

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

August 2017 | Volume 6, Issue 8

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 7

Comparative Politics 26

International Relations 55

Methodology 84

Non-Academic 92

Other 93

Political Theory 106

Public Administration 114

Public Law 120

Public Policy 126

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

August 2017 | Volume 6, Issue 8

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (5 listings)

American Government and Politics 7 (45 listings)

Comparative Politics 26 (62 listings)

International Relations 55 (62 listings)

Methodology 84 (17 listings)

Non-Academic 92 (2 listings)

Other 93 (29 listings)

Political Theory 106 (20 listings)

Public Administration 114 (14 listings)

Public Law 120 (12 listings)

Public Policy 126 (32 listings)

Total listings this issue 300

Resources and Guidance on Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for August

ADMINISTRATION

National University of Singapore

Rank: Associate/Full Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an Associate or Full Professor in any of its subfields, which are Comparative Politics, Governance and Public Policy, International Relations, and Political Theory. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research and publication and be able to provide evidence of superior teaching and proven capacity for leadership. The Department of Political Science and the National University of Singapore are highly research-oriented. The teaching load is three modules year academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Applicants should send a CV, a letter detailing their teaching and research interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox12@nus.edu.sg. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/25/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3044

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Professor/Chair

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Comparative Politics

Due to impending retirements, the Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Reno invites applications for Department Chair. Appointment to the position will begin July 1, 2018.

The department is seeking a strong leader who brings relevant academic and administrative experience to the position. The position is open to all research areas in political science. The department chair is expected to provide strong academic and administrative leadership to 19 faculty members and staff, teach two courses a year, and oversee departmental operations that include budgets, scheduling, and engaging in appropriate college level service. The chair will work closely with the Directors of Undergraduate Studies and Graduate Studies to provide teaching support for the department's 500 undergraduate majors and 60 graduate students. While the position can be from any research area within Political Science, the chair should have familiarity with standards and practices in support of specific degrees offered by the Department which include an undergraduate interdisciplinary International Affairs BA, traditional Political Science BA, MA and

PhD degrees, and a thriving Masters of Public Administration (MPA). The chair is also expected to build a strong relationship with college administration to further strengthen the department's research and teaching agenda. Finally, the chair should be prepared to continue advancing our commitment to increasing the diversity of our department community, research expertise, and curriculum.

Qualifications for the position include a PhD in political science, public policy, public administration or related field; an established record of research and teaching excellence; and previous administrative experience that would demonstrate the applicant's capacity to carry out the duties of department chair.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience in obtaining and administering external funding awards is preferred. Applicants should have obtained the rank of full professor. Associate professors will be considered if their qualifications are consistent with the rank of full professor in the Department of Political Science at UNR.

About the department: the Department of Political Science is housed in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Nevada, Reno, a Tier One university. The College of Liberal Arts administers more than 20 majors and minors, and is the largest college at the university (<http://www.unr.edu/liberalarts>). The department administers two undergraduate degree programs in political science and international affairs, and two accelerated BA/MA and BA/MPA degrees for 500 undergraduate majors. There are an additional 120 plus minors in Political Science, Renewable Energy, Asian Studies, and Latin American Studies (all administered by the Department).

The department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA, and PhD degrees. Additional information about the department can be found on its website: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science>. In recent years, the department has experienced substantial growth in the number of faculty, research productivity, and external funding awards. The department expects to play a significant role in the university's long-term expansion plans and its movement toward R1 research status.

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes that diversity promotes excellence in education and research. We are an inclusive and engaged community and recognize the added value that students, faculty, and staff from different backgrounds bring to the educational experience. Visit our website at <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/25111> for further information and to apply.

Candidates should submit a CV, and a cover letter outlining their interest in and experience relating to the position. In the cover letter please highlight your leadership experience and/or potential, and indicate how you would contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching, and/or service. Letters of reference will only be requested upon initial screening of the applicants.

Position is open until filled, but application review will begin October 6, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Eric Herzik (herzik@unr.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3003

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Full-time Tenure Track Professor

The Management Department of the Wharton School is seeking applicants for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at any level: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in the areas of:

- Entrepreneurial Management
- Human Resource Management
- Multinational /Comparative Management
- Organizational Behavior
- Organizational Theory
- Strategy

Demonstrated ability or potential for high quality research and teaching are important. Applicants must have a Ph.D. (expected completion by June 30, 2019 is acceptable) from an accredited institution.

The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2018.

Interested individuals should complete and submit our online application via our secure website, and must include:

- A cover letter (indicating the areas for which you wish to be considered)
- Curriculum vitae
- Names of three recommenders, including email addresses [junior-level candidates]
- Sample publications and abstracts

To apply please visit our website:

<https://mgmt.wharton.upenn.edu/faculty/faculty-positions/>

Recruitment Committee review of applications will begin on September 30, 2017. Candidates are strongly encouraged to have their completed applications submitted by that date for full consideration.

The University of Pennsylvania is an EOE. Minorities/Women/Individuals with disabilities/Protected Veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 9/30/2017

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2966

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Nonprofit Management and Policy, Assistant/Associate Professor

About University at Albany:

Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy is part of the University at Albany. Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,300 students in nine schools and colleges across three campuses. About one third of our undergraduates are the first in their family to go to college. In fall 2016, approximately 32 percent of all students at the University at Albany were students of color or of mixed race/ethnicity, and approximately 11 percent were international students.

Rockefeller College is home to a diverse group of scholars interested in teaching and research on issues of importance in the public and nonprofit sectors. Ranked 19th overall by US News and World Report, the Department of Public Administration and Policy offers an undergraduate major, a Master in Public Administration (MPA), and a PhD in Public Administration and Policy. The Department is nationally ranked in Information Technology Management, Public Management, Nonprofit Management, Public Policy Analysis, and Public Finance and Budgeting. We actively seek and support demographic diversity in our faculty and student body. To learn more about the Department visit our website at <http://www.albany.edu/rockefeller/pad.shtml>.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

The Department of Public Administration & Policy in the University at Albany's Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Nonprofit Management and Policy position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning fall 2018. Candidates should be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research and should be effective teachers. Faculty in Rockefeller College are expected to pursue an active research program, teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students, and engage in service activities.

Our program on Nonprofit Management, ranked 10th in US News and World Report, emphasizes the "nuts and bolts" of operating and sustaining nonprofit organizations and the tactics and strategies of creating social change toward greater equity and justice. We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality nonprofit management and policy research in these areas. Candidates conducting research on nonprofit governance, resource generation and sustainability, nonprofit public policy, policy advocacy, collaboration, and/or nonprofit networks are especially encouraged to apply. We are open to scholars conducting research in domestic, international or global contexts, and who use qualitative and/or quantitative methods.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

- Applicants must have a PhD by September 1, 2018 from a college or university accredited by the US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization.
- Senior applicants should have a well-established research program; junior applicants should have a trajectory to develop a tenurable research record.
- Applicants must be able to teach in Nonprofit Management and in core Public Policy or Public Administration courses, and be able to, or have the potential to, fulfill the mission and goals of Rockefeller College.
- Applicants must have the ability to work with a culturally diverse population.

Preferred Qualifications:

- The successful candidate's PhD will likely be in Public Administration, Public Management, Public Affairs, or an allied field such as Sociology or Political Science.
- Experience in a nonprofit organization, and working on or writing research grants for external funding, will be considered a plus in the selection process but not a requirement.

Additional Information:

Professional Rank and Salary Range: Assistant or Associate Professor; salary competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=86289>

Application Instructions:

Applicants MUST submit the following documents:

- Cover letter addressed to Jennifer Dodge, Chair of the Search Committee
- Curriculum vitae
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations (associate faculty only submit teaching evaluations for the past 4 semesters)
- Three letters of recommendation and graduate transcripts, emailed to PADsearch@albany.edu

Note: After submitting your CV, the subsequent pages give you instructions for uploading additional documents (i.e. cover letter etc.). See the FAQ for using our online system. Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website.

Returning Applicants - Login to your UAlbany Careers Account to check your completed application.

A review of applications will start October 1, 2017 and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2945

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Public Management, Assistant Professor

About University at Albany:

Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy is part of the University at Albany. Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,300 students in nine schools and colleges across three campuses. About one third of our undergraduates are the first in their family to go to college. In fall 2016, approximately 32 percent of all students at the University at Albany were students of color or of mixed race/ethnicity, and approximately 11 percent were international students.

Rockefeller College is home to a diverse group of scholars interested in teaching and research on issues of importance in the public and nonprofit sectors. Ranked 19th overall by US News and World Report, the Department of Public Administration and Policy offers an undergraduate major, a Master in Public Administration (MPA), and a PhD in Public Administration and Policy. The Department is nationally ranked in Information Technology Management, Public Management, Nonprofit Management, Public Policy Analysis, and Public Finance and Budgeting. We actively seek and support demographic diversity in our faculty and student body. To learn more about the Department visit our website at <http://www.albany.edu/rockefeller/pad.shtml>.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Job Description:

The Department of Public Administration & Policy at the University at Albany's Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Public Management position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning fall 2018. Candidates must be strongly committed to excellence in scholarly research and should be effective teachers. Faculty in Rockefeller College are expected to pursue an active research program, teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students, and engage in service activities.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality public management research and who employ a variety of methodological approaches. Applicants must have a research agenda that demonstrates a substantial, on-going interest in government and the public sector. Candidates conducting research on public sector collaboration, contracting, organizational behavior and theory, performance management, or strategic management are especially encouraged to apply.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

- Applicants must have a PhD by September 1, 2018 from a college or university accredited by the US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization.
- Applicants must have a trajectory that suggests a tenurable research record is likely.
- Applicants must have the ability to work with a culturally diverse population.

Preferred Qualifications:

- The successful candidate's PhD will likely be in public administration, public management, public affairs, or an allied field such as sociology or psychology.
- Experience obtaining or a willingness to pursue grants is also a plus.

Additional Information:

Professional Rank and Salary Range: Assistant Professor; salary competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>.

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

THE UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY IS AN EO/AA/IRCA/ADA EMPLOYER

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=86300>

Application Instructions:

Applicants MUST submit the following documents:

- Cover letter addressed to Edmund C. Stazyk, Chair of the Search Committee
- Curriculum vitae
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations, if available
- Three letters of recommendation and graduate transcripts, emailed to PADsearch@albany.edu

Note: After submitting your CV, the subsequent pages give you instructions for uploading additional documents (i.e. cover letter etc.).

See the FAQ for using our online system. Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website.

Returning Applicants - Login to your UAlbany Careers Account to check your completed application.

A review of applications will start on September 1, 2017 and the search will remain open until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2939

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Drexel University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor, Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Congress, Political Parties & Organizations

The Department of Politics at Drexel University invites applications for a non-tenure-track, teaching faculty position in Political Science.

We are seeking a scholar in the field of American politics, especially one who can teach classes on Congress, the presidency, political parties, and elections.

Ph.D. requirements to be completed by September 2017.

The successful applicant will begin in September 2017. The position is for a maximum of two years. The workload is 36 credits of courses, and it includes a full benefits package. Teaching duties include undergraduate teaching in political science.

Candidates should include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; and 3) the names and email addresses only of at least three references. Please do NOT submit reference letters at this time as such letters will be requested at a later date for short-listed applicants.

Only applications submitted via drexeljobs.com (req 8328) will be considered. The successful applicant must have completed all requirements for their PhD by September 1, 2017.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until filled. Please address all queries to Prof. Richardson Dilworth at rd43@drexel.edu.

Drexel University offers an attractive benefits package including tuition remission, a generous retirement package with matching funds (up to 11 percent) and an opportunity to join a talented team of professionals directly helping the University achieve its record growth and quality reputation.

Drexel University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, welcomes individuals from diverse backgrounds and perspectives, and believes that an inclusive and respectful environment enriches the University community and the educational and employment experience of its members. The University prohibits discrimination against individuals on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, age, status as a veteran or special disabled veteran, gender identity or expression, genetic information, pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions and any other prohibited characteristic. Please visit our website to view all University Policies and Workplace Postings.

Background investigations are required for all new hires as a condition of employment, after the job offer is made. Employment may not begin until the University accepts the results of the background investigation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3076

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for one or more tenure-track junior faculty positions, which may be joint with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. These positions are open with respect to sub-field and involve teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/2641>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. For best consideration apply by September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/27/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3058

Princeton University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, American Politics

The Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from senior scholars in the field of American politics. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at <http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs>. Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on October 1, 2017.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3069

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Institutions

The Department of Political Science at Boston University invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the field of American institutions, broadly defined, pending final budgetary approval. The successful candidate will demonstrate promise for excellence in teaching and research and will have Ph.D. in hand by the start date of July 1, 2018.

To apply, please submit a letter of application including research and teaching statements, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three references to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9416>. Additionally we invite you to include any accomplishments in areas contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

We will begin reviewing applications on September 4. To assure full consideration completed applications must be submitted by October 1. We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3047

Connecticut College

Rank: Assistant Professor in U.S. Politics with a specialization in electoral politics and political behavior

U.S. Politics

The Department of Government and International Relations at Connecticut College invites applicants for a tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor in U.S. Politics with a specialization in electoral politics and political behavior, beginning on July 1, 2018. The successful candidate must demonstrate an ability to teach an introductory U.S. politics course and intermediate-level courses on parties and elections. Preference will be given to candidates whose scholarship and teaching are in the area of political behavior. Courses might include US social movements, identity politics, interest groups, political participation, lobbying, voting, and media. The department already has specialists in national institutions and legal studies. Required: ABD in Political Science with a U.S. Politics focus. Desirable: Ph.D. in hand and teaching experience. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but will complete the Ph.D. within one year of hire.

Salary is competitive. In addition to providing ongoing support for teaching and research, the College offers the following resources for pre-tenured faculty: a 2-2 teaching load in the first year, a research fund in the first two years, and a semester's sabbatical (at full salary) after a successful third-year review.

The College's Board of Trustees, President, administration, faculty and staff share a commitment to diversity. To this end, the College, located in New London, CT is continuing what has been a very successful initiative to diversify its faculty, staff, and student body. We encourage applications from candidates who share this understanding and will contribute to the diversity of our college community, including members of historically underrepresented groups. The College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Please visit our website, <http://www.conncoll.edu>, for more information about the College and our faculty searches.

Offering two popular majors (a government major and an interdisciplinary international relations major), Government and International Relations is a collegial department with 11 full-time faculty members. There are also opportunities for collaboration with interdisciplinary programs on campus. Moreover, the College's general education program, Connections, provides ample opportunity for collaborative and interdisciplinary teaching. For an overview of this innovative curriculum, please visit <http://www.conncoll.edu/connections/>

Applicants should upload a letter of application, a C.V., teaching evaluations, a writing sample, graduate transcripts, and at least three letters of recommendation to <https://apply.interfolio.com/43334>. E-mail inquiries should be sent to Tristan Borer, Chair of the Department of Government and International Relations, at tabor@conncoll.edu. In your application letter, we invite you to describe your cultural competencies and experiences engaging a diverse student body. Review of applications will begin October 13, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled, although we expect file review to be completed by October 27, 2017.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3049

Naval War College

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor Security Studies

U.S. NAVAL WAR COLLEGE SEEKS

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor Security Studies

Center for Naval Warfare Studies

AD-1701-03/05/07

The Naval War College (NWC) is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense and the U.S. Navy. U.S. graduates earn a Master of Arts degree in National Security & Strategic Studies, accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. The College has four main missions: Educate and Develop Leaders; Support Defining the Future Navy and Associated Roles and Missions, Support Combat Readiness, and Strengthen Global Maritime Partnerships. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

The professor will be a member of the Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) which resides within the Center for Naval Warfare Studies (CNWS). CNWS serves as the nexus for broad-based, advanced research on the naval contribution to a national strategy. The Center produces scholarship and original research and fosters critical and innovative thinking on current and evolving operational challenges of importance for the Navy and the nation. The Center links the Naval War College to the fleet and policymakers in Washington by serving as a focal point for strategic and operational thought; by integrating strategic, operational, and tactical concepts; by linking strategic concerns with technological developments; and finally, by testing and evaluating concepts through methods including war gaming, operations research, policy analysis, and traditional scholarship.

Strategic and Operational Research Department: The Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) produces innovative strategic research and analysis for the U.S. Navy, the Department of Defense, and the broader national security community. SORD is a center for regional and functional security expertise and analysis at the Naval War College. It supports the full range of Navy leadership and organizations as well as other elements of the joint force and the U.S. interagency including the Joint Staff, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the intelligence community, the National Security Council staff, the Department of State, and the U.S. Congress. The department houses a number of specialized institutes, groups, and centers that foster deeper levels of research, analysis, and teaching on subjects of critical interest for the Navy.

Responsibilities: Duties will include researching, analyzing, writing, and directly supporting Navy leadership on topics of war and future warfare. These research and analytic topics will include, but not be limited to, questions of war prevention, initiation and termination, the evolution of conventional military capabilities, technologies, and strategies, and their impact on strategies and operations particularly, but not exclusively, in the maritime domain.

Qualifications and Competencies: Qualified candidates must have a terminal degree from an accredited university; a research-oriented Ph.D. is preferred. Ph.D. candidates who are close to defending their dissertations (ABD) will be considered as will practitioners with relevant experience in the field. Demonstrated interest in and capability to analyze issues of war and the use of military force are required. Knowledge of and interest in future military technologies, capabilities, and strategies is desirable. Familiarity with naval/maritime strategies, operational concepts, and capabilities is desirable. Successful candidates will have ongoing research projects on war, security and strategy that they will continue to pursue at the Naval War College. Candidates must be U.S. citizens and capable of obtaining a Department of Defense TOP SECRET/SCI security clearance. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and to random drug testing thereafter.

Salary Considerations: Rank and salary commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule.

Application Process: Applicants should reference VA#NWC-17-28 and submit their application package electronically to: nwc-17-28@

usnwc.edu. The application package should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae or resume, and the names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted until September 8, 2017.

Active duty members may apply under this announcement but are subject to eligibility requirements of the Veterans Opportunity to Work Act (VOW). Active duty members must submit a statement of service printed on command letterhead and signed by the command. The statement of service must provide branch, rate/rank, all dates of service, the expected date of discharge and anticipated character of service (Honorable, General, etc.). Please note: you will be ineligible for consideration if your statement of service is not submitted with your application or it shows an expected discharge or release date greater than 120 days after being submitted with your application.

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement date to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

Questions should be directed to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Peter Dombrowski at dombrowp@usnwc.edu. The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 9/8/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3052

Naval War College

Rank: Naval Warfare Analysis

U.S. NAVAL WAR COLLEGE SEEKS

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor Naval Warfare Analysis

Center for Naval Warfare Studies

AD-1701-03/05/07

The Naval War College (NWC) is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense and the U.S. Navy. U.S. graduates earn a Master of Arts degree in National Security & Strategic Studies, accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. The College has four main missions: Educate and Develop Leaders; Support Defining the Future Navy and Associated Roles and Missions, Support Combat Readiness, and Strengthen Global Maritime Partnerships. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

The professor will be a member of the Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) which resides within the Center for Naval Warfare Studies (CNWS). CNWS serves as the nexus for broad-based, advanced research on the naval contribution to a national strategy. The Center produces scholarship and original research and fosters critical and innovative thinking on current and evolving operational challenges of importance for the Navy and the nation. The Center links the Naval War College to the fleet and policymakers in Washington by serving as a focal point for strategic and operational thought; by integrating strategic, operational, and tactical concepts; by linking strategic concerns with technological developments; and finally, by testing and evaluating concepts through methods including war gaming, operations research, policy analysis, and traditional scholarship.

Strategic and Operational Research Department: The Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) produces innovative strategic research and analysis for the U.S. Navy, the Department of Defense, and the broader national security community. SORD is a center for regional and functional security expertise and analysis at the Naval War College. It supports the full range of Navy leadership and organizations as well as other elements of the joint force and the U.S. interagency including the Joint Staff, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the intelligence community, the National Security Council staff, the Department of State, and the U.S. Congress. The department houses a number of specialized institutes, groups, and centers that foster deeper levels of research, analysis, and teaching on subjects of critical interest for the Navy.

Responsibilities: Duties will include analyzing joint, combined, and naval dynamics between the U.S. (and allied and partner forces) and potential adversaries. Incumbent will co-lead a faculty/student research group which involves teaching graduate-level seminars for mid-grade and senior military officers, designing and conducting iterated war-games, and supporting student research.

Qualifications and Competencies: Qualified candidates must have an advanced degree from an accredited university and experience in assessing and evaluating strategic, operational, and tactical warfare concepts. A research-oriented Ph.D. is preferred but not required. Knowledge of naval and joint systems – or equivalent practical experience in advanced technology and functional capabilities -- is desirable. Experience may have been gained by leading and conducting research, systems analysis, systems operation, and/or development and execution of warfighting operations, tactics, techniques, and procedures within the DoD environment. War gaming experience is desirable. Candidates must be U.S. citizens and capable of obtaining a Department of Defense TOP SECRET/SCI security clearance. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and to random drug testing thereafter. Salary Considerations: Rank and salary commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule.

Application Process: Applicants should reference VA#NWC-17-29 and submit their application package electronically to: nwc-17-29@usnwc.edu. The application package should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae or resume, and the names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted until September 8, 2017.

Active duty members may apply under this announcement but are subject to eligibility requirements of the Veterans Opportunity to Work Act (VOW). Active duty members must submit a statement of service printed on command letterhead and signed by the command. The statement of service must provide branch, rate/rank, all dates of service, the expected date of discharge and anticipated character of service (Honorable, General, etc.). Please note: you will be ineligible for consideration if your statement of service is not submitted with your application or it shows an expected discharge or release date greater than 120 days after being submitted with your application.

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement date to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

Questions should be directed to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Peter Dombrowski at dombrowp@usnwc.edu. The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Date Posted: 7/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3053

University of California-Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminology, Law and Society.

Subfield(s): Public Law, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Criminal Justice, Constitutional Law & Theory, Social Welfare

The Department of Criminology, Law and Society at the University of California, Irvine invites applications for an Assistant Professor. The research specialization is open. For an appointment at an advanced Assistant Professor rank, evidence of success in securing extramural funding to support research and graduate students is desired.

To ensure your application is given full consideration, files should be completed by September 15, 2017. Priority will be given to applications received by that date; however, applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in a field related to Criminology or Law and Society. The position will begin July 1, 2018 (teaching duties will begin Fall 2018). Applications must be uploaded electronically through the on-line Recruit system: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF04011>

Candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, representative publications, and arrange to have three letters of recommendation uploaded electronically. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion (e.g. mentoring activities, committee service, research or teaching activities) should also be included in the application materials.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/26/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3054

University of Delaware

Rank: Professor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, American Politics, Political Psychology

PROFESSOR OF AMERICAN POLITICS
 DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
 UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

The University of Delaware invites applications and nominations for appointment as a full professor with tenure in the Department of Political Science and International Relations (<http://www.poscir.udel.edu/>) We seek a scholar of American Political Behavior/Political Psychology, with a particular focus on quantitative methodologies.

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POSCIR) within the College of Arts and Sciences has 26 full-time and jointly appointed faculty, nearly 800 undergraduate majors and minors and 45 graduate (mostly doctoral) students. The department offers two undergraduate majors (Political Science and International Relations) and two undergraduate minors (Political Science and Political Communication) as well as a Ph.D. in Political Science. The department faculty covers four subfields of political science: American politics (including public law and U.S. foreign policy), comparative politics, international relations and political theory. The faculty is a methodologically diverse and collegial group of research-intensive and nationally and internationally known scholars. They are outstanding teachers, mentors, advisers and public servants.

The Department seeks a tenured full professor with an exemplary record of scholarship and teaching in American political behavior/political psychology. The successful candidate will be a nationally and internationally recognized senior scholar with a strong record of graduate student and junior faculty mentoring, a strong record of grant-writing success, and an interest in actively building the quantitative American politics capacity in our methodologically diverse department. We are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns: (1) the dynamics of public attitudes and behavior (2) the political psychology of racial, ethnic, gender, and other social identities; and/or (3) electoral processes and representation.

Using the Interfolio® online system at UD, applicants should submit a cover letter outlining interest in the position and a current CV. Letters of recommendation may be requested at a later date.

Questions, but not application materials, should be e-mailed to the attention of Professor Philip Jones (pejones@udel.edu), Chair, American Politics Search Committee. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Founded in 1743, the University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) combines tradition and innovation, offering students a rich heritage along with the latest in instructional and research technology. Located in scenic Newark, Delaware, within 2 hours of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C., the University is one of the oldest land-grant institutions in the nation, one of 19 sea-grant institutions, and one of only 13 space-grant institutions. With external funding exceeding $200 million, the University ranks among the top 100 universities in federal R&D support for science and engineering and has nationally recognized research (Carnegie rated, very high research activity). With 23 academic departments, 27 interdisciplinary programs and centers, and more than 10,000 students, the College of Arts and Sciences is the largest college on campus (www.cas.udel.edu). The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from minority group members and women.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3024

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Faculty Cluster for Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Defense, Intelligence, Science & Technology

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established a focus area in cyber security and privacy, as one of several interdisciplinary clusters established to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy. We plan to hire one tenure-track assistant or associate professor for the UCF cyber security and privacy cluster. This position has a start date of August 8, 2018.

This will be an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department, as well as a possible combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. (See <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position.

The ideal junior candidates will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy, and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact, as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. All relevant technical areas will be considered. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy. In particular, we are looking for someone who will work at the intersection of several areas, such as: (a) hardware and IoT security, (b) explaining and predicting human behavior, creating policies, studying ethics, and ensuring privacy, (c) cryptography and theory of security or privacy, or (d) tools, methods, training, and evaluation of human behavior.

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster at the time of appointment, and a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy, demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record. A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is a strongly preferred qualification. The position will carry a rank commensurate with the candidate's prior experience and record.

UCF is one of the nation's largest universities with a diverse student body of more than 64,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school, which was established in 2006. UCF is a neighbor to large corporations, such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/50308> and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home and the joint appointments they would desire. When applying, have all documents ready so they can be attached at that time, as the system does not allow resubmittal to update applications.

As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://eeo.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

For more information about this position, please contact the Cluster's Search Committee Chair, Gary T. Leavens, at Leavens@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3019

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (American Politics)

Assistant Professor of Government (American Politics)

Department of Government

Georgetown University

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for up to two tenure-track Assistant Professorships in American politics. The positions are open as to research and teaching specializations, including both political institutions and behavior. Candidates with a focus on the presidency/executive branch or race/ethnicity are especially welcome. The department maintains strong links with the university's Department of African American Studies, the forthcoming Institute for Racial Justice, the Institute of Politics and Public Service, and other similar units.

A Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment is required, as is evidence of excellence, or potential for excellence, in research and publication. The teaching load is two courses per semester, typically a mixture of undergraduate and graduate (M.A. and Ph.D.) offerings. The department offers a nationally competitive doctoral program in political science as well as an innovative master's degree in American politics that takes advantage of Georgetown's location in Washington, DC.

The department values new perspectives on the world and is deeply committed to building a more open discipline that seeks excellence wherever it may lie. Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9377>. Applications should include a cover letter, CV, and three letters of recommendation. Please email all inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Michele Swers, mls47@georgetown.edu. For full consideration, applications should aim to arrive by October 1, 2017, but review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/18/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3008

Simmons College

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Specializations: American Politics, Congress, State Politics

Assistant Professor, American Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Simmons College invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American Politics with expertise in state and local politics and/or political institutions. Applicants should have completed a PhD in Political Science before September 2018.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer a variety of courses that meet the needs of the Department. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach introductory and upper division courses in state and local politics, and other courses in American politics that fit with their research interests. We are particularly interested in candidates who have a strong record of interdisciplinary work and who would be able to teach in the Simmons College general education program, the Simmons PLAN.

Candidates must be fully committed to liberal arts education and to excellence in teaching and student advising. Candidates must also demonstrate a significant scholarly agenda.

How to Apply:

Please apply online at <https://simmons.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/Simmons-Careers>.

Consideration of applications will begin October 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Department Chair, Dr. Denise M. Horn (denise.horn@simmons.edu) with questions or to request an informal interview at the 2017 APSA conference in San Francisco, CA

Candidates should be prepared to upload the following required documents to their application profile: a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, official graduate transcripts, a description of the research agenda, three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and scholarly abilities, and a writing sample. Additionally, candidates must provide evidence of excellence in teaching, including a statement of teaching philosophy and a summary of teaching evaluations.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/18/2017

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 3014

University of New Hampshire

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of New Hampshire invites applications for tenure-track, assistant professor in American politics, with a specialization in Congress/ U.S. Legislative Politics, starting August 2018. The ideal candidate will have a Ph.D. in hand, an active research program, evidence of excellence in scholarship, and a commitment to outstanding teaching.

Knowledge of legislative politics and methodological expertise expected; ability to teach courses in an additional political science subfield (e.g. research methods or American political thought) is desirable. Areas of thematic interest include, but are not limited to, American political development; women in politics; race and ethnicity in American politics, LGBTQ politics, interest groups, and immigration.

Review of applications begins October 1, 2017. Preliminary Skype interviews will be conducted in late October. Please submit the following via <https://jobs.usnh.edu/postings/27048>: curriculum vitae; letter of interest discussing research, teaching experience and prospective courses; statement of teaching philosophy; three letters of reference; and a publication or writing sample. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded by your referees. Once your application is complete and submitted, your list of references will be notified to submit letters via the jobs.usnh.edu portal.

The University of New Hampshire is a major research institution, providing comprehensive, high-quality undergraduate and graduate programs. The expected teaching load is two courses per semester.

UNH is located in Durham, on a 188-acre campus, 60 miles north of Boston, 8 miles from the Atlantic coast, and is convenient to New Hampshire's lakes and mountains. The university enrolls 13,000 students, with a full-time faculty of over 600, offering 90 undergraduate and more than 70 graduate programs. The University seeks excellence through diversity among its administrators, faculty, staff, and students. The university prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, or marital status. Application by members of all underrepresented groups is encouraged, as are international applicants.

The University of New Hampshire is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access/Affirmative Action institution. The University seeks excellence through diversity among its administrators, faculty, staff, and students. The university prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, or marital status. Application by members of all underrepresented groups is encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3013

University of Redlands

Rank: Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics

DESCRIPTION: The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for the Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2018 semester.

POSITION CRITERIA: Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy), with at least five years of professional experience, preferably at a liberal arts institution. We especially welcome applications from candidates from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position.

TO APPLY: Please submit application materials (including letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, samples of scholarly work, and three letters of reference, under separate cover) electronically at apply@redlands.edu or mail to: Human Resources, University of Redlands, PO Box 3080, Redlands CA 92373-0999. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2017, and position will remain open until filled.

INQUIRIES: Inquiries can be directed to steve_wuhs@redlands.edu, including requests for interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in San Francisco, CA.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 11/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3006

University of St. Thomas

Rank: Assistant Professor of Judicial Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, American Politics, Research Methods

The Political Science Department at the University of St. Thomas invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 1, 2018. We are seeking a political scientist with a specialization in Judicial Politics and the ability to teach courses such as Judicial Process, Constitutional Powers of Government, Constitutional Rights and Liberties, and Seminar in Judicial Politics. Candidates will also be expected to teach our introductory course, Government and Politics, and an undergraduate research methods course. This position will also include responsibility for pre-law advising and coaching/advising the university's Mock Trial team.

Established in 1885, the University of St. Thomas is located in the major metropolitan area of Minneapolis-St. Paul, and is Minnesota's largest private university.

Qualifications:

A PhD in political science is strongly preferred. Candidates who are ABD (who would be eligible for an initial rank of instructor) will be considered. All applicants must have demonstrable skills necessary for excellence in teaching.

Inspired by Catholic intellectual tradition, the University of St. Thomas educates students to be morally responsible leaders who think critically, act wisely, and work skillfully to advance the common good.

The University of St. Thomas is committed to the principles of diversity and inclusion, and the goals of affirmative action/equal opportunity. The University welcomes nominations and applications from a diverse applicant pool. AA/EOE

Special Instructions to Candidates:

Apply online at <http://jobs.stthomas.edu> and upload the following materials to your profile:

- 1) Cover letter,
- 2) Curriculum Vitae,
- 3) Copy of academic transcript,
- 4) Statement of teaching philosophy and experience, including evidence of teaching effectiveness,
- 5) Description of research agenda,
- 6) Writing Sample.

Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be forwarded to Dr. Angela High-Pippert, Chair, University of St. Thomas, 2115 Summit Avenue, JRC 432, St. Paul, MN 55105.

Please copy/paste your cover letter into the online system when applying.

Contact Dr. Angela High-Pippert (ahighpippe@stthomas.edu) with questions or to request an informal interview at the 2017 APSA conference in San Francisco.

To ensure full consideration for the position, all application materials must be received by Friday, October 13, 2017. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3011

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration or Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in the subfields of public administration or public policy, beginning July 1, 2018. A qualified candidate, with PhD in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, would have research and teaching focus in public administration and/or public policy, as well as capacity to teach quantitative research methods. Desirable secondary competencies could include public opinion, state and local government, and urban politics. The candidate may also be asked to teach Introduction to American Politics. The candidate must have deep substantive interests in politics and government, a love of the liberal arts, and demonstrated quantitative skills. He or she must maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy. Letters of recommendation are required from three or more references and should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening_detail.php?PostingID=16022

The review of applications will begin August 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Given our commitment to cultivating a challenging and inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/14/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2988

American University

Rank: American Politics, Tenure-track, Assistant Professor

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 1, 2018. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completion by August 2018.

The Department is looking to hire someone who studies legislative institutions in the subfield of American politics. The Department is especially interested in candidates who have a substantive interest in critical policy issues of the day, such as representation, voting rights, economic policy, human security, urban policy, and immigration.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/43149>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, recent teaching evaluations (when possible) and three letters of recommendation. If you have any questions, please email govsearch@american.edu.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of the many centers of government, business, research, and the arts located within the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/13/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2978

Gettysburg College

Rank: Assistant Professor: American Politics, Political Theory, Race & Ethnicity

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor – American Politics/Political Thought/Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2018.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a commitment to teaching in the liberal arts tradition and show potential for scholarly engagement. The Department seeks candidates in the subfields of American Politics and American Political Thought. The successful candidate is expected to offer introductory courses in political thought and advanced courses in American politics, political thought, and race, ethnicity, and politics.

A Ph.D. in political science or ABD status is required. The teaching load is 3/2.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/2180>. Submit a curriculum vitae; cover letter, addressed to Professor Bruce Larson, Chair, Department of Political Science; writing sample; transcripts; and a separate teaching philosophy statement. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until a successful candidate is found. Application materials must be received by December 8, 2017, for full consideration. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Larson: blarson@gettysburg.edu

Gettysburg College, an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal, state, local laws and regulations regarding nondiscrimination. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and admission. The College prohibits discrimination and harassment, and provides equal opportunity without regard to race, ethnicity, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, marital/familial status, possession of a General Education Development Certificate (GED) as compared to a high school diploma, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, sex, age, or genetic information in all aspects of employment, educational programs, activities, and admissions. Pursuant to Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, Gettysburg College prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex (i.e., which includes but is not limited to the prohibition of sexual misconduct and relationship violence, including sexual assault and harassment) in all of its educational programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 12/8/2017

Date Posted: 7/12/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2977

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: American Politics and Public Law

College of the Holy Cross: Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Faculty Position in American Politics

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment to begin in August 2018. We are seeking a specialist in American politics and public law. The successful applicant will teach the introductory Principles of American Government course, a two-course constitutional law sequence, and one other upper-division American politics course in the field of public law or constitutional law.

This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. in political science or imminent completion required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/43084>.

Review of applications will begin on September 8 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done by Skype or at the APSA conference August 31-September 3 for those who will attend the meeting. Questions about this search may be directed to Vickie Langohr, Chair, at vlangohr@holycross.edu. Candidates are encouraged to contact Prof. Langohr in advance to express their interest and availability for an interview at APSA.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/8/2017

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 2961

Dartmouth CollegeRank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, OtherSpecializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for the 2018-2019 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results.

The annual stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000. The fellowship can be extended through the 2019-20 academic year with the approval of Nyhan and the QSS Chair. Each fellow will receive a one-time $5,000 account for equipment, travel, and research materials. There may also be an opportunity to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend with the approval of the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2018
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests (two pages or fewer) that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Three letters of reference
- 4) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2017. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/42855.

Start Date: Fall 2018Application Deadline: 10/1/2017Date Posted: 7/11/2017Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 2963Franklin & Marshall College*Rank: Assistant Professor or Instructor, Public Policy

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor or Instructor, depending on qualifications, to begin Fall 2018. Responsibilities include teaching intermediate and advanced courses in domestic public policy and the introductory course in American government. The specific area of specialization within public policy is open.

Teaching experience is preferred. The teaching load is 3/2 and includes participation in the College's general education program, Connections.

Faculty maintain active research programs and contribute to the College's shared governance. Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, teaching and research statements, teaching evaluation forms and samples of scholarly writing to Professor Matthew Schousen at Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/43079>. Deadline for application is October 1, 2017.

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

The person selected for this tenure-track position may also be considered for a supplemental appointment as a Franklin & Marshall (Mellon) High Impact Emerging Scholar (M/HIES). These are scholars who possess outstanding promise for inspiring and supporting the educational development of underrepresented minority students in a higher educational setting such as F&M. High Impact Emerging Scholars demonstrate similarly high promise for positively impacting the campus' organizational and academic culture to make it more inclusive of and responsive to underrepresented minority students. Selected finalists that meet these additional qualifications, in addition to those outlined by this ad, may be nominated by the department as F&M (Mellon) High Impact Emerging Scholar. If selected as a M/HIES, the person will receive a two-year appointment (additional to the tenure-track appointment) that begins as soon as the person joins the campus on the tenure-track. The M/HIES program supports the acceleration of one's research trajectory with a significantly reduced teaching load for two years along with supportive mentoring to advance the scholar's research and professional development. Candidates interested in being considered for nomination should indicate their interest in their cover letter and highlight any previous work in this area.

Start Date: Fall 2018Application Deadline: 10/1/2017Date Posted: 7/10/2017Salary: AnyeJobs ID: 2951Susquehanna University*Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics - Public Law

Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics
Department of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Susquehanna University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in American Politics beginning in the 2018-2019

academic year. Rank will be determined by credentials and experience. The successful candidate must be able to teach both introductory and advanced courses on American government and public law, including courses on diversity in the United States. The ability to offer a course on state and local politics will be considered a plus. The successful candidate will be expected to coordinate various law-related programs on campus, among them the legal studies minor.

Requirements include a Ph.D. or evidence that all doctoral degree requirements will be completed by August, 2018. Teaching experience is highly preferred and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and research in a small undergraduate liberal arts university is expected. Particular consideration will be given to those with administrative experience.

Review of applications will begin August 25, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Please submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching objectives and evidence of teaching effectiveness; statement on how you will contribute to the university's commitment to diversity and inclusion, including your knowledge of and experience with inclusive pedagogical practices in classroom teaching, advising, and mentoring; three letters of reference, and a current email address online at <https://jobs.susqu.edu/>.

As a living, learning and working community, Susquehanna University affirms its commitment to being an engaged, culturally inclusive campus. As we seek to embody the rich diversity of the human community, we commit ourselves to the full participation of persons who represent the breadth of human difference. The university encourages candidates from historically underrepresented groups to apply. Susquehanna University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Susquehanna University is a national liberal arts college committed to excellence in educating students for productive, creative and reflective lives of achievement, leadership and service in a diverse, dynamic and interdependent world. Its more than 2,200 undergraduates come from 35 states and 22 countries, and all students study away through Susquehanna's unique Global Opportunities program. Susquehanna University's 325 acre campus, noted for its beauty, is located in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, 50 miles north of Harrisburg in the scenic Susquehanna River Valley, about a three hour drive from Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and New York City. For more information, please visit <https://www.susqu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2948

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Political Institutions

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a tenure track position in the field of American Political Institutions to begin September 1, 2018. We are especially interested in candidates at the assistant professor rank. This is a university year appointment. Promise of excellence in research and teaching is required. Application review will begin September 1, 2017. Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts (for entry-level candidates), and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Applications should also submit three letters of recommendation. The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples. <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci/faculty-hiring.html>

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/7/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2946

San Diego State University

Rank: Politics of Race and Ethnicity

Specializations: African American Politics, Latino Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

The Political Science Department at San Diego State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Politics of Race and/or Ethnicity at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin Fall 2018. The department seeks candidates who have a well-developed research agenda, a promise of sustained scholarly productivity and a record of effective and devoted teaching.

The department is open to all areas of expertise within race and ethnicity and particularly encourages those studying African-American or Latino politics. Substantive topics of interest may include but are not limited to social movements-protest politics, economic justice, environmental racism, democracy, law and race, and comparative examinations of race-ethnicity. The successful candidate will be able to teach a range of political science courses, including our upper-division undergraduate course, Politics of Race and Ethnicity.

The Political Science Department at San Diego State is dedicated to the ideal of the engaged teacher-scholar. It has approximately 500 undergraduate majors and provides course offerings for students with a wide variety of backgrounds and interests. At the graduate level, the department maintains an M.A. program of high quality. The members of the faculty share a strong commitment to collegiality, active participation in the governing of the department, innovative scholarship, methodological pluralism, rigorous teaching, and probing intellectual and normative engagement in teaching and research. Candidates are encouraged to consult the department website: <http://politicalscience.sdsu.edu/>

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/42903>. To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by October 2, 2017. The screening of applications will begin on this date and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. by the start of the term of appointment will be given priority. Those without a Ph.D. currently in-hand should include in their letter of interest a statement of progress on the dissertation, indicating reasons to expect completion in a timely fashion.

Further inquiries should be addressed to:
Ronnee Schreiber, Chair of the Department, at rschreib@mail.sdsu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2937

Stanford University

Rank: American Politics, Race & Ethnicity - Open Rank

The Stanford Department of Political Science, in collaboration with the Center for the Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity, is seeking applicants for a tenure-track or tenured faculty position in Race and Ethnicity in the subfield of American Politics. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2018. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Untenured applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a CV, and a writing sample. Tenured applicants may submit a CV and writing sample.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 1, 2017, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajojobs/9322>

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/6/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2942

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Political Behavior)

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno is soliciting applications for a tenure-track, full time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science to begin in the fall semester of 2018. The primary focus of our search is American Political Behavior. Preference will be given to candidates conducting quantitative research in public opinion, voting behavior, political parties, and/or media, though candidates with a comparative perspective will be given consideration. Duties include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the University.

The normal teaching load is 2 courses per semester, but may be subject to change. Candidates are expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower division undergraduate, upper division undergraduate, and graduate MA/PhD). Candidates must be able to teach an introduction to American Politics course. Applicants should demonstrate a strong potential for research publication. Experience with external grant funding is a plus. Preference will be given to candidates whose research demonstrates methodological sophistication and who have the ability to teach research methodology at the graduate, MA/Ph.D. level. Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by August 15th, 2018.

To apply, please visit: <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/25082> for more information and application process. Position is open until filled, but application review will begin October 6, 2017.

The University of Nevada, Reno is the State of Nevada's land grant institution of higher education and is one of eight institutions of higher education governed by the State of Nevada System of Higher Education. With a growing and increasingly diverse student enrollment of approximately 21,000 including over 2,800 graduate students, the University provides a comprehensive selection of degree programs at the undergraduate, graduate and doctoral levels. The University is currently classified (Carnegie) as "Research University/High" which places it among the top 200 colleges and universities in the United States. The University of Nevada, is located 45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and within four hours from San Francisco and the Napa-Sonoma wine country.

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes that diversity promotes excellence in education and research. We are an inclusive and engaged community and recognize the added value that students, faculty, and staff from different backgrounds bring to the educational experience.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2940

University of San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Urban Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics with expertise on State and Local politics. Applicants should have completed a PhD in Political Science before September 2018.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer a variety of lower and upper division courses that meet the needs of the Department of Political Science and International Relations. The department has strengths in American national institutions, campaign and party politics, race and politics, environmental politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and research methods. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach introductory and upper division courses in state and local politics, qualitative or quantitative research methods, and other courses in American politics that fit with his or her substantive interests. There will be opportunities for the successful candidate to lead the department's internship program in collaboration with other campus units, community organizations, and The Washington Center.

Candidates must be fully committed to liberal arts education and to excellence in teaching and student advising. Candidates must also demonstrate a significant scholarly agenda, and will be expected to engage actively in service at the departmental, college, and/or university levels after the first year. The normal teaching load is three courses every semester.

Competitive salary and benefits, including a travel allowance and other funding opportunities.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, official graduate transcripts, a description of the research agenda, three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and scholarly abilities, and a writing sample. Additionally, candidates must provide evidence of excellence in teaching, including a statement of teaching philosophy and a summary of teaching evaluations. The cover letter should make sure to describe the courses the candidate would prefer to teach.

Candidates are encouraged to submit their resumes and statements of interest at their earliest convenience. To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete by October 1. Please contact Search Committee Chair, Dr. Casey Dominguez with questions or to request an informal interview at the 2017 APSA conference in San Francisco, CA.

Dr. Casey Dominguez
caseydominguez@sandiego.edu
619.260.6870

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and search for IRC24238.

Letters of recommendation should be emailed to Tiffany Clark: tiffanyclark@sandiego.edu

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/1/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2933

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor in the Political Institutions subfield of American Politics

The Political Science Department at the University of California, Irvine seeks a tenure track Assistant Professor in the Political Institutions subfield of American Politics beginning July 1, 2018. Salary is commensurate with academic qualifications and experience. We have particular interest in the fields of legislative behavior, the mass media, and the bureaucracy but we are open to anyone researching any aspect of American political institutions. Applicants with a variety of methodological approaches will be considered.

Candidates should apply online at: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF04070>.

The online application should include: a letter of application, curriculum vitae, at least three letters of recommendation, one writing sample, and evidence of teaching excellence. Given its commitment to encouraging diversity, UC Irvine asks that a separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion be included with the application. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees.

To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by October 1, 2017. Applications will be accepted, however, until the position is filled.

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 6/30/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2932

Auburn University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science, Auburn University, invites applications for tenure-track Assistant Professorship beginning August 16, 2018. All subfields in American Politics and American Government will be considered, and candidates in the field of voting, elections, representation, campaigns, election reform, and/or election administration are highly desired. The successful candidate must demonstrate the ability to teach a variety of graduate and undergraduate courses in the American Government subfield. The candidate is expected to teach the Department's University Core Course: American Government in a Multicultural World.

Required qualifications include an earned doctorate in Political Science by the start date for the rank of Assistant Professor; however, ABDs will be considered for appointment at the rank of Instructor. The candidate selected for this position must be able to meet eligibility requirements to work in the United States at the time the appointment is scheduled to begin and continue working legally during employment; excellent communication skills are required.

Auburn University is Alabama's largest land grant university, enrolling over 25,000 students. The Political Science Department maintains a diverse faculty of 26 tenured and tenure-track members and offers undergraduate degrees in political science, public administration, and health administration; Master degree programs in public administration (MPA) and community planning (MCP) with graduate certificates in Election Administration, Nonprofit Organizations and Community Governance; and a Ph.D. program in public administration and public policy.

Review of applications will begin September 30, 2017.

To apply please visit <https://aufacultypositions.peopleadmin.com/>. You will be required to include a cover letter outlining your qualifications for the position, curriculum vitae, at least three letters of recommendation, teaching evaluations, a one-page statement of research program, a one-page statement of teaching philosophy, and a writing sample.

Direct questions to Dr. Kathleen Hale, American Politics Search Committee Chair, Department of Political Science, 7080 Haley Center, Auburn University, AL, 36849-6174. Fax 334-844-5348. Email polisci@auburn.edu.

"Diversity among its administrators, faculty, staff, and students is an Auburn University commitment. Auburn University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. It is our policy to provide equal employment opportunities for all individuals without regard to race, sex, religion, color, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other classification protected by applicable law."

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/30/2017
Date Posted: 6/27/2017

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2922

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in American Politics. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2018. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send three professional letters of recommendation, a CV, and a writing sample.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 1, 2017, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AcademicJobsOnline.org

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/30/2017
Date Posted: 6/21/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2914

Southwestern University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Southwestern University invites applicants for a tenure track position in American Politics beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year. We will consider a range of specializations within the American Politics subfield, but candidates should be able to teach a research methods course (ideally combining quantitative and qualitative methods) and have interest in advising internships and participating in our legislative internships program.

Applicants should have classroom experience, a passion for teaching undergraduates at a select liberal arts college, and should be committed to a teacher-scholar model that combines excellence in the classroom with an active and sustained research agenda.

We seek applicants excited about working in a student-centered, undergraduate liberal-arts setting, with a focus on engaged teaching and academic research, participation in shared governance and academic advising, and active involvement in an institution-wide advancement of diversity, sustainability, and social justice.

A doctorate in political science is required and applicants should have completed their Ph.D. by August 31st, 2018. We will be conducting interviews for this position at APSA. The application deadline is October 15th, 2018. The successful candidate would teach a 3-2 course load.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, a summary of your recent teaching evaluations (if available), three letters of reference addressing teaching performance and abilities, your teaching philosophy and a short list of courses in which you have a strong interest in teaching to Interfolio at the following website: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42558>

Southwestern University is a selective, undergraduate private institution committed to a broad-based liberal arts, sciences, and fine arts education. Southwestern currently enrolls approximately 1,500 students and maintains a student to faculty ratio of 12 to 1. In addition to a number of other national organizations, Southwestern University is a member of two consortia of liberal arts colleges, the Associated Colleges of the South and the Annapolis Group. Located in Georgetown, Texas, 28 miles north of downtown Austin, Southwestern is committed to fostering a diverse educational environment and encourages applications from members of groups traditionally under-represented in academia. For information concerning the University, visit our Web site at www.southwestern.edu.

All offers of employment are contingent on successful completion of the University's Background Check Policy process. Southwestern University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2900

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Congress, Quantitative Methods, Public Opinion

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science
 Department of Political Science & Intern Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNY Geneseo is seeking applicants for a Visiting Assistant Professor position to begin August, 2017. The appointment is for one year. Duties of the position include:

- Teach undergraduate courses in political science. Required courses include Introduction to American Politics, Legislative Politics, and Social Science Research Methods. Preference will be given to candidates that could also teach a course on Public Opinion and Mass Media
- Contribute service to the department, including advising students.

Required Qualifications

- PhD or ABD in Political Science at time of appointment.
- Primary expertise in American Politics.
- Evidence of preparation to teach undergraduate courses in American Politics and social science research methods.

Preferred Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science, conferred by August 2017.
- Evidence of an active scholarly program in political science.
- Evidence of successful college teaching.

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter that addresses teaching and research qualifications and a CV. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit a letter at the time application is completed. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt. To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by July 5, 2017. The final date that letters of reference will be accepted is July 7, 2017.

To apply visit <https://jobs.geneseo.edu/hr/postings/1723>

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2902

American University

Rank: Professorial Lecturer, One-Year Position in Political Science

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a term faculty appointment for Academic Year 2017-18. Rank will be dependent on experience and stature in the field. The appointment is a 9-month term position and will commence on August 28, 2017.

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered as instructors. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate courses per semester in political science, including, but not limited to, introductory classes in American Politics and Comparative Politics. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42035>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and proposed syllabi. Please contact Julian Escarraga at govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2895

Lamar University

Rank: Jack Brooks Endowed Chair of Government & Public Service

Specializations: Congress, Leadership Studies, Legislative Studies

The Department of Political Science is seeking a scholar with outstanding teaching and research potential for the Jack Brooks Chair in Government and Public Service beginning August 15, 2018.

The holder of the Chair will have a tenure track appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in the Department of Political Science. The Chair will teach six hours per semester, including graduate seminars and undergraduate courses in Congress, Legislative Processes and Leadership.

In addition to a nine-month salary, which is dependent on qualifications and experience, the Brooks Chair includes a summer research stipend.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science or Government. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials. Preference will be given to PhD candidates with advanced degrees in Political Science or Government and specializing in leadership studies or the legislature.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate students; maintain an active service agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson, <https://jobs.lamar.edu>

If your letters of recommendation are confidential, please have the letters mailed to the address above or emailed to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 1/12/2018
Date Posted: 6/19/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2894

Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Latin American or Latino Studies
Specializations: Latin American, Latino Politics, Immigration Policy

The Department of Political Science and Latin American and Latino Studies (LALS) Program at Lehigh University seek to hire an Assistant Professor to begin in the fall term of the 2018 academic year. The position will be a joint appointment in Political Science (the department of tenure) and LALS. We are looking for a colleague with a demonstrated record of achievement in U.S. domestic Latinx Studies (in such areas as Latinx and Caribbean communities, Latinx civic engagement, immigration, labor issues, and gender studies) and/or comparative Latin American politics with a focus on transnationalism in Latino communities. The candidate should be committed to creative scholarship and teaching which complement and augment the LALS program's interdisciplinary strengths. The normal teaching load for this position is two courses each semester, which will be cross-listed in political science and LALS.

The university offers a competitive salary commensurate with rank and Lehigh offers excellent benefits including domestic partner benefits.

Completed applications are due by October 1, 2017. They must include a letter of interest, a current CV, three letters of reference, and representative reprints of any publications. These materials should be submitted online by accessing <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9250>.

For additional information please contact: Dr. Laura Katz Olson, Search Committee Chair, at lko1@lehigh.edu or Dr. Matthew Bush, Director of Latin American and Latino Studies, at mab508@lehigh.edu.

Lehigh University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Recognized among the nation's premier research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Political Science Department website: <https://polisci.cas2.lehigh.edu/>; and the Lehigh Work/Life Balance for Faculty Web site: http://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/work_life_balance.html

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 6/15/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2886

Lehigh University

Rank: Department Chair

The Department of Political Science at Lehigh University invites applications for Department Chair. Appointment to the position begins on August 15, 2018.

We seek an innovative leader whose record qualifies for appointment at the rank of full professor with tenure, or associate professor with tenure (with credentials to soon merit application to full). The Department invites applicants who bring relevant academic and administrative experience, and welcomes applications from scholars in all areas within political science, with a preference for expertise in any of the subfields of American Politics.

Serving approximately 70 undergraduate majors and 15 graduate students, the Department of Political Science offers a BA degree, and a one-year MA in Political Science.

The department chair is expected to provide academic and administrative leadership to 15 faculty and staff, teach two courses per year, conduct research, oversee and engage in departmental operations including budgetary management, and serve as a member of the College's leadership team.

Qualifications include a doctorate in political science, public administration, public policy or related field, along with an established record of excellence in (1) scholarly achievement (2) teaching, and (3) administrative leadership. The incoming chair must demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion and excellent communication, mentoring, and organizational skills. The university offers a competitive salary commensurate with rank and Lehigh offers excellent benefits including domestic partner benefits.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest that addresses the academic and administrative qualifications for this position, a curriculum vitae, and contact information of three references. These materials should be submitted online by accessing <http://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9248>. For additional information please contact: Dr. Laura Katz Olson, Search Committee Chair, at lko1@lehigh.edu

Screening of applications will begin on September 15 and will continue until the position has been filled. Lehigh University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We welcome and encourage applications from women and minorities.

Recognized among the nation's premier research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Political Science Department website: <https://polisci.cas2.lehigh.edu/>; and the Lehigh Work/Life Balance for Faculty Web site: http://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/work_life_balance.html

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/15/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2885

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics-Political Behavior
Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Electoral Behavior

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications for two tenure track assistant professorships starting in August 2018. These positions are part of the Department's Political Behavior hiring initiative. Candidates' research interests for one position are expected to focus on political psychology/behavior. For the other position, possible areas of expertise include, but are not limited to: voting behavior, public opinion, race & politics, political psychology, identity politics, women & politics, and campaign politics. Strong quantitative skills are encouraged but not required.

Minimum Qualifications: Qualifications include a Ph.D. or near completed Ph.D. in political science, and demonstrated potential for excellence in scholarship. If still ABD, the Ph.D. requirement will have to be completed by June 30, 2018.

Applicants should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a current CV, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, teaching evaluations (if available), and at least three letters of recommendation. Materials should be submitted electronically to <http://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/2310>. Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, Baldwin Hall, University of Georgia, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications received by September 25th, 2017 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/departments-centers/department-of-political-science/>.

Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities (www.georgia.gov). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/14/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2878

American University

Rank: Professorial Lecturer, One-Year Position in Political Science Methods

Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a term faculty appointment for Academic Year 2017-18. Rank will be dependent on experience and stature in the field. The appointment is a 9-month term position and will commence on August 28, 2017.

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered as instructors. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate courses per semester in political science methods, including, but not limited to Introduction to Research Methods. A successful candidate should also be able to teach introductory classes in American Politics or Comparative Politics. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42032>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and proposed syllabi. Please contact Julian Escarraga at govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2858

Western Washington University

Rank: African American Politics

African American Politics

The Political Science Department and the American Cultural Studies Program at Western Washington University invite applications for a tenure-track position in African American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning in September 2018. The tenure line will reside in Political Science. Teaching responsibilities will be divided between Political Science and American Cultural Studies.

Minimum requirements include: expected completion of the PhD by June 15, 2019; specialization in one of the following: African American political behavior, African Americans and American Political Development, African Americans and American Political Institutions, or African American Political Thought; ability to effectively teach introductory and upper division courses in American Politics, including advanced courses in African American Politics and American Cultural Studies; ability to effectively teach introductory research methods/social statistics; ability to conduct high quality research in African American Politics; ability to work and interact with culturally diverse student organizations and academic programs, ability to work effectively within a diverse community of students, faculty, and staff. Ability to pursue a methodologically intersectional approach to African American politics is a desired qualification.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications, curriculum vitae, syllabi and related teaching material, teaching evaluations (if available), example(s) of scholarly writing, and three letters of recommendation. All application materials must be submitted through Western's Electronic Application System for Employment (EASE) at <http://www.wvu.edu/jobs>. Application review begins 25 September 2017; position closes October 16, 2017. Inquiries may be directed to the search committee chair, Vernon Johnson, at Vernon.johnson@wvu.edu

EOE/AA

For disability accommodation

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/16/2017

Date Posted: 5/10/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2830

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for part-time adjunct teaching positions. The Department may have need of adjuncts to teach a small number of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science and Public Administration. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names, addresses, email addresses and phone numbers of three references. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted. Applications must be received by July 15th.

Successful applicants will be required to submit to a background check as a condition of employment. BGSU is an AA/EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities regardless of age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 7/15/2017

Date Posted: 5/8/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2827

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Behavior, Electoral Behavior, Women & Politics

The Department of Politics at The University of the South seeks applications for a tenure-track position in American politics, specializing in political behavior, to begin August 2018. A Ph.D. in political science is required. ABDs must possess the degree by the time of appointment. Advanced scholars are encouraged to apply with some consideration given to faculty who are tenured or on the tenure track. The Department is also hiring for a tenure-track position in political theory, so academic couples are welcome to apply.

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year. The successful candidate will teach American Government and Politics and upper division courses. Candidates should be able to offer courses in political behavior, such as campaigns and elections, media, and parties and interest groups, as well as specialized courses exploring issues of identity and diversity regarding race, ethnicity, gender, and/or sexual orientation. An ability to teach quantitative methods is a plus. The successful candidate will show evidence of effective classroom teaching and a commitment to scholarly research and publication.

The University of the South comprises a well-regarded College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and a distinguished School of Theology. It is an institution of the Episcopal Church that welcomes individuals of all backgrounds. The University is located on a striking, 13,000-acre campus on Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau. The University of the South is an equal opportunity educational institution that is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse and inclusive campus environment.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, brief writing sample, sample syllabi, course evaluations, graduate transcript, and at least three letters of recommendation. These materials should be submitted through the application portal at <https://jobs.sewanee.edu>. (Any materials that are not able to be uploaded may be sent directly to krkleinf@sewanee.edu.) Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful prescreening. To be considered for an interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association, applications must be received by August 15, 2017. For full consideration applications must be received by September 30, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/30/2017

Date Posted: 5/2/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2815

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Applicants for a position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography, open rank, must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology. Preference will be given to applicants who have expertise in public policy related to coastal environments and/or experience in interdisciplinary, environmental social sciences focusing on public policy and coastal ecology. The anticipated starting date is flexible and can be as early as August 2017.

The successful applicant will be expected to bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact research, and be able to develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have, or be able to establish, a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

We are bringing together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries, or are working in transdisciplinary fields, in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>). This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems. This individual will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/46716> (Position #38660) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of any history of interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an ongoing basis until the position is filled.

The University of Central Florida, with more than 63,000 students, has grown in quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years and is committed to being inclusive and diverse by building a faculty who are a reflection of the students they teach. For more information about this position please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster search committee Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/30/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2747

University of Idaho

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Politics & Philosophy seeks well qualified applicants for a full-time (9 month) tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science. Beginning August 2017 this position will teach courses to support the on campus and on line Master of Public Administration program, and the undergraduate political science curriculum. The faculty member will conduct research on local government administration and public administration, and provide service to the Department of Politics and Philosophy and the Center for Local Government Research and Outreach.

Minimum Qualifications:

PhD in Political Science or Public Administration.

Teaching and research expertise in local government administration and public administration.

Preferred Qualifications:

Expertise in local government administration and research methods. Evidence of teaching and research effectiveness.

Background Check: Applicants who are selected as final possible candidates must be able to pass a criminal background check.

To apply, please visit: jobs.uidaho.edu

EEO Statement

University of Idaho is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 12/29/2017

Date Posted: 12/12/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2476

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D. in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff. Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2124

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
Political Science Department
2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Harvard University International and Area Studies

Rank: Academy Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Africa, Central America, East Asia

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies Academy Scholars Program, 2018-2019

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences (including law) with a command of the language, history, or culture of non-Western countries or regions. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in non-Western cultures or regions shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Scholars applying by the October 1, 2017 deadline for the August 2018 postdoctoral fellowships must have completed the PhD or equivalent after September 30, 2014.

Academy Scholars are appointed for 2 years at the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies and are provided time, guidance, and access to Harvard University facilities. They receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire accessory training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of senior Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $67,000, and predoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until they are awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the postdoctoral fellowships beginning in August 2018 is due by October 1, 2017. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 6, 2017. Notification of Scholarships will be made in late December, 2017. For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <http://www.academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 3074

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Latin American, Post Communist Europe, Africa

The Department of International Affairs (DIA) at the University of Georgia invites applications for two tenure track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of comparative politics, to begin in the fall semester of 2018. Candidates are expected to have demonstrated an ability to produce high quality research and show promise of external funding. While we seek a scholar who is broadly trained in the concepts, methods, and approaches in comparative politics, we are particularly interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests are in the areas of sub-Saharan African, Latin American, or post-communist politics. The candidate should be engaged in theory driven research with an ability to apply appropriate empirical methods of theory testing and is expected to have a deep understanding of the historical, cultural, and political background of the region in which he/she is interested.

The School of Public and International Affairs, of which the DIA is one of three Departments, has two state of the art experimental research labs – one for group surveys and experiments; the other for political psychophysiological research. Candidates who can make use of these facilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Minimum qualifications: The Ph.D. degree in political science or near completion of dissertation is required. For ABD applicants, the degree must be completed by August 1, 2018.

Prospective candidates should send a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation in electronic form to the UGA Faculty Job site at <http://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/2519>. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 309, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applications received by September 20, 2017 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life for both outdoor and urban activities (www.georgia.gov). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of International Affairs is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3077

Weber State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

Candidates are invited to apply for a tenure-track appointment as an Assistant Professor in Political Science in Comparative Politics (specialization open) beginning fall semester, of the 2018-2019 academic year. Weber State University is a Comprehensive Regional University with 26,000 students, located in Ogden, Utah, in the foothills of the Wasatch Mountains.

The candidate who is hired will have the opportunity to shape the Comparative Politics curriculum. Standard Teaching load is four courses a semester, with opportunities for course load reductions.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates with a PhD are preferred, but ABDs will be considered.

Preferred Qualifications:

Prior teaching experience, including an ability to teach an intro level American Government and/or Intro to Political Science course is a plus.

To apply, please complete the online faculty/staff data form at <http://jobs.weber.edu> and attach a cover letter, current CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness, copy of graduate transcripts, and the names and contact information for three professional references. Letters of reference may also be attached as optional applicant documents.

Screening of applications will begin October 15, 2017. Position will remain open until filled.

Criminal background check required as a condition of employment.

EOE/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disability

The position comes with a competitive salary and a generous benefits package that includes medical, dental, retirement, a wellness program with paid incentives, tuition benefits, and free tickets to athletic and performing arts events.

Inquiries welcome to Department Chair, Dr. Thom Kuehls: tkuehls@weber.edu, 801 626-6698.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3075

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: NON - TENURE TRACK FACULTY FELLOW, Center for European & Mediterranean Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Western Europe, International Political Economy, Post Communist Europe

NON - TENURE TRACK FACULTY FELLOW

Center for European & Mediterranean Studies

ARTS AND SCIENCE

New York University

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies in Arts and Science at New York University invites applicants for a Faculty Fellow position. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2018, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

CEMS/NYU seeks a scholar specializing in one or more of the following fields: comparative European and Mediterranean politics, anthropology, sociology, or contemporary or recent European and Mediterranean history. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and/or teaching interests concerning the European Union and/or political, economic and social relations and developments in Europe. Responsibilities include teaching three courses per year (including undergraduate and graduate seminars and capstone courses), and a significant role in advising theses for both MA students and undergraduate seniors. Student advising is a key component of this position. Service to the program will also involve representing the Center at university occasions and committee meetings. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching, and have completed the Ph.D. no earlier than 2013.

To apply, see the NYU Center for European and Mediterranean Studies website at <http://as.nyu.edu/cems/Employment.html>. The applicant should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three references. The deadline for applications is January 19, 2018.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read <http://as.nyu.edu/administrative-resources/office/dean/diversity-initiative.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 1/19/2018

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3066

Pitzer College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Studies

Specializations: South Asia, Southeast Asia, Middle East

Pitzer College, a member of the Claremont Colleges, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Studies with an emphasis in Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching focus on East Asia or Southeast Asia, South Asia, or the Middle East, but we are open to outstanding candidates who study any region. Attractive teaching and research interests include public policy. The position is set to begin the Fall Semester of 2018. Normally a Ph.D. expected by commencement of the fall semester.

Application Instructions and Deadline

To apply, please visit Faculty Positions at Pitzer or enter the following address in your browser:

<https://pitzer.peopleadmin.com/postings/959>

The deadline to apply is October 2, 2017, or until the position is filled.

We will also be conducting preliminary interviews at this APSA's annual conference in San Francisco, August 31-September 3, 2017.

Applicants interested in a preliminary interview at APSA (not required to be considered for the position) should email a brief note of interest to facultyjobs@pitzer.edu and upload a current CV to <https://pitzer.peopleadmin.com/postings/959> by Aug 14. Applicants will be contacted about interview times shortly thereafter.

Required Materials

(Accepted only with applications submitted through Faculty Positions at Pitzer)

1. Letter of application
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Recent course evaluations as evidence of teaching effectiveness
4. Statement addressing how the applicant's cultural, experiential, and/or academic background contributes to the understanding of diversity at the College.

Professional Recommendations

Contact information for three recommendation providers is required. Applicants will be prompted to submit contact information for recommendation providers while completing the online application.

Recommendation providers will be contacted via automated system email with a link and instructions for uploading letters following successful submission of the complete application. NOTE: Please advise recommendation providers to adjust spam filters accordingly.

Application Questions

Please see the Help link at <https://pitzer.peopleadmin.com/postings/959> or write to facultyjobs@pitzer.edu. Due to the high volume of applications we receive, we cannot respond to inquiries regarding the status of submitted applications.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 10/2/2017

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3063

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for one or more tenure-track junior faculty positions, which may be joint with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. These positions are open with respect to subfield and involve teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/2641>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. For best consideration apply by September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3059

Princeton University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, International Relations or Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from senior scholars in the fields of international relations or comparative politics. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at <http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs>. Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on September 1, 2017.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3070

University of Denver

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professor (Comparative/International Political Economy)

Specializations: Latin American, Middle East, South Asia

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start in Fall 2018 in the field of Comparative or International Political Economy. We are most interested in candidates with research expertise in environmental politics and policy or regional expertise in Latin America, the Middle East, or South Asia. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division comparative/international politics courses, introductory courses, and other university requirements. The University of Denver embraces a scholar-teacher model where faculty balance their commitment to rigorous research with undergraduate education. We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum such as internships, simulations, or service learning. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University and departmental service.

The Department of Political Science is an undergraduate-only department with faculty actively engaged in research and teaching students primarily in the context of small classes with intensive writing assignments and close interaction. We aim to develop students' capacity to think and engage the world constructively long after graduation. We currently have nine full-time faculty members with emphases in American politics, comparative and international politics, political theory, and law. For information about the department, please click here.

Essential Functions

- Teach the equivalent of six courses across three quarters per academic year.
- Pursue a fruitful research agenda that results in high quality scholarly publications.
- Advise students.
- Contribute to University and departmental service.

Knowledge, Skills and Abilities

- Expertise in CPE/IPE, ideally combined with one of the following sub-specialties: environmental politics and policy or Latin America, the Middle East, or South Asia.

Required Qualifications

- ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related Social Science field (e.g. international affairs/relations, institutional economics, sociology). A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the title of Instructor until completion of Ph.D.
- Experience teaching undergraduate courses in political (or related social) science.
- Experience interacting with diverse communities or evidence of a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to effectively engage broadly diverse student populations.

Preferred Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science or related Social Science.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through www.du.edu/jobs to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. Once within the job description online, please scroll to the bottom of the page to apply. Priority will be given to applications received by September 11, 2017, but will consider applications until the position is filled. For questions regarding this position, please contact Doug Booth at Douglas.Booth@du.edu.

Please include the following documents with your application:

- CV
- Letter of interest
- Research & Teaching Statements
- Transcripts
- Teaching evaluations and course syllabi
- Samples of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book, and/or two articles).
- Inclusive excellence statement (The separate inclusive excellence statement should be a succinct description of how the candidate's research, teaching, and/or service contributes to inclusive excellence and involves effective interaction with members of historically underrepresented communities. See <http://www.du.edu/cme/resources/inclusive-excellence.html> for more details.)

-At least three letters of recommendation, which can be emailed to polisci@du.edu.

NOTE: The online system is limited to uploading 5 files. Please combine content if necessary to get all content uploaded.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/11/2017

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3068

University of Exeter

Rank: Lecturer (2 positions) in Politics/International Relations
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

Lecturer in Politics/International Relations (two permanent positions)

Job reference: P57863

Application closing date: 28/08/2017

Location: Exeter (Streatham Campus), UK

The starting salary will be from £33,943 up to £41,709 on Grade F, depending on qualifications and experience. The position includes generous holiday allowances, flexible working, pension scheme and relocation package (if applicable).

The University of Exeter

The university is a Russell Group university boasting a vibrant academic community with over 21,000 students. Ranked in the top 1% of universities in the world, 98% of our research is rated as being of international quality and focuses on some of the most fundamental issues facing the world today. We encourage proactive engagement with industry, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.

The Department of Politics

Politics at Exeter is a large, diverse, collegiate, and pluralistic department, with over fifty permanent faculty members across two campuses (in Devon and Cornwall). We specialise in a wide array of areas including international relations, political theory, public administration, electoral behaviour, European governance, rural policy, and quantitative and qualitative methods. The last two UK research assessment exercises (REF2014 and RAE2008) have placed us firmly in the top ten departments in the country. In addition to our commitment to world-class research, we prioritise first-rate teaching, and regularly excel in the National Student Survey. Over half of our faculty members are non-UK and we warmly welcome international applicants.

The positions

These roles will be based at our Streatham campus in Exeter.

The department wishes to appoint two Lecturers in Politics/International Relations, as part of a strategic investment designed to further enrich our research and teaching. We will consider applicants from any area or sub-field of Politics, but are particularly interested in the following themes: international development, international political economy, the politics of food, environmental politics, migration studies, gender, global governance, health and well-being, parliamentary studies, and the politics of Africa and/or Asia.

The post will involve conducting research of international quality, the delivery of outstanding teaching, and collegiate contribution to a friendly and dynamic department.

About you

For a Lecturer post you will have:

- A PhD or equivalent in Politics or International Relations and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in a relevant active field of research
- A strong record in attracting funding for research, or the potential to attract such funding
- An active approach to inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary research
- Enthusiasm for delivering high quality undergraduate programmes
- Strong connections and funded projects with business and community partners
- Involvement in projects which develop impact.

What we can offer you:

- The support you need to pursue intellectual interests and to work creatively across disciplines to produce internationally exciting research;
 - Support teams that understand the University wide research and teaching goals and partner with our academics accordingly
- Our Exeter Academic initiative supporting high performing academics to achieve their potential and develop their career
A beautiful campus set in the heart of stunning Devon

Please ensure you read our Job Description and Person Specification for full details of this role.

For an informal and confidential discussion about the post please contact Head of Politics, Associate Professor Robert Lamb (tel: 01392-722054, email: r.lamb@ex.ac.uk).

The complete job description can be found here: <http://admin.exeter.ac.uk/personnel/jobs/P57863.pdf>

The University of Exeter is an equal opportunity employer. We are officially recognised as a Disability Confident employer and an Athena Swan accredited institution. Whilst all applicants will be judged on merit alone, we particularly welcome applications from groups currently underrepresented in the workforce.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/28/2017

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3034

Davidson College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Davidson College: The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor specializing in Comparative and/or International Politics to begin July 1, 2018. Demonstrated potential for excellence in and enthusiasm for teaching, active and high quality scholarship, and commitment to student advising and support are essential. We are interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests include some aspect of comparative public policy – in health, education, social policy, immigration, private sector regulation, development, or other policy domains. The candidate should be broadly enough trained to be able to contribute to wider course offerings in other comparative and/or international politics subfields, and possess a willingness to expand his or her teaching and research interests in response to emerging political issues. The search is open to expertise in any region of the world, including cross-regional comparison. The ability to teach a comparative course on a specific region of the world would be attractive but is not required. We also welcome applications from candidates with strong multi-methodological skills, and with a pluralistic approach to social science methodology; with trans-disciplinary interests that complement Davidson College's growing inter-disciplinary programs; and with potential to contribute to the department's existing strength in integrating liberal arts education with policy engagement. The successful applicant will be expected to offer five courses per year (four in the first year of employment) including an introductory course in either international or comparative politics; upper-level courses and seminars; and, in rotation with other faculty, our required research methods course. Applications from both Ph.D.-holders and very advanced ABDs will be considered.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; graduate school transcript; a statement addressing the candidate's research agenda and interests; a statement explaining the candidate's demonstrated or potential excellence in and enthusiasm for undergraduate teaching; and a statement outlining how the candidate's teaching, service, and/or research might contribute to Davidson College's institutional commitment to diversity and inclusion. The deadline for receipt of applications is September 20, 2017. All application materials can be submitted at <http://employment.davidson.edu>. Please note that the department will not be holding pre-interviews at the APSA conference in San Francisco.

Davidson is a highly-selective, nationally-ranked, residential, four-year liberal arts college located 20 minutes north of Charlotte in Davidson, N.C. Davidson is strongly committed to achieving excellence and cultural diversity, and welcomes applications from women, members of minority groups, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's mission.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/20/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3056

National University of Singapore

Rank: Associate/Full Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an Associate or Full Professor in any of its subfields, which are Comparative Politics, Governance and Public Policy, International Relations, and Political Theory. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research and publication and be able to provide evidence of superior teaching and proven capacity for leadership. The Department of Political Science and the National University of Singapore are highly research-oriented. The teaching load is three modules year academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Applicants should send a CV, a letter detailing their teaching and research interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox12@nus.edu.sg. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3044

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lectureship in Comparative Politics, Governance & Public Policy, and/or Methods

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an educator-track Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Political Science to teach research methods as well as other modules in either Comparative Politics or Governance and Public Policy for our undergraduate curriculum. The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester), of which about two or three should be in methods.

Lectureships at NUS are career positions in which advancement (to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor) is possible. Appointments are for three years initially and are renewable on an ongoing basis, subject to good performance and departmental teaching needs. Compensation and benefits are similar to those of faculty members on the tenure track and are competitive.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science. The Department recognizes four main subfields: Comparative Politics; Governance and Public Policy; International Relations; and Political Theory. The Department also hosts the programme in Global Studies.

Candidates should send a CV, a letter detailing their research and teaching interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg. Candidates should also submit sample syllabi, student evaluations, and other evidence of teaching quality. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS

(<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3041

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Position in Law and Legal Institutions in Muslim Societies (Assistant- or Associate-Level)

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or a tenured Associate Professor faculty position focused on law and legal institutions of Islam and/or Muslim societies in any time period.

The successful applicant for this position will be jointly appointed in the Stanford Law School and one of the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, History, Political Science, or Sociology. The successful applicant will have teaching and advising responsibilities in both the Law School and the School of Humanities and Sciences and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts. The exact structure of the appointment, including the share of the appointment in Law and Humanities and Sciences, will depend on the successful candidate. We have a preference for candidates who hold both a J.D. and Ph.D., but will also consider candidates with a Ph.D. and substantive expertise in Islamic law and institutions.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae including list of publications, and one recent writing sample. Assistant level and untenured associate level applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 15, 2017.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9282>

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/24/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3039

Utah State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary

The Department of Political Science at Utah State University invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning August 2018. We seek to fill a position in comparative politics. While the area of specialization in comparative politics is open, regional expertise in either Western Europe or Middle East is welcome. The salary is competitive.

The position is available beginning August 1, 2018. Application review will begin September 22, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled.

The Political Science Department at USU is housed within the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. The Department serves approximately 350-400 International Studies, Political Science, and Law and Constitutional Studies undergraduate majors and minors and a current group of 16 graduate students. Additionally, the department provides service courses or general education to students throughout the broader university community.

Utah State University is a land-grant university founded in 1888. The university is a Carnegie Doctoral Extensive research institution with approximately 23,000 students (19,000 undergraduates and 4,000 graduate students) from all 50 states and 80 foreign countries. The USU campus is located in Logan, Utah. Logan is located in a picturesque mountain valley with a population of over 100,000, about 80 miles north of Salt Lake City. Ski resorts, lakes, rivers, and mountains in the area make it one of the finest outdoor recreation environments in the nation. Visit <http://www.usu.edu> for more information about the University, College, and Department.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will conduct research and teach courses in comparative politics. Teaching responsibilities will include Master's and lower and upper division undergraduate courses in their areas of specialization. Responsibilities will include a primary role in research along with strong undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service. Performance will be consistent with a faculty role in a Carnegie Doctoral/Research Extensive University.

Minimum Qualifications

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a strong research profile in comparative politics. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in Political Science or a comparable field of study as of employment date, and demonstrated accomplishment and/or clear potential for success in research as well as undergraduate and graduate teaching in these specialties. They must also generate a satisfactory outcome on a background check.

Preferred Qualifications

Preference will be given to those with a strong research trajectory and demonstrated interest in teaching courses of need to the department.

Instructions to Applicants

Along with the online application, please attach:

- 1) a cover letter;
- 2) curriculum vitae;
- 3) The names and email addresses of three references (your references will be sent an email from USU asking them to upload a letter of recommendation on your behalf).
- 4) a professional writing sample, e.g. article or manuscript (.pdf, .doc, or .docx format);
- 5) a statement of teaching philosophy and, if available, evidence of teaching performance.
- 6) recent transcripts.

Apply through the link below:

<https://usu.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobid=2647>

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/23/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3012

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics of South Asia

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics of South Asia to begin July 1, 2018.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <http://apply.interfolio.com/43261>.

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2017, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/21/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3029

Tulane University

Rank: Greenleaf Scholar-In-Residence, Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Latin American, International Political Economy, Environmental Policy

Tulane University invites applications from mid-career scholars in Latin American Studies conducting interdisciplinary research in the social sciences to spend one or two semester(s) as a Greenleaf Scholar-in-Residence at the Stone Center for Latin American Studies during the 2018-2019 academic year. We seek scholars who address questions of social and gender inclusion, particularly with regard to the reduction of economic, environmental, health or other inequalities. We encourage applications from scholars in the fields of anthropology, development studies, economics, environmental studies, international studies, law, political science, public health, social medicine or sociology. Appointments for fall semester are from August 1 – December 31, 2018. Appointments for spring semester are from January 1– May 31, 2019. Salary is $40,000 per semester plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported.

Qualifications: Minimum Associate Professor status or above and a distinguished record of publication.

Application Instructions: Applications must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting <http://apply.interfolio.com/42704>. Please submit a CV including contact information for two professional references, as well as a cover letter describing how residence at Tulane will aid in advancing your research. Also, please provide a title and brief description of a course (or courses) you would be interested in offering. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017, but the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3028

University of Zurich

Rank: Professorship for Political Theory

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of Zurich invites applications for a Professorship for Political Theory

The position should be filled by August 1, 2018. Depending on the qualifications of the appointee, the professorship will take the form of a chair (full or associate professorship) or an assistant professorship with tenure track.

The focus of the position is on political institutions, preferably in relation to questions of democracy. Candidates should have a broad and internationally recognized research track record in the study of the development, functioning and/or effects of political institutions, or demonstrate the potential to develop such a record. The specific substantive or geographic focus of the position is open and can include local, national, and international institutions. Competences in positive political theory, formal modeling, and/or the analysis of the empirical implications of theoretical models are an advantage.

The position is located in the Department of Political Science (IPZ), which provides a dynamic and collaborative international environment for teaching and research. The department offers generous research and teaching support. In addition, the holder of the position is eligible to apply for Swiss National Science Foundation funding, as well as many other grant programs in Switzerland and the European Union.

Candidates should hold a PhD degree in Political Science at the time of application and have an excellent record of academic achievements in the relevant field. Teaching may be carried out in English. Since administrative work is conducted in German at the University of Zurich, non-German speaking candidates are expected to acquire a working knowledge of German within the first three years of appointment. In order to increase the number of women in leading academic positions, we specifically encourage women to apply.

The closing date for applications is September 10, 2017. Details on the application procedure are available on www.phil.uzh.ch/jobs.html. For further information please contact Prof. Fabrizio Gilardi (gilardi@ipz.uzh.ch).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/10/2017

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 3023

College of William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government: Middle East and North Africa

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in politics of the Middle East and North Africa. Applicants from all subfields of political science or cognate disciplines are encouraged to apply. We are especially interested in candidates with interests in race, ethnicity, diaspora or migration politics. The successful candidate will have excellent preparation; will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department bring new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level and, for interested candidates, also can include opportunities to teach at the master's level in the W&M Public Policy Program.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a cognate discipline at the time of appointment (August 10, 2018). Applicants must be prepared to teach Middle East politics to undergraduates at the intermediate and advanced level. Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching research methods (introductory level and intermediate level qualitative or quantitative methods) is preferred but not required.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, statement of research, teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), a writing sample, and a statement describing previous professional experiences or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 15, 2017. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/>. We are one of the largest majors on campus and our faculty participate in and receive support from various research centers on campus as well. Our faculty also contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Africana Studies, Environmental Science and Policy, Gender Sexuality and Women's Studies, Global Studies (which includes Asian and Middle Eastern Studies), International Relations, and Public Policy. William & Mary is located in Williamsburg, Virginia, convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3018

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science seeks candidates for a 9-month academic year, tenure-system position in Comparative Politics. Rank is Assistant or Associate Professor depending on candidates qualifications. Position begins August 16, 2018. Special consideration will be given to those who specialize in African Politics, especially candidates who are able to make use of Afrobarometer data in their research. A successful candidate will have a strong record of scholarly publications and evidence of teaching ability. He/she will be expected to seek external funding for his/her research.

The closing date for applications is October 1, 2017, though later applications may be accepted if the search remains open. You must apply for this position via Michigan State University Career Page, posting number 450476. Please access the Career page at <http://careers.msu.edu>. Please submit your curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a research statement, samples of your written work, and evidence of teaching ability. Please also arrange for at least three reference letters to be submitted.

MSU is located in East Lansing, MI, with easy access to the state capital, Lake Michigan, and great school districts. The University is pro-active in exploring opportunities for employment for dual career couples, both inside and outside the University. Information about

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3010

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Faculty Member

Specializations: Japan, International Security, International Political Economy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies, is a Department of Defense academic institution providing a forum where current and future military and civilian leaders from 45 Asia-Pacific nations gather to foster improved multinational and interagency security cooperation and coordination in the Asia-Pacific region through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, professional exchanges at conferences, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Center invites applications for:

FACULTY MEMBER

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world class educator to teach, facilitate, and conduct research. Responsibilities include:

- Teaching elective courses and lecturing on selected regional security topics within executive education courses;
- Facilitating seminars and planning and conducting workshops locally and throughout the Asia-Pacific region;
- Performing various administrative and staff duties to support Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center academic functions.

Particular expertise is sought in the following areas:

- Regional expertise in North East Asia. In-depth knowledge of Korea and/or Japan is particularly sought.

Required minimum qualifications include:

- Masters Degree in Security Studies, Political Science, International Relations, Economics, Anthropology, History, or a related discipline with practitioner experience in the region. A Ph.D. is highly desirable.
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation.

The following is "preferred" for ALL Faculty positions:

- Expertise in security, defense, and/or political-economic issues in one or more countries in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Living or working experience in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Ability to converse in an Asian language.

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $87,122 - $136,893 (includes HI Locality pay but excludes cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 11.32% but subject to change). These are limited-term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years (with the possibility of renewal). Relocation expenses may be authorized.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

1. Interested candidates should submit the following items:

- a. LETTER OF INTEREST. Provide a brief description of your vocational goals, personal interests and expected areas of study in the coming year, and explain your interest in future career considerations with the Department of Defense.
- b. CURRICULUM VITAE. Should reflect the following: educational background, work experience, publications and salary history.
- c. TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.

2. Submit all required documents to physical address:

Chief, Human Resources Department
Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies
2058 Maluhia Road
Honolulu, Hawaii 96815-1949

or email to:

at hrapplications@dkiapcss.net

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

1. Application deadline: Open until filled. Cut off: 31 August 2017.
2. Applications will be considered against current Faculty requirements. Application packages will be retained for one year.
3. Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of the Defense and will not be returned.
4. Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting their advanced degree(s) and two samples of their own publications.
5. The Department of the Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor. U.S. Citizenship is not required however applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
6. The Department of the Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrapplications@dkiapcss.net to ensure that the Department of the Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

7. Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: www.apcss.org.

Start Date: Summer 2017
Application Deadline: 7/31/2017
Date Posted: 7/17/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3004

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Chinese Politics

The Department of Political Science at the Johns Hopkins University invites applications for one or more open rank positions in Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in Chinese politics. Other priority areas that would build on and extend existing strengths in the department include social movements, labor, the welfare state, environmental politics, and/or race and immigration. The Comparative Politics subfield at Hopkins builds upon one of the distinctive strengths of the Political Science department: fostering innovative research and cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. Over the last decade, we have developed exciting collaborations in Comparative and International Political Economy, Parties and Elections, Transnational Politics, and Comparative Racial Politics. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods. Applicants should submit a letter of interest that describes their research agenda, writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send teaching evaluations, if available, and three letters of recommendation; those applying at the tenured level should provide the names of three references on Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/31670>

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2018. Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/17/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2996

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Temporary Lecturer
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Southeast Asia, Latin American, Mexico

The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) and The International Studies Program at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body.

Pending budgetary approval, several non tenure-track lectureships are expected to be available for the 2017-18 academic year, and possibly Summer Session 2018.

Appointments may be for one or more quarters/sessions based on department need.

All areas of international affairs, international studies, regional studies, business-government relations, and international economics will be considered.

A Ph.D. in Economics, Political Science, International Management or related fields and outstanding teaching experience are required. Research experience and a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion are highly desirable.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, individuals offered employment with the University of California must be authorized to work in the United States.

The 9-month salary and level of appointment are based on qualifications and UC pay scale.

Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be given full consideration.

Apply via <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01465>

Submit:

- CV
- Teaching evaluations (2-3 course evaluations)
- Statement of Teaching
- Sample Course Syllabus
- Statement describing past and/or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html> for further information).

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/17/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3001

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Professor/Chair
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Comparative Politics

Due to impending retirements, the Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Reno invites applications for Department Chair. Appointment to the position will begin July 1, 2018.

The department is seeking a strong leader who brings relevant academic and administrative experience to the position. The position is open to all research areas in political science. The department chair is expected to provide strong academic and administrative leadership to 19 faculty members and staff, teach two courses a year, and oversee departmental operations that include budgets, scheduling, and engaging in appropriate college level service. The chair will work closely with the Directors of Undergraduate Studies and Graduate Studies to provide teaching support for the department's 500 undergraduate majors and 60 graduate students. While the position can be from any research area within Political Science, the chair should have familiarity with standards and practices in support of specific degrees offered by the Department which include an undergraduate interdisciplinary International Affairs BA, traditional Political Science BA, MA and PhD degrees, and a thriving Masters of Public Administration (MPA).

The chair is also expected to build a strong relationship with college administration to further strengthen the department's research and teaching agenda. Finally, the chair should be prepared to continue advancing our commitment to increasing the diversity of our department community, research expertise, and curriculum.

Qualifications for the position include a PhD in political science, public policy, public administration or related field; an established record of research and teaching excellence; and previous administrative experience that would demonstrate the applicant's capacity to carry out the duties of department chair.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience in obtaining and administering external funding awards is preferred. Applicants should have obtained the rank of full professor. Associate professors will be considered if their qualifications are consistent with the rank of full professor in the Department of Political Science at UNR.

About the department: the Department of Political Science is housed in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Nevada, Reno, a Tier One university. The College of Liberal Arts administers more than 20 majors and minors, and is the largest college at the university (<http://www.unr.edu/liberalarts>). The department administers two undergraduate degree programs in political science and international affairs, and two accelerated BA/MA and BA/MPA degrees for 500 undergraduate majors. There are an additional 120 plus minors in Political Science, Renewable Energy, Asian Studies, and Latin American Studies (all administered by the Department).

The department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA, and PhD degrees. Additional information about the department can be found on its website: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science>. In recent years, the department has experienced substantial growth in the number of faculty, research productivity, and external funding awards. The department expects to play a significant role in the university's long-term expansion plans and its movement toward R1 research status.

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes that diversity promotes excellence in education and research. We are an inclusive and engaged community and recognize the added value that students, faculty, and staff from different backgrounds bring to the educational experience. Visit our website at <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/25111> for further information and to apply.

Candidates should submit a CV, and a cover letter outlining their interest in and experience relating to the position. In the cover letter please highlight your leadership experience and/or potential, and indicate how you would contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching, and/or service. Letters of reference will only be requested upon initial screening of the applicants.

Position is open until filled, but application review will begin October 6, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Eric Herzik (herzik@unr.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3003

California State University, East Bay

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics/International Relations),

FACULTY EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

THE UNIVERSITY: California State University, East Bay is known for award-winning programs, expert instruction, a diverse student body of over 15,000 students, and a choice of more than 100 career-focused fields of study. For the past three years our campus has been the recipient of the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award from INSIGHT Into Diversity Magazine. We are proud of our diversity and committed to providing an inclusive and stimulating environment for all our students. The University's main campus is in Hayward, with branches in Contra Costa County, Online and in Oakland, California. Our 900+ faculty offer bachelor's degrees in 47 fields, minors in 51 fields, master's degrees in 33 fields, 9 credentials programs, 12 certificate options, and 1 doctoral degree program. <http://www20.csueastbay.edu/>

THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science offers a B.A. degree that provides both a strong background in social science and excellent professional preparation for students. The major offers three distinct paths to completion, the traditional major and options in pre-law and public affairs and administration. The two options offer interdisciplinary pre-professional curricula. The department is strong in every aspect of American government (national, state and local institutions, public policy, public law, public administration and ethnic/minority politics), as well as Comparative Politics and International Relations.

DUTIES OF THE POSITION: The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in Comparative Politics, Comparative Law, International Relations, and other coursework as assigned. In addition to teaching, all faculty have advising responsibilities, assist the department with administrative and/or committee work, and are expected to assume campus-wide committee responsibilities. Please note that teaching assignments at California State University, East Bay include courses at the Hayward campus, and with instructor's choice, at the Concord campus, and to teach online.

RANK AND SALARY: Assistant Professor. Salary is dependent upon educational preparation and experience. Subject to budgetary authorization.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT: Fall Semester, 2018.

Qualifications:

- Candidates must have an earned Ph.D. in Political Science at the effective date of the appointment.
- Candidates with teaching experience at the university level are preferred.
- Candidates with experience teaching in various formats (in-person, hybrid and fully online classes), as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness, are preferred.
- Preferred candidates would include those:
 - With research agendas focused on Comparative Politics and any of the following topics – refugees, migration, or closely-related topics,
 - With a record of scholarly activity in the above mentioned subfield and topics, and
 - Who demonstrate knowledge of multiple regions such as Europe and Latin America
- Strong preference for candidates with awareness of issues of diversity and social justice, as well as with innovative pedagogy for students from diverse educational and cultural backgrounds.

Candidates should demonstrate experience in teaching, mentoring, research, or community service that has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence. Additionally, applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly activity.

This University is fully committed to the rights of students, staff and faculty with disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. For more information about the University's program supporting the rights of our students with disabilities see: <http://www20.csueastbay.edu/af/departments/as/>

Application Instructions

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017. The position will be considered open until filled. To apply, please submit the following required documents through Interfolio (see "Apply Now," below): apply.interfolio.com/41997

Application Instructions

1. Letter of application, which addresses the qualifications noted in the position announcement;
2. Complete and current vita;
3. One (1) writing sample;
4. One-page teaching statement that explains your teaching philosophy and pedagogical approaches;
5. One-page research statement that discusses your research agenda;
6. One-page diversity statement that addresses how you engage a diverse student population in your teaching, research, mentoring, and advising; and
7. Three (3) confidential letters of recommendation.

If available, the applicants may also submit the following optional documents.

- Course syllabi;
- Student evaluation of courses taught by the applicant; and
- Additional writing samples.

If you have questions about the position, please contact the chair of the search committee, Dr. Maria Ortuoste at: maria.ortuoste@csueastbay.edu

Note: California State University, East Bay hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. All offers of employment are contingent upon presentation of documents demonstrating the appointee's identity and eligibility to work in accordance with provisions of the Immigration Reform and Control Act. A background check (including a criminal records check and prior employment verification) must be completed and cleared prior to the start of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2991

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a position (open to applications from specialists in international relations or comparative politics) at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in the Fall of 2018. Courses to be taught include Introduction to International Relations and Politics of the Global Economy. We also welcome courses on topics that support our interdisciplinary initiatives, such as the global environment, global poverty and inequality, sustainability and urbanization. Expertise in South Asia as well as global experience a plus. It is expected that candidates will teach an undergraduate research methods course on a rotating basis. The teaching load is spread over a two-year cycle. Faculty have a three-course load semester once every two years, and for the other three semesters, the teaching load is two courses. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens.

Loyola Marymount, a comprehensive Catholic university in the mainstream of American higher education, seeks professionally outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to academic excellence, the education of the whole person, the service of faith and the promotion of justice. LMU is an equal opportunity institution actively working to promote an intercultural learning community. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Loyola Marymount has a strong commitment to diversity, broadly defined, and therefore encourages applicants that enhance the racial diversity of the department; who are committed to working within a diverse campus community; and who are enthusiastic about working in an institution where minority and women faculty can thrive.

The application requires: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and, if applicable, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi; and 4) three letters of recommendation. Candidate materials should be emailed together as a complete package to: M.J. Cho at POLJobs@lmu.edu. Three letters of recommendation should be scanned and signed by the recommenders and emailed by the recommender directly to M.J. Cho: POLJobs@lmu.edu. Please direct questions to M.J. Cho at the above address. Only electronic applications will be considered. We will begin reviewing applications on September 25; the position will be open until filled. Preliminary interviewing will be conducted at the APSA Annual Meeting.

Candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2018 will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/22/2017

Date Posted: 7/14/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2989

Gettysburg College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor Comparative Politics

Specializations: Western Europe, Quantitative Methods, Electoral Systems

Visiting Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College seeks a Visiting Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics for the 2018-19 academic year beginning August 2018. The successful candidate will be expected to teach six courses, including introductory courses in Comparative Politics, advanced courses in European Politics, and one to two sections of research methods.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or ABD status is required. The opportunity to maintain a personal research program will be available.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/2174>. A curriculum vitae; cover letter, addressed to Professor Bruce Larson, Chair, Department of Political Science; writing sample; transcripts; and a separate statement of the applicant's teaching philosophy should be submitted. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until a successful candidate is found. Application materials must be received by December 8, 2017, for full consideration. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Larson: blarson@gettysburg.edu.

Gettysburg College, an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal, state, local laws and regulations regarding nondiscrimination. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and admission. The College prohibits discrimination and harassment, and provides equal opportunity without regard to race, ethnicity, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, marital/familial status, possession of a General Education Development Certificate (GED) as compared to a high school diploma, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, sex, age, or genetic information in all aspects of employment, educational programs, activities, and admissions. Pursuant to Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, Gettysburg College prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex (i.e., which includes but is not limited to the prohibition of sexual misconduct and relationship violence, including sexual assault and harassment) in all of its educational programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 7/12/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2976

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University (www.polsci.okstate.edu) invites applications for two Assistant Professors of Political Science with the appointments beginning in August 2018. For both, the area of specialization is Comparative Politics with a regional focus on any of the following regions: The Middle East, Asia, Africa, or Europe. Potential course offerings include introductory and advanced classes in comparative politics, including Introduction to Comparative Politics, a graduate Pro-Seminar in Comparative Politics, and ones relating to the candidate's regional specialty. We are especially interested in candidates who can offer courses or engage in research on any of the following topics: political institutions, political culture, and identity politics. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected at the time of the appointment. The successful candidates will demonstrate the potential for both productive scholarship and effective teaching in the area of Comparative Politics.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state's two comprehensive research universities with a Stillwater campus population of 23,000 students. The Department of Political Science has 20 full-time faculty members and offers an undergraduate major in political science, various undergraduate minors (including campaigns and lobbying, law and legal studies, intelligence and security analysis, and emergency management), an M.A. in Political Science, an M.S. in Fire and Emergency Management Administration, and a Ph.D. in Fire and Emergency Management Administration. OSU provides significant support for scholarly productivity. The teaching load is normally two courses per semester. A successful faculty candidate will be committed to creating a culturally inclusive space for their students to develop critical thinking skills that are vital in living in our diverse society and mentoring our rising undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. Currently, 35 percent of our undergraduate majors and 33 percent of our graduate students are either minority or international scholars. The department encourages applications from women and minorities. Among our faculty currently, 20 percent are minority or international scholars and 40 percent are female. Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, evidence of successful teaching and scholarship, and statements of teaching and research interests. The application package, compiled as a single pdf file, should be uploaded to the application portal at <https://okstate.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?id=3592> <https://okstate.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?id=3592>. Letters of recommendation and graduate transcripts can also be sent to cindy.hutchinson@okstate.edu and cindy.hutchinson@okstate.edu. Please direct any academic inquiries to the search chair, Eve Ringsmuth. Review of applications will commence on September 01, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. However, only complete applications will be assured of full consideration.

Oklahoma State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/E-verify employer committed to diversity and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against based on age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or other protected category. OSU is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and desires priority referrals of protected veterans for its openings. OSU will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against employees or applicants because they have inquired about, discussed, or disclosed their own pay or the pay of another employee or applicant. However, employees who have access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of their essential job functions cannot disclose the pay of other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to compensation information, unless the disclosure is (a) in response to a formal complaint or charge, (b) in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or (c) consistent with the contractor's legal duty to furnish information. 41 CFR 60-1.35(c)

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/11/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2958

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position in comparative politics to begin July 1, 2018. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Regional specialization is open. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses and perform research in their specialized area. Therefore successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the area of political behavior, legislative institutions, and/or representation. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by November 1, 2018.

The application deadline is September 15, 2017. A complete application must include (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) two writing samples, and (5) three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://jobs.rice.edu/postings/11127>.

Equal Opportunity Employer – Females/Minorities/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2960

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics/IR

Teaching a 3/3 course load, with courses in International or Comparative Political Economy, as well as additional courses in International Politics and/or Comparative Politics and the applicant's area of regional specialty. Maintain an active research agenda leading to peer-reviewed publication. Service includes advising duties for Global Studies majors and other service to the department as assigned by Chair, as well as institutional service.

A strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Research agenda and expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. Candidate should have a PhD in Political Science or be ABD.

Preference will be given to candidates who research and teach about Latin America or Africa, but we are open to all geographic areas that would complement existing strengths in Eastern Europe/Russia and Asia.

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The position begins Fall 2018.

We seek candidates displaying a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching and research and an interest in the enduring questions of Politics, with an ability to teach International or Comparative Political Economy. Preference will be given to candidates who research and teach about Latin America or Africa, but we are open to all geographic areas that would complement existing strengths in Eastern Europe/Russia and Asia. Applicants should have their primary training in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations, and the expectation will be for courses to be taught in Introduction to Politics, International or Comparative Political Economy, International Politics and/or Comparative Politics, as well as in the regional area of expertise. Candidates should have a PhD or ABD.

The teaching load for the position is three courses in the fall and three courses in the spring semester, with a single-course reduction the first semester (each course is capped at 30 students). Courses will primarily serve Political Science and Global Studies majors.

The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in Loyola's growing Global Studies program. Global Studies is an interdisciplinary major with a curriculum based in the four disciplines of Economics, History, Political Science and Sociology. Students begin with foundational coursework in each department, and then develop topical specializations in the junior and senior years. The program hosts annual speakers and special events, and is a significant presence on campus. Faculty who contribute to Global Studies participate in student advising and mentoring, teach courses in the major, and become part of the Global Studies academic community. The candidate will be a member of the Political Science Department but will advise Global Studies majors.

Loyola University Maryland is a selective liberal arts university in the Jesuit Catholic tradition. The university is committed to intellectual excellence and social justice as it prepares students for a diverse and changing world. Recognized as a leading independent, comprehensive university in the northeastern United States, Loyola has a beautiful historic Evergreen campus in Baltimore and Graduate Centers in Timonium and Columbia. Loyola enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and about 2,000 students in its graduate programs.

To apply, please go to www.loyola.edu/careers to submit a C.V., three letters of reference, graduate transcripts (copies are acceptable), an article-length manuscript or chapter demonstrating scholarly potential, and a cover letter explaining teaching approach in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Teaching evaluations and sample course syllabi should also be submitted if available (select Option 1 to submit syllabi in online application). Please submit applications by September 15 to ensure full consideration. For questions related to the search or any materials that are only available in hard copy or cannot otherwise be submitted through the online application (which could include letters of reference or teaching evaluations), please send files to Dr. Carsten Vala via email to cvala@loyola.edu or via mail to him at Department of Political Science, Loyola University Maryland, 4501 N. Charles St., Baltimore, MD, 21210.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 12/31/2017

Date Posted: 7/8/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2949

San Diego State University

Rank: Politics of Race and Ethnicity

Specializations: African American Politics, Latino Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

The Political Science Department at San Diego State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in the Politics of Race and/or Ethnicity at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin Fall 2018. The department seeks candidates who have a well-developed research agenda, a promise of sustained scholarly productivity and a record of effective and devoted teaching.

The department is open to all areas of expertise within race and ethnicity and particularly encourages those studying African-American or Latino politics. Substantive topics of interest may include but are not limited to social movements-protest politics, economic justice, environmental racism, democracy, law and race, and comparative examinations of race-ethnicity. The successful candidate will be able to teach a range of political science courses, including our upper-division undergraduate course, Politics of Race and Ethnicity.

The Political Science Department at San Diego State is dedicated to the ideal of the engaged teacher-scholar. It has approximately 500 undergraduate majors and provides course offerings for students with a wide variety of backgrounds and interests. At the graduate level, the department maintains an M.A. program of high quality. The members of the faculty share a strong commitment to collegiality, active participation in the governing of the department, innovative scholarship, methodological pluralism, rigorous teaching, and probing intellectual and normative engagement in teaching and research. Candidates are encouraged to consult the department website: <http://politicalscience.sdsu.edu/>

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Applicants must apply via Interfolio at <https://apply.interfolio.com/42903>. To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by October 2, 2017. The screening of applications will begin on this date and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. by the start of the term of appointment will be given priority. Those without a Ph.D. currently in-hand should include in their letter of interest a statement of progress on the dissertation, indicating reasons to expect completion in a timely fashion.

Further inquiries should be addressed to:
Ronnee Schreiber, Chair of the Department, at rschreib@mail.sdsu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2937

Pomona College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Tenure-track appointment, Assistant Professor in the Department of Politics, with a main subfield specialization in comparative politics and a regional interest in Europe. Teaching load: 2/2 (two courses per semester). Ph.D. in hand or expected by September 2018. Pomona College, the founding member of the Claremont Colleges, is a highly selective liberal arts college attracting a diverse student body. Send a dossier, including: (a) letter of application; (b) curriculum vitae; (c) graduate school transcripts; (d) a sample of scholarly writing; (e) three brief statements – one addressing teaching philosophy, one addressing scholarship, and one addressing demonstrated ability to mentor a diverse student body; and (f) three letters of recommendation. These documents should be sent to Search Chair, Dept. of Politics, 425 N. College Avenue, Pomona College, Claremont, CA 91711 OR these documents should be uploaded to academicjobsonline.org (preferably the latter). Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017. The Politics Department faculty support equal access to higher education and value working in a richly diverse environment. The successful candidate will likely have experience working with students from diverse backgrounds and a demonstrated commitment to improving higher education for underrepresented students.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/5/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2938

Carroll University

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in International Relations

Visiting Lecturer in International Relations

Starting date: January 1, 2018

Responsibilities: Responsibilities of this appointment include teaching classes on international relations, advising and mentoring students, and participating in program and departmental service. The successful candidate will participate in the General Education curriculum through teaching in the common core of cross-cultural studies. The normal teaching load for lecturer positions is four 4-credit courses per semester. The capacity to teach broad-based social science research methods is an asset for those applying for this opening.

Qualifications: PhD in International Relations, International Political Economy, Comparative Politics, or in related fields. All Comparative Politics and International Relations specializations will be considered. Ability to teach international political economy courses is required. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred; ABDs will be considered. The successful candidate will complement the department's current offerings and will share the University's commitment to quality undergraduate teaching. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Rank and Salary: This is a full-time, 18-month, non-tenure track position as Instructional Faculty. Salary will be based on qualification and previous experience. The position is eligible for renewal.

The Department: The Department of History, Political Science, and Religious Studies offers majors in the following areas: history; global studies; political science; philosophy, political science and economics; and religious studies.

Carroll University: Founded in 1846, Carroll University is an independent, co-educational comprehensive university grounded in the liberal arts tradition. Carroll University is located in suburban Waukesha, 16 miles west of Milwaukee and 60 miles east of Madison. The University serves approximately 3521 students. The University though intentionally ecumenical and non-sectarian in approach, is related to the Presbyterian Church, USA. Candidates must be willing and able to support and advance the University mission.

Application: Review of applications will begin immediately and will close when the position is filled.

Please submit a 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) statement of teaching philosophy as Word or PDF format attachments with the subject line "Visiting Lecturer of International Relations" to facapp@carrollu.edu.

Final applicants will be asked to submit graduate transcripts and three letters of reference.

Carroll University is an Equal-Opportunity Employer

Start Date: Winter 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2936

Harvard Business School

Rank: Tenure-Track Position: Political Science

Harvard Business School is seeking candidates for a tenure-track position in the Business, Government, and the International Economy (BGIE) unit. We will consider candidates whose research interests include international political economy or comparative political economy. The search is open with regard to methodological approach. Candidates may come directly from Ph.D. programs or from the faculties of other universities. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2018.

All applicants should have excellent academic credentials and a demonstrated potential for conducting outstanding research. The School is particularly interested in applicants with interdisciplinary interests and strong records of, or potential for, excellence in teaching.

Successful candidates will, at the outset, teach a required first-year MBA course on the economic, political, and social environment of global business. Starting salaries will be highly competitive.

Applications must be received no later than September 28th, 2017 and should include: curriculum vitae, description of research, and writing sample (preferably dissertation chapters). Three letters of recommendation should be submitted online directly to the School by the referees.

To apply or submit a letter of recommendation, please go to this website and select "Tenure-Track Position: Political Science" when choosing a position on the application:

<http://www.hbs.edu/research/faculty-recruiting>

Material that can only be sent in hard copy can be sent to: Harvard Business School, Faculty Administration, Attn: BGIE Unit Application, Morgan Hall T25, Soldiers Field Road, Boston, MA 02163.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 9/28/2016

Date Posted: 7/3/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2884

Koç University

Rank: ERC Funded Post-doctoral Position on Quantitative Comparative Social Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Social Welfare, Developing Nations

The Department of Sociology, Koç University, Istanbul, invites applicants for a position as a post-doctoral researcher. The successful candidate will work in a European Research Council (ERC)-funded project on the politics of welfare in emerging market economies.

ERC is the most prestigious, competitive and generous research fund in Europe, which grants 1.5 million Euros to frontier research that would make groundbreaking contributions. This project is the first sociology ERC project in Turkey. The successful candidate will work together with Dr. Erdem Yörük on this ERC-funded project that investigates the political causes of welfare state development in emerging market economies (please see emw.ku.edu.tr and the brief summary of the project below). The position will not have any teaching responsibilities. Candidates (i) who have a PhD in social sciences (e.g. sociology, economics, political science, social policy, public policy etc.), (ii) who have extensive knowledge and experience in quantitative research methods, (iii) who are interested in welfare state studies, political economy, comparative-historical sociology, and emerging markets are encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate is expected to:

¥ Have extensive knowledge and experience in advanced quantitative analysis, be well-versed with data cleaning and managing operations, imputation techniques and content analysis methods.

¥ Have working knowledge of Stata and/or R software packages

¥ Be comfortable in leading the project's scientific progress as well as providing a critical perspective to the project.

¥ Ensure that the work packages of the project are harmonized into overall project objectives as well as effectiveness and efficiency of the research team.

¥ Be comfortable in working in an international environment and have no restrictions in travelling internationally.

¥ Have completed the PhD degree by 1 September 2017

The starting date for the position is September 2017. Initial duration of the position is a full year and renewal up to four years is possible, contingent on research productivity and continued substantive fit of the candidate. This is a full-time position with a competitive salary as well as additional benefits such as private health insurance and housing benefits. Funding for conferences is available depending on relevance of the conference to the project.

Please send your application electronically as a one-pdf file comprising your motivation letter, CV including a publication list, a brief one-page letter comprising of a critique/evaluation/assessment/idea about the ERC project which would help assess the potential contribution of the applicant (see emw.ku.edu.tr), a writing sample which preferably includes quantitative empirical analysis, and the names of two references to the Principal Investigator Dr. Erdem Yörük: (eryoruk@ku.edu.tr). Deadline for application is 15 August 2017.

The New Politics of Welfare: Towards an "Emerging Markets" Welfare State Regime (ERC Starting Grant)

This research project aims to identify a new welfare regime in emerging market economies and explain why it has emerged. The project will compare Brazil, China, India, Indonesia, Mexico, South Africa and

Turkey to test two hypotheses: (i) emerging market economies are forming a new welfare regime that differs from liberal, corporatist and social democratic welfare regimes of the global north on the basis of extensive and decommodifying social assistance programmes, (ii) the new welfare regime emerges principally as a response to the growing political power of the poor as a dual source of threat and support for governments. Based on a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective, the project follows a multi-method strategy that combines protest event data collection techniques, macro-historical methods, quantitative data analyses and qualitative content analysis.

Koç University (<http://www.ku.edu.tr>) is an endowed, non-profit institution of higher education, located in Istanbul, Turkey. Koç University is highly reputable and has attracted accomplished, high-caliber researchers from all over the world. Times Higher Education has ranked Koç University 250-300th among the best universities in the world in 2016 and the top university in Turkey. The vast majority (97%) of 400 faculty members received their Ph.D. degrees from the most highly selective and reputable universities in the world, mostly from the United States. Most students in PhD and master programs are granted full scholarship, including monthly salaries, health insurance and housing.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 7/1/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2935

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Middle Eastern Politics

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in the subfield of Middle Eastern politics, beginning July 1, 2018. A qualified candidate, with PhD in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, would have research experience on the domestic politics or policy of one or more Middle Eastern countries, as well as expertise on the international issues that these countries face. The candidate would have sufficient mastery of one or more Middle Eastern languages to engage in the research. The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

Due to the endowment that funds this position, if the selected candidate achieves tenure at Claremont McKenna College, he or she would become the Weinberg Chair in International Relations or Comparative Politics and the Middle East.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy. Letters of recommendation are required from three or more references and should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening_detail.php?PostingID=16021

The review of applications will begin August 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Given our commitment to cultivating a challenging and inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinion, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/29/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2928

College of William & Mary

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor of Government (Comparative Politics)

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary invites applications for a one year, non-tenure-track visiting position that will begin August 10, 2017. We seek an individual with expertise in comparative politics who is able to teach introductory comparative politics, a survey course in Middle East political systems, and other courses (lecture or seminar-style) of interest to the candidate. Lecture classes in the Department are capped at 35 students and seminars are capped at 15. The successful applicant will be expected to be an effective teacher and will carry a 3-3 teaching load (2 preps per semester). The Department provides visiting faculty with modest support for conference travel, and also offers mentoring and access to campus opportunities to help our visitors become more effective researchers and teachers.

A Master's degree is required. A Ph.D. or ABD is preferred at the time appointment begins (August 10, 2017).

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), a writing sample, and a statement describing previous professional experiences or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference.

For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, July 12, 2017. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/>.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 7/12/2017

Date Posted: 6/28/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2924

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics or International Relations/Irish Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2018. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2018.

Candidates should be well trained in comparative politics or international relations and have area expertise in Irish Politics with a specialization in European Politics, Security Studies, Nationalism, Immigration, Social Movements or Political Economy. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to the interdisciplinary work of the Center for Irish Studies and represent the Center externally. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Teaching duties include a 3/2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3/2 teaching load is continued for another three years.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 15, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the department chair, Dr. Matthew Kerbel at matthew.kerbel@villanova.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 8/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2882

Villanova University

Rank: Comparative Politics or International Relations/Political Economy

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2018. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2018.

Candidates should have expertise in political economy with a specialization in comparative politics or international relations. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Teaching duties include a 3/2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3/2 teaching load is continued for another three years. Applicants must apply online at <http://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 15, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the department chair, Dr. Matthew Kerbel at matthew.kerbel@villanova.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2883

Colgate University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics)

The Political Science Department at Colgate University invites applications for a tenure stream position at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning Fall semester 2018. High scholarly promise and demonstrable excellence in teaching are essential. Completion of Ph.D. is expected prior to or shortly after the date of hire. The Department seeks candidates specializing in Comparative Politics with expertise in Russian politics and the former Soviet bloc. Candidates from all substantive areas will be considered; the Department is particularly interested in applicants whose research focuses on any of the following: nationalism and ethnic conflict, civil society, constitutionalism, authoritarianism and hybrid regimes, energy, and environmental politics.

Teaching includes a mix of introductory and upper-level courses to satisfy a five-course annual load. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in all-university programs, including the Liberal Arts Core Curriculum. Applicants must submit a letter of application, current vita, three letters of recommendation, a short writing sample, and evidence of successful teaching via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9277>. Colgate strives to be a community supportive of diverse perspectives and identities. All applications should speak directly to the candidate's ability to work effectively with students across a wide range of identities and backgrounds. Review of applications will begin on October 10, 2017, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants with dual career considerations can find postings of other employment opportunities at Colgate and at other institutions of higher education in upstate New York at www.upstatenyherc.org. It is the policy of Colgate University not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment on the basis of their race, color, creed, religion, age, sex, pregnancy, national origin, marital status, disability, protected Veterans status, sexual orientation and gender identity and expression, genetic formation, victims of domestic violence and stalking, familial status, and all other categories covered by law. Colgate is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. Candidates from historically underrepresented groups, women, persons with disabilities, and protected veteran are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/23/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2916

San Jose State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative/International Relations

Specializations: Western Europe, Post Soviet Region, Middle East

San José State University

San José, California

ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION AVAILABILITY Subject to Budgetary Approval

Specialization: Political Science: Comparative Politics/International Relations Job Opening ID (JOID): 24147

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track)

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (degree must be awarded by the time of appointment) in the sub-fields of Comparative Politics or International Relations, with a specialization in the politics of Europe (including Russia/CIS countries) or the Middle East. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Applicants are expected to demonstrate the ability to conduct high-quality research and produce peer-reviewed academic publications. Applicants should have a demonstrated record of awareness of and sensitivity to educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will start in August 2018, and teach introductory and advanced courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations, such as International Organizations, Eurasian Politics, Politics of the European Union, and Middle Eastern Politics. Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language, and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies, and advisement.

Salary Range:

Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Starting Date: August 17, 2018 Eligibility:

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedure:

For full consideration, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, at least three original letters of reference with contact information, and unofficial transcripts by September 15, 2017 to: apply.interfolio.com/42711.

Please direct questions to:

Dr. Melinda Jackson, Chair
Department of Political Science
One Washington Square
San José State University
San José, California 95192-0119
www.sjsu.edu/polisci

Please include Job Opening ID (JOID) on all correspondence.

San José State University is California's oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San José (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California's most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San José State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 6/20/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2903

San Jose State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative/International Relations

Specializations: Western Europe, Post Soviet Region, Middle East

San Jose State University

San Jose, California

ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION AVAILABILITY Subject to Budgetary Approval

Specialization: Political Science: Comparative Politics/International Relations Job Opening ID (JOID): 24147

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track)

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (degree must be awarded by the time of appointment) in the sub-fields of Comparative Politics or International Relations, with a specialization in the politics of Europe (including Russia/CIS countries) or the Middle East. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Applicants are expected to demonstrate the ability to conduct high-quality research and produce peer-reviewed academic publications. Applicants should have a demonstrated record of awareness of and sensitivity to educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will start in August 2018, and teach introductory and advanced courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations, such as International Organizations, Eurasian Politics, Politics of the European Union, and Middle Eastern Politics. Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language, and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies, and advisement.

Salary Range:

Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Starting Date: August 17, 2018 Eligibility:

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedure:

For full consideration, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, at least three original letters of reference with contact information, and unofficial transcripts by September 15, 2017 to: apply.interfolio.com/42711.

Please direct questions to:
Dr. Melinda Jackson, Chair
Department of Political Science
One Washington Square
San José State University
San José, California 95192-0119
www.sjsu.edu/polisci

Please include Job Opening ID (JOID) on all correspondence.

San José State University is California's oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San José (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California's most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San José State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.

San José State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. This policy applies to all San José State University students, faculty, and staff as well as University programs and activities. Reasonable accommodations are made for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose. Note that all San José State University employees are considered mandated reporters under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and are required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The latest San José State University Safety 101 Uniform Campus Crime and Security Report is available. You may request a copy of San José State University's annual safety report by contacting the University Police Department at (408) 924-2222 or by visiting the University Police Department website at (<http://www.sjsu.edu/police>.)

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2904

San Jose State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative/International Relations
Specializations: Western Europe, Post Soviet Region, Middle East

San Jose State University
San Jose, California
ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION AVAILABILITY Subject to Budgetary Approval

Specialization: Political Science: Comparative Politics/International Relations Job Opening ID (JOID): 24147
Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track)

Qualifications:
Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (degree must be awarded by the time of appointment) in the sub-fields of Comparative Politics or International Relations, with a specialization in the politics of Europe (including Russia/CIS countries) or the Middle East. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Applicants are expected to demonstrate the ability to conduct high-quality research and produce peer-reviewed academic publications. Applicants should have a demonstrated record of awareness of and sensitivity to educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:
The successful candidate will start in August 2018, and teach introductory and advanced courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations, such as International Organizations, Eurasian Politics, Politics of the European Union, and Middle Eastern Politics. Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language, and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies, and advisement.

Salary Range:
Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Starting Date: August 17, 2018 Eligibility:

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedure:
For full consideration, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, at least three original letters of reference with contact information, and unofficial transcripts by September 15, 2017 to: apply.interfolio.com/42711.

Please direct questions to:
Dr. Melinda Jackson, Chair
Department of Political Science
One Washington Square
San Jose State University
San Jose, California 95192-0119
www.sjsu.edu/polisci

Please include Job Opening ID (JOID) on all correspondence.

San Jose State University is California's oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San Jose (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California's most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San Jose State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.

San Jose State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. This policy applies to all San Jose State University students, faculty, and staff as well as University programs and activities. Reasonable accommodations are made for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose. Note that all San Jose State University employees are considered mandated reporters under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and are required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The latest San Jose State University Safety 101 Uniform Campus Crime and Security Report is available. You may request a copy of San José State University's annual safety report by contacting the University Police Department at (408) 924-2222 or by visiting the University Police Department website at (<http://www.sjsu.edu/police>).

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2905

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo (SUNY) seeks well-qualified candidates for a Clinical Assistant Professor/Instructor position in Political Science, starting in August 2017. This is a 3-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. Candidates must be minimally ABD in political science or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/9979> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2898

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo (SUNY) seeks well-qualified candidates for a Clinical Assistant Professor/Instructor position in Political Science, starting in August 2017. This is a 3-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. Candidates must be minimally ABD in political science or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/9979> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2899

American University

Rank: Professorial Lecturer, One-Year Position in Political Science

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a term faculty appointment for Academic Year 2017-18. Rank will be dependent on experience and stature in the field. The appointment is a 9-month term position and will commence on August 28, 2017.

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered as instructors. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate courses per semester in political science, including, but not limited to, introductory classes in American Politics and Comparative Politics. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42035>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and proposed syllabi. Please contact Julian Escarraga at govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2895

California State University, Fresno

Rank: Political Science - Assistant Professor

Political Science

Assistant Professor

California State University, Fresno is an engaged University. We focus on broadening students intellectual horizons, fostering lifelong learning skills, developing the leaders of tomorrow, promoting community involvement, and instilling an appreciation of world cultures. We nurture cultural competence by celebrating the rich diversity of the campus community and welcoming the participation of all. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. For information on the University's commitment and dedication to creating a university known for its integrity, civility, equity, respect and ethical behavior, please visit: <http://www.fresnostate.edu/academics/diversity>

- Available for Academic Year: 2018/2019.
- Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.
- Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University's Probationary Plan Process.
- Salary placement depends upon academic preparation and professional experience.
- California State University, Fresno is a vibrant and growing campus. When necessary, the University may decide to make more than one faculty appointment from a single search.

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor in Political Science with a specialization in Comparative Politics/International Relations. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research interests and teaching responsibilities will be in Comparative Politics/International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level core (introductory) courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g. Modern Politics, Comparative Politics, International Politics) as well as upper-level electives and newly designed courses in their area(s) of interest and expertise. This position is open with respect to regional and substantive focus.

The Department of Political Science is one of the strongest in the California State University system. As one of the largest departments in the College of Social Sciences, we serve almost 200 majors in our undergraduate program. We also offer a Master of Public Administration degree. All of the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within our department and our faculty have a balanced commitment to strong undergraduate teaching, research, and service. Many of our faculty have been recognized for their work nationally and internationally. Graduates of our program go on to careers in law, education, NGOs, and government (including elected and appointed offices), among others; others have gone on to earn master's and doctoral degrees at top universities in the U.S. and abroad. For more information about our department, please see <http://www.fresnostate.edu/socialsciences/polisci/>

Required Education: An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science or International Relations (or a closely related field with similar academic coursework) from an accredited institution is required for the position. Applicants nearing completion of the Ph.D. (ABD) may be considered for the position, but their degree must be granted by August 1, 2018.

Required Experience: Applicant must be able to demonstrate:

- a commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level, which may be demonstrated through prior teaching experience and teaching evaluations or other evidence
- a strong foundation of a career-long research agenda in political science as evidenced for example by one or more academic conference paper presentations or peer-reviewed publications
- a specialization in comparative politics with expertise in one or more regions of the world
- appropriate academic training to teach an introductory course in International Relations
- a commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Ability to teach courses on more than one region of the world, with a preference for Europe, Russia, the Middle East, or Asia as one of those fields
- Evidence of having successfully taught one or more university-level political science courses as sole instructor
- At least one sole-authored research paper presented at an academic conference
- One or more peer-reviewed publications in political science
- Ability to teach an introductory American Government course

Application Procedures: Review of applications will begin October 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply, applicants must complete an on-line application at <http://jobs.fresnostate.edu> and attach the following: 1) a cover letter specifically addressing required experience and preferred qualifications; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy 4) recent teaching evaluations (if available); 5) a research paper presented at an academic conference or a peer reviewed publication, preferably a sole-authored work; 6) unofficial graduate transcripts; and 7) names and contact information for three professional references.

All finalists will be required to submit three current letters of recommendation and official transcripts.

Any related inquiries may be directed to Dr. Melanie H. Ram; Search Committee Chair; California State University, Fresno; College of Social Sciences; Department of Political Science; 2225 E San Ramon, M/S MF 19; Fresno, CA 93740-8029; Phone: (559) 278-5324; E-mail: mram@csufresno.edu

Other: In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees on-line at <http://www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml>. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position may be considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following web site: <http://www.calstate.edu/eo/EO-1083.html>.

California State University, Fresno is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 6/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2896

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Open Rank Position, Tenured or Tenure Track With a focus on Russia
Specializations: Russia, International Security, Conflict Processes

Overview:

Founded in 1943 and a Johns Hopkins division since 1950, The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies of the Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) has been educating global leaders for more than 70 years. As a highly selective graduate institution with a distinguished faculty, SAIS consistently ranks as one of the top schools of international relations in the world. SAIS was founded to provide a practical approach to training students in international leadership and foreign relations, and to provide mid-career educational opportunities for those already working in related fields. To learn more about

SAIS, visit <http://www.sais-jhu.edu> To learn more about the European and Eurasian Studies program, visit <http://www.sais-jhu.edu/programs/ees>

Position:

SAIS is seeking to fill a full-time position, open rank, tenured or tenure track, with a focus on Russia. Candidates who combine their work on Russia with an interest in international security, international law, conflict management, international development, international relations, diplomatic history, or the foreign policy of the United States are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates able to teach an introductory course in diplomatic history, comparative politics or IR theory would have an advantage. The position is located in Washington, D.C. The goal is to fill the position during the fall 2017 semester, with the appointment starting effectively on July 1, 2018. Preliminary interviews will be held at the 2017 APSA meeting in San Francisco.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. awarded by June 2018 will be a condition for employment. The ideal applicant will have strong academic credentials and a commitment to improve public policy. A record of excellence in teaching would be a distinct advantage.

Application:

Electronic submissions are preferred. A letter of application, curriculum vitae that includes contact information (email, telephone, and/or Skype) as well as the names and contact details for three people who can provide letters of reference should be submitted to:

SAISRussiaSearch@jhu.edu

Or

send via USPS to:

SAIS European and Eurasian Studies Search Committee on Russia
 School of Advanced International Studies
 The Johns Hopkins University
 1740 Massachusetts Avenue, NW
 Washington, D.C. 20036
 USA

Applications will be reviewed beginning August 1, 2017 and will be accepted until a final decision is made. Inquiries may be made to Professor Erik Jones - erik.jones@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/16/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2893

Lehigh University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Latin American or Latino Studies
Specializations: Latin American, Latino Politics, Immigration Policy

The Department of Political Science and Latin American and Latino Studies (LALS) Program at Lehigh University seek to hire an Assistant Professor to begin in the fall term of the 2018 academic year. The position will be a joint appointment in Political Science (the department of tenure) and LALS. We are looking for a colleague with a demonstrated record of achievement in U.S. domestic Latinx Studies (in such areas as Latinx and Caribbean communities, Latinx civic engagement, immigration, labor issues, and gender studies) and/or comparative Latin American politics with a focus on transnationalism in Latino communities. The candidate should be committed to creative scholarship and teaching which complement and augment the LALS program's interdisciplinary strengths. The normal teaching load for this position is two courses each semester, which will be cross-listed in political science and LALS.

The university offers a competitive salary commensurate with rank and Lehigh offers excellent benefits including domestic partner benefits.

Completed applications are due by October 1, 2017. They must include a letter of interest, a current CV, three letters of reference, and representative reprints of any publications. These materials should be submitted online by accessing <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9250>.

For additional information please contact: Dr. Laura Katz Olson, Search Committee Chair, at lko1@lehigh.edu or Dr. Matthew Bush, Director of Latin American and Latino Studies, at mab508@lehigh.edu.

Lehigh University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion. We prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, marital status, or any other legally protected status. Applications by members of all underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Recognized among the nation's premier research universities, Lehigh offers a rigorous academic community for nearly 7,000 students. Lehigh University is located in Bethlehem, PA., a vibrant and historic area. Over 820,000 people live in the Lehigh Valley, which is in close proximity to New York City and Philadelphia. Interested applicants are invited to visit the Political Science Department website: <https://polisci.cas2.lehigh.edu/>; and the Lehigh Work/Life Balance for Faculty Web site: http://www.lehigh.edu/~inprv/work_life_balance.html

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 6/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2886

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Job Summary: The Institute of Political Science (IPS) in The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFU) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate (non-tenured) professors. The employment starts as early as Spring 2018. The two openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political philosophy (order is by preference). Applicants with research expertise or interest related to public and social policies are preferred but not required. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time appointments for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years. The successful candidates are expected to publish research on major journals of international reputation, offer high quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at IPS. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 370000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas.

The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SUFE is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry-level faculty in the discipline of political science. The newly established Institute of Political Science has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas and work on tenure track.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 15th 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

Date Posted: 6/13/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2879

Wheaton College

Rank: Tenure-Track in Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Wheaton College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment that would begin in Fall 2018 at the rank of assistant or associate professor. We seek applicants who specialize in comparative politics and who have a regional expertise in Africa, Latin America, or Southeast Asia. Applicants with interests and experience in peace and conflict studies are especially encouraged. Ph.D. is expected and teaching experience is preferred.

Please send a letter describing teaching experience and commitment to the Christian faith along with a current curriculum vitae to Dr. Bryan McGraw, Search Committee Chair, Department of Politics & International Relations (bryan.mcgraw@wheaton.edu). Promising candidates will receive full application materials.

Review of completed applications will begin October 2 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/29/2017

Date Posted: 6/9/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2875

Wheaton College

Rank: Tenure-Track in Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Wheaton College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment that would begin in Fall 2018 at the rank of assistant or associate professor. We seek applicants who specialize in comparative politics and who have a regional expertise in Africa, Latin America, or Southeast Asia. Applicants with interests and experience in peace and conflict studies are especially encouraged. Ph.D. is expected and teaching experience is preferred.

Please send a letter describing teaching experience and commitment to the Christian faith along with a current curriculum vitae to Dr. Bryan McGraw, Search Committee Chair, Department of Politics & International Relations (bryan.mcgraw@wheaton.edu). Promising candidates will receive full application materials.

Review of completed applications will begin October 2 and continue until the position is filled.

Wheaton College complies with federal and state guidelines for non-discrimination in employment, and is an evangelical Protestant Christian liberal arts college whose faculty and staff affirm a Statement of Faith and adhere to the lifestyle expectations of the Wheaton College Community Covenant. Information on both may be found at <http://www.wheaton.edu/About-Wheaton/Statement-of-Faith-and-Educational-Purpose>. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/29/2017

Date Posted: 6/9/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2876

University of Toronto

Rank: Comparative Politics, Russia in comparative perspective

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream position in Comparative Politics, in the area of the politics of Russia in comparative perspective. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence on July 1, 2018.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must provide strong evidence of research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by a record of sustained contributions or publications in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive and independently funded research program. Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, and strong endorsements from referees. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>.

The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St. George) campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted through the University of Toronto's online application system. Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed and scanned) directly to the Chair of the Department of Political Science, Professor Antoinette Handley, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 16, 2017.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/16/2017

Date Posted: 6/7/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2872

Brigham Young UniversityRank: Visiting Faculty

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a full-time visiting position from well-qualified candidates with a completed Ph.D. in any area of political science, with a preference for comparative politics.

The visiting appointment will begin in Winter 2018.

Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience.

Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's Honor Code and Dress & Grooming Standards.

To apply, please go to yjobs.byu.edu and search for Political Science Visiting Faculty (Job ID 64236). Review of applicants will begin June 19th, 2017.

Start Date: Winter 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2868

Florida State UniversityRank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science (<http://coss.fsu.edu/polisci/home>) seeks applications for a tenure track assistant professor in Comparative politics to begin in the fall of 2018. We are open with respect to specializations, and successful candidates will add to the department's strengths in quantitative, experimental and/or formal methods.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Research I institution. Among its 42,000 students are 8,500 graduate students pursuing over 200 programs of study. Tallahassee is Florida's capital and has a metropolitan population of over 375,000. Its principal employers are state government and three higher education institutions.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application indicating research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendation, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Items (1) to (3) must be submitted electronically; items (4) and (5) may be sent as hard copies or electronically. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

Electronic files may be submitted to polisci@fsu.edu, as may questions about the search. Mailed letters of reference and transcripts may be addressed to Comparative Politics Search, Department of Political Science, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306-2230.

Florida State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and racial/ethnic minority applicants are particularly encouraged to apply (http://hr.fsu.edu/?page=eoc/eo/eo_home).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/31/2017

Date Posted: 6/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2867

American UniversityRank: Professorial Lecturer, One-Year Position in Political Science Methods

Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a term faculty appointment for Academic Year 2017-18. Rank will be dependent on experience and stature in the field. The appointment is a 9-month term position and will commence on August 28, 2017.

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered as instructors. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate courses per semester in political science methods, including, but not limited to Introduction to Research Methods. A successful candidate should also be able to teach introductory classes in American Politics or Comparative Politics. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42032>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and proposed syllabi. Please contact Julian Escarraga at govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2858

Franklin & Marshall CollegeRank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, Comparative Politics

Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a visiting position in Comparative Politics in the Department of Government beginning Fall 2017. The rank will be Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, depending on qualifications. Applicants should possess or be close to completing a doctorate (or terminal degree) in political science. Preference will be given to the candidate who researches and teaches about Latin America, or the Middle East, but is also open to all geographic areas that would complement existing faculty strengths in Asian and African politics. Applicants should have training in comparative politics, with the expectation that the successful candidate will teach an introductory course in comparative politics as well as upper level courses related to candidate's field of expertise.

Position is renewable for up to two years on evidence of good teaching and/or continued administrative approval. Teaching experience required. Teaching load is 3/2 and may include participation in the College's general education requirement, ("Connections"). Candidates should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, teaching and research statement, and teaching evaluation forms. Interested candidates should apply at Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/42386>. For full consideration applications should be received by June 19th, 2017.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2017

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 2864

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in Comparative Politics/International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a one-year, full-time position as Visiting Lecturer in Political Science for the 2017-2018 academic year with the possibility of renewal. We are particularly interested in candidates who have expertise in the politics of Russia and Eastern Europe, but we will also consider other candidates who are prepared to teach courses on the Cold War, foreign policy, human security, and the politics of oil.

This position is supported by the Dietrich School of Arts & Sciences and the Center for Russian and East European Studies (REES). Duties in the Political Science Department will consist of teaching 15 credit hours (five courses) per academic year to include, at minimum, two courses that feature substantial content on the REES world area (e.g., Government & Politics of USSR/Russian Federation; Cold War: Soviet Union and the West 1917-1991).

As an affiliated faculty member of REES, you are eligible to apply for REES Course Development Grants as well as for REES Faculty Small Grants to support research activities. In addition to your teaching responsibilities, REES will welcome your participation in intellectual activities of the center.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by the end of the summer, 2017. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, and two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please send application materials to Wynn Maloney at wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 6/23/2017

Date Posted: 5/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2821

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in Spring 2018 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and international relations (order is by preference). A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited about 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The new political science group in SPEA has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to develop a new political science program in Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 1st 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/12/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2778

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Applicants for a position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography, open rank, must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology. Preference will be given to applicants who have expertise in public policy related to coastal environments and/or experience in interdisciplinary, environmental social sciences focusing on public policy and coastal ecology. The anticipated starting date is flexible and can be as early as August 2017.

The successful applicant will be expected to bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact research, and be able to develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have, or be able to establish, a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

We are bringing together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries, or are working in transdisciplinary fields, in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>). This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems. This individual will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/46716> (Position #38660) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of any history of interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an ongoing basis until the position is filled.

The University of Central Florida, with more than 63,000 students, has grown in quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years and is committed to being inclusive and diverse by building a faculty who are a reflection of the students they teach. For more information about this position please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster search committee Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/30/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2747

Columbia University

Rank: Sakip Sabanci Professor of Turkish Studies (Tenured Associate or Full Professor)

The Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Columbia University in the City of New York invites applications for the Sakip Sabanci Professor of Turkish Studies. We seek a scholar of Turkish Studies with area of specialization to be determined, but with a strong preference for the social sciences, to be filled at the rank of professor or associate professor with tenure. The successful candidate may be a member of the faculty of any social science department within the Arts and Sciences, including anthropology, sociology, history, and political science, and will be the founding director of the Sakip Sabanci Center for Turkish Studies and will develop programming for the Center. Beyond teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in the field of specialization, the successful candidate will sustain an active research and publication agenda.

All applications must be made through Columbia University's Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) and must include a cover letter, current CV, list of references and writing sample of no more than twenty-five pages. Applicants also should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be uploaded into RAPS. For more information and to apply, please go to: academicjobs.columbia.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=64343

The review of applications will begin September 15, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/28/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2743

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.

Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here: http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost_constitutions/documents/hf_jp-ii_apc_15081990_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu .Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2488

San Diego State University

Rank: Director of the J. Keith Behner and Catherine M. Stiefel Program on Brazil

The College of Arts and Letters of San Diego State University seeks to hire an associate or full professor with a specialty on Brazil.

Requirements:

Ph.D. in Humanities and/or Social Sciences, with a research and teaching focus on Brazil. Proven administrative experience building interdisciplinary and/or intercollegiate programs and record of success in obtaining external funding.

Rank and salary commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments. Tenure upon hire is possible depending upon qualifications.

Duties:

I. Develop both long and short term plans to meet the program's objectives in the areas of:

research, scholarship and creative endeavors;
academic programming and co-curricular activities in all aspects of Brazil's life - social, cultural and scientific - including international programs with and/or in Brazil, such as exchange of students/faculty; engagement and outreach

II. Establish an open, inclusive and transparent process to allocate seed money for research projects and support for curricular and extra-curricular initiatives that are poised to deliver tangible outcomes.

III. Instigate and develop internal and outreach efforts, including development.

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Application Instructions

To ensure full consideration, please apply via Interfolio. Position will remain open until filled.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.'

This institution is using Interfolio's ByCommittee to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/13/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2221

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

U.S. Coast Guard Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-Track) of Maritime Policy and Governance

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Other

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Regulatory Policy, International Security

The Coast Guard Academy anticipates an opening for an Assistant Professor of Maritime Policy and Governance. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate, upper-level maritime policy courses and, occasionally, introductory government / political science courses. The ideal candidate will be able to teach one or more of the following topic areas: ocean and arctic policy; coastal governance; marine resource management; marine safety; port security; maritime transportation, commerce, and industry. The anticipated teaching load for this position will be 9-12 credit hours (up to 4 sections – total - of one or more 3-credit courses) per semester. Other possible responsibilities include fostering opportunities for cadets via speakers, travel, and contacts; academic advising; work as a faculty advisor to student research projects, clubs, and other co-curricular activities; individual research and scholarship; and institutional, divisional, and departmental service.

Qualifications: Successful candidate will possess either (1) a Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science (or a closely related field); or (2) a Juris Doctor degree with relevant maritime practice or teaching experience. Experience with teaching college or law school courses is required; the preferred candidate will have a publication and teaching record in Maritime Policy and Governance. Excellent interpersonal, teaching, and communications skills are essential. Experience mentoring diverse student populations, and/or experience promoting diversity initiatives - including efforts at creating communities of inclusion - is highly desirable.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3045

Harvard University International and Area Studies

Rank: Academy Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Africa, Central America, East Asia

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies Academy Scholars Program, 2018-2019

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences (including law) with a command of the language, history, or culture of non-Western countries or regions. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in non-Western cultures or regions shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Scholars applying by the October 1, 2017 deadline for the August 2018 postdoctoral fellowships must have completed the PhD or equivalent after September 30, 2014.

Academy Scholars are appointed for 2 years at the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies and are provided time, guidance, and access to Harvard University facilities. They receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire accessory training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of senior Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $67,000, and predoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until they are awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the postdoctoral fellowships beginning in August 2018 is due by October 1, 2017. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 6, 2017. Notification of Scholarships will be made in late December, 2017. For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <http://www.academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 3074

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant Professor

International Relations/Methodology (Assistant Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University Bloomington invites applications for a full-time tenure track assistant professor in the field of International Relations (IR) and/or methodology beginning August 2018. We have a particular interest in scholars who will contribute to our professional reputation in empirical International Relations and our research methods courses at all levels. The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, the candidate is expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate in departmental activities.

This position is authorized at the rank of Assistant Professor. Successful candidates who have completed their Ph.D. degree by Sept. 30, 2017 will be appointed as Assistant Professor, while Ph.D. candidates without degree in hand would be appointed as Acting Assistant Professor at a lower salary. Upon final completion of the degree by Jan. 31, 2018, the appointment would be changed to Assistant Professor at a higher salary for the spring semester. Candidates at the Associate Professor level or seeking a tenured appointment will be considered only under unusual circumstances.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA Services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status. To ensure full consideration applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, copies of research publication and course syllabi, and teaching evaluations by October 1, 2017. Applications will be considered until the position is filled, however.

Interested candidates should review the job requirements and submit application materials on-line at <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/4339>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to:

Jessica Williams
Department of Political Science
Indiana University Bloomington
1100 E. Seventh Street
Bloomington, IN 47405-7110
(812) 855-1209
jeewilli@indiana.edu

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/31/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3078

Tsinghua University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, Full Professor in International Relations and Quantitative Methods

Specializations: International Political Economy, International Security, Quantitative Methods

The department of International Relations at Tsinghua University (Beijing, China) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in International Relations and Quantitative Methodology beginning in the 2018-19 academic year. The successful candidate will have a strong commitment to teaching, a high potential for excellence in research, have scholarly publications in prestigious journals, and evidence of teaching ability. He/she will be expected to seek external funding for his/her research.

Please submit the following materials to xpang@tsinghua.edu.cn

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement (describing teaching approach and philosophy)
4. Research statement
5. Three reference letters

Tsinghua University is a research university located in Beijing, China. Tsinghua is consistently ranked as one of the top academic institutions in China and Asia. The Department of International Relations is one of the leading political science programs in China. In 2017, the program was ranked as the 35th globally and the 2nd nationally by the QS World University rankings for the field of "Politics and International Relations."

Review of applications will begin on August 20th, and will continue until the position is filled. Any questions regarding the opening may be directed to Xun PANG, the vice chair of the department, at xpang@tsinghua.edu.cn.

Contact: Prof. Xun PANG
Email: xpang@tsinghua.edu.cn
Phone: 86-10-6278-8801
Fax: 86-10-6277-3173
Address:
313 Mingzhai Hall,
Department of International Relations
Tsinghua University, Beijing
China 100084

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/28/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3072

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: NON - TENURE TRACK FACULTY FELLOW, Center for European & Mediterranean Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Western Europe, International Political Economy, Post Communist Europe

NON - TENURE TRACK FACULTY FELLOW
Center for European & Mediterranean Studies
ARTS AND SCIENCE
New York University

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies in Arts and Science at New York University invites applicants for a Faculty Fellow position. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2018, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

CEMS/NYU seeks a scholar specializing in one or more of the following fields: comparative European and Mediterranean politics, anthropology, sociology, or contemporary or recent European and Mediterranean history. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and/or teaching interests concerning the European Union and/or political, economic and social relations and developments in Europe. Responsibilities include teaching three courses per year (including undergraduate and graduate seminars and capstone courses), and a significant role in advising theses for both MA students and undergraduate seniors. Student advising is a key component of this position. Service to the program will also involve representing the Center at university occasions and committee meetings. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching, and have completed the Ph.D. no earlier than 2013.

To apply, see the NYU Center for European and Mediterranean Studies website at <http://as.nyu.edu/cems/Employment.html>. The applicant should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three references. The deadline for applications is January 19, 2018.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read <http://as.nyu.edu/administrative-resources/office/dean/diversity-initiative.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 1/19/2018
Date Posted: 7/27/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3066

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for one or more tenure-track junior faculty positions, which may be joint with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. These positions are open with respect to sub-field and involve teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/2641>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. For best consideration apply by September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/27/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3060

Princeton University

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, International Relations or Comparative Politics

The Department of Politics and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs are seeking applications from senior scholars in the fields of international relations or comparative politics. The position is open with respect to subfield specialization and involves teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at <http://dof.princeton.edu/academicjobs>. Senior scholars should submit a letter of interest along with a vita, but no publications or other writings at this time. We will begin reviewing applications on September 1, 2017.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/27/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3070

University of Exeter

Rank: Lecturer (2 positions) in Politics/International Relations
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

Lecturer in Politics/International Relations (two permanent positions)

Job reference: P57863
 Application closing date: 28/08/2017

Location: Exeter (Streatham Campus), UK

The starting salary will be from £33,943 up to £41,709 on Grade F, depending on qualifications and experience. The position includes generous holiday allowances, flexible working, pension scheme and relocation package (if applicable).

The University of Exeter

The university is a Russell Group university boasting a vibrant academic community with over 21,000 students. Ranked in the top 1% of universities in the world, 98% of our research is rated as being of international quality and focuses on some of the most fundamental issues facing the world today. We encourage proactive engagement with industry, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.

The Department of Politics

Politics at Exeter is a large, diverse, collegiate, and pluralistic department, with over fifty permanent faculty members across two campuses (in Devon and Cornwall). We specialise in a wide array of areas including international relations, political theory, public administration, electoral behaviour, European governance, rural policy, and quantitative and qualitative methods. The last two UK research assessment exercises (REF2014 and RAE2008) have placed us firmly in the top ten departments in the country. In addition to our commitment to world-class research, we prioritise first-rate teaching, and regularly excel in the National Student Survey. Over half of our faculty members are non-UK and we warmly welcome international applicants.

The positions

These roles will be based at our Streatham campus in Exeter.

The department wishes to appoint two Lecturers in Politics/International Relations, as part of a strategic investment designed to further enrich our research and teaching. We will consider applicants from any area or sub-field of Politics, but are particularly interested in the following themes: international development, international political economy, the politics of food, environmental politics, migration studies, gender, global governance, health and well-being, parliamentary studies, and the politics of Africa and/or Asia.

The post will involve conducting research of international quality, the delivery of outstanding teaching, and collegiate contribution to a friendly and dynamic department.

About you

For a Lecturer post you will have:

- A PhD or equivalent in Politics or International Relations and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in a relevant active field of research
- A strong record in attracting funding for research, or the potential to attract such funding
- An active approach to inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary research
- Enthusiasm for delivering high quality undergraduate programmes
- Strong connections and funded projects with business and community partners
- Involvement in projects which develop impact.

What we can offer you:

- The support you need to pursue intellectual interests and to work creatively across disciplines to produce internationally exciting research;

-Support teams that understand the University wide research and teaching goals and partner with our academics accordingly
Our Exeter Academic initiative supporting high performing academics to achieve their potential and develop their career
A beautiful campus set in the heart of stunning Devon

Please ensure you read our Job Description and Person Specification for full details of this role.

For an informal and confidential discussion about the post please contact Head of Politics, Associate Professor Robert Lamb (tel: 01392-722054, email: r.lamb@ex.ac.uk).

The complete job description can be found here: <http://admin.exeter.ac.uk/personnel/jobs/P57863.pdf>

The University of Exeter is an equal opportunity employer. We are officially recognised as a Disability Confident employer and an Athena Swan accredited institution. Whilst all applicants will be judged on merit alone, we particularly welcome applications from groups currently underrepresented in the workforce.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/28/2017

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3034

Davidson College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Davidson College: The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor specializing in Comparative and/or International Politics to begin July 1, 2018. Demonstrated potential for excellence in and enthusiasm for teaching, active and high quality scholarship, and commitment to student advising and support are essential. We are interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests include some aspect of comparative public policy – in health, education, social policy, immigration, private sector regulation, development, or other policy domains. The candidate should be broadly enough trained to be able to contribute to wider course offerings in other comparative and/or international politics subfields, and possess a willingness to expand his or her teaching and research interests in response to emerging political issues. The search is open to expertise in any region of the world, including cross-regional comparison. The ability to teach a comparative course on a specific region of the world would be attractive but is not required. We also welcome applications from candidates with strong multi-methodological skills, and with a pluralistic approach to social science methodology; with trans-disciplinary interests that complement Davidson College's growing inter-disciplinary programs; and with potential to contribute to the department's existing strength in integrating liberal arts education with policy engagement. The successful applicant will be expected to offer five courses per year (four in the first year of employment) including an introductory course in either international or comparative politics; upper-level courses and seminars; and, in rotation with other faculty, our required research methods course. Applications from both Ph.D.-holders and very advanced ABDs will be considered.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; graduate school transcript; a statement

addressing the candidate's research agenda and interests; a statement explaining the candidate's demonstrated or potential excellence in and enthusiasm for undergraduate teaching; and a statement outlining how the candidate's teaching, service, and/or research might contribute to Davidson College's institutional commitment to diversity and inclusion. The deadline for receipt of applications is September 20, 2017. All application materials can be submitted at <http://employment.davidson.edu>. Please note that the department will not be holding pre-interviews at the APSA conference in San Francisco.

Davidson is a highly-selective, nationally-ranked, residential, four-year liberal arts college located 20 minutes north of Charlotte in Davidson, N.C. Davidson is strongly committed to achieving excellence and cultural diversity, and welcomes applications from women, members of minority groups, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's mission.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/20/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3056

Naval War College

Rank: Naval Warfare Analysis

U.S. NAVAL WAR COLLEGE SEEKS

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor Naval Warfare Analysis

Center for Naval Warfare Studies

AD-1701-03/05/07

The Naval War College (NWC) is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense and the U.S. Navy. U.S. graduates earn a Master of Arts degree in National Security & Strategic Studies, accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. The College has four main missions: Educate and Develop Leaders; Support Defining the Future Navy and Associated Roles and Missions, Support Combat Readiness, and Strengthen Global Maritime Partnerships. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

The professor will be a member of the Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) which resides within the Center for Naval Warfare Studies (CNWS). CNWS serves as the nexus for broad-based, advanced research on the naval contribution to a national strategy. The Center produces scholarship and original research and fosters critical and innovative thinking on current and evolving operational challenges of importance for the Navy and the nation. The Center links the Naval War College to the fleet and policymakers in Washington by serving as a focal point for strategic and operational thought; by integrating strategic, operational, and tactical concepts; by linking strategic concerns with technological developments; and finally, by testing and evaluating concepts through methods including war gaming, operations research, policy analysis, and traditional scholarship.

Strategic and Operational Research Department: The Strategic and Operational Research Department (SORD) produces innovative strategic research and analysis for the U.S. Navy, the Department of Defense, and the broader national security community. SORD is a center for regional and functional security expertise and analysis at the Naval War College. It supports the full range of Navy leadership and organizations as well as other elements of the joint force and the U.S. interagency including the Joint Staff, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the intelligence community, the National Security Council staff, the Department of State, and the U.S. Congress. The department houses a number of specialized institutes, groups, and centers that foster deeper levels of research, analysis, and teaching on subjects of critical interest for the Navy.

Responsibilities: Duties will include analyzing joint, combined, and naval dynamics between the U.S. (and allied and partner forces) and potential adversaries. Incumbent will co-lead a faculty/student research group which involves teaching graduate-level seminars for mid-grade and senior military officers, designing and conducting iterated war-games, and supporting student research.

Qualifications and Competencies: Qualified candidates must have an advanced degree from an accredited university and experience in assessing and evaluating strategic, operational, and tactical warfare concepts. A research-oriented Ph.D. is preferred but not required. Knowledge of naval and joint systems – or equivalent practical experience in advanced technology and functional capabilities -- is desirable. Experience may have been gained by leading and conducting research, systems analysis, systems operation, and/or development and execution of warfighting operations, tactics, techniques, and procedures within the DoD environment. War gaming experience is desirable. Candidates must be U.S. citizens and capable of obtaining a Department of Defense TOP SECRET/SCI security clearance. The selected candidate will be subject to a pre-employment drug screening test and to random drug testing thereafter. Salary Considerations: Rank and salary commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule.

Application Process: Applicants should reference VA#NWC-17-29 and submit their application package electronically to: nwc-17-29@usnwc.edu. The application package should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae or resume, and the names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted until September 8, 2017.

Active duty members may apply under this announcement but are subject to eligibility requirements of the Veterans Opportunity to Work Act (VOW). Active duty members must submit a statement of service printed on command letterhead and signed by the command. The statement of service must provide branch, rate/rank, all dates of service, the expected date of discharge and anticipated character of service (Honorable, General, etc.). Please note: you will be ineligible for consideration if your statement of service is not submitted with your application or it shows an expected discharge or release date greater than 120 days after being submitted with your application.

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement date to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

Questions should be directed to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Peter Dombrowski at dombrowp@usnwc.edu. The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3053

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position in International Relations beginning fall semester 2018 (08/27/18).

The department seeks qualified applicants ranging from current Ph.D. candidates to advanced assistant professors. We especially welcome applications from underrepresented groups.

The search is open with respect to both specialty within the field and approach. We welcome applications from all areas of focus in international relations, including the international relations of China or East Asia, the Environment, and International Relations Theory.

Appointments will be 100% time over the nine-month academic year (late-August to late-May), and will be made at the rank of tenure-track assistant professor, consistent with collegiate and university policy. Salary is competitive, and dependent on qualifications and experience.

Qualifications:

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in political science or related field is required. Advanced ABD's may be considered for appointment at the rank of tenure-track instructor, with the stipulation that the Ph.D. is conferred in the first year of the appointment.

Preferred Qualifications:

College/university-level teaching experience is preferred.

Candidates will be evaluated according to (a) overall quality of their academic preparation and scholarly work, (b) contribution of their scholarly research to the department's academic priorities and fields of inquiry, (c) evidence of commitment to teaching and skills as a teacher, and (d) strength of recommendations.

Duties / Responsibilities:

Faculty in the Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts are expected to maintain an active research program, teach and advise undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute service appropriate for the rank of appointment to the department, college, University, and profession.

The Standards for Promotion and Tenure in the Department of Political Science are available at: http://academic.umn.edu/provost/faculty/tenure/pdf/CLA/7_12POLSCI.pdf

For information on faculty workload guidelines and principles in the College of Liberal Arts, visit:

<https://sites.google.com/a/umn.edu/cla-intranet/ofaa/resources/workload-principles--guidelines>

About the Department / College / University:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in graduate and undergraduate education and to the conduct of leading social science research. For further information, please visit the department website, <http://cla.umn.edu/polisci>.

Established in 1868, the College of Liberal Arts supports the University of Minnesota's land-grant mission as home to disciplines in the arts, humanities, and social sciences. The College of Liberal Arts is committed to intellectual freedom, the pursuit of new knowledge, and the belief that the liberal arts are the foundation of academic learning. CLA prepares students to be independent and original thinkers, innovators in their chosen fields; to create meaning in their lives and in their life's work; and to become productive citizens and leaders in their communities and the world. The College of Liberal Arts values diverse cultures, experiences, and perspectives as key to innovation and excellent education. www.cla.umn.edu

Founded in 1851, the University of Minnesota, with its five campuses and more than 65,000 students, is one of the largest, most comprehensive universities in the United States, and ranks among the most prestigious research universities in the world. It is both a major research institution, with scholars of national and international reputation, and a state land-grant university, with a strong tradition of education and public engagement.

The University recognizes and values the importance of diversity and inclusion in enriching the employment experience of its employees and in supporting the academic mission. The University is committed to attracting and retaining employees with varying identities and backgrounds.

The University of Minnesota provides equal access to and opportunity in its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, gender, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. To learn more about diversity at the U: <http://diversity.umn.edu>.

Application Instructions:

Apply online through the University of Minnesota's Job Center: <http://www1.umn.edu/ohr/employment/index.html>.

- Job Opening ID: 318706
- Job Posting Title: Assistant Professor (Political Science: International Relations)
- Job Code: 9403
- Jobs Posted Within: Last Three Months (or greater)
- Keyword(s): Political Science

Applications must be submitted online. To be considered for this position, please click the APPLY button and follow the instructions. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position, and attach a cover letter and C.V. Additional documents must be attached to your "My Activities" page, and can be attached after submission of the application by re-entering the Job Center, accessing your "My Activities" page (in the top list of hyperlinks), and uploading documents there.

The following required materials must be attached to your online application:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Writing sample (in the candidate's central area of research)
4. Brief statement of research interests
5. Brief statement of teaching philosophy and interests

Additional materials may be requested from candidates at a future date.

In addition to the electronically-submitted materials, candidates are asked to arrange for at least THREE letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the department.

The letters of recommendation may be emailed to cutt0019@umn.edu, or mailed to:

International Relations Search Committee
Attn: Alexis Cuttance
Department of Political Science
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities
267 19th Avenue South, Room 1414
Minneapolis, MN 55455

Applications will be reviewed beginning October 2nd, 2017. However, applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For questions about the position, please contact the Department of Political Science, at (612) 624-4144.

For questions about the application process, or to request an accommodation during the application process, please e-mail employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

Any offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Our presumption is that prospective employees are eligible to work here. Criminal convictions do not automatically disqualify finalists from employment.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3050

University of Southern California

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

Assistant Professor of International Relations -- Migration
University of Southern California

The School of International Relations in the Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (Los Angeles, California) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor of International Relations, anticipated to begin Fall 2018. We seek applicants with a strong research program in the politics of cross-national migration. Candidates should demonstrate a capacity for innovative research on population movement as it relates to poverty and economic crisis, chronic hunger, armed conflict (internal or international), and/or environmental degradation and climate change. The successful candidate will also demonstrate strong methodological skills, whether qualitative or quantitative, including the ability to teach a Ph.D.-level methods course. Applicants with expertise in experimental design or advanced statistical techniques are especially welcome. A Ph.D. is required by time of appointment, preferably in Political Science, though other disciplines may be considered.

Applications should be complete by October 1 to receive fullest consideration. Applicants are required to complete the on-line application process (with few exceptions—such as published books—materials submitted by regular post will not be accepted). Follow this link or paste it in a browser: <https://uscareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-of-international-relations-migration/1209/5215060>. Required materials include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, three letters of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Inquiries may be sent to sirsearch@dornsife.usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3055

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Global Studies

Subfield(s): Other, Public Policy, International Relations

The Global Studies Program and Political Science Department at the National University of Singapore is looking to hire a tenure-track assistant professor in Global Studies. The candidate should be able to develop and teach applied, workshop-style classes for upper level undergraduates in cooperation with NGOs, business, or government agencies. The candidate should also be able to teach research design and basic social science methodology classes in a multidisciplinary setting. Scholars from all social science and humanities disciplines are welcome to apply. However, the applicant's research profile should be legible to scholars of politics, broadly defined, given that the future tenure home will be the Department of Political Science.

The Department of Political Science and the National University of Singapore are highly research-oriented. The teaching load is three modules year academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Applicants should send a CV, a letter detailing their teaching and research interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox11@nus.edu.sg. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and liveable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3043

National University of Singapore

Rank: Associate/Full Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an Associate or Full Professor in any of its subfields, which are Comparative Politics, Governance and Public Policy, International Relations, and Political Theory. Candidates should have an outstanding record of research and publication and be able to provide evidence of superior teaching and proven capacity for leadership. The Department of Political Science and the National University of Singapore are highly research-oriented. The teaching load is three modules year academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Applicants should send a CV, a letter detailing their teaching and research interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox12@nus.edu.sg. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia

Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3044

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of International Affairs at the University of Georgia invites applications for a tenure track position in international relations at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall of 2018. While we seek a scholar who is broadly trained in the concepts, methods, and approaches used in the study of international relations, we are particularly interested in candidates with teaching and research interests in international political economy. Candidates are expected to have a demonstrated ability to produce high quality research, show promise of attracting external funding, and be well trained in research methods, broadly defined.

The School of Public and International Affairs, of which the DIA is one of three Departments, has two state of the art experimental research labs – one for group surveys and experiments; the other for political psychophysiological research. Candidates who can make use of these facilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Minimum qualifications: The Ph.D. degree in political science or near completion of dissertation is required. For ABD applicants, the degree must be completed by August 1, 2019.

Prospective candidates should send a cover letter indicating interest and qualifications, a current curriculum vita, teaching evaluations demonstrating excellence in instruction, original transcripts, and three letters of recommendation in electronic form to the UGA Faculty Job site at <http://facultyjobs.uga.edu/postings/2521>. Questions or hard copies of letters of recommendation can be sent to Bill Zachmann, Department of International Affairs, University of Georgia, Candler Hall 309, Athens, GA 30602 (zachmann@uga.edu). Applications received by September 20, 2017 will be assured full consideration.

Georgia is well known for its quality of life both outdoor and urban activities (www.georgia.gov). UGA (www.uga.edu) is a land/sea grant institution located 75 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of International Affairs is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3046

Emory University

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Relations

Assistant Professor – International Relations

Department of Political Science

Emory University

Atlanta, GA

The Department of Political Science at Emory University seeks to hire an assistant professor with expertise in international relations, to begin in the fall semester 2018. The position is tenure-track at the level of Assistant Professor.

The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in both research and teaching. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. or be very close to completing the Ph.D. by September 2018. The teaching load and benefits are competitive.

A complete application will consist of a cover letter that includes a research statement, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Applicants are also required to submit a brief statement about their experience and vision regarding the teaching and mentorship of students of diverse backgrounds. Application review will begin on September 5, 2017; to ensure full consideration all materials should be received by this date.

To apply for this position, please visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/43405> and submit your materials free of charge through Interfolio.

Emory University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Disability/Veteran employer. The Department of Political Science, Emory College, and Emory University are all strongly committed to recruiting female and minority candidates. Women, minorities, persons with disabilities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/5/2017

Date Posted: 7/24/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3036

Yale University

Rank: Open Rank Position in International Relations

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applicants for positions in International Relations to begin July 1, 2018. The position is open rank. We are interested in candidates from all areas of International Relations, though we have a particular interest in those with expertise in International Political Economy and International Organization.

Ph.D. or equivalent degree required. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured), and a writing sample should be uploaded to <http://apply.interfolio.com/43260>.

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2017, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 7/21/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3030

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS, Social Science. NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, International Relations

Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Social Movements

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS

Social Science

NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September 2018. Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

Applications are now open and we will consider candidates on a rolling basis. To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, three representative publications and three letters of reference, all in PDF format. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and under-represented minorities to apply. Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu

Note: We will begin considering applicants from political science September 22, 2017 and applications from economics December 1, 2017.

?

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complimented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Entering its eighth year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3025

Tulane University

Rank: Greenleaf Scholar-In-Residence, Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Latin American, International Political Economy, Environmental Policy

Tulane University invites applications from mid-career scholars in Latin American Studies conducting interdisciplinary research in the social sciences to spend one or two semester(s) as a Greenleaf Scholar-in-Residence at the Stone Center for Latin American Studies during the 2018-2019 academic year. We seek scholars who address questions of social and gender inclusion, particularly with regard to the reduction of economic, environmental, health or other inequalities. We encourage applications from scholars in the fields of anthropology, development studies, economics, environmental studies, international studies, law, political science, public health, social medicine or sociology. Appointments for fall semester are from August 1 – December 31, 2018. Appointments for spring semester are from January 1– May 31, 2019. Salary is $40,000 per semester plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported.

Qualifications: Minimum Associate Professor status or above and a distinguished record of publication.

Application Instructions: Applications must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting <http://apply.interfolio.com/42704>. Please submit a CV including contact information for two professional references, as well as a cover letter describing how residence at Tulane will aid in advancing your research. Also, please provide a title and brief description of a course (or courses) you would be interested in offering. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017, but the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3028

University of Zurich

Rank: Professorship for Political Theory

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of Zurich invites applications for a Professorship for Political Theory

The position should be filled by August 1, 2018. Depending on the qualifications of the appointee, the professorship will take the form of a chair (full or associate professorship) or an assistant professorship with tenure track.

The focus of the position is on political institutions, preferably in relation to questions of democracy. Candidates should have a broad and internationally recognized research track record in the study of the development, functioning and/or effects of political institutions, or demonstrate the potential to develop such a record. The specific substantive or geographic focus of the position is open and can include local, national, and international institutions. Competences in positive political theory, formal modeling, and/or the analysis of the empirical implications of theoretical models are an advantage.

The position is located in the Department of Political Science (IPZ), which provides a dynamic and collaborative international environment for teaching and research. The department offers generous research and teaching support. In addition, the holder of the position is eligible to apply for Swiss National Science Foundation funding, as well as many other grant programs in Switzerland and the European Union.

Candidates should hold a PhD degree in Political Science at the time of application and have an excellent record of academic achievements in the relevant field. Teaching may be carried out in English. Since administrative work is conducted in German at the University of Zurich, non-German speaking candidates are expected to acquire a working knowledge of German within the first three years of appointment. In order to increase the number of women in leading academic positions, we specifically encourage women to apply.

The closing date for applications is September 10, 2017. Details on the application procedure are available on www.phil.uzh.ch/jobs.html. For further information please contact Prof. Fabrizio Gilardi (gilardi@ipz.uzh.ch).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/10/2017

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Above $159,999

eJobs ID: 3023

College of William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government: Middle East and North Africa

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in politics of the Middle East and North Africa. Applicants from all subfields of political science or cognate disciplines are encouraged to apply. We are especially interested in candidates with interests in race, ethnicity, diaspora or migration politics. The successful candidate will have excellent preparation; will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department bring new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level and, for interested candidates, also can include opportunities to teach at the master's level in the W&M Public Policy Program.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a cognate discipline at the time of appointment (August 10, 2018). Applicants must be prepared to teach Middle East politics to undergraduates at the intermediate and advanced level. Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching research methods (introductory level and intermediate level qualitative or quantitative methods) is preferred but not required.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, statement of research, teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), a writing sample, and a statement describing previous professional experiences or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 15, 2017. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/>. We are one of the largest majors on campus and our faculty participate in and receive support from various research centers on campus as well. Our faculty also contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Africana Studies, Environmental Science and Policy, Gender Sexuality and Women's Studies, Global Studies (which includes Asian and Middle Eastern Studies), International Relations, and Public Policy. William & Mary is located in Williamsburg, Virginia, convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3018

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Faculty Cluster for Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Defense, Intelligence, Science & Technology

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established a focus area in cyber security and privacy, as one of several interdisciplinary clusters established to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy. We plan to hire one tenure-track assistant or associate professor for the UCF cyber security and privacy cluster. This position has a start date of August 8, 2018.

This will be an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department, as well as a possible combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. (See <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position.

The ideal junior candidates will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy, and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact, as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program.

All relevant technical areas will be considered. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy. In particular, we are looking for someone who will work at the intersection of several areas, such as: (a) hardware and IoT security, (b) explaining and predicting human behavior, creating policies, studying ethics, and ensuring privacy, (c) cryptography and theory of security or privacy, or (d) tools, methods, training, and evaluation of human behavior.

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster at the time of appointment, and a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy, demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record. A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is a strongly preferred qualification. The position will carry a rank commensurate with the candidate's prior experience and record.

UCF is one of the nation's largest universities with a diverse student body of more than 64,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school, which was established in 2006. UCF is a neighbor to large corporations, such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/50308> and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home and the joint appointments they would desire. When applying, have all documents ready so they can be attached at that time, as the system does not allow resubmittal to update applications.

As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://eeo.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

For more information about this position, please contact the Cluster's Search Committee Chair, Gary T. Leavens, at Leavens@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3019

Auburn University at Montgomery
Rank: Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for the endowed Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy starting August 2018. This is a tenured position at the rank of full professor. The appointment to the Khaled Chair is for a three-year term (renewable, upon a satisfactory review) and comes with a stipend, research support, and a reduction in teaching load.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in the candidate's area of international relations at the undergraduate and graduate levels; maintain an active scholarly research program in that area; provide leadership in recruiting, mentoring, and supervising students in the Department's programs, especially for the doctoral program; contribute to the development of research and scholarly activities in international relations, international policy, and related subjects in the Department and the University; and through research, teaching, and service, participate in the creation of an atmosphere of international understanding.

The successful candidate must be a specialist in international relations and have a Ph.D. in one of the following areas: political science, international affairs, international relations, or public policy. In addition, the candidate must have a record of sustained scholarship, teaching excellence, service to the discipline and community, and supervision of student research to permit appointment at the rank of full professor.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2017. To apply, complete an online application at www.jobs.aum.edu and upload the following materials: a letter of application to include specification of training, current and future research agenda, teaching interests and teaching philosophy, and most significant professional service; curriculum vitae; one recent writing sample; graduate transcript (official transcript will be needed at time of hire); and contact information for three professional references. Three confidential letters of reference are required and must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu by the application deadline.

Auburn University at Montgomery is located seven miles from the city center and state capitol complex. The University enrolls approximately 4300 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes nine tenure-track faculty and offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in political science and a nationally ranked, NASPAA-accredited master's degree in public administration. It also offers a Ph.D. in public administration and public policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities. While this position is opened until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right once interviewing has begun to stop accepting applications.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3015

Syracuse University
Rank: International Relations
Specializations: Foreign Policy, Environmental Policy, Conflict Processes

Syracuse University
 International Relations

The Department of Political Science seeks to hire an Assistant or Associate Professor in International Relations for a tenure-track or tenured position beginning in Fall 2018. We particularly welcome candidates whose work focuses on foreign policy, global environmental politics, or conflict resolution. The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests; successful candidates will have some teaching responsibilities in the MA-IR program and a courtesy appointment in the Department of Public Administration and International Affairs. Successful candidates also may be invited to affiliate with the Moynihan Institute of Global Affairs or one of Maxwell's other interdisciplinary centers (<http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/>).

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field. Rank and salary commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 1, 2017. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3002

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Faculty Member
Specializations: Japan, International Security, International Political Economy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies, is a Department of Defense academic institution providing a forum where current and future military and civilian leaders from 45 Asia-Pacific nations gather to foster improved multinational and interagency security cooperation and coordination in the Asia-Pacific region through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, professional exchanges at conferences, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Center invites applications for:

FACULTY MEMBER

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world class educator to teach, facilitate, and conduct research. Responsibilities include:

- Teaching elective courses and lecturing on selected regional security topics within executive education courses;
- Facilitating seminars and planning and conducting workshops locally and throughout the Asia-Pacific region;
- Performing various administrative and staff duties to support Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center academic functions.

Particular expertise is sought in the following areas:

- Regional expertise in North East Asia. In-depth knowledge of Korea and/or Japan is particularly sought.

Required minimum qualifications include:

- Masters Degree in Security Studies, Political Science, International Relations, Economics, Anthropology, History, or a related discipline with practitioner experience in the region. A Ph.D. is highly desirable.
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation.

The following is “preferred” for ALL Faculty positions:

- Expertise in security, defense, and/or political-economic issues in one or more countries in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Living or working experience in the Asia-Pacific region.
- Ability to converse in an Asian language.

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $87,122 - $136,893 (includes HI Locality pay but excludes cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 11.32% but subject to change). These are limited-term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years (with the possibility of renewal). Relocation expenses may be authorized.

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

1. Interested candidates should submit the following items:
 - a. LETTER OF INTEREST. Provide a brief description of your vocational goals, personal interests and expected areas of study in the coming year, and explain your interest in future career considerations with the Department of Defense.
 - b. CURRICULUM VITAE. Should reflect the following: educational background, work experience, publications and salary history.
 - c. TWO ORIGINAL LETTERS OF REFERENCE.
2. Submit all required documents to physical address:

Chief, Human Resources Department
Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies
2058 Maluhia Road
Honolulu, Hawaii 96815-1949

or email to:

at hraplications@dkiapcss.net

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

1. Application deadline: Open until filled. Cut off: 31 August 2017.
2. Applications will be considered against current Faculty requirements. Application packages will be retained for one year.
3. Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of the Defense and will not be returned.
4. Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting their advanced degree(s) and two samples of their own publications.
5. The Department of the Defense is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified candidates will receive consideration without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, marital status, political affiliation, sexual orientation, or any other non-merit factor. U.S. Citizenship is not required however applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
6. The Department of the Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hraplications@dkiapcss.net to ensure that the Department of the Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.
7. Learn more about the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies by visiting: www.apcss.org.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: 7/31/2017

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3004

Harvard University

Rank: Tenure-Track Professor in International Relations and Transnational Politics

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in International Relations and Transnational Politics. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2018. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Demonstrated excellence in teaching is desired.

Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<http://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2017.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement (describing teaching approach and philosophy)
4. Research statement
5. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received.
6. Writing samples and publications, if applicable.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Contact Information: Natasha Khrestalova, Department of Government, Harvard University, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138.

nkhrustalova@fas.harvard.edu

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2994

Hebrew University

Rank: Tenure Track Position(s) in International Relations

The Department of International Relations at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem seeks to fill one or more tenure-track positions beginning fall 2018.

We seek excellent candidates that can complement the strengths of our department. The call is open to candidates in all areas and sub-fields of International Relations broadly construed. Candidates should be able to demonstrate strong command of international relations theory, broadly construed, conduct research and teach undergraduate and graduate level classes as well as mentor students.

Junior and senior scholars are encouraged to apply. Advanced doctoral candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2018.

- Candidates whose substantive research interests overlap with other political-science sub-fields are encouraged to apply also to the Hebrew University's department of political -science (contact: Prof. Dan Avnon, dan.avnon@mail.huji.ac.il)
- Candidates whose research interests deal with the European Union are encouraged to apply also to the Hebrew University's European Forum (contact: Prof. Noam Shoval, noamshoval@mail.huji.ac.il)
- Candidates whose work focuses on issues related to culture and International Relations are encouraged to apply also to the Hebrew University's program in cultural studies (contact: Dr. Nicole Hochner, nicole.hochner@mail.huji.ac.il)

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years after their arrival.

The deadline for applications is September 17th, 2017. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations will have to compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences.

Please submit all application materials electronically at: <https://ttp.ekmd.huji.ac.il>

The applicants will be asked to upload:

- A letter of intent stating willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2018;
- A list of required and elective courses that can be taught at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem;
- A scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years;
- A Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience;
- Copies of up to 3 recent publications (or conference papers);
- Names and contact information of three letter writers.

Questions about the search can be addressed to Prof. Dan Miodownik, dan.miodownik@mail.huji.ac.il

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/17/2017

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2956

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Temporary Lecturer

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Southeast Asia, Latin American, Mexico

The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) and The International Studies Program at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body.

Pending budgetary approval, several non tenure-track lectureships are expected to be available for the 2017-18 academic year, and possibly Summer Session 2018.

Appointments may be for one or more quarters/sessions based on department need.

All areas of international affairs, international studies, regional studies, business-government relations, and international economics will be considered.

A Ph.D. in Economics, Political Science, International Management or related fields and outstanding teaching experience are required. Research experience and a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion are highly desirable.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, individuals offered employment with the University of California must be authorized to work in the United States.

The 9-month salary and level of appointment are based on qualifications and UC pay scale.

Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be given full consideration.

Apply via <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01465>

Submit:

- CV
- Teaching evaluations (2-3 course evaluations)
- Statement of Teaching
- Sample Course Syllabus
- Statement describing past and/or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html> for further information).

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3001

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Open Rank

The Keough School of Global Affairs at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position whose research and teaching are focused on environmental politics and policy in an international context. Preference will be given to tenured applicants at the associate level or above, but strong junior applicants will be considered.

Applicants should have a PhD in a social science discipline or in public policy, and should have an interest in collaboration with scholars across disciplines, including environmental scientists and policy experts. Joint or concurrent appointment in the appropriate department is possible. Applicants should have an outstanding publication, grant writing, and teaching record and an established international reputation.

This position is part of the founding of the first new school at Notre Dame in nearly a century. The Keough School of Global Affairs (<http://keough.nd.edu>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, and offers a master's degree as well as undergraduate and doctoral programs. The inaugural cohort for the two-year master's degree will arrive in Fall 2017 and consists of 38 students from 21 different countries. We seek applicants who can play a leadership and program building role within the Keough School; this position will also work closely with scholars affiliated with the Environmental Change Initiative (<http://environmentalchange.nd.edu/>) at Notre Dame.

Candidates for a senior position are asked to submit a letter of interest and a curriculum vitae; candidates at the junior level should arrange for the submission of three letters of reference. Application materials should be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <https://apply.interfolio.com/43076>.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Ted Beatty
Chair, Search Committee & Associate Dean
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
ebeatty@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin on September 25, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Notre Dame supports the needs of dual career couples and has a Dual Career Assistance Program in place to assist relocating spouses and significant others with their job search. The University is also a member of the Greater Chicago Midwest Higher Education Recruitment Consortium

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at <http://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/university-policies/background-check-procedure-for-prospective-faculty/>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/25/2017

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2992

California State University, East Bay

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics/International Relations),

FACULTY EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

THE UNIVERSITY: California State University, East Bay is known for award-winning programs, expert instruction, a diverse student body of over 15,000 students, and a choice of more than 100 career-focused fields of study. For the past three years our campus has been the recipient of the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award from INSIGHT Into Diversity Magazine. We are proud of our diversity and committed to providing an inclusive and stimulating environment for all our students. The University's main campus is in Hayward, with branches in Contra Costa County, Online and in Oakland, California. Our 900+ faculty offer bachelor's degrees in 47 fields, minors in 51 fields, master's degrees in 33 fields, 9 credentials programs, 12 certificate options, and 1 doctoral degree program. <http://www20.csueastbay.edu/>

THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science offers a B.A. degree that provides both a strong background in social science and excellent professional preparation for students. The major offers three distinct paths to completion, the traditional major and options in pre-law and public affairs and administration. The two options offer interdisciplinary pre-professional curricula. The department is strong in every aspect of American government (national, state and local institutions, public policy, public law, public administration and ethnic/minority politics), as well as Comparative Politics and International Relations.

DUTIES OF THE POSITION: The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in Comparative Politics, Comparative Law, International Relations, and other coursework as assigned. In addition to teaching, all faculty have advising responsibilities, assist the department with administrative and/or committee work, and are expected to assume campus-wide committee responsibilities. Please note that teaching assignments at California State University, East Bay include courses at the Hayward campus, and with instructor's choice, at the Concord campus, and to teach online.

RANK AND SALARY: Assistant Professor. Salary is dependent upon educational preparation and experience. Subject to budgetary authorization.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT: Fall Semester, 2018.

Qualifications:

- Candidates must have an earned Ph.D. in Political Science at the effective date of the appointment.
- Candidates with teaching experience at the university level are preferred.
- Candidates with experience teaching in various formats (in-person, hybrid and fully online classes), as well as evidence of teaching effectiveness, are preferred.
- Preferred candidates would include those:
 - With research agendas focused on Comparative Politics and any of the following topics – refugees, migration, or closely-related topics,
 - With a record of scholarly activity in the above mentioned subfield and topics, and
 - Who demonstrate knowledge of multiple regions such as Europe and Latin America
- Strong preference for candidates with awareness of issues of diversity and social justice, as well as with innovative pedagogy for students from diverse educational and cultural backgrounds.

Candidates should demonstrate experience in teaching, mentoring, research, or community service that has prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence. Additionally, applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly activity.

This University is fully committed to the rights of students, staff and faculty with disabilities in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. For more information about the University's program supporting the rights of our students with disabilities see: <http://www20.csueastbay.edu/af/departments/as/>

Application Instructions

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017. The position will be considered open until filled. To apply, please submit the following required documents through Interfolio (see "Apply Now," below): apply.interfolio.com/41997

Application Instructions

1. Letter of application, which addresses the qualifications noted in the position announcement;
2. Complete and current vita;
3. One (1) writing sample;
4. One-page teaching statement that explains your teaching philosophy and pedagogical approaches;
5. One-page research statement that discusses your research agenda;
6. One-page diversity statement that addresses how you engage a diverse student population in your teaching, research, mentoring, and advising; and
7. Three (3) confidential letters of recommendation.

If available, the applicants may also submit the following optional documents.

- Course syllabi;
- Student evaluation of courses taught by the applicant; and
- Additional writing samples.

If you have questions about the position, please contact the chair of the search committee, Dr. Maria Ortuoste at: maria.ortuoste@csueastbay.edu

Note: California State University, East Bay hires only individuals lawfully authorized to work in the United States. All offers of employment are contingent upon presentation of documents demonstrating the appointee's identity and eligibility to work in accordance with provisions of the Immigration Reform and Control Act. A background check (including a criminal records check and prior employment verification) must be completed and cleared prior to the start of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2991

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a position (open to applications from specialists in international relations or comparative politics) at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in the Fall of 2018. Courses to be taught include Introduction to International Relations and Politics of the Global Economy. We also welcome courses on topics that support our interdisciplinary initiatives, such as the global environment, global poverty and inequality, sustainability and urbanization. Expertise in South Asia as well as global experience a plus. It is expected that candidates will teach an undergraduate research methods course on a rotating basis. The teaching load is spread over a two-year cycle. Faculty have a three-course load semester once every two years, and for the other three semesters, the teaching load is two courses. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens.

Loyola Marymount, a comprehensive Catholic university in the mainstream of American higher education, seeks professionally outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to academic excellence, the education of the whole person, the service of faith and the promotion of justice. LMU is an equal opportunity institution actively working to promote an intercultural learning community. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Loyola Marymount has a strong commitment to diversity, broadly defined, and therefore encourages applicants that enhance the racial diversity of the department; who are committed to working within a diverse campus community; and who are enthusiastic about working in an institution where minority and women faculty can thrive.

The application requires: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and, if applicable, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi; and 4) three letters of recommendation. Candidate materials should be emailed together as a complete package to: M.J. Cho at POLJobs@lmu.edu. Three letters of recommendation should be scanned and signed by the recommenders and emailed by the recommender directly to M.J. Cho: POLJobs@lmu.edu. Please direct questions to M.J. Cho at the above address. Only electronic applications will be considered. We will begin reviewing applications on September 25; the position will be open until filled. Preliminary interviewing will be conducted at the APSA Annual Meeting.

Candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2018 will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/22/2017
Date Posted: 7/14/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2989

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs (GSPIA) at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications and nominations for a tenure-stream faculty position at the assistant professor level in the field of international relations with specialization in international political economy, to begin in the fall term of 2018 (authorization pending). A PhD in political science or related discipline is expected at the time of appointment. The successful candidate will have research and teaching interests in international political economy and the ability to contribute to GSPIA's core teaching in public and international affairs. Applications from qualified candidates with research and teaching interests in East Asia and/or international trade are especially welcome. In their application materials, candidates are encouraged to emphasize qualifications that make them well-suited to serve on the faculty of a professional school.

Qualified applicants can submit their materials online through email attachments (see email address below). Submitted materials should include a letter of application describing the applicant's research and teaching interests, a curriculum vitae, two samples of scholarly writing, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations (if available):

Search Committee Chair
 c/o Mary Ann Gebet, Executive Assistant to the Dean
 Graduate School of Public and International Affairs
 IPEGSPIA@pitt.edu
 3407 Posvar Hall
 Pittsburgh, PA 15260

Applications must be received by September 15, 2017 to receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/13/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2984

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks qualified candidates for two tenure-track assistant professor positions. We welcome applications in all sub-fields; however we hope to hire one assistant professor in Political Economy and another assistant professor in International Relations. The department seeks excellent scholars with a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of politics. The positions are to begin September 1, 2018 pending budgetary and administrative approval. NYU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Qualifications:

Candidates must possess a PhD by September 2018, in political science or a cognate discipline. S/he will have a record of excellent research that has been published or otherwise disseminated in a manner appropriate to career stage, and have the potential to be a future leader of the profession in his or her field of expertise. Candidates should also have proven ability as excellent teachers at undergraduate and/or graduate level.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at:

<https://apply.interfolio.com/43096>

with a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three references, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching and research statements. Applications should be received by September 15, 2017. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply a link to their professional website; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/11/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2965

Baldwin Wallace University

Rank: Professor of Political Science - Tenure-Track

Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science and International Studies, National Security

Baldwin Wallace University (BW) invites applications for a tenure-track interdisciplinary appointment in Political Science and International Studies, with a primary focus on National Security at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. The successful candidate will assist in the curricular development of a growing undergraduate program in National Security with a focus on multiple forms of domestic and global security issues including traditional military and extremism threats as well as health, environmental, cybersecurity, transnational crime and others. Broadly trained specialists with expertise in international relations, comparative foreign policy decision-making or related fields are encouraged to apply. Candidates should demonstrate experience and expertise in teaching, advising, and a willingness to contribute in alternate years to BW's First Year Experience Program. This position begins August 1, 2018.

A Ph.D in a security-related field (completed by August 2018), interdisciplinary expertise, teaching experience in related areas, and willingness to mentor undergraduate students are required. Relevant professional experience in non-traditional security areas, the ability to support BW's longstanding International Studies major and regional expertise, preferably in Russia and Eastern Europe or Africa, would be desirable.

Baldwin Wallace University is a selective liberal arts university on the outskirts of Cleveland, Ohio. Its International Studies program, one of the first established in Ohio, currently serves approximately ninety majors and minors while playing an active role in campus internationalization. BW emphasizes teaching, advising, and service, and also encourages and supports scholarship.

Interested candidates should submit a letter summarizing their interest and qualifications, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, other evidence of effective teaching, and three letters of reference in one (1) Word or one (1) PDF document and submit via the To Apply link on BW's Employment and Careers' web page at <https://www.bw.edu/employment/>. Review of applications will begin on September 4, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

Baldwin Wallace University is an EEO/AA employer and educator. At BW, we support and encourage diversity in a variety of forms. We value and appreciate inclusive excellence in the classroom, within extracurricular activities, and as we engage our community partners. Learn more at Diversity Affairs - <https://www.bw.edu/about/diversity>

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/jjj72s993bdgj647>

PI98560094

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/4/2017

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2952

St. Lawrence University

Rank: Postdoctoral Teaching Fellow in International Relations

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a one-year (potentially renewable up to two additional years) postdoctoral teaching fellow position in International Relations. Pending approval, the position begins August 2018. The successful candidate will teach two courses per semester, including introductory courses in international relations and upper-level courses that complement the department's current course offerings in the subfield. Doctorate degree in political science or related field is required.

To apply, please note the following two-part application process: 1. St. Lawrence is a member of the Consortium for Faculty Diversity in Liberal Arts Colleges. All applicants for the position should review the eligibility requirements for the Consortium's postdoctoral fellowships and submit a dossier via Interfolio at <http://www.gettysburg.edu/about/offices/provost/cfd/>. By submitting your dossier via Interfolio, you also may be contacted by other liberal arts colleges about additional fellowship opportunities. 2. Applicants must also complete an online application form at <http://employment.stlawu.edu>. Review of applications will begin on October 16, 2017.

The department will be conducting interviews of candidates at the APSA annual meeting on Friday, September 1st. To request an interview, please email a cover letter and C.V. to Chris Buck, Department Chair, at cbuck@stlawu.edu no later than Friday, August 25th.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Located at 23 Romoda Drive in Canton, NY, St. Lawrence University is a coeducational, private, independent liberal arts institution of about 2,400 students from more than 40 states and 40 nations. The educational opportunities at St. Lawrence inspire students and prepare them to be critical and creative thinkers, to find a compass for their lives and careers, and to pursue knowledge and understanding for the benefit of themselves, humanity and the planet. Through its focus on active engagement with ideas in and beyond the classroom, a St. Lawrence education leads students to make connections that transform lives and communities, from the local to the global.

For additional information about St. Lawrence, please visit <http://www.stlawu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2950

York University, Toronto, Ontario

Rank: Sessional Assistant Professor in International Relations / Security Studies

The Department of Politics, Faculty of Liberal Arts & Professional Studies, York University, invites applications from qualified candidates for a one-year contractually limited appointment to commence September 1, 2017 at the level of Sessional Assistant Professor to teach in the area of International Relations / Security Studies. Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or in a related discipline, with demonstrable excellence, or the promise of excellence, in teaching and scholarly research. The successful applicant will be prepared to participate actively in the Graduate Program in Political Science and be suitable for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. Pedagogical innovation in high priority areas such as experiential education and technology enhanced learning is an asset. The appointment carries a teaching load of three full courses or the equivalent.

The Department of Politics is internationally recognized as one of the world's leading sites of political scholarship informed by a diverse range of critical intellectual approaches. We encourage applications from candidates whose research complements and strengthens our existing research and teaching.

The successful candidate will join an International Relations complement noted for diverse critical approaches to the field - including constructivist, feminist, and postcolonial approaches. The successful candidate should have teaching and research interests in International Relations with a focus on contemporary security studies, broadly conceived. We welcome applications from scholars employing a range of theoretical approaches.

Applicants should submit a signed letter of application, up-to-date curriculum vitae, and a teaching dossier in a single pdf document, and arrange for three signed confidential letters of recommendation to be sent by August 4, 2017, to Professor David Mutimer, Chair, Department of Politics, Email: polsjobs@yorku.ca (Subject line: CLA International Relations / Security Studies).

All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval. York University is an Affirmative Action (AA) employer and strongly values diversity, including gender and sexual diversity, within its community. The AA Program, which applies to Aboriginal people, visible minorities, people with disabilities, and women, can be found at www.yorku.ca/acadjobs or by calling the AA office at 416 736 5713. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and Permanent Residents will be given priority. Temporary entry for citizens of the U.S.A. and Mexico may apply per the provisions of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) or citizens of Chile may apply per the provisions of the Canada Chile Free Trade Agreement (CCFTA).

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 8/4/2017

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2954

Loyola University Maryland

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics/IR

Teaching a 3/3 course load, with courses in International or Comparative Political Economy, as well as additional courses in International Politics and/or Comparative Politics and the applicant's area of regional specialty. Maintain an active research agenda leading to peer-reviewed publication. Service includes advising duties for Global Studies majors and other service to the department as assigned by Chair, as well as institutional service.

A strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Research agenda and expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. Candidate should have a PhD in Political Science or be ABD.

Preference will be given to candidates who research and teach about Latin America or Africa, but we are open to all geographic areas that would complement existing strengths in Eastern Europe/Russia and Asia.

The Department of Political Science at Loyola University Maryland invites applications for a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. The position begins Fall 2018.

We seek candidates displaying a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching and research and an interest in the enduring questions of Politics, with an ability to teach International or Comparative Political Economy. Preference will be given to candidates who research and teach about Latin America or Africa, but we are open to all geographic areas that would complement existing strengths in Eastern Europe/Russia and Asia. Applicants should have their primary training in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations, and the expectation will be for courses to be taught in Introduction to Politics, International or Comparative Political Economy, International Politics and/or Comparative Politics, as well as in the regional area of expertise. Candidates should have a PhD or ABD.

The teaching load for the position is three courses in the fall and three courses in the spring semester, with a single-course reduction the first semester (each course is capped at 30 students). Courses will primarily serve Political Science and Global Studies majors.

The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in Loyola's growing Global Studies program. Global Studies is an interdisciplinary major with a curriculum based in the four disciplines of Economics, History, Political Science and Sociology. Students begin with foundational coursework in each department, and then develop topical specializations in the junior and senior years. The program hosts annual speakers and special events, and is a significant presence on campus. Faculty who contribute to Global Studies participate in student advising and mentoring, teach courses in the major, and become part of the Global Studies academic community. The candidate will be a member of the Political Science Department but will advise Global Studies majors.

Loyola University Maryland is a selective liberal arts university in the Jesuit Catholic tradition. The university is committed to intellectual excellence and social justice as it prepares students for a diverse and changing world. Recognized as a leading independent, comprehensive university in the northeastern United States, Loyola has a beautiful historic Evergreen campus in Baltimore and Graduate Centers in Timonium and Columbia. Loyola enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and about 2,000 students in its graduate programs.

To apply, please go to www.loyola.edu/careers to submit a C.V., three letters of reference, graduate transcripts (copies are acceptable), an article-length manuscript or chapter demonstrating scholarly potential, and a cover letter explaining teaching approach in relation to Loyola's educational mission. Teaching evaluations and sample course syllabi should also be submitted if available (select Option 1 to submit syllabi in online application). Please submit applications by September 15 to ensure full consideration. For questions related to the search or any materials that are only available in hard copy or cannot otherwise be submitted through the online application (which could include letters of reference or teaching evaluations), please send files to Dr. Carsten Vala via email to cvala@loyola.edu or via mail to him at Department of Political Science, Loyola University Maryland, 4501 N. Charles St., Baltimore, MD, 21210.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 12/31/2017

Date Posted: 7/8/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2949

Bryant University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty- Global Politics

Bryant University, a nationally recognized leader in higher education, is a student-centered institution, dedicated to educating and inspiring students to discover their passion, become innovative leaders with character, and make a difference around the world. Our innovative academic programs are attuned to the needs of industry and society. We have approximately 3459 undergraduate students who hail from 36 states and 59 countries. We also have approximately 211 full and part-time graduate students.

Bryant is currently recruiting for an Adjunct teaching opportunity for the fall 2017 semester in the area of Political Science. The fall 2017 semester runs from Tuesday, September 5–Thursday, December 21, 2017.

The following section is available and will meet for its first class on Tuesday, September 5:

- Global Politics (POLS 241) meets from 12:30-1:45pm on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

This course is an introduction to the field of global politics, also known as international relations. It focuses on a variety of interconnected topics, including the development of the nation-state system and political interactions among countries over issues of war and peace, human rights, and economic and environmental policies. We also explore the evolution and work of international institutions such as the United Nations and the World Bank, and non-governmental international organizations such as environmental and human rights groups.

Principal Accountabilities: This position includes teaching at the undergraduate level as well as contributing to student growth and development through active involvement in student related activities (e.g., advising).

Qualifications: Graduate degree (Master's or Doctorate) in a related field required. Teaching experience preferred. Based on University procedures, adjunct faculty are typically limited to teaching no more than two classes per semester.

Certain requirements are subject to possible modification to reasonably accommodate persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Date Posted: 7/7/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2943

Carroll University

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in International Relations

Visiting Lecturer in International Relations

Starting date: January 1, 2018

Responsibilities: Responsibilities of this appointment include teaching classes on international relations, advising and mentoring students, and participating in program and departmental service. The successful candidate will participate in the General Education curriculum through teaching in the common core of cross-cultural studies. The normal teaching load for lecturer positions is four 4-credit courses per semester. The capacity to teach broad-based social science research methods is an asset for those applying for this opening.

Qualifications: PhD in International Relations, International Political Economy, Comparative Politics, or in related fields. All Comparative Politics and International Relations specializations will be considered. Ability to teach international political economy courses is required. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred; ABDs will be considered. The successful candidate will complement the department's current offerings and will share the University's commitment to quality undergraduate teaching. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Rank and Salary: This is a full-time, 18-month, non-tenure track position as Instructional Faculty. Salary will be based on qualification and previous experience. The position is eligible for renewal.

The Department: The Department of History, Political Science, and Religious Studies offers majors in the following areas: history; global studies; political science; philosophy, political science and economics; and religious studies.

Carroll University: Founded in 1846, Carroll University is an independent, co-educational comprehensive university grounded in the liberal arts tradition. Carroll University is located in suburban Waukesha, 16 miles west of Milwaukee and 60 miles east of Madison. The University serves approximately 3521 students. The University though intentionally ecumenical and non-sectarian in approach, is related to the Presbyterian Church, USA. Candidates must be willing and able to support and advance the University mission.

Application: Review of applications will begin immediately and will close when the position is filled.

Please submit a 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) statement of teaching philosophy as Word or PDF format attachments with the subject line "Visiting Lecturer of International Relations" to facapp@carrollu.edu.

Final applicants will be asked to submit graduate transcripts and three letters of reference.

Carroll University is an Equal-Opportunity Employer

Start Date: Winter 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/3/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2936

Middlebury College

Rank: Tenure Track Position in International Relations

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, the Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations, beginning in September 2018. We seek candidates with broad training in International Relations, who will contribute to our International Politics and Economics Program. Successful candidates will be able to teach an introductory course in International Politics, a core course on International Political Economy, and courses in the field of International Political Economy, broadly defined. Subjects may include, but are not limited to, international law, trade flows, financial flows, migration and globalization. Appointment will be made at the rank of Assistant Professor or Instructor. Applicants must show evidence and/or promise of excellence in teaching students from diverse backgrounds and have an active research agenda.

Middlebury College is a top-tier liberal arts college with a demonstrated commitment to excellence in faculty teaching and research. An Equal Opportunity Employer, the College is committed to hiring a diverse faculty as we work to foster innovation in our curriculum and to provide a rich and varied educational experience to our increasingly diverse student body. EOE/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disability.

Middlebury College uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Email and paper applications will not be accepted. At Middlebury, we strive to make our campus a respectful, engaged community that embraces differences, with the all the complexity and individuality each person brings. Through Interfolio submit: a letter of application addressed to IR/IPE Search Committee that includes reference to how your teaching, scholarship, mentorship, and/or community service might support our commitment to diversity and inclusion; curriculum vitae; graduate transcript; sample of scholarly work; and three current letters of recommendation, at least two of which speak to teaching ability. Review of applications will begin September 15 and continue until the position is filled. More information at <https://apply.interfolio.com/42922>.

All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Information on our background check policy can be found here: <http://go.middlebury.edu/backgroundchecks>

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/30/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2931

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics or International Relations/Irish Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2018. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2018.

Candidates should be well trained in comparative politics or international relations and have area expertise in Irish Politics with a specialization in European Politics, Security Studies, Nationalism, Immigration, Social Movements or Political Economy. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to the interdisciplinary work of the Center for Irish Studies and represent the Center externally. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Teaching duties include a 3/2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3/2 teaching load is continued for another three years.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 15, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the department chair, Dr. Matthew Kerbel at matthew.kerbel@villanova.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 8/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2882

Villanova University

Rank: Comparative Politics or International Relations/Political Economy

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2018. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2018.

Candidates should have expertise in political economy with a specialization in comparative politics or international relations. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Teaching duties include a 3/2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3/2 teaching load is continued for another three years. Applicants must apply online at <http://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 15, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the department chair, Dr. Matthew Kerbel at matthew.kerbel@villanova.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2883

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor

International Relations

The MIT Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position in international relations, specializing in security studies, at the rank of Assistant Professor. Responsibilities include graduate and undergraduate teaching and research supervision. Applicants should have or be near completion of the Ph.D. MIT is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities. MIT is interested in applicants with experience and interest in communities of color, cultures other than their own, culturally diverse groups and developing and implementing curricula that address multicultural perspectives. Applications should include a C.V., sample dissertation chapter(s), and three recommendations.

Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9292>.

Completed applications must be submitted by September 15, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/23/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2917

Washington College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy, Africa

Washington College invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2018, pending budget approval. Ph.D. should be in hand or very near completion; salary is competitive. We seek candidates whose graduate transcripts, teaching experience, research, or other experience demonstrate preparation to teach courses in International Relations, with the ability to offer courses in international relations theory, international organization and law, international political economy, and one or two courses related to the politics and international relations of Sub-Saharan Africa to contribute to the interdisciplinary concentration in African Studies. Candidates who are interested in working to develop experiential learning opportunities internationally and/or to contribute to our vibrant model diplomacy program are especially welcomed. Some senior thesis advising, undergraduate advising, and occasional internship supervision are required. The position will be jointly appointed with our inter-disciplinary International Studies program.

Washington College, founded in 1782, is a selective liberal arts institution of 1500 students that emphasizes excellence in teaching and a commitment to scholarly research. It is located on Maryland's Eastern Shore, about 1.5 hours from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. For more information about the college please consult the college's website (<http://www.washcoll.edu>), as well as both the Political Science Department's website (<http://polisci.washcoll.edu>) and the International Studies Program's website (<http://is.washcoll.edu>).

Applications should be submitted by October 11, 2017. Materials should be directed to the attention of Dr. Melissa Deckman, Chair, Department of Political Science; e-mail: mdeckman2@washcoll.edu. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts from all institutions attended, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations, if available, through our online portal at https://higherdecisions.com/wcm/current_vacancies.asp. We strongly prefer that you combine additional information into one document to upload to Consensus, but if unable to do so, please send materials to politicalscience_search@washcoll.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Candidates who wish to be interviewed at the APSA Convention's job placement services in San Francisco should e-mail after August 15 to request an appointment.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/21/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2906

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Other

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the area of global and/or post-colonial legality. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. We seek a colleague who has the scholarly expertise to understand the legal theories, practices, and histories that link disparate areas of the world. We are interested in candidates who conduct research into, for example, the afterlives of colonial legal regimes; or the shifting place and function of sovereignty in a globalizing world; or the ways in which various sorts of rights have been accepted, inflected, translated, and even violently rejected in different legal cultures; or the theory, practice, or history of institutions of global legality (such as the I.C.C., the E.U., the W.T.O., etc.). Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the candidate's area of specialization and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D. The start date for the position is July 1, 2018. Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/42527>

com/42527 a cover letter addressed to Professor Austin Sarat, a curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2901

San Jose State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative/International Relations

Specializations: Western Europe, Post Soviet Region, Middle East

San José State University

San José, California

ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION AVAILABILITY Subject to Budgetary Approval

Specialization: Political Science: Comparative Politics/International Relations Job Opening ID (JOID): 24147

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track)

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (degree must be awarded by the time of appointment) in the sub-fields of Comparative Politics or International Relations, with a specialization in the politics of Europe (including Russia/CIS countries) or the Middle East. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Applicants are expected to demonstrate the ability to conduct high-quality research and produce peer-reviewed academic publications. Applicants should have a demonstrated record of awareness of and sensitivity to educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will start in August 2018, and teach introductory and advanced courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations, such as International Organizations, Eurasian Politics, Politics of the European Union, and Middle Eastern Politics. Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language, and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies, and advisement.

Salary Range:

Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Starting Date: August 17, 2018 Eligibility:

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedure:

For full consideration, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, at least three original letters of reference with contact information, and unofficial transcripts by September 15, 2017 to: apply.interfolio.com/42711.

Please direct questions to:
Dr. Melinda Jackson, Chair
Department of Political Science
One Washington Square
San José State University
San José, California 95192-0119
www.sjsu.edu/polisci

Please include Job Opening ID (JOID) on all correspondence.

San José State University is California's oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San José (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California's most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San José State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2903

San Jose State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative/International Relations
Specializations: Western Europe, Post Soviet Region, Middle East

San Jose State University
San Jose, California
ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION AVAILABILITY Subject to Budgetary Approval

Specialization: Political Science: Comparative Politics/International Relations Job Opening ID (JOID): 24147
Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track)

Qualifications:
Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (degree must be awarded by the time of appointment) in the sub-fields of Comparative Politics or International Relations, with a specialization in the politics of Europe (including Russia/CIS countries) or the Middle East. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Applicants are expected to demonstrate the ability to conduct high-quality research and produce peer-reviewed academic publications. Applicants should have a demonstrated record of awareness of and sensitivity to educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:
The successful candidate will start in August 2018, and teach introductory and advanced courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations, such as International Organizations, Eurasian Politics, Politics of the European Union, and Middle Eastern Politics. Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language, and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies, and advisement.

Salary Range:
Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Starting Date: August 17, 2018 Eligibility:

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedure:
For full consideration, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, at least three original letters of reference with contact information, and unofficial transcripts by September 15, 2017 to: apply.interfolio.com/42711.

Please direct questions to:
Dr. Melinda Jackson, Chair
Department of Political Science
One Washington Square
San José State University
San José, California 95192-0119
www.sjsu.edu/polisci

Please include Job Opening ID (JOID) on all correspondence.

San José State University is California's oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San José (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California's most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San José State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.

San José State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. This policy applies to all San José State University students, faculty, and staff as well as University programs and activities. Reasonable accommodations are made for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose. Note that all San José State University employees are considered mandated reporters under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and are required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The latest San José State University Safety 101 Uniform Campus Crime and Security Report is available. You may request a copy of San José State University's annual safety report by contacting the University Police Department at (408) 924-2222 or by visiting the University Police Department website at (<http://www.sjsu.edu/police>.)

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2904

San Jose State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Comparative/International Relations
Specializations: Western Europe, Post Soviet Region, Middle East

San Jose State University
 San Jose, California
 ANNOUNCEMENT OF POSITION AVAILABILITY Subject to Budgetary Approval

Specialization: Political Science: Comparative Politics/International Relations Job Opening ID (JOID): 24147
 Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-track)

Qualifications:

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or International Relations (degree must be awarded by the time of appointment) in the sub-fields of Comparative Politics or International Relations, with a specialization in the politics of Europe (including Russia/CIS countries) or the Middle East. Evidence of teaching excellence is essential. Applicants are expected to demonstrate the ability to conduct high-quality research and produce peer-reviewed academic publications. Applicants should have a demonstrated record of awareness of and sensitivity to educational goals of a multicultural population as might have been gained in cross-cultural study, training, teaching, and other comparable experience.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will start in August 2018, and teach introductory and advanced courses in Comparative Politics and International Relations, such as International Organizations, Eurasian Politics, Politics of the European Union, and Middle Eastern Politics. Candidate must address the needs of a student population of great diversity – in age, cultural background, ethnicity, primary language, and academic preparation – through course materials, teaching strategies, and advisement.

Salary Range:

Commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Starting Date: August 17, 2018 Eligibility:

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application Procedure:

For full consideration, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, at least three original letters of reference with contact information, and unofficial transcripts by September 15, 2017 to: apply.interfolio.com/42711.

Please direct questions to:
 Dr. Melinda Jackson, Chair
 Department of Political Science
 One Washington Square

San Jose State University
 San Jose, California 95192-0119
www.sjsu.edu/polisci

Please include Job Opening ID (JOID) on all correspondence.

San Jose State University is California's oldest institution of public higher learning. The campus is located on the southern end of San Francisco Bay in downtown San Jose (Pop. 1,000,000), hub of the world-famous Silicon Valley high-technology research and development center. Many of California's most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close. A member of the 23-campus CSU system, San Jose State University enrolls approximately 30,000 students, a significant percentage of whom are members of minority groups. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty so our disciplines, students and the community can benefit from multiple ethnic and gender perspectives.

San Jose State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, or disability. This policy applies to all San Jose State University students, faculty, and staff as well as University programs and activities. Reasonable accommodations are made for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose. Note that all San Jose State University employees are considered mandated reporters under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and are required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The latest San Jose State University Safety 101 Uniform Campus Crime and Security Report is available. You may request a copy of San José State University's annual safety report by contacting the University Police Department at (408) 924-2222 or by visiting the University Police Department website at (<http://www.sjsu.edu/police>.)

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2905

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo (SUNY) seeks well-qualified candidates for a Clinical Assistant Professor/Instructor position in Political Science, starting in August 2017. This is a 3-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. Candidates must be minimally ABD in political science or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/9979> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2898

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo (SUNY) seeks well-qualified candidates for a Clinical Assistant Professor/Instructor position in Political Science, starting in August 2017. This is a 3-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. Candidates must be minimally ABD in political science or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/9979> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/20/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2899

California State University, Fresno

Rank: Political Science - Assistant Professor

Political Science

Assistant Professor

California State University, Fresno is an engaged University. We focus on broadening students intellectual horizons, fostering lifelong learning skills, developing the leaders of tomorrow, promoting community involvement, and instilling an appreciation of world cultures. We nurture cultural competence by celebrating the rich diversity of the campus community and welcoming the participation of all. Members of the University community are expected to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds. For information on the University's commitment and dedication to creating a university known for its integrity, civility, equity, respect and ethical behavior, please visit: <http://www.fresnostate.edu/academics/diversity>

- Available for Academic Year: 2018/2019.
- Fresno State has been recognized as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI); an Asian American/Native American/Pacific Islander-Serving Institution (AANAPISI); and has been designated to the Community Engagement Classification by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.
- Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University's Probationary Plan Process.
- Salary placement depends upon academic preparation and professional experience.
- California State University, Fresno is a vibrant and growing campus. When necessary, the University may decide to make more than one faculty appointment from a single search.

The Department of Political Science in the College of Social Sciences at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track, academic year position as an Assistant Professor in Political Science with a specialization in Comparative Politics/International Relations. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate students, conduct scholarly research, and engage in service. Primary research interests and teaching responsibilities will be in Comparative Politics/International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will include lower and upper-level core (introductory) courses in our Political Science curriculum (e.g. Modern Politics, Comparative Politics, International Politics) as well as upper-level electives and newly designed courses in their area(s) of interest and expertise. This position is open with respect to regional and substantive focus.

The Department of Political Science is one of the strongest in the California State University system. As one of the largest departments in the College of Social Sciences, we serve almost 200 majors in our undergraduate program. We also offer a Master of Public Administration degree. All of the major sub-disciplines of political science are represented within our department and our faculty have a balanced commitment to strong undergraduate teaching, research, and service. Many of our faculty have been recognized for their work nationally and internationally. Graduates of our program go on to careers in law, education, NGOs, and government (including elected and appointed offices), among others; others have gone on to earn master's and doctoral degrees at top universities in the U.S. and abroad. For more information about our department, please see <http://www.fresnostate.edu/socialsciences/polisci/>

Required Education: An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science or International Relations (or a closely related field with similar academic coursework) from an accredited institution is required for the position. Applicants nearing completion of the Ph.D. (ABD) may be considered for the position, but their degree must be granted by August 1, 2018.

Required Experience: Applicant must be able to demonstrate:

- a commitment to teaching excellence at the undergraduate level, which may be demonstrated through prior teaching experience and teaching evaluations or other evidence
- a strong foundation of a career-long research agenda in political science as evidenced for example by one or more academic conference paper presentations or peer-reviewed publications
- a specialization in comparative politics with expertise in one or more regions of the world
- appropriate academic training to teach an introductory course in International Relations
- a commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Ability to teach courses on more than one region of the world, with a preference for Europe, Russia, the Middle East, or Asia as one of those fields
- Evidence of having successfully taught one or more university-level political science courses as sole instructor
- At least one sole-authored research paper presented at an academic conference
- One or more peer-reviewed publications in political science
- Ability to teach an introductory American Government course

Application Procedures: Review of applications will begin October 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply, applicants must complete an on-line application at <http://jobs.fresnostate.edu> and attach the following: 1) a cover letter specifically addressing required experience and preferred qualifications; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy 4) recent teaching evaluations (if available); 5) a research paper presented at an academic conference or a peer reviewed publication, preferably a sole-authored work; 6) unofficial graduate transcripts; and 7) names and contact information for three professional references.

All finalists will be required to submit three current letters of recommendation and official transcripts.

Any related inquiries may be directed to Dr. Melanie H. Ram; Search Committee Chair; California State University, Fresno; College of Social Sciences; Department of Political Science; 2225 E San Ramon, M/S MF 19; Fresno, CA 93740-8029; Phone: (559) 278-5324; E-mail: mram@csufresno.edu

Other: In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees on-line at <http://www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml>. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position may be considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following web site: <http://www.calstate.edu/eo/EO-1083.html>.

California State University, Fresno is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 6/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2896

St. Olaf College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at St. Olaf College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in international political economy at the Assistant Professor level to begin in August 2018. We are looking for candidates who would teach courses in international relations and contribute to inter-disciplinary coursework in one of the following programs: Russian Area Studies, Middle East Studies, or African Studies. The ideal candidate should have broad expertise in both the theory and practice of international political economy.

Regular teaching responsibilities include teaching both introductory and upper level courses. Duties also involve advising students, committee service, and various departmental and institutional obligations. This appointment may be eligible for additional professional development funding.

Applicants must submit materials online at <https://stolaf.hiretouch.com/faculty-postings>. A complete application includes:

1. A cover letter
2. A curriculum vitae
3. Graduate transcripts
4. Writing Sample
5. Three Letters of Recommendation
6. Other Materials

If you have questions or need assistance with the application process, please send an email to (psposition@stolaf.edu) or call 507-786-3127.

Formal review of complete applications will begin on 15 September 2017. Members of the department will be available at the annual APSA conference for interviews.

The Department of Political Science promotes the systematic and critical analysis of government, politics and public policy. Its six, full-time, faculty members conduct research that enriches understanding of political life and public affairs in a global context, not only for other scholars but for decision-makers and citizens as well. More information about the political science department may be found at wp.stolaf.edu/poli-sci/

Founded in 1874, St. Olaf College is a residential, coeducational liberal arts college with approximately 3,000 students and 800 faculty and staff employees. It is located in Northfield, Minnesota, about 45 minutes from Minneapolis and St. Paul with their rich and diverse cultural resources. The college offers an academically rigorous, nationally ranked liberal arts education that fosters the development of the whole person in mind, body, and spirit and emphasizes a global perspective.

A liberal arts college affiliated with the Lutheran Church (ELCA), St. Olaf College is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and actively seeks diversity in its students, faculty, and staff. The college is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute to the diversity of our community through their teaching, research, and/or service.

To provide a safe and secure educational environment, St. Olaf College verifies the accuracy of all credentials presented by applicants and conducts a background check on every new hire.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 6/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2897

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Open Rank Position, Tenured or Tenure Track With a focus on Russia

Specializations: Russia, International Security, Conflict Processes

Overview:

Founded in 1943 and a Johns Hopkins division since 1950, The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies of the Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) has been educating global leaders for more than 70 years. As a highly selective graduate institution with a distinguished faculty, SAIS consistently ranks as one of the top schools of international relations in the world. SAIS was founded to provide a practical approach to training students in international leadership and foreign relations, and to provide mid-career educational opportunities for those already working in related fields. To learn more about SAIS, visit <http://www.sais-jhu.edu> To learn more about the European and Eurasian Studies program, visit <http://www.sais-jhu.edu/programs/ees>

Position:

SAIS is seeking to fill a full-time position, open rank, tenured or tenure track, with a focus on Russia. Candidates who combine their work on Russia with an interest in international security, international law, conflict management, international development, international relations, diplomatic history, or the foreign policy of the United States are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates able to teach an introductory course in diplomatic history, comparative politics or IR theory would have an advantage. The position is located in Washington, D.C. The goal is to fill the position during the fall 2017 semester, with the appointment starting effectively on July 1, 2018. Preliminary interviews will be held at the 2017 APSA meeting in San Francisco.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. awarded by June 2018 will be a condition for employment. The ideal applicant will have strong academic credentials and a commitment to improve public policy. A record of excellence in teaching would be a distinct advantage.

Application:

Electronic submissions are preferred. A letter of application, curriculum vitae that includes contact information (email, telephone, and/or Skype) as well as the names and contact details for three people who can provide letters of reference should be submitted to:

SAISRussiaSearch@jhu.edu

Or

send via USPS to:

SAIS European and Eurasian Studies Search Committee on Russia
School of Advanced International Studies
The Johns Hopkins University
1740 Massachusetts Avenue, NW
Washington, D.C. 20036
USA

Applications will be reviewed beginning August 1, 2017 and will be accepted until a final decision is made. Inquiries may be made to Professor Erik Jones - erik.jones@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/16/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2893

University of Toronto

Rank: Endowed Chair, Japanese Politics and Global Affairs

The University of Toronto invites applications for a joint tenure-stream, endowed chair appointment in the Department of Political Science (51%) and the Munk School of Global Affairs (49%) in the area of Japanese Politics and Global Affairs. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate or Full Professor and will commence July 1, 2018.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science, International Relations, or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment and be able to provide strong evidence of innovative research of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by a record of sustained contributions or publications in leading journals in the field, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing.

Candidates should also have an established international reputation based on a scholarly record of excellence appropriate to their career stage. Evidence of excellence in teaching and a demonstrated commitment to graduate education and mentorship are required. Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated by strong letters of reference, teaching evaluations, graduate supervision, dossier and/or syllabi submitted as part of the application. The ideal candidate will focus on Japanese politics and policy in comparative and international perspective and have an interest in directing a new Centre for the Study of Global Japan recently established in the Munk School to stimulate collaborative scholarship and public outreach.

The appointment will be contingent upon a successful tenure review. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

We seek applications from candidates whose research program fits well with the Department and with the global focus of the School. The appointee will contribute to the education and training of undergraduate and graduate students in both the Department and the School. We encourage applicants to review both academic units' research and teaching profiles prior to applying. Please visit our home pages: Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca/> ; Munk School of Global Affairs <http://www.munkschool.utoronto.ca/> .

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca. All application materials should be submitted through the University of Toronto's online application system. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed and scanned) directly to the Chair of the search committee in the Department of Political Science, Professor Louis W. Pauly, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 2, 2017.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/2/2017
Date Posted: 6/15/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2887

Wesleyan University

Rank: International Political Economy

The Department of Government at Wesleyan University invites applications for a tenure-track position in international politics. The appointment begins July 1, 2018. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field in hand by the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a successful candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but will complete the Ph.D. in political science or a related field within one year of hire. Applicants should be prepared to teach courses related to international organization, international political economy, or international law. The teaching load is two courses per semester. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, carrying out a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the department and university level. Wesleyan is a highly selective liberal arts college that values both scholarship and teaching, has a strong, diverse undergraduate student body, and offers a generous sabbatical program and competitive salaries and benefits.

Applications received by September 15, 2017, will receive full consideration. To apply, please go to <http://careers.wesleyan.edu/postings/5899> At this site you will be asked to upload electronic versions of the items we require, which are (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) graduate school transcripts, (4) an article-length writing sample (e.g., the first chapter of your dissertation), (5) a statement about your teaching philosophy and methods, (6) teaching evaluation statistics or other evidence of teaching effectiveness (but please do not send copies of individual student evaluations), and (7) sample syllabi if available.

As part of the cover letter or teaching statement we invite you to describe your cultural competencies and experiences engaging a diverse student body. You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of three referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation (please double-check the accuracy of the email addresses of the referees you name to insure that you have the most up-to-date email addresses for each one).

Wesleyan University, located in Middletown, Connecticut, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religious creed, age, gender, gender identity or expression, national origin, marital status, ancestry, present or past history of mental disorder, learning disability or physical disability, political belief, veteran status, sexual orientation, genetic information or non-position-related criminal record. We welcome applications from women and historically underrepresented minority groups. Inquiries regarding Title IX, Section 504, or any other non-discrimination policies should be directed to: Antonio Farias, Vice President for Equity & Inclusion, Title IX and ADA/504 Officer, 860-685-4771, afarias@wesleyan.edu.

Please contact Ms. Kristin McQueeney (kmcqueeney@wesleyan.edu), the Government Department administrative assistant, if you have questions about the application process.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 5/22/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2851

University of Iowa

Rank: C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation Chair in Korean Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, International Relations

Specializations: East Asia, Electoral Systems, Public Opinion

The University of Iowa College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and UI International Programs invite applications for the position of C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation

Chair in Korean Studies, at the full professor or senior associate professor levels, to commence in the Fall of 2018.

Applicants must be specialists in a humanities or social science discipline, must have primary research and teaching expertise in Korean Studies, and may also have interdisciplinary and/or supranational research interests.

Appointment will be to an appropriate disciplinary department. The successful applicant will also hold a 0% appointment in International Programs, and is expected to be an active participant in the activities of the Center for Asian and Pacific Studies. Review processes, teaching assignments, and primary responsibility for mentorship will reside within the department of appointment. This is an endowed position with a reduced teaching load and annual research funds.

Applicants must demonstrate a record of excellence in scholarship and teaching commensurate with a position at the senior associate professor or full professor levels, and be able to teach courses that meet the needs of the department of appointment as well as complement existing strengths within the department and college. Applicants must also demonstrate a level of language fluency in both English and Korean appropriate for research and teaching.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2017.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.uiowa.edu/content/faculty/> and reference Requisition #70718.

Application materials should include:

Letter of Interest

Curriculum Vitae

A Representative Writing Sample

Name and Contact Information of Three References

(Letters of recommendation will be requested only for short-listed candidates).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 5/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2846

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations

Political Science: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor in International Relations, open with respect to subfield, but particularly interested conflict and cyber for the 17/18 Academic Year. Expected to teach introductory course in World Politics, upper-level international law, and another advanced course which could include international organization, or a course in the area of specialty.

Require: Ph.D. at the time of appointment in political science or a related field for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor; ABD for appointment as an Instructor.

Miami University will not sponsor for H1B work authorization for the 2017-18 year.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, transcripts and writing sample to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=4206>. Inquiries may be directed to Patrick Haney at haneypj@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin May 19, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Miami University, an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, is firmly committed to multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Miami University does not permit and takes action to prevent harassment, discrimination and retaliation on the basis of sex (including sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual misconduct, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking), race, color, religion, national origin, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, pregnancy, military status, or veteran status in its application and admission processes, educational programs and activities, facilities, and employment practices. Miami University immediately investigates and takes disciplinary and/or remedial action when appropriate. Requests for all reasonable accommodations for disabilities should be directed to ADAFacultyStaff@miamioh.edu or by phone at (513) 529-3560. Miami University's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report with information on campus crime, fires, and safety may be found at: <http://www.MiamiOH.edu/campus-safety/annual-report/index.html>. Hard copy available upon request. A criminal background check is required. All campuses are smoke- and tobacco-free campuses.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2833

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for part-time adjunct teaching positions. The Department may have need of adjuncts to teach a small number of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science and Public Administration. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names, addresses, email addresses and phone numbers of three references. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted. Applications must be received by July 15th.

Successful applicants will be required to submit to a background check as a condition of employment. BGSU is an AA/EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities regardless of age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 7/15/2017

Date Posted: 5/8/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2827

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Visiting Lecturer in Comparative Politics/International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a one-year, full-time position as Visiting Lecturer in Political Science for the 2017-2018 academic year with the possibility of renewal. We are particularly interested in candidates who have expertise in the politics of Russia and Eastern Europe, but we will also consider other candidates who are prepared to teach courses on the Cold War, foreign policy, human security, and the politics of oil.

This position is supported by the Dietrich School of Arts & Sciences and the Center for Russian and East European Studies (REES). Duties in the Political Science Department will consist of teaching 15 credit hours (five courses) per academic year to include, at minimum, two courses that feature substantial content on the REES world area (e.g., Government & Politics of USSR/Russian Federation; Cold War: Soviet Union and the West 1917-1991).

As an affiliated faculty member of REES, you are eligible to apply for REES Course Development Grants as well as for REES Faculty Small Grants to support research activities. In addition to your teaching responsibilities, REES will welcome your participation in intellectual activities of the center.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by the end of the summer, 2017. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, and two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please send application materials to Wynn Maloney at wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2017
Application Deadline: 6/23/2017
Date Posted: 5/4/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2821

University of Southern California

Rank: Lecturer
Specializations: Southeast Asia, International Security, International Political Economy

The School of International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles, California, seeks a part-time or full-time teaching-track lecturer for academic year 2017-2018. We are seeking an applicant capable of teaching courses on international relations, specifically Asia. A full-time teaching load is five courses spread over two semesters (i.e. a 2-3 load). The academic year runs from August 16, 2017-May 15, 2018.

Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in a relevant field and demonstrate excellence in teaching in the subject area. In order to be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/teaching-track-faculty-positions-in-international-relations-asia/1209/4515091> .

Application File:
 Curriculum vitae
 Copies of teaching evaluations
 Course syllabi for courses taught
 Names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference (referees should speak to teaching abilities)

Inquiries may be directed to Linda Cole, Associate Director, lcole@usc.edu.

USC is an equal-opportunity educator and employer, proudly pluralistic and firmly committed to providing equal opportunity for outstanding persons of every race, gender, creed and background. The University particularly encourages women, members of underrepresented groups, veterans and individuals with disabilities to apply. USC will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Further information is available by contacting uschr@usc.edu .

Start Date: Spring 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 4/28/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2810

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track
 School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
 Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time
Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in Spring 2018 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and international relations (order is by preference). A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited about 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The new political science group in SPEA has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to develop a new political science program in Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 1st 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/12/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2778

San Diego State University

Rank: Director of the J. Keith Behner and Catherine M. Stiefel Program on Brazil

The College of Arts and Letters of San Diego State University seeks to hire an associate or full professor with a specialty on Brazil.

Requirements:

Ph.D. in Humanities and/or Social Sciences, with a research and teaching focus on Brazil. Proven administrative experience building interdisciplinary and/or intercollegiate programs and record of success in obtaining external funding.

Rank and salary commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments. Tenure upon hire is possible depending upon qualifications.

Duties:

I. Develop both long and short term plans to meet the program's objectives in the areas of:

research, scholarship and creative endeavors;
academic programming and co-curricular activities in all aspects of Brazil's life - social, cultural and scientific - including international programs with and/or in Brazil, such as exchange of students/faculty; engagement and outreach

II. Establish an open, inclusive and transparent process to allocate seed money for research projects and support for curricular and extra-curricular initiatives that are poised to deliver tangible outcomes.

III. Instigate and develop internal and outreach efforts, including development.

SDSU is a large, diverse, urban university and Hispanic-Serving Institution with a commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusive excellence. Our campus community is diverse in many ways, including race, religion, color, sex, age, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, national origin, pregnancy, medical condition, and covered veteran status. We strive to build and sustain a welcoming environment for all. SDSU is seeking applicants with demonstrated experience in and/or commitment to teaching and working effectively with individuals from diverse backgrounds and members of underrepresented groups.

Application Instructions

To ensure full consideration, please apply via Interfolio. Position will remain open until filled.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.'

This institution is using Interfolio's ByCommittee to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/13/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2221

METHODOLOGY

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant Professor

International Relations/Methodology (Assistant Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University Bloomington invites applications for a full-time tenure track assistant professor in the field of International Relations (IR) and/or methodology beginning August 2018. We have a particular interest in scholars who will contribute to our professional reputation in empirical International Relations and our research methods courses at all levels. The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, the candidate is expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate in departmental activities.

This position is authorized at the rank of Assistant Professor. Successful candidates who have completed their Ph.D. degree by Sept. 30, 2017 will be appointed as Assistant Professor, while Ph.D. candidates without degree in hand would be appointed as Acting Assistant Professor at a lower salary. Upon final completion of the degree by Jan. 31, 2018, the appointment would be changed to Assistant Professor at a higher salary for the spring semester. Candidates at the Associate Professor level or seeking a tenured appointment will be considered only under unusual circumstances.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA Services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status. To ensure full consideration applicants must submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, copies of research publication and course syllabi, and teaching evaluations by October 1, 2017. Applications will be considered until the position is filled, however.

Interested candidates should review the job requirements and submit application materials on-line at <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/4339>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to:

Jessica Williams
Department of Political Science
Indiana University Bloomington
1100 E. Seventh Street
Bloomington, IN 47405-7110
(812) 855-1209
jeewilli@indiana.edu

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/31/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3078

Tsinghua University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, Full Professor in International Relations and Quantitative Methods
Specializations: International Political Economy, International Security, Quantitative Methods

The department of International Relations at Tsinghua University (Beijing, China) invites applications for a tenure-track appointment in International Relations and Quantitative Methodology beginning in the 2018-19 academic year. The successful candidate will have a strong commitment to teaching, a high potential for excellence in research, have scholarly publications in prestigious journals, and evidence of teaching ability. He/she will be expected to seek external funding for his/her research.

Please submit the following materials to xpang@tsinghua.edu.cn

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement (describing teaching approach and philosophy)
4. Research statement
5. Three reference letters

Tsinghua University is a research university located in Beijing, China. Tsinghua is consistently ranked as one of the top academic institutions in China and Asia. The Department of International Relations is one of the leading political science programs in China. In 2017, the program was ranked as the 35th globally and the 2nd nationally by the QS World University rankings for the field of "Politics and International Relations."

Review of applications will begin on August 20th, and will continue until the position is filled. Any questions regarding the opening may be directed to Xun PANG, the vice chair of the department, at xpang@tsinghua.edu.cn.

Contact: Prof. Xun PANG
Email: xpang@tsinghua.edu.cn
Phone: 86-10-6278-8801
Fax: 86-10-6277-3173
Address:
313 Mingzhai Hall,
Department of International Relations
Tsinghua University, Beijing
China 100084

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/28/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3072

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for one or more tenure-track junior faculty positions, which may be joint with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. These positions are open with respect to sub-field and involve teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/2641>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. For best consideration apply by September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/27/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3061

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lectureship in Comparative Politics, Governance & Public Policy, and/or Methods

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an educator-track Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Political Science to teach research methods as well as other modules in either Comparative Politics or Governance and Public Policy for our undergraduate curriculum. The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester), of which about two or three should be in methods.

Lectureships at NUS are career positions in which advancement (to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor) is possible. Appointments are for three years initially and are renewable on an ongoing basis, subject to good performance and departmental teaching needs. Compensation and benefits are similar to those of faculty members on the tenure track and are competitive.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science. The Department recognizes four main subfields: Comparative Politics; Governance and Public Policy; International Relations; and Political Theory. The Department also hosts the programme in Global Studies.

Candidates should send a CV, a letter detailing their research and teaching interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg. Candidates should also submit sample syllabi, student evaluations, and other evidence of teaching quality. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3041

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis seeks candidates for one position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in the area of political methodology to begin Fall 2018 or later. Duties include research and publication, course teaching, student advising, and department and university service. Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required at the assistant or associate level. In addition, candidates at the associate professor rank must, through research and publication, have made a significant contribution to one or more subfields in Political Science.

Washington University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, genetic information, disability, or protected veteran status.

Files will begin being reviewed on September 15, 2017 and will continue until the search is concluded. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through the Washington University HR system (<http://hr.wustl.edu/opportunities/Pages/default.aspx>). Candidates should create an account, search for job requisition number 37256, complete the application form and upload a CV and supporting materials. Letters of reference can be e-mailed to artsci-pschair@email.wustl.edu.

Please note: in order to attach materials to your application, you must EXIT the Wash U jobs site then log back in using your established username and password. Click on "Applications" then "Add Attachment" to upload additional materials.

If you encounter difficulties with the application process, please email Colleen Skaggs, artsci-pschair@email.wustl.edu, for additional instructions. All other questions may be directed to Heather Sloan-Randick at (314) 935-5852.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/24/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3035

University of Delaware

Rank: Professor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, American Politics, Political Psychology

PROFESSOR OF AMERICAN POLITICS
 DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
 UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

The University of Delaware invites applications and nominations for appointment as a full professor with tenure in the Department of Political Science and International Relations (<http://www.poscir.udel.edu/>) We seek a scholar of American Political Behavior/Political Psychology, with a particular focus on quantitative methodologies.

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POSCIR) within the College of Arts and Sciences has 26 full-time and jointly appointed faculty, nearly 800 undergraduate majors and minors and 45 graduate (mostly doctoral) students. The department offers two undergraduate majors (Political Science and International Relations) and two undergraduate minors (Political Science and Political Communication) as well as a Ph.D. in Political Science. The department faculty covers four subfields of political science: American politics (including public law and U.S. foreign policy), comparative politics, international relations and political theory. The faculty is a methodologically diverse and collegial group of research-intensive and nationally and internationally known scholars. They are outstanding teachers, mentors, advisers and public servants.

The Department seeks a tenured full professor with an exemplary record of scholarship and teaching in American political behavior/political psychology. The successful candidate will be a nationally and internationally recognized senior scholar with a strong record of graduate student and junior faculty mentoring, a strong record of grant-writing success, and an interest in actively building the quantitative American politics capacity in our methodologically diverse department. We are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns: (1) the dynamics of public attitudes and behavior (2) the political psychology of racial, ethnic, gender, and other social identities; and/or (3) electoral processes and representation.

Using the Interfolio® online system at UD, applicants should submit a cover letter outlining interest in the position and a current CV. Letters of recommendation may be requested at a later date.

Questions, but not application materials, should be e-mailed to the attention of Professor Philip Jones (pejones@udel.edu), Chair, American Politics Search Committee. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Founded in 1743, the University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) combines tradition and innovation, offering students a rich heritage along with the latest in instructional and research technology. Located in scenic Newark, Delaware, within 2 hours of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C., the University is one of the oldest land-grant institutions in the nation, one of 19 sea-grant institutions, and one of only 13 space-grant institutions. With external funding exceeding $200 million, the University ranks among the top 100 universities in federal R&D support for science and engineering and has nationally recognized research (Carnegie rated, very high research activity). With 23 academic departments, 27 interdisciplinary programs and centers, and more than 10,000 students, the College of Arts and Sciences is the largest college on campus (www.cas.udel.edu). The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from minority group members and women.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3024

Dartmouth College

Rank: Lecturer in Quantitative Methodology

The Department of Government and the Program in Quantitative Social Science seek a visiting lecturer and statistics consultant for academic year 2017-18. The teaching load is four undergraduate courses in a quarter system with at least one course taught in each of the fall, winter, and spring quarters. Three of the courses must be Introduction to Data Analysis. The fourth course may be a fourth section of Introduction to Data Analysis or another course. The visitor will also serve as a statistics consultant to faculty and students in Government and Quantitative Social Science. Compensation and resources are competitive with an assistant professor position at a research institution.

The successful candidate should have completed a Ph.D. or made substantial progress toward a Ph.D. and have significant knowledge of R and advanced statistical methods. The position is open with respect to degree field and research interests.

For additional information, contact Dean Lacy at dean.lacy@dartmouth.edu

Submit a letter of interest, CV, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references.

Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42969>

EEO/Diversity Statement

Dartmouth is an equal opportunity/ affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to diversity. In that spirit, we are particularly interested in receiving applications from a broad spectrum of people, including women, persons of color, persons with disabilities, veterans or any other legally protected group.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 7/12/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2974

Gettysburg College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor Comparative Politics

Specializations: Western Europe, Quantitative Methods, Electoral Systems

Visiting Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College seeks a Visiting Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics for the 2018-19 academic year beginning August 2018. The successful candidate will be expected to teach six courses, including introductory courses in Comparative Politics, advanced courses in European Politics, and one to two sections of research methods.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or ABD status is required. The opportunity to maintain a personal research program will be available.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/2174>. A curriculum vitae; cover letter, addressed to Professor Bruce Larson, Chair, Department of Political Science; writing sample; transcripts; and a separate statement of the applicant's teaching philosophy should be submitted. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until a successful candidate is found. Application materials must be received by December 8, 2017, for full consideration. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Larson: blarson@gettysburg.edu.

Gettysburg College, an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal, state, local laws and regulations regarding nondiscrimination. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and admission. The College prohibits discrimination and harassment, and provides equal opportunity without regard to race, ethnicity, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, marital/familial status, possession of a General Education Development Certificate (GED) as compared to a high school diploma, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, sex, age, or genetic information in all aspects of employment, educational programs, activities, and admissions. Pursuant to Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, Gettysburg College prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex (i.e., which includes but is not limited to the prohibition of sexual misconduct and relationship violence, including sexual assault and harassment) in all of its educational programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/12/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2976

Dartmouth CollegeRank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, OtherSpecializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for the 2018-2019 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results.

The annual stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000. The fellowship can be extended through the 2019-20 academic year with the approval of Nyhan and the QSS Chair. Each fellow will receive a one-time $5,000 account for equipment, travel, and research materials. There may also be an opportunity to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend with the approval of the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2018
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests (two pages or fewer) that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Three letters of reference
- 4) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2017. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/42855.

Start Date: Fall 2018Application Deadline: 10/1/2017Date Posted: 7/11/2017Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 2963Dartmouth College*Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for up to three postdoctoral fellows for the 2018-19 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently on a research agenda that is grounded in quantitative social science.

During the 2018-19 academic year, QSS fellows will participate in the intellectual life of the program by interacting with each other, with QSS faculty, and with undergraduate students pursuing a minor or major in QSS. Fellows will also attend seminars and workshops and are expected to present their own research on a regular basis. There are many postdoctoral fellows at Dartmouth College, and QSS fellows will be part of a large community on campus.

The annual stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000. The fellowship can be extended through the 2019-20 academic year with the approval of the QSS Chair. Each fellow will receive a one-time $5,000 account for equipment, travel, and research materials. There may also be an opportunity to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend with the approval of the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in any discipline or expected Ph.D. by September, 2018
2. Substantive interest in any social science field
3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical, computational, or mathematical methods
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research

Application InstructionsApplication instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests (two pages or fewer) that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2018. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/42907

Start Date: Fall 2018Application Deadline: 10/1/2017Date Posted: 7/11/2017Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 2964Pennsylvania State University*Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science/Social Data

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position to start Fall 2018 for faculty whose substantive research interests are informed by, or inform the development of, data- or computationally-intensive techniques. We encourage applications at the assistant and early associate level but candidates at any level with exceptional records of accomplishment will be considered.

The substantive research area is open although preference will be given to those candidates whose research agendas supplement existing areas of specialization within the department. Candidates should be able to contribute to our new undergraduate Social Data Analytics program (see <http://soda.la.psu.edu/>) and our graduate methods offerings. Faculty positions at Penn State involve substantial research support; in addition, junior positions offer significant release time. Candidates should have a record of publication in high-quality venues, external funding, and quality teaching credentials.

Candidates must have their Ph.D. in hand by appointment date. Application review will begin on September 15, 2017, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, samples of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (with a key). All candidates should request letters from three references to be sent directly to plscapplications@psu.edu. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/72588>

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2967

Koç University

Rank: ERC Funded Post-doctoral Position on Quantitative Comparative Social Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Social Welfare, Developing Nations

The Department of Sociology, Koç University, Istanbul, invites applicants for a position as a post-doctoral researcher. The successful candidate will work in a European Research Council (ERC)-funded project on the politics of welfare in emerging market economies.

ERC is the most prestigious, competitive and generous research fund in Europe, which grants 1.5 million Euros to frontier research that would make groundbreaking contributions. This project is the first sociology ERC project in Turkey. The successful candidate will work together with Dr. Erdem Yörük on this ERC-funded project that investigates the political causes of welfare state development in emerging market economies (please see emw.ku.edu.tr and the brief summary of the project below). The position will not have any teaching responsibilities. Candidates (i) who have a PhD in social sciences (e.g. sociology, economics, political science, social policy, public policy etc.), (ii) who have extensive knowledge and experience in quantitative research methods, (iii) who are interested in welfare state studies, political economy, comparative-historical sociology, and emerging markets are encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate is expected to:

¥ Have extensive knowledge and experience in advanced quantitative analysis, be well-versed with data cleaning and managing operations, imputation techniques and content analysis methods.

¥ Have working knowledge of Stata and/or R software packages

¥ Be comfortable in leading the project's scientific progress as well as providing a critical perspective to the project.

¥ Ensure that the work packages of the project are harmonized into overall project objectives as well as effectiveness and efficiency of the research team.

¥ Be comfortable in working in an international environment and have no restrictions in travelling internationally.

¥ Have completed the PhD degree by 1 September 2017

The starting date for the position is September 2017. Initial duration of the position is a full year and renewal up to four years is possible, contingent on research productivity and continued substantive fit of the candidate. This is a full-time position with a competitive salary as well as additional benefits such as private health insurance and housing benefits. Funding for conferences is available depending on relevance of the conference to the project.

Please send your application electronically as a one-pdf file comprising your motivation letter, CV including a publication list, a brief one-page letter comprising of a critique/evaluation/assessment/idea about the ERC project which would help assess the potential contribution of the applicant (see emw.ku.edu.tr), a writing sample which preferably includes quantitative empirical analysis, and the names of two references to the Principal Investigator Dr. Erdem Yörük (eryoruk@ku.edu.tr). Deadline for application is 15 August 2017.

The New Politics of Welfare: Towards an "Emerging Markets" Welfare State Regime (ERC Starting Grant)

This research project aims to identify a new welfare regime in emerging market economies and explain why it has emerged. The project will compare Brazil, China, India, Indonesia, Mexico, South Africa and Turkey to test two hypotheses: (i) emerging market economies are forming a new welfare regime that differs from liberal, corporatist and social democratic welfare regimes of the global north on the basis of extensive and decommensating social assistance programmes, (ii) the new welfare regime emerges principally as a response to the growing political power of the poor as a dual source of threat and support for governments. Based on a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective, the project follows a multi-method strategy that combines protest event data collection techniques, macro-historical methods, quantitative data analyses and qualitative content analysis.

Koç University (<http://www.ku.edu.tr>) is an endowed, non-profit institution of higher education, located in Istanbul, Turkey. Koç University is highly reputable and has attracted accomplished, high-caliber researchers from all over the world. Times Higher Education has ranked Koç University 250-300th among the best universities in the world in 2016 and the top university in Turkey. The vast majority (97%) of 400 faculty members received their Ph.D. degrees from the most highly selective and reputable universities in the world, mostly from the United States. Most students in PhD and master programs are granted full scholarship, including monthly salaries, health insurance and housing.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Date Posted: 7/1/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2935

SUNY, GeneseoRank: Visiting Assistant Professor*Specializations: Congress, Quantitative Methods, Public OpinionVisiting Assistant Professor of Political Science
Department of Political Science & Intern Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNY Geneseo is seeking applicants for a Visiting Assistant Professor position to begin August, 2017. The appointment is for one year. Duties of the position include:

- Teach undergraduate courses in political science. Required courses include Introduction to American Politics, Legislative Politics, and Social Science Research Methods. Preference will be given to candidates that could also teach a course on Public Opinion and Mass Media
 - Contribute service to the department, including advising students.
- Required Qualifications

- PhD or ABD in Political Science at time of appointment.
 - Primary expertise in American Politics.
 - Evidence of preparation to teach undergraduate courses in American Politics and social science research methods.
- Preferred Qualifications

- PhD in Political Science, conferred by August 2017.
- Evidence of an active scholarly program in political science.
- Evidence of successful college teaching.

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter that addresses teaching and research qualifications and a CV. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit a letter at the time application is completed. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt. To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by July 5, 2017. The final date that letters of reference will be accepted is July 7, 2017.

To apply visit <https://jobs.geneseo.edu/hr/postings/1723>

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/20/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2902Shanghai University of Finance and Economics*Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science*Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Job Summary: The Institute of Political Science (IPS) in The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFU) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate (non-tenured) professors. The employment starts as early as Spring 2018. The two openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political philosophy (order is by preference). Applicants with research expertise or interest related to public and social policies are preferred but not required. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time appointments for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years. The successful candidates are expected to publish research on major journals of international reputation, offer high quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at IPS. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 370000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas.

The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SUFE is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry-level faculty in the discipline of political science. The newly established Institute of Political Science has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas and work on tenure track.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 15th 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018Application Deadline: 8/15/2017Date Posted: 6/13/2017Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 2879American University*Rank: Professorial Lecturer, One-Year Position in Political Science Methods*Subfield(s): Methodology, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Government in the School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a term faculty appointment for Academic Year 2017-18. Rank will be dependent on experience and stature in the field. The appointment is a 9-month term position and will commence on August 28, 2017.

Applicants should hold a PhD or other terminal degree. Highly qualified applicants with a master's degree related to political science will be considered as instructors. The position will require the incumbent to teach three undergraduate courses per semester in political science methods, including, but not limited to Introduction to Research Methods. A successful candidate should also be able to teach introductory classes in American Politics or Comparative Politics. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service.

Salary is competitive. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled, subject to on-going budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/42032>. Include a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, recent teaching evaluations (when possible), and proposed syllabi. Please contact Julian Escarraga at govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2858

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate professors, starting as early as in Spring 2018 in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and international relations (order is by preference). A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time fixed-term appointments for a period of six years (untenured hire). A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years for untenured appointments. The successful candidates are expected to conduct research at the forefront of their field, teach undergraduate and graduate courses of their interest, and contribute to the development of political science in SPEA. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, and startup funding).

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited about 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The new political science group in SPEA has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars and plan to develop a new political science program in Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SPEA is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry level faculty in the discipline of political science.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. Names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 1st 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/12/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2778

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
Political Science Department
2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

NON-ACADEMIC

Congressional Research Service

Rank: Deputy Assistant Director and Specialist (Resources, Science and Industry Division)

Open: 7/18/2017-8/15/2017

Salary Range: $124,406 - $187,000

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) works exclusively for the United States Congress, providing objective, nonpartisan research and analysis to committees and Members of the House and Senate. CRS seeks a senior manager to serve as Deputy Assistant Director and Specialist in the Resources, Science and Industry Division. The Deputy Assistant Director supports the Assistant Director in managing the division, which provides expert research to meet ongoing congressional policy-making and oversight needs in issue areas including agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.

This is a senior leadership position. Applications received for this position will not be considered for any other CRS vacancies. To be considered you must meet the critical competency requirements of the job at the levels described below.

1. Multidisciplinary knowledge of agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and/or science and technology policy issues: I am recognized by decision makers as a professional resource in fields relevant to at least two of the following: agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.

2. Ability to manage public policy research and analysis: I have routinely managed public policy research and analysis in specific aspects of at least two of the following: agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.
3. Ability to lead people and manage a workforce: I have led, supervised, and managed a professional research staff.
4. Ability to review the written products of others: I have evaluated and critically reviewed diverse written research products on public policy issues for compliance with established substantive and qualitative standards and made independent judgments on acceptability of material.
5. Ability to apply knowledge of congressional decision making: I have knowledge of the Congress, including its organization, operating procedures, committee structure, and oversight functions relevant to issue areas of agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online at <http://www.loc.gov/crsinfo>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 3051

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Other

The RAND Corporation is a research organization that develops solutions to public policy challenges to help make communities throughout the world safer and more secure, healthier and more prosperous. RAND's research and analysis address issues that impact people everywhere, including security, health, education, sustainability, growth, and development. Headquartered in Santa Monica, California, RAND has close to 1,800 people from approximately 50 countries working in offices in North America, Europe, and Australia, with annual revenues of more than $308 million.

RAND is nonprofit, nonpartisan, and committed to the public interest. Our research is sponsored by government agencies, charitable trusts, and community nonprofits. In addition, we rely on philanthropic support to pursue visionary ideas; address critical problems that are under-researched; shape emerging policy debates; and devise innovative approaches for solving acute, complex, or provocative policy challenges. RAND values objectivity and integrity in both its research processes and internal interactions. We emphasize a collegial environment that respects the contributions and dignity of all staff.

Position Description

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multidisciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements

PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience

Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance

Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location

Santa Monica, CA or Pittsburgh, PA office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required

Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

RAND is an Equal Opportunity Employer Minorities/Females/Vets/Disabled

Apply online at <http://www.rand.org/jobs/id4651>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2863

OTHERU.S. Coast Guard Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-Track) of Maritime Policy and Governance

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Other

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Regulatory Policy, International Security

The Coast Guard Academy anticipates an opening for an Assistant Professor of Maritime Policy and Governance. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate, upper-level maritime policy courses and, occasionally, introductory government / political science courses. The ideal candidate will be able to teach one or more of the following topic areas: ocean and arctic policy; coastal governance; marine resource management; marine safety; port security; maritime transportation, commerce, and industry. The anticipated teaching load for this position will be 9-12 credit hours (up to 4 sections – total - of one or more 3-credit courses) per semester. Other possible responsibilities include fostering opportunities for cadets via speakers, travel, and contacts; academic advising; work as a faculty advisor to student research projects, clubs, and other co-curricular activities; individual research and scholarship; and institutional, divisional, and departmental service.

Qualifications: Successful candidate will possess either (1) a Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science (or a closely related field); or (2) a Juris Doctor degree with relevant maritime practice or teaching experience. Experience with teaching college or law school courses is required; the preferred candidate will have a publication and teaching record in Maritime Policy and Governance. Excellent interpersonal, teaching, and communications skills are essential. Experience mentoring diverse student populations, and/or experience promoting diversity initiatives - including efforts at creating communities of inclusion - is highly desirable.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3045

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: NON - TENURE TRACK FACULTY FELLOW, Center for European & Mediterranean Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Western Europe, International Political Economy, Post Communist Europe

NON - TENURE TRACK FACULTY FELLOW

Center for European & Mediterranean Studies

ARTS AND SCIENCE

New York University

The Center for European and Mediterranean Studies in Arts and Science at New York University invites applicants for a Faculty Fellow position. The initial appointment will be for one year beginning September 1, 2018, renewable annually for a maximum of three years, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

CEMS/NYU seeks a scholar specializing in one or more of the following fields: comparative European and Mediterranean politics, anthropology, sociology, or contemporary or recent European and Mediterranean history. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and/or teaching interests concerning the European Union and/or political, economic and social relations and developments in Europe. Responsibilities include teaching three courses per year (including undergraduate and graduate seminars and capstone courses), and a significant role in advising theses for both MA students and undergraduate seniors. Student advising is a key component of this position. Service to the program will also involve representing the Center at university occasions and committee meetings. Candidates should demonstrate a commitment to interdisciplinary scholarship and excellence in teaching, and have completed the Ph.D. no earlier than 2013.

To apply, see the NYU Center for European and Mediterranean Studies website at <http://as.nyu.edu/cems/Employment.html>. The applicant should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and three references. The deadline for applications is January 19, 2018.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read <http://as.nyu.edu/administrative-resources/office/dean/diversity-initiative.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 1/19/2018
Date Posted: 7/27/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3066

City University of Hong Kong

Rank: Chair Professor/Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professor (Development Studies)

Worldwide Search for Talent

City University of Hong Kong is a dynamic, fast-growing university that is pursuing excellence in research and professional education. As a publicly-funded institution, the University is committed to nurturing and developing students' talents and creating applicable knowledge to support social and economic advancement. The University has seven Colleges/Schools. As part of its pursuit of excellence, the University aims to recruit outstanding scholars from all over the world in various disciplines, including business, creative media, energy and environment, science and engineering, humanities and social sciences, law, veterinary medicine and life sciences.

Applications and nominations are invited for :

Chair Professor/Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professor (Development Studies)
 Department of Asian and International Studies [Ref. C/432/09]

Duties : Be an active researcher, dedicated to university teaching and supervision of students at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels, including Bachelor's, Master's and PhD degrees. The appointee is also required to undertake administrative responsibilities as assigned by the Head of Department.

Requirements : A PhD in related disciplines, with teaching experience and a strong research record/demonstrated research potential in any aspect of the field of development studies. Candidates with teaching and research expertise in (international) political economy, sustainability and/or social development as well as those with development practitioner expertise and research expertise related to Asia as a region or an Asian country will be favourably considered.

(For enquiries, please contact Professor Mark R Thompson, Head of Department via email at mark.thompson@cityu.edu.hk)

Salary and Conditions of Service

Remuneration package will be driven by market competitiveness and individual performance. Excellent fringe benefits include gratuity, leave, medical and dental schemes, and relocation assistance (where applicable). Initial appointment will be made on a fixed-term contract.

Information and Application

Further information on the posts and the University is available at <http://www.cityu.edu.hk>, or from the Human Resources Office, City University of Hong Kong, Tat Chee Avenue, Kowloon Tong, Hong Kong [Email : hrojjob@cityu.edu.hk/Fax : (852) 2788 1154 or (852) 3442 0311].

To apply, please submit an online application at <http://jobs.cityu.edu.hk>, with a current curriculum vitae (with status of the journal submission stated), a teaching portfolio (including teaching evaluations where applicable), a research plan with a three-year timeframe and a list of three referees (with full contact details). Nominations can be sent directly to the Human Resources Office. Applications and nominations received by 30 September 2017 will receive full consideration. Only shortlisted applicants will be contacted; and those shortlisted for the post of Assistant Professor will be requested to arrange for at least 3 reference reports sent directly by the referees to the Department, specifying the position applied for. The University's privacy policy is available on the homepage.

City University of Hong Kong is an equal opportunity employer and we are committed to the principle of diversity. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes.

Worldwide recognition ranking 49th (QS survey 2017/18), and 4th among top 50 universities under age 50 (QS survey 2016/17); 1st in Engineering/Technology/Computer Sciences in Hong Kong (ARWU survey 2016); and 2nd Business School in Asia-Pacific region (UT Dallas survey 2016).

Start Date:
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3040

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Global Studies
Subfield(s): Other, Public Policy, International Relations

The Global Studies Program and Political Science Department at the National University of Singapore is looking to hire a tenure-track assistant professor in Global Studies. The candidate should be able to develop and teach applied, workshop-style classes for upper level undergraduates in cooperation with NGOs, business, or government agencies. The candidate should also be able to teach research design and basic social science methodology classes in a multidisciplinary setting. Scholars from all social science and humanities disciplines are welcome to apply. However, the applicant's research profile should be legible to scholars of politics, broadly defined, given that the future tenure home will be the Department of Political Science.

The Department of Political Science and the National University of Singapore are highly research-oriented. The teaching load is three modules year academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Applicants should send a CV, a letter detailing their teaching and research interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox11@nus.edu.sg. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and liveable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/25/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3043

University of Delaware

Rank: Professor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, American Politics, Political Psychology

PROFESSOR OF AMERICAN POLITICS
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

The University of Delaware invites applications and nominations for appointment as a full professor with tenure in the Department of Political Science and International Relations (<http://www.poscir.udel.edu/>) We seek a scholar of American Political Behavior/Political Psychology, with a particular focus on quantitative methodologies.

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POSCIR) within the College of Arts and Sciences has 26 full-time and jointly appointed faculty, nearly 800 undergraduate majors and minors and 45 graduate (mostly doctoral) students. The department offers two undergraduate majors (Political Science and International Relations) and two undergraduate minors (Political Science and Political Communication) as well as a Ph.D. in Political Science. The department faculty covers four subfields of political science: American politics (including public law and U.S. foreign policy), comparative politics, international relations and political theory. The faculty is a methodologically diverse and collegial group of research-intensive and nationally and internationally known scholars. They are outstanding teachers, mentors, advisers and public servants.

The Department seeks a tenured full professor with an exemplary record of scholarship and teaching in American political behavior/political psychology. The successful candidate will be a nationally and internationally recognized senior scholar with a strong record of graduate student and junior faculty mentoring, a strong record of grant-writing success, and an interest in actively building the quantitative American politics capacity in our methodologically diverse department. We are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns: (1) the dynamics of public attitudes and behavior (2) the political psychology of racial, ethnic, gender, and other social identities; and/or (3) electoral processes and representation.

Using the Interfolio® online system at UD, applicants should submit a cover letter outlining interest in the position and a current CV. Letters of recommendation may be requested at a later date.

Questions, but not application materials, should be e-mailed to the attention of Professor Philip Jones (pejones@udel.edu), Chair, American Politics Search Committee. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Founded in 1743, the University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) combines tradition and innovation, offering students a rich heritage along with the latest in instructional and research technology. Located in scenic Newark, Delaware, within 2 hours of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C., the University is one of the oldest land-grant institutions in the nation, one of 19 sea-grant institutions, and one of only 13 space-grant institutions. With external funding exceeding $200 million, the University ranks among the top 100 universities in federal R&D support for science and engineering and has nationally recognized research (Carnegie rated, very high research activity). With 23 academic departments, 27 interdisciplinary programs and centers, and more than 10,000 students, the College of Arts and Sciences is the largest college on campus (www.cas.udel.edu). The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages applications from minority group members and women.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3024

Bucknell University

Rank: Bucknell University, Assistant or Associate Professor in Environmental Studies, with a focus on Race, Identity, and Community

The Environmental Studies Program at Bucknell seeks to hire an assistant or associate professor with a specialization in race, identity, and community, to start in August 2018. The successful candidate will have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, a high potential for excellence in research, and will bring a strong community focus to their teaching and research. Teaching responsibilities include courses in specialties such as race, culture & environment, sustainable cities, or environments & identities; community-based and/or local student research; community and qualitative research design; and service and general education courses in environmental studies. Ph.D. required by time of appointment in an environmentally relevant field with specialties in the social sciences or humanities such as: Africana, ethnic, gender, or Indigenous studies; critical race studies; environmental or community sociology or anthropology; community-level international development or political ecology; social/urban geography or urban anthropology; or community health.

We invite candidates to explain how issues of diversity are brought into their teaching, scholarship, and/or service. We seek a teacher-scholar who is committed to Bucknell's efforts to create a climate that fosters the growth and development of a diverse student body and whose experience and expertise will contribute to the Environmental Studies Program's diversity-related educational goals, including an emphasis on inclusive pedagogy. Bucknell University, an Equal Opportunity Employer, believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education.

Application materials should include a cover letter, a CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness as available, a research statement, and three confidential letters of reference. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. All materials must be submitted through Bucknell's career site (careers.bucknell.edu).

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, business, education, and music. Located in Central Pennsylvania along the Susquehanna River, Bucknell is nestled in the Borough of Lewisburg, an architectural gem that has been ranked as one of America's best small towns. The Lewisburg area offers a unique combination of outdoor recreation opportunities, and appealing amenities such as art galleries, an art deco theater, historic museums, and charming independent boutiques and restaurants. In addition to the many cultural and athletic events offered by the University and the Borough, the surrounding region offers outstanding schools, medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. For those who crave the city, Bucknell is within an easy three-hour drive to Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2apply.net/pqkx6tx52396dy3m>

PI98728848

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3017

College of William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government: Middle East and North Africa

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of Government at the College of William and Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in politics of the Middle East and North Africa. Applicants from all subfields of political science or cognate disciplines are encouraged to apply. We are especially interested in candidates with interests in race, ethnicity, diaspora or migration politics. The successful candidate will have excellent preparation; will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department bring new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level and, for interested candidates, also can include opportunities to teach at the master's level in the W&M Public Policy Program.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a cognate discipline at the time of appointment (August 10, 2018). Applicants must be prepared to teach Middle East politics to undergraduates at the intermediate and advanced level. Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching research methods (introductory level and intermediate level qualitative or quantitative methods) is preferred but not required.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, statement of research, teaching interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), a writing sample, and a statement describing previous professional experiences or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 15, 2017. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

Information on the Department of Government is at <http://www.wm.edu/as/government/>. We are one of the largest majors on campus and our faculty participate in and receive support from various research centers on campus as well. Our faculty also contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Africana Studies, Environmental Science and Policy, Gender Sexuality and Women's Studies, Global Studies (which includes Asian and Middle Eastern Studies), International Relations, and Public Policy. William & Mary is located in Williamsburg, Virginia, convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3018

Texas Christian University

Rank: Associate Director of Comparative Race & Ethnic Studies

Specializations: African American Politics, Latino Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

The Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies (CRES) program at Texas Christian University invites applications for our inaugural Associate Director, a permanent, full-time instructional staff position (12-month, not tenure-track). The Associate Director of Comparative Race & Ethnic Studies supports the Comparative Race & Ethnic Studies (CRES) program, which seeks to educate students, faculty, staff, and the larger community to critically examine racial and ethnic identities as an essential step in becoming ethical citizens and leaders in today's global community.

Duties and Essential Job Functions:

---Teaches one course per semester and helps manage the full range of administrative, financial, fundraising, research, educational, and outreach activities of the program.

---Supports and helps to develop the mission of CRES by cultivating a network of scholars, students and leaders on and off campus.

---Serves as ambassador for CRES to students and to other internal and external constituencies in order to raise the academic profile and prestige of the program and to extend its impact throughout the TCU and Fort Worth communities through co-curricular programming and community engagement.

The mission of CRES is to educate students, faculty, staff, and the larger community to critically examine racial and ethnic identities, experiences, and issues as an essential step in becoming ethical citizens and leaders in today's global community. As an academic- and community-oriented program committed to intercultural understanding, advocacy, and action, CRES values respect, inclusiveness, creative expression, dialogue, engagement, inquiry, and academic excellence.

Required qualifications:

---A Ph.D. or another terminal degree completed by January 1, 2018, in Ethnic Studies or a similar interdisciplinary field or in a traditional discipline with significant demonstrated background and experience related to race and ethnicity.

---Demonstrated excellence in teaching courses on race and/or ethnicity at the college level.

---Experience working within an academic institution, non-profit organization, or public administration, or an equivalent combination of experience and education.

Preferred qualifications:

---Experience in curriculum development, strategic planning, and/or academic leadership roles.

---Experience in activism or community engagement.

To apply, upload a letter of application, CV, teaching philosophy statement, and a 1-page statement explaining how the applicant will contribute to diversity and inclusion in CRES and at TCU to tinyurl.com/CRESAD, or hr.tcu.edu. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be sent by recommenders or dossier service to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu. All questions regarding the application process may be directed to Human Resources at hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu or 817-257-7790. Review of applications begins August 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Anticipated start is January 2018.

A highly selective teaching and research university with 10,000 students, TCU is an independent, nonsectarian, coeducational institution committed to academic freedom located in Fort Worth, Texas, the 16th largest city in the United States and part of the nation's fourth-largest metropolitan area. TCU has been recognized for six consecutive years as one of the "Great Colleges to Work For" by The Chronicle of Higher Education. As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

Start Date: Winter 2018

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3021

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Faculty Cluster for Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Defense, Intelligence, Science & Technology

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established a focus area in cyber security and privacy, as one of several interdisciplinary clusters established to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting faculty in the broad area of cyber security and privacy. We plan to hire one tenure-track assistant or associate professor for the UCF cyber security and privacy cluster. This position has a start date of August 8, 2018.

This will be an interdisciplinary position that will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department, as well as a possible combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units from the cluster for their appointment. (See <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided with this new position.

The ideal junior candidates will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy, and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. They will have research impact, as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. All relevant technical areas will be considered. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security or privacy. In particular, we are looking for someone who will work at the intersection of several areas, such as: (a) hardware and IoT security, (b) explaining and predicting human behavior, creating policies, studying ethics, and ensuring privacy, (c) cryptography and theory of security or privacy, or (d) tools, methods, training, and evaluation of human behavior.

Minimum qualifications include a Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution in an area appropriate to the cluster at the time of appointment, and a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy, demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record. A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is a strongly preferred qualification. The position will carry a rank commensurate with the candidate's prior experience and record.

UCF is one of the nation's largest universities with a diverse student body of more than 64,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school, which was established in 2006. UCF is a neighbor to large corporations, such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, and many others, all of which have a strong interest in cyber security and privacy. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/50308> and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, and identify the department or departments for their potential tenure home and the joint appointments they would desire. When applying, have all documents ready so they can be attached at that time, as the system does not allow resubmittal to update applications.

As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://eeo.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

For more information about this position, please contact the Cluster's Search Committee Chair, Gary T. Leavens, at Leavens@ucf.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3019

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate 2018-2020

The Political Theory Project (PTP) at Brown University will be appointing up to two Postdoctoral Research Fellows. Post-doctorates must have received their PhD's within the past three years. Salary is competitive.

Appointments are for two years. Postdoctoral fellows will pursue their own research, participate in PTP working groups, and teach one seminar course per year. In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration.

Qualifications

PhD must have been received by July 2018 and within the previous three years.

Application Instructions

In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and a writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration. To apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/42033>

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2997

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate 2018-2020

The Political Theory Project (PTP) at Brown University will be appointing up to two Postdoctoral Research Fellows. Post-doctorates must have received their PhD's within the past three years. Salary is competitive.

Appointments are for two years. Postdoctoral fellows will pursue their own research, participate in PTP working groups, and teach one seminar course per year. In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration.

Qualifications

PhD must have been received by July 2018 and within the previous three years.

Application Instructions

In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and a writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration. To apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/42033>

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2998

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for a position (open to applications from specialists in international relations or comparative politics) at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in the Fall of 2018. Courses to be taught include Introduction to International Relations and Politics of the Global Economy. We also welcome courses on topics that support our interdisciplinary initiatives, such as the global environment, global poverty and inequality, sustainability and urbanization. Expertise in South Asia as well as global experience a plus. It is expected that candidates will teach an undergraduate research methods course on a rotating basis. The teaching load is spread over a two-year cycle. Faculty have a three-course load semester once every two years, and for the other three semesters, the teaching load is two courses. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens.

Loyola Marymount, a comprehensive Catholic university in the mainstream of American higher education, seeks professionally outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to academic excellence, the education of the whole person, the service of faith and the promotion of justice. LMU is an equal opportunity institution actively working to promote an intercultural learning community. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Loyola Marymount has a strong commitment to diversity, broadly defined, and therefore encourages applicants that enhance the racial diversity of the department; who are committed to working within a diverse campus community; and who are enthusiastic about working in an institution where minority and women faculty can thrive.

The application requires: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and, if applicable, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi; and 4) three letters of recommendation. Candidate materials should be emailed together as a complete package to: M.J. Cho at POLSjobs@lmu.edu. Three letters of recommendation should be scanned and signed by the recommenders and emailed by the recommender directly to M.J. Cho: POLSjobs@lmu.edu. Please direct questions to M.J. Cho at the above address. Only electronic applications will be considered. We will begin reviewing applications on September 25; the position will be open until filled. Preliminary interviewing will be conducted at the APSA Annual Meeting.

Candidates with a Ph.D. are preferred; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2018 will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/22/2017

Date Posted: 7/14/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2989

Tufts University

Rank: Newhouse Professor of Civic Studies in Arts & Sciences

The Department of Political Science and the Jonathan M. Tisch College of Civic Life at Tufts University invite applications for the Newhouse Professor of Civic Studies in Arts & Sciences, starting in Fall 2018. Civic Studies encompass civic engagement, political participation, social capital, civil society, citizenship, civic virtue, the public sphere, and related topics. The Newhouse Professorship is a joint appointment between the School of Arts & Sciences and the Jonathan M. Tisch College of Civic Life at Tufts University. The Newhouse Professorship will promote the intellectual inquiry into civic life necessary to fulfill the University's mission to shape students into active and engaged citizens. Teaching responsibilities will focus on the undergraduate level.

The position requires a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field, and a record of excellence in scholarship and teaching. Current rank of Full Professor or advanced Associate Professor is required. The position is open with respect to subfield and methodological approaches.

All application materials must be submitted via Interfolio at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/43187>. Applicants should submit a cover letter describing their research and teaching, a curriculum vitae, two representative scholarly works, and contact information for three references. References will only be contacted with prior candidate approval. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Peter Morency, Administrative Assistant, at peter.morency@tufts.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2983

University of Alaska, Anchorage

Rank: UAA Post-Doctoral Fellow for Political Science

Political Science Professor Landry Signé is looking for a postdoctoral political economist to assist on the project entitled "Why African Nations Fail: The Political Economy of Economic Growth and Democratic Development," partly funded by the Andrew Carnegie fellowship for 2016-2018. He is conducting a systematic comparative analysis of the evolution, determinants, performance, and impacts of all African economies, governance and political systems from the pre-colonial era to date, combining quantitative and qualitative methods.

The successful candidate may have background in economics, political science, statistics, international affairs, or a related field. Experience in using statistical software, creating and analyzing large datasets, geocoding, and collaboration with research teams are desirable. Consideration is highly selective and limited to candidates of exceptional scholarly promise and strong orientation toward rigorous mathematical approaches to economics and political science. Candidates with limited but reasonable statistical skills, who have an outstanding understanding of Africa, and superior qualitative and mix method and writing skills may also be considered. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellence writing, editorial, and organizational skills; and expertise in causality models, barro regressions, experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science. The postdoctoral political economist is also expected to contribute to group publications, both disciplinary, and interdisciplinary.

Although employed by the Department of Political Science of the University of Alaska Anchorage, the candidate may be fully hosted as a visiting scholar in one of the centers (upon their approval) where Professor Signé anticipates periods of residency during his Andrew Carnegie Fellowship (Stanford University, a New York or Washington D.C. university or research center, and possibly Harvard University). Being hosted in their home city is possible if the candidate lives in a city where one of the five largest libraries with African resources is hosted.

This position may be part or full time.

Qualifications

1. Ph.D. in economics, political science, statistics, or a related social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2017 or during fall 2017.
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise.
3. A proven ability to work expeditiously, independently, collaboratively, and prolifically.
4. Proven knowledge or interest for African economies, governance, development, or political systems.

TO APPLY, PLEASE VISIT: <http://careers.alaska.edu/cw/en-us/job/506331/uaa-postdoctoral-fellow-for-political-science>

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/13/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 2987

Boise State University

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure Track)

Boise State University announces a tenure-track faculty position in human-environment systems science. Competitive candidates will demonstrate capacity, expertise, and interest in quantitative approaches to analyzing the interlinkages among social, biological, and physical systems, with the goal of addressing some of our most pressing sustainability challenges. We seek candidates who develop and apply innovative strategies to describe, understand, and predict the dynamics of human-environment systems, including but not limited to, agent-based, dynamical, process-based and geospatial modeling, mixed-methods, and other innovative techniques for integrating models or data. Candidates with training and skills from the disciplines of geography, geoscience, climate science, social sciences, engineering, and computational and data sciences are particularly encouraged.

The new faculty member will work closely with existing faculty in our Human-Environment Systems Institute. This position is part of a statewide, NSF-funded, effort to build expertise in human-environment systems science. With Boise State's new College of Innovation and Design as a home, the candidate will have the opportunity to collaboratively build an integrated research and teaching center focusing on coupled human-environment systems. The center weaves together biophysical and social science knowledge and skills to develop solutions to society's most challenging environmental problems. Boise State University is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from female and minority candidates.

Research: Successful candidates will be able to 1) build a strong collaborative (team science) research program that integrates the social, physical, and computational sciences and engineering, 2) secure extramural funding, 3) create knowledge to meet challenges at the human-environment interface, 4) disseminate that knowledge through high-impact publications and other, less traditional, mechanisms, and 5) help develop a leading program in human-environment systems science. We are particularly interested in applicants who can contribute to Boise State's academic excellence by developing an integrated program of research, teaching, and service that also broadens participation and diversity to more effectively address the complex challenges of coupled human-environment systems.

Teaching: The successful candidate will have a strong commitment to high quality education and develop innovative approaches to teaching undergraduate and graduate students. Successful candidates may develop hybridized, flipped, and/or online class formats as well as short courses and workshops. Courses will be offered through the College of Innovation and Design and collaborating departments. Expected teaching load is nominally two classes per year. Teaching responsibilities will be aligned with the candidates' training and will emphasize the interface of human-environment sciences.

We welcome applicants at the Assistant Professor level and also encourage exceptional candidates exhibiting a proven record of excellence in obtaining extramural research funding, scholarly productivity, and teaching at the Associate Professor level.

Minimum Qualifications: PhD, at the time of appointment in social, physical, or computational sciences or engineering, with an emphasis on quantitative methods.

Salary and benefits: Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience, plus an excellent benefits package is available for eligible employees, for more information visit: <http://hrs.boisestate.edu/careers/benefits/>.

If you are interested in this position: Please submit in one PDF document: a cover letter, CV, contact information for a minimum of three professional references, and three publications as representative sample work. In the cover letter, you should address the following items in this order: 1) your qualifications for this position, especially application of quantitative methods; 2) your capacity to develop an integrated research and education program to solve local to global problems at the interface of human-environment systems; 3) evidence and interest in cross-disciplinary collaboration; and 4) your interest and commitment to diversity and inclusion. Candidates wishing to be considered for employment at the level of Associate Professor should specifically identify so in the cover letter. Applications should be submitted here <https://boisestate.taleo.net/careersection/efac/jobdetail.ftl?job=170712> Questions should be e-mailed to hes@boisestate.edu.

Review of documents will begin September 1, 2017 and will continue until filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2962

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Political Behavior, Political Psychology, Political Communication

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) seeks a postdoctoral research fellow for the 2018-2019 academic year. The fellow will work with Professor of Government Brendan Nyhan and be housed in and affiliated with QSS, an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Applicants should have a proven record of research success; excellent writing and organizational skills; and expertise in experimental design, applied statistics, and/or computational social science.

The QSS fellow will work with Nyhan on new and ongoing projects in areas including studies of misperceptions and fact-checking in politics and health. Project work will be determined in consultation with the fellow based on their skills and interests. In addition, the fellow will conduct their own research with mentoring from Nyhan and other faculty associated with QSS and participate in the intellectual life of QSS by working with QSS faculty and honors students on ongoing research, attending seminars and workshops, and presenting research results.

The annual stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000. The fellowship can be extended through the 2019-20 academic year with the approval of Nyhan and the QSS Chair. Each fellow will receive a one-time $5,000 account for equipment, travel, and research materials. There may also be an opportunity to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend with the approval of the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in a social science discipline or expected Ph.D. by September 2018
2. Related substantive research interests and methodological expertise
3. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively

Application instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 2) Statement of research interests (two pages or fewer) that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Three letters of reference
- 4) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2017. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/42855.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2963

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in the Program in Quantitative Social Science

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for up to three postdoctoral fellows for the 2018-19 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently on a research agenda that is grounded in quantitative social science.

During the 2018-19 academic year, QSS fellows will participate in the intellectual life of the program by interacting with each other, with QSS faculty, and with undergraduate students pursuing a minor or major in QSS. Fellows will also attend seminars and workshops and are expected to present their own research on a regular basis. There are many postdoctoral fellows at Dartmouth College, and QSS fellows will be part of a large community on campus.

The annual stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000. The fellowship can be extended through the 2019-20 academic year with the approval of the QSS Chair. Each fellow will receive a one-time $5,000 account for equipment, travel, and research materials. There may also be an opportunity to teach a one-quarter course with an extra stipend with the approval of the QSS chair.

Qualifications:

1. Ph.D. in any discipline or expected Ph.D. by September, 2018
2. Substantive interest in any social science field
3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical, computational, or mathematical methods
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research

Application Instructions

Application instructions:

- 1) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications

- 2) Statement of research interests (two pages or fewer) that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 3) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 4) Three letters of reference
- 5) A paper written in English, either published or unpublished

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 1, 2018. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: apply.interfolio.com/42907

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2964

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Open Rank Professor of Political Science/Social Data

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position to start Fall 2018 for faculty whose substantive research interests are informed by, or inform the development of, data- or computationally-intensive techniques. We encourage applications at the assistant and early associate level but candidates at any level with exceptional records of accomplishment will be considered. The substantive research area is open although preference will be given to those candidates whose research agendas supplement existing areas of specialization within the department. Candidates should be able to contribute to our new undergraduate Social Data Analytics program (see <http://soda.la.psu.edu/>) and our graduate methods offerings. Faculty positions at Penn State involve substantial research support; in addition, junior positions offer significant release time. Candidates should have a record of publication in high-quality venues, external funding, and quality teaching credentials.

Candidates must have their Ph.D. in hand by appointment date. Application review will begin on September 15, 2017, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, samples of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (with a key). All candidates should request letters from three references to be sent directly to plscapplications@psu.edu. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/72588>

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2967

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Urban and Environmental Studies

The academic programs of Urban Studies and Environmental Studies in the Bellarmine College of Liberal Arts at Loyola Marymount University announce a search for a faculty position at the Assistant Professor level beginning fall semester 2018 in a newly configured department of Urban and Environmental Studies. The department seeks a candidate with expertise in international or national environmental policy, especially in the areas of climate change, water, energy, biodiversity, or environmental justice. Preference will be given to candidates whose scholarship uses GIS methods and/or has urban relevance. The successful candidate will teach courses on environmental policy and introductory GIS, and ideally on environmental planning, sustainable cities, or introductory environmental studies, bringing an international or national perspective to the courses. Candidates should have an interest in helping students develop as local and global citizens through, for example, experiential learning assignments, community engagement, and/or immersion experiences. A Ph.D. in an appropriate discipline is required. The department is particularly interested in candidates with the ability to contribute to one or more of our interdisciplinary programs, such as Chicana/o Studies, Women and Gender Studies, African American Studies, and International Relations.

Applicants should send electronic copies of the following to urbanandenvironmentalstudies@lmu.edu: a letter of application addressing teaching and research interests; curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; evidence of teaching ability; and a writing sample. Application materials must be received by September 29, 2017.

Loyola Marymount, a comprehensive university in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks professionally outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to academic excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity institution actively working to promote an intercultural learning community. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/30/2017
Date Posted: 7/7/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2947

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Other

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the area of global and/or post-colonial legality. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. We seek a colleague who has the scholarly expertise to understand the legal theories, practices, and histories that link disparate areas of the world. We are interested in candidates who conduct research into, for example, the afterlives of colonial legal regimes; or the shifting place and function of sovereignty in a globalizing world; or the ways in which various sorts of rights have been accepted, inflected, translated, and even violently rejected in different legal cultures; or the theory, practice, or history of institutions of global legality (such as the I.C.C., the E.U., the W.T.O., etc.). Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the candidate's area of specialization and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D. The start date for the position is July 1, 2018. Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/42527> a cover letter addressed to Professor Austin Sarat, a curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2901

Sarah Lawrence College

Rank: Endeavor Professor in International Relations

Sarah Lawrence College invites applications for a full time, tenure-track position in International Relations beginning in Fall 2018.

We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests focus on at least two of the following: international organizations and institutions; feminist international relations; race and international relations; strategic and security studies; peacekeeping and humanitarian intervention; conflict prevention, peacebuilding and statebuilding; human rights, reconciliation and justice; cross-border mobility and forced migration; global environmental governance and challenges; global political economy and inequality.

Sarah Lawrence is a co-educational liberal arts college with a unique pedagogy based on small classes and individual tutorials. Candidates must have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and to the development of the research, writing and analytical skills of their students. Applicants should have a Ph.D. at the time of appointment and college level teaching experience.

Application materials should include: cover letter, CV, two samples of scholarly writing, two course descriptions and sample syllabi relevant to the position, three letters of recommendation, and copy of official transcripts. The deadline for applications will be October 13, 2017. Applicants may apply online at: <http://slc.peopleadmin.com/postings/861>

Sarah Lawrence College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and has as one of its goals the recruitment and retention of a racially and culturally diverse administration, staff and faculty. To that end, every job opening is seen as an opportunity to increase diversity and every effort will be made to expand the applicant pool in accordance with these goals.

Sarah Lawrence College is located in southern Westchester County, 25 minutes by train from midtown Manhattan, NYC. For further information on Sarah Lawrence College, our curriculum, teaching methods, and philosophy of education, please see our web site at <http://www.slc.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 6/20/2017

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2911

Illinois State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY: Assistant Professor
LEGAL STUDIES

The Department of Politics and Government at Illinois State University, seeks applicants for a 9-month, tenure-track position in Legal Studies at the rank of Assistant Professor to start on August 16, 2018. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate courses across the paralegal curriculum including commercial transactions, real estate, probate law, and intellectual property. Teaching assignment for the position is anticipated to be 3 courses per semester, with a one-course reduction in this assignment in one semester of the first year. The candidate hired will be assigned to carry out some administrative responsibilities including but not limited to assisting the Director of Legal Studies in the preparation of ABA reports, advisement, and placement of paralegal students. The selected candidate will be expected to conduct academic research.

Minimum requirements are (1) a conferred JD degree from an ABA-accredited school prior to appointment start date; (2) at least three years of experience practicing law in the United States; and (3) either (a) at least one year of experience working with paralegals or (b) experience teaching at least one paralegal education course at the collegiate level.

Initial review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. To assure full consideration, please attach an application to posting number 0709521 at www.jobs.ilstu.edu and additionally attach a letter of application with descriptions of teaching and research interests, current vita, a sample of written work, graduate school transcripts, and student evaluations (if available).

In addition, three letters of reference can either be uploaded as 1 scanned PDF document to your application or they can be submitted on your behalf electronically via polsearch2017@ilstu.edu. Letters should be addressed to T.Y. Wang, Chair, Department of Politics & Government, Illinois State University, Campus Box 4600, Normal, IL 61790-4600.

Illinois State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer

If you are having difficulty accessing the system, please call Human Resources at (309) 438-8311.

If you are an individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) or other state or federal law you may request an accommodation by contacting the Office of Equal Opportunity and Access at 309-438-3383.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 6/14/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2881

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Tenure and Tenure Track Professor of Communication in the Area of Communication and Culture

The University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School for Communication is seeking to fill one tenured (Associate Professor or Full Professor) and one tenure track (Assistant Professor) faculty position in the area of "communication and culture." Preference will be given to scholars whose research and teaching include innovative approaches to the study of gender, sexuality, race, and/or ethnicity, as well as those whose work includes a global, transnational, or comparative dimension. Specific areas of focus may include but are not limited to algorithmic culture and platform studies; mobility and migration; technology and identity; and digital culture production. We are searching for candidates who address these or other issues using qualitative methods.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. (in Communication or a related field or discipline) and have a strong record of teaching and research. Responsibilities include conducting a program of research and publication, teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels (including supervising doctoral dissertations), and contributing service to the school and university.

The Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Pennsylvania is a graduate school of communication theory and research, with 19 full-time faculty and approximately 80 doctoral students representing a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds and interests. The faculty also has primary responsibility for an undergraduate communication major within the School of Arts and Sciences.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, three names of references, and up to three articles, chapters or other research to Professor Michael X. Delli Carpini, Walter H. Annenberg Dean, Annenberg School for Communication, University of Pennsylvania, 3620 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6220 via <https://facultysearches.provost.upenn.edu/postings/1147>. To receive full consideration, applications should be received by Monday, September 4, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/4/2017
Date Posted: 6/8/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2873

Brigham Young University

Rank: Faculty

The Brigham Young University Department of Political Science seeks applications for a faculty position from well-qualified candidates with a completed Ph.D. in any area of political science.

The appointment will begin in Fall 2018.

Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidates who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Review of applicants will begin September 1, 2017. Potential applicants can visit the University's web page at <http://www.byu.edu>.

Applicants must apply on-line at <https://yjobs.byu.edu> (Political Science Faculty, Job ID 64237) and attach current curriculum vitae.

In addition, please send letter of application, graduate transcript, at least three letters of recommendation, and samples of scholarly work to: Sven Wilson, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 Kimball Tower, Provo, Utah 84602, PHONE (801) 422-9018, FAX (801) 422-0580.

Placement materials may also be sent electronically via e-mail to polysec@byu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/8/2015

Date Posted: 6/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2870

Brigham Young University

Rank: Faculty

The Brigham Young University Department of Political Science seeks applications for a faculty position from well-qualified candidates with a completed Ph.D. in any area of political science.

The appointment will begin in Fall 2018.

Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidates who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Review of applicants will begin September 1, 2017. Potential applicants can visit the University's web page at <http://www.byu.edu>.

Applicants must apply on-line at <https://yjobs.byu.edu> (Political Science Faculty, Job ID 64213) and attach current curriculum vitae.

In addition, please send letter of application, graduate transcript, at least three letters of recommendation, and samples of scholarly work to: Sven Wilson, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 Kimball Tower, Provo, Utah 84602, PHONE (801) 422-9018, FAX (801) 422-0580.

Placement materials may also be sent electronically via e-mail to polysec@byu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/8/2015

Date Posted: 6/6/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2871

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Other

The RAND Corporation is a research organization that develops solutions to public policy challenges to help make communities throughout the world safer and more secure, healthier and more prosperous. RAND's research and analysis address issues that impact people everywhere, including security, health, education, sustainability, growth, and development. Headquartered in Santa Monica, California, RAND has close to 1,800 people from approximately 50 countries working in offices in North America, Europe, and Australia, with annual revenues of more than $308 million.

RAND is nonprofit, nonpartisan, and committed to the public interest. Our research is sponsored by government agencies, charitable trusts, and community nonprofits. In addition, we rely on philanthropic support to pursue visionary ideas; address critical problems that are under-researched; shape emerging policy debates; and devise innovative approaches for solving acute, complex, or provocative policy challenges. RAND values objectivity and integrity in both its research processes and internal interactions. We emphasize a collegial environment that respects the contributions and dignity of all staff.

Position Description

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multi-disciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements

PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience

Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance

Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location

Santa Monica, CA or Pittsburgh, PA office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required

Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

RAND is an Equal Opportunity Employer Minorities/Females/Vets/Disabled

Apply online at <http://www.rand.org/jobs/id4651>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2863

American Political Science Association

Rank: Director

AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION (APSA) POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT

POSITION TITLE: DIRECTOR, PUBLISHING

SALARY: COMMENSURATE WITH EXPERIENCE

REQUIRED EDUCATION: Bachelor's degree required; master's degree and an educational background in political science preferred.
REQUIRED EXPERIENCE: 10+ years progressively responsible experience in scholarly publications management.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The American Political Science Association (APSA) seeks a candidate to fill a regular, full-time position within its Publications Department. The director is responsible for working with partners including journal editors, publishers, and APSA governance bodies to ensure the timely delivery of high-quality scholarship through existing and new publication formats, including new digital publishing innovations. The director leads publisher relations for APSA's journals; coordinates with editors of APSA journals including the American Political Science Review, Perspectives on Politics, PS: Political Science and Politics, and the Journal of Political Science Education; coordinates sponsorships with other APSA staff; supports operations of journal editorial offices; and maintains timely guidelines for editorial offices. The director also liaises with APSA organized section leaders and editors of 20 section journals. The director oversees internally and externally created and produced materials, production, and promotion of existing and new titles under the APSA imprint; and serves as staff liaison to relevant APSA committees. The director monitors current trends, tools, regulations, and news in scholarly publishing and publishing in political and social science, and makes strategic recommendations to enhance the association's mission of delivering high quality, peer-reviewed content for APSA members, scholars, and the public.

The incumbent will work with other association departments on specific, discrete tasks including marketing, communications, and event organizing at the APSA Annual Meeting and Teaching and Learning Conference.

STATUS

Full-time, exempt

ESSENTIAL SKILLS & RESPONSIBILITIES

- Knowledge of best practices in scholarly publishing.
- Extensive experience in academic publishing, including journal publishing, with a solid background in editorial and production processes, including copyediting, proofreading, composition services, print processes, and distribution from concept to publication.
- Experience in negotiating contracts and knowledgeable of legal issues and contract language in publishing.

- Ability to multitask, prioritize, retrieve information, and meet tight deadlines.
- Strong attention to detail.
- Demonstrated effective communication skills, both in print and person to person essential; ability to work with a diverse array of APSA members, editors, authors, and publishing partner organizations.

APSA is seeking a team player with initiative, a strong work ethic, ability to easily collaborate with several association departments, and demonstrated capacity to work closely with the diverse APSA membership and stakeholders.

ABOUT APSA

The APSA is a 501 (c) 3 nonprofit educational association that serves a membership base of 12,000 in more than 80 countries. With a range of programs and services for individuals, departments, and institutions, APSA brings together political scientists from all fields of inquiry, regions, and occupational endeavors within and outside academe to expand awareness and understanding of politics. To learn more about APSA, visit www.apsanet.org. APSA offers a comprehensive compensation and benefits package. APSA has a Metro-accessible location in DuPont Circle in Washington, DC, with a full-time staff of 25. APSA is an equal opportunity employer committed to workplace diversity and welcomes applications from anyone with the qualifications indicated above.

HOW TO APPLY

To be considered, submit a resume with cover letter indicating how your experience and skills align with the Director of Publications position, as PDF attachments by email to APSA at hr@apsanet.org. Consideration of applications will begin after May 22nd; the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Summer 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/9/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2828

Columbia University

Rank: Sakıp Sabancı Professor of Turkish Studies (Tenured Associate or Full Professor)

The Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Columbia University in the City of New York invites applications for the Sakıp Sabancı Professor of Turkish Studies. We seek a scholar of Turkish Studies with area of specialization to be determined, but with a strong preference for the social sciences, to be filled at the rank of professor or associate professor with tenure. The successful candidate may be a member of the faculty of any social science department within the Arts and Sciences, including anthropology, sociology, history, and political science, and will be the founding director of the Sakıp Sabancı Center for Turkish Studies and will develop programming for the Center. Beyond teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in the field of specialization, the successful candidate will sustain an active research and publication agenda.

All applications must be made through Columbia University's Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) and must include a cover letter, current CV, list of references and writing sample of no more than twenty-five pages. Applicants also should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be uploaded into RAPS. For more information and to apply, please go to:

academicjobs.columbia.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=64343

The review of applications will begin September 15, 2017 and continue until the position is filled.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/28/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2743

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.

Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here:

http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost_constitutions/documents/hf_jp-ii_apc_15081990_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu . Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2488

POLITICAL THEORY

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

The Department of Politics is seeking applications from well-qualified individuals for one or more tenure-track junior faculty positions, which may be joint with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. These positions are open with respect to sub-field and involve teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/2641>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. No transcripts are requested at this time. For best consideration apply by September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3062

University of Exeter

Rank: Lecturer (2 positions) in Politics/International Relations

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

Lecturer in Politics/International Relations (two permanent positions)

Job reference: P57863

Application closing date: 28/08/2017

Location: Exeter (Streatham Campus), UK

The starting salary will be from £33,943 up to £41,709 on Grade F, depending on qualifications and experience. The position includes generous holiday allowances, flexible working, pension scheme and relocation package (if applicable).

The University of Exeter

The university is a Russell Group university boasting a vibrant academic community with over 21,000 students. Ranked in the top 1% of universities in the world, 98% of our research is rated as being of international quality and focuses on some of the most fundamental issues facing the world today. We encourage proactive engagement with industry, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.

The Department of Politics

Politics at Exeter is a large, diverse, collegiate, and pluralistic department, with over fifty permanent faculty members across two campuses (in Devon and Cornwall). We specialise in a wide array of areas including international relations, political theory, public administration, electoral behaviour, European governance, rural policy, and quantitative and qualitative methods. The last two UK research assessment exercises (REF2014 and RAE2008) have placed us firmly in the top ten departments in the country. In addition to our commitment to world-class research, we prioritise first-rate teaching, and regularly excel in the National Student Survey. Over half of our faculty members are non-UK and we warmly welcome international applicants.

The positions

These roles will be based at our Streatham campus in Exeter.

The department wishes to appoint two Lecturers in Politics/International Relations, as part of a strategic investment designed to further enrich our research and teaching. We will consider applicants from any area or sub-field of Politics, but are particularly interested in the following themes: international development, international political economy, the politics of food, environmental politics, migration studies, gender, global governance, health and well-being, parliamentary studies, and the politics of Africa and/or Asia.

The post will involve conducting research of international quality, the delivery of outstanding teaching, and collegiate contribution to a friendly and dynamic department.

About you

For a Lecturer post you will have:

- A PhD or equivalent in Politics or International Relations and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in a relevant active field of research
- A strong record in attracting funding for research, or the potential to attract such funding
- An active approach to inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary research
- Enthusiasm for delivering high quality undergraduate programmes
- Strong connections and funded projects with business and community partners
- Involvement in projects which develop impact.

What we can offer you:

- The support you need to pursue intellectual interests and to work creatively across disciplines to produce internationally exciting research;
 - Support teams that understand the University wide research and teaching goals and partner with our academics accordingly
- Our Exeter Academic initiative supporting high performing academics to achieve their potential and develop their career
A beautiful campus set in the heart of stunning Devon

Please ensure you read our Job Description and Person Specification for full details of this role.

For an informal and confidential discussion about the post please contact Head of Politics, Associate Professor Robert Lamb (tel: 01392-722054, email: r.lamb@ex.ac.uk).

The complete job description can be found here: <http://admin.exeter.ac.uk/personnel/jobs/P57863.pdf>

The University of Exeter is an equal opportunity employer. We are officially recognised as a Disability Confident employer and an Athena

Swan accredited institution. Whilst all applicants will be judged on merit alone, we particularly welcome applications from groups currently underrepresented in the workforce.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/28/2017

Date Posted: 7/27/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3034

Southern Methodist University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

Assistant Professor: Political Theory

Department of Political Science

Southern Methodist University

Dallas, Texas

(Position No. 00006294) The Political Science Department at Southern Methodist University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor position in Political Theory, starting Fall 2018. Teaching responsibilities include an introductory course in political theory, a history of political thought sequence, and upper-level courses reflecting the candidate's expertise. Candidates with clear and well-developed teaching and research interests in the nexus between equality and liberty, especially in the context of political-economic relationships, are especially encouraged to apply. Minimum qualifications include the completed Ph.D. in political science (required at the time of the appointment), experience teaching undergraduate courses in political science, and a detailed research agenda.

The Political Science Department at SMU is currently a faculty of fifteen administering programs in political science, international studies, and public policy for approximately 300 undergraduate majors and minors. The Department also houses and has access to the resources of the John G. Tower Center for Political Studies. Southern Methodist University is a comprehensive university of 11,000 undergraduate and graduate students located on a beautiful urban campus just north of downtown Dallas.

Applicants should submit a letter of application (including a statement of research and teaching interests), complete curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation to: Joseph F. Kobylka, Chair, Political Theory Search Committee, Department of Political Science, Dedman College, Southern Methodist University, P.O. Box 750117, Dallas, TX 75275-0117; or as e-mail attachments (pdf preferred) to plsc@smu.edu. Review of applications will begin November 15, 2017. Applications must be postmarked by this date to ensure full consideration for the position, but the committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. The committee will notify applicants of the employment decision after the position is filled.

Southern Methodist University will not discriminate in any program or activity on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity and expression. The Executive Director for Access and Equity/Title IX Coordinator is designated to handle inquiries regarding nondiscrimination policies and may be reached at the Perkins Administration Building, Room 204, 6425 Boaz Lane, Dallas, TX 75205, 214-768-3601, accessequity@smu.edu.

Hiring is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 7/24/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3038

Stanford University

Rank: Faculty Position in Law and Legal Institutions in Muslim Societies (Assistant- or Associate-Level)

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or a tenured Associate Professor faculty position focused on law and legal institutions of Islam and/or Muslim societies in any time period.

The successful applicant for this position will be jointly appointed in the Stanford Law School and one of the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, History, Political Science, or Sociology. The successful applicant will have teaching and advising responsibilities in both the Law School and the School of Humanities and Sciences and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts. The exact structure of the appointment, including the share of the appointment in Law and Humanities and Sciences, will depend on the successful candidate. We have a preference for candidates who hold both a J.D. and Ph.D., but will also consider candidates with a Ph.D. and substantive expertise in Islamic law and institutions.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae including list of publications, and one recent writing sample. Assistant level and untenured associate level applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 15, 2017.

Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9282>

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/24/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3039

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS, Social Science. NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Social Movements

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS
 Social Science
 NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September

2018. Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

Applications are now open and we will consider candidates on a rolling basis. To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, three representative publications and three letters of reference, all in PDF format. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and under-represented minorities to apply. Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu

Note: We will begin considering applicants from political science September 22, 2017 and applications from economics December 1, 2017.

?

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complimented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Entering its eighth year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3025

University of Zurich

Rank: Professorship for Political Theory

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The University of Zurich invites applications for a Professorship for Political Theory

The position should be filled by August 1, 2018. Depending on the qualifications of the appointee, the professorship will take the form of a chair (full or associate professorship) or an assistant professorship with tenure track.

The focus of the position is on political institutions, preferably in relation to questions of democracy. Candidates should have a broad and internationally recognized research track record in the study of the development, functioning and/or effects of political institutions, or demonstrate the potential to develop such a record. The specific substantive or geographic focus of the position is open and can include local, national, and international institutions. Competences in positive political theory, formal modeling, and/or the analysis of the empirical implications of theoretical models are an advantage.

The position is located in the Department of Political Science (IPZ), which provides a dynamic and collaborative international environment for teaching and research. The department offers generous research and teaching support. In addition, the holder of the position is eligible to apply for Swiss National Science Foundation funding, as well as many other grant programs in Switzerland and the European Union.

Candidates should hold a PhD degree in Political Science at the time of application and have an excellent record of academic achievements in the relevant field. Teaching may be carried out in English. Since administrative work is conducted in German at the University of Zurich, non-German speaking candidates are expected to acquire a working knowledge of German within the first three years of appointment. In order to increase the number of women in leading academic positions, we specifically encourage women to apply.

The closing date for applications is September 10, 2017. Details on the application procedure are available on www.phil.uzh.ch/jobs.html. For further information please contact Prof. Fabrizio Gilardi (gilardi@ipz.uzh.ch).

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/10/2017
Date Posted: 7/20/2017
Salary: Above $159,999
eJobs ID: 3023

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Program at CSU Channel Islands invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science. The candidate will be responsible for teaching courses in public law and/or political theory. The ideal candidate will be able to teach a range of courses in public law including Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties and Judicial Processes and/or our core course in political theory and political theory electives. We are particularly interested in hiring a colleague whose teaching addresses issues of economic and/or power inequalities and their implications for the development and future of politics in the US and/or around the globe.

Required Qualifications:

* Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field.

* As a condition of employment, this position will require a background check. The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Preferred Qualifications:

- * Experience teaching courses at the college level;
- * Evidence of the ability to become a productive teacher-scholar;
- * Evidence of engagement in curriculum development;
- * Willingness to engage students in High Impact Teaching Practices (e.g. study abroad, student research, service learning).

For additional information and to apply please visit: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>. Application review begins on September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3020

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate 2018-2020

The Political Theory Project (PTP) at Brown University will be appointing up to two Postdoctoral Research Fellows. Post-doctorates must have received their PhD's within the past three years. Salary is competitive.

Appointments are for two years. Postdoctoral fellows will pursue their own research, participate in PTP working groups, and teach one seminar course per year. In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration.

Qualifications

PhD must have been received by July 2018 and within the previous three years.

Application Instructions

In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and a writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration. To apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/42033>

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/17/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2997

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate 2018-2020

The Political Theory Project (PTP) at Brown University will be appointing up to two Postdoctoral Research Fellows. Post-doctorates must have received their PhD's within the past three years. Salary is competitive.

Appointments are for two years. Postdoctoral fellows will pursue their own research, participate in PTP working groups, and teach one seminar course per year. In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration.

Qualifications

PhD must have been received by July 2018 and within the previous three years.

Application Instructions

In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and a writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be assured of full consideration. To apply: <https://apply.interfolio.com/42033>

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2998

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Politics at Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in political theory, with a specialty in contemporary political thought, to begin Fall 2018.

We are interested in candidates who, in their teaching and research, use normative political theory to clarify such current political problems as post-colonial legacies and antagonisms, social inequality and political exclusion, citizenship and statelessness, environmental rights and obligations, or reconfigurations of state and economic power, political agency, and individual subjectivity in a global age. We especially seek candidates with expertise in non-Western as well as Western political perspectives and ideas, and/or who look critically at conventional Western/non-Western distinctions.

Mount Holyoke supports faculty scholarship through research funds, travel support, and sabbaticals, and a 2-2 teaching load. Mount Holyoke also offers a comprehensive faculty mentoring program, a teaching and learning initiative, and invests in faculty across the career span. The successful candidate should be able to demonstrate excellence at teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. A Ph.D. in Politics is required by the time of appointment.

Applications must be made online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/>. Please submit letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, a statement of research interests, a statement on teaching and mentoring a diverse student body, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including course syllabi and course evaluations), and examples of scholarly research. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted. For further information, please contact the Chair of the Search Committee, Prof. Elizabeth Markovits, at: emarkovi@mtholyoke.edu. Interested applicants should submit completed applications by September 22, 2017.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/22/2017

Date Posted: 7/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2981

Gettysburg College

Rank: Assistant Professor: American Politics, Political Theory, Race & Ethnicity

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor – American Politics/Political Thought/Race, Ethnicity, and Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Political Science at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2018.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a commitment to teaching in the liberal arts tradition and show potential for scholarly engagement. The Department seeks candidates in the subfields of American Politics and American Political Thought. The successful candidate is expected to offer introductory courses in political thought and advanced courses in American politics, political thought, and race, ethnicity, and politics.

A Ph.D. in political science or ABD status is required. The teaching load is 3/2.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/2180>. Submit a curriculum vitae; cover letter, addressed to Professor Bruce Larson, Chair, Department of Political Science; writing sample; transcripts; and a separate teaching philosophy statement. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references indicated will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Review of applications will begin immediately, and will continue until a successful candidate is found. Application materials must be received by December 8, 2017, for full consideration. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Larson: blarson@gettysburg.edu

Gettysburg College, an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal, state, local laws and regulations regarding nondiscrimination. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and admission. The College prohibits discrimination and harassment, and provides equal opportunity without regard to race, ethnicity, color, religion, national origin, disability, veteran status, marital/familial status, possession of a General Education Development Certificate (GED) as compared to a high school diploma, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, sex, age, or genetic information in all aspects of employment, educational programs, activities, and admissions. Pursuant to Title IX of the Education Amendment of 1972, Gettysburg College prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex (i.e., which includes but is not limited to the prohibition of sexual misconduct and relationship violence, including sexual assault and harassment) in all of its educational programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 12/8/2017
Date Posted: 7/12/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2977

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory
Specializations: Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Department of Political Science at Yale University invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in Political Theory to begin July 1, 2018. Applicants from all areas of the field – historical, contemporary, comparative, and conceptual – will be considered. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of appointment.

Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample should be uploaded to <https://apply.interfolio.com/43129>. Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2017. To guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna (lani.colianna@yale.edu or 203-432-5238), Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. We strongly encourage applications from and nominations of women and underrepresented minorities, protected veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 7/12/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2968

University of California, Santa Cruz

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

The Politics Department at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UCSC) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Theory in areas of non-Western political and legal thought. Recognizing that 'non-Western' is a contested concept, we are open with respect to geographical area; we are interested in scholarship that examines political and legal thought of subaltern, marginalized, or indigenous people from any geographic area (including e.g., African American political thought), as well as scholarship that examines the political and legal thought from the Global South (e.g., Islamic, East and/or South Asian thought). In relation to a focus on legal thought, the successful candidate's work might engage social movements, decolonial struggles, political economy, gender and sexuality, race, sovereignty, and/or religion. We seek scholarship that contributes both to political theory and to legal studies through critical interpretive work with texts, archives, and/or ethnographic sources, drawing out the origins, diverse interpretations, and manifestations of legal thinking. We are interested both in scholarship that examines the politics of legal thinking, and/or that examines the intersections of political thought and the law.

Candidates will be expected to teach in both the undergraduate Politics and Legal Studies majors, and the Politics Ph.D. program. The successful candidate will work well with students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of social and cultural backgrounds. We welcome candidates whose understanding of the barriers facing underrepresented women and minorities in higher education careers is evidenced by life experiences and educational background, and who have experience building equitable and diverse scholarly environments with respect to teaching, mentoring, research, life experiences, or service. UC Santa Cruz is a Hispanic-Serving Institution with a high proportion of first-in-family undergraduate students. We encourage both domestic and international candidates to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/28/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2923

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Tenure and Tenure Track Professor of Communication in the Area of Communication and Culture

The University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School for Communication is seeking to fill one tenured (Associate Professor or Full Professor) and one tenure track (Assistant Professor) faculty position in the area of "communication and culture." Preference will be given to scholars whose research and teaching include innovative approaches to the study of gender, sexuality, race, and/or ethnicity, as well as those whose work includes a global, transnational, or comparative dimension. Specific areas of focus may include but are not limited to algorithmic culture and platform studies; mobility and migration; technology and identity; and digital culture production. We are searching for candidates who address these or other issues using qualitative methods.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. (in Communication or a related field or discipline) and have a strong record of teaching and research. Responsibilities include conducting a program of research and publication, teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels (including supervising doctoral dissertations), and contributing service to the school and university.

The Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Pennsylvania is a graduate school of communication theory and research, with 19 full-time faculty and approximately 80 doctoral students representing a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds and interests. The faculty also has primary responsibility for an undergraduate communication major within the School of Arts and Sciences.

Submit letter of interest, curriculum vitae, three names of references, and up to three articles, chapters or other research to Professor Michael X. Delli Carpini, Walter H. Annenberg Dean, Annenberg School for Communication, University of Pennsylvania, 3620 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6220 via <https://facultysearches.provost.upenn.edu/postings/1147>. To receive full consideration, applications should be received by Monday, September 4, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/4/2017

Date Posted: 6/8/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2873

Cornell University

Rank: Tenure-track Asst/Assoc Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Government at Cornell University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track (assistant or associate) professorial position in political theory to begin July 1, 2018. We will consider all areas of specialization. Demonstrated excellence in teaching is required. A Ph.D. is required no later than July 1, 2018. Review of applications will begin upon their receipt and the deadline for submission of complete dossiers is August 15, 2017.

Send letter of application, curriculum vitae, three recommendation letters (associate-level applicants may name three references), two article-length pieces of writing, two sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations to: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/9197>.

Diversity and inclusion have been and continue to be a part of our heritage. The Department of Government, and the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell University embrace diversity and seek candidates who will create a climate that attracts students and faculty of all races, nationalities, and genders. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

Date Posted: 5/23/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2854

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Political Theory

The Department of Politics at The University of the South seeks applications for a tenure-track position in political theory to begin August 2018. A Ph.D. in political science is required. ABDs must possess the degree by the time of appointment. Advanced scholars are encouraged to apply with some consideration given to faculty who are tenured or on the tenure track. The Department is also hiring for a tenure-track position in American political behavior, so academic couples are welcome to apply.

The teaching load for this position is five courses per year. The successful candidate will teach Introduction to Political Theory and upper division courses. These courses may be open with regard to the candidate's area of interest, but candidates should be able to offer courses related to issues of diversity, identity, inclusion, justice, and citizenship. These courses should reflect the thematic, not chronological, approach to our theory curriculum, and we are especially interested in courses such as African-American Political Thought, Feminist Theory, and American Political Thought. The successful candidate will show evidence of effective classroom teaching and a commitment to scholarly research and publication.

The University of the South comprises a well-regarded College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and a distinguished School of Theology. It is an institution of the Episcopal Church that welcomes individuals of all backgrounds. The University is located on a striking, 13,000-acre campus on Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau. The University of the South is an equal opportunity educational institution that is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse and inclusive campus environment.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, brief writing sample, sample syllabi, course evaluations, graduate transcript, and at least three letters of recommendation. These materials should be submitted through the application portal at <https://jobs.sewanee.edu>. (Any materials that are not able to be uploaded may be sent directly to krkleinf@sewanee.edu.) Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful prescreening. To be considered for an interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association, applications must be received by August 15, 2017. For full consideration applications must be received by September 30, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/30/2017

Date Posted: 5/2/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2816

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2018-19. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to established or emerging scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

Sample areas of interest include: normative analyses of fundamental rights and of such basic constitutional structures as the separation of powers or federalism; democratic theory, especially as it pertains to political institutions; the history of political thought about constitutional government or constitutional forms; and questions of justice about the constitutional basic structure of a society, ranging from property and market relations to the legal organization of family life.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <http://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Brad Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by August 1.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 8/1/2017

Date Posted: 4/5/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2762

Catholic University of America

Rank: Assistant Professor. Priority: Comparative Politics or IR.

Other: Political Theory or Open

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Other

Specializations: International Political Economy, Middle East, Post Communist Europe

The Department of Politics at the Catholic University of America invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin in August 2017. Applicants at the associate rank may also be considered. While we encourage applications by candidates in any field, our priority is to recruit in World Politics, which comprises Comparative Politics and International Relations. Located in the nation's capital, the Department of Politics offers a popular undergraduate major and a distinguished MA and PhD program.

We seek candidates who understand, are enthusiastic about, and will make a significant contribution to the mission of the University, which reads as follows: "As the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States, founded and sponsored by the bishops of the country with the approval of the Holy See, The Catholic University of America is committed to being a comprehensive Catholic and American institution of higher learning, faithful to the teachings of Jesus Christ as handed on by the Church. Dedicated to advancing the dialogue between faith and reason, The Catholic University of America seeks to discover and impart the truth through excellence in teaching and research, all in service to the Church, the nation and the world."

Expertise in a regional area such as Latin America, the Middle East or Eastern Europe is a plus. Security studies and foreign policy are traditional strengths of the department. Beyond these fields, areas of interest include but are not limited to political theory and constitutionalism. We seek applicants who can enhance the historical, institutional and theoretical strengths of the department. Candidates who can cross field and disciplinary lines and articulate the relevance of ethical and religious concerns in their areas of specialty are particularly attractive.

Applicants should send a letter of interest, a C.V., and a writing sample to

pol-search@cua.edu and arrange for the submission of graduate transcripts and three letters of reference. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a one- to two-page statement indicating how their research, teaching, and service will make a distinctive contribution to our University's mission and to the vision of Catholic education outlined in the Apostolic Constitution on Catholic Universities Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which can be found here:

http://w2.vatican.va/content/john-paul-ii/en/apost_constitutions/documents/hf_jp-ii_apc_15081990_ex-corde-ecclesiae.html .

Questions about the position may be addressed to Dr. Dennis Coyle, department chair, at coyle@cua.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making the final offer of employment. The Catholic University of America is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/14/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2488

Wayne State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Tenure Track, Political Theory

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY

Assistant Professor, Tenure Track, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan, seeks applicants for a tenure-track position in Political Theory at the level of Assistant Professor. The department is interested in candidates with research and teaching specializations in the above field and with any substantive focus. The department offers B.A., B.P.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in addition to a NASPAA-accredited M.P.A. degree. Candidates must be prepared to teach Political Theory in our Ph.D. program as well as teach courses in the department's undergraduate curriculum. The standard teaching load is two courses per semester with a starting date of August, 2017. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and arrange to have at least three letters of reference sent to: Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 2040 Faculty/Administration Building, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI 48202. Upon receipt of your application, you will be prompted to apply online using a link supplied to you by the Search Committee. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Wayne State University is a nationally recognized Carnegie Research I (Doctoral/Research Extensive) institution with an urban teaching mission. It comprises 12 academic colleges offering over 350 undergraduate, graduate, and professional degrees, including medicine, law, arts and sciences, engineering, business, pharmacy, health sciences, and education to more than 28,000 students. The National Science Foundation has ranked Wayne State among the top 60 U.S. public institutions for annual research expenditures. Wayne State University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2016

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 1972

Eastern University-St Davids

Rank: Assistant Professor American Government

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Assistant Professor American Government
Political Science Department
2016-2017 AY Replacement Search

The Department of Political Science at Eastern University, a university of the liberal arts and sciences located in St. Davids Pennsylvania, invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning in the fall of 2017. We are seeking to fill a position in American Government with preference given to individuals who can contribute to Political Theory. Candidates should desire to participate in the liberal arts core by teaching courses that explore the intersection of faith, reason, and justice. A Ph.D. in hand is preferred but ABD candidates nearing completion are also encouraged to apply. Please note that a J.D. is not sufficient for this appointment.

Eastern University is a Christian university of the arts and sciences that integrates faith, reason and justice for students in its undergraduate, graduate, Seminary, urban, professional and international programs. Applicants should have a religious commitment compatible with its mission and be willing to endorse by signing Eastern University's doctrinal statement. The university complies with federal and state guidelines of nondiscrimination in employment; members of protected classes encouraged to apply.

This description is intended to describe the general level and nature of work performed by the person/people assigned to this position. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties and responsibilities of the person/people so assigned.

Review of applications will begin January 1, 2017. Applicants are requested to send a cover letter including a brief statement of your faith, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations (or portfolio), unofficial copies of graduate transcripts, and three professional letters of recommendation/reference to jobs@eastern.edu or by mail to:

Eastern University
Office of Human Resources
1300 Eagle Rd.
St. Davids, PA 19087-3696

All positions remain open until filled.

Interested candidates participating in the APSA Annual Meeting should contact Dr. Sharon Gramby-Sobukwe to arrange an on-campus visit and interview.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2016

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 1874

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

New Mexico State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Administration/Political Science

Teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses in public administration, public policy and/or political science; conduct scholarly research, professional service and outreach to public agencies and groups.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration, D.P.A., or Ph.D. in closely related field such as public affairs or public policy is required. Applicants from other disciplines will not be considered. Degree must be completed before August 2019 but preference will be given to those with degree in hand by August 2018. Areas are open, although candidates capable of teaching graduate courses in organization theory, public policy analysis, and quantitative research and undergraduate courses in public administration and American politics are preferred. Candidates should indicate in their application material the mix of graduate and undergraduate courses in the departments programs they are capable of teaching. The successful candidate must possess strong teaching and research skills, ability to work effectively with students, faculty and community leaders, a demonstrated commitment to public service, and an ability to contribute to the department's on-line offerings. Preference will be given to those committed to public administration, and/or experience working in state/local government. We have a strong commitment to increasing faculty diversity. Women and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For more information about the department, visit our homepage at <https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/>

New Mexico State University is a comprehensive land-grant institution of higher learning accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. An active research university, NMSU anchors the southern end of New Mexico's Rio Grande Research Corridor, exceeding $140 million in research and public service expenditures. NMSU is classified as a Hispanic-serving institution by the federal government with a total minority enrollment over 48%. Home to the state's NASA Space Grant Program, NMSU is located in Las Cruces, which features desert mesas, the farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley, and the Organ Mountains, an extension of the Rocky Mountain chain. The University is committed to building a cultural diverse educational environment.

To be considered, please upload the following to your on-line application:

- 1) letter describing teaching experience and interests in this position
 - 2) current vitae
 - 3) writing sample
 - 4) evidence of teaching ability
 - 5) unofficial transcripts
 - 6) three (3) letters of recommendation
- Emailed and paper copies will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/30/2017
Date Posted: 7/31/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3064

New Mexico State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Administration/Political Science

Teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses in public administration, public policy and/or political science; conduct scholarly research, professional service and outreach to public agencies and groups.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration, D.P.A., or Ph.D. in closely related field such as public affairs or public policy is required. Applicants from other disciplines will not be considered. Degree must be completed before August 2019 but preference will be given to those with degree in hand by August 2018. Areas are open, although candidates capable of teaching graduate courses in organization theory, public policy analysis, and quantitative research and undergraduate courses in public administration and American politics are preferred. Candidates should indicate in their application material the mix of graduate and undergraduate courses in the departments programs they are capable of teaching. The successful candidate must possess strong teaching and research skills, ability to work effectively with students, faculty and community leaders, a demonstrated commitment to public service, and an ability to contribute to the department's on-line offerings. Preference will be given to those committed to public administration, and/or experience working in state/local government. We have a strong commitment to increasing faculty diversity. Women and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For more information about the department, visit our homepage at <https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/>

New Mexico State University is a comprehensive land-grant institution of higher learning accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. An active research university, NMSU anchors the southern end of New Mexico's Rio Grande Research Corridor, exceeding $140 million in research and public service expenditures. NMSU is classified as a Hispanic-serving institution by the federal government with a total minority enrollment over 48%. Home to the state's NASA Space Grant Program, NMSU is located in Las Cruces, which features desert mesas, the farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley, and the Organ Mountains, an extension of the Rocky Mountain chain. The University is committed to building a cultural diverse educational environment.

To be considered, please upload the following to your on-line application at:
<http://jobs.nmsu.edu/postings/28811>

- 1) letter describing teaching experience and interests in this position
 - 2) current vitae
 - 3) writing sample
 - 4) evidence of teaching ability
 - 5) unofficial transcripts
 - 6) three (3) letters of recommendation
- Emailed and paper copies will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 7/31/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3065

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lectureship in Comparative Politics, Governance & Public Policy, and/or Methods

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Administration, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an educator-track Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Political Science to teach research methods as well as other modules in either Comparative Politics or Governance and Public Policy for our undergraduate curriculum. The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester), of which about two or three should be in methods.

Lectureships at NUS are career positions in which advancement (to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor) is possible. Appointments are for three years initially and are renewable on an ongoing basis, subject to good performance and departmental teaching needs. Compensation and benefits are similar to those of faculty members on the tenure track and are competitive.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science. The Department recognizes four main subfields: Comparative Politics; Governance and Public Policy; International Relations; and Political Theory. The Department also hosts the programme in Global Studies.

Candidates should send a CV, a letter detailing their research and teaching interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox5@nus.edu.sg. Candidates should also submit sample syllabi, student evaluations, and other evidence of teaching quality. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and livable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3041

University of Exeter

Rank: Lecturer in Public Policy

Lecturer in Politics: Public Policy (permanent position)

Job reference: P00934
 Date posted: 14/07/2017
 Application closing date: 28/08/2017
 Location: Exeter (Streatham campus), UK

The starting salary will be from £33,943 up to £41,709 on Grade F, depending on qualifications and experience. The position includes generous holiday allowances, flexible working, pension scheme and relocation package (if applicable).

The University of Exeter is a Russell Group university that combines world-class research with very high levels of student satisfaction. Exeter has over 21,000 students from more than 130 different countries and is in the top 1% of universities in the world with 98% of its research rated as being of international quality. Our research focuses on some of the most fundamental issues facing humankind today. We encourage proactive engagement with industry, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.

Politics at Exeter is a large, diverse, and pluralistic department, with over fifty permanent faculty members across two campuses (in Devon and Cornwall). We specialise in a wide array of areas including international relations, political theory, public administration, electoral behaviour, European governance, rural policy, and quantitative and qualitative methods. The last two UK research assessment exercises (REF2014 and RAE2008) have placed us firmly in the top ten departments in the country. In addition to our commitment to world-class research, we prioritise first-rate teaching, and regularly excel in the National Student Survey. Over half of our faculty members are non-UK and we warmly welcome international applicants.

This role will be based on our Streatham Campus in Exeter.

The department wishes to appoint a Lecturer to further enrich one of the most successful public policy research groups in the UK. The successful applicant will hold a PhD (or nearing completion) or equivalent in Politics or a closely related discipline and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in an active field of Public Policy/Public Administration research related, or complementary, to existing Exeter strengths.

The post will involve conducting research of international quality, the delivery of outstanding teaching, and collegiate contribution to a friendly and dynamic department.

About you

For a Lecturer post you will have:

- A PhD or equivalent in Politics and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in a relevant active field of research
- A strong record in attracting funding for research, or the potential to attract such funding
- An active approach to inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary research
- Enthusiasm for delivering high quality undergraduate programmes
- Strong connections and funded projects with business and community partners
- Involvement in projects which develop impact.

What we can offer you

- The support you need to pursue intellectual interests and to work creatively across disciplines to produce internationally exciting research;
- Support teams that understand the University wide research and teaching goals and partner with our academics accordingly
- Our Exeter Academic initiative supporting high performing academics to achieve their potential and develop their career
- A beautiful campus set in the heart of stunning Devon

The complete job description can be found here: <http://admin.exeter.ac.uk/personnel/jobs/P00934.pdf>

For an informal and confidential discussion about the post please contact Head of Politics, Associate Professor Robert Lamb (tel: 01392-722054, email: r.lamb@ex.ac.uk).

The University of Exeter is an equal opportunity employer. We are officially recognised as a Disability Confident employer and an Athena Swan accredited institution. Whilst all applicants will be judged on merit alone, we particularly welcome applications from groups currently underrepresented in the workforce.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/28/2017

Date Posted: 7/24/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3032

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Nonprofit Management

Nonprofit Management Faculty Position

The Department of Public Service and Administration, Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track assistant or tenured associate professor in nonprofit management to teach in its Master of Public Service and Administration Program. Candidates with expertise in all fields related to nonprofit organizations, philanthropy, civil society and voluntary action will be considered. Successful applicants must have a Ph.D. by the beginning of employment in September 2018 and demonstrate evidence of a commitment to both high quality research and teaching in a professional school of government and public service. Candidates will support the Program's nonprofit management track.

Applicants should send a formal letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and names of three references to:

Prof. William A. Brown

c/o Ms. Kimberly Reeves

(preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolpsaa-facultysearch@tamu.edu)

The Bush School of Government & Public Service

Texas A&M University

4220 TAMU

College Station, TX 77843-4220.

Review of applications will begin on October 1 and continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer strongly committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The University actively encourages applications from women, minorities and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2995

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration or Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in the subfields of public administration or public policy, beginning July 1, 2018. A qualified candidate, with PhD in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, would have research and teaching focus in public administration and/or public policy, as well as capacity to teach quantitative research methods. Desirable secondary competencies could include public opinion, state and local government, and urban politics. The candidate may also be asked to teach Introduction to American Politics. The candidate must have deep substantive interests in politics and government, a love of the liberal arts, and demonstrated quantitative skills. He or she must maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy. Letters of recommendation are required from three or more references and should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening_detail.php?PostingID=16022

The review of applications will begin August 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Given our commitment to cultivating a challenging and inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/14/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2988

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs (GSPIA) at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications and nominations for two (2) tenure-stream faculty positions at the assistant professor level in public policy or public administration. Both appointments begin Fall term 2018 (authorizations pending). A PhD in public policy, public administration, public management, or social science field

(political science, sociology, economics, or related field) is expected at the time of the appointment. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests related to public administration, public policy and/or public management, broadly defined. The area of specialization is open, but candidates are expected to teach in the school and program core, as well as substantive policy or management area of research. Evidence of a promising research agenda leading to high quality publications in any of the wide variety of topics related to public administration and public policy is essential. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2017, and continue until the positions are filled. Candidates who would enhance the diversity of the school, including women and minorities, are especially encouraged to apply. Qualified applicants can submit their materials online through email attachments (see email address below). Submitted materials should include a letter of application describing the applicant's research and teaching interests, a curriculum vitae, two samples of scholarly writing, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations (if available):

Search Committee Chair

c/o Mary Ann Gebet, Executive Assistant to the Dean

Graduate School of Public and International Affairs

University of Pittsburgh

MPAGSPIA@pitt.edu

Applications must be submitted by November 1, 2017 to receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 11/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2985

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Associate Professor and Director of the Master of Public Administration Program

The Department of Political Science at the University of Cincinnati invites applications from candidates to serve as Director of a re-established Master of Public Administration program and as a faculty member at the rank of Associate Professor with tenure in Political Science. This appointment is scheduled to begin August 15, 2018. Area of research specialization is open. Candidates whose work would contribute to university commitments to research on social justice, urban politics, and/or social inequity are encouraged to apply. While the appointment will be in Political Science, interested candidates would have the opportunity to establish affiliations in related departments. Candidates for this position must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy or other relevant field, and have a demonstrated record of successful teaching, research, and service.

Preferred candidates will have had direct involvement in a NASPAA-accredited MPA program, and be familiar with the accreditation process. The successful candidate will be expected to manage the restoration of the MPA program and strategically lead the program through accreditation. Responsibilities include conducting research, teaching core courses in the MPA program, and providing administrative oversight of the program.

Interested and qualified candidates must complete our online application located at <https://jobs.uc.edu> (Requisition #19789). In addition to the online application, candidates must include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample of published or forthcoming research, evidence of successful teaching, contact information for three references, and a one-page statement addressing how your past or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance the University of Cincinnati's commitment to inclusive excellence, <http://www.uc.edu/inclusion.html>. Please direct any questions to Professor David Niven, Chair, Master of Public Administration Director Search Committee, at david.niven@uc.edu. We will begin reviewing applications September 10, 2017. However, we will continue to accept and review applications until the position is filled.

*APSA on-site interviews will be conducted between the hours of 12 Noon to 6 pm on Friday, September 1st and Saturday, September 2nd.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2953

Towson University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Urban Politics, Social Welfare, Economic Policy

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR TENURE TRACK SEARCH
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE – TOWSON UNIVERSITY
ACADEMIC YEAR 2018-2019

Areas of Specialization: Urban Studies, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Towson University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. The position entails teaching general survey courses in metropolitan studies and urban government and politics. Additionally, the applicant should be able to develop and teach courses in urban policy and/or local government. Particular area(s) of specialization may include poverty, racial segregation, transportation, housing, infrastructure, homelessness, crime, education, collaborative governance, and/or economic development.

Applicants with Ph.D. in hand at the time of application will receive preference, although ABDs may be considered if degree will be completed by the spring of 2018. Applicants must possess a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and a show a solid potential for a productive scholarly program. Interest in pursuing external funding is desirable. The teaching load is six courses during the first year, but will rise to seven courses thereafter. Applicants should send: letter of intent; curriculum vitae; one sample of written work; evidence of teaching effectiveness; official transcripts of all graduate and undergraduate work; and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Donn Worgs, Department of Political Science, Towson University, 8000 York Road, Towson, MD 21252

Application review will begin immediately. The position will remain open until October 15, 2017.

Towson University is the second largest institution in the University System of Maryland. It is located just outside Baltimore and is only an hour from Washington, D.C. by car or train. Towson is an equal opportunity employer and has a strong institutional commitment to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/16/2017

Date Posted: 6/26/2017

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 2920

Lamar University

Rank: Jack Brooks Endowed Chair of Government & Public Service

Specializations: Congress, Leadership Studies, Legislative Studies

The Department of Political Science is seeking a scholar with outstanding teaching and research potential for the Jack Brooks Chair in Government and Public Service beginning August 15, 2018.

The holder of the Chair will have a tenure track appointment at the Assistant or Associate Professor level in the Department of Political Science. The Chair will teach six hours per semester, including graduate seminars and undergraduate courses in Congress, Legislative Processes and Leadership.

In addition to a nine-month salary, which is dependent on qualifications and experience, the Brooks Chair includes a summer research stipend.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science or Government. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials. Preference will be given to PhD candidates with advanced degrees in Political Science or Government and specializing in leadership studies or the legislature.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate students; maintain an active service agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson, <https://jobs.lamar.edu>

If your letters of recommendation are confidential, please have the letters mailed to the address above or emailed to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 1/12/2018

Date Posted: 6/19/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 2894

Fulbright University Viet Nam

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Positions in Economics, Public Policy and Public Administration

Multiple faculty positions, open rank - Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management, Vietnam

1. The Positions

Fulbright University Vietnam (FUV) seeks applications and nominations for three faculty positions in the Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management (FSPPM). The positions are open with respect to rank and field. Preference will be given to applicants in the following three broad categories: 1) public management, administration and leadership (including negotiation and conflict resolution); 2) macroeconomics; and 3) international trade policy.

II. The Institution

Located in Ho Chi Minh City, FUV is a private, not-for-profit university announced by President Barack Obama on May 24, 2016 and given substantial financial support from the US State Department, USAID, and a variety of private donors. We are dedicated to a lofty mission: reimagining the way universities work. We aim to create an institution that can transform the lives our students, address the pressing needs of Vietnamese society, and ultimately point the way toward a new approach to high quality education in developing countries. We are guided in this journey by our strong belief in the power of collaboration, interdisciplinary thinking, and risk-taking, and are seeking like-minded individuals who are excited to join the founding team that will imagine and build a 21st century liberal arts and professional graduate education in Vietnam.

Within this dynamic, start-up setting, the FSPPM builds upon a two-decade long initiative of Harvard University to incubate a center of public policy research and teaching in Ho Chi Minh City, the Fulbright Economics Teaching Program (FETP). Like FUV today, FETP itself was a pioneering institution in both teaching and research. FETP launched Vietnam's first masters in public policy program (MPP) in 2008. Its policy-oriented research contributed meaningfully to the national policy discourse. In the fall of 2016, Harvard transferred the people and programs of FETP to FUV. These unique intellectual assets are now the nucleus of the FSPPM, FUV's first academic unit. By virtue of this heritage, FSPPM is at once both an established academic enterprise with a distinguished track record and a small but accomplished faculty as well as a start-up. Among FSPPM's activities are a fulltime Masters in Public Policy (MPP) program; the Vietnam Executive Leadership Program (VELP), a policy dialog initiative for senior Vietnamese government officials; and the Lower Mekong Public Policy Initiative (LMPPPI), a research program focused on transnational policy challenges at the intersection of environmental and development policy.

FUV's Board of Trustees has adopted an ambitious mandate for FSPPM to become an internationally recognized graduate professional school that prepares students for positions of leadership in all sectors of society and contribute to the resolution of the grand challenges facing Vietnam, the region, and the world through policy engagement, analysis, and research.

III. Qualifications and How to Apply

Candidates will ideally take up the position, which is based in Ho Chi Minh City, by the Fall of 2017, though the starting date is subject to negotiation. Remuneration and benefits will be internationally competitive. A PhD (or equivalent terminal degree) in a policy-relevant field is required, though candidates in their final stage of PhD candidacy will also be considered. Relevant teaching and research experience, and a track record of interest in policy issues, are desired. Experience or interest in Vietnam and Southeast Asia will also be appreciated. Vietnamese language skills are valuable, but not required. Applicants are invited to send a letter of interest, a CV and the names of three professional references to jobs.fsppm@fuv.edu.vn. Inquiries are welcome. The positions will remain open until filled; please apply by June 15, 2017 for fullest consideration.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2842

University of Iowa

Rank: C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation Chair in Korean Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, International Relations

Specializations: East Asia, Electoral Systems, Public Opinion

The University of Iowa College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and UI International Programs invite applications for the position of C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation Chair in Korean Studies, at the full professor or senior associate professor levels, to commence in the Fall of 2018.

Applicants must be specialists in a humanities or social science discipline, must have primary research and teaching expertise in Korean Studies, and may also have interdisciplinary and/or supranational research interests.

Appointment will be to an appropriate disciplinary department. The successful applicant will also hold a 0% appointment in International Programs, and is expected to be an active participant in the activities of the Center for Asian and Pacific Studies. Review processes, teaching assignments, and primary responsibility for mentorship will reside within the department of appointment. This is an endowed position with a reduced teaching load and annual research funds.

Applicants must demonstrate a record of excellence in scholarship and teaching commensurate with a position at the senior associate professor or full professor levels, and be able to teach courses that meet the needs of the department of appointment as well as complement existing strengths within the department and college. Applicants must also demonstrate a level of language fluency in both English and Korean appropriate for research and teaching.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2017.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.uiowa.edu/content/faculty/> and reference Requisition #70718.

Application materials should include:

Letter of Interest

Curriculum Vitae

A Representative Writing Sample

Name and Contact Information of Three References

(Letters of recommendation will be requested only for short-listed candidates).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 5/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2846

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for part-time adjunct teaching positions. The Department may have need of adjuncts to teach a small number of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science and Public Administration. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and the names, addresses, email addresses and phone numbers of three references. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted. Applications must be received by July 15th.

Successful applicants will be required to submit to a background check as a condition of employment. BGSU is an AA/EEO/Vet employer. We encourage applications from women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities regardless of age, gender identity, genetic information, religion, or sexual orientation.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: 7/15/2017

Date Posted: 5/8/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2827

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff.

Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2124

PUBLIC LAW

University of California-Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminology, Law and Society.

Subfield(s): Public Law, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Criminal Justice, Constitutional Law & Theory, Social Welfare

The Department of Criminology, Law and Society at the University of California, Irvine invites applications for an Assistant Professor. The research specialization is open. For an appointment at an advanced Assistant Professor rank, evidence of success in securing extramural funding to support research and graduate students is desired.

To ensure your application is given full consideration, files should be completed by September 15, 2017. Priority will be given to applications received by that date; however, applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in a field related to Criminology or Law and Society. The position will begin July 1, 2018 (teaching duties will begin Fall 2018). Applications must be uploaded electronically through the on-line Recruit system: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF04011>

Candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, representative publications, and arrange to have three letters of recommendation uploaded electronically. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion (e.g. mentoring activities, committee service, research or teaching activities) should also be included in the application materials.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/26/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3054

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Program at CSU Channel Islands invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science. The candidate will be responsible for teaching courses in public law and/or political theory. The ideal candidate will be able to teach a range of courses in public law including Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties and Judicial Processes and/or our core course in political theory and political theory electives. We are particularly interested in hiring a colleague whose teaching addresses issues of economic and/or power inequalities and their implications for the development and future of politics in the US and/or around the globe.

Required Qualifications:

* Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field.

* As a condition of employment, this position will require a background check. The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Preferred Qualifications:

* Experience teaching courses at the college level;
 * Evidence of the ability to become a productive teacher-scholar;
 * Evidence of engagement in curriculum development;
 * Willingness to engage students in High Impact Teaching Practices (e.g. study abroad, student research, service learning).

For additional information and to apply please visit: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>. Application review begins on September 1, 2017.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/19/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3020

University of St. Thomas

Rank: Assistant Professor of Judicial Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, American Politics, Research Methods

The Political Science Department at the University of St. Thomas invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 1, 2018. We are seeking a political scientist with a specialization in Judicial Politics and the ability to teach courses such as Judicial Process, Constitutional Powers of Government, Constitutional Rights and Liberties, and Seminar in Judicial Politics. Candidates will also be expected to teach our introductory course, Government and Politics, and an undergraduate research methods course. This position will also include responsibility for pre-law advising and coaching/advising the university's Mock Trial team.

Established in 1885, the University of St. Thomas is located in the major metropolitan area of Minneapolis-St. Paul, and is Minnesota's largest private university.

Qualifications:

A PhD in political science is strongly preferred. Candidates who are ABD (who would be eligible for an initial rank of instructor) will be considered. All applicants must have demonstrable skills necessary for excellence in teaching.

Inspired by Catholic intellectual tradition, the University of St. Thomas educates students to be morally responsible leaders who think critically, act wisely, and work skillfully to advance the common good.

The University of St. Thomas is committed to the principles of diversity and inclusion, and the goals of affirmative action/equal opportunity. The University welcomes nominations and applications from a diverse applicant pool. AA/EOE

Special Instructions to Candidates:

Apply online at <http://jobs.stthomas.edu> and upload the following materials to your profile:

- 1) Cover letter,
- 2) Curriculum Vitae,
- 3) Copy of academic transcript,
- 4) Statement of teaching philosophy and experience, including evidence of teaching effectiveness,
- 5) Description of research agenda,
- 6) Writing Sample.

Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be forwarded to Dr. Angela High-Pippert, Chair, University of St. Thomas, 2115 Summit Avenue, JRC 432, St. Paul, MN 55105.

Please copy/paste your cover letter into the online system when applying.

Contact Dr. Angela High-Pippert (ahighpippe@stthomas.edu) with questions or to request an informal interview at the 2017 APSA conference in San Francisco.

To ensure full consideration for the position, all application materials must be received by Friday, October 13, 2017. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/18/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3011

Texas Christian University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at TCU invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American judicial politics beginning August 2018. We seek candidates who are able to teach courses in Constitutional Law (including powers, rights, and liberties), the judicial process, and other courses related to American judicial politics. The successful candidate will show evidence of teaching excellence, will have an active research agenda supported by published research or the strong promise of such publication, and will have experience to contribute to our commitment to diversity and excellence.

Preference will be given to applicants who will have completed the Ph.D. in political science by the appointment date. Department representatives will conduct screening interviews at the APSA meeting in San Francisco. Applicants interested in interviewing at APSA should contact Michael Strausz, Search Committee Chair, at michael.strausz@tcu.edu. Full review of applications begins on September 15 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must submit a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, summary of recent teaching evaluations, an unofficial transcript, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and three approximately 1-page statements detailing: 1) their research agenda; 2) their teaching philosophy and; 3) the ways in which their teaching, research, service and/or other relevant experiences have prepared them to contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusiveness. All application materials other than letters of recommendation must be submitted through the TCU online application system at https://tcu.igreentree.com/CSS_faculty. Have three confidential letters of recommendation emailed directly from the reviewer to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu.

The TCU political science department has 16 full time members and more than 300 undergraduate majors. It offers three undergraduate degrees and its and its faculty members participate in department-run programs such as pre-law advising, Moot Court, and Washington Internships, as well as interdisciplinary programs including Women and Gender Studies and Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies.

TCU is an independent, nonsectarian, coeducational institution committed to academic freedom with 10,400 students located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth, with 835,000 residents, is the 16th largest city in the United States, and it has rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities. The city is part of the greater Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, a diverse community of 7.1 million people and is served by DFW International Airport. The TCU Political Science Department is housed in a LEED-Gold certified building with state-of-the-art facilities. TCU has been named a "Great University to Work For" by the Chronicle for Higher Education for five consecutive years. As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/14/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2990

College of the Holy Cross

Rank: American Politics and Public Law

College of the Holy Cross: Department of Political Science
Tenure-Track Faculty Position in American Politics

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Department of Political Science at the College of the Holy Cross invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment to begin in August 2018. We are seeking a specialist in American politics and public law. The successful applicant will teach the introductory Principles of American Government course, a two-course constitutional law sequence, and one other upper-division American politics course in the field of public law or constitutional law.

This position carries a 3-2 teaching load with a full-salary one-semester research leave prior to tenure review, and generous sabbatical and fellowship leaves for tenured faculty. Tenure track faculty are eligible for travel support and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's published policies. All full-time appointments offer competitive salaries and include full benefits.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates must demonstrate commitment to, and excellence in, undergraduate teaching at the introductory and advanced levels as well as scholarly achievement. Ph.D. in political science or imminent completion required.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please submit a cover letter addressing the position requirements listed above, curriculum vitae, statement on teaching, transcripts, and three confidential letters of recommendation.

In your cover letter, in addition to describing your research and teaching interests, please address how your scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and/or service might support the College's mission as a Jesuit, undergraduate liberal arts college (see <http://holycross.edu/mission>) and its core commitment to diversity and inclusion. For more information, please visit <http://holycross.edu/diversity>.

The College of the Holy Cross uses Interfolio to collect all faculty job applications electronically. Please submit all application materials to <https://apply.interfolio.com/43084>.

Review of applications will begin on September 8 and continue until the position has been filled. Initial interviews of selected applicants will be done by Skype or at the APSA conference August 31-September 3 for those who will attend the meeting. Questions about this search may be directed to Vickie Langohr, Chair, at vlangohr@holycross.edu. Candidates are encouraged to contact Prof. Langohr in advance to express their interest and availability for an interview at APSA.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYMENT STATEMENT

The College of the Holy Cross is a highly selective Catholic liberal arts college in the Jesuit tradition. It enrolls about 2,900 students and is located in Worcester, Massachusetts, a medium-sized city 45 miles west of Boston. The College seeks faculty members whose scholarship, teaching, advising, and on- and off-campus service demonstrate commitment to the educational benefits of a richly diverse community.

Holy Cross aspires to meet the needs of dual-career couples, in part through its membership in the Higher Education Consortium of Central Massachusetts and the New England Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (<http://www.newenglandherc.org>). The College is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer and complies with all Federal and Massachusetts laws concerning equal opportunity and affirmative action in the workplace.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/8/2017

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 2961

Susquehanna University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics - Public Law

Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics
Department of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Susquehanna University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in American Politics beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year. Rank will be determined by credentials and experience. The successful candidate must be able to teach both introductory and advanced courses on American government and public law, including courses on diversity in the United States. The ability to offer a course on state and local politics will be considered a plus. The successful candidate will be expected to coordinate various law-related programs on campus, among them the legal studies minor.

Requirements include a Ph.D. or evidence that all doctoral degree requirements will be completed by August, 2018. Teaching experience is highly preferred and a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and research in a small undergraduate liberal arts university is expected. Particular consideration will be given to those with administrative experience.

Review of applications will begin August 25, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Please submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; statement of teaching objectives and evidence of teaching effectiveness; statement on how you will contribute to the university's commitment to diversity and inclusion, including your knowledge of and experience with inclusive pedagogical practices in classroom teaching, advising, and mentoring; three letters of reference, and a current email address online at <https://jobs.susqu.edu/>.

As a living, learning and working community, Susquehanna University affirms its commitment to being an engaged, culturally inclusive campus. As we seek to embody the rich diversity of the human community, we commit ourselves to the full participation of persons who represent the breadth of human difference. The university encourages candidates from historically underrepresented groups to apply. Susquehanna University is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Susquehanna University is a national liberal arts college committed to excellence in educating students for productive, creative and reflective lives of achievement, leadership and service in a diverse, dynamic and interdependent world. Its more than 2,200 undergraduates come from 35 states and 22 countries, and all students study away through Susquehanna's unique Global Opportunities program. Susquehanna University's 325 acre campus, noted for its beauty, is located in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, 50 miles north of Harrisburg in the scenic Susquehanna River Valley, about a three hour drive from Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and New York City. For more information, please visit <https://www.susqu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/8/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2948

University of Toronto at Scarborough

Rank: Public Law

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Scarborough invites applications for a full-time, tenure stream appointment in Public Law. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence July 1, 2018.

Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science or a related discipline with an emphasis on Public Law, by the date of appointment or shortly thereafter. Candidates must demonstrate a record of excellence in research in Public Law and the ability to mount an independently funded innovative program of research. Candidates also must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching and an emerging record for excellence as a graduate supervisor.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct innovative research at the highest international level and establish an outstanding, externally funded research program. She/he will have an established or emerging record of scholarly accomplishment including publications in leading academic journals and/or with leading academic presses, or will provide evidence of excellence in research as demonstrated in presentations at significant conferences, awards for work in the field and strong endorsements by referees of high international standing. Evidence of a commitment to excellence in teaching can be demonstrated by strong endorsements from referees, teaching accomplishments highlighted as part of the application, teaching evaluations, and the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application.

The successful candidate will teach in the undergraduate program at the University of Toronto Scarborough, and will also be a member of the tri-campus Graduate Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto. He/she will be expected to contribute to the undergraduate public law program at the University of Toronto Scarborough. This program includes required courses on the Canadian judiciary and Canadian constitution, and elective courses on comparative legal systems, international law, and law and public policy. Besides teaching required or optional courses in the undergraduate public law program, the successful candidate will also be expected to teach graduate courses and supervise graduate students in his/her areas of research expertise. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Toronto Scarborough is a research-intensive institution with an interdisciplinary commitment, a multicultural student body, and a modern campus. The University offers the opportunity to conduct research, teach and live in one of the most diverse cities in the world. The University also offers opportunities to work in a range of collaborative programs and centers of research.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking <https://utoronto.taleo.net/careersection/10050/jobdetail.ftl>

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample and teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy), and concise descriptions of current research activity and graduate student supervision experience and future research plans. Three letters of reference should be sent directly by the referee (on letterhead, signed and scanned) to the attention of Professor Margaret Kohn, Acting Chair, at polppsearch@utsc.utoronto.ca

All application materials should be submitted online. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format.

The closing date for applications is October 2, 2017.

If you have questions about this position, please contact Professor Margaret Kohn at polppsearch@utsc.utoronto.ca. For more information about the Department of Political Science, University of Toronto Scarborough, please visit: <http://www.utsc.utoronto.ca/~polisci/>. For information about the graduate department of Political Science at the University of Toronto please visit: <http://politics.utoronto.ca/>.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: 10/2/2017
Date Posted: 7/2/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 2929

Augustana University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government and International Affairs

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics, International Law & Organizations

Augustana University (Sioux Falls, SD) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in the Department of Government and International Affairs, to begin in Fall 2018.

Responsibilities: The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. Courses to be taught will depend upon departmental needs and the candidate's training and interests, but shall include offerings in U.S. constitutional law. In addition, the individual will serve as the university's pre-law advisor.

The typical load for members of the department is three courses per semester, plus a course in two out of every three January terms. The pre-law advisor is exempted from one of these courses annually.

Qualifications: Completed Ph.D. required. Evidence of teaching excellence and scholarly productivity expected. Ability to contribute courses to Augustana's Civitas honors program and/or First Year Seminar program is a plus.

Application Procedure: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, copies of graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including teaching evaluations), statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research plans, a writing sample, three recommendation letters, and an employment application (available at www.augie.edu/jobs) to humanresources@augie.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews will take place at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in San Francisco (Aug. 31-Sept. 3, 2017).

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 6/21/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2913

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Other

Amherst College's Department of Law, Jurisprudence and Social Thought invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the area of global and/or post-colonial legality. The successful candidate will demonstrate competence and sensitivity in working in a department in which students are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, ability, sexual orientation, and religion. We seek a colleague who has the scholarly expertise to understand the legal theories, practices, and histories that link disparate areas of the world. We are interested in candidates who conduct research into, for example, the afterlives of colonial legal regimes; or the shifting place and function of sovereignty in a globalizing world; or the ways in which various sorts of rights have been accepted, inflected, translated, and even violently rejected in different legal cultures; or the theory, practice, or history of institutions of global legality (such as the I.C.C., the E.U., the W.T.O., etc.). Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the candidate's area of specialization and supervision of senior honors projects. We welcome applications from persons trained in the social sciences, the humanities, and/or law. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching is interdisciplinary. The position requires a Ph.D. or a J.D. The start date for the position is July 1, 2018. Applicants should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/42527> a cover letter addressed to Professor Austin Sarat, a curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarship, and three confidential letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Amherst College is a private undergraduate liberal arts college for men and women, with 1,800 students and more than 200 faculty members. Located in the Connecticut River Valley of western Massachusetts, Amherst participates with Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts in the Five-College Consortium.

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/20/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2901

SUNY, University at BuffaloRank: Clinical Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo (SUNY) seeks well-qualified candidates for a Clinical Assistant Professor/Instructor position in Political Science, starting in August 2017. This is a 3-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. Candidates must be minimally ABD in political science or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/9979> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/20/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2898SUNY, University at Buffalo*Rank: Clinical Assistant Professor*Subfield(s): Public Law, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University at Buffalo (SUNY) seeks well-qualified candidates for a Clinical Assistant Professor/Instructor position in Political Science, starting in August 2017. This is a 3-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. Candidates must be minimally ABD in political science or a related field; a Ph.D. is preferred.

The standard teaching load for this position is four courses per semester, but a course release will be granted for serving as the pre-Law advisor. Candidates must be able to offer courses in public law and an introductory (100-level) course in either International Relations, Comparative Politics, or American Politics. Preference will be given to candidates who are capable of teaching upper-division courses in a second field in addition to public law.

Female and minority candidates are especially sought for this position. The University at Buffalo is an EO/AA employer. Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/9979> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting number F1700113: a letter of application stating what courses they are prepared to teach, a teaching statement, CV, and a list of three professional references. Finalists may be asked for teaching evaluations and graduate transcripts.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Review of applications will begin on July 10, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position can be directed to Professor Harvey Palmer, Department Chair, by email at hpalmer@buffalo.edu or by regular mail at: Department of Political Science, 520 Park Hall, University at Buffalo, State University of New York, Buffalo, NY 14260.

Start Date: Fall 2017Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/20/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2899McGill University*Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2018-19. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to established or emerging scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

Sample areas of interest include: normative analyses of fundamental rights and of such basic constitutional structures as the separation of powers or federalism; democratic theory, especially as it pertains to political institutions; the history of political thought about constitutional government or constitutional forms; and questions of justice about the constitutional basic structure of a society, ranging from property and market relations to the legal organization of family life.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <http://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Brad Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by August 1.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 8/1/2017
Date Posted: 4/5/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2762

PUBLIC POLICY

U.S. Coast Guard Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor (Tenure-Track) of Maritime Policy and Governance

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Other

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Regulatory Policy, International Security

The Coast Guard Academy anticipates an opening for an Assistant Professor of Maritime Policy and Governance. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate, upper-level maritime policy courses and, occasionally, introductory government / political science courses. The ideal candidate will be able to teach one or more of the following topic areas: ocean and arctic policy; coastal governance; marine resource management; marine safety; port security; maritime transportation, commerce, and industry. The anticipated teaching load for this position will be 9-12 credit hours (up to 4 sections – total - of one or more 3-credit courses) per semester. Other possible responsibilities include fostering opportunities for cadets via speakers, travel, and contacts; academic advising; work as a faculty advisor to student research projects, clubs, and other co-curricular activities; individual research and scholarship; and institutional, divisional, and departmental service.

Qualifications: Successful candidate will possess either (1) a Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science (or a closely related field); or (2) a Juris Doctor degree with relevant maritime practice or teaching experience. Experience with teaching college or law school courses is required; the preferred candidate will have a publication and teaching record in Maritime Policy and Governance. Excellent interpersonal, teaching, and communications skills are essential. Experience mentoring diverse student populations, and/or experience promoting diversity initiatives - including efforts at creating communities of inclusion - is highly desirable.

Start Date: Summer 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3045

Harvard University International and Area Studies

Rank: Academy Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

Specializations: Africa, Central America, East Asia

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies Academy Scholars Program, 2018-2019

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences (including law) with a command of the language, history, or culture of non-Western countries or regions.

Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in non-Western cultures or regions shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Scholars applying by the October 1, 2017 deadline for the August 2018 postdoctoral fellowships must have completed the PhD or equivalent after September 30, 2014.

Academy Scholars are appointed for 2 years at the Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies and are provided time, guidance, and access to Harvard University facilities. They receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire accessory training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of senior Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $67,000, and predoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until they are awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the postdoctoral fellowships beginning in August 2018 is due by October 1, 2017. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 6, 2017. Notification of Scholarships will be made in late December, 2017. For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <http://www.academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/31/2017
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 3074

New Mexico State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Administration/Political Science

Teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses in public administration, public policy and/or political science; conduct scholarly research, professional service and outreach to public agencies and groups.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration, D.P.A., or Ph.D. in closely related field such as public affairs or public policy is required. Applicants from other disciplines will not be considered. Degree must be completed before August 2019 but preference will be given to those with degree in hand by August 2018. Areas are open, although candidates capable of teaching graduate courses in organization theory, public policy analysis, and quantitative research and undergraduate courses in public administration and American politics are preferred. Candidates should indicate in their application material the mix of graduate and undergraduate courses in the departments programs they are capable of teaching. The successful candidate must possess strong teaching and research skills, ability to work effectively with students, faculty and community leaders, a demonstrated commitment to public service, and an ability to contribute to the department's on-line offerings. Preference will be given to those committed to public administration, and/or experience working in state/local government. We have a strong commitment to increasing faculty diversity. Women and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For more information about the department, visit our homepage at <https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/>

New Mexico State University is a comprehensive land-grant institution of higher learning accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. An active research university, NMSU anchors the southern end of New Mexico's Rio Grande Research Corridor, exceeding $140 million in research and public service expenditures. NMSU is classified as a Hispanic-serving institution by the federal government with a total minority enrollment over 48%. Home to the state's NASA Space Grant Program, NMSU is located in Las Cruces, which features desert mesas, the farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley, and the Organ Mountains, an extension of the Rocky Mountain chain. The University is committed to building a cultural diverse educational environment.

To be considered, please upload the following to your on-line application:

- 1) letter describing teaching experience and interests in this position
 - 2) current vitae
 - 3) writing sample
 - 4) evidence of teaching ability
 - 5) unofficial transcripts
 - 6) three (3) letters of recommendation
- Emailed and paper copies will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/30/2017

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3064

New Mexico State University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Administration/Political Science

Teach a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses in public administration, public policy and/or political science; conduct scholarly research, professional service and outreach to public agencies and groups.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration, D.P.A., or Ph.D. in closely related field such as public affairs or public policy is required. Applicants from other disciplines will not be considered. Degree must be completed before August 2019 but preference will be given to those with degree in hand by August 2018. Areas are open, although candidates capable of teaching graduate courses in organization theory, public policy analysis, and quantitative research and undergraduate courses in public administration and American politics are preferred. Candidates should indicate in their application material the mix of graduate and undergraduate courses in the departments programs they are capable of teaching. The successful candidate must possess strong teaching and research skills, ability to work effectively with students, faculty and community leaders, a demonstrated commitment to public service, and an ability to contribute to the department's on-line offerings. Preference will be given to those committed to public administration, and/or experience working in state/local government. We have a strong commitment to increasing faculty diversity. Women and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For more information about the department, visit our homepage at <https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/>

New Mexico State University is a comprehensive land-grant institution of higher learning accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. An active research university, NMSU anchors the southern end of New Mexico's Rio Grande Research Corridor, exceeding $140 million in research and public service expenditures. NMSU is classified as a Hispanic-serving institution by the federal government with a total minority enrollment over 48%. Home to the state's NASA Space Grant Program, NMSU is located in Las Cruces, which features desert mesas, the farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley, and the Organ Mountains, an extension of the Rocky Mountain chain. The University is committed to building a cultural diverse educational environment.

To be considered, please upload the following to your on-line application at:

<http://jobs.nmsu.edu/postings/28811>

- 1) letter describing teaching experience and interests in this position
 - 2) current vitae
 - 3) writing sample
 - 4) evidence of teaching ability
 - 5) unofficial transcripts
 - 6) three (3) letters of recommendation
- Emailed and paper copies will not be accepted.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Date Posted: 7/31/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3065

Congressional Research Service

Rank: Deputy Assistant Director and Specialist (Resources, Science and Industry Division)

Open: 7/18/2017-8/15/2017

Salary Range: $124,406 - $187,000

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) works exclusively for the United States Congress, providing objective, nonpartisan research and analysis to committees and Members of the House and Senate. CRS seeks a senior manager to serve as Deputy Assistant Director and Specialist in the Resources, Science and Industry Division. The Deputy Assistant Director supports the Assistant Director in managing the division, which provides expert research to meet ongoing congressional policy-making and oversight needs in issue areas including agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.

This is a senior leadership position. Applications received for this position will not be considered for any other CRS vacancies. To be considered you must meet the critical competency requirements of the job at the levels described below.

1. Multidisciplinary knowledge of agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and/or science and technology policy issues: I am recognized by decision makers as a professional resource in fields relevant to at least two of the following: agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.

2. Ability to manage public policy research and analysis: I have routinely managed public policy research and analysis in specific aspects of at least two of the following: agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.
3. Ability to lead people and manage a workforce: I have led, supervised, and managed a professional research staff.
4. Ability to review the written products of others: I have evaluated and critically reviewed diverse written research products on public policy issues for compliance with established substantive and qualitative standards and made independent judgments on acceptability of material.
5. Ability to apply knowledge of congressional decision making: I have knowledge of the Congress, including its organization, operating procedures, committee structure, and oversight functions relevant to issue areas of agriculture, environmental protection, natural resources, energy, transportation, industry, and science and technology policy.

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online at <http://www.loc.gov/crsinfo>.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: $120,000 - $129,999

eJobs ID: 3051

Davidson College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Davidson College: The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor specializing in Comparative and/or International Politics to begin July 1, 2018. Demonstrated potential for excellence in and enthusiasm for teaching, active and high quality scholarship, and commitment to student advising and support are essential. We are interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests include some aspect of comparative public policy – in health, education, social policy, immigration, private sector regulation, development, or other policy domains. The candidate should be broadly enough trained to be able to contribute to wider course offerings in other comparative and/or international politics subfields, and possess a willingness to expand his or her teaching and research interests in response to emerging political issues. The search is open to expertise in any region of the world, including cross-regional comparison. The ability to teach a comparative course on a specific region of the world would be attractive but is not required. We also welcome applications from candidates with strong multi-methodological skills, and with a pluralistic approach to social science methodology; with trans-disciplinary interests that complement Davidson College's growing inter-disciplinary programs; and with potential to contribute to the department's existing strength in integrating liberal arts education with policy engagement. The successful applicant will be expected to offer five courses per year (four in the first year of employment) including an introductory course in either international or comparative politics; upper-level courses and seminars; and, in rotation with other faculty, our required research methods course. Applications from both Ph.D.-holders and very advanced ABDs will be considered.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; graduate school transcript; a statement addressing the candidate's research agenda and interests; a statement explaining the candidate's demonstrated or potential excellence in and enthusiasm for undergraduate teaching; and a statement outlining how the candidate's teaching, service, and/or research might contribute to Davidson College's institutional commitment to diversity and inclusion. The deadline for receipt of applications is September 20, 2017. All application materials can be submitted at <http://employment.davidson.edu>. Please note that the department will not be holding pre-interviews at the APSA conference in San Francisco.

Davidson is a highly-selective, nationally-ranked, residential, four-year liberal arts college located 20 minutes north of Charlotte in Davidson, N.C. Davidson is strongly committed to achieving excellence and cultural diversity, and welcomes applications from women, members of minority groups, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's mission.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 9/20/2017

Date Posted: 7/26/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3056

Singapore Management University

Rank: Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor of Public Policy

Singapore Management University, School of Social Sciences

The School of Social Sciences (SOSS), Singapore Management University, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Policy at the Full, Associate, or Assistant Professor rank.

We are seeking candidates with a record of, or high potential for, scholarly research commensurate with the rank, as well as demonstrated teaching aptitude. We are particularly interested in applicants with expertise in Urban and Environmental Sustainability issues from a public policy perspective. A research focus on Asia is a plus.

The position requires a doctorate by the date of appointment. While the candidate appointed is expected to be part of the political science group, the School encourages multidisciplinary collaboration and those from relevant disciplines or interdisciplinary areas are welcome to apply. Successful candidates should be prepared to teach a relevant intro-level course in public management, and in the School's Masters of Tri-Sector Collaboration, in addition to other courses in the candidate's area of expertise. (More details about the Public Policy and Public Management second major can be found at: <http://socsc.smu.edu.sg/double-degrees-and-second-majors#pppm>. Details about the Masters of Tri-Sector Collaboration can be found at: <http://smu.edu.sg/mtsc>.) At the senior level, the appointee is expected to assume a mentorship role in research activities and curriculum development for the School.

Singapore Management University is committed to an interdisciplinary and integrated curriculum, providing opportunities to work with faculty across the social sciences and professional schools. The research support is excellent, salary and benefits are highly competitive, and the teaching load is comparable to other research universities. Classes are capped at no more than 45 students.

Full evaluation of applications will start on 1 September 2017. Interviews for short-listed candidates will be conducted in September/October. The successful candidate will be expected to start at Singapore Management University in January/July 2018.

The application package should include (in electronic form): a cover letter describing research and teaching interests, an up-to-date curriculum vitae (including teaching experience and a list of referees), and three selected publications (clarifying why the three publications were selected). The package should be sent to the Dean's Office, School of Social Sciences, Singapore Management University at the following email address: socialsciencescv@smu.edu.sg.

Applicants should also arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the Dean's Office by the above email address. For documents not available in electronic form, hard copies should be sent to: The Dean's Office, School of Social Sciences, Singapore Management University, 90 Stamford Road, Level 4, Singapore 178903.

Information about the University and the School can be found at www.socsc.smu.edu.sg.

Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

Start Date: Spring 2018
Application Deadline: 8/31/2017
Date Posted: 7/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3057

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations/Comparative Politics/Cyber Policy, Strategy and Security

International Relations/Comparative Politics/Cyber Policy, Strategy and Security

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the area of cyber policy, strategy and security within the field of international relations, comparative politics, economics, or public policy. Texas A&M University has invested considerable resources in the cyber realm, including standing up the Texas A&M Cybersecurity Center. The Bush School will be a central contributor to that University-wide effort, with this position playing an important role in that contribution. Candidates with research competency in cyber policy, strategy and security who specialize in areas such as international law and institutions, regulatory law, science and technology, international security, the comparative politics of information, and other relevant topics are invited to apply.

Ideally, the successful candidate would teach a required course in introductory-level research methods for our students, all of whom are seeking a master's degree in international affairs, along with offerings in the cyber area. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Economics or a related discipline by September 2018. The individual selected will have demonstrated a strong commitment to teaching and research in the context of a public policy graduate school environment. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2018.

Applicants should send a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae, a sample of written work and three letters of recommendation to:

Professor Gregory Gause
 c/o Ms. Janeen Wood (preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolintafacultysearch@tamu.edu)
 The Bush School of Government & Public Service
 Texas A&M University
 4220 TAMU
 College Station, TX 77843-4220

The review of applications will begin on September 20, 2017 and continue until the position is filled. Additional information is available at <http://bush.tamu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3048

University of California-Irvine

Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminology, Law and Society.

Subfield(s): Public Law, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Criminal Justice, Constitutional Law & Theory, Social Welfare

The Department of Criminology, Law and Society at the University of California, Irvine invites applications for an Assistant Professor. The research specialization is open. For an appointment at an advanced Assistant Professor rank, evidence of success in securing extramural funding to support research and graduate students is desired.

To ensure your application is given full consideration, files should be completed by September 15, 2017. Priority will be given to applications received by that date; however, applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Candidates must have a doctoral degree in a field related to Criminology or Law and Society. The position will begin July 1, 2018 (teaching duties will begin Fall 2018). Applications must be uploaded electronically through the on-line Recruit system: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF04011>

Candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, representative publications, and arrange to have three letters of recommendation uploaded electronically. A separate statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to diversity, equity and inclusion (e.g. mentoring activities, committee service, research or teaching activities) should also be included in the application materials.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 9/15/2017
Date Posted: 7/26/2017
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 3054

National University of Singapore

Rank: Assistant Professor in Global Studies

Subfield(s): Other, Public Policy, International Relations

The Global Studies Program and Political Science Department at the National University of Singapore is looking to hire a tenure-track assistant professor in Global Studies. The candidate should be able to develop and teach applied, workshop-style classes for upper level undergraduates in cooperation with NGOs, business, or government agencies. The candidate should also be able to teach research design and basic social science methodology classes in a multidisciplinary setting. Scholars from all social science and humanities disciplines are welcome to apply. However, the applicant's research profile should be legible to scholars of politics, broadly defined, given that the future tenure home will be the Department of Political Science.

The Department of Political Science and the National University of Singapore are highly research-oriented. The teaching load is three modules year academic year. Compensation is competitive and includes eligibility for annual performance bonuses and salary increments, subsidized housing, medical benefits, and substantial research support.

Applicants should send a CV, a letter detailing their teaching and research interests, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at polbox11@nus.edu.sg. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 1 October 2017. Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified.

The Department (<http://www.fas.nus.edu.sg/pol/>) has a strong faculty of about twenty-five scholars working in all areas of political science. Faculty and students can take advantage of resources in the Asia Research Institute, the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Yale-NUS Liberal Arts College, and various research institutes including the Asia-Europe Foundation and the Institutes of Asian and South-East Asian Studies as well as other parts of the University. NUS (<http://www.nus.edu.sg/>) is a leader in research and higher education in Asia and is located in a thriving and liveable global city.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Date Posted: 7/25/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 3043

University of Exeter

Rank: Lecturer in Public Policy

Lecturer in Politics: Public Policy (permanent position)

Job reference: P00934
 Date posted: 14/07/2017
 Application closing date: 28/08/2017
 Location: Exeter (Streatham campus), UK

The starting salary will be from £33,943 up to £41,709 on Grade F, depending on qualifications and experience. The position includes generous holiday allowances, flexible working, pension scheme and relocation package (if applicable).

The University of Exeter is a Russell Group university that combines world-class research with very high levels of student satisfaction. Exeter has over 21,000 students from more than 130 different countries and is in the top 1% of universities in the world with 98% of its research rated as being of international quality. Our research focuses on some of the most fundamental issues facing humankind today. We encourage proactive engagement with industry, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.

Politics at Exeter is a large, diverse, and pluralistic department, with over fifty permanent faculty members across two campuses (in Devon and Cornwall). We specialise in a wide array of areas including international relations, political theory, public administration, electoral behaviour, European governance, rural policy, and quantitative and qualitative methods. The last two UK research assessment exercises (REF2014 and RAE2008) have placed us firmly in the top ten departments in the country. In addition to our commitment to world-class research, we prioritise first-rate teaching, and regularly excel in the National Student Survey. Over half of our faculty members are non-UK and we warmly welcome international applicants.

This role will be based on our Streatham Campus in Exeter.

The department wishes to appoint a Lecturer to further enrich one of the most successful public policy research groups in the UK. The successful applicant will hold a PhD (or nearing completion) or equivalent in Politics or a closely related discipline and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in an active field of Public Policy/Public Administration research related, or complementary, to existing Exeter strengths.

The post will involve conducting research of international quality, the delivery of outstanding teaching, and collegiate contribution to a friendly and dynamic department.

About you

For a Lecturer post you will have:

- A PhD or equivalent in Politics and have an independent, internationally-recognised research programme in a relevant active field of research
- A strong record in attracting funding for research, or the potential to attract such funding
- An active approach to inter-disciplinary and multi-disciplinary research
- Enthusiasm for delivering high quality undergraduate programmes
- Strong connections and funded projects with business and community partners
- Involvement in projects which develop impact.

What we can offer you

- The support you need to pursue intellectual interests and to work creatively across disciplines to produce internationally exciting research;
- Support teams that understand the University wide research and teaching goals and partner with our academics accordingly
- Our Exeter Academic initiative supporting high performing academics to achieve their potential and develop their career
- A beautiful campus set in the heart of stunning Devon

The complete job description can be found here: <http://admin.exeter.ac.uk/personnel/jobs/P00934.pdf>

For an informal and confidential discussion about the post please contact Head of Politics, Associate Professor Robert Lamb (tel: 01392-722054, email: r.lamb@ex.ac.uk).

The University of Exeter is an equal opportunity employer. We are officially recognised as a Disability Confident employer and an Athena Swan accredited institution. Whilst all applicants will be judged on merit alone, we particularly welcome applications from groups currently underrepresented in the workforce.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 8/28/2017
Date Posted: 7/24/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 3032

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS, Social Science. NYU Abu Dhabi

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, International Relations
Specializations: Economic Policy, Political Economy, Social Movements

POST-DOCTORAL RESEARCHER POSITIONS
 Social Science
 NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September 2018. Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

Applications are now open and we will consider candidates on a rolling basis. To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, three representative publications and three letters of reference, all in PDF format. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and under-represented minorities to apply. Please visit our website at <http://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/faculty-positions.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu

Note: We will begin considering applicants from political science September 22, 2017 and applications from economics December 1, 2017.

About NYUAD:

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University, a multi-site, organically connected network encompassing key global cities and idea capitals. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complimented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Faculty and students will circulate within this global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Entering its eighth year, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3025

Tulane University

Rank: Greenleaf Scholar-In-Residence, Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Latin American, International Political Economy, Environmental Policy

Tulane University invites applications from mid-career scholars in Latin American Studies conducting interdisciplinary research in the social sciences to spend one or two semester(s) as a Greenleaf Scholar-in-Residence at the Stone Center for Latin American Studies during the 2018-2019 academic year. We seek scholars who address questions of social and gender inclusion, particularly with regard to the reduction of economic, environmental, health or other inequalities. We encourage applications from scholars in the fields of anthropology, development studies, economics, environmental studies, international studies, law, political science, public health, social medicine or sociology. Appointments for fall semester are from August 1 – December 31, 2018. Appointments for spring semester are from January 1– May 31, 2019. Salary is $40,000 per semester plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported.

Qualifications: Minimum Associate Professor status or above and a distinguished record of publication.

Application Instructions: Applications must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting <http://apply.interfolio.com/42704>. Please submit a CV including contact information for two professional references, as well as a cover letter describing how residence at Tulane will aid in advancing your research. Also, please provide a title and brief description of a course (or courses) you would be interested in offering. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2017, but the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/20/2017

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 3028

University of Redlands

Rank: Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics

DESCRIPTION: The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for the Fletcher Jones Foundation Chair in American Politics to begin in the Fall 2018 semester.

POSITION CRITERIA: Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy), with at least five years of professional experience, preferably at a liberal arts institution. We especially welcome applications from candidates from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position.

TO APPLY: Please submit application materials (including letter of interest, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, samples of scholarly work, and three letters of reference, under separate cover) electronically at apply@redlands.edu or mail to: Human Resources, University of Redlands, PO Box 3080, Redlands CA 92373-0999. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2017, and position will remain open until filled.

INQUIRIES: Inquiries can be directed to steve_wuhs@redlands.edu, including requests for interview at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association in San Francisco, CA.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 11/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/18/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3006

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor in Public Policy Analysis

Specializations: Energy Policy, Science & Technology, Environmental Policy

Public Policy Analysis Faculty Position
Department of Public Service and Administration
Bush School of Government and Public Service

The Department of Public Service and Administration, Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track assistant or tenured associate professor in applied microeconomics, political economy, policy analysis, or other relevant empirical social science discipline to teach in its Master of Public Service and Administration Program. Of particular interest are scholars with a strong record of, or high potential for, research and teaching in public policy issues relating to energy, environment, and technology policy and management. Candidates will be expected to build on existing strengths and bolster the capacity of the School to participate in campus-wide multidisciplinary research initiatives and new or existing programs of the Institute for Science, Technology, and Public Policy and the Mosbacher Institute for Trade, Economics, and Public Policy. Successful applicants must have a Ph.D. by the beginning of employment in September 2018 and demonstrate evidence of a commitment both to high quality empirical research and to teaching in a professional school of government and public service. Review of applications will begin on October 1 and continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Public Service and Administration is one of two departments in the Bush School of Government and Public Service and currently enrolls 172 full-time in-residence students, with 22 full-time and 18 tenured or tenure-track faculty members. It offers three tracks of curriculum, including public management, public policy analysis, and nonprofit management. The School is ranked in the top 12 percent of graduate public affairs schools in the nation (U.S. News & World Report) and 1st in the Nation for "Best Value in MPA Programs" (Value College). The curriculum within the department is a blend of both the theoretical and the practical—providing students with the knowledge, skills, and abilities needed for successful careers in public and nonprofit service. Students choose from a number of concentrations to focus their studies including state and local government; health policy; education policy; security policy; energy, environment, and technology; international nongovernmental organizations; analytical methods; and individually designed concentrations offering flexibility to students with specific interests.

Send nominations and applications including a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and the names of three references to:

Prof. Kent Portney
c/o Ms. Kimberly Reeves
(preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolpsaa-facultysearch@tamu.edu)
The Bush School of Government and Public Service
Texas A&M University
4220 TAMU
College Station, TX 77843-4220.

As a major land-grant university, Texas A&M has both an extraordinary opportunity and a special responsibility to create and maintain a campus climate that affirms diversity of thought, background, ethnicity, and perspective. Texas A&M University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer strongly committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The University actively encourages applications from women, minorities and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2999

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Temporary Lecturer

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Southeast Asia, Latin American, Mexico

The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) and The International Studies Program at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body.

Pending budgetary approval, several non tenure-track lectureships are expected to be available for the 2017-18 academic year, and possibly Summer Session 2018.

Appointments may be for one or more quarters/sessions based on department need.

All areas of international affairs, international studies, regional studies, business-government relations, and international economics will be considered.

A Ph.D. in Economics, Political Science, International Management or related fields and outstanding teaching experience are required. Research experience and a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion are highly desirable.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, individuals offered employment with the University of California must be authorized to work in the United States.

The 9-month salary and level of appointment are based on qualifications and UC pay scale.

Applications received by September 15, 2017 will be given full consideration.

Apply via <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF01465>

Submit:

- CV
- Teaching evaluations (2-3 course evaluations)
- Statement of Teaching
- Sample Course Syllabus
- Statement describing past and/or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html> for further information).

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 3001

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Professor/Chair

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Comparative Politics

Due to impending retirements, the Department of Political Science at the University of Nevada, Reno invites applications for Department Chair. Appointment to the position will begin July 1, 2018.

The department is seeking a strong leader who brings relevant academic and administrative experience to the position. The position is open to all research areas in political science. The department chair is expected to provide strong academic and administrative leadership to 19 faculty members and staff, teach two courses a year, and oversee departmental operations that include budgets, scheduling, and engaging in appropriate college level service. The chair will work closely with the Directors of Undergraduate Studies and Graduate Studies to provide teaching support for the department's 500 undergraduate majors and 60 graduate students. While the position can be from any research area within Political Science, the chair should have familiarity with standards and practices in support of specific degrees offered by the Department which include an undergraduate interdisciplinary International Affairs BA, traditional Political Science BA, MA and PhD degrees, and a thriving Masters of Public Administration (MPA). The chair is also expected to build a strong relationship with college administration to further strengthen the department's research and teaching agenda. Finally, the chair should be prepared to continue advancing our commitment to increasing the diversity of our department community, research expertise, and curriculum.

Qualifications for the position include a PhD in political science, public policy, public administration or related field; an established record of research and teaching excellence; and previous administrative experience that would demonstrate the applicant's capacity to carry out the duties of department chair.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience in obtaining and administering external funding awards is preferred. Applicants should have obtained the rank of full professor. Associate professors will be considered if their qualifications are consistent with the rank of full professor in the Department of Political Science at UNR.

About the department: the Department of Political Science is housed in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Nevada, Reno, a Tier One university. The College of Liberal Arts administers more than 20 majors and minors, and is the largest college at the university (<http://www.unr.edu/liberalarts>). The department administers two undergraduate degree programs in political science and international affairs, and two accelerated BA/MA and BA/MPA degrees for 500 undergraduate majors. There are an additional 120 plus minors in Political Science, Renewable Energy, Asian Studies, and Latin American Studies (all administered by the Department).

The department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA, and PhD degrees. Additional information about the department can be found on its website: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science>. In recent years, the department has experienced substantial growth in the number of faculty, research productivity, and external funding awards. The department expects to play a significant role in the university's long-term expansion plans and its movement toward R1 research status.

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes that diversity promotes excellence in education and research. We are an inclusive and engaged community and recognize the added value that students, faculty, and staff from different backgrounds bring to the educational experience. Visit our website at <https://www.unrsearch.com/postings/25111> for further information and to apply.

Candidates should submit a CV, and a cover letter outlining their interest in and experience relating to the position. In the cover letter please highlight your leadership experience and/or potential, and indicate how you would contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching, and/or service. Letters of reference will only be requested upon initial screening of the applicants.

Position is open until filled, but application review will begin October 6, 2017. Questions about the position can be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Eric Herzik (herzik@unr.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/17/2017

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 3003

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration or Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in the subfields of public administration or public policy, beginning July 1, 2018. A qualified candidate, with PhD in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, would have research and teaching focus in public administration and/or public policy, as well as capacity to teach quantitative research methods. Desirable secondary competencies could include public opinion, state and local government, and urban politics. The candidate may also be asked to teach Introduction to American Politics. The candidate must have deep substantive interests in politics and government, a love of the liberal arts, and demonstrated quantitative skills. He or she must maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy.

Letters of recommendation are required from three or more references and should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening_detail.php?PostingID=16022

The review of applications will begin August 15, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Given our commitment to cultivating a challenging and inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Start Date: Summer 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/14/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2988

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Graduate School of Public and International Affairs (GSPIA) at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications and nominations for two (2) tenure-stream faculty positions at the assistant professor level in public policy or public administration. Both appointments begin Fall term 2018 (authorizations pending). A PhD in public policy, public administration, public management, or social science field (political science, sociology, economics, or related field) is expected at the time of the appointment. Successful candidates will have research and teaching interests related to public administration, public policy and/or public management, broadly defined. The area of specialization is open, but candidates are expected to teach in the school and program core, as well as substantive policy or management area of research. Evidence of a promising research agenda leading to high quality publications in any of the wide variety of topics related to public administration and public policy is essential. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2017, and continue until the positions are filled. Candidates who would enhance the diversity of the school, including women and minorities, are especially encouraged to apply. Qualified applicants can submit their materials online through email attachments (see email address below). Submitted materials should include a letter of application describing the applicant's research and teaching interests, a curriculum vitae, two samples of scholarly writing, three letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations (if available):

Search Committee Chair

c/o Mary Ann Gebet, Executive Assistant to the Dean
Graduate School of Public and International Affairs
University of Pittsburgh

MPAGSPIA@pitt.edu

Applications must be submitted by November 1, 2017 to receive full consideration.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 11/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/13/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2985

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University (www.polsci.okstate.edu) invites applications for a position at the assistant professor rank to begin in August 2018. Area of specialization is Public Policy. Sub-specialization is open, however, the person filling this position would teach courses and advise graduate students within political science and the Fire and Emergency Management Administration programs. Overlap between these programs might include areas such as: environmental and climate change policy, natural resources, policy analysis, emergency management policy or disaster policy. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or related field is expected at the time of the appointment. The successful candidate will demonstrate the potential for both productive scholarship and effective teaching in the area of Public Policy.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state's two comprehensive research universities with a Stillwater campus population of 23,000 students. The Department of Political Science has 20 full-time faculty members and offers an undergraduate major in political science, various undergraduate minors (including campaigns and lobbying, law and legal studies, intelligence and security analysis, and emergency management), an M.A. in Political Science, an M.S. in Fire and Emergency Management Administration, and a Ph.D. in Fire and Emergency Management Administration. OSU provides significant support for scholarly productivity. The teaching load is normally two courses per semester. A successful faculty candidate will be committed to creating a culturally inclusive space for their students to develop critical thinking skills that are vital in living in our diverse society and mentoring our rising undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. Currently, 35 percent of our undergraduate majors and 33 percent of our graduate students are either minority or international scholars. The department encourages applications from women and minorities. Among our faculty currently, 20 percent are minority or international scholars and 40 percent are female.

Interested applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, evidence of successful teaching and scholarship, and statements of teaching and research interests. The application package, compiled as a single pdf file, should be uploaded to the application portal at <https://okstate.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?id=3593>. Letters of recommendation and graduate transcripts can also be sent to cindy.hutchinson@okstate.edu or cindy.hutchinson@okstate.edu. Please direct any academic inquiries to the search chair, Rebekah Herrick. Review of applications will commence on September 01, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. However, only complete applications will be assured of full consideration.

Oklahoma State University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/E-verify employer committed to diversity and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment and will not be discriminated against based on age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or other protected category. OSU is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and desires priority referrals of protected veterans for its openings. OSU will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against employees or applicants because they have inquired about, discussed, or disclosed their own pay or the pay of another employee or applicant. However, employees who have access to the compensation information of other employees or applicants as a part of their essential job functions cannot disclose the pay of other employees or applicants to individuals who do not otherwise have access to compensation information, unless the disclosure is (a) in response to a formal complaint or charge, (b) in furtherance of an investigation, proceeding, hearing, or action, including an investigation conducted by the employer, or (c) consistent with the contractor's legal duty to furnish information. 41 CFR 60-1.35(c)

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/11/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2959

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Assistant Professor or Instructor, Public Policy

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor or Instructor, depending on qualifications, to begin Fall 2018. Responsibilities include teaching intermediate and advanced courses in domestic public policy and the introductory course in American government. The specific area of specialization within public policy is open.

Teaching experience is preferred. The teaching load is 3/2 and includes participation in the College's general education program, Connections.

Faculty maintain active research programs and contribute to the College's shared governance. Candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, teaching and research statements, teaching evaluation forms and samples of scholarly writing to Professor Matthew Schousen at Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/43079>. Deadline for application is October 1, 2017.

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

The person selected for this tenure-track position may also be considered for a supplemental appointment as a Franklin & Marshall (Mellon) High Impact Emerging Scholar (M/HIES). These are scholars who possess outstanding promise for inspiring and supporting the educational development of underrepresented minority students in a higher educational setting such as F&M. High Impact Emerging Scholars demonstrate similarly high promise for positively impacting the campus' organizational and academic culture to make it more inclusive of and responsive to underrepresented minority students. Selected finalists that meet these additional qualifications, in addition to those outlined by this ad, may be nominated by the department as F&M (Mellon) High Impact Emerging Scholar. If selected as a M/HIES, the person will receive a two-year appointment (additional to the tenure-track appointment) that begins as soon as the person joins the campus on the tenure-track. The M/HIES program supports the acceleration of one's research trajectory with a significantly reduced teaching load for two years along with supportive mentoring to advance the scholar's research and professional development. Candidates interested in being considered for nomination should indicate their interest in their cover letter and highlight any previous work in this area.

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 7/10/2017

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 2951

University of Cincinnati

Rank: Associate Professor and Director of the Master of Public Administration Program

The Department of Political Science at the University of Cincinnati invites applications from candidates to serve as Director of a re-established Master of Public Administration program and as a faculty member at the rank of Associate Professor with tenure in Political Science. This appointment is scheduled to begin August 15, 2018. Area of research specialization is open. Candidates whose work would contribute to university commitments to research on social justice, urban politics, and/or social inequity are encouraged to apply. While the appointment will be in Political Science, interested candidates would have the opportunity to establish affiliations in related departments. Candidates for this position must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration or Public Policy or other relevant field, and have a demonstrated record of successful teaching, research, and service.

Preferred candidates will have had direct involvement in a NASPAA-accredited MPA program, and be familiar with the accreditation process. The successful candidate will be expected to manage the restoration of the MPA program and strategically lead the program through accreditation. Responsibilities include conducting research, teaching core courses in the MPA program, and providing administrative oversight of the program.

Interested and qualified candidates must complete our online application located at <https://jobs.uc.edu> (Requisition #19789). In addition to the online application, candidates must include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample of published or forthcoming research, evidence of successful teaching, contact information for three references, and a one-page statement addressing how your past or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance the University of Cincinnati's commitment to inclusive excellence, <http://www.uc.edu/inclusion.html>. Please direct any questions to Professor David Niven, Chair, Master of Public Administration Director Search Committee, at david.niven@uc.edu. We will begin reviewing applications September 10, 2017. However, we will continue to accept and review applications until the position is filled.

*APSA on-site interviews will be conducted between the hours of 12 Noon to 6 pm on Friday, September 1st and Saturday, September 2nd.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/10/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2953Koç University*Rank: ERC Funded Post-doctoral Position on Quantitative Comparative Social PolicySubfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, MethodologySpecializations: Quantitative Methods, Social Welfare, Developing Nations

The Department of Sociology, Koç University, Istanbul, invites applicants for a position as a post-doctoral researcher. The successful candidate will work in a European Research Council (ERC)-funded project on the politics of welfare in emerging market economies.

ERC is the most prestigious, competitive and generous research fund in Europe, which grants 1.5 million Euros to frontier research that would make groundbreaking contributions. This project is the first sociology ERC project in Turkey. The successful candidate will work together with Dr. Erdem Yörük on this ERC-funded project that investigates the political causes of welfare state development in emerging market economies (please see emw.ku.edu.tr and the brief summary of the project below). The position will not have any teaching responsibilities. Candidates (i) who have a PhD in social sciences (e.g. sociology, economics, political science, social policy, public policy etc.), (ii) who have extensive knowledge and experience in quantitative research methods, (iii) who are interested in welfare state studies, political economy, comparative-historical sociology, and emerging markets are encouraged to apply.

The successful candidate is expected to:

¥ Have extensive knowledge and experience in advanced quantitative analysis, be well-versed with data cleaning and managing operations, imputation techniques and content analysis methods.

¥ Have working knowledge of Stata and/or R software packages

¥ Be comfortable in leading the project's scientific progress as well as providing a critical perspective to the project.

¥ Ensure that the work packages of the project are harmonized into overall project objectives as well as effectiveness and efficiency of the research team.

¥ Be comfortable in working in an international environment and have no restrictions in travelling internationally.

¥ Have completed the PhD degree by 1 September 2017

The starting date for the position is September 2017. Initial duration of the position is a full year and renewal up to four years is possible, contingent on research productivity and continued substantive fit of the candidate. This is a full-time position with a competitive salary as well as additional benefits such as private health insurance and housing benefits. Funding for conferences is available depending on relevance of the conference to the project.

Please send your application electronically as a one-pdf file comprising your motivation letter, CV including a publication list, a brief one-page letter comprising of a critique/evaluation/assessment/idea about the ERC project which would help assess the potential contribution of the applicant (see emw.ku.edu.tr), a writing sample which preferably includes quantitative empirical analysis, and the names of two references to the Principal Investigator Dr. Erdem Yörük (eryoruk@ku.edu.tr). Deadline for application is 15 August 2017.

The New Politics of Welfare: Towards an "Emerging Markets" Welfare State Regime (ERC Starting Grant)

This research project aims to identify a new welfare regime in emerging market economies and explain why it has emerged. The project will compare Brazil, China, India, Indonesia, Mexico, South Africa and Turkey to test two hypotheses: (i) emerging market economies are forming a new welfare regime that differs from liberal, corporatist and social democratic welfare regimes of the global north on the basis of extensive and decommunitarian social assistance programmes, (ii) the new welfare regime emerges principally as a response to the growing political power of the poor as a dual source of threat and support for governments. Based on a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective, the project follows a multi-method strategy that combines protest event data collection techniques, macro-historical methods, quantitative data analyses and qualitative content analysis.

Koç University (<http://www.ku.edu.tr>) is an endowed, non-profit institution of higher education, located in Istanbul, Turkey. Koç University is highly reputable and has attracted accomplished, high-caliber researchers from all over the world. Times Higher Education has ranked Koç University 250-300th among the best universities in the world in 2016 and the top university in Turkey. The vast majority (97%) of 400 faculty members received their Ph.D. degrees from the most highly selective and reputable universities in the world, mostly from the United States. Most students in PhD and master programs are granted full scholarship, including monthly salaries, health insurance and housing.

Start Date: Fall 2017Date Posted: 7/1/2017Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 2935University of San Diego*Rank: Assistant Professor, American PoliticsSpecializations: American Politics, State Politics, Urban Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics with expertise on State and Local politics. Applicants should have completed a PhD in Political Science before September 2018.

The successful candidate will be expected to offer a variety of lower and upper division courses that meet the needs of the Department of Political Science and International Relations. The department has strengths in American national institutions, campaign and party politics, race and politics, environmental politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and research methods. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach introductory and upper division courses in state and local politics, qualitative or quantitative research methods, and other courses in American politics that fit with his or her substantive interests. There will be opportunities for the successful candidate to lead the department's internship program in collaboration with other campus units, community organizations, and The Washington Center.

Candidates must be fully committed to liberal arts education and to excellence in teaching and student advising. Candidates must also demonstrate a significant scholarly agenda, and will be expected to engage actively in service at the departmental, college, and/or university levels after the first year. The normal teaching load is three courses every semester.

Competitive salary and benefits, including a travel allowance and other funding opportunities.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, official graduate transcripts, a description of the research agenda, three letters of recommendation that speak to teaching and scholarly abilities, and a writing sample. Additionally, candidates must provide evidence of excellence in teaching, including a statement of teaching philosophy and a summary of teaching evaluations. The cover letter should make sure to describe the courses the candidate would prefer to teach.

Candidates are encouraged to submit their resumes and statements of interest at their earliest convenience. To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete by October 1. Please contact Search Committee Chair, Dr. Casey Dominguez with questions or to request an informal interview at the 2017 APSA conference in San Francisco, CA.

Dr. Casey Dominguez
caseydominguez@sandiego.edu
619.260.6870

To apply, go to www.sandiego.edu/jobs and search for IRC24238.

Letters of recommendation should be emailed to Tiffany Clark: tiffanyclark@sandiego.edu

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/1/2017
Date Posted: 7/1/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2933

Towson University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Urban Politics, Social Welfare, Economic Policy

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR TENURE TRACK SEARCH
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE – TOWSON UNIVERSITY
ACADEMIC YEAR 2018-2019

Areas of Specialization: Urban Studies, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Towson University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level. The position entails teaching general survey courses in metropolitan studies and urban government and politics. Additionally, the applicant should be able to develop and teach courses in urban policy and/or local government. Particular area(s) of specialization may include poverty, racial segregation, transportation, housing, infrastructure, homelessness, crime, education, collaborative governance, and/or economic development.

Applicants with Ph.D. in hand at the time of application will receive preference, although ABDs may be considered if degree will be completed by the spring of 2018. Applicants must possess a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and a show a solid potential for a productive scholarly program. Interest in pursuing external funding is desirable. The teaching load is six courses during the first year, but will rise to seven courses thereafter. Applicants should send: letter of intent; curriculum vitae; one sample of written work; evidence of teaching effectiveness; official transcripts of all graduate and undergraduate work; and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Donn

Worgs, Department of Political Science, Towson University, 8000 York Road, Towson, MD 21252

Application review will begin immediately. The position will remain open until October 15, 2017.

Towson University is the second largest institution in the University System of Maryland. It is located just outside Baltimore and is only an hour from Washington, D.C. by car or train. Towson is an equal opportunity employer and has a strong institutional commitment to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2018
Application Deadline: 10/16/2017
Date Posted: 6/26/2017
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 2920

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Tenure-Track in National and/or International Security

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at The University of Texas at Austin announces a tenure-track opening in NATIONAL AND/OR INTERNATIONAL SECURITY at the rank of assistant professor (or tenured associate professor in exceptional cases) for its graduate program in Global Policy Studies.

The LBJ School comprises more than 40 faculty members and approximately 300 graduate students, and offers inter-disciplinary curricula leading to the degrees of Master of Public Affairs, Master of Global Policy Studies, and Ph.D. in Public Policy. Normal teaching load is two courses per semester with some relief for new faculty. The school strongly promotes diversity.

QUALIFICATIONS

The ideal candidate should have a policy-focused research agenda and the ability to teach courses on policymaking and methods (quantitative and qualitative). Applicants must have a doctoral degree in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, Political Geography, or related policy-relevant field.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applicants should submit letter of interest, C.V., sample of written (ideally published) research, three letters of reference, and evidence of excellence in teaching if available to: apply.interfolio.com/42804. Applications received by September 15, 2017 will receive full consideration.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 6/26/2017
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 2921

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

Job Summary: The Institute of Political Science (IPS) in The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant and associate (non-tenured) professors. The employment starts as early as Spring 2018. The two openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political philosophy (order is by preference). Applicants with research expertise or interest related to public and social policies are preferred but not required. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

These openings are full-time appointments for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years. The successful candidates are expected to publish research on major journals of international reputation, offer high quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at IPS. Although the working environment is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 370000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (housing subsidy, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 15 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas.

The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five Year Plan. SUFE is the only institution in the Mainland China that adopts tenure-track system and offers globally competitive salaries for entry-level faculty in the discipline of political science. The newly established Institute of Political Science has 8 members. Six of them hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas and work on tenure track.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list and teaching evaluations (if any);
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

Procedures: The deadline for accepting application is August 15th 2017. We plan to interview a shortlist of applicants at 2017 American Political Science Association conference. In your cover letter, please state whether you will attend the meeting and be available for an interview. We also can arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Start Date: Spring 2018

Application Deadline: 8/15/2017

Date Posted: 6/13/2017

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 2879

RAND Corporation

Rank: PhD Researcher in International/Security Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Non-Academic, Other

The RAND Corporation is a research organization that develops solutions to public policy challenges to help make communities throughout the world safer and more secure, healthier and more prosperous. RAND's research and analysis address issues that impact people everywhere, including security, health, education, sustainability, growth, and development. Headquartered in Santa Monica, California, RAND has close to 1,800 people from approximately 50 countries working in offices in North America, Europe, and Australia, with annual revenues of more than $308 million.

RAND is nonprofit, nonpartisan, and committed to the public interest. Our research is sponsored by government agencies, charitable trusts, and community nonprofits. In addition, we rely on philanthropic support to pursue visionary ideas; address critical problems that are under-researched; shape emerging policy debates; and devise innovative approaches for solving acute, complex, or provocative policy challenges. RAND values objectivity and integrity in both its research processes and internal interactions. We emphasize a collegial environment that respects the contributions and dignity of all staff.

Position Description

RAND advises a variety of defense clients on policy-level decisions relating to defense programs, military systems, future force structure and doctrine, and national military strategy. Working with multi-disciplinary teams, national security researchers apply quantitative and qualitative skills to analyze policy problems of national and international importance, and communicate the results of these analyses to decision-makers.

Qualifications

National security researchers should have demonstrable ability to research and analyze intelligence or defense policy issues. All research positions at RAND require excellent analytic skills; the ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing; the ability to work effectively as a member of a multi-disciplinary team; and a strong commitment to RAND's core values of quality and objectivity.

In connection with national security or defense projects, many positions require that applicants be eligible to receive, or currently hold, a security clearance from the United States government.

Education Requirements

PhD in international relations, area studies, political science, public policy, public administration, or a closely related discipline.

Experience

Applicants may be considered for associate, full, or senior researcher positions commensurate with their experience.

Security Clearance

Some research may require a security clearance. In order to obtain a security clearance, one of the requirements includes U.S. citizenship.

Location

Santa Monica, CA or Pittsburgh, PA office locations preferred

Writing Sample Required

Two writing samples are required for this position. Pieces that show rigorous use of evidence and logic which are either solo or lead authored are preferred.

RAND is an Equal Opportunity Employer Minorities/Females/Vets/Disabled

Apply online at <http://www.rand.org/jobs/id4651>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2863

Fulbright University Viet Nam

Rank: Open Rank Faculty Positions in Economics, Public Policy and Public Administration

Multiple faculty positions, open rank - Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management, Vietnam

1. The Positions

Fulbright University Vietnam (FUV) seeks applications and nominations for three faculty positions in the Fulbright School of Public Policy and Management (FSPPM). The positions are open with respect to rank and field. Preference will be given to applicants in the following three broad categories: 1) public management, administration and leadership (including negotiation and conflict resolution); 2) macroeconomics; and 3) international trade policy.

II. The Institution

Located in Ho Chi Minh City, FUV is a private, not-for-profit university announced by President Barack Obama on May 24, 2016 and given substantial financial support from the US State Department, USAID, and a variety of private donors. We are dedicated to a lofty mission: reimagining the way universities work. We aim to create an institution that can transform the lives our students, address the pressing needs of Vietnamese society, and ultimately point the way toward a new approach to high quality education in developing countries. We are guided in this journey by our strong belief in the power of collaboration, interdisciplinary thinking, and risk-taking, and are seeking like-minded individuals who are excited to join the founding team that will imagine and build a 21st century liberal arts and professional graduate education in Vietnam.

Within this dynamic, start-up setting, the FSPPM builds upon a two-decade long initiative of Harvard University to incubate a center of public policy research and teaching in Ho Chi Minh City, the Fulbright Economics Teaching Program (FETP). Like FUV today, FETP itself was a pioneering institution in both teaching and research. FETP launched Vietnam's first masters in public policy program (MPP) in 2008. Its policy-oriented research contributed meaningfully to the national policy discourse. In the fall of 2016, Harvard transferred the people and programs of FETP to FUV. These unique intellectual assets are now the nucleus of the FSPPM, FUV's first academic unit. By virtue of this heritage, FSPPM is at once both an established academic enterprise with a distinguished track record and a small but accomplished faculty as well as a start-up. Among FSPPM's activities are a fulltime Masters in Public Policy (MPP) program; the Vietnam Executive Leadership Program (VELP), a policy dialog initiative for senior Vietnamese government officials; and the Lower Mekong Public Policy Initiative (LMPPPI), a research program focused on transnational policy challenges at the intersection of environmental and development policy.

FUV's Board of Trustees has adopted an ambitious mandate for FSPPM to become an internationally recognized graduate professional school that prepares students for positions of leadership in all sectors of society and contribute to the resolution of the grand challenges facing Vietnam, the region, and the world through policy engagement, analysis, and research.

III. Qualifications and How to Apply

Candidates will ideally take up the position, which is based in Ho Chi Minh City, by the Fall of 2017, though the starting date is subject to negotiation. Remuneration and benefits will be internationally competitive. A PhD (or equivalent terminal degree) in a policy-relevant field is required, though candidates in their final stage of PhD candidacy will also be considered. Relevant teaching and research experience, and a track record of interest in policy issues, are desired. Experience or interest in Vietnam and Southeast Asia will also be appreciated. Vietnamese language skills are valuable, but not required. Applicants are invited to send a letter of interest, a CV and the names of three professional references to jobs.fsppm@fuv.edu.vn. Inquiries are welcome. The positions will remain open until filled; please apply by June 15, 2017 for fullest consideration.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2842

University of Iowa

Rank: C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation Chair in Korean Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, International Relations

Specializations: East Asia, Electoral Systems, Public Opinion

The University of Iowa College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and UI International Programs invite applications for the position of C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Korea Foundation Chair in Korean Studies, at the full professor or senior associate professor levels, to commence in the Fall of 2018.

Applicants must be specialists in a humanities or social science discipline, must have primary research and teaching expertise in Korean Studies, and may also have interdisciplinary and/or supranational research interests.

Appointment will be to an appropriate disciplinary department. The successful applicant will also hold a 0% appointment in International Programs, and is expected to be an active participant in the activities of the Center for Asian and Pacific Studies. Review processes, teaching assignments, and primary responsibility for mentorship will reside within the department of appointment. This is an endowed position with a reduced teaching load and annual research funds.

Applicants must demonstrate a record of excellence in scholarship and teaching commensurate with a position at the senior associate professor or full professor levels, and be able to teach courses that meet the needs of the department of appointment as well as complement existing strengths within the department and college. Applicants must also demonstrate a level of language fluency in both English and Korean appropriate for research and teaching.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2017.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.uiowa.edu/content/faculty/> and reference Requisition #70718.

Application materials should include:

Letter of Interest

Curriculum Vitae

A Representative Writing Sample

Name and Contact Information of Three References

(Letters of recommendation will be requested only for short-listed candidates).

Start Date: Fall 2018

Application Deadline: 10/1/2017

Date Posted: 5/15/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2846

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Coastal Environmental Policy/Coastal Political Geography

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Applicants for a position in Coastal Environmental Policy or Coastal Political Geography, open rank, must have a Ph.D. from an accredited institution in political science, geography, or a related discipline, such as environmental policy/political geography or environmental anthropology/sociology. Preference will be given to applicants who have expertise in public policy related to coastal environments and/or experience in interdisciplinary, environmental social sciences focusing on public policy and coastal ecology. The anticipated starting date is flexible and can be as early as August 2017.

The successful applicant will be expected to bring expertise in environmental policy and politics to an interdisciplinary team in order to advance understanding of the social-ecological systems in coastal areas. They must demonstrate a strong commitment to interdisciplinary research and publication; a commitment to interdisciplinary and collaborative research, have demonstrated an ability to perform high-impact research, and be able to develop a program that will lead to strong extramurally-funded research. The successful candidate will also have, or be able to establish, a strong teaching record with the ability to teach and mentor students at both graduate and undergraduate levels.

We are bringing together a core group of faculty who work across traditional research boundaries, or are working in transdisciplinary fields, in the broad interdisciplinary area of Sustainable Coastal Systems (<http://ucf.edu/research/coastalsystems>). This new hire will join current cluster faculty, representing twelve departments and seven colleges, to lead a world-class effort to understand and assess natural and human-related impacts to coastal ecosystem health, restoration, sustainability, and mitigation; and ultimately to characterize and integrate physical, chemical, biological, and socio-economic processes impacting coastal communities and ecosystems. This individual will be expected to strengthen both their tenure home department as well as the Sustainable Coastal Systems cluster.

Candidates must apply online at <http://www.jobswithucf.com/postings/46716> (Position #38660) and attach the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement, and contact information for three professional references. In the cover letter candidates should address their background in their discipline and should identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home. In the research statement candidates should include descriptions of any history of interdisciplinary research collaborations and how their current and future research can contribute to the cluster's overall interdisciplinary objectives.

The search committee will review applications on an ongoing basis until the position is filled.

The University of Central Florida, with more than 63,000 students, has grown in quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years and is committed to being inclusive and diverse by building a faculty who are a reflection of the students they teach. For more information about this position please contact the Sustainable Coastal Systems Cluster search committee Chair, Dr. Graham Worthy at CoastalCluster@ucf.edu

Start Date: Spring 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/30/2017

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2747

Norwich University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Public Administration

Assistant Professor, Political Science (American Politics and Public Policy)

The Department of History and Political Science at Norwich University invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall 2017 semester. The successful candidate will teach and do research in the fields of American politics and public policy and will teach undergraduate courses in Intro to Public Policy, the survey course in American Politics, the U.S. Presidency, Legislative Process, State and Local Politics, Research Methods (with emphasis on quantitative methods), American Citizenship, and a Capstone Senior Seminar in the candidate's field of expertise. The successful candidate will also manage the Political Science Internship Program and facilitate the growth of public policy studies across the university. While a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential, Norwich University is committed to junior faculty developing scholarship through a supportive faculty development program.

Qualifications: To be eligible for appointment at the assistant professor rank, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a Ph.D. in a public policy-related field. Highly qualified ABDs may be considered for appointment at the instructor level. Review of applications will begin September 16, 2016 and remain open until the position is filled.

Please submit a letter of interest, which includes your preferred substantive American politics and public policy focus, curriculum vitae, three current letters of recommendation, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, statement of teaching philosophy): <https://norwich.interviewexchange.com>

Norwich University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to providing a positive education and work environment that recognizes and respects the dignity of all students, faculty and staff. Reasonable accommodations will be made for the known disability of an otherwise qualified applicant. Please contact the Office of Human Resources at nuhr@norwich.edu for assistance.

All candidates must be authorized to work for any U.S. employer. A post offer, pre-employment background check will be required of the successful candidate.

Norwich University offers a comprehensive benefit package that includes medical, dental, vision, group life and long term disability insurance, flexible-spending accounts for health and dependent care, 403(b) retirement plan with employer match, employee assistance program, paid time off including parental leave, and tuition scholarships for eligible employees and their family members.

Norwich University is a diversified academic institution that educates residential students - both military and civilian lifestyles - and working adults across the globe. Norwich offers a broad selection of traditional and distance-learning programs culminating in baccalaureate and master's degrees, and graduate certificates. Founded in 1819 by U.S. Army Capt. Alden Partridge, Norwich is the oldest private military college in the country and the birthplace of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC).

Norwich University takes positive action to insure that all applicants for employment are considered, and employees are treated in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing non-discrimination on the basis of gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, color, religion, disability, sexual orientation, age, genetic information or veteran's status. As an institution of higher education, Norwich is dedicated to learning, emphasizing teamwork, leadership, creativity, and critical thinking and encourages applications from qualified individuals who will help us achieve this guiding value.

Start Date: Fall 2017

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2016

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 2124