

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

July 2019 | Volume 8, Issue 7

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 4

Comparative Politics 17

International Relations 27

Methodology 42

Non-Academic 47

Open 47

Other 48

Political Theory 57

Public Administration 65

Public Law 70

Public Policy 73

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

July 2019 | Volume 8, Issue 7

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (35 listings)

American Government and Politics 4 (25 listings)

Comparative Politics 17 (35 listings)

International Relations 27 (10 listings)

Methodology 42 (1 listings)

Non-Academic 47 (1 listings)

Open 47 (22 listings)

Other 48 (18 listings)

Political Theory 57 (10 listings)

Public Administration 65 (8 listings)

Public Law 70 (15 listings)

Public Policy 73 (listings)

Total listings this issue 180

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for July

ADMINISTRATION

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Education Policy, Political Economy

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JSLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track social scientist position at the rank of Assistant Professor for the 2020-21 academic year. Although ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. in public administration, public policy, educational policy, political economy, political science, sociology, or a related field, by August 19, 2020.

JSLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars in anthropology, economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, social psychology and religion. We seek applicants who study, or have the potential and desire to study, leadership by drawing on their disciplinary expertise to inform their work. We are particularly interested in candidates whose demonstrated scholarly interests focus on the empirical analysis of data related to justice and explaining social and economic inequality.

Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in an interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will be expected to teach elective courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences, Quantitative Social Science, and Theories and Models of Leadership. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests connect, or have the potential to connect, to leadership, broadly construed. (See <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information.)

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and 92% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, and future professional development goals as well as involvement in and commitment to inclusive pedagogy. The JSLS supports the University's commitment to promoting an inclusive campus community. For full consideration, applicants must specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the imperatives of diversity and inclusion. In addition, please include the names and emails of three references who will receive an email asking them to submit their reference letters to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu. Review of applications will commence August 15, 2019. Phone or Skype interviews will be conducted in September. Committee members will be in attendance at the APSA Conference; attendance is not required for consideration. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus in October.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5688

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Methodology and American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track assistant professor in Methodology and American Politics, starting August 2020. The candidates' research interests can be from any area of American Politics. Duties include teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets.

Minimum Qualifications:

Candidates should have PhD or an earned doctorate by Fall 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The successful candidate will possess strong quantitative skills, clear substantive interest in American politics, and an eagerness to teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship is preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form) to the UGA job site at <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/98323>.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications received September 27th, 2019 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Contact:
Wendi Finch

Email:
wendif@uga.edu

Phone:
706-542-2057

Fax:
706-542-4421

Address:
180 Baldwin Hall
Athens GA, 30602-1615

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5721

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, with a particular focus on the African-American political experience, beginning July 1, 2020. Amherst College is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff. Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed with respect to its student body. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 10 percent of our students are international students. We expect the successful candidate to excel at teaching and mentoring students who are diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates' scholarship should examine racial politics in the U.S. and can focus on social movements, civil society, elections, civil rights, voter suppression, religion, the racial policies and constituencies of political parties, the relationship between racial and ethnic identity, and racial stratification in urban and local politics.

We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialties and in directing undergraduate research projects. The successful candidate must have a Ph. D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/64697> a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter.) Review of applications will begin on Monday, October 7, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5710

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor-Tenure System

The Department of Political Science seeks candidates for a 9-month academic year, tenure system position in American Politics, with a Minority Politics emphasis. We are looking to hire an advanced Assistant or Associate Professor. Position begins August 16, 2020. Special consideration will be given to those with research and teaching interests in race, ethnicity, gender, inequality or minority politics in the U.S. context. The hire is part of a new initiative in Minority Politics in the College of Social Science.

A successful candidate will have evidence of publishing high quality research, a documented commitment to teaching, and a record of efforts to secure external research funding. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or have completed the Ph.D. by the date of hire.

The closing date for applications is September 13, 2019.

Interested candidates must apply for this position via the Michigan State University Applicant Tracking Systems at: <https://careers.msu.edu>. Posting number 586286. Please submit your curriculum vitae, cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, two samples of written work, diversity and inclusion statement (which should discuss the applicant's ability and experience working with underrepresented student populations).

Assistant Professor applicants should arrange for at least three reference letters to be submitted. Associate Professor applicants should supply the names of at least five references that we may contact.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer, committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce and inclusive culture that encourages all people to reach their full potential. The University actively encourages applicants and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Please contact Eric Juenke (juenke@msu.edu), chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5707

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor - Subfield Open

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in any subfield. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2020. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send a cover letter, research statement (not to exceed 3 pages), CV, unofficial transcript, teaching evaluations and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 1, 2019, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AJO job listing #<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13944>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 6/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5709

Pomona College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Pomona College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in the politics of the United States, with a focus on questions of race and ethnicity. Our department has a broad understanding of the field of political science and encourages applications from a variety of approaches, methodologies and perspectives.

Pomona is a top-ten liberal arts college with a diverse and outstanding student body of approximately 1,550 students. The College maintains a student-to-faculty ratio of eight to one and is strongly committed to small-scale residential education. Accordingly, the department values excellent teaching. Faculty at Pomona teach two courses a semester, including introductory courses (in this case, at least one section of "Introduction to American Politics" annually). College faculty are expected to maintain an active scholarship and service profile. The College offers many forms of support for scholarship, including a full-year, pre-tenure research leave.

Pomona has a need-blind, no-loan admission policy and values equal access to higher education. The successful candidate will have experience working with students from diverse backgrounds and a demonstrated commitment to improving access to and success in higher education for underrepresented students.

Founded in 1887, Pomona College is the founding member of the Claremont Colleges, a unique constellation of five small undergraduate colleges and two graduate institutions located in southern California near the foothills of the San Gabriel mountains, about 35 miles east of Los Angeles. Students of the Claremont Colleges can cross-register for courses at any of the colleges, and faculty and staff across the colleges often collaborate.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted by October 1, 2019. To apply, please submit to Academic Jobs Online: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) graduate school transcripts; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness; 6) three sample syllabi; 7) a research statement; 8) written samples of your research; 9) a statement addressing your demonstrated ability to mentor a diverse student body, and 10) three letters of recommendation. Alternatively, hard copies of the same materials may be sent to: Susan McWilliams Barndt, Chair, Pomona College Politics Department, 425 North College Avenue, Claremont, CA. 91711. For more information, contact susan.mcwilliams@pomona.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 6/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5699

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Other

As part of its Annenberg Center for the Advanced Study of Communication, the Annenberg Public Policy Center (APPC) of the University of Pennsylvania's postdoctoral fellowship program is accepting applications for a 1.5-year appointment from January 15, 2020 through June 30, 2021. Fellows in the program will work closely with APPC researchers and distinguished research fellows on a 2020 election/Institutions of Democracy (IOD) study examining the effects of communication on susceptible voters.

More information about APPC and its Political Communication research can be found at: <https://www.annenbergpublicpolicycenter.org/political-communication/>.

Applicants should submit a letter of nomination from a dissertation adviser as well as a curriculum vitae, a letter describing the applicant's scholarly interests, and contact info for the dissertation advisor and at least one additional reference. Fellows will receive a stipend of $65,000 per year (or $5,417 per month) and serve in a 17.5-month appointment, beginning January 15, 2020. Health insurance will be covered by APPC. A taxable allowance of up to $1,500 will be provided to offset pre-approved, receipt-documented relocation expenses, and APPC will reimburse up to $2,000 in travel to high-level conferences to present APPC research.

We are seeking fellows with strong statistical and methodological skills. Experience working with panel studies and GIS mapping is desirable. A Ph.D. degree completed within the last five years is required.

Please send the letter of interest, CV, and names of two references to Lena Buford at lena.buford@appc.upenn.edu. The letter of nomination should be sent to the same email address by the dissertation adviser.

Deadline for submission is August 15, 2019. Earlier submission is encouraged.

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5697

Massachusetts Teachers Association

Rank: Director of Government Relations

The Massachusetts Teachers Association (MTA) is a union, dedicated to improving the workplace and the quality of life for all education employees and to protecting their hard-won rights. Equally important, we are an association of highly qualified professionals, committed to establishing and maintaining optimal conditions for student learning from preschool through graduate school.

The MTA is looking for a Director of Government Relations who will develop vision, strategy, and programs to carry out the goals of the Massachusetts Teachers Association through the political, electoral and legislative process. The successful candidate will direct the activities of the Division by managing the staff to achieve the goals of MTA by designing and implementing MTA's legislative and lobbying program and MTA's electoral and political action program.

The successful candidate will also direct MTA's lobbying strategy to achieve goals of the legislative program and to defend against attempts to undermine MTA's mission; lobbies the Legislature, Administration and other executive departments to advance MTA's agenda. This position will supervise the Government Relations staff and carry out MTA policies, personnel procedures, and evaluation protocol. This position will report to the Executive Director of MTA and is conveniently located in our Boston Office.

To be successful in this role you will need:

- Ten or more years of experience working in the legislative and political arena
- Five or more years of management experience
- Has no statutory prohibitions related to registering as a legislative and executive agent
- Excellent interpersonal; verbal and writing skills
- Commitment to a public education system that provides all children with the quality education they deserve
- Willingness to work evenings and weekends and access to car
- Ability to foster and promote a diverse and inclusion work environment.
- Bachelor's Degree, Master's Degree preferred.
- Ability to lift 20 lbs

All applicants are required to apply online. View detailed job posting at <https://massteacher.org/about-the-mta/jobs-at-the-mta>

MTA has a competitive compensation program with a robust benefits package that includes: a defined benefit plan, 401k, medical, dental, STD, LTD, paid holidays and a generous time off program.

The MTA is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is committed to building a culturally diverse workforce. We strongly encourage applicants from minorities, women, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/12/2019

Salary: $150,000 - $159,999

eJobs ID: 5687

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Behavior and Quantitative Methods, as well as the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2020. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time faculty members, approximately 150 undergraduate majors and master's programs in both Public Administration and Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. George Connor, Head
Department of Political Science
Missouri State University
901 S. National Ave.
Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins October 7, 2019 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5678

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a three-year, non-tenure track position as Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science to start Fall 2019. We seek candidates who are able to teach a broad range of in residence and online introductory and upper-level political theory classes. Preference will be given to candidates who are also able to teach an undergraduate research design course, as well as introductory and upper-level undergraduate American politics courses. The position requires teaching six courses a year. Candidates should have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. Lecturers/Assistant Teaching Professors participate extensively in the intellectual life of the department, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops, and present research. Salary is competitive and additional money is available for travel and research. Applications must include a cover letter explaining research and teaching experience; a current CV; syllabi from previously taught courses; samples of scholarly writing; and teaching evaluations (with a key). Candidates should also request three confidential letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: plscapplications@psu.edu. Candidates invited to visit campus will be expected to give a teaching demonstration. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/88346>

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5674

North Carolina State University

Rank: Post Doc

Specializations: African American Politics, Political Behavior, Judicial Politics

The Postdoctoral Teaching Scholar will teach three classes per semester in political science during the 2019-2020 academic school year, (Fall and Spring terms). We are particularly interested in candidates who are prepared to teach undergraduate courses in American Government, political behavior, and judicial politics, including some of the following courses, PS 231 Introduction to American Government, PS 302 -Campaigns and Elections, PS 303 Race in US Politics, PS 307 US Supreme Court, and PS 411 Public Opinion and the Media in American Politics, or other course offerings in the area of political participation.

The successful candidate will also pursue his or her individual research agenda and will have the opportunity to interact with faculty mentors who are established political scientists. The department will host a research presentation by the post-doctoral scholar in the spring semester of the academic year that will review progress in this area and should result in publication.

Ph.D. or equivalent doctorate (e.g., M.D., D.V.M., Sc.D.) in appropriate field awarded no more than five (5) years from initial date of postdoctoral appointment.

The successful candidate will have experience as a teaching assistant or instructor and a specific research agenda in American Politics and/or Political Behavior broadly conceived. Clear evidence of a motivation to teach and conduct and publish research is expected. Strong commitment to excellence in teaching is expected.

Excellent communication skills.

Minimum of a PhD in Political Science or related discipline.

Degrees must be received from accredited institutions.

Teaching experience in Political Science at the college level, and demonstrated evidence of teaching excellence.

<http://jobs.ncsu.edu/postings/118258>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/5/2019

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 5671

Boston University

Rank: Part-Time Lecturer, 2 courses

Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks a part time, adjunct faculty to teach two undergraduate lecture courses, one in Fall 2019 and one in Spring 2020, in the general theme of American Political Institutions. The courses may focus on any specific branch (presidency, congress, the courts). Applicants should be ABD or hold a PhD in a relevant field. Please send a resume, letter of interest, and the names of three references to Wes Soper, Department Administrator, Department of Political Science, Boston University, by 30 June, 2019. We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5666

University of North Florida

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH FLORIDA: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Florida seeks candidates for a one-year appointment as a Visiting Assistant Professor. We are seeking:

- (1) experts in American politics and government;
 - (2) experts teach core courses within the department's MPA program.
- The field in American Politics is open, although the department does have curricular needs in state/local politics. The core courses within the Master's in Public Administration program include Public Administration, Ethics, Research Methods, Human Resources, and Admin. Behavior. The department welcomes the use of innovative teaching technologies including distance learning and hybrid classes. Candidates should demonstrate teaching excellence. The teaching load is four courses per semester. A Ph.D in Political Science, Government, Public Administration, or related field is preferred but will consider highly qualified ABD candidates. The department encourages applications from candidates of diverse backgrounds.

Applicants must complete an online application, as well as upload supplemental documents, at www.unfjobs.org in order to be considered for this position. Applicants who do not apply online and/or upload all the required documents will not be considered for this position. Once you submit both your completed application and uploaded documents, you will receive a confirmation number. Keep the confirmation number for your records.

The successful candidate will demonstrate excellence in teaching courses in American Politics. MPA focus candidates should demonstrate excellence in teaching core courses within the curriculum.

Applicants must apply online at Quicklink <http://www.unfjobs.org/postings/10545> and attach the following required documents to be considered for this position.

- (1) a letter of interest stating teaching interests
- (2) a complete curriculum vitae
- (3) unofficial transcripts
- (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness
- (5) three current professional letters of recommendation (uploaded as one document)

Review of applications will begin 6/10/2019

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 6/10/2019

Date Posted: 6/3/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 5665

Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University recruiting for one non-tenure track position for the 2019-2020 academic year to teach at the Higher Education Center at McAllen, located in McAllen, TX. We seek to hire a lecturer to teach introductory, survey courses in American government. The successful candidate will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government at both the national and state and local level. A completed Ph.D. is preferred in Political Science; A.B.D. status would be acceptable. The target start date for this position September 1, 2019. The teaching load would be four to five courses total for the academic year. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position. This position has the possibility of being renewed on an annual basis depending on performance, funding, and university needs.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor Guy D. Whitten, Acting Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5661

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Professors Justin Grimmer and Andrew Hall seek a postdoctoral fellow to assist with quantitative political science research and the building of the Democracy Policy Lab, which Grimmer and Hall co-direct. The lab is focused on studying policy-relevant questions about democratic elections, election administration, and online and offline polarization. Primary responsibilities will include collecting and analyzing large-scale quantitative datasets for co-authored research projects, organizing weekly lab meetings, helping to plan a small number of conferences and other events, and identifying and helping to pursue potential grant opportunities. The term is one year.

Candidates must have their Ph.D. completed before the start of the appointment. The strongest candidates will: have completed quantitative research on American politics or political economy; have deep experience collecting and maintaining datasets; have extensive programming experience in R and Stata; have expertise in applied econometrics and causal inference; and are organized, thorough, punctual, and highly responsive on email.

Applications must be submitted through Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13793>) and include the following information:

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Writing sample
3. Replication code from a completed project
4. Graduate Transcript showing that all the requirements for the Ph.D. have been completed, or a letter from the Ph.D. advisor stating they will do so by July 2019
5. Two Letters of Recommendation

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to diversity. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Date Posted: 5/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5647

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor (two positions) open to subfields in American Politics, International Relations, or Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor (two positions) open to subfields in American Politics, International Relations, or Comparative Politics; teach American Politics & Diversity (to international students); opportunity to teach constitutional law, and courses in area of subfield specialty; advise students. Appointment for the 2019-20 academic year.

Require: PhD at the time of appointment in Political Science or a related field (for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor); ABD (for appointment as Instructor); teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught. Position not eligible for H-1B sponsorship.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available, <http://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/enus/job/495341>. Letters of reference will be requested by the department at a later date. Inquiries may be directed to Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin May 21, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5638

BYU Political Science

Rank: Political Science Faculty

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Brigham Young University seeks applications for a continuing faculty status (tenure) track position from highly qualified candidates with a completed Ph.D. in any area of political science. Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

Although this announcement is for a CFS (tenure) -track position, it may be filled by a visitor.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidate who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

To apply, go to <https://yjobs.byu.edu/> and search for Job ID 81551. Fill out the application and attach your updated Curriculum Vitae and cover letter. Please also list the individual contact information for each of your three recommenders so they may be contacted at some point during the selection process. Finally, send graduate transcript and at least two samples of scholarly work to Sven Wilson, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 KMBL, Provo, UT 84602, Phone (801) 422-9018, Fax (801) 422-0580, sven_wilson@byu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 5/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5633

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track faculty member at the rank of visiting assistant professor beginning August 2019. The successful candidate will teach one online graduate overview seminar in American politics/government; one online graduate seminar in one of the following areas: Congress, American political parties, political attitudes and behavior, and media and politics; and two upper division courses in one of the following areas: Congress, political attitudes and behavior, media and politics, state political systems, or environmental. Preference will be given to candidates who have online and face-to-face teaching experience. The teaching load for the position is four courses in both the fall and spring semesters. Summer courses are not included in the teaching load.

Degree Requirements:

Applicants must have a PhD in political science from an accredited university or institution of higher learning.

Application Requirements:

- Cover Letter
- Current CV
- All graduate transcripts

- Two letters of recommendation from supervisors who are familiar with the applicant's teaching abilities and who have worked with the applicant in the past two years
- Recent student teaching evaluations covering the last two semesters of teaching, if available
- Teaching statement, including a discussion of online pedagogy
- Diversity statement discussing how the applicant would engage a diverse student population such as Sam Houston State University that meets the College of Humanities and Social Sciences core goals: "The College of Humanities and Social Sciences at Sam Houston State University is strongly committed to a diverse and inclusive workplace that empowers all employees to reach their full potential. All members of the academic community share a responsibility for developing and maintaining an environment in which differences are valued and inclusiveness is practiced. The college welcomes applications from those who will contribute to the diversity of our community."

Those interested should apply online at <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/>. The search committee will begin reviewing materials immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5631

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Temporary Lecturer

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) and The International Studies Program at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body.

Pending budgetary approval, several non tenure-track lectureships are expected to be available for the 2019-20 academic year, and possibly Summer Session 2020. Appointments may be for one or more quarters/sessions based on department need.

All areas of international affairs, international studies, regional studies, business-government relations, and international economics will be considered.

A Ph.D. in Economics, Political Science, International Management or experience in related fields and outstanding teaching experience are required. Research experience and a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion are highly desirable.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, individuals offered employment with the University of California must be authorized to work in the United States.

The 9-month salary and level of appointment are based on qualifications and UC pay scale.

Applications received by September 1, 2019 will be given full consideration.

Apply via <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02067>

Submit:

- CV
- Teaching evaluations (2-3 course evaluations)
- Statement of Teaching
- Sample Course Syllabus
- Statement describing past and/or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html> for further information).

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 9/1/2019

Date Posted: 5/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5612

Merrimack College

Rank: Lecturer, Political Science

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, United States

Merrimack College invites applications for a one-year, non-tenure track position as Lecturer of Political Science with the possibility of renewal beginning in Fall 2019. Teaching load is four courses per semester total. The position involves the unique component of teaching two introductory level American Politics courses per semester to selected high school students from the Abbott Lawrence Academy on Merrimack's campus. Abbott Lawrence Academy is a public school with an entrance exam in Lawrence, Massachusetts that provides a high quality, rigorous, college preparatory education. You can find more information about the program at: <https://www.lawrence.k12.ma.us/index.php/ala-about>. The Lecturer position also involves a regular presence on the Abbott Lawrence Academy campus. In addition to the two courses per semester with Abbott Lawrence Academy, the successful candidate will also teach two courses per semester to Merrimack College students: our introductory level American Politics course and a course on Massachusetts State and Local Government. There is the possibility of teaching additional upper level American Politics courses upon successful renewal.

Qualifications: PhD is required at time of appointment.

Merrimack College seeks to nourish and sustain our five core values of leadership, community, awareness, scholarship, and service. The College is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups. All candidates are encouraged to describe in their application previous activities or interest in building a culture committed to diversity and inclusive excellence, as well as how they will engage in fostering a culture that values diversity and inclusive excellence at Merrimack College.

Review of applications will begin on May 21 and will continue until position is filled.

To Apply: Interested applicants should apply online through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13633>. Application materials should include: a letter of interest, C.V., evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation.

About Merrimack: The only Catholic, Augustinian college in New England, Merrimack College is an independent, coeducational institution with more than 4,200 undergraduates and graduate students from 34 states and 36 countries, and comprises schools of liberal arts, science and engineering, health sciences, education and social policy, and business. The college's 220-acre campus is approximately 25 miles north of Boston in North Andover and Andover, Mass. Merrimack is a Master's Colleges & Universities/Medium Programs institution in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Merrimack recently placed 21st in the nation for "Colleges That Add the Most Value" in Money's special Best Colleges report and was ranked as one of the top 10 colleges in the northern United States for the fourth year in a row — and the only regional college judged "up and coming" by higher education leadership in the northern United States, according to U.S. News.

This position is subject to the successful completion of a criminal background check.

Merrimack College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5616

University of Alabama in Huntsville

Rank: Full - Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Regulatory Policy

JOB DESCRIPTION/REQUIREMENTS: The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama in Huntsville invites applications for a full-time lecturer position in politics and public policy to begin on August 14, 2019. A full-time lecturer position at UAH is a teaching position with a 4/4 teaching load, both undergraduate and graduate courses, but no research responsibilities.

Candidates for the position must have a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a Ph.D. degree in a related discipline with at least 18 hours of graduate coursework in Political Science. We are seeking a candidate with a concentration in domestic or international public policy. In addition, candidates must be able to teach courses in national and international intelligence and security to contribute to a planned program in criminal justice and intelligence studies. Salary is commensurate with experience. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY: The University of Alabama in Huntsville, classified as a High Research Activity institution, offers academic and research programs in the Colleges of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Business, Education, Engineering, Nursing, Professional and Continuing Studies, and Science. Huntsville maintains one of the highest per capita incomes and standards of living in the Southeast. It is a national center of aerospace and high technology research and is home to NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center. A vibrant downtown entertainment district, including Broadway and symphony performances, contribute to Huntsville's cultural life. For more information about Huntsville and its convenient location to Nashville, Birmingham, and Atlanta, please visit <http://www.huntsville.org>.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE: The College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Alabama in Huntsville comprises 10 departments and 94 full-time faculty. We offer a wide array of programs in the arts, humanities, and social sciences including 25 B.A. programs, five M.A. programs, and six certificate programs. We recently added a BFA with a Gaming and Animation track. The college has also led the way in creating several interdisciplinary minors, such as Women's and Gender Studies, Global Studies, and Science, Technology, and Society. Our class sizes are relatively small and our collegial faculty are committed to our students' successes.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science offers a BA major and minor in Political Science, an MA in Public Affairs & Policy, a Pre-Law Certificate Program (undergraduate, with the Department of Philosophy), and an International Security Policy Certificate Program (graduate). The undergraduate curriculum provides a major and a minor in political science with courses offered in American government, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy, public law, public policy, and methodology. The graduate program focuses on domestic and international public policy, including policy formation, implementation, and evaluation, with special emphasis in intelligence and security studies. For more information about the Department, please visit <http://www.uah.edu/ahs/departments/political-science>.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Application review will begin May 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: A complete application must include a letter of application, a detailed curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, graduate transcripts, and contact information for at least three professional references. Review of application materials will begin as soon as possible and materials will be accepted until the position is filled. Interviews will be conducted via Skype. Application material should be sent to: Dr. John Pottenger, Chair; Department of Political Science; Conference Training Center, Room 106; University of Alabama in Huntsville; Huntsville, AL 35899 or polsci@uah.edu.

The University of Alabama in Huntsville is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer of minorities/ females/ veterans/ disabled. Please refer to log number: 19/20-353

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/18/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5608

SUNY, Potsdam

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Department of Politics, State University of New York at Potsdam, seeks a one-year visiting assistant professor in political theory.

The faculty member in this position will teach courses required for the political science major/minor and one or more courses for the general education program. Fall 2019 courses will include introduction to political theory and a general education politics course for non-majors. The third course will be either introduction to U.S. politics or introduction to international relations. Spring 2020 courses will include two required political science courses and one elective course.

Required qualifications:

Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. In addition, we are seeking candidates who possess communication and interpersonal skills sufficient to work effectively with an increasingly diverse array of students and colleagues and who have demonstrated a commitment to creating, fostering and sustaining an inclusive environment in and out of the classroom. A master's degree in political science is also required.

Preferred qualifications:

A Ph.D. in political science is preferred. In addition to political theory, research or teaching experience in the areas of public law, public policy or international relations (other than international political economy) would be welcomed. More broadly, we are seeking candidates who have worked with, done research with, or taught underrepresented groups and have worked collaboratively across various departments in fostering success of underrepresented groups.

Applicants should e-mail a cover letter, curriculum vitae, the names and contact information of three references and evidence of teaching effectiveness directly to Dr. Robert Hinckley, Chair & Associate Professor, at hincklra@potsdam.edu.

The position will remain open until filled but full consideration will be granted to those who submit all materials by April 19, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5591

Lycoming College

Rank: Visiting Professor of Political Science

VISITING ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a one year visiting position in American politics for the 2019-2020 academic year. The successful candidate will teach three courses per semester and will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in American politics. Specialization within subfield is open. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and a strong commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment. Master's degree required; ABD or Ph.D. preferred.

Lycoming College is a National Liberal Arts College of about 1,200 students located in Williamsport, PA, a city of 30,000 serving as a regional hub for the county. Nestled in the mountains of central Pennsylvania, Williamsport is centrally located about three hours from New York City, Washington DC, and Philadelphia. The area offers ample opportunities for cultural entertainment and outdoor recreation. More information can be obtained by visiting the following web site: www.lycoming.edu.

To apply: Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement about your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment and names and telephone numbers of three professional references. Electronic submission of application materials is required to jobs@lycoming.edu. Please reference "Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science" in the subject line of the email. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Post-offer, pre-employment drug screen conducted. EOE

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/26/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 5554

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor – American Politics, Public Law, or Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for one full-time Visiting Assistant Professor position beginning August 2019, with the possibility for a second year renewal. We seek candidates with demonstrated excellence in teaching and strong research potential. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in American Behavioral Politics, Public Law, and/or Public Policy. The ability to teach courses in Research Methods, Introduction to Politics, and Introduction to American Government and Politics is desirable.

Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field. ABD applicants will be considered. Candidates must show evidence or promise of teaching experience to be considered.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP is an R1 Carnegie classified national research University and ranks third among all U.S. colleges and universities in awarding bachelor's degrees to Hispanics. UTEP enrolls more than 25,000 students. The Brookings Institution in 2017 ranked UTEP as the leading university in equal access to higher education, based on a combination of research productivity and student social mobility. The University has annual research expenditures of $95 million, an operating budget of $500 million and employs approximately 4,000 people. With 172 bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree programs available in eight colleges and schools, UTEP is the first national research university serving a 21st century student demographic.

Application Procedure: Review of applications will begin on April 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality, evidence of research, and current contact information for three professional references. Please contact Dr. José D. Villalobos by email (jdvllobos2@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
 In keeping with its Access and Excellence mission, the University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/26/2019

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5559

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

The Institute for the American Constitutional Heritage (IACH) at the University of Oklahoma (OU) seeks an established and nationally recognized scholar to hold the newly established Sanders Family Chair in Law and Liberty. The position is at the associate or full professor level and will be jointly appointed in the Department of Classics & Letters and the successful candidate's home disciplinary department or College, e.g., History or Political Science (both in the College of Arts and Sciences), or the College of Law.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core mission of the IACH, a vibrant interdisciplinary center for the study of American constitutionalism housed in Classics & Letters. The IACH has four faculty lines and over 30 affiliated faculty across the university who offer courses to over 100 undergraduates majoring or minoring in Constitutional Studies.

We seek a candidate with a teaching and research profile that would include, but not be limited to, the ancient roots of law, liberty, and self-governance; the development of republican thought and ideas of liberty and the rule of law in the modern world; and the historical and ideological background of the American founding.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. (or a J.D. for exceptional candidates with established records of scholarly excellence) and a substantial scholarly record in a discipline related to the core mission of the IACH. The successful candidate should also have an established commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students, as well as experience in graduate teaching and mentoring, or clear potential for excellence in this area. The teaching load will be three courses a year (2-1).

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should initially submit a letter of interest, a current C.V., and three letters of reference to. Applicants should go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/59901>.

to submit their application. The position will begin in August 2019 or August 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/25/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5469

James Madison University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - Department of Political Science

GENERAL INFO:

The JMU Department of Political Science is seeking to appoint someone to a visiting, academic-year post as a faculty member at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning with the fall 2019 semester. Candidates at the ABD level can be hired at the rank of Lecturer.

Review of applications will begin March 18, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at Joblink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number {# F1280}. On that website, candidates will post an application letter, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, unofficial graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, course syllabi and an example of research. Salary shall be commensurate with experience.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government and a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors. The ability to offer an upper-level course in an area that complements departmental faculty expertise and current course offerings is strongly encouraged.

This is a full-time post for the 2019-2020 academic year. For more information about the Department of Political Science, visit the website (<http://www.jmu.edu/polisci/>).

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. is required by the starting date for appointment as an Assistant Professor; ABD candidates and those with an appropriate master's degree and experience can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. Applicants must demonstrate an ability to teach the required courses. The department seeks candidates with strong teaching skills.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5465

Augustana University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Augustana University invites applications for a full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor for the 2019-20 academic year. The position will begin in August 2019.

Responsibilities: The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. Courses to be taught include Introduction to Government, Introduction to American Government, and The American Presidency. The ideal candidate will be able to offer additional courses in American politics, comparative politics, and/or international relations. The total course load is three courses per semester, plus a three-week January term course.

Qualifications: Completed Ph.D. by August 1, 2019 strongly preferred. Evidence of teaching excellence expected.

Application Procedure: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, copies of graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including teaching evaluations), statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research plans, statement of commitment to diversity, a writing sample, a completed Augustana University employment application (available at <http://www.augie.edu/prospective-employees>) and three letters of recommendation to humanresources@augie.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Official web site: www.augie.edu.

Contact Department Chair with questions: Dr. Joel Johnson, Professor of Government and International Affairs, joel.johnson@augie.edu, 605.274.5319.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5435

Augustana College

Rank: Open Rank Visiting Professor

Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, invites applications for an open rank visiting position in Political Science (American Politics) beginning in August of the 2019-2020 academic year, with possible renewal for the 2020-2021 academic year.

Augustana College is a selective liberal arts college of approximately 2,500 students, including 29 percent first-generation college students, 23 percent Pell Grant students, 21 percent students of color, and 9 percent international students.

Our beautifully wooded and largely residential 115-acre campus is located in Rock Island, Illinois, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago and 45 minutes east of Iowa City, home of the University of Iowa.

Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body. The successful candidate will teach American National Government and upper division courses in American Politics. These include our current American politics courses such as American Political Participation and American Presidency, and the opportunity to teach a course in a specific area of interest. We are particularly interested in candidates with a focus on identity politics in the United States.

All faculty contribute to the first-year experience through a combination of teaching in the college's first-year inquiry program and/or offering January-term courses aimed at first-year students.

The successful candidate will join a diverse and active, five-member department. Each faculty colleague has interdisciplinary interests beyond political science that complement the political science curriculum such as Africana Studies, Environmental Studies, Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and more. Successful candidates will be able to demonstrate teaching effectiveness and an understanding of and/or willingness to embrace the nature of a liberal arts education. Experience and interest in working with students and community members of many backgrounds will be an asset for applicants. Preference will be given to candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment, although ABD candidates also will be considered.

Augustana College is an equal opportunity employer and actively encourages applications from women and persons of diverse ethnic backgrounds. We do not discriminate based on age, race, color, ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, disability or creed and strongly encourage applicants from diverse backgrounds to apply for this position. Details about Augustana College, our expectations of the faculty, the selection process, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana. Questions may be directed to the chair of the department, Xiaowen Zhang. Review of applications will begin March 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

A complete application includes: a cover letter indicating an interest in and understanding of teaching in a liberal arts setting, curriculum vitae, copy of graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation (including contact information), a statement of teaching philosophy, and writing sample.

To apply, please email application materials to SherryDocherty@augustana.edu using the subject line: Search #115-19 Pol. Sci. – American Pol., and directed to Jessica Schultz, Associate Dean of the College. Alternatively, application materials can be mailed to: Search #115-19 Pol. Sci. – American Pol., C/O Jessica Schultz, associate dean of the college, Augustana College, 639 38th St., Rock Island, Ill., 61201.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5417

Eastern Kentucky University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Master of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of Government at Eastern Kentucky University invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track assistant professor position to begin August 2019. The successful candidate will teach classes in the department's Master of Public Administration (MPA) Program and undergraduate political science programs. Departmental teaching needs include courses related to public policy, state and local government, community development/non-profit, Appalachian/rural development studies, and American government. Candidates must be able to develop and/or teach fully online courses.

A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, or Public Policy is required at the time of appointment. The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Successful candidates should be, or have the potential to be, an active scholar and a high quality teacher.

To ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by February 18, 2019.

Applicants should submit: 1) Cover Letter, 2) Curriculum Vitae, 3) Teaching philosophy statement, 4) Contact information for at least three professional references, 5) Copies of unofficial transcripts and 6) Evidence of teaching effectiveness.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.eku.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5409

Lincoln University of Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Lincoln University of Missouri invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science beginning August 2019. Areas of specialization include Comparative Politics and International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will also include the Introduction to American Government course.

Lincoln's political science program is part of an interdisciplinary department that includes social & behavioral sciences. The successful candidate will be a passionate teacher, mentor, and developer of innovative curriculum. Other job responsibilities include Model UN faculty advisor and Study Abroad participant.

Ph.D. preferred; ABD considered with college level teaching experience.

Application materials should be submitted electronically to gossetta@lincolnu.edu and include: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of previous teaching experience and three letters of reference. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable during screening. Official transcripts are required prior to employment. Will review applications as they are submitted.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Amy Gossett at gossetta@lincolnu.edu.

Lincoln University is a HBCU, land-grant, public university with enrollment of 2800 students and an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/4/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5412

University of Hawaii, Hilo

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science and Administration of Justice

The Department of Political Science and Administration of Justice at University of Hawaii at Hilo invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Criminal Justice/American Politics, to begin on August 1, 2019. Ph.D. in Political Science in hand from an accredited college or university is required at the time of appointment. The successful candidate will be able to teach Intro to American Politics, Intro to Administration of Justice, Criminal Justice, Criminal Law and Procedure, Criminology, Research Methodology, Capstone Seminar in Administration of Justice, and other upper division American politics courses contributing to the Administration of Justice Major. Experience teaching distance learning courses desired. Deadline for application is March 8, 2019. For a complete description, application instructions and to submit an application, please visit <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/hawaii.edu> and search for position number 82352. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Failure to submit all required documents shall deem an application to be incomplete. Note: If you have not applied for a position before using NEOGOV, you will need to create an account.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 3/8/2019

Date Posted: 1/31/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5395

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in American Politics beginning August 2019. Application review will begin on 01 October 2018 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. American Politics scholars with expertise in public policy; race, gender, and ethnicity; or political philosophy are encouraged to apply. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at <https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProfessor-PolSciAY19.php>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4715

DePaul University

Rank: Latinx Politics and Urban Politics

Latinx Politics and Urban Politics
 DePaul University

The Department of Political Science (PSC) at DePaul University invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 2019 (6 courses in three academic quarters — 2-2-2). The Department seeks candidates with expertise and preparation in American Politics, specializing in Latinx Politics and Urban Politics.

Applicants who are qualified to teach in both fields will receive preference, although applicants who teach in one of two fields will receive full consideration. The successful candidate will also have opportunities to teach courses in the University's general education program and various interdisciplinary programs. DePaul University is committed to recruiting a diverse faculty to complement the diversity of its student body and Chicago area communities.

Candidates should submit a letter of application [cover letter], CV, sample syllabus, course evaluations, and reference contact information online to our Faculty Recruiting site-- <http://facultyopportunities.depaul.edu/postings/2042> . For more information, email polisci@depaul.edu or visit the department's web site at <http://las.depaul.edu/psc>.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2018
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 4401

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Chinese Politics: International or Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: China, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for a position in international relations or comparative politics with a focus on China. We are especially interested in scholars who examine China's role in the world through the lens of international or comparative political economy.

The Department prides itself on its ability to foster innovative research and forge cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods.

Applicants at the level of assistant or associate professor are welcome. In addition to a cover letter, all applicants should submit a research statement, description of teaching philosophy, a writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send three letters of recommendation via Interfolio. Applicants at the level of associate professor, please provide the names of three references. Please visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/64888> to upload application materials.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2020.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5726

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/3/2020

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5683

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments can be from 15 days to one-month during the 2020-2021 academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 18, 2019. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12122>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay, 15 days to one-month during the academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5682

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2020-2021 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2020 - January 31, 2021; spring semester: February 1- June 30, 2021). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 18, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12121>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);

5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Required Qualifications: Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5681

Wellesley College

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics (Latin America)

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for a tenure-track position in the comparative politics of Latin America and the Caribbean to begin in the academic year 2020-21. Applicants at levels up to and including advanced assistant professor are welcome to apply.

We are open to candidates with expertise in all areas of study within Latin American and Caribbean politics, including Latin American political thought. We also are interested in candidates who can offer an introductory research methods course.

The person hired will be expected to teach introduction to comparative politics on a regular basis. The successful candidate will also participate actively in Wellesley's interdepartmental Latin American Studies program through teaching and advising.

Faculty members at Wellesley teach two courses per semester. Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment.

Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, and service that they can contribute to this goal. Familiarity with, and experience using, pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential will be considered a valuable additional qualification.

Ph.D. completed or near-completion required. All applications should include a cover letter, c.v., a sample of research, teaching materials (e.g., student evaluations, sample syllabi), graduate transcripts, and three letters of reference.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at <http://career.wellesley.edu/postings/2829>. The deadline for receipt of all application materials is September 15, 2019. If circumstances do not allow you to submit materials through our online application system, please email working@wellesley.edu. Wellesley College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Inquiries should be addressed to Prof. Katharine H.S. Moon, chair of the department and the search committee, at kmoon@wellesley.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5722

Carleton University

Rank: Canada Research Chair in Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Other

Field of Specialization: Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies

Academic Unit: Political Science

Category of Appointment: Preliminary (tenure-track)/tenured

Rank/Position Title: Assistant/Associate Professor and Canada Research Chair, Tier 2

Start Date: July 1, 2020

Closing Date: Applications will be considered until the position is filled

About the Position:

The Department of Political Science invites applications from qualified candidates for a Tier 2 CRC Chair appointment in Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning July 1, 2020. The Department seeks an emerging scholar specializing in Indigenous, racialized, and/or gendered dimensions of political processes and institutions in democracies in the Global North and, in particular scholars whose research focus includes Canadian politics. An appointment with tenure is possible, depending on qualifications of the successful candidate.

Tier 2 Chairs are intended for exceptional emerging researchers (i.e. candidate will typically be less than 10 years from their highest degree at the time of nomination, or more than 10 years and has experienced legitimate career interruptions), acknowledged by their peers as having potential to lead in their field. Applicants who are more than 10 years from their highest degree may have their eligibility for a Tier 2 Canada Research Chair assessed through the program's Tier 2 justification process (<http://www.chairs-chaire.gc.ca/>). Carleton's research grants office can also provide more information (<https://carleton.ca/coris/>).

The successful candidate will work with the Faculty of Public Affairs to prepare the application for the Tier 2 CRC Chair. Academic appointment is conditional on the approval of the application by the CRC Program.

About the Academic Unit:

The Department of Political Science is a research-intensive unit, particularly proud of its pathbreaking tradition and continuing strength in the study of gender and politics, including establishing one of Canada's first political science PhD fields in Gender and Diversity. For more information, please visit: <https://carleton.ca/polisci/>.

Qualifications:

The successful applicant will possess:

- a PhD in Political Science or a cognate discipline;
- an outstanding record of research and peer-reviewed publications on diversity and politics, relative to stage of career;
- a record of high-quality teaching and supervision, appropriate to stage of career;
- commitment to continuing improvement and excellence in teaching;
- capacity to attract external research funding;

Application Instructions:

Please submit your application electronically in three PDF files, including: (1) a cover letter and CV; (2) a statement of research interests and samples of research, ideally including peer-reviewed publications; and (3) a teaching portfolio with evidence of teaching experience. Please identify any past experiences in supporting equity, diversity and inclusion in your previous institutional environment such as in curriculum development and in supporting diverse students. Applicants should also arrange to have three referees send supporting letters electronically.

All application materials should be directed to: Ms. Sandy Herbert, Department Administrator, Department of Political Science, Carleton University at sandy.herbert@carleton.ca.

To help us develop our equity programs, a confidential equity and diversity self-identification survey will be sent to all applicants separately.

Please indicate in your application if you are a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada.

About Carleton University:

Carleton University is a dynamic and innovative research and teaching institution with a national and international reputation as a leader in collaborative teaching and learning, research and governance. With over 30,000 students in more than 100 programs of study, we encourage creative risk-taking, discovery, and the generation of transformative knowledge. We are proud to be one of the most accessible campuses in North America and our Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities has been heralded as the gold standard for disability support services in Canada. To learn more about our university and the Ottawa, please visit www.carleton.ca/about.

We are strongly committed to equity, diversity, and inclusion in the nomination and appointment process. Carleton University is committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our university including, but not limited to: women; visible minorities; First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples; persons with disabilities; and persons of any sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression. Carleton understands that career paths vary. Legitimate career interruptions will in no way prejudice the assessment process and their impact will be carefully considered.

Applicants selected for an interview are asked to contact the Chair as soon as possible to discuss any accommodation requirements. Arrangements will be made in a timely manner.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. All positions are subject to budgetary approval.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5711

Santa Clara University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Santa Clara University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Relations or Comparative Politics to begin in fall 2020. We seek a teacher-scholar with demonstrated commitment to, and excellence in, both undergraduate teaching and scholarly achievement.

Applicants must have a PhD at the time of appointment, experience teaching at the university level, and a clear research trajectory, with a record of publication strongly preferred. The person we hire will teach Introduction to International Relations or Introduction to Comparative Politics, upper-division courses in their area of specialty, and Introduction to Political Science Research. We are seeking applicants who do not overlap with the department's existing strengths in the following areas: international relations (IPE, Asia-Pacific IR, environmental politics) and comparative politics (Western Europe, democratization and post-communist states, the Middle East, Japan).

The application deadline is August 26, 2019. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a CV, (3) a teaching portfolio that includes a statement of teaching philosophy and interests as well as sample syllabi and teaching evaluations, (4) a writing sample (no more than 40 pages), and (5) unofficial graduate transcripts. Three letters of reference will be solicited automatically through the HR applicant portal upon submission of the application.

Located in the heart of northern California's Silicon Valley, Santa Clara is a private, Jesuit, Catholic university committed to promoting social justice in a comprehensive educational setting. Faculty are teaching-scholars who balance a commitment to quality teaching with active programs of research. A full-time teaching load is seven courses over three 10-week quarters, with a one-course reduction for research. Faculty receive scholarship support through sabbaticals and travel funds. Housing assistance is available.

Santa Clara University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer committed to the strategic goal of enriching the quality of our community of scholars by increasing the diversity among faculty, staff, and students. Women, persons of color, and members of historically underrepresented groups who can contribute to this goal are especially encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths, experiences, or interests related to achieving this goal in their letter of application.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 8/26/2019

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5727

University of Chicago

Rank: Earl S. Johnson Instructor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Position Description

The Master of Arts Program in the Social Sciences (MAPSS) at the University of Chicago invites applications for a position as Earl S. Johnson Instructor in Political Science. This is a full-time instructorship, renewable annually to a maximum term of three years, beginning on or after September 1, 2019. The successful applicant will teach four graduate courses in political science, including one or two methods courses; advise MA students; evaluate MA theses; hire and manage teaching assistants; participate in program admissions, staff hiring, and student recruitment; help train our doctoral student preceptors; and contribute to the intellectual life and administrative needs of the program. The position provides advanced training and professional mentorship in program leadership, research, and teaching, and offers exceptional preparation for tenure-track employment.

Qualifications

Prior teaching experience is required. Familiarity with the University of Chicago's faculty and academic resources is desirable. Applicants must have completed all requirements for the PhD in Political Science, including the dissertation defense, by August 31, 2019, and have the PhD in-hand by January 1, 2020.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply on the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board website at apply.interfolio.com/64769. Applicants must submit the following materials: 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) an article-length writing sample, 4) three letters of reference, 5) the syllabi from past teaching, and 6) course evaluations or comparable evidence of past teaching performance. The review of applications will begin on July 30 and will continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5718

Brandeis University

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

Specializations: Russia, South Asia, Africa

The Department of Politics at Brandeis University invites applications for a full-time tenure track or tenured position in Comparative Politics at the rank of assistant professor or associate professor. The successful candidate's term will begin in the Fall of 2020.

We are especially, but not solely, interested in candidates with regional expertise in Russia, Eastern Europe, Sub-Saharan Africa, or South Asia and with substantive interest in issues of ethnic politics, conflict and conflict mitigation, democratization and de-democratization, political economy, political institutions, parties, and/or elections. Candidates must demonstrate teaching and research excellence.

Duties include the teaching of undergraduate and graduate courses in Comparative Politics (with courses cross-listed in the International Global Studies program, as appropriate), graduate student advising, doctoral dissertation supervision, undergraduate thesis advising, and university and departmental service.

The course load is 2/2.

Candidates applying at the rank of assistant professor should have a Phd in Political Science in hand by August 2020. Candidates applying at the rank of associate professor should have a proven publication record appropriate to this rank.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research and teaching interests that includes potential course offerings and syllabi and student evaluations where available, a chapter or article-length writing sample, and three letters of reference. Brandeis University is committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in faculty scholarship, teaching, and service. Applicants are encouraged to address these goals in their cover letter or in their teaching and research statement. These materials can be submitted electronically at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/xxxx>.

First consideration will be given to applications received by September 20, 2019. Questions about the position can be directed to: Eva Bellin (ebellin@brandeis.edu), Chair, Search Committee on Comparative Politics.

This position is subject to budget approval.

At Brandeis we believe that diversity, equity, and inclusion are essential components of academic excellence. Brandeis is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer that is committed to creating equitable access and opportunities for applicants to all employment positions. Because diversity, equity, and inclusion are at the core of Brandeis' history and mission, we value and are seeking candidates with a variety of social identities, including those that have been under represented in higher education. The search committee is therefore particularly interested in candidates who, through their scholarly pursuits, teaching, and/or service experiences, will build on Brandeis' reputation for academic excellence and prepare its students for creative engagement in a pluralistic society.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5692

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate/Center for the Study of Democratic Politics

The Center for the Study of Democratic Politics, a program in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, invites applications for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position. Applications are welcome from recent PhDs and PhD students who will earn their degree soon after starting the position.

The researcher will be asked to participate in a new project on "time in politics" that combines study of institutions and individual psychology. The individual will work on aspects of the project that may include compilation and analysis of existing survey questions, development of an original survey, experimental design, and historical-institutional analysis. The project will combine a variety of different research approaches.

The position is offered for one year, with the possibility of renewal, contingent upon funding and satisfactory performance. Please submit online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12041>, a cover letter, a CV, contact information for three recommendations, and a statement of research skills and experience. The statement of research skills should be a separate document not included in the cover letter. Because the project will combine a variety of different approaches, a clear statement of research skills (including descriptions of not only technical/technological expertise, but also experience with particular conceptual approaches to politics) is an important part of the application. For questions about the position, contact Prof. Markus Prior at mprior@princeton.edu.

The successful candidate will have a strong background in quantitative research and statistical methods. Experience with survey design and analysis of complex survey data are highly desirable, as are data management and programming skills in STATA. The candidate should be well organized, flexible, attend to detail, and respond to deadlines in a timely fashion. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5691

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Political Economy

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Political Economy. Scholars with a specialization in the Global South are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to the teaching and mentoring of students.

Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. The Nunn School is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests and advising/mentoring philosophy, and the names and contact information for at least three references. Application materials should be submitted as .PDF files via IPESearch@inta.gatech.edu. The references should submit their letters directly at the time of application. Requests for information may be directed to Alasdair Young (alasdair.young@gatech.edu). Applications will be considered beginning 1 October 2019, but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We strongly encourage applications from women, underrepresented minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance and is aware that attracting faculty may require meeting the needs of two careers.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5669

University of Mannheim

Rank: Research Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Collaborative Research Center (SFB 884) "Political Economy of Reforms" hosted at the University of Mannheim is looking for a

* Research-Fellow (Post Doctoral Researcher, TV-L 15) *

The mission of the interdisciplinary Research Center (SFB 884) on the Political Economy of Reforms is to gain new interdisciplinary insights into the success and failure of political reforms in democracies. It draws together researchers in economics, political science, sociology, statistics and computer sciences at the University of Mannheim.

The English-speaking environment of the SFB 884, which is funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG), offers an excellent opportunity to work in a team with a strong focus on quantitative research and international collaboration (for more information about the SFB 884, see <http://reforms.uni-mannheim.de/>). Salary is commensurate with experience and is at least 53,000 Euros with additional employer benefits (according to public pay scheme TV-L E15). Furthermore, the SFB 884 supports traveling at conferences, workshops etc.

The successful applicant should hold a doctoral degree in economics, political science or another relevant discipline with a strong analytical and quantitative background and a focus on Political Economy in Europe. We expect publications, especially in international top peer-reviewed scholarly journals.

The position will be open from September 2019 on. Funding for the position is available until December 31, 2021, with potential prolongation in case of successful new SFB application.

The tasks of the research fellow:

* Collaborating with the projects of the SFB 884, i.e. preparing final report

* Contributing to future research plans, i.e. new SFB proposal on Europe

Applications should be submitted in English and include a CV, copies of your diplomas (including your PhD certificate), publication list, and letter of motivation. The letter of motivation should outline the substantive research agenda of the candidate. In case you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact Prof. Dr. Thomas König (koenig@uni-mannheim.de / +49(0)621-181-2074).

Please send your application by June 15, 2019 to application@reforms.uni-mannheim.de with the keyword "Fellow application". As an equal opportunity employer, the University of Mannheim particularly encourages applications from women and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 6/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/3/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5664

Occidental College

Rank: Associate Professor in Global Political Economy/Development Practice

A search in Global Political Economy at the Associate Professor with tenure or at the Advanced Assistant levels. We are looking for applicants who have demonstrated an ambitious research and practice agenda with a particular interest in applicants whose work focuses on areas such as the Sustainable Development Goals; Human Rights-based Approaches to Economic Development; Equity/Equality in economic structures (with reference to race, class, identity, and/or gender and the imperative of democratic inclusion); or alternative approaches to studying dominant approaches to international trade, globalization and other topic areas in Global Political Economy. More information on the Young Initiative is here: <https://www.oxy.edu/academics/global-engagement/young-initiative>. The hire will eventually be expected to play a leadership role in the Young Initiative Committee, including its rotating chair-ship.

Priority will be given to applicants who have demonstrated a research agenda that leverages substantial fieldwork with international or regional organizations and/or transnational NGOs. An expectation will be that the hire will continue Occidental College's engagement with on-the-ground work in international affairs, at the local/Los Angeles, transnational, and/or global levels. A priority is the ability to advance the College's mission and an understanding of the distinctiveness of the Liberal Arts culture.

Occidental College is a highly-selective, urban liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body, its commitment to academic excellence and equity, and its undergraduate research programs. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, the College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in Northeast Los Angeles. As one of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental affords students and faculty unique engagement with communities, cultural institutions, and academic resources throughout Los Angeles. Occidental College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, sexual orientation, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by State or Federal Law. We strongly encourage all underrepresented candidates, especially women and persons of color, to apply.

Candidates should send their application as an electronic file to Ms. Chamnan Lim at youngsearch@oxy.edu. A complete application will include the following materials: (1) a cover letter that details the interest in teaching at Occidental and potential linkages to priorities of the Young Initiative in Global Political Economy; (2) a discussion of the applicant's academic research and field practice; (3) a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; (4) a scholarly work sample; (5) Curriculum Vitae; and (6) a list of referees.

All materials are due no later than October 1, 2019; applications received after the deadline will not be reviewed. Interviews of semi-finalists will be held via videoconference.

For information on the Department of Diplomacy & World Affairs, including current course offerings, please visit our website at: <http://www.oxy.edu/diplomacy-world-affairs>. For information on the Young Initiative on the Global Political Economy, please visit our website at the address noted above. Inquiries about the position, the DWA department, or the Young Initiative can be directed to the Interim Young Initiative in the Global Political Economy Chair, Professor Anthony Tirado Chase: achase@oxy.edu.

We will consider for employment all qualified Applicants, including those with Criminal Histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 5/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5660

Washington & Lee University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for a 1-year, visiting position in Comparative Politics or International Relations. The successful candidate will be expected to teach sections of the Department's introductory courses in Global Politics and American National Government, and an introductory course in statistics, as well as an upper level course related to the candidate's field of expertise. Area of specialization is open.

Washington and Lee is a highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,800 undergraduates and 315 law students.

Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply.

Qualifications
 A completed Ph.D. is required by the time of appointment, which begins July 1, 2019.

Application Instructions
 Applicants should provide: (1) a letter of application; (2) current CV; (3) three letters of recommendation; and (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness, including but not limited to peer or supervisor observation letters and student course evaluations, if available.

Address letters of application to Politics Search Committee Head. Please apply online using the following link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/63652>.

Application review will begin immediately and continue on a rolling basis until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5653

Westmont College
Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor (two positions) open to subfields in American Politics, International Relations, or Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor (two positions) open to subfields in American Politics, International Relations, or Comparative Politics; teach American Politics & Diversity (to international students); opportunity to teach constitutional law, and courses in area of subfield specialty; advise students. Appointment for the 2019-20 academic year.

Require: PhD at the time of appointment in Political Science or a related field (for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor); ABD (for appointment as Instructor); teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught. Position not eligible for H-1B sponsorship.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available, <http://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/enus/job/495341>. Letters of reference will be requested by the department at a later date. Inquiries may be directed to Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin May 21, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5638

BYU Political Science

Rank: Political Science Faculty

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Brigham Young University seeks applications for a continuing faculty status (tenure) track position from highly qualified candidates with a completed Ph.D. in any area of political science. Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

Although this announcement is for a CFS (tenure) -track position, it may be filled by a visitor.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidate who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

To apply, go to <https://yjobs.byu.edu/> and search for Job ID 81551. Fill out the application and attach your updated Curriculum Vitae and cover letter. Please also list the individual contact information for each of your three recommenders so they may be contacted at some point during the selection process. Finally, send graduate transcript and at least two samples of scholarly work to Sven Wilson, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 KMBL, Provo, UT 84602, Phone (801) 422-9018, Fax (801) 422-0580, sven_wilson@byu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 5/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5633

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Political Science Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Irvine seeks a one year Visiting Lecturer to teach five undergraduate courses in International Relations and Comparative Politics. This part-time position will replace faculty on leave during the 2019-20 academic year.

Requirements - We are seeking candidates with strong teaching credentials who might contribute to our undergraduate program in these fields. Candidates should have a Ph.D. and be prepared to teach a mix of lower and upper division courses. These part-time positions are based on an annual salary range beginning at $54,738.

Service Period Dates for 2019-2020 Academic Year:

Fall Quarter: 9/23/19 – 12/13/19

Winter Quarter: 1/6/20 - 3/20/20

Spring Quarter: 3/30/20 – 6/11/20

Application Procedure - Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, vita, three letters of reference, evidence of teaching performance, and a Statement of Contributions to Diversity via our online recruit system: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF05284>

Priority for positions will be given to applications completed by July 1st, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 4/29/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5624

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Conflict Processes, International Security, Political Development

The Department of Politics at The University of the South seeks applications for two full-time, non-tenure-track positions of Visiting Assistant Professor for the academic year 2019-2020. Applicants with Ph.D. in hand are preferred, although applications from advanced graduate students are welcome (candidates without doctoral degree at time of hire are issued contract for Visiting Instructor).

Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in teaching. The teaching load for each position is six courses per year. In addition to ability to teach introductory courses in international relations and comparative politics, we are particularly interested in candidates with experience in teaching conflict and peace studies as well development and political economy. We are open to applicants of any regional specialization.

The University of the South comprises a nationally-ranked College of the Arts and Sciences and a distinguished School of Theology. It is an institution of the Episcopal Church that welcomes individuals of all backgrounds. It is located on a striking, 13,000-acre campus on Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau. Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background screening. The University of the South is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse campus environment. We are proud to be an equal opportunity educational institution and welcome all qualified applicants without regard to their race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, age, or veteran status.

Applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample syllabus, and contact information for a reference who can speak to teaching potential. These materials should be submitted through the application portal at <https://jobs.sewanee.edu/postings/3296>. Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful prescreening. Reviewing of applications will begin immediately, but best consideration will be given to applications submitted by April 1, 2019.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5478

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Visiting Lecturer

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a one-year, full-time position as Visiting Lecturer in Global Studies for the 2019-2020 academic year, with a possibility of renewal. Teaching obligations involve 18 credit hours (6 courses) and will include several sections of PS 550, Introduction to Global Studies, a course the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., courses in comparative politics, international relations, or political theory). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in political theory that complement our existing offerings (e.g., courses in non-western or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc.) as well as in comparative politics or international relations. All applicants should explain their qualifications to teach Intro to Global Studies (a large-format lecture course) and describe what additional courses they might offer.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by August 31, 2019. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, and two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjYx>.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5477

Augustana University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Augustana University invites applications for a full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor for the 2019-20 academic year. The position will begin in August 2019.

Responsibilities: The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. Courses to be taught include Introduction to Government, Introduction to American Government, and The American Presidency. The ideal candidate will be able to offer additional courses in American politics, comparative politics, and/or international relations. The total course load is three courses per semester, plus a three-week January term course.

Qualifications: Completed Ph.D. by August 1, 2019 strongly preferred. Evidence of teaching excellence expected.

Application Procedure: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, copies of graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including teaching evaluations), statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research plans, statement of commitment to diversity, a writing sample, a completed Augustana University employment application (available at <http://www.augie.edu/prospective-employees>) and three letters of recommendation to humanresources@augie.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Official web site: www.augie.edu.

Contact Department Chair with questions: Dr. Joel Johnson, Professor of Government and International Affairs, joel.johnson@augie.edu, 605.274.5319.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5435

Lincoln University of Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Lincoln University of Missouri invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science beginning August 2019. Areas of specialization include Comparative Politics and International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will also include the Introduction to American Government course.

Lincoln's political science program is part of an interdisciplinary department that includes social & behavioral sciences. The successful candidate will be a passionate teacher, mentor, and developer of innovative curriculum. Other job responsibilities include Model UN faculty advisor and Study Abroad participant.

Ph.D. preferred; ABD considered with college level teaching experience.

Application materials should be submitted electronically to gossetta@lincolnu.edu and include: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of previous teaching experience and three letters of reference. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable during screening. Official transcripts are required prior to employment. Will review applications as they are submitted.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Amy Gossett at gossetta@lincolnu.edu.

Lincoln University is a HBCU, land-grant, public university with enrollment of 2800 students and an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/4/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 5412

University of New Orleans

Rank: Doris Zemurray Stone Chair in Latin American Studies

POSITION SUMMARY: The University of New Orleans invites applications and nominations for the endowed Doris Zemurray Stone Chair in Latin American Studies. The University of New Orleans has expanded its work in Latin America to include faculty research in Latin America and a Latin American student outreach program. The endowment includes support for the Chair, for an annual conference, for a Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and for the expansion of summer and other programs in Latin America.

RESPONSIBILITIES: Responsibilities of the chair-holder include: 1) pursuit of chair-holder's research interest; 2) teaching in the chair-holder's area of expertise; 3) development and oversight of a center for Latin American studies; 4) curriculum development and coordination of existing course offerings in the study of Latin America, broadly defined; 5) participation in the existing Latin American Outreach Program, which includes recruitment of students in Latin America; 6) service as a University liaison to the local Latin American community; 7) organizing an annual academic conference, and 8) involvement in fundraising, including student scholarship from the endowment.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: PhD in a social science or humanities academic discipline as an advanced assistant professor or higher, with a clear track towards tenure; teaching, research, and administrative experience in Latin American and Caribbean studies sufficient to meet the expectations for an endowed chair-holder.

DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS: Experience in administrative and fund-raising activities towards program development and a record of teaching and research consistent with broadly conceived sympathies to interdisciplinary, cross-cultural, and comparative approaches to Latin American, Caribbean, and Circum-Caribbean studies, as well as broadly defined research, teaching and regional geographic interests. APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Application materials, including a letter of interest, a cv, a sample of published writing, and the names and contact information of three professional references, should be sent to Dr. Jeffrey David Ehrenreich, Zemurray Stone Chair Selection Committee, University of New Orleans, New Orleans, LA 70148 (jehrenre@uno.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/16/2018
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5159

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

he Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2019. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2019 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 31, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2018
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 4971

Temple University

Rank: Professor of Integrative Knowledge in Russian, Soviet, and Post-Soviet Studies
Specializations: Russia, History & Politics, Post Soviet Region

The Departments of Political Science and History at Temple University invite applications for the position of Professor of Integrative Knowledge in Russian, Soviet, and Post-Soviet Studies. We seek an established interdisciplinary scholar whose research and teaching address both Russian and/or Soviet history as well as the legacies of these earlier eras in the post-Soviet era, including topics such as the persistence of authoritarian rule as well as the important roles of the Soviet Union and Russia in world politics. This joint appointment in the Departments of History and Political Science is part of a broader initiative in the College of Liberal Arts to recruit senior faculty studying important questions across disciplinary boundaries. We seek someone who can be tenured at the level of either Associate or Full Professor in either (or both) Political Science and History.

Temple University is a state-related Carnegie Research University (highest research activity) located in Philadelphia. The College of Liberal Arts is home of 32 undergraduate majors, 32 minors, 23 certificate programs and 15 graduate degree programs. With its vibrant and diverse array of educational programs, the College of Liberal Arts plays, and its missions mirrors, both the historical importance of the liberal arts in society and the principles on which the university was founded.

Interested applicants should send a cover letter and curriculum vitae to <http://apply.interfolio.com/53872>. We will begin consideration of applications and nominations on October 15th. Professors Mark Pollack of Political Science and Alan McPherson of History will co-chair the search.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 10/15/2018
Date Posted: 8/30/2018
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 4736

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Chinese Politics: International or Comparative Political Economy
Specializations: China, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for a position in international relations or comparative politics with a focus on China. We are especially interested in scholars who examine China's role in the world through the lens of international or comparative political economy.

The Department prides itself on its ability to foster innovative research and forge cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods.

Applicants at the level of assistant or associate professor are welcome. In addition to a cover letter, all applicants should submit a research statement, description of teaching philosophy, a writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send three letters of recommendation via Interfolio. Applicants at the level of associate professor, please provide the names of three references. Please visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/64888> to upload application materials.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2020.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5726

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding. A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply
For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.
All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.
1) Cover letter

- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/3/2020

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5683

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments can be from 15 days to one-month during the 2020-2021 academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 18, 2019. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12122>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay, 15 days to one-month during the academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5682

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2020-2021 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2020 - January 31, 2021; spring semester: February 1- June 30, 2021). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 18, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12121>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Required Qualifications: Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5681

Texas A&M University

Rank: Tenure-track assistant professor

Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in International Affairs/Applied Methodology

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the broad area of International Affairs with skill in applied quantitative methodology. The Bush School of Government and Public Service has built an outstanding faculty who are looking to hire a collegial Assistant Professor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach more than one section of the required course in introductory-level quantitative methods. We are broadly open to a candidate's regional and/or topical area of international affairs specialization, e.g., political violence, human rights, or international migration and refugees. Bush School faculty exclusively teach master's degree graduate students in international affairs in a standard 2-2 load. We have a preference for candidates who would also be able to teach more advanced methods courses, quantitative or qualitative, including GIS. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at <http://bush.tamu.edu>.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, History, Geography, International Relations, or a related discipline by September 2020. The individual selected will have demonstrated a strong commitment to teaching and research in the context of a public policy graduate school environment. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2020.

Applicants should send a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae and a sample of written work, along with three letters of recommendation, to:

Professor Gregory Gause
c/o Ms. Peg Hosea (preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolta-facultysearch@tamu.edu)
The Bush School of Government & Public Service
Texas A&M University
4220 TAMU
College Station, TX 77843-4220

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5723

TUM School of Governance / Hochschule für Politik München

Rank: Full Professor in »Digital Governance«

The Technical University of Munich (TUM) invites applications for the position of Full Professor in »Digital Governance« to begin as soon as possible. The position is a tenured W3 position.

Scientific environment

TUM is the supporting university of the Hochschule für Politik München (HfP), which is committed to promoting open dialogue between policy makers, society, industry and engineering. The professorship is attached to the HfP and its corresponding department, the TUM School of Governance (GOV). The TUM School of Governance focuses its research and teaching on the interaction between politics, society, and technology, for instance seeking to integrate future technologies into the political dialogue and political decision-making.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate's responsibilities will include research and teaching as well as supporting and training early-career scientists. We seek to appoint an expert in the research area of Global Governance or Comparative Politics, with an innovative transdisciplinary research agenda in political science, who engages with current issues in digital governance at the national, European or global levels (ideally with a research profile in the area new modes of governance), and who can work in close cooperation with the thematically related departments in the Technical University of Munich, possibly including the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, the Department of Informatics and the Department of Mechanical Engineering. The teaching load includes courses in the university's bachelors and masters programs. We expect the successful candidate to integrate the study of technology with political science in their research and teaching. Inter- or transdisciplinary approaches are therefore considered an asset.

Qualifications

We are looking for a candidate with a high international reputation who has demonstrated an outstanding academic record and an internationally recognized research program. A university degree and an outstanding doctoral degree or equivalent scientific qualification as well as pedagogical aptitude, including the ability to teach in English, are also prerequisites. We expect the successful candidate to have substantial research experience abroad, the proven ability to put together and to lead cooperative research projects and attract third-party funding, and an empirical or/and theoretical focus on governance in the digital age from an inter- or transdisciplinary perspective.

Our Offer

TUM provides excellent working conditions in a lively scientific community, embedded in the vibrant research environment of the Greater Munich Area. The TUM Munich Dual Career Office (MDCO) provides tailored career consulting to the partners of newly appointed professors. MDCO gives assistance for relocation and integration of new professors, their partners and accompanying family members.

Your Application

TUM is an equal opportunity employer. As such, we explicitly encourage applications from women. Applications from disabled persons with essentially the same qualifications will be given preference.

Application documents should be presented in accordance with TUM's application guidelines for professors. These guidelines and detailed information about the TUM Appointment and Career System are available on <http://www.tum.de/faculty-recruiting>.

Please send your application no later than July 15, 2019 to the Dean of the TUM School of Governance, Prof. Eugénia da Conceição-Heldt, Email: dekanat@gov.tum.de

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 7/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/27/2019

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5720

Santa Clara University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Santa Clara University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Relations or Comparative Politics to begin in fall 2020. We seek a teacher-scholar with demonstrated commitment to, and excellence in, both undergraduate teaching and scholarly achievement.

Applicants must have a PhD at the time of appointment, experience teaching at the university level, and a clear research trajectory, with a record of publication strongly preferred. The person we hire will teach Introduction to International Relations or Introduction to Comparative Politics, upper-division courses in their area of specialty, and Introduction to Political Science Research. We are seeking applicants who do not overlap with the department's existing strengths in the following areas: international relations (IPE, Asia-Pacific IR, environmental politics) and comparative politics (Western Europe, democratization and post-communist states, the Middle East, Japan).

The application deadline is August 26, 2019. Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a CV, (3) a teaching portfolio that includes a statement of teaching philosophy and interests as well as sample syllabi and teaching evaluations, (4) a writing sample (no more than 40 pages), and (5) unofficial graduate transcripts. Three letters of reference will be solicited automatically through the HR applicant portal upon submission of the application.

Located in the heart of northern California's Silicon Valley, Santa Clara is a private, Jesuit, Catholic university committed to promoting social justice in a comprehensive educational setting. Faculty are teaching-scholars who balance a commitment to quality teaching with active programs of research. A full-time teaching load is seven courses over three 10-week quarters, with a one-course reduction for research. Faculty receive scholarship support through sabbaticals and travel funds. Housing assistance is available.

Santa Clara University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer committed to the strategic goal of enriching the quality of our community of scholars by increasing the diversity among faculty, staff, and students. Women, persons of color, and members of historically underrepresented groups who can contribute to this goal are especially encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths, experiences, or interests related to achieving this goal in their letter of application.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 8/26/2019
Date Posted: 6/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5727

Whitman College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Political Theory

Tenure-track position in law and politics in global context at the rank of assistant professor. Effective August 2020. Ph.D. required.

We are interested in a teacher-scholar with a focus on law and politics in a global context. We welcome candidates who work with a variety of methods, including fieldwork, archival, historical institutional, political theoretical, and/or legal textual approaches. Candidates might offer courses such as international law; international politics; decolonization; human rights; theories of empire; comparative constitutionalism; indigenous politics; and/or area-specific courses on Asia, Africa, or Latin America. The candidate selected for the position will have the opportunity to contribute to the work of the college's Center for Global Studies, as well as interdisciplinary programs such as Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, and Race and Ethnic Studies, as appropriate. Women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

The standard annual teaching load is five courses. The College provides a generous sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching.

Whitman College is committed to cultivating a diverse learning community. Applicants should explain how their classroom and scholarly practices will serve to create and sustain an inclusive learning environment. This statement can be included in the cover letter or the teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should address their interest in working at a liberal arts college with undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction.

To apply, go to <https://whitmanhr.simplehire.com/>, click "Faculty" and "Assistant Professor of Politics". The online application will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a letter of application; separate statements addressing the candidate's teaching interests and scholarly agenda; curriculum vitae; the contact information for three people who will be contacted for letters of reference; graduate transcripts; and complete sets of teaching evaluations or other evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction.

Deadline: August 15, 2019.

Whitman College is building a diverse academic community and especially encourages applications from women, members of historically underrepresented minority groups, persons with disabilities, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's learning environment. Whitman College is an EEO employer.

For additional information about Whitman College and the Walla Walla area, see www.whitman.edu and www.wallawalla.org.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 8/15/2019
Date Posted: 6/19/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5700

College of William & Mary

Rank: Geospatial Scientist

AidData Geospatial Scientist

The Global Research Institute is currently seeking a Geospatial Scientist to support and improve AidData's ongoing efforts to design and implement cutting-edge international development research with geospatial data, methods, and tools. The successful candidate will have at least 3-5 years of research experience, with particular expertise in geospatial information systems (GIS) and remote sensing in developing country contexts. Experience working with high-performance computing environments and machine learning applications is strongly preferred. Experience engaging with policymakers, practitioners, and/or information technology specialists from the global development community is also preferred. Depending on qualifications, the successful applicant may hold an affiliate appointment as research faculty in an appropriate department and/or interdisciplinary program at William and Mary. This position is based in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Responsibilities will include, but not necessarily be limited to the following:

- Designing and undertaking innovative, policy-oriented research on subnational aid distribution and impact, including research that supports existing AidData projects and programs and self-directed research
- Collaborating with a multidisciplinary team of AidData faculty and staff on geospatial impact evaluations, with primary responsibilities for remote sensing measurement and geospatial data management, potentially including machine learning approaches for data production
- Overseeing collection of geographic data (geo-referencing) for international development activities, including technical leadership and management staff and research assistants
- Leading the expansion and ongoing development of AidData's GeoQuery tool and backend infrastructure, with support from AidData and WM staff.
- Publishing articles, working papers, policy briefs, blogs and short commentaries that target the policy community, and engaging in AidData policy outreach activities and speaking engagements
- Working with AidData's leadership team to seek funding and prepare grant proposals
- Supervising and providing mentorship to AidData staff and student research assistants

Special Application Instructions

Candidates must apply via the William & Mary Employment Opportunities portal. For more details and to apply, please visit the position listing at <https://jobs.wm.edu/postings/35980>. Click Apply for this Job to apply with your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter, and a writing sample in the "Other Documents" field in the Applicant Documents Tab.

Please provide a journal article or working paper that demonstrates your expertise in the use of satellite-based imagery and associated data products (such as those from the Landsat and Sentinel programs and private providers such as DigitalGlobe and Planet). Under Applicant Documents-Writing Sample.

Required Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in geography, GIS, statistics, or a related field
- Expertise in remote sensing, particularly satellite-based imagery and associated data products (such as those from the Landsat and Sentinel programs and private providers such as DigitalGlobe and Planet).
- 3-5 years of relevant experience working for or with an academic institution, a bilateral or multilateral aid agency, non-governmental organization, or think tank
- Demonstrated proficiency and interest in ArcGIS (or QGIS or similar GIS tools), R Studio (or Stata or similar statistical programs), and Python (or similar languages)
- Experience working in a high-performance computing environment (cluster- and/or cloud-based)
- Ability to work collaboratively with social scientists, computer engineers, and program staff

- Strong commitment and understanding of AidData's mission and goals
- Ability to work independently and collaboratively to support AidData projects, programs, or initiatives
- Demonstrated capacity to deliver high-quality policy-relevant publications and products within tight deadlines and budgets;
- Excellent interpersonal skills and leadership qualities;
- Ability to collaborate effectively with inter-disciplinary teams, governments, multilateral institutions, and donors
- Excellent written and oral communication skills in English, including the ability to present complex issues to non-specialist audiences.

Preferred Qualifications:

- A doctoral degree in geography, GIS, statistics, or a related field
- A track record of publishing rigorous, peer-reviewed social science research in a reproducible manner (i.e. making data and statistical code publicly available to enable independent, third party replication)
- Experience working with georeferenced development investment and outcome data
- Familiarity with and interest in machine learning and network analysis
- Ability to integrate sample surveys involving human interviews, administrative data, and/or social media-based data with the aforementioned remotely sensed data to address real-world problems
- Demonstrated experience managing and mentoring data analysts

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The College of William & Mary values diversity and invites applications from underrepresented groups who will enrich the research, teaching and service missions of the university. The College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and encourages applications from women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

Background Check Statement

The College of William & Mary is committed to providing a safe campus community. W&M conducts background investigations for applicants being considered for employment. Background investigations include reference checks, a criminal history record check, and when appropriate, a financial (credit) report or driving history check.

About the organization

We are a research lab of over 30 faculty and staff with a track record of successfully managing more than 60 grants and contracts worth more than $40 million over the last 13 years. We are economists, political scientists, computational geographers, spatial epidemiologists, program evaluators, policy analysts, media and communication professionals, and more.

Headquartered in Williamsburg, Virginia at the College of William and Mary, AidData offers competitive compensation and a generous benefits package, including comprehensive health, dental, and life insurance; retirement; gym access; flexible work schedule; and much, much more.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5694

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in International Relations at the assistant professor rank. Candidates whose work focuses on international security will receive special consideration, but we also encourage scholars of foreign policy to apply. We are seeking candidates with a regional specialization in East Asia. Teaching responsibilities will involve both undergraduate courses and graduate seminars in our Masters of Global Studies (MGS) program. The successful candidate will be expected to teach general courses on international relations, courses in their specific IR subfield, and courses on the comparative politics of East Asia. While ABDs will be considered, applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2020. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time faculty members, approximately 150 undergraduate majors and master's programs in both Public Administration and Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. George Connor, Head
Department of Political Science
Missouri State University
901 S. National Ave.
Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins September 16, 2019 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5679

University of Oxford

Rank: Hedley Bull Research Fellowship in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 - £39,609 p.a.

The Department of Politics and International Relations (DPIR), University of Oxford, proposes to appoint a Hedley Bull Research Fellow in International Relations. The post will be associated with a non-stipendiary Fellowship position at one of the Oxford Colleges.

The successful candidate will be based at the Department for Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford. The appointment will be offered on a full-time basis and available from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter for a period of 3 years.

The person appointed will engage in sophisticated and original independent research and contribute to teaching and research activities of the DPIR and the College. For the Department, this involves small scale project management and co-ordinating multiple aspects of research and administrative work to meet deadlines. For the College, the postholder will be expected to teach International Relations (IR) papers and may be asked to participate in the annual admissions exercise.

This position will offer the successful candidate exceptional career opportunities to work in an internationally renowned Department which benefits from excellent facilities for research and teaching and the presence of leading international academics.

Applicants for this post should hold, or be close to completion of, a relevant PhD/DPhil by September 2019 and possess sufficient specialist knowledge in the discipline of International Relations. They should also be able to demonstrate a track record of excellent quality publications in highly-ranked academic journals and/or major presses and an ability to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate level in the field of International Relations.

The duties, responsibilities, and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars which also contain details on how to apply.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 8 July 2019. Interviews are expected to be held on Thursday 18 July 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website, quoting reference 141000

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 7/8/2019

Date Posted: 6/10/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5675

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor International Political Economy

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position in International Political Economy at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2020. Ph.D. in political science is strongly preferred. ABDs in political science or government will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D.

Candidates should have a thorough grounding in International Relations and economics and demonstrate the ability to address questions of broad relevance to the global economy. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Teaching duties include a 3/2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3/2 teaching load is continued for another three years.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 13, 2019. Questions about the position can be directed to the department chair, Dr. Marcus Kreuzer at political.science@villanova.edu.

Candidates interested in arranging an interview at the APSA conference, please send your CV to political.science@villanova.edu no later than August 15. We will notify prospective interviewees by August 20.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/13/2019
Date Posted: 6/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5677

University of Oxford

Rank: Departmental Lecturer in International Relations
Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 - £39,609 p.a. (with a discretionary range up to £43,267 p.a.)

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is seeking to appoint a full-time fixed-term Departmental Lecturer in International Relations from 1 September 2019 until 31 August 2020.

The successful candidate will provide teaching and supervision for the Department of Politics and International Relations at the undergraduate and graduate level, while contributing to the Departmental examining processes and undertaking independent research in International Relations. They will also provide support to the undergraduate and graduate admissions processes at the Department.

This post is offered on a full-time basis to commence from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter. Office space and other relevant facilities will be provided in the Department of Politics and International Relations.

The ideal candidate will hold a relevant PhD/DPhil by September 2019 (or be close to completion). They will be able to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching to high-achieving students at both the undergraduate and graduate level in the field of International Relations and US Foreign Policy, and to advise MPhil and DPhil students on their research projects. Further essential criteria include experience in carrying out independent research and a track record of publications in highly-ranked, peer-reviewed journals or major presses, as well as an ability to commit to the full range of academic duties in the Department.

A subject specialism in US Foreign Policy or the Middle East is desirable but not essential.

The duties, responsibilities and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars (Vacancy ID: 141070), which also contain details on how to apply. These are available from the link below. If you have any questions regarding the vacancy please contact vacancies@politics.ox.ac.uk.

The closing date for applications is Monday noon (UK time), 1st July 2019. Interviews for this post are expected to take place in Oxford on Thursday, 18th July 2019.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 6/19/2019
Date Posted: 6/6/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 5672

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow - SCHOOLPOL: The Transformation of Post-war Education: Causes and Effects
Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 p.a.

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join their research project team directed by Professor Jane Gingrich, the Principal Investigator (PI). The project examines the post-war development of education systems in OECD countries, divided over three work streams.

The successful candidate will be based at the Department for Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford. The appointment will be offered on a full-time basis and available from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter for a period of 3 years.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all work streams, including undertaking advanced research within the context of the entire project, with a particular emphasis on historical or quantitative data collection. In addition to pursuing their own related research agenda, s/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project and to co-author work with the Principal Investigator.

The postholder's duties will also include assisting in the compilation of a cross-national database of policies and legislation related to education from the post-war period onwards, and contributing to the dissemination of project results (including the construction of an online open-access database). S/he will be expected to present findings and outputs from the project at international conferences.

The successful candidate will hold, or be close to completion of, a doctorate in the field of political science, sociology, economics or a related area. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of education policy and experience in historical or archival research, or quantitative data collection. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 24 June 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit: <https://my.corehr.com> quoting reference 140865.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 6/24/2019
Date Posted: 6/6/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 5673

American University-SIS

Rank: Two Full-Time Non-Tenure Track Faculty Positions

Specializations: Research Methods, Defense, International Security

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for two full-time, non-tenure track faculty appointment for AY 19-20. Rank will be dependent on experience and stature in the field. The appointments are for one year, commencing on August 1, 2019, with the expectation that the appointment may be renewed for subsequent academic years subject to satisfactory performance and budgetary authorization.

The position is intended for a person who would teach six undergraduate and/or graduate courses per academic year. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service. Applicants should share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a social science discipline, though experienced practitioners with equivalent (MA/MS and ten years of professional experience) will also be considered.

For one of the two positions, a core responsibility will be teaching Intercultural Communication in our undergraduate program. However, we are also interested in candidates who can teach in the following areas:

- Intercultural Communication
- International Development
- National and Global Security
- Research Design and Methods

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

- Applications must be submitted electronically via apply.interfolio.com/63801.

- A comprehensive Curriculum Vitæ.

- Attach a letter of application that addresses affinities with relevant teaching areas

- Attach recent teaching evaluations

- Please also attach a statement of your past or future contributions to diversity and inclusion in professional settings.

- You will be asked to submit the names and email addresses of three references and request that Interfolio contact them for a confidential letter of recommendation.

Queries about the search may be sent to sisfacultyaffairs@american.edu. Queries about the online application system may be sent to help@interfolio.com.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5670

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Political Economy

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs (www.inta.gatech.edu) at the Georgia Institute of Technology invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Political Economy. Scholars with a specialization in the Global South are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to the teaching and mentoring of students.

Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. The Nunn School is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests and advising/mentoring philosophy, and the names and contact information for at least three references. Application materials should be submitted as .PDF files via IPResearch@inta.gatech.edu. The references should submit their letters directly at the time of application. Requests for information may be directed to Alasdair Young (alasdair.young@gatech.edu). Applications will be considered beginning 1 October 2019, but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We strongly encourage applications from women, underrepresented minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance and is aware that attracting faculty may require meeting the needs of two careers.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5669

University of Mannheim

Rank: Research Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Collaborative Research Center (SFB 884) "Political Economy of Reforms" hosted at the University of Mannheim is looking for a

* Research-Fellow (Post Doctoral Researcher, TV-L 15) *

The mission of the interdisciplinary Research Center (SFB 884) on the Political Economy of Reforms is to gain new interdisciplinary insights into the success and failure of political reforms in democracies. It draws together researchers in economics, political science, sociology, statistics and computer sciences at the University of Mannheim.

The English-speaking environment of the SFB 884, which is funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG), offers an excellent opportunity to work in a team with a strong focus on quantitative research and international collaboration (for more information about the SFB 884, see <http://reforms.uni-mannheim.de/>). Salary is commensurate with experience and is at least 53,000 Euros with additional employer benefits (according to public pay scheme TV-L E15). Furthermore, the SFB 884 supports traveling at conferences, workshops etc.

The successful applicant should hold a doctoral degree in economics, political science or another relevant discipline with a strong analytical and quantitative background and a focus on Political Economy in Europe. We expect publications, especially in international top peer-reviewed scholarly journals.

The position will be open from September 2019 on. Funding for the position is available until December 31, 2021, with potential prolongation in case of successful new SFB application.

The tasks of the research fellow:

* Collaborating with the projects of the SFB 884, i.e. preparing final report

* Contributing to future research plans, i.e. new SFB proposal on Europe

Applications should be submitted in English and include a CV, copies of your diplomas (including your PhD certificate), publication list, and letter of motivation. The letter of motivation should outline the substantive research agenda of the candidate. In case you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact Prof. Dr. Thomas König (koenig@uni-mannheim.de / +49(0)621-181-2074).

Please send your application by June 15, 2019 to application@reforms.uni-mannheim.de with the keyword "Fellow application". As an equal opportunity employer, the University of Mannheim particularly encourages applications from women and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 6/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/3/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5664

Occidental College

Rank: Associate Professor in Global Political Economy/Development Practice

A search in Global Political Economy at the Associate Professor with tenure or at the Advanced Assistant levels. We are looking for applicants who have demonstrated an ambitious research and practice agenda with a particular interest in applicants whose work focuses on areas such as the Sustainable Development Goals; Human Rights-based Approaches to Economic Development; Equity/Equality in economic structures (with reference to race, class, identity, and/or gender and the imperative of democratic inclusion); or alternative approaches to studying dominant approaches to international trade, globalization and other topic areas in Global Political Economy. More information on the Young Initiative is here: <https://www.oxy.edu/academics/global-engagement/young-initiative>. The hire will eventually be expected to play a leadership role in the Young Initiative Committee, including its rotating chair-ship.

Priority will be given to applicants who have demonstrated a research agenda that leverages substantial fieldwork with international or regional organizations and/or transnational NGOs. An expectation will be that the hire will continue Occidental College's engagement with on-the-ground work in international affairs, at the local/Los Angeles, transnational, and/or global levels. A priority is the ability to advance the College's mission and an understanding of the distinctiveness of the Liberal Arts culture.

Occidental College is a highly-selective, urban liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body, its commitment to academic excellence and equity, and its undergraduate research programs. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, the College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in Northeast Los Angeles. As one of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental affords students and faculty unique engagement with communities, cultural institutions, and academic resources throughout Los Angeles. Occidental College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, sexual orientation, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by State or Federal Law. We strongly encourage all underrepresented candidates, especially women and persons of color, to apply.

Candidates should send their application as an electronic file to Ms. Chamnan Lim at youngsearch@oxy.edu. A complete application will include the following materials: (1) a cover letter that details the interest in teaching at Occidental and potential linkages to priorities of the Young Initiative in Global Political Economy; (2) a discussion of the applicant's academic research and field practice; (3) a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; (4) a scholarly work sample; (5) Curriculum Vitae; and (6) a list of referees.

All materials are due no later than October 1, 2019; applications received after the deadline will not be reviewed. Interviews of semi-finalists will be held via videoconference.

For information on the Department of Diplomacy & World Affairs, including current course offerings, please visit our website at: <http://www.oxy.edu/diplomacy-world-affairs>. For information on the Young Initiative on the Global Political Economy, please visit our website at the address noted above. Inquiries about the position, the DWA department, or the Young Initiative can be directed to the Interim Young Initiative in the Global Political Economy Chair, Professor Anthony Tirado Chase: achase@oxy.edu.

We will consider for employment all qualified Applicants, including those with Criminal Histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5660

Washington & Lee University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Washington and Lee University invites applications for a 1-year, visiting position in Comparative Politics or International Relations. The successful candidate will be expected to teach sections of the Department's introductory courses in Global Politics and American National Government, and an introductory course in statistics, as well as an upper level course related to the candidate's field of expertise. Area of specialization is open.

Washington and Lee is a highly selective university devoted to the teaching of the liberal arts. We are committed to excellence in teaching and to the research and professional activity that support it. Situated in the Shenandoah Valley, three hours southwest of Washington, DC, the university enrolls approximately 1,800 undergraduates and 315 law students.

Women and minority candidates are especially encouraged to apply.

Qualifications

A completed Ph.D. is required by the time of appointment, which begins July 1, 2019.

Application Instructions

Applicants should provide: (1) a letter of application; (2) current CV; (3) three letters of recommendation; and (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness, including but not limited to peer or supervisor observation letters and student course evaluations, if available.

Address letters of application to Politics Search Committee Head. Please apply online using the following link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/63652>.

Application review will begin immediately and continue on a rolling basis until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5653

Westmont College

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

Miami University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor (two positions) open to subfields in American Politics, International Relations, or Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Visiting Assistant Professor/Instructor (two positions) open to subfields in American Politics, International Relations, or Comparative Politics; teach American Politics & Diversity (to international students); opportunity to teach constitutional law, and courses in area of subfield specialty; advise students. Appointment for the 2019-20 academic year.

Require: PhD at the time of appointment in Political Science or a related field (for appointment as Visiting Assistant Professor); ABD (for appointment as Instructor); teaching experience in some of the courses to be taught. Position not eligible for H-1B sponsorship.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research plans, transcripts, writing sample and evidence of teaching effectiveness, if available, <http://jobs.miamioh.edu/cw/enus/job/495341>. Letters of reference will be requested by the department at a later date. Inquiries may be directed to Bryan Marshall at marshabw@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin May 21, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5638

BYU Political Science

Rank: Political Science Faculty

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Brigham Young University seeks applications for a continuing faculty status (tenure) track position from highly qualified candidates with a completed Ph.D. in any area of political science. Successful candidates will have a strong research agenda, demonstrate potential for high-quality teaching, and be committed to giving the university's students a sound academic experience. Rank is open. Salary, teaching load, and research and travel support are competitive.

Although this announcement is for a CFS (tenure) -track position, it may be filled by a visitor.

BYU, an equal opportunity employer, requires all faculty to observe the university's honor code and dress and grooming standards. Preference is given to qualified candidate who are members in good standing of the affiliated church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

To apply, go to <https://yjobs.byu.edu/> and search for Job ID 81551. Fill out the application and attach your updated Curriculum Vitae and cover letter. Please also list the individual contact information for each of your three recommenders so they may be contacted at some point during the selection process. Finally, send graduate transcript and at least two samples of scholarly work to Sven Wilson, Chair, Department of Political Science, Brigham Young University, 745 KMBL, Provo, UT 84602, Phone (801) 422-9018, Fax (801) 422-0580, sven_wilson@byu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 8/15/2019
Date Posted: 5/9/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5633

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Temporary Lecturer
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) and The International Studies Program at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body.

Pending budgetary approval, several non tenure-track lectureships are expected to be available for the 2019-20 academic year, and possibly Summer Session 2020. Appointments may be for one or more quarters/sessions based on department need.

All areas of international affairs, international studies, regional studies, business-government relations, and international economics will be considered.

A Ph.D. in Economics, Political Science, International Management or experience in related fields and outstanding teaching experience are required. Research experience and a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion are highly desirable.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, individuals offered employment with the University of California must be authorized to work in the United States.

The 9-month salary and level of appointment are based on qualifications and UC pay scale.

Applications received by September 1, 2019 will be given full consideration.

Apply via <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02067>

Submit:

- CV
- Teaching evaluations (2-3 course evaluations)
- Statement of Teaching
- Sample Course Syllabus

· Statement describing past and/or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html> for further information).

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 9/1/2019
Date Posted: 5/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5612

University of California, Irvine

Rank: Political Science Visiting Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at the University of California, Irvine seeks a one year Visiting Lecturer to teach five undergraduate courses in International Relations and Comparative Politics. This part-time position will replace faculty on leave during the 2019-20 academic year.

Requirements - We are seeking candidates with strong teaching credentials who might contribute to our undergraduate program in these fields. Candidates should have a Ph.D. and be prepared to teach a mix of lower and upper division courses. These part-time positions are based on an annual salary range beginning at $54,738.

Service Period Dates for 2019-2020 Academic Year:
 Fall Quarter: 9/23/19 – 12/13/19
 Winter Quarter: 1/6/20 - 3/20/20
 Spring Quarter: 3/30/20 – 6/11/20

Application Procedure - Interested applicants should submit a letter of application, vita, three letters of reference, evidence of teaching performance, and a Statement of Contributions to Diversity via our online recruit system: <https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/JPF05284>

Priority for positions will be given to applications completed by July 1st, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 9/16/2019
Date Posted: 4/29/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 5624

University of Alabama in Huntsville

Rank: Full - Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Regulatory Policy

JOB DESCRIPTION/REQUIREMENTS: The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama in Huntsville invites applications for a full-time lecturer position in politics and public policy to begin on August 14, 2019. A full-time lecturer position at UAH is a teaching position with a 4/4 teaching load, both undergraduate and graduate courses, but no research responsibilities.

Candidates for the position must have a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a Ph.D. degree in a related discipline with at least 18 hours of graduate coursework in Political Science. We are seeking a candidate with a concentration in domestic or international public policy. In addition, candidates must be able to teach courses in national and international intelligence and security to contribute to a planned program in criminal justice and intelligence studies. Salary is commensurate with experience. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY: The University of Alabama in Huntsville, classified as a High Research Activity institution, offers academic and research programs in the Colleges of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Business, Education, Engineering, Nursing, Professional and Continuing Studies, and Science. Huntsville maintains one of the highest per capita incomes and standards of living in the Southeast. It is a national center of aerospace and high technology research and is home to NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center. A vibrant downtown entertainment district, including Broadway and symphony performances, contribute to Huntsville's cultural life. For more information about Huntsville and its convenient location to Nashville, Birmingham, and Atlanta, please visit <http://www.huntsville.org>.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE: The College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Alabama in Huntsville comprises 10 departments and 94 full-time faculty. We offer a wide array of programs in the arts, humanities, and social sciences including 25 B.A. programs, five M.A. programs, and six certificate programs. We recently added a BFA with a Gaming and Animation track. The college has also led the way in creating several interdisciplinary minors, such as Women's and Gender Studies, Global Studies, and Science, Technology, and Society. Our class sizes are relatively small and our collegial faculty are committed to our students' successes.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science offers a BA major and minor in Political Science, an MA in Public Affairs & Policy, a Pre-Law Certificate Program (undergraduate, with the Department of Philosophy), and an International Security Policy Certificate Program (graduate). The undergraduate curriculum provides a major and a minor in political science with courses offered in American government, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy, public law, public policy, and methodology. The graduate program focuses on domestic and international public policy, including policy formation, implementation, and evaluation, with special emphasis in intelligence and security studies. For more information about the Department, please visit <http://www.uah.edu/ahs/departments/political-science>.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Application review will begin May 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: A complete application must include a letter of application, a detailed curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, graduate transcripts, and contact information for at least three professional references. Review of application materials will begin as soon as possible and materials will be accepted until the position is filled. Interviews will be conducted via Skype. Application material should be sent to: Dr. John Pottenger, Chair; Department of Political Science; Conference Training Center, Room 106; University of Alabama in Huntsville; Huntsville, AL 35899 or polsci@uah.edu.

The University of Alabama in Huntsville is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer of minorities/ females/ veterans/ disabled. Please refer to log number: 19/20-353

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/18/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5608

SUNY, Potsdam

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Department of Politics, State University of New York at Potsdam, seeks a one-year visiting assistant professor in political theory.

The faculty member in this position will teach courses required for the political science major/minor and one or more courses for the general education program. Fall 2019 courses will include introduction to political theory and a general education politics course for non-majors. The third course will be either introduction to U.S. politics or introduction to international relations. Spring 2020 courses will include two required political science courses and one elective course.

Required qualifications:

Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. In addition, we are seeking candidates who possess communication and interpersonal skills sufficient to work effectively with an increasingly diverse array of students and colleagues and who have demonstrated a commitment to creating, fostering and sustaining an inclusive environment in and out of the classroom. A master's degree in political science is also required.

Preferred qualifications:

A Ph.D. in political science is preferred. In addition to political theory, research or teaching experience in the areas of public law, public policy or international relations (other than international political economy) would be welcomed. More broadly, we are seeking candidates who have worked with, done research with, or taught underrepresented groups and have worked collaboratively across various departments in fostering success of underrepresented groups.

Applicants should e-mail a cover letter, curriculum vitae, the names and contact information of three references and evidence of teaching effectiveness directly to Dr. Robert Hinckley, Chair & Associate Professor, at hincklra@potsdam.edu.

The position will remain open until filled but full consideration will be granted to those who submit all materials by April 19, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5591

Sewanee: The University of the South

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Conflict Processes, International Security, Political Development

The Department of Politics at The University of the South seeks applications for two full-time, non-tenure-track positions of Visiting Assistant Professor for the academic year 2019-2020. Applicants with Ph.D. in hand are preferred, although applications from advanced graduate students are welcome (candidates without doctoral degree at time of hire are issued contract for Visiting Instructor).

Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in teaching. The teaching load for each position is six courses per year. In addition to ability to teach introductory courses in international relations and comparative politics, we are particularly interested in candidates with experience in teaching conflict and peace studies as well development and political economy. We are open to applicants of any regional specialization.

The University of the South comprises a nationally-ranked College of the Arts and Sciences and a distinguished School of Theology. It is an institution of the Episcopal Church that welcomes individuals of all backgrounds. It is located on a striking, 13,000-acre campus on Tennessee's Cumberland Plateau. Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background screening. The University of the South is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse campus environment. We are proud to be an equal opportunity educational institution and welcome all qualified applicants without regard to their race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, age, or veteran status.

Applicants must submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample syllabus, and contact information for a reference who can speak to teaching potential. These materials should be submitted through the application portal at <https://jobs.sewanee.edu/postings/3296>. Eligibility for employment is contingent upon successful prescreening. Reviewing of applications will begin immediately, but best consideration will be given to applications submitted by April 1, 2019.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5478

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Visiting Lecturer

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a one-year, full-time position as Visiting Lecturer in Global Studies for the 2019-2020 academic year, with a possibility of renewal. Teaching obligations involve 18 credit hours (6 courses) and will include several sections of PS 550, Introduction to Global Studies, a course the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., courses in comparative politics, international relations, or political theory). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in political theory that complement our existing offerings (e.g., courses in non-western or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc.) as well as in comparative politics or international relations. All applicants should explain their qualifications to teach Intro to Global Studies (a large-format lecture course) and describe what additional courses they might offer.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by August 31, 2019. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, and two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjYx>.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5477

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

University of New England

Rank: Assistant Lecturer, International Relations and Global Studies

The Department of Political Science at the University of New England seeks applicants for a full-time, non-tenure track Assistant Lecturer in International Relations and Global Studies beginning in the 2019-2020 academic year.

The ideal candidate will offer a range of introductory and advanced level courses in international relations, depending on the candidate's interest and expertise. The candidate will also teach Introduction to Global Studies and help guide students interested in the Global Studies major. The ability to teach in another sub-field, especially American or Comparative Politics, would be of additional value to the department. Political science courses at UNE are generally taught in a seminar style, with an emphasis on high-engagement with students.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Sciences or related field at the time of appointment. Candidates with teaching experience are preferred.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please visit the job advertisement at the UNE website:

<https://une.peopleadmin.com/postings/5435>

You will be asked submit the following materials:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information for three professional references
- A statement of teaching philosophy
- Evidence of effective teaching

You may also submit supplementary materials about your research program if you choose.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/13/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 5437

Augustana University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Augustana University invites applications for a full-time, Visiting Assistant Professor for the 2019-20 academic year. The position will begin in August 2019.

Responsibilities: The successful applicant will demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment. Courses to be taught include Introduction to Government, Introduction to American Government, and The American Presidency. The ideal candidate will be able to offer additional courses in American politics, comparative politics, and/or international relations. The total course load is three courses per semester, plus a three-week January term course.

Qualifications: Completed Ph.D. by August 1, 2019 strongly preferred. Evidence of teaching excellence expected.

Application Procedure: Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, copies of graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness (including teaching evaluations), statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research plans, statement of commitment to diversity, a writing sample, a completed Augustana University employment application (available at <http://www.augie.edu/prospective-employees>) and three letters of recommendation to humanresources@augie.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Official web site: www.augie.edu.

Contact Department Chair with questions: Dr. Joel Johnson, Professor of Government and International Affairs, joel.johnson@augie.edu, 605.274.5319.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5435

Lincoln University of Missouri

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Lincoln University of Missouri invites applicants for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Political Science beginning August 2019. Areas of specialization include Comparative Politics and International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will also include the Introduction to American Government course.

Lincoln's political science program is part of an interdisciplinary department that includes social & behavioral sciences. The successful candidate will be a passionate teacher, mentor, and developer of innovative curriculum. Other job responsibilities include Model UN faculty advisor and Study Abroad participant.

Ph.D. preferred; ABD considered with college level teaching experience.

Application materials should be submitted electronically to gossetta@lincolnu.edu and include: letter of interest, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of previous teaching experience and three letters of reference. Unofficial transcripts are acceptable during screening. Official transcripts are required prior to employment.

Will review applications as they are submitted.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Amy Gossett at gossetta@lincolnu.edu.

Lincoln University is a HBCU, land-grant, public university with enrollment of 2800 students and an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/4/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5412

University of Southern California

Rank: Teaching Postdoctoral Fellow

Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, East Asia

Teaching Postdoctoral Fellowship AY 19-20
School of International Relations Los Angeles, California
University of Southern California

The School of International Relations in the Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (USC; Los Angeles, California) invites applications for postdoctoral positions with two-course teaching for AY2019–20. The fall semester starts in the third week of August 2019. We seek applicants with expertise in quantitative methods, international security, international political economy and international relations of Asia with focus on China. The successful candidates will join the Center for International Studies (CIS) at USC as postdoctoral fellows and are expected to teach one 15-week course per semester for two semesters, with the possibility of renewal of the appointment. We also look for candidates with a strong research profile with emphasis on academic publications and an interest in engaging in the vibrant research community of the School of International Relations and the CIS. A PhD is required by time of the appointment.

Applications should be complete by January 31, 2019, to receive fullest consideration. Applicants are required to complete the online application process (with few exceptions—such as published books—materials submitted by regular post will not be accepted). Follow this link or paste it in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/postdoctoral-scholar-teaching-fellow/1209/9778991> Required materials include a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, research sample, a list of proposed courses to teach, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the three reference letters, and official graduate transcripts. Inquiries may be sent to cis@dornsife.usc.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5081

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2019. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2019 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 31, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/5/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4971

Temple University

Rank: Professor of Integrative Knowledge in Russian, Soviet, and Post-Soviet Studies

Specializations: Russia, History & Politics, Post Soviet Region

The Departments of Political Science and History at Temple University invite applications for the position of Professor of Integrative Knowledge in Russian, Soviet, and Post-Soviet Studies. We seek an established interdisciplinary scholar whose research and teaching address both Russian and/or Soviet history as well as the legacies of these earlier eras in the post-Soviet era, including topics such as the persistence of authoritarian rule as well as the important roles of the Soviet Union and Russia in world politics. This joint appointment in the Departments of History and Political Science is part of a broader initiative in the College of Liberal Arts to recruit senior faculty studying important questions across disciplinary boundaries. We seek someone who can be tenured at the level of either Associate or Full Professor in either (or both) Political Science and History.

Temple University is a state-related Carnegie Research University (highest research activity) located in Philadelphia. The College of Liberal Arts is home of 32 undergraduate majors, 32 minors, 23 certificate programs and 15 graduate degree programs. With its vibrant and diverse array of educational programs, the College of Liberal Arts plays, and its missions mirrors, both the historical importance of the liberal arts in society and the principles on which the university was founded.

Interested applicants should send a cover letter and curriculum vitae to <http://apply.interfolio.com/53872>. We will begin consideration of applications and nominations on October 15th. Professors Mark Pollack of Political Science and Alan McPherson of History will co-chair the search.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 10/15/2018

Date Posted: 8/30/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4736

METHODOLOGYTexas A&M University*Rank: Tenure-track assistant professor

Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in International Affairs/Applied Methodology

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the broad area of International Affairs with skill in applied quantitative methodology. The Bush School of Government and Public Service has built an outstanding faculty who are looking to hire a collegial Assistant Professor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach more than one section of the required course in introductory-level quantitative methods. We are broadly open to a candidate's regional and/or topical area of international affairs specialization, e.g., political violence, human rights, or international migration and refugees. Bush School faculty exclusively teach master's degree graduate students in international affairs in a standard 2-2 load. We have a preference for candidates who would also be able to teach more advanced methods courses, quantitative or qualitative, including GIS. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at <http://bush.tamu.edu>.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, History, Geography, International Relations, or a related discipline by September 2020. The individual selected will have demonstrated a strong commitment to teaching and research in the context of a public policy graduate school environment. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2020.

Applicants should send a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae and a sample of written work, along with three letters of recommendation, to:

Professor Gregory Gause
c/o Ms. Peg Hosea (preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolinta-facultysearch@tamu.edu)
The Bush School of Government & Public Service
Texas A&M University
4220 TAMU
College Station, TX 77843-4220

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/28/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5723University of Georgia*Rank: Assistant Professor of Methodology and American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track assistant professor in Methodology and American Politics, starting August 2020. The candidates' research interests can be from any area of American Politics. Duties include teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets.

Minimum Qualifications:

Candidates should have PhD or an earned doctorate by Fall 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The successful candidate will possess strong quantitative skills, clear substantive interest in American politics, and an eagerness to teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship is preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form) to the UGA job site at <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/98323>.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications received September 27th, 2019 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Contact:
Wendi Finch

Email:
wendif@uga.edu

Phone:
706-542-2057

Fax:

706-542-4421

Address:

180 Baldwin Hall
Athens GA, 30602-1615

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/27/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5721University of Chicago*Rank: Earl S. Johnson Instructor in Political ScienceSubfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Position Description

The Master of Arts Program in the Social Sciences (MAPSS) at the University of Chicago invites applications for a position as Earl S. Johnson Instructor in Political Science. This is a full-time instructorship, renewable annually to a maximum term of three years, beginning on or after September 1, 2019. The successful applicant will teach four graduate courses in political science, including one or two methods courses; advise MA students; evaluate MA theses; hire and manage teaching assistants; participate in program admissions, staff hiring, and student recruitment; help train our doctoral student preceptors; and contribute to the intellectual life and administrative needs of the program. The position provides advanced training and professional mentorship in program leadership, research, and teaching, and offers exceptional preparation for tenure-track employment.

Qualifications

Prior teaching experience is required. Familiarity with the University of Chicago's faculty and academic resources is desirable. Applicants must have completed all requirements for the PhD in Political Science, including the dissertation defense, by August 31, 2019, and have the PhD in-hand by January 1, 2020.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply on the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board website at apply.interfolio.com/64769. Applicants must submit the following materials: 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) an article-length writing sample, 4) three letters of reference, 5) the syllabi from past teaching, and 6) course evaluations or comparable evidence of past teaching performance. The review of applications will begin on July 30 and will continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2019Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/26/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5718Missouri State University*Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Behavior and Quantitative Methods, as well as the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2020. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time faculty members, approximately 150 undergraduate majors and master's programs in both Public Administration and Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. George Connor, Head
Department of Political Science
Missouri State University
901 S. National Ave.
Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins October 7, 2019 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 6/11/2019Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 5678Rowan University*Rank: Assistant Professor of Political ScienceSubfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

Westmont College

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Virginia Arts & Sciences Department of Politics invites applicants for a one-year Open Rank Academic General Faculty Member (Tenure-Ineligible) appointment. The appointment begins with the fall term of 2019, with an anticipated start date of August 25, 2019. Candidates will be expected to teach courses in our graduate quantitative methodology sequence. The teaching schedule for the Fall 2019 semester would be one seminar in Maximum Likelihood Estimation and our math camp for first-year students. The teaching schedule for the Spring 2020 semester would be one seminar in Linear Models and one advanced elective of the selected candidate's choosing. Teaching responsibilities would also include a non-credit course each semester consisting of regular consultation with graduate students on the quantitative component of course papers, qualifying papers for the minor in methodology, and MA and Ph.D. theses. The candidate would have the opportunity to participate in the College's Quantitative Collaborative and its new Data Sciences Institute.

Applicants must have all requirements for their Ph.D completed in a relevant field by August 25, 2019. In addition, applicants must demonstrate a commitment to teaching excellence and evidence of an explicit commitment to diversity and of advancing understanding and outcomes for underrepresented groups. The salary for entry-level candidates with limited experience is $53,000 plus benefits. Candidates for higher ranks will be given a salary commensurate with experience.

Applicant review begins June 4, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

TO APPLY:

PROCESS FOR INTERNAL UVA APPLICANTS: Please apply through your Workday Home page, search "Find Jobs", and search for "R0006156". Complete an application online and see below for documents to attach.

PROCESS FOR EXTERNAL APPLICANTS: Please visit UVA job board <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs>, (Requisition number R0006156) complete the application and see below for documents to attach. Please note that multiple documents can be uploaded in the box.

Complete an application online and attach:

- CV
- Cover Letter
- Brief (1-2 page statement) addressing the following:
 - ?Your philosophy and experience in teaching and mentoring
 - ?How you have worked to contribute to equity and inclusion in your research, teaching and/or service.
 - ?How your experience contributes to the department's core values of ethics, teaching, and collaboration.
 - ?Contact information for 3 references

Applications that do not contain all of the required documents will not receive full consideration.

For questions about the application process, please contact Nicole Robinson, Faculty Search Advisor, nr7f@virginia.edu.

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit <https://dualcareer.virginia.edu/>. For more information about UVA and the Charlottesville community please see <http://www.virginia.edu/life/charlottesville> and <https://embarkva.com/>.

The University of Virginia, including the UVA Health System and the University Physician's Group are fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is excellence expressing itself through every person's perspectives and lived experiences. We are equal opportunity and affirmative action employers. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Date Posted: 5/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5643

University of Alabama in Huntsville

Rank: Full - Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Methodology

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Regulatory Policy

JOB DESCRIPTION/REQUIREMENTS: The Department of Political Science at the University of Alabama in Huntsville invites applications for a full-time lecturer position in politics and public policy to begin on August 14, 2019. A full-time lecturer position at UAH is a teaching position with a 4/4 teaching load, both undergraduate and graduate courses, but no research responsibilities.

Candidates for the position must have a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a Ph.D. degree in a related discipline with at least 18 hours of graduate coursework in Political Science. We are seeking a candidate with a concentration in domestic or international public policy. In addition, candidates must be able to teach courses in national and international intelligence and security to contribute to a planned program in criminal justice and intelligence studies. Salary is commensurate with experience. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY: The University of Alabama in Huntsville, classified as a High Research Activity institution, offers academic and research programs in the Colleges of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Business, Education, Engineering, Nursing, Professional and Continuing Studies, and Science. Huntsville maintains one of the highest per capita incomes and standards of living in the Southeast. It is a national center of aerospace and high technology research and is home to NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center. A vibrant downtown entertainment district, including Broadway and symphony performances, contribute to Huntsville's cultural life. For more information about Huntsville and its convenient location to Nashville, Birmingham, and Atlanta, please visit <http://www.huntsville.org>.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE: The College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Alabama in Huntsville comprises 10 departments and 94 full-time faculty. We offer a wide array of programs in the arts, humanities, and social sciences including 25 B.A. programs, five M.A. programs, and six certificate programs. We recently added a BFA with a Gaming and Animation track. The college has also led the way in creating several interdisciplinary minors, such as Women's and Gender Studies, Global Studies, and Science, Technology, and Society. Our class sizes are relatively small and our collegial faculty are committed to our students' successes.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT: The Department of Political Science offers a BA major and minor in Political Science, an MA in Public Affairs & Policy, a Pre-Law Certificate Program (undergraduate, with the Department of Philosophy), and an International Security Policy Certificate Program (graduate). The undergraduate curriculum provides a major and a minor in political science with courses offered in American government, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy, public law, public policy, and methodology. The graduate program focuses on domestic and international public policy, including policy formation, implementation, and evaluation, with special emphasis in intelligence and security studies. For more information about the Department, please visit <http://www.uah.edu/ahs/departments/political-science>.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Application review will begin May 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: A complete application must include a letter of application, a detailed curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, graduate transcripts, and contact information for at least three professional references. Review of application materials will begin as soon as possible and materials will be accepted until the position is filled. Interviews will be conducted via Skype. Application material should be sent to: Dr. John Pottenger, Chair; Department of Political Science; Conference Training Center, Room 106; University of Alabama in Huntsville; Huntsville, AL 35899 or polsci@uah.edu.

The University of Alabama in Huntsville is an affirmative action/ equal opportunity employer of minorities/ females/ veterans/ disabled. Please refer to log number: 19/20-353

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/18/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5608

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Social Neuroscience Professor - Open Rank

The Division of Social Science at NYUAD is seeking to hire a faculty member in the area of Social Neuroscience. This tenure/tenure-track appointment is open rank. Although the specific area of research is open, the focus should be human research explicitly linked to social processes. Individuals from all academic backgrounds are encouraged to apply (e.g., biology, psychology, economics, political science or sociology). Preference will be given to applicants who use fMRI, EEG, or process tracing methods, whose research reflects the interdisciplinary nature of social science and who can forge linkages to other areas of study both within the Division (i.e., with economists, political scientists and sociologists) and outside the Division.

The facilities available include a state-of-the-art brain-imaging center housing a Siemens Prisma 3T MRI, MEG, EEG, eye tracking and behavioral testing facilities. The successful candidates will also have access to state of the art core facilities that include High Performance Computing facilities with more than 6,400 computing cores and a peak performance of 70 TFLOPS.

NYUAD expects successful candidates to publish in high quality internationally refereed journals. The terms of employment are very competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching activities.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, a statement of research plans, a statement of teaching interests and three representative publications. To complete the online process, early career applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter. Senior candidates should provide a list of three references in PDF format. We will begin consideration of applications October 1st, although review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

You can start an application here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/52983>

You may find further information about our group at: <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/divisions/social-science/faculty.html>

About NYUAD

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Since its inception, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering. The Institute will invest significant funds in creating a hub for research related to social, economic, and political development in the broader region; applications from candidates with an ambition to contribute to this agenda are especially welcome.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Qualifications

This position is not located in the United States. You must be willing to relocate to Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4603

NON-ACADEMIC

Charles Koch Foundation

Rank: Program Manager, Higher Education Philanthropy

Overview

To be considered, all candidates must submit a writing sample with their application.

Knowing your work makes a difference fuels you like a shot of espresso in the afternoon. You have the ambition of an entrepreneur, always looking for new opportunities to make a positive impact. You love watching big ideas take root and flourish on university campuses and in society at large.

And that's where your passion for higher education and philanthropy comes in.

The university investments team is a core component of the Foundation's efforts to connect scholars, students, and partners with the resources to explore diverse ideas and solutions that meet the challenges of our day. As a program manager, you'll be responsible for driving part of the Foundation's existing portfolio of grants to universities, students, scholars, and other non-profits. You'll also have the opportunity to help identify and evaluate new opportunities for impactful philanthropy in higher education. Your interpersonal skills will allow you to foster meaningful, long-term relationships with internal stakeholders and external partners.

Sounds exciting, right? Apply now.

Your Responsibilities Include

- Manage an existing portfolio of grants to educational programs, graduate student programs, and other grants that support academic research
- Collaborate across teams and with partners to drive results, effectively manage projects and relationships, and ensure success of grants
- Cultivate relationships with faculty, administrators, and other stakeholders and represent the Foundation among university partners
- Make grant recommendations to decision makers
- Some travel required in order to maintain relationships with external partners

Knowledge and Skills You Bring to the Organization

- 3-5 years of professional experience, 3+ years of experience in relationship management
- Demonstrated ability to use sound judgement and superior professionalism in nurturing relationships with internal and external stakeholders
- A commitment to the organization's mission and philosophy (<https://www.charleskochfoundation.org/about-us/>)
- High degree of intellectual curiosity and a drive to seek out the best knowledge to inform and improve your work
- High level of humility and integrity
- Entrepreneurial spirit and high sense of urgency
- Strong organizational skills

Standout Candidates May Also Bring

- Experience in higher education
- Experience in a nonprofit or philanthropic organization

About Us

The Charles Koch Institute and Charles Koch Foundation are working to advance a free society that best achieves long-term peace, civility, and well-being. We do this by supporting universities, non-profits, and professional training programs to find the ideas and talent that will stimulate a movement and change the world.

Because here, your life's work matters.

You're unique. And we love that about you. We've learned that diversity in experiences, perspectives, knowledge and ideas fuels creativity, broadens knowledge, and helps drive success. That's why we're proud to be an equal opportunity employer and strive to treat all employees with honesty, dignity and sensitivity. We welcome all qualified applicants regardless of race, color, national origin, ethnicity, religion, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender, gender expression or identity, age, disability, veteran status, marital status or any other legally protected class.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/t5g7mms2yvzh578d>

PI111142012

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5706

OPEN

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor - Subfield Open

The Stanford Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in any subfield. The term of appointment would begin September 1, 2020. Successful candidates must demonstrate evidence of a creative research trajectory and a commitment to excellence in teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants should send a cover letter, research statement (not to exceed 3 pages), CV, unofficial transcript, teaching evaluations and a writing sample along with at least three professional letters of recommendation.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

The committee will begin reading applications on September 1, 2019, but may consider files received after this date. Interested individuals should apply on line through AJO job listing #<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13944>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 6/25/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5709

OTHER

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding. A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).

5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/3/2020
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5683

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments can be from 15 days to one-month during the 2020-2021 academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 18, 2019. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12122>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay, 15 days to one-month during the academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/18/2019
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5682

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2020-2021 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2020 - January 31, 2021; spring semester: February 1- June 30, 2021). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 18, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12121>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Required Qualifications: Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5681

Australian National University

Rank: Lecturer, Senior Lecturer, Associate Professor or Professor (Chinese Politics and Society)

Subfield(s): Other, Other, Other

Classification: Academic (Level B/C/D/E)

Salary package: $98,009 - $150,324 AUD per annum plus 17% superannuation

Terms: Full time, Continuing

The Australian National University (ANU) is delighted to offer two (2) outstanding opportunities to joint appointments in the study of Chinese Politics and Society in the Department of Political and Social Change (PSC) and the Australian Centre on China in the World (CIW).

Position overview

Based in the nation's capital, the ANU is one of the world's foremost research universities. The ANU College of Asia & the Pacific – within which CIW operates – has a long-standing reputation for outstanding research expertise and global policy impact, hosting the largest collection of expertise on the Asia Pacific in the English-speaking world. For over 70 years, ANU Sinologists have pioneered new fields in China studies and led the world in understanding Chinese societies. China expertise at ANU is housed in several academic departments across the College and is brought together by the CIW, which reflects the University's and the Australian government's commitment to deepening Australia's understanding of and engagement with China. PSC itself has been host to the Contemporary China Centre and currently holds the editorship of The China Journal.

The ANU is seeking to make two appointments, one in the Politics of China and one in Contemporary Chinese Society. The successful candidates will be primarily appointed in PSC in the Coral Bell School of Asia Pacific Affairs and will report to the Head of PSC. Both successful candidates will also be automatically jointly appointed to CIW.

The ANU seeks applications from candidates across career stages. Candidates for Level B appointments must have PhD in hand. More senior appointments have additional requirements as stated in the Position Descriptions linked below. The successful candidates will be emerging or internationally recognised academics in Chinese Studies in one of the above-mentioned areas and will bring commitment, new ideas and enthusiasm to the roles.

We seek candidates pursuing innovative and empirically informed research agendas on Chinese politics and society. We are open as to methodological approach. Candidates should also be prepared to teach courses in either Chinese politics and society in addition to appropriate disciplinary offerings.

Please note that the committee plans to conduct interviews on 15, 16 and 26 August.

For further information and to submit an application, please visit: <http://jobs.anu.edu.au/cw/en/job/529646>

Applications close: 21 July 2019 11:55:00 PM AUS Eastern Standard Time

Start Date:

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5719

Carleton University

Rank: Canada Research Chair in Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Other

Field of Specialization: Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies

Academic Unit: Political Science

Category of Appointment: Preliminary (tenure-track)/tenured
 Rank/Position Title: Assistant/Associate Professor and Canada
 Research Chair, Tier 2
 Start Date: July 1, 2020
 Closing Date: Applications will be considered until the position is filled

About the Position:

The Department of Political Science invites applications from qualified candidates for a Tier 2 CRC Chair appointment in Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning July 1, 2020. The Department seeks an emerging scholar specializing in Indigenous, racialized, and/or gendered dimensions of political processes and institutions in democracies in the Global North and, in particular scholars whose research focus includes Canadian politics. An appointment with tenure is possible, depending on qualifications of the successful candidate.

Tier 2 Chairs are intended for exceptional emerging researchers (i.e. candidate will typically be less than 10 years from their highest degree at the time of nomination, or more than 10 years and has experienced legitimate career interruptions), acknowledged by their peers as having potential to lead in their field. Applicants who are more than 10 years from their highest degree may have their eligibility for a Tier 2 Canada Research Chair assessed through the program's Tier 2 justification process (<http://www.chairs-chaire.gc.ca/>). Carleton's research grants office can also provide more information (<https://carleton.ca/coris/>).

The successful candidate will work with the Faculty of Public Affairs to prepare the application for the Tier 2 CRC Chair. Academic appointment is conditional on the approval of the application by the CRC Program.

About the Academic Unit:

The Department of Political Science is a research-intensive unit, particularly proud of its pathbreaking tradition and continuing strength in the study of gender and politics, including establishing one of Canada's first political science PhD fields in Gender and Diversity. For more information, please visit: <https://carleton.ca/polisci/>.

Qualifications:

The successful applicant will possess:

- a PhD in Political Science or a cognate discipline;
- an outstanding record of research and peer-reviewed publications on diversity and politics, relative to stage of career;
- a record of high-quality teaching and supervision, appropriate to stage of career;
- commitment to continuing improvement and excellence in teaching;
- capacity to attract external research funding;

Application Instructions:

Please submit your application electronically in three PDF files, including: (1) a cover letter and CV; (2) a statement of research interests and samples of research, ideally including peer-reviewed publications; and (3) a teaching portfolio with evidence of teaching experience. Please identify any past experiences in supporting equity, diversity and inclusion in your previous institutional environment such as in curriculum development and in supporting diverse students. Applicants should also arrange to have three referees send supporting letters electronically.

All application materials should be directed to: Ms. Sandy Herbert, Department Administrator, Department of Political Science, Carleton University at sandy.herbert@carleton.ca.

To help us develop our equity programs, a confidential equity and diversity self-identification survey will be sent to all applicants separately.

Please indicate in your application if you are a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada.

About Carleton University:

Carleton University is a dynamic and innovative research and teaching institution with a national and international reputation as a leader in collaborative teaching and learning, research and governance. With over 30,000 students in more than 100 programs of study, we encourage creative risk-taking, discovery, and the generation of transformative knowledge. We are proud to be one of the most accessible campuses in North America and our Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities has been heralded as the gold standard for disability support services in Canada. To learn more about our university and the Ottawa, please visit www.carleton.ca/about.

We are strongly committed to equity, diversity, and inclusion in the nomination and appointment process. Carleton University is committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our university including, but not limited to: women; visible minorities; First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples; persons with disabilities; and persons of any sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression. Carleton understands that career paths vary. Legitimate career interruptions will in no way prejudice the assessment process and their impact will be carefully considered.

Applicants selected for an interview are asked to contact the Chair as soon as possible to discuss any accommodation requirements. Arrangements will be made in a timely manner.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. All positions are subject to budgetary approval.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5711

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – FORMAL THEORY

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor. The position is in Formal Theory. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2020. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Demonstrated excellence in teaching is desired.

Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2019.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement (describing teaching approach and philosophy)
4. Research statement
5. Statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received.
7. Writing samples and publications, if applicable.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5713

Harvard University

Rank: TENURE-TRACK PROFESSOR OF GOVERNMENT – GROUP POLITICS

The Department of Government seeks to appoint a tenure-track professor in Group Politics, with particular interests in political conflict, gender, race or ethnicity, and migration. The appointment is expected to begin on July 1, 2020. The tenure-track professor will be responsible for teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Doctorate or terminal degree in Political Science or related disciplines required by the time the appointment begins.

Demonstrated excellence in teaching is desired.

Please submit the following materials through the ARIeS portal (<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). The Committee will begin reviewing applications on September 15, 2019.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Teaching statement (describing teaching approach and philosophy)
4. Research statement
5. Statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in these areas.
6. Names and contact information of 3-5 referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received.
7. Writing samples and publications, if applicable.

Harvard is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5712

Princeton University

Rank: Lecturer in Contemporary Middle Eastern Politics

The Politics Department at Princeton University seeks well-qualified applicants for a part-time lecturer position that will involve teaching an undergraduate seminar in the area of Contemporary Middle Eastern politics in Spring 2020. Responsibilities will also include holding weekly office hours and grading coursework. Position duty time will be based on student enrollments and departmental need.

Advanced degree required; Ph.D. and teaching experience preferred.

Please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching interest, and contact information for three references. Due to the volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No letters of recommendation will be required at the time of application. For fullest consideration, please apply by August 1, 2019.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition number: D-19-POL-00008

Start Date: Spring 2020

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5714

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Arizona State University (ASU - Tempe) seeks applications for a one-year postdoctoral research scholar in Political Economy, located in the Center for the Study of Economic Liberty (CSEL) and the School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS). This position has an anticipated Fall 2019 start date. This is a full-time, benefits eligible, academic year appointment, and has the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The ideal candidate will develop his or her own research, in addition to contributing to ongoing research of faculty mentor(s) within CSEL and SPGS. The postdoc will also have opportunities to teach in SPGS. Possible research topics include: The political economy of development and democratization; Urbanization and migration; Electoral protest and violence; Civil conflict and repression. Strong writing skills, an ongoing independent research agenda and a record of presenting at national and international conferences are strongly desired. The ideal candidate will also have skills in advanced quantitative research methods and causal inference. We anticipate that the postdoc will be an active participant in workshops, conferences and events at CSEL and SPGS

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

Must possess a Ph.D. by time of appointment in Political Science; Economics; Public Policy; Applied Economics; or Development Economics.

Desired Qualifications:

Strong writing skills; Presentations skills developed at conferences; Skills in advanced quantitative research methods and casual inference; and possession of an independent research agenda.

Application Instructions

Center for the Study of Economic Liberty: The Center for the Study of Economic Liberty is creating research programs that evaluate the contribution of economic liberty to human betterment. The Center's programs help to advance the academic and public reputation of the W.P. Carey School of Business, in which it was founded several years ago, and the newly-founded School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with which it is affiliated. For more information about the Center, please see <https://csef.asu.edu>.

The School of Politics and Global Studies: The School of Politics and Global Studies is an interdisciplinary School with a mission to create and disseminate knowledge contributing to society's understanding of how politics and governance shape and influence issues and contexts at local, national and global levels. The faculty are organized into working groups, including a new working group in Political Economy. For more information on the School, please see <https://spgs.asu.edu/>.

The School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership. The School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership aims to create a new kind of leader, blending tradition and innovation, and exploring questions of freedom and governance. For more information about the School, please see <http://scetl.asu.edu>.

W. P. Carey School of Business. The W. P. Carey School of Business at Arizona State University is a comprehensive school of business offering nationally and internationally respected undergraduate, masters, and doctoral programs. The Undergraduate Program, which houses one of the country's few stand-alone business honors programs, is ranked in the top 30 and includes six majors ranked among the top 20 within their fields according to U.S. News & World Report. The W. P. Carey MBA is ranked in the top 30 by U.S. News & World Report. With over 250 tenure-track faculty, the W. P. Carey School is a research leader that maintains vibrant collaborative relationships with business worldwide. For more information on the School, please see <https://wpccarey.asu.edu/>.

Application Deadline and Procedure: The initial application deadline is June 6, 2019; if not filled, applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until search is closed. To apply, submit 1) curriculum vitae, and 2) cover letters of interest addressed to Dr. Ross Emmett, Director and Search Committee Chair, via <http://apply.interfolio.com/63598> The letter should explain qualifications and accomplishments and future plans in research and teaching. A background check is required prior to employment.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5696

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Other

As part of its Annenberg Center for the Advanced Study of Communication, the Annenberg Public Policy Center (APPC) of the University of Pennsylvania's postdoctoral fellowship program is accepting applications for a 1.5-year appointment from January 15, 2020 through June 30, 2021. Fellows in the program will work closely with APPC researchers and distinguished research fellows on a 2020 election/Institutions of Democracy (IOD) study examining the effects of communication on susceptible voters.

More information about APPC and its Political Communication research can be found at: <https://www.annenbergpublicpolicycenter.org/political-communication/>.

Applicants should submit a letter of nomination from a dissertation adviser as well as a curriculum vitae, a letter describing the applicant's scholarly interests, and contact info for the dissertation advisor and at least one additional reference. Fellows will receive a stipend of $65,000 per year (or $5,417 per month) and serve in a 17.5-month appointment, beginning January 15, 2020. Health insurance will be covered by APPC. A taxable allowance of up to $1,500 will be provided to offset pre-approved, receipt-documented relocation expenses, and APPC will reimburse up to $2,000 in travel to high-level conferences to present APPC research.

We are seeking fellows with strong statistical and methodological skills. Experience working with panel studies and GIS mapping is desirable. A Ph.D. degree completed within the last five years is required.

Please send the letter of interest, CV, and names of two references to Lena Buford at lena.buford@appc.upenn.edu. The letter of nomination should be sent to the same email address by the dissertation adviser.

Deadline for submission is August 15, 2019. Earlier submission is encouraged.

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5697

Illinois State University

Rank: Associate or Assistant Professor

ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY: Associate or Assistant Professor LEGAL STUDIES

The Department of Politics and Government at Illinois State University in Normal, Illinois, seeks applicants for a nine-month, tenure-track faculty position in Legal Studies at the rank of either Associate or Assistant Professor to start on August 16, 2020. Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate courses across the paralegal curriculum including but not limited to legal research and writing, introduction to law for paralegals, and commercial transactions. Teaching assignment for the position is anticipated to be 3 courses per semester, with a one-course reduction in one semester of the first year. The candidate hired will be assigned to carry out administrative responsibilities including but not limited to assisting the Director of Legal Studies in the preparation of ABA reports, advisement, and placement of paralegal students. The candidate hired will be expected to publish scholarship in law reviews and/or peer-reviewed academic journals.

Minimum requirements are: (1) a JD degree conferred from an ABA-accredited school prior to the appointment start date; (2) a minimum of three years practicing law in the United States; and (3) either (a) a minimum of one year of experience working with paralegals or (b) experience teaching at least one paralegal education course. Moreover, state law mandates demonstrable oral proficiency in the English language as a requirement for this position.

Initial review of applications will begin on Friday, September 13, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. To assure full consideration, please attach an application to posting number 0712095 at www.IllinoisState.edu/jobs and attach a letter of application with descriptions of teaching and research interests, a current vita, a sample of written work, graduate school transcripts, and student evaluations (if available). In addition, three letters of reference must be submitted on your behalf electronically to LGSSearch@ilstu.edu, with letters addressed to T.Y. Wang, Chair, Department of Politics and Government, Illinois State University, Campus Box 4600, Normal, IL 61790-4600.

Illinois State University is committed to developing a diverse pool of applicants and recognizes that a diverse faculty, staff, and student body enriches the educational experiences of the entire campus and greater community. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are especially welcomed to apply.

If you are having difficulty accessing the system, please call Human Resources at 309-438-8311.

If you are an individual with a disability and need a reasonable accommodation under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) or other state or federal law you may request an accommodation by contacting the Office of Equal Opportunity and Access at 309-438-3383.

Illinois State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Non-Discrimination Statement

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5676

University of Oxford

Rank: Hedley Bull Research Fellowship in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 - £39,609 p.a.

The Department of Politics and International Relations (DPIR), University of Oxford, proposes to appoint a Hedley Bull Research Fellow in International Relations. The post will be associated with a non-stipendiary Fellowship position at one of the Oxford Colleges.

The successful candidate will be based at the Department for Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford. The appointment will be offered on a full-time basis and available from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter for a period of 3 years.

The person appointed will engage in sophisticated and original independent research and contribute to teaching and research activities of the DPIR and the College. For the Department, this involves small scale project management and co-ordinating multiple aspects of research and administrative work to meet deadlines. For the College, the postholder will be expected to teach International Relations (IR) papers and may be asked to participate in the annual admissions exercise.

This position will offer the successful candidate exceptional career opportunities to work in an internationally renowned Department which benefits from excellent facilities for research and teaching and the presence of leading international academics.

Applicants for this post should hold, or be close to completion of, a relevant PhD/DPhil by September 2019 and possess sufficient specialist knowledge in the discipline of International Relations. They should also be able to demonstrate a track record of excellent quality publications in highly-ranked academic journals and/or major presses and an ability to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate level in the field of International Relations.

The duties, responsibilities, and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars which also contain details on how to apply.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 8 July 2019. Interviews are expected to be held on Thursday 18 July 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website, quoting reference 141000

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 7/8/2019

Date Posted: 6/10/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5675

University of Oxford

Rank: Departmental Lecturer in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 - £39,609 p.a. (with a discretionary range up to £43,267 p.a.)

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is seeking to appoint a full-time fixed-term Departmental Lecturer in International Relations from 1 September 2019 until 31 August 2020.

The successful candidate will provide teaching and supervision for the Department of Politics and International Relations at the undergraduate and graduate level, while contributing to the Departmental examining processes and undertaking independent research in International Relations. They will also provide support to the undergraduate and graduate admissions processes at the Department.

This post is offered on a full-time basis to commence from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter. Office space and other relevant facilities will be provided in the Department of Politics and International Relations.

The ideal candidate will hold a relevant PhD/DPhil by September 2019 (or be close to completion). They will be able to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching to high-achieving students at both the undergraduate and graduate level in the field of International Relations and US Foreign Policy, and to advise MPhil and DPhil students on their research projects. Further essential criteria include experience in carrying out independent research and a track record of publications in highly-ranked, peer-reviewed journals or major presses, as well as an ability to commit to the full range of academic duties in the Department.

A subject specialism in US Foreign Policy or the Middle East is desirable but not essential.

The duties, responsibilities and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars (Vacancy ID: 141070), which also contain details on how to apply. These are available from the link below. If you have any questions regarding the vacancy please contact vacancies@politics.ox.ac.uk.

The closing date for applications is Monday noon (UK time), 1st July 2019. Interviews for this post are expected to take place in Oxford on Thursday, 18th July 2019.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/19/2019

Date Posted: 6/6/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5672

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow - SCHOOLPOL: The Transformation of Post-war Education: Causes and Effects

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 p.a.

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join their research project team directed by Professor Jane Gingrich, the Principal Investigator (PI). The project examines the post-war development of education systems in OECD countries, divided over three work streams.

The successful candidate will be based at the Department for Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford. The appointment will be offered on a full-time basis and available from 1 September 2019 or as soon possible thereafter for a period of 3 years.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all work streams, including undertaking advanced research within the context of the entire project, with a particular emphasis on historical or quantitative data collection. In addition to pursuing their own related research agenda, s/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project and to co-author work with the Principal Investigator.

The postholder's duties will also include assisting in the compilation of a cross-national database of policies and legislation related to education from the post-war period onwards, and contributing to the dissemination of project results (including the construction of an online open-access database). S/he will be expected to present findings and outputs from the project at international conferences.

The successful candidate will hold, or be close to completion of, a doctorate in the field of political science, sociology, economics or a related area. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of education policy and experience in historical or archival research, or quantitative data collection. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 24 June 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit: <https://my.corehr.com> quoting reference 140865.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/24/2019

Date Posted: 6/6/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5673

University of Mannheim

Rank: Research Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Collaborative Research Center (SFB 884) "Political Economy of Reforms" hosted at the University of Mannheim is looking for a

* Research-Fellow (Post Doctoral Researcher, TV-L 15) *

The mission of the interdisciplinary Research Center (SFB 884) on the Political Economy of Reforms is to gain new interdisciplinary insights into the success and failure of political reforms in democracies. It draws together researchers in economics, political science, sociology, statistics and computer sciences at the University of Mannheim.

The English-speaking environment of the SFB 884, which is funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG), offers an excellent opportunity to work in a team with a strong focus on quantitative research and international collaboration (for more information about the SFB 884, see <http://reforms.uni-mannheim.de/>). Salary is commensurate with experience and is at least 53,000 Euros with additional employer benefits (according to public pay scheme TV-L E15). Furthermore, the SFB 884 supports traveling at conferences, workshops etc.

The successful applicant should hold a doctoral degree in economics, political science or another relevant discipline with a strong analytical and quantitative background and a focus on Political Economy in Europe. We expect publications, especially in international top peer-reviewed scholarly journals.

The position will be open from September 2019 on. Funding for the position is available until December 31, 2021, with potential prolongation in case of successful new SFB application.

The tasks of the research fellow:

* Collaborating with the projects of the SFB 884, i.e. preparing final report

* Contributing to future research plans, i.e. new SFB proposal on Europe

Applications should be submitted in English and include a CV, copies of your diplomas (including your PhD certificate), publication list, and letter of motivation. The letter of motivation should outline the substantive research agenda of the candidate. In case you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact Prof. Dr. Thomas König (koenig@uni-mannheim.de / +49(0)621-181-2074).

Please send your application by June 15, 2019 to application@reforms.uni-mannheim.de with the keyword "Fellow application". As an equal opportunity employer, the University of Mannheim particularly encourages applications from women and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 6/15/2019
Date Posted: 6/3/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 5664

Tulane University

Rank: Visiting Professor

Tulane University, Academic Centers, Stone Center for Latin American Studies

Visiting Professor, Stone Center for Latin American Studies

Location: Tulane University, New Orleans, LA

Tulane University invites applications from mid-career scholars in Latin American Studies conducting interdisciplinary research in the Arts, Humanities, or Social Sciences to spend one semester as a Richard E. Greenleaf Scholar-in-Residence at the Stone Center for Latin American Studies during the 2020-2021 academic year. Preference is for scholars of migration, particularly as it relates to environmental change, urbanism, or race and ethnicity, but promising candidates from any field or discipline are welcome to apply. The Greenleaf Scholar-in-Residence will teach one graduate-level seminar (in English, Spanish, or Portuguese) and pursue research while in residence on campus.

Qualifications:

At minimum Associate Professor status or its equivalent and distinguished record of publication.

Application Instructions: Applications may be submitted by visiting http:// apply.interfolio.com/63247

Please include a CV, with contact information for two professional references; a cover letter describing your credentials, preferred semester of appointment (fall 2020 or spring 2021), and how residence at Tulane will aid in advancing your research; and a title and brief description of a seminar you would be interested in offering. Application deadline: October 4, 2019.

Tulane University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. All eligible candidates are invited to apply for position vacancies as appropriate.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 6/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5657

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Administrator

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time Lecturer and Academic Administrator. Responsibilities include overseeing the undergraduate program, administering the Washington DC and other internship programs, and teaching one substantive undergraduate class per year in any subfield of political science. Applicants should have a PhD in political science or a related discipline and a minimum of three years of academic administration and teaching experience. MIT is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities. This is a three-year appointment beginning July 1, 2019, with possibility of renewal based on performance. MIT does not offer visa support for this position.

Applications should include a cover letter, CV, and teaching evaluations. Please submit online applications to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13659><https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13659.>

Start Date: Summer 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5626

Miami University

Rank: Havighurst Teaching Fellow/Visiting Assistant Professor

Global & Intercultural Studies: Havighurst Teaching Fellow/Visiting Assistant Professor. The Havighurst Center for Russian and Post-Soviet Studies and the Department of Global and Intercultural Studies welcome applications for a joint Teaching Fellow / Visiting Assistant Professor in contemporary issues in Russia, Eastern Europe or Central Asia. Teaching responsibilities include Introduction to International Studies as well as upper-level courses in specialty. The teaching fellow will also be expected to participate in events and event planning for the Havighurst Center. The position is renewable for up to four years, dependent on performance and funding.

Require: Ph.D. in political science, geography, history, economics, anthropology, or post-Soviet studies by date of appointment (August, 2019). Position is not eligible for H-1B sponsorship.

Submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae and a single page with short descriptions of four courses candidate would propose to teach (as "other" document) to <https://miamioh.hiretouch.com/job-details?jobID=6966>. Inquiries may be directed to Stephen Norris at norriss1@miamioh.edu. Screening of applications will begin April 12, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 4/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5590

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies

(experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase “cPASS Postdoc Fellow” in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

University of New England

Rank: Assistant Lecturer, International Relations and Global Studies

The Department of Political Science at the University of New England seeks applicants for a full-time, non-tenure track Assistant Lecturer in International Relations and Global Studies beginning in the 2019-2020 academic year.

The ideal candidate will offer a range of introductory and advanced level courses in international relations, depending on the candidate’s interest and expertise. The candidate will also teach Introduction to Global Studies and help guide students interested in the Global Studies major. The ability to teach in another sub-field, especially American or Comparative Politics, would be of additional value to the department. Political science courses at UNE are generally taught in a seminar style, with an emphasis on high-engagement with students.

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Sciences or related field at the time of appointment. Candidates with teaching experience are preferred.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for the position, please visit the job advertisement at the UNE website:

<https://une.peopleadmin.com/postings/5435>

You will be asked submit the following materials:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information for three professional references
- A statement of teaching philosophy
- Evidence of effective teaching

You may also submit supplementary materials about your research program if you choose.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/13/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 5437

Drexel University

Rank: Director, Center for Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

Drexel’s Center for Public Policy (CPP), located in the Department of Politics of the College of Art and Sciences, is now accepting applications for a director.

The CPP Director is a full-time teaching faculty position with both administrative and teaching responsibilities. The CPP director would be overseen by both a graduate committee in the Department of Politics and by the head of the Department of Politics, who would also serve on the graduate committee.

This is a non-tenure track faculty appointment with a minimum of a two-year, and a maximum of a three-year, contract. Eligibility for reappointment in both cases will be based on performance during the initial contract.

The CPP is a think tank located within Drexel’s College of Arts and Sciences. It serves as an interdisciplinary hub for Drexel faculty who conduct policy-oriented research, and as an interface between those faculty and relevant government agencies and nonprofit organizations, especially those in the Philadelphia region.

The CPP offers a Master of Science in Public Policy and a Master of Science in Environmental Policy. The MS in Public Policy is a professional master’s degree designed for people who work, or would like to work, for government or nonprofit organizations. Through a flexible course schedule that includes evening and online classes, students have the option of completing the program at a pace that suits them. On average, students can complete the program in as little as 18 months to two years. The MS in Environmental Policy prepares students for careers as policy analysts who have a strong commitment to environmental values, are scientifically and methodologically competent, and can work effectively on policy with various groups and institutions engaged in environmental issues.

To be considered for the position, you must meet the following requirements:

1. Hold a J.D. or a Ph.D. in a policy-related discipline. Candidates with a masters-level policy-oriented degree may be considered if they have exceptional work experience.

2. Have significant policy-oriented work experience.
3. Be able to demonstrate knowledge of the theory and methods of public policy; active research or practice in a related area highly desirable.
4. Have a record of successful teaching.

In the first year of their appointment, the CPP director would be responsible for:

- Teaching 4 to 5 courses (on the quarter system), potentially both undergraduate and graduate.
- Advising MS students through the case study course sequence (a thesis program).
- Taking lead responsibility for developing an online version of the MS in Public Policy.
- Coordinating the course offerings across departments and colleges to maintain the MS in Public Policy and MS in Environmental Policy curricula.
- Identifying partner organizations in Washington, DC, who would supply students for our proposed DC-based certificate program, and otherwise helping to develop that certificate program.
- Developing partnerships with external policy-oriented groups in the Philadelphia region.
- Attending relevant conferences and other professional events to promote the MS degrees.
- Promoting the degrees through attendance at recruitment and through publication of Drexel Policy Notes.

In subsequent years the CPP director's responsibilities would shift to administering the programs developed in the first year.

Other duties as assigned.

Must apply on drexeljobs.com, Quick Link to posting: www.drexeljobs.com/applicants/Central?quickFind=83533

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5389

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Social Neuroscience Professor - Open Rank

The Division of Social Science at NYUAD is seeking to hire a faculty member in the area of Social Neuroscience. This tenure/tenure-track appointment is open rank. Although the specific area of research is open, the focus should be human research explicitly linked to social processes. Individuals from all academic backgrounds are encouraged to apply (e.g., biology, psychology, economics, political science or sociology). Preference will be given to applicants who use fMRI, EEG, or process tracing methods, whose research reflects the interdisciplinary nature of social science and who can forge linkages to other areas of study both within the Division (i.e., with economists, political scientists and sociologists) and outside the Division.

The facilities available include a state-of-the-art brain- imaging center housing a Siemens Prisma 3T MRI, MEG, EEG, eye tracking and behavioral testing facilities. The successful candidates will also have access to state of the art core facilities that include High Performance Computing facilities with more than 6,400 computing cores and a peak performance of 70 TFLOPS.

NYUAD expects successful candidates to publish in high quality internationally refereed journals. The terms of employment are very competitive and include generous start-up and on-going research funds, as well as housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend an occasional semester at NYU New York and other sites of the global network, engaging in both research and teaching activities.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, a statement of research plans, a statement of teaching interests and three representative publications. To complete the online process, early career applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter. Senior candidates should provide a list of three references in PDF format. We will begin consideration of applications October 1st, although review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

You can start an application here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/52983>

You may find further information about our group at: <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/academics/divisions/social-science/faculty.html>

About NYUAD

New York University has established itself as a Global Network University. The network has three foundational degree-granting campuses: New York, Abu Dhabi, and Shanghai, complemented by a network of eleven research and study-away sites across five continents. Our students are drawn from around the world and surpass all traditional recruitment benchmarks, both US and global. Our goal is to develop a cohort of international students attuned to and educated for an inclusive global society. Students and Faculty will circulate within the global network in pursuit of common research interests and the promotion of cross-cultural and interdisciplinary solutions for problems both local and global.

Since its inception, NYU Abu Dhabi has recruited a cohort of faculty who are distinguished in their research and teaching. NYU Abu Dhabi's highly selective liberal arts enterprise is complemented by an institute for advanced research, sponsoring cutting-edge projects across the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Engineering. The Institute will invest significant funds in creating a hub for research related to social, economic, and political development in the broader region; applications from candidates with an ambition to contribute to this agenda are especially welcome.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Qualifications

This position is not located in the United States. You must be willing to relocate to Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4603

POLITICAL THEORY

University of Chicago

Rank: Earl S. Johnson Instructor in Political Science

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, Methodology

Position Description

The Master of Arts Program in the Social Sciences (MAPSS) at the University of Chicago invites applications for a position as Earl S.

Johnson Instructor in Political Science. This is a full-time instructorship, renewable annually to a maximum term of three years, beginning on or after September 1, 2019. The successful applicant will teach four graduate courses in political science, including one or two methods courses; advise MA students; evaluate MA theses; hire and manage teaching assistants; participate in program admissions, staff hiring, and student recruitment; help train our doctoral student preceptors; and contribute to the intellectual life and administrative needs of the program. The position provides advanced training and professional mentorship in program leadership, research, and teaching, and offers exceptional preparation for tenure-track employment.

Qualifications

Prior teaching experience is required. Familiarity with the University of Chicago's faculty and academic resources is desirable. Applicants must have completed all requirements for the PhD in Political Science, including the dissertation defense, by August 31, 2019, and have the PhD in-hand by January 1, 2020.

Application Instructions

Applicants must apply on the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board website at apply.interfolio.com/64769. Applicants must submit the following materials: 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) an article-length writing sample, 4) three letters of reference, 5) the syllabi from past teaching, and 6) course evaluations or comparable evidence of past teaching performance. The review of applications will begin on July 30 and will continue until the position is filled or the search is closed.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5718

Michigan State University

Rank: Research Associate/Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Department of Political Science at Michigan State University seeks candidates for a Research Associate/Postdoctoral Fellowship in the field of political philosophy. The initial appointment will be for one year, with an option for reappointment for a second.

Candidates should have broad research and teaching interests in the history of political philosophy. Candidates who specialize in classical political philosophy, modern political philosophy, American political thought, or contemporary democratic theory will be considered. The successful applicant will be expected to teach two courses per year.

Review of applications will begin July 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The start date for the position is August 16, 2019.

Interested applicants should apply via Michigan State University's Applicant Tracking Systems at: <https://careers.msu.edu/>, Posting Number 583548

Please submit a cover letter, CV, copy of graduate transcripts, one research paper, a brief statement of proposed research ideas, and three letters of reference.

For further questions please contact Professor Dustin Sebell (sebell@msu.edu).

MSU is an Affirmative-Action equal-opportunity employer and is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5708

Whitman College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Political Theory

Tenure-track position in law and politics in global context at the rank of assistant professor. Effective August 2020. Ph.D. required.

We are interested in a teacher-scholar with a focus on law and politics in a global context. We welcome candidates who work with a variety of methods, including fieldwork, archival, historical institutional, political theoretical, and/or legal textual approaches. Candidates might offer courses such as international law; international politics; decolonization; human rights; theories of empire; comparative constitutionalism; indigenous politics; and/or area-specific courses on Asia, Africa, or Latin America. The candidate selected for the position will have the opportunity to contribute to the work of the college's Center for Global Studies, as well as interdisciplinary programs such as Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, and Race and Ethnic Studies, as appropriate. Women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

The standard annual teaching load is five courses. The College provides a generous sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching.

Whitman College is committed to cultivating a diverse learning community. Applicants should explain how their classroom and scholarly practices will serve to create and sustain an inclusive learning environment. This statement can be included in the cover letter or the teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should address their interest in working at a liberal arts college with undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction.

To apply, go to <https://whitmanhr.simplehire.com/>, click "Faculty" and "Assistant Professor of Politics". The online application will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a letter of application; separate statements addressing the candidate's teaching interests and scholarly agenda; curriculum vitae; the contact information for three people who will be contacted for letters of reference; graduate transcripts; and complete sets of teaching evaluations or other evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction.

Deadline: August 15, 2019.

Whitman College is building a diverse academic community and especially encourages applications from women, members of historically underrepresented minority groups, persons with disabilities, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's learning environment. Whitman College is an EEO employer.

For additional information about Whitman College and the Walla Walla area, see www.whitman.edu and www.wallawalla.org.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5700

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Religion & Politics, American Politics, Ethnic & Feminist Theory

James Madison College seeks to fill an assistant professor position in the Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy field. The position contributes substantially to a major that focuses on modern liberal democracy (its origins, practice, critics and defenders) from the perspective of political philosophy. We seek a teacher-scholar broadly trained in the history of political philosophy, knowledgeable about the debates regarding modern constitutional democracy and democratic politics. Potential areas of research and teaching focus include European politics, international war and peace, religion and politics, American constitutional politics, and feminist political theory.

Successful candidates will have demonstrated ability to teach core courses in the history of political thought, combining serious study of foundational texts with contemporary debates about constitutional democracy and its future. Applicants should demonstrate commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching in an interdisciplinary program and to achieving a substantial record of scholarship. Ph.D. in a related field is required by time of appointment.

Applicants should supply a statement addressing how their teaching and research interests would contribute to the Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy curriculum specifically and to James Madison College's curriculum and mission more broadly. Supporting materials should include a CV, transcript, evidence of teaching approach and effectiveness, sample syllabi, and a sample of scholarship (e.g., dissertation chapter, article, conference paper). The names and contact information for three confidential references that speak to teaching expertise and scholarly promise must be provided as part of the application process. MSU will contact these references within five business days after a candidate completes and submits their application with instructions for the references on how to upload their confidential letter into MSU's application system.

Applications must be submitted electronically to the Michigan State University Human Resources web site: <http://jobs.msu.edu>. Please see posting number 579640 for complete instructions on how to apply. Review of applications will begin on September 13, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Katie Dyjach (dyjachk@msu.edu) with any questions.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5693

University of Chicago

Rank: Senior Lecturer in the Social Sciences Core

The Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for a Senior Lecturer to teach in and serve as co-chair of the Classics of Social and Political Thought sequence in the Social Sciences Core. Classics of Social and Political Thought is a three-quarter sequence in which students read ancient, medieval, and modern works of political thought, from Plato and Aristotle to Nietzsche and Du Bois. This is a full-time position with a three-year renewable term beginning September 1, 2019. For more information about the Social Sciences Core, see the College's online catalog: <http://collegecatalog.uchicago.edu/thecollege/socialsciences/>.

The Senior Lecturer will teach six courses each academic year; usually two sections of the sequence each quarter (with the option of teaching one class of their own devising out of the required six courses). As the co-chair of the Classics of Social and Political Thought Core sequence the successful candidate will work with the sequence's faculty chair to develop Classics of Social and Political Thought's curriculum; lead its instructional staff; direct its operations; ensure coherence in the curriculum and consistency in the teaching among all sections in the sequence; participate in searches to staff Classics of Social and Political Thought and other Social Sciences Core sequences; and be responsible for helping to supervise and evaluate Lecturers and Collegiate Assistant Professors represented by the Service Employee International Union. The co-chair will also help select and mentor graduate students assigned to the sequence. The co-chair is expected to provide pedagogical training for all who teach in the sequence by leading staff meetings and teaching workshops and developing mentorship opportunities. Additionally, the co-chair will organize co-curricular activities and coordinate course book orders.

The position requires a Ph.D. in political theory or the history of political thought and an excellent record of teaching at the college level. Experience teaching general education courses in the social sciences, developing curriculum, and mentoring graduate students serving in teaching roles is preferred.

To be considered for the position you must submit your application through the University of Chicago Academic Job Opportunities site: <https://apply.interfolio.com/64192> and upload the following: 1) cover letter describing your academic interests, teaching background, and qualifications for teaching in the Classics of Social and Political Thought sequence; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a teaching statement that describes prior teaching experience and pedagogical approaches; 4) recent teaching evaluations; and 5) the names and contact information for three references. The application system will automatically solicit recommendation letters from the references you list in the online application.

Applications, including letters from referees, will not be accepted after July 11, 2019, at which time the screening of applications will begin.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non_discrimination_statement/. Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-0287 or email ACOppAdministrator@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 7/11/2019

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5685

Pennsylvania State University

Rank: Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a three-year, non-tenure track position as Lecturer/Assistant Teaching Professor in Political Science to start Fall 2019. We seek candidates who are able to teach a broad range of in residence and online introductory and upper-level political theory classes. Preference will be given to candidates who are also able to teach an undergraduate research design course, as well as introductory and upper-level undergraduate American politics courses. The position requires teaching six courses a year. Candidates should have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered. Lecturers/Assistant Teaching Professors participate extensively in the intellectual life of the department, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops, and present research. Salary is competitive and additional money is available for travel and research. Applications must include a cover letter explaining research and teaching experience; a current CV; syllabi from previously taught courses; samples of scholarly writing; and teaching evaluations (with a key). Candidates should also request three confidential letters of reference to be sent directly to the search committee at: plscapplications@psu.edu. Candidates invited to visit campus will be expected to give a teaching demonstration. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Apply online at <https://psu.jobs/job/88346>

To review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5674

University of Oxford

Rank: Hedley Bull Research Fellowship in International Relations
Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 - £39,609 p.a.

The Department of Politics and International Relations (DPIR), University of Oxford, proposes to appoint a Hedley Bull Research Fellow in International Relations. The post will be associated with a non-stipendiary Fellowship position at one of the Oxford Colleges.

The successful candidate will be based at the Department for Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford. The appointment will be offered on a full-time basis and available from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter for a period of 3 years.

The person appointed will engage in sophisticated and original independent research and contribute to teaching and research activities of the DPIR and the College. For the Department, this involves small scale project management and co-ordinating multiple aspects of research and administrative work to meet deadlines. For the College, the postholder will be expected to teach International Relations (IR) papers and may be asked to participate in the annual admissions exercise.

This position will offer the successful candidate exceptional career opportunities to work in an internationally renowned Department which benefits from excellent facilities for research and teaching and the presence of leading international academics.

Applicants for this post should hold, or be close to completion of, a relevant PhD/DPhil by September 2019 and possess sufficient specialist knowledge in the discipline of International Relations. They should also be able to demonstrate a track record of excellent quality publications in highly-ranked academic journals and/or major presses and an ability to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate level in the field of International Relations.

The duties, responsibilities, and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars which also contain details on how to apply.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 8 July 2019. Interviews are expected to be held on Thursday 18 July 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website, quoting reference 141000

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 7/8/2019

Date Posted: 6/10/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5675

University of Oxford

Rank: Departmental Lecturer in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 - £39,609 p.a. (with a discretionary range up to £43,267 p.a.)

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is seeking to appoint a full-time fixed-term Departmental Lecturer in International Relations from 1 September 2019 until 31 August 2020.

The successful candidate will provide teaching and supervision for the Department of Politics and International Relations at the undergraduate and graduate level, while contributing to the Departmental examining processes and undertaking independent research in International Relations. They will also provide support to the undergraduate and graduate admissions processes at the Department.

This post is offered on a full-time basis to commence from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter. Office space and other relevant facilities will be provided in the Department of Politics and International Relations.

The ideal candidate will hold a relevant PhD/DPhil by September 2019 (or be close to completion). They will be able to provide excellent class and tutorial teaching to high-achieving students at both the undergraduate and graduate level in the field of International Relations and US Foreign Policy, and to advise MPhil and DPhil students on their research projects. Further essential criteria include experience in carrying out independent research and a track record of publications in highly-ranked, peer-reviewed journals or major presses, as well as an ability to commit to the full range of academic duties in the Department.

A subject specialism in US Foreign Policy or the Middle East is desirable but not essential.

The duties, responsibilities and skills required are described in more detail in the further particulars (Vacancy ID: 141070), which also contain details on how to apply. These are available from the link below. If you have any questions regarding the vacancy please contact vacancies@politics.ox.ac.uk.

The closing date for applications is Monday noon (UK time), 1st July 2019. Interviews for this post are expected to take place in Oxford on Thursday, 18th July 2019.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/19/2019

Date Posted: 6/6/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5672

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow - SCHOOLPOL: The Transformation of Post-war Education: Causes and Effects

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Other

Grade 7: £32,236 p.a.

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join their research project team directed by Professor Jane Gingrich, the Principal Investigator (PI). The project examines the post-war development of education systems in OECD countries, divided over three work streams.

The successful candidate will be based at the Department for Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford. The appointment will be offered on a full-time basis and available from 1 September 2019 or as soon as possible thereafter for a period of 3 years.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all work streams, including undertaking advanced research within the context of the entire project, with a particular emphasis on historical or quantitative data collection. In addition to pursuing their own related research agenda, s/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project and to co-author work with the Principal Investigator.

The postholder's duties will also include assisting in the compilation of a cross-national database of policies and legislation related to education from the post-war period onwards, and contributing to the dissemination of project results (including the construction of an online open-access database). S/he will be expected to present findings and outputs from the project at international conferences.

The successful candidate will hold, or be close to completion of, a doctorate in the field of political science, sociology, economics or a related area. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of education policy and experience in historical or archival research, or quantitative data collection. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 24 June 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit: <https://my.corehr.com> quoting reference 140865.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/24/2019

Date Posted: 6/6/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5673

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Princeton Society of Fellows in the Liberal Arts, an interdisciplinary group of scholars in the humanities, social sciences, and selected natural sciences, invites applications for the 2020-23 fellowship competition. Five fellowships will be awarded: Three Open Fellowships in any discipline represented in the Society; one Fellowship in Humanistic Studies, and one Fellowship in Race and Ethnicity Studies.

Applicants may apply for more than one fellowship pertinent to their research and teaching. Please see the Society's website sf.princeton.edu for fellowship details, eligibility, disciplines and application.

Appointed in the Humanities Council and academic departments, postdoctoral fellows pursue their research, attend weekly seminars and teach half-time as lecturers for a term of three years. In each of the first two years, fellows teach one course each semester; in their third year, only one course. The salary for 2020-2021 will be approximately $91,000. Fellows must reside in or near Princeton during the academic year.

Applicants holding the Ph.D. at the time of application must have received the degree after January 1, 2018. Applicants not yet holding the Ph.D. must have completed a substantial portion of the dissertation - approximately half - at the time of application. Successful candidates must fulfill all requirements for the Ph.D., including filing of the dissertation, by June 15, 2020. Candidates for/recipients of doctoral degrees in Education, Jurisprudence and from Princeton University are not eligible. Applicants may apply only once to the Princeton Society of Fellows.

Selection is based on exceptional scholarly achievement and evidence of unusual promise, range and quality of teaching experience, and potential contributions to an interdisciplinary community. The Society of Fellows seeks a diverse and international pool of applicants, and especially welcomes those from underrepresented backgrounds.

Applicants are asked to submit an online application by August 6, 2019 (11:59 p.m. EST).

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 8/6/2019
Date Posted: 6/3/2019
Salary: $90,000 - $99,999
eJobs ID: 5649

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2020-21. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

While Ph.D. must be in hand, the fellowship is otherwise open as to seniority. Most applicants will be on sabbatical or other leave from an existing faculty position, but it is not a requirement that the applicant already hold a faculty appointment.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <https://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Bred Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by September 16.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/16/2019
Date Posted: 4/9/2019
Salary: $20,000 - $29,999
eJobs ID: 5596

SUNY, Potsdam

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, International Relations

The Department of Politics, State University of New York at Potsdam, seeks a one-year visiting assistant professor in political theory.

The faculty member in this position will teach courses required for the political science major/minor and one or more courses for the general education program. Fall 2019 courses will include introduction to political theory and a general education politics course for non-majors. The third course will be either introduction to U.S. politics or introduction to international relations. Spring 2020 courses will include two required political science courses and one elective course.

Required qualifications:

Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. In addition, we are seeking candidates who possess communication and interpersonal skills sufficient to work effectively with an increasingly diverse array of students and colleagues and who have demonstrated a commitment to creating, fostering and sustaining an inclusive environment in and out of the classroom. A master's degree in political science is also required.

Preferred qualifications:

A Ph.D. in political science is preferred. In addition to political theory, research or teaching experience in the areas of public law, public policy or international relations (other than international political economy) would be welcomed. More broadly, we are seeking candidates who have worked with, done research with, or taught underrepresented groups and have worked collaboratively across various departments in fostering success of underrepresented groups.

Applicants should e-mail a cover letter, curriculum vitae, the names and contact information of three references and evidence of teaching effectiveness directly to Dr. Robert Hinckley, Chair & Associate Professor, at hincklra@potsdam.edu.

The position will remain open until filled but full consideration will be granted to those who submit all materials by April 19, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5591

Samford University

Rank: Political Theory - 1 to 2 year position

Samford University's Howard College of Arts and Sciences invites individuals interested in serving in a Christian university environment to submit applications for a position as Instructor (postdoctoral) in the Political Science Department, beginning August 2019. This non-tenure-track position carries a three courses-per-semester teaching load with two courses per semester in the interdisciplinary Core Curriculum, which cover speaking, writing and the history of ideas and one course per semester in the department. The position is a full-time, one-year appointment, renewable one time for a maximum of two years based on departmental needs, funding availability and meeting all departmental, college and university policies.

Qualified candidates will have earned a Ph.D. in Political Science within the past three years and be able to teach upper-level courses in Political Theory and possibly law related courses. The successful candidate should have a strong commitment to the classroom, will demonstrate excellence in student development and mentorship and collegial collaboration. The department also seeks to support the active research agendas of young scholars. Support for travel will be available and other research funding can be earned on a competitive basis. A tenured member of the Political Science faculty will provide supervision and mentorship for the Postdoc.

The Department of Political Science has 4 full-time faculty positions and over 100 majors, with a Political Science major and interdisciplinary majors in International Relations, Public Administration and Law, Politics and Society.

Samford University (www.samford.edu) is the largest privately supported and fully accredited institution for higher learning in Alabama. Located in suburban Birmingham, the university was founded in 1841 and has 366 full time faculty and more than 5,500 students. Samford is ranked 3rd in the South among regional universities by U.S. News & World Report, and has been nationally recognized for academics, affordability and value by a number of prestigious publications and rankings. The university is dedicated to the promotion of rigorous academic inquiry in a Christian setting. The university offers competitive salaries with a generous benefits package.

Review of applications will begin April 1 and applications will be accepted through at least April 30, 2019. Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vita with names and contact information of three references, evidence of teaching effectiveness, description of leadership experience, research interests and activities, a philosophy of teaching in a Christian University, Application for Faculty Position, and Faculty Applicant Christian Mission Statement. "Application for Faculty Position" can be found at: (https://www.samford.edu/departments/files/Human_Resources/application-for-faculty-employment.pdf) and the "Faculty Applicant Christian Mission Statement" can be found at: (<https://www.samford.edu/departments/files/academic-affairs/Faculty-Applicant-Christian-MissionStatement.docx>).

Please submit all materials in a PDF format to:
FACAPP@samford.edu
ATTN: Postdoc – Political Science

Samford University is an Equal Opportunity Institution that complies with applicable law prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, age, disability, veteran status, genetic information or national or ethnic origin.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 3/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5511

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Visiting Lecturer

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a one-year, full-time position as Visiting Lecturer in Global Studies for the 2019-2020 academic year, with a possibility of renewal. Teaching obligations involve 18 credit hours (6 courses) and will include several sections of PS 550, Introduction to Global Studies, a course the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., courses in comparative politics, international relations, or political theory). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in political theory that complement our existing offerings (e.g., courses in non-western or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc.) as well as in comparative politics or international relations. All applicants should explain their qualifications to teach Intro to Global Studies (a large-format lecture course) and describe what additional courses they might offer.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand or expected by August 31, 2019. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, and two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjYx>.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5477

University of Richmond

Rank: Visiting Faculty in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Public Law

The program in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL) at the University of Richmond invites applications for a one-year visiting lecturer in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law, to begin August 2019. The successful candidate for this non-tenure track position will teach core PPEL courses that are required of all majors, such as: Theory and Public Policy; Law and Social Order; and Rational Choice and Political Theory. The teaching load is seven courses for the academic year. Completion of PhD (in Philosophy, Political Science, or Economics, or in an interdisciplinary field involving those subjects) is expected prior to appointment.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and 92% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the program in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law, see <https://ppel.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit the following materials: a brief cover letter; a statement of teaching interests, experience, and philosophy, as well as evidence of commitment to inclusive pedagogy; a current curriculum vitae; copies of graduate transcripts. Please provide the names and contact information for three references who will receive an email requesting them to submit their recommendation letters to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu. One of these references must be able to speak to the candidate's record of or potential for excellence in teaching.

Please address any questions about the application to Stephen Simon (ssimon@richmond.edu). Review of applications will begin on April 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5429

Augustana College

Rank: Open Rank Visiting Professor

Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, invites applications for an open rank visiting position in Political Science (Political Theory/Political Thought) beginning in August of the 2019-2020 academic year, with possible renewal for the 2020-2021 academic year.

Augustana College is a selective liberal arts college of approximately 2,500 students, including 29 percent first-generation college students, 23 percent Pell Grant students, 21 percent students of color, and 9 percent international students.

Our beautifully wooded and largely residential 115-acre campus is located in Rock Island, Illinois, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago and 45 minutes east of Iowa City, home of the University of Iowa.

Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body.

The successful candidate will be able to teach modern and contemporary political theory courses, while specializations within political theory will be open. Candidates with interests and expertise in perspectives such as a feminist political thought, black political thought, LGBT political thought, and/or other perspectives of political theory that may have been historically marginalized are encouraged to apply. The department is open to candidates bringing new ideas for political theory courses. Additionally, the successful candidate will teach American National Government. All faculty contribute to the first-year experience through a combination of teaching in the college's first-year inquiry program and/or offering January-term courses aimed at first-year students.

The successful candidate will join a diverse and active, five-member department. Each faculty colleague has interdisciplinary interests beyond political science that complement the political science curriculum, such as Africana Studies, Environmental Studies, Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and more. Successful candidates will be able to demonstrate teaching effectiveness and an understanding of and/or willingness to embrace the nature of a liberal arts education. Experience and interest in working with students and community members of many backgrounds will be an asset for applicants. Preference will be given to candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment, although ABD candidates also will be considered.

Augustana College is an equal opportunity employer and actively encourages applications from women and persons of diverse ethnic backgrounds. We do not discriminate based on age, race, color, ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, disability or creed and strongly encourage applicants from diverse backgrounds to apply for this position.

Details about Augustana College, our expectations of the faculty, the selection process, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana. Questions may be directed to the chair of the department, Xiaowen Zhang. Review of applications will begin March 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

A complete application includes: a cover letter indicating an interest in and understanding of teaching in a liberal arts setting, curriculum vitae, copy of graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation (including contact information), a statement of teaching philosophy, and writing sample.

To apply, please email application materials to sherrydocherty@augustana.edu using the subject line: Search #114-19 Pol. Sci. – Theory/Thoughts, and directed to Jessica Schultz, Associate Dean of the College. Alternatively, application materials can be mailed to: Search #114-19 Pol. Sci. – Theory/Thoughts, C/O Jessica Schultz, Associate Dean of the College, Augustana College, 639 – 38th Street, Rock Island, IL 61201.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5413

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in American Politics beginning August 2019. Application review will begin on 01 October 2018 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. American Politics scholars with expertise in public policy; race, gender, and ethnicity; or political philosophy are encouraged to apply. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at <https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProfessor-PolSciAY19.php>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4715

The New School

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Politics Department at The New School for Social Research and Eugene Lang College seeks to appoint a political theorist, for a tenure track position at the assistant professor level, subject to budgetary approval.

We seek candidates with a strong background in the history of political thought and with promise of excellence in research as well as teaching.

We seek candidates whose work is theoretically sophisticated, historically sensitive, and politically critical and who are committed to engaging with colleagues outside the theory subfield.

We aim to appoint someone with broad interests and a lively mind, who can contribute to cross-field discussions in a politics department committed to blurring subfield divisions; to interdisciplinary debate in a graduate division dedicated to critically-oriented social science, philosophy and history; and to collegial life in an innovative liberal arts college dedicated to seminar teaching.

While we expect a strong background in the history of political thought, we are especially interested in candidates whose primary focus is on theoretical approaches and questions linked to contemporary political problems—for example, race, indigeneity, colonialism, imperialism/capitalism, domination, intersectionality, borders, globalization, transnationalism, international law; and environmental issues.

The review of applications will begin on September 15, 2018 and will continue until the position is filled. The start date for the position is July 1, 2019. Applicants apply on-line using the faculty application on The New School human resources website <http://careers.newschooledu/postings/16212/>. Using this online system, applicants should submit 1) a letter of intent, 2) a CV, 3) a list of references, and 4) a piece of recent research. Applicants should have the PhD completed by the time of their contract start date.

Information about The New School for Social Research, Eugene Lang College, and the Politics Department can be found at: <http://www.newschooledu/nssr/>, <http://www.newschooledu/lang/>, and <http://www.newschooledu/nssr/politics/>.

Benefits: Comprehensive university benefits package including health and retirement plans, tuition remission. Visit <http://www.newschooledu/admin/hr/benefits/index.html>

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/31/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4460

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Education Policy, Political Economy

The University of Richmond's Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JSLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track social scientist position at the rank of Assistant Professor for the 2020-21 academic year. Although ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. in public administration, public policy, educational policy, political economy, political science, sociology, or a related field, by August 19, 2020.

JSLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars in anthropology, economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, social psychology and religion. We seek applicants who study, or have the potential and desire to study, leadership by drawing on their disciplinary expertise to inform their work. We are particularly interested in candidates whose demonstrated scholarly interests focus on the empirical analysis of data related to justice and explaining social and economic inequality.

Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in an interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will be expected to teach elective courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences, Quantitative Social Science, and Theories and Models of Leadership. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests connect, or have the potential to connect, to leadership, broadly construed. (See <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information.)

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and 92% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, and future professional development goals as well as involvement in and commitment to inclusive pedagogy. The JSLS supports the University's commitment to promoting an inclusive campus community. For full consideration, applicants must specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the imperatives of diversity and inclusion. In addition, please include the names and emails of three references who will receive an email asking them to submit their reference letters to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu. Review of applications will commence August 15, 2019. Phone or Skype interviews will be conducted in September. Committee members will be in attendance at the APSA Conference; attendance is not required for consideration. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus in October.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5688

University of South Carolina

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a 9-month, non-tenure track visiting assistant professor position in Public Administration to begin on August 16, 2019. The salary for this position is $65,000 with eligible fringe benefits included.

Position Description

The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. Successful candidates will be able to teach financial administration and other courses as determined in the department's Master of Public Administration (MPA) Program. The visiting assistant professor position entails a 2-2 teaching load.

Minimum Qualifications

A Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science or a closely related field of study is required by the start date of appointment. Exceptions may be made for those who have successfully defended their dissertation prospectus and are actively working on completing their dissertation.

Special Instructions to Applicants

Candidates must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Direct Link for the posting: <http://uscjobs.sc.edu/hr/postings/59524>

Please contact the search committee chair, Xuhong Su, suxuhong@mailbox.sc.edu, with any questions. The University of South Carolina-Columbia is classified as R1: Doctoral Universities – Highest research activity in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>. Positions are advertised for a minimum of five (5) business days on our job website. After five (5) business days, positions can be closed at the discretion of the department at any time. This employment site is updated on a regular basis. The length of the recruitment and screening process may vary from position to position, depending upon a variety of factors. Should review of your qualifications result in a decision to pursue your candidacy, you will be contacted by phone or email.

Benefits for Temporary Positions: The University of South Carolina (UofSC), through the State of SC and Public Employee Benefit Authority (PEBA), offers temporary employees expected to work at least 30 hours per week health and life insurance, flexible spending accounts and retirement programs. To learn more about UofSC benefits, access the benefits section on the Applicant Portal.

About UofSC

The University of South Carolina System is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5728

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professorship(s) in Public Administration and Public Policy

We invite applications for one or more positions as Tenure Track Assistant Professor at the Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen. The position(s) are available from 1 March 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who can enhance the Department's research, education and societal impact in public administration and public policy.

For more on the Department and its pluralistic academic environment, please consult our webpage: <http://politicalscience.ku.dk/about/>

Job Description

General duties attached to the position as Assistant Professor are:

- Research within the field of public administration and public policy
- Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and post-graduate students
- Administrative tasks
- Knowledge sharing with the rest of the society

Emphasis will be put on the applicant's ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the Department through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching, disseminate knowledge and make a knowledge-based societal impact. An assistant professor is expected to develop competences and experience within research, teaching and dissemination. In time, the assistant professor should develop competences to attract funding within his or her specialist area.

An assistant professorship is a further-education post. Supervision as well as pedagogical training is provided. The position(s) will be covered by the tenure track programme at the University of Copenhagen. The programme offers tenure-track candidates a contract of six years that can result in a tenured associate professorship. For additional information about assistant professorships, tenure-track assistant professorships and the Job Structure for Academic Staff at the University, see: <http://employment.ku.dk/faculty/career-at-upch/> and: <http://employment.ku.dk/tenure-track/tenure-track-at-ucph/>

Qualifications

Essential Qualifications

To be qualified for the position the applicant must have a PhD in Political Science or equivalent academic qualifications as well as:

- An aspiration to increase our understanding of the world and its problems based on a proven record of outstanding research, as evidenced primarily by a well-received PhD dissertation and an emerging international reputation based on a publication profile that complements the existing research strengths of the Department
- A commitment to contribute to the delivery of an excellent student experience based on a track record of excellence in teaching in one or more of the main areas covered by the Department. The Department prefers candidates, who can cover more than one of the main courses taught at BSc level.
- An engagement in knowledge exchange and policy-impact in Denmark as well as in an international context. We encourage proactive engagement with government, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.
- Robust interpersonal skills which enables the candidate to be a constructive and empathic colleague in a diverse and vibrant working environment.

We will expect candidates to present a clear, well-developed and viable strategy for future outstanding research that will result in further world-leading publications, external research funding as well as a commitment to innovate teaching.

Information

Additional information can be obtained from acting Head of Department, Professor MSO Jacob Gerner Hariri Tel. +45 35 32 35 67; institutleder@ifs.ku.dk

The deadline for applications, including enclosures is 1 October 2019 (at Noon 12.00 Danish Time)

Please note: Applications cannot be based on this extract. Click here for full announcement: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/>

Apply

<https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationForm/SinglePageApplicationForm.aspx?cid=1307&departmentId=18992&ProjectId=149460&MediaId=4638>

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe's top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation – with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture – creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 6/13/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5689

University of North Florida

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH FLORIDA: Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Florida seeks candidates for a one-year appointment as a Visiting Assistant Professor. We are seeking:

- (1) experts in American politics and government;

(2) experts teach core courses within the department's MPA program. The field in American Politics is open, although the department does have curricular needs in state/local politics. The core courses within the Master's in Public Administration program include Public Administration, Ethics, Research Methods, Human Resources, and Admin. Behavior. The department welcomes the use of innovative teaching technologies including distance learning and hybrid classes. Candidates should demonstrate teaching excellence. The teaching load is four courses per semester. A Ph.D in Political Science, Government, Public Administration, or related field is preferred but will consider highly qualified ABD candidates. The department encourages applications from candidates of diverse backgrounds.

Applicants must complete an online application, as well as upload supplemental documents, at www.unfjobs.org in order to be considered for this position. Applicants who do not apply online and/or upload all the required documents will not be considered for this position. Once you submit both your completed application and uploaded documents, you will receive a confirmation number. Keep the confirmation number for your records.

The successful candidate will demonstrate excellence in teaching courses in American Politics. MPA focus candidates should demonstrate excellence in teaching core courses within the curriculum.

Applicants must apply online at Quicklink <http://www.unfjobs.org/postings/10545> and attach the following required documents to be considered for this position.

- (1) a letter of interest stating teaching interests
- (2) a complete curriculum vitae
- (3) unofficial transcripts
- (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness
- (5) three current professional letters of recommendation (uploaded as one document)

Review of applications will begin 6/10/2019

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 6/10/2019

Date Posted: 6/3/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 5665

Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University recruiting for one non-tenure track position for the 2019-2020 academic year to teach at the Higher Education Center at McAllen, located in McAllen, TX. We seek to hire a lecturer to teach introductory, survey courses in American government. The successful candidate will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government at both the national and state and local level. A completed Ph.D. is preferred in Political Science; A.B.D. status would be acceptable. The target start date for this position September 1, 2019. The teaching load would be four to five courses total for the academic year. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position. This position has the possibility of being renewed on an annual basis depending on performance, funding, and university needs.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor Guy D. Whitten, Acting Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tamu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5661

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University invites applications for a one-year renewable, full-time, non-tenure-track faculty position at the rank of lecturer beginning August 2019. The successful candidate will teach online and face-to-face courses in the Political Science Department's newly established Public Administration/Public Policy minor. The position requires teaching Introduction to Public Policy and one or more of the following policy courses: Environmental Policy, Social Policy and Economic Policy. Applicants who are willing to develop and offer courses in other policy areas are encouraged to apply. The teaching load for the position is four courses in both the fall and spring semesters. Summer courses are not included in the teaching load.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences at Sam Houston State University is strongly committed to a diverse and inclusive workplace that empowers all employees to reach their full potential. All members of the academic community share a responsibility for developing and maintaining an environment in which differences are valued and inclusiveness is practiced. The college welcomes applications from those who will contribute to the diversity of our community

Degree Requirements:

Applicants must have a master's degree in Public Policy or Public Administration or a PhD in public policy, public administration, public affairs, or political science. Preference will be given to candidates who have a PhD. Candidates are expected to have degrees from an accredited university or institution of higher learning and have their degrees in at hand at the time of hire.

Application Requirements:

- Cover Letter
- Current CV
- All graduate transcripts
- Two letters of recommendation from supervisors who are familiar with the applicant's teaching abilities and who have worked with the applicant in the past two years

- Recent student teaching evaluations covering the last two semesters of teaching, if available
- Teaching statement, including a discussion of online pedagogy
- If available, sample syllabi for relevant courses
- Diversity statement discussing how the applicant would engage a diverse student population such as Sam Houston State University that meets the College of Humanities and Social Sciences core goals.

Please direct your questions regarding this position to Dr. Fatih Demiroz (demiroz@shsu.edu).

Those interested should apply online at <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/>. The search committee will begin reviewing materials immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5630

Eastern Kentucky University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Master of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of Government at Eastern Kentucky University invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track assistant professor position to begin August 2019. The successful candidate will teach classes in the department's Master of Public Administration (MPA) Program and undergraduate political science programs. Departmental teaching needs include courses related to public policy, state and local government, community development/non-profit, Appalachian/rural development studies, and American government. Candidates must be able to develop and/or teach fully online courses.

A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, or Public Policy is required at the time of appointment. The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Successful candidates should be, or have the potential to be, an active scholar and a high quality teacher.

To ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by February 18, 2019.

Applicants should submit: 1) Cover Letter, 2) Curriculum Vitae, 3) Teaching philosophy statement, 4) Contact information for at least three professional references, 5) Copies of unofficial transcripts and 6) Evidence of teaching effectiveness.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.eku.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5409

Drexel University

Rank: Director, Center for Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

Drexel's Center for Public Policy (CPP), located in the Department of Politics of the College of Art and Sciences, is now accepting applications for a director.

The CPP Director is a full-time teaching faculty position with both administrative and teaching responsibilities. The CPP director would be overseen by both a graduate committee in the Department of Politics and by the head of the Department of Politics, who would also serve on the graduate committee.

This is a non-tenure track faculty appointment with a minimum of a two-year, and a maximum of a three-year, contract. Eligibility for reappointment in both cases will be based on performance during the initial contract.

The CPP is a think tank located within Drexel's College of Arts and Sciences. It serves as an interdisciplinary hub for Drexel faculty who conduct policy-oriented research, and as an interface between those faculty and relevant government agencies and nonprofit organizations, especially those in the Philadelphia region.

The CPP offers a Master of Science in Public Policy and a Master of Science in Environmental Policy. The MS in Public Policy is a professional master's degree designed for people who work, or would like to work, for government or nonprofit organizations. Through a flexible course schedule that includes evening and online classes, students have the option of completing the program at a pace that suits them. On average, students can complete the program in as little as 18 months to two years. The MS in Environmental Policy prepares students for careers as policy analysts who have a strong commitment to environmental values, are scientifically and methodologically competent, and can work effectively on policy with various groups and institutions engaged in environmental issues.

To be considered for the position, you must meet the following requirements:

1. Hold a J.D. or a Ph.D. in a policy-related discipline. Candidates with a masters-level policy-oriented degree may be considered if they have exceptional work experience.
2. Have significant policy-oriented work experience.
3. Be able to demonstrate knowledge of the theory and methods of public policy; active research or practice in a related area highly desirable.
4. Have a record of successful teaching.

In the first year of their appointment, the CPP director would be responsible for:

- Teaching 4 to 5 courses (on the quarter system), potentially both undergraduate and graduate.
- Advising MS students through the case study course sequence (a thesis program).
- Taking lead responsibility for developing an online version of the MS in Public Policy.
- Coordinating the course offerings across departments and colleges to maintain the MS in Public Policy and MS in Environmental Policy curricula.
- Identifying partner organizations in Washington, DC, who would supply students for our proposed DC-based certificate program, and otherwise helping to develop that certificate program.
- Developing partnerships with external policy-oriented groups in the Philadelphia region.
- Attending relevant conferences and other professional events to promote the MS degrees.
- Promoting the degrees through attendance at recruitment and through publication of Drexel Policy Notes.

In subsequent years the CPP director's responsibilities would shift to administering the programs developed in the first year.

Other duties as assigned.

Must apply on drexeljobs.com, Quick Link to posting: www.drexeljobs.com/applicants/Central?quickFind=83533

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5389

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2019. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2019 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 31, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/5/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4971

PUBLIC LAW

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility.

MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

Whitman College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Subfield(s): Public Law, International Relations, Political Theory

Tenure-track position in law and politics in global context at the rank of assistant professor. Effective August 2020. Ph.D. required.

We are interested in a teacher-scholar with a focus on law and politics in a global context. We welcome candidates who work with a variety of methods, including fieldwork, archival, historical institutional, political theoretical, and/or legal textual approaches. Candidates might offer courses such as international law; international politics; decolonization; human rights; theories of empire; comparative constitutionalism; indigenous politics; and/or area-specific courses on Asia, Africa, or Latin America. The candidate selected for the position will have the opportunity to contribute to the work of the college's Center for Global Studies, as well as interdisciplinary programs such as Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender Studies, and Race and Ethnic Studies, as appropriate. Women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

The standard annual teaching load is five courses. The College provides a generous sabbatical leave program and professional development support for both research and teaching.

Whitman College is committed to cultivating a diverse learning community. Applicants should explain how their classroom and scholarly practices will serve to create and sustain an inclusive learning environment. This statement can be included in the cover letter or the teaching statement. In their cover letter, candidates should address their interest in working at a liberal arts college with undergraduates, majors as well as non-majors, at all levels of instruction.

To apply, go to <https://whitmanhr.simplehire.com/>, click "Faculty" and "Assistant Professor of Politics". The online application will prompt you to submit all of the required materials: a letter of application; separate statements addressing the candidate's teaching interests and scholarly agenda; curriculum vitae; the contact information for three people who will be contacted for letters of reference; graduate transcripts; and complete sets of teaching evaluations or other evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in undergraduate instruction.

Deadline: August 15, 2019.

Whitman College is building a diverse academic community and especially encourages applications from women, members of historically underrepresented minority groups, persons with disabilities, and others who would bring additional dimensions to the college's learning environment. Whitman College is an EEO employer.

For additional information about Whitman College and the Walla Walla area, see www.whitman.edu and www.wallawalla.org.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5700

SUNY, University at Buffalo

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science invites nominations and applications for a tenure-track position in Public Law. The Department is looking for individuals with a demonstrated potential for significant scholarly achievement, teaching excellence and service to the department, University and/or community. Preference will be given to candidates who have a clear theoretical orientation and have demonstrable skills in quantitative analysis and/or formal models. We particularly welcome applications from those with a focus on comparative judicial politics or candidates who would supplement existing departmental strengths in state politics, election law, or quantitative methodology.

Candidates must submit the following materials electronically at <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/postings/19994> or <https://www.ubjobs.buffalo.edu/> by referencing posting F1900057: a cover letter, CV, and contact information for three professional references. Candidates are encouraged to complete their applications by September 15, 2019

University at Buffalo is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer and, in keeping with our commitment, welcomes all to apply including veterans and individuals with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5662

Occidental College

Rank: Full time NTT Track Position - American Politics and Public Law

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for a one-year non-tenure track faculty appointment to begin in fall 2019. The teaching load for this full-time hire is six courses (3-3). We seek a candidate to teach two sections of Introduction to American Politics and Policy, one section of Law and Society, one section of our Cultural Studies first year writing seminar on a topic of the candidate's choice, and two upper division seminars in American Politics or Public Law, in the candidate's areas of specialization. We especially welcome candidates who could offer Constitutional Law as one of two upper division seminars.

A Ph.D. in political science is preferred at the time of appointment but we will consider candidates who are ABD.

Occidental College is a nationally ranked small liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, Occidental College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in the City of Los Angeles, allowing access to major cultural and natural attractions in the nation's second largest city. One of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental College affords students and faculty a unique pedagogical engagement with vast resources outside of the classroom. Occidental College has a strong commitment to community based learning and research and internships. The Politics Department has helped lead efforts on campus along with the Center for Community Based Learning and the Office of Community Engagement, to link the college's academic program with community involvement, including expanding community internships and community-oriented research projects for students.

Full applications should be sent to Ms. Romy Corona, Politics Department Assistant, rcorona@oxy.edu. Review of materials will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Please submit the following items in one single pdf in the order listed:

- 1) cover letter detailing your interest in teaching in a liberal arts environment
- 2) current curriculum vitae
- 3) statement of teaching philosophy that includes a discussion of your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for underrepresented students.
- 4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (teaching evaluations or other materials and syllabi)
- 5) the name and contact information for three references who will submit letters including at least one that attests to your teaching abilities or performance. At least one letter must be submitted for file to be reviewed.

Letters from references should be sent directly to Romy Corona (rcorona@oxy.edu)

Start Date: Fall 2019

Date Posted: 5/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5636

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2020-21. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

While Ph.D. must be in hand, the fellowship is otherwise open as to seniority. Most applicants will be on sabbatical or other leave from an existing faculty position, but it is not a requirement that the applicant already hold a faculty appointment.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <https://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Bred Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by September 16.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/16/2019
Date Posted: 4/9/2019
Salary: $20,000 - $29,999
eJobs ID: 5596

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor – American Politics, Public Law, or Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for one full-time Visiting Assistant Professor position beginning August 2019, with the possibility for a second year renewal. We seek candidates with demonstrated excellence in teaching and strong research potential. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in American Behavioral Politics, Public Law, and/or Public Policy. The ability to teach courses in Research Methods, Introduction to Politics, and Introduction to American Government and Politics is desirable.

Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field. ABD applicants will be considered. Candidates must show evidence or promise of teaching experience to be considered.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP is an R1 Carnegie classified national research University and ranks third among all U.S. colleges and universities in awarding bachelor's degrees to Hispanics. UTEP enrolls more than 25,000 students. The Brookings Institution in 2017 ranked UTEP as the leading university in equal access to higher education, based on a combination of research productivity and student social mobility. The University has annual research expenditures of $95 million, an operating budget of $500 million and employs approximately 4,000 people. With 172 bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree programs available in eight colleges and schools, UTEP is the first national research university serving a 21st century student demographic.

Application Procedure: Review of applications will begin on April 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality, evidence of research, and current contact information for three professional references. Please contact Dr. José D. Villalobos by email (jdvillalobos2@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
 In keeping with its Access and Excellence mission, the University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/26/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5559

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

The Institute for the American Constitutional Heritage (IACH) at the University of Oklahoma (OU) seeks an established and nationally recognized scholar to hold the newly established Sanders Family Chair in Law and Liberty. The position is at the associate or full professor level and will be jointly appointed in the Department of Classics & Letters and the successful candidate's home disciplinary department or College, e.g., History or Political Science (both in the College of Arts and Sciences), or the College of Law.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core mission of the IACH, a vibrant interdisciplinary center for the study of American constitutionalism housed in Classics & Letters. The IACH has four faculty lines and over 30 affiliated faculty across the university who offer courses to over 100 undergraduates majoring or minoring in Constitutional Studies.

We seek a candidate with a teaching and research profile that would include, but not be limited to, the ancient roots of law, liberty, and self-governance; the development of republican thought and ideas of liberty and the rule of law in the modern world; and the historical and ideological background of the American founding.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. (or a J.D. for exceptional candidates with established records of scholarly excellence) and a substantial scholarly record in a discipline related to the core mission of the IACH. The successful candidate should also have an established commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students, as well as experience in graduate teaching and mentoring, or clear potential for excellence in this area. The teaching load will be three courses a year (2-1).

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should initially submit a letter of interest, a current C.V., and three letters of reference to. Applicants should go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/59901>.

to submit their application. The position will begin in August 2019 or August 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5469

University of Richmond

Rank: Visiting Faculty in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Public Law

The program in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL) at the University of Richmond invites applications for a one-year visiting lecturer in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law, to begin August 2019. The successful candidate for this non-tenure track position will teach core PPEL courses that are required of all majors, such as: Theory and Public Policy; Law and Social Order; and Rational Choice and Political Theory. The teaching load is seven courses for the academic year. Completion of PhD (in Philosophy, Political Science, or Economics, or in an interdisciplinary field involving those subjects) is expected prior to appointment.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and 92% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the program in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law, see <https://ppel.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit the following materials: a brief cover letter; a statement of teaching interests, experience, and philosophy, as well as evidence of commitment to inclusive pedagogy; a current curriculum vitae; copies of graduate transcripts. Please provide the names and contact information for three references who will receive an email requesting them to submit their recommendation letters to the University’s Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu. One of these references must be able to speak to the candidate’s record of or potential for excellence in teaching.

Please address any questions about the application to Stephen Simon (ssimon@richmond.edu). Review of applications will begin on April 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5429

PUBLIC POLICYUniversity of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Leadership Studies

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Leadership Studies, Education Policy, Political Economy

The University of Richmond’s Jepson School of Leadership Studies (JLS) invites applications for a full-time tenure-track social scientist position at the rank of Assistant Professor for the 2020-21 academic year. Although ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have completed a Ph.D. in public administration, public policy, educational policy, political economy, political science, sociology, or a related field, by August 19, 2020.

JLS is a collaborative, inclusive community of scholars in anthropology, economics, history, literature, philosophy, politics, social psychology and religion. We seek applicants who study, or have the potential and desire to study, leadership by drawing on their disciplinary expertise to inform their work. We are particularly interested in candidates whose demonstrated scholarly interests focus on the empirical analysis of data related to justice and explaining social and economic inequality.

Applicants should have the potential and desire to teach in an interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts environment. The successful candidate will be expected to teach elective courses related to his or her disciplinary training and to contribute to the curriculum by teaching such required courses as Leadership and the Social Sciences, Quantitative Social Science, and Theories and Models of Leadership. In their cover letter, candidates should demonstrate how their scholarly and teaching interests connect, or have the potential to connect, to leadership, broadly construed. (See <http://jepson.richmond.edu/> for more information.)

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and 92% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and teaching statement. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy, interests, and future professional development goals as well as involvement in and commitment to inclusive pedagogy. The JLS supports the University's commitment to promoting an inclusive campus community. For full consideration, applicants must specify in their cover letters how they are prepared to contribute to the imperatives of diversity and inclusion. In addition, please include the names and emails of three references who will receive an email asking them to submit their reference letters to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu. Review of applications will commence August 15, 2019. Phone or Skype interviews will be conducted in September. Committee members will be in attendance at the APSA Conference; attendance is not required for consideration. We anticipate inviting candidates to campus in October.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5688

Carleton University

Rank: Canada Research Chair in Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, Other

Field of Specialization: Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies

Academic Unit: Political Science

Category of Appointment: Preliminary (tenure-track)/tenured

Rank/Position Title: Assistant/Associate Professor and Canada Research Chair, Tier 2

Start Date: July 1, 2020

Closing Date: Applications will be considered until the position is filled

About the Position:

The Department of Political Science invites applications from qualified candidates for a Tier 2 CRC Chair appointment in Diversity and Politics in Global North Democracies at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning July 1, 2020. The Department seeks an emerging scholar specializing in Indigenous, racialized, and/or gendered dimensions of political processes and institutions in democracies in the Global North and, in particular scholars whose research focus includes Canadian politics. An appointment with tenure is possible, depending on qualifications of the successful candidate.

Tier 2 Chairs are intended for exceptional emerging researchers (i.e. candidate will typically be less than 10 years from their highest degree at the time of nomination, or more than 10 years and has experienced legitimate career interruptions), acknowledged by their peers as having potential to lead in their field. Applicants who are more than 10 years from their highest degree may have their eligibility for a Tier 2 Canada Research Chair assessed through the program's Tier 2 justification process (<http://www.chairs-chaire.gc.ca/>). Carleton's research grants office can also provide more information (<https://carleton.ca/coris/>).

The successful candidate will work with the Faculty of Public Affairs to prepare the application for the Tier 2 CRC Chair. Academic appointment is conditional on the approval of the application by the CRC Program.

About the Academic Unit:

The Department of Political Science is a research-intensive unit, particularly proud of its pathbreaking tradition and continuing strength in the study of gender and politics, including establishing one of Canada's first political science PhD fields in Gender and Diversity. For more information, please visit: <https://carleton.ca/polisci/>.

Qualifications:

The successful applicant will possess:

- a PhD in Political Science or a cognate discipline;
- an outstanding record of research and peer-reviewed publications on diversity and politics, relative to stage of career;
- a record of high-quality teaching and supervision, appropriate to stage of career;
- commitment to continuing improvement and excellence in teaching;
- capacity to attract external research funding;

Application Instructions:

Please submit your application electronically in three PDF files, including: (1) a cover letter and CV; (2) a statement of research interests and samples of research, ideally including peer-reviewed publications; and (3) a teaching portfolio with evidence of teaching experience. Please identify any past experiences in supporting equity, diversity and inclusion in your previous institutional environment such as in curriculum development and in supporting diverse students. Applicants should also arrange to have three referees send supporting letters electronically.

All application materials should be directed to: Ms. Sandy Herbert, Department Administrator, Department of Political Science, Carleton University at sandy.herbert@carleton.ca.

To help us develop our equity programs, a confidential equity and diversity self-identification survey will be sent to all applicants separately.

Please indicate in your application if you are a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada.

About Carleton University:

Carleton University is a dynamic and innovative research and teaching institution with a national and international reputation as a leader in collaborative teaching and learning, research and governance. With over 30,000 students in more than 100 programs of study, we encourage creative risk-taking, discovery, and the generation of transformative knowledge. We are proud to be one of the most accessible campuses in North America and our Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities has been heralded as the gold standard for disability support services in Canada. To learn more about our university and the Ottawa, please visit www.carleton.ca/about.

We are strongly committed to equity, diversity, and inclusion in the nomination and appointment process. Carleton University is committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our university including, but not limited to: women; visible minorities; First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples; persons with disabilities; and persons of any sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression. Carleton understands that career paths vary. Legitimate career interruptions will in no way prejudice the assessment process and their impact will be carefully considered.

Applicants selected for an interview are asked to contact the Chair as soon as possible to discuss any accommodation requirements. Arrangements will be made in a timely manner.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. All positions are subject to budgetary approval.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5711

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Visiting Professor-Public Policy

The Georgia Institute of Technology's School of Public Policy is seeking applications for a visiting faculty position during academic year 2019-2020, beginning in August 2019. This visiting faculty opportunity is a full-time position with eligibility for benefits. The candidate will be expected to teach two courses each semester, to actively engage in research and scholarly activities, and to participate in service to the School, College, and Institute.

We are seeking candidates with a Ph.D. in public policy, public administration, economics, management or related fields with expertise to teach courses on public finance, public budgeting, and statistics to public policy students in bachelors, masters and Ph.D. programs. Core policy areas of the department include: science, technology and innovation; energy and environmental; information and communication technologies; regional innovation; urban economic development; and ethical inquiry.

Our work in these areas benefits from synergies with Georgia Tech's world-class engineering, computer science, design, and biomedical science curriculums, and a tradition of interdisciplinary innovative research. Candidates are expected to demonstrate an exceptional commitment to the teaching and mentoring of students.

Applicants should submit the following information: (1) a letter of application addressed to the Chair of the School of Public Policy; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) a statement of research and teaching interests with clear evidence of demonstrated teaching success; (4) a copy of at least one publication; and (5) names and contact information of three references. Please apply electronically by sending applicant materials as one combined PDF to: [hiring@pubpolicy.gatech.edu](mailto: hiring@pubpolicy.gatech.edu). Requests for information may be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Gordon Kingsley at [gkingsley@gatech.edu](mailto: gkingsley@gatech.edu). Applicants are encouraged to submit applicant materials by July 12, 2019 for optimal consideration. Applicant screening will begin immediately and will continue to be reviewed until the position is filled. Interviews will be conducted virtually during the week of July 24, 2019. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

The School of Public Policy has 31 faculty members and we instruct students in undergraduate, master's and Ph.D. programs. See our webpage at <http://spp.gatech.edu/> for more information. Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 7/12/2019

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5698

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Other

As part of its Annenberg Center for the Advanced Study of Communication, the Annenberg Public Policy Center (APPC) of the University of Pennsylvania's postdoctoral fellowship program is accepting applications for a 1.5-year appointment from January 15, 2020 through June 30, 2021. Fellows in the program will work closely with APPC researchers and distinguished research fellows on a 2020 election/Institutions of Democracy (IOD) study examining the effects of communication on susceptible voters.

More information about APPC and its Political Communication research can be found at: <https://www.annenbergpublicpolicycenter.org/political-communication/>.

Applicants should submit a letter of nomination from a dissertation adviser as well as a curriculum vitae, a letter describing the applicant's scholarly interests, and contact info for the dissertation advisor and at least one additional reference. Fellows will receive a stipend of $65,000 per year (or $5,417 per month) and serve in a 17.5-month appointment, beginning January 15, 2020. Health insurance will be covered by APPC. A taxable allowance of up to $1,500 will be provided to offset pre-approved, receipt-documented relocation expenses, and APPC will reimburse up to $2,000 in travel to high-level conferences to present APPC research.

We are seeking fellows with strong statistical and methodological skills. Experience working with panel studies and GIS mapping is desirable. A Ph.D. degree completed within the last five years is required.

Please send the letter of interest, CV, and names of two references to Lena Buford at [lena.buford@appc.upenn.edu](mailto: lena.buford@appc.upenn.edu). The letter of nomination should be sent to the same email address by the dissertation adviser.

Deadline for submission is August 15, 2019. Earlier submission is encouraged.

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 8/15/2019

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5697

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor–Public Policy

The Georgia Institute of Technology's School of Public Policy is seeking applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the assistant professor rank. We are seeking a Ph.D. in public policy-related fields who focuses on information and communications technology policy. A specialization in FinTech, ecommerce and an ability to cover public finance and budgeting would be ideal. Specialists in other areas, such as cybersecurity, privacy, content regulation or social justice are also encouraged to apply.

Applicants may be from a variety of disciplinary and field perspectives in keeping with the interdisciplinary profile of our School. Our work in these areas benefits from synergy with Georgia Tech's world-class programs in engineering, data analytics, computer science, design and planning, energy and environmental sustainability, and biomedical engineering curricula. Our School has a tradition of interdisciplinary innovative research. Job duties will include research, teaching and advising students, and service activities at Georgia Tech.

Applicants should submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three publications; 4) a research statement, including descriptions of future research plans; 5) a teaching statement, including descriptions of teaching interests; and 6) names and contact information of three academic references. Please apply using the on-line application process at <https://academicjobsonline.org>. Direct any questions by email to facsearch@pubpolicy.gatech.edu with "PubP Asst. Professor" in the subject line. Applications are due on or before September 30, 2019. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

The School of Public Policy has 31 faculty members and we instruct students in undergraduate, master's and Ph.D. programs. See our webpage at <http://spp.gatech.edu/> for more information. Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance and is aware that attracting faculty may require meeting the needs of two careers.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 6/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5690

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5684

University of California, San Diego

Rank: HDSI - Assistant Professor: Data Science - Multiple Areas

HDSI - Assistant Professor: Data Science - Multiple Areas

University of California, San Diego

The University of California, San Diego invites applications from outstanding candidates for multiple tenure-track faculty positions for primary appointment at the Halicioglu Data Science Institute with optional joint appointment in another academic department. We are focusing on candidates who advance research in the following areas:

Theoretical Foundations - candidates who are applying their disciplinary skills to advance the theory and applications of data science. The foundations area draws heavily from traditional disciplines such as machine learning, statistics, optimization, signal processing, algorithms and complexity. Accordingly, ideal candidates will have a doctorate in areas of engineering and computer science or mathematics/statistics with a record of research in data sciences.

Systems and Applications - candidates with background and experience in building data science systems that target a well-defined application area. Examples of application areas include robotics, health, cyber-physical systems. Research topics may include architectural design and implementation of devices and systems that push the state of the art in the use of data, data models, data related work-flows and methods of artificial intelligence. Demonstrated applications of these advances in targeted areas are of special interest. System implementations that target cross-cutting needs such as data visualization, system security are particularly welcome to apply. Accordingly, ideal candidates will have a doctorate in sciences or engineering with a record of research in data sciences.

Digital Security, Privacy and Public Policy - candidates with background in computer science and public policy who explore the impact of risks and benefits of digital data for a well-defined vertical application area: such as democratic practice, health, education, trade in digital services or societal infrastructure for energy, transportation, and communications or information infrastructures. Of prime interest will be candidates pursuing advances in theory, methods and tools that help us understand security risks to organizations and the national infrastructure, devise methods and policies to mitigate those risks considering both technical considerations and implementation factors such as social, political and economic feasibility.

The University of California, San Diego is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. A PhD in Computer Science, Math, Economics, Engineering or related discipline is required at the start of position.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications in conformance with University of California policies. Successful appointees will have a track record of scientific accomplishments, excellence in teaching, a commitment to university service, and a commitment to support diversity, equity, and inclusion at the university. Applicants will be expected to teach graduate and undergraduate students in the Data Science major/minor degree programs offered by the Institute. In case of a partial joint appointment with another department, the teaching workload would include appropriate course work in the participating department.

About the Halicioglu Data Science Institute: Data Science has emerged as an area central to advances in our understanding of nature, improving the quality life and a healthy society. Data collection, stewardship, and analyses are already integrated into the infrastructure for commerce, healthcare, governance, and education. These ubiquitous practical uses of digital data have raised awareness of the need to further develop the underlying scientific and technological basis for understanding and exploiting data. UC San Diego is pursuing a strategy for advancing Data Science that builds upon its unique strengths in creating interdisciplinary research areas that span multiple disciplines and departments. Funded with a $75M endowment, the mission of the Halicioglu Data Science Institute (HDSI) is to explore the scientific foundations for the new field of data science. These foundations include the principles, methods, and tools that will enable us to understand the nature of digital data, and also the intersections between this new field and existing disciplines of human enquiry. HDSI is a new strategic academic institute tasked with hosting and coordination of Data Science research and education activities at the University of California, San Diego. Among HDSI academic programs are a Data Science major and minor currently with nearly 600 undergraduate students. Prospective HDSI faculty members will have the option of a joint appointment with one or more academic departments of the University in order to bolster the interdisciplinary nature of Data Science.

We encourage candidates to send applications as soon as possible. Review of applications will begin April 17, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Applications must be submitted electronically through AP-Online Recruit website: <https://apptrkr.com/1461583>

Please submit a:

A Cover Letter

C.V. with list of publications

Solicit 3 to 5 references to provide letters through the Recruit system

A statement of Research

A statement of teaching interests and

A separate statement describing past experience in activities that promote diversity and inclusion and/or plans to make future contributions. For further information about contributions to diversity statements, see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>.

For applicants with interest in spousal/partner employment, please see <https://aps.ucsd.edu/services/pop/index.html> for the UC San Diego Partner Opportunities Program.

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Job location

La Jolla, California

Requirements

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Cover Letter

- Statement of Research
- Statement of Teaching
- Statement of Contributions to Diversity - Applicants should summarize their past or potential contributions to diversity. See our <http://facultydiversity.ucsd.edu/recruitment/contributions-to-diversity.html> site for more information.
- Misc / Additional (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 3-8 required (contact information only)

How to apply

- Create an ApplicantID
- Provide required information and documents
- If any, provide required reference information

To apply, please visit: <https://apptrkr.com/1461583>

Copyright ©2017 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/>

jeid-7754c04ee1741944b2f06a60b6e971e4

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 6/30/2019

Date Posted: 6/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5668

Texas A&M University

Rank: Lecturer

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University recruiting for one non-tenure track position for the 2019-2020 academic year to teach at the Higher Education Center at McAllen, located in McAllen, TX. We seek to hire a lecturer to teach introductory, survey courses in American government. The successful candidate will be expected to be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses in American government at both the national and state and local level. A completed Ph.D. is preferred in Political Science; A.B.D. status would be acceptable. The target start date for this position September 1, 2019. The teaching load would be four to five courses total for the academic year. This would be for a nine month appointment in a non-tenure track position. This position has the possibility of being renewed on an annual basis depending on performance, funding, and university needs.

Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Our review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Applicants should send letter of interest, contact information for three references, and a curriculum vitae. All materials should be submitted electronically to Professor Guy D. Whitten, Acting Head, Department of Political Science at poliscijobs@tam.u.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5661

Sam Houston State University

Rank: Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Sam Houston State University invites applications for a one-year renewable, full-time, non-tenure-track faculty position at the rank of lecturer beginning August 2019. The successful candidate will teach online and face-to-face courses in the Political Science Department's newly established Public Administration/Public Policy minor. The position requires teaching Introduction to Public Policy and one or more of the following policy courses: Environmental Policy, Social Policy and Economic Policy. Applicants who are willing to develop and offer courses in other policy areas are encouraged to apply. The teaching load for the position is four courses in both the fall and spring semesters. Summer courses are not included in the teaching load.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences at Sam Houston State University is strongly committed to a diverse and inclusive workplace that empowers all employees to reach their full potential. All members of the academic community share a responsibility for developing and maintaining an environment in which differences are valued and inclusiveness is practiced. The college welcomes applications from those who will contribute to the diversity of our community

Degree Requirements:

Applicants must have a master's degree in Public Policy or Public Administration or a PhD in public policy, public administration, public affairs, or political science. Preference will be given to candidates who have a PhD. Candidates are expected to have degrees from an accredited university or institution of higher learning and have their degrees in at hand at the time of hire.

Application Requirements:

- Cover Letter
- Current CV
- All graduate transcripts
- Two letters of recommendation from supervisors who are familiar with the applicant's teaching abilities and who have worked with the applicant in the past two years
- Recent student teaching evaluations covering the last two semesters of teaching, if available
- Teaching statement, including a discussion of online pedagogy
- If available, sample syllabi for relevant courses
- Diversity statement discussing how the applicant would engage a diverse student population such as Sam Houston State University that meets the College of Humanities and Social Sciences core goals.

Please direct your questions regarding this position to Dr. Fatih Demiroz (demiroz@shsu.edu).

Those interested should apply online at <https://shsu.peopleadmin.com/>. The search committee will begin reviewing materials immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/7/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5630

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Temporary Lecturer
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) and The International Studies Program at the School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego, is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body.

Pending budgetary approval, several non tenure-track lectureships are expected to be available for the 2019-20 academic year, and possibly Summer Session 2020. Appointments may be for one or more quarters/sessions based on department need.

All areas of international affairs, international studies, regional studies, business-government relations, and international economics will be considered.

A Ph.D. in Economics, Political Science, International Management or experience in related fields and outstanding teaching experience are required. Research experience and a commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion are highly desirable.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, individuals offered employment with the University of California must be authorized to work in the United States.

The 9-month salary and level of appointment are based on qualifications and UC pay scale.

Applications received by September 1, 2019 will be given full consideration.

Apply via <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02067>

Submit:

- CV
- Teaching evaluations (2-3 course evaluations)
- Statement of Teaching
- Sample Course Syllabus
- Statement describing past and/or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyexcellence.ucsd.edu/c2d/index.html> for further information).

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 9/1/2019
Date Posted: 5/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5612

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor – American Politics, Public Law, or Public Policy
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Policy

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for one full-time Visiting Assistant Professor position beginning August 2019, with the possibility for a second year renewal. We seek candidates with demonstrated excellence in teaching and strong research potential. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in American Behavioral Politics, Public Law, and/or Public Policy. The ability to teach courses in Research Methods, Introduction to Politics, and Introduction to American Government and Politics is desirable.

Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field. ABD applicants will be considered. Candidates must show evidence or promise of teaching experience to be considered.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Located in one of the largest binational communities in the world, The University of Texas at El Paso is unique among research institutions. UTEP is an R1 Carnegie classified national research university and ranks third among all U.S. colleges and universities in awarding bachelor's degrees to Hispanics. UTEP enrolls more than 25,000 students. The Brookings Institution in 2017 ranked UTEP as the leading university in equal access to higher education, based on a combination of research productivity and student social mobility. The University has annual research expenditures of $95 million, an operating budget of $500 million and employs approximately 4,000 people. With 172 bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree programs available in eight colleges and schools, UTEP is the first national research university serving a 21st century student demographic.

Application Procedure: Review of applications will begin on April 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality, evidence of research, and current contact information for three professional references. Please contact Dr. José D. Villalobos by email (jdvillalobos2@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
 In keeping with its Access and Excellence mission, the University of Texas at El Paso is committed to an open, diverse, and inclusive learning and working environment that honors the talents, respects the differences, and nurtures the growth and development of all.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 3/26/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5559

University of Richmond

Rank: Visiting Faculty in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Public Law

The program in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law (PPEL) at the University of Richmond invites applications for a one-year visiting lecturer in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law, to begin August 2019. The successful candidate for this non-tenure track position will teach core PPEL courses that are required of all majors, such as: Theory and Public Policy; Law and Social Order; and Rational Choice and Political Theory. The teaching load is seven courses for the academic year. Completion of PhD (in Philosophy, Political Science, or Economics, or in an interdisciplinary field involving those subjects) is expected prior to appointment.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and 92% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the program in Philosophy, Politics, Economics, and Law, see <https://ppel.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should apply online at <http://jobs.richmond.edu> and submit the following materials: a brief cover letter; a statement of teaching interests, experience, and philosophy, as well as evidence of commitment to inclusive pedagogy; a current curriculum vitae; copies of graduate transcripts. Please provide the names and contact information for three references who will receive an email requesting them to submit their recommendation letters to the University's Human Resources department at URHR@richmond.edu. One of these references must be able to speak to the candidate's record of or potential for excellence in teaching.

Please address any questions about the application to Stephen Simon (ssimon@richmond.edu). Review of applications will begin on April 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5429

Eastern Kentucky University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Master of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of Government at Eastern Kentucky University invites applications for a nine-month tenure-track assistant professor position to begin August 2019. The successful candidate will teach classes in the department's Master of Public Administration (MPA) Program and undergraduate political science programs. Departmental teaching needs include courses related to public policy, state and local government, community development/non-profit, Appalachian/rural development studies, and American government. Candidates must be able to develop and/or teach fully online courses.

A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, Public Affairs, or Public Policy is required at the time of appointment. The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Successful candidates should be, or have the potential to be, an active scholar and a high quality teacher.

To ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by February 18, 2019.

Applicants should submit: 1) Cover Letter, 2) Curriculum Vitae, 3) Teaching philosophy statement, 4) Contact information for at least three professional references, 5) Copies of unofficial transcripts and 6) Evidence of teaching effectiveness.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.eku.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5409

Drexel University

Rank: Director, Center for Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

Drexel's Center for Public Policy (CPP), located in the Department of Politics of the College of Art and Sciences, is now accepting applications for a director.

The CPP Director is a full-time teaching faculty position with both administrative and teaching responsibilities. The CPP director would be overseen by both a graduate committee in the Department of Politics and by the head of the Department of Politics, who would also serve on the graduate committee.

This is a non-tenure track faculty appointment with a minimum of a two-year, and a maximum of a three-year, contract. Eligibility for reappointment in both cases will be based on performance during the initial contract.

The CPP is a think tank located within Drexel's College of Arts and Sciences. It serves as an interdisciplinary hub for Drexel faculty who conduct policy-oriented research, and as an interface between those faculty and relevant government agencies and nonprofit organizations, especially those in the Philadelphia region.

The CPP offers a Master of Science in Public Policy and a Master of Science in Environmental Policy. The MS in Public Policy is a professional master's degree designed for people who work, or would like to work, for government or nonprofit organizations. Through a flexible course schedule that includes evening and online classes, students have the option of completing the program at a pace that suits them. On average, students can complete the program in as little as 18 months to two years. The MS in Environmental Policy prepares students for careers as policy analysts who have a strong commitment to environmental values, are scientifically and methodologically competent, and can work effectively on policy with various groups and institutions engaged in environmental issues.

To be considered for the position, you must meet the following requirements:

1. Hold a J.D. or a Ph.D. in a policy-related discipline. Candidates with a masters-level policy-oriented degree may be considered if they have exceptional work experience.
2. Have significant policy-oriented work experience.
3. Be able to demonstrate knowledge of the theory and methods of public policy; active research or practice in a related area highly desirable.
4. Have a record of successful teaching.

In the first year of their appointment, the CPP director would be responsible for:

- Teaching 4 to 5 courses (on the quarter system), potentially both undergraduate and graduate.
- Advising MS students through the case study course sequence (a thesis program).
- Taking lead responsibility for developing an online version of the MS in Public Policy.
- Coordinating the course offerings across departments and colleges to maintain the MS in Public Policy and MS in Environmental Policy curricula.
- Identifying partner organizations in Washington, DC, who would supply students for our proposed DC-based certificate program, and otherwise helping to develop that certificate program.
- Developing partnerships with external policy-oriented groups in the Philadelphia region.
- Attending relevant conferences and other professional events to promote the MS degrees.
- Promoting the degrees through attendance at recruitment and through publication of Drexel Policy Notes.

In subsequent years the CPP director's responsibilities would shift to administering the programs developed in the first year.

Other duties as assigned.

Must apply on drexeljobs.com, Quick Link to posting: www.drexeljobs.com/applicants/Central?quickFind=83533

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 1/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5389

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in American Politics beginning August 2019. Application review will begin on 01 October 2018 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. American Politics scholars with expertise in public policy; race, gender, and ethnicity; or political philosophy are encouraged to apply. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at <https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProfessor-PolSciAY19.php>

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4715