted online.

Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS word format.

Applicants should also ask at least three referees to send letters directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. To be assured of receiving consideration, applications must be received by October 12, 2016.

For more information about the Department of Political Science, please visit our home page at <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/12/2016
Date Posted: 6/21/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1554

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor in Contemporary Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream position in Contemporary Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor and will commence on July 1, 2017.

We are looking for a candidate with strong and established research and teaching interests in contemporary political theory who is also able to teach a range of courses in political philosophy, the history of political thought, and democratic theory. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus, and he or she will be able to complement the research and teaching specialties of the faculty in political theory and in the department more broadly. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science or related discipline and provide strong evidence of research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by publications in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees. Candidates should also have an established international reputation based on a scholarly record of excellence appropriate to their career stage. Evidence of excellence in teaching and a demonstrated commitment to graduate education and mentorship are required. Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated by letters of reference, teaching evaluations, graduate supervision, dossier and/or syllabi submitted as part of the application. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy, and teaching evaluations), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted online.

Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS word format.

Applicants should also ask at least three referees to send letters directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. To be assured of receiving consideration, applications must be received by October 12, 2016.

For more information about the Department of Political Science, please visit our home page at <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/12/2016

Date Posted: 6/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1555

University of Toronto

Rank: Comparative Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream position in Comparative Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence July 1, 2017.

We are looking for a candidate with strong research and teaching interests in comparative political theory but who is also able to teach courses on the traditional Western canon. The position comes with undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must provide strong evidence of research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by publication in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees. Evidence of excellence in teaching is demonstrated by a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, and endorsements from referees. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted online.

Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS word format.

Applicants should also ask at least three referees to send letters directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. To be assured of receiving consideration, applications must be received by October 4, 2016.

For more information about the Department of Political Science, please visit our home page at <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from visible minority group members, women, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities, members of sexual minority groups, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/4/2016

Date Posted: 6/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1516

Trinity College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Trinity College invites applications for a three-semester, full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Theory. The successful candidate will begin January 2017 and will teach through May 2018. The candidate will teach two three-course semesters, and one two-course semester. Applications from candidates with expertise in feminist political theory and democratic theory are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates should be strongly committed to undergraduate and interdisciplinary teaching, have a well-articulated plan for sustained research, and demonstrate an ability to teach undergraduate courses at all levels. The Ph.D. should be in hand or expected by December, 2016. Applicants who do not already have legal permission to work in the United States will not be considered.

To ensure full consideration please submit an application on our website (<https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com/>) including a letter of application (including statement of research and teaching interests), CV, graduate transcript, sample of scholarly writing, teaching evaluations, and sample syllabi (if available), and contact information for at least three letters of recommendation by July 15, 2016.

Trinity College is an Equal Opportunity/ Affirmative Action Employer. We especially seek applications from minorities, women, and other under-represented groups. Located in Hartford, Connecticut, Trinity is an independent, nonsectarian liberal arts college.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1384

Georgetown University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Theory

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a one-year non-tenure-track Visiting Assistant Professor position in political theory. A Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment is preferred, but advanced doctoral candidates will also be considered at the rank of Lecturer. The teaching load is three courses per semester, in a mixture of upper-level undergraduate and graduate-level offerings. Candidates will be expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the political theory program, including potentially supervising undergraduate senior theses, teaching the departmental honors seminar, co-convening the weekly Political Theory Speaker Series, and mentoring Ph.D. students. Candidates are expected to have an active research agenda and excellence, or demonstrated potential for excellence, in publishing in major venues. Applicants should provide evidence of outstanding undergraduate teaching and be prepared to offer courses in some of the following areas of interest: Religion and Politics, Ethics and Public Policy, Contemporary Political Philosophy, Law and Philosophy, and other thematic topics. The Department of Government welcomes applications from individuals who will expand our perspective on the world and who are committed to a more inclusive and participatory discipline. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7150>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching experience. Applications Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Richard Boyd, rb352@georgetown.edu. For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive before April 1, 2016, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 4/1/2016

Date Posted: 3/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1355

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Psychology, Education Policy

The University of Richmond is seeking a social scientist for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS). Although ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. or Ed.D. in public administration, public policy, educational policy, political or social psychology, sociology, or a related field, by August 23, 2017.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars in anthropology, economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, social psychology and religion. We seek applicants who study, or have the potential and desire to study, leadership by drawing on their disciplinary expertise to inform their work. We are particularly interested in candidates whose demonstrated scholarly interests focus on the analysis of policy or processes related to justice and explaining social and economic inequality.

Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in an interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences and Theories and Models of Leadership. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests connect, or have the potential to connect, to leadership, broadly construed. (See <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information.) The JLS supports the University's commitment to promoting an inclusive campus community. For full consideration, applicants must specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the imperatives of diversity and inclusion.

The University of Richmond is a nationally ranked liberal arts university offering a unique combination of undergraduate and graduate degree programs in arts and sciences, business, leadership studies, law, and professional and continuing studies. The first school of leadership studies and a highly ranked business school enhance a strong liberal arts curriculum.

Inaugurated in 1992, the Jepson School of Leadership Studies is an independent academic unit of the University and offers students the opportunity to major or minor in Leadership Studies. With the aim of educating students for and about leadership, the Jepson School offers a challenging liberal arts curriculum delivered by means of a rigorous and innovative pedagogy. Candidates should submit a letter of application and curriculum vitae, and provide the names and emails of three references to <http://jobs.richmond.edu>. Review of applications will begin September 20, 2016; applications will be accepted until October 10, 2016. Preliminary phone and/or Skype interviews will likely be conducted; we anticipate inviting candidates to campus in November 2016.

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body and to supporting an inclusive campus community. In keeping with this commitment, our academic community strongly encourages applications from candidates who will contribute to these goals. The University of Richmond has a generous family leave policy, offers employment benefits to same sex domestic partners, and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, national or ethnic origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, disability, status as a veteran or any classification protected by local, state or federal law.

The University of Richmond is an Equal Opportunity Employer by both policy and practice. Applicants are considered for all positions without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, marital or veteran status, or the presence of a non-job-related medical condition.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/10/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1569

Winthrop University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, South Asia

WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences

Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

TITLE: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, Open Field

The Department of Political Science is seeking engaging teachers and active scholars to join our diverse scholarly community by applying for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position. The department welcomes applications in all subfields; however, we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: Comparative Politics (Middle East, Asia), Public Administration, Public Law, and/or American Institutions. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement to join our distinguished department. Considered one of the strongest departments in the University, the Winthrop Political Science department boasts award-winning faculty who are recognized for the quality of their teaching and research alike. The department is also home to a long-standing Model UN program, which just celebrated its 40th anniversary; the Social & Behavioral Research Laboratory, which is home to the renowned Winthrop Poll; and the John C. West Forum on Politics and Policy, a major civic engagement initiative at the University. The department also collaborates with the Master of Liberal Arts program to provide a graduate Concentration in Political and Civic Engagement.

Major Responsibilities:

- Teach a variety of courses in Political Science. Our areas of need include: Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, Politics of Asia, Public Administration, The Judiciary, Constitutional Law: Federalism, and Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Congress, The Presidency, Public Policy, Women and US Politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and/or expertise in Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, and/or Politics of Asia
- Teach both introductory and advanced courses in your areas of specialization, including graduate courses in our Political and Civic Engagement Concentration within the Master of Liberal Arts Program

- Teach a team-taught senior capstone course in Political Science
- Ability to teach research methods or experience in public opinion polling a plus
- Teach courses in Winthrop University's innovative General Education Program, including American Government, which fulfills the Constitution Requirement
- Participate in departmental, college, and university service, including student advising
- Undertake research in the discipline and promote undergraduate research
- Be an interested and energetic participant in an active department
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- The Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field is required for appointment at the assistant professor level. A successful candidate who is ABD at the time of employment will be appointed to a non-tenure track position as an instructor. The successful candidate will also be required to undergo a background check prior to hiring.
- Specialization in areas among those listed above.
- Evidence of excellence in the area of Student Intellectual Development, including teaching excellence and commitment to student learning.
- Evidence in the area of Scholarly Activity, including an ongoing program of research and publication.
- Evidence in the area of Professional Stewardship, including engagement with the discipline, profession, campus, and community
- Preference is given to candidates with experience teaching the courses listed above.

Employment Conditions: A 9-month full-time tenure-track appointment with option of summer employment if funds are available. Salary is dependent upon qualifications. Pending final budgetary approval.

Position Availability: August 16, 2017

Application Deadline: Friday, November 11, 2016. Application materials received after the deadline date may be considered if an acceptable candidate has not been found.

Application Procedures:

1. Applications should consist of:
 - letter of application, including a statement of "teaching philosophy,"
 - curriculum vitae,
 - sample of representative written work (article- or chapter- length),
 - evidence of excellence and commitment to student learning,
 - three professional letters of reference,
 - all graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are acceptable for initial review; official transcripts are required prior to final appointment).
2. If you are attending the Annual Meeting of The American Political Science Association (APSA) in Philadelphia from September 1-4, please email Department Chair Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney (disneyj@winthrop.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service.
3. Applications may be submitted electronically to the following address:

PLSCJobs@winthrop.edu
Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
346 Bancroft Hall

Winthrop University
Rock Hill, SC 29733
(803) 323-2209

Winthrop University is a public, comprehensive university located in Rock Hill, SC, 30 minutes south of Charlotte, NC, that is among the very best institutions of our kind in the nation. Through an educational experience that blends liberal arts, professional programs, global awareness, and civic engagement, Winthrop University helps students develop the knowledge, skills, and values that will enrich their lives forever and prepare them for all that the future holds. Winthrop University has 5,000 undergraduate students and 1,000 graduate students. We have a diverse student population, which is 69% women and 36% students of color, and we have a 14 to 1 student/faculty ratio. For more information, visit us at www.winthrop.edu.

Winthrop University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group of individuals on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 8/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1917

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Director of School of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Other

The University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applications for the position of inaugural Director of the new School of Public Policy (SPP) at the University's flagship campus. We seek an outstanding and active scholar committed to the study of public problems and their resolution. The appointment will be made at the rank of Full Professor or advanced Associate Professor. Building on the success of the University's Center for Public Policy and Administration, the founding director will help to lead a faculty hiring strategy, elevate the visibility of SPP as a national and international hub for policy debates, and create multi-disciplinary programs that prepare students for lifelong engagement with public issues. The Director will work with faculty and other campus leaders to raise the profile of policy-relevant research on and beyond campus, build partnerships with other campus units that create joint opportunities for policy-related research and teaching, support faculty to increase public engagement with their research, and engage in fundraising working with development staff. The Director, who will report to the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS), will work with faculty to lead efforts to establish new opportunities for undergraduates in public policy and administration and expand existing graduate programs, working in collaboration with departments in the social sciences, natural sciences, public health, engineering, information and computer science and a variety of other fields. The SPP community is interested in problems connected to inequality and has a passion for social change and engaging policy problems at all levels, locally through internationally. The new Director will work collaboratively to develop innovative programs on our main campus in Amherst, with possible new operations in Massachusetts (Boston and Springfield) and Washington, DC where students will gain valuable experience in international, national, state, regional and local governance.

Requirements:

Candidates for Director must have a doctoral degree or equivalent and an exceptional record of research, teaching, and service sufficient to merit appointment as a tenured (full or associate) professor in one of the academic departments of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to research and to undergraduate and graduate education; a vision for how a new policy school will support the campus's strategic planning goals; a commitment to increase the diversity of the faculty, student body and curriculum; an ability to serve as a vigorous champion for public policy research and teaching; and an ability to work effectively across boundaries with faculty members, students, staff, administrators, and external constituencies.

Additional Information:

The university is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University of Massachusetts Amherst is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will holistically assess the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research or other work activities. We will also favorably consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic degree and career.

Application Instructions:

The appointment will be effective on or about September 1, 2017. Interested candidates should apply through Interview Exchange.

Candidates should include a curriculum vitae and a cover letter with a statement about the candidate's views on the role of public policy in a public research university, along with a concise description of the candidate's research and related accomplishments.

All applications will be treated as strictly confidential & letters of reference will only be requested for candidates who are finalists.

For full consideration, ensure that your application is received by October 3, 2016, but review of applications will continue until a suitable candidate pool has been identified.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1898

Western Oregon University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Recruitment Number: F1607

Application Deadline: Review of applications begins October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Politics, Policy and Administration Department at Western Oregon University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position specializing in American Government and Public Administration. The position is open to any subfields within these two fields. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement.

Qualifications:

- Ph.D in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or related field (ABD will be considered if degree will be completed prior to start date)
- Experience teaching both introductory and upper division undergraduate courses in both fields

Start Date: September 16, 2017

The position offers a generous sabbatical leave policy, research/travel support, and benefits for health care and retirement.

Contact Information: Questions regarding this position may be directed to Dr. Mary Pettenger, Search Committee Chair, at pettengm@wou.edu

For questions regarding the application process or to submit your application documents, please contact Human Resources at 503-838-8552 or employment@wou.edu.

Application Process

Required application materials:

- A WOU Faculty Application Form (available at www.wou.edu/facultyapp)
- Letter of interest
- Current curriculum vita
- Relevant materials demonstrating teaching ability and experience (e.g. Syllabi, assignment guidelines, course reviews, etc.)
- Names and complete contact information for three (3) references. At least one of the references must address teaching.
- Unofficial copy of transcripts for highest degree

Submit Application Materials to:

F1607, Asst. Professor of Political Science
Western Oregon University
Human Resources Office
345 N. Monmouth Ave
Monmouth, OR 97361

-OR- E-mail as an attachment to employment@wou.edu -OR- Fax to 503-838-8144.

Western Oregon University (WOU) www.wou.edu is a mid-sized public comprehensive university located in the Monmouth-Independence area, the heart of Oregon's lush Willamette Valley. The University serves a large number of first-generation college students. WOU has received national recognition for its commitment and success in serving students. In 2014 Western Oregon University was ranked highest in the Pacific Northwest and 85th in the nation for economic value and employability of its graduates, by Educate to Career, Inc. The campus is about 20 minutes from Salem, the state's capital, about 75 minutes from Portland, the state's cultural hub, and a short drive from the Oregon coast, mountains, and other scenic areas. The university is located in an increasingly diverse, bilingual, and rural area in the Willamette Valley. Our student body of about 6200 undergraduate and 400 graduate students enjoys the vibrant and close-knit intellectual community of a leading liberal arts college.

Western Oregon University is an EO/AA/Veteran/Disability employer committed to increasing the diversity of its workforce.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1872

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Assistant Professor

Department of Political Science and Masters of Public Administration

Public Administration

The Political Science Department in the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona (Cal Poly Pomona) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin Fall 2017. Candidates with specializations in Public Administration are welcomed to apply.

The Position: The faculty member will be a part of a small, collegial Masters of Public Administration program and a member of the Political Science Department, of which the Masters program is a part. The faculty member will teach and advise graduate and undergraduate students in both of these programs. As a part of the undergraduate Political Science program, the faculty member will be expected to teach Introduction to Public Administration and other upper division public administration courses or courses in political science according to the faculty member's area of expertise. The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work incorporates a global perspective and a commitment to diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration or related disciplines such as Public Policy from an accredited university by September 1, 2017
- University teaching experience
- Evidence of scholarly potential (conference presentations, publications, grant development)
- Evidence of ability to work with and mentor a diverse student population

Preferred/Desired Qualifications: Preference will be given to those candidates who have the expertise to work with graduate students on a range of theses projects in public administration, as well as the ability to teach political science undergraduates. Expertise and work experience in areas such as emergency or crises management, sustainable communities, public policy, qualitative research methods, nonprofits, and local or regional government will be given careful consideration.

Application Procedure: The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications submitted by October 10, 2016. Early response is encouraged. An online submission process will be used. To apply, please go to <http://www.cpp.edu/~class/openpositions/pls.shtml>

A completed application will consist of:

- a cover letter that describes the candidate's teaching performance, research experience and interests, and that addresses the duties and qualifications articulated in the position description. This must include a statement of teaching philosophy within a multicultural environment with examples of past experiences;

- a curriculum vitae comprising at least those elements specified on the application form and including the names, titles, addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers of at least five individuals who can speak to the candidate's potential for success in this position;
- three recent letters of reference (on letterhead, signed and dated within the past two years). Please ask your letter writers to submit them via <http://www.cpp.edu/~class/open-positions/applications/pls-letters.shtml>
- a completed application form available on the application website;
- an unofficial transcript showing highest degree earned from an accredited educational institution. Finalists will be required to submit an official transcript; and
- recent teaching evaluation summaries and sample syllabi if available.
- Please submit all electronic documents in PDF format.

For further information or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Jill Hargis, Faculty Search Chair
 Political Science Department
 California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
 Phone: 909.869.3887 FAX: 909.869.6995
 Email: kmalm@cpp.edu (Kim Alm, Administrative Coordinator)

The University: California State Polytechnic University, Pomona is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer. The University seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the people of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. Cal Poly Pomona subscribes to all state and federal regulations and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin, sex, gender identity/gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, pregnancy, age, disability, genetic information, medical condition, and covered veteran status. The University hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. As required by the Clery Disclosure Act, the university's annual security report is available at <http://www.cpp.edu/~police/annual-security-report.shtml>. The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The College: The faculty and staff of the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences provide an excellent education for students desiring intellectual enrichment and career enhancement in the humanities, social sciences, and performing arts. The College offers introductory and advanced course work in 20 degree and certificate programs. Central to the mission of the College is the General Education program offered to all students enrolled in the University. The College embraces its role in providing courses and curricula in support of multiple and single subject teaching credential students. The University's mission to provide for the "intellectual, personal, and professional development" of its students, staff, and faculty lies at the heart of the College's commitment to offer programs that educate the whole person. Additional information is available at: www.class.csupomona.edu/

The Department: The Department of Political Science has over two hundred undergraduate political science majors and approximately fifty students in our NASPAA-accredited MPA program. We also offer a Political Science minor and participate significantly in the university's General Education offerings. The Department sponsors a Model United Nations program and a Mock Trial Team, both with a history of national recognition. Members of the Department have traditionally been actively involved across campus and in the community.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/10/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1772

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona

Rank: Assistant Professor

The faculty member will be a part of a small, collegial Masters of Public Administration program and a member of the Political Science Department, of which the Masters program is a part. The faculty member will teach and advise graduate and undergraduate students in both of these programs. As a part of the undergraduate Political Science program, the faculty member will be expected to teach Introduction to Public Administration and other upper division public administration courses or courses in political science according to the faculty member's area of expertise. The position requires excellence in teaching and advising, professional and scholarly achievements, and a commitment to service to the university. Applicants whose work incorporates a global perspective and a commitment to diversity in higher education are particularly encouraged to apply.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration or related disciplines such as Public Policy from an accredited university by September 1, 2017
- University teaching experience
- Evidence of scholarly potential (conference presentations, publications, grant development)
- Evidence of ability to work with and mentor a diverse student population

Preferred/Desired Qualifications: Preference will be given to those candidates who have the expertise to work with graduate students on a range of these projects in public administration, as well as the ability to teach political science undergraduates. Expertise and work experience in areas such as emergency or crises management, sustainable communities, public policy, qualitative research methods, nonprofits, and local or regional government will be given careful consideration.

Application Procedure: The position is open until filled. First consideration will be given to completed applications submitted by October 10, 2016. Early response is encouraged. An online submission process will be used. To apply, please go to <http://www.cpp.edu/~class/open-positions/pls.shtml>

A completed application will consist of:

- a cover letter that describes the candidate's teaching performance, research experience and interests, and that addresses the duties and qualifications articulated in the position description. This must include a statement of teaching philosophy within a multicultural environment with examples of past experiences;

- a curriculum vitae comprising at least those elements specified on the application form and including the names, titles, addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers of at least five individuals who can speak to the candidate's potential for success in this position;
 - three recent letters of reference (on letterhead, signed and dated within the past two years). Please ask your letter writers to submit them via <http://www.cpp.edu/~class/open-positions/applications/pls-letters.shtml>
 - a completed application form available on the application website;
 - an unofficial transcript showing highest degree earned from an accredited educational institution. Finalists will be required to submit an official transcript; and
 - recent teaching evaluation summaries and sample syllabi if available.
- Please submit all electronic documents in PDF format.

For further information or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Jill Hargis, Faculty Search Chair
Political Science Department
California State Polytechnic University, Pomona
Phone: 909.869.3887 FAX: 909.869.6995
Email: kmalm@cpp.edu (Kim Alm, Administrative Coordinator)

The University: California State Polytechnic University, Pomona is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer. The University seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the people of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. Cal Poly Pomona subscribes to all state and federal regulations and prohibits discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin, sex, gender identity/gender expression, sexual orientation, marital status, pregnancy, age, disability, genetic information, medical condition, and covered veteran status. The University hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. As required by the Clery Disclosure Act, the university's annual security report is available at <http://www.cpp.edu/~police/annual-security-report.shtml>. The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The College: The faculty and staff of the College of Letters, Arts, and Social Sciences provide an excellent education for students desiring intellectual enrichment and career enhancement in the humanities, social sciences, and performing arts. The College offers introductory and advanced course work in 20 degree and certificate programs. Central to the mission of the College is the General Education program offered to all students enrolled in the University. The College embraces its role in providing courses and curricula in support of multiple and single subject teaching credential students. The University's mission to provide for the "intellectual, personal, and professional development" of its students, staff, and faculty lies at the heart of the College's commitment to offer programs that educate the whole person. Additional information is available at: www.class.csupomona.edu/

The Department: The Department of Political Science has over two hundred undergraduate political science majors and approximately fifty students in our NASPAA-accredited MPA program. We also offer a Political Science minor and participate significantly in the university's General Education offerings. The Department sponsors a Model United Nations program and a Mock Trial Team, both with a history of national recognition. Members of the Department have traditionally been actively involved across campus and in the community.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/10/2016

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1773

Eastern Michigan University

Rank: Assistant Professor Public Administration

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

Public Administration Position

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Michigan University invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level, beginning August 2017.

Candidates must have a doctoral degree or be ABD in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science, or other relevant fields and demonstrate a strong commitment to both teaching and research. Area of specialization is open, but our leading needs are in local government management and nonprofit management and leadership. We have less need for teaching in personnel and budgeting. Expertise should be demonstrated through doctoral transcripts and/or professional experience.

Responsibilities include teaching courses in the department's undergraduate public and nonprofit administration major, our NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program (on our main campus in Ypsilanti and an off-site campus in nearby Livonia, Michigan), and several graduate certificate programs. Our programs are affiliated with the Nonprofit Leadership Alliance.

Review of applications will begin October 1, and the position will remain open until filled. Applications must be made at <http://agency.governmentjobs.com/emichedu/default.cfm>.

A complete application should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, and samples of scholarship, course syllabi, and student evaluations (items can be combined in files for uploading). At least three current letters of recommendation should be sent separately to the search committee at political.science@emich.edu or at the address below:

Search Chair
Department of Political Science
Eastern Michigan University
601 Pray-Harrod
Ypsilanti, MI 48197

EMU is located in Ypsilanti, Michigan. Its close proximity to Detroit, Ann Arbor and Lansing provides rich cultural, social and recreational opportunities. EMU was founded in 1849 and is a comprehensive university with an enrollment of over 23,000 students. EMU is an equal opportunity employer and is recognized by U.S. News and World Report for its diverse campus environment.

For additional information, contact the search committee chair, Ed Sidlow, at esidlow@emich.edu.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/yrnzp7x9w2>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1753

Eastern Michigan University

Rank: Director, Master of Public Administration Program

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

Director, Master of Public Administration Program

The Department of Political Science at Eastern Michigan University invites applications from candidates who merit appointment at the associate or full professor level (with tenure), beginning August 2017 or earlier, to direct the Master of Public Administration program.

Preferred candidates will have a doctoral degree in Public Administration, Public Policy, Political Science, or other relevant field and a demonstrated record of successful teaching, research, and community engagement. The area of specialization is open, although we are especially seeking to fill a position to serve our core missions, local government management and nonprofit administration.

Responsibilities include teaching courses in the Department's undergraduate public administration major, our NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program (on our main campus in Ypsilanti and an off-site campus in nearby Livonia, Michigan), and graduate certificates in General Public Management, Nonprofit Management, Public Personnel, Public Budgeting, Management of Public Healthcare Services, Public Land Planning and Development Management, Local Government Management, and Public Policy Analysis.

The MPA program enrolls 60 students, most of them in-service. The Political Science Department has 14 faculty, plus full-time and part-time lecturers, and more than 300 majors in four baccalaureate programs, as well as 125 minors in five fields.

All applications must be made online at: <http://agency.governmentjobs.com/emichedu/default.cfm> complete application should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and samples of scholarship, course syllabi, and student evaluations.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016, and the position will remain open until filled. For more information, contact the search committee chair, Ed Sidlow, at esidlow@emich.edu.

ALL ATTACHMENTS MUST BE ATTACHED WHEN SUBMITTING THE APPLICATION. THEY CANNOT BE REVISED OR ADDED ONCE THE APPLICATION HAS BEEN SUBMITTED.

EMU is located in Ypsilanti, Michigan. Its close proximity to Detroit, Ann Arbor and Lansing provides rich cultural, social and recreational opportunities. EMU was founded in 1849 and is a comprehensive university with an enrollment of over 23,000 students. EMU is an equal opportunity employer, and is recognized regularly by U.S. News and World Report for its diverse campus environment.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/r3n76tc53d>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1760

Tecnologico de Monterrey

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Political Economy, Mexico, Public Finance & Budgeting

The School of Government has one vacant open rank research-professor position. We welcome candidates in public policy, economics, political science, public administration, sociology, law, education policy or other related fields in the social sciences.

Candidates are expected to strengthen the ability of the School of Government and Public Transformation to influence policy debates in areas such as data science for public services and governance, poverty and social policy, inequality, public finance and budgeting, federalism and local government, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy, and environmental policy in Mexico and globally. Other specializations are also welcome and will be considered by the Search Committee. The School of Government offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Candidates must have the ability to conduct high quality, original research and to publish in internationally-recognized peer-reviewed outlets. They should also be committed to teaching and mentoring Masters and PhD students.

Responsibilities include teaching in the graduate programs and undergraduate courses offered by the School of Government, and fulfillment of a research program as presented in the candidate's application. Teaching may be done exclusively in English, although a solid knowledge of Spanish is strongly encouraged. The teaching load is 4 courses per year, and specific agreements will depend on the candidate's rank and potential contribution to the School's mission.

Deadline:

Review will begin on September 19th and continue until the position is filled

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background, and proven interest in empirical research. We specifically search for candidates with a strong background in defining theoretical and applied research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. This is an open-rank search, whereby status as tenured, tenure-track, Assistant, Associate or Full Professor will be awarded on the basis of his/her publishing record, teaching experience, and academic status. We expect candidates to hold a Doctoral degree, and may or may not have a current appointment at another institution. Applications from ABD candidates will only be considered if they include a letter from the chair of the committee stating a date for the defense of the doctoral dissertation. The latter should occur at the latest before May 2017.

Compensation is competitive, and includes incentives and support for research activities. Tec de Monterrey will provide legal assistance in case the candidate is a foreign national, for working permit and visa for the candidate and his/her dependents.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the AcademicJobsOnline.org (see <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/5869>):

- ? Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- ? Teaching philosophy (no more than two pages).
- ? Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- ? Writing sample not exceeding 50 double spaced pages (the candidate should be the first author of the text, preferably a refereed journal article).
- ? Three letters of recommendation written within the last year. In the case of early career scholars (2012-2015), at least one of these letters should come from the PhD advisor.

Contact Information:

Marco Fernandez:

schoolofgov@itesm.mx or
AV Carlos Lazo No. 100
Col. Santa Fe
Delegacion Alvaro Obregon
Mexico D.F.
01389

Additional Information:

<http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1748

Temple University

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Criminal Justice, Education Policy, Health Care

The Department of Political Science at Temple University invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in public policy. We will consider candidates at any rank. We seek candidates pursuing a program of theoretically-informed empirical research on important public policy issues and processes who would be able to take an active role in our new Master of Public Policy Program. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focuses upon education policy, health policy, or criminal justice policy. Expertise in bureaucracy and public management, policy analysis, the intersection of law and public policy, program evaluation, and budgeting is especially valued. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as evidence of external grant/fellowship support. Temple University, an urban research university in the heart of Philadelphia, values those who are able to work with diverse students and colleagues. Candidates at the entry level are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by the beginning of their appointment. Please send a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a sample of written or published scholarly work; teaching portfolio (e.g., sample syllabi, student and/or peer evaluations); graduate school transcript; and three letters of reference to: Prof. Gary Mucciaroni, Search Committee Chair, Department of Political Science, Temple University, 408 Gladfelter Hall (025-22), 1115 Polett Walk, Philadelphia PA 19122-6089. We prefer electronic applications; please submit these to the Department Coordinator, Latasha Goodman lgoodman@temple.edu. Dossiers will be reviewed as they arrive, but to guarantee full consideration, applications must be received by October 3, 2016. Temple University is an Affirmative Action equal opportunity employer and particularly encourages applications from women and persons of color.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016

Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1734

Texas Tech University

Rank: Director, Master of Public Administration Program

The Master of Public Administration Program in the Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University seeks a candidate for the position of Director, Master of Public Administration Program with an appointment at the level of Associate/Full Professor. The Department would like the start date for this position to be January 1, 2017 but a start date of August 1, 2017 is also acceptable.

The successful candidate's field of specialization is open but the Department has needs in the areas of public management, human resource management, administrative leadership, ethics, and information technology. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. degree in an appropriate subfield of Public Administration and should possess substantial administrative experience managing a Master of Public Administration program, including advising, scheduling, and managing such things as admissions, degree plans, and recruitment. This position comes with a reduced teaching load. Finally, the successful candidate should have a substantial record of scholarly success including securing outside funds to support his/her research program. The salary for this position is competitive and includes a generous benefits package.

The Department of Political Science has 22 faculty members, offers the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees in addition to the MPA and is home to one of the four-campus USGS-funded South Central Climate Science Center (one of 6 in the continental U.S.) and the Earl Survey Research Laboratory and works closely with other research institutes on campus as the National Wind Institute and the Department of Public Health in the TTU Health Sciences Center. The MPA program at Texas Tech University is NASPAA accredited, and faculty in the Department receive substantial financial resources for research support and conference travel. Texas Tech University is Tier One Carnegie Research Institution, has over 35,000 students who select from undergraduate and graduate programs that include Medicine, Law, Engineering, Media and Communications, and Agricultural Sciences. Lubbock is a growing city of nearly 250,000 and is the commercial, medical, financial and cultural hub of the South Plains.

Review of Applications will begin on September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Applications should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's qualifications, a CV, and a list of contact information for five references. These items should be submitted at <http://www.texas-tech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 7932BR .

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and /or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1725

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Service

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Bureaucracy & Organizational Behavior, Political Economy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service at New York University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position with appointment to begin September 1, 2017. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise and a record of research in financial management, budgeting, accountability and performance, or the design of institutions. Successful candidates will contribute to our Master of Public Administration and new Master of Science in Public Policy programs and will have demonstrated excellence in research. A Ph.D. in public administration, political science, or a related field is required and must be conferred by August 31, 2017.

NYU Wagner is a multidisciplinary school that prepares public service leaders to translate ideas into actions that have an effective and lasting impact on the public good. The School's nearly 40 full-time faculty members are trained in a wide variety of disciplines and share a commitment to addressing issues of public importance in their teaching and research. Wagner faculty members collaborate with other schools and departments across the university, including the Stern School of Business; the Steinhardt School of Education; School of Law; Politics, Economics, and Sociology departments; and the College of Global Public Health.

Candidates should complete the application available via the link below and submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, two completed research papers, and three letters of reference.

<https://apply.interfolio.com/36182>

NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and is strongly committed to diversity within its community.

Applications received by October 30, 2016 will receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/30/2016

Date Posted: 8/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1708

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Public Law

The School of Human Resources & Labor Relations in the College of Social Science at Michigan State University seeks applicants for a full-time tenure system position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in labor and employment relations. This position is an academic-year (nine-month) appointment with a beginning date of August 16, 2017.

We are particularly interested in applicants with research and teaching interests in labor and employment relations broadly defined, labor economics, work and organizations and applied research methods. Instructional responsibilities include teaching in our signature Master of Human Resources & Labor Relations program, our doctoral program and at the undergraduate level.

We seek applicants with demonstrated records of research and scholarship excellence and demonstrated records (or strong potential for success) in obtaining external funding to support one's research agenda. Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in a relevant field such as employment relations & human resources, or related disciplines such as economics, sociology or political science prior to the beginning date.

Special instructions to applicants:

Applicants should complete an application and provide a cover letter outlining one's research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae and writing samples. To view the posting and apply for the position go to <https://jobs.msu.edu> and search on the "Faculty/Academic Staff" tab. Then go to posting #3744

The review of applications will begin September 1st, 2016 but applications will continue to be considered until this position is filled.

If you have questions about the process for applying online you should contact Annette Bacon at bacona@msu.edu, or by calling her at 517-355-1801. If you have other inquiries about the position (not related to the process of applying online), you may contact the Search Committee Chair, Dale Belman, at drdale@msu.edu. Applications and supporting materials must be submitted using the University's online application system, identified above.

The School of Human Resources & Labor Relations strongly encourages applications from women, persons of color, ethnic minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. To find out more about the School, visit our website: www.hrlr.msu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 1689

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Public Management

Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in Public Management (2 positions)

About University at Albany:

Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,300 students in eight schools and colleges across three campuses.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

The Department of Public Administration & Policy in the University at Albany's Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy invites applications for 2 full-time, tenure-track Public Management positions at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor beginning fall 2017. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. Faculty in Rockefeller College are expected to pursue an active research program, teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students, and engage in service activities.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality public management research and who employ a variety of methodological approaches. Candidates conducting research on collaboration, contracting, organizational behavior and theory, performance management, or strategic management are especially encouraged to apply.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

- Applicants must have a PhD from a college or university accredited by the US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization by September 1, 2017.
- Senior applicants must have a well-established research program
- Junior applicants must have a trajectory that suggests a tenurable research record is likely
- Applicants must be able to teach core public administration and management graduate and undergraduate courses.
- Applicants must be willing and able to mentor graduate and undergraduate students.
- Applicants must possess excellent communication skills, including the ability to communicate effectively orally and in writing.
- Applicants must address in their application their ability to work with culturally diverse populations.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Doctorate from a college or university accredited by the US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization in Public Administration, Public Management, Public Affairs, or an allied field such as Sociology and Psychology is preferred
- Experience obtaining grants is a plus.

Additional Information:

About Rockefeller College and the University at Albany:
Rockefeller College is home to a diverse group of scholars interested in teaching and research on issues of importance in the public and nonprofit sectors. Ranked 19th overall by US News and World Report, the Department of Public Administration and Policy offers an undergraduate major, a Master's in Public Administration (MPA), and a PhD in Public Administration and Policy. The Department is nationally ranked in information technology management, public management, public policy analysis, non-profit management, and public finance and budgeting. We actively seek and support demographic diversity in our faculty and student body. To learn more about the Department visit our website at <http://www.albany.edu/rockefeller/homepage/>.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=74071>

A review of applications will start on October 1, 2016 and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1694

University of Georgia

Rank: Margaret Hughes and Robert T. Golembiewski Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration

The University of Georgia's School of Public & International Affairs, Department of Public Administration and Policy invites applications for The Margaret Hughes and Robert T. Golembiewski Professorship in Public Administration. Appointment begins in August 2017. The position is an endowed professorship, held by a full professor with an outstanding record of scholarship, teaching, and professional activity in public administration, including any subfield of public administration.

A Ph.D. in public administration, political science, or other appropriate discipline is required. Teaching is primarily at the graduate level and includes courses in public administration and/or subtopics in public administration. Successful candidates will contribute to both our MPA and Ph.D. programs and demonstrate national and international leadership in research, combined with excellence in teaching and public service. Applications should include a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and contact information for three references.

Please apply using the FacultyJobs@UGA online system (<https://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/1001>). Include in your application (1) a cover letter (2) a curriculum vitae and (3) contact information for three references. If you have questions or would like more information, please contact Laura Bayne at 706-542-9660 or lbayne@uga.edu. Applications received by November 15, 2016 are guaranteed full consideration.

The University of Georgia is ranked 4th among Public Affairs programs by U.S. News & World Report. For more information, visit padp.uga.edu.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1614

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any area of public administration or public policy. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities include graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

PA & Policy Search Committee
 Department of Political Science and Public Administration
 Auburn University at Montgomery
 P.O. Box 244023
 Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 7/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1686

American University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Position Announcement: Assistant or Associate Professor
 Department of Public Administration and Policy
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

The Department of Public Administration and Policy in the School of Affairs at American University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning August 1, 2017. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion by August 2017 in the field of Public Policy, Sociology, Political Science, or a related field.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality scholarship related to community resiliency. Potential areas of interest could include environmental disasters, public health problems, infrastructure inadequacies, and social and economic vulnerabilities. We welcome applicants who study how these issues differently impact individuals by race/ethnicity, gender, and social class. The ideal candidate would collaborate with the Metropolitan Policy Center or the Center for Environmental Policy. Teaching responsibilities will include courses in the school's Master of Public Policy, Master of Public Administration, and doctoral degree programs. Associate candidates will need to have an established track record of research and teaching. In addition to producing quality scholarship and effective teaching, responsibilities will include participation in department, school, and university service and related activities.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Please submit applications via apply.interfolio.com/35638. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and copies of recently published articles or working papers. Applicants at the rank of Assistant Professor should include three reference letters and Associate faculty candidates should include a list of three references. Please email dpapsearch@american.edu, if you have any questions.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The Department of Public Administration & Policy offers six graduate degrees, an undergraduate minor, and several graduate certificates. Its programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa and about the Department of Public Administration & Policy at www.american.edu/dpap.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively “Protected Bases”) in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1648

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor.

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor. The School has a particular interest in applicants whose research and teaching expertise are in the areas of public management, especially as it intersects with quantitative analysis, public sector reform, or urban affairs, although exceptional others will be considered. The McCourt School was established in 2013 with a generous naming gift which allows for faculty expansion, a Massive Data Institute, and a new Institute of Politics and Public Service.

Electronic applications are required and candidates should submit applications here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7494>

The committee will begin considering applications on September 1 and will continue to do so until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1641

University of South Carolina, Aiken

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy at the University of South Carolina Aiken invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor teaching public administration/public policy beginning August 2017. The position requires the ability to teach upper level courses in public administration and public policy (these could include introductory public administration, public personnel administration, public financial management and public policy; other related courses could also be developed). The teaching of an introductory American Government course is expected. Candidate must demonstrate excellence in teaching and potential of research agenda. Research focus is open but should not duplicate existing faculty specializations. PhD in Political Science must be in hand by the time of appointment. Prior university teaching experience strongly preferred. Responsibilities include a 4/4 teaching load (a minimum of 2 preparations per semester), research and productive scholarship, and after the first year student advisement, as well as service to the department, university, and broader community.

Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. USCA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Under a three hour drive from Charlotte and Atlanta respectively, the University of South Carolina Aiken has consistently ranked among the top three public baccalaureate colleges in the South by U.S. News & World Report’s annual “America’s Best Colleges” guide. USCA is also a recipient of The Chronicle of Higher Education’s “Best Place to Work” designation, with top honors for collaborative governance and confidence in senior leadership, and has been designated a Military-Friendly School by Victory Media. Founded in 1961, USC Aiken has grown to serve more than 3,200 students on its beautiful 453-acre campus. USC Aiken is a comprehensive liberal arts institution with talented faculty committed to active learning through excellence in teaching, undergraduate research, scholarship, and civic engagement. A 15:1 student-faculty ratio allows for highly engaged pedagogies with USC Aiken selected as the college of choice by students from 29 states and 20 countries. According to the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE), USC Aiken seniors rank the campus as contributing to their knowledge, skills and personal development at rates significantly higher than other institutions that participate in the survey. Visit: www.usca.edu

Applicants must apply online at:

<https://uscjobs.sc.edu/applicants/jsp/shared/frameset/frameset.jsp?time=1468858963397>

Applicants must fully complete the online application form and upload a letter of interest and current curriculum vitae there. Applicants should send separately three letters of reference, a sample syllabus, a teaching statement, and a writing sample (e.g. article, paper, chapter length) to:

Mrs. Carol McKay
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
471 University Parkway
Aiken, SC 29801

The application deadline is September 30, 2016. Additional materials may be sought at a later date from applicants selected for telephone interviews.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1631

Old Dominion University

Rank: Chair of the School of Public Service

The School of Public Service in the Strome College of Business at Old Dominion University invites applicants to serve as Chair of the School and to serve as a full-time faculty member in Public Management at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. The School seeks an experienced, dynamic, entrepreneurial, and engaged leader who will leverage the potential of the School, its faculty, and its students into a leading program in the discipline. The position begins in July 2017. The School of Public Service houses a NASPAA-accredited MPA program, a doctoral program in public administration and policy, a graduate certificate in public administration and policy, a graduate certificate in public procurement & contract management, and an undergraduate minor in public service.

We welcome applicants with expertise from all areas of public management who will contribute directly to the mission of the School and who will help to boost the visibility of the School, both regionally and nationally. The successful candidate will provide leadership to further enhance the School's research and educational programs, will have a strong commitment to teaching and mentoring junior faculty and students, and will encourage excellence in research and teaching that make a contribution to the School's academic programs.

The applicant must have a clearly defined and well-established research agenda in an area of public management, and should have a well-established national reputation as a scholar. The successful candidate should also have the ability to teach public administration courses in our MPA and PhD programs; the ability to teach human resources is a plus. The School of Public Service is committed to multi-sector partnerships, which is the intersection and interaction of the public, government, nonprofit, and/or business sectors; candidates should have an interest in some aspect of multi-sector partnerships and/or multi-sector public service, such as privatization, contracting, citizen engagement, and social entrepreneurship. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of community engagement, and show a willingness to raise the visibility of the School of Public Service in the Hampton Roads region.

Candidates must have strong interpersonal and communication skills; possess an earned doctorate in public administration or related field; be able to provide evidence of successful teaching, research, and service sufficient to warrant appointment at the rank of tenured Associate Professor or Professor; and be familiar with NASPAA accreditation standards. Previous experience as a Chair, degree program director, or equivalent administrative experience in a higher education setting is highly desirable. The salary is competitive, and is commensurate with both rank and experience.

Old Dominion University is a state-supported, Carnegie Doctoral/Research-Extensive University with over 24,000 students. The University is located in Norfolk, Virginia, the hub of the Hampton Roads metropolitan area with a population of approximately 1.6 million. As a major recreation area known for its beaches, historical landmarks, and the Chesapeake Bay, the Hampton Roads Region also profits from its proximity to Washington, D.C., Williamsburg, and the Outer Banks of North Carolina. Federal, state, and local governments represent approximately a third of the region's total employment, and the region is home to a vibrant and growing nonprofit sector. Boasting the largest naval base in the world, Hampton Roads also accommodates major Army, Air Force, and Coast Guard commands.

Applicants should submit (1) a current Curriculum Vitae, (2) a letter of application indicating research, teaching, and service interests and accomplishments, administrative experience, and that explains how the applicant fits the position description, (3) evidence of teaching effectiveness such as student evaluations or reflective statement of teaching philosophy, (4) a statement of interest in serving as Chair, and (5) the contact information of three references to <https://jobs.odu.edu>. Review of applications will begin on September 19, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions on the position should be directed to Dr. John Lombard, at jlombard@odu.edu.

Old Dominion University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution. Minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Date Posted: 7/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1626

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning in Fall 2017. The position is open to candidates specializing in public policy, public administration, or a related field, with a particular focus on the politics of health policy. Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics, as well as a course in quantitative methods. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2017. To assure full consideration, completed applications must be received by October 20, 2016. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://rowanuniversity.hodesiq.com/jobs/assistant-professor-of-political-science-aft-glassboro-new-jersey-job-5301829>. Rowan will have representatives at the APSA annual meeting in Philadelphia. Please email Lawrence Markowitz to request a meeting at markowitzl@rowan.edu.

Submit a cover letter, a C.V., unofficial transcripts, and teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/20/2016

Date Posted: 7/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1625

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor (Public Policy)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno is soliciting applications for a tenure-track, full-time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in Public Policy to begin in the Fall semester of 2017. The focus is on a Policy generalist who can offer courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels covering policy theory, policy implementation, and ideally policy analysis. We are open to a variety of substantive policy areas candidates may be pursuing, but those with a link to environmental and/or energy policy are preferred. Research methodology is open, although candidates with statistical methods skills and the ability to teach an MPA course in Policy Analysis are strongly preferred. The selected applicant will be expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower division undergraduate, upper division undergraduate and graduate MA/MPA/PhD). Courses will include offerings in support of a traditional MPA curriculum. Applicants should demonstrate a strong potential for research publication and there is an expectation that the individual hired will have some ability to attract external funding.

Position is open until filled, but review of applications will begin October 7, 2016.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field in hand by August 15, 2017 for appointment as an Assistant Professor. A background check may be conducted on the candidate(s) selected for hire.

To apply online: <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/21273>

HR will attempt to verify academic credentials upon receipt of hiring documents. If the academic credentials cannot be verified, HR will notify the faculty member that an official transcript of their highest degree must be submitted within thirty days of the faculty member's first day of employment.

The University of Nevada, Reno is committed to Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action in recruitment of its students and employees and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, creed, national origin, veteran status, physical or mental disability, and sexual orientation. The University of Nevada, Reno employs only United States citizens and aliens lawfully authorized to work in the United States. Women, under-represented groups, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1591

Bridgewater State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall semester 2017 at the level of assistant professor. The successful applicant will be a broadly trained political scientist with a primary field of comparative politics. The candidate will be expected to develop courses in comparative public administration, comparative public policy and political economy. An ability to teach introduction to American government would be an asset. Earned Ph.D., commitment to teaching excellence, and evidence of scholarly activity in the field of political science, public administration, or public policy are required.

Applicants should be strongly committed to excellence in teaching and advising, and to working in a multicultural environment that fosters diversity. They should also have an ability to use technology effectively in teaching and learning, the ability to work collaboratively, evidence of scholarly activity, and a commitment to public higher education. Candidates with quantitative and/or qualitative methodological skills preferred. Interested applicants should apply online at the following url:

https://jobs.bridgew.edu/postings/search?&query=&query_v0_posted_at_date=&query_position_type_id=&435=&query_organizational_tier_3_id=any&1426=3&commit=Search

Review of applications will begin October 17.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1567

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Urban Politics, Economic Policy, Health Care

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in public policy to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any of the following areas of public policy: health policy, social policy, economic development, community development, sustainable development, intergovernmental relations, state and local government, and/or urban policy. Expertise in these areas is expected to be in the context of the United States. Candidates also must possess the capacity to contribute to departmental efforts to increase community outreach and engagement with government officials and practitioners in the greater Montgomery area. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities normally include undergraduate courses offered to political science majors and graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

Public Policy Search Committee
Department of Political Science and Public Administration
Auburn University at Montgomery
P.O. Box 244023
Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 6/16/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1549

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for part-time adjunct teaching positions. The Department may have need of adjuncts to teach a small number of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science and Public Administration. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names, addresses, email addresses and phone numbers of three references. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted. Applications must be received by July 15th.

Successful applicants will be required to submit to a background check as a condition of employment. BGSU is an AA/EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities regardless of age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 6/2/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1514

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor(s)
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for instructors for face-to-face classes on all campuses (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Dublin, and Eastman) for day, evening, and weekend classes to start Fall 2016 or later in the fields of history and political science. We have particular needs for instructors who are interested in teaching one or more of the following courses:

POLS 1101 American Government
POLS 2501 Domestic Issues
POLS 2601 Intro to Public Administration

The Macon campus is located just over one hour's drive southeast of Atlanta.

Minimum Qualifications: To qualify for a teaching position, candidates are required to have a minimum of a master's degree in political science or a master's in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in the discipline.

To Apply: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current CV or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of at least two professional references including email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy, preferably combined as an attachment in a single PDF file, to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, assistant department chair, at christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Informal inquiries welcome.

Middle Georgia State University is a Unit of the University System of Georgia, EEO/AA/M/F/V/D.

Start Date: Fall 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/5/2016
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 1170

University of San Diego

Rank: Professor of Practice, American Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a non-tenure track Professor of Practice in public administration and public policy. Candidates must have a Master's degree or PhD in political science, public administration, public policy, or a closely related field, teaching experience at the community college or university level, practical experience in local or state government, and the capacity to integrate theory with practice.

The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in American politics, urban politics, public policy, and/or state and local government. The teaching load is seven courses per academic year, which includes one internship class each semester. In addition, the candidate will supervise our continuously offered Washington, D.C. internship program and run a 1-unit weekend Sacramento seminar each spring semester.

As a Professor of Practice, the successful candidate must have extensive local, state, and/or national political, legal, and business connections, and will supervise the department's dynamic internship program, including the department's Washington DC internship and seminar program. Responsibilities will include developing new internship opportunities, to further enhance our students' professional development.

USD offers a competitive salary and benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference at their earliest convenience. The position will remain open until filled.

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and look for job IRC18893. Applicants must email all relevant materials— except for confidential letters of recommendation— to dickson@sandiego.edu and upload the same materials to the USD Human Resources site. References must submit confidential letters of recommendation separately to: dickson@sandiego.edu.

Please address all correspondence to Dr. Del Dickson, Chair, Search Committee for Professor of Practice, Department of Political Science and International Relations, 5998 Alcalá Park, San Diego, CA 92110

USD is a private, independent Catholic liberal arts institution dedicated to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. USD is an Equal Opportunity employer, and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from underrepresented and underserved groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1028

University of Southern Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs in Hattiesburg, Miss., is accepting applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of American politics (political institutions). Additional strength in public policy/public administration is also desirable. The successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to American Government and assist with the department's research methods sequences. Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. Candidates are expected to provide evidence of potential for excellence in teaching, research and service. The department serves both the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses and includes a strong undergraduate program, MA and MS in political science and a Ph.D. in international development. The successful candidate will develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and contribute broadly to our master's programs as well as conduct scholarly research and provide service to the department, college, university, profession and/or community.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. A full application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations (if available), graduate transcripts, a writing sample and at least three letters of reference. To apply, please see <http://jobs.usm.edu>

The position is contingent on funding.

The department is committed to improving its diversity in terms of race, ethnicity and gender. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities to apply.

For more information, please see the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs website at <http://usm.edu/polisci>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/3/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 949

PUBLIC LAW

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Garwood Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2017 to June 30, 2018. The Garwood Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University, and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants are required to submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. To apply for a Visiting Fellow position please go to requisition 1600685.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

The deadline for application materials is 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2016 for appointments beginning in September 2017. Awards will be announced in March 2017.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D., Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu / Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1846

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates for the year from September 1, 2017 to September 1, 2018 with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on good performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education in the future. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants should submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu> by December 1, 2016; however, applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2017. To apply for a Postdoctoral Research Associate position, please go to requisition #1600687.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D.
Executive Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu
Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1847

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics--Public Law

POSITION: Assistant Professor of American Politics—Public Law

EFFECTIVE DATE: August 21, 2017 (Fall Semester)

SALARY RANGE: Commensurate with qualifications and experience

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or in appropriate related discipline. Degree at time of application, or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2017. Specialization in Public Law, Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, or Law & Society. Teaching experience or evidence of strong potential for effective teaching. Demonstrated potential for successful research and publication. Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population.

DESIRED/PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: Specialization in one or more of the following: American law and courts, legal mobilization, rights advocacy and discourse, judicial process, or judicial behavior. Candidates with Juris Doctorate degrees in addition to the Ph.D. are encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates who are able to connect their specific areas of interest with broader questions within political science, such as the impact of economic, racial, ethnic, and gender inequality on democratic governance; the capacity of the American political system to deal effectively with economic and environmental challenges; or the relationship between American civil liberties and philosophies of social justice.

DUTIES: Teach courses in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels, which may include: Introduction to American Government; How Democratic is the U.S.?; Constitutional Law; Law and Social Change; Jurisprudence; Senior Seminar in Law, Politics, and Policy; Scope and Methods of Political Science; and Graduate Seminar in Public Law. Engage in research leading to conference participation and publication. Participate in service to the department, college, university and community. Advise students, serve as a member of Master's thesis and comprehensive exam committees.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION:

- A Student Success Statement about teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (approximately one page)
- Letter of application addressing the minimum and desired/preferred qualifications and duties
- CV (including current email address)
- Three current signed academic letters of recommendation
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree
- Finalists will also be required to submit a signed SC-1 form and an official transcript.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Applications and required documentation should be submitted through AcademicJobsOnline.com (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7652>; position #7652). Application materials will not be accepted via post or e-mail.

Requests for information should be addressed to:

Teresa Wright, Chair
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science
1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605

(562) 985-4705 or teresa.wright@csulb.edu

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Review of applications to begin October 10, 2016

Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled)

CSULB is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can learn, live, and work in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identification, sexual orientation, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, political affiliation, Vietnam era veteran status, or any other veteran's status. CSULB is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1921

University of the Incarnate Word

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations

Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations (tenure-track, 4-4 load) beginning August 2017.

The successful candidate will have the ability to teach upper division courses in American government, judicial politics and/or public law and a wide range of lower division courses within the field. A strong commitment to undergraduate education is essential.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in American Politics (ABDs considered) with a specialization in judicial politics or public law by July 2017.

The successful candidate will have at least one year of demonstrated university-level teaching experience in the discipline.

Official duties and responsibilities of faculty members at the University of the Incarnate Word include teaching, scholarship, service, and professional activities. In all matters, faculty are expected to maintain the highest standards of professional ethics consistent with the UIW mission.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1920

Winthrop University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, South Asia

WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences

Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

TITLE: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, Open Field

The Department of Political Science is seeking engaging teachers and active scholars to join our diverse scholarly community by applying for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position. The department welcomes applications in all subfields; however, we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: Comparative Politics (Middle East, Asia), Public Administration, Public Law, and/or American Institutions. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement to join our distinguished department. Considered one of the strongest departments in the University, the Winthrop Political Science department boasts award-winning faculty who are recognized for the quality of their teaching and research alike. The department is also home to a long-standing Model UN program, which just celebrated its 40th anniversary; the Social & Behavioral Research Laboratory, which is home to the renowned Winthrop Poll; and the John C. West Forum on Politics and Policy, a major civic engagement initiative at the University. The department also collaborates with the Master of Liberal Arts program to provide a graduate Concentration in Political and Civic Engagement.

Major Responsibilities:

- Teach a variety of courses in Political Science. Our areas of need include: Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, Politics of Asia, Public Administration, The Judiciary, Constitutional Law: Federalism, and Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Congress, The Presidency, Public Policy, Women and US Politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and/or expertise in Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, and/or Politics of Asia
- Teach both introductory and advanced courses in your areas of specialization, including graduate courses in our Political and Civic Engagement Concentration within the Master of Liberal Arts Program
- Teach a team-taught senior capstone course in Political Science
- Ability to teach research methods or experience in public opinion polling a plus
- Teach courses in Winthrop University's innovative General Education Program, including American Government, which fulfills the Constitution Requirement
- Participate in departmental, college, and university service, including student advising
- Undertake research in the discipline and promote undergraduate research
- Be an interested and energetic participant in an active department
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- The Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field is required for appointment at the assistant professor level. A successful candidate who is ABD at the time of employment will be appointed to a non-tenure track position as an instructor. The successful candidate will also be required to undergo a background check prior to hiring.
- Specialization in areas among those listed above.
- Evidence of excellence in the area of Student Intellectual Development, including teaching excellence and commitment to student learning.
- Evidence in the area of Scholarly Activity, including an ongoing program of research and publication.
- Evidence in the area of Professional Stewardship, including engagement with the discipline, profession, campus, and community
- Preference is given to candidates with experience teaching the courses listed above.

Employment Conditions: A 9-month full-time tenure-track appointment with option of summer employment if funds are available. Salary is dependent upon qualifications. Pending final budgetary approval.

Position Availability: August 16, 2017

Application Deadline: Friday, November 11, 2016. Application materials received after the deadline date may be considered if an acceptable candidate has not been found.

Application Procedures:

1. Applications should consist of:
 - letter of application, including a statement of "teaching philosophy,"
 - curriculum vitae,
 - sample of representative written work (article- or chapter- length),
 - evidence of excellence and commitment to student learning,
 - three professional letters of reference,
 - all graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are acceptable for initial review; official transcripts are required prior to final appointment).
2. If you are attending the Annual Meeting of The American Political Science Association (APSA) in Philadelphia from September 1-4, please email Department Chair Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney (disneyj@winthrop.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service.

3. Applications may be submitted electronically to the following address:

PLSCJobs@winthrop.edu
 Search Committee Chair
 Department of Political Science
 346 Bancroft Hall
 Winthrop University
 Rock Hill, SC 29733
 (803) 323-2209

Winthrop University is a public, comprehensive university located in Rock Hill, SC, 30 minutes south of Charlotte, NC, that is among the very best institutions of our kind in the nation. Through an educational experience that blends liberal arts, professional programs, global awareness, and civic engagement, Winthrop University helps students develop the knowledge, skills, and values that will enrich their lives forever and prepare them for all that the future holds. Winthrop University has 5,000 undergraduate students and 1,000 graduate students. We have a diverse student population, which is 69% women and 36% students of color, and we have a 14 to 1 student/faculty ratio. For more information, visit us at www.winthrop.edu.

Winthrop University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group of individuals on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 8/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1917

Miami University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law and/or Judicial Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

Political Science: Assistant Professor in the area of public law and/or judicial politics for an appointment as a tenure track Assistant Professor. The position will begin in the 2017-2018 academic year. Searching for a colleague with teaching and research expertise in American politics, constitutional law, civil rights and liberties, and an area of specialty, who will advise students as part of the college-wide pre-law program, and who will develop a record of excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching; conduct relevant research leading to a record of published scholarship; provide institutional and professional service; contribute to the undergraduate and MA program. The successful candidate will teach an introductory course in American politics and public law/judicial politics as well as other courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels in the area of expertise. Required: PhD by date of appointment in Political Science or a related field.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, samples of scholarly writing, statement of research plans, teaching philosophy, graduate transcript and evidence of teaching effectiveness to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=3214>.

For inquiries about posting, contact Dr. Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu.

Screening of applications will begin September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University is committed to equal opportunity, affirmative action, and eliminating discrimination and harassment. Miami University does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, military status, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or protected veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, programs or employment practices. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities related to employment should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or 513-529-3560.

Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1879

John Jay College - The City University of New York

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor (Law and Society)

The Law and Society major, administered by the Department of Political Science at John Jay College of The City University of New York, invites applications for two tenure-track or tenured positions beginning Fall 2017 in Law and Society. The hiring rank is open. The Ph.D. discipline is open, provided candidates are demonstrably part of the Law and Society scholarly community.

The successful candidates will be part of a new and rapidly growing Law and Society major, with over 500 students, at John Jay. In addition to having an active research agenda in law and society (preferably as a member of the Law and Society Association), the successful candidates will bring enthusiasm and commitment to teaching and curriculum development. Area of research focus is open, though candidates will be expected to develop an undergraduate course that diversifies existing areas of faculty expertise.

Applicants must demonstrate that they are qualified to teach undergraduate courses that introduce students to the interdisciplinary Law and Society approach. In particular, the successful candidates will teach the Senior Research Colloquium in addition to other needed courses in the program (Introduction to Law and Society, Research Methods in Law and Society) and courses developed in the applicant's area of specialty. The successful candidates will also advise students. Forty-seven percent of John Jay students are first generation college students, and the candidates must be eager to work with our diverse student body.

John Jay College of Criminal Justice, a senior college of The City University of New York (CUNY), is an internationally recognized leader in educating for justice, committed to the advancement of justice and just societies. It is a public liberal arts college that enriches the entire learning experience by highlighting themes of justice across the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. Located steps from Lincoln Center at the cultural heart of New York City, the College offers bachelors and masters degrees and participates in the doctoral programs of the Graduate School of the City University of New York. John Jay College is also recognized for serving a broadly diverse student population. Under the leadership of its fourth president, Jeremy Travis, John Jay College has experienced unprecedented faculty hiring, an expansion of its curricular offerings, and the opening in 2011 of a new 600,000 square foot building complete with a black-box theatre, state-of-the-art lab space for students and faculty, a moot courtroom, and a variety of virtual learning settings. As evidenced by so many on-going developments, the College offers its many new faculty and staff the opportunity to shape the future of their institution.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. degree in a law and society-related discipline, although outstanding ABDs will be considered. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, interest in productive scholarship, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution. Candidates holding only a J.D. will not be considered.

OTHER QUALIFICATIONS

The demonstrated ability to teach courses in the law and society tradition. Rank and salary will be based on qualifications and experience.

COMPENSATION

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

If you are viewing the job posting on any website other than CUNYfirst, please follow the instructions below:

- Go to www.cuny.edu and click on "Employment"
- Click "Search job listings."
- Search by job Opening ID number (15095)
- Click on "more options to search for CUNY jobs"
- Click on the "Apply Now" button and follow the instructions

Candidates should provide a letter of application, a CV/resume, a writing sample, and evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness as one document electronically through CUNYfirst following the instructions above. Three letters of recommendation should be mailed in hard copy directly to the Chair of the Political Science Department: Professor James Cauthen, Department of Political Science, John Jay College, 524 West 59th Street, New York, NY 10019.

For more information about the position, email Co-Chairs of the Search Committee, Professor Michael Yarbrough (myarbrough@jjay.cuny.edu) and Professor Jean Carmalt (jcarmalt@jjay.cuny.edu).

CLOSING DATE

Position is open until filled with the review of the applications beginning September 30, 2016.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/30/2016
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1848

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory/Law

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in Political Theory and/or Law at the rank of assistant professor. The position requires outstanding research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession. The position is open with respect to substantive research focus. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and, if available, evidence of excellence in teaching. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36690> To guarantee full consideration, all materials should be uploaded and available for review by September 7, 2016. Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/15/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1793

St. Edward's University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics (Public Law & Methodology)

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The School of Behavioral and Social Sciences invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Political Science to begin in August 2017. We seek a broadly-trained scholar with the ability to teach judicial politics, constitutional law, research methods and social science statistics. Preferred candidates must demonstrate a commitment to incorporating quantitative literacy skills into his or her courses. Applicants will also teach courses in the university's General Education program and in the candidate's areas of interest within American Politics.

In line with the St. Edward's University mission statement, the campus is actively engaged in the pursuit of social justice and candidates must demonstrate an appreciation and commitment to diversity. An inclusive faculty body is highly valued as we strive to create a diverse learning environment to prepare our students for success in a global and multicultural world.

The successful candidate will teach four courses per semester (with the opportunity to apply for course reduction to pursue research opportunities), advise undergraduate students, and participate in the wider life of the university and community. Scholarly activity is expected, especially to the degree that it may involve or inspire undergraduate students or have positive contributions to teaching and learning.

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science, be committed to teaching and demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research with undergraduate students. Applicants must be compatible with the educational goals of the School of Behavioral and Social Sciences and the Mission Statement of St. Edward's University which requires faculty to teach students the skills needed to be independent and productive and encourages individuals to confront the critical issues of society and to seek justice and peace.

St. Edward's University is an independent Catholic university founded by the Congregation of Holy Cross and chartered in 1885. It has a current enrollment of over 5,000 undergraduate and graduate students. The University has a long history of welcoming a variety of cultural backgrounds, which has led to a diverse community, and a designation as a leading Hispanic-serving institution. The campus is located on a hilltop overlooking downtown Austin, the capital city of Texas, with a metropolitan population of over one million residents.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until October 1, 2016. Applicants will apply at <https://stedwards.applicantpro.com/jobs/441930.html> and attach the following: A cover letter discussing your qualifications and how your record of teaching, service and research demonstrates your commitment to diversity, inclusion and your experiences or interest in global initiatives as emphasized in the mission of St. Edward's University. CV; teaching statement; research statement summary (1 page); transcripts (unofficial at this stage or a list of courses in which you enrolled in graduate school) sample teaching evaluations and a list of three references. Competitive entry-level salary for 9-month contract; additional opportunities for summer teaching and/or development may be available.

St. Edward's University is an equal opportunity employer and hires only U. S. citizens and documented workers. Applications from minorities and women are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1764

Morehouse College

Rank: Assistant Professor -- Public Law

The Department of Political Science at Morehouse College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. Candidates should be trained in the area of American national government, with a specialization in public law, and should be prepared to teach courses in constitutional law, race and law, and civil liberties.

Responsibilities include teaching courses (a 2-2 load), advising, and mentoring students; executing administrative duties related to the pre-law program; developing and maintaining a scholarly research and publication agenda; and service to the department and the College. We also encourage faculty to be active in soliciting external funding through grants and other sources. The start date for the position is August 2017, and possibly January 2017 if a suitable candidate is identified and appointed. Minimum qualifications include a PhD in political science; commitment to excellence in teaching; evidence of a productive research program; and service to the profession and community.

A successful application will consist of the following: a letter of application providing detail on how the candidate meets the qualifications for the position and why they are a good fit for Morehouse College in particular (no more than 2 pages); a current curriculum vitae (no more than 4 pages); a statement of teaching philosophy (no more than 2 pages); research/scholarship agenda (no more than 2 pages); three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates also have the option of sharing the following: sample syllabi (no more than 2 courses); samples of research (no more than 2 samples); teaching evaluations or summaries of evaluations (no more than 2 courses, but if submitted, only submit full class evaluations and not samples of class evaluations)

All application materials must be submitted online: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36489>

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until September 30th. We will be interviewing at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Service on Friday, September 2nd and Saturday, September 3rd. Applicants who wish to be considered for an APSA interview should send a cover letter and CV, by August 22nd, to the Search Committee Chair, Dr. Andrew Douglas (andrew.douglas@morehouse.edu).

Morehouse College is an equal opportunity employer. No employee or applicant will be discriminated against in any condition of employment because of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, veteran status or any other status protected by law.

About Morehouse

Morehouse College is a private historically black liberal arts college for men whose mission is to develop men with disciplined minds to lead lives of leadership and service by emphasizing the intellectual and character development of its students and by assuming a special responsibility for teaching the history and culture of black people. Since the founding of the College in 1867, the faculty, staff, and leadership have worked to inspire, nurture, challenge, support, and engage students with the expressed intent of fomenting a very special kind of development.

Morehouse has a very proud tradition of having developed leaders, with the most notable of course being Martin Luther King, Jr. (class of 1948). Each era has defined the qualities of a Morehouse Man—an expression of the expectations we have of our graduates—a bit differently, but there are some enduring constants. Backed by nearly 150 years of history, we see our work as helping to shape men of acuity, integrity and agency; men who will commit to brotherhood, standing together with their peers to cheer, challenge and support each other; and men who will strive to lead consequential lives, to not just do well for themselves, but to do good in the world.

Our strong legacy is continued now as we claim a number of successes. Morehouse is the number one baccalaureate origin institution for black male doctorate recipients in science and engineering, life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences, education, and humanities over the decade ending 2012 according to the National Science Foundation. We are the top producer of underrepresented minority physics baccalaureates among non-PhD granting institutions over the three years ending in 2013 as measured by the American Physical Society. And the College just this year became the only non-majority college or university to have produced four Rhodes Scholars. Our graduates include not only men like King and Julian Bond, but Spike Lee, David Satcher, Eddie Glaude, Jim Shelton, and many more operating in and out of academia in some way.

The College offers instructional programs in three divisions—business and economics, humanities and social sciences, and sciences and mathematics—as well as extracurricular and co-curricular activities that, combined with the academic program: foster the development of oral and written communication skills; foster appreciation of world cultures, artistic, creative expression and the nature of the physical universe; promote understanding of the specific skills needed to pursue professional careers and graduate study; and cultivate the personal attributes of self-confidence, tolerance, morality, ethical behavior, spirituality, humility, global perspective, and commitment to justice.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1757

Baylor University

Rank: Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Political Theory

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics, Political Thought: Historical

Baylor University is a private Christian university and a nationally ranked research institution, consistently listed with highest honors

among The Chronicle of Higher Education's "Great Colleges to Work For." Chartered in 1845 by the Republic of Texas through the efforts of Baptist pioneers, Baylor is the oldest continuously operating university in Texas. The university provides a vibrant campus community for over 15,000 students from all 50 states and more than 80 countries by blending interdisciplinary research with an international reputation for educational excellence and a faculty commitment to teaching and scholarship. Baylor is actively recruiting new faculty with a strong commitment to the classroom and an equally strong commitment to discovering new knowledge as we pursue our bold vision, Pro Futuris. (www.baylor.edu/profuturis/).

Baylor seeks to fill this open-rank faculty position within the College of Arts & Science. The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for a position in American Politics, with emphasis in American constitutional law and political thought, especially that of the Founding Era, beginning in the fall of 2017. Established research and teaching credentials in these fields are expected, and interests in constitutional principles and the modern political thought in which they emerged will be especially welcome. The search is open in rank. Applicants will be expected to contribute immediately to the flourishing BA, MA, and PhD programs in the department. Review of applications will begin as they are received, and to assure full consideration applications should arrive by October 1, 2016.

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science in the field of American Politics. Please submit a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, official transcripts showing highest degree conferred (ABD, also send official transcript of completed Ph.D. hours), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing samples, and a statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Send application materials to:

Professor David Nichols, Search Committee Chair
Baylor University
One Bear Place #97276
Waco, Texas 76798
254-710-3161
David_Nichols@baylor.edu

Materials may be submitted electronically to: Jenice_Langston@baylor.edu

To learn more about the above position, the College of Arts and Sciences, and Baylor University, please visit the appropriate URL: http://www.baylor.edu/artsandsciences/?_buref=1172-91940 or www.baylor.edu/hr/facultypositions.

Baylor University is a private not-for-profit university affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. As an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer, Baylor is committed to compliance with all applicable anti-discrimination laws, including those regarding age, race, color, sex, national origin, marital status, pregnancy status, military service, genetic information, and disability. As a religious educational institution, Baylor is lawfully permitted to consider an applicant's religion as a selection criterion. Baylor encourages women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 8/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1740

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Public Law

The School of Human Resources & Labor Relations in the College of Social Science at Michigan State University seeks applicants for a full-time tenure system position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in labor and employment relations. This position is an academic-year (nine-month) appointment with a beginning date of August 16, 2017.

We are particularly interested in applicants with research and teaching interests in labor and employment relations broadly defined, labor economics, work and organizations and applied research methods. Instructional responsibilities include teaching in our signature Master of Human Resources & Labor Relations program, our doctoral program and at the undergraduate level.

We seek applicants with demonstrated records of research and scholarship excellence and demonstrated records (or strong potential for success) in obtaining external funding to support one's research agenda. Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in a relevant field such as employment relations & human resources, or related disciplines such as economics, sociology or political science prior to the beginning date.

Special instructions to applicants:

Applicants should complete an application and provide a cover letter outlining one's research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae and writing samples. To view the posting and apply for the position go to <https://jobs.msu.edu> and search on the "Faculty/Academic Staff" tab. Then go to posting #3744

The review of applications will begin September 1st, 2016 but applications will continue to be considered until this position is filled.

If you have questions about the process for applying online you should contact Annette Bacon at bacona@msu.edu, or by calling her at 517-355-1801. If you have other inquiries about the position (not related to the process of applying online), you may contact the Search Committee Chair, Dale Belman, at drdale@msu.edu. Applications and supporting materials must be submitted using the University's online application system, identified above.

The School of Human Resources & Labor Relations strongly encourages applications from women, persons of color, ethnic minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. To find out more about the School, visit our website: www.hrlr.msu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 1689

CUNY, Hunter College

Rank: Tenure Track Position-Open Rank

The Hunter College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in either U.S. public law or American political behavior to begin in Fall 2017. The priority is to hire in public law but a second appointment in political behavior is possible. Appointments may be made at the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor. For public law, the department seeks a scholar with research and teaching interests in constitutional law, broadly understood. We also expect the successful candidate to share in the teaching of the department's historically-oriented introductory American government course. For political behavior, applications are welcomed from candidates focused on political participation broadly construed.

The department places a high value on both effective teaching and strong scholarship. Hunter College, located on Manhattan's Upper East Side, is a part of the City University of New York, and has a vibrant and exceptionally diverse student body. In addition to teaching undergraduates at Hunter, many department members are part of the CUNY Graduate Center faculty and participate in the doctoral program. A Ph.D. is required for appointment at a professorial rank; the department prefers completion of the degree by the start of the appointment. For appointment as associate professor, substantial publication and teaching experience are required; for appointment as full professor, evidence of an established professional reputation, a strong and sustained publication record, and substantial teaching experience are required. Salary is commensurate with rank and experience. Hunter College is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Please apply online by accessing the CUNY Portal on City University of New York job website <http://cuny.edu/employment.html> and navigating to Careers at CUNYfirst. Current users of the site should access their established accounts; new users should click on the appropriate link to register. Please send cover letter, CV, a writing sample, graduate school transcript, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Please arrange to have three confidential reference letters mailed to: Chair, Public Law Search, Department of Political Science, Hunter College, CUNY, 695 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10065. Please direct queries via e-mail to polsci.search@hunter.cuny.edu. To assure full consideration, candidates should submit all application materials by 9/16/16. The department will continue to review applications until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1665

Bryant University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Legal Studies

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

The Department of History and Social Sciences at Bryant University invites applicants for a tenure track Assistant Professor in the area of Legal Studies to begin in August, 2017. Candidates must apply by October 31, 2016.

The successful candidate must possess a JD with an advanced degree in law or a related discipline. We encourage the applications of candidates with expertise in the areas of law, ethics, human rights, and the interdisciplinary study of law. We expect that the candidate will have strong communication skills as a classroom instructor and as a presenter of research findings to others.

The successful candidate must be prepared to teach introductory courses in domestic and international business law and a range of advanced topics. The position requires a commitment to quality teaching, research, and university service.

Certain requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate persons with disabilities.

Throughout its more than 150 year history, Bryant University has earned a distinguished reputation for innovative academic programs and technology that are marketplace driven and highly attuned to the emerging needs of industry and society. Bryant's close-knit, student-centered community of scholars delivers challenging academic programs that integrate business and the arts and sciences, with an emphasis on real-world application and a global perspective. Abundant co-curricular opportunities, service learning programs, internships, and practicums allow students to put theory into practice while building character and leadership skills.

Bryant University is comprised of the College of Business and the College of Arts and Sciences. Bryant's academic programs are distinguished by an integration of business and the arts and sciences with a global perspective. Bryant is located on a 428 acre campus in Smithfield, RI, which is situated 15 minutes from Providence, RI, and 45 minutes from Boston, MA.

The Department of History and Social Sciences houses four disciplines: Legal Studies, History, Sociology, and Political Science. There is a Legal Studies minor and a Politics and Law Major.

Candidates must submit their application electronically at <https://employment.bryant.edu>. The application process will require the inclusion of a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, and evidence of quality teaching experience. The applicant should be prepared to include contact information for three references; listed references will be notified electronically to submit a letter of support to your application.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/31/2016

Date Posted: 7/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1637

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Political Theory)

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in political theory. Preference will be given to candidates able to offer courses outside of political theory, especially in judicial politics or comparative politics. The successful candidate will show evidence of teaching excellence and will have an active research agenda supported by published research or the strong promise of such publication. We prefer applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date.

Applicants should submit a letter of application detailing their teaching philosophy and research agenda, a curriculum vitae, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an official transcript, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Have three confidential letters of recommendation emailed directly from the reviewer to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu. Department representatives will attend the APSA meeting, where we will conduct screening interviews. Full review of applications begins on October 1 and will continue until the position is filled.

We are an undergraduate department of 15 full-time faculty members and approximately 350 majors. TCU is an independent, ecumenical, coeducational institution of 10,300 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth (pop. 830,000) is a city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex of 7 million people and is served by DFW International Airport.

As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 6/21/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1559

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DIRECTOR, AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) seeks a dynamic scholar and leader for the position of Director of African American Studies. Founded more than twenty years ago, African American Studies at UTEP offers a rich mix of programming linking students, faculty, staff and members of the community in the El Paso border region and beyond. This context provides exciting opportunities to explore the intersections of African American and Latina/o experiences and draw on UTEP's important civil rights history.

The Director of African American Studies is a member of the UTEP College of Liberal Arts Chairs' Council and has responsibility for leadership of the academic program and research activities associated with African American Studies. The Director generally teaches one course each semester and could also participate in UTEP PhD programs related to their scholarly and research interests. With staff assistance, the Director serves as an advisor for the UTEP Black Student Union and a mentor for many students enrolled in programs throughout the University. The Director works with the UTEP Black Alumni Network (UBAN) and with community partners to build support for African American Studies and address relevant social issues at UTEP and in the El Paso community. The Director and staff, working in collaboration with UTEP students, affiliated faculty, campus organizations and other University and community officials, sponsor a variety of events and activities throughout the year, including Black History Month programs, and initiate new avenues of engagement and outreach.

Required Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in African American Studies or a related academic disciplinary area, and possess a strong record of scholarship commensurate with an appointment as Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure in an appropriate UTEP academic department or program. Demonstrable experience in serving in an administrative role, engaging in community outreach, and initiating and expanding a new program is highly desirable.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP enrolls more than 23,000 students, close to 80% of whom are Latina/o and a majority of whom are the first in their families to attend a university. Ranked overall among the Top 10 universities in the nation by Washington Monthly and #1 for contributing to student social mobility, UTEP is dedicated to becoming the first national research university with a 21st century student demographic. The African American Studies program is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, which is the largest college at the University. In addition to playing a major role in the delivery of the University Core Curriculum to all UTEP students, the College of Liberal Arts serves approximately 7,000 students with majors in 13 departments and 10 programs, including Women's and Gender Studies, Religious Studies, Chicano Studies, Asian Studies and African American Studies.

Application procedures: To apply, applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, a recent publication related to the field, and names of three references with their complete contact information. Review of applications will begin April 11, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Application materials, in one PDF file, should be emailed to: Dr. Maryse Jayasuriya, Search Committee Chair, at mjayasuriya@utep.edu

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1377

PUBLIC POLICY

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Political Psychology, Education Policy

The University of Richmond is seeking a social scientist for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JSLS). Although ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. or Ed.D. in public administration, public policy, educational policy, political or social psychology, sociology, or a related field, by August 23, 2017.

JSLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars in anthropology, economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, social psychology and religion. We seek applicants who study, or have the potential and desire to study, leadership by drawing on their disciplinary expertise to inform their work. We are particularly interested in candidates whose demonstrated scholarly interests focus on the analysis of policy or processes related to justice and explaining social and economic inequality.

Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in an interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences and Theories and Models of Leadership. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests connect, or have the potential to connect, to leadership, broadly construed. (See <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information.) The JLS supports the University's commitment to promoting an inclusive campus community. For full consideration, applicants must specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the imperatives of diversity and inclusion.

The University of Richmond is a nationally ranked liberal arts university offering a unique combination of undergraduate and graduate degree programs in arts and sciences, business, leadership studies, law, and professional and continuing studies. The first school of leadership studies and a highly ranked business school enhance a strong liberal arts curriculum.

Inaugurated in 1992, the Jepson School of Leadership Studies is an independent academic unit of the University and offers students the opportunity to major or minor in Leadership Studies. With the aim of educating students for and about leadership, the Jepson School offers a challenging liberal arts curriculum delivered by means of a rigorous and innovative pedagogy. Candidates should submit a letter of application and curriculum vitae, and provide the names and emails of three references to <http://jobs.richmond.edu>. Review of applications will begin September 20, 2016; applications will be accepted until October 10, 2016. Preliminary phone and/or Skype interviews will likely be conducted; we anticipate inviting candidates to campus in November 2016.

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body and to supporting an inclusive campus community. In keeping with this commitment, our academic community strongly encourages applications from candidates who will contribute to these goals. The University of Richmond has a generous family leave policy, offers employment benefits to same sex domestic partners, and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, religion, national or ethnic origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, disability, status as a veteran or any classification protected by local, state or federal law.

The University of Richmond is an Equal Opportunity Employer by both policy and practice. Applicants are considered for all positions without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, marital or veteran status, or the presence of a non-job-related medical condition.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/10/2016
Date Posted: 9/1/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1569

College of William & Mary

Rank: Comparative and/or International Development
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor or Associate Professor level in comparative or international development. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to high-level scholarship, outstanding classroom teaching, and collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level and the master's level in the W&M Public Policy Program.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or related field at the time of appointment (August 10, 2017) and be prepared to teach courses in comparative or international development.

Preferred Qualifications: Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching research methods or comparative public policy, and mentoring successful undergraduate or master's level research projects is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including a statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a writing sample. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 30, 2016. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

The College of William & Mary values diversity and invites applications from underrepresented groups who will enrich the research, teaching and service missions of the university. The College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and encourages applications from women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities. The College conducts background checks on applicants for employment. Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/> and information on the W&M Public Policy Program is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/publicpolicy/>. William & Mary is located in Williamsburg, Virginia, convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/31/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1944

Duke University

Rank: Tenure-line appointment - Energy Policy

DUKE UNIVERSITY
 Energy Policy
 Tenure-line appointment in the Sanford School of Public Policy (Assistant Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure level)
 Joint appointment with the Duke University Energy Initiative

Duke University's Sanford School of Public Policy (sanford.duke.edu) seeks applicants for a tenure-line appointment at rank appropriate to seniority. The successful candidate will be expected to teach and conduct research relevant to energy policy, and help develop the University's Energy Initiative (energy.duke.edu).

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in economics, public policy, political science, or a related field. Applications received by November 25, 2016 will be guaranteed full consideration.

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of 69, and offers an undergraduate major, two masters programs, a PhD, and a joint PhD in environmental policy. The School houses several interdisciplinary research centers, including the Duke Center for International Development, and offers degree-related programs and opportunities in Washington, China, Scotland, India, London and Geneva. The Duke University Energy Initiative is a university-wide interdisciplinary collaboration that addresses pressing energy challenges related to the economy, the environment, and security. The Initiative cuts across business, science and engineering, environment, law, and policy to educate tomorrow's energy leaders, create new options through research, and improve energy decisions by engaging decision makers in business and government.

All candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, and recent writing sample to Professor Billy Pizer, Energy Policy Search Committee Chair, via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7756>. Candidates at the Assistant Professor level should include 3 letters of recommendation; candidates at the Associate Professor with Tenure level should include 3 references.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1942

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Open Rank (Tenured or Tenure-track)

Cybersecurity and National or International Security Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position (Open Rank) in cybersecurity and national or international security, global affairs, and governance to begin Fall 2017.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline by August 31, 2017. Applicants must have a track record of scholarship, publications, and/or research funding relating to cybersecurity. We are especially interested in candidates who link cybersecurity to broader social, political, economic, and policy questions in the contexts of national and/or international security. The position is part of a cross-disciplinary, campus-wide initiative in the area of cybersecurity. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to collaborate on research and grant applications with faculty in Computer Science, Engineering, and UTSA's highly regarded Cyber Security Program. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Political Science Department's proposed online graduate program in Global Affairs and/or traditional undergraduate or graduate classroom courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. The successful applicant will be expected to teach graduate and undergraduate courses on topics such as Politics and Cyber-Security, New Global Threats, and Global or National Security Policy. Scholars doing cross-disciplinary research in applied cyber security research are encouraged to apply but an applicant's primary field must be Political Science or a closely related discipline. Applicants must demonstrate potential for research publication and a strong potential to attract external funding, and have a strong theoretical grounding in national or international security.

All applicants must provide evidence of scholarly and professional publications commensurate with the rank for which the applicant is applying. All applicants should also provide, if possible, some representative evidence of high-quality teaching – ideally in courses that address cyber security in the context of national or international security, global affairs and governance. Applicants must also be willing to teach a range of courses in international relations or global affairs.

To be considered at the tenure-track Assistant Professor level, successful applicants must be able to articulate a research agenda and have an emerging record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a commitment to service.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor level, successful applicants must have an established research agenda, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their respective fields of specialization and have excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Applicants at the Full or Associate Professor levels should demonstrate an ability to acquire external funding. Preference will also be given to candidates who can teach courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science and international relations/global affairs, and/or in such areas as environmental governance, law and institutions, compliance, and/or transnationalism.

Responsibilities: Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students; pursue an active research and publishing agenda; and serve the University, profession, and community.

All information and materials associated with an application for this position must be sent electronically through <https://jobs.utsa.edu/>. In PDF format, applicants should submit the following items electronically:

1. Letter of application that states the rank for which the candidate is applying, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. Copy of all graduate transcripts;
4. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
5. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
6. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
7. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, it is the policy of The University of Texas at San Antonio to promote and ensure equal employment opportunity for all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or veteran status. The University is committed to the Affirmative Action Program in compliance with all government requirements to ensure nondiscrimination. The UTSA campus is accessible to persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1896

Australian National University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor in Australian Politics and Comparative Public Policy

The School of Politics and International Relations is seeking to make a new continuing academic appointment at levels B-D (Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, or Associate Professor). This position represents a significant future investment in order to build on existing strengths in the School.

We welcome applications from outstanding candidates in Australian politics and public policy. Sub-fields are open but an ability to teach courses on either: Australian Politics, public policy, gender, and methods are desirable. Candidates will be expected to teach introductory courses in political science or public policy.

Successful candidates will have outstanding records of demonstrated excellence in research, publications, and education. As well as teaching, the appointee will be expected to have an active research agenda, supervise honours and PhD students and work collegially with other members of the School.

The standard teaching load is three courses per year, plus work with honours and graduate students.

The School of Politics and International Relations is based in the nation's capital and ranked as the leading international relations department in the country as well as one of the top 10 in the world for political science and international relations.

These positions are based in Canberra.

ANU provides attractive benefits and excellent support to maintain a healthy work/life balance and offers generous remuneration benefits, including four weeks paid vacation per year, assistance with relocation expenses, 17% employer contribution to superannuation and eligibility to apply for 6-month research leave every three years. For more information on working at ANU please visit <http://hr.anu.edu.au/employment-at-anu>

Applications close 14 October 2016.

For more information about these positions including how to apply please go to www.anu.edu.au/jobs

Enquiries: Dr Andrew Banfield, E: Andrew.banfield@anu.edu.au, T 02 6125 2679

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $110,000 - $119,999

eJobs ID: 1938

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Positions in Values and Public Policy

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Economy, Economic Policy

The University Center for Human Values and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for postdoctoral positions in Values and Public Policy. We aim to support highly promising scholars trained in moral and political philosophy, political theory, normative economics and related areas to develop a research agenda in the ethical dimensions of public policy.

Candidates selected will undertake a research project exploring a normative problem arising in an area of public policy in which the Woodrow Wilson School conducts research. They will be affiliated with a unit of the School that can inform and support their work. They will also be invited to participate in programs of the University Center for Human Values. Candidates will be expected to contribute the equivalent of one course each year to the undergraduate or graduate programs of the School or the University Center. This contribution may be fulfilled by teaching a course on a topic related to ethical issues in public policy, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval by the Dean of the Faculty, or service to the School or Center.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a Ph.D. and must not have held the degree for more than three years by the date of appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment.

Applicants' dissertation research need not be specifically in values and public policy, but they will be expected to demonstrate a commitment to working on a research project in this area during their time at Princeton. Projects must be related to an area in which the School has a Center or Program (such as science and environmental policy, health and well-being, democratic institutions and processes, information technology policy or globalization and governance). For more information about these areas, please consult <http://www.princeton.edu/centers-programs>.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments, the promise of the proposed research project in values and public policy, and the likelihood that the project will be enhanced by being carried out at the Woodrow Wilson School. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be taken into account.

Term of Appointment

The term of appointment is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2017, with the expectation of renewal for one further year assuming good performance. Applicants are expected to be in residence for the duration of the appointment. Princeton offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

You may submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. Search for requisition number 1600730. The online system includes instructions on how to apply.

A complete application will include the following materials:

1. A current curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words), conforming to the expectations stated above. Please identify the Woodrow Wilson School center or program with which you wish to be associated and briefly describe what you hope to gain from carrying out the project there. Also please supply an indicative title for the project at the beginning of the proposal;
3. A scholarly paper or dissertation chapter (not to exceed 12,000 words) representing your scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who will be asked to comment specifically on your qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials should be submitted online by Monday, November 14, 2016. We cannot accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference are to be submitted by end of business day on Thursday, November 17, 2016. The selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately and applications lacking any of the elements listed above may be at a disadvantage. Decisions will be announced by Monday March 6, 2017.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/14/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1930

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Position

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, International Security

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Open Rank (Tenured or Tenure-track)

Global Energy and Environmental Politics

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position (Open Rank) in Global Energy and Environmental Politics to begin Fall 2017.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline. Methodological approaches are open, but the Department is especially interested in attracting outstanding scholars with research and teaching expertise in global energy politics, energy security, the U.S. global energy position, the intersection of energy and environmental issues, and especially the energy-climate change nexus. The position contributes to UTSA's commitment to advancing excellence in research and teaching about the global political implications of contemporary developments in energy and environmental systems. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to collaborate on research and grant applications with researchers working on energy and the environment throughout the university and at the UTSA Texas Sustainable Energy Research Institute. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Political Science Department's proposed online graduate program in Global Affairs and/or traditional undergraduate or graduate classroom courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. Applicants must be willing to develop and teach courses in global energy politics and related areas pertaining to international security, geopolitics, political economy, and environmental governance.

All applicants must provide evidence of scholarly and professional publications commensurate with the rank for which they are applying. All applicants should also provide, if possible, some representative evidence of high-quality teaching - ideally in courses that address energy and environmental issues in the context of global or international security.

To be considered at the tenure-track Assistant Professor level, successful applicants must be able to articulate a research agenda and have an emerging record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a commitment to service.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor level, successful applicants must have an established research agenda, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their fields of specialization, and have a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Applicants at the Full or Associate Professor levels should demonstrate an ability to acquire external funding. Preference will be given to candidates prepared to teach courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science and international relations, and with experience in online course development.

Responsibilities: Teach, advise, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students in the Political Science and Global Affairs degree programs; pursue an active research and publishing agenda; and serve the University, profession, and community.

All information and materials associated with an application for this position must be submitted electronically through <https://jobs.utsa.edu/>. In PDF format, applicants should submit the following items electronically:

1. Letter of application that states the rank for which the candidate is applying, research interests, teaching experience, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. Copy of all graduate transcripts;
4. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
5. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
6. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);

7. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the candidate's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, it is the policy of The University of Texas at San Antonio to promote and ensure equal employment opportunity for all individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or veteran status. The University is committed to the Affirmative Action Program in compliance with all government requirements to ensure nondiscrimination. The UTSA campus is accessible to persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/31/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1932

Northern Arizona University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Health Policy

We are seeking applicants whose Ph.D. as well as research activity is in health policy with expertise in the subfield of public policy and preferred expertise in one additional subfield (American politics, comparative politics, international relations or public administration). The successful candidate will be an active member of the Department of Politics and International Affairs, contributing to our research and teaching missions. The successful candidate will have an active research agenda, potential for or evidence of external funding, and potential for or evidence of collaborative research and contribute to our undergraduate programs in political science and international affairs and our master's and doctoral programs.

Primary job responsibilities include scholarly activity, teaching and student-related activities and service.

Minimum Qualifications

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field completed by August 1, 2017 and academic preparation and research interests in health policy. Candidates must show strong potential for or record of research through research statements, work in progress, publications, and/or external funding. Candidates must demonstrate an ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in the area of health policy and public policy through teaching statements, teaching evaluations, and letters of interest.

Preferred Qualifications

Preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate excellence in research and research potential in health policy (as evidenced in a research statement and/or through publications or external funding) as well as to candidates who demonstrate excellence in teaching (as evidenced through syllabi, a teaching statement, and teaching evaluations). Preference will be given to candidates with an ability to teach and research in a secondary subfield (American politics, comparative politics, international relations or public administration) and for candidates with expertise in quantitative methods. Preferred candidates will compliment departmental foci in environmental politics, diversity politics and/or development politics. Preferred candidates will also demonstrate an ability to work collaboratively across disciplinary boundaries. In addition, we encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate a willingness to work effectively within a diverse university community, who are willing to incorporate web-based delivery strategies in their teaching, and who show an interest in applying for and obtaining external funding.

General Information

The NAU Department of Politics and International Affairs is a research-oriented department that offers three undergraduate degree programs, two masters degree programs and a doctoral program. The department currently has 18 full-time faculty (both tenure track and non tenure track). The Department's foci are in environmental politics, global development, and diversity politics. All faculty members are expected to promote student learning and help students achieve academic outcomes. The university is committed to a diverse and civil working and learning environment.

Salary

Salary will be competitive, and commensurate with experience.

Application Deadline

This position will remain open until filled or closed. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016. Application instructions will follow this ad on September 1.

THE DEPARTMENT CHAIR WILL BE MEETING WITH INTERESTED APPLICANTS AT APSA

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1909

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Global Studies and Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Middle East, Developing Nations, Conflict Processes

The Department of Global Studies and Modern Languages at Drexel University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Middle Eastern politics, beginning September 1, 2017. Positions are subject to final budgetary approval. The Department will consider applications at the Assistant Professor rank. Global Studies is a new, interdisciplinary department at Drexel University, building on existing strength in International Area Studies. This position will include a joint appointment with Drexel's Department of Politics, and teaching may be cross-listed with that department. Founded in 1891, Drexel University is a dynamic, comprehensive, co-op university located within walking distance of Center City Philadelphia.

We seek candidates who specialize in Middle Eastern politics, either from a Comparative or IR perspective. A background in peace studies and/or conflict resolution is a plus, although not required. Successful candidates will also be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to contribute to the Department's undergraduate curricula. This will include teaching and mentoring our outstanding undergraduate students, all of whom have foreign language proficiency and a broad, global outlook. We have a growing Arabic-language program and offer study abroad programs and co-op opportunities in conflict resolution and civic engagement.

All requirements for the PhD must be completed by September 1, 2017.

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three samples of your scholarly writing; and 4) three letters of reference. Only applications submitted via Drexel's online system will be considered.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2016 and continue until filled. Questions should be addressed to: Prof. Joel E. Oestreich, <jeo25@drexel.edu>.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, welcomes individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, and believes that an inclusive and respectful environment enriches the University community and the educational and employment experience of its members. The University prohibits discrimination against individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, status as a veteran or special disabled veteran, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions and any other prohibited characteristic. Please visit our website to view all University Policies and Workplace Postings.

Background investigations are required for all new hires as a condition of employment, after the job offer is made. Employment will be contingent upon the University's acceptance of the results of the background investigation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1894

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Assistant Professor Transnational Feminism

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Women & Politics, Conflict Processes, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

Assistant Professor – Transnational Feminism

The Department of Political Science and the Women's and Gender Studies Program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln seek a tenure-track Assistant Professor with expertise in transnational feminism to begin August 2017. Applicants would hold a joint appointment with 0.40 FTE in Women's and Gender Studies and 0.60 FTE and tenure home in the Department of Political Science. Qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, a record of achievement in scholarship, research focus in feminism, conflict and human rights; human security; gender international relations; political behavior and gender; and gender and public policy, or related areas, ability to teach Sex and Gender Around the Globe in Women and Gender Studies program and have the ability to lead WGS research emphasis in Transnational Feminism. Responsibilities include maintaining an active program of research and contributing to the teaching and engagement missions of both units. The Women's and Gender Studies Program and the Department of Political Science have a strong commitment to principles of diversity and actively encourage applications from groups underrepresented in higher education. Review of applications will begin October 2, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. To be considered for the position, please go to <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition F_160174, and click on "Apply to this job." Candidates should attach a cover letter expressing interest in the position, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a list of up to five relevant publications, and contact information for three references. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is committed to a pluralistic campus community through affirmative action, equal opportunity, work-life balance, and dual careers. See <http://www.unl.edu/equity/notice-nondiscrimination>.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 10/2/2016

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1885

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Health Care, Lesbian & Gay Studies

The University of Virginia Arts & Sciences Women Gender & Sexuality Program invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position. We seek candidates dedicated to our mission and passionate about teaching in a world class institution.

Candidates are sought who teach and conduct research in the general area of LGBTQ Studies. Field of specialization within LGBTQ Studies is open, but candidates in any area of LGBTQ health, especially those who work from a global perspective and/or in relation to race and ethnicity are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates from other areas of the humanities and social sciences are also welcome.

In addition to developing external funding to support research endeavors, candidates will be expected to teach and provide service to the University, WGS Program, and professional organizations.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2017, with an anticipated start date of July 25, 2017. Applicants must be on track to receive a Ph.D. in the relevant field by June 2017 and must hold a Ph.D. at the time of appointment.

To apply candidates must submit a Candidate Profile through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>), search on posting number 0619405 and electronically attach the following: a cover letter of interest describing research agenda and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a sample article- or chapter-length scholarship (Attach to Writing Sample 1) and contact information for three references. In addition, please have reference letter writers email letters directly to wgsuva@virginia.edu

Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@UVa should be directed to: WGS Program, wgsuva@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment. The University of Virginia assists UVA faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more about these services, please see <http://provost.virginia.edu/dual-career>.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1888

Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM)

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Economy, Regulatory Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM) invites applicants for a position at the assistant professor level in the Political Science Department, commencing in August 2017. This is an open field position with preference for candidates in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political-Economy, Methods (formal and quantitative), and Political Theory (contemporary political theory along with Comparative Politics or Social Choice). Candidates should preferably have a focus on regulatory politics, or policy evaluation.

ITAM is an academic institution committed to scientific excellence and oriented to the international academic community. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to research and should possess a Ph.D. in political science, but ABDs will be considered if there is a reasonable expectation of completion by December 2016. Classes can be taught in Spanish or English. Salary and teaching loads are in accordance to U.S. standards. Candidates can interview at the 2016 APSA Meeting in Philadelphia.

Information about the Department can be found at: <http://departamentodecienciapolitica.itam.mx/es>

CONTACT: Prof. Vidal Romero, Political Science Department, ITAM, Rio Hondo # 1, Mexico City, D.F. 01800, Mexico; email: vromero@itam.mx.

Application Instructions: Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research papers, research statement (2 page limit), and three letters of reference in pdf format to marta.cebollada@itam.mx by November 1, 2016.

For more information, phone: +52(55)5628-4000, x.3788.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1866

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor, Goldman School of Public Policy

FACULTY OPENING AT NON-TENURED LEVEL

The Richard & Rhoda Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a tenure-track appointment to the faculty at the Assistant Professor rank. We seek applications from researchers and scholars who use data and behavioral science with an intent to solve pressing social problems, improve public policy, and improve government performance. The expected start date is July 1, 2017.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, please go to <http://apptrkr.com/864156>. The deadline to apply is October 17, 2016. For questions, please contact Assistant Dean of Administration & Operations Sandi Ketchpel, at sandi_k@berkeley.edu.

UC Berkeley is an AA/EEO employer.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1873

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in public policy to begin July 1, 2017.

Applicants should be new or recent PhD graduates with an outstanding record in a PhD program in political science, public policy or economics. The successful candidate will have a background broadly in the field of public policy. Examples include political scientists within the fields of American, comparative or international politics with focuses on: institutions; the politics of policy design; policy implementation. GPS has a special interest in candidates who can provide leadership in our public policy (MPP) program. Applicants must have a PhD conferred or to be completed by July 1, 2017.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including referee information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01172>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/23/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1869Virginia Commonwealth University*Rank: InstructorSubfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Position Summary and Qualifications

This position is a term faculty position in the areas of non-profit and civil society studies, public policy, nongovernmental organizations, and/or development. A regional concentration is preferred. The faculty member should have an established record of excellence in teaching. The faculty member will have demonstrated experience working and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

Position Responsibilities

1. Teaching. This position entails a 4/4 teaching load in support of the Nonprofit Organization and Management minor and the Public Policy and Administration concentration as well as the general Political Science curriculum.
2. Service. The faculty member will serve on departmental, College, and/or University committees as necessary, as well as in a professional capacity in their field, e.g., reviewer, conference organizer.

Required Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science or Public Policy, or a closely related discipline at time of employment.
- Demonstrated expertise in teaching at the undergraduate level.
- Demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

Pending approval from the dean.

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/23/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1878Princeton University*Rank: James Madison Program Visiting FellowSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public PolicySpecializations: United States, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2017 to June 30, 2018. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Among the research fellowships offered are the Ann and Herbert W. Vaughan Visiting Fellowship and the William E. Simon Visiting Fellowship in Religion and Public Life. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (10-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries.

How to apply:

For full consideration, applicants are required to submit an online application at <http://jobs.princeton.edu>. To apply for a Visiting Fellow position please go to requisition 1600686.

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

The deadline for application materials is 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2016 for appointments beginning in September 2017. Awards will be announced in March 2017.

Please address any inquiries to:

Bradford P. Wilson, Ph.D., Executive Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: bpwilson@princeton.edu / Web address: <http://web.princeton.edu/sites/jmadison/>Start Date: Fall 2016Application Deadline: 12/1/2016Date Posted: 8/18/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 1845

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy

Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, Defense

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multidisciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements: PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience: Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance: Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location: Santa Monica or Pittsburgh office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required: Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

RAND is an Equal Opportunity Employer Minorities/Females/Vets/Disabled

How to apply: www.rand.org/jobs/id4185

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1842

Syracuse University

Rank: American Politics

Syracuse University
American Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks two tenure-track Assistant Professors in American Politics. The search is open to candidates whose teaching and research focus on either political institutions or political behavior. We have particular interests in recruiting candidates who study race, American political development, and public policy. The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Campbell Public Affairs Institute or one of Maxwell's other interdisciplinary centers (<http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/>).

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field or a credible expectation of completing all requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2017.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 1, 2016. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled. We encourage dual career academic couples to apply as well.

Syracuse University is an EO/AA employer and particularly encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1844

University of Maryland, Baltimore County

Rank: Director, School of Public Policy

The School of Public Policy at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County (UMBC) invites applications for its Director. As the leader of the School, the successful candidate holds a Ph.D. that complements the School's areas of focus and faculty strengths (e.g., analytic methods, education policy, health policy, public management, urban policy) and demonstrates career achievements commensurate with appointment as a Full Professor. The candidate should have demonstrated leadership and administrative skills, a strong commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and teaching, an active research program including evidence of securing external research funding and mentoring graduate students, and a dedication to and demonstrated experience in fostering inclusive excellence. Moreover, the newly created School is seeking a dynamic candidate who can further advance its reputation as a thought leader in the field of public policy. The new Director will likely have the opportunity to increase the core faculty of the School in this pursuit.

The School of Public Policy houses an interdisciplinary graduate only program that enrolls approximately 135 doctoral and master's students. We are among the top public policy programs nationally in terms of faculty productivity as well as Ph.D. enrollment and Ph.D.

degrees granted in public policy. In addition to the School's core faculty, the School works closely with affiliate faculty in several departments and programs, including the departments of Africana Studies, Economics, Education, History, Political Science, Psychology and Sociology/Anthropology, as well as the intercampus Doctoral Program in Gerontology and the Language, Literacy and Culture doctoral program. The School includes the Maryland Institute for Policy Analysis and Research (MIPAR), which currently reports approximately $23 million in external funding. Faculty in the School are encouraged to develop close working relationships with MIPAR as well as other research centers on campus. Additional information regarding the School of Public Policy can be found at (<http://publicpolicy.umbc.edu/>).

UMBC, which is classified as a Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation, enrolls nearly 14,000 students, including approximately 2,600 graduate students. UMBC is one of the 12 campuses of the University System of Maryland. Located on 500 wooded, rolling acres just outside of Baltimore and about 45 minutes from Washington, DC, UMBC's location enables faculty to draw on the extensive opportunities for policy research and related activities in both cities, as well as at the state and federal levels. The area is also enriched with vast economic and cultural opportunities. BWI-Thurgood Marshall International Airport is five minutes away, as are MARC Rail, AMTRAK and light rail stations making travel to and from national and international destinations convenient.

UMBC is especially proud of the diversity of its student body, and we seek to attract an equally diverse applicant pool for this position. We particularly encourage applications from women, members of minority groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities.

We ask candidates to submit a letter of application, a current curriculum vita, and the names of three references. In their letter of application, we ask candidates to discuss their leadership vision, administrative experience, research program and its relevance to the School, teaching interests and their relevance to the School, and experience in promoting diversity, inclusion, and multicultural competence in an educational and work environment.

Candidates must submit all application materials via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/36245>). For questions about the use of Interfolio, please contact the School's Administrative Assistant, Ms. Pam Mollen (pmollen@umbc.edu). For questions about the position or the search process, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee, Nancy A. Miller (nanmille@umbc.edu). Review of applications will begin November 1, 2016, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1838

Duke University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professorship in American Military/Diplomatic History

Modern American Military/Diplomatic History: Duke University. The Sanford School of Public Policy invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor of public policy or associate professor of public policy with tenure. This search is to fill an Assistant or Associate Professorship in the field of American military history and policy or American diplomatic history and policy. While the preference is for candidates at the Assistant level, we will consider files of advanced junior professors close to tenure or recently tenured. The successful candidate's research interests will fall within the 20th/21st century period and at the intersection of history and public policy and will contribute to Duke's Program in American Grand Strategy (for more information on the AGS Program see here <http://sites.duke.edu/agsp/>)

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of 65, and offers an undergraduate major, two masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. More information on the Sanford School can be found at www.sanford.duke.edu

Candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, and three letters of reference to Peter Feaver, Chair, Modern American Military/Diplomatic History Search via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7642>. Applications received by October 15 will be guaranteed consideration.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1815

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Institute Professor of Constitutional Democracy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Institute (Assistant/Associate/Full) Professor of Constitutional Democracy to begin in the Fall Semester 2017. The position is open rank in Political Science and holds a joint appointment with the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy.

Started in 2014 and supported by a generous grant from the Kinder Foundation, a family philanthropic foundation established by Rich and Nancy Kinder, the Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center at the University of Missouri dedicated to promoting excellence in teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly construed.

The successful candidate will teach four classes per year, maintain an active research and publishing agenda, contribute to undergraduate and graduate education, and participate in the intellectual community and activities of the Kinder Institute.

Qualifications

Applicants must demonstrate a track record of excellence in teaching and publication in a subject area that advances the mission of the Kinder Institute. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose prior work bridges subfields in political science and reflects the potential to teach courses in the area of political institutions and/or political and constitutional development. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of the appointment.

Application Materials

Applicants should use the online application system available at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Apply for Job ID 20828. See here for a direct link to this job:

https://myhr.umsystem.edu/psp/tamext/COLUM/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&SiteId=9&JobOpeningId=20828&PostingSeq=1.

Applicants should include a statement of teaching philosophy, and an outline of a current research agenda in the "attachments" portion of the system. Applicants should merge their CV with a brief cover letter and upload the document in the Resume/CV section of the application. Candidates at the rank of assistant professor should also include three letters of recommendation. Candidates at the rank of associate or full professor should may provide the names and contact information for three references.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016.

Other Information

For more information about the Kinder Institute, including descriptions of all faculty, graduate and undergraduate programs, please visit democracy.missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility & ADA Education at 573-882-5835.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1813

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Associate Professor in Global Policy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Gender Politics & Policy, International Security

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The Humphrey School seeks to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

With this current search, the Humphrey School seeks to hire a tenure-track or tenured Associate Professor whose research, scholarship, academic leadership and service focus broadly on global policy. We will consider candidates now at the Associate Professor level, as well as candidates who are now at the advanced Assistant Professor level and may meet requirements for appointment as Associate Professor. If the candidate is hired without tenure, we would expect consideration of tenure within three years of the appointment. Although the tenure home and position will be at the Humphrey School, there will be possibilities to collaborate with relevant departments across the University of Minnesota.

The successful candidate must have strong, demonstrated applied research and teaching interests in the international policies of states and/or non-state actors, or the prospects for international coordination and cooperation in various spheres. We encourage applications from candidates who have focused on international security, transnational security threats, emerging security threats, human security, civil wars, internal conflicts, political violence, gender-based violence, gendered aspects of human security, and/or related issues. Candidates with country expertise and/or strong regional interests will also be considered. Candidates must be committed to scholarly and policy-relevant research at the highest levels; willing and able to teach in the School's core curriculum; provide leadership to its established public policy Master's and public affairs Ph.D. programs; be willing to help prepare students for professional careers; and function collaboratively in a multi-and inter-disciplinary environment.

A Ph.D. or equivalent foreign degree is required in political science, international relations, security studies, development studies, economics, public policy, sociology, anthropology, political economy, or related fields, if the candidate's focus has been on international policy and global affairs. The Humphrey School is especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated interest in public policy, broadly construed, whose approach to teaching and research is both innovative and inclusive in terms of race, gender, class and ethnicity.

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota ranks among the top ten professional schools of public affairs in the country. Situated in the vibrant, dynamic and diverse community of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, the Humphrey School's mission is to inspire, educate, and support innovative leaders to advance the common good in a diverse world. The School prepares students for leadership in public affairs in government and the non-profit and corporate sectors, and advances public affairs scholarship, service, and public engagement to address important policy issues and solve problems facing Minnesota, the nation, and the world. The School is nationally recognized for its role in examining public issues and shaping policy and planning at the local, state, national, and international levels, as well as for providing leadership and management expertise to public and nonprofit organizations.

The Humphrey School serves as a major center for public discussion and dialogue within the University and the broader community, hosting hundreds of public events each year, engaging in community-based research, and influencing policy-making at a number of levels. The School offers six master's degrees (Master of Development Practice; Master of Human Rights; Master of Public Affairs; Master of Public Policy; Master of Science in Science, Technology, and Environmental Policy; and Master of Urban and Regional Planning), as well as dual master's degrees with MBA, MSW, JD, MPH, MSCE, and MLA and graduate certificates in Early Childhood Policy, Election Administration, Nonprofit Management, Policy Issues on Work and Pay, and Public Affairs Leadership. The School also offers minors as well as early admissions opportunities for undergraduates (learn more on our website at www.hhh.umn.edu).

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs at the University of Minnesota is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The Humphrey School faculty consists of 31 tenure/tenure-track faculty, 13 graduate faculty and 20+ affiliate faculty members. In addition, there are 65+ staff employees who work in various administrative, research, and lecturing roles at the School. The Humphrey School of Public Affairs seeks to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

We would like to invite you to visit our employment site to complete your application. Applications must be submitted online. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position and attach additional documents.

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, the names and addresses of three references, a sample of recent research, and a cover letter with a brief account of research and teaching interests and experience.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Select the below link to access our site.
2. Sign In to access your account, or if you are not an existing user select the New User link to create one.
3. Review the job description and select the Apply button to begin your application.

https://www.myu.umn.edu/psp/psprd/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_EMP.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST&Action=U&FOCUS=Applicant&SiteId=1&JobOpeningId=312431&PostingSeq=1

If you are a current University of Minnesota employee, please use the following link instead:

https://www.myu.umn.edu/psp/psprd/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM_EMP.HRS_APP_SCHJOB.GBL?Page=HRS_APP_JBPST&Action=U&FOCUS=Employee&SiteId=1&JobOpeningId=312431&PostingSeq=1

Applications will be reviewed beginning October 15, 2016. The position will remain open until filled. Please submit applications online and address cover and reference letters to: Search Committee for Global Policy, Humphrey School of Public Affairs, c/o Human Resources, HHH152, 301-19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Salary will be commensurate with experience. Benefits include health, dental, faculty life/disability insurance, retirement, and social security. The starting date for this appointment is August 26, 2017 or as soon thereafter as possible.

To request an accommodation during the application process, please e-mail employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/16/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1810

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Other, Other

The University of California, San Diego invites applications from outstanding candidates for up to four separate searches (totaling up to eight positions) for TENURE TRACK or TENURED FACULTY POSITIONS in environmental justice, health care ethics, business ethics, and the social impact of technology, medicine, and science.

These positions are part of a bold multi-discipline, multi-year initiative in practical ethics that spans the entire University. In this initiative, traditional normative ethical concerns are embedded in cross-disciplinary research in the humanities, social sciences, physical sciences, biological sciences, geosciences, engineering, business, and medicine.

Each appointment will be made jointly between two divisions or schools in order to facilitate collaborations in new inter-disciplinary fields. These areas include the Divisions of Arts and Humanities, Biological Sciences, Physical Sciences, Social Sciences, the School of Global Policy and Strategy, the Jacobs School of Engineering, Scripps Institution of Oceanography (SIO), the Skaggs School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences, the Rady School of Management, and the School of Medicine.

Appointments generally will be at the Assistant or Associate Professorial level and in exceptional cases at the very early Professorial level. The University of California, San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body.

There are at present four separate areas within the overall initiative:

1. Social Impact of Science, Medicine, and Technology
2. Health Care Ethics
3. Environmental Justice
4. Business Ethics

Candidates may submit an application to one or more of these areas.

Candidates must have a PhD in a relevant field. Successful applicants will be expected to teach both graduate and undergraduate students in the participating departments and establish a vigorous program of high-quality research that focuses on innovative approaches in one of the targeted areas.

Successful practical ethics applicants will complement exceptional expertise in multiple areas at UC San Diego, including, but not limited to: environmental sciences and environmental studies, bioethics, U.S. and global policy, public policy, sociology, philosophy, cultural and literary studies, political science, social psychology, political psychology, history of science, engineering, biomedical sciences, healthcare, and business.

The preferred candidate will have demonstrated strong leadership and a commitment to support diversity, equity, and inclusion in an academic setting.

The level of appointment and salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on UC pay schedules.

Completed applications received by October 14, 2016 will be assured of consideration and the positions will remain open until filled.

Applications at the Assistant Professor level, please refer to the links below:

1. Social Impact of Science, Medicine, and Technology: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01132>
2. Health Care Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01136>
3. Environmental Justice: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01134>
4. Business Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01138>

Applications at the Associate or Full Professor level, please refer to the links below:

1. Social Impact of Science, Medicine, and Technology: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01133>
2. Health Care Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01137>
3. Environmental Justice: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01135>
4. Business Ethics: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01139>

Required materials are: (1) a cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) statement of research, including strategy for interdisciplinary research, (4) statement of teaching, (5) writing sample, (6) teaching evaluations (if available for Assistant Professor level), (7) names and emails of 3 potential recommenders for Associate Professor Level or 3 letters of recommendation for Assistant Professor Level, and (8) a separate statement describing past experience in activities that promote diversity and inclusion and/or plans to make future contributions. For further information about contributions to diversity statements, see: <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>.

For applicants with interest in spousal/partner employment, please see <http://academicaffairs.ucsd.edu/aps/partneropp/index.html> for the UC San Diego

Partner Opportunities Program.

Please direct inquiries to: practicaethics@ucsd.edu

The University of California San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action

Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1795

Hendrix College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Hendrix College invites applications for a tenure track position for an Assistant Professor of Politics to begin in August 2017. The College seeks to extend its tradition of excellence in teaching and scholarship by attracting faculty who combine mastery of their disciplines with broad intellectual interests and commitment to the aims of a liberal arts college. The successful applicant will teach the basic public policy course; one or two upper level, policy specific courses, and generally contribute to the department's American politics offerings. The successful applicant also will teach a section of Research Methods and participate in the Department's undergraduate research seminar, as well as the college's program in engaged learning. Training that would allow the development of a course in some aspect of political behavior is also a plus. Doctorate is expected by the start date; ABD will be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest in teaching in a demanding liberal arts environment, a curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate and undergraduate transcripts, as well as a statement of scholarly interest. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be requested sent via e-mail to facultyrecs@hendrix.edu. Address cover letter to Dr. Kimberly Maslin, Politics/IR Department Chair. Review of materials will begin October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Electronic submissions are strongly encouraged and can be submitted at <https://goo.gl/PcAgQE>. Hendrix is a distinguished liberal arts college located in Conway, Arkansas, thirty miles from Little Rock at the foothills of the Ozark Mountains. The College, affiliated with the United Methodist Church, has a strong commitment to excellence in teaching liberal arts. Hendrix College strives to maintain an environment free from discrimination and harassment, where employees treat each other with respect, dignity and courtesy. The College adheres to the principle of equal educational and employment opportunity without regard to age, race, color, religion, gender, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, or national origin.

The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: Shawn Goicoechea, Assistant Director of Human Resources & Title IX Coordinator 1600 Washington Ave, Conway, AR 72032 501-450-1415 goicoechea@hendrix.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1784

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor, Field Open

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor, field open, whose research and teaching expertise are focused on public policy and racial justice in American society. These issues include, but are not limited to, criminal justice; economic, social, and political inequality; health; education; and urban studies, among others.

The McCourt School was established in 2013 with a generous naming gift which allows for faculty expansion, a Massive Data Institute, and a new Institute of Politics and Public Service.

Electronic applications are required and candidates should submit applications here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7621> The committee will begin considering applications on September 1 and will continue to do so until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/11/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1770

Tecnologico de Monterrey

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Political Economy, Mexico, Public Finance & Budgeting

The School of Government has one vacant open rank research-professor position. We welcome candidates in public policy, economics, political science, public administration, sociology, law, education policy or other related fields in the social sciences.

Candidates are expected to strengthen the ability of the School of Government and Public Transformation to influence policy debates in areas such as data science for public services and governance, poverty and social policy, inequality, public finance and budgeting, federalism and local government, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy, and environmental policy in Mexico and globally. Other specializations are also welcome and will be considered by the Search Committee. The School of Government offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Candidates must have the ability to conduct high quality, original research and to publish in internationally-recognized peer-reviewed outlets. They should also be committed to teaching and mentoring Masters and PhD students.

Responsibilities include teaching in the graduate programs and undergraduate courses offered by the School of Government, and fulfillment of a research program as presented in the candidate's application. Teaching may be done exclusively in English, although a solid knowledge of Spanish is strongly encouraged. The teaching load is 4 courses per year, and specific agreements will depend on the candidate's rank and potential contribution to the School's mission.

Deadline:

Review will begin on September 19th and continue until the position is filled

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background, and proven interest in empirical research. We specifically search for candidates with a strong background in defining theoretical and applied research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. This is an open-rank search, whereby status as tenured, tenure-track, Assistant, Associate or Full Professor will be awarded on the basis of his/her publishing record, teaching experience, and academic status. We expect candidates to hold a Doctoral degree, and may or may not have a current appointment at another institution. Applications from ABD candidates will only be considered if they include a letter from the chair of the committee stating a date for the defense of the doctoral dissertation. The latter should occur at the latest before May 2017.

Compensation is competitive, and includes incentives and support for research activities. Tec de Monterrey will provide legal assistance in case the candidate is a foreign national, for working permit and visa for the candidate and his/her dependents.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the AcademicJobsOnline.org (see <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/5869>):

- ? Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- ? Teaching philosophy (no more than two pages).
- ? Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- ? Writing sample not exceeding 50 double spaced pages (the candidate should be the first author of the text, preferably a refereed journal article).
- ? Three letters of recommendation written within the last year. In the case of early career scholars (2012-2015), at least one of these letters should come from the PhD advisor.

Contact Information:

Marco Fernandez:

schoolofgov@itesm.mx or
AV Carlos Lazo No. 100
Col. Santa Fe
Delegacion Alvaro Obregon
Mexico D.F.
01389

Additional Information:

<http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1748

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Assistant Professor or Instructor, Public Health Policy

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position in public health policy, with a preference for candidates whose work focuses on global public health. Appointment, beginning in Fall 2017, will be at the rank of Assistant Professor or Instructor depending on qualifications. Responsibilities include teaching the introductory public policy course and an upper level seminar on health policy, and contributing to the College's general education curriculum, Connections, and to the Public Health program.

Teaching experience is preferred. The teaching load is 3/2. Candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, teaching and research statements, teaching evaluation forms and a sample of scholarly writing to apply.interfolio.com/36588. The review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Stephen Medvic (smedvic@fandm.edu).

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race or ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, or sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1741

Temple University

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Public Administration

Specializations: Criminal Justice, Education Policy, Health Care

The Department of Political Science at Temple University invites applications for a tenure-track or tenured position in public policy. We will consider candidates at any rank. We seek candidates pursuing a program of theoretically-informed empirical research on important public policy issues and processes who would be able to take an active role in our new Master of Public Policy Program. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focuses upon education policy, health policy, or criminal justice policy. Expertise in bureaucracy and public management, policy analysis, the intersection of law and public policy, program evaluation, and budgeting is especially valued. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as evidence of external grant/fellowship support. Temple University, an urban research university in the heart of Philadelphia, values those who are able to work with diverse students and colleagues. Candidates at the entry level are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by the beginning of their appointment. Please send a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a sample of written or published scholarly work; teaching portfolio (e.g., sample syllabi, student and/or peer evaluations); graduate school transcript; and three letters of reference to: Prof. Gary Mucciaroni, Search Committee Chair, Department of Political Science, Temple University, 408 Gladfelter Hall (025-22), 1115 Polett Walk, Philadelphia PA 19122-6089. We prefer electronic applications; please submit these to the Department Coordinator, Latasha Goodman lgoodman@temple.edu. Dossiers will be reviewed as they arrive, but to guarantee full consideration, applications must be received by October 3, 2016. Temple University is an Affirmative Action equal opportunity employer and particularly encourages applications from women and persons of color.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/3/2016

Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1734

Texas Woman's University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of History and Government at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2016. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics and a secondary field in public affairs/policy. A focus on women and politics is highly desirable. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses in Public Affairs/policy. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience

The History and Government Department offers a Bachelor and Masters in Government as well as the Bachelors in Criminal Justice (co-administered with the Department of Sociology and Social Work). The department has 5 full-time Government faculty members (plus 5 full-time History faculty) offering degrees to approximately 115 undergraduate Government majors and 20 Master's students.

Send a cover letter, graduate transcripts, CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample of scholarly work, and three letters of reference to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Tim Hoye, at THoye@twu.edu. Review of applications will begin on Nov. 1, 2016.

Texas Woman's University strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. Texas Woman's University is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, or against qualified disabled persons.

Individuals may qualify for a Veteran's Employment Preference or a Former Foster Youth Employment Preference at Texas Woman's University over other applicants for the same position who do not have a greater qualification. If you believe you may qualify, click here for more information and instructions on how to claim an employment preference: <http://www.twu.edu/recruitment-selection/6589.asp>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1731

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Tenure-Track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism

The Communication, Culture and Technology (CCT) Graduate Program at Georgetown University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship in Media and Journalism. Candidates' research areas should include, but are not limited to, critical studies in journalism and mass media; relationships between news media, politics, and public opinion; social and cultural representations in media, including social media; and changes in the production, distribution, and consumption of news content resulting from new technologies, such as data journalism. An international dimension will be an advantage. Candidates should be prepared to advise students on their academic program and to mentor thesis projects.

CCT is an interdisciplinary Master of Arts program that focuses on the ways that new technologies of communication and digital media are reshaping human experience on all levels from local to global, and how these technologies are redefining the practice of science, research, education, government, media, business, and culture and the arts. Faculty members are expected to contribute broadly to the interdisciplinary research and teaching of the program.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

For best consideration, send application letter of interest, c.v., and the names of three referees to cctjobs@georgetown.edu by October 31, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/31/2025

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1724

University of Arizona

Rank: Director, Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy

The Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy is a University-wide Research Institute/Center (<http://research.arizona.edu/research-centers-and-institutes>), reporting to the Office for Research & Discovery (ORD), that is the intellectual home for interdisciplinary, stakeholder-based policy research and outreach. As such, the Udall Center's charge is to advance cross-cutting inquiry and connect diverse policy research efforts and researchers, gain increasing external support for policy research, and deliver measurable public impact.

Currently, the Center focuses on policy research and outreach in three primary policy areas: environment, Native nations, and immigration. Given the strong record of success in these areas, and the University of Arizona's strategic plan to grow sponsored research, the next Director is expected to focus on further growing interdisciplinary policy research, expanding extramural funding of its activities, and connecting diverse policy researchers across campus in synergistic and thoughtful ways to increase the visibility of University of Arizona policy research to external entities. The Director should bring public policy expertise that complements and/or augments the Center's capacity and focus in order to coalesce and advance a wide range of interdisciplinary policy research, whether or not it is in the Center's current policy domain.

The Udall Center's work is motivated by the legacy of Arizona's Morris K. Udall and Stewart L. Udall, who as advocates and public servants worked on behalf of the environment, the Southwest and U.S.-Mexico border region, Indigenous peoples, and other issues including public health, public lands, and energy resources. To achieve its aims, the Center builds bridges across disciplines, viewpoints, and geography to link research with decision-making and to co-produce and distribute policy-relevant knowledge. It does so by identifying problems, methods of inquiry, and solutions together with partners, constituents, and other stakeholders within the UA, and with other universities, Native nations, governmental agencies, foundations, non-governmental organizations, corporations, and businesses. The Center employs between 35 and 40 staff, including faculty members (most of whom have joint appointments in other units), other professionals, and support personnel, plus about 10 graduate research assistants and several undergraduate students. The Center is supported from a diverse portfolio of funding – grants, contracts, private donations, and program revenue. A network of affiliated policy scholars and associates advise and contribute to the Center's endeavors.

Depending on candidate interest and experience, and fit with the unit's goals and expectations, a tenure-line academic appointment (and accompanying responsibilities) is negotiable in an appropriate academic unit. The Udall Center website can be found at <http://udallcenter.arizona.edu>.

The Director of the Udall Center is responsible for leading and participating in activities that foster interdisciplinary collaboration to address key policy issues, generating increasing external support to grow policy research and outreach that leads to substantive public benefit, and connecting policy research efforts in a considered manner that increases external visibility. The Director also oversees and manages all Udall Center operations including research and outreach programs and relationships both within and outside the university, among them a close relationship with the Morris K. Udall and Stewart L. Udall Foundation (a federal agency). The Director executes these responsibilities in a manner that coordinates and utilizes ORD resources and programs, as well as those of relevant UA colleges. The Director works with Center program directors/managers to determine priorities and supports their work to the highest standards. The Director regularly reports to the Senior Vice President for Research on Center activities, metrics, and outcomes relative to targets and goals.

The ideal candidate will be a researcher of substantial and widely recognized accomplishment relevant to the Center's mission, have significant administrative experience, and is expected to have a clear, strategic and compelling vision for how the Center can grow, expand its impact and increase extramural funding. Specifically, the new Director will be expected to: i) work with ORD services and staff as a part of the university research institute/center mission; (ii) complement the Udall legacy in the Center's approach and outcomes; (iii) oversee multiple, sometimes complex, streams of funding for projects and personnel, including flexible academic arrangements and opportunities; (iv) have a collaborative approach to leadership and management and skills in fostering common goals and teamwork; (v) work productively with a diverse staff, across multiple disciplines and topic areas, and with numerous external and internal organizations and constituencies in a thoughtful, even-handed manner.

Minimum Qualifications:

An earned doctorate in related field with scholarly credentials commensurate with appointment at the rank of Professor at the University of Arizona.

A demonstrated record of collaborative leadership that fosters common goals within a department/program and the broader university community.

Demonstrated success in identifying, cultivating and forming relationships to increase targeted activities and advance success in outcome metrics.

Record of productive collaboration with external organizations and constituencies, in particular with diverse/underserved constituencies.

Preferred Qualifications:

Previous administrative experience as a department head, chair, or other significant administrative responsibilities.

Apply online at <https://uacareers.com/postings/12310>. Applicant review begins on August 23, 2016.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Date Posted: 8/2/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1712

Georgetown University

Rank: Associate or Assistant Professor of Development

The Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service and the Global Human Development Program at Georgetown University invite applications for a position at the rank of either Associate Professor (tenure level) or Assistant Professor (tenure track) in fields related to development to begin in the Fall of 2017. Relevant doctoral disciplines include economics, political economy, political science, and/or public policy, though others may be considered, with strong expertise in sub-fields directly related to development. While we are especially interested in candidates with strong quantitative skills, candidates bringing other approaches to analysis and research are also welcome.

Applicants should have substantial applied research accomplishments, an ambitious research agenda on development, and a strong record of excellence in teaching. Experience working in developing countries is a plus.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a representative writing sample, and evidence of teaching record (e.g., course evaluations). Those applying for consideration at the assistant professor level should also submit three letters of recommendation.

All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7561> Faxed, emailed, or mailed applications will not be accepted.

Applications accepted immediately with review beginning on September 15, and continuing until the position is filled.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1706

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Public Law

The School of Human Resources & Labor Relations in the College of Social Science at Michigan State University seeks applicants for a full-time tenure system position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in labor and employment relations. This position is an academic-year (nine-month) appointment with a beginning date of August 16, 2017.

We are particularly interested in applicants with research and teaching interests in labor and employment relations broadly defined, labor economics, work and organizations and applied research methods. Instructional responsibilities include teaching in our signature Master of Human Resources & Labor Relations program, our doctoral program and at the undergraduate level.

We seek applicants with demonstrated records of research and scholarship excellence and demonstrated records (or strong potential for success) in obtaining external funding to support one's research agenda. Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in a relevant field such as employment relations & human resources, or related disciplines such as economics, sociology or political science prior to the beginning date.

Special instructions to applicants:

Applicants should complete an application and provide a cover letter outlining one's research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae and writing samples. To view the posting and apply for the position go to <https://jobs.msu.edu> and search on the "Faculty/Academic Staff" tab. Then go to posting #3744

The review of applications will begin September 1st, 2016 but applications will continue to be considered until this position is filled.

If you have questions about the process for applying online you should contact Annette Bacon at bacona@msu.edu, or by calling her at 517-355-1801. If you have other inquiries about the position (not related to the process of applying online), you may contact the Search Committee Chair, Dale Belman, at drdale@msu.edu. Applications and supporting materials must be submitted using the University's online application system, identified above.

The School of Human Resources & Labor Relations strongly encourages applications from women, persons of color, ethnic minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. To find out more about the School, visit our website: www.hrlr.msu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 1689

University of California, Davis

Rank: Assistant Professor of Urban and Metropolitan Development

The Community and Regional Development (CRD) program of the Department of Human Ecology at the University of California, Davis announces an opening for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level. We seek outstanding candidates with a promising research program in Urban and Metropolitan Development. Successful candidates will be able to demonstrate a strong social science research agenda, inter-disciplinary and multi-dimensional perspectives, substantial capacity for generating extramural funding to support their research program, and a record or promise of excellence in teaching and mentoring students. We welcome candidates from all the social sciences including sociology, rural sociology, geography, city and regional planning, political science, public policy, economics, and anthropology.

Candidates should have expertise in theoretically informed quantitative studies of the effects of social, economic, and political processes at multiple spatial levels on local urban and regional development; the influence of these factors on local policy-making, labor and housing market conditions, social inequality, international migration, political participation, and environmental sustainability. The successful candidate for this position will undertake research economic development and policy formation at the urban and rural-urban interface. The successful candidate should be able to conduct research across disciplines. An interest in or willingness to undertake research in California would be advisable as is experience with research which addresses the concerns of traditionally underrepresented groups. The candidate should show an interest in working with other Centers and Institutes on campus including but, not limited to the Center for Regional Change and the Institute for the Social Sciences. This Assistant Professor position includes an appointment in the Agricultural Experiment Station. Faculty members who hold an Agricultural Experiment Station appointment have a responsibility to conduct research and outreach relevant to the mission of the land grant university.

The teaching load in the Community and Regional Development Unit of the Department of Human Ecology is attractive and consists of two undergraduate quarter courses and one graduate quarter course per year. The Unit contributes to two graduate degree programs, Geography and Community Development and has primary responsibility for the Community and Regional Development (CRD) and contributes to the Sustainable Agriculture and Food Systems (SAF) undergraduate degree programs.

Interested candidates should submit all materials via the web-based online submission system at <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/> required materials include a research statement, a teaching statement, a C.V., three to five representative publications, the names and contact information of at least three referees who have agreed to write letters on your behalf, and a statement of contributions to diversity. To insure consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2016. The search will remain open until the position is filled. For more information please contact William Lacy, Search Committee Chair at wblacy@ucdavis.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1601

University of Georgia

Rank: Margaret Hughes and Robert T. Golembiewski Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration

The University of Georgia's School of Public & International Affairs, Department of Public Administration and Policy invites applications for The Margaret Hughes and Robert T. Golembiewski Professorship in Public Administration. Appointment begins in August 2017. The position is an endowed professorship, held by a full professor with an outstanding record of scholarship, teaching, and professional activity in public administration, including any subfield of public administration.

A Ph.D. in public administration, political science, or other appropriate discipline is required. Teaching is primarily at the graduate level and includes courses in public administration and/or subtopics in public administration. Successful candidates will contribute to both our MPA and Ph.D. programs and demonstrate national and international leadership in research, combined with excellence in teaching and public service. Applications should include a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and contact information for three references.

Please apply using the FacultyJobs@UGA online system (<https://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/1001>). Include in your application (1) a cover letter (2) a curriculum vitae and (3) contact information for three references. If you have questions or would like more information, please contact Laura Bayne at 706-542-9660 or lbayne@uga.edu. Applications received by November 15, 2016 are guaranteed full consideration.

The University of Georgia is ranked 4th among Public Affairs programs by U.S. News & World Report. For more information, visit padp.uga.edu.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1614

University of Tampa

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at The University of Tampa invites applicants for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science starting in the fall semester 2017. Candidates should have research and teaching expertise in public policy and be able to contribute to one of our concentrations in American Politics, Law and Government, or World Affairs. The ability to teach research methods is desirable. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected. Teaching duties include a 3-3 teaching load. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however an appointment on the tenure-track is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2017.

Review of applications will begin Oct. 1, 2016. For inquiries, please contact Dr. Mary Anderson, mranderson@ut.edu.

For more information about The University of Tampa, please visit our website at www.ut.edu. For information on the College of Social Sciences, Mathematics and Education, visit <http://www.ut.edu/socialsciencesmathematicsandeducation/> and <http://www.ut.edu/politicalscienceinternational/>.

For details and to apply online after August 15, go to: <https://jobs.ut.edu>.

Applications should include a detailed letter indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate transcripts, a short writing sample, a sample syllabus, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. In addition, name and email information for three professional references is required.

The University of Tampa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer dedicated to excellence through diversity and does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, sex, disability, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, marital status, gender identity, veteran status or any other non-job related criteria. The University encourages applications from underrepresented group members.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1691

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any area of public administration or public policy. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities include graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

PA & Policy Search Committee
Department of Political Science and Public Administration
Auburn University at Montgomery
P.O. Box 244023
Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1686

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Open Rank

The Department of Political Science seeks to fill an open rank position in Public Policy, with a preference for a tenured appointment. In addition to research and teaching, this position includes the responsibility of directing the Hesburgh Program in Public Service, a minor for undergraduate students interested in public policy and service. The program is named for the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, CSC, one of the University of Notre Dame's former presidents who combined visionary academic leadership with ethical and value-guided public service at the highest levels in our country, including as Chair of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission. This position is open in terms of sub-field, but the successful applicant will be, or has the potential to be, a leading scholar of public policy with a background in policy analysis and a superb teacher and mentor for both undergraduate and graduate students. In addition, we are looking for an intellectual leader who can help us reimagine curricular and extracurricular activities to train the next generation of public policy professionals and scholars of public policy.

The University of Notre Dame, a Catholic research university, is an equal opportunity employer with strong academic commitments to racial, cultural, and gender diversity. Individuals from historically underrepresented groups and those attracted to a university with a Catholic identity are particularly encouraged to apply. In 2015, 11% of all 8,500 undergraduates identified as Hispanic/Latino, Asian 6%, African American 4%, and two or more races 4%. Information about Notre Dame, including our mission statement, is available at www.nd.edu.

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and partners with their job search. The City of South Bend has just over 100,000 residents in a metropolitan area of 266,000. Latinos are 12% of the population of South Bend and African Americans are 26%.

All applicants should include a CV, letter of interest, writing samples, teaching evaluations and three letters of recommendation.

All files should be received by September 30 to receive full consideration. Apply here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/36444>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/30/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1684

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Position in Environmental Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Duke Kunshan University seeks applicants for a cluster hire effort for the newly established Environment Program. Duke Kunshan will grow a core faculty with expertise in environmental economics, policy, and science as part of its interdisciplinary research and education initiative. We are seeking to fill five faculty positions (rank open) to start as early as spring 2017 to staff the Environment Research Center and a new international Master's in Environmental Policy (iMEP) program. Researchers will help to establish a research hub for evidence-based environmental science and policy studies with a focus on big data and empirical methods. Although we will consider high quality applicants from all disciplines related to the environment, we are especially interested in hiring a mix of social and natural scientists. Desired expertise for the environmental social scientist includes, but is not limited to, environmental economics, survey methods, applied quantitative analysis, environmental negotiation, environmental policy analysis and public policy, and political science. For the positions in environmental science, preference will be given to environmental scientists interested in collaborating with social scientists and policymakers and who brings expertise in modeling and/or working with environmental data. Topics such as air and water pollution, energy, climate change, food, ecology and conservation are of great interest to Duke Kunshan.

Duke Kunshan University currently hosts an active Global Health Research Center and offers master's degrees in global health, medical physics, and management studies. Following approval by China's Ministry of Education, the iMEP will be offered in fall 2017 at Duke Kunshan as a Duke University degree issued jointly by Duke's Nicholas School of the Environment and Sanford School of Public Policy.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in an appropriate field. Postdoctoral research/training experience is highly desirable. Candidates must demonstrate an ability to conduct outstanding independent research. Candidates whose research is interdisciplinary centered on environment science and policy are strongly encouraged to apply.

We request from all applicants a curriculum vitae, a research statement and a teaching statement. Applicants should also provide names and contact information for three references. All these materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online. The application address is <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7105>.

The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the position may be sent to environment-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using "Environment Research" as the subject line.

Priority will be given to applications received by September 15, 2016 and applications will continue to be reviewed until the positions are filled.

Duke Kunshan University provides excellent compensation, benefits and start-up packages, which are comparable to those of U.S. institutions.

Duke Kunshan University is a partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China. The Duke Kunshan University campus is located 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, which is connected to Shanghai via a 19-minute high-speed train and a subway-light rail train system.

As an international intellectual community that encourages diversity, openness and creative learning, Duke Kunshan University welcomes outstanding faculty from around the world who contribute diverse perspectives and experiences to this global learning and research environment. Duke Kunshan University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1671

Nanyang Technological University

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Global Affairs

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Public Policy and Global Affairs Programme
School of Humanities and Social Sciences
Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Young and research-intensive, Nanyang Technological University (NTU Singapore is ranked 13th globally. It is also placed 1st amongst the world's best young universities.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is the largest school at NTU and offers undergraduate and graduate degree programmes in a full range of disciplines. Interdisciplinary learning and research is especially encouraged in HSS. Please visit the School website www.hss.ntu.edu.sg for more details.

Public Policy and Global Affairs (PPGA) in HSS offers a Minor in Public Administration, a Major in Public Policy and Global Affairs, MA and PhD programmes by research, and general electives.

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) is inviting applications for two tenure-track Assistant Professor positions.

Tenure-track Assistant Professor positions:

- (1) Comparative Politics and/or International Relations (1 position)
- (2) Public Policy and/or Public Administration in the Context of a Globalizing Asia (1 position)

Candidates should possess a PhD in a relevant discipline, and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in research as well as teaching at both the undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Emoluments

Salary will be competitive and will commensurate with qualifications and experience. The University offers a comprehensive fringe benefit package.

Application Procedure

To apply, please refer to the Guidelines for Submitting an Application for Faculty Appointment (<http://www.ntu.edu.sg/ohr/career/submit-an-application/Pages/Faculty-Positions.aspx>) and email your application package (consisting of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, personal particulars form, teaching and research statements, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available), three selected reprint/preprints of publications, and the names and email addresses of three potential referees) to:

Chair, Search Committee
c/o Public Policy and Global Affairs
School of Humanities and Social Sciences
Nanyang Technological University
14 Nanyang Drive, #03-86
Singapore 637332
email: ppgasearch@ntu.edu.sg

Applications sent by email should include "Assistant Professor (Comparative Politics and/or International Relations)" or "Assistant Professor (Public Policy and/or Public Administration)" in the subject line. Enquiries about the position can also be addressed to the above email address.

Closing date for application is 28 September 2016. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/28/2016

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1672

University of Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Daniel J. Evans School of Public Policy & Governance, at the University of Washington, invites applications for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in Fall 2017 (100% FTE, 9 month appointment, UW Job Class Code: 0113). Highest priority will be given to candidates whose work addresses institutional discrimination, race and economic inequality, equal opportunity, or the complexities of engaging marginalized communities in governance. Our School values diversity, rigor, and innovative approaches to public policy analysis and public management research and practice. We seek candidates from all disciplines that inform public policy and management, but are particularly interested in applicants with scholarship in one of the following areas: contemporary ethical issues; democratic theory and theories of justice; environmental policy; civil society and philanthropy; or urban and metropolitan issues.

Applicants should provide a formal letter of interest indicating teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, at least three letters of recommendation, samples of research work and teaching experience (with course evaluations if available), and a statement noting how their teaching, research and service have the potential to support the Evans School's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. PhD in relevant field, or foreign equivalent required. All University of Washington faculty engage in teaching, research, and service.

The University of Washington's Daniel J. Evans School of Public Policy & Governance is recognized as one of the best public affairs programs in the country. Named after three-term Washington governor Daniel J. Evans, the School is located in close proximity to a strong public sector environment, and has partnerships with the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and other organizations leading the way to drive change for the public good. The UW offers one of the most exceptional research and teaching environments in the United States. Seattle is a region of explosive growth, global trade, technological advancement, a thriving nonprofit community, and a long history of progressive government. It is also a cultural metropolis surrounded by the unparalleled natural beauty of the Pacific Northwest. Seattle offers a quality of life that is among the highest in the country, with beautiful lakes and parks, incredible walkability, bike lanes, and a lively music and cultural scene.

The University of Washington is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, age, protected veteran or disabled status, or genetic information. In accord with the University's expressed commitment to excellence and equity, contributions in scholarship and research, teaching, and service that address diversity and equal opportunity are among the professional and scholarly qualifications for appointment and promotion.

Applications should be submitted to Interfolio (apply.interfolio.com/35931); initial review will begin October 1, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled. Contact: Kimberly Hay, Assistant Director of Academic Services, kfs3903@uw.edu. Candidates who fail to satisfy minimum qualifications cannot be considered for this position.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1664

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICS
Assistant Professor, POLITICS OF PUBLIC POLICY

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the Politics of Public Policy. The Department seeks a scholar whose work focuses on the politics of public policy as it relates to issues of race, class, or gender; and/or the impact of policies on underrepresented, marginalized, and/or vulnerable groups. The area or areas of public policy are open, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work focuses on criminal justice, policing, incarceration, health, immigration, education, domestic violence, sexual assault, or human trafficking. Studies that engage the domestic, comparative, or global level are welcome, as are empirical, historical, or critical theoretical approaches.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate and Ph.D. programs in the Politics department and teach one course per year in the proposed MA Program in Social Science and Public Policy. The successful candidate must be able to work with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We are especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community, and we encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

RANK: Assistant Professor

SALARY: Commensurate with qualifications and experience; academic year (9-month) basis.

BASIC QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected to be conferred by June 30, 2017; Demonstrated record of research and teaching.

POSITION AVAILABLE: July 1, 2017, with academic year beginning September 2017. Degree must be conferred by June 30, 2018 for employment beyond that date.

TO APPLY: Applications are accepted via the UCSC Academic Recruit online system and must include: letter of application, curriculum vitae, up to 4 samples of written work, research statement, teaching statement, up to 3 sets of teaching evaluations (if available), and 3 confidential letters of reference*. Applicants are invited to submit a statement addressing their contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and/or service. All documents/materials must be submitted as PDF files.

Apply at <https://recruit.ucsc.edu/apply/JPF00368>
Refer to Position #JPF00368-17 in all correspondence.

*All letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. For any reference letter provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service, career center), direct the author to UCSC's confidentiality statement at <http://apo.ucsc.edu/confstm.htm>

CLOSING DATE: Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016.

To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete and letters of recommendation received by this date. The position will remain open until filled, but not later than 6/30/2018.

UC Santa Cruz faculty make significant contributions to the body of research that has earned the University of California the ranking as the foremost public higher education institution in the world. In the process, our faculty demonstrate that cutting-edge research, excellent teaching and outstanding service are mutually supportive.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, or protected veteran status. UC Santa Cruz is committed to excellence through diversity and strives to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students and employees. Inquiries regarding the University's equal employment opportunity policies may be directed to: Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at the University of California, Santa Cruz, CA 95064; (831) 459-2686.

Under Federal law, the University of California may employ only individuals who are legally able to work in the United States as established by providing documents as specified in the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Certain UCSC positions funded by federal contracts or sub-contracts require the selected candidate to pass an E-Verify check. More information is available here or from the Academic Personnel Office (APO) at (831) 459-4300.

UCSC is a smoke & tobacco-free campus.

If you need accommodation due to a disability, please contact the Academic Personnel Office at apo@ucsc.edu (831) 459-4300.

VISIT THE APO WEB SITE AT: <http://apo.ucsc.edu>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1659

American University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Position Announcement: Assistant or Associate Professor
Department of Public Administration and Policy
School of Public Affairs
American University

The Department of Public Administration and Policy in the School of Affairs at American University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning August 1, 2017. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion by August 2017 in the field of Public Policy, Sociology, Political Science, or a related field.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality scholarship related to community resiliency. Potential areas of interest could include environmental disasters, public health problems, infrastructure inadequacies, and social and economic vulnerabilities. We welcome applicants who study how these issues differently impact individuals by race/ethnicity, gender, and social class. The ideal candidate would collaborate with the Metropolitan Policy Center or the Center for Environmental Policy. Teaching responsibilities will include courses in the school's Master of Public Policy, Master of Public Administration, and doctoral degree programs. Associate candidates will need to have an established track record of research and teaching. In addition to producing quality scholarship and effective teaching, responsibilities will include participation in department, school, and university service and related activities.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 12, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Please submit applications via apply.interfolio.com/35638. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and copies of recently published articles or working papers. Applicants at the rank of Assistant Professor should include three reference letters and Associate faculty candidates should include a list of three references. Please email dpapsearch@american.edu, if you have any questions.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The Department of Public Administration & Policy offers six graduate degrees, an undergraduate minor, and several graduate certificates. Its programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa and about the Department of Public Administration & Policy at www.american.edu/dpap.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1648

University of South Carolina, Aiken

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of History, Political Science, and Philosophy at the University of South Carolina Aiken invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor teaching public administration/public policy beginning August 2017. The position requires the ability to teach upper level courses in public administration and public policy (these could include introductory public administration, public personnel administration, public financial management and public policy; other related courses could also be developed). The teaching of an introductory American Government course is expected. Candidate must demonstrate excellence in teaching and potential of research agenda. Research focus is open but should not duplicate existing faculty specializations. PhD in Political Science must be in hand by the time of appointment. Prior university teaching experience strongly preferred. Responsibilities include a 4/4 teaching load (a minimum of 2 preparations per semester), research and productive scholarship, and after the first year student advisement, as well as service to the department, university, and broader community.

Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. USCA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Under a three hour drive from Charlotte and Atlanta respectively, the University of South Carolina Aiken has consistently ranked among the top three public baccalaureate colleges in the South by U.S. News & World Report's annual "America's Best Colleges" guide. USCA is also a recipient of The Chronicle of Higher Education's "Best Place to Work" designation, with top honors for collaborative governance and confidence in senior leadership, and has been designated a Military-Friendly School by Victory Media. Founded in 1961, USC Aiken has grown to serve more than 3,200 students on its beautiful 453-acre campus. USC Aiken is a comprehensive liberal arts institution with talented faculty committed to active learning through excellence in teaching, undergraduate research, scholarship, and civic engagement. A 15:1 student-faculty ratio allows for highly engaged pedagogies with USC Aiken selected as the college of choice by students from 29 states and 20 countries. According to the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE), USC Aiken seniors rank the campus as contributing to their knowledge, skills and personal development at rates significantly higher than other institutions that participate in the survey. Visit: www.usca.edu

Applicants must apply online at:

<https://uscjobs.sc.edu/applicants/jsp/shared/frameset/frameset.jsp?time=1468858963397>

Applicants must fully complete the online application form and upload a letter of interest and current curriculum vitae there. Applicants should send separately three letters of reference, a sample syllabus, a teaching statement, and a writing sample (e.g. article, paper, chapter length) to:

Mrs. Carol McKay
College of Humanities and Social Sciences
471 University Parkway
Aiken, SC 29801

The application deadline is September 30, 2016. Additional materials may be sought at a later date from applicants selected for telephone interviews.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1631

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning in Fall 2017. The position is open to candidates specializing in public policy, public administration, or a related field, with a particular focus on the politics of health policy. Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics, as well as a course in quantitative methods. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2017. To assure full consideration, completed applications must be received by October 20, 2016. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://rowanuniversity.hodesiq.com/jobs/assistant-professor-of-political-science-aft-glassboro-new-jersey-job-5301829>. Rowan will have representatives at the APSA annual meeting in Philadelphia. Please email Lawrence Markowitz to request a meeting at markowitzl@rowan.edu.

Submit a cover letter, a C.V., unofficial transcripts, and teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/20/2016

Date Posted: 7/15/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1625

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of assistant professor with a specialization in American political institutions, to begin August 2017. The successful candidate will have a productive and rigorous research agenda, excel in the classroom, and seek ways to integrate their scholarship and teaching. Candidates should have an active research agenda focused on the U.S. Congress and be prepared to teach introduction to American government and upper-division courses on Congress and the Presidency. The Department is interested in candidates who can also add to our course offerings in one of the following areas: public policy, political parties and interest groups, race/ethnicity and politics, or gender and politics. The typical teaching load is three courses per semester, and all faculty can apply for a competitive course reduction of one course per academic year. A PhD is preferred, but the College will consider ABDs if the degree will be granted by time of appointment. Applications received by September 16, 2016, will receive full consideration.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a highly selective institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its nearly 6,000 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. The School of Humanities and Social Sciences enrolls over 2,000 majors in 14 academic programs. The Department of Political Science includes seven tenure-line faculty positions and supports over 160 political science majors and 100 international studies majors. For more information, visit www.tcnj.edu.

Please submit the following materials to ampolsearch@tcnj.edu as email attachments: 1) a cover letter describing qualifications and research and teaching interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) unofficial graduate transcript, 4) up to two scholarly writing samples, 5) relevant sample syllabi, 6) evidence of teaching effectiveness, and 7) contact information for three to five references. Applicants should also have at least three referees submit confidential letters of recommendation directly to ampolsearch@tcnj.edu.

Representatives of the department will conduct informational interviews with potential candidates at APSA in Philadelphia. Interested candidates should send an electronic copy of their CV to ampolsearch@tcnj.edu. Please contact Daniel Bowen (bowend@tcnj.edu) with any questions about the position.

The College of New Jersey is an Affirmative-Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/16/2016

Date Posted: 7/12/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1610

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The University of Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy invites applications from social scientists with a PhD in political science, government, public policy or other closely-related discipline for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor rank. Areas of specialization and methodological approaches are open, with a particular interest in candidates with expertise in American politics, world politics, comparative politics, racial/ethnic politics, bureaucratic politics, and public administration. Successful candidates must demonstrate outstanding research potential; ability and willingness to teach core and elective courses in undergraduate, master and PhD degree programs in public policy; and a keen interest in interacting with students, faculty, and policy practitioners in an interdisciplinary professional school environment. Candidates should combine relevant substantive expertise with strong interests in public policy.

Joint appointments or affiliations with other departments, schools, or colleges are possible. This is a university-year appointment and begins on September 1, 2017. First consideration will be given to applications received by October 1, 2016, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. The following application materials should be sent in PDF format to politicalscience@fordschool.umich.edu: a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing samples, statement of current and future research plans, statement of teaching philosophy and experience, teaching evaluations, and three letters of recommendation. The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer.

Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1589

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor (Public Policy)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno is soliciting applications for a tenure-track, full-time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in Public Policy to begin in the Fall semester of 2017. The focus is on a Policy generalist who can offer courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels covering policy theory, policy implementation, and ideally policy analysis. We are open to a variety of substantive policy areas candidates may be pursuing, but those with a link to environmental and/or energy policy are preferred. Research methodology is open, although candidates with statistical methods skills and the ability to teach an MPA course in Policy Analysis are strongly preferred. The selected applicant will be expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower division undergraduate, upper division undergraduate and graduate MA/MPA/PhD). Courses will include offerings in support of a traditional MPA curriculum. Applicants should demonstrate a strong potential for research publication and there is an expectation that the individual hired will have some ability to attract external funding.

Position is open until filled, but review of applications will begin October 7, 2016.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field in hand by August 15, 2017 for appointment as an Assistant Professor. A background check may be conducted on the candidate(s) selected for hire.

To apply online: <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/21273>

HR will attempt to verify academic credentials upon receipt of hiring documents. If the academic credentials cannot be verified, HR will notify the faculty member that an official transcript of their highest degree must be submitted within thirty days of the faculty member's first day of employment.

The University of Nevada, Reno is committed to Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action in recruitment of its students and employees and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, creed, national origin, veteran status, physical or mental disability, and sexual orientation. The University of Nevada, Reno employs only United States citizens and aliens lawfully authorized to work in the United States. Women, under-represented groups, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1591

Bethel University

Rank: Political Science Faculty (Three Year Appointment)

Bethel University College of Arts & Sciences in St. Paul, MN is seeking applications for a full-time, three year faculty appointment in the Department of Political Science, to begin Fall 2017.

Responsibilities: Teach seven courses or equivalent per year. Teaching assignments may include American Government and Politics, American Political Institutions, Modern Political Thought, American Political Ideologies, and American Public Policy, as well as participation in an interdisciplinary, team-taught General Education course. Other faculty responsibilities include promoting and coordinating pre-law advising, academic advising, faculty committee service, and departmental assignments as appropriate.

Qualifications: Ph.D. in Political Science; ABD will be considered. Teaching experience preferred, including demonstrated ability to teach courses in American Government and Politics, and Political Theory in particular. Candidates must be strongly committed to the educational mission and evangelical Christian orientation of the university. They must demonstrate the ability to contribute to Bethel's anti-racism efforts and cross-cultural understanding.

Salary and rank commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Apply online at www.bethel.edu/employment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1577

Bridgewater State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall semester 2017 at the level of assistant professor. The successful applicant will be a broadly trained political scientist with a primary field of comparative politics. The candidate will be expected to develop courses in comparative public administration, comparative public policy and political economy. An ability to teach introduction to American government would be an asset. Earned Ph.D., commitment to teaching excellence, and evidence of scholarly activity in the field of political science, public administration, or public policy are required.

Applicants should be strongly committed to excellence in teaching and advising, and to working in a multicultural environment that fosters diversity. They should also have an ability to use technology effectively in teaching and learning, the ability to work collaboratively, evidence of scholarly activity, and a commitment to public higher education. Candidates with quantitative and/or qualitative methodological skills preferred. Interested applicants should apply online at the following url:

https://jobs.bridgew.edu/postings/search?&query=&query_v0_posted_at_date=&query_position_type_id=&435=&query_organizational_tier_3_id=any&1426=3&commit=Search

Review of applications will begin October 17.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/28/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1567

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, American Government and Politics
Specializations: Urban Politics, Economic Policy, Health Care

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in public policy to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any of the following areas of public policy: health policy, social policy, economic development, community development, sustainable development, intergovernmental relations, state and local government, and/or urban policy. Expertise in these areas is expected to be in the context of the United States. Candidates also must possess the capacity to contribute to departmental efforts to increase community outreach and engagement with government officials and practitioners in the greater Montgomery area. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities normally include undergraduate courses offered to political science majors and graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

Public Policy Search Committee
 Department of Political Science and Public Administration
 Auburn University at Montgomery
 P.O. Box 244023
 Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 6/16/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1549

University of Zurich

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Position
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Postdoctoral Research Position at the University of Zurich

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich invites applications for a postdoctoral research position ("Oberassistentenz" in the research group of the chair of public policy held by Professor Fabrizio Gilardi (www.fabriziogilardi.org).

The Department offers excellent research support and is committed to advancing young scholars' careers. The postdoctoral researcher will be expected to pursue his or her own research agenda and produce scholarship with the potential for publication in top journals. Moreover, he or she will teach a year-long undergraduate research seminar on a topic relevant for public policy closely linked to his or her research agenda. Preference will be given to applicants with expertise in experimental methods or automated text analysis.

A minimum of two-year commitment is requested; renewal up to six years is contingent on research productivity, teaching quality, and continued substantive fit. Language of instruction is English or German. Ph.D. should be in hand by June 2017.

Please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, writing sample, brief proposal for a postdoctoral project (1-3 pages), teaching evaluations (if available), and two letters of recommendations to Professor Fabrizio Gilardi (gilardi@ipz.uzh.ch), who can also be contacted for informal inquiries.

- Start Date: January or February 2017
 - Application Deadline: September 11, 2016
 - Annual salary: CHF 60,000 (approx. USD 62,000 / EUR 55,000)

Start Date: Spring 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/13/2016
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 1530

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, Americanist/Public Policy

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a one-year visiting position beginning Fall 2016. Rank will be at Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor depending on qualifications. Responsibilities include teaching the introductory public policy course, an upper level course on U.S. Health Policy, and the introductory course in American government.

Teaching experience is preferred. The teaching load is 3/2. Candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, teaching and research statements, teaching evaluation forms and a sample of scholarly writing to apply.interfolio.com/35476. The review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to Prof. Stephen Medvic (smedvic@fandm.edu).

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

Franklin & Marshall College is committed to having an inclusive campus community where all members are treated with dignity and respect. As an Equal Opportunity Employer, the College does not discriminate in its hiring or employment practices on the basis of gender, sex, race or ethnicity, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, family or marital status, or sexual orientation, or any protected characteristic.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1512

Iowa State University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Iowa State University invites applications for a Full or Part-Time Lecturer position to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses within one or more of the political science subfields: Theory and Methods, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, or Public Policy Administration. The appointment duration may be one semester to three years depending on department need and it may be Full-Time or Part-Time.

Required Education and Experience: MA or MPA in Political Science or related discipline, or JD. Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities.

Preferred Education and Experience: ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline.

Evidence of scholarly and teaching activities

To apply for this position, please click on "Apply to this job" at <http://www.iastatejobs.com:80/postings/18263> and complete the Employment Application. Please be prepared to enter or attach the following:

- 1) Resume/Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of Application/Cover Letter
- 3) Contact Information for Three References
- 4) Statement of Teaching Interests/Experience
- 5) Statement of Teaching Evaluations- Optional- Please attach as "Other Document(s) 1"

If you have questions regarding this application process, please email employment@iastate.edu or call 515-294-4800 or Toll Free: 1-877-477-7485.

All offers of employment, oral and written, are contingent upon the university's verification of credentials and other information required by federal and state law, ISU policies/procedures, and may include the completion of a background check.

The Department of Political Science has 15 tenure track faculty and a vibrant MA program which serves approximately 32 students and an undergraduate major with approximately 260 majors. Please visit the following site for additional information about the Department at <http://www.pols.iastate.edu/>

Iowa State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, marital status, disability, or protected veteran status, and will not be discriminated against. Inquiries can be directed to the Director of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, (515) 294-7612.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1433

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Director of African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

DIRECTOR, AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) seeks a dynamic scholar and leader for the position of Director of African American Studies. Founded more than twenty years ago, African American Studies at UTEP offers a rich mix of programming linking students, faculty, staff and members of the community in the El Paso border region and beyond. This context provides exciting opportunities to explore the intersections of African American and Latina/o experiences and draw on UTEP's important civil rights history.

The Director of African American Studies is a member of the UTEP College of Liberal Arts Chairs' Council and has responsibility for leadership of the academic program and research activities associated with African American Studies. The Director generally teaches one course each semester and could also participate in UTEP PhD programs related to their scholarly and research interests. With staff assistance, the Director serves as an advisor for the UTEP Black Student Union and a mentor for many students enrolled in programs throughout the University. The Director works with the UTEP Black Alumni Network (UBAN) and with community partners to build support for African American Studies and address relevant social issues at UTEP and in the El Paso community. The Director and staff, working in collaboration with UTEP students, affiliated faculty, campus organizations and other University and community officials, sponsor a variety of events and activities throughout the year, including Black History Month programs, and initiate new avenues of engagement and outreach.

Required Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in African American Studies or a related academic disciplinary area, and possess a strong record of scholarship commensurate with an appointment as Professor or Associate Professor with Tenure in an appropriate UTEP academic department or program. Demonstrable experience in serving in an administrative role, engaging in community outreach, and initiating and expanding a new program is highly desirable.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP enrolls more than 23,000 students, close to 80% of whom are Latina/o and a majority of whom are the first in their families to attend a university. Ranked overall among the Top 10 universities in the nation by Washington Monthly and #1 for contributing to student social mobility, UTEP is dedicated to becoming the first national research university with a 21st century student demographic. The African American Studies program is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, which is the largest college at the University. In addition to playing a major role in the delivery of the University Core Curriculum to all UTEP students, the College of Liberal Arts serves approximately 7,000 students with majors in 13 departments and 10 programs, including Women's and Gender Studies, Religious Studies, Chicano Studies, Asian Studies and African American Studies.

Application procedures: To apply, applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vita, a recent publication related to the field, and names of three references with their complete contact information. Review of applications will begin April 11, 2016, and continue until the position is filled. Application materials, in one PDF file, should be emailed to: Dr. Maryse Jayasuriya, Search Committee Chair, at mjayasuriya@utep.edu

The University of Texas at El Paso is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity in employment or the provision of services.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1377

Tarleton State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science American Politics

The Department of Social Sciences at Tarleton State University is accepting applications for a full-time (9 month) tenure track assistant professor in the field of American Politics with a general specialization in Public Policy and a specific specialization in Environmental Policy beginning September 2016. This position has a normal teaching load of 12 credit hours per semester. The selected applicant will teach general education survey courses in Federal Government and State/Local Government, upper level courses in the area of specialization, and based on departmental needs, will have the opportunity to teach the senior level capstone course in Political Science. The applicant will be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to serve the department and the university as required (see the Tarleton State University Handbook for Faculty and Administrative Staff available at www.tarleton.edu).

Minimum Qualifications:

Ph.D. (ABD status may be considered as long as all degree requirements, including dissertation, defense of dissertation, and comprehensive examinations, have been successfully completed by the time of appointment); Must have specialization in Public Policy – Environmental Policy.

Salary is competitive, within the assistant professor range, concomitant with experience. More information about our department can be found at: <http://www.tarleton.edu/COLFAWEB/socialsciences/index.html>.

Males, age 18 through 25, must be properly registered with the Selective Service System to be eligible for hire. This position is designated as a security sensitive position and requires a satisfactory criminal history background check.

Tarleton State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer. As a member of The Texas A&M System, Tarleton will provide equal opportunity for employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity and will strive to achieve full and equal employment opportunity through The Texas A&M System.

Special Instructions:

Please apply online at <https://jobs.tarleton.edu>. A cover letter, c.v., transcripts (official or unofficial), three letters of recommendation, and a statement of teaching philosophy should accompany your application. If you are not able to attach the documents when applying, please mail the requested documents to:

Tarleton State University
Dr. Eric Morrow
Department of Social Sciences
Box T-0660
Stephenville, TX 76402

If mailing, please make sure you reference the Posting Number #0801397 and title of this position.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1367

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor(s)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for instructors for face-to-face classes on all campuses (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Dublin, and Eastman) for day, evening, and weekend classes to start Fall 2016 or later in the fields of history and political science. We have particular needs for instructors who are interested in teaching one or more of the following courses:

POLS 1101 American Government
POLS 2501 Domestic Issues
POLS 2601 Intro to Public Administration

The Macon campus is located just over one hour's drive southeast of Atlanta.

Minimum Qualifications: To qualify for a teaching position, candidates are required to have a minimum of a master's degree in political science or a master's in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in the discipline.

To Apply: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current CV or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of at least two professional references including email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy, preferably combined as an attachment in a single PDF file, to Dr. Christopher N. Lawrence, assistant department chair, at christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Informal inquiries welcome.

Middle Georgia State University is a Unit of the University System of Georgia, EEO/AA/M/F/V/D.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/5/2016

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 1170

University of San Diego

Rank: Professor of Practice, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a non-tenure track Professor of Practice in public administration and public policy. Candidates must have a Master's degree or PhD in political science, public administration, public policy, or a closely related field, teaching experience at the community college or university level, practical experience in local or state government, and the capacity to integrate theory with practice.

The successful candidate must be qualified to teach courses in American politics, urban politics, public policy, and/or state and local government. The teaching load is seven courses per academic year, which includes one internship class each semester. In addition, the candidate will supervise our continuously offered Washington, D.C. internship program and run a 1-unit weekend Sacramento seminar each spring semester.

As a Professor of Practice, the successful candidate must have extensive local, state, and/or national political, legal, and business connections, and will supervise the department's dynamic internship program, including the department's Washington DC internship and seminar program. Responsibilities will include developing new internship opportunities, to further enhance our students' professional development.

USD offers a competitive salary and benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference at their earliest convenience. The position will remain open until filled.

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and look for job IRC18893. Applicants must email all relevant materials— except for confidential letters of recommendation— to dickson@sandiego.edu and upload the same materials to the USD Human Resources site. References must submit confidential letters of recommendation separately to: dickson@sandiego.edu.

Please address all correspondence to Dr. Del Dickson, Chair, Search Committee for Professor of Practice, Department of Political Science and International Relations, 5998 Alcalá Park, San Diego, CA 92110

USD is a private, independent Catholic liberal arts institution dedicated to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. USD is an Equal Opportunity employer, and is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community. Candidates from underrepresented and underserved groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2015

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1028

University of Southern Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs in Hattiesburg, Miss., is accepting applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of American politics (political institutions). Additional strength in public policy/public administration is also desirable. The successful candidate will be able to teach Introduction to American Government and assist with the department's research methods sequences. Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. Candidates are expected to provide evidence of potential for excellence in teaching, research and service. The department serves both the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses and includes a strong undergraduate program, MA and MS in political science and a Ph.D. in international development. The successful candidate will develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and contribute broadly to our master's programs as well as conduct scholarly research and provide service to the department, college, university, profession and/or community.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. A full application will include a letter of interest, curriculum vita, teaching evaluations (if available), graduate transcripts, a writing sample and at least three letters of reference. To apply, please see <http://jobs.usm.edu>

The position is contingent on funding.

The department is committed to improving its diversity in terms of race, ethnicity and gender. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply.

As an Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity employer/Americans with Disabilities Act institution, The University of Southern Mississippi encourages minorities, women, veterans and persons with disabilities to apply.

For more information, please see the University of Southern Mississippi Department of Political Science, International Development and International Affairs website at <http://usm.edu/polisci>

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/3/2015

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 949