Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content\_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
  - departmental and institutional committee work,
  - professional or disciplinary activities, and
  - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
  - access to research materials and equipment,
  - the employment of research assistants,
  - research expenses on/off campus, and
  - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
  - the development of teaching expertise,
  - innovations in teaching, and
  - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
  - the average course load,
  - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
  - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
  - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
  - family needs of faculty and staff, and
  - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

ADMINISTRATION

The Bush School of Government & Public Service, Texas A&M University

Rank: Department Head

Subfield(s): Administration, Public Administration, Public Policy

Public Administration/Public Management/Public Policy

Public Service and Administration Department Head. The Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites nominations and applications for the position of Department Head and Professor of Public Service and Administration, with responsibilities for a NASPAA accredited Master's Degree in Public Service and Administration and certificate programs in Homeland Security and Nonprofit Management. The successful candidate will meet qualifications required of a tenured full professor and will assume a 10.5 month academic administrative appointment as full professor of public service and administration beginning as early as July 1, 2017, with the possibility of holding an endowed chair. In addition, the successful candidate will have a substantial record of professional and university service, with a special emphasis on graduate education and research, provide evidence of excellent leadership, communication and management skills demonstrated through leadership roles in universities, government, organizations or associations, and demonstrate a commitment to working effectively with individuals of diverse backgrounds.

The Department of Public Service and Administration at the Bush School of Government and Public Service offers three tracks of curriculum, including public management, public policy analysis, and non-profit management. The School is ranked in the top 12 percent of graduate public affairs schools in the nation (U.S. News & World Report) and 1st in the Nation for "Best Value in MPA Programs" (Value College). The curriculum within the department is a blend of both the theoretical and the practical—providing students with the knowledge, skills, and abilities needed for successful careers in public service. Students can choose from a number of concentrations to focus their studies including state and local government; health policy; education policy; security policy; energy, environment, and technology; international nongovernmental organizations; and individually designed concentrations offering flexibility to students with specific interests. The department continues to grow, and currently enrolls 168 full-time in-residence students, with 18 tenured or tenure-track faculty.

Send nominations and applications (letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and the names of three references) to Dr. Frank Ashley, Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (preferably as electronic attachments to Ms. Rane Cunningham at BushSchoolGBS-search@tamuedu), The Bush School of Government and Public Service, Texas A&M University, 4220 TAMU, College Station, TX 77843-4220. Review of applications will begin May 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. As a major land-grant university, Texas A&M has both an extraordinary opportunity and a special responsibility to create and maintain a campus climate that affirms diversity of thought, background, ethnicity, and perspective. A&M is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer committed to diversity.

Mississippi State University

Rank: Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration

Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, Mississippi State University. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is searching for a Department Head at the rank of Professor, beginning July 1, 2017. Applications from Associate Professors could be considered conditional to promotion at the rank of Professor by the time of appointment. We seek an accomplished scholar to lead a dynamic program, with an energetic and productive research and teaching faculty experienced in training high-achieving undergraduate and graduate students. Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or related fields, an established research and/or extramural funding record, a commitment to academic excellence, and strong administrative skills. In providing such leadership, the Head will guide curricular revision and programmatic assessment; guide faculty through the tenure and promotion process; oversee all personnel matters; manage the budget; serve as a liaison between faculty and administration; and sustain and enhance collaborative programs with other campus units. Documented experience in departmental or college leadership positions is required. The teaching assignment is negotiable. The salary will be competitive. Degree programs offered include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited Master in Public Policy and Administration, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 15 faculty members, 197 undergraduate majors, 39 Masters students, and 29 PhD students. The department has strong ties to several research and government centers, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, and the Stennis Center for Public Service. More information on the department is available at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>.

Mississippi State University is a public, land grant, doctoral, research university classified as Doctoral/Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation. It is located in a progressive Sunbelt community and has an array of centers and institutes receptive to collaborative research. Its mission is to provide access and opportunity to students from all sectors of the state's diverse population and to offer excellent and extensive programs in instruction, research, and outreach. More information on the university's mission can be seen at: <http://www.msstate.edu/web/mission.html>.

Applications are to be submitted electronically by accessing <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> and should include a Vita, a letter describing administrative philosophy and research interests, and supporting materials demonstrating administrative, teaching, service, and scholarly achievement, as well as a list of references. Review of applications will begin November 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted and reviewed until the position is filled. MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.

Southwestern University
Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Southwestern University invites applicants for a tenure track position in American Politics beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year. We will consider a range of specializations within the American Politics subfield, but candidates should be able to teach a research methods course (ideally combining quantitative and qualitative methods) and have interest in advising internships and participating in our legislative internships program.

Applicants should have classroom experience, a passion for teaching undergraduates at a select liberal arts college, and should be committed to a teacher-scholar model that combines excellence in the classroom with an active and sustained research agenda.

We seek applicants excited about working in a student-centered, undergraduate liberal-arts setting, with a focus on engaged teaching and academic research, participation in shared governance and academic advising, and active involvement in an institution-wide advancement of diversity, sustainability, and social justice.

A doctorate in political science is required and applicants should have completed their Ph.D. by August 31st, 2018. We will be conducting interviews for this position at APSA. The application deadline is October 15th, 2018. The successful candidate would teach a 3-2 course load.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, a summary of your recent teaching evaluations (if available), three letters of reference addressing teaching performance and abilities, your teaching philosophy and a short list of courses in which you have a strong interest in teaching to Interfolio at the following website: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42558>

Southwestern University is a selective, undergraduate private institution committed to a broad-based liberal arts, sciences, and fine arts education. Southwestern currently enrolls approximately 1,500 students and maintains a student to faculty ratio of 12 to 1. ## Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Latin American or Latino Studies
Specializations: Latin American, Latino Politics, Immigration Policy

The Department of Political Science and Latin American and Latino Studies (LALS) Program at Lehigh University seek to hire an Assistant Professor to begin in the fall term of the 2018 academic year. The position will be a joint appointment in Political Science (the department of tenure) and LALS. We are looking for a colleague with a demonstrated record of achievement in U.S. domestic Latinx Studies (in such areas as Latinx and Caribbean communities, Latinx civic engagement, immigration, labor issues, and gender studies) and/or comparative Latin American politics with a focus on transnationalism in Latino communities. The candidate should be committed to creative scholarship and teaching which complement and augment the LALS program's interdisciplinary strengths. The normal teaching load for this position is two courses each semester, which will be cross-listed in political science and LALS.

The university offers a competitive salary commensurate with rank and Lehigh offers excellent benefits including domestic partner benefits.

Completed applications are due by October 1, 2017. They must include a letter of interest, a current CV, three letters of reference, and representative reprints of any publications. These materials should be submitted online by accessing <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9250>.

For additional information please contact: Dr. Laura Katz Olson, Search Committee Chair, at lko1@lehigh.edu or Dr. Matthew Bush, Director of Latin American and Latino Studies, at mab508@lehigh.edu.

Lehigh University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Lehigh University

Rank: Department Chair

The Department of Political Science at Lehigh University invites applications for Department Chair. Appointment to the position begins on August 15, 2018.

We seek an innovative leader whose record qualifies for appointment at the rank of full professor with tenure, or associate professor with tenure (with credentials to soon merit application to full). The Department invites applicants who bring relevant academic and administrative experience, and welcomes applications from scholars in all areas within political science, with a preference for expertise in any of the subfields of American Politics.

Serving approximately 70 undergraduate majors and 15 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a BA degree, and a one-year MA in Political Science.

The department chair is expected to provide academic and administrative leadership to 15 faculty and staff, teach two courses per year, conduct research, oversee and engage in departmental operations including budgetary management, and serve as a member of the College's leadership team.

Qualifications include a doctorate in political science, public administration, public policy or related field, along with an established record of excellence in (1) scholarly achievement (2) teaching, and (3) administrative leadership. The incoming chair must demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion and excellent communication, mentoring, and organizational skills. The university offers a competitive salary commensurate with rank and Lehigh offers excellent benefits including domestic partner benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest that addresses the academic and administrative qualifications for this position, a curriculum vitae, and contact information of three references. These materials should be submitted online by accessing <http://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9248>. For additional information please contact: Dr. Laura Katz Olson, Search Committee Chair, at lko1@lehigh.edu

Screening of applications will begin on September 15 and will continue until the position has been filled. Lehigh University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We welcome and encourage applications from women and minorities.

The Scholars Strategy Network

Rank: Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: American Politics, Legislative Studies, State Politics

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Scholars Strategy Network is inaugurating a two-year Postdoctoral Fellowship to support early-career scholars in any discipline who wish to engage in research and public scholarship to improve public policy and strengthen democracy. After an intensive, short boot camp at Harvard University, each fellow will be based at a university in one of SSN's regional chapters. As many as six fellowships may be available for the inaugural 2017-19 cohort.

Objectives

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellows will help academics insert research, facts, and scholarly perspectives into local, state, and national policy debates. Successful fellows will build webs of relationships, transforming regional Scholars Strategy Network chapters into powerful research hubs to inform the policymaking process. Fellows will:

- Meet with scholars to learn about their areas of expertise and interest;
- Meet with policymakers, civic leaders, and journalists to learn about their interests, policy goals, and research questions;
- With advice and direction from senior academics, create opportunities for scholars to engage in the policy process by matchmaking and by helping scholars build lasting collaborations with non-academic stakeholders;
- Work with scholars to prepare two-page briefs that clearly convey their research to non-academic audiences;
- Organize at least one significant group project that brings together multiple academic perspectives to synthesize research and scholarly perspectives in response to a request from a non-academic stakeholder;
- Help local policymakers, journalists, civic leaders, and member scholars access the expertise of the national Scholars Strategy Network by connecting them to out-of-state scholars and, as appropriate, arranging visits, State House or City Hall briefings, and university talks.

Research and Writing

Postdoctoral Fellows will be expected to allot fifty percent of their time to their own policy-relevant research. This research can continue doctoral work or comprise new projects that can be completed within the two-year post-doctoral appointment. Ideally, each fellow's research should enrich the policy landscape in a way that is useful to, and guided by, local stakeholders and practitioners.

Mentorship and Training

Mentorship: SSN chapter co-leaders will connect their Fellow with a mentor from that chapter who has interest and expertise in the Fellow's research area. A Fellow's research mentor can come from any of the colleges and universities with faculty members involved in the relevant SSN chapter. The research mentor (supported by the SSN national team) will help the Fellow write about research findings and prepare related materials in ways that achieve academic excellence and have an impact on policy. In return for sustained engagement with the Fellow, research mentors will have the choice of receiving either a modest stipend or a small grant to help support joint research with the Fellow.

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellows will also have several opportunities to share their work and receive advice and guidance from the academic members of Scholars Strategy Network's Steering Committee:

- Theda Skocpol, SSN Director and Victor S. Thomas Professor of Government and Sociology, Harvard University
- Lawrence R. Jacobs, Walter F. and Joan Mondale Chair of Political Studies, and Director of the Center for the Study of Politics and Governance, Hubert Humphrey School and Department of Political Science, University of Minnesota
- Jacob S. Hacker, Stanley B. Resor Professor of Political Science, and Director of the Institution for Social and Policy Studies, Yale University
- Suzanne Mettler, Clinton Rossiter Professor of American Institutions, Department of Government, Cornell University; Fellow of the Century Foundation
- Amy Fried, Professor of Political Science, University of Maine

Training: Throughout the program, each cohort of Fellows will be supported with additional resources and training to help them achieve the goals described above. Fellows will learn how to become active players in public policy arenas by creating research and relationships for maximum policy impact and by organizing other chapter member scholars for the same purposes.

At the outset of the program, each cohort will spend a week with the SSN national team in Cambridge, MA. Fellows will learn the key roles of the SSN staff, the type of services available to member scholars, and tools for supporting their chapters. This will also be an opportunity for Fellows to meet and discuss their research with Theda Skocpol, SSN Director and Victor S. Thomas Professor of Government and Sociology at Harvard University.

In the fall, Fellows will participate in an SSN policy engagement training to learn how to effectively deliver evidence and ideas to policymakers and civic organizations. Fellows will also go through SSN's media training and receive instruction from the national communications team on how a scholar can use the media to disseminate research and analysis to the public.

Finally, Fellows will participate in SSN's National Leadership Retreat, where they will get a chance to learn from chapter leaders, staff, and steering committee members including Theda Skocpol, Jacob Hacker, Lawrence Jacobs, Suzanne Mettler, and Amy Fried. Fellows will also have an opportunity to present their own research and SSN work.

Program Information

- Length of Fellowship: In this launch phase, the SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowships will last for two years, starting in August 2017 and running through June 2019.

- Affiliation: Fellows will be affiliated with one of the four following SSN regional chapters and their corresponding institutions: Atlanta SSN, Tennessee SSN (Nashville or Knoxville), Confluence SSN (St. Louis, MO), or Research Triangle SSN (Durham, NC).

- Compensation: The SSN Postdoctoral Fellowship pays $48,000 annually. Benefits include health insurance, a modest allowance for approved travel to conferences, and reimbursement of appropriate work-related expenses.

- Supervision: For chapter-related duties, the Fellow will report to the co-leaders of their base chapter and SSN's national Director of Policy and Organizing.

Eligibility

SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowships are open to applicants from all disciplines who have completed their PhD within the past three years and are prepared to work for two years starting immediately. Applications are encouraged from soon-to-be or recent PhDs with experience or a strong interest in public policy, practical research, and community or state-level organizing.

Fellows must be willing to be year-round residents of the community where their appointment is based for the duration of their two-year fellowship.

Ideal candidates will be persons dedicated to SSN's mission and able to grasp how to make use of SSN's structure as a voluntary, federated network of member scholars. Because SSN's national office is based in Cambridge, Massachusetts, Postdoctoral Fellows destined to be based in SSN regional chapters must show evidence that they are self-starters able to work independently and manage several projects simultaneously. In addition, strong candidates must be able to translate research findings into clear language for public audiences and feel comfortable actively reaching out to a diverse group of external stakeholders. Candidates should have a knowledge of legislative and other government processes.

How to Apply

Each application should include:

- Statement of Interest: In 500 words or less, please detail your interest, background, and qualifications for the SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowship. Also state if you have a location preference between the regional chapters noted above.
- Resume: Provide a curriculum vitae of no more than five pages.
- Dissertation Abstract and Date for the PhD: Provide the abstract and table of contents of your doctoral dissertation and (if the PhD is not yet awarded) include a letter from your advisor about the expected date for the degree.
- Description of Proposed Research: In 1000 words or less, describe the research project you would like to undertake during the two-year fellowship, how you plan to incorporate feedback from non-academic stakeholders, and in what ways you anticipate doing outreach about your work during and after completion of the project.
- Opinion Piece: In 650 words or less, write a jargon-free opinion piece using research to comment on a current event or area of public interest. If you have already published such a piece, you may submit it.

- Two Letters of Recommendation: Provide two letters of recommendation that speak to your ability to be successful in this program. Ideally, one letter should be from an academic supervisor and another from a supervisor or peer outside of academia or from an academic who has such experience.

Timing: Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. No applications will be considered after June 30, 2017.

To Apply: Send your application with the above noted materials to Paola Maynard-Moll, fellows@scholars.org and use "SSN Postdoctoral Fellowship – Your Name" in the subject line.

- Comply with APUS guidelines and expectations for quality faculty engagement online and face-to-face.
- Participate in professional development to enhance teaching skills.
- Work with Director of Doctoral Programs and collaborate with faculty to ensure discipline, program and course continuity, currency, and relevance.
- Update course content and materials and/or delivery methods, based on information such as emerging practice changes in the discipline, instructional effectiveness data, current or future performance requirements, feasibility, and costs.
- Attend school and discipline meetings (monthly or quarterly) on curriculum, content, development of discipline and practice, and APUS expectations.
- Research and Scholarship
- Contribute to advancing the discipline as a scholar and leader.
- Keep abreast of developments in one's own field by reading current literature, engaging with colleagues, and participating in professional organizations and conferences.

- Demonstrate scholarly activity through presentations, publications, and leadership within the disciplinary community.
- Mentor students in research projects, including doctoral dissertations.
- Service
- Contribute to university and school committees for strategic initiatives.
- Contribute service to the discipline, e.g., through roles in professional associations or as journal reviewers.
- Contribute to community outreach and service, especially through our veteran-focused programs.

The successful candidate will also have, or be able to establish, a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

We are bringing together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries, or are working in transdisciplinary fields, in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>). This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems. This individual will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/46716> (Position #38660) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of any history of interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an ongoing basis until the position is filled.

The University of Central Florida, with more than 63,000 students, has grown in quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years and is committed to being inclusive and diverse by building a faculty who are a reflection of the students they teach. For more information about this position please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster search committee Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/>

buffalo.edu/postings/9979 or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Job Summary: The Institute of Political Science (IPS) in The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate (non-tenured) professors. The employment starts as early as Spring 2018. The two openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political philosophy (order is by preference). Applicants with research expertise or interest related to public and social policies are preferred but not required. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time appointments for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years. The successful candidates are expected to publish research on major journals of international reputation, offer high quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at IPS. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 370000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas.

The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SUFE is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry-level faculty in the discipline of political science. The newly established Institute of Political Science has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas and work on tenure track.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 15th 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow: WEALTHPOL: The Politics of Wealth Inequality and Mobility in the Twenty-first Century

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is looking for a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join a research team to work on an exciting new project directed by Professor Ben Ansell, the Project Investigator (PI), and supported by the European Research Council (ERC).

The project examines political causes and consequences of wealth inequality across the industrialised world. The project divides into three core work packages, which are to be accomplished over the life of the grant. The first two work packages are macro data collection exercises assembling cross-nationally and historically comparable surveys of wealth mobility outcomes and policies. The last work package focuses on the micro-foundations of attitudes towards wealth mobility using both laboratory and survey experiments.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all three projects though their own skillset and interests may fit more closely into particular areas. S/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project as well as to co-author work with the Principal Investigator, and pursue their own related research agenda.

The post-holder's duties will include assisting in compiling a cross-national database of wealth inequality and mobility, and to aid in disseminating the results of this work including the construction of an online open-access database. They will also be expected to develop a policy database of inheritance, gift, capital gains and other wealth-related policies, dating back to 1945 across the industrialised world. In addition, they will assist with the tendering, design, implementation and analysis of survey experiments to be conducted across six European countries.

The successful candidate will hold a doctorate in the field of political science, sociology, and economics or be close to completion of a PhD in a relevant subject. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of wealth and income inequality, with the ability to use statistical software at an advanced level, with skills in data collection, management and analysis. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

This post is offered on a full-time basis, for a period of three years, to commence from 1 September 2017 or as soon as possible thereafter.

The duties, responsibilities and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars, (Vacancy ID: 129202) which also contains details on how to apply. These are available from: <http://www.politics.ox.ac.uk/vacancies-and-jobs.html>. ### Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University (<http://politicalscience.tamu.edu>) is recruiting for two temporary positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. We seek to hire two lecturers. Successful candidates will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government, as well as upper level courses in a subfield of the discipline. Teaching experience in these areas and demonstrated research abilities would be highly valued.

While someone at A.B.D. status would meet minimum requirements, a completed Ph.D. is strongly preferred. The target start date for this position September 1, 2017. The teaching load would be six courses total for the academic year, four of which would likely be large, introductory sections. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position.

Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor William Roberts Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. We are especially interested in candidates who would increase the Department's gender, racial and ethnic diversity. Texas A&M is an AA/EEO university and is deeply committed to diversity.

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track
 School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
 Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time
 Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in Spring 2018 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and international relations (order is by preference). A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited about 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The new political science group in SPEA has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to develop a new political science program in Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 1st 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Applicants for a position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography, open rank, must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology. Preference will be given to applicants who have expertise in public policy related to coastal environments and/or experience in interdisciplinary, environmental social sciences focusing on public policy and coastal ecology. The anticipated starting date is flexible and can be as early as August 2017.

The successful applicant will be expected to bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact research, and be able to develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have, or be able to establish, a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

We are bringing together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries, or are working in transdisciplinary fields, in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>). This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems. This individual will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/46716> (Position #38660) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of any history of interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an ongoing basis until the position is filled.

The University of Central Florida, with more than 63,000 students, has grown in quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years and is committed to being inclusive and diverse by building a faculty who are a reflection of the students they teach. For more information about this position please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster search committee Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR. Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here: http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost\_constitutions/documents/hf\_jp-ii\_apc\_15081990\_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu .Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Loyola University Maryland

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The position begins Fall 2018.

We seek candidates displaying a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching and research and an interest in the enduring questions of Politics, with an ability to teach International or Comparative Political Economy. Preference will be given to candidates who research and teach about Latin America or Africa, but we are open to all geographic areas that would complement existing strengths in Eastern Europe/Russia and Asia. Applicants should have their primary training in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations, and the expectation will be for courses to be taught in Introduction to Politics, International or Comparative Political Economy, International Politics and/or Comparative Politics, as well as in the regional area of expertise. Candidates should have a PhD or ABD.

The teaching load for the position is three courses in the fall and three courses in the spring semester, with a single-course reduction the first semester (each course is capped at 30 students). Courses will primarily serve Political Science and Global Studies majors. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in Loyola's growing Global Studies program. Global Studies is an interdisciplinary major with a curriculum based in the four disciplines of Economics, History, Political Science and Sociology. Students begin with foundational coursework in each department, and then develop topical specializations in the junior and senior years. The program hosts annual speakers and special events, and is a significant presence on campus. Faculty who contribute to Global Studies participate in student advising and mentoring, teach courses in the major, and become part of the Global Studies academic community. The candidate will be a member of the Political Science Department but will advise Global Studies majors.

Loyola University Maryland is a selective liberal arts university in the Jesuit Catholic tradition. The university is committed to intellectual excellence and social justice as it prepares students for a diverse and changing world. Recognized as a leading independent, comprehensive university in the northeastern United States, Loyola has a beautiful historic Evergreen campus in Baltimore and Graduate Centers in Timonium and Columbia. Loyola enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and about 2,000 students in its graduate programs.

Loyola is committed to fostering an inclusive environment and seeks applicants from all backgrounds who can contribute to its educational mission. Loyola is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer, and welcomes applications from underrepresented groups. Additional information is available at www.loyola.edu.

To apply, please go to www.loyola.edu/careers to submit a C.V., three letters of reference, graduate transcripts (copies are acceptable), an article-length manuscript or chapter demonstrating scholarly potential, and a cover letter explaining teaching approach in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Teaching evaluations and sample course syllabi should also be submitted if available (select Option 1 to submit syllabi in online application). Please submit applications by September 15 to ensure full consideration. For questions related to the search or any materials that are only available in hard copy or cannot otherwise be submitted through the online application (which could include letters of reference or teaching evaluations), please send files to Dr. Carsten Vala via email to cvala@loyola.edu or via mail to him at Department of Political Science, Loyola University Maryland, 4501 N. ### University of Denver

Rank: Professor, Pardee Center (Open Rank, Tenure Line) - Josef Korbel School of International Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Political Theory

Specializations: International Political Economy, Quantitative Methods, Political Economy

Position Summary

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking an open rank tenure-track professor in the area of quantitative global modeling of political, social, economic, energy, and/or environmental dynamics. The position will begin in September 2018. This position offers a competitive salary and benefits package. We seek someone whose research and teaching will advance both the scholarly and the outreach goals of the school.

The successful candidate for this position is expected to support the work of the Frederick S. Pardee Center for International Futures at the Korbel School, and this person's research will make a substantial and sustained contribution to the Center's mission and goals. The successful candidate will also have the title of Senior Scientist or Director of Research within the Pardee Center, and is expected to be a PI or Co-PI on some Center grants and contracts. The mission of the Pardee Center (pardee.du.edu) is to provide the best possible long-term national, regional, and global quantitative forecasts and forecasting capability across multiple issue areas in sustainable human and social development. Use and continued development of the International Futures (IFs) forecasting system are central to the Center's work. Projects sponsored by governments, IGOs, and NGOs support two-thirds of the Center's million-dollar-plus annual budget. Work in the Center will be associated with a reduced teaching load.

Essential Functions

Research and teaching that will advance both the scholarly and the outreach goals of the school.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through www.du.edu/jobs to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. Once within the job description online, please scroll to the bottom of the page to apply. We will accept applications until the position is filled; processing of applications will begin September 15, 2017.

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Other

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the area of global and/or post-colonial legality. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. We seek a colleague who has the scholarly expertise to understand the legal theories, practices, and histories that link disparate areas of the world. We are interested in candidates who conduct research into, for example, the afterlives of colonial legal regimes; or the shifting place and function of sovereignty in a globalizing world; or the ways in which various sorts of rights have been accepted, inflected, translated, and even violently rejected in different legal cultures; or the theory, practice, or history of institutions of global legality (such as the I.C.C., the E.U., the W.T.O., etc.). Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the candidate's area of specialization and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D. The start date for the position is July 1, 2018. Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/42527> a cover letter addressed to Professor Austin Sarat, a curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

University of Toronto

Rank: Endowed Chair, Japanese Politics and Global Affairs

The University of Toronto invites applications for a joint tenure-stream, endowed chair appointment in the Department of Political Science (51%) and the Munk School of Global Affairs (49%) in the area of Japanese Politics and Global Affairs. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate or Full Professor and will commence July 1, 2018.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment and be able to provide strong evidence of innovative research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by a record of sustained contributions or publications in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing.

Candidates should also have an established international reputation based on a scholarly record of excellence appropriate to their career stage. Evidence of excellence in teaching and a demonstrated commitment to graduate education and mentorship are required. Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated by strong letters of reference, teaching evaluations, graduate supervision, dossier and/or syllabi submitted as part of the application. The ideal candidate will focus on Japanese politics and policy in comparative and international perspective and have an interest in directing a new Centre for the Study of Global Japan recently established in the Munk School to stimulate collaborative scholarship and public outreach.

The appointment will be contingent upon a successful tenure review. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

We seek applications from candidates whose research program fits well with the Department and with the global focus of the School. The appointee will contribute to the education and training of undergraduate and graduate students in both the Department and the School. We encourage applicants to review both academic units' research and teaching profiles prior to applying. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca/> ; Munk School of Global Affairs <http://www.munkschool.utoronto.ca/> .

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted through the University of Toronto's online application system. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed and scanned) directly to the Chair of the search committee in the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 2, 2017.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

- Comply with APUS guidelines and expectations for quality faculty engagement online and face-to-face.
- Participate in professional development to enhance teaching skills.
- Work with Director of Doctoral Programs and collaborate with faculty to ensure discipline, program and course continuity, currency, and relevance.
- Update course content and materials and/or delivery methods, based on information such as emerging practice changes in the discipline, instructional effectiveness data, current or future performance requirements, feasibility, and costs.
- Attend school and discipline meetings (monthly or quarterly) on curriculum, content, development of discipline and practice, and APUS expectations.
- Research and Scholarship
- Contribute to advancing the discipline as a scholar and leader.
- Keep abreast of developments in one's own field by reading current literature, engaging with colleagues, and participating in professional organizations and conferences.
- Demonstrate scholarly activity through presentations, publications, and leadership within the disciplinary community.
- Mentor students in research projects, including doctoral dissertations.
- Service
- Contribute to university and school committees for strategic initiatives.
- Contribute service to the discipline, e.g., through roles in professional associations or as journal reviewers.
- Contribute to community outreach and service, especially through our veteran-focused programs.

Required Education and Experience:

- Terminal degree in national security, international relations, homeland security, political science, cyber/security Studies, emergency management, criminal justice with security emphasis, public admin/policy, psychology, or a closely related field from a regionally accredited institution is required.

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in Comparative Politics/International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a one-year, full-time position as Visiting Lecturer in Political Science for the 2017-2018 academic year with the possibility of renewal. We are particularly interested in candidates who have expertise in the politics of Russia and Eastern Europe, but we will also consider other candidates who are prepared to teach courses on the Cold War, foreign policy, human security, and the politics of oil.

This position is supported by the Dietrich School of Arts & Sciences and the Center for Russian and East European Studies (REES). Duties in the Political Science Department will consist of teaching 15 credit hours (five courses) per academic year to include, at minimum, two courses that feature substantial content on the REES world area (e.g., Government & Politics of USSR/Russian Federation; Cold War: Soviet Union and the West 1917-1991).

As an affiliated faculty member of REES, you are eligible to apply for REES Course Development Grants as well as for REES Faculty Small Grants to support research activities. In addition to your teaching responsibilities, REES will welcome your participation in intellectual activities of the center.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by the end of the summer, 2017. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, and two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please send application materials to Wynn Maloney at wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

The RAND Corporation is a research organization that develops solutions to public policy challenges to help make communities throughout the world safer and more secure, healthier and more prosperous. RAND's research and analysis address issues that impact people everywhere, including security, health, education, sustainability, growth, and development. Headquartered in Santa Monica, California, RAND has close to 1,800 people from approximately 50 countries working in offices in North America, Europe, and Australia, with annual revenues of more than $308 million.

RAND is nonprofit, nonpartisan, and committed to the public interest. Our research is sponsored by government agencies, charitable trusts, and community nonprofits. In addition, we rely on philanthropic support to pursue visionary ideas; address critical problems that are under-researched; shape emerging policy debates; and devise innovative approaches for solving acute, complex, or provocative policy challenges. RAND values objectivity and integrity in both its research processes and internal interactions. We emphasize a collegial environment that respects the contributions and dignity of all staff.

Position Description

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multidisciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements

PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience

Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance

Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location

Santa Monica, CA or Pittsburgh, PA office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required

Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

The Scholars Strategy Network

Rank: Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: American Politics, Legislative Studies, State Politics

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Scholars Strategy Network is inaugurating a two-year Postdoctoral Fellowship to support early-career scholars in any discipline who wish to engage in research and public scholarship to improve public policy and strengthen democracy. After an intensive, short boot camp at Harvard University, each fellow will be based at a university in one of SSN's regional chapters. As many as six fellowships may be available for the inaugural 2017-19 cohort.

Objectives

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellows will help academics insert research, facts, and scholarly perspectives into local, state, and national policy debates. Successful fellows will build webs of relationships, transforming regional Scholars Strategy Network chapters into powerful research hubs to inform the policymaking process. Fellows will:

- Meet with scholars to learn about their areas of expertise and interest;
- Meet with policymakers, civic leaders, and journalists to learn about their interests, policy goals, and research questions;
- With advice and direction from senior academics, create opportunities for scholars to engage in the policy process by matchmaking and by helping scholars build lasting collaborations with non-academic stakeholders;
- Work with scholars to prepare two-page briefs that clearly convey their research to non-academic audiences;
- Organize at least one significant group project that brings together multiple academic perspectives to synthesize research and scholarly perspectives in response to a request from a non-academic stakeholder;
- Help local policymakers, journalists, civic leaders, and member scholars access the expertise of the national Scholars Strategy Network by connecting them to out-of-state scholars and, as appropriate, arranging visits, State House or City Hall briefings, and university talks.

Research and Writing

Postdoctoral Fellows will be expected to allot fifty percent of their time to their own policy-relevant research. This research can continue doctoral work or comprise new projects that can be completed within the two-year post-doctoral appointment. Ideally, each fellow's research should enrich the policy landscape in a way that is useful to, and guided by, local stakeholders and practitioners.

Mentorship and Training

Mentorship: SSN chapter co-leaders will connect their Fellow with a mentor from that chapter who has interest and expertise in the Fellow's research area. A Fellow's research mentor can come from any of the colleges and universities with faculty members involved in the relevant SSN chapter. The research mentor (supported by the SSN national team) will help the Fellow write about research findings and prepare related materials in ways that achieve academic excellence and have an impact on policy. In return for sustained engagement with the Fellow, research mentors will have the choice of receiving either a modest stipend or a small grant to help support joint research with the Fellow.

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellows will also have several opportunities to share their work and receive advice and guidance from the academic members of Scholars Strategy Network's Steering Committee:

- Theda Skocpol, SSN Director and Victor S. Thomas Professor of Government and Sociology, Harvard University
- Lawrence R. Jacobs, Walter F. and Joan Mondale Chair of Political Studies, and Director of the Center for the Study of Politics and Governance, Hubert Humphrey School and Department of Political Science, University of Minnesota
- Jacob S. Hacker, Stanley B. Resor Professor of Political Science, and Director of the Institution for Social and Policy Studies, Yale University
- Suzanne Mettler, Clinton Rossiter Professor of American Institutions, Department of Government, Cornell University; Fellow of the Century Foundation
- Amy Fried, Professor of Political Science, University of Maine

Training: Throughout the program, each cohort of Fellows will be supported with additional resources and training to help them achieve the goals described above. Fellows will learn how to become active players in public policy arenas by creating research and relationships for maximum policy impact and by organizing other chapter member scholars for the same purposes.

At the outset of the program, each cohort will spend a week with the SSN national team in Cambridge, MA. Fellows will learn the key roles of the SSN staff, the type of services available to member scholars, and tools for supporting their chapters. This will also be an opportunity for Fellows to meet and discuss their research with Theda Skocpol, SSN Director and Victor S. Thomas Professor of Government and Sociology at Harvard University.

In the fall, Fellows will participate in an SSN policy engagement training to learn how to effectively deliver evidence and ideas to policymakers and civic organizations. Fellows will also go through SSN's media training and receive instruction from the national communications team on how a scholar can use the media to disseminate research and analysis to the public.

Finally, Fellows will participate in SSN's National Leadership Retreat, where they will get a chance to learn from chapter leaders, staff, and steering committee members including Theda Skocpol, Jacob Hacker, Lawrence Jacobs, Suzanne Mettler, and Amy Fried. Fellows will also have an opportunity to present their own research and SSN work.

Program Information

- Length of Fellowship: In this launch phase, the SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowships will last for two years, starting in August 2017 and running through June 2019.
- Affiliation: Fellows will be affiliated with one of the four following SSN regional chapters and their corresponding institutions: Atlanta SSN, Tennessee SSN (Nashville or Knoxville), Confluence SSN (St. Louis, MO), or Research Triangle SSN (Durham, NC).
- Compensation: The SSN Postdoctoral Fellowship pays $48,000 annually. Benefits include health insurance, a modest allowance for approved travel to conferences, and reimbursement of appropriate work-related expenses.
- Supervision: For chapter-related duties, the Fellow will report to the co-leaders of their base chapter and SSN's national Director of Policy and Organizing.

Eligibility

SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowships are open to applicants from all disciplines who have completed their PhD within the past three years and are prepared to work for two years starting immediately. Applications are encouraged from soon-to-be or recent PhDs with experience or a strong interest in public policy, practical research, and community or state-level organizing.

Fellows must be willing to be year-round residents of the community where their appointment is based for the duration of their two-year fellowship.

Ideal candidates will be persons dedicated to SSN's mission and able to grasp how to make use of SSN's structure as a voluntary, federated network of member scholars. Because SSN's national office is based in Cambridge, Massachusetts, Postdoctoral Fellows destined to be based in SSN regional chapters must show evidence that they are self-starters able to work independently and manage several projects simultaneously. In addition, strong candidates must be able to translate research findings into clear language for public audiences and feel comfortable actively reaching out to a diverse group of external stakeholders. Candidates should have a knowledge of legislative and other government processes.

How to Apply

Each application should include:

- Statement of Interest: In 500 words or less, please detail your interest, background, and qualifications for the SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowship. Also state if you have a location preference between the regional chapters noted above.
- Resume: Provide a curriculum vitae of no more than five pages.
- Dissertation Abstract and Date for the PhD: Provide the abstract and table of contents of your doctoral dissertation and (if the PhD is not yet awarded) include a letter from your advisor about the expected date for the degree.

- Description of Proposed Research: In 1000 words or less, describe the research project you would like to undertake during the two-year fellowship, how you plan to incorporate feedback from non-academic stakeholders, and in what ways you anticipate doing outreach about your work during and after completion of the project.
- Opinion Piece: In 650 words or less, write a jargon-free opinion piece using research to comment on a current event or area of public interest. If you have already published such a piece, you may submit it.
- Two Letters of Recommendation: Provide two letters of recommendation that speak to your ability to be successful in this program. Ideally, one letter should be from an academic supervisor and another from a supervisor or peer outside of academia or from an academic who has such experience.

Timing: Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. No applications will be considered after June 30, 2017.

To Apply: Send your application with the above noted materials to Paola Maynard-Moll, fellows@scholars.org and use "SSN Postdoctoral Fellowship – Your Name" in the subject line.

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Other

The RAND Corporation is a research organization that develops solutions to public policy challenges to help make communities throughout the world safer and more secure, healthier and more prosperous. RAND's research and analysis address issues that impact people everywhere, including security, health, education, sustainability, growth, and development. Headquartered in Santa Monica, California, RAND has close to 1,800 people from approximately 50 countries working in offices in North America, Europe, and Australia, with annual revenues of more than $308 million.

RAND is nonprofit, nonpartisan, and committed to the public interest. Our research is sponsored by government agencies, charitable trusts, and community nonprofits. In addition, we rely on philanthropic support to pursue visionary ideas; address critical problems that are under-researched; shape emerging policy debates; and devise innovative approaches for solving acute, complex, or provocative policy challenges. RAND values objectivity and integrity in both its research processes and internal interactions. We emphasize a collegial environment that respects the contributions and dignity of all staff.

Position Description

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multidisciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements

PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience

Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance

Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location

Santa Monica, CA or Pittsburgh, PA office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required

Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.
Other: Political Theory or Open
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other
Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here: http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost\_constitutions/documents/hf\_jp-ii\_apc\_15081990\_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu .Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

POLITICAL THEORY

University of California, Santa Cruz
Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Theory in areas of non-Western political and legal thought. Recognizing that 'non-Western' is a contested concept, we are open with respect to geographical area; we are interested in scholarship that examines political and legal thought of subaltern, marginalized, or indigenous people from any geographic area (including e.g., African American political thought), as well as scholarship that examines the political and legal thought from the Global South (e.g., Islamic, East and/or South Asian thought). In relation to a focus on legal thought, the successful candidate's work might engage social movements, decolonial struggles, political economy, gender and sexuality, race, sovereignty, and/or religion. We seek scholarship that contributes both to political theory and to legal studies through critical interpretive work with texts, archives, and/or ethnographic sources, drawing out the origins, diverse interpretations, and manifestations of legal thinking. We are interested both in scholarship that examines the politics of legal thinking, and/or that examines the intersections of political thought and the law.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate Politics and Legal Studies majors, and the Politics Ph.D. program. The successful candidate will work well with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We welcome candidates whose understanding of the barriers facing underrepresented women and minorities in higher education careers is evidenced by life experiences and educational background, and who have experience building equitable and diverse scholarly environments with respect to teaching, mentoring, research, life experiences, or service. UC Santa Cruz is a Hispanic-Serving Institution with a high proportion of first-in-family undergraduate students. We encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

Rank: Professor, Pardee Center (Open Rank, Tenure Line) - Josef Korbel School of International Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Political Theory
Specializations: International Political Economy, Quantitative Methods, Political Economy

Position Summary

The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver is seeking an open rank tenure-track professor in the area of quantitative global modeling of political, social, economic, energy, and/or environmental dynamics. The position will begin in September 2018. This position offers a competitive salary and benefits package. We seek someone whose research and teaching will advance both the scholarly and the outreach goals of the school.

The successful candidate for this position is expected to support the work of the Frederick S. Pardee Center for International Futures at the Korbel School, and this person's research will make a substantial and sustained contribution to the Center's mission and goals. The successful candidate will also have the title of Senior Scientist or Director of Research within the Pardee Center, and is expected to be a PI or Co-PI on some Center grants and contracts. The mission of the Pardee Center (pardee.du.edu) is to provide the best possible long-term national, regional, and global quantitative forecasts and forecasting capability across multiple issue areas in sustainable human and social development. Use and continued development of the International Futures (IFs) forecasting system are central to the Center's work. Projects sponsored by governments, IGOs, and NGOs support two-thirds of the Centers million-dollar-plus annual budget. Work in the Center will be associated with a reduced teaching load.

Essential Functions

Research and teaching that will advance both the scholarly and the outreach goals of the school.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through www.du.edu/jobs to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. ### University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Tenure and Tenure Track Professor of Communication in the Area of Communication and Culture

The University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School for Communication is seeking to fill one tenured (Associate Professor or Full Professor) and one tenure track (Assistant Professor) faculty position in the area of "communication and culture." Preference will be given to scholars whose research and teaching include innovative approaches to the study of gender, sexuality, race, and/or ethnicity, as well as those whose work includes a global, transnational, or comparative dimension. Specific areas of focus may include but are not limited to algorithmic culture and platform studies; mobility and migration; technology and identity; and digital culture production. We are searching for candidates who address these or other issues using qualitative methods.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. (in Communication or a related field or discipline) and have a strong record of teaching and research. Responsibilities include conducting a program of research and publication, teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels (including supervising doctoral dissertations), and contributing service to the school and university.

The Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Pennsylvania is a graduate school of communication theory and research, with 19 full-time faculty and approximately 80 doctoral students representing a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds and interests. The faculty also has primary responsibility for an undergraduate communication major within the School of Arts and Sciences.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, three names of references, and up to three articles, chapters or other research to Professor Michael X. Delli Carpini, Walter H. Annenberg Dean, Annenberg School for Communication, University of Pennsylvania, 3620 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6220 via <https://facultysearches.provost.upenn.edu/postings/1147>. To receive full consideration, applications should be received by Monday, September 4, 2017.

Cornell University

Rank: Tenure-track Asst/Assoc Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Government at Cornell University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track (assistant or associate) professorial position in political theory to begin July 1, 2018. We will consider all areas of specialization. Demonstrated excellence in teaching is required. A Ph.D. is required no later than July 1, 2018. Review of applications will begin upon their receipt and the deadline for submission of complete dossiers is August 15, 2017.

Send letter of application, curriculum vitae, three recommendation letters (associate-level applicants may name three references), two article-length pieces of writing, two sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations to: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9197>.

Diversity and inclusion have been and continue to be a part of our heritage. The Department of Government, and the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell University embrace diversity and seek candidates who will create a climate that attracts students and faculty of all races, nationalities, and genders. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University (<http://politicalscience.tamu.edu>) is recruiting for two temporary positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. We seek to hire two lecturers. Successful candidates will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government, as well as upper level courses in a subfield of the discipline. Teaching experience in these areas and demonstrated research abilities would be highly valued. While someone at A.B.D. status would meet minimum requirements, a completed Ph.D. is strongly preferred. The target start date for this position September 1, 2017. The teaching load would be six courses total for the academic year, four of which would likely be large, introductory sections. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position.

Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor William Roberts Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. We are especially interested in candidates who would increase the Department's gender, racial and ethnic diversity. Texas A&M is an AA/EEO university and is deeply committed to diversity.

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Political Theory

The Department of Politics at The University of the South seeks applications for a tenure-track position in political theory to begin August 2018. A Ph.D. in political science is required. ABDs must possess the degree by the time of appointment. Advanced scholars are encouraged to apply with some consideration given to faculty who are tenured or on the tenure track. The Department is also hiring for a tenure-track position in American political behavior, so academic couples are welcome to apply.

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to Political Theory and upper division courses. These courses may be open with regard to the candidate's area of interest, but candidates should be able to offer courses related to issues of diversity, identity, inclusion, justice, and citizenship. These courses should reflect the thematic, not chronological, approach to our theory curriculum, and we are especially interested in courses such as African-American Political Thought, Feminist Theory, and American Political Thought. The successful candidate will show evidence of effective classroom teaching and a commitment to scholarly research and publication.

The University of the South comprises a well-regarded College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and a distinguished School of Theology. It is an institution of the Episcopal Church that welcomes individuals of all backgrounds. The University is located on a striking, 13,000-acre campus on Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau. The University of the South is an equal opportunity educational institution that is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse and inclusive campus environment.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, brief writing sample, sample syllabi, course evaluations, graduate transcript, and at least three letters of recommendation. These materials should be submitted through the application portal at <https://jobs.sewanee.edu>. Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful prescreening. To be considered for an interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association, applications must be received by August 15, 2017. For full consideration applications must be received by September 30, 2017.

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2018-19. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to established or emerging scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

Sample areas of interest include: normative analyses of fundamental rights and of such basic constitutional structures as the separation of powers or federalism; democratic theory, especially as it pertains to political institutions; the history of political thought about constitutional government or constitutional forms; and questions of justice about the constitutional basic structure of a society, ranging from property and market relations to the legal organization of family life.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <http://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Brad Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. ## Fulbright University Viet Nam

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Positions in Economics, Public Policy and Public Administration

Multiple faculty positions, open rank - Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management, Vietnam

1. The Positions

Fulbright University Vietnam (FUV) seeks applications and nominations for three faculty positions in the Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management (FSPPM). The positions are open with respect to rank and field. Preference will be given to applicants in the following three broad categories: 1) public management, administration and leadership (including negotiation and conflict resolution); 2) macroeconomics; and 3) international trade policy.

II. The Institution

Located in Ho Chi Minh City, FUV is a private, not-for-profit university announced by President Barack Obama on May 24, 2016 and given substantial financial support from the US State Department, USAID, and a variety of private donors. We are dedicated to a lofty mission: reimagining the way universities work. We aim to create an institution that can transform the lives our students, address the pressing needs of Vietnamese society, and ultimately point the way toward a new approach to high quality education in developing countries. We are guided in this journey by our strong belief in the power of collaboration, interdisciplinary thinking, and risk-taking, and are seeking like-minded individuals who are excited to join the founding team that will imagine and build a 21st century liberal arts and professional graduate education in Vietnam.

Within this dynamic, start-up setting, the FSPPM builds upon a two-decade long initiative of Harvard University to incubate a center of public policy research and teaching in Ho Chi Minh City, the Fulbright Economics Teaching Program (FETP). Like FUV today, FETP itself was a pioneering institution in both teaching and research. FETP launched Vietnam's first masters in public policy program (MPP) in 2008. Its policy-oriented research contributed meaningfully to the national policy discourse. In the fall of 2016, Harvard transferred the people and programs of FETP to FUV. These unique intellectual assets are now the nucleus of the FSPPM, FUV's first academic unit. By virtue of this heritage, FSPPM is at once both an established academic enterprise with a distinguished track record and a small but accomplished faculty as well as a start-up. Among FSPPM's activities are a fulltime Masters in Public Policy (MPP) program; the Vietnam Executive Leadership Program (VELP), a policy dialog initiative for senior Vietnamese government officials; and the Lower Mekong Public Policy Initiative (LMPPI), a research program focused on transnational policy challenges at the intersection of environmental and development policy.

FUV's Board of Trustees has adopted an ambitious mandate for FSPPM to become an internationally recognized graduate professional school that prepares students for positions of leadership in all sectors of society and contribute to the resolution of the grand challenges facing Vietnam, the region, and the world through policy engagement, analysis, and research.

III. Qualifications and How to Apply

Candidates will ideally take up the position, which is based in Ho Chi Minh City, by the Fall of 2017, though the starting date is subject to negotiation. Remuneration and benefits will be internationally competitive. A PhD (or equivalent terminal degree) in a policy-relevant field is required, though candidates in their final stage of PhD candidacy will also be considered. Relevant teaching and research experience, and a track record of interest in policy issues, are desired. Experience or interest in Vietnam and Southeast Asia will also be appreciated. Vietnamese language skills are valuable, but not required. Applicants are invited to send a letter of interest, a CV and the names of three professional references to jobs.fsppm@fuv.edu.vn. Inquiries are welcome. The positions will remain open until filled; please apply by June 15, 2017 for fullest consideration.

Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University (<http://politicalscience.tamu.edu>) is recruiting for two temporary positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. We seek to hire two lecturers. Successful candidates will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government, as well as upper level courses in a subfield of the discipline. Teaching experience in these areas and demonstrated research abilities would be highly valued. While someone at A.B.D. status would meet minimum requirements, a completed Ph.D. is strongly preferred. The target start date for this position September 1, 2017. The teaching load would be six courses total for the academic year, four of which would likely be large, introductory sections. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position.

Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor William Roberts Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. We are especially interested in candidates who would increase the Department's gender, racial and ethnic diversity. Texas A&M is an AA/EEO university and is deeply committed to diversity.

Synopsis of Role:

Doctoral faculty members are scholar practitioners and play key roles in teaching, research, and service. They are united by the common goal of inspiring academic excellence in students with a broad range of interests and experiences. They are key to creating a rewarding online and face-to-face learning experience for students by engaging them, challenging them, and supporting them. They provide the resources for a quality learning experience for students by ensuring coherence in the discipline, rigor in the content, and relevance and currency to the practice. Full-time faculty members contribute to a range of activities that support student learning outcomes, program quality, and discipline integrity, all of which focus on student learning and retention. They work with other departments including instructional technology, library and course materials, and marketing.

Academic Responsibilities and Essential Functions:

- Teaching excellence
- Deliver online and face-to-face lessons to graduate and/or undergraduate students.
- Provide guidance for doctoral student's dissertations by acting as an advisor, dissertation chair, or committee member and as such, provide intensive mentoring and feedback throughout the dissertation process.

- Initiate, facilitate, and moderate online classes.
- Be a faculty leader in your classes by fully embracing the Community of Inquiry Framework of Teaching Presence, Cognitive Presence, and Social Presence.
- Comply with APUS guidelines and expectations for quality faculty engagement online and face-to-face.
- Participate in professional development to enhance teaching skills.
- Work with Director of Doctoral Programs and collaborate with faculty to ensure discipline, program and course continuity, currency, and relevance.
- Update course content and materials and/or delivery methods, based on information such as emerging practice changes in the discipline, instructional effectiveness data, current or future performance requirements, feasibility, and costs.
- Attend school and discipline meetings (monthly or quarterly) on curriculum, content, development of discipline and practice, and APUS expectations.
- Research and Scholarship
- Contribute to advancing the discipline as a scholar and leader.
- Keep abreast of developments in one's own field by reading current literature, engaging with colleagues, and participating in professional organizations and conferences.
- Demonstrate scholarly activity through presentations, publications, and leadership within the disciplinary community.
- Mentor students in research projects, including doctoral dissertations.
- Service
- Contribute to university and school committees for strategic initiatives.
- Contribute service to the discipline, e.g., through roles in professional associations or as journal reviewers.
- Contribute to community outreach and service, especially through our veteran-focused programs.

Required Education and Experience:

- Terminal degree in national security, international relations, homeland security, political science, cyber/security Studies, emergency management, criminal justice with security emphasis, public admin/policy, psychology, or a closely related field from a regionally accredited institution is required.

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2018-19. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to established or emerging scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

Sample areas of interest include: normative analyses of fundamental rights and of such basic constitutional structures as the separation of powers or federalism; democratic theory, especially as it pertains to political institutions; the history of political thought about constitutional government or constitutional forms; and questions of justice about the constitutional basic structure of a society, ranging from property and market relations to the legal organization of family life.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <http://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Brad Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by August 1.

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Job Summary: The Institute of Political Science (IPS) in The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate (non-tenured) professors. The employment starts as early as Spring 2018. The two openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political philosophy (order is by preference). Applicants with research expertise or interest related to public and social policies are preferred but not required. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time appointments for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years. The successful candidates are expected to publish research on major journals of international reputation, offer high quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at IPS. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 370000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas.

The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SUFE is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry-level faculty in the discipline of political science. The newly established Institute of Political Science has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas and work on tenure track.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 15th 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

The Scholars Strategy Network

Rank: Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: American Politics, Legislative Studies, State Politics

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Scholars Strategy Network is inaugurating a two-year Postdoctoral Fellowship to support early-career scholars in any discipline who wish to engage in research and public scholarship to improve public policy and strengthen democracy. After an intensive, short boot camp at Harvard University, each fellow will be based at a university in one of SSN's regional chapters. As many as six fellowships may be available for the inaugural 2017-19 cohort.

Objectives

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellows will help academics insert research, facts, and scholarly perspectives into local, state, and national policy debates. Successful fellows will build webs of relationships, transforming regional Scholars Strategy Network chapters into powerful research hubs to inform the policymaking process. Fellows will:

- Meet with scholars to learn about their areas of expertise and interest;
- Meet with policymakers, civic leaders, and journalists to learn about their interests, policy goals, and research questions;
- With advice and direction from senior academics, create opportunities for scholars to engage in the policy process by matchmaking and by helping scholars build lasting collaborations with non-academic stakeholders;
- Work with scholars to prepare two-page briefs that clearly convey their research to non-academic audiences;
- Organize at least one significant group project that brings together multiple academic perspectives to synthesizes research and scholarly perspectives in response to a request from a non-academic stakeholder;
- Help local policymakers, journalists, civic leaders, and member scholars access the expertise of the national Scholars Strategy Network by connecting them to out-of-state scholars and, as appropriate, arranging visits, State House or City Hall briefings, and university talks.

Research and Writing

Postdoctoral Fellows will be expected to allot fifty percent of their time to their own policy-relevant research. This research can continue doctoral work or comprise new projects that can be completed within the two-year post-doctoral appointment. Ideally, each fellow's research should enrich the policy landscape in a way that is useful to, and guided by, local stakeholders and practitioners.

Mentorship and Training

Mentorship: SSN chapter co-leaders will connect their Fellow with a mentor from that chapter who has interest and expertise in the Fellow's research area. A Fellow's research mentor can come from any of the colleges and universities with faculty members involved in the relevant SSN chapter. The research mentor (supported by the SSN national team) will help the Fellow write about research findings and prepare related materials in ways that achieve academic excellence and have an impact on policy. In return for sustained engagement with the Fellow, research mentors will have the choice of receiving either a modest stipend or a small grant to help support joint research with the Fellow.

Scholars Strategy Network Postdoctoral Fellows will also have several opportunities to share their work and receive advice and guidance from the academic members of Scholars Strategy Network's Steering Committee:

- Theda Skocpol, SSN Director and Victor S. Thomas Professor of Government and Sociology, Harvard University
- Lawrence R. Jacobs, Walter F. and Joan Mondale Chair of Political Studies, and Director of the Center for the Study of Politics and Governance, Hubert Humphrey School and Department of Political Science, University of Minnesota
- Jacob S. Hacker, Stanley B. Resor Professor of Political Science, and Director of the Institution for Social and Policy Studies, Yale University
- Suzanne Mettler, Clinton Rossiter Professor of American Institutions, Department of Government, Cornell University; Fellow of the Century Foundation
- Amy Fried, Professor of Political Science, University of Maine

Training: Throughout the program, each cohort of Fellows will be supported with additional resources and training to help them achieve the goals described above. Fellows will learn how to become active players in public policy arenas by creating research and relationships for maximum policy impact and by organizing other chapter member scholars for the same purposes.

At the outset of the program, each cohort will spend a week with the SSN national team in Cambridge, MA. Fellows will learn the key roles of the SSN staff, the type of services available to member scholars, and tools for supporting their chapters. This will also be an opportunity for Fellows to meet and discuss their research with Theda Skocpol, SSN Director and Victor S. Thomas Professor of Government and Sociology at Harvard University.

In the fall, Fellows will participate in an SSN policy engagement training to learn how to effectively deliver evidence and ideas to policymakers and civic organizations. Fellows will also go through SSN's media training and receive instruction from the national communications team on how a scholar can use the media to disseminate research and analysis to the public.

Finally, Fellows will participate in SSN's National Leadership Retreat, where they will get a chance to learn from chapter leaders, staff, and steering committee members including Theda Skocpol, Jacob Hacker, Lawrence Jacobs, Suzanne Mettler, and Amy Fried. Fellows will also have an opportunity to present their own research and SSN work.

Program Information

- Length of Fellowship: In this launch phase, the SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowships will last for two years, starting in August 2017 and running through June 2019.
- Affiliation: Fellows will be affiliated with one of the four following SSN regional chapters and their corresponding institutions: Atlanta

SSN, Tennessee SSN (Nashville or Knoxville), Confluence SSN (St. Louis, MO), or Research Triangle SSN (Durham, NC).

- Compensation: The SSN Postdoctoral Fellowship pays $48,000 annually. Benefits include health insurance, a modest allowance for approved travel to conferences, and reimbursement of appropriate work-related expenses.
- Supervision: For chapter-related duties, the Fellow will report to the co-leaders of their base chapter and SSN's national Director of Policy and Organizing.

Eligibility

SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowships are open to applicants from all disciplines who have completed their PhD within the past three years and are prepared to work for two years starting immediately. Applications are encouraged from soon-to-be or recent PhDs with experience or a strong interest in public policy, practical research, and community or state-level organizing.

Fellows must be willing to be year-round residents of the community where their appointment is based for the duration of their two-year fellowship.

Ideal candidates will be persons dedicated to SSN's mission and able to grasp how to make use of SSN's structure as a voluntary, federated network of member scholars. Because SSN's national office is based in Cambridge, Massachusetts, Postdoctoral Fellows destined to be based in SSN regional chapters must show evidence that they are self-starters able to work independently and manage several projects simultaneously. In addition, strong candidates must be able to translate research findings into clear language for public audiences and feel comfortable actively reaching out to a diverse group of external stakeholders. Candidates should have a knowledge of legislative and other government processes.

How to Apply

Each application should include:

- Statement of Interest: In 500 words or less, please detail your interest, background, and qualifications for the SSN Regional Postdoctoral Fellowship. Also state if you have a location preference between the regional chapters noted above.
- Resume: Provide a curriculum vitae of no more than five pages.
- Dissertation Abstract and Date for the PhD: Provide the abstract and table of contents of your doctoral dissertation and (if the PhD is not yet awarded) include a letter from your advisor about the expected date for the degree.
- Description of Proposed Research: In 1000 words or less, describe the research project you would like to undertake during the two-year fellowship, how you plan to incorporate feedback from non-academic stakeholders, and in what ways you anticipate doing outreach about your work during and after completion of the project.
- Opinion Piece: In 650 words or less, write a jargon-free opinion piece using research to comment on a current event or area of public interest. If you have already published such a piece, you may submit it.
- Two Letters of Recommendation: Provide two letters of recommendation that speak to your ability to be successful in this program.

Ideally, one letter should be from an academic supervisor and another from a supervisor or peer outside of academia or from an academic who has such experience.

Timing: Applications will be considered on a rolling basis. No applications will be considered after June 30, 2017.

To Apply: Send your application with the above noted materials to Paola Maynard-Moll, fellows@scholars.org and use "SSN Postdoctoral Fellowship – Your Name" in the subject line.

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Other

The RAND Corporation is a research organization that develops solutions to public policy challenges to help make communities throughout the world safer and more secure, healthier and more prosperous. RAND's research and analysis address issues that impact people everywhere, including security, health, education, sustainability, growth, and development. Headquartered in Santa Monica, California, RAND has close to 1,800 people from approximately 50 countries working in offices in North America, Europe, and Australia, with annual revenues of more than $308 million.

RAND is nonprofit, nonpartisan, and committed to the public interest. Our research is sponsored by government agencies, charitable trusts, and community nonprofits. In addition, we rely on philanthropic support to pursue visionary ideas; address critical problems that are under-researched; shape emerging policy debates; and devise innovative approaches for solving acute, complex, or provocative policy challenges. RAND values objectivity and integrity in both its research processes and internal interactions. We emphasize a collegial environment that respects the contributions and dignity of all staff.

Position Description

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multi-disciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements

PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience

Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance

Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location

Santa Monica, CA or Pittsburgh, PA office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required

Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

Fulbright University Viet Nam

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Positions in Economics, Public Policy and Public Administration

Multiple faculty positions, open rank - Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management, Vietnam

I. The Positions

Fulbright University Vietnam (FUV) seeks applications and nominations for three faculty positions in the Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management (FSPPM). The positions are open with respect to rank and field. Preference will be given to applicants in the following three broad categories: 1) public management, administration and leadership (including negotiation and conflict resolution); 2) macroeconomics; and 3) international trade policy.

II. The Institution

Located in Ho Chi Minh City, FUV is a private, not-for-profit university announced by President Barack Obama on May 24, 2016 and given substantial financial support from the US State Department, USAID, and a variety of private donors. We are dedicated to a lofty mission: reimagining the way universities work. We aim to create an institution that can transform the lives of our students, address the pressing needs of Vietnamese society, and ultimately point the way toward a new approach to high quality education in developing countries. We are guided in this journey by our strong belief in the power of collaboration, interdisciplinary thinking, and risk-taking, and are seeking like-minded individuals who are excited to join the founding team that will imagine and build a 21st century liberal arts and professional graduate education in Vietnam.

Within this dynamic, start-up setting, the FSPPM builds upon a two-decade long initiative of Harvard University to incubate a center of public policy research and teaching in Ho Chi Minh City, the Fulbright Economics Teaching Program (FETP). Like FUV today, FETP itself was a pioneering institution in both teaching and research. FETP launched Vietnam's first masters in public policy program (MPP) in 2008. Its policy-oriented research contributed meaningfully to the national policy discourse. In the fall of 2016, Harvard transferred the people and programs of FETP to FUV. These unique intellectual assets are now the nucleus of the FSPPM, FUV's first academic unit. By virtue of this heritage, FSPPM is at once both an established academic enterprise with a distinguished track record and a small but accomplished faculty as well as a start-up. Among FSPPM's activities are a fulltime Masters in Public Policy (MPP) program; the Vietnam Executive Leadership Program (VELP), a policy dialog initiative for senior Vietnamese government officials; and the Lower Mekong Public Policy Initiative (LMPP), a research program focused on transnational policy challenges at the intersection of environmental and development policy.

FUV's Board of Trustees has adopted an ambitious mandate for FSPPM to become an internationally recognized graduate professional school that prepares students for positions of leadership in all sectors of society and contribute to the resolution of the grand challenges facing Vietnam, the region, and the world through policy engagement, analysis, and research.

III. Qualifications and How to Apply

Candidates will ideally take up the position, which is based in Ho Chi Minh City, by the Fall of 2017, though the starting date is subject to negotiation. Remuneration and benefits will be internationally competitive. A PhD (or equivalent terminal degree) in a policy-relevant field is required, though candidates in their final stage of PhD candidacy will also be considered. Relevant teaching and research experience, and a track record of interest in policy issues, are desired. Experience or interest in Vietnam and Southeast Asia will also be appreciated. Vietnamese language skills are valuable, but not required. Applicants are invited to send a letter of interest, a CV and the names of three professional references to jobs.fsppm@fuv.edu.vn. Inquiries are welcome. The positions will remain open until filled; please apply by June 15, 2017 for fullest consideration.

Specializations: East Asia, Electoral Systems, Public Opinion

The University of Iowa College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and UI International Programs invite applications for the position of C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation Chair in Korean Studies, at the full professor or senior associate professor levels, to commence in the Fall of 2018.

Applicants must be specialists in a humanities or social science discipline, must have primary research and teaching expertise in Korean Studies, and may also have interdisciplinary and/or supranational research interests.

Appointment will be to an appropriate disciplinary department. The successful applicant will also hold a 0% appointment in International Programs, and is expected to be an active participant in the activities of the Center for Asian and Pacific Studies. Review processes, teaching assignments, and primary responsibility for mentorship will reside within the department of appointment. This is an endowed position with a reduced teaching load and annual research funds.

Applicants must demonstrate a record of excellence in scholarship and teaching commensurate with a position at the senior associate professor or full professor levels, and be able to teach courses that meet the needs of the department of appointment as well as complement existing strengths within the department and college. Applicants must also demonstrate a level of language fluency in both English and Korean appropriate for research and teaching.

Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University (<http://politicalscience.tamu.edu>) is recruiting for two temporary positions for the 2017-2018 academic year. We seek to hire two lecturers. Successful candidates will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government, as well as upper level courses in a subfield of the discipline. Teaching experience in these areas and demonstrated research abilities would be highly valued. While someone at A.B.D. status would meet minimum requirements, a completed Ph.D. is strongly preferred. The target start date for this position September 1, 2017. The teaching load would be six courses total for the academic year, four of which would likely be large, introductory sections. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position.

Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the positions are filled.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor William Roberts Clark, Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. We are especially interested in candidates who would increase the Department's gender, racial and ethnic diversity. Texas A&M is an AA/EEO university and is deeply committed to diversity.

The successful candidate will meet qualifications required of a tenured full professor and will assume a 10.5 month academic administrative appointment as full professor of public service and administration beginning as early as July 1, 2017, with the possibility of holding an endowed chair. In addition, the successful candidate will have a substantial record of professional and university service, with a special emphasis on graduate education and research, provide evidence of excellent leadership, communication and management skills demonstrated through leadership roles in universities, government, organizations or associations, and demonstrate a commitment to working effectively with individuals of diverse backgrounds.

The Department of Public Service and Administration at the Bush School of Government and Public Service offers three tracks of curriculum, including public management, public policy analysis, and nonprofit management. The School is ranked in the top 12 percent of graduate public affairs schools in the nation (U.S. News & World Report) and 1st in the Nation for "Best Value in MPA Programs" (Value College). The curriculum within the department is a blend of both the theoretical and the practical—providing students with the knowledge, skills, and abilities needed for successful careers in public service. Students can choose from a number of concentrations to focus their studies including state and local government; health policy; education policy; security policy; energy, environment, and technology; international nongovernmental organizations; and individually designed concentrations offering flexibility to students with specific interests. The department continues to grow, and currently enrolls 168 full-time in-residence students, with 18 tenured or tenure-track faculty.

Send nominations and applications (letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and the names of three references) to Dr. Frank Ashley, Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (preferably as electronic attachments to Ms. Rane Cunningham at BushSchoolGBS-search@tamu.edu), The Bush School of Government and Public Service, Texas A&M University, 4220 TAMU, College Station, TX 77843-4220. Review of applications will begin May 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. As a major land-grant university, Texas A&M has both an extraordinary opportunity and a special responsibility to create and maintain a campus climate that affirms diversity of thought, background, ethnicity, and perspective. A&M is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer committed to diversity.

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Applicants for a position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography, open rank, must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology. Preference will be given to applicants who have expertise in public policy related to coastal environments and/or experience in interdisciplinary, environmental social sciences focusing on public policy and coastal ecology. The anticipated starting date is flexible and can be as early as August 2017.

The successful applicant will be expected to bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact research, and be able to develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have, or be able to establish, a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

We are bringing together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries, or are working in transdisciplinary fields, in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>). This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems. This individual will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/46716> (Position #38660) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of any history of interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an ongoing basis until the position is filled.

The University of Central Florida, with more than 63,000 students, has grown in quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years and is committed to being inclusive and diverse by building a faculty who are a reflection of the students they teach. For more information about this position please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D. in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff. Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.
