

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

January 2017 | Volume 6, Issue 1

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 8

Comparative Politics 30

International Relations 50

Methodology 74

Non-Academic 84

Other 85

Political Theory 108

Public Administration 120

Public Law 126

Public Policy 132

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

January 2017 | Volume 6, Issue 1

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (7 listings)

American Government and Politics 8 (48 listings)

Comparative Politics 30 (46 listings)

International Relations 50 (55 listings)

Methodology 74 (23 listings)

Non-Academic 84 (1 listings)

Other 85 (45 listings)

Political Theory 108 (22 listings)

Public Administration 120 (12 listings)

Public Law 126 (10 listings)

Public Policy 132 (37 listings)

Total listings this issue 306

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for January

ADMINISTRATION

University of Missouri at Columbia

Rank: DEAN

The University of Missouri at Columbia (MU) seeks a dynamic and strategic leader for the position of dean of the Truman School of Public Affairs. The search takes place at an exciting time at MU. The next dean will arrive as the University is going through a process of reinvention and renewal. With a new system president and a number of new academic leaders at the Columbia campus, the dean of the Truman School will have the opportunity to work with a fresh and ambitious leadership team that is eager to build on past successes and chart a new path forward. The dean will have the opportunity to work with faculty, staff, and students who are ready to help the Truman School achieve greater levels of awareness and excellence through creative experimentation and careful examination of its current activities. This is in many ways a young school, unburdened by past legacies and traditions and re-tooling for the future. Like other deans at MU, the dean of the Truman School is given autonomy and responsibility to set the vision and direction of the school. The next dean will lead a school that is agile and nimble with great potential to be strategically responsive to emerging opportunities and challenges. Named for the country's 33rd President, the Truman School is a proud carrier of its namesake's legacy. Harry Truman led the nation during a watershed moment in its history. Debates over war and peace, civil rights, social welfare to the national economy were unprecedented in many ways and the issues and choices that defined his administration reverberate to the present. Citizens still grapple with efforts to achieve a secure, peaceful, just, equitable, and prosperous country and the lessons from the Truman years still hold relevance today. As a presidential school of public affairs buttressed by a rich historical legacy, the Truman School is committed to its mission of advancing knowledge and education in the realms of administration, governance, and policy so that leaders are prepared to lead not only successfully but wisely and ethically. Students are taught to discuss policy options with clarity and to take responsibility for their actions as leaders.

The next dean will be expected to manage growth and achieve excellence in academic programs; hire and mentor a distinguished faculty; be committed to success in research; and build upon a longstanding MU tradition of cross-campus collaboration to realize new academic initiatives that will ensure the school's future success. S/he will also serve as a trusted voice on diversity, inclusion, and equity in the school and across MU. The work and successes of the school must be effectively communicated within MU and to external funders and collaborators. Finally, the dean will enhance and develop new beneficial relationships with business, not-for-profit, and government institutions beyond the University.

MU is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff, and students. MU seeks individuals who are committed to this goal and the core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery, and excellence.

The University of Missouri has engaged Isaacson, Miller to assist with this search. Inquiries, nominations and applications should be directed in confidence to: www.imsearch.com/6072.

The University of Missouri is an equal opportunity/access/affirmative action/pro-disabled and veteran employer. Applications from women and minorities are strongly encouraged. Those in need of ADA accommodations, please contact Rosemary Karr at 202-552-5524 or rkarr@imsearch.com.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/qxsq9vbs5b>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 1/6/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2525

Portland State University

Rank: Director

Oregon's premier urban research university, Portland State is located on a 49-acre downtown campus in the heart of one of America's most vibrant centers of culture, business and technology. PSU is home to more than 22,000 undergraduate and 5,500 graduate students pursuing degrees in eight Schools and Colleges. PSU was recognized in U.S. News & World 2017 Report as one of the nation's "Most Innovative" universities, and has long been a recognized leader in community engagement and sustainability.

The Mark O. Hatfield School of Government (HSOG) is housed within the College of Urban and Public Affairs (CUPA), which also includes the Nohad A. Toulan School of Urban Studies and Planning, the Department of Economics and the Department of International and Global Studies. CUPA's academic units offer both undergraduate and graduate programs in a dynamic environment of cooperation, collaboration and community engagement. The College has long-standing relationships with local, state, regional and federal governments, nonprofit organizations and associations, and international organizations, allowing students to design and implement solutions to modern challenges through hands-on internships and experiential curricula.

The Departments of Criminology and Criminal Justice, Political Science, and Public Administration are located within HSOG, and offer undergraduate and graduate programs in those disciplines. HSOG offers two interdisciplinary graduate degrees: Master of Public Policy; and PhD in Public Affairs and Policy.

Several Centers and Institutes operate within HSOG, including: Criminal Justice Policy Research Institute; Center for Public Service; Nonprofit Institute; Institute for Tribal Government; National Policy Consensus Center; Center for Turkish Studies; and Center for Women's Leadership.

The Hatfield School of Government (HSOG) Director is responsible for providing intellectual leadership by fostering inquiry and collaboration among faculty and Center and Institute staff. The Director oversees and coordinates, with the chairs of HSOG's Departments, the interdisciplinary Master of Public Policy and PhD in Public Affairs and Policy programs.

The Director will typically be responsible for teaching one course per term related to those degrees, however, this expectation will be reviewed each year with the Dean and may be reduced given academic leadership and other responsibilities and initiatives in the School.

The Director also oversees all HSOG Centers' and Institutes' operations, appoints their respective Directors, provides assistance for research and outreach, and facilitates collaborative activities. This is a twelve-month position, with a five-year, renewable term, and will be offered to the candidate of choice with indefinite tenure at the rank of Professor.

Review of applications will begin 1/16/17. More information about the position can be found here: <https://jobs.hrc.pdx.edu/postings/21843>

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2469

University of South Alabama

Rank: Chair of the Department

Subfield(s): Administration, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Criminal Justice, Health Care

The Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice at the University of South Alabama invites applications for the position of Department Chair to begin August 15, 2017. The department offers undergraduate degrees in Political Science and Criminal Justice as well as a Master's in Public Administration. Highly qualified Associate and Full Professors with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Criminal Justice, or a closely related discipline from an accredited university will be considered for this position.

The ideal candidate will be an accomplished scholar, committed to excellence in research and teaching, have exceptional organizational and interpersonal skills, and possess the vision to lead a growing department. The abilities to collaborate effectively and advocate for program faculty and students are essential. The ideal candidate will have demonstrated administrative experience, but exceptional candidates lacking such experience who have a strong desire to transition to an administrative role are also encouraged to apply.

Applicants should apply at the following link and be prepared to attach a letter of application, a one-page statement of research interests, a brief description of teaching philosophy and proficiencies, a summary statement of leadership and administrative skills, current Curriculum Vitae, names of five references, and a sample of scholarly work. <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/usouthal/jobs/1588869/chair-and-assoc-or-full-professor> Upon request, applicants will arrange to have official transcripts and three letters of recommendation sent to the Chair of the Search Committee. Review of applications will begin December 12, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Information: <http://www.southalabama.edu/colleges/artsandsci/poliscie/jobs.html>

The position of Chair is a 12-month appointment. The ideal candidate will demonstrate the ability to contribute to existing programs and help develop new offerings. An appreciation for mixed methodology is preferred. The ideal candidate will provide transparency in budget and scheduling decisions and be able to highlight faculty and student successes, advocate for program faculty at the college and university levels, seek to increase faculty, majors, and department activities, and mentor junior faculty for success in tenure and promotion and mentor associate professors for promotion to full professor.

The Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice has 10 full-time faculty and more than 300 undergraduate majors and 40 graduate students. The department offers courses for four interdisciplinary programs within the College of Arts and Sciences: African American Studies, Forensic Science, Gender Studies, and International Studies. The department is also home to the USA Polling Group, a survey research center with a 10 station CATI lab that works with a variety of internal and external clients. Additionally, the department has a sizeable Masters in Public Administration (MPA) program and an active student body.

If you have questions about this position, the department, the University, or the area, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee, Elise Labbé-Coldsmith, at ELabbe@southalabama.edu.

The University of South Alabama is an EO/AA employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expressions) religion, age, genetic information, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2398

University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Rank: Director, Public Policy Program

Director, Public Policy Program

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte invites applications from outstanding senior scholars to serve as Director of the Public Policy Program, an interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program that draws upon faculty and resources from three colleges. The term of the position begins on July 1, 2017. The Program Director reports to the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the tenure home for the Director will be in a department in the College that is affiliated with the Public Policy Program.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Public Policy or a closely related social science discipline and a record of distinction in public policy research, with credentials and experience appropriate for a tenured professorship at UNC Charlotte. We seek candidates with administrative or other related experience that has prepared them to serve as Director of a diverse and growing interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program, and who have a commitment to promoting diversity and inclusion as values in the program and college. Finalists will be asked during their screening interview to discuss how the topics of diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their teaching and research.

We will give preference to candidates with experience working within an interdisciplinary environment, and who have experience in multiple facets of graduate education, including recruitment, curriculum development, mentoring, and placement. A track record of extramural funding is strongly desired. Preference will also be given to those with a record of active service to the discipline of public policy through its organizations and journals. We seek candidates who possess the vision and leadership to support a program targeted to expand its mission considerably, who will enhance the intellectual and interdisciplinary climate of the program, and build networks within the profession and with practitioners.

The position is open with respect to research specialty. The Public Policy Program has particular strengths in policy areas related to the urban environment including planning and development, governance, environmental, education, health, economic, crime, and social policy and provides all students rigorous training in quantitative analysis. The program is supported by over 30 core faculty drawn from departments and colleges throughout the university including Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Geography and Earth Sciences,

Philosophy, Political Science and Public Administration, Public Health, and Sociology. The program has a strong track record of placing its students in both academic and non-academic positions.

The Program Director will be responsible for coordinating and expanding the interdisciplinary program within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, where it is housed, as well as coordinating with the Belk College of Business and the College of Health and Human Services. The Director is responsible for coordinating all aspects of graduate education in the Public Policy Program and represents the program within and across college, university, professional, and community networks.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive university, located in one of the nation's fastest-growing metropolitan areas on an expanding modern campus. One of sixteen campuses in one of the oldest public university systems in the United States, UNC Charlotte offers over 28,000 culturally diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. Charlotte's metropolitan area is rich in cultural and racial diversity (over 40% Hispanic/Latino and African-American) and our faculty strives to reflect and interact positively with that population. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences houses 20 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, physical sciences, and military sciences, as well as 8 research centers and institutes and 13 interdisciplinary programs.

Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://jobs.uncc.edu> (use position number #004161) and the following documents should be attached: cover letter describing your qualifications and approach to leadership, teaching, and scholarship; a statement addressing commitment to diversity and inclusion; CV; and names and contact information of three references. Applicants will be subject to a criminal background check.

AA/EOE employer. Minorities, women, and persons with disabilities are especially encouraged to apply. Screening of applications begins December 1st, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2324

University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Rank: Director, Public Policy Program

Director, Public Policy Program

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte invites applications from outstanding senior scholars to serve as Director of the Public Policy Program, an interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program that draws upon faculty and resources from three colleges. The term of the position begins on July 1, 2017. The Program Director reports to the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the tenure home for the Director will be in a department in the College that is affiliated with the Public Policy Program.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Public Policy or a closely related social science discipline and a record of distinction in public policy research, with credentials and experience appropriate for a tenured professorship at UNC Charlotte. We seek candidates with administrative or other related experience that has prepared them to serve as Director of a diverse and growing interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program, and who have a commitment to promoting diversity and inclusion as values in the program and college. Finalists will be asked during their screening interview to discuss how the topics of diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their teaching and research.

We will give preference to candidates with experience working within an interdisciplinary environment, and who have experience in multiple facets of graduate education, including recruitment, curriculum development, mentoring, and placement. A track record of extramural funding is strongly desired. Preference will also be given to those with a record of active service to the discipline of public policy through its organizations and journals. We seek candidates who possess the vision and leadership to support a program targeted to expand its mission considerably, who will enhance the intellectual and interdisciplinary climate of the program, and build networks within the profession and with practitioners.

The position is open with respect to research specialty. The Public Policy Program has particular strengths in policy areas related to the urban environment including planning and development, governance, environmental, education, health, economic, crime, and social policy and provides all students rigorous training in quantitative analysis. The program is supported by over 30 core faculty drawn from departments and colleges throughout the university including Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Geography and Earth Sciences, Philosophy, Political Science and Public Administration, Public Health, and Sociology. The program has a strong track record of placing its students in both academic and non-academic positions.

The Program Director will be responsible for coordinating and expanding the interdisciplinary program within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, where it is housed, as well as coordinating with the Belk College of Business and the College of Health and Human Services. The Director is responsible for coordinating all aspects of graduate education in the Public Policy Program and represents the program within and across college, university, professional, and community networks.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive university, located in one of the nation's fastest-growing metropolitan areas on an expanding modern campus. One of sixteen campuses in one of the oldest public university systems in the United States, UNC Charlotte offers over 28,000 culturally diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. Charlotte's metropolitan area is rich in cultural and racial diversity (over 40% Hispanic/Latino and African-American) and our faculty strives to reflect and interact positively with that population. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences houses 20 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, physical sciences, and military sciences, as well as 8 research centers and institutes and 13 interdisciplinary programs.

Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://jobs.uncc.edu> (use position number #004161) and the following documents should be attached: cover letter describing your qualifications and approach to leadership, teaching, and scholarship; a statement addressing commitment to diversity and inclusion; CV; and names and contact information of three references. Applicants will be subject to a criminal background check.

AA/EOE employer. Minorities, women, and persons with disabilities are especially encouraged to apply. Screening of applications begins December 1st, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2325

Mississippi State University

Rank: Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration

Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, Mississippi State University. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is searching for a Department Head at the rank of Professor, beginning July 1, 2017. Applications from Associate Professors could be considered conditional to promotion at the rank of Professor by the time of appointment. We seek an accomplished scholar to lead a dynamic program, with an energetic and productive research and teaching faculty experienced in training high-achieving undergraduate and graduate students. Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or related fields, an established research and/or extramural funding record, a commitment to academic excellence, and strong administrative skills. In providing such leadership, the Head will guide curricular revision and programmatic assessment; guide faculty through the tenure and promotion process; oversee all personnel matters; manage the budget; serve as a liaison between faculty and administration; and sustain and enhance collaborative programs with other campus units. Documented experience in departmental or college leadership positions is required. The teaching assignment is negotiable. The salary will be competitive. Degree programs offered include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited Master in Public Policy and Administration, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 15 faculty members, 197 undergraduate majors, 39 Masters students, and 29 PhD students. The department has strong ties to several research and government centers, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, and the Stennis Center for Public Service. More information on the department is available at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>.

Mississippi State University is a public, land grant, doctoral, research university classified as Doctoral/Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation. It is located in a progressive Sunbelt community and has an array of centers and institutes receptive to collaborative research. Its mission is to provide access and opportunity to students from all sectors of the state's diverse population and to offer excellent and extensive programs in instruction, research, and outreach. More information on the university's mission can be seen at: <http://www.msstate.edu/web/mission.html>.

Applications are to be submitted electronically by accessing <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> and should include a Vita, a letter describing administrative philosophy and research interests, and supporting materials demonstrating administrative, teaching, service, and scholarly achievement, as well as a list of references. Review of applications will begin November 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted and reviewed until the position is filled. MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/5/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2187

Ohio State University

Rank: Mershon Center for International Security Studies Director/Academic Department Professor

Units: Mershon Center for International Security Studies/Academic Department

Position: Director (50%) and Professor (50%)

Rank: Professor

Description:

The Ohio State University seeks a director for the Mershon Center for International Security Studies. The Center is the intellectual center on campus for the study of national and international security in a global context. It brings together top faculty from across campus and beyond to promote multi-disciplinary collaboration, high quality scholarship, and public outreach that addresses the questions central to security studies, broadly defined. Ohio State's Office of International Affairs and the College of Arts and Sciences sponsor this position jointly. The director will be expected to pursue an active research agenda and to carry a half-time teaching load in his or her department.

Qualifications:

The Mershon Director must hold a PhD or equivalent degree and have a record of successful publication and teaching that justifies appointment at the rank of full professor. Experiences in governmental, inter-governmental, and/or non-governmental institutions and agencies dealing with security issues are desirable, as is significant experience of international engagement and collaboration generally. Applicants should have a track record of academic leadership including grant seeking and institution building. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see <http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com/>). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at <http://www.columbus.org>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajob/jobs/8055>. All applicants should submit a curriculum vitae and a cover letter briefly (1-2 pages) explaining why they are interested in the position and describing their vision of international security studies going forward. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled but those received by October 24, 2016, will receive priority consideration. Inquiries may be directed to Richard Herrmann at Herrmann.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/1/2016
Date Posted: 9/22/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2094

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 16,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia, and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. Rowan is one of two universities in the country to offer M.D. and D.O. medical-degree programs. The School of Osteopathic Medicine has a faculty practice plan that serves approximately 200,000 patients throughout Southern New Jersey. The institution is also home to the South Jersey Technology Park, which fosters the translation of applied research into commercial products and processes. The University boasts seven colleges--William G. Rohrer College of Business, Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering and colleges of Communications and Creative Arts, Education, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics. Rowan has been recognized as one of the Top 100 public universities in the nation and is ranked 3rd among public institutions in the North by US News & World Report.

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science beginning in Fall 2017. The position is open to candidates specializing in public policy, public administration, or a related field. Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics, as well as a course in quantitative methods. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and will be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship at the pre-tenure level.

Candidates must be legally authorized to work in the US and the university will not sponsor an applicant for a work visa for this position.

Applicants should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2017. To assure full consideration, completed applications must be received by February 17, 2017. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://rowanuniversity.hodesiq.com/job-details.aspx?jobid=5392388>

Submit a cover letter, a C.V., unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment.

All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/17/2017
Date Posted: 1/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2553

University of Texas, Tyler

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science and History at the University of Texas at Tyler invites applications for a tenure track position in American Politics with an emphasis on Racial and Ethnic Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who specialize in Latino/Latina Politics.

The position is at the Assistant Professor level and is contingent upon funding. Ph.D. in hand by time of appointment required. Candidates should demonstrate the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, maintain a record of research, advise students, and serve the department, college, and university. Salary is competitive and based upon experience.

Located ninety minutes east of Dallas/Ft.Worth, Tyler is a thriving city of over 100,000 and mixes traditional southern charm with twenty-first century progressiveness. UT Tyler has an enrollment of almost 10,000 students and has become the cultural and intellectual hub of the area.

Please submit a letter of application outlining teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Robert Sterken, Search Committee Chair, The University of Texas at Tyler, 3900 University Blvd., Tyler, Texas, 75799 or e-mail application materials to rsterken@uttyler.edu

Review of applications begins March 1, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

The successful applicant must be able to demonstrate eligibility to work in the United States. This position is security-sensitive and subject to Texas Education Code Section 51.215, which authorizes the employer to obtain criminal history record information. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. The University of Texas at Tyler is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2559

University of Texas, Tyler

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science and History at the University of Texas at Tyler invites applications for a tenure track position in American Politics with an emphasis on Racial and Ethnic Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who specialize in Latino/Latina Politics.

The position is at the Assistant Professor level and is contingent upon funding. Ph.D. in hand by time of appointment required. Candidates should demonstrate the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, maintain a record of research, advise students, and serve the department, college, and university. Salary is competitive and based upon experience.

Located ninety minutes east of Dallas/Ft.Worth, Tyler is a thriving city of over 100,000 and mixes traditional southern charm with twenty-first century progressiveness. UT Tyler has an enrollment of almost 10,000 students and has become the cultural and intellectual hub of the area.

Please submit a letter of application outlining teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, unofficial transcripts, and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Robert Sterken, Search Committee Chair, The University of Texas at Tyler, 3900 University Blvd., Tyler, Texas, 75799 or e-mail application materials to rsterken@uttyler.edu

Review of applications begins March 1, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

The successful applicant must be able to demonstrate eligibility to work in the United States. This position is security-sensitive and subject to Texas Education Code Section 51.215, which authorizes the employer to obtain criminal history record information. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. The University of Texas at Tyler is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2560

Christopher Newport University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow in American Studies #8532

Post-Doctoral Fellow in American Studies

The Department of Leadership and American Studies at Christopher Newport University invites applications for a Post-Doctoral Fellow in American Studies, with annual renewal possible for a total of three years, effective August 21, 2017. Applicants must be committed to undergraduate education and demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research with undergraduates. The successful candidate will have an appropriate Ph.D. by August 21, 2017, a teaching/research focus, and expertise in the study of America's origins and religion, or America's place on the world stage. The successful candidate must be academically qualified and prepared to teach in the American Studies core, including AMST 100, the foundations of America, and AMST 200, the evolution of America, or AMST 300, a course that focuses on America's role in the world, as well as upper level course in the candidate's expertise. The successful candidate will hold a concurrent appointment as Post-Doctoral Fellow in the University's Center for American Studies, an interdisciplinary center that promotes teaching and scholarship on America's founding principles and history, economic foundations, and national security. The nominal teaching load for the Post-Doctoral Fellow is 2-2. Phi Beta Kappa membership is highly desirable.

CNU is committed to outstanding teaching and learning, undergraduate education, and the liberal studies core; the University is seeking to shelter a Phi Beta Kappa chapter. The Fall 2016 freshman class of 1,225 students was selected from nearly 8,000 admission applications, and presented high school GPA and SAT score middle 50% ranges of 3.5-4.0 and 1080-1240, respectively. Capital improvements (approaching $1 billion) on the beautiful, 260-acre campus, located between historic Colonial Williamsburg and the ocean resort of Virginia Beach, integrate the University's liberal arts vision, nurturing mind, body, and spirit. These include the state-of-the-art Tribble Library; three new academic buildings including a newly opened integrated science building; the Freeman Center athletic complex; and the I.M. Pei-designed Ferguson Center for the Arts, which brings to Virginia the finest performing artists in the world.

Our faculty enjoy an atmosphere of collegiality and mutual respect that rewards outstanding teaching and fosters active intellectual and creative engagement. Christopher Newport University is committed to ensuring that all people are welcomed, honored and fully engaged in the life of our academic community. We recruit exceptional and diverse faculty and encourage applications from individuals who are underrepresented in their profession. Faculty are productive scholars and researchers, supported by professional development funds. Faculty and administrators regularly consult and collaborate as the University works to sustain a culture of scholarly inquiry, informed debate, and civic action that enriches students, faculty, and the surrounding community. The result is a supportive and cohesive academic setting in which the University cultivates and carries forward its mission. Competitive salary with excellent health and retirement benefits and a well-designed family leave policy further enhance the CNU workplace. For further information on CNU, please visit our website at <http://www.cnu.edu>.

To apply, please send a letter of application, current curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts (photocopies acceptable for initial screening), syllabi and other evidence of teaching style and effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation to:

Director of Faculty Recruitment
Post- Doctoral Fellow in American Studies Faculty Search
Search #8532
Christopher Newport University
1 Avenue of the Arts
Newport News, VA 23606-3072
Or facultyrecruitment@cnu.edu

Review of applications will begin on February 16, 2017. Applications received after February 16, 2017, will be accepted but considered only if needed. Search finalists are required to complete a CNU sponsored background check.

Christopher Newport University, an EO Employer, is fully committed to Access and Opportunity.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/16/2017
Date Posted: 1/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2550

Missouri Southern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Methodology
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Quantitative Methods, Judicial Politics

The Department of Social Science at Missouri Southern State University in Joplin, Missouri invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 2017. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory American Government; areas of specialization include public law and the courts. Ability to teach undergraduate research methods or statistics as well as familiarity with mock trial and paralegal studies desirable. Qualifications: J.D. and Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABD will be considered. The position requires a commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level.

Applicants should submit a detailed letter of application, curriculum vitae (with the names, addresses, email addresses, and phone numbers of three references), and copies of undergraduate and graduates transcripts. (Official transcripts are required 45 days after contract is issued.) Submit documents to FacultyVitae@mssu.edu; include: "Political Science – Assistant Professor" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Employment will require a background check. MSSU is an EOE employer with a strong institutional commitment to achievement of excellent and diversity among faculty and staff. MSSU is an E-verify participating employer.

Missouri Southern State University (MSSU) is a four year liberal arts institution serving nearly 6,000 students. Expanding graduate and undergraduate programs provide faculty with rich opportunities for service and scholarship. Internationally-focused semesters and enriching cultural events in theater, art, music and film create an engaging learning environment for students and citizens of the region. MSSU is located in Joplin, MO, which is considered to be the Crossroads of America, and serves as the commercial hub for the four states area. Joplin is a resilient and vibrant city with a population of over 50,000 serving a metropolitan statistical area of 208,000. There is quick and easy access to Northwest Arkansas, Kansas City, and Tulsa, as well as numerous outdoor activities and attractions throughout the Ozarks.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/9/2017

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2527

National Defense College- Abu Dhabi

Rank: Academic Dean
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Description: Candidates are invited to apply for the position of Academic Dean at the National Defense College (NDC), an accredited senior national security education institution in Abu Dhabi, UAE. Candidates should possess an outstanding academic background and proven leadership capabilities that will equip them to play a central role in advancing the college through its next phase of growth. NDC is a leading institution of higher education in the Middle East that encourages experiential learning through methods that include models, case studies and exercises, and educational technology, to foster a culture of learning among high-skilled policy professionals. More information about the college can be found at (<http://www.ndc.ac.ae/en/>).

The successful candidate will provide academic leadership to the core MA program, including, in coordination with the Education Wing Commander, Planning Wing Commander, and the College Commandant, developing the academic schedule, faculty load and course rotation, managing the day-to-day academic operations of the college, supervising student evaluation, and lecturing and leading seminars as necessary. The Dean will also lead curricular revisions to the core MA program in strategic security studies and oversee a reaccreditation site visit by the local accrediting body of the UAE. The Dean will also lead the development of new programs, including an Arabic language war course, a possible doctorate in strategic studies, as well as short courses and other outreach efforts. In coordination with the college leadership, the Dean will brief senior leadership on the college's academic operations and represent the college.

The ideal candidate will work to continue the college's reputation for critical thinking and academic excellence and grow the institution's profile within the UAE, in the MENA region, and internationally. The candidate will be able to communicate effectively with our diverse faculty and staff, which includes active duty military personnel and civilians from more than a half-dozen countries. He or she should also be able to effectively work with stakeholders and local and international partners in advancing the NDC mission and vision.

Qualifications
REQUIRED EDUCATION/EXPERIENCE:

The candidate must possess a terminal degree from an accredited university in an appropriate discipline and an academic profile of scholarship and instruction equivalent to that of a full professor. The candidate should also hold significant academic leadership experience in a relevant institution, such as a defense college or a civilian graduate program. Experience working as an administrator and faculty member at the graduate level is essential.

DESIRED SKILLS/EXPERTISE:

Experience working as an administrator and as a faculty member at institutions that offer instruction to senior professionals, is highly desirable, as is familiarity with active learning at the graduate level. Practical experience in a field relevant to the college curriculum is a plus, as is experience working to bridge the policy and academic communities.

Cross-cultural proficiency, particularly experience teaching or working in the Middle East and/or demonstrated expertise in strategic studies education in a multi-national/ multi-cultural setting, is a strong advantage. Previous experience generating new graduate level programs and supervising accreditation and reaccreditation site visits are also an advantage.

Arabic language proficiency is an asset but all courses will be conducted in English.

Benefits package includes:

- Attractive and highly competitive salary
- Full housing allowance
- Vehicle allowance
- Education allowance for eligible minor children
- Cost of living allowance
- Relocation allowance

Interested parties should send a cover letter detailing qualifications and CV, including a list of professional references, along with an unofficial transcript of the doctorate (copies are acceptable) to Ms. Betty Boutros at (boutros@translangltd.com). Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2519

University of Virginia

Rank: Full Professor in History, Philosophy, or Politics

History, Philosophy, or Politics

The University of Virginia and the Jefferson Scholars Foundation seek a scholar and teacher of international prominence in the study of the origins, influences, and legacies of the Age of Jefferson. The scholar will be a member of one or more of the following departments: History, Philosophy, or Politics, all of which are in the College and Graduate School of Arts & Sciences. This endowed position will be at the rank of full professor with tenure. The anticipated start date for the appointment is July 25, 2017.

The successful candidate will work in areas such as: the political thought and/or history of Early America; the philosophical influences on Jefferson and his contemporaries; the foundations of liberal political philosophy. Additionally, the Jefferson Scholars Foundation Endowed Professor will:

- forge interdisciplinary and collaborative relationships with faculty across Arts & Sciences.
- provide leadership in A&S teaching and scholarship at a time when we are celebrating the 200th anniversary of the founding of the university.
- train graduate students in the graduate programs across these departments.
- become an active member of the Jefferson Scholars Foundation community. ??The Jefferson Scholars Foundation (www.jeffersonscholars.org) attracts to the University the most promising leaders, scholars, and citizens in the world and provides them with sufficient financial support so that they are free to develop their talents for the good of the University community and beyond. Professors joining the University by way of the Foundation's Chaired Professorships are not only leaders in their respective disciplines, but they also serve the University's mission to provide the best learning experience for undergraduates. They will join a Jefferson Scholars community of engaging undergraduate and graduate students and distinguished professors.

Experience should include:

- a record of advancing the field through the publication of original and impactful research.
- a reputation as a leader in the field.
- recognized excellence in teaching and mentoring.
- a Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree in a relevant field.

To apply, please complete a Candidate Profile online through Jobs@UVa (<https://jobs.virginia.edu>), and electronically attach a CV and a cover letter stating your interest in the position; search on posting 0620002. Letters of reference will be discreetly solicited later in the application process. If requesting information or nominating an individual for this opportunity, please contact S. Max Edelson at sme4n@virginia.edu. Questions regarding the application process in JOBS@ are directed to Kent Merritt: lkm6h@virginia.edu.

Review of applications will begin February 15, 2017; however, the position will remain open until filled.

U.Va. will perform background checks for all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

The University of Virginia is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/3/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2510

York College of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Graduate Fellow and Visiting Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Research/Teaching Fellowship, Arthur J. Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy, York College

York College of Pennsylvania invites applications for the inaugural Fellow for its Arthur J. Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy.

A joint program of York College's Center for Community Engagement (CCE) and its Department of History and Political Science, the Institute for Public Policy will engage the Fellow and our students in the policymaking process by providing nonpartisan research to legislators at the City, County, and State levels of government. The Fellow will conduct research and work with advanced students to identify and define problems in the greater York community, develop policy approaches to solve those problems, and aim to achieve adoption and successful implementation of specific policy proposals via the Pennsylvania General Assembly and municipal jurisdictions in the South Central Pennsylvania region.

The appointee will hold the title of Fellow in the Center for Community Engagement and the rank of Visiting Instructor in the Department of History and Political Science. The fellowship will generally carry a two-year appointment, though in appropriate cases that time frame might be lengthened or shortened to accommodate a specific project. Among the duties of the fellow will be:

- Completing an appropriate research project or projects likely to be of interest to local residents, legislators, and civic/business leaders;
- Teaching one advanced course per semester;
- Delivering at least two public lectures for the local community;
- Disseminating the results of her/his research in appropriate scholarly and public venues;
- Collaborating with students and faculty in other appropriate York College programs such as the Center for Professional Excellence, the Graham and Eisenhart Scholars, and other CCE programming.

Funding will be provided for travel, speakers, and other appropriate initiatives of the Institute.

Requirements: The ideal candidate will hold a doctorate in a field directly related to public policy research (though ABD or MPP will be considered). The successful candidate will have a research agenda well-suited to studying local, regional, and state-level policy, and evidence of scholarly potential.

York College is committed to building a diverse college community and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply. Interested candidates should electronically submit the following: a current curriculum vitae, letter of application, and names of three references to <http://ycp.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=76821>. Review of applications will begin immediately. While applications will be accepted until the position is filled, for full consideration, applications should be received by January 15, 2017.

York College of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity Employer. For a copy of York College's Annual Security Report, you may contact the Office of Campus Safety or visit the College's website and search for Annual Security Report.

About York College and the Center for Community Engagement (CCE)

York College of Pennsylvania (<http://www.ycp.edu>) is a private-sector, independent institution of higher education, offering over 50 baccalaureate majors in the arts and sciences and in professional fields as well as master's programs in business, education and nursing and a doctoral program in nursing. The College has an enrollment of over 4000 full time, over 500 part time undergraduate students and over 200 graduate students from 30 states and 12 foreign countries. The campus is located in South-Central Pennsylvania (50 miles north of Baltimore, MD, 30 miles south of Harrisburg, PA, and 90 miles north of Washington, DC) and offers competitive salaries and fringe benefits.

Though the Fellow will spend time on York College's main campus, the locus of the research and mentoring activities noted above would be housed in the CCE's headquarters in downtown York. The Institute for Public Policy is meant to be an objective, nonpartisan advocacy organization committed to the best practices in academic social science. The CCE hosts local government leaders, non-profit organizations, community groups, and other stakeholders, providing assistance in identifying and developing approaches to solving the community's most pressing problems. Under the guidance of the Fellow, the Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy will contribute to that mission through policy research.

The CCE's 20,000 square foot building at 59 East Market Street will open with Phase One mid-fall, 2016. Located across the street from the Yorktowne Hotel and adjacent to city, county, and state offices, the location is central to the downtown renaissance in Royal Square, the Arts District, and Central Market. This Center will be a hub for community education, meetings, and small conferences making it an ideal location for students and faculty engaged in policy research and analysis. This space will become a highly visible epicenter of policy activity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2506

University of St. Thomas

Rank: Limited-Term Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at the University of St. Thomas invites applications for a full-time limited-term position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 1, 2017.

We are seeking a political scientist with a specialization in American Politics and the ability to teach courses on Congress & the Presidency, Quantitative Research Methods, and our introductory course, American Government in Comparative Perspective. As part of our department's ongoing curricular revisions, this position allows for additional course development within a candidate's areas of expertise, such as Political Parties, Interest Group Politics, Media and Politics, or Environmental Policy. Limited-term faculty are appointed annually with a one-year contract which may be renewed a maximum of four times. Qualifications:

A PhD in political science is strongly preferred. Candidates who are ABD (who would be eligible for an initial rank of instructor) will be considered. All applicants must have demonstrable skills necessary for excellence in teaching.

Inspired by Catholic intellectual tradition, the University of St. Thomas educates students to be morally responsible leaders who think critically, act wisely, and work skillfully to advance the common good.

The University of St. Thomas is committed to the principles of diversity and inclusion, and the goals of affirmative action/equal opportunity. The University welcomes nominations and applications from a diverse applicant pool.

The University of St. Thomas, Minnesota Human Resources Department advertises the official job listing on its website. If you are viewing this posting from a site other than "Jobs at St. Thomas", the University assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of information.

The University of St. Thomas is an Equal Opportunity Employer

Special Instructions to Candidates:

All application materials must be submitted online at <http://www.stthomas.edu/jobs/>.

Candidates will first be asked to create an applicant profile and upload the required documents (listed below) and then submit an online application and voluntary EEO form.

Required Documents:

- Curriculum Vitae
- Statement of teaching philosophy and experience, including evidence of teaching effectiveness (upload one document into "Teaching Philosophy" and "Teaching Experience")

-Description of research agenda
 -Two letters of recommendation. Applicants should arrange for letters to be forwarded to Dr. Angela High-Pippert, Chair of Political Science, University of St. Thomas, 2115 Summit Avenue JRC 432, St. Paul MN 55105.

Please copy/paste cover letter, which identifies courses that you would like to teach that would enhance our upper-level course offerings (see <http://www.stthomas.edu/politicalscience/majors/>), into the online application.

For additional information contact Dr. Angela High-Pippert (ahigh-pippe@stthomas.edu).

To ensure full consideration for the position, all application materials must be received by Monday, January 30, 2017. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2504

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Penn DCC Postdoctoral Fellowship 2017-18 on “States of Religious Freedom”

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Public Policy

Penn DCC Postdoctoral Fellowship 2017-18 on “States of Religious Freedom”

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

2017-2018 Academic Year

Application Deadline: February 15, 2017

Apply through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/39687>.

The Penn Program on Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism (DCC) invites applications for a one-year DCC Postdoctoral Fellow in any discipline whose research is pertinent to the Program’s 2017-2018 theme, “States of Religious Freedom.”

According to the terms of The International Religious Freedom Act, passed by Congress in 1998, America’s history of religious freedom has endowed it with a special responsibility to promote this virtue abroad as a goal of foreign policy. The U.S. State Department’s Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor has compiled annual watchdog-style reports on every country in the world – except for the United States itself – ever since. Yet how exceptional or exemplary is the U.S. record of accommodating religious freedoms? How have other countries, informed by their own histories and circumstances, negotiated complex terrains of religion, statehood and citizenship? And what are the states of religious freedom around the world today, in light of current controversies over abortion, sexuality, changing gender roles, religiously-motivated terrorism, the rights of religious minorities, and the establishment of official religions? During its 2017-18 theme year on “States of Religious Freedom,” Penn DCC will study the U.S. experience within a comparative international context, exploring how states – as political entities – accommodate or hinder religious expression and culture, as well as how social conditions – states of collective being – affect and influence the practice of religious freedom.

The DCC program welcomes applicants engaged in empirical or normative scholarship, focused comparatively or on particular nations, regions, or communities, that explores these questions and seeks to assess the complex impact of the radically evolving media landscape on democratic politics, as well as on the closely related issues of citizenship and constitutional government.

The Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism program is an interdisciplinary initiative, funded by the Mellon Foundation, which includes a faculty seminar series and annual conference on themes chosen by the Program’s Faculty Advisory Council; a graduate workshop series; and undergraduate research grants. The DCC Postdoctoral Fellow is expected to participate in the faculty seminar series, teach an Undergraduate Seminar on a related topic, and join monthly meetings to discuss the progress of undergraduates receiving research grants. The Fellow also has the opportunity to pursue the Fellow’s research and study and participate generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. Stipend is $53,800, plus health insurance.

Eligibility is limited to applicants who will have received their Ph.D. within five years prior to the time they begin their fellowship at Penn (i.e., May 2012 or later).

Application deadline: February 15, 2017.

Applications should be made through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/39687>

For more information on the Penn Program on Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism, see the DCC Program website, <http://www.sas.upenn.edu/dcc/> or contact DCC Administrator Matthew Roth at dcc-penn@sas.upenn.edu.

The University of Pennsylvania is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 12/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2501

University of Michigan, Flint

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The University of Michigan-Flint invites applications for an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Public Administration to start Fall 2017. Areas of specialization are open but the candidate will be expected to teach one or more foundational courses in undergraduate and graduate public administration. A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy is required; ABD’s whose degrees will be completed by September 2017 will be considered. The teaching load is 3/3. UM-Flint stresses excellence in teaching as well as scholarship/research. Further, it has been awarded the Carnegie Classification for Community Engagement and places high value on outreach. Candidates should submit evidence of promise as teacher/scholars and willingness to participate in civic engagement. Review of applications will start January 20th 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit: a cover letter outlining teaching and research interests/agenda, C.V., teaching evaluations (if available), names and contact information of three references and writing samples. Documents must be submitted electronically and addressed to: Dr. Kathryn Schellenberg, Search Committee Co-Chair at kathsch@umflint.edu.

http://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/134911/assistant_professor_-_public_administration

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2498

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Penn CSERI Post-Doctoral Fellowship on Race, Ethnicity and Immigration

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Other

Penn CSERI Post-Doctoral Fellowship
2017-2018 Academic Year

Application Deadline: January 22, 2017

Apply through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/39663>

The Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (CSERI) invites applications for a one-year postdoctoral research fellowship in the social sciences, starting August 1, 2017.

The Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration is a new center initiative supported by the University of Pennsylvania and the School of Arts and Sciences which, in addition to this post-doctoral fellowship, will host visiting scholars and graduate students, help organize workshops initiated by the center's Faculty Advisory Council, and support graduate and undergraduate student social science research at Penn.

The 2017-2018 CSERI Postdoctoral Research Fellow will collaborate with Center Director Michael Jones-Correa and other center faculty affiliates on research projects related to race and ethnic relations and/or immigrant political incorporation in the United States; help organize and participate in faculty/graduate student workshops; and aid in evaluating the progress of graduate students and undergraduates receiving research grants. In addition, the Fellow will have the opportunity to pursue their own research and participate more generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $50,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $1,000 in research support.

QUALIFICATIONS

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than 2014), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2017.

Skills with statistical analysis, qualitative software, GIS, experimental and other approaches are highly desirable

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Apply through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/39663>

Applications will be reviewed starting January 22, 2017. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date. Final notifications are expected to go out in March 2017.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, writing sample (maximum of 20 pp), a research statement (2 pages), a graduate transcript, and 3 letters of recommendation.

For more information on the Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration, contact CSERI center director at mjonescorrea@sas.upenn.edu or Matthew Roth, administrator, at maroth@sas.upenn.edu

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 1/22/2017

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2492

Grinnell College

Rank: GRINNELL COLLEGE – Political Science (American Politics) – Two-year position (START FALL 2017).

GRINNELL COLLEGE. The Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year appointment beginning Fall 2017. Assistant Professor (Ph.D.) preferred; Instructor (ABD) or Associate Professor possible. The teaching schedule of five courses over two semesters will likely include Introduction to Political Science, two intermediate courses in American politics, and a seminar. Any area of expertise in American politics is welcome, though ability to teach constitutional law strongly preferred.

Grinnell College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts college with a strong tradition of social responsibility. In letters of application, candidates should discuss their potential to contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. To be assured of full consideration, all application materials should be received by February 3, 2017. Please visit our application website at <https://jobs.grinnell.edu> to find more details about the job and submit applications online. Candidates will need to upload a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts (copies are acceptable), and sample syllabi, and provide email addresses for three references. Questions about this search should be directed to the search chair, Professor Barbara Trish, at [PoliSciSearch@grinnell.edu] or 641-269-373.

Grinnell College is committed to providing a safe and inclusive educational and work environment for all College community members, and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national origin, age, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, veteran status, religion, disability, creed, or any other protected class.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/3/2017

Date Posted: 12/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2484

University of Central Florida

Rank: Lecturer in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a Lecturer position at its West Orlando Campus in the field of American Politics, with an anticipated start date of August 2017. This is a permanent, recurring non-tenure earning position with a promotion path and a primary assignment in teaching. Preferred subfields in American politics include institutions, especially Congress and judicial politics, as well as courses in undergraduate research methods and political theory. It is expected that some courses will be taught online, and some courses may be offered on one of UCF's other campus locations, including the main campus in Orlando. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field from an accredited institution by the time of appointment required.

The University of Central Florida (UCF) is a research-intensive university with a diverse enrollment in excess of 63,000 students. Information about UCF may be found at www.ucf.edu. The Political Science department has approximately 1,200 undergraduates in the Political Science and International & Global Studies majors combined, as well as several minors. The department also offers an M.A. in Political Science and a Ph.D. in Security Studies. The Kurdish Political Studies Program, the India Center, the Prince Mohammed Program for Strategic Research and Studies, and the Lou Frey Institute of Politics & Government, as well as the Intelligence Community Center for Academic Excellence are all housed in the Political Science department. We value the perspectives and contributions of a diverse student and faculty body.

Interested applicants must apply using the UCF online application system at <https://www.jobswithucf.com> by January 26, 2017. Applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, syllabi of any courses taught as instructor of record, student evaluations (where available), a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of recommendation. All materials other than reference letters must be uploaded to the online submission system. Note: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date. Reference letters can be emailed to Politics@ucf.edu, or mailed to: Attn: Dr. Aubrey Jewett, Lecturer Search Committee Chair, 4297 Andromeda Loop N., Howard Phillips Hall 302, Orlando, FL 32816. All materials must be postmarked no later than January 26, 2017. Questions can be addressed to the Lecturer Search Committee Chair, at the mailing address or email address listed above.

UCF is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply, including minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 1/26/2017
Date Posted: 12/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2474

University of Idaho

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Politics & Philosophy seeks well qualified applicants for a full-time (9 month) tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science. Beginning August 2017 this position will teach courses to support the on campus and on line Master of Public Administration program, and the undergraduate political science curriculum. The faculty member will conduct research on local government administration and public administration, and provide service to the Department of Politics and Philosophy and the Center for Local Government Research and Outreach.

Minimum Qualifications:

PhD in Political Science or Public Administration.
 Teaching and research expertise in local government administration and public administration.

Preferred Qualifications:
 Expertise in local government administration and research methods.
 Evidence of teaching and research effectiveness.

Background Check: Applicants who are selected as final possible candidates must be able to pass a criminal background check.

To apply, please visit: jobs.uidaho.edu

EEO Statement
 University of Idaho is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 12/29/2017
Date Posted: 12/12/2016
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 2476

Misericordia University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government, Law, and National Security

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Misericordia University invites applications for a tenure-track position as assistant professor in the Government, Law, and National Security program starting August 2017. Offering the second largest major in the College of Arts and Sciences, the GLNS program is part of the university's Department of History and Government and seeks a specialist in American Government or American Politics. A Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or public administration is required; college teaching experience is strongly preferred and research output is expected.

The candidate will teach the following undergraduate courses in the growing Government, Law, and National Security Program: 1) The U.S. Homeland Security System 2) Introduction to Public Administration and Public Policy and 3) U.S. Homeland Security Issues (focusing on areas of natural hazards, mitigation planning, emergency management, domestic intelligence, transportation security or border security). The candidate must be able to offer courses in the university's Core Curriculum, as well as upper-level courses in the major reflecting the candidate's teaching and research interests.

Misericordia University, a 92-year-old institution founded by the Sisters of Mercy, offering baccalaureate, master's, and doctoral degrees, is located adjacent to the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania, approximately 2 hours from New York City and Philadelphia. The university's approach of combining a quality liberal arts education with professional preparation and service leadership has resulted in its wide regional acclaim.

Misericordia University is committed to student, faculty and staff diversity and values the educational benefit this brings to campus. Candidates should indicate any experience and/or leadership that contribute to this goal. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

For confidential consideration please enclose in your application package a letter of application which includes your telephone number and e-mail address, transcripts, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy and three letters of reference to: Misericordia University, Attention: Human Resources Department, 301 Lake Street, Dallas, Pennsylvania, 18612 or applications can be submitted online at www.misericordia.edu/hr.

URL to apply: https://workforcenow.adp.com/jobs/apply/posting.html?client=mucougars&jobId=43083&lang=en_US&source=CC2

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2454

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Specializations: American Politics, Political Behavior, Electoral Behavior

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis. Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. Doctorate required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty. Applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged.

Please submit cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample. Applications should be submitted online at AcademicJobsOnline (AJO) at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8511>.

The review process will begin February 1, 2017. Please submit your materials before that date to receive full consideration, although we will continue to accept applications if there is still a vacancy.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/2/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2439

Ohio Wesleyan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics and Government

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Environmental Policy

The Department of Politics and Government at Ohio Wesleyan University invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position in American political institutions and public policy at the Assistant Professor rank to begin in August 2017. We are especially interested in candidates who can teach environmental policy. We would also welcome candidates who can teach inequality and research methods. This position requires teaching three courses each semester. This position is also expected to contribute to our Arneson Institute for Practical Politics, including the Wesleyan in Washington internship program.

Ohio Wesleyan, a liberal arts university devoted to the free pursuit of truth, is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and to maintaining a non-discriminatory and inclusive teaching and learning community and encourages all interested applicants to apply (EEOE). Ohio Wesleyan University (Delaware, Ohio) is located 20 miles north of Columbus, a growing and increasingly diverse metropolitan area.

Qualifications: Applicants must have at least ABD standing in political science. Ph.D. at the time of appointment, teaching experience at the collegiate level and evidence of research potential are strongly preferred.

Application packets should include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and, to the extent possible, evidence of teaching ability. Applications received by January 15, 2017 will be guaranteed full consideration. Application materials should be sent electronically to Prof. Jim Franklin, chair, Department of Politics and Government, at pgsearch@owu.edu. Mailing address is Department of Politics and Government, Ohio Wesleyan University, 61 S. Sandusky St., Delaware, Ohio 43015.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2429

College of Wooster

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of U.S. National Politics

The Department of Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill a one-year visiting position at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2017. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in U.S. National Politics to teach introductory and advanced courses in the Department of Political Science, and to supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement. The successful candidate must have a demonstrated ability to teach Introduction to U.S. National Politics, upper level U.S. National Politics courses in their area of expertise, and courses that contribute to one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Urban Studies, Environmental Studies or Women's Gender and Sexuality Studies.

We prefer candidates who will have completed the Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (19% domestic students of color and 10% international students); applicants should demonstrate their ability to work with diverse student populations.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and student evaluations), unofficial graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendations at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/39215>. Applications received by January 31, 2017 will receive full consideration. Please contact Angie Bos (abos@wooster.edu), the Search Chair, with any questions.

The College of Wooster is an independent college of the liberal arts and sciences with a commitment to excellence in undergraduate education. The College values diversity, strives to attract women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Wooster seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or political affiliation. The College of Wooster is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Employment is subject to federal laws requiring verification of identity and legal right to work in the United States as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act. The College of Wooster is a drug-free workplace.

Start Date: Winter 2017
Application Deadline: 1/31/2017
Date Posted: 11/21/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2402

Texas A&M University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University (<http://pols.tamu.edu>) is seeking to hire a Full or Associate Professor with expertise in American Politics. The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M is a doctoral level department with an active research-oriented faculty. The department is particularly interested in identifying individuals who could exercise a leadership role in the department's research programs in Political Behavior & Institutions, Political Economy & Political Violence and/or a university-wide initiative related to democracy. Ph.D. is required. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Indeed, the ideal candidate would possess a research profile (quality, output, and influence) that would make them competitive for an endowed faculty position, subject to approvals. The starting date for this position is Fall 2017.

The department offers Ph.D., MA, BA, and BS degrees and has 38 tenured/tenure track faculty members, 50 graduate students, and approximately 1000 undergraduate majors. Further information about the department is available at <http://pols.tamu.edu>. Texas A&M is a research-intensive flagship university with more than 60,000 students including 10,000 graduate students making it the sixth largest university in the United States. The student body includes 26% African American, Hispanic, Asian or Pacific Islander, and American Indian or Alaskan Native students, as well as approximately 5,000 international students from 130 countries. We seek candidates who can teach effectively in a diverse and global classroom. Texas A&M ranks among the top universities nationally in total research expenditures (with more than $800 million dollars per year). Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is deeply committed to enhancing the diversity and excellence of its faculty and is responsive to the needs of dual-career couples.

Applicants should send a letter of interest (referencing research agenda and teaching interests), a curriculum vitae, and a writing sample. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor William Roberts Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu. Our review of applications will begin on January 9th, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/14/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2365

Schreiner University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Social Sciences at Schreiner University welcomes applications for the position of Assistant Professor of Political Science. This is a tenure-track faculty position beginning August 2017. The successful candidate will teach the basic introduction to American Politics course and a variety of courses in American politics (e.g. Presidency, Congress, Legislative Process, Public Policy, Public Administration, Media and Politics, Judicial process, etc.). Preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate experience in working with pre-law majors. The successful candidate will also have an active research agenda (area of specialization is open). Responsibilities include teaching, advising, and participation in curricular development and assessment. The successful candidate will be expected to participate fully in departmental duties, committee service, campus activities, and engage in scholarship and/or creative activities aligned with institutional goals. Teaching load is 12 hours per semester.

Qualifications: An earned doctorate in political science, ABD with completion no later than August 2017. Teaching experience at the collegiate level is preferred.

Schreiner University is a small liberal arts college in the Texas Hill Country (approximately 1 hour from San Antonio and 2 hours from Austin). Schreiner University is a Hispanic-serving institution, an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is strongly and actively committed to diversity within its community.

The employment application can be found at the link below. Candidates should include in their application a cover letter, CV, list of three references, and course evaluations if available.

<http://www.schreiner.edu/about/hr/application/index.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/21/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2278

Ramapo College of New Jersey

Rank: Temporary Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor of Political Science
 ONE YEAR TEMPORARY POSITION – ACADEMIC YEAR
 2017-2018

Ramapo College of New Jersey invites applications for a temporary full-time Assistant Professor of Political Science with a specialization in American public policy. Areas of policy research and methodology are open. Primary teaching responsibilities include policy courses within the political science major and public policy minor as well as introductory classes in American politics or political theory. The successful candidate will also help develop policy-related internships. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D., in Political Science or related discipline by the time of appointment.

Applications will be accepted starting on September 26, 2016 by logging on to <http://www.ramapojobs.com>. Attach resume, cover letter, statement of teaching philosophy, research interests, a writing sample and a list of three references. All applications must be completed online. Hard copies of resumes and/or applications will not be accepted. Review of applications will begin after November 1 and will continue until the position is filled. To request accommodations, call (201) 684-7761.

Ramapo College of New Jersey is located in the beautiful foothills of the Ramapo Mountains approximately 25 miles northwest of New York City. Accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, Ramapo College is a comprehensive institution of higher education dedicated to the promotion of teaching and learning within strong liberal arts based curriculum, thus earning the designation "New Jersey's Public Liberal Arts College." Its curricular emphasis includes the liberal arts and sciences, social sciences, fine and performing arts, and the professional programs within a residential and sustainable living and learning environment. Organized into thematic learning communities, Ramapo College provides academic excellence through its interdisciplinary curriculum, international education, intercultural understanding and experiential learning opportunities.

RAMAPO COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY
505 Ramapo Valley Road
Mahwah, NJ 07430

"New Jersey's Public Liberal Arts College"
Ramapo College is a member of the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC), a national alliance of leading liberal arts colleges in the public sector.

EEO/AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2203

Illinois College

Rank: Tenure-Track position in American Politics
Specializations: Political Behavior, Congress, American Politics

Illinois College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics beginning in the Fall of 2017. We seek applicants who are able to offer a variety of courses on American political institutions and political behavior. The ability to teach an introductory methodology course would be helpful, as would an interest in media/social media and politics. We seek a candidate who values the liberal arts and is able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and research. Teaching load is three courses per semester. Completed Ph.D. is preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered.

Illinois College is a residential, private liberal arts college located in historic Jacksonville, Illinois, 70 miles northeast of Saint Louis, Missouri, and 30 miles west of Springfield, the Illinois state capital. True to its founding vision in 1829, Illinois College is a community committed to the highest standards of scholarship and integrity in the liberal arts. Illinois College promotes academic freedom, equality of opportunity, and human dignity through an increasingly diverse student population, currently comprised of 26 percent underrepresented students. The College develops in its students qualities of mind and character needed for fulfilling lives of leadership and service, fostering academic excellence rooted in opportunities for experiential learning while preparing students for lifelong success.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness (syllabi, course evaluations [if available], and a statement of teaching philosophy that includes discussion of teaching to a diverse student body), a statement of research plans, undergraduate and graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference to the Office of Academic Affairs, Attn: Winston Wells, Chair of the Search Committee, Illinois College, 1101 W. College Ave, Jacksonville, IL 62650. Electronic submissions are encouraged; please send materials in PDF format to deansearch@mail.ic.edu.

Review of applications begins November 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Illinois College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from underrepresented minorities and women.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2169

Arizona State University, West Campus

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The School of Social & Behavioral Sciences seeks to hire a tenure-track assistant professor in the area of American politics. The successful candidate will be expected to develop a program of research with national and international reputation in American politics that engages or has a bearing on issues of socio-economic justice or human rights. The successful candidate's research should focus on the way the study of American politics can shed light on some dimension of socio-economic inequality in the United States. For example, research can focus on the way political institutions or processes shape economic policy or economic outcomes; issues related to the representation of ethnic or racial minorities, of gender, or of sexual orientation; the politics of immigration and border control; or the politics of incarceration and prison reform. The social science program in the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is characterized by interdisciplinarity, methodological pluralism, and a social justice orientation. Because of our unique characteristics and because of our interdisciplinary configuration, our faculty often teach courses that cut across disciplinary boundaries and courses in the Social Justice and Human Rights masters program. The successful candidate will demonstrate deep commitment to student learning and engagement and an ability and willingness to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in American politics, Social Justice and Human Rights, Methods, and related subjects. The successful candidate will conduct and publish original research, conduct service for the school, the profession, and the community, and demonstrate potential for leadership in the profession. We encourage our faculty to seek external funding where available and appropriate and would value experience with or ability to seek such funding.

Required Qualifications: a Ph.D. in political science by time of appointment; evidence of an ongoing research program on the themes outlined above and a level of publication consistent with experience; and evidence of successful college/university teachings.

Desired Qualifications: An interest and ability to teach quantitative or qualitative methods courses; an ability to seek external funding where available and appropriate.

Application procedure: Send the following items electronically to Jamie.Howell@asu.edu 1) a letter of application, 2) a current curriculum vitae, 3) three samples of scholarly work and 4) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted without candidate notification). Please reference job # 11693 with your application materials. Application deadline: November 7, 2016; if not filled, every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed.

Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law. See <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401.html> and the complete non-discrimination statement at: <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/7/2016

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2128

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D. in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff. Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2124

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the Assistant Professor level beginning August 2017. Candidates should have a primary research and teaching interest in American Politics with a principal focus on American political institutions. A Ph.D. degree is required. Candidates with ABD status will be considered but they must possess a Ph.D. degree by the time of appointment. Applicants should demonstrate a strong research capability, a commitment to effective teaching, and a willingness to work with colleagues in professional service responsibilities. The teaching load is four classes per year, a 2-2 load.

Mississippi State University is a public, land grant, doctoral university with an enrollment of 23,000 students. The department's degree programs include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Policy and Administration, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 15 faculty members, 197 undergraduate majors, 39 Masters students, and 29 Ph.D. students. The department has strong ties to several research centers within the University, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, and the Stennis Center for Public Service. More information is available on the department at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>. If you require assistance, e-mail the search committee chair, Brian Shoup, at bds223@msstate.edu.

Candidates must submit application materials electronically. Go to the website of our Human Resources Management department at <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> (PARF #493890) and follow the instructions for applying for a job. Your electronic submission should include a cover letter indicating your interest in and qualifications for the position, and a curriculum vita. In addition, please send three letters of recommendation to Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 21, 2016, and the search will remain open until filled. MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2095

Florida State University

Rank: Political Science/African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Caribbean, Civil Rights & Liberties

Florida State University is embarking upon a Diversity and Inclusion initiative, which can be found online at http://hr.fsu.edu/?page=diversity/diversity_initiatives. As part of this initiative, the Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/?q=node/1>) and the FSU African American Studies Center (<http://coss.fsu.edu/aas/>) seek applications for a tenure track or tenured faculty member to participate in their programs. The Department has twenty-two tenured or tenure track and two non-tenure track faculty that serve a large undergraduate program, a master degree in applied politics, and a PhD program. African American Studies is an interdisciplinary undergraduate program that offers BA and BS degrees.

The position is open with respect to candidates' specialization, and they may have doctoral degrees in African American Studies, Political Science, or other related disciplines, with evidence of scholarship and teaching with respect to African Americans and the African diaspora. Teaching will include at least one course in the African American Studies core curriculum, a second course at the nexus of race and politics, and other courses in the political science curriculum. The candidate's tenure home will be in Political Science. Candidates should have strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital city, with a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions. Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) through (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files must be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search.

Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to Political Science/AAS Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer; racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2083

Saint Anselm College

Rank: Endowed Jean Chair of American History and Government

Jean Chair of American History and Government

The History and Politics Departments at Saint Anselm College invite applications for the endowed Jean Chair of American History and Government. The Chair is named in honor of Joseph Jean, a New Hampshire businessman and philanthropist, and alumnus of the College, class of 1953. The committee will consider applications from advanced assistant professors through full professors, granting appointment with tenure to tenured faculty, and appointments on the tenure track to those without tenure.

The appointment will be made in either the History Department or Politics Department depending on the candidate's Ph.D. degree. The committee encourages applications from historians working on U.S. political or constitutional history and from political scientists working on American political development in an area other than political institutions. The committee also prefers scholars who take an interdisciplinary approach to their subject matter or could foster collaboration across these two departments.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach two courses per semester. These will include both existing department course offerings and new courses to be developed for the department in the candidate's area of expertise. Since a 2/2 teaching load constitutes a reduced annual teaching load, the endowed chair must demonstrate correspondingly higher levels of scholarly productivity and leadership in public outreach activities. Other duties include advising, curriculum development, and committee service.

Applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability and research potential (samples of scholarship, articles or conference papers) and academic transcripts to the attention of Dr. Beth Salerno, History Department Chair, via the college website at www.anselm.edu/hr. Three letters of recommendation are required and should be submitted in PDF format via email to the department faculty assistant, Robin Allard, at rallard@anselm.edu. Inquiries can be made to Dr. Beth Salerno at bsalerno@anselm.edu or 603-641-7049. Review of applications and supporting materials will begin October 30, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Required Skills

Ph.D. and record of excellence in scholarship and teaching required.

Required Experience

Candidates need a minimum of four years full-time teaching experience, and candidates for associate or full professor should be widely recognized for their distinction and professional accomplishment.

Founded in 1889, Saint Anselm College is a Catholic, liberal arts college in the Benedictine tradition. The community includes approximately 2,000 students, 150 full-time faculty members and 380 full-time staff in addition to the monks of Saint Anselm Abbey.

Successful candidates will be able to assist the college to further its strategic goals for institution-wide diversity and inclusiveness.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2071

Ohio State University

Rank: American Politics and Director of Democracy Studies

Description: The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of associate or full professor. The successful candidate will have a sustained record of high quality scholarship in the quantitative study of mass political behavior, institutions, or policy making processes. The successful candidate will serve as the Director of the emerging Democracy Studies Program, an interdisciplinary community of faculty from the fields of political science, law, public administration, history, philosophy, communications, and others (see <http://u.osu.edu/democracystudies/>). Through high-profile research projects and other collaborative activities, the Program supports thoughtful inquiry into issues relating to the institutions, processes, and norms of a healthy democratic society. The Director will be responsible for leading the Democracy Studies Program and helping to promote its growth. Beyond serving as the Director, the selected candidate will teach courses within the Department of Political Science. This position is partially funded by Ohio State's Discovery Themes Initiative, a significant faculty hiring investment in key thematic areas in which the university can build on its culture of academic collaboration to make a global impact.

Qualifications: Candidates must have a doctoral degree in political science or a related field. Appointment is contingent on the University's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus: The OSU campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see <http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com/>). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at <http://www.columbus.org>.

Application Instructions: Please submit applications via Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7886>. Complete applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement describing experiences and abilities relevant to the Director position. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled, but those received by October 15, 2016 will receive priority consideration. Inquiries may be made to Professor Kathleen McGraw at mcgraw.36@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2001

Ohio State University

Rank: Race and Gender in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Description:

The department of political science seeks candidates for a tenured or tenure-track position in the study of race and/or gender in politics. We welcome applications from scholars studying comparative politics and international relations, however, we are especially interested in applicants who study race and/or gender as they pertain to politics in the United States. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching excellence, and the promise of attracting external funding.

This position is part of a larger initiative at Ohio State to increase faculty diversity and to promote research and teaching on topics central to race, ethnicity, sex, and gender as well as disparities in modern society linked to these categories. The Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences intends to hire at least eight new faculty members under this initiative. The new cluster of faculty will be able to build a network with many committed professors already at home in the College of Arts and Sciences in the Diversity & Identity Studies

Collective, the Department of Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, and the Department of African American and African Studies. Graduate certificates in this area of inquiry and undergraduate bridge programs are also being built to support this initiative.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have that degree by Autumn 2017. It is possible the successful candidate could have a PhD degree in a cognate field such as sociology or social psychology but a PhD in political science is preferred. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see <http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com/>). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at <http://www.columbus.org>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7871>. A complete application consists of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, and three letters of reference. Applications received prior to October 15, 2016 will receive priority consideration. Inquiries may be directed to Michael Neblo at neblo.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2000

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor- U.S. Government and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC POLICY- {Job link #0407599}- The Political Science Department at James Madison University is seeking a tenure-track faculty member specializing in U.S. Government and Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning with the fall 2017 semester, pending budgetary approval. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. Areas of specialization should include health policy, economic policy, and/or comparative public policy.

The department seeks candidates with strong teaching and research skills. Review of applications will begin October 6, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at Joblink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number{# 0407599}. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

James Madison University is committed to a diverse and inclusive community and to maintaining a work and educational environment that is free of all forms of discrimination.

This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability; genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1980

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics--Behavior

Specializations: Political Psychology, Gender Politics & Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specialization in American Political Behavior. Candidates who study the political psychology and/or race/ethnicity/gender politics are especially encouraged to apply. We prefer candidates with strong quantitative or formal methods training and the ability to teach graduate methods courses. Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. Service duties include program-building, as well as commitment to extra-curricular activities. Service to the department, college, and university is expected. The successful candidate will have his/her PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants for the position will start to be reviewed on 10/15/2016. For questions about the position, contact Dr. Dennis Patterson, Chair, Department of Political Science; dennis.patterson@ttu.edu. These items should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 8508BR.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, though their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1970

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for full-time appointment during the 2017-2018 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. QSS fellows also join a broader community of postdoctoral social science researchers at Dartmouth that includes scholars at the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows.

The stipend for the QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, there may be an opportunity for the fellow to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend. The fellowship can be extended through the 2018-2019 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests no longer than two pages that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/37062.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1934

Georgetown University

Rank: Multiple positions--African American Studies

Seizing this pivotal moment in Georgetown's history, the Department of African American Studies invites applications for at least four open-rank positions, which have an anticipated start date of August 1, 2017. This first set of hires inaugurates a multi-year hiring initiative and is an integral part of Georgetown University's plan to expand African American Studies, and establish a Research Center for Racial Justice. We seek scholars who have an ambitious research agenda, a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, and an earnest desire to help build the newly formed department and participate in other university service. Currently, our strengths lie in African American studies and its intersections with literary studies, sociology, history, and performance studies. Building upon these fields, we seek cross-disciplinary, multi-disciplinary, and trans-disciplinary scholarship that strengthens African American Studies' capacity in psychology, visual studies, philosophy, political science, economics, women's and gender studies, and law and criminology. More specifically, we seek applicants whose research interests engage with one of the following topics:

- Structural and cultural causes of and solutions to black inequality
- Black cultural productions and responses to legacies and impacts of slavery, Jim Crow segregation, and imperialism in US institutions
- How Black intersectionality informs equality and social justice

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in African American Studies or related fields by July 1, 2017. Senior candidates with administrative and departmental leadership interests and experience are especially welcomed. All applicants should specify the rank for which they are applying in the letter of interest.

Applicants without tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), three letters of recommendation, and dissertation abstract (if the candidate is ABD).

Applicants with tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), research statement (current and future projects, or career narrative), and names, telephone numbers, and email addresses for three referees.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants without tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36591>

Applicants with tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36594>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1933

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor American Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning July 2017. A Ph.D is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 17, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1939

Cornell University

Rank: Distinguished Professorship in American Politics

Cornell University invites applications for a distinguished professorship for a position beginning July 1, 2017. We seek to hire a senior scholar of American politics with a distinguished record of scholarship and teaching. Interested prospective candidates should submit a letter of application and curriculum vitae. Electronic application materials should be sent to: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/7740>. Individuals who are interested in learning more or who wish to nominate someone for the position may contact Stacy Kesselring, sk866@cornell.edu. We will begin to review applications starting October 1, 2016, and will continue until the search is completed. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1924

University of the Incarnate Word

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations

Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations (tenure-track, 4-4 load) beginning August 2017.

The successful candidate will have the ability to teach upper division courses in American government, judicial politics and/or public law and a wide range of lower division courses within the field. A strong commitment to undergraduate education is essential.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in American Politics (ABDs considered) with a specialization in judicial politics or public law by July 2017.

The successful candidate will have at least one year of demonstrated university-level teaching experience in the discipline.

Official duties and responsibilities of faculty members at the University of the Incarnate Word include teaching, scholarship, service, and professional activities. In all matters, faculty are expected to maintain the highest standards of professional ethics consistent with the UIW mission.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1920

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
 Political Science Department
 2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
 Office of Human Resources
 1300 Eagle Rd.
 St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1874

Texas Tech University

Rank: American Politics --Institutions

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specialization in American Political Institutions. Candidates who study the executive branch (presidency and/or bureaucracy) are especially encouraged to apply. We prefer candidates with strong quantitative or formal methods training and the ability to teach graduate methods courses. Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. Service duties include program-building, as well as commitment to extra-curricular activities. Service to the department, college, and the university is expected. The successful candidate will have his/her PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants for the position will start to be reviewed on 10/15/2016. For questions about the position, contact Dr. Dennis Patterson, Chair, Department of Political Science; dennis.patterson@ttu.edu

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, though their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/22/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1864

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Institute Professor of Constitutional Democracy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Institute (Assistant/Associate/Full) Professor of Constitutional Democracy to begin in the Fall Semester 2017. The position is open rank in Political Science and holds a joint appointment with the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy.

Started in 2014 and supported by a generous grant from the Kinder Foundation, a family philanthropic foundation established by Rich and Nancy Kinder, the Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center at the University of Missouri dedicated to promoting excellence in teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly construed.

The successful candidate will teach four classes per year, maintain an active research and publishing agenda, contribute to undergraduate and graduate education, and participate in the intellectual community and activities of the Kinder Institute.

Qualifications

Applicants must demonstrate a track record of excellence in teaching and publication in a subject area that advances the mission of the Kinder Institute. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose prior work bridges subfields in political science and reflects the potential to teach courses in the area of political institutions and/or political and constitutional development. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of the appointment.

Application Materials

Applicants should use the online application system available at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Apply for Job ID 20828. See here for a direct link to this job:

https://myhr.umssystem.edu/psp/tamext/COLUM/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&SiteId=9&JobOpeningId=20828&PostingSeq=1.

Applicants should include a statement of teaching philosophy, and an outline of a current research agenda in the "attachments" portion of the system. Applicants should merge their CV with a brief cover letter and upload the document in the Resume/CV section of the application. Candidates at the rank of assistant professor should also include three letters of recommendation. Candidates at the rank of associate or full professor should may provide the names and contact information for three references.

All letters of recommendation should be sent to politicalscience@missouri.edu.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016.

Other Information

For more information about the Kinder Institute, including descriptions of all faculty, graduate and undergraduate programs, please visit democracy.missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umssystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility & ADA Education at 573-882-5835.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1813

Hendrix College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Hendrix College invites applications for a tenure track position for an Assistant Professor of Politics to begin in August 2017. The College seeks to extend its tradition of excellence in teaching and scholarship by attracting faculty who combine mastery of their disciplines with broad intellectual interests and commitment to the aims of a liberal arts college. The successful applicant will teach the basic public policy course; one or two upper level, policy specific courses, and generally contribute to the department's American politics offerings. The successful applicant also will teach a section of Research Methods and participate in the Department's undergraduate research seminar, as well as the college's program in engaged learning. Training that would allow the development of a course in some aspect of political behavior is also a plus. Doctorate is expected by the start date; ABD will be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest in teaching in a demanding liberal arts environment, a curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate and undergraduate transcripts, as well as a statement of scholarly interest. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be requested sent via e-mail to facultyrecs@hendrix.edu. Address cover letter to Dr. Kimberly Maslin, Politics/IR Department Chair. Review of materials will begin October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Electronic submissions are strongly encouraged and can be submitted at <https://goo.gl/PcAgQE>. Hendrix is a distinguished liberal arts college located in Conway, Arkansas, thirty miles from Little Rock at the foothills of the Ozark Mountains. The College, affiliated with the United Methodist Church, has a strong commitment to excellence in teaching liberal arts. Hendrix College strives to maintain an environment free from discrimination and harassment, where employees treat each other with respect, dignity and courtesy. The College adheres to the principle of equal educational and employment opportunity without regard to age, race, color, religion, gender, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, or national origin.

The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: Shawn Goicoechea, Assistant Director of Human Resources & Title IX Coordinator 1600 Washington Ave, Conway, AR 72032 501-450-1415 goicoechea@hendrix.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1784

American University
Rank: Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education

Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education
 AY2016-17
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

American University's School of Public Affairs (SPA) invites applications from accomplished scholars for the position of associate dean for undergraduate education. This position includes a faculty appointment at the rank of (advanced) associate or full professor in the Government Department or the Department of Justice, Law & Criminology beginning June 1, 2017. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. The position offers the unique professional, research, social, and cultural opportunities of a top-ranked school and university located in Washington, DC. In addition, the associate dean for undergraduate education will play a critical role in formulating school policy and be part of a dynamic leadership team.

The School of Public Affairs offers four undergraduate majors, four undergraduate minors, and three highly selective enrichment programs (SPA Leadership Program, Politics, Policy and Law Scholars, and SPA Honors). SPA has approximately 1300 engaged undergraduate students who are research focused and use DC as their laboratory. The associate dean for undergraduate education will provide leadership in the area of undergraduate education and will be responsible for handling all issues that arise concerning undergraduate students in the school. The associate dean directs the activities of the assistant director of recruitment and retention, four academic advisors, enrichment program directors, and serves as the school's Academic Integrity Officer. Duties will also include teaching one course a year in one of the School's degree programs.

American University is reshaping the composition and experience of its undergraduate student body. The University is committed to diversifying the student body in terms of racial/ethnic diversity, geographic diversity, and diversity of socioeconomic status. American University received a record number of undergraduate applications for Fall 2016, resulting in an admit rate of approximately 25 percent. The number of students with SPA undergraduate majors has increased over the past several years. American University is undertaking a multi-year initiative to reinvent the student experience through reimagining service delivery, a focus on student success, and modernization of the undergraduate curriculum. We are looking for an associate dean who will embrace the opportunity to participate in this initiative and shape the future of SPA's undergraduate programs.

Qualifications

Candidates must possess a distinguished record of scholarship in one of the academic fields encompassed by the school's undergraduate programs and meet American University's standards for appointment with tenure at the associate or full professor level. Preference will be given to candidates who have held leadership positions at the university, school, department or program level and who can also provide evidence of advancing their university's academic standing, scholarship, or research productivity.

Application Process

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2016, and continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35978>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of administrative experience and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/9/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1756

Texas Woman's University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of History and Government at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2016. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics and a secondary field in public affairs/policy. A focus on women and politics is highly desirable. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses in Public Affairs/policy. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience

The History and Government Department offers a Bachelor and Masters in Government as well as the Bachelors in Criminal Justice (co-administered with the Department of Sociology and Social Work).

The department has 5 full-time Government faculty members (plus 5 full-time History faculty) offering degrees to approximately 115 undergraduate Government majors and 20 Master's students.

Send a cover letter, graduate transcripts, CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample of scholarly work, and three letters of reference to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Tim Hoye, at THoye@twu.edu. Review of applications will begin on Nov. 1, 2016.

Texas Woman's University strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. Texas Woman's University is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, or against qualified disabled persons.

Individuals may qualify for a Veteran's Employment Preference or a Former Foster Youth Employment Preference at Texas Woman's University over other applicants for the same position who do not have a greater qualification. If you believe you may qualify, click here for more information and instructions on how to claim an employment preference: <http://www.twu.edu/recruitment-selection/6589.asp>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1731

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Boston College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position, beginning September 2017. We are looking for someone who combines a broad interest in American politics with special interest in the politics of regulation. We are interested in applicants who study any form of government regulation. Applicants should have a solid background in the study of American political institutions and policymaking, and be able to teach at least one course on the politics of environmental regulation. Applicants should have completed the PhD or be very near to finishing. Rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor, depending upon degree status.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Interested candidates should upload a letter of introduction, including research and teaching interests; curriculum vitae; graduate transcript; and writing sample; and, if available, evidence of teaching excellence to the Interfolio online system at APPLY.INTERFOLIO.COM/36473. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by the individual writers. Completed applications must be received by October 15, 2016. No email or U.S.P.S. applications will be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/3/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1726

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for one tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2017. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of democratic representation, particularly as it relates to the study of underrepresented minorities, either in the U.S. or cross-nationally.

Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by November 1, 2017. The application deadline is September 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted until the search is closed. All applications should be submitted electronically via <https://jobs.rice.edu/> (from this page, select "Faculty," then choose "Assistant Professor of Political Science" or "Associate Professor of Political Science," according to your level). A complete application for candidates at the assistant professor level will include (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) two writing samples, and (5) three letters of recommendation. Candidates who currently hold the rank of associate professor are asked to submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, and information for at least three references.

Equal Opportunity Employer – Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1611

University of Redlands

Rank: Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for the Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017 semester.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics or Comparative Politics with U.S. expertise), with at least five years of professional experience, preferably at a liberal arts institution. We especially welcome applications from candidates from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position.

Please submit application materials (including letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, samples of scholarly work, and three letters of reference, under separate cover) electronically at apply@redlands.edu or mail to: Human Resources, University of Redlands, PO Box 3080, Redlands CA 92373-0999. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2016, and position will remain open until filled.

Inquiries can be directed to steve_wuhs@redlands.edu, including requests for interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in Philadelphia, PA.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and/or experiences in the area of inclusivity. Strongly preferred are candidates with demonstrated experience working with diverse student populations. The University of Redlands is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Employer and actively encourages applications from minority and other members of underrepresented groups. The University of Redlands does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, disability, age, marital status, or sexual orientation in its programs and activities.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1593

American University

Rank: Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics
Specializations: Electoral Behavior, Presidency, Congress

Position Announcement

Director, Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies and Associate or Full Professor in American Politics

Department of Government
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a faculty position at the rank of associate or full professor to serve as the Director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies (CCPS) beginning August 1, 2017. The Director is responsible for developing and facilitating high-profile research projects and creating public programming that draws on the expertise of AU faculty and leading analysts from the Washington, DC community and beyond. The Director should ensure that CCPS contributes to the national dialogue about Congress, the Presidency, campaigns, and elections. The Director must secure external funding to support CCPS work and enhance the School of Public Affairs' prominence as a venue for high impact research and policy analysis.

Since its establishment in 1979, CCPS has facilitated collaborative research projects, organized hundreds of forums and conferences related to American politics, promoted curriculum development, and connected its work to policymakers, journalists, students, and academics who put research findings into practice. The new Director will be expected to continue that legacy and position CCPS to become even more influential.

Applicants should hold a doctoral degree in political science with a focus on American political institutions – Congress or the Presidency – and related subfields including campaigns and elections. We seek to recruit candidates who are theoretically sophisticated, methodologically rigorous, and have demonstrated success in externally funded research, high impact publications, and teaching. Depending on qualifications, the candidate will be hired at the rank of either Associate or Full Professor and will be suitable for tenure at the time of hiring.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35010>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of research interests, statement of vision for CCPS, and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

The Center for Congressional Presidential Studies has organized over 300 conferences and academic forums since its founding. The research focus of the Center has been on Congress and the presidency, U.S. elections and issues and policies facing the two institutions. The Center staff consists of full time and part-time affiliated faculty, graduate students, and an administrative staff member. See website: american.edu/spa/ccps for details on all Center videos, programs and publications. The Center publishes the refereed journal, Congress and the Presidency, since 1984. The Center has successfully solicited funding for its research, educational activities, and student scholarships since its founding and has sponsored over thirty visiting research fellows

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/16/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1475

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science

The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science for the 2016-2017 academic year, with the possibility of renewal for AY 2017-2018. The Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center dedicated to revitalizing teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly understood to include the origins and development of the nation's constitutional and democratic traditions as well as their application and reinterpretation in later periods and around the world. Our mission and activities are detailed on our website, <http://democracy.missouri.edu>.

The Kinder Postdoctoral Fellow will teach two political science courses per year on subjects appropriate to the Institute's mission as well as conduct research, and will be expected to be in residence at the University of Missouri during the academic year, contributing to the life of the Political Science Department and participating in Kinder Institute discussions and events. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research focuses on American constitutional and political development and/or American political thought and who would benefit from collaborating with one or more current MU faculty members. Candidates are encouraged to consult the websites of the Department of Political Science (<http://politicalscience.missouri.edu>) and Kinder Institute for information on current faculty research interests and to contact potential faculty collaborators directly. The Kinder Postdoctoral Fellow will receive a salary of $50,000 plus full benefits and will be provided with office space and staff support. Additional funds for travel and research are available from the Kinder Institute and the university. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Government is required by the time the fellowship begins in August 2016.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, research proposal of no more than 10 pages, curriculum vitae, two emblematic examples of their written scholarly work, sample syllabi for courses they would be interested in teaching, and three letters of recommendation (sealed or under separate cover) to: Thomas Kane, Kinder Institute Communications Associate, University of Missouri, 112 Read Hall, Columbia, MO 65211-7500. Materials also can be sent electronically, using Kinder Postdoctoral Fellowship Application in the subject line, to KaneTC@missouri.edu. Specific questions concerning the fellowship should be directed to Justin Dyer, Professor of Political Science and Director of the Kinder Institute, at DyerJB@missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is an EO/AA employer. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. To request ADA accommodations, please contact our ADA Coordinator. Review of applications will begin on March 1, 2016, and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1311

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Bridgewater College of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Global Politics

The Department of History and Political Science at Bridgewater College seeks a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor to teach classes in Global Politics beginning in August 2017.

The successful candidate will possess a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, Global or Comparative Politics. Candidates who are ABD will be considered if their degree is expected to be conferred by August 1, 2017. Teaching responsibilities include a range of courses in International Relations and Comparative Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who have experience with, or interest in, the creation of a Model UN. Candidates will be expected to show a commitment to teaching and mentoring students within a liberal arts context and are willing to participate in the College's First Year Seminar and General Education programs. The teaching load is 21 semester credits per year (3-3-1 or 4-3 distribution) on a semester with May term calendar. The Department of History and Political Science consists of six historians and four political scientists, and offers majors in History, Political Science, History and Political Science, and Global Studies.

MISSION: Bridgewater College is a residential liberal arts college of almost 1900 students with a vibrant core curriculum and a growing focus on undergraduate research. The College emphasizes creativity and innovation in pedagogy and research. Successful faculty members are dedicated to advising and mentoring students, contributing to campus-wide faculty initiatives, and maintaining an active research agenda. Bridgewater seeks faculty members eager to engage and support our commitment to liberal learning, and so application materials should address how you might contribute to the College's liberal arts mission or ways that this mission informs your vocation as teacher and scholar.

GENERAL INFORMATION: Bridgewater College was founded in 1880 as the first coeducational college in Virginia and has an educational philosophy of developing the whole person and equipping students to become leaders with a strong sense of personal accountability and civic responsibility. The College offers 63 majors and minors, 29 concentrations and emphases, pre-professional programs, dual degree programs, teacher education and certification, and its first graduate program in athletic training. Bridgewater's growing enrollment includes students from 30 states and eight countries. The College is a member of NCAA Division III and the Old Dominion Athletic Conference, and sponsors 22 intercollegiate athletic teams and an equestrian team that competes in the IHSA.

The beautiful and vibrant 300-acre residential campus includes an equestrian center and is located in the town of Bridgewater in the midst of the Shenandoah Valley. It is conveniently situated to provide easy access to both Washington D.C. and Richmond, each only two hours away. The area is a desirable locale for people who enjoy sports and outdoor activities. An excellent school system, a healthy business environment, the state's lowest crime rate, and the natural beauty of the region draw many graduates back to the area. The College enjoys tremendous support from the local community.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION CONTACT: Dr. Brandon Marsh at: bmarsh@bridgewater.edu.

APPLICATION: Please complete the online application (<https://jobs.bridgewater.edu/public/createApplication.php>) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts. Three letters of recommendation should be forwarded to Courtney Ritchie at critchie@bridgewater.edu.

DEADLINE: To receive full consideration, application materials should be received by March 1, 2017.

Bridgewater College is a welcoming and vibrant community committed to supporting a diverse faculty, and actively seeks applications from women, minorities, and other persons from traditionally under-represented groups. Bridgewater College is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 3/1/2017
Date Posted: 1/23/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2563

University of Mannheim

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

The School of Social Sciences, Department of Political Science at the University of Mannheim, seeks applications for the position of an

Assistant Professor in International Politics and Development (non-tenure track)

starting 1 September 2017. The position is temporary until 31 August 2023.

The University of Mannheim is seeking to employ a junior scholar in the field of international politics and development. The successful candidate must have a doctoral degree, commitment to excellence in teaching, and documented excellence in research.

The University of Mannheim offers an excellent international research environment, visible in the Mannheim Centre for European Social Research (MZES), the Collaborative Research Centre SFB 884 on "Political Economy of Reforms", the Graduate School of Economic and Social Sciences (GESS), and the editorship of the American Political Science Review (APSR). The candidate is expected to play an active role in the further development of MZES, SFB and GESS.

Please submit your application online at <http://jobs.sowi.uni-mannheim.de/> <<http://jobs.sowi.uni-mannheim.de/>>.

All applications received before 5 February 2017 will be given full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/4/2017
Date Posted: 1/23/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2562

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies and The Europe Center at Stanford University seek to appoint a postdoctoral research associate for the academic year 2017-18, beginning September 11, 2017 and concluding August 30, 2018 with the possibility of a one year renewal subject to available funding. The position involves working with the Center Director, Professor Kenneth Scheve, on a range of Center research and institutional projects including, but not limited to, studies on public finance, inequality, climate change cooperation, and the politics of globalization. Responsibilities will vary but likely include assisting with the design and implementation of original surveys, data collection and management, assistance in archival research, preliminary data analysis, and grant writing. There will also be substantial opportunities for the postdoc to pursue their own research projects, participate in collaborative research, and take advantage of the intellectual life at the Freeman Spogli Institute and related departments. Technical skills such as computer programming are highly desirable as is some coursework in political economy. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. Proof of completion of doctoral degree is required before starting the position and the start date must be no more than three years after degree conferral. The position provides stipend and benefits, set and adjusted in accordance with Stanford University rules. Stanford University is an equal opportunity-affirmative action employer. Stanford values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty, and strongly encourages applications from women and underrepresented minorities.

Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Scheve at scheve@stanford.edu. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All applications must be submitted on-line through <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8819>. Applications should be submitted by February 17, 2017

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/17/2017
Date Posted: 1/18/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2558

Adelphi University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor
 Political Science - Comparative Politics
 Non-Tenure Track Fall 2017
 Adelphi University College of Arts & Sciences

Adelphi University is a nationally ranked, doctoral research university offering exceptional liberal arts and sciences programs and professional training with particular strength in its Core Four—AU Arts and Humanities, AU STEM and Social Sciences, AU Professions, and AU Health and Wellness. The Political Science Department at Adelphi University is seeking qualified candidates for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor for the 2017-2018 academic year, beginning Fall, 2017.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. and bring teaching experience and research expertise in comparative politics. Specifically, the department is looking for candidates with expertise in non-European area studies, security studies, and/or comparative foreign policy. Potential for excellent teaching and research at an undergraduate institution is essential. The teaching load is 18 credits per academic year. The successful applicant will have the opportunity to work with departmental mentors in teaching and research. This position has the potential to be renewed.

A complete application must include a curriculum vitae, letter of application, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of recommendation. At least one of the letters of recommendation, which must address teaching effectiveness, should be sent directly by the recommender to the department's administrative assistant, dkelleher@adelphi.edu. Please put the candidate's name and the words "applicant for visiting position" in the subject-line.

Review of applications will begin on January, 30, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

Except for the letter(s) of recommendation (indicated above), applicants should apply online at www.adelphi.edu/positions/faculty

Employment is contingent upon a satisfactory background check.

Adelphi University is a private, student-centered university of approximately 8,000 students located in the New York metropolitan region, on Long Island, 10 miles from JFK airport. Students and faculty have easy and ready access to the extraordinary resources and opportunities of the New York area. For more information about the School, visit www.adelphi.edu

Adelphi University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to building a diverse workforce and strongly encourages applications from women, under-represented groups, members of the LGBT community, people with disabilities and veterans. Adelphi University is an EEO/AA employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2543

Adelphi University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor

Political Science - Comparative Politics

Non-Tenure Track Fall 2017

Adelphi University College of Arts & Sciences

Adelphi University is a nationally ranked, doctoral research university offering exceptional liberal arts and sciences programs and professional training with particular strength in its Core Four—AU Arts and Humanities, AU STEM and Social Sciences, AU Professions, and AU Health and Wellness. The Political Science Department at Adelphi University is seeking qualified candidates for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor for the 2017-2018 academic year, beginning Fall, 2017.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. and bring teaching experience and research expertise in comparative politics. Specifically, the department is looking for candidates with expertise in non-European area studies, security studies, and/or comparative foreign policy. Potential for excellent teaching and research at an undergraduate institution is essential. The teaching load is 18 credits per academic year. The successful applicant will have the opportunity to work with departmental mentors in teaching and research. This position has the potential to be renewed.

A complete application must include a curriculum vitae, letter of application, teaching statement, research statement, and three letters of recommendation. At least one of the letters of recommendation, which must address teaching effectiveness, should be sent directly by the recommender to the department's administrative assistant, dkelleher@adelphi.edu. Please put the candidate's name and the words "applicant for visiting position" in the subject-line.

Review of applications will begin on January, 30, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

Except for the letter(s) of recommendation (indicated above), applicants should apply online at www.adelphi.edu/positions/faculty

Employment is contingent upon a satisfactory background check.

Adelphi University is a private, student-centered university of approximately 8,000 students located in the New York metropolitan region, on Long Island, 10 miles from JFK airport. Students and faculty have easy and ready access to the extraordinary resources and opportunities of the New York area. For more information about the School, visit www.adelphi.edu

Adelphi University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to building a diverse workforce and strongly encourages applications from women, under-represented groups, members of the LGBT community, people with disabilities and veterans. Adelphi University is an EEO/AA employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2544

Wake Forest University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor Comparative/International Politics

Specializations: East Asia, Latin American, Developing Nations

Visiting Assistant Professor Comparative/International Politics

The Department of Politics and International Affairs of Wake Forest University invites applications for a visiting one year leave replacement position in Comparative/International Politics for the 2017--2018 academic year. The position involves teaching 3 courses each semester (both introductory and upper-level) in the area(s) of the candidate's expertise. We are particularly interested in area expertise in East Asia or Latin America, but will consider candidates with other regional expertise as well.

Applicants should submit online the following materials by February 17, 2017. Please note materials should be in either Word or PDF format and there is a limit of 5 file uploads per applicant.

- a cover letter directed to Dr. Katy Harriger, Chair, Department of Politics and International Affairs;
- curriculum vitae;
- graduate transcripts;
- a statement of teaching philosophy, course outlines, and teaching evaluation summaries (combined in one single attachment)

Applicants must make arrangements to have three confidential letters of recommendation (in either Word or PDF format) sent to letters@wfu.edu. The submission of an online application for Wake Forest University is required for this position. Questions about the application process may be addressed to wakejobs@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for all final candidates being considered for employment.

Wake Forest University welcomes and encourages diversity and inclusion and seeks applications from women and members of underrepresented groups. It seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce to maintain the excellence of the University.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2546

Austin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Austin College Political Science Department invites applications for a one-year position in IR/Comparative beginning in the Fall of 2017. ABD's are encouraged to apply, Ph.D.'s are preferred. A demonstrated commitment to undergraduate teaching is required. Teaching load is 3-3 plus a January term course. We invite applicants to demonstrate in their letter of application which courses they would be prepared to offer and how they would contribute to the department's desire for a well-rounded political science curriculum.

Austin College is a leading national independent liberal arts college located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. Founded in 1849, making it the oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under original charter and name, the college is related by covenant to the Presbyterian Church (USA). Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, the College seeks to provide an academically challenging and lively community of students and teachers who are committed to intellectual growth through individual and collaborative endeavors. Austin College is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book Colleges That Change Lives.

Candidates should include: a letter of application, CV, copies of graduate transcripts, a one-page statement of teaching philosophy, other supporting materials you wish us to consider, and two recent letters of recommendation. Please combine materials into one PDF document and email to PoliticalScienceSearch@austincollege.edu (preferred). Referees should send their letters to the same email address with your name in the subject line. We also accept hard copies mailed to Dr. Sheila Amin Gutiérrez de Piñeres, Vice President for Academic Affairs, 900 N. Grand Ave, Suite 6D, Sherman, Texas 75090-4400. Review of applications begins February 1st and will continue until the position is filled. If you have questions about the search, you may contact the Chair of the Political Science Department, Nate Bigelow, at nbigelow@austincollege.edu.

Austin College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff and student body and welcomes all applicants. Must be legally authorized to work without sponsorship for employment visa status (e.g., H1B status).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2539

Lund University

Rank: Assistant professor and postdoc in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations

We are looking for ambitious political scientists in the beginning of their career who aim for a future career as university lecturer and researcher. We are hiring at least one assistant professor and at least one postdoctoral fellow.

The positions are associated with the research program State-Making and the Origins of Global Order in the Long Nineteenth Century and Beyond (STANCE), led by Professor Jan Teorell at the Department of Political Science in Lund, and funded by Riksbankens Jubileumsfond

(www.stanceatlund.org). The project started in 2015 and will end in 2020. The program aims to bridge the gaps between comparative politics and IR, and between the study of political thought and positive empirical political science. Three overall research themes constitute the core of this research program: (1) How did the different dimensions of state-making, including internal and external sovereignty, revenue extraction, professionalization of the bureaucracy and the development of infrastructural capacity, evolve and interact during this time period? What actors and organized interests supported or put up resistance to these processes? (2) How were these dimensions of state-making affected by geopolitical competition, warfare and the diffusion of novel political technologies? (3) What were the consequences for the international system, both with respect to the type of state that emerged and what entities were granted membership in the state system?

The person(s) offered the position(s) will be expected to carry out research that contributes to the fulfillment of at least one of the overall research themes. However, each member of the project conducts independent research and enjoys the freedom to choose his or her own research questions, develop his or her own theoretical ideas, and choose the most appropriate methods. Methodologically the program aims for a mixed-methods approach ranging from quantitative methods to single case studies, textual interpretation and archival studies. Hence, we expect candidates with broad methodological training and an open mind to take on novel approaches.

The Lund University job application portal should be used when applying. Please follow these links for more information:

The postdoctoral fellowship:

<https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what:job/jobID:129005/>

The assistant professorship:

<https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what:job/jobID:129626/>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 1/13/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2536

Brunel University

Rank: Professor Political Science

Politics & International Relations at Brunel University London is part of a thriving interdisciplinary Department, which also includes History and Law. It has a superb research record with 64% of research rated as being internationally excellent or world-leading in REF2014. We are ranked 12th in the UK in terms of Research Intensity. Our NSS results in recent years have placed us in the top quartile in the UK for student satisfaction, and internationally we have been ranked in the QS ranking top 200 for Politics & International Studies.

We are seeking to recruit a Professor of Comparative Politics. Our preference is for a candidate who can also offer research and teaching in quantitative analysis. The successful candidate will join a vibrant department and an energetic and internationally orientated group working in comparative politics and public policy. In keeping with the seniority of this role, the successful applicant will be expected to make a significant contribution both to research and the academic leadership of the department. You will also be expected to participate in at least one of the research centres and/or hubs in the College of Business, Arts & Social Sciences, or a University Research Institute.

More information about the Department can be found on the Departmental website: <http://www.brunel.ac.uk/cbass/politics-history-law>

Informal enquiries about the posts and the Department can be made to the Head of Department, Professor Justin Fisher (justin.fisher@brunel.ac.uk).

Closing date for applications: 12 February 2017
Interviews will be held on Tuesday 28 March 2017

Full details available at:
<https://jobs.brunel.ac.uk/wrl/pages/vacancy.jsf?latest=01006963>

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 2/12/2017
Date Posted: 1/11/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2531

Knox College Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Knox College invites applications for a full time visiting assistant professor in comparative politics for the 2017-2018 academic year. Knox College operates on a trimester system with a 2-2-2 teaching load.

The successful candidate should be prepared to teach introductory and advanced courses in comparative politics with a primary focus on an area other than Latin America. Ability to teach in more than one area is a plus. The candidate should be a PH.D or advanced ABD in Political Science, International Relations or a closely related field. The candidate should also have significant fieldwork experience and experience working with diverse students..

Interested applicants should send (1) a letter of interest, including a statement of teaching philosophy, (2) a CV, (3) teaching evaluations and any other evidence of teaching excellence, (4) three letters of recommendation, with at least one addressing teaching, (5) Unofficial graduate transcripts, (6) two examples of recent scholarship such as articles, book chapters or conference papers to politicalsciencesearch@knox.edu. Review of applications begins February 1, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Duane Oldfield, Department Chair, doldfiel@knox.edu or 309-341-7156.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/10/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2528

University of Pennsylvania Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowship - The Center for the Study of Contemporary China

Post-doctoral Fellowship
The Center for the Study of Contemporary China
University of Pennsylvania

The Center for the Study of Contemporary China (<http://cscs.upenn.edu/>) at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications to fill two postdoctoral fellowship positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. Applications are welcomed from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 30, 2017.

The CSCC postdoctoral fellowships support research on all aspects of contemporary China that fall within the broad mission of the CSCC -- to advance Penn's leadership in programs, research, and scholarship about the political, legal, economic, and social factors shaping China and its role in the world today. The Center provides an institutional home for campus-wide collaboration among departments, programs, institutes, faculty and students at Penn engaged in work pertaining to contemporary China. Activities include conferences, roundtables, and a speaker series.

Fellows at the CSCC will pursue their own research and participate in the activities of the Center. Because fellows are expected to be fully integrated with the intellectual life of the Center, they must plan to physically reside in the vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania. Each fellow receives a stipend of $48,000, a $2500 research fund, and health insurance.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. CSCC starts to accept application on December 1, 2016. Applications will be reviewed starting March 1, 2017. To receive full consideration, your application should be received by that date. Applicants will be notified of the outcome in early April, 2017. To apply, please send a C.V., a research statement, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to cscs-contact@sas.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/5/2017
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 2523

Williams College Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Russian/Post-Soviet Politics

Mellon Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Russian/Post-Soviet Politics

The Department of Political Science at Williams College invites applications for a post-doctoral fellowship in Russian/Post-Soviet Politics, beginning July 1, 2017. We welcome applications from candidates who have completed their PhD. within the last five years and also those who have not yet completed their Ph.D. but will have the Ph.D. in hand by the start date of the appointment.

Williams is an institution that places a high value on undergraduate teaching. The successful applicant will provide evidence of excellence in teaching, including (if available) teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context. We welcome applications from candidates in any area of specialty within Russian/Post-Soviet Politics. We have particular interest in Russian foreign policy, religious and/or ethnic politics, contemporary Russian political thought, and political demography. We also strongly prefer applicants who have a commitment to working effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

The successful candidate will be appointed for a term of two years and will have a teaching load of one course each semester. The baseline stipend for these positions is $45,000 per year plus an allowance of $3,000 per year for research and professional travel expenses. Fellows will also be provided with full benefits including health and dental insurance. These positions are made possible by a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

Applications should be submitted via Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/40016 and should include a c.v., a two page statement describing your research, a one or two page statement describing your teaching interests, and at least three letters of reference. Applications completed by January 30, 2017 will receive full consideration. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

Fax and email applications not accepted. Inquiries may be sent to James.McAllister@williams.edu.

Williams College is a coeducational liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/5/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2521

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for an approved, one-year appointment in the 2017-18 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics. The successful applicant should provide evidence of excellence in teaching, including (if available) teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context. We also strongly prefer applicants who have a commitment to working effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates will be expected to teach four courses per academic year. We particularly seek individuals who can teach courses focused on East Asia or Africa, and complement the department's existing comparative curriculum. Candidates should have the Ph.D. in hand or completed by June 2017. We will begin to review applications on February 15th but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/40034 and should include: a letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; 2 syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations; and a writing sample of only one article or chapter.

Fax and email applications not accepted. Inquiries may be sent to Sarah.Campbell-Copp@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>.

Williams College is a coeducational liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams College is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/5/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2522

Susquehanna University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, East Asia, Middle East

The Department of Political Science at Susquehanna University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics beginning with the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate must be able to teach both introductory and advanced courses on the government and politics of the Middle East, Africa, or Asia, as well as introductory international relations. The candidate will have the opportunity to teach other courses in comparative politics and international relations. It is preferred that the candidate also be qualified to teach an introductory course in methodology. An ability to teach a course in comparative public policy will be considered a plus. Most upper-level courses are taught every other year and the normal teaching load is three courses per semester. Requirements include a Ph.D. or evidence that all doctoral degree requirements will be completed by June 1, 2017. Teaching experience is highly preferred and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and research in a small undergraduate liberal arts university is expected.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching objectives, statement on how the applicant will contribute to the university's commitment to diversity and inclusion, three letters of reference, and a current email address. Please submit online at <https://jobs.susqu.edu/>. Any inquiries should be sent to the department head, Dr. Michele DeMary, at poliscisearch@susqu.edu. Review of applications begins February 3 and will continue until the position is filled.

As a living, learning and working community, Susquehanna University affirms its commitment to being an engaged, culturally inclusive campus. As we seek to embody the rich diversity of the human community, we commit ourselves to the full participation of persons who represent the breadth of human difference. The university encourages candidates from historically underrepresented groups to apply. Susquehanna University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Susquehanna University is a national liberal arts college committed to excellence in educating students for productive, creative and reflective lives of achievement, leadership and service in a diverse, dynamic and interdependent world. Its more than 2,200 undergraduates come from 35 states and 22 countries, and all students study away through Susquehanna's unique Global Opportunities program. Susquehanna University's 325 acre campus, noted for its beauty, is located in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, 50 miles north of Harrisburg in the scenic Susquehanna River Valley, about a three hour drive from Philadelphia,

Washington, D.C., and New York City. For more information, please visit <https://www.susqu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/3/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2508

SUNY, Binghamton University

Rank: Post Doc Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Post-doctoral Research and Teaching Fellowship – Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention.

Binghamton University seeks applications for a one-year (non-renewable) post-doctoral Fellow, in conjunction with its new Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention, to be launched in 2017. The GMAP Fellowship supports recent recipients of terminal degrees in academic disciplines contributing to the study of policies and practices designed to prevent the commission of acts of genocide and mass atrocities. Applicants must have their terminal degree conferred by the Fellowship start date of August 20, 2017. Recent PhDs in such disciplines (e.g. political science and international studies, sociology or anthropology, geography or public administration) are welcome to apply. In appropriate circumstances applications from recent recipients of the J.D., and from those already occupying temporary or tenure-track positions, will also be considered. Binghamton University's GMAP Institute will concentrate specifically on the formation, implementation, and assessment of practical preventative measures and policies. Applicants should present a research program or proposal that documents this practical dimension. The Fellow will conduct research, collaborate with Binghamton University faculty and graduate students associated with the Institute, and will offer at least one public lecture and/or workshop during the academic year. The Fellow will also be expected to offer one academic course per semester related to the Fellow's research at either the graduate or undergraduate level, in an appropriate department. The GMAP Fellowship offers a competitive salary and benefits package including financial support for research activities.

Candidates should submit a complete online application at the position's Interview Exchange site: [<https://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=79736>]. Application materials include: (1) a short cover letter, (2) a CV, (3) a detailed research proposal including a statement of how the proposal furthers research in the prevention of genocide and mass atrocity, (4) titles of two or three possible courses, (5) three confidential letters of recommendation. Informal inquiries can be directed to members of the GMAP Fellowship Search Committee: Nadia Rubaii [nadia.rubaii@binghamton.edu], Dave Clark [dclark@binghamton.edu] or Max Pensky [mpensky@binghamton.edu]. Review of complete applications will begin on February 15 and continue until the position has been filled. The State University of New York and Binghamton University are Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employers.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/21/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2502

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Assistant Professor (tenure-track), V-Dem Institute, University of Gothenburg

Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) is a large-scale data collection and research program, see <https://v-dem.net>. The V-Dem Institute, Directed by Professor Staffan I. Lindberg, has several large-scale grants. The term for this position in Swedish is biträdande lektor. The official translation (to British English) is Associate Senior Lecture. The position is the equivalent to what in the American university system is called Assistant Professor. The official time before coming up for tenure and promotion is four years, but can be extended to five years.

The successful candidate is primarily expected to conduct research with a focus on the main questions of the research program "Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization", funded by an European Research Council Consolidator Grant. In addition, it is expected to teach in the department and to contribute to the daily activities of the V-Dem Institute (as needed with administrative tasks, coding and quality control, data management etc). Research is guaranteed at a minimum of 50 percent of full time employment (FTE) and in practice will probably be around 75 percent.

The position is open to candidates who have a PhD in political science or related field, within seven years of graduation. Internationally recognized scientific excellence in one, or preferably more than one, of the following areas is a requirement:

- Research in the field of comparative democratization
- Significant explicit interest in further extending on and use the sequencing methods developed in the V-Dem research program
- Advanced time-series, cross-sectional regression techniques, preferably including Vector Auto-Regression (VAR)
- Sequencing algorithms, and/or Dynamic Treatment Regimes

Documented experience with teaching at under-/graduate level, is required, and service to the profession and society is a merit.

The applicant should demonstrate resourcefulness, flexibility, and very good ability to work together in different configurations. Excellence in English (orally and written) is a requirement. Personal qualities relevant for the position are of great importance.

How to apply:

Applications are submitted online at: http://www.gu.se/english/about_the_university/announcements-in-the-job-application-portal/?languageId=100001&disableRedirect=true&returnUrl=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.gu.se%2Fomuniversitetet%2Faktuellt%2Fledigaanstallningar%2F%3Fid%3D19144%26Dnr%3D812200%26Type%3DS&Dnr=812200&Type=S

Applicants are expected to download the project description of "Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization" from <http://pol.gu.se/english/varieties-of-democracy--v-dem->. The application letter should relate to the project description and state clearly how the applicant fulfills the criteria stated above. The application should also include: a research proposal (3-5 pages) directly addressing the project "Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization"; a CV including information about teaching experience; a writing sample; an excerpt from Google Scholar with information about the number of citations, h-index; and a list of at least three persons who are prepared to submit letters of recommendation upon request.

About the University: the Department of Political Science, University of Gothenburg, is a leading Political Science department in the Nordic countries. The department hosts several large research programs, including the Quality of Government Institute (QoG), the Centre for European Research (CERGU), the Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) Institute, the Media, Opinion and Democracy (MOD), and the National Election Studies. The department is also a key actor in the SOM Institute responsible for comprehensive annual public opinion surveys. It has 140 employees, out of which more than 70 are faculty and researchers, and it hosts about 1,400 students. The department offers courses at undergraduate and graduate levels in both English and Swedish.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 1/31/2017

Date Posted: 12/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2493

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.

Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our

University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here:

http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost_constitutions/documents/hf_jp-ii_apc_15081990_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu . Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2488

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Penn CSERI Post-Doctoral Fellowship on Race, Ethnicity and Immigration

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Other

Penn CSERI Post-Doctoral Fellowship

2017-2018 Academic Year

Application Deadline: January 22, 2017

Apply through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/39663>

The Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (CSERI) invites applications for a one-year postdoctoral research fellowship in the social sciences, starting August 1, 2017.

The Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration is a new center initiative supported by the University of Pennsylvania and the School of Arts and Sciences which, in addition to this post-doctoral fellowship, will host visiting scholars and graduate students, help organize workshops initiated by the center's Faculty Advisory Council, and support graduate and undergraduate student social science research at Penn.

The 2017-2018 CSERI Postdoctoral Research Fellow will collaborate with Center Director Michael Jones-Correa and other center faculty affiliates on research projects related to race and ethnic relations and/or immigrant political incorporation in the United States; help organize and participate in faculty/graduate student workshops; and aid in evaluating the progress of graduate students and undergraduates receiving research grants. In addition, the Fellow will have the opportunity to pursue their own research and participate more generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $50,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $1,000 in research support.

QUALIFICATIONS

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than 2014), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2017.

Skills with statistical analysis, qualitative software, GIS, experimental and other approaches are highly desirable

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Apply through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/39663>

Applications will be reviewed starting January 22, 2017. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date. Final notifications are expected to go out in March 2017.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, writing sample (maximum of 20 pp), a research statement (2 pages), a graduate transcript, and 3 letters of recommendation.

For more information on the Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration, contact CSERI center director at mjonescorrea@sas.upenn.edu or Matthew Roth, administrator, at maroth@sas.upenn.edu

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 1/22/2017

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2492

University of Strathclyde

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor

UNIVERSITY OF STRATHCLYDE, GLASGOW
SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC POLICY

PROFESSOR/ ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

COMPARATIVE POLITICS / INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The School of Government and Public Policy seeks to appoint a Professor or Reader (equivalent to advanced Associate Professor) in 2017 or 2018. The School has a distinguished record of research in comparative politics, political behaviour and national and international governance. In the most recent UK-wide assessment of research in Politics and International Studies (Research Excellence Framework 2014), the School was ranked 1st in Scotland and 6th in the UK on both research intensity and research impact. We offer a collegial, international and intellectually stimulating research environment, well-developed undergraduate and graduate programs, competitive and family-friendly employment conditions, and a vibrant city in the West of Scotland. For more details about the School, visit:

<https://www.strath.ac.uk/humanities/governmentpublicpolicy/>

We seek a senior colleague who has produced scholarship of the highest international standards, including articles in the discipline's top general journals and books with major university presses. We are interested in candidates who strengthen our existing areas expertise, as well as those who could develop new areas, both in terms of subfields and geographic focus. Candidates for this post should have held high-value research grants, and demonstrated institutional leadership commensurate with the level of appointment sought. Successful applicants will contribute to leadership within the School and University, possibly taking on the role of Head of School at some point in the future.

This opportunity is part of a major University initiative, the Global Talent Attraction Platform, which aims to attract exceptional research leaders. For more details of this initiative visit:

<http://www.strathvacancies.co.uk>

Informal inquiries, expressions of interest and nominations may be directed to the Head of School, Prof. Robert Thomson, robert.thomson@strath.ac.uk. Please contact Prof. Thomson before submitting an application.

We will begin reviewing files from 1st March 2017.

We value diversity and welcome applications from all sections of the community

The University of Strathclyde is a Registered Scottish Charity, No SCO15263

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: 2/28/2017

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2487

European University Institute

Rank: Swiss Chair in Federalism, Democracy and International Governance

The European University Institute is looking for candidates with a distinguished record of scholarly publications and experience in postgraduate teaching and doctoral supervision, to fill a

Swiss Chair in Federalism, Democracy and International Governance

Thanks to the generosity of the Swiss Government, the Department of Political and Social Sciences and the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies are able to invite applications for the Swiss Chair in Federalism Democracy and International Governance. The successful applicant will have a distinguished record of research and a capacity to supervise doctoral students within the field identified. It is anticipated that the chair-holder will play an active role at the Robert Schuman Centre, in a program that is devoted to the study of politics and democracy.

The chair will be open to candidates at all levels of seniority, and of any nationality. Special conditions are available in the Further particulars.

The EUI is an equal opportunities employer and takes into account the importance of balance in gender, geographical and minority representation.

Interested applicants should consult www.eui.eu/vacancies for Further particulars.

Deadline for receipt of applications: 25 January 2017.

CONTACTS

Academic Service

Veerle Deckmyn, Director

Tel.: +39-055-4685.359

E-mail: applypro@eui.eu

Internet: <http://www.eui.eu>

European University Institute

Via dei Roccettini 9

I-50014 San Domenico di Fiesole

ITALY

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 1/25/2017

Date Posted: 12/5/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2445

Randolph College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - International Relations/Comparative Politics

Application Deadline: Priority given to applications received by January 15, 2017

The Political Science Department at Randolph College invites applications for a full time, visiting assistant professor beginning August 2017. The teaching load is 4-4. This is a two-year appointment with a possibility for renewal for a third year.

The successful candidate must be prepared to teach both introductory and advanced courses including Introduction to World Politics and Organization, Model United Nations, International Law, Senior Seminar and Comparative Politics (with an open regional expertise other than East Asia).

Candidates must meet the following minimum requirements: Ph.D. in political science or an ABD with designated date of completion. Interested candidates should send (1) a letter of interest with the applicant's teaching philosophy and statement of commitment to liberal arts education, (2) a C.V., (3) teaching evaluations or any other evidence of teaching excellence, (4) examples of recent scholarship such as articles or conference papers, (5) transcripts, (6) three letters of recommendation with at least one addressing teaching excellence, and (7) official copy of transcripts to polisci@randolphcollege.edu. Priority will be given to applications received by January 15, 2017 and review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Randolph College, founded as Randolph-Macon Woman's College, is located in Lynchburg, VA. It is a small, private liberal arts institution with a longstanding reputation for excellence in teaching and an appreciation for and commitment of diversity. Randolph is an EOE M/F/D/V employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/5/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 2452

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowships in Inequality and Political Development in Latin America

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Social and Political Sciences at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay is pleased to offer up to 3 two-year post-doctoral fellowship opportunities for 2017-19. Applicants should have obtained their PhDs after December 1, 2011 and need to demonstrate residence outside Uruguay during the last 3 years. Successful candidates should focus their research on one of two broad topics: stratification, inequality and social mobility, or political and social development.

The two-year fellowship will commence August 1, 2017 and conclude July 31, 2019. The Fellow will receive an annual salary of up to USD 26,317 and benefits depending on applicant's qualifications (calculated at current exchange rate of USD 1 = UYU 29); one round trip in economy class (up to USD 4,000), will have work space at the Department of Social and Political Sciences and access to facilities at Universidad Católica del Uruguay.

The position requires residency in Montevideo with a possibility of being a semester abroad for fieldwork if properly justified in the research proposal. There is a teaching requirement of 84 hours per year, in Spanish. The successful candidate is expected to teach 1 undergraduate course (42h), 1 course at the master level (21h) and 1 course at the Methods Winter School (20h) each year.

The post-doc is co-funded by the National Agency for Research and Innovation (ANII) under its "Fondo Profesor Dr. Roberto Caldeyro Barcia" initiative. The Department of Social and Political Sciences promotes scholarly, interdisciplinary research by faculty and students, advancing relevant knowledge about political, social, and economic issues, and generating communities of research and practice on key Latin American concerns.

The application process has two stages. Candidates should apply directly to the Department of Social and Political Sciences (DCSP), submitting a CV, a detailed research proposal, a cover letter, and 2 recommendation letters, by email to Mr. Gastón Sagasti (gsagasti@ucu.edu.uy). Recommendation letters should be sent directly to Mr. Gastón Sagasti. Applications for this stage are due by Tuesday, January 17, 2017.

Please direct any inquiries prior to the first stage deadline to Mr. Gastón Sagasti, Department of Social and Political Sciences, Universidad Católica del Uruguay (gsagasti@ucu.edu.uy), except for during the New Year's Holiday (December 31 to January 15). For more information about the Department, visit our webpage (<http://ucu.edu.uy/dcsp>). Candidates are strongly advised to prepare documents according to the requirements established by ANII. Complete information can be found at <http://www.anii.org.uy/apoyos/formacion/6/posdoctorados-en-uruguay/>

A short-list of candidates would be invited to complete the second stage of the application process by January 24. During this second stage, candidates jointly apply with the Department of Social and Political Sciences to the National Agency for Research and Innovation (ANII). Applications for this stage are due by Thursday, February 2, 2017 (14:00, GMT-3).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/17/2017

Date Posted: 12/1/2016

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 2431

Oslo University

Rank: Postdoctoral fellowships in international judicial politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

1-2 postdoctoral fellowships of up to three years in political science are available at PluriCourts, University of Oslo. We are looking for applicants who will contribute to PluriCourts' research agenda, by studying the functioning, effects and legitimacy of international courts and tribunals (ICs). We seek candidates with a background in judicial politics, international relations, comparative politics, political economy, public administration, or other relevant political science sub-fields.

Successful candidates will develop their own research agenda, in collaboration with colleagues at PluriCourts. Possible research topics include, but are not restricted to; 1) judicial independence and politicization of ICs, 2) compliance with and effectiveness of ICs' decisions, 3) the effects of international judicialization on domestic politics, including redistribution of powers and resources between societal groups and actors, 4) judicial behavior and impartiality of judges, 5) the selection and retention of judges, 6) the social legitimacy of international courts, 7) descriptive and substantive representation of men and women in ICs, and 8) interest group litigation and the role of law and courts as a legitimization strategy for achieving political goals.

Salary level 57-65 (NOK 486 100 to 567 100 pr. year)

Application deadline is January 25, 2017. Read the full announcement here: <http://uio.easycruit.com/vacancy/1735565/70420?iso=no>

Start Date: 2017

Application Deadline: 1/25/2017

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2419

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Post-Doc (1-2 positions), V-Dem Institute

The call has expired!

Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) is a large-scale data collection and research program, see <https://v-dem.net>. The V-Dem Institute, Directed by Professor Staffan I. Lindberg, has several large-scale grants from among others the European Commission, several ministries of foreign affairs, Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, the Swedish Research Council, Marcus & Marianne Walenberg's Foundation, and Knut & Alice Wallenberg Foundation.

The position is open to candidates who (at the time of assuming the position) have a PhD in political science or related field.

V-Dem is seeking to replenish our research agenda and are therefore looking for scholars who have completed their degree no more than four years before the application deadline; present exciting new ideas; and that have a strong record of accomplishments in or more of the following areas:

- Comparative democratization (e.g., sequencing of democratization, democracy and development, democracy and governance/corruption, elections and democratization, or other areas);
- Regional expertise;
- Research methods (e.g., aggregation, Bayesian IRT-modeling, experiments, expert coding in data collection, causal inference in time series analysis, sequencing algorithms and methods, or related methods);
- Previous experience from larger-scale research- and other projects are meritorious, as well as competencies in data management.

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow is expected to conduct research primarily in collaboration with the Principal Investigator of V-Dem, Staffan I. Lindberg, with a focus on one or several of the main questions of the research program.

One of V-Dem's strengths is the flexibility and collaborative spirit of everyone at the institute, focusing on reaching the goals of the data collection and research program. This includes a willingness to contribute to coding of data, quality control, data management and/or teaching during peak periods. The Postdoctoral Research Fellow may be asked to perform such tasks up to one-third of full time employment (FTE).

Excellence in English (orally and written) is expected, competence in Arabic, French, Spanish and/or Portuguese is a merit.

How to apply: Applicants are expected to visit the website <http://www.pol.gu.se/varianter-pa-demokrati--v-dem/> and download the program description document titled 'Research program description'. The letter of application should include a self-evaluation of how the applicant's proposed research agenda would contribute to the V-Dem research program, and in which ways the applicant meets the requirements specified above.

Attach to the application: a CV an excerpt of citation count from Google scholar (including H-index), and one writing sample. The application should also include a list of at least three references from whom letters of recommendation can be solicited.

Applications are submitted online at: the deadline has passed.

About the University: the Department of Political Science, University of Gothenburg, is a leading Political Science department in the Nordic countries. The department hosts several large research programs, including the Quality of Government Institute (QoG), the Centre for European Research (CERGU), the Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) Institute, the Media, Opinion and Democracy (MOD), and the National Election Studies. The department is also a key actor in the SOM Institute responsible for comprehensive annual public opinion surveys. It has 140 employees, out of which more than 70 are faculty and researchers, and it hosts about 1,400 students. The department offers courses at undergraduate and graduate levels in both English and Swedish.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: 1/16/2017

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2418

College of Wooster

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill a one-year visiting position at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2017. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in International Relations to teach introductory and advanced courses in the Department of Political Science, and to supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement. The successful candidate must have a demonstrated ability to teach Introduction to International Relations, upper level International Relations courses in their area of expertise, and to contribute to the College of Wooster's interdisciplinary Global and International Studies program. Preference will be given to candidates who can advise Independent Study theses and teach an upper-level course in Comparative Politics.

We prefer candidates who will have completed the Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (19% domestic students of color and 10% international students); applicants should demonstrate their ability to work with diverse student populations.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and student evaluations), unofficial graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/39285>. Applications received by January 31, 2017 will receive full consideration. Please contact Kent Kille (kkille@wooster.edu), the Search Chair, with any questions.

The College of Wooster is an independent college of the liberal arts and sciences with a commitment to excellence in undergraduate education. The College values diversity, strives to attract women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Wooster seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or political affiliation. The College of Wooster is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Employment is subject to federal laws requiring verification of identity and legal right to work in the United States as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act. The College of Wooster is a drug-free workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 1/31/2017
Date Posted: 11/21/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2403

Tulane University Rank: Research Fellow

The Center for Inter-American Policy and Research (CIPR) invites applications for four (4) research fellowships for the Academic Year of 2017-2018, two with program administration duties and two with light teaching. Applications from the social sciences in the fields of international relations, international political economy, comparative politics, political sociology, and policy studies are encouraged. Latin American expertise and Spanish or Portuguese fluency required. Fellows will be selected based on intellectual merit, experience, the potential impact of their planned research for CIPR programs, and teaching needs of the host department.

Fellowships are one-year, residential, full-time appointments with a stipend of $47,500 plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported. In addition to their planned research, applicants must be prepared to carry out either program administration or adjunct teaching responsibilities. In the program administration track, fellows will be expected to work with CIPR's director in the Commitment to Equity Project, and/or to develop programmatic content and projects in Inter-American relations, comparative political economy, citizenship rights, human development, and others. The other fellowship carries a one course per semester adjunct teaching load in the department of the fellow's primary discipline and in the candidate's major subfields, without administrative responsibilities. In both cases, specific responsibilities will be defined jointly during the initial phase of the appointment.

QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. required, in hand no later than May 2017. Recent graduates with no longer than three years since receiving their Ph.D. are especially encouraged to apply.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Application must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting <https://apply.interfolio.com/39150> and must include (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter describing research interests and intended research at CIPR if selected, fit to the program and teaching experience; (3) a graduate transcript; (4) two recommendation letters; (5) a writing sample; and (6) teaching evaluations if available. For further information please contact Ludovico Feoli, Director, Center for Inter-American Policy Research. Applications will be reviewed starting February 15, 2017 until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Winter 2016
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/18/2016
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 2395

University of Wyoming

Rank: Visiting Senior Scholar in Global Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, Comparative Politics

The University of Wyoming Global and Area Studies Program invites applications for a senior scholar-in-residence position to begin in August 2017 or January 2018. Supported by the Wyoming Excellence in Higher Education Endowment, the Visiting Senior Scholar in Global Studies will enrich and broaden UW's Global and Area Studies Program and in particular our recent focus on human security. Although the specific area of expertise and scholarly interest are flexible, we anticipate that this program will appeal to those individuals on leave or transitioning from a career in public policy, academics on sabbatical, or experts interested in writing or conducting research in an academic setting. The visiting scholar will design and teach one course per semester, orchestrate faculty/student workshops, give public presentations, and/or prepare manuscripts for publication in the area of human security, international affairs, and/or foreign policy. We seek a visiting scholar who will engage students, faculty, and Wyoming citizens in meaningful international discussions of pressing global issues. The visiting scholar will join core faculty with disciplinary backgrounds in political science, sociology, geography, anthropology, and linguistics in internationalization efforts throughout the state of Wyoming. The committee seeks applications from mid-to-senior-level career professional with a significant body of work in international affairs and a background in government service, academics, diplomacy, journalism, communication, and/or NGOs with demonstrated interest or experience in the field of human security. Candidates should have the appropriate professional degree for their career path; academic applicants should have a Ph.D. in an appropriate academic discipline.

The appointment is for one semester to begin in fall 2017 or spring 2018. Appointments for up to one academic year may be considered.

Applications will be reviewed beginning on February 3, 2017. Inquiries by email are welcome to Dr. David Messenger, Director of the Global & Area Studies Program, dmesseng@uwyo.edu. Applications including a curriculum vitae or professional resume and cover letter, which includes a description of teaching interest, and proposed writing project should be sent to Dr. David Messenger, Global and Area Studies Program, Dept. 4299, University of Wyoming 1000 E. University Avenue, Laramie, WY 82071. Applications can be sent by regular mail or by email to dmesseng@uwyo.edu.

The University of Wyoming is committed to diversity and endorses principles of affirmative action. We acknowledge that diversity enriches and sustains our scholarship and promotes equal access to our educational mission. We seek and welcome applications from individuals of all backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives. AA/EEO. The University of Wyoming encourages applications from individuals who represent a broad spectrum of backgrounds and, in particular, welcomes applications from women and minority groups.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2400

Marist College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Developing Nations, Africa, Latin American

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Marist College invites applications for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science in the areas of comparative politics and international relations beginning Fall 2017.

We are seeking broadly trained candidates with a Ph.D. in hand who can teach introductory courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations. Candidates should have some combination of regional expertise in Latin America, Africa and/or Asia. An ability to teach upper level courses in the area of your specialization including Democratization, Developing Areas, and research methods is also desirable. Tenure track positions at Marist College carry a 4/3 or 3/3 course load, depending on scholarship productivity, with a balance between introductory and advanced courses. Ph.D.s preferred.

To apply, please go to <http://jobs.marist.edu/> and upload a letter of application, CV, and names and contact information for three references. Applications will be reviewed beginning November 15 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2376

Saint John's University

Rank: Political Science/International Relations

The Political Science Department of the College of Saint Benedict and Saint John's University invites applications for a full-time one-year position at the rank of assistant professor to begin in August 2017. A completed Ph.D. in political science is preferred; ABD will be considered. Teaching assignments will include three courses per semester. The department seeks a broadly trained political scientist who can teach the following courses.

- Introduction to International Relations (POLS 121): Introduction to the study of the global system and international relations theories. Focuses on states, international organizations, sub-state and non-state actors. Case studies focus on conflict, globalization, climate change or other issues of instructor interest. (2 sections)

- Latin American Politics (POLS 347): An upper division course which incorporates comparative analysis of Latin American politics focusing on the themes of the military in politics, economic dependency, reform and revolution, and agrarian reform.

- One other upper division course in the candidate's area of interest.

- First Year Seminar: FYS is a required full-year course taken during the first year. It is designed to help students improve their ability to read carefully and think critically about what they read, to write in a variety of academic formats, improve their information literacy, and to develop discussion skills necessary for successful college course work.

Saint John's University, a liberal arts college for men, and the College of Saint Benedict, a liberal arts college for women, are located five miles apart in Central Minnesota just outside metropolitan St. Cloud and 70 miles from Minneapolis. Both are Catholic colleges in the Benedictine tradition, which emphasize quality teaching and a commitment to intercultural learning. For further information, see <http://www.csbsju.edu>

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in political science is preferred; ABD will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2334

Nazareth College of Rochester

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The History and Political Science Department at Nazareth College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in Comparative Politics and International Relations (or IR) to begin in August 2017.

The successful applicant will teach introductory courses in political science, comparative politics and international relations, as well as upper-division electives focused on the politics of the region in which the candidate specializes.

Region of expertise is open, but preference will be given to candidates with a background in Africa or the Middle East and who can contribute to our well established programs in International Studies, Women and Gender Studies, Middle Eastern Studies, and other interdisciplinary minors focused on global issues and culture. The standard teaching load is three to four courses per semester.

Ph.D. in political science is expected at the time of employment. ABD candidates may be considered if they anticipate successful defense of their dissertation by February 2018.

Applicants must attach a CV, Cover Letter and Teaching Philosophy to the online application <https://jobs.naz.edu/postings/1380>. In addition, applicants must submit three letters of recommendation to tkneela8@naz.edu.

Review of applications begins on December 10, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2320

Kent State University

Rank: TT, Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Other

Specializations: African American Politics, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Conflict Processes

The Department of Political Science at Kent State University invites applications for a tenure-track position, open with regard to region and rank, in Comparative Politics, to begin in August 2017. We seek scholars studying marginalization, structures of oppression, and the politics of dissent, with potential topics including, but not limited to: identities (race, gender, sexualities, ethnicity), global inequality, settler colonialism, migration, borders, and labor.

The Political Science Department at KSU is a PhD-granting department with a dynamic, well-published faculty and a robust undergraduate program that encourages students to engage and change the world around them. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to conduct and publish research commensurate with the expectations of a research institution and to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. There will be ample opportunities for collaboration across departments and for community engagement. The teaching load for untenured TT faculty members is two courses per semester.

Applicants should have a PhD in Political Science or cognate field such as Sociology, Black or Africana Studies, Ethnic Studies, Gender Studies, or Sexuality Studies at the time of hire (August 2017). Review of applications will begin in mid-November and continue until the position is filled. Candidates for Assistant Professor should show promise of a quality research agenda and teaching success, and senior scholars should show evidence of scholarly impact in their area of research. Applicants at the Assistant level should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, a research plan, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference; senior-level applicants should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, and a list of three references. All applications should be submitted to <https://jobs.kent.edu/postings/11194>. Questions should be addressed to cpjob@kent.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/21/2016

Date Posted: 10/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2301

Wake Forest University

Rank: African Politics and African/International Studies

African Politics and African/International Studies – Assistant Professor

The Department of Politics and International Affairs of Wake Forest University invites applications for a tenure-track position in African Politics and International Studies beginning in the 2017-2018 academic year. The position will be filled at the Assistant Professor level and will involve teaching and research interests in the area(s) of the politics of Sub-Saharan Africa, international, and/or comparative politics. Included in this teaching load will be courses offered for interdisciplinary minors in African Studies and International Studies. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to excellence in research, undergraduate teaching, and mentoring. The most competitive candidates will have their PhD in hand at time of appointment. Applicants should submit the following materials through the on-line site identified below by January 6, 2017:

- a cover letter directed to Dr. Katy Harriger (harriger@wfu.edu), Chair, Department of Politics and International Affairs;
- curriculum vitae;
- graduate transcripts;
- a statement of research program;
- a statement of teaching philosophy;
- course outlines;
- teaching evaluation summaries.

Applicants must make arrangements to have three confidential letters of recommendation sent to letters@wfu.edu. Otherwise, letters and additional documents can be uploaded in OpenHire (2413-141). When applying, please refer to tracking number.

For complete details and to apply, go to <http://wakejobs.silkroad.com/> or call (336) 758-4700. The submission of an online application for Wake Forest University is required for this position. Questions about the application process may be addressed to wakejobs@wfu.edu. Wake Forest University is an equal opportunity employer. Wake Forest University values an inclusive and diverse learning community and campus climate.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2291

San Diego State University

Rank: Director of the J. Keith Behner and Catherine M. Stiefel Program on Brazil

The College of Arts and Letters of San Diego State University seeks to hire an associate or full professor with a specialty on Brazil.

Requirements:

Ph.D. in Humanities and/or Social Sciences, with a research and teaching focus on Brazil. Proven administrative experience building interdisciplinary and/or intercollegiate programs and record of success in obtaining external funding.

Rank and salary commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments. Tenure upon hire is possible depending upon qualifications.

Duties:

I. Develop both long and short term plans to meet the program's objectives in the areas of:

research, scholarship and creative endeavors;
academic programming and co-curricular activities in all aspects of Brazil's life - social, cultural and scientific - including international programs with and/or in Brazil, such as exchange of students/faculty; engagement and outreach

II. Establish an open, inclusive and transparent process to allocate seed money for research projects and support for curricular and extra-curricular initiatives that are poised to deliver tangible outcomes.

III. Instigate and develop internal and outreach efforts, including development.

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Application Instructions

To ensure full consideration, please apply via Interfolio. Position will remain open until filled.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.'

This institution is using Interfolio's ByCommittee to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/13/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2221

University of North Texas

Rank: Assistant Professor--Comparative Politics/International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2017 in the broadly defined field of contentious politics in comparative politics and/or international relations. We are interested in prospective candidates who conduct research in such areas as civil society, social movements, ethnic politics, and non-state opposition groups (e.g., terrorist organizations, rebel organizations, extremist parties).

All applicants must meet the following criteria: (1) A Ph.D. in Political Science (highly qualified ABD candidates will also be considered) and (2) evidence that demonstrates a potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service will be required of the selected candidate. Preference will be given to candidates with strong methods skills and who are likely to publish in top-tier journals, seek external funding, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

The faculty member will teach core, upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses, continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

The Department of Political Science at UNT is a highly productive department with 26 faculty members who are committed to excellence in both teaching and research. It offers BA, MA/MS, and PhD degrees. Faculty in the department have previously edited the American Political Science Review, International Studies Quarterly and Journal of Political Science Education. The department is also home to the Castleberry Peace Institute, the UNT Peace Studies Program and the Latina/o Mexican-American Studies Program. The Department's web site can be found at: <http://politicalscience.unt.edu>.

With nearly 38,000 students, UNT is the nation's 26th largest public university. As the largest, most comprehensive university in Dallas-Fort Worth, UNT drives the North Texas region. UNT offers 99 bachelor's, 83 master's, and 36 doctoral degree programs, many nationally and internationally recognized. UNT is a Carnegie Tier I public research university deeply committed to advancing educational excellence and preparing students to become thoughtful, engaged citizens of the world.

Applicants must submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a narrative describing scholarly research, (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., peer reviews, evaluations), (6) a copy of transcripts, and (7) the names and contact information of three references via UNT's Faculty Jobs portal at <https://facultyjobs.unt.edu>. Direct inquiries to David Mason, search committee chair (David.Mason@unt.edu)

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit their applications and all supporting materials as close as possible to the review date. UNT is an AA/ADA/EOE.

The University of North Texas System is firmly committed to equal opportunity and does not permit - and takes actions to prevent - discrimination, harassment (including sexual violence), and retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, disability, family status, genetic information, citizenship or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. The University of North Texas System immediately investigates and takes remedial action when appropriate. The University of North Texas System also takes actions to prevent retaliation against individuals who oppose a discriminatory practice, file a charge, or testify, assist or participate in an investigative proceeding or hearing.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2115

Rhodes College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics/ International Relations

Rhodes College – Visiting Assistant Professor – Comparative Politics / International Relations

The Department of International Studies at Rhodes College invites applications for a visiting Assistant Professor to start Fall 2017. A Ph.D. in hand by Fall 2017 is required. The appointee is expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in either Comparative Politics or International Relations as well as an upper level course on international conflict. The ability to teach research methods in international studies would be a plus. The position has a 3-3 teaching load and offers the possibility for renewal up to a third year after the successful completion of the first year.

The department seeks candidates with a strong commitment to teaching and research. Successful candidates will also be those who can contribute to an interdisciplinary atmosphere. Application materials must include: a letter of application, CV, names and contact information of 3 references, writing/publication sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Please address in your cover letter your interest in teaching at a liberal arts college and how your experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service might contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values. Apply online at jobs.rhodes.edu. For additional information please contact Ms. Kim Stevenson, Departmental Assistant, Department of International Studies, StevensonK@rhodes.edu. Review of completed applications will begin on November 14 and continue until the position is filled.

Founded in 1848, Rhodes College is a highly selective, private, residential, undergraduate college, located in Memphis, Tennessee. We aspire to graduate students with a lifelong passion for learning, a compassion for others, and the ability to translate academic study and personal concern into effective leadership and action in their communities and the world. We encourage applications from candidates interested in helping us achieve this vision.

Rhodes College values an inclusive and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity in the workforce.

Memphis has a metropolitan population of over one million and provides multiple opportunities for research and for cultural and recreational activities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2099

Ohio State University

Rank: Race and Gender in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Description:

The department of political science seeks candidates for a tenured or tenure-track position in the study of race and/or gender in politics. We welcome applications from scholars studying comparative politics and international relations, however, we are especially interested in applicants who study race and/or gender as they pertain to politics in the United States. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching excellence, and the promise of attracting external funding.

This position is part of a larger initiative at Ohio State to increase faculty diversity and to promote research and teaching on topics central to race, ethnicity, sex, and gender as well as disparities in modern society linked to these categories. The Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences intends to hire at least eight new faculty members under this initiative. The new cluster of faculty will be able to build a network with many committed professors already at home in the College of Arts and Sciences in the Diversity & Identity Studies Collective, the Department of Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, and the Department of African American and African Studies. Graduate certificates in this area of inquiry and undergraduate bridge programs are also being built to support this initiative.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have that degree by Autumn 2017. It is possible the successful candidate could have a PhD degree in a cognate field such as sociology or social psychology but a PhD in political science is preferred. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see <http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com/>). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at <http://www.columbus.org>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7871>. A complete application consists of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, and three letters of reference. Applications received prior to October 15, 2016 will receive priority consideration. Inquiries may be directed to Michael Neblo at neblo.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/9/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2000

Georgetown University
Rank: Multiple positions--African American Studies

Seizing this pivotal moment in Georgetown's history, the Department of African American Studies invites applications for at least four open-rank positions, which have an anticipated start date of August 1, 2017. This first set of hires inaugurates a multi-year hiring initiative and is an integral part of Georgetown University's plan to expand African American Studies, and establish a Research Center for Racial Justice. We seek scholars who have an ambitious research agenda, a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, and an earnest desire to help build the newly formed department and participate in other university service. Currently, our strengths lie in African American studies and its intersections with literary studies, sociology, history, and performance studies. Building upon these fields, we seek cross-disciplinary, multi-disciplinary, and trans-disciplinary scholarship that strengthens African American Studies' capacity in psychology, visual studies, philosophy, political science, economics, women's and gender studies, and law and criminology. More specifically, we seek applicants whose research interests engage with one of the following topics:

- Structural and cultural causes of and solutions to black inequality
- Black cultural productions and responses to legacies and impacts of slavery, Jim Crow segregation, and imperialism in US institutions
- How Black intersectionality informs equality and social justice

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D. in African American Studies or related fields by July 1, 2017. Senior candidates with administrative and departmental leadership interests and experience are especially welcomed. All applicants should specify the rank for which they are applying in the letter of interest.

Applicants without tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), three letters of recommendation, and dissertation abstract (if the candidate is ABD).

Applicants with tenure should submit a letter of interest, C.V., writing sample (10,000 words or less), research statement (current and future projects, or career narrative), and names, telephone numbers, and email addresses for three referees.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants without tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36591>

Applicants with tenure should submit applications at <https://apply.interfolio.com/36594>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/15/2016
Date Posted: 8/30/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1933

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science
Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning July 2017. We are seeking a broadly trained Political Scientist who could teach courses in international relations and political philosophy. A Ph.D. is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 31st, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2016
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 1937

Winthrop UniversityRank: Assistant or Associate ProfessorSubfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public LawSpecializations: Middle East, East Asia, South Asia

WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences

Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

TITLE: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, Open Field

The Department of Political Science is seeking engaging teachers and active scholars to join our diverse scholarly community by applying for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position. The department welcomes applications in all subfields; however, we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: Comparative Politics (Middle East, Asia), Public Administration, Public Law, and/or American Institutions. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement to join our distinguished department. Considered one of the strongest departments in the University, the Winthrop Political Science department boasts award-winning faculty who are recognized for the quality of their teaching and research alike. The department is also home to a long-standing Model UN program, which just celebrated its 40th anniversary; the Social & Behavioral Research Laboratory, which is home to the renowned Winthrop Poll; and the John C. West Forum on Politics and Policy, a major civic engagement initiative at the University. The department also collaborates with the Master of Liberal Arts program to provide a graduate Concentration in Political and Civic Engagement.

Major Responsibilities:

- Teach a variety of courses in Political Science. Our areas of need include: Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, Politics of Asia, Public Administration, The Judiciary, Constitutional Law: Federalism, and Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Congress, The Presidency, Public Policy, Women and US Politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and/or expertise in Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, and/or Politics of Asia
- Teach both introductory and advanced courses in your areas of specialization, including graduate courses in our Political and Civic Engagement Concentration within the Master of Liberal Arts Program
- Teach a team-taught senior capstone course in Political Science
- Ability to teach research methods or experience in public opinion polling a plus
- Teach courses in Winthrop University's innovative General Education Program, including American Government, which fulfills the Constitution Requirement
- Participate in departmental, college, and university service, including student advising
- Undertake research in the discipline and promote undergraduate research
- Be an interested and energetic participant in an active department
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- The Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field is required for appointment at the assistant professor level. A successful candidate who is ABD at the time of employment will be appointed to a non-tenure track position as an instructor. The successful candidate will also be required to undergo a background check prior to hiring.

- Specialization in areas among those listed above.
- Evidence of excellence in the area of Student Intellectual Development, including teaching excellence and commitment to student learning.
- Evidence in the area of Scholarly Activity, including an ongoing program of research and publication.
- Evidence in the area of Professional Stewardship, including engagement with the discipline, profession, campus, and community
- Preference is given to candidates with experience teaching the courses listed above.

Employment Conditions: A 9-month full-time tenure-track appointment with option of summer employment if funds are available. Salary is dependent upon qualifications. Pending final budgetary approval.

Position Availability: August 16, 2017

Application Deadline: Friday, November 11, 2016. Application materials received after the deadline date may be considered if an acceptable candidate has not been found.

Application Procedures:

1. Applications should consist of:
 - letter of application, including a statement of "teaching philosophy,"
 - curriculum vitae,
 - sample of representative written work (article- or chapter-length),
 - evidence of excellence and commitment to student learning,
 - three professional letters of reference,
 - all graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are acceptable for initial review; official transcripts are required prior to final appointment).
2. If you are attending the Annual Meeting of The American Political Science Association (APSA) in Philadelphia from September 1-4, please email Department Chair Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney (disneyj@winthrop.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service.

3. Applications may be submitted electronically to the following address:

PLSCJobs@winthrop.edu
 Search Committee Chair
 Department of Political Science
 346 Bancroft Hall
 Winthrop University
 Rock Hill, SC 29733
 (803) 323-2209

Winthrop University is a public, comprehensive university located in Rock Hill, SC, 30 minutes south of Charlotte, NC, that is among the very best institutions of our kind in the nation. Through an educational experience that blends liberal arts, professional programs, global awareness, and civic engagement, Winthrop University helps students develop the knowledge, skills, and values that will enrich their lives forever and prepare them for all that the future holds. Winthrop University has 5,000 undergraduate students and 1,000 graduate students. We have a diverse student population, which is 69% women and 36% students of color, and we have a 14 to 1 student/faculty ratio. For more information, visit us at www.winthrop.edu.

Winthrop University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group of individuals on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 8/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1917

Instituto Tecnológico Autonomo de Mexico (ITAM)

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Economy, Regulatory Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Instituto Tecnológico Autonomo de Mexico (ITAM) invites applicants for a position at the assistant professor level in the Political Science Department, commencing in August 2017. This is an open field position with preference for candidates in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political-Economy, Methods (formal and quantitative), and Political Theory (contemporary political theory along with Comparative Politics or Social Choice). Candidates should preferably have a focus on regulatory politics, or policy evaluation.

ITAM is an academic institution committed to scientific excellence and oriented to the international academic community. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to research and should possess a Ph.D. in political science, but ABDs will be considered if there is a reasonable expectation of completion by December 2016. Classes can be taught in Spanish or English. Salary and teaching loads are in accordance to U.S. standards. Candidates can interview at the 2016 APSA Meeting in Philadelphia.

Information about the Department can be found at: <http://departamentodecienciapolitica.itam.mx/es>

CONTACT: Prof. Vidal Romero, Political Science Department, ITAM, Rio Hondo # 1, Mexico City, D.F. 01800, Mexico; email: vromero@itam.mx.

Application Instructions: Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research papers, research statement (2 page limit), and three letters of reference in pdf format to marta.cebollada@itam.mx by November 1, 2016.

For more information, phone: +52(55)5628-4000, x.3788.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1866

SUNY, Cortland

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, International Security, Post Communist Europe

Start Date: Fall 2017; Salary: Competitive

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Specialization: European Politics, International Relations

The Department Political Science at the State University of New York College at Cortland in Cortland, NY, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position with duties to begin Fall 2017. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment (or ABD with designated date of completion) is required. The Department seeks a person able to teach comparative politics covering Western, Central, Eastern Europe, Russia, and the European Union. Expertise in international relations also. Responsibilities include teaching introductory courses, including Introduction to World Politics, Foundations of Democracy, and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum according to the instructor's expertise.

Course load is three courses per semester. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of international experiential activities (e.g. coordination of Model EU simulation activity, study abroad, internships). SUNY Cortland is an AA/EEO/ADA employer. The College actively seeks applications from women, veterans, individuals with a disability, members of underrepresented groups or anyone that would enrich the diversity of the College. We have a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and have interdisciplinary degree programs in the areas of Multicultural Studies.

Applications should include: a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests; a curriculum vita; the names of three references (with letters to be supplied on request); evidence of teaching effectiveness including sample syllabi if available; academic transcripts from most recent degree; and a publication or writing sample. Applications will be accepted and reviewed on a rolling basis until the position is filled. Final hiring is subject to final budgetary authorization.

SUNY Cortland is a predominantly undergraduate state college located in upstate New York with a total student population of over 7200. The Political Science Department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, but is one of the most active and visible in the college. The department has about 110 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, along with several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in political science, concentration in Law and Justice, and B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Applicants must apply online at: <http://www2.cortland.edu/offices/hr/jobs/> For more information, contact Department Chair, Political Science Department, SUNY Cortland, Box 2000, Cortland, NY 13045.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1852

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: William S. Dietrich Endowed Chair in Political Science

Subfield(s): Other, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the inaugural William S. Dietrich II Endowed Chair in Political Science, with appointment to begin in the 2017-18 academic year, pending budgetary approval. The Chair is named in honor of the late Dr.

William S. Dietrich II, a former chairman of the University's Board of Trustees who received his Ph.D. from the Department in 1984.

In filling this chair, and in keeping with the interests of Dr. Dietrich, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship in the fields of international relations or comparative politics, or whose interests cut across these and possibly other disciplinary subfields.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh currently consists of 25 tenure stream faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. The Department's NRC ranking has improved dramatically over the past decade, and presently ranks between 20th and 30th among Ph.D. granting departments. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Please submit a detailed cover letter and C.V. electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU3>. Additional information may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1780

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for one tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2017. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of democratic representation, particularly as it relates to the study of underrepresented minorities, either in the U.S. or cross-nationally.

Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by November 1, 2017. The application deadline is September 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted until the search is closed. All applications should be submitted electronically via <https://jobs.rice.edu/> (from this page, select "Faculty," then choose "Assistant Professor of Political Science" or "Associate Professor of Political Science," according to your level). A complete application for candidates at the assistant professor level will include (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) two writing samples, and (5) three letters of recommendation. Candidates who currently hold the rank of associate professor are asked to submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, and information for at least three references.

Equal Opportunity Employer – Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 7/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1611

University of Redlands

Rank: Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for the Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2017 semester.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics or Comparative Politics with U.S. expertise), with at least five years of professional experience, preferably at a liberal arts institution. We especially welcome applications from candidates from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position.

Please submit application materials (including letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, samples of scholarly work, and three letters of reference, under separate cover) electronically at apply@redlands.edu or mail to: Human Resources, University of Redlands, PO Box 3080, Redlands CA 92373-0999. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2016, and position will remain open until filled.

Inquiries can be directed to steve_wuhs@redlands.edu, including requests for interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in Philadelphia, PA.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and/or experiences in the area of inclusivity. Strongly preferred are candidates with demonstrated experience working with diverse student populations. The University of Redlands is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access Employer and actively encourages applications from minority and other members of underrepresented groups. The University of Redlands does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, disability, age, marital status, or sexual orientation in its programs and activities.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 11/1/2016
Date Posted: 7/7/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1593

Dickinson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Latin America)

The Political Science Department at Dickinson College seeks applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. Successful applicants will have expertise, and be able to teach courses, in aspects of Latin American Politics. Tenure-track faculty at Dickinson teach a five-course load.

Dickinson College values interdisciplinary teaching and learning, and many in the Department teach and research outside traditional disciplinary boundaries. The successful candidate will be expected to support the College's interdisciplinary program in Latin American, Latino & Caribbean Studies.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington DC and Philadelphia.

The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate.

Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically via <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Please include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Please address questions to department chair Ed Webb via webbe@dickinson.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1574

Moravian College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Foreign Policy, Conflict Processes

The Political Science Department at Moravian College invites applications for a full time, tenure track position commencing in August 2017. Candidates should be prepared to offer a broad array of classes in international relations such as American Foreign Policy, Human Rights, International Law and Organization, International Security and Conflict Resolution. Candidates should also be prepared to teach courses that entail a geographic specialization with the area being open (e.g., Africa, Latin America, Middle East and the Islamic world etc.) except for Europe and Asia. Candidates should also be prepared to teach in the College's First Year Student Seminar Program with the subject matter for the seminar being at the discretion of the instructor. Ph. D. is expected by time of appointment.

Moravian College is a selective residential liberal arts college located in Bethlehem, PA with a proud tradition of providing an outstanding education in the liberal arts and sciences for men and women. Moravian College highly values excellence in teaching as well as scholarship and seeks to nurture the development of its students through strong personal interactions with its teaching faculty. The College is approximately an hour and a half from New York City and an hour from Philadelphia and is one of six members of the Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges consortium.

Moravian College values diversity, strives to attract qualified women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Moravian seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity.

Applications should be submitted electronically to searchpolsci@moravian.edu. Application materials should include letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of effective teaching, a statement of research plans, and three letters of recommendation with contact information for each reference. Review of application materials will begin July 1 and will continue until the end of October.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 9/15/2016
Date Posted: 6/13/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1531

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Southern University of Science and Technology

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors in Social Sciences

JOB DESCRIPTIONS: The Institute for Advanced Studies in Social Sciences at the Southern University of Science and Technology invites applications for full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in social sciences at ranks of Full/Associate/Assistant Professor, to begin September 2017. The successful candidates will teach general education courses covering the following four core areas: 1) Science, Technology and Society, including history of science, ethics of science, sociology of science, and policy of science; 2) Environmental Studies, including environmental history, environmental policy, and environmental culture; 3) New Media and Visual Culture, including media and society, science, technology and arts, and cultural industry; and 4) Globalization, including transnational migration, comparative area studies, ethnographic studies and critical theories. The successful candidates will contribute to social science curricula that encourage interdisciplinary approach. Quality undergraduate teaching and mentorship, as well as innovative research and service are expected. With the exception of senior candidates with tenure, initial appointment will normally be made on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. Tenure review and promotion normally takes place before completion of the second three-year contract.

QUALIFICATIONS: Applicants should have a PhD degree from an accredited institution of higher education. Senior candidates are expected to have a high international standing in the fields, with an exceptional track record of high-quality research and scholarly publications. The university teaching languages are English and Chinese. Satisfactory knowledge of Chinese is preferable but not required.

SALARY: Salary is highly competitive, and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include university subsidized housing and health insurance.

UNIVERSITY: Southern University of Science and Technology is a public university located in Shenzhen, China, a mega vibrant city and high-tech center across Hong Kong with a population of more than 10 million people. The university is intended to be a top-tier international university that excels in conducting interdisciplinary research, nurturing innovative talents and delivering new knowledge to the world.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Applicants should send a cover letter and curriculum vitae with at least three names of references by email to shss@sustc.edu.cn, preferably before March 1, 2017. Review of applications begins on March 10, 2017, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/27/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2571

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Innovation, Science, and Technology Policy

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego invites applications for an Associate or Full Professor, Innovation, Science, and Technology Policy to begin July 1st, 2017.

Applicants should be PhD graduates with an outstanding record in a PhD program and an expertise in one of the following fields: engineering and public policy, environmental regulation, or technological change and innovation. Applicants must have a PhD conferred or completed by July 1st, 2017.

GPS has a special interest in candidates who can research and teach in science and technology policy with an international or comparative focus, including scholarship and teaching that pertains to one of the regional areas of the Pacific Rim, broadly defined to include Asia and Latin America. Additionally, GPS has an interest in engineers or scientists whose research is substantially concerned with public policy, such as policies related to innovation, environmental regulation or other important policy topics.

The successful candidate will have the ability to build a research and teaching program on technology and public policy at GPS and have demonstrated the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity and commitment to diversity. The successful candidate may also develop rich links to other UCSD units, notably the Jacobs School of Engineering.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service, and contribute to---and participate in---our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

Applications will be reviewed on February 17, 2017.

To apply:

Candidates should submit: curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching ; three (3) contacts for reference; and a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>).

All applicant materials should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01322>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017

Date Posted: 1/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2574

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations/IR Theory

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term contract (5 years renewable) position in international relations at the Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. The course load is normally three courses per semester, applicants should have a research and teaching specialization in international relations. Strong preference will be given to applicants with a sub specialization in IR Theory. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses on theories of international relations, contemporary foreign policies, international organization and political theory. This position will involve teaching at the BA and MA level within the Department of Political Science. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Feb. 20th, 2017. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair,

(gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/24/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2567

Bridgewater College of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Global Politics

The Department of History and Political Science at Bridgewater College seeks a full-time tenure track Assistant Professor to teach classes in Global Politics beginning in August 2017.

The successful candidate will possess a Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations, Global or Comparative Politics. Candidates who are ABD will be considered if their degree is expected to be conferred by August 1, 2017. Teaching responsibilities include a range of courses in International Relations and Comparative Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who have experience with, or interest in, the creation of a Model UN. Candidates will be expected to show a commitment to teaching and mentoring students within a liberal arts context and are willing to participate in the College's First Year Seminar and General Education programs. The teaching load is 21 semester credits per year (3-3-1 or 4-3 distribution) on a semester with May term calendar. The Department of History and Political Science consists of six historians and four political scientists, and offers majors in History, Political Science, History and Political Science, and Global Studies.

MISSION: Bridgewater College is a residential liberal arts college of almost 1900 students with a vibrant core curriculum and a growing focus on undergraduate research. The College emphasizes creativity and innovation in pedagogy and research. Successful faculty members are dedicated to advising and mentoring students, contributing to campus-wide faculty initiatives, and maintaining an active research agenda. Bridgewater seeks faculty members eager to engage and support our commitment to liberal learning, and so application materials should address how you might contribute to the College's liberal arts mission or ways that this mission informs your vocation as teacher and scholar.

GENERAL INFORMATION: Bridgewater College was founded in 1880 as the first coeducational college in Virginia and has an educational philosophy of developing the whole person and equipping students to become leaders with a strong sense of personal accountability and civic responsibility. The College offers 63 majors and minors, 29 concentrations and emphases, pre-professional programs, dual degree programs, teacher education and certification, and its first graduate program in athletic training. Bridgewater's growing enrolment includes students from 30 states and eight countries. The College is a member of NCAA Division III and the Old Dominion Athletic Conference, and sponsors 22 intercollegiate athletic teams and an equestrian team that competes in the IHSA.

The beautiful and vibrant 300-acre residential campus includes an equestrian center and is located in the town of Bridgewater in the midst of the Shenandoah Valley. It is conveniently situated to provide easy access to both Washington D.C. and Richmond, each only two hours away. The area is a desirable locale for people who enjoy sports and outdoor activities. An excellent school system, a healthy business environment, the state's lowest crime rate, and the natural beauty of the region draw many graduates back to the area. The College enjoys tremendous support from the local community.

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION CONTACT: Dr. Brandon Marsh at: bmarsh@bridgewater.edu.

APPLICATION: Please complete the online application (<https://jobs.bridgewater.edu/public/createApplication.php>) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts. Three letters of recommendation should be forwarded to Courtney Ritchie at critchie@bridgewater.edu.

DEADLINE: To receive full consideration, application materials should be received by March 1, 2017.

Bridgewater College is a welcoming and vibrant community committed to supporting a diverse faculty, and actively seeks applications from women, minorities, and other persons from traditionally under-represented groups. Bridgewater College is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2017

Date Posted: 1/23/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2563

University of Mannheim

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

The School of Social Sciences, Department of Political Science at the University of Mannheim, seeks applications for the position of an

Assistant Professor in International Politics and Development (non-tenure track)

starting 1 September 2017. The position is temporary until 31 August 2023.

The University of Mannheim is seeking to employ a junior scholar in the field of international politics and development. The successful candidate must have a doctoral degree, commitment to excellence in teaching, and documented excellence in research.

The University of Mannheim offers an excellent international research environment, visible in the Mannheim Centre for European Social Research (MZES), the Collaborative Research Centre SFB 884 on "Political Economy of Reforms", the Graduate School of Economic and Social Sciences (GESS), and the editorship of the American Political Science Review (APSR). The candidate is expected to play an active role in the further development of MZES, SFB and GESS.

Please submit your application online at <http://jobs.sowi.uni-mannheim.de/> <<http://jobs.sowi.uni-mannheim.de/>>

All applications received before 5 February 2017 will be given full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/4/2017

Date Posted: 1/23/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2562

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies and The Europe Center at Stanford University seek to appoint a postdoctoral research associate for the academic year 2017-18, beginning September 11, 2017 and concluding August 30, 2018 with the possibility of a one year renewal subject to available funding. The position involves working with the Center Director, Professor Kenneth Scheve, on a range of Center research and institutional projects including, but not limited to, studies on public finance, inequality, climate change cooperation, and the politics of globalization. Responsibilities will vary but likely include assisting with the design and implementation of original surveys, data collection and management, assistance in archival research, preliminary data analysis, and grant writing. There will also be substantial opportunities for the postdoc to pursue their own research projects, participate in collaborative research, and take advantage of the intellectual life at the Freeman Spogli Institute and related departments. Technical skills such as computer programming are highly desirable as is some coursework in political economy. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. Proof of completion of doctoral degree is required before starting the position and the start date must be no more than three years after degree conferral. The position provides stipend and benefits, set and adjusted in accordance with Stanford University rules. Stanford University is an equal opportunity-affirmative action employer. Stanford values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty, and strongly encourages applications from women and underrepresented minorities.

Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Scheve at scheve@stanford.edu. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All applications must be submitted on-line through <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8819>. Applications should be submitted by February 17, 2017

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017

Date Posted: 1/18/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2558

Duke University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate

Duke University, with generous support from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, is seeking a one-year Postdoctoral Associate to participate in a year-long Mellon Sawyer Seminar on the theme of "Corporate Rights and International Law: Past, Present, and Future." The seminar is jointly hosted by the Department of History, the School of Law, and the John Hope Franklin Humanities Institute, though is broadly interdisciplinary in nature and open to scholars working in any field(s) of the humanities and social sciences. The successful candidate's area of research should engage themes related to the seminar, which emphasize humanistic approaches to subjects such as (but not limited to) the history of global or transnational corporations, international regulatory regimes, theories of corporate personhood and sovereignty, the private/public divide, and/or the relationship between corporate enterprise and human rights.

Eligibility: Applicants must have or will have completed the Ph.D. or JD degree between July 1, 2014 and July 1, 2017.

Appointment and Salary: The position will run from July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2018. The fellow will receive a salary of be $47,500, as well as an additional $3,000 in research and professional travel support. The fellow is expected to be in residence at Duke during the term of the fellowship and to take active part in the Sawyer Seminar, including attendance and participation in events with visiting scholars and speakers, as well as co-teaching, with the seminar conveners, an advanced graduate course to run concurrently with the Seminar.

Application and Notification Schedule: We will begin reviewing materials on Monday, February 20, 2017. Incomplete submissions will not be accepted. Notifications will be made on or around March 15, 2017.

Required Application Materials:

- As one .pdf:
- Cover letter, describing applicant's research agenda and relevance to fellowship themes
- Curriculum vitae
- Publication or writing sample of no more than 8,000 words
- Three confidential letters of recommendation, submitted separately

Please email application materials, using the subject "Sawyer Seminar Postdoctoral Fellowship" to:

Ali Prince, Sawyer Seminar Assistant

ali.prince@law.duke.edu

919.613.7187

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 2/20/2017

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2542

Wake Forest University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor Comparative/International Politics

Specializations: East Asia, Latin American, Developing Nations

Visiting Assistant Professor Comparative/International Politics

The Department of Politics and International Affairs of Wake Forest University invites applications for a visiting one year leave replacement position in Comparative/International Politics for the 2017--2018 academic year. The position involves teaching 3 courses each semester (both introductory and upper-level) in the area(s) of the candidate's expertise. We are particularly interested in area expertise in East Asia or Latin America, but will consider candidates with other regional expertise as well.

Applicants should submit online the following materials by February 17, 2017. Please note materials should be in either Word or PDF format and there is a limit of 5 file uploads per applicant.

- a cover letter directed to Dr. Katy Harriger, Chair, Department of Politics and International Affairs;
- curriculum vitae;
- graduate transcripts;
- a statement of teaching philosophy, course outlines, and teaching evaluation summaries (combined in one single attachment)

Applicants must make arrangements to have three confidential letters of recommendation (in either Word or PDF format) sent to letters@wfu.edu. The submission of an online application for Wake Forest University is required for this position. Questions about the application process may be addressed to wakejobs@wfu.edu.

In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living community, Wake Forest University conducts background investigations for all final candidates being considered for employment.

Wake Forest University welcomes and encourages diversity and inclusion and seeks applications from women and members of underrepresented groups. It seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce to maintain the excellence of the University.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2546

Austin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Austin College Political Science Department invites applications for a one-year position in IR/Comparative beginning in the Fall of 2017. ABD's are encouraged to apply, Ph.D.'s are preferred. A demonstrated commitment to undergraduate teaching is required. Teaching load is 3-3 plus a January term course. We invite applicants to demonstrate in their letter of application which courses they would be prepared to offer and how they would contribute to the department's desire for a well-rounded political science curriculum.

Austin College is a leading national independent liberal arts college located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. Founded in 1849, making it the oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under original charter and name, the college is related by covenant to the Presbyterian Church (USA). Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, the College seeks to provide an academically challenging and lively community of students and teachers who are committed to intellectual growth through individual and collaborative endeavors. Austin College is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book Colleges That Change Lives.

Candidates should include: a letter of application, CV, copies of graduate transcripts, a one-page statement of teaching philosophy, other supporting materials you wish us to consider, and two recent letters of recommendation. Please combine materials into one PDF document and email to PoliticalScienceSearch@austincollege.edu (preferred). Referees should send their letters to the same email address with your name in the subject line. We also accept hard copies mailed to Dr. Sheila Amin Gutiérrez de Piñeres, Vice President for Academic Affairs, 900 N. Grand Ave, Suite 6D, Sherman, Texas 75090-4400. Review of applications begins February 1st and will continue until the position is filled. If you have questions about the search, you may contact the Chair of the Political Science Department, Nate Bigelow, at nbigelow@austincollege.edu.

Austin College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff and student body and welcomes all applicants. Must be legally authorized to work without sponsorship for employment visa status (e.g., H1B status).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2539

Lund University

Rank: Assistant professor and postdoc in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations

We are looking for ambitious political scientists in the beginning of their career who aim for a future career as university lecturer and researcher. We are hiring at least one assistant professor and at least one postdoctoral fellow.

The positions are associated with the research program State-Making and the Origins of Global Order in the Long Nineteenth Century and Beyond (STANCE), led by Professor Jan Teorell at the Department of Political Science in Lund, and funded by Riksbankens Jubileumsfond (www.stanceatlund.org). The project started in 2015 and will end in 2020. The program aims to bridge the gaps between comparative politics and IR, and between the study of political thought and positive empirical political science. Three overall research themes constitute the core of this research program: (1) How did the different dimensions of state-making, including internal and external sovereignty, revenue extraction, professionalization of the bureaucracy and the development of infrastructural capacity, evolve and interact during this time period? What actors and organized interests supported or put up resistance to these processes? (2) How were these dimensions of state-making affected by geopolitical competition, warfare and the diffusion of novel political technologies? (3) What were the consequences for the international system, both with respect to the type of state that emerged and what entities were granted membership in the state system?

The person(s) offered the position(s) will be expected to carry out research that contributes to the fulfillment of at least one of the overall research themes. However, each member of the project conducts independent research and enjoys the freedom to choose his or her own research questions, develop his or her own theoretical ideas, and choose the most appropriate methods. Methodologically the program aims for a mixed-methods approach ranging from quantitative methods to single case studies, textual interpretation and archival studies. Hence, we expect candidates with broad methodological training and an open mind to take on novel approaches.

The Lund University job application portal should be used when applying. Please follow these links for more information:

The postdoctoral fellowship:

<https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what/job/jobID:129005/>

The assistant professorship:

<https://lu.mynetworkglobal.com/en/what/job/jobID:129626/>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 1/13/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2536

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship at the Christopher H. Browne Center for International Politics

Specializations: International Political Economy, International Security, International Law & Organizations

Postdoctoral Fellowship – Christopher H. Browne Center for International Politics

The Christopher H. Browne Center for International Politics at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications for a postdoctoral fellowship during the 2017-2018 academic year. The Browne Center supports research on all aspects of international politics. Applications are welcome from political scientists who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 2017.

Fellows at the Browne Center will pursue their own research as well as teach one course in Penn's Political Science Department. The position pays a stipend of $47,500.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. Applications will be reviewed starting February 15, 2017. To receive full consideration, applications should be received by that date. To apply, send a c.v., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, a research statement, and cover letter to browne-center@sas.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 1/12/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2534

University of Hawaii, Manoa

Rank: a cluster of three tenure-track assistant professors

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Political Theory

The term “environmental sustainability” in the context of this social science cluster hire, has three foci: (1) environmental justice, (2) climate change (human dimensions), and (3) resource management (energy, food, water and land). We seek scholars who approach environmental sustainability from a critical and biocultural lens, which treats culture and the environment as co-dependent, mutually reinforcing, and intertwined. At the heart of the College's globally-connected Hawaiian Place of Learning lies an ethos of Aloha 'Aina.

The College of Social Sciences seeks applications from interested and qualified candidates for three (3) new tenure-track positions at the assistant professor rank.

Duties: All candidates are expected to show a willingness to collaborate with researchers in other disciplines, and demonstrate a capacity for sustained high-quality research and student and civic engagement. The candidate will be expected to strengthen the college and university focus on Hawai'i, Oceania, and Asia. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in their area of expertise as well as in the College's sustainability-focused program, advise and mentor undergraduate and graduate students, develop and conduct research with interdisciplinary partners as well as internal and external groups, sustain strong community relations for teaching and research purposes, work collaboratively towards solving challenging and complex problems in Oceania and beyond, seek extramural funding, and participate in departmental, university, and professional activities. Other duties as assigned.

Minimum qualifications – Assistant Professor (I3):

Earned PhD in one of the following Social Sciences disciplines: Anthropology, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Political Science, Women's Studies, or equivalent field, from an accredited college or university or foreign equivalent. A record of research achievement commensurate with time in field. Ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of environmental sustainability.

Desirable qualifications: Demonstrated record of peer-reviewed research; ability to work effectively as part of an inter-disciplinary team in cooperative, cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors. Research and experience in Asia, including Island Southeast Asia, Oceania, Hawai'i, and Indigeneity. Practical experience in issues of environmental sustainability. Given the multi-cultural and diverse context of UHM, we also seek candidates with a demonstrated interest or the potential to contribute to equity, inclusion, and diversity.

The successful candidate(s) will be able to teach and conduct research in one or more of the following areas:

? Environmental politics and movements for environmental justice

? Intersections of social power and sustainability

? Environmental anthropology

? Extractive industries and urban environments

? Human dimensions of climate change

Pay range: Commensurate with training and experience.

To Apply: Electronic applications only. Submit online a curriculum vitae; writing sample in which you are sole author or primary author; a statement of teaching that includes areas of strength in teaching; a statement on plans to enhance the College's interdisciplinary research; a sample course syllabus; a cover letter indicating how you satisfy the minimum and desirable qualifications, the foci you are applying for; the names and contact information of three references; and official transcripts (copies are acceptable, however, official transcripts will be required upon hire) to <http://surveys.socialsciences.hawaii.edu/ework/>.

Review of applications will begin February 16, 2017 and will continue until the positions are filled. Applications received by that date will be given priority. Incomplete applications will not be considered. The University of Hawaii is an EEO/AA Employer. Inquiries to Cindy Scheopner: scheopne@hawaii.edu, or 808-956-8999.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 1/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2532

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations, Tenure-Track (Bologna, Italy)

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Security, Conflict Processes

School Background:

Founded in 1943 and a Johns Hopkins division since 1950, The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies of the Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) has been educating global leaders for more than 70 years. As a highly selective graduate institution with a distinguished faculty, SAIS consistently ranks as one of the top schools of international relations in the world. SAIS was founded to provide a practical approach to training students in international leadership and foreign relations, and to provide mid-career educational opportunities for those already working in related fields. To learn more about SAIS, visit www.sais-jhu.edu.

Position:

SAIS is seeking to appoint a full-time, tenure-track, assistant professor in international relations (IR). Candidates who combine their work in international relations with an interest in international security would have an advantage; candidates with an interest in international law, conflict management, international development, or the foreign policy of the United States are also encouraged to apply. Candidates should be able to teach an introductory course in IR theory at the graduate level.

The position is located at the SAIS Europe campus in Bologna, Italy. The goal is to fill the position with an appointment starting on or soon after July 1, 2017. Interviews will be held in Bologna, Italy.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. awarded by June 2017 will be a condition for employment. The ideal applicant will have strong academic credentials and a commitment to improve public policy. A record of excellence in teaching and publication record would be a distinct advantage.

Application:

Electronic submissions are preferred. A letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names and contact details for three people who can provide letters of reference should be submitted to:

SAISEuropeIRSearch@jhu.edu
Or send to
SAIS Europe International Relations Search Committee
School of Advanced International Studies
The Johns Hopkins University
Via Belmeloro, 11
40126 Bologna, ITALY

Applications will be reviewed beginning February 15, 2017 and will be accepted until a final decision is made. Inquiries may be made to Professor Erik Jones (erik.jones@jhu.edu).

EEO Statement:

Johns Hopkins University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to recruiting, supporting and fostering a diverse community of outstanding faculty, staff and students. All applicants who share this goal are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/9/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2526

Amherst College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence & Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, International Relations
Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, International Law & Organizations, Life Sciences & Politics

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a one-year visiting appointment for the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary, and focuses on one or more of the following areas: legal history; global legality; post colonialism; law and literature; or constitutional interpretation. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D.

Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/40061> a cover letter addressed to Professor Adam Sitze, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin March 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages women, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 3/1/2017
Date Posted: 1/6/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2524

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in Human Rights

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a senior level (associate or full professor) faculty position in Human Rights, with a preference for scholars whose work focuses on international human rights law, broadly defined to include international humanitarian law and international criminal law relating to human rights. Human rights scholars from a variety of disciplines – law, political science, sociology, and others – will be considered. Applicants should have an interest in interdisciplinary cooperation. Ph.D., J.D., or equivalent degree required at the time of hire. The successful hire will be based in the Keough School of Global Affairs. Joint or concurrent appointments in the appropriate departments are possible.

This position is part of the founding of the first new school at Notre Dame in nearly a century. Oriented toward research, teaching, and service dedicated to the advancement of integral human development, the Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu/>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a master's degree, and supports undergraduate and doctoral programs. We are seeking scholars interested in playing a leading role in shaping the initial trajectory of the Keough School and establishing it as a significant new initiative in global affairs.

Candidates for this senior position are asked to submit a letter of interest and a C.V. Application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: apply.interfolio.com/39997.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Jennifer Mason McAward
Chair, Human Rights Search Committee
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
mason.1@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin February 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Notre Dame seeks to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality faculty, staff and administration. The University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to building a culturally diverse workplace. We strongly encourage applications from female and minority candidates and those candidates attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Moreover, Notre Dame prohibits discrimination against veterans or disabled qualified individuals, and requires affirmative action by covered contractors to employ and advance veterans and qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with 41 CFR 60-741.5(a) and 41 CFR 60-300.5(a).

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and significant others with their job search. The University is also a member of the Greater Chicago Midwest Higher Education Recruitment Consortium

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at <http://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/university-policies/background-check-procedure-for-prospective-faculty/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/15/2017
Date Posted: 1/5/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2520

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowship - The Center for the Study of Contemporary China

Post-doctoral Fellowship
The Center for the Study of Contemporary China
University of Pennsylvania

The Center for the Study of Contemporary China (<http://cscs.sas.upenn.edu/>) at the University of Pennsylvania invites applications to fill two postdoctoral fellowship positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. Applications are welcomed from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years, or who expect to complete their degree by June 30, 2017.

The CSCC postdoctoral fellowships support research on all aspects of contemporary China that fall within the broad mission of the CSCC -- to advance Penn's leadership in programs, research, and scholarship about the political, legal, economic, and social factors shaping China and its role in the world today. The Center provides an institutional home for campus-wide collaboration among departments, programs, institutes, faculty and students at Penn engaged in work pertaining to contemporary China. Activities include conferences, roundtables, and a speaker series.

Fellows at the CSCC will pursue their own research and participate in the activities of the Center. Because fellows are expected to be fully integrated with the intellectual life of the Center, they must plan to physically reside in the vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania. Each fellow receives a stipend of $48,000, a $2500 research fund, and health insurance.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EO/AA employer and we welcome applications from women and minorities. CSCC starts to accept application on December 1, 2016. Applications will be reviewed starting March 1, 2017. To receive full consideration, your application should be received by that date. Applicants will be notified of the outcome in early April, 2017. To apply, please send a C.V., a research statement, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to cscs-contact@sas.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 1/5/2017
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 2523

National Defense College- Abu Dhabi

Rank: Academic Dean

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Description: Candidates are invited to apply for the position of Academic Dean at the National Defense College (NDC), an accredited senior national security education institution in Abu Dhabi, UAE. Candidates should possess an outstanding academic background and proven leadership capabilities that will equip them to play a central role in advancing the college through its next phase of growth.

NDC is a leading institution of higher education in the Middle East that encourages experiential learning through methods that include models, case studies and exercises, and educational technology, to foster a culture of learning among high-skilled policy professionals. More information about the college can be found at (<http://www.ndc.ac.ae/en/>).

The successful candidate will provide academic leadership to the core MA program, including, in coordination with the Education Wing Commander, Planning Wing Commander, and the College Commandant, developing the academic schedule, faculty load and course rotation, managing the day-to-day academic operations of the college, supervising student evaluation, and lecturing and leading seminars as necessary. The Dean will also lead curricular revisions to the core MA program in strategic security studies and oversee a reaccreditation site visit by the local accrediting body of the UAE. The Dean will also lead the development of new programs, including an Arabic language war course, a possible doctorate in strategic studies, as well as short courses and other outreach efforts. In coordination with the college leadership, the Dean will brief senior leadership on the college's academic operations and represent the college.

The ideal candidate will work to continue the college's reputation for critical thinking and academic excellence and grow the institution's profile within the UAE, in the MENA region, and internationally. The candidate will be able to communicate effectively with our diverse faculty and staff, which includes active duty military personnel and civilians from more than a half-dozen countries. He or she should also be able to effectively work with stakeholders and local and international partners in advancing the NDC mission and vision.

Qualifications

REQUIRED EDUCATION/EXPERIENCE:

The candidate must possess a terminal degree from an accredited university in an appropriate discipline and an academic profile of scholarship and instruction equivalent to that of a full professor. The candidate should also hold significant academic leadership experience in a relevant institution, such as a defense college or a civilian graduate program. Experience working as an administrator and faculty member at the graduate level is essential.

DESIRED SKILLS/EXPERTISE:

Experience working as an administrator and as a faculty member at institutions that offer instruction to senior professionals, is highly desirable, as is familiarity with active learning at the graduate level. Practical experience in a field relevant to the college curriculum is a plus, as is experience working to bridge the policy and academic communities.

Cross-cultural proficiency, particularly experience teaching or working in the Middle East and/or demonstrated expertise in strategic studies education in a multi-national/ multi-cultural setting, is a strong advantage. Previous experience generating new graduate level programs and supervising accreditation and reaccreditation site visits are also an advantage.

Arabic language proficiency is an asset but all courses will be conducted in English.

Benefits package includes:

- Attractive and highly competitive salary
- Full housing allowance
- Vehicle allowance
- Education allowance for eligible minor children
- Cost of living allowance
- Relocation allowance

Interested parties should send a cover letter detailing qualifications and CV, including a list of professional references, along with an unofficial transcript of the doctorate (copies are acceptable) to Ms. Betty Boutros at (boutros@translangltd.com). Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2519

Susquehanna University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, East Asia, Middle East

The Department of Political Science at Susquehanna University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics beginning with the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate must be able to teach both introductory and advanced courses on the government and politics of the Middle East, Africa, or Asia, as well as introductory international relations. The candidate will have the opportunity to teach other courses in comparative politics and international relations. It is preferred that the candidate also be qualified to teach an introductory course in methodology. An ability to teach a course in comparative public policy will be considered a plus. Most upper-level courses are taught every other year and the normal teaching load is three courses per semester. Requirements include a Ph.D. or evidence that all doctoral degree requirements will be completed by June 1, 2017. Teaching experience is highly preferred and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and research in a small undergraduate liberal arts university is expected.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching objectives, statement on how the applicant will contribute to the university's commitment to diversity and inclusion, three letters of reference, and a current email address. Please submit online at <https://jobs.susqu.edu/>. Any inquiries should be sent to the department head, Dr. Michele DeMary, at poliscisearch@susqu.edu. Review of applications begins February 3 and will continue until the position is filled.

As a living, learning and working community, Susquehanna University affirms its commitment to being an engaged, culturally inclusive campus. As we seek to embody the rich diversity of the human community, we commit ourselves to the full participation of persons who represent the breadth of human difference. The university encourages candidates from historically underrepresented groups to apply. Susquehanna University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Susquehanna University is a national liberal arts college committed to excellence in educating students for productive, creative and reflective lives of achievement, leadership and service in a diverse, dynamic and interdependent world. Its more than 2,200 undergraduates come from 35 states and 22 countries, and all students study away through Susquehanna's unique Global Opportunities program. Susquehanna University's 325 acre campus, noted for its beauty, is located in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, 50 miles north of Harrisburg in the scenic Susquehanna River Valley, about a three hour drive from Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and New York City. For more information, please visit <https://www.susqu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/3/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2508

The University of Hong Kong

Rank: Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in International Relations

Founded in 1911, the University of Hong Kong is committed to the highest international standards of excellence in teaching and research, and has been at the international forefront of academic scholarship for many years. The University has a comprehensive range of study programmes and research disciplines spread across 10 faculties and over 140 academic departments and institutes/centres. There are over 28,000 undergraduate and postgraduate students who are recruited globally, and more than 2,000 members of academic and academic-related staff coming from multi-cultural backgrounds, many of whom are internationally renowned.

Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in International Relations (Ref.: 201601641)

Applications are invited for appointment as Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in International Relations in the Department of Politics and Public Administration, to commence from August 1, 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter, on a three-year fixed-term basis, with the possibility of renewal and consideration for tenure before the expiry of a second three-year fixed-term contract. Exceptionally outstanding candidates at Associate Professor level may be considered for appointment on tenure terms.

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. degree and demonstrate achievements of, or potential for, excellence in research and teaching (candidates who are close to completing a Ph.D. degree will also be considered). We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in international political economy or security with a focus on China and/or East Asia. While we are open to all methodological approaches, the candidate's primary training should be in international relations.

A globally competitive remuneration package commensurate with qualifications and experience will be offered, in addition to leave and medical benefits. At current rates, salaries tax does not exceed 15% of gross income. The appointment will attract a contract-end gratuity and University contribution to a retirement benefits scheme, totalling up to 15% of basic salary. Housing benefits will be provided as applicable.

Applicants should send a completed application form together with an up-to-date C.V., a letter of interest, graduate transcripts, writing samples, a research statement, a teaching statement and teaching evaluations to ppahr@hku.hk. They should also arrange for three confidential references (quoting the job reference number and names of applicants) to be sent directly by the referees to ppahr@hku.hk. Please quote the job reference no. and post title in the e-mail subject. Applicants should also indicate clearly which level of the post they wish to be considered for. Application forms (341/1111) can be downloaded at <http://www.hku.hk/apptunit/form-ext.doc>. Further particulars can be obtained at <http://jobs.hku.hk/>. Closes February 28, 2017.

The University thanks applicants for their interest, but advises that only candidates shortlisted for interviews will be notified of the application result.

The University is an equal opportunities employer and is committed to equality, ethics, inclusivity, diversity and transparency

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 2/28/2017
Date Posted: 12/28/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2507

SUNY, Binghamton University

Rank: Post Doc Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Post-doctoral Research and Teaching Fellowship – Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention.

Binghamton University seeks applications for a one-year (non-renewable) post-doctoral Fellow, in conjunction with its new Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention, to be launched in 2017. The GMAP Fellowship supports recent recipients of terminal degrees in academic disciplines contributing to the study of policies and practices designed to prevent the commission of acts of genocide and mass atrocities. Applicants must have their terminal degree conferred by the Fellowship start date of August 20, 2017. Recent PhDs in such disciplines (e.g. political science and international studies, sociology or anthropology, geography or public administration) are welcome to apply. In appropriate circumstances applications from recent recipients of the J.D., and from those already occupying temporary or tenure-track positions, will also be considered. Binghamton University's GMAP Institute will concentrate specifically on the formation, implementation, and assessment of practical preventative measures and policies. Applicants should present a research program or proposal that documents this practical dimension. The Fellow will conduct research, collaborate with Binghamton University faculty and graduate students associated with the Institute, and will offer at least one public lecture and/or workshop during the academic year. The Fellow will also be expected to offer one academic course per semester related to the Fellow's research at either the graduate or undergraduate level, in an appropriate department. The GMAP Fellowship offers a competitive salary and benefits package including financial support for research activities.

Candidates should submit a complete online application at the position's Interview Exchange site: [<https://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=79736>]. Application materials include: (1) a short cover letter, (2) a CV, (3) a detailed research proposal including a statement of how the proposal furthers research in the prevention of genocide and mass atrocity, (4) titles of two or three possible courses, (5) three confidential letters of recommendation. Informal inquiries can be directed to members of the GMAP Fellowship Search Committee: Nadia Rubaii [nadia.rubaii@binghamton.edu], Dave Clark [dclark@binghamton.edu] or Max Pensky [mpensky@binghamton.edu]. Review of complete applications will begin on February 15 and continue until the position has been filled. The State University of New York and Binghamton University are Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employers.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/21/2016
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 2502

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in International Relations

Visiting Lecturer in International Relations

The Department of International Relations invites applications for a Visiting Lecturer position in international relations. The term of the appointment is three years beginning in Fall 2017 and covering the 2017-18, 2018-19, and 2019-20 academic years. Ph.D. required by the start of the appointment. Field of specialization is U.S. foreign policy. Candidates should be prepared to teach a range of introductory through advanced undergraduate courses on both the process and content of U.S. foreign policy since World War II. They may also expect to teach an introductory course in international relations on a rotating basis. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of strong teaching at the undergraduate level and experience mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Teaching load is 3/2. Salary is competitive.

Applications must be made online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/> by submitting a cover letter, CV, graduate transcripts (as one pdf), a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement about mentoring a diverse student body, sample syllabuses (as one pdf), and a short writing sample no later than March 1, 2017. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. We recommend early submission because electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically (and letters of reference accepted) only after the completed application has been submitted.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2017

Date Posted: 12/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2499

University of Strathclyde

Rank: Professor/Associate Professor

UNIVERSITY OF STRATHCLYDE, GLASGOW
SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC POLICY

PROFESSOR/ ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

COMPARATIVE POLITICS / INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

The School of Government and Public Policy seeks to appoint a Professor or Reader (equivalent to advanced Associate Professor) in 2017 or 2018. The School has a distinguished record of research in comparative politics, political behaviour and national and international governance. In the most recent UK-wide assessment of research in Politics and International Studies (Research Excellence Framework 2014), the School was ranked 1st in Scotland and 6th in the UK on both research intensity and research impact. We offer a collegial, international and intellectually stimulating research environment, well-developed undergraduate and graduate programs, competitive and family-friendly employment conditions, and a vibrant city in the West of Scotland. For more details about the School, visit: <https://www.strath.ac.uk/humanities/governmentpublicpolicy/>

We seek a senior colleague who has produced scholarship of the highest international standards, including articles in the discipline's top general journals and books with major university presses. We are interested in candidates who strengthen our existing areas expertise, as well as those who could develop new areas, both in terms of subfields and geographic focus. Candidates for this post should have held high-value research grants, and demonstrated institutional leadership commensurate with the level of appointment sought. Successful applicants will contribute to leadership within the School and University, possibly taking on the role of Head of School at some point in the future.

This opportunity is part of a major University initiative, the Global Talent Attraction Platform, which aims to attract exceptional research leaders. For more details of this initiative visit: <http://www.strathvacancies.co.uk>

Informal inquiries, expressions of interest and nominations may be directed to the Head of School, Prof. Robert Thomson, robert.thomson@strath.ac.uk. Please contact Prof. Thomson before submitting an application.

We will begin reviewing files from 1st March 2017.

We value diversity and welcome applications from all sections of the community
The University of Strathclyde is a Registered Scottish Charity, No SCO15263

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: 2/28/2017

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2487

University of Guam

Rank: #023-17 Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Political Theory

GENERAL DESCRIPTION:

The University of Guam is looking for an individual who is interested in new challenges and opportunities for professional and personal growth. This position calls for someone who is self-motivated and adaptable, intelligent, possesses a global vision and who is interested in working in a dynamic, multi-cultural institution.

UNIT DESCRIPTION:

The Political Science program has three faculty members representing the areas of American and regional politics, comparative politics and international relations. The Political Science program averages about 30 majors per academic year. Political Science courses also satisfy general education requirements and electives for other majors. The program is housed within the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences in the Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences, a 14 member division which includes Political Science, Geography, Psychology, Sociology, and Women and Gender Studies.

CHARACTER OF DUTIES:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach both lower and upper division undergraduate political science courses. He or she will (a) teach a normal load of twelve (12) contact hours per semester, with one course load reduction possible with the Dean's approval, for research, instructional innovation, or large service projects; (b) maintain a continuous record of scholarly activity and research relevant to the Asia/Pacific region; and (c) perform university and community service. The successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory research methodology course including quantitative and qualitative methods. Possible additional course assignments include: introduction to government and politics, international relations, international organization, political philosophy, politics of Asia and special topics in political science.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Minimum: (a) Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations or Government from a U.S. regionally accredited institution or foreign equivalent by August 2017 (ABDs are welcome to apply, provided the doctorate is attained by the time employment begins); (b) demonstrated research ability; (c) teaching experience in some of the subject areas listed above; and (d) Must be willing to teach online.

Preferred: (a) research or relevant professional experience in Asia and/or the Pacific region; (b) experience teaching academically and culturally diverse populations; and (c) a record of winning grants.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

Applicants for University of Guam faculty positions must complete an online job application through the UOG's online employment portal at <https://uog.peopleadmin.com>. Please have the following documents prepared and ready to upload with your application:

- (1) Letter of Intent, stating interest
- (2) Up-to-date curriculum vitae or resume
- (3) Copies of all graduate and undergraduate transcripts

Applicants who are short-listed for an interview will be required to provide a short (approximately 5 minutes) video clip of their lecture or presentation.

Special Instructions for References: Three (3) current letters of recommendation from persons knowledgeable about your academic and professional performance must be provided by providing a list of at least three (3) references to be contacted on the References section of the online application. Enter each reference by clicking on the "Add References Entry" button. Provide the name, title, email address, mailing address, and telephone number of each reference. A system automated email will be sent to each reference's email address with a link to attach their reference letter to your application.

Selected candidate must provide official transcripts prior to hire date. For further information, please contact Dr. Mary Therese F. Cruz, Chair, Political Science Search Committee at mtfcruz@triton.uog.edu or the Human Resources Office at uoghro@triton.uog.edu, telephone number, (671) 735-2350 or fax number at (671) 734-6005.

Police and Court Clearance: Pursuant to Public Law No. 28-24 and Executive Order 2005-34, applicants selected for a position are required to provide original police and court (Superior Court of Guam) clearances of no more than three (3) months old prior to commencement of employment. Off-island applicants must obtain clearances from their place of residence. Applicants are responsible for fees associated with obtaining the clearances.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/29/2017

Date Posted: 12/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2473

Dickinson College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science and International Studies

The departments of International Studies and Political Science at Dickinson College are seeking qualified candidates for a two-year replacement position at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, beginning in academic year 2017-18 and continuing through the end of academic year 2018-19. There is a possibility of renewal for an additional year.

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year, to include introductory International Relations, upper-level European politics courses (including the European Union and comparative West European Politics), and other courses related to international relations, comparative politics, or Europe. Candidates should identify in the application letter the courses they are prepared to teach. Applicants should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in an interdisciplinary liberal arts environment, and the successful candidate is expected to participate fully in the intellectual life of the departments, including serving as oral examiner for the International Studies exams at the end of each academic year. The ability to create inclusive learning environments for an increasingly diverse student body will be an important characteristic of the successful candidate. A completed or nearly-completed Ph.D. is required.

Dickinson College is a highly selective four-year, independent liberal arts college with 2300 students. It is located 20 minutes west of Harrisburg and is a two-hour drive from Baltimore, Washington DC, and Philadelphia.

The College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Interested candidates should apply for this position electronically, via QUEST (online application system) at <https://jobs.dickinson.edu>. Please submit the following materials: a letter of application; curriculum vitae; graduate transcript; three letters of recommendation; teaching statement; sample syllabi (preferably for one or more of the above listed courses); and teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness. Review of applications will begin January 30 and will continue until the position is filled. The College is committed to building a representative and diverse faculty, administrative staff, and student body. We encourage applications from all qualified persons.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/8/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2468

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Conflict Processes Post-doc

Baker Center Global Security Post-Doctoral Fellowship
Howard H. Baker Jr. Center for Public Policy

The Baker Center's mission is to educate the public, conduct research to further the public's knowledge, and highlight the critical importance of public service. The Baker Center focuses on education, public policy, and research in the areas of Energy and the Environment, Global Security, and Leadership and Governance, along with academic courses and student engagement programs. The Center is a place for civil, bipartisan discussion of issues affecting us all.

Global Security Program – Conflict Processes

The Center's Global Security Program has two main tracks: Conflict Processes and Nuclear Security. The Conflict Processes research cluster focuses on war, interstate dispute and civil war conflict resolution, territorial and maritime disputes, piracy, terrorism and other political violence, foreign policy and US national security policy. The cluster hosts a bi-weekly research workshop, a series of visiting lectures on different aspects of global security and foreign policy, and a biannual conference on some aspect of prevention, management, and resolution of international conflicts, civil wars, and terrorism and other political violence.

Position Summary

Fellows will spend a year working full time at the Baker Center, starting in August 2017, with a possible extension for an additional year. During their time at the Center, Fellows will conduct independent and joint research with others in the Conflict Processes research cluster on topics related to conflict processes issues with an expectation of producing several journal article length manuscripts. Fellows are expected to contribute to the activities of the Baker Center, present their research at least once a semester, and to participate in the Global Security lecture series. Participants will receive an annual stipend of $47,500 and individual health insurance.

Eligibility and How to Apply:

Applicants must be recent Ph.D. recipients in Political Science (within the last 3 years), and specialize in conflict processes. To apply, email a cover letter outlining the planned research and expectations about a topic in the area of conflict processes and how the research project fits with the work being done at the Baker Center, a CV, and a list of 3 references to Dr. Krista Wiegand, Director of the Conflict Processes research cluster, at kwiegand@utk.edu by March 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2016

Date Posted: 12/7/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2463

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowship in Innovative Approaches to Grand Strategy

The Notre Dame International Security Center (NDISC) and the Department of Political Science invite applications for a post-doctoral fellowship in "Innovative Approaches to Grand Strategy." By grand strategy, we mean some aspect of where, when, and how states (as well as armed groups) consider using military force among other instruments of statecraft to achieve foreign policy goals, broadly defined. We seek candidates whose work applies the very best scholarship to the most pressing issues facing the United States in the 21st century and does so in a way that broadens the intellectual and practical discussion of the issues in innovative ways. In addition to having first-rate scholarly credentials, the ideal candidate will also have an interest in applying their scholarly work to some aspect of the formulation and implementation of grand strategy.

The position offers a competitive salary, benefits, and modest professional support. The initial appointment is for one year by may be renewed for a second year.

All applicants should submit a CV, letter of interest, a brief (10,000 words) writing sample, and have three references letters of support to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/39674>

The selection committee will begin reviewing applications on February 15, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/31/2017

Date Posted: 12/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2453

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowships in Inequality and Political Development in Latin America

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Social and Political Sciences at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay is pleased to offer up to 3 two-year post-doctoral fellowship opportunities for 2017-19. Applicants should have obtained their PhDs after December 1, 2011 and need to demonstrate residence outside Uruguay during the last 3 years. Successful candidates should focus their research on one of two broad topics: stratification, inequality and social mobility, or political and social development.

The two-year fellowship will commence August 1, 2017 and conclude July 31, 2019. The Fellow will receive an annual salary of up to USD 26,317 and benefits depending on applicant's qualifications (calculated at current exchange rate of USD 1 = UYU 29); one round trip in economy class (up to USD 4,000), will have work space at the Department of Social and Political Sciences and access to facilities at Universidad Católica del Uruguay.

The position requires residency in Montevideo with a possibility of being a semester abroad for fieldwork if properly justified in the research proposal. There is a teaching requirement of 84 hours per year, in Spanish. The successful candidate is expected to teach 1 undergraduate course (42h), 1 course at the master level (21h) and 1 course at the Methods Winter School (20h) each year.

The post-doc is co-funded by the National Agency for Research and Innovation (ANII) under its "Fondo Profesor Dr. Roberto Caldeyro Barcia" initiative. The Department of Social and Political Sciences promotes scholarly, interdisciplinary research by faculty and students, advancing relevant knowledge about political, social, and economic issues, and generating communities of research and practice on key Latin American concerns.

The application process has two stages. Candidates should apply directly to the Department of Social and Political Sciences (DCSP), submitting a CV, a detailed research proposal, a cover letter, and 2 recommendation letters, by email to Mr. Gastón Sagasti (gsagasti@ucu.edu.uy). Recommendation letters should be sent directly to Mr. Gastón Sagasti. Applications for this stage are due by Tuesday, January 17, 2017.

Please direct any inquiries prior to the first stage deadline to Mr. Gastón Sagasti, Department of Social and Political Sciences, Universidad Católica del Uruguay (gsagasti@ucu.edu.uy), except for during the New Year's Holiday (December 31 to January 15). For more information about the Department, visit our webpage (<http://ucu.edu.uy/dcsp>). Candidates are strongly advised to prepare documents according to the requirements established by ANII. Complete information can be found at <http://www.anii.org.uy/apoyos/formacion/6/posdoctorados-en-uruguay/>

A short-list of candidates would be invited to complete the second stage of the application process by January 24. During this second stage, candidates jointly apply with the Department of Social and Political Sciences to the National Agency for Research and Innovation (ANII). Applications for this stage are due by Thursday, February 2, 2017 (14:00, GMT-3).

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 1/17/2017
Date Posted: 12/1/2016
Salary: $20,000 - $29,999
eJobs ID: 2431

Dartmouth College

Rank: Dartmouth Post-doctoral Fellows Program in U.S. Foreign Policy and International Security

The Dickey Center for International Understanding at Dartmouth College invites applications for the 2017-18 (September - June) Dartmouth Fellows Program in U.S. Foreign Policy and International Security. Applicants from all disciplines working on research that bears directly on U.S. foreign policy and international security are welcome to apply. While scholars at all stages of their careers will be considered, applications from recent recipients of the Ph.D or equivalent degree are especially welcomed. Fellows must be in residence during their Fellowship and are asked to participate in Dickey Center seminars and events, participate in teaching a seminar (with the other fellows and a faculty member), and are invited to take advantage of other Dartmouth activities.

The Dickey Center for International Understanding encompasses War and Peace Studies, the Global Health Initiative, the Institute for Arctic Studies (an interdisciplinary center for the study of the environment, climate change and policy implications), and new research foci in human development and gender. Researchers with projects that intersect any of these areas are particularly encouraged to apply.

Fellows receive competitive stipends, research support and benefits, comparable to those offered by other fellowship programs. Faculty on leave from their home institutions will receive half of their annual salary, up to $50,000. Dartmouth is an EE/AO employer.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the quality and significance of the proposed research and its relevance to U.S. foreign policy and international security, and the ability of the applicant to benefit from interaction with and mentoring from Dartmouth faculty.

How to Apply:

Applicants must submit all of the following by Tuesday January 3, 2017 to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/39470>

- A curriculum vitae
- Research abstract (200 words max.)
- A statement of up to 1,500 words describing the proposed research project

- A writing sample (50 pp. max)
- Two confidential letters of reference
- Graduate school transcript (Unofficial transcripts are acceptable. Junior faculty and professionals may include a transcript, but are not required to do so.)
- A confidential financial statement on a separate page indicating the applicant's other sources of support available during fellowship period and —for current faculty only—current salary.

For more information on the program see: <http://dartmouthforeignpolicydoc.org>

For further questions contact Tom Candon, John Sloan Dickey Center, Associate Managing Director by email: thomas.k.candon@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 1/7/2017
Date Posted: 11/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2423

Northern Illinois University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Public Policy

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY
 Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science and the Institute for the Study of the Environment, Sustainability and Energy (ESE) at Northern Illinois University anticipate hiring a tenure-track assistant professor in environmental policy. Employment will begin August 2017. The position is open to applicants from any subfield in political science, and International Relations scholars, in particular, are encouraged to apply. Reflecting NIU's commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration in education and scholarship, the position will hold joint appointment status, but will be tenurable in the Department of Political Science.

The successful candidate will demonstrate a strong record of, or potential for, scholarly research and teaching excellence at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The successful candidate will be expected to teach a core course in environmental policy that covers environmental issues pertinent to the United States. An earned PhD in political science is required by the start date of the appointment. A demonstrated ability to serve a diverse student population is strongly preferred.

Salary will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applicants must send a cover letter, which describes how their scholarship will contribute to the missions of both the Department of Political Science and the Institute for the Study of the Environment, Sustainability and Energy. In addition, a curriculum vitae, writing samples, evidence of teaching effectiveness, appropriate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation should be forwarded to the Department of Political Science at pols_esearch2016@niu.edu.

The Department of Political Science has 12 faculty members and offers B.A., B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The Institute has 33 faculty associates, offers B.A. and B.S. degrees, and is developing a graduate program. For more information, please visit <http://polisci.niu.edu/> and <http://www.niu.edu/ese/>. NIU is located in DeKalb, a welcoming and growing city 65 miles west of downtown Chicago. It has an enrollment of more than 19,000 students, including a graduate student body of over 5,000.

NIU is an AA/EEO institution and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates. A pre-employment criminal background check is required.

Review of completed applications will begin on January 23, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2421

Oslo University

Rank: Postdoctoral fellowships in international judicial politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

1-2 postdoctoral fellowships of up to three years in political science are available at PluriCourts, University of Oslo. We are looking for applicants who will contribute to PluriCourts' research agenda, by studying the functioning, effects and legitimacy of international courts and tribunals (ICs). We seek candidates with a background in judicial politics, international relations, comparative politics, political economy, public administration, or other relevant political science sub-fields.

Successful candidates will develop their own research agenda, in collaboration with colleagues at PluriCourts. Possible research topics include, but are not restricted to; 1) judicial independence and politicization of ICs, 2) compliance with and effectiveness of ICs' decisions, 3) the effects of international judicialization on domestic politics, including redistribution of powers and resources between societal groups and actors, 4) judicial behavior and impartiality of judges, 5) the selection and retention of judges, 6) the social legitimacy of international courts, 7) descriptive and substantive representation of men and women in ICs, and 8) interest group litigation and the role of law and courts as a legitimization strategy for achieving political goals.

Salary level 57-65 (NOK 486 100 to 567 100 pr. year)

Application deadline is January 25, 2017. Read the full announcement here: <http://uio.easycruit.com/vacancy/1735565/70420?iso=no>

Start Date: 2017

Application Deadline: 1/25/2017

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2419

College of Wooster

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill a one-year visiting position at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2017. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in International Relations to teach introductory and advanced courses in the Department of Political Science, and to supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement. The successful candidate must have a demonstrated ability to teach Introduction to International Relations, upper level International Relations courses in their area of expertise, and to contribute to the College of Wooster's interdisciplinary Global and International Studies program. Preference will be given to candidates who can advise Independent Study theses and teach an upper-level course in Comparative Politics.

We prefer candidates who will have completed the Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (19% domestic students of color and 10% international students); applicants should demonstrate their ability to work with diverse student populations.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and student evaluations), unofficial graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/39285>. Applications received by January 31, 2017 will receive full consideration. Please contact Kent Kille (kkille@wooster.edu), the Search Chair, with any questions.

The College of Wooster is an independent college of the liberal arts and sciences with a commitment to excellence in undergraduate education. The College values diversity, strives to attract women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Wooster seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or political affiliation. The College of Wooster is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Employment is subject to federal laws requiring verification of identity and legal right to work in the United States as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act. The College of Wooster is a drug-free workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/31/2017

Date Posted: 11/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2403

Tulane University

Rank: Research Fellow

The Center for Inter-American Policy and Research (CIPR) invites applications for four (4) research fellowships for the Academic Year of 2017-2018, two with program administration duties and two with light teaching. Applications from the social sciences in the fields of international relations, international political economy, comparative politics, political sociology, and policy studies are encouraged. Latin American expertise and Spanish or Portuguese fluency required. Fellows will be selected based on intellectual merit, experience, the potential impact of their planned research for CIPR programs, and teaching needs of the host department.

Fellowships are one-year, residential, full-time appointments with a stipend of $47,500 plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported. In addition to their planned research, applicants must be prepared to carry out either program administration or adjunct teaching responsibilities. In the program administration track, fellows will be expected to work with CIPR's director in the Commitment to Equity Project, and/or to develop programmatic content and projects in Inter-American relations, comparative political economy, citizenship rights, human development, and others. The other fellowship carries a one course per semester adjunct teaching load in the department of the fellow's primary discipline and in the candidate's major subfields, without administrative responsibilities. In both cases, specific responsibilities will be defined jointly during the initial phase of the appointment.

QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. required, in hand no later than May 2017. Recent graduates with no longer than three years since receiving their Ph.D. are especially encouraged to apply.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Application must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting <https://apply.interfolio.com/39150> and must include (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter describing research interests and intended research at CIPR if selected, fit to the program and teaching experience; (3) a graduate transcript; (4) two recommendation letters; (5) a writing sample; and (6) teaching evaluations if available. For further information please contact Ludovico Feoli, Director, Center for Inter-American Policy Research. Applications will be reviewed starting February 15, 2017 until the positions are filled.

Start Date: Winter 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2395

University of South Alabama

Rank: Chair of the Department

Subfield(s): Administration, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Criminal Justice, Health Care

The Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice at the University of South Alabama invites applications for the position of Department Chair to begin August 15, 2017. The department offers undergraduate degrees in Political Science and Criminal Justice as well as a Master's in Public Administration. Highly qualified Associate and Full Professors with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Criminal Justice, or a closely related discipline from an accredited university will be considered for this position.

The ideal candidate will be an accomplished scholar, committed to excellence in research and teaching, have exceptional organizational and interpersonal skills, and possess the vision to lead a growing department. The abilities to collaborate effectively and advocate for program faculty and students are essential. The ideal candidate will have demonstrated administrative experience, but exceptional candidates lacking such experience who have a strong desire to transition to an administrative role are also encouraged to apply.

Applicants should apply at the following link and be prepared to attach a letter of application, a one-page statement of research interests, a brief description of teaching philosophy and proficiencies, a summary statement of leadership and administrative skills, current Curriculum Vitae, names of five references, and a sample of scholarly work. <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/usouthal/jobs/1588869/chair-and-assoc-or-full-professor> Upon request, applicants will arrange to have official transcripts and three letters of recommendation sent to the Chair of the Search Committee. Review of applications will begin December 12, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Information: <http://www.southalabama.edu/colleges/artsandsci/poliscie/jobs.html>

The position of Chair is a 12-month appointment. The ideal candidate will demonstrate the ability to contribute to existing programs and help develop new offerings. An appreciation for mixed methodology is preferred. The ideal candidate will provide transparency in budget and scheduling decisions and be able to highlight faculty and student successes, advocate for program faculty at the college and university levels, seek to increase faculty, majors, and department activities, and mentor junior faculty for success in tenure and promotion and mentor associate professors for promotion to full professor.

The Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice has 10 full-time faculty and more than 300 undergraduate majors and 40 graduate students. The department offers courses for four interdisciplinary programs within the College of Arts and Sciences: African American Studies, Forensic Science, Gender Studies, and International Studies. The department is also home to the USA Polling Group, a survey research center with a 10 station CATI lab that works with a variety of internal and external clients. Additionally, the department has a sizeable Masters in Public Administration (MPA) program and an active student body.

If you have questions about this position, the department, the University, or the area, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee, Elise Labbé-Coldsmith, at ELabbe@southalabama.edu.

The University of South Alabama is an EO/AA employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expressions) religion, age, genetic information, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2398

University of Wyoming

Rank: Visiting Senior Scholar in Global Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, Comparative Politics

The University of Wyoming Global and Area Studies Program invites applications for a senior scholar-in-residence position to begin in August 2017 or January 2018. Supported by the Wyoming Excellence in Higher Education Endowment, the Visiting Senior Scholar in Global Studies will enrich and broaden UW's Global and Area Studies Program and in particular our recent focus on human security. Although the specific area of expertise and scholarly interest are flexible, we anticipate that this program will appeal to those individuals on leave or transitioning from a career in public policy, academics on sabbatical, or experts interested in writing or conducting research in an academic setting. The visiting scholar will design and teach one course per semester, orchestrate faculty/student workshops, give public presentations, and/or prepare manuscripts for publication in the area of human security, international affairs, and/or foreign policy. We seek a visiting scholar who will engage students, faculty, and Wyoming citizens in meaningful international discussions of pressing global issues. The visiting scholar will join core faculty with disciplinary backgrounds in political science, sociology, geography, anthropology, and linguistics in internationalization efforts throughout the state of Wyoming. The committee seeks applications from mid-to-senior-level career professional with a significant body of work in international affairs and a background in government service, academics, diplomacy, journalism, communication, and/or NGOs with demonstrated interest or experience in the field of human security. Candidates should have the appropriate professional degree for their career path; academic applicants should have a Ph.D. in an appropriate academic discipline.

The appointment is for one semester to begin in fall 2017 or spring 2018. Appointments for up to one academic year may be considered.

Applications will be reviewed beginning on February 3, 2017. Inquiries by email are welcome to Dr. David Messenger, Director of the Global & Area Studies Program, dmesseng@uwoyo.edu. Applications including a curriculum vitae or professional resume and cover letter, which includes a description of teaching interest, and proposed writing project should be sent to Dr. David Messenger, Global and Area Studies Program, Dept. 4299, University of Wyoming 1000 E. University Avenue, Laramie, WY 82071. Applications can be sent by regular mail or by email to dmesseng@uwoyo.edu.

The University of Wyoming is committed to diversity and endorses principles of affirmative action. We acknowledge that diversity enriches and sustains our scholarship and promotes equal access to our educational mission. We seek and welcome applications from individuals of all backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives. AA/EEO. The University of Wyoming encourages applications from individuals who represent a broad spectrum of backgrounds and, in particular, welcomes applications from women and minority groups.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2400

Marist College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Developing Nations, Africa, Latin American

Department of Political Science
Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Marist College invites applications for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science in the areas of comparative politics and international relations beginning Fall 2017.

We are seeking broadly trained candidates with a Ph.D. in hand who can teach introductory courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations. Candidates should have some combination of regional expertise in Latin America, Africa and/or Asia. An ability to teach upper level courses in the area of your specialization including Democratization, Developing Areas, and research methods is also desirable. Tenure track positions at Marist College carry a 4/3 or 3/3 course load, depending on scholarship productivity, with a balance between introductory and advanced courses. Ph.D.s preferred.

To apply, please go to <http://jobs.marist.edu/> and upload a letter of application, CV, and names and contact information for three references. Applications will be reviewed beginning November 15 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2376

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Nuclear Security Fellows Program

NUCLEAR SECURITY FELLOWS PROGRAM

The Security Studies Program at MIT invites applications for fellows in the field of nuclear security. Fellowships are available for pre-doctoral and post-doctoral scholars and for junior faculty. Fellows are expected to produce policy-relevant research, including book manuscripts, draft articles, dissertations, chapters in edited volumes, or reports. Nuclear security is defined broadly to include nuclear terrorism, nuclear proliferation and nonproliferation, nuclear weapons, nuclear doctrine and force structure, nuclear energy as it relates to nuclear security, and other topics that involve nuclear security. The deadline for applications is 26 January 2017. Application forms (and further information about eligibility requirements) are available at <https://ssp.mit.edu/about/nuclear-security-fellows-program>. Applications, along with any further questions should be submitted by post or email to: Fellowship Coordinator, Security Studies Program, MIT, Bldg. E40, 4th Floor, 77 Massachusetts Ave, Cambridge, MA 02139 (email: ssp-fellowships@mit.edu). MIT is an AA/EEO employer and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/26/2017

Date Posted: 11/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2350

Saint John's University

Rank: Political Science/International Relations

The Political Science Department of the College of Saint Benedict and Saint John's University invites applications for a full-time one-year position at the rank of assistant professor to begin in August 2017. A completed Ph.D. in political science is preferred; ABD will be considered. Teaching assignments will include three courses per semester. The department seeks a broadly trained political scientist who can teach the following courses.

- Introduction to International Relations (POLS 121): Introduction to the study of the global system and international relations theories. Focuses on states, international organizations, sub-state and non-state actors. Case studies focus on conflict, globalization, climate change or other issues of instructor interest. (2 sections)

- Latin American Politics (POLS 347): An upper division course which incorporates comparative analysis of Latin American politics focusing on the themes of the military in politics, economic dependency, reform and revolution, and agrarian reform.

- One other upper division course in the candidate's area of interest.

- First Year Seminar: FYS is a required full-year course taken during the first year. It is designed to help students improve their ability to read carefully and think critically about what they read, to write in a variety of academic formats, improve their information literacy, and to develop discussion skills necessary for successful college course work.

Saint John's University, a liberal arts college for men, and the College of Saint Benedict, a liberal arts college for women, are located five miles apart in Central Minnesota just outside metropolitan St. Cloud and 70 miles from Minneapolis. Both are Catholic colleges in the Benedictine tradition, which emphasize quality teaching and a commitment to intercultural learning. For further information, see <http://www.csbsju.edu>

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in political science is preferred; ABD will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2334

Nazareth College of Rochester

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The History and Political Science Department at Nazareth College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in Comparative Politics and International Relations (or IR) to begin in August 2017.

The successful applicant will teach introductory courses in political science, comparative politics and international relations, as well as upper-division electives focused on the politics of the region in which the candidate specializes.

Region of expertise is open, but preference will be given to candidates with a background in Africa or the Middle East and who can contribute to our well established programs in International Studies, Women and Gender Studies, Middle Eastern Studies, and other interdisciplinary minors focused on global issues and culture. The standard teaching load is three to four courses per semester.

Ph.D. in political science is expected at the time of employment. ABD candidates may be considered if they anticipate successful defense of their dissertation by February 2018.

Applicants must attach a CV, Cover Letter and Teaching Philosophy to the online application <https://jobs.naz.edu/postings/1380>. In addition, applicants must submit three letters of recommendation to tkneela8@naz.edu.

Review of applications begins on December 10, 2016.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2320

Yale University

Rank: Post Doctoral Fellowship in Political Economy, Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy, The MacMillan Center, Yale University

The Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy at Yale invites applications for a post-doctoral position for AY 2017-2018. Candidates must have a robust research program in political economy, broadly construed, and must have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

The Post-doctoral Associate will teach one course during the year, either in the Fall or the Spring semester, pursue his/her own research, and participate in the activities of the Leitner program. Post-doctoral Associates are expected to be in residence from August 2017 to May 2018.

We will begin accepting applications immediately with review beginning on Thursday, December 15, 2016 and continuing until the selections are final.

Yale University is an equal opportunity employer. Applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged.

Compensation is competitive, and includes benefits and health coverage. We expect to be able to cover a junior scholar's salary for the full academic year and up to half of a senior scholar's salary. Senior scholars who will be taking leave from their home institution to accept the fellowship should indicate salary requirements and whether they expect to receive salary support from their university or outside sources.

To apply, send a cover letter, CV, research statement and a draft of a syllabus of a course you propose to teach at Yale. You'll also need to have three letters of recommendation submitted on your behalf.

All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/38382>

Ms. Hira Jafri, Program Manager, Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy, The Whitney and Betty MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, 34 Hillhouse Avenue, P.O. Box 208206 New Haven, CT 06520-8206 USA. Email: hira.jafri@yale.edu. For details on the Leitner program, please consult the website: <http://www.yale.edu/leitner>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2303

Wake Forest University

Rank: African Politics and African/International Studies

African Politics and African/International Studies – Assistant Professor

The Department of Politics and International Affairs of Wake Forest University invites applications for a tenure-track position in African Politics and International Studies beginning in the 2017-2018 academic year. The position will be filled at the Assistant Professor level and will involve teaching and research interests in the area(s) of the politics of Sub-Saharan Africa, international, and/or comparative politics. Included in this teaching load will be courses offered for interdisciplinary minors in African Studies and International Studies. We seek candidates who demonstrate a commitment to excellence in research, undergraduate teaching, and mentoring. The most competitive candidates will have their PhD in hand at time of appointment. Applicants should submit the following materials through the on-line site identified below by January 6, 2017:

- a cover letter directed to Dr. Katy Harriger (harriger@wfu.edu), Chair, Department of Politics and International Affairs;
- curriculum vitae;
- graduate transcripts;

- a statement of research program;
- a statement of teaching philosophy;
- course outlines;
- teaching evaluation summaries.

Applicants must make arrangements to have three confidential letters of recommendation sent to letters@wfu.edu. Otherwise, letters and additional documents can be uploaded in OpenHire (2413-141). When applying, please refer to tracking number.

For complete details and to apply, go to <http://wakejobs.silkroad.com/> or call (336) 758-4700. The submission of an online application for Wake Forest University is required for this position. Questions about the application process may be addressed to wakejobs@wfu.edu. Wake Forest University is an equal opportunity employer. Wake Forest University values an inclusive and diverse learning community and campus climate.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/26/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2291

San Diego State University

Rank: Director of the J. Keith Behner and Catherine M. Stiefel Program on Brazil

The College of Arts and Letters of San Diego State University seeks to hire an associate or full professor with a specialty on Brazil.

Requirements:

Ph.D. in Humanities and/or Social Sciences, with a research and teaching focus on Brazil. Proven administrative experience building interdisciplinary and/or intercollegiate programs and record of success in obtaining external funding.

Rank and salary commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments. Tenure upon hire is possible depending upon qualifications.

Duties:

I. Develop both long and short term plans to meet the program's objectives in the areas of:

research, scholarship and creative endeavors;
academic programming and co-curricular activities in all aspects of Brazil's life - social, cultural and scientific - including international programs with and/or in Brazil, such as exchange of students/faculty; engagement and outreach

II. Establish an open, inclusive and transparent process to allocate seed money for research projects and support for curricular and extra-curricular initiatives that are poised to deliver tangible outcomes.

III. Instigate and develop internal and outreach efforts, including development.

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Application Instructions

To ensure full consideration, please apply via Interfolio. Position will remain open until filled.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.'

This institution is using Interfolio's ByCommittee to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/13/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2221

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Ocean Governance and Law

The Department of Marine Affairs at the University of Rhode Island seeks applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Ocean Governance and Law.

QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science, Marine Affairs, Environmental Policy, Public Policy, Geography or closely-related field by appointment date in August 2017. We seek highly qualified candidates with specialization in international ocean governance, international institutions, and/or international marine/environmental law & policy. Successful candidates will provide evidence of ability to develop and instruct undergraduate and graduate courses; develop an independently funded research program; publish and present at national and international meetings; and work with members of diverse and underrepresented groups.

DEADLINE: November 11, 2016. Application materials should include a cover letter describing qualifications for the position, CV with names and contact information of 3 professional references, combined statement of research accomplishments & future research plans as well as teaching accomplishments & philosophy, and one document of writing samples which can include up to 3 publications, working papers or dissertation chapters. For the full job posting and to apply online, please visit <https://jobs.uri.edu/postings/1774>.

Located within URI's College of Environment and Life Sciences, the Marine Affairs department offers Bachelors, Masters and Doctoral degrees. The mission of the Marine Affairs department is to provide leadership in the management of marine and coastal environments through distinction in teaching, research, service, and outreach programs. To accomplish its mission, the department emphasizes multidisciplinary approaches to ocean & coastal governance and management.

The University of Rhode Island is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 10/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2222

University of North Texas

Rank: Assistant Professor--Comparative Politics/International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2017 in the broadly defined field of contentious politics in comparative politics and/or international relations. We are interested in prospective candidates who conduct research in such areas as civil society, social movements, ethnic politics, and non-state opposition groups (e.g., terrorist organizations, rebel organizations, extremist parties).

All applicants must meet the following criteria: (1) A Ph.D. in Political Science (highly qualified ABD candidates will also be considered) and (2) evidence that demonstrates a potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service will be required of the selected candidate. Preference will be given to candidates with strong methods skills and who are likely to publish in top-tier journals, seek external funding, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

The faculty member will teach core, upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses, continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

The Department of Political Science at UNT is a highly productive department with 26 faculty members who are committed to excellence in both teaching and research. It offers BA, MA/MS, and PhD degrees. Faculty in the department have previously edited the American Political Science Review, International Studies Quarterly and Journal of Political Science Education. The department is also home to the Castleberry Peace Institute, the UNT Peace Studies Program and the Latina/o Mexican-American Studies Program. The Department's web site can be found at: <http://politicalscience.unt.edu>.

With nearly 38,000 students, UNT is the nation's 26th largest public university. As the largest, most comprehensive university in Dallas-Fort Worth, UNT drives the North Texas region. UNT offers 99 bachelor's, 83 master's, and 36 doctoral degree programs, many nationally and internationally recognized. UNT is a Carnegie Tier I public research university deeply committed to advancing educational excellence and preparing students to become thoughtful, engaged citizens of the world.

Applicants must submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a narrative describing scholarly research, (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., peer reviews, evaluations), (6) a copy of transcripts, and (7) the names and contact information of three references via UNT's Faculty Jobs portal at <https://facultyjobs.unt.edu>. Direct inquires to David Mason, search committee chair (David.Mason@unt.edu)

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit their applications and all supporting materials as close as possible to the review date. UNT is an AA/ADA/EOE.

The University of North Texas System is firmly committed to equal opportunity and does not permit - and takes actions to prevent - discrimination, harassment (including sexual violence), and retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, disability, family status, genetic information, citizenship or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. The University of North Texas System immediately investigates and takes remedial action when appropriate. The University of North Texas System also takes actions to prevent retaliation against individuals who oppose a discriminatory practice, file a charge, or testify, assist or participate in an investigative proceeding or hearing.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2115

Rhodes College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics/ International Relations

Rhodes College – Visiting Assistant Professor – Comparative Politics / International Relations

The Department of International Studies at Rhodes College invites applications for a visiting Assistant Professor to start Fall 2017. A Ph.D. in hand by Fall 2017 is required. The appointee is expected to teach introductory and advanced courses in either Comparative Politics or International Relations as well as an upper level course on international conflict. The ability to teach research methods in international studies would be a plus. The position has a 3-3 teaching load and offers the possibility for renewal up to a third year after the successful completion of the first year.

The department seeks candidates with a strong commitment to teaching and research. Successful candidates will also be those who can contribute to an interdisciplinary atmosphere. Application materials must include: a letter of application, CV, names and contact information of 3 references, writing/publication sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Please address in your cover letter your interest in teaching at a liberal arts college and how your experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service might contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values. Apply online at jobs.rhodes.edu. For additional information please contact Ms. Kim Stevenson, Departmental Assistant, Department of International Studies, StevensonK@rhodes.edu. Review of completed applications will begin on November 14 and continue until the position is filled.

Founded in 1848, Rhodes College is a highly selective, private, residential, undergraduate college, located in Memphis, Tennessee. We aspire to graduate students with a lifelong passion for learning, a compassion for others, and the ability to translate academic study and personal concern into effective leadership and action in their communities and the world. We encourage applications from candidates interested in helping us achieve this vision.

Rhodes College values an inclusive and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity in the workforce.

Memphis has a metropolitan population of over one million and provides multiple opportunities for research and for cultural and recreational activities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2099

Ohio State University

Rank: Race and Gender in Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Description:

The department of political science seeks candidates for a tenured or tenure-track position in the study of race and/or gender in politics. We welcome applications from scholars studying comparative politics and international relations, however, we are especially interested in applicants who study race and/or gender as they pertain to politics in the United States. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching excellence, and the promise of attracting external funding.

This position is part of a larger initiative at Ohio State to increase faculty diversity and to promote research and teaching on topics central to race, ethnicity, sex, and gender as well as disparities in modern society linked to these categories. The Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences intends to hire at least eight new faculty members under this initiative. The new cluster of faculty will be able to build a network with many committed professors already at home in the College of Arts and Sciences in the Diversity & Identity Studies Collective, the Department of Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, and the Department of African American and African Studies. Graduate certificates in this area of inquiry and undergraduate bridge programs are also being built to support this initiative.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have that degree by Autumn 2017. It is possible the successful candidate could have a PhD degree in a cognate field such as sociology or social psychology but a PhD in political science is preferred. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the center of a rapidly growing and diverse metropolitan area with a population of over 1.5 million. The area offers a wide range of affordable housing, many cultural and recreational opportunities, excellent schools, and a strong economy based on government as well as service, transportation and technology industries (see <http://liveworkplaycolumbus.com/>). Columbus has consistently been rated as one of the Top U.S. cities for quality of life, and was selected as one of the Top 10 cities for African Americans to live, work, and play by Black Enterprise magazine. Additional information about the Columbus area is available at <http://www.columbus.org>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7871>. A complete application consists of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, and three letters of reference. Applications received prior to October 15, 2016 will receive priority consideration. Inquiries may be directed to Michael Neblo at neblo.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. We are an NSF Advance Institution and a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2000

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor American Politics

Specializations: African American Politics, Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning July 2017. A Ph.D is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 17, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1939

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning July 2017. We are seeking a broadly trained Political Scientist who could teach courses in international relations and political philosophy. A Ph.D. is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 31st, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1937

King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals
Dhahran, Saudi Arabia

College Name : College of Applied & Supporting Studies

Department Name : Department of General Studies

Positions/Ranks : Assistant/Associate Professor

Field/areas of specialization/experience : International Relations

The Department of General Studies at King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals (KFUPM) in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia invites applications for full-time faculty positions with the rank of Assistant and Associate Professor in the following field:

International Relations

Applicants are expected to hold a Ph.D. degree with a strong commitment to research and teaching. Applicants are also expected to be proficient in English (spoken and written) as the language of instruction at KFUPM is English. Candidates with Middle East expertise and experience are encouraged to apply.

Salary/Benefits: Two-year renewable contract. Competitive salary based on qualifications and experience. Free furnished air-conditioned on-campus housing unit with free essential utilities and maintenance. The appointment includes the following benefits according to the University's policy: air ticket/s to Dammam on appointment; annual repatriation air ticket/s for up to four persons; assistance with local tuition fees for school-age dependent children; local transportation allowance; two months' paid summer leave; end-of-service gratuity. The KFUPM campus has a range of facilities including a medical and dental clinic, an extensive library, computing, research and teaching laboratory facilities and a recreation center.

How to apply:

Please apply online by visiting KFUPM website at: <http://www.kfupm.edu.sa>; then click on jobs link.

You can also contact us:

By email: faculty@kfupm.edu.sa

CC: c-gsd@kfupm.edu.sa

By mail: Dean, Faculty & Personnel Affairs, KFUPM,

Box no. 5005, Dhahran 31261, Saudi Arabia

Fax #: +966 13 860 2429

For additional information and to download application form, please visit: <http://www.kfupm.edu.sa/fpa> or <http://www.kfupm.edu.sa/gsd>

ALL RANKS/POSITIONS WILL REMAIN VACANT UNTIL FILLED

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1829

SUNY, Cortland

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Western Europe, International Security, Post Communist Europe

Start Date: Fall 2017; Salary: Competitive

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Specialization: European Politics, International Relations

The Department Political Science at the State University of New York College at Cortland in Cortland, NY, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position with duties to begin Fall 2017. A Ph.D. in political science by the time of the appointment (or ABD with designated date of completion) is required. The Department seeks a person able to teach comparative politics covering Western, Central, Eastern Europe, Russia, and the European Union. Expertise in international relations also. Responsibilities include teaching introductory courses, including Introduction to World Politics, Foundations of Democracy, and upper division courses in the undergraduate curriculum according to the instructor's expertise.

Course load is three courses per semester. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and research, with a willingness to collaborate with other colleagues on campus in a variety of international experiential activities (e.g. coordination of Model EU simulation activity, study abroad, internships). SUNY Cortland is an AA/EEO/ADA employer. The College actively seeks applications from women, veterans, individuals with a disability, members of underrepresented groups or anyone that would enrich the diversity of the College. We have a strong commitment to the affirmation of diversity and have interdisciplinary degree programs in the areas of Multicultural Studies.

Applications should include: a letter of application summarizing qualifications and research interests; a curriculum vita; the names of three references (with letters to be supplied on request); evidence of teaching effectiveness including sample syllabi if available; academic transcripts from most recent degree; and a publication or writing sample. Applications will be accepted and reviewed on a rolling basis until the position is filled. Final hiring is subject to final budgetary authorization.

SUNY Cortland is a predominantly undergraduate state college located in upstate New York with a total student population of over 7200. The Political Science Department is a mid-size, undergraduate-teaching department in the school of Arts and Sciences, but is one of the most active and visible in the college. The department has about 110 majors, and is composed of eight full-time faculty, along with several adjuncts. Key departmental programs include the Political Science major, Adolescence Education with a concentration in political science, concentration in Law and Justice, and B.S. degree in Public Administration and Policy.

Applicants must apply online at: <http://www2.cortland.edu/offices/hr/jobs/> For more information, contact Department Chair, Political Science Department, SUNY Cortland, Box 2000, Cortland, NY 13045.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1852

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of assistant professor. The position requires outstanding research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and, if available, evidence of excellence in teaching. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36630> To guarantee full consideration, all materials should be uploaded and available for review by September 7, 2016. Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1794

University of Haifa

Rank: Tenure Track Position - International Relations

Tenure Track Position – International Relations
University of Haifa

The School of Political Science at the University of Haifa invites applications for a tenure track position in International Relations beginning 1 October 2017. The position is open to individuals at all stages of their career, but candidates must have their Ph.D. by October 2017. Candidates whose focus includes International Political Economy, area studies other than the Middle East, and research methods are especially welcome to apply. Faculty are expected to achieve proficiency in Hebrew within two to three years of hiring.

Please submit a letter of application and CV including list of publications. Highly qualified candidates will be asked to provide additional materials (letters of reference and a sample of published work). Final decisions, including assignment of rank, are subject to resource availability, consideration of the Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences and the final decision of the Rector (Provost).

Applications should be sent electronically to the Division chair:
Prof. Zach Levey -- zachl@poli.haifa.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2017

Date Posted: 8/13/2016

Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 1787

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: William S. Dietrich Endowed Chair in Political Science
Subfield(s): Other, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the inaugural William S. Dietrich II Endowed Chair in Political Science, with appointment to begin in the 2017-18 academic year, pending budgetary approval. The Chair is named in honor of the late Dr. William S. Dietrich II, a former chairman of the University's Board of Trustees who received his Ph.D. from the Department in 1984.

In filling this chair, and in keeping with the interests of Dr. Dietrich, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship in the fields of international relations or comparative politics, or whose interests cut across these and possibly other disciplinary subfields.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh currently consists of 25 tenure stream faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. The Department's NRC ranking has improved dramatically over the past decade, and presently ranks between 20th and 30th among Ph.D. granting departments. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Please submit a detailed cover letter and C.V. electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU3>. Additional information may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1780

Dartmouth College

Rank: Endowed Chair in Transnational Studies

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for appointment to a newly endowed chair in transnational studies, which includes scholarship on the roles of both state and non-state actors in international relations, in international political economy, and in the maintenance of security and political order. The appointment is open to any rank. The successful candidate's research and teaching should enhance the scholarly reputation of the Department of Government and also advance the mission of the Dickey

Center for International Understanding, making significant contributions to contemporary policy debates in the United States and/or the international community. The position requires excellence in research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest and CV, including names and contact information for at least three references.

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/28340>

Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/5/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1739

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci?q=node/1>) seeks applications for a tenure track assistant professor in International Relations. We are open with respect to specialization within IR, and successful candidates will add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) to (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files may be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search. Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to International Relations Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1690

Moravian College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Foreign Policy, Conflict Processes

The Political Science Department at Moravian College invites applications for a full time, tenure track position commencing in August 2017. Candidates should be prepared to offer a broad array of classes in international relations such as American Foreign Policy, Human Rights, International Law and Organization, International Security and Conflict Resolution. Candidates should also be prepared to teach courses that entail a geographic specialization with the area being open (e.g., Africa, Latin America, Middle East and the Islamic world etc.) except for Europe and Asia. Candidates should also be prepared to teach in the College's First Year Student Seminar Program with the subject matter for the seminar being at the discretion of the instructor. Ph. D. is expected by time of appointment.

Moravian College is a selective residential liberal arts college located in Bethlehem, PA with a proud tradition of providing an outstanding education in the liberal arts and sciences for men and women. Moravian College highly values excellence in teaching as well as scholarship and seeks to nurture the development of its students through strong personal interactions with its teaching faculty. The College is approximately an hour and a half from New York City and an hour from Philadelphia and is one of six members of the Lehigh Valley Association of Independent Colleges consortium.

Moravian College values diversity, strives to attract qualified women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Moravian seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity.

Applications should be submitted electronically to searchpolsci@moravian.edu. Application materials should include letter of application, current curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of effective teaching, a statement of research plans, and three letters of recommendation with contact information for each reference. Review of application materials will begin July 1 and will continue until the end of October.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/15/2016

Date Posted: 6/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1531

METHODOLOGY

American University in Cairo

Rank: Development/Research Methods

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term contract (5 years renewable) position in Development/Research Methods at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. The course load is normally three courses per semester, including teaching in the MA program. Applicants should have a research and teaching experience in development work (proposal writing, project monitoring and evaluation is desirable), and NGOs. Strong preference will be given to teaching a research methodology course (quantitative and qualitative). Additional expertise is desirable in the political economy of Arab Middle East Countries and Africa. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Feb. 20th, 2017. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, (gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/24/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2564

American University in Cairo

Rank: Development/Research Methods

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term contract (5 years renewable) position in Development/Research Methods at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. The course load is normally three courses per semester, including teaching in the MA program. Applicants should have a research and teaching experience in development work (proposal writing, project monitoring and evaluation is desirable), and NGOs. Strong preference will be given to teaching a research methodology course (quantitative and qualitative). Additional expertise is desirable in the political economy of Arab Middle East Countries and Africa. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Feb. 20th, 2017. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V.; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, (gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/24/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2565

American University in Cairo

Rank: Development/Research Methods

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term contract (5 years renewable) position in Development/Research Methods at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. The course load is normally three courses per semester, including teaching in the MA program. Applicants should have a research and teaching experience in development work (proposal writing, project monitoring and evaluation is desirable), and NGOs. Strong preference will be given to teaching a research methodology course (quantitative and qualitative). Additional expertise is desirable in the political economy of Arab Middle East Countries and Africa. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Feb. 20th, 2017. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V.; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair,

(gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/24/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2566

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 16,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia, and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. Rowan is one of two universities in the country to offer M.D. and D.O. medical-degree programs. The School of Osteopathic Medicine has a faculty practice plan that serves approximately 200,000 patients throughout Southern New Jersey. The institution is also home to the South Jersey Technology Park, which fosters the translation of applied research into commercial products and processes. The University boasts seven colleges--William G. Rohrer College of Business, Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering and colleges of Communications and Creative Arts, Education, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics. Rowan has been recognized as one of the Top 100 public universities in the nation and is ranked 3rd among public institutions in the North by US News & World Report.

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science beginning in Fall 2017. The position is open to candidates specializing in public policy, public administration, or a related field. Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics, as well as a course in quantitative methods. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and will be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship at the pre-tenure level.

Candidates must be legally authorized to work in the US and the university will not sponsor an applicant for a work visa for this position.

Applicants should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2017. To assure full consideration, completed applications must be received by February 17, 2017. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://rowanuniversity.hodesiq.com/job-details.aspx?jobid=5392388>

Submit a cover letter, a C.V., unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment.

All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017
Date Posted: 1/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2553

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

The Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies and The Europe Center at Stanford University seek to appoint a postdoctoral research associate for the academic year 2017-18, beginning September 11, 2017 and concluding August 30, 2018 with the possibility of a one year renewal subject to available funding. The position involves working with the Center Director, Professor Kenneth Scheve, on a range of Center research and institutional projects including, but not limited to, studies on public finance, inequality, climate change cooperation, and the politics of globalization. Responsibilities will vary but likely include assisting with the design and implementation of original surveys, data collection and management, assistance in archival research, preliminary data analysis, and grant writing. There will also be substantial opportunities for the postdoc to pursue their own research projects, participate in collaborative research, and take advantage of the intellectual life at the Freeman Spogli Institute and related departments. Technical skills such as computer programming are highly desirable as is some coursework in political economy. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. Proof of completion of doctoral degree is required before starting the position and the start date must be no more than three years after degree conferral. The position provides stipend and benefits, set and adjusted in accordance with Stanford University rules. Stanford University is an equal opportunity-affirmative action employer. Stanford values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty, and strongly encourages applications from women and underrepresented minorities.

Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Scheve at scheve@stanford.edu. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and three letters of reference. All applications must be submitted on-line through <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8819>. Applications should be submitted by February 17, 2017

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/17/2017
Date Posted: 1/18/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2558

Brunel University

Rank: Professor Political Science

Politics & International Relations at Brunel University London is part of a thriving interdisciplinary Department, which also includes History and Law. It has a superb research record with 64% of research rated as being internationally excellent or world-leading in REF2014. We are ranked 12th in the UK in terms of Research Intensity. Our NSS results in recent years have placed us in the top quartile in the UK for student satisfaction, and internationally we have been ranked in the QS ranking top 200 for Politics & International Studies.

We are seeking to recruit a Professor of Comparative Politics. Our preference is for a candidate who can also offer research and teaching in quantitative analysis. The successful candidate will join a vibrant department and an energetic and internationally orientated group working in comparative politics and public policy. In keeping with the seniority of this role, the successful applicant will be expected to make a significant contribution both to research and the academic leadership of the department. You will also be expected to participate in at least one of the research centres and/or hubs in the College of Business, Arts & Social Sciences, or a University Research Institute.

More information about the Department can be found on the Departmental website: <http://www.brunel.ac.uk/cbass/politics-history-law>

Informal enquiries about the posts and the Department can be made to the Head of Department, Professor Justin Fisher (justin.fisher@brunel.ac.uk).

Closing date for applications: 12 February 2017
 Interviews will be held on Tuesday 28 March 2017

Full details available at:
<https://jobs.brunel.ac.uk/wrl/pages/vacancy.jsf?latest=01006963>

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 2/12/2017
Date Posted: 1/11/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2531

Missouri Southern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Methodology

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Quantitative Methods, Judicial Politics

The Department of Social Science at Missouri Southern State University in Joplin, Missouri invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 2017. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory American Government; areas of specialization include public law and the courts. Ability to teach undergraduate research methods or statistics as well as familiarity with mock trial and paralegal studies desirable. Qualifications: J.D. and Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABD will be considered. The position requires a commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level.

Applicants should submit a detailed letter of application, curriculum vitae (with the names, addresses, email addresses, and phone numbers of three references), and copies of undergraduate and graduates transcripts. (Official transcripts are required 45 days after contract is issued.). Submit documents to FacultyVitae@mssu.edu; include: "Political Science – Assistant Professor" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Employment will require a background check. MSSU is an EOE employer with a strong institutional commitment to achievement of excellent and diversity among faculty and staff. MSSU is an E-verify participating employer.

Missouri Southern State University (MSSU) is a four year liberal arts institution serving nearly 6,000 students. Expanding graduate and undergraduate programs provide faculty with rich opportunities for service and scholarship. Internationally-focused semesters and enriching cultural events in theater, art, music and film create an engaging learning environment for students and citizens of the region. MSSU is located in Joplin, MO, which is considered to be the

Crossroads of America, and serves as the commercial hub for the four states area. Joplin is a resilient and vibrant city with a population of over 50,000 serving a metropolitan statistical area of 208,000. There is quick and easy access to Northwest Arkansas, Kansas City, and Tulsa, as well as numerous outdoor activities and attractions throughout the Ozarks.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2527

University of Houston

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor - Methodology

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) anticipates four tenure-track positions beginning in fall 2017. Two positions are at the level of Assistant Professor in the area of decision sciences. The other two positions are open rank and in the areas of (a) ethical or political theory and public policy, and (b) research methodology leveraging the NSF's Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) initiative. Applicants for all positions are expected to demonstrate a record predictive of future scholarly productivity, potential and commitment to develop and sustain a nationally competitive program of research with implications for public policy, capability and commitment to contribute to undergraduate and graduate programs and a doctoral degree or equivalent. The Hobby School emphasizes multidisciplinary collaboration and affiliation. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and/or methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply, as are those with interest in working with diverse populations.

Decision sciences faculty — from a variety of disciplines including disciplines not usually associated with policy schools such as business, computer science, and industrial engineering — will apply state-of-the-art decision sciences theory and research to public policy, with interests including but not limited to statistical decision theory, rational expectations in economics and political science, cognitive psychology, technological change and the restructuring of decision processes, the impact of probabilistic forecasts on decision algorithms, and the micro-foundations of comparative justice systems. Research methodology faculty are expected to have familiarity with the NSF's EITM initiative (see <http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/ses/polisci/reports/pdf/eitmreport.pdf>) and serve at the Hobby School's EITM Summer Research Institute (see <http://www.uh.edu/class/hcpp/eitm/index.php>). Ethical or political theory and public policy faculty are expected to be philosophers or political theorists who continue to expand their impact beyond disciplinary boundaries into public policy and applied ethics.

With over 40,000 students on the main campus and one of the most culturally and ethnically diverse public universities in the nation, UH (www.uh.edu) is a Carnegie-Designated Tier One Public Research University. The Hobby School was recently created by the UH system and thus offers incoming faculty the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school.

The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology and political philosophy in its teaching, training, and research.

The Hobby School is well-positioned for impactful research in Houston, the nation's fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (a) a growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center, the world's largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Interested individuals are asked to apply as follows:

Assistant Professor for Decision Sciences at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33130>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Methodology at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33131>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Policy Ethics at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33134>

and to include a letter of interest, statements of teaching philosophy and interests and research interests, three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation (i.e., referees), a curriculum vita, up to three representative papers, and evidence of excellence in teaching.

Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants, but not for senior applicants. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled. Questions may be directed to the following search committee chairs: (a) Pablo Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential research methodology position, (b) Jeffrey Church (jchurch@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential ethical/political theory and public policy position, and Alan Witt (witt@uh.edu) regarding the potential decision sciences positions.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at <http://www.uh.edu/af/universityservices/policies/sam/1GenAdmin/1D5.pdf>. The positions are also subject to the University of Houston's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2518

University of St. Thomas

Rank: Limited-Term Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at the University of St. Thomas invites applications for a full-time limited-term position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 1, 2017.

We are seeking a political scientist with a specialization in American Politics and the ability to teach courses on Congress & the Presidency, Quantitative Research Methods, and our introductory course, American Government in Comparative Perspective. As part of our department's ongoing curricular revisions, this position allows for additional course development within a candidate's areas of expertise, such as Political Parties, Interest Group Politics, Media and Politics, or Environmental Policy. Limited-term faculty are appointed annually with a one-year contract which may be renewed a maximum of four times. Qualifications:

A PhD in political science is strongly preferred. Candidates who are ABD (who would be eligible for an initial rank of instructor) will be considered. All applicants must have demonstrable skills necessary for excellence in teaching.

Inspired by Catholic intellectual tradition, the University of St. Thomas educates students to be morally responsible leaders who think critically, act wisely, and work skillfully to advance the common good.

The University of St. Thomas is committed to the principles of diversity and inclusion, and the goals of affirmative action/equal opportunity. The University welcomes nominations and applications from a diverse applicant pool.

The University of St. Thomas, Minnesota Human Resources Department advertises the official job listing on its website. If you are viewing this posting from a site other than "Jobs at St. Thomas", the University assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of information.

The University of St. Thomas is an Equal Opportunity Employer

Special Instructions to Candidates:

All application materials must be submitted online at <http://www.stthomas.edu/jobs/>.

Candidates will first be asked to create an applicant profile and upload the required documents (listed below) and then submit an online application and voluntary EEO form.

Required Documents:

- Curriculum Vitae
- Statement of teaching philosophy and experience, including evidence of teaching effectiveness (upload one document into "Teaching Philosophy")
- Description of research agenda
- Two letters of recommendation. Applicants should arrange for letters to be forwarded to Dr. Angela High-Pippert, Chair of Political Science, University of St. Thomas, 2115 Summit Avenue JRC 432, St. Paul MN 55105.

Please copy/paste cover letter, which identifies courses that you would like to teach that would enhance our upper-level course offerings (see <http://www.stthomas.edu/politicalscience/majors/>), into the online application.

For additional information contact Dr. Angela High-Pippert (ahigh-pippe@stthomas.edu).

To ensure full consideration for the position, all application materials must be received by Monday, January 30, 2017. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2504

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Assistant Professor (tenure-track), V-Dem Institute, University of Gothenburg

Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) is a large-scale data collection and research program, see <https://v-dem.net>. The V-Dem Institute, Directed by Professor Staffan I. Lindberg, has several large-scale grants. The term for this position in Swedish is biträdande lektor. The official translation (to British English) is Associate Senior Lecture. The position is the equivalent to what in the American university system is called Assistant Professor. The official time before coming up for tenure and promotion is four years, but can be extended to five years.

The successful candidate is primarily expected to conduct research with a focus on the main questions of the research program "Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization", funded by an European Research Council Consolidator Grant. In addition, it is expected to teach in the department and to contribute to the daily activities of the V-Dem Institute (as needed with administrative tasks, coding and quality control, data management etc). Research is guaranteed at a minimum of 50 percent of full time employment (FTE) and in practice will probably be around 75 percent.

The position is open to candidates who have a PhD in political science or related field, within seven years of graduation. Internationally recognized scientific excellence in one, or preferably more than one, of the following areas is a requirement:

- Research in the field of comparative democratization
- Significant explicit interest in further extending on and use the sequencing methods developed in the V-Dem research program
- Advanced time-series, cross-sectional regression techniques, preferably including Vector Auto-Regression (VAR)
- Sequencing algorithms, and/or Dynamic Treatment Regimes

Documented experience with teaching at under-/graduate level, is required, and service to the profession and society is a merit.

The applicant should demonstrate resourcefulness, flexibility, and very good ability to work together in different configurations. Excellence in English (orally and written) is a requirement. Personal qualities relevant for the position are of great importance.

How to apply:

Applications are submitted online at: http://www.gu.se/english/about_the_university/announcements-in-the-job-application-portal?languageId=100001&disableRedirect=true&returnUrl=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.gu.se%2Fomuniversitetet%2Faktuellt%2Fledigaanstallningar%2F%3Fid%3D19144%26Dnr%3D812200%26Type%3DS&Dnr=812200&Type=S english/varieties-of-democracy--v-dem-. The application letter should relate to the project description and state clearly how the applicant fulfills the criteria stated above. The application should also include: a research proposal (3-5 pages) directly addressing the project "Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization"; a CV including information about teaching experience; a writing sample; an excerpt from Google Scholar with information about the number of citations, h-index; and a list of at least three persons who are prepared to submit letters of recommendation upon request.

Applicants are expected to download the project description of "Failing and Successful Sequences of Democratization" from <http://pol.gu.se/>

About the University: the Department of Political Science, University of Gothenburg, is a leading Political Science department in the Nordic countries. The department hosts several large research programs, including the Quality of Government Institute (QoG), the Centre for European Research (CERGU), the Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) Institute, the Media, Opinion and Democracy (MOD), and the National Election Studies. The department is also a key actor in the SOM Institute responsible for comprehensive annual public opinion surveys. It has 140 employees, out of which more than 70 are faculty and researchers, and it hosts about 1,400 students. The department offers courses at undergraduate and graduate levels in both English and Swedish.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: 1/31/2017

Date Posted: 12/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2493

University of Central Florida

Rank: Lecturer in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a Lecturer position at its West Orlando Campus in the field of American Politics, with an anticipated start date of August 2017. This is a permanent, recurring non-tenure earning position with a promotion path and a primary assignment in teaching. Preferred subfields in American politics include institutions, especially Congress and judicial politics, as well as courses in undergraduate research methods and political theory. It is expected that some courses will be taught online, and some courses may be offered on one of UCF's other campus locations, including the main campus in Orlando. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field from an accredited institution by the time of appointment required.

The University of Central Florida (UCF) is a research-intensive university with a diverse enrollment in excess of 63,000 students. Information about UCF may be found at www.ucf.edu. The Political Science department has approximately 1,200 undergraduates in the Political Science and International & Global Studies majors combined, as well as several minors. The department also offers an M.A. in Political Science and a Ph.D. in Security Studies. The Kurdish Political Studies Program, the India Center, the Prince Mohammed Program for Strategic Research and Studies, and the Lou Frey Institute of Politics & Government, as well as the Intelligence Community Center for Academic Excellence are all housed in the Political Science department. We value the perspectives and contributions of a diverse student and faculty body.

Interested applicants must apply using the UCF online application system at <https://www.jobswithucf.com> by January 26, 2017. Applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, syllabi of any courses taught as instructor of record, student evaluations (where available), a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of recommendation. All materials other than reference letters must be uploaded to the online submission system. Note: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date. Reference letters can be emailed to Politics@ucf.edu, or mailed to: Attn: Dr. Aubrey Jewett, Lecturer Search Committee Chair, 4297 Andromeda Loop N., Howard Phillips Hall 302, Orlando, FL 32816. All materials must be postmarked no later than January 26, 2017. Questions can be addressed to the Lecturer Search Committee Chair, at the mailing address or email address listed above.

UCF is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply, including minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/26/2017

Date Posted: 12/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2474

University of Guam

Rank: #023-17 Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Political Theory

GENERAL DESCRIPTION:

The University of Guam is looking for an individual who is interested in new challenges and opportunities for professional and personal growth. This position calls for someone who is self-motivated and adaptable, intelligent, possesses a global vision and who is interested in working in a dynamic, multi-cultural institution.

UNIT DESCRIPTION:

The Political Science program has three faculty members representing the areas of American and regional politics, comparative politics and international relations. The Political Science program averages about 30 majors per academic year. Political Science courses also satisfy general education requirements and electives for other majors. The program is housed within the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences in the Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences, a 14 member division which includes Political Science, Geography, Psychology, Sociology, and Women and Gender Studies.

CHARACTER OF DUTIES:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach both lower and upper division undergraduate political science courses. He or she will (a) teach a normal load of twelve (12) contact hours per semester, with one course load reduction possible with the Dean's approval, for research, instructional innovation, or large service projects; (b) maintain a continuous record of scholarly activity and research relevant to the Asia/Pacific region; and (c) perform university and community service. The successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory research methodology course including quantitative and qualitative methods. Possible additional course assignments include: introduction to government and politics, international relations, international organization, political philosophy, politics of Asia and special topics in political science.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Minimum: (a) Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations or Government from a U.S. regionally accredited institution or foreign equivalent by August 2017 (ABDs are welcome to apply, provided the doctorate is attained by the time employment begins); (b) demonstrated research ability; (c) teaching experience in some of the subject areas listed above; and (d) Must be willing to teach online.

Preferred: (a) research or relevant professional experience in Asia and/or the Pacific region; (b) experience teaching academically and culturally diverse populations; and (c) a record of winning grants.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

Applicants for University of Guam faculty positions must complete an online job application through the UOG's online employment portal at <https://uog.peopleadmin.com>. Please have the following documents prepared and ready to upload with your application:

- (1) Letter of Intent, stating interest
- (2) Up-to-date curriculum vitae or resume
- (3) Copies of all graduate and undergraduate transcripts

Applicants who are short-listed for an interview will be required to provide a short (approximately 5 minutes) video clip of their lecture or presentation.

Special Instructions for References: Three (3) current letters of recommendation from persons knowledgeable about your academic and professional performance must be provided by providing a list of at least three (3) references to be contacted on the References section of the online application. Enter each reference by clicking on the "Add References Entry" button. Provide the name, title, email address, mailing address, and telephone number of each reference. A system automated email will be sent to each reference's email address with a link to attach their reference letter to your application.

Selected candidate must provide official transcripts prior to hire date. For further information, please contact Dr. Mary Therese F. Cruz, Chair, Political Science Search Committee at mtfcruz@triton.uog.edu or the Human Resources Office at uoghro@triton.uog.edu, telephone number, (671) 735-2350 or fax number at (671) 734-6005.

Police and Court Clearance: Pursuant to Public Law No. 28-24 and Executive Order 2005-34, applicants selected for a position are required to provide original police and court (Superior Court of Guam) clearances of no more than three (3) months old prior to commencement of employment. Off-island applicants must obtain clearances from their place of residence. Applicants are responsible for fees associated with obtaining the clearances.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 1/29/2017
Date Posted: 12/10/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2473

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Specializations: American Politics, Political Behavior, Electoral Behavior

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis. Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. Doctorate required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty. Applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged.

Please submit cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample. Applications should be submitted online at AcademicJobsOnline (AJO) at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8511>.

The review process will begin February 1, 2017. Please submit your materials before that date to receive full consideration, although we will continue to accept applications if there is still a vacancy.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/2/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2439

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Post-Doc (1-2 positions), V-Dem Institute

The call has expired!

Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) is a large-scale data collection and research program, see <https://v-dem.net>. The V-Dem Institute, Directed by Professor Staffan I. Lindberg, has several large-scale grants from among others the European Commission, several ministries of foreign affairs, Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, the Swedish Research Council, Marcus & Marianne Wallenberg's Foundation, and Knut & Alice Wallenberg Foundation.

The position is open to candidates who (at the time of assuming the position) have a PhD in political science or related field.

V-Dem is seeking to replenish our research agenda and are therefore looking for scholars who have completed their degree no more than four years before the application deadline; present exciting new ideas; and that have a strong record of accomplishments in or more of the following areas:

- Comparative democratization (e.g., sequencing of democratization, democracy and development, democracy and governance/corruption, elections and democratization, or other areas);
- Regional expertise;
- Research methods (e.g., aggregation, Bayesian IRT-modeling, experiments, expert coding in data collection, causal inference in time series analysis, sequencing algorithms and methods, or related methods);

- Previous experience from larger-scale research- and other projects are meritorious, as well as competencies in data management.

The Postdoctoral Research Fellow is expected to conduct research primarily in collaboration with the Principal Investigator of V-Dem, Staffan I. Lindberg, with a focus on one or several of the main questions of the research program.

One of V-Dem's strengths is the flexibility and collaborative spirit of everyone at the institute, focusing on reaching the goals of the data collection and research program. This includes a willingness to contribute to coding of data, quality control, data management and/or teaching during peak periods. The Postdoctoral Research Fellow may be asked to perform such tasks up to one-third of full time employment (FTE).

Excellence in English (orally and written) is expected, competence in Arabic, French, Spanish and/or Portuguese is a merit.

How to apply: Applicants are expected to visit the website <http://www.pol.gu.se/varianter-pa-demokrati--v-dem/> and download the program description document titled 'Research program description'. The letter of application should include a self-evaluation of how the applicant's proposed research agenda would contribute to the V-Dem research program, and in which ways the applicant meets the requirements specified above.

Attach to the application: a CV an excerpt of citation count from Google scholar (including H-index), and one writing sample. The application should also include a list of at least three references from whom letters of recommendation can be solicited.

Applications are submitted online at: the deadline has passed.

About the University: the Department of Political Science, University of Gothenburg, is a leading Political Science department in the Nordic countries. The department hosts several large research programs, including the Quality of Government Institute (QoG), the Centre for European Research (CERGU), the Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem) Institute, the Media, Opinion and Democracy (MOD), and the National Election Studies. The department is also a key actor in the SOM Institute responsible for comprehensive annual public opinion surveys. It has 140 employees, out of which more than 70 are faculty and researchers, and it hosts about 1,400 students. The department offers courses at undergraduate and graduate levels in both English and Swedish.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: 1/16/2017

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2418

Marist College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Developing Nations, Africa, Latin American

Department of Political Science
Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Marist College invites applications for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor of Political Science in the areas of comparative politics and international relations beginning Fall 2017.

We are seeking broadly trained candidates with a Ph.D. in hand who can teach introductory courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations. Candidates should have some combination of regional expertise in Latin America, Africa and/or Asia. An ability to teach upper level courses in the area of your specialization including Democratization, Developing Areas, and research methods is also desirable. Tenure track positions at Marist College carry a 4/3 or 3/3 course load, depending on scholarship productivity, with a balance between introductory and advanced courses. Ph.D.s preferred.

To apply, please go to <http://jobs.marist.edu/> and upload a letter of application, CV, and names and contact information for three references. Applications will be reviewed beginning November 15 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2376

Columbia University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scientist

Two-year Postdoctoral Research Fellow position in Bayesian modeling for causal inference. This project, "Causal Inference Using Hierarchical and Nonparametric Bayesian Interaction Models," is funded by the Office of Naval Research. The Postdoc will be appointed through the Institute for Social and Economic Research and Policy at Columbia University and will work under the joint supervision of Drs. Andrew Gelman and Jennifer Hill. The postdoc will be working on a range of research problems involving Bayesian modeling, computing, and applications in causal inference, developing algorithms in Stan for Gaussian process models for causal inference, and comparing additive regression trees in R. The candidate should have strength in Bayesian data analysis, statistical computing, and causal inference and be able to contribute to Stan, our open-source Bayesian inference program. This work will take place in an interdisciplinary research environment, and the postdoc will have the opportunity to collaborate on multiple projects in statistics and applied research. Columbia is an EEO/AA employer.

Position Qualifications: PhD

Salary Range: commensurate with experience

For benefits information visit: <http://www.columbia.edu/index.html>

Please send cover letter and resume to Dr. Andrew Gelman, at gelman@stat.columbia.edu

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2322

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor- U.S. Government and Public Policy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC POLICY- {Job link #0407599}- The Political Science Department at James Madison University is seeking a tenure-track faculty member specializing in U.S. Government and Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning with the fall 2017 semester, pending budgetary approval. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. Areas of specialization should include health policy, economic policy, and/or comparative public policy.

The department seeks candidates with strong teaching and research skills. Review of applications will begin October 6, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at Joblink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number {# 0407599}. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

James Madison University is committed to a diverse and inclusive community and to maintaining a work and educational environment that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability; genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1980

New College of Florida

Rank: Applied Statistics

New College of Florida invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Applied Statistics, starting in August, 2017. A Ph.D. in applied statistics or a related applied field is required. Postdoctoral or teaching experience is preferred and consulting experience is a plus. We seek an individual to help create an innovative Data Science Program in a liberal arts context. We are looking for candidates capable of designing and teaching courses and guiding research at both the graduate and undergraduate level in a highly interdisciplinary setting. We strongly encourage women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities to apply.

Situated on the Gulf Coast of Florida and Sarasota Bay, New College is a nationally recognized, highly-selective public honors college with an 11:1 student/faculty ratio. New College is nationally known for its experimental, project-based approach to education. Students, with the help of faculty sponsors, plan their own academic programs through a series of semester contracts, and receive narrative evaluations in lieu of grades. Completion of a senior thesis is a graduation requirement.

The teaching load is two classes per semester, plus supervision of tutorials, independent study projects, senior theses and master's level projects. The College is especially interested in candidates who wish to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through teaching, scholarship and service.

A complete application includes a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation (at least one that evaluates teaching), a statement of teaching philosophy (including course proposals), and a description of proposed research (including how undergraduates would be involved). To ensure full consideration, all materials should be received by November 15, but applications will be reviewed until the position is filled. New College of Florida is an EOE institution. Please complete the application at ncf.simplehire.com. Contact jobs@ncf.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/15/2016

Date Posted: 9/1/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1950

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for full-time appointment during the 2017-2018 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. QSS fellows also join a broader community of postdoctoral social science researchers at Dartmouth that includes scholars at the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows.

The stipend for the QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, there may be an opportunity for the fellow to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend. The fellowship can be extended through the 2018-2019 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests no longer than two pages that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/37062.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1934

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
Political Science Department
2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Tenure Track; Open to Subfield; Methods Specialization

This is a tenure-track, academic year position with appointment anticipated September of 2017.

Basic Function:

Applicants will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in research methodology that serves as a requirement for both the Political Science and Criminal Justice undergraduate degrees as well as teach other courses in Political Science. Expected to publish original research open with respect to subfield and advise undergraduate students. Provide service to the department, the university and the profession

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2017. Primary or secondary field in the area of Political Science research methodology. Demonstrated evidence of effective college level teaching commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated expertise in a wide range of methodological approaches. Demonstrated evidence of research excellence; scholarly publications commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated experience working with diverse groups/populations.

To apply, please submit materials at: <https://jobs.uri.edu/>

Instructions to Applicants

Please attach 4 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Employment Application: (#1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position; (#2) CV which includes the names/contacts information for three references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses, and course syllabi and teaching evaluations for the last two years and/or for experience directly related to research methods instruction (as available) (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single PDF document); (#3) a brief research and teaching statement; (#4) an article-length sample of written work.

For additional questions or clarification, please contact:
Dr. Kristin Johnson
Associate Professor

Search Committee Chair
 Department of Political Science
 University of Rhode Island
 Kingston, RI 02881
 kristin_johnson@uri.edu
 401 874-5495

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1855

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for up to three postdoctoral fellows for the 2017-18 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each successful fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently, and the fellow's research agenda should be grounded methodologically in statistics or other computational techniques.

During the 2017-18 academic year, fellows will participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results. The stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, each fellow may teach a one-quarter course on a subject of his or her choosing; there is an extra stipend for teaching. The postdoctoral fellowship can be extended through the 2018-19 academic year, subject to negotiation between the fellow and the QSS Chair.

Requirements:

1. Ph.D. in any discipline or expected Ph.D. by September, 2017.
2. Substantive interest in any social science field.
3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical or computation methods.
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively.
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research.

Application Materials:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications.
- 2) Statement of research interests, no longer than two pages, that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth.
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant.
- 4) Three letters of reference.
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished.

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016, and interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.in-terfolio.com/36369

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/17/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1816

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/?q=node/1>) seeks applications for a tenure track assistant professor in International Relations. We are open with respect to specialization within IR, and successful candidates will add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) to (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files may be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search. Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to International Relations Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/30/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1690

NON-ACADEMIC

University of Wyoming

Rank: Visiting Senior Scholar in Global Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Non-Academic, Comparative Politics

The University of Wyoming Global and Area Studies Program invites applications for a senior scholar-in-residence position to begin in August 2017 or January 2018. Supported by the Wyoming Excellence in Higher Education Endowment, the Visiting Senior Scholar in Global Studies will enrich and broaden UW's Global and Area Studies Program and in particular our recent focus on human security. Although the specific area of expertise and scholarly interest are flexible, we anticipate that this program will appeal to those individuals on leave or transitioning from a career in public policy, academics on sabbatical, or experts interested in writing or conducting research in an academic setting. The visiting scholar will design and teach one course per semester, orchestrate faculty/student workshops, give public presentations, and/or prepare manuscripts for publication in the area of human security, international affairs, and/or foreign policy. We seek a visiting scholar who will engage students, faculty, and Wyoming citizens in meaningful international discussions of pressing global issues. The visiting scholar will join core faculty with disciplinary backgrounds in political science, sociology, geography, anthropology, and linguistics in internationalization efforts throughout the state of Wyoming. The committee seeks applications from mid-to-senior-level career professional with a significant body of work in international affairs and a background in government service, academics, diplomacy, journalism, communication, and/or NGOs with demonstrated interest or experience in the field of human security. Candidates should have the appropriate professional degree for their career path; academic applicants should have a Ph.D. in an appropriate academic discipline.

The appointment is for one semester to begin in fall 2017 or spring 2018. Appointments for up to one academic year may be considered.

Applications will be reviewed beginning on February 3, 2017. Inquiries by email are welcome to Dr. David Messenger, Director of the Global & Area Studies Program, dmesseng@uwyo.edu. Applications including a curriculum vitae or professional resume and cover letter, which includes a description of teaching interest, and proposed writing project should be sent to Dr. David Messenger, Global and Area Studies Program, Dept. 4299, University of Wyoming 1000 E. University Avenue, Laramie, WY 82071. Applications can be sent by regular mail or by email to dmesseng@uwyo.edu.

The University of Wyoming is committed to diversity and endorses principles of affirmative action. We acknowledge that diversity enriches and sustains our scholarship and promotes equal access to our educational mission. We seek and welcome applications from individuals of all backgrounds, experiences, and perspectives. AA/EEO. The University of Wyoming encourages applications from individuals who represent a broad spectrum of backgrounds and, in particular, welcomes applications from women and minority groups.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2400

OTHER

Lingnan University

Rank: Associate Professor / Assistant Professor

Lingnan University, a distinctive liberal arts institution in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, is committed to the provision of quality whole-person education by combining the best of Chinese and Western liberal arts traditions. It strives to pursue excellence in teaching, learning, scholarship and community engagement. With three academic Faculties, it offers a wide range of undergraduate degree programmes in arts, business and social sciences. Lingnan's liberal arts education is characterised by a broad-based interdisciplinary curriculum with specialised disciplinary studies; close student-staff relationship; a vibrant residential campus; ample global learning opportunities; active community engagement and multifarious workplace experience. The University also offers postgraduate programmes up to doctoral level in various disciplines. Applications are now invited for the following posts, which will be tenable from mid-August 2017 or by mutual agreement :

Department of Political Science
Associate Professor / Assistant Professor
(Post Ref.: 17/01/APSA)

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.LN.edu.hk/polsci/>) is committed to preparing students for a competitive and globalized working environment. The Department combines teaching and research in the governance and public policy of Hong Kong and China, international politics, Asian international relations, and environmental studies. It contributes with the Department of Applied Psychology, the Department of Economics and the Department of Sociology and Social Policy to the integrated Social Sciences Programme in the University, having embarked on a 4-year curriculum with a disciplinary major in political science. Applicants are recommended to visit the Departmental web site and Programme web site (<http://www.LN.edu.hk/progs/ssprog/>) for more information.

The Department is seeking to appoint TWO full-time Associate / Assistant Professors who specialize in the fields of Comparative Politics / International Relations and / or IPE with a focus on Greater China, including Hong Kong and East Asia (Japanese and Korean politics and / or relations with Greater China). Applicants whose research intersects with public policy issues (domestic, regional or global) are strongly encouraged to apply. Applicants should provide evidence of their scholarship (or substantial promise for research and publications for the Assistant Professor level) and a statement of their current and future research as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness. The Department offers undergraduate and postgraduate degrees; undergraduate degrees with discipline major and stream majors and plans to offer a new taught self-financed MA degree in International Affairs. The appointees will be expected to teach introductory courses in Political Science through advanced undergraduate and graduate-level courses in their fields.

General Requirements

Applicants should have a PhD degree in the relevant discipline, with relevant teaching experience and a good research record. For appointment as Associate Professor, applicants should have at least five years of relevant experience and a sound track record in research and scholarly activities. For appointment as Assistant Professor, applicants should have relevant teaching experience and a good research record.

Applicants should have excellent communication and presentation skills. Administrative experience will be an advantage. The appointees are expected to have a strong commitment to teaching excellence and services to the Department and the University community, and to engage actively in quality research and publication.

Appointment

The conditions of appointment will be competitive. The rank and remuneration will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits include annual leave, medical and dental benefits, mandatory provident fund, gratuity, housing benefits and incoming passage and baggage allowance for the eligible appointees.

Appointments will normally be made on an initial contract of three years, which, subject to review and mutual agreement, may lead to longer-term appointments with possibility of consideration for substantiation.

Application Procedure

Applicants are invited to forward their dossier together with a completed personal data sheet (Form R1 which is obtainable at <http://www.LN.edu.hk/hr/employment-opportunities/application-forms>) to the Human Resources Office, Lingnan University, Tuen Mun, Hong Kong by post, by fax (852) 2891-5782 or by email: recruit@LN.edu.hk (as attachment in MS Word format) by 28 February 2017. Applicants should provide names and contact information of at least three referees to whom applicants' consent has been given for their providing references. Please specify the post/level you are applying for and quote the reference number of the post in all correspondence. Further information on the University and its programmes and activities can be found on the University's web site: <http://www.LN.edu.hk>. Enquiries can be directed to recruit@LN.edu.hk.

The University reserves the right not to make an appointment for the post advertised, or to fill the post by invitation or by search. We regret that only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/28/2017

Date Posted: 1/25/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2570

American University in Cairo

Rank: Development/Research Methods

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term contract (5 years renewable) position in Development/Research Methods at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. The course load is normally three courses per semester, including teaching in the MA program. Applicants should have a research and teaching experience in development work (proposal writing, project monitoring and evaluation is desirable), and NGOs. Strong preference will be given to teaching a research methodology course (quantitative and qualitative). Additional expertise is desirable in the political economy of Arab Middle East Countries and Africa. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Feb. 20th, 2017. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, (gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/24/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2566

CUNY-Lehman College

Rank: Assistant Professor

FACULTY VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in the field of science policy. The candidate's scholarship and research interests will be expected to focus on bridging the gap between the rapid advances in science and technology including "disruptive technologies" and public-policy. Concomitant public policy issues include artificial intelligence; genetics; privacy in relation to "big data," predictive analytics, and drones; autonomous vehicles; aging, life extension, and end of life issues; and renewable energy.

We are interested in a candidate who can contribute to the development of a Lehman College Center for Science Policy Development. S/he may also become involved in the Graduate Center of the City University of New York. The faculty member will be expected to: conduct research; publish refereed journal articles; teach undergraduate courses at all levels; provide student advisement; provide service to the Department, College, University, and community; and participate fully in the life of the College and the University.

The Lehman College campus is located in Bronx, New York and is a Senior College within The City University of New York (CUNY) system. Lehman is the only senior public college in the Bronx and is recognized as a Hispanic Serving Institution. The college serves primarily undergraduate students, preparing them for employment, the professions, and further study. The teaching load is 21 hours (usually seven courses) per year and although the college is teaching focused, faculty at Lehman are active in research, scholarship and creative works. The teaching load, however, is reduced significantly for junior faculty during the first five years of service for scholarly development, and all faculty are actively encouraged to seek external funding. Service to the college, university and community is part of the mission as is a clear commitment to student engagement including advisement. Opportunities are available for faculty development and travel awards. Lehman College and CUNY internal funding are available through competitive grants for scholarship support.

QUALIFICATIONS

Ph.D. degree in Political Science or related field, with a focus upon American Politics, public policy, or public administration. Demonstrated academic or work experience in a STEM field is desired.

COMPENSATION

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits. Assistant Professor: $XXXX- $XXX (determined by the new salary scale)

HOW TO APPLY

From our job posting system, select "Apply Now", create or log into a user account, and provide the requested information. If you are viewing this posting from outside our system, access the employment page on our web site and search for this vacancy using the Job ID or Title.

Candidates should provide a CV/resume and statement of scholarly interests.

CLOSING DATE

The review of CV's will begin December 1, 2016 and will be open until the position is filled.

JOB SEARCH CATEGORY

CUNY Job Posting: Faculty

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

We are committed to enhancing our diverse academic community by actively encouraging people with disabilities, minorities, veterans, and women to apply. We take pride in our pluralistic community and continue to seek excellence through diversity and inclusion. EO/AA Employer.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/21/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2561

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Diversity Predoctoral Fellowship

2017-2018 Diversity Predoctoral Fellowships

The School of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences, Massachusetts Institute of Technology invites applications for the 2017-2018 Diversity Predoctoral Fellowships.

The purpose of the Diversity Predoctoral Fellowships program is to enhance diversity in the School and to provide the Fellow with additional professional support and mentoring as they enter the field.

The fellowships are intended to support scholars from a wide range of backgrounds, who can contribute to the diversity of SHASS and the higher education community. Applicants from members of racial and ethnic groups that have historically been underrepresented in the humanities and social sciences and from disadvantaged backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

These Fellowships support graduate scholars for a 9-month appointment at MIT that generally runs from September through May. They offer an opportunity for scholars who plan a career in higher education and have completed all other PhD requirements to finish their dissertations with access to libraries and faculty of the School. Fellows may be pursuing the PhD degree in any discipline or area taught in the School of Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences. Current fields of study can be viewed on the MIT SHASS website <http://shass.mit.edu/fields>. Each Fellow will be affiliated with a department or program in the School. Fellows will not be required to teach while at MIT. This year up to seven Fellowships will be awarded. Each Fellowship provides a stipend of $37,500, office area, and library privileges.

In order to qualify for this Fellowship candidates must be:

- Authorized to work in the United States.
- Enrolled in a PhD program in the humanities or social sciences at an accredited institution other than MIT.
- Have passed their PhD qualifying examinations
- Have an approved dissertation proposal
- Be a student of exceptional academic merit who belongs to a group underrepresented in higher education.

Applications consist of:

- A personal statement of no more than 1,000 words, which mentions:
 - o The academic unit (or units) within SHASS that the student wishes to be affiliated with.
 - o A description of the student's dissertation, which addresses the dissertation's aim, methodologies (how the student will conduct the research), originality, and contribution to its field.
 - o Any additional information that the student would like to present to the selection committee.
- Current curriculum vitae.
- Transcript.
- Three letters of recommendation.
- One chapter of the dissertation.

All applications and attached materials are due no later than Wednesday, February 15, 2017, at 11:59 p.m. EST.

Please apply here: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8794>.

Late applications will not be considered.

Questions can be addressed to the SHASS Dean's office at predocshass@mit.edu.

MIT is an equal employment opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, ancestry, or national or ethnic origin.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2547

University of Calgary

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Gender and Political Behaviour

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Political Behavior, Political Psychology

A dynamic research team, under the leadership of Melanee Thomas at the University of Calgary, is seeking an exceptional postdoctoral fellow to join our project exploring the links between gender, stereotypes, and political attitudes.

The postdoctoral fellowship would be funded through the University of Calgary Eyes High Postdoctoral fellowship program. The position pays $50,000/year plus benefits for one year, with a possibility of renewal. Support for research and travel also available.

Requirements:

- PhD in Political Science or related field.
- Demonstrated research expertise in gender, political behavior, or political psychology.
- Advanced methodological skills in one or more of the following: survey research, experimental methods, quantitative content analysis, physiological testing. Particular emphasis is placed on survey data analysis and experimental methods.
- Ability to relocate to Calgary, AB for July 1, 2017 (pending any necessary immigration documents)
- Ability to read and write in French would be an asset, but not required.

Start Date:

July 1, 2017

To Apply:

Please send applications to Melanee Thomas (thomasm@ucalgary.ca). All applicants should provide a current CV and a cover letter explaining their research plans and fit with the team. The application should also arrange for two letters of recommendations to be sent directly to Melanee Thomas via email, with the applicant's name in the Subject line.

We will begin reviewing applications on March 1, 2017 until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2549

The University of Hong Kong

Rank: Lecturer in International Relations

The University of Hong Kong

Lecturer in International Relations (Ref.: 201601773)

Applications are invited for appointment as Lecturer in International Relations in the Department of Politics and Public Administration, to commence on August 15, 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter, on a three-year fixed-term basis, with the possibility of renewal.

Applicants should have a M.Phil. degree and a strong record of at least 3 years of teaching. Those with a Ph.D. degree are highly preferred. We are particularly interested in candidates that can teach theories in international relations; Chinese foreign policy; East Asian international relations; international political economy; and international organizations at both the undergraduate and postgraduate levels. The appointee is expected to take up some administrative duties. Information about the Department can be obtained at <http://ppa.hku.hk>.

A globally competitive remuneration package commensurate with qualifications and experience will be offered, in addition to leave and medical benefits. At current rates, salaries tax does not exceed 15% of gross income. The appointment will attract a contract-end gratuity and University contribution to a retirement benefits scheme, totalling up to 15% of basic salary. Please note that the University is not able to offer a relocation assistance package (including temporary University housing accommodation and a passage and baggage allowance) to the successful candidate recruited from overseas.

Applicants should send a completed application form together with an up-to-date C.V., a letter of interest, graduate transcripts, a teaching statement and teaching evaluations to ppahr@hku.hk. They should also arrange for three confidential references (quoting the job reference number) to be sent directly by the referees to ppahr@hku.hk. Application forms (341/1111) can be downloaded at <http://www.hku.hk/apptunit/form-ext.doc>. Further particulars can be obtained at <http://jobs.hku.hk/>. Closes February 28, 2017.

The University thanks applicants for their interest, but advises that only candidates shortlisted for interviews will be notified of the application result.

The University is an equal opportunities employer and is committed to equality, ethics, inclusivity, diversity and transparency.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/28/2017

Date Posted: 1/16/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2540

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Open-Rank Faculty Position in Geocomputation - Spatial Analysis Cluster Hire

The University of California, Riverside (UCR) invites applications for an open-rank position in the area of geocomputation. This position is part of a major initiative to create a world-class consortium of spatial researchers who are advancing both geospatial analysis and applications to the grand challenges across science, engineering and the humanities.

As a member of the University's new Center for Spatial Science, the successful candidate will play a central role in advancing the geocomputational and analytical capacity of the Center, and in realizing the Center's mission to develop state of the science geospatial methods and their application in interdisciplinary research at UCR and beyond. We seek a Ph.D with an outstanding research agenda in one or more of the following areas: high performance geocomputation, geovisualization, spatio-temporal databases, spatial optimization, spatio-temporal signal and image processing, and spatial statistics.

This position will commence as early as July 1, 2017 or as negotiated. Salary level will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Preference will be given to candidates whose research both enhances the Center's contributions to fundamental geographic information science, and stimulates interdisciplinary research. A successful candidate at the assistant professor level must have a promising research agenda and is expected to establish and maintain a vibrant externally funded research program. A successful candidate at the associate or full professor level will be an individual of international reputation, with a record of high quality research funding and strong interdisciplinary collaborations with policy relevance.

The University of California at Riverside (UCR) is implementing a major expansion of our faculty and investing in state-of-the-art research facilities to support their work. This expansion will build critical mass in 34 vital and emerging fields of scholarship, foster truly cross-disciplinary work, and further diversify the faculty at one of America's most diverse research universities. We encourage applications from scholars committed to excellence and seeking to help define the research university for the next generation. For more information about our hiring initiative, please visit clusterhiring.ucr.edu or academicpersonnel.ucr.edu.

The University of California, Riverside is situated in an historic citrus growing area surrounded by mountain ranges. Riverside is about an hour away from ski slopes, surfing, or hiking in mountain or desert environments, and housing in the area is affordable. The campus boasts a fully-accredited child care facility. UCR maintains a commitment to “family friendly” policies and programs including opportunity for spousal/partner hiring.

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Full consideration will be given to applications received by February 12, 2017. We will continue to consider applications until the position is filled. To apply: Please provide a cover letter, a full curriculum vitae, a description of proposed research, and teaching philosophy. Candidates applying for the Assistant Professor position will need to provide 3-5 letters of reference; individuals applying for positions above the Assistant level will be required to provide names and contact details for confidential references. A statement addressing potential contribution to academic diversity must be included. Application materials for the Assistant Professor position should be submitted through <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF00700>. Applicants for Associate/Full Professor should apply through <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF00701>. Minorities and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For inquiries and questions, please contact Darrel Jenerette at darrel.jenerette@ucr.edu.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability protected veteran status, or any characteristic protected by law.

Basic Qualifications

Ph.D in relevant fields and a record of excellence and leadership in spatial research.

Preferred Qualifications

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/vsyps3zwm>

Start Date:

Date Posted: 1/16/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2541

Austin College

Rank: ASIANetwork-Luce Postdoctoral Teaching Fellow

The East Asian Studies Program invites applicants for a two-year ASIANetwork-Luce Postdoctoral Teaching fellow in East Asian Studies to begin in August 2017. The successful candidate will be able to teach courses related to Chinese politics and/or Chinese foreign relations, broadly defined. Experience or interest in teaching introductory Chinese language is desirable, but not required.

The East Asian Studies Program is a newly organized interdisciplinary program at Austin College. In keeping with the mission of this program, the potential to teach about East Asian politics regionally is highly desired, as is the ability to connect with other interdisciplinary programs at the college: Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, Global Management, Leadership Studies, Non-Profit Organizations and Public Service, and Public Health.

Austin College is a selective national liberal arts college with an enrollment of 1300 undergraduates located north of Dallas in Sherman, Texas. Founded in 1849, making it the oldest institution of higher education in Texas operating under original charter and name, the college is related by covenant to the Presbyterian Church (USA). Recognized nationally for academic excellence in the areas of international education, pre-professional training, and leadership studies, Austin College is one of 40 schools profiled in Loren Pope's influential book Colleges That Change Lives.

The teaching fellow will teach two undergraduate courses each semester, pursue an active research agenda, and participate fully in the intellectual and cultural life of the college. The fellow's teaching duties will be determined according to their expertise and the needs of the college and include at least two courses that the candidate will be free to design according to their interests. In addition, we expect the Fellow to participate in the East Asian Studies Program and any other relative academic unit, by mentoring students and helping with curriculum development. The Fellow will also attend the ASIANetwork conference with other Austin College faculty in Spring 2018 and Spring 2019 and participate in a panel with other ASIANetwork-Luce Postdoctoral Fellows at both conferences.

The Postdoctoral Fellowship is a full-time position that will provide health insurance and other eligible benefits available to all full-time employees. The Fellow will have access to faculty development funds and support for attending the ASIANetwork conference. Qualified applicants must have earned a Ph.D. from a North American university no earlier than Spring 2014. Applicants who are ABD may be considered, provided that they have a scheduled completion date prior to the beginning of the fellowship year verified by their graduate advisor. To apply, please email a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, copies of transcripts, and three letters of recommendation to eassearch@austincolleg-e.edu or, you may mail your materials to Dr. Sheila Amin Gutiérrez de Piñeres, Vice President for Academic Affairs, 900 N. Grand Ave, Suite 6D, Sherman, Texas 75090-4400. Review of applications will begin February 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Austin College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to a diverse faculty, staff and student body and welcomes all applicants. Must be legally authorized to work without sponsorship for employment visa status (e.g., H1B status).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 1/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2537

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Clinical Professor of Public Management

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs (LBJ School) at the University of Texas at Austin seeks to hire a Clinical Professor of Public Management to teach this core subject in the LBJ master's degree programs. The successful applicant will develop and teach courses designed to equip LBJ graduates with the skills needed to implement the policies of government agencies and non-profit organizations.

The School intends to make innovative teaching about policy implementation match the School's national reputation for policy development and analysis. While teaching courses in public management, the Clinical Professor of Public Management, working with the Dean and faculty, will also help strengthen the School's inter-disciplinary academic research effort into more effective, equitable public management.

The School seeks applications from candidates with extensive public management experience for appointment to the faculty as a Clinical Professor. Extensive experience, at executive levels, leading government or non-profit organizations is a required qualification. A Ph.D. or other terminal degree public management or related fields is strongly preferred. Experience in teaching public management also is strongly preferred.

Appointment as a Clinical Professor of Public Management will be through a negotiated three-year contract, with the prospect of renewal and extension of the contract for an additional three years after a performance review by the Dean and faculty.

The LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers multi-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy.

Qualifications

Eligible candidates must offer evidence of the requisite qualifications to teach graduate courses in public management. Examples of requisite qualifications include: substantial practitioner experience at executive levels, teaching experience, and published research in the fields of: human resources management, acquisition and contracting, information technology management, organization development, and performance measurement.

Successful candidates will offer evidence of their experience in working with diverse student and community populations. Successful candidates should be able to demonstrate interest in, and likelihood of success with, establishing dynamic, productive inter-disciplinary research, and teaching relationships with other University of Texas at Austin schools and faculty.

Application Instructions

Interested applicants are invited to submit electronic copies of a letter of interest and curriculum vitae that detail their professional accomplishments, executive leadership experience, teaching philosophy and experience, and research interests. All applicants should submit three letters of recommendation. Apply to: apply.interfolio.com/39710

Screening of completed application files will begin on December 12, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/12/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2533

Kent State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Social Conflicts and Community Engagement

Social Conflicts and Community Engagement
School of Peace and Conflict Studies
Kent State University

The Center for Applied Conflict Management at Kent State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Social Conflicts and Community Engagement beginning in August 2017. The successful applicant will have strong credentials in conflict management, including with theories and practices of conflict intervention used to constructively manage social, racial, economic and identity-related community conflicts and violence prevention. Examples include conflicts associated with: police/community relations; restorative justice; civil rights; the environment and climate change; economic inequalities; and social justice. The successful applicant will also demonstrate an ability to conduct and publish research commensurate with the expectations of a research institution and to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels; salary is competitive and start-up support is available. Kent State University, located 30 minutes from the Cleveland and Akron metropolitan areas and the Cuyahoga Valley National Park, enrolls more than 29,000 undergraduate and graduate students on the Kent campus. Kent is a Carnegie Research II university and is ranked among the top 100 national public universities in U.S.

Established in 1971, the Center for Applied Conflict Management has a robust undergraduate degree enrolling over 1,000 students per year. Center faculty also teach in the Conflict Analysis and Management Track in the Political Science PhD degree. This position supports the transition of the Center into a new School of Peace and Conflict Studies to promote constructive approaches to managing and transforming conflicts in order to build a more just and peaceful world. Applicants should have a PhD in Peace and Conflict Studies or cognate field at the time of hire (August 2017). Review of applications will begin February 20, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Candidates should show promise of a quality research agenda and teaching success, and should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, a research plan, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to <https://jobs.kent.edu> Reference letters may also be sent to CommunityEngagement@kent.edu. Please be sure to reference position number 988779.

Kent State University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Dr. Landon Hancock, Chairperson of Search Committee
Center for Applied Conflict Management
Kent State University
Kent, Ohio 44242-0001
lhancoc2@kent.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2511

Kent State UniversityRank: Assistant Professor in Social Conflicts and Community Engagement

Social Conflicts and Community Engagement
 School of Peace and Conflict Studies
 Kent State University

The Center for Applied Conflict Management at Kent State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Social Conflicts and Community Engagement beginning in August 2017. The successful applicant will have strong credentials in conflict management, including with theories and practices of conflict intervention used to constructively manage social, racial, economic and identity-related community conflicts and violence prevention. Examples include conflicts associated with: police/community relations; restorative justice; civil rights; the environment and climate change; economic inequalities; and social justice. The successful applicant will also demonstrate an ability to conduct and publish research commensurate with the expectations of a research institution and to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels; salary is competitive and start-up support is available. Kent State University, located 30 minutes from the Cleveland and Akron metropolitan areas and the Cuyahoga Valley National Park, enrolls more than 29,000 undergraduate and graduate students on the Kent campus. Kent is a Carnegie Research II university and is ranked among the top 100 national public universities in U.S.

Established in 1971, the Center for Applied Conflict Management has a robust undergraduate degree enrolling over 1,000 students per year. Center faculty also teach in the Conflict Analysis and Management Track in the Political Science PhD degree. This position supports the transition of the Center into a new School of Peace and Conflict Studies to promote constructive approaches to managing and transforming conflicts in order to build a more just and peaceful world. Applicants should have a PhD in Peace and Conflict Studies or cognate field at the time of hire (August 2017). Review of applications will begin February 20, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Candidates should show promise of a quality research agenda and teaching success, and should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, a research plan, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to <https://jobs.kent.edu> Reference letters may also be sent to CommunityEngagement@kent.edu. Please be sure to reference position number 988779.

Kent State University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Dr. Landon Hancock, Chairperson of Search Committee
 Center for Applied Conflict Management
 Kent State University
 Kent, Ohio 44242-0001
 lhancoc2@kent.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 1/4/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2512Kent State University*Rank: Assistant Professor in Social Conflicts and Community Engagement

Social Conflicts and Community Engagement
 School of Peace and Conflict Studies

The Center for Applied Conflict Management at Kent State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Social Conflicts and Community Engagement beginning in August 2017. The successful applicant will have strong credentials in conflict management, including with theories and practices of conflict intervention used to constructively manage social, racial, economic and identity-related community conflicts and violence prevention. Examples include conflicts associated with: police/community relations; restorative justice; civil rights; the environment and climate change; economic inequalities; and social justice. The successful applicant will also demonstrate an ability to conduct and publish research commensurate with the expectations of a research institution and to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels; salary is competitive and start-up support is available. Kent State University, located 30 minutes from the Cleveland and Akron metropolitan areas and the Cuyahoga Valley National Park, enrolls more than 29,000 undergraduate and graduate students on the Kent campus. Kent is a Carnegie Research II university and is ranked among the top 100 national public universities in U.S.

Established in 1971, the Center for Applied Conflict Management has a robust undergraduate degree enrolling over 1,000 students per year. Center faculty also teach in the Conflict Analysis and Management Track in the Political Science PhD degree. This position supports the transition of the Center into a new School of Peace and Conflict Studies to promote constructive approaches to managing and transforming conflicts in order to build a more just and peaceful world. Applicants should have a PhD in Peace and Conflict Studies or cognate field at the time of hire (August 2017). Review of applications will begin February 20, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Candidates should show promise of a quality research agenda and teaching success, and should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, a research plan, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to <https://jobs.kent.edu> Reference letters may also be sent to CommunityEngagement@kent.edu. Please be sure to reference position number 988779.

Kent State University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Dr. Landon Hancock, Chairperson of Search Committee
 Center for Applied Conflict Management
 Kent State University
 Kent, Ohio 44242-0001
 lhancoc2@kent.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 1/4/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2513

University of Houston

Rank: Assistant Professor - Decision Sciences

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) anticipates four tenure-track positions beginning in fall 2017. Two positions are at the level of Assistant Professor in the area of decision sciences. The other two positions are open rank and in the areas of (a) ethical or political theory and public policy, and (b) research methodology leveraging the NSF's Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) initiative. Applicants for all positions are expected to demonstrate a record predictive of future scholarly productivity, potential and commitment to develop and sustain a nationally competitive program of research with implications for public policy, capability and commitment to contribute to undergraduate and graduate programs and a doctoral degree or equivalent. The Hobby School emphasizes multidisciplinary collaboration and affiliation. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and/or methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply, as are those with interest in working with diverse populations.

Decision sciences faculty — from a variety of disciplines including disciplines not usually associated with policy schools such as business, computer science, and industrial engineering — will apply state-of-the-art decision sciences theory and research to public policy, with interests including but not limited to statistical decision theory, rational expectations in economics and political science, cognitive psychology, technological change and the restructuring of decision processes, the impact of probabilistic forecasts on decision algorithms, and the micro-foundations of comparative justice systems. Research methodology faculty are expected to have familiarity with the NSF's EITM initiative (see <http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/ses/polisci/reports/pdf/eitmreport.pdf>) and serve at the Hobby School's EITM Summer Research Institute (see <http://www.uh.edu/class/hcpp/eitm/index.php>). Ethical or political theory and public policy faculty are expected to be philosophers or political theorists who continue to expand their impact beyond disciplinary boundaries into public policy and applied ethics.

With over 40,000 students on the main campus and one of the most culturally and ethnically diverse public universities in the nation, UH (www.uh.edu) is a Carnegie-Designated Tier One Public Research University. The Hobby School was recently created by the UH system and thus offers incoming faculty the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology and political philosophy in its teaching, training, and research.

The Hobby School is well-positioned for impactful research in Houston, the nation's fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (a) a growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center, the world's largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Interested individuals are asked to apply as follows:

Assistant Professor for Decision Sciences at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33130>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Methodology at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33131>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Policy Ethics at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33134>

and to include a letter of interest, statements of teaching philosophy and interests and research interests, three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation (i.e., referees), a curriculum vita, up to three representative papers, and evidence of excellence in teaching.

Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants, but not for senior applicants. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled. Questions may be directed to the following search committee chairs: (a) Pablo Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential research methodology position, (b) Jeffrey Church (jchurch@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential ethical/political theory and public policy position, and Alan Witt (witt@uh.edu) regarding the potential decision sciences positions.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at <http://www.uh.edu/af/universityservices/policies/sam/1GenAdmin/1D5.pdf>. The positions are also subject to the University of Houston's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2517

Carleton College

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Refugee and Migration Studies Specializations: Middle East, Immigration Policy, Latin American

Carleton College is seeking a recent Ph.D. with a specialization in transnational migration to fill our Robert A. Oden jr. Post-Doctoral Fellowship in the Liberal Arts. This fellowship is a two-year appointment for a faculty member with doctorate in hand and received no more than five years previously. The position is half-time teaching (two courses one year and three courses the next) and half-time research and writing. Candidates' research and teaching should be situated in the humanities or humanistically-oriented social sciences and should show an interest in the cultural contexts, traditions, languages and histories of both migrant and "host" communities. Candidates whose teaching and research interests span two or more of the following area studies programs present at Carleton College are particularly encouraged to apply: Middle East Studies, European Studies, American Studies, and Latin American Studies. Candidates should demonstrate dedication to teaching undergraduates, an active program of research, and a willingness to engage in the broader life of the college.

Application Documents

To apply, please submit a cover letter, CV, two sample syllabi, a writing sample (approx. 30 pp) and two letters of reference (to be uploaded by referees) to jobs.carleton.edu by the application deadline of February 1. Fellowship begins September, 2017. Inquires may be directed to Noah Salomon, Associate Professor of Religion and Director of Middle East Studies (nsalomon@carleton.edu), Carleton College.

Carleton is dedicated to developing its faculty to better reflect the diversity of our student body and American society. We are particularly interested in candidates committed to devising creative ways to teach a diverse student body. Women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply. Carleton College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, ethnicity, religion, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, status with regard to public assistance, disability, or age in providing employment or access to its educational facilities and activities. Full benefits apply.

Carleton College is a small selective liberal arts college in Northfield, Minnesota (USA), located about 45 minutes from the Minneapolis-St. Paul metro area.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/1/2017

Date Posted: 1/3/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2509

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Penn DCC Postdoctoral Fellowship 2017-18 on “States of Religious Freedom”

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Public Policy

Penn DCC Postdoctoral Fellowship 2017-18 on “States of Religious Freedom”

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

2017-2018 Academic Year

Application Deadline: February 15, 2017

Apply through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/39687>.

The Penn Program on Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism (DCC) invites applications for a one-year DCC Postdoctoral Fellow in any discipline whose research is pertinent to the Program’s 2017-2018 theme, “States of Religious Freedom.”

According to the terms of The International Religious Freedom Act, passed by Congress in 1998, America’s history of religious freedom has endowed it with a special responsibility to promote this virtue abroad as a goal of foreign policy. The U.S. State Department’s Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor has compiled annual watchdog-style reports on every country in the world – except for the United States itself – ever since. Yet how exceptional or exemplary is the U.S. record of accommodating religious freedoms? How have other countries, informed by their own histories and circumstances, negotiated complex terrains of religion, statehood and citizenship? And what are the states of religious freedom around the world today, in light of current controversies over abortion, sexuality, changing gender roles, religiously-motivated terrorism, the rights of religious minorities, and the establishment of official religions? During its 2017-18 theme year on “States of Religious Freedom,” Penn DCC will study the U.S. experience within a comparative international context, exploring how states – as political entities – accommodate or hinder religious expression and culture, as well as how social conditions – states of collective being – affect and influence the practice of religious freedom.

The DCC program welcomes applicants engaged in empirical or normative scholarship, focused comparatively or on particular nations, regions, or communities, that explores these questions and seeks to assess the complex impact of the radically evolving media landscape on democratic politics, as well as on the closely related issues of citizenship and constitutional government.

The Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism program is an interdisciplinary initiative, funded by the Mellon Foundation, which includes a faculty seminar series and annual conference on themes chosen by the Program’s Faculty Advisory Council; a graduate workshop series; and undergraduate research grants. The DCC Postdoctoral Fellow is expected to participate in the faculty seminar series, teach an Undergraduate Seminar on a related topic, and join monthly meetings to discuss the progress of undergraduates receiving research grants. The Fellow also has the opportunity to pursue the Fellow’s research and study and participate generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. Stipend is $53,800, plus health insurance.

Eligibility is limited to applicants who will have received their Ph.D. within five years prior to the time they begin their fellowship at Penn (i.e., May 2012 or later).

Application deadline: February 15, 2017.

Applications should be made through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/39687>

For more information on the Penn Program on Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism, see the DCC Program website, <http://www.sas.upenn.edu/dcc/> or contact DCC Administrator Matthew Roth at dcc-penn@sas.upenn.edu.

The University of Pennsylvania is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 12/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2501

American University of Beirut

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Studies

The Center for American Studies and Research (CASAR) at the American University of Beirut is seeking to appoint an Americanist from a social science or humanities discipline, starting August 15, 2017 at the rank of Assistant Professor. The hire will have joint appointment with CASAR and an appropriate department in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

We are particularly interested in a scholar whose research and interests engage the field of American Studies and can contribute to the center’s efforts to foster research and outreach. We hope to attract a candidate who can offer graduate courses in the MA program in Transnational American Studies as well as teach "Introduction to American Studies" and special topics courses in the Minor in American Studies.

Applicants must have completed their PhD by August 2017. The appointment is for an initial period of four years with opportunities for renewal and advancement. The usual teaching load is not more than 5 courses a year. The language of instruction is English.

Applications should include a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a writing sample, and a list of three references. Application materials should be sent directly to:

Nadia El Cheikh
Dean, Faculty of Arts and Sciences
American University of Beirut
c/o New York Office
3 Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, 8th Floor
New York, NY 10017-2303
USA

Or

Nadia El Cheikh
Dean, Faculty of Arts and Sciences
American University of Beirut
P.O. Box 11-0236, Riad El-Solh
Beirut 1107 2020, Lebanon

Electronic submissions may be sent to: as_dean@aub.edu.lb

Review of applications will begin on January 31, 2017.

For more information please visit our website at <http://www.aub.edu.lb/fas/>

The American University of Beirut is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/16/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2495

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.

Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here: http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost_constitutions/documents/hf_jp-ii_apc_15081990_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu .Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2488

Pace University

Rank: Tenure Track Faculty Member

Pace University's College of Health Professions, Department of Health Studies seeks a Full-time Tenure Track Faculty Member to join our new our Health Science (BS) program at the Pleasantville (Westchester County) and New York City campuses. The new faculty member will have a primary assignment at one campus but may be required to teach courses on the other campus as necessary.

About us:

The College of Health Professions (CHP) at Pace University is seeking to expand over the next three to five years. CHP was established in 2010 in an effort to showcase Pace's commitment to research and teaching in the health professions. The College is made up of the Lienhard School of Nursing, the Pace University-Lenox Hill Hospital Physician Assistant Studies Department, and the Department of Health Studies (which includes the Communication Sciences and Disorders program along with the Bachelor of Science in Health Science. Additional programs in health studies are currently in development).

Our vision is to be recognized for our innovative leadership in education, practice, scholarship, and service to improve health and the health professions. Our mission is to educate and challenge diverse students for the health professions to be leaders, innovators and lifelong learners who will positively impact local, national, and global health.

Pace University is an exceptional setting for prospective faculty members seeking a collegial work environment, a focused teaching practice, and excellent scholarship support in New York.

We provide unparalleled support in the form of:

- Scholarship support and opportunities, including conference support and consultants
- Released time to work on scholarship
- Faculty mentoring in teaching and scholarship
- Graduate assistants for research and teaching
- Competitive compensation package
- Financial support available for scholarship during the first two years

Required Experience:

- A Research Doctorate, (i.e. Ph.D, Dr.PH, Sc.D, or Ed.D), in Health Policy, Health Systems, Public Policy, Political Science, or a related social science field
- A minimum of (3) years teaching experience within a higher education setting
- An active program of research, and a track record of publications and grant activity
- Undergraduate teaching and/or professional experience in health policy and advocacy
- A background in evidence-based practice and cultural competence
- A strong commitment to teaching excellence, health-related scholarship that informs teaching, and university and professional service

The successful candidate will teach courses in the newly developed Health Science undergraduate major. Courses include: Health Care Policy, History of the US Healthcare System, Patient Education and Advocacy, Global Health Care Systems, and Government Policy and Politics.

The program offers three (3) academic tracks of study to prepare students for professional opportunities:

1. Generalist
2. Pre-Nursing Preparation
3. Pre-Physician Assistant Preparation

The program offers four (4) areas of concentration:

1. Health Policy and Advocacy
2. Global Health
3. Quality Improvement and Patient Safety
4. Telehealth

How to apply:

E-mail a CV and cover letter detailing research, teaching and service experience and goals to CHPEducatorJobs@pace.edu. Application reviews will continue until the position is filled. Faculty appointment commences on 9/1/17.

More Information:

For more information about the Department of Health Studies, please visit www.pace.edu/healthstudies. For more information about the Bachelor's of Science in Health Science, please visit <http://www.pace.edu/college-health-professions/undergraduate-programs/bachelor-science-health-science>.

Pace University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2486

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Penn CSERI Post-Doctoral Fellowship on Race, Ethnicity and Immigration

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, Other

Penn CSERI Post-Doctoral Fellowship
2017-2018 Academic Year

Application Deadline: January 22, 2017

Apply through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/39663>

The Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (CSERI) invites applications for a one-year postdoctoral research fellowship in the social sciences, starting August 1, 2017.

The Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration is a new center initiative supported by the University of Pennsylvania and the School of Arts and Sciences which, in addition to this postdoctoral fellowship, will host visiting scholars and graduate students, help organize workshops initiated by the center's Faculty Advisory Council, and support graduate and undergraduate student social science research at Penn.

The 2017-2018 CSERI Postdoctoral Research Fellow will collaborate with Center Director Michael Jones-Correa and other center faculty affiliates on research projects related to race and ethnic relations and/or immigrant political incorporation in the United States; help organize and participate in faculty/graduate student workshops; and aid in evaluating the progress of graduate students and undergraduates receiving research grants. In addition, the Fellow will have the opportunity to pursue their own research and participate more generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $50,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $1,000 in research support.

QUALIFICATIONS

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than 2014), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2017.

Skills with statistical analysis, qualitative software, GIS, experimental and other approaches are highly desirable

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Apply through Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/39663>

Applications will be reviewed starting January 22, 2017. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date. Final notifications are expected to go out in March 2017.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, writing sample (maximum of 20 pp), a research statement (2 pages), a graduate transcript, and 3 letters of recommendation.

For more information on the Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration, contact CSERI center director at mjonescorrea@sas.upenn.edu or Matthew Roth, administrator, at maroth@sas.upenn.edu

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 1/22/2017
Date Posted: 12/14/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 2492

Colby College

Rank: Government Department/Integrated Studies Program

Colby College

Government Department/Integrated Studies Program

The Government Department and the Integrated Studies Program (ISP) at Colby College invite applications for a three-year (renewable) appointment beginning September 1, 2017. The position carries a five-course load, with three courses in the Government Department and two in ISP. ISP courses are first-year seminars that are team-taught in clusters of linked topics.

We are seeking creative teacher-scholars eager to forge creative connections between political science and other academic disciplines by teaching and directing student research in interdisciplinary contexts. The position is open as to sub-field within political science, but the successful applicant must be able to teach Introduction to Political Theory and/or Concepts and Methods in Political Science Research as well as electives in Government and ISP. The ability to teach other core classes in political science is a plus.

Applicants should send a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement of research interests, a link to or sample of a recent publication, and teaching evaluations (if available) through Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/39765. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation sent separately through Interfolio. Review of applications will commence immediately and continue until a successful candidate is selected.

Questions about this search should be directed to: government-search@colby.edu

Colby is a private, coeducational liberal arts college that admits students and makes employment decisions on the basis of the individual's qualifications to contribute to Colby's educational objectives and institutional needs. Colby College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, religion, ancestry or national origin, age, marital status, genetic information, or veteran's status in employment or in our educational programs. Colby is an Equal Opportunity employer, committed to excellence through diversity, and encourages applications from qualified persons of color, women, persons with disabilities, military veterans and members of other under-represented groups. Colby complies with Title IX, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in an institution's education programs and activities. Questions regarding Title IX may be referred to Colby's Title IX coordinator or to the federal Office of Civil Rights. For more information about the College, please visit our website: www.colby.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Date Posted: 12/13/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2477

Grinnell College

Rank: GRINNELL COLLEGE – Political Science (American Politics) – Two-year position (START FALL 2017).

GRINNELL COLLEGE. The Department of Political Science invites applications for a two-year appointment beginning Fall 2017. Assistant Professor (Ph.D.) preferred; Instructor (ABD) or Associate Professor possible. The teaching schedule of five courses over two semesters will likely include Introduction to Political Science, two intermediate courses in American politics, and a seminar. Any area of expertise in American politics is welcome, though ability to teach constitutional law strongly preferred.

Grinnell College is a highly selective undergraduate liberal arts college with a strong tradition of social responsibility. In letters of application, candidates should discuss their potential to contribute to a college community that maintains a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. To be assured of full consideration, all application materials should be received by February 3, 2017. Please visit our application website at <https://jobs.grinnell.edu> to find more details about the job and submit applications online. Candidates will need to upload a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts (copies are acceptable), and sample syllabi, and provide email addresses for three references. Questions about this search should be directed to the search chair, Professor Barbara Trish, at [PoliSciSearch@grinnell.edu] or 641-269-373.

Grinnell College is committed to providing a safe and inclusive educational and work environment for all College community members, and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, national origin, age, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, veteran status, religion, disability, creed, or any other protected class.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 2/3/2017
Date Posted: 12/13/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2484

University of North Texas

Rank: Director

The Women's and Gender Studies Program at the University of North Texas invites applications for the position of director. Ideally, the new director will begin in August 2017, but the start date is negotiable. To be considered, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Women's and Gender Studies or a related discipline and currently hold a tenured position at the rank of associate or full professor. They also must have made a significant research contribution to the field and have an ongoing research program that extends feminist inquiry into the intersections of gender with class, race, ethnicity, nationality, religion, or other social justice issues. In addition, candidates must have a record of teaching excellence at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels. With the recent approval of a Master's Degree in Women's and Gender Studies, we especially seek applications from scholars who have interest in and vision for further developing this program.

The successful candidate will receive a competitive salary and a tenured appointment at the rank of associate or full professor in an appropriate department of the College of Arts and Sciences. Academic Divisions of UNT's College of Arts and Sciences may be found here: <https://cas.unt.edu/departments>.

The Women's and Gender Studies Program at UNT cultivates a vibrant, interdisciplinary, globally-oriented learning experience for undergraduate and graduate students. The program currently offers a minor and a Master's Degree in Women's and Gender Studies. Courses are taught by the program's core faculty as well as by 38 affiliated faculty from 19 UNT departments. Students are encouraged to participate in internships and study-abroad opportunities the program provides. Please find additional information about the program at <http://womensstudies.unt.edu>.

The program director will be responsible for providing intellectual and scholarly leadership; for cultivating critical relationships with stakeholders across UNT, other institutions, and the community; for teaching undergraduate and graduate courses (typically 2 courses per academic year); and for coordinating the program's operations.

Preferred qualifications include prior administrative experience, such as directing a program or center or chairing a department. Preference will be given to candidates whose scholarship and/or administrative experience aligns with the interdisciplinary, global perspective our program emphasizes.

Inquiries and nominations for the position may be directed to Dr. Nicole Smith, Chair of the Search Committee, at Nicole.smith@unt.edu.

All materials will be held in strictest confidence. We will notify candidates for permission to contact references.

The University of North Texas System is firmly committed to equal opportunity and does not permit - and takes actions to prevent - discrimination, harassment (including sexual violence), and retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, disability, family status, genetic information, citizenship or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. The University of North Texas System immediately investigates and takes remedial action when appropriate. The University of North Texas System also takes actions to prevent retaliation against individuals who oppose a discriminatory practice, file a charge, or testify, assist or participate in an investigative proceeding or hearing.

To be considered, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Women's and Gender Studies or a related discipline and currently hold a tenured position at the rank of associate or full professor. They also must have made a significant research contribution to the field and have an ongoing research program that extends feminist inquiry into the intersections of gender with class, race, ethnicity, nationality, religion, or other social justice issues. In addition, candidates must have a record of teaching excellence at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels. With the recent approval of a Master's Degree in Women's and Gender Studies, we especially seek applications from scholars who have interest in and vision for further developing this program. The candidate will be tenured in an appropriate department of the College of Arts and Sciences. Academic Divisions of UNT's College of Arts and Sciences may be found here: <https://cas.unt.edu/departments>.

Preferred qualifications include prior administrative experience, such as directing a program or center or chairing a department. Preference will be given to candidates whose scholarship and/or administrative experience aligns with the interdisciplinary, global perspective our program emphasizes.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2472

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Academic Program Director of the Mexican American Studies Program - MAS Open Rank (Associate or Full Professor)/ College of Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts is accepting applications for a tenured Associate or Full Professor with administrative experience to serve as the Academic Program Director of the Mexican American Studies Program at The University of Texas Río Grande Valley (UTRGV) beginning fall 2017. The successful candidate will be considered for the Dr. Robert S. Nelsen Endowed Professorship in Mexican American Studies to begin in Fall 2017. The MAS Program offers a B.A., Graduate Certificate, and Masters of Art in Interdisciplinary Studies. UTRGV seeks a Professor with a notable record of research and/or creative activities in Chican@and/or Latin@Studies, quality teaching, community engagement, and a strong record of academic administration to coordinate the program which is housed in the College of Liberal Arts, School of Interdisciplinary Programs and Community Engagement. Mexican American Studies collaborates with the Center for Mexican American Studies, a research and programming center that works under the umbrella of the B3 Institute (bilingual, bicultural, biliteracy), and community partners. MAS, CMAS, and the B3 Institute are poised to play a fundamental role in fulfilling the bilingual and bicultural mission of UTRGV. The candidate will lead MAS in fulfilling that mission and also in gaining greater regional and national significance. MAS is committed to student success and to scholarly research speaking to the strengths and needs of students and the community. The Center and Program are also committed to cultivating community engagement opportunities, social justice, and creative activities by faculty and students. The candidate will be expected to demonstrate a similar commitment in their own work. Given the steady growth of MAS during the past five years, it is expected the Director will assist the program in achieving departmental status. The candidate will be coming into a Program that has a strong community of both faculty and students committed to their mission.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/7/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2460

Brown University

Rank: Open Rank Position in Political Economy

Open Rank Position in Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Brown University, in conjunction with

Brown's Political Theory Project (PTP), invites applications for a faculty position in the field of Political Economy (normative and/or positive approaches) to begin July

2017. Candidates at all ranks are welcome but must have completed the Ph.D. by summer 2017. Review of applications will begin January 15, 2017. Candidates at the untentured rank(s) should submit a current CV, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, three letters of reference, and a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP and the discipline of political science. Candidates at the tenured level should submit a CV, copies of major publications, teaching evaluations, the names of five references with contact information, and a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP and the discipline of political science. Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status. Submit application to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/38852>

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2456

Brown University

Rank: Open Rank Position in Political Economy

Open Rank Position in Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Brown University, in conjunction with

Brown's Political Theory Project (PTP), invites applications for a faculty position in the field of Political Economy (normative and/or positive approaches) to begin July

2017. Candidates at all ranks are welcome but must have completed the Ph.D. by summer 2017. Review of applications will begin January 15, 2017. Candidates at the untentured rank(s) should submit a current CV, writing sample, graduate transcript, teaching evaluations, three letters of reference, and a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP and the discipline of political science. Candidates at the tenured level should submit a CV, copies of major

publications, teaching evaluations, the names of five references with contact information, and a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP and the discipline of political science. Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org.

Brown University is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community; as an EEO/AA employer, Brown considers applicants for employment without regard to, and does not discriminate on the basis of, gender, race, protected

veteran status, disability, or any other legally protected status. Submit application to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/38852>

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2457

University of Chicago

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar

The Harris School of Public Policy seeks applicants for a two-year postdoctoral scholar position to study political economy. The postdoctoral scholar will spend approximately 50% of their time supporting a research project led by Professor Diermeier and 50% of their time working on their own research. There are no teaching obligations.

Candidates are preferred, but not required, to have their Ph.D. in either Economics or Political Science by July 1, 2017. Applicants should have strong skills in game-theory (classical or behavioral) or stochastic modeling (evolutionary game-theory, stochastic dynamic models, or related fields). Strong LaTeX or scientific workplace skills required. Demonstrated record of effective editing and written communication skills preferred. Candidates are required to submit: 1) CV; 2) cover letter; 3) statement of research interests; 4) sample of research paper; and 5) List of three references.

Applicants should send the required materials to Katie Meyer at katiemeyer@uchicago.edu.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 12/1/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2432Virginia Tech*Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, Integrated Security*Specializations: Science & Technology, Intelligence, Defense

Integrated Security
 Department of Political Science
 College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences
 Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Tech invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in the area of Integrated Security. This faculty search is part of a cross-college cluster hire being conducted in the Integrated Security Destination Area (<http://provost.vt.edu/destination-areas.html>), which is one of several focused Virginia Tech initiatives to recruit and support world-class groups of faculty that bridge disciplinary strengths. This initial hire focuses on multiple aspects of today's embedded cyber-physical/human systems. We seek a colleague who will build upon our departmental, college, and university strengths in the study of all dimensions of governance, privacy, and security at the interconnections of the digital and physical worlds as humans, groups, institutions, and systems link these domains of complex action. Over the next four years, the number of Internet-connected devices will more than double, changing the ways people interact with technologies and their environments; however, fundamental security and privacy challenges have yet to be adequately addressed for these new technologies. This cluster hire will foster cross-disciplinary collaborations that explore these challenges through the lenses of technology, law, governance, ethics, and business.

We are interested in applicants who can demonstrate research and teaching expertise in one or more of the following domains of inquiry: human security and insecurity (broadly defined) in "the Internet of things"; the effects of these new developments on politics, governance, and security in organizations, states, or other entities; U.S. national, subnational, or transnational responses to network security threats; human governance of cyber-physical systems, property regimes, or regulatory organizations; security and governance questions related to immigration, refugee flows, cross-border movements, and displaced populations; security and class, gender, and/or race/ethnicity. Focusing on these governance issues and public policy responses in North America is the main emphasis but other cross-national perspectives are welcome. Applicants who approach these concerns from a theoretical and critical perspective are encouraged to apply. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester. This position will begin August 10, 2017.

Required qualifications: Earned doctorate in political science or related field at the time of application or degree in hand by August 10, 2017. Successful applicants will demonstrate a strong interest in conducting research, teaching courses, and seeking grants and contracts in how the Internet of things affects concerns of human security/insecurity as they relate to governance of the public, private, and non-profit sectors as well as the class, gender, locational, and racial dimensions of security in cyber-physical/human systems at any scale in U.S. national, subnational, and transnational contexts. Successful candidates will have documented effectiveness in both undergraduate and graduate teaching as well as program development in order to meet the Political Science department's key needs in its B.A. and M.A. programs and those of doctoral students in cognate programs involved in the Integrated Security Destination Area. Potential for excellence in research and teaching is required.

Desired qualifications: Preference will be given to broadly trained candidates who have grounding and skills in a variety of theoretical, analytical, critical, and methodological approaches to security and governance, and who can work with undergraduate and graduate students. Prior teaching experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels is strongly preferred as well as documented success in collaborative activity in transdisciplinary teams.

Interested persons must apply at www.jobs.vt.edu posting, TR0160157, where they will submit a cover letter, a current curriculum vitae, a recent writing sample, teaching evaluations, along with names and contact information for three academic references. Screening of applications will begin on February 6, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. All inquiries should be sent to: Dr. Timothy W. Luke <twluke@vt.edu>, chair, Integrated Security Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Major Williams Hall, Room 531 (0130), 220 Stanger St., Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA 24061. Individuals with additional questions or with disabilities desiring accommodations in the application process should contact the search committee chair.

Virginia Tech recognizes the critical importance of diverse teams of scholars. It seeks to diversify its faculty along multiple dimensions, including those that have been historically marginalized and excluded given the institutional history and legacy of the university. Virginia Tech is a public land-grant university, committed to teaching and learning, research, and outreach to the Commonwealth of Virginia, the nation, and the world. Building on its motto of Ut Prosim (that I may serve), Virginia Tech is dedicated to InclusiveVT—serving in the spirit of community, diversity, and excellence. We seek candidates who adopt and practice the Principles of Community, which are fundamental to our on-going efforts to increase access and inclusion and to create a community that nurtures learning and growth for all of its members. Virginia Tech actively seeks a broad spectrum of candidates to join our community in preparing leaders for the world.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Agency

Virginia Tech does not discriminate against employees, students, or applicants on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, genetic information, veteran status, or any other basis protected by law. For inquiries regarding non-discrimination policies, contact the Office of Equity and Access at 540-231-2010 or Virginia Tech, North End Center, Suite 2300 (0318), 300 Turner St. NW, Blacksburg, VA 24061.

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 11/30/2016Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2426Northern Illinois University*Rank: Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Public Policy

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY
 Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science and the Institute for the Study of the Environment, Sustainability and Energy (ESE) at Northern Illinois University anticipate hiring a tenure-track assistant professor in environmental policy. Employment will begin August 2017. The position is open to applicants from any subfield in political science, and International Relations scholars, in particular, are encouraged to apply. Reflecting NIU's commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration in education and scholarship, the position will hold joint appointment status, but will be tenurable in the Department of Political Science.

The successful candidate will demonstrate a strong record of, or potential for, scholarly research and teaching excellence at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The successful candidate will be expected to teach a core course in environmental policy that covers environmental issues pertinent to the United States. An earned PhD in political science is required by the start date of the appointment. A demonstrated ability to serve a diverse student population is strongly preferred.

Salary will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applicants must send a cover letter, which describes how their scholarship will contribute to the missions of both the Department of Political Science and the Institute for the Study of the Environment, Sustainability and Energy. In addition, a curriculum vitae, writing samples, evidence of teaching effectiveness, appropriate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation should be forwarded to the Department of Political Science at pols_esearch2016@niu.edu.

The Department of Political Science has 12 faculty members and offers B.A., B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The Institute has 33 faculty associates, offers B.A. and B.S. degrees, and is developing a graduate program. For more information, please visit <http://polisci.niu.edu/> and <http://www.niu.edu/ese/>. NIU is located in DeKalb, a welcoming and growing city 65 miles west of downtown Chicago. It has an enrollment of more than 19,000 students, including a graduate student body of over 5,000.

NIU is an AA/EEO institution and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates. A pre-employment criminal background check is required.

Review of completed applications will begin on January 23, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2421

Yale University

Rank: Social Science/Stat & Data Science

Yale University is conducting an interdisciplinary open rank search for social scientists who develop and apply techniques at the research frontier of statistics and data science. Each appointment will be in the relevant social science department. It is expected that half of the associated teaching will involve courses that will be cross-listed in statistics. Candidates whose work demonstrates both technical mastery and creativity in applications to anthropology, economics, linguistics, political science, psychology, or sociology are especially welcome. Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Application Instructions: Candidates for a tenured position (associate professor with tenure or full professor) should submit a CV and letter of interest. Candidates for an untenured position should submit a CV and letter of interest, 3 letters of reference and a writing sample. Apply electronically via AcademicJobsOnlineEconJobMarket.org <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/8485>. The positions are listed as Social Science/Stat & Data Science, Yale University. Review of applications will begin November 30, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 11/8/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2344

University of Virginia

Rank: Faculty Positions in Cyber Security

Faculty Positions in Cyber Security

The University of Virginia

The University of Virginia (UVA) seeks applicants for multiple open rank, tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in fields related to Cyber Security. These faculty positions have the flexibility of appointments among multiple schools across the University. The successful applicants will be expected to engage in funded research, teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and perform service for the institution and professional organizations. Rank, tenure-status, and compensation are contingent upon experience. UVA has a strong culture of collaboration and collegiality and is committed to creating collaborative environments necessary to solve the next generation of research challenges.

All relevant areas of research will be considered, including but not limited to:

- Foundations: Theory of security and privacy, models of trust, models of risk, methods of secure communication and computation, cryptography, threat modeling, anonymity-based models, and knowledge hiding models.
- Secure Systems: secure operating systems, databases, networks, secure distributed systems, secure cloud systems, secure web browsers, embedded systems, and mobile devices.
- Privacy: Data and computation privacy, anonymization techniques for users and their data, and private information retrieval.
- Security and Privacy Applications: Cyberphysical systems, computer forensics, malware analysis, vulnerability analysis, human-centric security, law and public policy, electronic commerce.

Applicants must have a PhD by the time of appointment, a record of excellence in research, as appropriate for the candidate's rank, and a commitment to teaching excellence. Appointment with tenure requires documented excellence in research and teaching, and an emerging national reputation.

UVA is committed to building a culturally diverse community and welcomes women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities. In addition, UVA is an active dual-career employer. The University is situated in the beautiful foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains in Charlottesville and is close to Washington, DC and Richmond, Virginia. Charlottesville ranks among the top cities in which to live, work, and raise a family, and the University is consistently ranked as a top public university. More information about Charlottesville and UVA can be found at uvacharge.virginia.edu/guide.html.

Applicants may apply online at: <https://jobs.virginia.edu> and search by Posting Number 0619759. Review will begin on December 1, 2016 and will continue until the positions are filled.

For questions about the position, please contact Dr. Jack Davidson via email at jwd@virginia.edu. For questions about the application process, please contact Joseph Rehder via email at jdr6s@virginia.edu.

UVA is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to developing diversity in faculty, and welcomes women, minorities, veterans and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2333

Yale University

Rank: Post Doctoral Fellowship in Political Economy, Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy, The MacMillan Center, Yale University

The Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy at Yale invites applications for a post-doctoral position for AY 2017-2018. Candidates must have a robust research program in political economy, broadly construed, and must have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

The Post-doctoral Associate will teach one course during the year, either in the Fall or the Spring semester, pursue his/her own research, and participate in the activities of the Leitner program. Post-doctoral Associates are expected to be in residence from August 2017 to May 2018.

We will begin accepting applications immediately with review beginning on Thursday, December 15, 2016 and continuing until the selections are final.

Yale University is an equal opportunity employer. Applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged.

Compensation is competitive, and includes benefits and health coverage. We expect to be able to cover a junior scholar's salary for the full academic year and up to half of a senior scholar's salary. Senior scholars who will be taking leave from their home institution to accept the fellowship should indicate salary requirements and whether they expect to receive salary support from their university or outside sources.

To apply, send a cover letter, CV, research statement and a draft of a syllabus of a course you propose to teach at Yale. You'll also need to have three letters of recommendation submitted on your behalf.

All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/38382>

Ms. Hira Jafri, Program Manager, Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy, The Whitney and Betty MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, 34 Hillhouse Avenue, P.O. Box 208206 New Haven, CT 06520-8206 USA. Email: hira.jafri@yale.edu. For details on the Leitner program, please consult the website: <http://www.yale.edu/leitner>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2303

Kent State University

Rank: TT, Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Other, Other

Specializations: African American Politics, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Conflict Processes

The Department of Political Science at Kent State University invites applications for a tenure-track position, open with regard to region and rank, in Comparative Politics, to begin in August 2017. We seek scholars studying marginalization, structures of oppression, and the politics of dissent, with potential topics including, but not limited to: identities (race, gender, sexualities, ethnicity), global inequality, settler colonialism, migration, borders, and labor.

The Political Science Department at KSU is a PhD-granting department with a dynamic, well-published faculty and a robust undergraduate program that encourages students to engage and change the world around them. The successful candidate will demonstrate an ability to conduct and publish research commensurate with the expectations of a research institution and to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. There will be ample opportunities for collaboration across departments and for community engagement. The teaching load for untenured TT faculty members is two courses per semester.

Applicants should have a PhD in Political Science or cognate field such as Sociology, Black or Africana Studies, Ethnic Studies, Gender Studies, or Sexuality Studies at the time of hire (August 2017). Review of applications will begin in mid-November and continue until the position is filled. Candidates for Assistant Professor should show promise of a quality research agenda and teaching success, and senior scholars should show evidence of scholarly impact in their area of research. Applicants at the Assistant level should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, a research plan, graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference; senior-level applicants should submit a CV, a letter of interest, a writing sample, a teaching portfolio, and a list of three references. All applications should be submitted to <https://jobs.kent.edu/postings/11194>. Questions should be addressed to cpjob@kent.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/21/2016

Date Posted: 10/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2301

Baldwin-Wallace University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science and International Studies, National Security

Baldwin Wallace University (BW) invites applications for a tenure-track interdisciplinary appointment in Political Science and International Studies, with a primary focus on National Security, at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. The successful candidate will assist in the development of a growing undergraduate program in National Security with focus on multiple forms of domestic and global security threats including traditional military, extremism, health, environmental, cybersecurity, and others. Broadly trained specialists with expertise in international relations and related fields are encouraged to apply. Candidates should demonstrate experience and expertise in teaching, advising, and a willingness to contribute in alternate years to BW's First Year Experience Program.

A Ph.D. (by the starting date of August, 2017) in a security-related field, teaching experience, and willingness to mentor undergraduates are required. Relevant professional experience, interdisciplinary expertise, and in-depth knowledge of at least one geographical region are preferred.

Baldwin Wallace University is a selective liberal arts university on the outskirts of Cleveland, Ohio. Its International Studies program, one of the first established in Ohio, currently serves approximately ninety majors and minors while playing an active role in campus internationalization. BW emphasizes teaching, advising, and service, and also encourages and supports scholarship.

Interested candidates should submit a letter summarizing their interest and qualifications, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, other evidence of effective teaching, and three letters of reference in one (1) Word or one (1) PDF document and submit via the To Apply link on BW's Employment and Careers' web page at <https://www.bw.edu/employment/> Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Baldwin Wallace University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer and educator. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/24/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2279

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Faculty Cluster for Cyber Security and Privacy

Specializations: Science & Technology, Political Psychology, Intelligence

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established a focus area in cyber security and privacy, as one of six interdisciplinary clusters established to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy. We plan to hire four tenure-track assistant or associate professors for the cyber security and privacy cluster. These positions have a start date of August 8, 2017.

These will be interdisciplinary positions that will be expected to both contribute to the common vision of the cyber security and privacy initiative and also strengthen a chosen tenure home department (or departments, when a joint appointment is preferable). A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. The cluster includes core members from Computer Science, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, the Institute for Simulation & Training, Political Science, Psychology, and Statistics, and affiliated members from several other departments. (See <http://www.ucf.edu/research/cyber-security> for a complete list of all the units involved.) This cluster will be the focal point of the University's research and educational efforts in cyber security and privacy. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with these new positions.

The ideal junior candidates will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy, and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact, as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for team players who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy. In particular, we are looking for four faculty who work at the intersection of several areas, such as: (a) explaining and predicting human behavior, creating policies, studying ethics, and ensuring privacy, (b) cryptography and theory of security or privacy, (c) hardware and IoT security, or (d) tools, methods, training, and evaluation of human behavior.

Applicants must have a Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster, and a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy, demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record. A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is a strongly preferred qualification. The positions will each carry a rank commensurate with the candidate's prior experience and record.

Located in Orlando, UCF is one of the nation's most dynamic metropolitan research universities. UCF has the top-tier Carnegie Foundation designation of a "very high research activity" university, is the nation's second-largest university, and is ranked by U.S. News and World Report as among the top up-and-coming universities in terms of innovative changes in the areas of academics, faculty, and student life. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes: software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school, which was established in 2006. UCF is a neighbor to large corporations, such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/47217> and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home and the joint appointments they would desire. When applying, have all documents ready so they can be attached at that time, as the system does not allow resubmittal to update applications.

UCF is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply, including minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

For more information about these positions please contact the Cluster Search Chair, Gary T. Leavens, at Leavens@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2273

University of Central Florida

Rank: Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster: Coastal Environmental Policy/Political Geography

Applicants for an Associate/Full Professor position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology.

The successful applicant will become a core faculty member in the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster and must bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas with a focus on public policy and coastal ecology. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact and high-demand research, and develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

As part of an on-going hiring campaign, UCF recently established an interdisciplinary cluster approach to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are searching for faculty in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>) and plan to bring together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries or are working in transdisciplinary fields. This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems.

Faculty in these interdisciplinary positions will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup are expected with these five new positions. Each new faculty member will have a unique interdisciplinary mentoring team to foster intellectual breadth and to facilitate integrative capacity to strengthen the success of the cluster.

Candidates must apply on-line at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/43915> (Position #38869) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of their successful interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an on-going basis and continue to accept applications until the position is filled. The University of Central Florida, the nation's second-largest university with more than 63,000 students, has grown in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando and more than a dozen other locations. UCF is an economic engine attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. For more information, visit <http://ucf.edu>. UCF is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer. All applicants are encouraged to apply, including minorities, women, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

For more information about these positions please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster Search Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2184

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in African Studies (Social Sciences and Humanities)

The Council on African Studies at the MacMillan Center invites applications for a two-year post-doctoral fellowship at Yale University for AY2017-2018 and AY2018-2019, commencing on July 1, 2017. Candidates must have research and teaching experience relevant to modern and contemporary Africa, in the social sciences or humanities.

All applicants should have in-depth knowledge of at least one African language and fluency in English, and must have completed the Ph.D. by the time of appointment. The post-doctoral associate will spend 75% of their time pursuing his/her own research and teaching one course each academic year related to his/her interests, and 25% of their time curating the programmatic/scholarly activities of the Yale Africa Initiative. Applicants should submit a cover letter, one-page description of research plans; a draft of a course syllabus, and a title and brief summary of a second course; a CV; and letters of recommendation from two academic references. Compensation includes an annual salary of $50,000, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to post-doctoral associates at Yale: <http://your.yale.edu/work-yale/benefits/my-benefits-yale/postdoctoral-associate-benefits>.

We will accept applications immediately with review beginning on November 15, 2016 and continuing until the selections are final.

Yale is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and under-represented minorities are particularly welcome.

All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/38069>. Uploaded PDF copies of signed reference letters will be accepted but signed hard copies should be mailed to the address below.

George Joseph, Deputy Director, The Whitney and Betty MacMillan Center for International and Area Studies, 34 Hillhouse Avenue, P.O. Box 208206 New Haven, CT 06520-8206 USA. Email: george.joseph@yale.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 2173

Florida State University

Rank: Political Science/African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Public Policy

Specializations: African American Politics, Caribbean, Civil Rights & Liberties

Florida State University is embarking upon a Diversity and Inclusion initiative, which can be found online at http://hr.fsu.edu/?page=diversity/diversity_initiatives. As part of this initiative, the Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci?q=node/1>) and the FSU African American Studies Center (<http://coss.fsu.edu/aas/>) seek applications for a tenure track or tenured faculty member to participate in their programs. The Department has twenty-two tenured or tenure track and two non-tenure track faculty that serve a large undergraduate program, a master degree in applied politics, and a PhD program. African American Studies is an interdisciplinary undergraduate program that offers BA and BS degrees.

The position is open with respect to candidates' specialization, and they may have doctoral degrees in African American Studies, Political Science, or other related disciplines, with evidence of scholarship and teaching with respect to African Americans and the African diaspora. Teaching will include at least one course in the African American Studies core curriculum, a second course at the nexus of race and politics, and other courses in the political science curriculum. The candidate's tenure home will be in Political Science. Candidates should have strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital city, with a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions. Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) through (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files must be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search.

Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to Political Science/AAS Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer; racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2083

Purdue University

Rank: Postdoc

Tecumseh Postdoctoral Announcement

Purdue University invites applicants for two postdoctoral positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. A second year of funding could be available depending upon discipline-specific interest of the applicant. We seek candidates who will have completed their PhD program before August 2017, with demonstrated potential for scholarly contribution including publications. Potential college placements include: Agriculture, Engineering, Health and Human Services, Krannert School of Management, Liberal Arts, Pharmacy, Science, or Veterinary Medicine. Please visit the homepage of each college to determine the broad diversity of disciplines and programs available. (http://www.purdue.edu/purdue/about/colleges_schools.html). The Tecumseh Postdoctoral program was established to support Native American participation in the University at all levels. Scholars in this program will be expected to interact with our vibrant community of Native and Indigenous undergraduate and graduate students, including participating in ongoing programs coordinated through the Purdue Native American Educational and Cultural Center (<http://www.purdue.edu/naecc/>). A current initiative of the NAECC is developing and strengthening existing partnerships with Native communities to better serve their students and practical concerns. Postdoctoral scholars will be expected to mainly to conduct research to address fundamental questions in their area of expertise, but also to participate in the above programs by, for example, presenting and participating in seminars, and mentoring students.

The Tecumseh Scholars program was created through the Provost's Diversity Transformation Award, an initiative aimed at increasing diversity and inclusion at Purdue University. The Sloan Indigenous Graduate Partnerships at Purdue (funded by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation) has produced 21 alumni who are now actively engaged in academia, industry, and tribal affairs across the United States. Purdue has a wide range of networking, professional development, and community engagement opportunities for postdoctoral scholars, and successful applicants will be based in a collaborating department appropriate to the disciplines. We are especially interested in candidates who are considering academic career and who could later apply for a faculty position. Applications should include a pdf file comprised of a cover letter, CV, copies of recent publications, names and contact information of individuals for 3 reference letters, a titles statement of proposed research interests, identification of home department and potential faculty collaborators at Purdue, and a statement describing participation in diversity initiatives, and involvement in Native American communities. Salary is $50,000 plus benefits. All materials should be emailed to Professor Dawn G. Marsh (dmarsh@purdue.edu). Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled. Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2073

Purdue University

Rank: Post doctoral fellowship

Tecumseh Postdoctoral Announcement

Purdue University invites applicants for two postdoctoral positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. A second year of funding could be available depending upon discipline specific interest of the applicant. We seek candidates who will have completed their

PhD program before August 2017, with demonstrated potential for scholarly contribution including publications. Potential college placements include: Agriculture, Engineering,

Health and Human Services, Krannert School of Management, Liberal Arts, Pharmacy,

Science, or Veterinary Medicine. Please visit the homepage of each college to determine the broad diversity of disciplines and programs available. (http://www.purdue.edu/purdue/about/colleges_schools.html). The Tecumseh

Postdoctoral program was established to support Native American participation in the University at all levels. Scholars in this program will be expected to interact with our vibrant community of Native and Indigenous undergraduate and graduate students, including participating in ongoing programs coordinated through the Purdue Native American Educational and Cultural Center (<http://www.purdue.edu/naecc/>). A current initiative of the NAEECC is developing and strengthening existing partnerships with Native communities to better serve their students and practical concerns. Postdoctoral scholars will be expected to mainly to conduct research to address fundamental questions in their area of expertise, but also to participate in the above programs by, for example, presenting and participating in seminars, and mentoring students.

The Tecumseh Scholars program was created through the Provost's Diversity

Transformation Award, an initiative aimed at increasing diversity and inclusion at Purdue University. The Sloan Indigenous Graduate Partnerships at Purdue (funded by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation) has produced 21 alumni who are now actively engaged in academia, industry, and tribal affairs across the United States. Purdue has a wide range of networking, professional development, and community engagement opportunities for postdoctoral scholars, and successful applicants will be based in a collaborating department appropriate to the disciplines. We are especially interested in in candidates who are considering academic career and who could later apply for a faculty position. Applications should include a pdf file comprised of a cover letter, CV, copies of recent publications, names and contact information of individuals for 3 reference letters, a titles statement of proposed research interests, identification of home department and potential faculty collaborators at Purdue, and a statement describing participation in diversity initiatives, and involvement in Native American communities. Salary is $50,00 plus benefits. All materials should be emailed to Professor Dawn G. Marsh (dmarsh@purdue.edu). Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled. Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2062

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for full-time appointment during the 2017-2018 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government

Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical and computational research techniques with contemporary social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health, the role of party networks in contemporary American politics, and methods for addressing post-treatment bias in experiments. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by attending seminars, consulting with faculty and students on research, etc. QSS fellows also join a broader community of postdoctoral social science researchers at Dartmouth that includes scholars at the Neukom Institute, the John Sloan Dickey Center, and the Dartmouth Society of Fellows.

The stipend for the QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, there may be an opportunity for the fellow to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend. The fellowship can be extended through the 2018-2019 academic year subject to the approval of Nyhan and the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application Instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests no longer than two pages that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/37062.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 1934

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Africana Studies/Political Science. Applicants should demonstrate a proven commitment and capacity for high quality research and teaching, evidenced by publications as well as teaching evaluations, relative to experience. Teaching will include lower division courses, upper division courses in candidate's area of specialization, and graduate courses. 2/2 load with on-going scholarship and publication.

Qualifications:

Required: ABD or Ph.D. by time of appointment in African/Africana Studies or Political Science. Specialization in foreign policy international relations, politics, field experiments, human rights or social justice, and evidence of quantitative research with respect to Africa and the African diaspora.

Preferred: Scholarship and teaching within a transnational context (African diaspora with emphasis on the Caribbean and the US is preferred).

This is a joint position between the Department of Africana Studies and Political Science. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled but for best consideration, dossier should be completed October 31, 2016.

FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA. Internal and external search to occur simultaneously. Anticipated Start Date: Fall 2017

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

Application Procedure: Interested individuals should complete the Academic Jobs application process online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7607>. Interested candidates should submit a State employment application, curriculum vitae, cover letter, teaching statement and samples of written work. In addition, please arrange to have three letters of professional recommendation submitted on your behalf.

Alternatively, submit above mentioned materials to:
Search Committee Chair, Africana Studies/Political Science Search
Department of Africana Studies
S-249, Social and Behavioral Sciences Bldg.
Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4340

STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY IS AN AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER. WE ENCOURAGE PROTECTED VETERANS, INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES, WOMEN AND MINORITIES TO APPLY.

IF YOU NEED A DISABILITY-RELATED ACCOMMODATION, PLEASE CALL THE UNIVERSITY HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES DEPARTMENT AT (631) 632-6161 OR THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL HUMAN RESOURCES DEPARTMENT AT (631) 444-4700.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TITLE II CRIME AWARENESS AND SECURITY ACT, A COPY OF OUR CRIME STATISTICS IS AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST BY CALLING (631) 632-6350. IT CAN ALSO BE VIEWED ON-LINE AT THE UNIVERSITY POLICE WEBSITE AT <http://www.stonybrook.edu/police>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1828

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Tenure Track; Open to Subfield; Methods Specialization

This is a tenure-track, academic year position with appointment anticipated September of 2017.

Basic Function:

Applicants will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in research methodology that serves as a requirement for both the Political Science and Criminal Justice undergraduate degrees as well as teach other courses in Political Science. Expected to publish original research open with respect to subfield and advise undergraduate students. Provide service to the department, the university and the profession

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science or expectation of completion of degree requirements by appointment date of September 1, 2017. Primary or secondary field in the area of Political Science research methodology. Demonstrated evidence of effective college level teaching commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated expertise in a wide range of methodological approaches. Demonstrated evidence of research excellence; scholarly publications commensurate with level of academic experience. Demonstrated experience working with diverse groups/populations.

To apply, please submit materials at: <https://jobs.uri.edu/>

Instructions to Applicants

Please attach 4 (PDF) documents to your online Faculty Employment Application: (#1) A letter of application that describes your interest in this position; (#2) CV which includes the names/contacts information for three references, a list of all completed graduate-level courses, and course syllabi and teaching evaluations for the last two years and/or for experience directly related to research methods instruction (as available) (note: please scan and attach all of this information as a single PDF document); (#3) a brief research and teaching statement; (#4) an article-length sample of written work.

For additional questions or clarification, please contact:

Dr. Kristin Johnson
Associate Professor
Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
University of Rhode Island
Kingston, RI 02881
kristin_johnson@uri.edu
401 874-5495

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 8/19/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1855

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for up to three postdoctoral fellows for the 2017-18 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each successful fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently, and the fellow's research agenda should be grounded methodologically in statistics or other computational techniques.

During the 2017-18 academic year, fellows will participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results. The stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000 with a $5,000 account available for equipment, travel, and research materials. Subject to consultation with the QSS Chair, each fellow may teach a one-quarter course on a subject of his or her choosing; there is an extra stipend for teaching. The postdoctoral fellowship can be extended through the 2018-19 academic year, subject to negotiation between the fellow and the QSS Chair.

Requirements:

1. Ph.D. in any discipline or expected Ph.D. by September, 2017.
2. Substantive interest in any social science field.
3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical or computation methods.
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively.
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research.

Application Materials:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications.
- 2) Statement of research interests, no longer than two pages, that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth.
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant.
- 4) Three letters of reference.
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished.

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2016, and interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/36369

Dartmouth College is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/17/2016
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 1816

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: William S. Dietrich Endowed Chair in Political Science
Subfield(s): Other, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications from nationally prominent scholars to fill the inaugural William S. Dietrich II Endowed Chair in Political Science, with appointment to begin in the 2017-18 academic year, pending budgetary approval. The Chair is named in honor of the late Dr. William S. Dietrich II, a former chairman of the University's Board of Trustees who received his Ph.D. from the Department in 1984.

In filling this chair, and in keeping with the interests of Dr. Dietrich, the Department seeks candidates with extraordinary credentials in research, teaching, and mentorship in the fields of international relations or comparative politics, or whose interests cut across these and possibly other disciplinary subfields.

The Political Science Department at the University of Pittsburgh currently consists of 25 tenure stream faculty members with vibrant and varied research agendas. The Department's NRC ranking has improved dramatically over the past decade, and presently ranks between 20th and 30th among Ph.D. granting departments. It has long fostered collegiality and a culture of collaboration among faculty and graduate students. The Department benefits from numerous synergies with other units on campus, including the University Center for International Studies, a world renowned, multidisciplinary institute housing centers for area studies and for topical specializations in international studies, and the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, a public administration and public policy school emphasizing international relations and political development. The City of Pittsburgh frequently tops "most livable city" rankings thanks to its numerous social and cultural offerings and low cost of living.

Please submit a detailed cover letter and C.V. electronically at <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MTU3>. Additional information may be requested at a later date. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1780

American University
Rank: Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education

Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education
 AY2016-17
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

American University's School of Public Affairs (SPA) invites applications from accomplished scholars for the position of associate dean for undergraduate education. This position includes a faculty appointment at the rank of (advanced) associate or full professor in the Government Department or the Department of Justice, Law & Criminology beginning June 1, 2017. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. The position offers the unique professional, research, social, and cultural opportunities of a top-ranked school and university located in Washington, DC. In addition, the associate dean for undergraduate education will play a critical role in formulating school policy and be part of a dynamic leadership team.

The School of Public Affairs offers four undergraduate majors, four undergraduate minors, and three highly selective enrichment programs (SPA Leadership Program, Politics, Policy and Law Scholars, and SPA Honors). SPA has approximately 1300 engaged undergraduate students who are research focused and use DC as their laboratory. The associate dean for undergraduate education will provide leadership in the area of undergraduate education and will be responsible for handling all issues that arise concerning undergraduate students in the school. The associate dean directs the activities of the assistant director of recruitment and retention, four academic advisors, enrichment program directors, and serves as the school's Academic Integrity Officer. Duties will also include teaching one course a year in one of the School's degree programs.

American University is reshaping the composition and experience of its undergraduate student body. The University is committed to diversifying the student body in terms of racial/ethnic diversity, geographic diversity, and diversity of socioeconomic status. American University received a record number of undergraduate applications for Fall 2016, resulting in an admit rate of approximately 25 percent. The number of students with SPA undergraduate majors has increased over the past several years. American University is undertaking a multi-year initiative to reinvent the student experience through reimagining service delivery, a focus on student success, and modernization of the undergraduate curriculum. We are looking for an associate dean who will embrace the opportunity to participate in this initiative and shape the future of SPA's undergraduate programs.

Qualifications

Candidates must possess a distinguished record of scholarship in one of the academic fields encompassed by the school's undergraduate programs and meet American University's standards for appointment with tenure at the associate or full professor level. Preference will be given to candidates who have held leadership positions at the university, school, department or program level and who can also provide evidence of advancing their university's academic standing, scholarship, or research productivity.

Application Process

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2016, and continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/35978>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vita, statement of administrative experience and contact information for three references. Electronic submissions are preferred.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1756

POLITICAL THEORY

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS, Social Science, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Political Theory

Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Public Finance & Budgeting

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS

Social Science

NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September 2017. Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD.

The terms of employment are competitive and include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children.

Applications are now open and we will consider candidates on a rolling basis. To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, representative publications and three letters of reference, all in PDF format. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply. Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad-socialscience@nyu.edu

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complimented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Entering its seventh year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2545

University of Hawaii, Manoa

Rank: a cluster of three tenure-track assistant professors

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Political Theory

The term "environmental sustainability" in the context of this social science cluster hire, has three foci: (1) environmental justice, (2) climate change (human dimensions), and (3) resource management (energy, food, water and land). We seek scholars who approach environmental sustainability from a critical and biocultural lens, which treats culture and the environment as co-dependent, mutually reinforcing, and intertwined. At the heart of the College's globally-connected Hawaiian Place of Learning lies an ethos of Aloha 'Aina.

The College of Social Sciences seeks applications from interested and qualified candidates or three (3) new tenure-track positions at the assistant professor rank.

Duties: All candidates are expected to show a willingness to collaborate with researchers in other disciplines, and demonstrate a capacity for sustained high-quality research and student and civic engagement. The candidate will be expected to strengthen the college and university focus on Hawai'i, Oceania, and Asia. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in their area of expertise as well as in the College's sustainability-focused program, advise and mentor undergraduate and graduate students, develop and conduct research with interdisciplinary partners as well as internal and external groups, sustain strong community relations for teaching and research purposes, work collaboratively towards solving challenging and complex problems in Oceania and beyond, seek extramural funding, and participate in departmental, university, and professional activities. Other duties as assigned.

Minimum qualifications – Assistant Professor (I3):

Earned PhD in one of the following Social Sciences disciplines: Anthropology, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Political Science, Women's Studies, or equivalent field, from an accredited college or university or foreign equivalent. A record of research achievement commensurate with time in field. Ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of environmental sustainability.

Desirable qualifications: Demonstrated record of peer-reviewed research; ability to work effectively as part of an inter-disciplinary team in cooperative, cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors. Research and experience in Asia, including Island Southeast Asia, Oceania, Hawai'i, and Indigeneity. Practical experience in issues of environmental sustainability. Given the multi-cultural and diverse context of UHM, we also seek candidates with a demonstrated interest or the potential to contribute to equity, inclusion, and diversity.

The successful candidate(s) will be able to teach and conduct research in one or more of the following areas:

- ? Environmental politics and movements for environmental justice
- ? Intersections of social power and sustainability
- ? Environmental anthropology
- ? Extractive industries and urban environments
- ? Human dimensions of climate change

Pay range: Commensurate with training and experience.

To Apply: Electronic applications only. Submit online a curriculum vitae; writing sample in which you are sole author or primary author; a statement of teaching that includes areas of strength in teaching; a statement on plans to enhance the College's interdisciplinary research; a sample course syllabus; a cover letter indicating how you satisfy the minimum and desirable qualifications, the foci you are applying for; the names and contact information of three references; and official transcripts (copies are acceptable, however, official transcripts will be required upon hire) to <http://surveys.socialsciences.hawaii.edu/ework/>.

Review of applications will begin February 16, 2017 and will continue until the positions are filled. Applications received by that date will be given priority. Incomplete applications will not be considered. The University of Hawaii is an EEO/AA Employer. Inquiries to Cindy Scheopner: scheopne@hawaii.edu, or 808-956-8999.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 1/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2532

Amherst College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence & Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, International Law & Organizations, Life Sciences & Politics

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a one-year visiting appointment for the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary, and focuses on one or more of the following areas: legal history; global legality; post colonialism; law and literature; or constitutional interpretation. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D.

Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/40061> a cover letter addressed to Professor Adam Sitze, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin March 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages women, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2017

Date Posted: 1/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2524

National Defense College- Abu Dhabi

Rank: Academic Dean

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Description: Candidates are invited to apply for the position of Academic Dean at the National Defense College (NDC), an accredited senior national security education institution in Abu Dhabi, UAE. Candidates should possess an outstanding academic background and proven leadership capabilities that will equip them to play a central role in advancing the college through its next phase of growth.

NDC is a leading institution of higher education in the Middle East that encourages experiential learning through methods that include models, case studies and exercises, and educational technology, to foster a culture of learning among high-skilled policy professionals. More information about the college can be found at (<http://www.ndc.ac.ae/en/>).

The successful candidate will provide academic leadership to the core MA program, including, in coordination with the Education Wing

Commander, Planning Wing Commander, and the College Commandant, developing the academic schedule, faculty load and course rotation, managing the day-to-day academic operations of the college, supervising student evaluation, and lecturing and leading seminars as necessary. The Dean will also lead curricular revisions to the core MA program in strategic security studies and oversee a reaccreditation site visit by the local accrediting body of the UAE. The Dean will also lead the development of new programs, including an Arabic language war course, a possible doctorate in strategic studies, as well as short courses and other outreach efforts. In coordination with the college leadership, the Dean will brief senior leadership on the college's academic operations and represent the college.

The ideal candidate will work to continue the college's reputation for critical thinking and academic excellence and grow the institution's profile within the UAE, in the MENA region, and internationally. The candidate will be able to communicate effectively with our diverse faculty and staff, which includes active duty military personnel and civilians from more than a half-dozen countries. He or she should also be able to effectively work with stakeholders and local and international partners in advancing the NDC mission and vision.

Qualifications

REQUIRED EDUCATION/EXPERIENCE:

The candidate must possess a terminal degree from an accredited university in an appropriate discipline and an academic profile of scholarship and instruction equivalent to that of a full professor. The candidate should also hold significant academic leadership experience in a relevant institution, such as a defense college or a civilian graduate program. Experience working as an administrator and faculty member at the graduate level is essential.

DESIRED SKILLS/EXPERTISE:

Experience working as an administrator and as a faculty member at institutions that offer instruction to senior professionals, is highly desirable, as is familiarity with active learning at the graduate level. Practical experience in a field relevant to the college curriculum is a plus, as is experience working to bridge the policy and academic communities.

Cross-cultural proficiency, particularly experience teaching or working in the Middle East and/or demonstrated expertise in strategic studies education in a multi-national/ multi-cultural setting, is a strong advantage. Previous experience generating new graduate level programs and supervising accreditation and reaccreditation site visits are also an advantage.

Arabic language proficiency is an asset but all courses will be conducted in English.

Benefits package includes:

- Attractive and highly competitive salary
- Full housing allowance
- Vehicle allowance
- Education allowance for eligible minor children
- Cost of living allowance
- Relocation allowance

Interested parties should send a cover letter detailing qualifications and CV, including a list of professional references, along with an unofficial transcript of the doctorate (copies are acceptable) to Ms. Betty Boutros at (boutros@translangltd.com). Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2519

University of Houston

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor - Policy Ethics

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) anticipates four tenure-track positions beginning in fall 2017. Two positions are at the level of Assistant Professor in the area of decision sciences. The other two positions are open rank and in the areas of (a) ethical or political theory and public policy, and (b) research methodology leveraging the NSF's Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) initiative. Applicants for all positions are expected to demonstrate a record predictive of future scholarly productivity, potential and commitment to develop and sustain a nationally competitive program of research with implications for public policy, capability and commitment to contribute to undergraduate and graduate programs and a doctoral degree or equivalent. The Hobby School emphasizes multidisciplinary collaboration and affiliation. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and/or methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply, as are those with interest in working with diverse populations.

Decision sciences faculty — from a variety of disciplines including disciplines not usually associated with policy schools such as business, computer science, and industrial engineering — will apply state-of-the-art decision sciences theory and research to public policy, with interests including but not limited to statistical decision theory, rational expectations in economics and political science, cognitive psychology, technological change and the restructuring of decision processes, the impact of probabilistic forecasts on decision algorithms, and the micro-foundations of comparative justice systems. Research methodology faculty are expected to have familiarity with the NSF's EITM initiative (see <http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/ses/polisci/reports/pdf/eitmreport.pdf>) and serve at the Hobby School's EITM Summer Research Institute (see <http://www.uh.edu/class/hcpp/eitm/index.php>). Ethical or political theory and public policy faculty are expected to be philosophers or political theorists who continue to expand their impact beyond disciplinary boundaries into public policy and applied ethics.

With over 40,000 students on the main campus and one of the most culturally and ethnically diverse public universities in the nation, UH (www.uh.edu) is a Carnegie-Designated Tier One Public Research University. The Hobby School was recently created by the UH system and thus offers incoming faculty the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology and political philosophy in its teaching, training, and research.

The Hobby School is well-positioned for impactful research in Houston, the nation's fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (a) a growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center, the world's largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Interested individuals are asked to apply as follows:

Assistant Professor for Decision Sciences at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33130>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Methodology at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33131>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Policy Ethics at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33134>

and to include a letter of interest, statements of teaching philosophy and interests and research interests, three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation (i.e., referees), a curriculum vita, up to three representative papers, and evidence of excellence in teaching.

Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants, but not for senior applicants. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled. Questions may be directed to the following search committee chairs: (a) Pablo Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential research methodology position, (b) Jeffrey Church (jchurch@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential ethical/political theory and public policy position, and Alan Witt (witt@uh.edu) regarding the potential decision sciences positions.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at <http://www.uh.edu/af/universityservices/policies/sam/1GenAdmin/1D5.pdf>. The positions are also subject to the University of Houston's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/20/2017

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2516

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.

Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here: http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost_constitutions/documents/hf_jp-ii_apc_15081990_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu .Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2488

Colby College

Rank: Government Department/Integrated Studies Program

Colby College

Government Department/Integrated Studies Program

The Government Department and the Integrated Studies Program (ISP) at Colby College invite applications for a three-year (renewable) appointment beginning September 1, 2017. The position carries a five-course load, with three courses in the Government Department and two in ISP. ISP courses are first-year seminars that are team-taught in clusters of linked topics.

We are seeking creative teacher-scholars eager to forge creative connections between political science and other academic disciplines by teaching and directing student research in interdisciplinary contexts.

The position is open as to sub-field within political science, but the successful applicant must be able to teach Introduction to Political Theory and/or Concepts and Methods in Political Science Research as well as electives in Government and ISP. The ability to teach other core classes in political science is a plus.

Applicants should send a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement of research interests, a link to or sample of a recent publication, and teaching evaluations (if available) through Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/39765. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation sent separately through Interfolio. Review of applications will commence immediately and continue until a successful candidate is selected.

Questions about this search should be directed to: government-search@colby.edu

Colby is a private, coeducational liberal arts college that admits students and makes employment decisions on the basis of the individual's qualifications to contribute to Colby's educational objectives and institutional needs. Colby College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, religion, ancestry or national origin, age, marital status, genetic information, or veteran's status in employment or in our educational programs. Colby is an Equal Opportunity employer, committed to excellence through diversity, and encourages applications from qualified persons of color, women, persons with disabilities, military veterans and members of other under-represented groups. Colby complies with Title IX, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in an institution's education programs and activities. Questions regarding Title IX may be referred to Colby's Title IX coordinator or to the federal Office of Civil Rights. For more information about the College, please visit our website: www.colby.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 12/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2477

University of Central Florida

Rank: Lecturer in American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a Lecturer position at its West Orlando Campus in the field of American Politics, with an anticipated start date of August 2017. This is a permanent, recurring non-tenure earning position with a promotion path and a primary assignment in teaching. Preferred subfields in American politics include institutions, especially Congress and judicial politics, as well as courses in undergraduate research methods and political theory. It is expected that some courses will be taught online, and some courses may be offered on one of UCF's other campus locations, including the main campus in Orlando. Ph.D. in Political Science or related field from an accredited institution by the time of appointment required.

The University of Central Florida (UCF) is a research-intensive university with a diverse enrollment in excess of 63,000 students. Information about UCF may be found at www.ucf.edu. The Political Science department has approximately 1,200 undergraduates in the Political Science and International & Global Studies majors combined, as well as several minors. The department also offers an M.A. in Political Science and a Ph.D. in Security Studies. The Kurdish Political Studies Program, the India Center, the Prince Mohammed Program for Strategic Research and Studies, and the Lou Frey Institute of Politics & Government, as well as the Intelligence Community Center for Academic Excellence are all housed in the Political Science department. We value the perspectives and contributions of a diverse student and faculty body.

Interested applicants must apply using the UCF online application system at <https://www.jobswithucf.com> by January 26, 2017. Applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, syllabi of any courses taught as instructor of record, student evaluations (where available), a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of recommendation. All materials other than reference letters must be uploaded to the online submission system. Note: Please have all documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date. Reference letters can be emailed to Politics@ucf.edu, or mailed to: Attn: Dr. Aubrey Jewett, Lecturer Search Committee Chair, 4297 Andromeda Loop N., Howard Phillips Hall 302, Orlando, FL 32816. All materials must be postmarked no later than January 26, 2017. Questions can be addressed to the Lecturer Search Committee Chair, at the mailing address or email address listed above.

UCF is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply, including minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/26/2017

Date Posted: 12/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2474

University of Guam

Rank: #023-17 Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Political Theory

GENERAL DESCRIPTION:

The University of Guam is looking for an individual who is interested in new challenges and opportunities for professional and personal growth. This position calls for someone who is self-motivated and adaptable, intelligent, possesses a global vision and who is interested in working in a dynamic, multi-cultural institution.

UNIT DESCRIPTION:

The Political Science program has three faculty members representing the areas of American and regional politics, comparative politics and international relations. The Political Science program averages about 30 majors per academic year. Political Science courses also satisfy general education requirements and electives for other majors. The program is housed within the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences in the Division of Social and Behavioral Sciences, a 14 member division which includes Political Science, Geography, Psychology, Sociology, and Women and Gender Studies.

CHARACTER OF DUTIES:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach both lower and upper division undergraduate political science courses. He or she will (a) teach a normal load of twelve (12) contact hours per semester, with one course load reduction possible with the Dean's approval, for research, instructional innovation, or large service projects; (b) maintain a continuous record of scholarly activity and research relevant to the Asia/Pacific region; and (c) perform university and community service. The successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory research methodology course including quantitative and qualitative methods. Possible additional course assignments include: introduction to government and politics, international relations, international organization, political philosophy, politics of Asia and special topics in political science.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Minimum: (a) Ph.D. in Political Science, International Relations or Government from a U.S. regionally accredited institution or foreign equivalent by August 2017 (ABDs are welcome to apply, provided the doctorate is attained by the time employment begins); (b) demonstrated research ability; (c) teaching experience in some of the subject areas listed above; and (d) Must be willing to teach online.

Preferred: (a) research or relevant professional experience in Asia and/or the Pacific region; (b) experience teaching academically and culturally diverse populations; and (c) a record of winning grants.

APPLICATION PROCESS:

Applicants for University of Guam faculty positions must complete an online job application through the UOG's online employment portal at <https://uog.peopleadmin.com>. Please have the following documents prepared and ready to upload with your application:

- (1) Letter of Intent, stating interest
- (2) Up-to-date curriculum vitae or resume
- (3) Copies of all graduate and undergraduate transcripts

Applicants who are short-listed for an interview will be required to provide a short (approximately 5 minutes) video clip of their lecture or presentation.

Special Instructions for References: Three (3) current letters of recommendation from persons knowledgeable about your academic and professional performance must be provided by providing a list of at least three (3) references to be contacted on the References section of the online application. Enter each reference by clicking on the "Add References Entry" button. Provide the name, title, email address, mailing address, and telephone number of each reference. A system automated email will be sent to each reference's email address with a link to attach their reference letter to your application.

Selected candidate must provide official transcripts prior to hire date. For further information, please contact Dr. Mary Therese F. Cruz, Chair, Political Science Search Committee at mtfcruz@triton.uog.edu or the Human Resources Office at uoghro@triton.uog.edu, telephone number, (671) 735-2350 or fax number at (671) 734-6005.

Police and Court Clearance: Pursuant to Public Law No. 28-24 and Executive Order 2005-34, applicants selected for a position are required to provide original police and court (Superior Court of Guam) clearances of no more than three (3) months old prior to commencement of employment. Off-island applicants must obtain clearances from their place of residence. Applicants are responsible for fees associated with obtaining the clearances.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/29/2017

Date Posted: 12/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2473

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations/Security Studies

International Relations/Security Studies

Job Description:

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term 1 year contract (renewable) in international relations at the Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. Applicants should have a research and teaching specialization in international relations and security studies. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses on theories of international relations, contemporary foreign policies, international organization, and security studies. This position will involve teaching at the BA and MA level within the Department of Political Science. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Dec. 23, 2016. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, (gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/30/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2424

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations/Security Studies

International Relations/Security Studies

Job Description:

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a fixed term 1 year contract (renewable) in international relations at the Assistant or Associate Professor level beginning in Fall 2017. Applicants should have a research and teaching specialization in international relations and security studies. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses on theories of international relations, contemporary foreign policies, international organization, and security studies. This position will involve teaching at the BA and MA level within the Department of Political Science. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body.

Requirements:

PhD is required at time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing program of research and publication. Teaching experience is preferred. Responsibilities include undergraduate as well as graduate teaching, an active program of research and publications, and service to the Department and the University. Priority will be given to applications received by Jan. 14, 2017. Position is open until filled.

Application Procedures:

All applicants must submit the following documents online: a) a current C.V; b) a letter of interest; c) a statement of teaching philosophy; d) a completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF); e) a copy of a recently published article or manuscript chapter in progress. f) Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send reference letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; Note: Please remember your account login enables you to respond to AUC additional questions (if required).

For more information, e-mail Dr. Ibrahim Elnur, Chair, (ielnur@aucegypt.edu); Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, (gehanwm@aucegypt.edu) or visit the department's website at <http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/30/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2425

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship in Applied Political Theory

The University of Pittsburgh's Department of Political Science invites applications for a one year postdoctoral fellowship in applied political theory. This position will be renewable for a second year and the department has a strong preference for candidates who may wish to stay two years.

An applied theorist does work on concrete political issues or problems using multiple methods including (but not limited to) textual analysis, content analysis, case studies, survey research, or experimental methods. Such work must have a clear theoretical foundation and purpose, but it must also be grounded in contemporary issues that are of interest to others, including affected populations, policy makers, and academics in other fields or sub-fields of political science.

The successful applicant will contribute substantively to one of the following thematic areas: 1) environmental politics; 2) political representation and accountability; or 3) human rights. Our department has vibrant research clusters in each of these three areas.

Depending on the specific interests of the successful candidate, there will be many opportunities to participate in regular seminar sessions hosted by, for example, the Center for the Study of American Politics and Society (CAPS), Global Studies Center, the Mascaro Center for Sustainable Innovation, and the Global Politics Seminar (GPS).

The postdoctoral fellow will be matched with a faculty mentor, and will be expected to participate in a regular political theory reading group. He or she will teach one undergraduate course each semester, to be determined in consultation with the political theory faculty and the Director of Undergraduate Studies. For more information about the fellowship and to apply, visit: <http://www.as.pitt.edu/postdoctoral-fellowship-program> .

The deadline to apply to the postdoctoral fellowship is February 17, 2017.

Apply for a Dietrich School Social Sciences Postdoctoral Fellowship in Political Science: <http://www.as.pitt.edu/postdoctoral-fellowship-program/application-process>

<http://www.polisci.pitt.edu/news-events/dietrich-school-social-sciences-postdoctoral-fellowship-applied-political-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/22/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2409

University of Miami

Rank: Appignani Foundation Chair for the Study of Atheism, Humanism and Secular Ethics

The College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Miami is seeking to fill the APPIGNANI FOUNDATION CHAIR FOR THE STUDY OF ATHEISM, HUMANISM AND SECULAR ETHICS. The ideal candidate is a distinguished scholar whose research and teaching interests include the study of atheism, humanism, and/or secular ethics, and intellectual and academic methods that emphasize a naturalistic approach in dealing with problems affecting humanity. The holder of this chair will be expected to engage the broader community and offer at least one class a year on atheism and/or its role in human affairs as part of his/her regular faculty duties. S/he will have a recognized body of scholarship and evidence of effective teaching. The holder's appointment will be in one or more of the College's departments.

Review of applications will begin November 30, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Interested candidates may apply electronically to appignanisearch@miami.edu. The application should consist of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and the names of three recommenders.

The University of Miami is an Equal Opportunity Employer — Females/Minorities/Protected Veterans/Individuals with Disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants and employees are protected from discrimination based on certain categories protected by Federal law.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2307

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Normative Political Theory

For 2017-2018, the McCoy Family Center for Ethics in Society at Stanford seeks to appoint up to four new postdoctoral fellows. Selected fellows will be designated as either Interdisciplinary Ethics Fellows or General Ethics Fellows. The two types of fellows have some distinct training opportunities and responsibilities as described below, but they form a common community at the Center and participate together in the Center's intellectual life. The programs are described in detail below.

We aim to appoint fellows in both programs (four total across the two programs). All applicants will be considered for both types of fellowships, and finalists will be consulted as to their designation as Interdisciplinary Ethics or General Ethics fellows.

Interdisciplinary Ethics Fellowship

2017-18 will be the second year of this new fellowship program at the Center. The program is rooted in the Center's commitment to bring ethical reflection to bear on pressing social problems. Addressing many of these social problems involves knowledge of the work of social science, law, and the life sciences. The premise of this program is that the normative scholarship of our fellows will be enhanced by engagement with empirically-oriented scholars. To that end, each fellow in the program will be matched with a partner research center at Stanford that is dedicated to interdisciplinary research. The partner centers will be determined based upon selected fellows' interests. For the 2016-17 year, the partner centers included the Stanford Center for Biomedical Ethics, the Stanford Center on Poverty and Inequality, the Immigration Policy Lab, and the Stanford Center for Philanthropy and Civil Society. To be considered for this fellowship, applicants must have normative training and hold a PhD in Philosophy or Political Science. Scholars with a JD are also eligible so long as their research interests focus on ethical dimensions of public policy or law. Fellows will participate in the regular intellectual life of the partner center and the Center for Ethics in Society (e.g., attend weekly workshops; events; professional training opportunities), interact with undergraduates in the Ethics in Society Program, and contribute to an interdisciplinary ethics community across campus.

General Ethics Fellowship

Some selected fellows will be part of our longstanding postdoctoral program that is more broadly open to candidates with substantial normative research in any area within philosophy or political science. For 2017-18, we are especially interested in candidates with research interests in inequality, global justice, environmental ethics, biomedical ethics, and ethics and technology, but we welcome all applicants with strong normative interests. Applicants must have a PhD in philosophy or political science. Scholars with a JD are also eligible so long as their research interests focus on ethical dimensions of public policy or law. General Ethics Fellows participate in the intellectual life of the Center for Ethics in Society (attend weekly workshops; events; professional training opportunities), teach one class per year, interact with undergraduates in the Ethics in Society Program, and contribute to an interdisciplinary ethics community across the campus.

Appointment Requirements and Application Details

For both types of fellowships, the appointment term is September 1, 2017 - August 31, 2018. The initial term may be renewed for an additional year. Applicants must have completed all requirements for their PhD by June 30, 2017. Candidates must also be no more than 3 years from the awarding of their degree (i.e., September 2014).

The application deadline is December 12, 2016 (5:00 pm Pacific Standard Time).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its scholarly community. We welcome applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions. Salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, a writing sample (no more than 25 pages double-spaced), three letters of recommendation, a one-page research statement (single spaced), and a teaching portfolio. Additional materials will not be considered. All applicants will be considered for both types of fellowships, and finalists will be consulted about whether they may be designated as Interdisciplinary Ethics or General Ethics fellows.

Applications will be collected via Interfolio. Please refer to the Center's website for information about how to submit your materials: <https://ethicsinsociety.stanford.edu/postdoc-fellows/application-process>

If you have questions, please contact Anne Newman (arnewman@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 12/12/2016

Date Posted: 10/10/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2209

Wayne State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Tenure Track, Political Theory

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY

Assistant Professor, Tenure Track, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan, seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in Political Theory at the level of Assistant Professor. The department is interested in candidates with research and teaching specializations in the above field and with any substantive focus. The department offers B.A., B.P.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in addition to a NASPAA-accredited M.P.A. degree. Candidates must be prepared to teach Political Theory in our Ph.D. program as well as teach courses in the department's undergraduate curriculum. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester with a starting date of August, 2017. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and arrange to have at least three letters of reference sent to: Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 2040 Faculty/Administration Building, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI 48202. Upon receipt of your application, you will be prompted to apply online using a link supplied to you by the Search Committee. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Wayne State University is a nationally recognized Carnegie Research I (Doctoral/Research Extensive) institution with an urban teaching mission. It comprises 12 academic colleges offering over 350 undergraduate, graduate, and professional degrees, including medicine, law, arts and sciences, engineering, business, pharmacy, health sciences, and education to more than 28,000 students. The National Science Foundation has ranked Wayne State among the top 60 U.S. public institutions for annual research expenditures. Wayne State University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1972

Campbell University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Assistant/Associate Professor – Department of History, Criminal Justice and Political Science

Department: College of Arts and Sciences

This position will be: Full Time

Description

The Department of History, Criminal Justice and Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at Campbell University seeks applicants for a full-time (9 month), tenure-track position in political science, either at the assistant or associate level, beginning August 2017.

Requirements | Qualifications

A Ph.D. in political science is desirable, but ABDs will be considered. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach undergraduate courses at all levels, with a particular focus on constitutional law and political theory. The new hire will teach, advise, and mentor majors and other students in a long-established, interdisciplinary and vibrant pre-law curriculum. The typical teaching load is 4 courses (12 hours) per semester. Candidates must be committed to liberal arts education; support the Christian mission of the University; and be dedicated to excellence in undergraduate teaching, mentoring students, and scholarship.

Compensation: Compensation will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include health, disability, and retirement plans.

Additional Instructions

Applications should be submitted online using the link below. Please electronically submit a letter of application citing education, experience, pedagogical approach, and additional qualifications as they relate to teaching at Campbell University. The application packet should also include a current curriculum vitae as well as copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts for all institutions attended. Additionally, please provide names and contact information for three references.

See link below to apply.

<http://www.campbell.edu/about/employment/>

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled. Campbell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Campbell University maintains a continuing policy of nondiscrimination in employment. It is our policy to provide equal opportunity in all phases of the employment process and in compliance with applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations. Accordingly, the University is committed to administering all educational and employment activities without discrimination as to race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, ethnicity or national origin, religion, disability, genetic information, protected veteran status and any other characteristic protected by law, except where appropriate and authorized by law. This policy of nondiscrimination shall include, but not be limited to, the following employment decisions and practices: hiring; upgrading; promotions; demotions or transfers; layoffs; recalls; terminations; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; selection for training, including apprenticeship; and recruitment or recruitment advertising. Employees and applicants of Campbell University will not be subjected to any form of harassment or discrimination for exercising rights protected by, or because of their participation in, an investigation or compliance review related to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, Executive Order 11246, Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Vietnam Era Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, the Veterans Employment Opportunities Act of 1998, or any other federal or state nondiscrimination law, rule, or regulation.

Campbell University also maintains affirmative action programs to implement our equal employment opportunity policy. Employees or applicants who wish to review appropriate portions of these affirmative action programs may schedule an appointment to do so by contacting the Vice President for Business and Treasurer at the Buies Creek campus, during normal business hours.

Campbell University will no longer be accepting paper applications. Please apply online by clicking "Apply for this Position" below the description of the position for which you are applying. If you have any questions, or if you are an individual with a disability and need assistance completing an application for employment contact the Human Resources Department at 910-893-1699 or email hr@campbell.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/31/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1941

Monmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

Subfield(s): Political Theory, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Monmouth College, a selective, private, residential liberal arts college in Illinois invites applications for a tenure-track position beginning July 2017. We are seeking a broadly trained Political Scientist who could teach courses in international relations and political philosophy. A Ph.D. is required for this position but ABD candidates will be considered.

Candidates must show enthusiasm for interdisciplinary teaching and for participating in general education, including Monmouth's Integrated Studies Curriculum and advancing a growing Pre-Law Program. A commitment to the liberal arts and an appreciation for the small college learning environment is essential.

Located in the welcoming community of Monmouth, Illinois, the college is a member of the prestigious Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Following the adoption and implementation of a groundbreaking interdisciplinary general education curriculum and the continuation of a bold strategic plan entitled "Think Anew, Act Anew," the college is now prepared to move confidently forward as an innovator among liberal arts colleges. The college has invested $120 Million into campus facilities since 2002 and this year Money Magazine ranked Monmouth 28th out of 736 "Best Colleges" in the Most Affordable Private Colleges category. The Princeton Review named Monmouth a "Best in the Midwest" in its 2015 Best Colleges Survey.

Send letter of application, resume and the names and telephone numbers of three references to: Farhat Haq, Chair, Political Science Search Committee, Monmouth College by e-mail to: facultysearch@monmouthcollege.edu. Review of applications will begin October 31st, and continue until the position is filled.

Monmouth College, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is committed to diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Monmouth does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, military service, marital status, sexual orientation, pregnancy or other factors as prohibited by law in its employment policies.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2016

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 1937

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government

Political Science Department

2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

Instituto Tecnológico Autonomo de Mexico (ITAM)

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Economy, Regulatory Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Instituto Tecnológico Autonomo de Mexico (ITAM) invites applicants for a position at the assistant professor level in the Political Science Department, commencing in August 2017. This is an open field position with preference for candidates in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political-Economy, Methods (formal and quantitative), and Political Theory (contemporary political theory along with Comparative Politics or Social Choice). Candidates should preferably have a focus on regulatory politics, or policy evaluation.

ITAM is an academic institution committed to scientific excellence and oriented to the international academic community. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to research and should possess a Ph.D. in political science, but ABDs will be considered if there is a reasonable expectation of completion by December 2016. Classes can be taught in Spanish or English. Salary and teaching loads are in accordance to U.S. standards. Candidates can interview at the 2016 APSA Meeting in Philadelphia.

Information about the Department can be found at: <http://departamentodecienciapolitica.itam.mx/es>

CONTACT: Prof. Vidal Romero, Political Science Department, ITAM, Rio Hondo # 1, Mexico City, D.F. 01800, Mexico; email: vromero@itam.mx.

Application Instructions: Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research papers, research statement (2 page limit), and three letters of reference in pdf format to marta.cebollada@itam.mx by November 1, 2016.

For more information, phone: +52(55)5628-4000, x.3788.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1866

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Institute Professor of Constitutional Democracy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Institute (Assistant/Associate/Full

Professor of Constitutional Democracy to begin in the Fall Semester 2017. The position is open rank in Political Science and holds a joint appointment with the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy.

Started in 2014 and supported by a generous grant from the Kinder Foundation, a family philanthropic foundation established by Rich and Nancy Kinder, the Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center at the University of Missouri dedicated to promoting excellence in teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly construed.

The successful candidate will teach four classes per year, maintain an active research and publishing agenda, contribute to undergraduate and graduate education, and participate in the intellectual community and activities of the Kinder Institute.

Qualifications

Applicants must demonstrate a track record of excellence in teaching and publication in a subject area that advances the mission of the Kinder Institute. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose prior work bridges subfields in political science and reflects the potential to teach courses in the area of political institutions and/or political and constitutional development. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of the appointment.

Application Materials

Applicants should use the online application system available at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Apply for Job ID 20828. See here for a direct link to this job:

https://myhr.umsystem.edu/psp/tamext/COLUM/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&SiteId=9&JobOpeningId=20828&PostingSeq=1.

Applicants should include a statement of teaching philosophy, and an outline of a current research agenda in the "attachments" portion of the system. Applicants should merge their CV with a brief cover letter and upload the document in the Resume/CV section of the application. Candidates at the rank of assistant professor should also include three letters of recommendation. Candidates at the rank of associate or full professor should may provide the names and contact information for three references.

All letters of recommendation should be sent to politicalscience@missouri.edu.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016.

Other Information

For more information about the Kinder Institute, including descriptions of all faculty, graduate and undergraduate programs, please visit democracy.missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility & ADA Education at 573-882-5835.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1813

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory/Law

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in Political Theory and/or Law at the rank of assistant professor. The position requires outstanding research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession. The position is open with respect to substantive research focus. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and, if available, evidence of excellence in teaching. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36690> To guarantee full consideration, all materials should be uploaded and available for review by September 7, 2016. Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1793

Ball State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Ball State University is inviting applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position available August 18, 2017, with specialization in the field of classic and modern Western political philosophy with the major focus including background, knowledge, and skills in the area of political philosophy.

Major responsibilities: Teach courses in classic and modern Western political philosophy including American political thought. Additional strengths in comparative politics, non-Western political philosophy, and gender studies are preferred with opportunities available for developing courses in those areas. The normal teaching load is twelve hours per semester with a three hour course release per semester for candidates engaged in active research.

Minimum qualifications: Doctorate in political science with a concentration in political philosophy/theory from an accredited college or university no later than August 18, 2017; ability to teach courses in classic and modern Western political philosophy including American political thought.

Preferred qualifications: Research and/or teaching strengths in Comparative Politics, non-Western political philosophy, and gender studies; evidence of scholarship through publications, presentations, and successful grant proposals; evidence of successful teaching at the college level; successful involvement with professional organizations in the discipline; ability to interact effectively with faculty and staff to contribute to the strategic plans of the Department, College and University.

Candidates for searches must have current authorization to be employed in the U.S. without employer sponsorship.

To apply: We prefer candidates to submit all application materials, except for letters of reference, in a single pdf file. Send a cover letter of application, current vita, copies of official transcripts, writing samples, teaching evaluations if available, and three original letters of recommendation to: Dr. Daniel J. Reagan, c/o: Stephanie Painter, Administrative Coordinator (spainter@bsu.edu), Department of Political Science, Ball State University, Muncie, IN 47306-0255.

Review of completed applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled and the search is terminated.

Ball State University is located in Muncie, Indiana, on an attractive campus 45 miles northeast of Indianapolis. Approximately 21,000 graduate and undergraduate students enroll in one of seven academic colleges that offer 187 undergraduate programs, 84 master's programs, and 16 doctoral programs. In addition to our regular undergraduate Program, we also house an undergraduate Legal Studies Program, and an undergraduate interdepartmental European Studies Program and at the graduate level we offer an MA and MPA.

Ball State aspires to be the model of the most student-centered and community-engaged of the 21st century public research universities, transforming entrepreneurial learners into impactful leaders – committed to improving the quality of life for all. The university offers an excellent benefits package, including health care and retirement plans, tuition assistance for employees and dependents, and generous time off with pay.

EEO/AA Employer/Veterans/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 12/13/2016
Date Posted: 8/1/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1695

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

York College of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Graduate Fellow and Visiting Instructor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Research/Teaching Fellowship, Arthur J. Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy, York College

York College of Pennsylvania invites applications for the inaugural Fellow for its Arthur J. Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy.

A joint program of York College's Center for Community Engagement (CCE) and its Department of History and Political Science, the Institute for Public Policy will engage the Fellow and our students in the policymaking process by providing nonpartisan research to legislators at the City, County, and State levels of government. The Fellow will conduct research and work with advanced students to identify and define problems in the greater York community, develop policy approaches to solve those problems, and aim to achieve adoption and successful implementation of specific policy proposals via the Pennsylvania General Assembly and municipal jurisdictions in the South Central Pennsylvania region.

The appointee will hold the title of Fellow in the Center for Community Engagement and the rank of Visiting Instructor in the Department of History and Political Science. The fellowship will generally carry a two-year appointment, though in appropriate cases that time frame might be lengthened or shortened to accommodate a specific project. Among the duties of the fellow will be:

- Completing an appropriate research project or projects likely to be of interest to local residents, legislators, and civic/business leaders;
- Teaching one advanced course per semester;
- Delivering at least two public lectures for the local community;
- Disseminating the results of her/his research in appropriate scholarly and public venues;
- Collaborating with students and faculty in other appropriate York College programs such as the Center for Professional Excellence, the Graham and Eisenhart Scholars, and other CCE programming.

Funding will be provided for travel, speakers, and other appropriate initiatives of the Institute.

Requirements: The ideal candidate will hold a doctorate in a field directly related to public policy research (though ABD or MPP will be considered). The successful candidate will have a research agenda well-suited to studying local, regional, and state-level policy, and evidence of scholarly potential.

York College is committed to building a diverse college community and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply. Interested candidates should electronically submit the following: a current curriculum vitae, letter of application, and names of three references to <http://ycp.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=76821>. Review of applications will begin immediately. While applications will be accepted until the position is filled, for full consideration, applications should be received by January 15, 2017.

York College of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity Employer. For a copy of York College's Annual Security Report, you may contact the Office of Campus Safety or visit the College's website and search for Annual Security Report.

About York College and the Center for Community Engagement (CCE)

York College of Pennsylvania (<http://www.ycp.edu>) is a private-sector, independent institution of higher education, offering over 50 baccalaureate majors in the arts and sciences and in professional fields as well as master's programs in business, education and nursing and a doctoral program in nursing. The College has an enrollment of over 4000 full time, over 500 part time undergraduate students and over 200 graduate students from 30 states and 12 foreign countries. The campus is located in South-Central Pennsylvania (50 miles north of Baltimore, MD, 30 miles south of Harrisburg, PA, and 90 miles north of Washington, DC) and offers competitive salaries and fringe benefits.

Though the Fellow will spend time on York College's main campus, the locus of the research and mentoring activities noted above would be housed in the CCE's headquarters in downtown York. The Institute for Public Policy is meant to be an objective, nonpartisan advocacy organization committed to the best practices in academic social science. The CCE hosts local government leaders, non-profit organizations, community groups, and other stakeholders, providing assistance in identifying and developing approaches to solving the community's most pressing problems. Under the guidance of the Fellow, the Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy will contribute to that mission through policy research.

The CCE's 20,000 square foot building at 59 East Market Street will open with Phase One mid-fall, 2016. Located across the street from the Yorktowne Hotel and adjacent to city, county, and state offices, the location is central to the downtown renaissance in Royal Square, the Arts District, and Central Market. This Center will be a hub for community education, meetings, and small conferences making it an ideal location for students and faculty engaged in policy research and analysis. This space will become a highly visible epicenter of policy activity.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 12/22/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2506

University of Michigan, Flint

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration
Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The University of Michigan-Flint invites applications for an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Public Administration to start Fall 2017. Areas of specialization are open but the candidate will be expected to teach one or more foundational courses in undergraduate and graduate public administration. A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy is required; ABD's whose degrees will be completed by September 2017 will be considered. The teaching load is 3/3. UM-Flint stresses excellence in teaching as well as scholarship/research. Further, it has been awarded the Carnegie Classification for Community Engagement and places high value on outreach. Candidates should submit evidence of promise as teacher/scholars and willingness to participate in civic engagement. Review of applications will start January 20th 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit: a cover letter outlining teaching and research interests/agenda, C.V., teaching evaluations (if available), names and contact information of three references and writing samples. Documents must be submitted electronically and addressed to: Dr. Kathryn Schellenberg, Search Committee Co-Chair at kathsch@umflint.edu.

http://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/134911/assistant_professor_-_public_administration

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2498

Misericordia University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government, Law, and National Security

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Misericordia University invites applications for a tenure-track position as assistant professor in the Government, Law, and National Security program starting August 2017. Offering the second largest major in the College of Arts and Sciences, the GLNS program is part of the university's Department of History and Government and seeks a specialist in American Government or American Politics. A Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or public administration is required; college teaching experience is strongly preferred and research output is expected.

The candidate will teach the following undergraduate courses in the growing Government, Law, and National Security Program: 1) The U.S. Homeland Security System 2) Introduction to Public Administration and Public Policy and 3) U.S. Homeland Security Issues (focusing on areas of natural hazards, mitigation planning, emergency management, domestic intelligence, transportation security or border security). The candidate must be able to offer courses in the university's Core Curriculum, as well as upper-level courses in the major reflecting the candidate's teaching and research interests.

Misericordia University, a 92-year-old institution founded by the Sisters of Mercy, offering baccalaureate, master's, and doctoral degrees, is located adjacent to the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania, approximately 2 hours from New York City and Philadelphia. The university's approach of combining a quality liberal arts education with professional preparation and service leadership has resulted in its wide regional acclaim.

Misericordia University is committed to student, faculty and staff diversity and values the educational benefit this brings to campus. Candidates should indicate any experience and/or leadership that contribute to this goal.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

For confidential consideration please enclose in your application package a letter of application which includes your telephone number and e-mail address, transcripts, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy and three letters of reference to: Misericordia University, Attention: Human Resources Department, 301 Lake Street, Dallas, Pennsylvania, 18612 or applications can be submitted online at www.misericordia.edu/hr.

URL to apply: https://workforcenow.adp.com/jobs/apply/posting.html?client=mucougars&jobId=43083&lang=en_US&source=CC2

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2454

Oslo University

Rank: Postdoctoral fellowships in international judicial politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Administration

1-2 postdoctoral fellowships of up to three years in political science are available at PluriCourts, University of Oslo. We are looking for applicants who will contribute to PluriCourts' research agenda, by studying the functioning, effects and legitimacy of international courts and tribunals (ICs). We seek candidates with a background in judicial politics, international relations, comparative politics, political economy, public administration, or other relevant political science sub-fields.

Successful candidates will develop their own research agenda, in collaboration with colleagues at PluriCourts. Possible research topics include, but are not restricted to; 1) judicial independence and politicization of ICs, 2) compliance with and effectiveness of ICs' decisions, 3) the effects of international judicialization on domestic politics, including redistribution of powers and resources between societal groups and actors, 4) judicial behavior and impartiality of judges, 5) the selection and retention of judges, 6) the social legitimacy of international courts, 7) descriptive and substantive representation of men and women in ICs, and 8) interest group litigation and the role of law and courts as a legitimization strategy for achieving political goals.

Salary level 57-65 (NOK 486 100 to 567 100 pr. year)

Application deadline is January 25, 2017. Read the full announcement here: <http://uio.easycruit.com/vacancy/1735565/70420?iso=no>

Start Date: 2017

Application Deadline: 1/25/2017

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2419

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Associate Professor and MPA Program Director

The Department of Political Science at the University of Cincinnati invites applications from candidates to serve as Director of a re-established Master of Public Administration program and as a faculty member at the rank of Associate Professor with tenure in Political Science. This appointment is scheduled to begin August 15, 2017. Area of research specialization is open, although we seek to build on university commitments to research on social justice, urban politics, and/or social inequity, providing several possible affiliations in related departments for interested candidates. Candidates for this position must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy or other relevant field, and have a demonstrated record of successful teaching, research, and service. Preferred candidates will have had direct involvement in a NASPAA-accredited MPA program, and be familiar with the accreditation process.

The successful candidate will be expected to manage the restoration of the MPA program and strategically lead the program through accreditation. Responsibilities include conducting research, teaching core courses in the MPA program, and providing administrative oversight of the program.

To Apply:

Please complete our online application located at <https://jobs.uc.edu> (Requisition #15171). In addition to the online application, candidates must include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample of published or forthcoming research, evidence of successful teaching, contact information for three references, and a one-page statement addressing how your past or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance the University of Cincinnati's commitment to inclusive excellence, <http://www.uc.edu/inclusion.html>. Please direct any questions to Professor Stephen Mockabee, Chair, Public Administration Search Committee, at stephen.mockabee@uc.edu. We will begin reviewing applications December 1, 2016. However, we will continue to accept and review applications until the position is filled.

The University of Cincinnati is an urban, public, comprehensive Research I institution committed to attracting, supporting, and retaining an academically and culturally diverse faculty. The University of Cincinnati is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. In a continuing effort to foster diversity on our campus, we actively encourage applications from women, people of color, people with disabilities, veterans, people of diverse sexual orientations/identities, and others who may make a positive contribution to the diversification of ideas and perspectives.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2399

University of South Alabama

Rank: Chair of the Department

Subfield(s): Administration, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Criminal Justice, Health Care

The Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice at the University of South Alabama invites applications for the position of Department Chair to begin August 15, 2017. The department offers undergraduate degrees in Political Science and Criminal Justice as well as a Master's in Public Administration. Highly qualified Associate and Full Professors with a Ph.D. in Political Science, Criminal Justice, or a closely related discipline from an accredited university will be considered for this position.

The ideal candidate will be an accomplished scholar, committed to excellence in research and teaching, have exceptional organizational and interpersonal skills, and possess the vision to lead a growing department. The abilities to collaborate effectively and advocate for program faculty and students are essential. The ideal candidate will have demonstrated administrative experience, but exceptional candidates lacking such experience who have a strong desire to transition to an administrative role are also encouraged to apply.

Applicants should apply at the following link and be prepared to attach a letter of application, a one-page statement of research interests, a brief description of teaching philosophy and proficiencies, a summary statement of leadership and administrative skills, current Curriculum Vitae, names of five references, and a sample of scholarly work. <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/usouthal/jobs/1588869/chair-and-assoc-or-full-professor> Upon request, applicants will arrange to have official transcripts and three letters of recommendation sent to the Chair of the Search Committee. Review of applications will begin December 12, 2016, and will continue until the position is filled. Information: <http://www.southalabama.edu/colleges/artsandsci/poliscie/jobs.html>

The position of Chair is a 12-month appointment. The ideal candidate will demonstrate the ability to contribute to existing programs and help develop new offerings. An appreciation for mixed methodology is preferred. The ideal candidate will provide transparency in budget and scheduling decisions and be able to highlight faculty and student successes, advocate for program faculty at the college and university levels, seek to increase faculty, majors, and department activities, and mentor junior faculty for success in tenure and promotion and mentor associate professors for promotion to full professor.

The Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice has 10 full-time faculty and more than 300 undergraduate majors and 40 graduate students. The department offers courses for four interdisciplinary programs within the College of Arts and Sciences: African American Studies, Forensic Science, Gender Studies, and International Studies. The department is also home to the USA Polling Group, a survey research center with a 10 station CATI lab that works with a variety of internal and external clients. Additionally, the department has a sizeable Masters in Public Administration (MPA) program and an active student body.

If you have questions about this position, the department, the University, or the area, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee, Elise Labbé-Coldsmith, at ELabbe@southalabama.edu.

The University of South Alabama is an EO/AA employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expressions) religion, age, genetic information, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2398

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Policy and Administration

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for two tenure-track faculty positions in public administration and policy. We hope to select one assistant and one assistant/associate professor to begin August 16, 2017. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public policy and program evaluation. Particular consideration will also be given to candidates with interest in assuming the role of Graduate Coordinator. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields is required at the time of appointment.

Mississippi State University is a public, land grant, doctoral university with an enrollment of 23,000 students. The department's degree programs include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited MPPA, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 15 faculty members, 197 undergraduate majors, 39 Masters students, and 29 PhD students. The department has strong ties to several research centers with the University, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, the Center for International Security and Strategic Studies, and the National Strategic Planning and Analysis Research Center. More information on the department is available at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>. If you require assistance, e-mail the search committee chair, Dr. Christine Rush, at crush@pspa.msstate.edu.

Candidates must submit application materials electronically. Go to the website of our Human Resources Management department at <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> (PARF #493904) and follow the instructions for applying for a job. Your electronic submission should include a cover letter indicating your interest in and qualifications for the position, current curriculum vita, and the names and contact information of three references. In addition, please have three letters of recommendation sent to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 21, 2016, and the search will remain open until filled. MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2126

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff. Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2124

Winthrop University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, South Asia

WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences

Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

TITLE: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, Open Field

The Department of Political Science is seeking engaging teachers and active scholars to join our diverse scholarly community by applying for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position. The department welcomes applications in all subfields; however, we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: Comparative Politics (Middle East, Asia), Public Administration, Public Law, and/or American Institutions. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement to join our distinguished department. Considered one of the strongest departments in the University, the Winthrop Political Science department boasts award-winning faculty who are recognized for the quality of their teaching and research alike. The department is also home to a long-standing Model UN program, which just celebrated its 40th anniversary; the Social & Behavioral Research Laboratory, which is home to the renowned Winthrop Poll; and the John C. West Forum on Politics and Policy, a major civic engagement initiative at the University. The department also collaborates with the Master of Liberal Arts program to provide a graduate Concentration in Political and Civic Engagement.

Major Responsibilities:

- Teach a variety of courses in Political Science. Our areas of need include: Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, Politics of Asia, Public Administration, The Judiciary, Constitutional Law: Federalism, and Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Congress, The Presidency, Public Policy, Women and US Politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and/or expertise in Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, and/or Politics of Asia
- Teach both introductory and advanced courses in your areas of specialization, including graduate courses in our Political and Civic Engagement Concentration within the Master of Liberal Arts Program
- Teach a team-taught senior capstone course in Political Science
- Ability to teach research methods or experience in public opinion polling a plus
- Teach courses in Winthrop University's innovative General Education Program, including American Government, which fulfills the Constitution Requirement
- Participate in departmental, college, and university service, including student advising
- Undertake research in the discipline and promote undergraduate research
- Be an interested and energetic participant in an active department
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- The Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field is required for appointment at the assistant professor level. A successful candidate who is ABD at the time of employment will be appointed to a non-tenure track position as an instructor. The successful candidate will also be required to undergo a background check prior to hiring.
- Specialization in areas among those listed above.
- Evidence of excellence in the area of Student Intellectual Development, including teaching excellence and commitment to student learning.

- Evidence in the area of Scholarly Activity, including an ongoing program of research and publication.
- Evidence in the area of Professional Stewardship, including engagement with the discipline, profession, campus, and community
- Preference is given to candidates with experience teaching the courses listed above.

Employment Conditions: A 9-month full-time tenure-track appointment with option of summer employment if funds are available. Salary is dependent upon qualifications. Pending final budgetary approval.

Position Availability: August 16, 2017

Application Deadline: Friday, November 11, 2016. Application materials received after the deadline date may be considered if an acceptable candidate has not been found.

Application Procedures:

1. Applications should consist of:
 - letter of application, including a statement of "teaching philosophy,"
 - curriculum vitae,
 - sample of representative written work (article- or chapter- length),
 - evidence of excellence and commitment to student learning,
 - three professional letters of reference,
 - all graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are acceptable for initial review; official transcripts are required prior to final appointment).
2. If you are attending the Annual Meeting of The American Political Science Association (APSA) in Philadelphia from September 1-4, please email Department Chair Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney (disneyj@winthrop.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service.
3. Applications may be submitted electronically to the following address:

PLSCJobs@winthrop.edu
 Search Committee Chair
 Department of Political Science
 346 Bancroft Hall
 Winthrop University
 Rock Hill, SC 29733
 (803) 323-2209

Winthrop University is a public, comprehensive university located in Rock Hill, SC, 30 minutes south of Charlotte, NC, that is among the very best institutions of our kind in the nation. Through an educational experience that blends liberal arts, professional programs, global awareness, and civic engagement, Winthrop University helps students develop the knowledge, skills, and values that will enrich their lives forever and prepare them for all that the future holds. Winthrop University has 5,000 undergraduate students and 1,000 graduate students. We have a diverse student population, which is 69% women and 36% students of color, and we have a 14 to 1 student/faculty ratio. For more information, visit us at www.winthrop.edu.

Winthrop University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group of individuals on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016
Date Posted: 8/28/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 1917

Texas Tech University

Rank: Director, Master of Public Administration Program

The Master of Public Administration Program in the Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University seeks a candidate for the position of Director, Master of Public Administration Program with an appointment at the level of Associate/Full Professor. The Department would like the start date for this position to be January 1, 2017 but a start date of August 1, 2017 is also acceptable.

The successful candidate's field of specialization is open but the Department has needs in the areas of public management, human resource management, administrative leadership, ethics, and information technology. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. degree in an appropriate subfield of Public Administration and should possess substantial administrative experience managing a Master of Public Administration program, including advising, scheduling, and managing such things as admissions, degree plans, and recruitment. This position comes with a reduced teaching load. Finally, the successful candidate should have a substantial record of scholarly success including securing outside funds to support his/her research program. The salary for this position is competitive and includes a generous benefits package.

The Department of Political Science has 22 faculty members, offers the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees in addition to the MPA and is home to one of the four-campus USGS-funded South Central Climate Science Center (one of 6 in the continental U.S.) and the Earl Survey Research Laboratory and works closely with other research institutes on campus as the National Wind Institute and the Department of Public Health in the TTU Health Sciences Center. The MPA program at Texas Tech University is NASPAA accredited, and faculty in the Department receive substantial financial resources for research support and conference travel. Texas Tech University is Tier One Carnegie Research Institution, has over 35,000 students who select from undergraduate and graduate programs that include Medicine, Law, Engineering, Media and Communications, and Agricultural Sciences. Lubbock is a growing city of nearly 250,000 and is the commercial, medical, financial and cultural hub of the South Plains.

Review of Applications will begin on September 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. Applications should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's qualifications, a CV, and a list of contact information for five references. These items should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 7932BR .

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and /or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/3/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1725

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Public Management

Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in Public Management (2 positions)

About University at Albany:

Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,300 students in eight schools and colleges across three campuses.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

The Department of Public Administration & Policy in the University at Albany's Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy invites applications for 2 full-time, tenure-track Public Management positions at the rank of Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor beginning fall 2017. Candidates should be effective teachers and must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research. Faculty in Rockefeller College are expected to pursue an active research program, teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students, and engage in service activities.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality public management research and who employ a variety of methodological approaches. Candidates conducting research on collaboration, contracting, organizational behavior and theory, performance management, or strategic management are especially encouraged to apply.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

- Applicants must have a PhD from a college or university accredited by the US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization by September 1, 2017.
- Senior applicants must have a well-established research program
- Junior applicants must have a trajectory that suggests a tenurable research record is likely
- Applicants must be able to teach core public administration and management graduate and undergraduate courses.
- Applicants must be willing and able to mentor graduate and undergraduate students.
- Applicants must possess excellent communication skills, including the ability to communicate effectively orally and in writing.
- Applicants must address in their application their ability to work with culturally diverse populations.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Doctorate from a college or university accredited by the US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization in Public Administration, Public Management, Public Affairs, or an allied field such as Sociology and Psychology is preferred
- Experience obtaining grants is a plus.

Additional Information:

About Rockefeller College and the University at Albany:

Rockefeller College is home to a diverse group of scholars interested in teaching and research on issues of importance in the public and nonprofit sectors. Ranked 19th overall by US News and World Report, the Department of Public Administration and Policy offers an undergraduate major, a Master's in Public Administration (MPA), and a PhD in Public Administration and Policy. The Department is nationally ranked in information technology management, public management, public policy analysis, non-profit management, and public finance and budgeting. We actively seek and support demographic diversity in our faculty and student body. To learn more about the Department visit our website at <http://www.albany.edu/rockefeller/homepage/>.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=74071>

A review of applications will start on October 1, 2016 and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1694

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any area of public administration or public policy. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities include graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

PA & Policy Search Committee
Department of Political Science and Public Administration
Auburn University at Montgomery
P.O. Box 244023
Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/1/2016

Date Posted: 7/29/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1686

PUBLIC LAW

Missouri Southern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Methodology

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Quantitative Methods, Judicial Politics

The Department of Social Science at Missouri Southern State University in Joplin, Missouri invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning August 2017. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory American Government; areas of specialization include public law and the courts. Ability to teach undergraduate research methods or statistics as well as familiarity with mock trial and paralegal studies desirable. Qualifications: J.D. and Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABD will be considered. The position requires a commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level.

Applicants should submit a detailed letter of application, curriculum vitae (with the names, addresses, email addresses, and phone numbers of three references), and copies of undergraduate and graduates transcripts. (Official transcripts are required 45 days after contract is issued.) Submit documents to FacultyVitae@mssu.edu; include: "Political Science – Assistant Professor" in the subject line. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Employment will require a background check. MSSU is an EOE employer with a strong institutional commitment to achievement of excellent and diversity among faculty and staff. MSSU is an E-verify participating employer.

Missouri Southern State University (MSSU) is a four year liberal arts institution serving nearly 6,000 students. Expanding graduate and undergraduate programs provide faculty with rich opportunities for service and scholarship. Internationally-focused semesters and enriching cultural events in theater, art, music and film create an engaging learning environment for students and citizens of the region. MSSU is located in Joplin, MO, which is considered to be the

Crossroads of America, and serves as the commercial hub for the four states area. Joplin is a resilient and vibrant city with a population of over 50,000 serving a metropolitan statistical area of 208,000. There is quick and easy access to Northwest Arkansas, Kansas City, and Tulsa, as well as numerous outdoor activities and attractions throughout the Ozarks.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/9/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2527

Amherst College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Law, Jurisprudence & Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, International Law & Organizations, Life Sciences & Politics

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a one-year visiting appointment for the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary, and focuses on one or more of the following areas: legal history; global legality; post colonialism; law and literature; or constitutional interpretation. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D.

Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/40061> a cover letter addressed to Professor Adam Sitze, curriculum vitae, sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin March 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages women, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 3/1/2017

Date Posted: 1/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2524

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in Human Rights

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a senior level (associate or full professor) faculty position in Human Rights, with a preference for scholars whose work focuses on international human rights law, broadly defined to include international humanitarian law and international criminal law relating to human rights. Human rights scholars from a variety of disciplines – law, political science, sociology, and others – will be considered. Applicants should have an interest in interdisciplinary cooperation. Ph.D., J.D., or equivalent degree required at the time of hire. The successful hire will be based in the Keough School of Global Affairs. Joint or concurrent appointments in the appropriate departments are possible.

This position is part of the founding of the first new school at Notre Dame in nearly a century. Oriented toward research, teaching, and service dedicated to the advancement of integral human development, the Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu/>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a master's degree, and supports undergraduate and doctoral programs. We are seeking scholars interested in playing a leading role in shaping the initial trajectory of the Keough School and establishing it as a significant new initiative in global affairs.

Candidates for this senior position are asked to submit a letter of interest and a C.V. Application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: apply.interfolio.com/39997.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:
Prof. Jennifer Mason McAward
Chair, Human Rights Search Committee
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
mason.1@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin February 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Notre Dame seeks to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality faculty, staff and administration. The University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to building a culturally diverse workplace. We strongly encourage applications from female and minority candidates and those candidates attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Moreover, Notre Dame prohibits discrimination against veterans or disabled qualified individuals, and requires affirmative action by covered contractors to employ and advance veterans and qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with 41 CFR 60-741.5(a) and 41 CFR 60-300.5(a).

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and significant others with their job search. The University is also a member of the Greater Chicago Midwest Higher Education Recruitment Consortium

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at <http://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/university-policies/background-check-procedure-for-prospective-faculty/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 1/5/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2520

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice

California State University, Chico is committed to achieving the goals of equal opportunity and endeavors to employ faculty and staff of the highest quality reflecting the ethnic and cultural diversity of the state. We are committed to achieving excellence through diversity in the classroom and the workplace. We strive to establish a climate that welcomes, celebrates, and promotes respect for the contributions of all students, faculty, and staff

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for a tenure-track position in legal studies at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins August 2017.

Minimum Qualifications: The minimum requirements for appointment to this position are: a Bachelor's degree, a Juris Doctor (J.D.) from an accredited law school, current membership in the State of California Bar or membership within one year of the start of employment, ability to teach courses in clinical legal education (i.e., Community Legal Information Center) and courses in the Legal Studies program, as well as the capacity to engage in publishable academic and/or legal/professional research.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants with any of the following: legal clinical experience, paralegal supervision, experience in practicing law, teaching experience, law review participation and/or additional degrees, such as a L.L.M. or Ph.D. In addition to teaching courses in clinical legal education, other primary teaching responsibilities may include courses in any one of the following areas: constitutional law, criminal law and procedure, civil litigation, introduction to legal studies, alternative dispute resolution, administrative law, and moot court.

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department.

Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our department's programs.

Additional information about our Department is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/pols/>. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/bss/index.shtml>.

The Legal Studies Program: The Legal Studies Program within the Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice includes an active moot court program, a paralegal certificate program, and the Community Legal Information Center (CLIC). Founded in 1969, CLIC is an extensive undergraduate law clinic designed to benefit participating students by providing hands-on legal training and active learning experiences. CLIC also provides a unique civic engagement program that helps serve the legal service needs of Northern California. Additional information about the Legal Studies Program is available at: <http://www.csuchico.edu/pols/undergraduate/legalStudies.shtml>

Closing Date: Review of applications will begin on February 6, 2017, and continue until the position is filled.

How to Apply: All applicants must apply online at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/4054>

Complete online applications must include: curriculum vitae or resume, cover letter, complete set of undergraduate and law school transcripts, and teaching evaluations if available. Three letters of recommendation are also required and should be submitted to the Search Committee Chair.

Job-related questions and letters of recommendation should be directed to:

Dr. Mahalley Allen, Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
California State University, Chico
Chico, CA 95929-0455
mdallen@csuchico.edu , 530-898-6506

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for California State University, Chico can be obtained by contacting the Chico State University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by accessing the following website: www.csuchico.edu/up/clery_report.shtml

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position. For disability related accommodations please call the ADA Coordinator at (530) 898-5959.

CSU, Chico is an Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status and only employ individuals authorized to work in the U.S.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/15/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2494

University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE: PUBLIC LAW (TENURE-TRACK)

RESPONSIBILITIES: The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2017. A robust academic record with a teaching specialization in U.S. Public Law is necessary. Successful candidates will be an active educator in their field, with a standard teaching load of three courses per semester. The successful candidate will teach introductory sections of American National Government and upper division pre-law courses in support of the Department of Political Science's Pre-Law Concentration, which is a practically-focused law school preparation curriculum, and which comprises a majority of the department's majors. The successful candidate will teach courses in Moot Court and Mock Trial, and be the primary advisor for the department's competitive intercollegiate Moot Court team. The successful candidate will also assist other pre-law faculty in offering required Pre-Law courses such as Constitutional Law, Law and Judicial Politics, Civil Rights Law, and/or Civil Liberties, as well as offer new pre-law courses of the candidate's choosing and design. The successful candidate will also serve as a mentor to students and become the primary advisor to the Pi Lambda Beta Law Club, the leading pre-law student organization on campus. The successful candidate will also share in the department's advising and service responsibilities and will work with colleagues to assess and improve curricula, conduct research and/or creative works such as publications and other scholarship in their respective area of specialization, and demonstrate institutional citizenship through active engagement at the department, college, university, public, and professional communities.

QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Politics or Political Science required; a candidate with a Ph.D. and J.D. is highly desirable. Experience in teaching pre-law courses is strongly preferred. Experience in teaching and advising undergraduate moot court and/or mock trial classes and/or teams is strongly preferred. Online teaching experience is a plus. Evidence of scholarship or scholarship potential. Successful candidates must be committed to working effectively with diverse student populations. Applicants are expected to describe their commitment to fostering a diverse educational environment through their research, teaching, and/or service activities

ADMINISTRATIVE UNIT: The mission of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette is to offer exceptional education informed by diverse worldviews striving to develop innovative leaders who advance knowledge. The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges accredits the University, which offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in the arts, sciences, and professional programs. The University is a public doctoral research university with higher research activity, an enrollment of over 18,000 students and 800 faculty members. UL Lafayette is the largest of nine universities in the University of Louisiana System. The University offers degree programs in 55 undergraduate disciplines, 15 post-bachelor certificates, seven graduate certificates, the master's degree in 28 disciplines and the doctorate in 10 disciplines. Additional information about the University is available on the University's webpage at <http://louisiana.edu/>

The Department of Political Science, which offers a B.A. in Political Science with concentrations in pre-law and international relations, has six faculty members and about 250 undergraduate majors. Additional information about the department is available at the department's webpage at: <http://politicalscience.louisiana.edu>

Located midway between New Orleans and Houston, Lafayette is the heart of Louisiana's Acadian-Creole region. The city of over 126,000 is part of the Lafayette-Acadiana area, which has a total population of 616,000 and is one of Louisiana's fastest-growing metropolitan areas. Lafayette serves as the base of Louisiana's offshore oil industry, as well as the financial, retail, and medical center for South-Central Louisiana.

SALARY: Commensurate with experience.

STARTING DATE: August 1, 2017

APPLICATIONS: An initial application consists of a letter of application, a vita, unofficial transcripts, sample syllabuses, student evaluation of instruction scores or other evidence of teaching effectiveness, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research agenda, and three letters of recommendation, all of which must address teaching competence or potential, as well as ability or potential to be a collegial and contributing departmental citizen. Applicants should also provide evidence of an active research agenda or the potential for one.

Applications and inquiries about the status of the application should be directed to:

Whitney Kidder, Administrative Assistant
 Department of Political Science
 University of Louisiana at Lafayette
 P.O. Box 43581
 Lafayette, LA 70504-3581
 Email: bfrost@louisiana.edu
 Phone: 337-482-6171 Fax: 337-482-6170

Inquiries about the substance of the position should be directed to:

Dr. Bryan-Paul Frost, Chair of Public Law Search Committee
 Department of Political Science
 University of Louisiana at Lafayette
 P.O. Box 43581
 Lafayette, LA 70504-3581
 Email: bfrost@louisiana.edu
 Phone: 337-482-6171 Fax: 337-482-6170

The review process will continue until the position is filled. We will only contact applicants who are being considered for possible interviews.

The University of Louisiana at Lafayette is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. Women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply. The University of Louisiana at Lafayette does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or disability in admission to, access to, treatment in, or employment in its programs and activities as required by Title VI and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, Age Discrimination Act of 1975, the Equal Pay Act of 1963, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Executive Order 11246, Section 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Section 402 of the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974 and the 1990 Americans With Disabilities Act. - See more at: <http://personnel.louisiana.edu/employment-opportunities/policy-nondiscrimination>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/10/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2354

Schreiner University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Department of Social Sciences at Schreiner University welcomes applications for the position of Assistant Professor of Political Science. This is a tenure-track faculty position beginning August 2017. The successful candidate will teach the basic introduction to American Politics course and a variety of courses in American politics (e.g. Presidency, Congress, Legislative Process, Public Policy, Public Administration, Media and Politics, Judicial process, etc.). Preference will be given to candidates who demonstrate experience in working with pre-law majors. The successful candidate will also have an active research agenda (area of specialization is open). Responsibilities include teaching, advising, and participation in curricular development and assessment. The successful candidate will be expected to participate fully in departmental duties, committee service, campus activities, and engage in scholarship and/or creative activities aligned with institutional goals. Teaching load is 12 hours per semester.

Qualifications: An earned doctorate in political science, ABD with completion no later than August 2017. Teaching experience at the collegiate level is preferred.

Schreiner University is a small liberal arts college in the Texas Hill Country (approximately 1 hour from San Antonio and 2 hours from Austin). Schreiner University is a Hispanic-serving institution, an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is strongly and actively committed to diversity within its community.

The employment application can be found at the link below. Candidates should include in their application a cover letter, CV, list of three references, and course evaluations if available.

<http://www.schreiner.edu/about/hr/application/index.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/21/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2278

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics--Public Law

POSITION: Assistant Professor of American Politics—Public Law

EFFECTIVE DATE: August 21, 2017 (Fall Semester)

SALARY RANGE: Commensurate with qualifications and experience

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. in Political Science or in appropriate related discipline. Degree at time of application, or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2017. Specialization in Public Law, Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, or Law & Society. Teaching experience or evidence of strong potential for effective teaching. Demonstrated potential for successful research and publication. Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population.

DESIRED/PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: Specialization in one or more of the following: American law and courts, legal mobilization, rights advocacy and discourse, judicial process, or judicial behavior. Candidates with Juris Doctorate degrees in addition to the Ph.D. are encouraged to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates who are able to connect their specific areas of interest with broader questions within political science, such as the impact of economic, racial, ethnic, and gender inequality on democratic governance; the capacity of the American political system to deal effectively with economic and environmental challenges; or the relationship between American civil liberties and philosophies of social justice.

DUTIES: Teach courses in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels, which may include: Introduction to American Government; How Democratic is the U.S.?; Constitutional Law; Law and Social Change; Jurisprudence; Senior Seminar in Law, Politics, and Policy; Scope and Methods of Political Science; and Graduate Seminar in Public Law. Engage in research leading to conference participation and publication. Participate in service to the department, college, university and community. Advise students, serve as a member of Master's thesis and comprehensive exam committees.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

REQUIRED DOCUMENTATION:

- A Student Success Statement about teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (approximately one page)
- Letter of application addressing the minimum and desired/preferred qualifications and duties
- CV (including current email address)
- Three current signed academic letters of recommendation
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree
- Finalists will also be required to submit a signed SC-1 form and an official transcript.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Applications and required documentation should be submitted through AcademicJobsOnline.com (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/7652>; position #7652). Application materials will not be accepted via post or e-mail.

Requests for information should be addressed to:
 Teresa Wright, Chair
 California State University, Long Beach
 Department of Political Science
 1250 Bellflower Boulevard

Long Beach, CA 90840-4605

(562) 985-4705 or teresa.wright@csulb.edu

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Review of applications to begin October 10, 2016

Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled)

CSULB is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can learn, live, and work in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual, without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry, religious creed, sex, gender identification, sexual orientation, marital status, disability, medical condition, age, political affiliation, Vietnam era veteran status, or any other veteran's status. CSULB is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1921

University of the Incarnate Word

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations

Assistant Professor in Government and International Relations (tenure-track, 4-4 load) beginning August 2017.

The successful candidate will have the ability to teach upper division courses in American government, judicial politics and/or public law and a wide range of lower division courses within the field. A strong commitment to undergraduate education is essential.

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in American Politics (ABDs considered) with a specialization in judicial politics or public law by July 2017.

The successful candidate will have at least one year of demonstrated university-level teaching experience in the discipline.

Official duties and responsibilities of faculty members at the University of the Incarnate Word include teaching, scholarship, service, and professional activities. In all matters, faculty are expected to maintain the highest standards of professional ethics consistent with the UIW mission.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1920

Winthrop University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, South Asia

WINTHROP UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences

Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733

VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

TITLE: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, Open Field

The Department of Political Science is seeking engaging teachers and active scholars to join our diverse scholarly community by applying for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position. The department welcomes applications in all subfields; however, we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: Comparative Politics (Middle East, Asia), Public Administration, Public Law, and/or American Institutions. We are seeking a dedicated and experienced teacher with demonstrated scholarly achievement to join our distinguished department. Considered one of the strongest departments in the University, the Winthrop Political Science department boasts award-winning faculty who are recognized for the quality of their teaching and research alike. The department is also home to a long-standing Model UN program, which just celebrated its 40th anniversary; the Social & Behavioral Research Laboratory, which is home to the renowned Winthrop Poll; and the John C. West Forum on Politics and Policy, a major civic engagement initiative at the University. The department also collaborates with the Master of Liberal Arts program to provide a graduate Concentration in Political and Civic Engagement.

Major Responsibilities:

- Teach a variety of courses in Political Science. Our areas of need include: Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, Politics of Asia, Public Administration, The Judiciary, Constitutional Law: Federalism, and Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Civil Liberties, Congress, The Presidency, Public Policy, Women and US Politics. Strong preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and/or expertise in Comparative Politics, Politics of the Middle East, and/or Politics of Asia
- Teach both introductory and advanced courses in your areas of specialization, including graduate courses in our Political and Civic Engagement Concentration within the Master of Liberal Arts Program
- Teach a team-taught senior capstone course in Political Science
- Ability to teach research methods or experience in public opinion polling a plus
- Teach courses in Winthrop University's innovative General Education Program, including American Government, which fulfills the Constitution Requirement
- Participate in departmental, college, and university service, including student advising
- Undertake research in the discipline and promote undergraduate research
- Be an interested and energetic participant in an active department
- Other duties as assigned

Qualifications:

- The Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Policy, or a related field is required for appointment at the assistant professor level. A successful candidate who is ABD at the time of employment will be appointed to a non-tenure track position as an instructor. The successful candidate will also be required to undergo a background check prior to hiring.
- Specialization in areas among those listed above.
- Evidence of excellence in the area of Student Intellectual Development, including teaching excellence and commitment to student learning.
- Evidence in the area of Scholarly Activity, including an ongoing program of research and publication.

- Evidence in the area of Professional Stewardship, including engagement with the discipline, profession, campus, and community
- Preference is given to candidates with experience teaching the courses listed above.

Employment Conditions: A 9-month full-time tenure-track appointment with option of summer employment if funds are available. Salary is dependent upon qualifications. Pending final budgetary approval.

Position Availability: August 16, 2017

Application Deadline: Friday, November 11, 2016. Application materials received after the deadline date may be considered if an acceptable candidate has not been found.

Application Procedures:

1. Applications should consist of:
 - letter of application, including a statement of "teaching philosophy,"
 - curriculum vitae,
 - sample of representative written work (article- or chapter- length),
 - evidence of excellence and commitment to student learning,
 - three professional letters of reference,
 - all graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are acceptable for initial review; official transcripts are required prior to final appointment).
2. If you are attending the Annual Meeting of The American Political Science Association (APSA) in Philadelphia from September 1-4, please email Department Chair Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney (disneyj@winthrop.edu) to schedule a meeting at the APSA Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service.
3. Applications may be submitted electronically to the following address:

PLSCJobs@winthrop.edu
Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
346 Bancroft Hall
Winthrop University
Rock Hill, SC 29733
(803) 323-2209

Winthrop University is a public, comprehensive university located in Rock Hill, SC, 30 minutes south of Charlotte, NC, that is among the very best institutions of our kind in the nation. Through an educational experience that blends liberal arts, professional programs, global awareness, and civic engagement, Winthrop University helps students develop the knowledge, skills, and values that will enrich their lives forever and prepare them for all that the future holds. Winthrop University has 5,000 undergraduate students and 1,000 graduate students. We have a diverse student population, which is 69% women and 36% students of color, and we have a 14 to 1 student/faculty ratio. For more information, visit us at www.winthrop.edu.

Winthrop University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and does not discriminate against any individual or group of individuals on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, or veteran status. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 8/28/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1917

Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory/Law

The Department of Government at Dartmouth College seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in Political Theory and/or Law at the rank of assistant professor. The position requires outstanding research, classroom teaching, and service to the College and the profession. The position is open with respect to substantive research focus. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or evidence of substantial progress toward a Ph.D. by the time of appointment.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, C.V., three letters of recommendation, a writing sample, and, if available, evidence of excellence in teaching. Dartmouth College combines a commitment to innovative scholarship with dedication to excellent teaching.

Application materials should be submitted electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/36690> To guarantee full consideration, all materials should be uploaded and available for review by September 7, 2016. Questions may be sent to: government.department@dartmouth.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1793

PUBLIC POLICY

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Innovation, Science, and Technology Policy

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego invites applications for an Associate or Full Professor, Innovation, Science, and Technology Policy to begin July 1st, 2017.

Applicants should be PhD graduates with an outstanding record in a PhD program and an expertise in one of the following fields: engineering and public policy, environmental regulation, or technological change and innovation. Applicants must have a PhD conferred or completed by July 1st, 2017.

GPS has a special interest in candidates who can research and teach in science and technology policy with an international or comparative focus, including scholarship and teaching that pertains to one of the regional areas of the Pacific Rim, broadly defined to include Asia and Latin America. Additionally, GPS has an interest in engineers or scientists whose research is substantially concerned with public policy, such as policies related to innovation, environmental regulation or other important policy topics.

The successful candidate will have the ability to build a research and teaching program on technology and public policy at GPS and have demonstrated the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity and commitment to diversity. The successful candidate may also develop rich links to other UCSD units, notably the Jacobs School of Engineering.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service, and contribute to—and participate in—our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

Applications will be reviewed on February 17, 2017.

To apply:

Candidates should submit: curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; three (3) contacts for reference; and a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>).

All applicant materials should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01322>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017

Date Posted: 1/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2574

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Assistant Professor—Public Policy

University of Texas at Austin: Public Policy – The Department of Government invites applications for a tenure-track position in public policy at the rank of assistant professor. The search is open to scholars working in any subfield specialty within public policy, including American and comparative public policy, federalism/state and regional politics, bureaucratic politics, policy history, and policy and political institutions. Applications from candidates with strong methodological skills are especially welcome. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. for appointment as Assistant Professor or expect to obtain it within a year of joining the faculty as Instructor. Duties include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, College of Liberal Arts, and the University. The department will start reviewing applications on March 1, 2017. To get full consideration applications should be submitted no later than March 15, 2017. Applicants should submit a vitae, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, examples of scholarly work, and teaching materials. Apply through Interfolio here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/40314>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 3/15/2017

Date Posted: 1/25/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2569

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 16,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia, and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. Rowan is one of two universities in the country to offer M.D. and D.O. medical-degree programs. The School of Osteopathic Medicine has a faculty practice plan that serves approximately 200,000 patients throughout Southern New Jersey. The institution is also home to the South Jersey Technology Park, which fosters the translation of applied research into commercial products and processes. The University boasts seven colleges--William G. Rohrer College of Business, Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering and colleges of Communications and Creative Arts, Education, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics. Rowan has been recognized as one of the Top 100 public universities in the nation and is ranked 3rd among public institutions in the North by US News & World Report.

The Department of Political Science and Economics invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science beginning in Fall 2017. The position is open to candidates specializing in public policy, public administration, or a related field. Applicants must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics, as well as a course in quantitative methods. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and will be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship at the pre-tenure level.

Candidates must be legally authorized to work in the US and the university will not sponsor an applicant for a work visa for this position.

Applicants should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2017. To assure full consideration, completed applications must be received by February 17, 2017. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://rowanuniversity.hodesiq.com/job-details.aspx?jobid=5392388>

Submit a cover letter, a C.V., unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment.

All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/17/2017

Date Posted: 1/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2553

Benedictine University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Health Care, Immigration Policy

Job Description:

Primary teaching responsibilities in undergraduate areas of public policy and American government, including but not limited to: environmental policy, health policy, immigration policy, and/or education policy. Ability to teach research methods and public administration would be welcomed. Qualifications: Ph.D. in Public Policy or related field.

About Benedictine University:

Founded as a Catholic university in 1887, Benedictine University is located in Lisle, Illinois 25 miles west of Chicago with additional campuses in Mesa, Arizona and Springfield, Illinois. Benedictine University seeks employees, who regardless of their religious affiliation, understand and contribute to the University's mission and goals. As an institution, we are committed to our identity as Catholic and Benedictine in our values, our operations, and our curriculum in an effort to help each student, each employee, the local community, and each other thrive academically, professionally, and personally in our religiously and culturally diverse academic environment. The University invites applicants for the following faculty positions to begin in August 2017. Funding for all positions will be confirmed by February 1, 2017.

For a more complete position description please go to <http://www.ben.edu/human-resources/employment-opportunities.cfm>.

For information about departments and programs, please go to <http://www.ben.edu>.

Successful candidates should be able and willing to teach in online and hybrid settings. Review of applications will begin February 1, 2017. Position will close April 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/18/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2551

Benedictine University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Health Care, Immigration Policy

Job Description:

Primary teaching responsibilities in undergraduate areas of public policy and American government, including but not limited to: environmental policy, health policy, immigration policy, and/or education policy. Ability to teach research methods and public administration would be welcomed. Qualifications: Ph.D. in Public Policy or related field.

About Benedictine University:

Founded as a Catholic university in 1887, Benedictine University is located in Lisle, Illinois 25 miles west of Chicago with additional campuses in Mesa, Arizona and Springfield, Illinois. Benedictine University seeks employees who, regardless of their religious affiliation, understand and contribute to the University's mission and goals. As an institution, we are committed to our identity as Catholic and Benedictine in our values, our operations, and our curriculum in an effort to help each student, each employee, the local community, and each other thrive academically, professionally, and personally in our religiously and culturally diverse academic environment. The University invites applicants for the following faculty positions to begin in August 2017. Funding for all positions will be confirmed by February 1, 2017.

For a more complete position description please go to <http://www.ben.edu/human-resources/employment-opportunities.cfm>.

For information about departments and programs, please go to <http://www.ben.edu>.

Successful candidates should be able and willing to teach in online and hybrid settings. Review of applications will begin February 1, 2017. Position will close April 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/18/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2552

Duke University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Associate

Duke University, with generous support from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, is seeking a one-year Postdoctoral Associate to participate in a year-long Mellon Sawyer Seminar on the theme of "Corporate Rights and International Law: Past, Present, and Future." The seminar is jointly hosted by the Department of History, the School of Law, and the John Hope Franklin Humanities Institute, though is broadly interdisciplinary in nature and open to scholars working in any field(s) of the humanities and social sciences. The successful candidate's area of research should engage themes related to the seminar, which emphasize humanistic approaches to subjects such as (but not limited to) the history of global or transnational corporations, international regulatory regimes, theories of corporate personhood and sovereignty, the private/public divide, and/or the relationship between corporate enterprise and human rights.

Eligibility: Applicants must have or will have completed the Ph.D. or JD degree between July 1, 2014 and July 1, 2017.

Appointment and Salary: The position will run from July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2018. The fellow will receive a salary of be $47,500, as well as an additional $3,000 in research and professional travel support. The fellow is expected to be in residence at Duke during the term of the fellowship and to take active part in the Sawyer Seminar, including attendance and participation in events with visiting scholars and speakers, as well as co-teaching, with the seminar conveners, an advanced graduate course to run concurrently with the Seminar.

Application and Notification Schedule: We will begin reviewing materials on Monday, February 20, 2017. Incomplete submissions will not be accepted. Notifications will be made on or around March 15, 2017.

Required Application Materials:

- As one .pdf:
- Cover letter, describing applicant's research agenda and relevance to fellowship themes
- Curriculum vitae
- Publication or writing sample of no more than 8,000 words
- Three confidential letters of recommendation, submitted separately

Please email application materials, using the subject "Sawyer Seminar Postdoctoral Fellowship" to:

Ali Prince, Sawyer Seminar Assistant
ali.prince@law.duke.edu
919.613.7187

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 2/20/2017

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2542

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS, Social Science, NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Political Theory

Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Public Finance & Budgeting

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS

Social Science
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September 2017. Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD.

The terms of employment are competitive and include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children.

Applications are now open and we will consider candidates on a rolling basis. To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, representative publications and three letters of reference, all in PDF format. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply. Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad-socialscience@nyu.edu

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complimented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Entering its seventh year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity Employer

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/17/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2545

University of Hawaii, Manoa

Rank: a cluster of three tenure-track assistant professors

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Political Theory

The term "environmental sustainability" in the context of this social science cluster hire, has three foci: (1) environmental justice, (2) climate change (human dimensions), and (3) resource management (energy, food, water and land). We seek scholars who approach environmental sustainability from a critical and biocultural lens, which treats culture and the environment as co-dependent, mutually reinforcing, and intertwined. At the heart of the College's globally-connected Hawaiian Place of Learning lies an ethos of Aloha 'Aina.

The College of Social Sciences seeks applications from interested and qualified candidates or three (3) new tenure-track positions at the assistant professor rank.

Duties: All candidates are expected to show a willingness to collaborate with researchers in other disciplines, and demonstrate a capacity for sustained high-quality research and student and civic engagement. The candidate will be expected to strengthen the college and university focus on Hawai'i, Oceania, and Asia. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in their area of expertise as well as in the College's sustainability-focused program, advise and mentor undergraduate and graduate students, develop and conduct research with interdisciplinary partners as well as internal and external groups, sustain strong community relations for teaching and research purposes, work collaboratively towards solving challenging and complex problems in Oceania and beyond, seek extramural funding, and participate in departmental, university, and professional activities. Other duties as assigned.

Minimum qualifications – Assistant Professor (I3):

Earned PhD in one of the following Social Sciences disciplines: Anthropology, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Political Science, Women's Studies, or equivalent field, from an accredited college or university or foreign equivalent. A record of research achievement commensurate with time in field. Ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in areas of environmental sustainability.

Desirable qualifications: Demonstrated record of peer-reviewed research; ability to work effectively as part of an inter-disciplinary team in cooperative, cross-cultural, interdisciplinary endeavors. Research and experience in Asia, including Island Southeast Asia, Oceania, Hawai'i, and Indigeneity. Practical experience in issues of environmental sustainability. Given the multi-cultural and diverse context of UHM, we also seek candidates with a demonstrated interest or the potential to contribute to equity, inclusion, and diversity.

The successful candidate(s) will be able to teach and conduct research in one or more of the following areas:

- ? Environmental politics and movements for environmental justice
- ? Intersections of social power and sustainability
- ? Environmental anthropology
- ? Extractive industries and urban environments
- ? Human dimensions of climate change

Pay range: Commensurate with training and experience.

To Apply: Electronic applications only. Submit online a curriculum vitae; writing sample in which you are sole author or primary author; a statement of teaching that includes areas of strength in teaching; a statement on plans to enhance the College's interdisciplinary research; a sample course syllabus; a cover letter indicating how you satisfy the minimum and desirable qualifications, the foci you are applying for; the names and contact information of three references; and official transcripts (copies are acceptable, however, official transcripts will be required upon hire) to <http://surveys.socialsciences.hawaii.edu/ework/>.

Review of applications will begin February 16, 2017 and will continue until the positions are filled. Applications received by that date will be given priority. Incomplete applications will not be considered. The University of Hawaii is an EEO/AA Employer. Inquiries to Cindy Scheopner: scheopne@hawaii.edu, or 808-956-8999.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 1/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2532

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public/Nonprofit Management

Assistant Professor in Public/Nonprofit Management
Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs
University of Missouri-Columbia

The Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs seeks applications and nominations for a tenure-track position as assistant professor with teaching and research interests in public management or nonprofit management. Primary responsibilities of the position include:

- 1) Conducting a program of research leading to scholarly publications
- 2) Teaching graduate courses in the MPA and Ph.D. programs
- 3) Participating in outreach and public service activities as well as internal service

The typical distribution of responsibilities is forty percent teaching, forty percent research, and twenty percent service.

Applicants for this position are expected to demonstrate high potential for scholarly research and publication as well as teaching excellence. An earned doctorate (discipline open) is required at the time of appointment.

The University of Missouri-Columbia is a member of the Association of American Universities and is classified by the Carnegie Foundation as a Doctoral/Research Extensive Institution. The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

The Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs is one of fourteen schools and colleges at the University of Missouri-Columbia. The Truman School has an outstanding multidisciplinary faculty, including numerous joint appointments across the university, and houses several research centers and institutes. The University is an equal opportunity/access/affirmative action/pro-disabled and veteran employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. To request ADA accommodation, please contact the Disability Inclusion and ADA Compliance Manager at (573) 884-7278 or ada@missouri.edu.

Apply on-line at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Upload CV and cover letter in the Resume/CV & Cover Letter section as one document. Include a list of names and contact information for three to four references on the uploaded document. Please contact Dr. Alasdair Roberts, Search Committee Chair, robertsas@missouri.edu, for questions about the position.

Screening will begin February 1, 2017, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umssystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Diversity Commitment

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Disability Inclusion and ADA Compliance Manager at 573-884-7278.

EEO IS THE LAW

To read more about Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) please use the following links:

EEO is the Law English Version
EEO is the Law Spanish Version
EEO is the Law Chinese Version

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/10/2017

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 2529

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Visiting Assistant Professor (Open Field)
Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs
University of Missouri-Columbia

The Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs seeks applications for a non-tenure track

Visiting Assistant Professor position for the 2017-2018 academic year. Applicants may have teaching and research interests in any area of public policy or public management. Primary responsibilities of the position include teaching graduate courses in the MPA and Ph.D. programs, and conducting a program of research leading to scholarly publications.

This is a term appointment that may be renewable based on satisfactory performance. An earned doctorate in public policy, public affairs, public administration, political science or a closely related field is required at the time of appointment.

The University of Missouri-Columbia is a member of the Association of American Universities and is classified by the Carnegie Foundation as a Doctoral/Research

Extensive Institution. The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

The Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs is one of sixteen schools and colleges at the University of Missouri-Columbia. The Truman School has an outstanding multidisciplinary faculty, including numerous joint appointments across the university, and houses several research centers and institutes. The University is an equal opportunity/access/affirmative action/pro-disabled and veteran employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. To request ADA accommodation, please contact the Disability Inclusion and ADA Compliance Manager at (573) 884-7278 or ada@missouri.edu.

Qualifications:

Applicants for this position are expected to demonstrate a strong record of scholarly research and publication as well as teaching excellence. An earned doctorate in a relevant discipline is required at the time of appointment.

Salary Range: $60,000 - $70,000

Application Materials:

Apply on-line at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Upload CV and cover letter in the Resume/CV & Cover Letter section as one document. Include a list of names and contact information for three to four references in the uploaded document. Please contact Dr. Alasdair Roberts, Search Committee Chair, robertsas@missouri.edu, for questions about the position Application Deadline: Screening will begin February 1, 2017, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Diversity Commitment

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Disability Inclusion and ADA Compliance Manager at 573-884-7278.

EEO IS THE LAW

To read more about Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) please use the following links:

EEO is the Law English Version
EEO is the Law Spanish Version
EEO is the Law Chinese Version

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/10/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2530

University of Houston

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor - Policy Ethics

The Hobby School of Public Affairs at the University of Houston (UH) anticipates four tenure-track positions beginning in fall 2017. Two positions are at the level of Assistant Professor in the area of decision sciences. The other two positions are open rank and in the areas of (a) ethical or political theory and public policy, and (b) research methodology leveraging the NSF's Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models (EITM) initiative. Applicants for all positions are expected to demonstrate a record predictive of future scholarly productivity, potential and commitment to develop and sustain a nationally competitive program of research with implications for public policy, capability and commitment to contribute to undergraduate and graduate programs and a doctoral degree or equivalent. The Hobby School emphasizes multidisciplinary collaboration and affiliation. Individuals with cross-cutting disciplinary and/or methodological interests are particularly encouraged to apply, as are those with interest in working with diverse populations.

Decision sciences faculty — from a variety of disciplines including disciplines not usually associated with policy schools such as business, computer science, and industrial engineering — will apply state-of-the-art decision sciences theory and research to public policy, with interests including but not limited to statistical decision theory, rational expectations in economics and political science, cognitive psychology, technological change and the restructuring of decision processes, the impact of probabilistic forecasts on decision algorithms, and the micro-foundations of comparative justice systems. Research methodology faculty are expected to have familiarity with the NSF's EITM initiative (see <http://www.nsf.gov/sbe/ses/polisci/reports/pdf/eitmreport.pdf>) and serve at the Hobby School's EITM Summer Research Institute (see <http://www.uh.edu/class/hcpp/eitm/index.php>). Ethical or political theory and public policy faculty are expected to be philosophers or political theorists who continue to expand their impact beyond disciplinary boundaries into public policy and applied ethics.

With over 40,000 students on the main campus and one of the most culturally and ethnically diverse public universities in the nation, UH (www.uh.edu) is a Carnegie-Designated Tier One Public Research University. The Hobby School was recently created by the UH system and thus offers incoming faculty the opportunity to join existing faculty in building and shaping the direction and culture of the school. The Hobby School emphasizes advanced social science methodology and political philosophy in its teaching, training, and research.

The Hobby School is well-positioned for impactful research in Houston, the nation's fourth (soon to be third) most populous American city. Houston itself is a laboratory for the future, as it reflects what is happening in the United States in terms of demographic and economic trends. Moreover, Houston (www.houston.org) boasts a high quality of life with the following attributes: (a) a growing economy, including oil & gas, the Johnson Space Center, and the Texas Medical Center, the world's largest medical center, (b) rich traditions in music, theatre, art, and sports, (c) a diverse population, (d) award winning restaurants reflective of many cultures, and (e) relatively low cost/affordability among large cities.

Interested individuals are asked to apply as follows:

Assistant Professor for Decision Sciences at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33130>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Methodology at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33131>

Assistant/Associate/Professor for Policy Ethics at <http://jobs.uh.edu/postings/33134>

and to include a letter of interest, statements of teaching philosophy and interests and research interests, three names and email addresses of prospective writers of letters of recommendation (i.e., referees), a curriculum vita, up to three representative papers, and evidence of excellence in teaching.

Upon receiving applications, referees may be contacted via the online application system to submit letters directly for junior applicants, but not for senior applicants. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled. Questions may be directed to the following search committee chairs: (a) Pablo Pinto (ppinto@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential research methodology position, (b) Jeffrey Church (jchurch@central.uh.edu) regarding the potential ethical/political theory and public policy position, and Alan Witt (witt@uh.edu) regarding the potential decision sciences positions.

Committed to the active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body, UH is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, the search committees anticipate holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research, or other work activities. For the complete UH nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see the Equal Opportunity and Nondiscrimination Statement at <http://www.uh.edu/af/universityservices/policies/sam/1GenAdmin/1D5.pdf>. The positions are also subject to the University of Houston's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/20/2017

Date Posted: 1/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2516

York College of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Graduate Fellow and Visiting Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Research/Teaching Fellowship, Arthur J. Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy, York College

York College of Pennsylvania invites applications for the inaugural Fellow for its Arthur J. Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy.

A joint program of York College's Center for Community Engagement (CCE) and its Department of History and Political Science, the Institute for Public Policy will engage the Fellow and our students in the policymaking process by providing nonpartisan research to legislators at the City, County, and State levels of government. The Fellow will conduct research and work with advanced students to identify and define problems in the greater York community, develop policy approaches to solve those problems, and aim to achieve adoption and successful implementation of specific policy proposals via the Pennsylvania General Assembly and municipal jurisdictions in the South Central Pennsylvania region.

The appointee will hold the title of Fellow in the Center for Community Engagement and the rank of Visiting Instructor in the Department of History and Political Science. The fellowship will generally carry a two-year appointment, though in appropriate cases that time frame might be lengthened or shortened to accommodate a specific project. Among the duties of the fellow will be:

- Completing an appropriate research project or projects likely to be of interest to local residents, legislators, and civic/business leaders;
- Teaching one advanced course per semester;
- Delivering at least two public lectures for the local community;
- Disseminating the results of her/his research in appropriate scholarly and public venues;
- Collaborating with students and faculty in other appropriate York College programs such as the Center for Professional Excellence, the Graham and Eisenhart Scholars, and other CCE programming.

Funding will be provided for travel, speakers, and other appropriate initiatives of the Institute.

Requirements: The ideal candidate will hold a doctorate in a field directly related to public policy research (though ABD or MPP will be considered). The successful candidate will have a research agenda well-suited to studying local, regional, and state-level policy, and evidence of scholarly potential.

York College is committed to building a diverse college community and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply. Interested candidates should electronically submit the following: a current curriculum vitae, letter of application, and names of three references to <http://ycp.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=76821>. Review of applications will begin immediately. While applications will be accepted until the position is filled, for full consideration, applications should be received by January 15, 2017.

York College of Pennsylvania is an Equal Opportunity Employer. For a copy of York College's Annual Security Report, you may contact the Office of Campus Safety or visit the College's website and search for Annual Security Report.

About York College and the Center for Community Engagement (CCE)

York College of Pennsylvania (<http://www.ycp.edu>) is a private-sector, independent institution of higher education, offering over 50 baccalaureate majors in the arts and sciences and in professional fields as well as master's programs in business, education and nursing and a doctoral program in nursing. The College has an enrollment of over 4000 full time, over 500 part time undergraduate students and over 200 graduate students from 30 states and 12 foreign countries. The campus is located in South-Central Pennsylvania (50 miles north of Baltimore, MD, 30 miles south of Harrisburg, PA, and 90 miles north of Washington, DC) and offers competitive salaries and fringe benefits.

Though the Fellow will spend time on York College's main campus, the locus of the research and mentoring activities noted above would be housed in the CCE's headquarters in downtown York. The Institute for Public Policy is meant to be an objective, nonpartisan advocacy organization committed to the best practices in academic social science. The CCE hosts local government leaders, non-profit organizations, community groups, and other stakeholders, providing assistance in identifying and developing approaches to solving the community's most pressing problems. Under the guidance of the Fellow, the Glatfelter Institute for Public Policy will contribute to that mission through policy research.

The CCE's 20,000 square foot building at 59 East Market Street will open with Phase One mid-fall, 2016. Located across the street from the Yorktowne Hotel and adjacent to city, county, and state offices, the location is central to the downtown renaissance in Royal Square, the Arts District, and Central Market. This Center will be a hub for community education, meetings, and small conferences making it an ideal location for students and faculty engaged in policy research and analysis. This space will become a highly visible epicenter of policy activity.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/22/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2506

SUNY, Binghamton University

Rank: Post Doc Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Post-doctoral Research and Teaching Fellowship – Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention.

Binghamton University seeks applications for a one-year (non-renewable) post-doctoral Fellow, in conjunction with its new Institute for Genocide and Mass Atrocity Prevention, to be launched in 2017. The GMAP Fellowship supports recent recipients of terminal degrees in academic disciplines contributing to the study of policies and practices designed to prevent the commission of acts of genocide and mass atrocities. Applicants must have their terminal degree conferred by the Fellowship start date of August 20, 2017. Recent PhDs in such disciplines (e.g. political science and international studies, sociology or anthropology, geography or public administration) are welcome to apply. In appropriate circumstances applications from recent recipients of the J.D., and from those already occupying temporary or tenure-track positions, will also be considered. Binghamton University's GMAP Institute will concentrate specifically on the formation, implementation, and assessment of practical preventative measures and policies. Applicants should present a research program or proposal that documents this practical dimension. The Fellow will conduct research, collaborate with Binghamton University faculty and graduate students associated with the Institute, and will offer at least one public lecture and/or workshop during the academic year. The Fellow will also be expected to offer one academic course per semester related to the Fellow's research at either the graduate or undergraduate level, in an appropriate department. The GMAP Fellowship offers a competitive salary and benefits package including financial support for research activities.

Candidates should submit a complete online application at the position's Interview Exchange site: [<https://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=79736>]. Application materials include: (1) a short cover letter, (2) a CV, (3) a detailed research proposal including a statement of how the proposal furthers research in the prevention of genocide and mass atrocity, (4) titles of two or three possible courses, (5) three confidential letters of recommendation. Informal inquiries can be directed to members of the GMAP Fellowship Search Committee: Nadia Rubaii [nadia.rubaii@binghamton.edu], Dave Clark [dclark@binghamton.edu] or Max Pensky [mpensky@binghamton.edu]. Review of complete applications will begin on February 15 and continue until the position has been filled. The State University of New York and Binghamton University are Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employers.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/21/2016

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2502

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Penn DCC Postdoctoral Fellowship 2017-18 on "States of Religious Freedom"

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Public Policy

Penn DCC Postdoctoral Fellowship 2017-18 on "States of Religious Freedom"

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

2017-2018 Academic Year

Application Deadline: February 15, 2017

Apply through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/39687>.

The Penn Program on Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism (DCC) invites applications for a one-year DCC Postdoctoral Fellow in any discipline whose research is pertinent to the Program's 2017-2018 theme, "States of Religious Freedom."

According to the terms of The International Religious Freedom Act, passed by Congress in 1998, America's history of religious freedom has endowed it with a special responsibility to promote this virtue abroad as a goal of foreign policy. The U.S. State Department's Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor has compiled annual watchdog-style reports on every country in the world – except for the United States itself – ever since. Yet how exceptional or exemplary is the U.S. record of accommodating religious freedoms? How have other countries, informed by their own histories and circumstances, negotiated complex terrains of religion, statehood and citizenship? And what are the states of religious freedom around the world today, in light of current controversies over abortion, sexuality, changing gender roles, religiously-motivated terrorism, the rights of religious minorities, and the establishment of official religions? During its 2017-18 theme year on "States of Religious Freedom," Penn DCC will study the U.S. experience within a comparative international context, exploring how states – as political entities – accommodate or hinder religious expression and culture, as well as how social conditions – states of collective being – affect and influence the practice of religious freedom.

The DCC program welcomes applicants engaged in empirical or normative scholarship, focused comparatively or on particular nations, regions, or communities, that explores these questions and seeks to assess the complex impact of the radically evolving media landscape on democratic politics, as well as on the closely related issues of citizenship and constitutional government.

The Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism program is an interdisciplinary initiative, funded by the Mellon Foundation, which includes a faculty seminar series and annual conference on themes chosen by the Program's Faculty Advisory Council; a graduate workshop series; and undergraduate research grants. The DCC Postdoctoral Fellow is expected to participate in the faculty seminar series, teach an Undergraduate Seminar on a related topic, and join monthly meetings to discuss the progress of undergraduates receiving research grants. The Fellow also has the opportunity to pursue the Fellow's research and study and participate generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. Stipend is $53,800, plus health insurance.

Eligibility is limited to applicants who will have received their Ph.D. within five years prior to the time they begin their fellowship at Penn (i.e., May 2012 or later).

Application deadline: February 15, 2017.

Applications should be made through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/39687>

For more information on the Penn Program on Democracy, Citizenship, and Constitutionalism, see the DCC Program website, <http://www.sas.upenn.edu/dcc/> or contact DCC Administrator Matthew Roth at dcc-penn@sas.upenn.edu.

The University of Pennsylvania is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 2/15/2017

Date Posted: 12/20/2016

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2501

University of Michigan, Flint

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The University of Michigan-Flint invites applications for an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Public Administration to start Fall 2017. Areas of specialization are open but the candidate will be expected to teach one or more foundational courses in undergraduate and graduate public administration. A PhD in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy is required; ABD's whose degrees will be completed by September 2017 will be considered. The teaching load is 3/3. UM-Flint stresses excellence in teaching as well as scholarship/research. Further, it has been awarded the Carnegie Classification for Community Engagement and places high value on outreach. Candidates should submit evidence of promise as teacher/scholars and willingness to participate in civic engagement. Review of applications will start January 20th 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit: a cover letter outlining teaching and research interests/agenda, C.V., teaching evaluations (if available), names and contact information of three references and writing samples. Documents must be submitted electronically and addressed to: Dr. Kathryn Schellenberg, Search Committee Co-Chair at kathsch@umflint.edu.

http://careers.umich.edu/job_detail/134911/assistant_professor_-_public_administration

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/19/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2498

Misericordia University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government, Law, and National Security

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Misericordia University invites applications for a tenure-track position as assistant professor in the Government, Law, and National Security program starting August 2017. Offering the second largest major in the College of Arts and Sciences, the GLNS program is part of the university's Department of History and Government and seeks a specialist in American Government or American Politics. A Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or public administration is required; college teaching experience is strongly preferred and research output is expected.

The candidate will teach the following undergraduate courses in the growing Government, Law, and National Security Program: 1) The U.S. Homeland Security System 2) Introduction to Public Administration and Public Policy and 3) U.S. Homeland Security Issues (focusing on areas of natural hazards, mitigation planning, emergency management, domestic intelligence, transportation security or border security). The candidate must be able to offer courses in the university's Core Curriculum, as well as upper-level courses in the major reflecting the candidate's teaching and research interests.

Misericordia University, a 92-year-old institution founded by the Sisters of Mercy, offering baccalaureate, master's, and doctoral degrees, is located adjacent to the Pocono Mountains region of Northeastern Pennsylvania, approximately 2 hours from New York City and Philadelphia. The university's approach of combining a quality liberal arts education with professional preparation and service leadership has resulted in its wide regional acclaim.

Misericordia University is committed to student, faculty and staff diversity and values the educational benefit this brings to campus. Candidates should indicate any experience and/or leadership that contribute to this goal.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

For confidential consideration please enclose in your application package a letter of application which includes your telephone number and e-mail address, transcripts, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy and three letters of reference to: Misericordia University, Attention: Human Resources Department, 301 Lake Street, Dallas, Pennsylvania, 18612 or applications can be submitted online at www.misericordia.edu/hr.

URL to apply: https://workforcenow.adp.com/jobs/apply/posting.html?client=mucougars&jobId=43083&lang=en_US&source=CC2

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/5/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2454

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowships in Inequality and Political Development in Latin America

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Social and Political Sciences at the Universidad Católica del Uruguay is pleased to offer up to 3 two-year post-doctoral fellowship opportunities for 2017-19. Applicants should have obtained their PhDs after December 1, 2011 and need to demonstrate residence outside Uruguay during the last 3 years. Successful candidates should focus their research on one of two broad topics: stratification, inequality and social mobility, or political and social development.

The two-year fellowship will commence August 1, 2017 and conclude July 31, 2019. The Fellow will receive an annual salary of up to USD 26,317 and benefits depending on applicant's qualifications (calculated at current exchange rate of USD 1 = UYU 29); one round trip in economy class (up to USD 4,000), will have work space at the Department of Social and Political Sciences and access to facilities at Universidad Católica del Uruguay.

The position requires residency in Montevideo with a possibility of being a semester abroad for fieldwork if properly justified in the research proposal. There is a teaching requirement of 84 hours per year, in Spanish. The successful candidate is expected to teach 1 undergraduate course (42h), 1 course at the master level (21h) and 1 course at the Methods Winter School (20h) each year.

The post-doc is co-funded by the National Agency for Research and Innovation (ANII) under its "Fondo Profesor Dr. Roberto Caldeyro Barcia" initiative. The Department of Social and Political Sciences promotes scholarly, interdisciplinary research by faculty and students, advancing relevant knowledge about political, social, and economic issues, and generating communities of research and practice on key Latin American concerns.

The application process has two stages. Candidates should apply directly to the Department of Social and Political Sciences (DCSP), submitting a CV, a detailed research proposal, a cover letter, and 2 recommendation letters, by email to Mr. Gastón Sagasti (gsagasti@ucu.edu.uy). Recommendation letters should be sent directly to Mr. Gastón Sagasti. Applications for this stage are due by Tuesday, January 17, 2017.

Please direct any inquiries prior to the first stage deadline to Mr. Gastón Sagasti, Department of Social and Political Sciences, Universidad Católica del Uruguay (gsagasti@ucu.edu.uy), except for during the New Year's Holiday (December 31 to January 15). For more information about the Department, visit our webpage (<http://ucu.edu.uy/dcsp>). Candidates are strongly advised to prepare documents according to the requirements established by ANII. Complete information can be found at <http://www.anii.org.uy/apoyos/formacion/6/posdoctorados-en-uruguay/>

A short-list of candidates would be invited to complete the second stage of the application process by January 24. During this second stage, candidates jointly apply with the Department of Social and Political Sciences to the National Agency for Research and Innovation (ANII). Applications for this stage are due by Thursday, February 2, 2017 (14:00, GMT-3).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 1/17/2017

Date Posted: 12/1/2016

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 2431

Ohio Wesleyan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics and Government

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Environmental Policy

The Department of Politics and Government at Ohio Wesleyan University invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position in American political institutions and public policy at the Assistant Professor rank to begin in August 2017. We are especially interested in candidates who can teach environmental policy. We would also welcome candidates who can teach inequality and research methods. This position requires teaching three courses each semester. This position is also expected to contribute to our Arneson Institute for Practical Politics, including the Wesleyan in Washington internship program.

Ohio Wesleyan, a liberal arts university devoted to the free pursuit of truth, is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and to maintaining a non-discriminatory and inclusive teaching and learning community and encourages all interested applicants to apply (EEOE). Ohio Wesleyan University (Delaware, Ohio) is located 20 miles north of Columbus, a growing and increasingly diverse metropolitan area.

Qualifications: Applicants must have at least ABD standing in political science. Ph.D. at the time of appointment, teaching experience at the collegiate level and evidence of research potential are strongly preferred.

Application packets should include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and, to the extent possible, evidence of teaching ability. Applications received by January 15, 2017 will be guaranteed full consideration. Application materials should be sent electronically to Prof. Jim Franklin, chair, Department of Politics and Government, at pgsearch@owu.edu. Mailing address is Department of Politics and Government, Ohio Wesleyan University, 61 S. Sandusky St., Delaware, Ohio 43015.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2429

Virginia Tech

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, Integrated Security

Specializations: Science & Technology, Intelligence, Defense

Integrated Security
Department of Political Science
College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences
Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Tech invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in the area of Integrated Security. This faculty search is part of a cross-college cluster hire being conducted in the Integrated Security Destination Area (<http://provost.vt.edu/destination-areas.html>), which is one of several focused Virginia Tech initiatives to recruit and support world-class groups of faculty that bridge disciplinary strengths. This initial hire focuses on multiple aspects of today's embedded cyber-physical/human systems. We seek a colleague who will build upon our departmental, college, and university strengths in the study of all dimensions of governance, privacy, and security at the interconnections of the digital and physical worlds as humans, groups, institutions, and systems link these domains of complex action. Over the next four years, the number of Internet-connected devices will more than double, changing the ways people interact with technologies and their environments; however, fundamental security and privacy challenges have yet to be adequately addressed for these new technologies. This cluster hire will foster cross-disciplinary collaborations that explore these challenges through the lenses of technology, law, governance, ethics, and business.

We are interested in applicants who can demonstrate research and teaching expertise in one or more of the following domains of inquiry:

human security and insecurity (broadly defined) in “the Internet of things”; the effects of these new developments on politics, governance, and security in organizations, states, or other entities; U.S. national, subnational, or transnational responses to network security threats; human governance of cyber-physical systems, property regimes, or regulatory organizations; security and governance questions related to immigration, refugee flows, cross-border movements, and displaced populations; security and class, gender, and/or race/ethnicity. Focusing on these governance issues and public policy responses in North America is the main emphasis but other cross-national perspectives are welcome. Applicants who approach these concerns from a theoretical and critical perspective are encouraged to apply. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester. This position will begin August 10, 2017.

Required qualifications: Earned doctorate in political science or related field at the time of application or degree in hand by August 10, 2017. Successful applicants will demonstrate a strong interest in conducting research, teaching courses, and seeking grants and contracts in how the Internet of things affects concerns of human security/insecurity as they relate to governance of the public, private, and non-profit sectors as well the class, gender, locational, and racial dimensions of security in cyber-physical/human systems at any scale in U.S. national, subnational, and transnational contexts. Successful candidates will have documented effectiveness in both undergraduate and graduate teaching as well as program development in order to meet the Political Science department's key needs in its B.A. and M.A. programs and those of doctoral students in cognate programs involved in the Integrated Security Destination Area. Potential for excellence in research and teaching is required.

Desired qualifications: Preference will be given to broadly trained candidates who have grounding and skills in a variety of theoretical, analytical, critical, and methodological approaches to security and governance, and who can work with undergraduate and graduate students. Prior teaching experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels is strongly preferred as well as documented success in collaborative activity in transdisciplinary teams.

Interested persons must apply at www.jobs.vt.edu posting, TR0160157, where they will submit a cover letter, a current curriculum vitae, a recent writing sample, teaching evaluations, along with names and contact information for three academic references. Screening of applications will begin on February 6, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. All inquiries should be sent to: Dr. Timothy W. Luke <twluke@vt.edu>, chair, Integrated Security Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Major Williams Hall, Room 531 (0130), 220 Stanger St., Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA 24061. Individuals with additional questions or with disabilities desiring accommodations in the application process should contact the search committee chair.

Virginia Tech recognizes the critical importance of diverse teams of scholars. It seeks to diversify its faculty along multiple dimensions, including those that have been historically marginalized and excluded given the institutional history and legacy of the university. Virginia Tech is a public land-grant university, committed to teaching and learning, research, and outreach to the Commonwealth of Virginia, the nation, and the world. Building on its motto of Ut Prosim (that I may serve), Virginia Tech is dedicated to InclusiveVT—serving in the spirit of community, diversity, and excellence. We seek candidates who adopt and practice the Principles of Community, which are fundamental to our on-going efforts to increase access and inclusion and to create a community that nurtures learning and growth for all of its members. Virginia Tech actively seeks a broad spectrum of candidates to join our community in preparing leaders for the world.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Agency

Virginia Tech does not discriminate against employees, students, or applicants on the basis of age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, genetic information, veteran status, or any other basis protected by law. For inquiries regarding non-discrimination policies, contact the Office of Equity and Access at 540-231-2010 or Virginia Tech, North End Center, Suite 2300 (0318), 300 Turner St. NW, Blacksburg, VA 24061.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/30/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2426

Northern Illinois University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Other, International Relations, Public Policy

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

Environmental Policy

The Department of Political Science and the Institute for the Study of the Environment, Sustainability and Energy (ESE) at Northern Illinois University anticipate hiring a tenure-track assistant professor in environmental policy. Employment will begin August 2017. The position is open to applicants from any subfield in political science, and International Relations scholars, in particular, are encouraged to apply. Reflecting NIU's commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration in education and scholarship, the position will hold joint appointment status, but will be tenurable in the Department of Political Science.

The successful candidate will demonstrate a strong record of, or potential for, scholarly research and teaching excellence at both the undergraduate and graduate level. The successful candidate will be expected to teach a core course in environmental policy that covers environmental issues pertinent to the United States. An earned PhD in political science is required by the start date of the appointment. A demonstrated ability to serve a diverse student population is strongly preferred.

Salary will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applicants must send a cover letter, which describes how their scholarship will contribute to the missions of both the Department of Political Science and the Institute for the Study of the Environment, Sustainability and Energy. In addition, a curriculum vitae, writing samples, evidence of teaching effectiveness, appropriate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation should be forwarded to the Department of Political Science at pols_esearch2016@niu.edu.

The Department of Political Science has 12 faculty members and offers B.A., B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. The Institute has 33 faculty associates, offers B.A. and B.S. degrees, and is developing a graduate program. For more information, please visit <http://polisci.niu.edu/> and <http://www.niu.edu/ese/>. NIU is located in DeKalb, a welcoming and growing city 65 miles west of downtown Chicago. It has an enrollment of more than 19,000 students, including a graduate student body of over 5,000.

NIU is an AA/EEO institution and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates. A pre-employment criminal background check is required.

Review of completed applications will begin on January 23, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/28/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2421

College of Wooster

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of U.S. National Politics

The Department of Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill a one-year visiting position at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2017. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in U.S. National Politics to teach introductory and advanced courses in the Department of Political Science, and to supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement. The successful candidate must have a demonstrated ability to teach Introduction to U.S. National Politics, upper level U.S. National Politics courses in their area of expertise, and courses that contribute to one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Urban Studies, Environmental Studies or Women's Gender and Sexuality Studies.

We prefer candidates who will have completed the Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (19% domestic students of color and 10% international students); applicants should demonstrate their ability to work with diverse student populations.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and student evaluations), unofficial graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendations at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/39215>. Applications received by January 31, 2017 will receive full consideration. Please contact Angie Bos (abos@wooster.edu), the Search Chair, with any questions.

The College of Wooster is an independent college of the liberal arts and sciences with a commitment to excellence in undergraduate education. The College values diversity, strives to attract women and minority candidates, and encourages individuals belonging to these groups to apply. Wooster seeks to ensure diversity by its policy of employing persons without regard to age, sex, color, race, creed, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, or political affiliation. The College of Wooster is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Employment is subject to federal laws requiring verification of identity and legal right to work in the United States as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act. The College of Wooster is a drug-free workplace.

Start Date: Winter 2017

Application Deadline: 1/31/2017

Date Posted: 11/21/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2402

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Associate Professor and MPA Program Director

The Department of Political Science at the University of Cincinnati invites applications from candidates to serve as Director of a re-established Master of Public Administration program and as a faculty member at the rank of Associate Professor with tenure in Political Science. This appointment is scheduled to begin August 15, 2017. Area of research specialization is open, although we seek to build on university commitments to research on social justice, urban politics, and/or social inequity, providing several possible affiliations in related departments for interested candidates. Candidates for this position must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy or other relevant field, and have a demonstrated record of successful teaching, research, and service. Preferred candidates will have had direct involvement in a NASPAA-accredited MPA program, and be familiar with the accreditation process.

The successful candidate will be expected to manage the restoration of the MPA program and strategically lead the program through accreditation. Responsibilities include conducting research, teaching core courses in the MPA program, and providing administrative oversight of the program.

To Apply:

Please complete our online application located at <https://jobs.uc.edu> (Requisition #15171). In addition to the online application, candidates must include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample of published or forthcoming research, evidence of successful teaching, contact information for three references, and a one-page statement addressing how your past or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance the University of Cincinnati's commitment to inclusive excellence, <http://www.uc.edu/inclusion.html>. Please direct any questions to Professor Stephen Mockabee, Chair, Public Administration Search Committee, at stephen.mockabee@uc.edu. We will begin reviewing applications December 1, 2016. However, we will continue to accept and review applications until the position is filled.

The University of Cincinnati is an urban, public, comprehensive Research I institution committed to attracting, supporting, and retaining an academically and culturally diverse faculty. The University of Cincinnati is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. In a continuing effort to foster diversity on our campus, we actively encourage applications from women, people of color, people with disabilities, veterans, people of diverse sexual orientations/identities, and others who may make a positive contribution to the diversification of ideas and perspectives.

Start Date: Fall 2016

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2399

University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Rank: Director, Public Policy Program

Director, Public Policy Program

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte invites applications from outstanding senior scholars to serve as Director of the Public Policy Program, an interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program that draws upon faculty and resources from three colleges. The term of the position begins on July 1, 2017. The Program Director reports to the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the tenure home for the Director will be in a department in the College that is affiliated with the Public Policy Program.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Public Policy or a closely related social science discipline and a record of distinction in public policy research, with credentials and experience appropriate for a tenured professorship at UNC Charlotte. We seek candidates with administrative or other related experience that has prepared them to serve as Director of a diverse and growing interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program, and who have a commitment to promoting diversity and inclusion as values in the program and college. Finalists will be asked during their screening interview to discuss how the topics of diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their teaching and research.

We will give preference to candidates with experience working within an interdisciplinary environment, and who have experience in multiple facets of graduate education, including recruitment, curriculum development, mentoring, and placement. A track record of extramural funding is strongly desired. Preference will also be given to those with a record of active service to the discipline of public policy through its organizations and journals. We seek candidates who possess the vision and leadership to support a program targeted to expand its mission considerably, who will enhance the intellectual and interdisciplinary climate of the program, and build networks within the profession and with practitioners.

The position is open with respect to research specialty. The Public Policy Program has particular strengths in policy areas related to the urban environment including planning and development, governance, environmental, education, health, economic, crime, and social policy and provides all students rigorous training in quantitative analysis. The program is supported by over 30 core faculty drawn from departments and colleges throughout the university including Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Geography and Earth Sciences, Philosophy, Political Science and Public Administration, Public Health, and Sociology. The program has a strong track record of placing its students in both academic and non-academic positions.

The Program Director will be responsible for coordinating and expanding the interdisciplinary program within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, where it is housed, as well as coordinating with the Belk College of Business and the College of Health and Human Services. The Director is responsible for coordinating all aspects of graduate education in the Public Policy Program and represents the program within and across college, university, professional, and community networks.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive university, located in one of the nation's fastest-growing metropolitan areas on an expanding modern campus. One of sixteen campuses in one of the oldest public university systems in the United States, UNC Charlotte offers over 28,000 culturally diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. Charlotte's metropolitan area is rich in cultural and racial diversity (over 40% Hispanic/Latino and African-American) and our faculty strives to reflect and interact positively with that population. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences houses 20 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, physical sciences, and military sciences, as well as 8 research centers and institutes and 13 interdisciplinary programs.

Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://jobs.uncc.edu> (use position number #004161) and the following documents should be attached: cover letter describing your qualifications and approach to leadership, teaching, and scholarship; a statement addressing commitment to diversity and inclusion; CV; and names and contact information of three references. Applicants will be subject to a criminal background check.

AA/EOE employer. Minorities, women, and persons with disabilities are especially encouraged to apply. Screening of applications begins December 1st, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2324

University of North Carolina at Charlotte

Rank: Director, Public Policy Program

Director, Public Policy Program

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte invites applications from outstanding senior scholars to serve as Director of the Public Policy Program, an interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program that draws upon faculty and resources from three colleges. The term of the position begins on July 1, 2017. The Program Director reports to the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the tenure home for the Director will be in a department in the College that is affiliated with the Public Policy Program.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Public Policy or a closely related social science discipline and a record of distinction in public policy research, with credentials and experience appropriate for a tenured professorship at UNC Charlotte. We seek candidates with administrative or other related experience that has prepared them to serve as Director of a diverse and growing interdisciplinary Ph.D. granting program, and who have a commitment to promoting diversity and inclusion as values in the program and college. Finalists will be asked during their screening interview to discuss how the topics of diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their teaching and research.

We will give preference to candidates with experience working within an interdisciplinary environment, and who have experience in multiple facets of graduate education, including recruitment, curriculum development, mentoring, and placement. A track record of extramural funding is strongly desired. Preference will also be given to those with a record of active service to the discipline of public policy through its organizations and journals. We seek candidates who possess the vision and leadership to support a program targeted to expand its mission considerably, who will enhance the intellectual and interdisciplinary climate of the program, and build networks within the profession and with practitioners.

The position is open with respect to research specialty. The Public Policy Program has particular strengths in policy areas related to the urban environment including planning and development, governance, environmental, education, health, economic, crime, and social policy and provides all students rigorous training in quantitative analysis. The program is supported by over 30 core faculty drawn from departments and colleges throughout the university including Criminal Justice and Criminology, Economics, Geography and Earth Sciences, Philosophy, Political Science and Public Administration, Public Health, and Sociology. The program has a strong track record of placing its students in both academic and non-academic positions.

The Program Director will be responsible for coordinating and expanding the interdisciplinary program within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, where it is housed, as well as coordinating with the Belk College of Business and the College of Health and Human Services. The Director is responsible for coordinating all aspects of graduate education in the Public Policy Program and represents the program within and across college, university, professional, and community networks.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is a doctoral, research-intensive university, located in one of the nation's fastest-growing metropolitan areas on an expanding modern campus. One of sixteen campuses in one of the oldest public university systems in the United States, UNC Charlotte offers over 28,000 culturally diverse students a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degree programs. Charlotte's metropolitan area is rich in cultural and racial diversity (over 40% Hispanic/Latino and African-American) and our faculty strives to reflect and interact positively with that population. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences houses 20 departments in the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, physical sciences, and military sciences, as well as 8 research centers and institutes and 13 interdisciplinary programs.

Applications must be submitted electronically at <https://jobs.uncc.edu> (use position number #004161) and the following documents should be attached: cover letter describing your qualifications and approach to leadership, teaching, and scholarship; a statement addressing commitment to diversity and inclusion; CV; and names and contact information of three references. Applicants will be subject to a criminal background check.

AA/EOE employer. Minorities, women, and persons with disabilities are especially encouraged to apply. Screening of applications begins December 1st, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/2/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2325

University of Rhode Island

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Ocean Governance and Law

The Department of Marine Affairs at the University of Rhode Island seeks applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Ocean Governance and Law.

QUALIFICATIONS: Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science, Marine Affairs, Environmental Policy, Public Policy, Geography or closely-related field by appointment date in August 2017. We seek highly qualified candidates with specialization in international ocean governance, international institutions, and/or international marine/environmental law & policy. Successful candidates will provide evidence of ability to develop and instruct undergraduate and graduate courses; develop an independently funded research program; publish and present at national and international meetings; and work with members of diverse and underrepresented groups.

DEADLINE: November 11, 2016. Application materials should include a cover letter describing qualifications for the position, CV with names and contact information of 3 professional references, combined statement of research accomplishments & future research plans as well as teaching accomplishments & philosophy, and one document of writing samples which can include up to 3 publications, working papers or dissertation chapters. For the full job posting and to apply online, please visit <https://jobs.uri.edu/postings/1774>.

Located within URI's College of Environment and Life Sciences, the Marine Affairs department offers Bachelors, Masters and Doctoral degrees. The mission of the Marine Affairs department is to provide leadership in the management of marine and coastal environments through distinction in teaching, research, service, and outreach programs. To accomplish its mission, the department emphasizes multi-disciplinary approaches to ocean & coastal governance and management.

The University of Rhode Island is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 11/11/2016

Date Posted: 10/13/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2222

Ramapo College of New Jersey

Rank: Temporary Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor of Political Science
ONE YEAR TEMPORARY POSITION – ACADEMIC YEAR
2017-2018

Ramapo College of New Jersey invites applications for a temporary full-time Assistant Professor of Political Science with a specialization in American public policy. Areas of policy research and methodology are open. Primary teaching responsibilities include policy courses within the political science major and public policy minor as well as introductory classes in American politics or political theory. The successful candidate will also help develop policy-related internships. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Candidates should hold a Ph.D., in Political Science or related discipline by the time of appointment.

Applications will be accepted starting on September 26, 2016 by logging on to <http://www.ramapojobs.com>. Attach resume, cover letter, statement of teaching philosophy, research interests, a writing sample and a list of three references. All applications must be completed online. Hard copies of resumes and/or applications will not be accepted. Review of applications will begin after November 1 and will continue until the position is filled. To request accommodations, call (201) 684-7761.

Ramapo College of New Jersey is located in the beautiful foothills of the Ramapo Mountains approximately 25 miles northwest of New York City. Accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, Ramapo College is a comprehensive institution of higher education dedicated to the promotion of teaching and learning within strong liberal arts based curriculum, thus earning the designation "New Jersey's Public Liberal Arts College." Its curricular emphasis includes the liberal arts and sciences, social sciences, fine and performing arts, and the professional programs within a residential and sustainable living and learning environment. Organized into thematic learning communities, Ramapo College provides academic excellence through its interdisciplinary curriculum, international education, intercultural understanding and experiential learning opportunities.

RAMAPO COLLEGE OF NEW JERSEY

505 Ramapo Valley Road

Mahwah, NJ 07430

"New Jersey's Public Liberal Arts College"

Ramapo College is a member of the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC), a national alliance of leading liberal arts colleges in the public sector.

EEO/AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2203

University of Central Florida

Rank: Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster: Coastal Environmental Policy/Political Geography

Applicants for an Associate/Full Professor position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology.

The successful applicant will become a core faculty member in the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster and must bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas with a focus on public policy and coastal ecology. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact and high-demand research, and develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

As part of an on-going hiring campaign, UCF recently established an interdisciplinary cluster approach to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are searching for faculty in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>) and plan to bring together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries or are working in transdisciplinary fields. This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems.

Faculty in these interdisciplinary positions will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster. Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup are expected with these five new positions. Each new faculty member will have a unique interdisciplinary mentoring team to foster intellectual breadth and to facilitate integrative capacity to strengthen the success of the cluster.

Candidates must apply on-line at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/43915> (Position #38869) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of their successful interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on on-going basis and continue to accept applications until the position is filled. The University of Central Florida, the nation's second-largest university with more than 63,000 students, has grown in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando and more than a dozen other locations. UCF is an economic engine attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. For more information, visit <http://ucf.edu>. UCF is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer. All applicants are encouraged to apply, including minorities, women, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

For more information about these positions please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster Search Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2184

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor, Environmental Studies Program

Assistant Professor, Environmental Studies Program, University of Colorado Boulder

focus on Natural Resources Policy and Governance

Boulder, Colorado – The Environmental Studies program invites applicants for a junior-level tenure-track position in Natural Resources Policy and Governance, beginning August 21, 2017. We solicit applicants with expertise in natural resources policy and management, with an emphasis on water, energy, land use or another natural resource focal area. This expertise will complement and build upon our existing capacity in climate and environmental policy.

The governance and management of natural resources is a vastly complex and critical area of interest to our students, from the international scale to the western United States. We welcome applicants who use a range of methods for their research, quantitative and qualitative, and who would be able to contribute to the program's course offerings in social science research methods. The interdependence of decisions that affect the natural environments, such as how to harness energy and secure mineral resources, develop more sustainable food systems, move and allocate water, manage forests and livelihoods, or preserve endangered species and ecosystems, adds to the complexity of creating and implementing sustainable resource policies in the 21st century.

This position will focus on empirical (quantitative, qualitative, or multi-methods) natural resources policy and governance or management research and practice. Successful candidates will have an active research agenda and experience with externally-funded research. They will also have a program and a track record of integrative and interdisciplinary research. We seek a candidate who will advise and teach in policy analysis, natural resource management, or research methods in policy, as well as policy and governance topics relevant to their own research. We also value relevant professional work experience and experience working with partners, stakeholders and practitioners involved in aspects of engagement in the public sphere. A PhD is required.

The Assistant Professor hired for this position will teach classes in natural resources policy (e.g. water, land use, energy) in the undergraduate, graduate and professional master's programs. They will have opportunities to forge partnerships with units that have intersecting interests with natural resources policy and governance or management. e.g. Political Science, Geography, Sociology, Communications, Environmental Design, and Civil, Environmental and Architectural Engineering, as well as the Center for the American West and the Law School's Getches-Wilkinson Center for Natural Resources, Energy, and the Environment. CU Boulder is at the heart of a nexus of science, policy and technology partners on the Colorado Front Range and there will be many opportunities to engage with the professional community.

The Environmental Studies (ENVS) program at CU-Boulder is a hub for facilitating interdisciplinary collaboration in environment and sustainability. Our primary strength is interdisciplinary research and education on human-environment interactions, in which we explicitly integrate environmental science, policy, and values. ENVS has a large, dynamic and comprehensive undergraduate degree program with over 800 students, and a highly successful graduate program, with 50 PhD and masters students along with 30 professional masters students. We have 16 rostered or co-rostered faculty and many associated faculty from across the campus.

The University of Colorado is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to building a diverse workforce. We encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities and veterans. Alternative formats of this ad can be provided upon request for individuals with disabilities by contacting the ADA Coordinator at hr-ada@colorado.edu.

Applications are accepted electronically at <https://www.jobsatcu.com>, posting #06792. More information is available at <https://cu.taleo.net/careersection/2/jobdetail.ftl?job=06792&lang=en>

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2016. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, separate research and teaching statements, and arrange three confidential letters of recommendation.

If you have questions, contact search committee chair Professor Max Boykoff boykoff@colorado.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/3/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2170

Mississippi State University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Policy and Administration

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration (PSPA) seeks applications for two tenure-track faculty positions in public administration and policy. We hope to select one assistant and one assistant/associate professor to begin August 16, 2017. Candidates should have primary research and teaching interests in public administration and policy with particular consideration given to well-qualified candidates specializing in public policy and program evaluation. Particular consideration will also be given to candidates with interest in assuming the role of Graduate Coordinator. A Ph.D. degree in public administration, public policy, or related fields is required at the time of appointment.

Mississippi State University is a public, land grant, doctoral university with an enrollment of 23,000 students. The department's degree programs include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited MPPA, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 15 faculty members, 197 undergraduate majors, 39 Masters students, and 29 PhD students. The department has strong ties to several research centers with the University, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, the Center for International Security and Strategic Studies, and the National Strategic Planning and Analysis Research Center. More information on the department is available at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>. If you require assistance, e-mail the search committee chair, Dr. Christine Rush, at crush@pspa.msstate.edu.

Candidates must submit application materials electronically. Go to the website of our Human Resources Management department at <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> (PARF #493904) and follow the instructions for applying for a job. Your electronic submission should include a cover letter indicating your interest in and qualifications for the position, current curriculum vita, and the names and contact information of three references. In addition, please have three letters of recommendation sent to the following: Ms. Quintara Miller, Public Administration and Public Policy Search, Mississippi State University; P.O. Box PC; Mississippi State, MS 39762. Review of the applications will begin October 21, 2016, and the search will remain open until filled. MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2016
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2126

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff. Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2124

Florida State University

Rank: Political Science/African American Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Other, Public Policy
Specializations: African American Politics, Caribbean, Civil Rights & Liberties

Florida State University is embarking upon a Diversity and Inclusion initiative, which can be found online at http://hr.fsu.edu/?page=diversity/diversity_initiatives. As part of this initiative, the Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci?q=node/1>) and the FSU African American Studies Center (<http://coss.fsu.edu/aas/>) seek applications for a tenure track or tenured faculty member to participate in their programs. The Department has twenty-two tenured or tenure track and two non-tenure track faculty that serve a large undergraduate program, a master degree in applied politics, and a PhD program. African American Studies is an interdisciplinary undergraduate program that offers BA and BS degrees.

The position is open with respect to candidates' specialization, and they may have doctoral degrees in African American Studies, Political Science, or other related disciplines, with evidence of scholarship and teaching with respect to African Americans and the African diaspora. Teaching will include at least one course in the African American Studies core curriculum, a second course at the nexus of race and politics, and other courses in the political science curriculum. The candidate's tenure home will be in Political Science. Candidates should have strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital city, with a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions. Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) through (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2016 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files must be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search.

Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to Political Science/AAS Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer; racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2083

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor- U.S. Government and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Methodology

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC POLICY- {Job link #0407599}- The Political Science Department at James Madison University is seeking a tenure-track faculty member specializing in U.S. Government and Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning with the fall 2017 semester, pending budgetary approval. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. Areas of specialization should include health policy, economic policy, and/or comparative public policy.

The department seeks candidates with strong teaching and research skills. Review of applications will begin October 6, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at Joblink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number{# 0407599}. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

James Madison University is committed to a diverse and inclusive community and to maintaining a work and educational environment that is free of all forms of discrimination. This institution does not tolerate discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, color, disability; genetic information, national origin, parental status, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or veteran status. Anyone having questions concerning discrimination should contact the Office for Equal Opportunity: (540) 568-6991.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1980

Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM)

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Political Economy, Regulatory Policy, Quantitative Methods

The Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM) invites applicants for a position at the assistant professor level in the Political Science Department, commencing in August 2017. This is an open field position with preference for candidates in the fields of Comparative Politics, Political-Economy, Methods (formal and quantitative), and Political Theory (contemporary political theory along with Comparative Politics or Social Choice). Candidates should preferably have a focus on regulatory politics, or policy evaluation.

ITAM is an academic institution committed to scientific excellence and oriented to the international academic community. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to research and should possess a Ph.D. in political science, but ABDs will be considered if there is a reasonable expectation of completion by December 2016. Classes can be taught in Spanish or English. Salary and teaching loads are in accordance to U.S. standards. Candidates can interview at the 2016 APSA Meeting in Philadelphia.

Information about the Department can be found at: <http://departamentodecienciapolitica.itam.mx/es>

CONTACT: Prof. Vidal Romero, Political Science Department, ITAM, Rio Hondo # 1, Mexico City, D.F. 01800, Mexico; email: vromero@itam.mx.

Application Instructions: Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research papers, research statement (2 page limit), and three letters of reference in pdf format to marta.cebollada@itam.mx by November 1, 2016.

For more information, phone: +52(55)5628-4000, x.3788.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1866

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Kinder Institute Professor of Constitutional Democracy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Job Description

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for the Kinder Institute (Assistant/Associate/Full) Professor of Constitutional Democracy to begin in the Fall Semester 2017. The position is open rank in Political Science and holds a joint appointment with the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy.

Started in 2014 and supported by a generous grant from the Kinder Foundation, a family philanthropic foundation established by Rich and Nancy Kinder, the Kinder Institute is an interdisciplinary academic center at the University of Missouri dedicated to promoting excellence in teaching and scholarship on American political thought and history, broadly construed.

The successful candidate will teach four classes per year, maintain an active research and publishing agenda, contribute to undergraduate and graduate education, and participate in the intellectual community and activities of the Kinder Institute.

Qualifications

Applicants must demonstrate a track record of excellence in teaching and publication in a subject area that advances the mission of the Kinder Institute. Special consideration will be given to candidates whose prior work bridges subfields in political science and reflects the potential to teach courses in the area of political institutions and/or political and constitutional development. A Ph.D. in political science is required at the time of the appointment.

Application Materials

Applicants should use the online application system available at <http://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic/index.php>. Apply for Job ID 20828. See here for a direct link to this job:

https://myhr.umsystem.edu/psp/tamext/COLUM/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&SiteId=9&JobOpeningId=20828&PostingSeq=1.

Applicants should include a statement of teaching philosophy, and an outline of a current research agenda in the "attachments" portion of the system. Applicants should merge their CV with a brief cover letter and upload the document in the Resume/CV section of the application. Candidates at the rank of assistant professor should also include three letters of recommendation. Candidates at the rank of associate or full professor should may provide the names and contact information for three references.

All letters of recommendation should be sent to politicalscience@missouri.edu.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2016.

Other Information

For more information about the Kinder Institute, including descriptions of all faculty, graduate and undergraduate programs, please visit democracy.missouri.edu.

The University of Missouri is fully committed to achieving the goal of a diverse and inclusive academic community of faculty, staff and students. We seek individuals who are committed to this goal and our core campus values of respect, responsibility, discovery and excellence.

Benefit Eligibility

This position is eligible for University benefits. The University offers a comprehensive benefits package, including medical, dental and vision plans, retirement, and educational fee discounts. For additional information on University benefits, please visit the Faculty & Staff Benefits website at <http://www.umsystem.edu/totalrewards/benefits>

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Missouri is an equal access, equal opportunity, affirmative action employer that is fully committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. Equal Opportunity is and shall be provided for all employees and applicants for employment on the basis of their demonstrated ability and competence without unlawful discrimination on the basis of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status. For more information, call the Associate Vice Chancellor of Human Resource Services/Affirmative Action officer at 573-882-4256.

To request ADA accommodations, please call the Director of Accessibility & ADA Education at 573-882-5835.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/17/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 1813

Hendrix College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Hendrix College invites applications for a tenure track position for an Assistant Professor of Politics to begin in August 2017. The College seeks to extend its tradition of excellence in teaching and scholarship by attracting faculty who combine mastery of their disciplines with broad intellectual interests and commitment to the aims of a liberal arts college. The successful applicant will teach the basic public policy course; one or two upper level, policy specific courses, and generally contribute to the department's American politics offerings. The successful applicant also will teach a section of Research Methods and participate in the Department's undergraduate research seminar, as well as the college's program in engaged learning. Training that would allow the development of a course in some aspect of political behavior is also a plus. Doctorate is expected by the start date; ABD will be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest in teaching in a demanding liberal arts environment, a curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate and undergraduate transcripts, as well as a statement of scholarly interest. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be requested sent via e-mail to facultyrecs@hendrix.edu. Address cover letter to Dr. Kimberly Maslin, Politics/IR Department Chair. Review of materials will begin October 15, 2016 and will continue until the position is filled.

Electronic submissions are strongly encouraged and can be submitted at <https://goo.gl/PcAgQE>. Hendrix is a distinguished liberal arts college located in Conway, Arkansas, thirty miles from Little Rock at the foothills of the Ozark Mountains. The College, affiliated with the United Methodist Church, has a strong commitment to excellence in teaching liberal arts. Hendrix College strives to maintain an environment free from discrimination and harassment, where employees treat each other with respect, dignity and courtesy. The College adheres to the principle of equal educational and employment opportunity without regard to age, race, color, religion, gender, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, or national origin.

The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: Shawn Goicoechea, Assistant

Director of Human Resources & Title IX Coordinator 1600 Washington Ave, Conway, AR 72032 501-450-1415 goicoechea@hendrix.edu

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 10/15/2016

Date Posted: 8/12/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1784

Texas Woman's University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government

The Department of History and Government at Texas Woman's University invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2016. The successful applicant will be broadly trained in political science with a primary field of American Politics and a secondary field in public affairs/policy. A focus on women and politics is highly desirable. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an active record of research. The successful candidate will teach the introductory American government course, as well as advanced undergraduate courses and Master's level courses in Public Affairs/policy. Candidates will also advise students and serve the department, university, and profession.

Required qualifications:

- Earned doctorate in Political Science or related field
- Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence
- Demonstrated potential for research and publication

Preferred qualifications:

- Prior teaching experience

The History and Government Department offers a Bachelor and Masters in Government as well as the Bachelors in Criminal Justice (co-administered with the Department of Sociology and Social Work). The department has 5 full-time Government faculty members (plus 5 full-time History faculty) offering degrees to approximately 115 undergraduate Government majors and 20 Master's students.

Send a cover letter, graduate transcripts, CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a sample of scholarly work, and three letters of reference to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Tim Hoye, at THoye@twu.edu. Review of applications will begin on Nov. 1, 2016.

Texas Woman's University strives to provide an educational environment that affirms the rights and dignity of each individual, fosters diversity, and encourages a respect for the differences among persons. Discrimination or harassment of any kind is considered inappropriate. Texas Woman's University is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, veteran's status, or against qualified disabled persons.

Individuals may qualify for a Veteran's Employment Preference or a Former Foster Youth Employment Preference at Texas Woman's University over other applicants for the same position who do not have a greater qualification. If you believe you may qualify, click here for more information and instructions on how to claim an employment preference: <http://www.twu.edu/recruitment-selection/6589.asp>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/4/2016

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1731

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level to begin August 2017. The Department seeks candidates with a research and teaching specialization in any area of public administration or public policy. A completed Ph.D. is required prior to appointment.

Teaching responsibilities include graduate courses in the candidate's area of expertise in the Department's NASPAA accredited master's degree program in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses. Opportunities exist to teach doctoral courses. The teaching load is three courses per semester.

Auburn University at Montgomery ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report, and is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The university enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate degree in political science and a master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2016. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload a cover letter identifying teaching areas, teaching philosophy and research agenda, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), one writing sample, and a professional reference sheet. Three confidential letters of reference must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu or by mail to:

PA & Policy Search Committee
Department of Political Science and Public Administration
Auburn University at Montgomery
P.O. Box 244023
Montgomery, AL 36124-4023

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 10/1/2016
Date Posted: 7/29/2016
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 1686