

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

October 2019 | Volume 8, Issue 10

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science ..... 3

Job Listings

Administration ..... 4

American Government and Politics ..... 8

Comparative Politics ..... 61

International Relations ..... 105

Methodology ..... 159

Non-Academic ..... 171

Open ..... 173

Other ..... 190

Political Theory ..... 220

Public Administration ..... 244

Public Law ..... 257

Public Policy ..... 270

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

October 2019 | Volume 8, Issue 10

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

---

Finding a Job in Political Science ..... 3

Job Listings

---

Administration ..... 4 (7 listings)

American Government and Politics ..... 8 (102 listings)

Comparative Politics ..... 61 (91 listings)

International Relations ..... 105 (111 listings)

Methodology ..... 159 (28 listings)

Non-Academic ..... 171 (2 listings)

Open ..... 173 (34 listings)

Other ..... 190 (61 listings)

Political Theory ..... 220 (47 listings)

Public Administration ..... 244 (23 listings)

Public Law ..... 257 (21 listings)

Public Policy ..... 270 (67 listings)

Total listings this issue ..... 594

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content\_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
  - departmental and institutional committee work,
  - professional or disciplinary activities, and
  - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
  - access to research materials and equipment,
  - the employment of research assistants,
  - research expenses on/off campus, and
  - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
  - the development of teaching expertise,
  - innovations in teaching, and
  - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
  - the average course load,
  - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
  - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
  - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
  - family needs of faculty and staff, and
  - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for October

ADMINISTRATION

Arizona State University

Rank: Professor and Director, School of Politics & Global Studies

Professor and Director, School of Politics & Global Studies
School of Politics and Global Studies
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences
Arizona State University

Arizona State University invites applications for Director of its School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS). The School is a multidisciplinary community of scholars and students who seek to create and disseminate knowledge contributing to society's understanding of how politics and governance shape and influence issues and contexts at local, national, and global levels. Consistent with ASU's goals as The New American University, SPGS emphasizes research that links theory with real-world issues. Arizona State University is a dynamic institution dedicated to interdisciplinary collaborations, rethinking university education, and integrating excellence in research, teaching, and service. Arizona State University serves more than 70,000 students across five campuses, and has a quickly growing digital immersion population.

The Director will develop and implement a comprehensive plan for SPGS and strategic initiatives related to the faculty, staff, and students, providing leadership, vision, and the capacity to engage faculty across a range of disciplines, while sustaining a culture of collaboration both within and beyond the School, strengthening links with other academic units at ASU, and with the wider community. The Director will promote the design principles of the "New American University" fostering growth and innovation in the School's research mission, working to attract, develop, and retain exceptional faculty members, promoting excellence in the undergraduate and graduate programs, developing interdisciplinary research and teaching initiatives, advancing entrepreneurial opportunities, and enhancing relations within and outside the university community.

Minimum Qualifications:

- o Earned doctorate in political science, global studies, or a closely related field
- o Distinguished scholarly record appropriate to appointment at rank of full professor with tenure
- o Demonstrated excellence in administrative leadership
- o A commitment to engaging faculty across a range of disciplines

Desired Qualifications:

- o A proven record of promoting inclusive excellence and success among faculty and students, consistent with the principles of ASU's Charter
- o Exceptional communication and organizational skills
- o Experience in obtaining external funding and/or building relationships with potential donors and alumni

SPGS includes 32 tenured/tenure-track faculty, more than 10 professors of practice, approximately 40 MA and PhD students in political science, over 120 online students in the MA in Global Security, as well as 1,600 undergraduate majors. SPGS offers bachelors, masters, and doctoral programs in Political Science; bachelors degrees in Global Studies and in Politics and the Economy; and masters degrees in Global Security. SPGS is currently launching masters degrees in International Affairs and Leadership and in Political Psychology (more information on our degree programs is available at: <https://spgs.asu.edu/degree-programs>)

SPGS is ranked fifth nationally in Political Science in recent National Science Foundation HERD rankings. The School hosts several vibrant research centers and facilities, including the Center for Latinas/os and American Politics Research, the Center on the Future of War, and an Experimental Lab. The School also has partnerships with the McCain Institute, New America, and The Melikian Center for Russian, Eurasian and East European Studies. In addition, SPGS faculty have formed five research working groups: Conflict and Human Rights, Nationalist and Ethno-religious Dynamics, Political Economy, Political Psychology, and Women and Politics.

The College values our cultural and intellectual diversity, and continually strives to foster a welcoming and inclusive environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can strengthen the diversity of the academic community.

Learn more about what The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has to offer by visiting <https://thecollege.asu.edu/faculty>.

The position is available beginning July 1, 2020. Salary and start-up funding will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications. Review of applications will begin on November 11, 2019. If not filled, applications will be evaluated every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed. Applicants must submit electronically (in MS Word or PDF format) a cover letter, a current curriculum vitae, a list of four references, and a brief statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/69201>. References may be contacted at a later stage of the search and only with the candidate's approval. Inquiries and nominations should be directed to: Elizabeth.Langland@asu.edu.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6236

University of Southern California

Rank: Director and Co-Director

Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies at USC Dornsife: Director and Co-Director Search

USC Dornsife College of Arts, Letters and Sciences seeks two dynamic leaders to serve as the Director and Co-Director of the Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies. One will serve as the director of natural science, and the other will serve as the director of social science. Both will hold endowed chairs.

For more than five decades, USC Wrigley has been a regional leader in marine science and sustainability research. The USC Wrigley Marine Science Center, a state-of-the-art research center and teaching facility on Catalina Island, 20 miles offshore from Los Angeles, provides a testbed for early-stage sustainability innovations. A staff of more than 30 supports research and educational outreach on Catalina and the main campus.

Recognizing that solutions to our environmental crises will require contributions across many disciplines, the Institute's new mission is to bring together natural and social scientific research to address contemporary environmental problems. The Director and Co-Director will lead this ambitious expansion of Wrigley's mission to become a major national center for frontier research on sustainability and the environment. This is an opportunity to reinvent the Wrigley Institute. The Director and Co-Director will guide a comprehensive approach to tackling sustainability challenges that prioritizes action toward meaningful change.

In addition to setting the intellectual agenda for the Institute, the new leadership will foster new research initiatives, enhance its educational programming, work with foundations and the public to enhance environmental awareness, steer fundraising efforts, and manage the Institute's staff.

We will consider applicants at the full professor level from disciplines in both the natural and social sciences. The Institute's leadership structure will be determined based on scholarly credentials, leadership experience and vision. Both successful candidates will bring a distinguished record of innovative research and publication related to environmental studies. The successful applicants will each have a primary appointment in his / her disciplinary home department within USC Dornsife and must each hold a doctoral degree in appropriate field of study.

A pairing of a natural scientist and a social scientist who have contemplated their collaborative vision for the Wrigley Institute in advance would be welcomed (but is not prerequisite for either position).

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, and statement on personal research accomplishments and future research directions, a statement on teaching and educational activities, and three names of individuals familiar with the applicant's work to be contacted for letters of recommendation. Applications should also include a vision statement on how, as a leader in the USC Wrigley Institute, the applicant would advance the Institute's goals. To be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application through the following link: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/wrigley-institute-for-environmental-studies-at-usc-dornsife-director-and-co-director/1209/13209724> .

Inquiries from social scientists may be directed to William Deverell, Search Committee Chair, deverell@usc.edu and for Natural Sciences to Will Berelson, Search Committee Chair, berelson@usc.edu. These two search committees will work together to select the best leadership team. Review of completed applications will begin November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6177

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Dean, David L. Boren College of International Studies and Associate Provost for International Programs

Dean, David L. Boren College of International Studies and Associate Provost for International Programs, the University of Oklahoma

Created in 2011, the David L. Boren College of International Studies (https://www.ou.edu/cis/about\_cis) is dedicated to advancing international education opportunities for all OU students and to enhancing the experience of international students attending the University of Oklahoma. The College houses the Office of Education Abroad, the Office of International Student Services, and the OU in Arezzo, Italy, and OU in Puebla, Mexico Study Centers. The College's dynamic academic unit, the Department of International and Area Studies, (<http://www.ou.edu/cis/ias>) is an established center for Middle Eastern Studies and has emerging strength in International Security Studies.

As the chief academic officer of the College, the Dean reports directly to the Senior Vice President and Provost of the University and is responsible for defining the College's strategic priorities and securing resources to deliver these priorities, delivering educational programs and research of the highest quality, and attracting outstanding students. As a key member of the University's leadership team, the Dean must be an internal advocate for the College within the University of Oklahoma and have the ability to work across disciplinary and college boundaries as well as the ability to successfully network with alumni and the broader community to raise funds, serving as both an outward-facing representative of the College and an internal mentor and team builder.

The Dean of International Studies also serves as Associate Provost for International Programs, playing a pivotal role in advancing the global orientation of the University as well as advancing academic excellence in International and Area Studies.

We seek a dynamic, collaborative, entrepreneurial leader, committed to the needs of faculty, students, and staff and to OU's larger global mission.

Qualifications

- Record of effective, visionary leadership and sound fiscal management at the Chair-, Director-, or higher level.
- Record of excellence in teaching, scholarly or creative activity, and service requisite with an appointment at the professor level in International and Area Studies.
- Demonstrated skills and record of achievement as a communicator, planner, collaborator, manager, and global communicator.
- Demonstrated experience with international initiatives.
- Demonstrated commitment to shared governance.
- Demonstrated commitment to diversity and to global understanding.
- Doctorate or other terminal research degree.

About the University

The University of Oklahoma is a Carnegie-R1 comprehensive public research university known for excellence in teaching, research, and community engagement. OU serves the educational, cultural, economic, and health-care needs of the state, region, and nation from three campuses: Norman, Health Sciences Center in Oklahoma City, and Tulsa Schusterman Center. OU is home to over 31,000 students and more than 3,500 faculty and 8,000 staff across all three campuses and is supported by a $2 billion budget and an endowment of $1.52 billion. In 2014, OU became the first public institution ever to rank #1 nationally in the recruitment of National Merit Scholars. The 277-acre Research Campus in Norman was named the No. 1 research campus in the nation by the Association of Research Parks in 2013.

The central campus and administrative offices of the University of Oklahoma are located in Norman, a city of more than 120,000 residents. Norman is often cited in "best places to live" rankings and is a culturally rich and vibrant community with outstanding schools, amenities, and a low cost of living. The state capital, Oklahoma City, is located 20 miles to the north. With over 1.35 million residents and a unique central plains heritage, the Oklahoma City metro is home to a diverse and lively array of arts, culture, dining, sports, and entertainment. Visit <https://www.ou.edu/publicaffairs/oufacts> for more information.

The University of Oklahoma is committed to advancing equity, diversity, inclusion, and fairness in all forms through embracing and utilizing the unique and various backgrounds of our community. We are committed to eliminating discrimination and exclusion based on race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, genetic identity, gender expression, age, religion, disability, political beliefs, or status as a veteran.

Nominations and Applications

The university invites letters of nomination, applications, or inquiries about this position. Submit applications (including letter of interest, full CV, and list of references) to David Wrobel, Chair of the Search Committee, at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65500>. Nominations, including full contact and email information for the nominee, and inquiries should be directed to David Wrobel, Chair of the Search Committee, at david.wrobel@ou.edu. Review of materials will begin in early October and continue until the appointment is made. Applicants will be notified prior to the solicitation of letters of reference.

The University of Oklahoma, in compliance with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, gender expression, age, religion, disability, political beliefs, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices or procedures. This includes, but is not limited to: admissions, employment, financial aid, housing services in international programs or activities, or health care services that the university operates or provides.

PI113575264

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6155

University of Southern California

Rank: Director and Co-Director

Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies at USC Dornsife: Director and Co-Director Search

USC Dornsife College of Arts, Letters and Sciences seeks two dynamic leaders to serve as the Director and Co-Director of the Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies. One will serve as the director of natural science, and the other will serve as the director of social science. Both will hold endowed chairs.

For more than five decades, USC Wrigley has been a regional leader in marine science and sustainability research. The USC Wrigley Marine Science Center, a state-of-the-art research center and teaching facility on Catalina Island, 20 miles offshore from Los Angeles, provides a testbed for early-stage sustainability innovations. A staff of more than 30 supports research and educational outreach on Catalina and the main campus.

Recognizing that solutions to our environmental crises will require contributions across many disciplines, the Institute's new mission is to bring together natural and social scientific research to address contemporary environmental problems. The Director and Co-Director will lead this ambitious expansion of Wrigley's mission to become a major national center for frontier research on sustainability and the environment. This is an opportunity to reinvent the Wrigley Institute. The Director and Co-Director will guide a comprehensive approach to tackling sustainability challenges that prioritizes action toward meaningful change.

In addition to setting the intellectual agenda for the Institute, the new leadership will foster new research initiatives, enhance its educational programming, work with foundations and the public to enhance environmental awareness, steer fundraising efforts, and manage the Institute's staff.

We will consider applicants at the full professor level from disciplines in both the natural and social sciences. The Institute's leadership structure will be determined based on scholarly credentials, leadership experience and vision. Both successful candidates will bring a distinguished record of innovative research and publication related to environmental studies. The successful applicants will each have a primary appointment in his / her disciplinary home department within USC Dornsife and must each hold a doctoral degree in appropriate field of study.

A pairing of a natural scientist and a social scientist who have contemplated their collaborative vision for the Wrigley Institute in advance would be welcomed (but is not prerequisite for either position).

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, and statement on personal research accomplishments and future research directions, a statement on teaching and educational activities, and three names of individuals familiar with the applicant's work to be contacted for letters of recommendation. Applications should also include a vision statement on how, as a leader in the USC Wrigley Institute, the applicant would advance the Institute's goals. To be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application through the following link: <https://uscareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/wrigley-institute-for-environmental-studies-at-usc-dornsife-director-and-co-director/1209/13209724>.

Inquiries from social scientists may be directed to William Deverell, Search Committee Chair, deverell@usc.edu and for Natural Sciences to Will Berelson, Search Committee Chair, berelson@usc.edu. These two search committees will work together to select the best leadership team. Review of completed applications will begin November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6143

George Washington University

Rank: Professor (Open Rank) of Political Management and Legislative Affairs Program Director, Graduate School of Political Management (GSPM)

The College of Professional Studies (CPS) of The George Washington University invites applications from qualified applicants for this open rank full-time fiscal year faculty position with an administrative appointment as the Director of the Legislative Affairs Program at the Graduate School of Political Management. This is a twelve-month, non-tenure-track, renewable appointment with an initial appointment period of three years, beginning as early as January 1, 2020.

The GSPM master's degree in Legislative Affairs program educates experienced professionals in Congressional operations, how procedures shape policy outcomes, and how entities like constituents, the executive branch, and lobbyists impact the work of Congress. (For more information on the program, see gspm.gwu.edu). Legislative Affairs is one of four degree programs in the Graduate School of Political Management, together with Political Management, Strategic Public Relations and a Spanish-language degree in Political Communication and Strategic Governance.

Duties and Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching 4 courses per year (over 3 terms), undertaking research, participating in public thought leadership and media opportunities, advising students, contributing to the school's marketing and recruiting efforts, offering curricular and program support, coordinating comprehensive exams, monitoring the Army Fellows Program, recruiting and onboarding part-time faculty, and participating in the advancement of GSPM's mission via service.

Basic Qualifications:

Applicants must have: 1) an advanced degree such as a PhD, a law degree, or other relevant degree by the date of appointment; 2) research and teaching experience in the field of legislative affairs; 3) experience in politics and policymaking at the national level; and 4) a strong working knowledge of the politics and culture of Capitol Hill.

How to apply: Complete an online faculty application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/69277> and upload a cover letter and Curriculum Vitae.

Only complete applications will be considered. Review of applications will begin on September 13, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5955

University of Pennsylvania - Wharton School Management Department

Rank: Full-Time Tenure Track - Assistant, Associate or Full Professor

The Management Department of the Wharton School is seeking applicants for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position at any level: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in the areas of:

Entrepreneurial Management
Human Resource Management
Multinational /Comparative Management
Organizational Behavior
Organizational Theory
Strategy

Demonstrated ability or potential for high quality research and teaching are important. Applicants must have a Ph.D. (expected completion by June 30, 2021 is acceptable) from an accredited institution. The appointment is expected to begin July 1, 2020.

If you should need to contact the Management Department, please email the Recruitment Coordinator at mgmt-recruitment@wharton.upenn.edu.

To apply please visit: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65388>. Applicants should complete and submit the following required materials in PDF format only in order to be considered.

Cover Letter
Curriculum Vitae
3 Letters of Recommendation
Job Market Paper and Abstract

Applicants are strongly encouraged to have their completed application submitted by September 1, 2019 for full consideration.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5841

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Provost for Academic Data and Decision Support

Boston University seeks a strategic analyst of academic data to support decision-making in the Office of the University Provost. The Assistant Provost for Academic Data and Decision Support (Assistant Provost) will be responsible for the analysis of institutional and external data to support academic planning, academic program assessment, and external reporting. Working in partnership with the senior officers with oversight of Undergraduate, Graduate, Diversity, Faculty, and Research portfolios, the Assistant Provost will actively collaborate with the University Office for Institutional Research (OIR) and Information Services and Technology (IS&T) to guide the collection, analysis, and interpretation of data related to the academic mission and activities of Boston University. The incumbent will represent the Office of the Provost in developing data-based strategies for assessing academic quality, institutional outcomes, measuring institutional performance against strategic plan goals, comparative analysis with peer institutions, conducting regular and ad-hoc studies, and reporting to campus constituencies and external agencies. The Assistant Provost reports to the Associate Provost for Graduate Affairs.

Required Skills

- Minimally, MA/MS in social science, education, business, statistics or other field requiring quantitative research methods; PhD preferred.
- Ability to design and create reports to summarize aggregate data that are visually attractive and easy to understand.
- Demonstrated ability to appropriately use descriptive and analytic statistics.
- Facility with office software, data analysis software, academic management platforms, survey administration software, and web-based enterprise systems including, for example, MicroStrategy and PowerBI. Willingness/ability to learn new software.
- Excellent written, verbal and presentation skills.
- Supervision experience.
- Excellent interpersonal, organizational, and time management skills.
- Ability to work both independently and collaboratively, take initiative on and manage concurrent projects, and meet deadlines.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality of sensitive or personal information.

Interested candidates can apply via the Boston University HR Job Posting: https://bu.silkroad.com/epostings/index.cfm?fuseaction=app.jobinfo&id=23&jobid=304162&company\_id=15509&version=1&source=ONLINE&JobOwner=1017621&level=levelid2&levelid2=4271&startflag=3

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5781

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

John Cabot University

Rank: Full-time tenure track faculty position in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Political Economy, International Security, Environmental Policy

Full-time tenure track faculty position in International Relations

John Cabot University, an accredited American liberal arts university in Rome, Italy, offering four-year degree programs, invites applications for an open-rank (assistant or associate) full-time tenure-track faculty position in International Relations. The initial appointment is for two years with the possibility of tenure. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction.

Preference will be given to candidates with a second field in American or Comparative Politics. We seek applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service and program development.

Special consideration will be given to candidates with expertise in international political economy, international development, public policy or international security (including non-traditional security areas such as food security, cyber security or the environment). Teaching experience with quantitative research methodology would be welcome. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate level courses with a load of three courses per semester as well as be an active member of the university community. The ideal candidate should have familiarity and experience with the American liberal arts educational tradition. Ability to teach graduate level courses is an asset.

Applications should include 1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest and fit for teaching at an American liberal arts college in Rome; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching and research interests; and 4) evidence of teaching excellence. Materials should be sent as a single pdf file to: politicalSciSearch@johncabot.edu. Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the same email address.

The deadline to submit applications is November 1, 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to start in the fall semester of 2020. Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

John Cabot University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic or national origin, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or disability in any of its policies, programs, and services.

Information about JCU can be found at: <http://www.johncabot.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7238

The College of Idaho

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Economy or International Political Economy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Specializations: American Politics, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The College of Idaho's Department of Political Economy invites applications for a tenure-track entry-level faculty position that will commence in Fall 2020.

The Department approaches political economy in a broad theoretical manner similar to early modern thinkers such as John Locke, Adam Smith, and Karl Marx. We emphasize the intricate relationship between economics and politics and reject the push for narrow specialization and an overemphasis on formal models. We are open to approaches including public policy analysis, historical institutionalism, heterodox economics, behavioral economics, area studies, and research methods that emphasize the analysis of real-world data. We grant significant autonomy to faculty members to design their own lower and upper division courses that support the department's political economy approach and vision. Professional development support for research, conference travel, and sabbatical leave is available.

The Department offers two related majors: Political Economy and International Political Economy. The successful candidate will EITHER primarily serve the Political Economy major focusing on domestic political economy and policy-making in the United States, OR primarily serve the International Political Economy major focusing on the global economy, international relations, development, and comparative political economy. The department also offers minors supporting the College of Idaho's PEAK curriculum. The teaching load is 3-3 with an additional course taught during each January term.

Successful candidates will have an active research agenda while demonstrating a passion for teaching in the liberal arts tradition. They will join a student-centered department where teaching and mentoring are valued as the highest priority. Such mentorship has recently led students in the department to Marshall, Truman, and Rhodes scholarships as well as to national recognition of departmental faculty for teaching excellence.

A Ph.D. is required in Political Economy, Political Science, International Political Economy, International Relations, Economics (heterodox), Behavioral Economics, or other related fields. Courses to be taught include introductory courses in the field and advanced courses based on the candidate's expertise. Advanced ABD applicants will be considered.

Applications must include letter of interest, CV, statement demonstrating a passion for teaching in the liberal arts tradition, sample syllabi, recent course evaluations, and at least three letters of recommendation.

Candidates must be authorized to work in the United States as of the expected hire date and throughout the date of the contract without sponsorship from The College of Idaho.

Application review will begin October 14, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position has been filled. Please submit application materials via email to hr@collegeofidaho.edu with subject 'Political Economy Search.'

With over 125 years of history, The College of Idaho is a regional and national leader in higher education. The College of Idaho is an inclusive community of exceptional learning that challenges the ambitious and forges pathways to success and purpose. To learn more about The College of Idaho, please visit www.collegeofidaho.edu.

The College of Idaho is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to attracting, retaining, and maximizing the performance of a diverse and inclusive workforce.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

Jobs ID: 7240

University of Mount Union

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Mount Union is currently inviting applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position, beginning August 2020.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach three courses per semester (12 credit hours) and must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate education in a liberal arts setting. Primary responsibilities include:

Teaching introductory courses in American Politics, Law and Public Service as well as upper-level courses on American Institutions (Presidency; Congress); Law (e.g. Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Legal Advocacy); and Public Policy. The ability to contribute additional courses in the candidate's area of specialization will be welcome.

- Contributing to the University of Mount Union's Integrative Core curriculum,
- Contributing to the strengthening and expansion of the Political Science curriculum,
- Guiding the growing legal studies program and the new 3-3 BA/JD programs,
- Contributing to the total university community and to civic and community life.
- Additional duties may be set by the department given institutional needs and priorities.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (with a focus on American Politics, Public Policy and/or Law) by time of appointment is required. A J.D. or related degree will be an added plus. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to student-centered teaching and to scholarship

Candidates should provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and three letters of reference to the Political Science Search Committee. Electronic applications are required and can be submitted online at <http://www.mountunion.edu/employment>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Michael Grossman (grossmmo@mountunion.edu) with any questions. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

This position is required to complete assigned University compliance training as communicated by the University.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job. When requested, reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions of the job.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7246

Occidental College

Rank: Part Time NTT Track Position - Introduction to American Politics

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for an immediate non-tenure track appointment to teach one section of Introduction to American Politics and Policy. A Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but we will also consider candidates who are ADB.

To apply please submit a brief cover letter and a current curriculum vitae to: Thalia González, Chair, Politics Department at thaliagonzalez@oxy.edu. Review of materials will begin immediately with a start date of October 8, 2019 preferred. For information on the academic calendar please visit: <http://oxy.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Catalog/Academic-Calendar>.

The course meeting time is Tuesdays and Thursday 10am - 11:30am. The course instructor should hold 1.5 hours of office hours in addition the course, which can be scheduled for before or after the course itself. An office space will be provided for the course instructor. Compensation for the course is $8000.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6237

University of Wisconsin, Stout

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-STOUT
VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

Assistant Professor of Political Science

This is a position for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science, focused on American Institutions and Public Policy. We are seeking a candidate who is interested in an interdisciplinary, collaborative environment that values teaching and an active and applied research agenda. Our faculty have conducted award winning research, developed exciting new courses, and managed large and innovative National Science Foundation grants, all while also mentoring students as part of a supportive and inviting community. Our department includes professors of political science, sociology, economics, anthropology, geography, social work, and history. We thrive on and celebrate that diversity while each maintaining a commitment to the importance of our respective disciplines. The Applied Social Science B.S. program is a central focus of the department, but faculty also collaborate creatively with the other 50 programs on campus, as well as with other universities (within the University of Wisconsin system and beyond).

The anticipated start date is August 24, 2020.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Minimum Ph.D. in Political Science by the beginning of the appointment
- Preference will be given to candidates with:

- o Subfields in American Institutions and Public Policy
- o Minor subfields in Race and Ethnicity in American Politics; Research Methods
- o Demonstrated potential to teach undergraduate majors and non-majors
- o Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively in an interdisciplinary setting
- o Scholarly promise and the potential for service within the UW shared governance ethic

RESPONSIBILITIES

Contribute to instruction, research/scholarship, and university/community service.

Teach 12 credit hours per semester, assess student learning, schedule and maintain appropriate office hours, and be available to students for consultation and academic advisement. Attend and participate in meetings of the Social Science Department and History/Politics discipline. Courses will include Introduction to American Government, along with other courses in public policy and American Institutions which complement and expand the department's current offerings, and contribute to the University's commitments to general education, diversity, global understanding, and the interdisciplinary Applied Social Science B.S. Program. The ability to teach courses in Race and Ethnicity in American Politics, and Research Methods is also desirable.

Show the ability to work collaboratively and engage in professional service, scholarly activities, and the pursuit of external funding. Interdisciplinary collaboration with faculty in conducting applied research in non-profit, business and industry, social service, and/or government sectors is encouraged. Interest in online delivery is a plus.

CAMPUS INFORMATION

The University of Wisconsin-Stout offers a rich, dynamic and collaborative environment in which to work and grow. A member of the University of Wisconsin system, UW-Stout is unique within the system--it is named after its founder, James Huff Stout, and holds the distinction of being Wisconsin's Polytechnic University, a designation which highlights our combination of applied learning, real-world experiences and a solid liberal arts foundation.

UW-Stout offers 50 undergraduate and 24 graduate degrees, including two terminal degrees. Average student enrollment is 9,000.

UW-Stout faculty enjoy opportunities for cross-disciplinary collaboration, state-of-the-art facilities, and a modern digital environment. UW-Stout values innovative approaches to solving problems in society and industry, and faculty are encouraged to maintain strong ties and seek collaborative projects within their disciplines and industries.

All undergraduate students participating in traditional, on campus-based programs are issued laptops. Faculty use the university's online course delivery system and must be available for online interactions and/or alternate time frames for teaching. Faculty members teach, advise students, conduct research, assess student learning and engage in service activities.

Menomonie, Wisconsin, is a town of 16,000 located in the beautiful Chippewa River Valley, 25 miles west of Eau Claire and 60 miles east of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and Saint Paul.

More information about the UW-Stout community and region: <http://www.uwstout.edu/about/community.cfm>. Facts and data about the university: <http://www.uwstout.edu/about/facts.cfm>.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. The UW System provides an excellent benefits package including participation in the Wisconsin State retirement plan.

- Benefit Details: <http://www.uwsa.edu/ohrwd/benefits/summaries/fasl.pdf>
- Total Compensation Estimator: <https://www.wisconsin.edu/ohrwd/benefits/totalcomp/>

As an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer, UW-Stout is committed to inclusive excellence and is actively seeking applications from individuals from diverse groups; veterans and individuals with disabilities.

An offer of employment is contingent upon the final candidate passing a criminal background check and a reference check process. The reference check process includes asking the final candidate and most recent supervisor questions regarding sexual violence and sexual harassment. Final candidates with previous employment within the UW System and State of WI agencies will be subject to additional reference checks.

A successful candidate must have authorization to work within the United States as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986.

In response to a public records request, the University of Wisconsin System will not reveal the identities of applicants who request confidentiality in their online application, except that the identity of the successful final candidate will be released. See Wis. Stat. sec. 19.36(7).

For campus safety information and crime statistics visit: <http://www.uwstout.edu/police/clery.cfm>

TO APPLY

Go to: <http://jobs.uwstout.edu/>

Screening of applications will begin November 18, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled.

Your online application will not be considered complete until all required documents are attached, and all required fields are completed. Note: Once you have attached your materials and submitted your application you will not be able to go into the system and change them.

Please be sure you have included the following documents:

- Cover letter specifically addressing how you meet the minimum and preferred qualifications
- Current Curriculum Vitae
- Evidence of teaching ability (e.g. student evaluations, peer evaluations/observations, teaching philosophy)
- Conference paper or journal article (published or submitted)
- Names and contact information for a minimum of three current references
- Unofficial copies of transcripts; official transcripts required at time of hire

Before starting the online application process we recommend you preview the frequently asked questions (FAQs) available at: <https://kb.wisc.edu/hrs/page.php?id=21900>

It is the policy of UW-Stout to provide reasonable accommodations to qualified applicants with disabilities. If you need assistance, or accommodation in applying because of a disability, please contact us using the information below. Employment opportunities will not be denied because of the need to make reasonable accommodations for a qualified individual's disability.

If you have application questions, contact:
Beverly Deyo-Svensden, Recruitment Coordinator
Email: deyo-svensdenb@uwstout.edu
Phone: 715-232-2287

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6233

DeSales University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

DESALES UNIVERSITY invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science to begin Fall, 2020. Although this is a non-tenure position, the successful applicant can take advantage of our generous long-term contracts with the possibility of conversion to a tenure track position in the future. Online teaching experience desired. Prospective candidates should be able to teach undergraduate courses in American government, political philosophy, and public policy. A doctorate in Political Science or a related field is preferred. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and photocopies of transcripts to Andrew M. Essig, Ph.D., Political Science Program, DeSales University, 2755 Station Avenue, Center Valley, PA 18034-9568. Electronic submissions should be emailed to colleen.petrick@desales.edu. Review for the position will begin after October 15 and continue until filled.

DeSales University is a Catholic liberal arts institution on a beautiful 500-acre campus in the Lehigh Valley of eastern Pennsylvania, approximately one hour from Philadelphia and one and a half hours from New York City. EOE For further information, please visit our web site <http://www.desales.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6216

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor (NTT)

University of Missouri: Open Field/Teaching Assistant Professor (Non Tenure-Track)

The University of Missouri invites applications for a non tenure-track teaching assistant professorship jointly appointed in the Department of Political Science and the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy. Competitive applicants will have demonstrated ability to effectively teach Introduction to American Government and courses in the University of Missouri's new B. A. in Constitutional Democracy major. These courses include "The Intellectual World of the American Founders," and "The Constitutional Debates, 1787-1788." For more about these degree programs and related initiatives, see <https://democracy.missouri.edu>.

The University of Missouri ("Mizzou"), located in the culturally vibrant small city of Columbia, is approximately 125 miles from both St. Louis and Kansas City. The campus enrolls more than 30,000 students; it is Missouri's largest public research university and the heart of the four-campus University of Missouri System. As a member of the Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is one of the nation's top institutions of higher learning. The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy is an academic center with allied programs for undergraduate and graduate students, jointly operated by members of the University of Missouri history and political science departments, in cooperation with other scholars across campus. Supported by a generous endowment from the Kinder Foundation, it is dedicated to research, teaching, and community engagement on the subject of American political thought and history as understood from a wide variety of perspectives.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required by the start of the appointment on August 15, 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The demonstrated ability to effectively teach large lecture-style courses in American Government, as well as small discussion-based courses in the University's Constitutional Democracy major including "The Intellectual World of the American Founders" and "The Constitutional Debates, 1787-1788."

Please apply on line at: <https://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic> (Job ID 31694). Use the online application and be prepared to upload the following materials:

- your current C.V
- a letter of application describing your teaching and service interests
- a statement of no more than one page explaining how your past record and future plans will help the university meet its goal of advancing the values of inclusion, diversity, and equity in higher education.

Reference letters should be sent electronically to politicalscience@missouri.edu or by hard copy to: Chair, NTT Recruitment Committee, Department of Political Science; 113 Professional Building; University of Missouri, Columbia, MO 65211-0630.

Applicants may contact Dr. Jay Dow (dowj@missouri.edu), Chair of the Search Committee and Professor of Political Science, with any questions about the job duties. Contact Human Resource Services (muhrs@missouri.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on October 24. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6219

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Lecturer Pool - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Lecturer Pool - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Job #JPF02254

College of Letters & Science - Social Sciences - Political Science

RECRUITMENT PERIOD

Open date: September 14th, 2019

Next review date: Thursday, Oct 31, 2019 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Friday, Sep 11, 2020 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Applications will continue to be accepted until this date, but those received after the review date will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

DESCRIPTION

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a pool of qualified temporary lecturers to teach courses as needed in the areas of American Politics, California Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology & Formal Theory, Political Theory & Philosophy, Models & Politics, Political Behavior, Public Law & Jurisprudence, and Public Policy & Organization.

The number of positions varies from semester to semester, depending on the needs of the department. Positions may range from 33% to 100%, depending on the number of classes being taught.

Appointments typically start at the beginning of the semester and may be renewed based on need, funding, and performance.

General Duties: In addition to teaching responsibilities, general duties include holding office hours, assigning grades, advising students, preparing course materials (e.g. syllabus), and maintaining a course website.

Basic Qualifications: Bachelor's degree (or equivalent international degree) is required at the time of application.

Preferred Qualifications: Completion of all Ph.D. (or equivalent) degree requirements except dissertation at the time of application or, full-time paid political experience of at least 4 years within the last 10 years.

Salary: Initial salary will be based on applicant's teaching experience. The current minimum salary for an academic-year full-time annual salary is $56,381. Lecturers teaching one course in a single semester are typically appointed at a 17% annual rate.

The department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching. UC Berkeley has a number of policies and programs in place to support employees as they balance work and family.

To apply, please go to the following link:

<https://apptrkr.com/1612845>

Letters of reference may be solicited for finalists.

When and if the department contacts references, all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/evaltr.html>) prior to submitting their letters.

The department typically reviews applications for fall course needs in April/May, for spring course needs in October/November, and for summer course needs in February/March. Summer session classes are held during the months of May-August.

Please note: The use of a lecturer pool does not guarantee that an open position exists. See the review date specified in AP Recruit to learn whether the department is currently reviewing applications for a specific position. If there is no future review date specified, your application may not be considered at this time.

Please direct questions to Kristine Nera at knera@berkeley.edu

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

REQUIREMENTS

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).
- Statement of Teaching (Optional)
- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness - i.e. past course syllabi, teaching evaluations, etc. (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 0-5 required (contact information only)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/11/2020

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6202

University of Nebraska, Omaha

Rank: Emergency Management and Disaster Science Chair - Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Political Economy, Constitutional Law & Theory

Faculty Position Announcement

Emergency Management and Disaster Science Chair at the Rank of Associate Professor

School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha

The University of Nebraska at Omaha seeks applicants for a faculty position of Associate Professor/Chair of the Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program, within the School of Public Administration to begin in August 2020. A successful candidate for this position will possess a PhD in Emergency Management or a related field. We are seeking applicants who can provide administrative leadership and faculty expertise in the field of Emergency Management and Disaster

Science. Candidates seeking to fill the position should have interests and demonstrated capacity to teach in at least one of the following areas: preparedness and risk management, agency collaboration, law and administration, and response and recovery. A willingness to teach introductory, upper level, and graduate courses in emergency management and offer courses in an on-line format is also required. Candidates must have the demonstrated ability to conduct research in emergency management and disaster science. Potential for externally funded and peer-reviewed published work is also required.

The position offers a teaching load of two courses per semester and a nine-month contract. One course release per year and stipend will be granted for serving as Program Chair. Duties include program administration, teaching, research, and community engagement.

Review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The University and the Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program has a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups and strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply for this position. The University of Nebraska does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, marital status, and/or political affiliation in its programs, activities, or employment.

The UNO Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program is the largest undergraduate emergency management and fire services management program in the state and the only program that offers a Bachelor of Science in Emergency Management, minors in Emergency Management, Fire Services Management, Tribal Management and Emergency Services and an undergraduate certificate in Tribal Management and Emergency Services. The Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program was only initiated seven years ago, but has proven to be one of the fastest expanding academic programs in the Nebraska University System. Currently, the program has three tenure track positions, three instructor lines, a visiting professor, an academic advisor/program coordinator, a student services associate, and a .5 FTE administrative assistant. At the start of the current academic year 2019-2020, the program had 138 BSEM majors and pre-majors, over 100 minors in Emergency Management, Fire Services Management, and Tribal Management and Emergency Services, over 25 Tribal Management and Emergency Services certificate students, 7 MPA students and two PA doctoral students specializing in Emergency Management.

The School of Public Administration boasts a supportive and collaborative academic culture. It is home to one of the longest-accredited MPA programs in the country, enrolling over 200 graduate students, offering the program both online and on campus. The MPA program is ranked among the top 10-percent of all such programs in the upcoming 2019 edition of America's Best Graduate Schools, and is ranked #6 in Public Budgeting and Finance, and #11 in Nonprofit Management. The School is also home to one of the few Ph.D. programs in Public Administration in the Great Plains region; faculty regularly have the opportunity to work with Ph.D. students.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University. We are a metropolitan university, located in the heart of Omaha, which has a population of 463,000. The population of the eight-county metropolitan area is 943,000.

To apply for this position, please go to <http://unomaha.peopleadmin.com/postings/9612>. The application must include: current curriculum vita; a letter addressing experience and qualifications; the names and contact information for three references.

For more information on the program, visit our web page at <http://emgt.unomaha.edu>. For more information on the School, visit our web page at <http://spa.unomaha.edu> or contact the chair of the search committee: Dr. Yu-Che Chen (ychen@unomaha.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6197

Tulane University

Rank: Professor of Practice in American Politics

Description

The Department of Political Science at Tulane University seeks candidates for a Professor of Practice (PoP) in American Politics, to begin July 1, 2020. A Professor of Practice is a full time, teaching-oriented (non-tenure track) position whose primary assignment is instruction and activities related to instruction. The position comes with an initial renewable three-year contract pending successful review. After completion of a second term as Professor of Practice, PoPs may be promoted to Senior Professor of Practice with a five-year renewable contract. We seek candidates from any subfield of American politics though preference will be given to candidates who are able to teach an undergraduate political science research methods course and are willing to contribute to the department's offerings in service learning/experiential learning, as well as teach introductory and upper-level undergraduate American politics courses. The position requires teaching six courses per year. Professors of Practice participate extensively in the intellectual life of the department, including opportunities to attend seminars and workshops. Salary is competitive and additional money is available for travel and professional/pedagogical development.

Qualifications

Candidates should have completed all requirement for the Ph.D by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit a letter of interest, Curriculum Vitae, sample syllabi, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g. teaching observations and/or course evaluations), and statement of teaching philosophy. It is optional to submit letters of recommendation with the application, but candidates who advance to the shortlist will be required to submit three letters of recommendation, including at least one that focuses on teaching ability. Applications may be submitted via Interfolio - apply.interfolio.com/68127. Applications received by November 1, 2019 will receive full consideration, though the position will remain open until filled. Queries may be addressed to Professor Brian Brox (bbrox@tulane.edu) or to Professor Nancy Maveety (nance@tulane.edu), Political Science Department Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6182

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

&lt;b&gt;American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists&lt;/b&gt;

The American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program is currently accepting online applications for congressional fellowships for political scientists. The nine-month program in Washington, D.C., gives scholars a hands-on understanding of Congress through placements in congressional offices.

Fellows begin their fellowship year with a comprehensive one-month orientation with congressional experts and policy leaders. Fellows then work in full-time placements of their choosing in a personal office or committee in the House of Representatives or Senate.

The fellowship year also features:

- winter and spring seminar series on congress;
- visit to the district or state of a Member of Congress;
- optional study programs in Annapolis, Maryland, and Ottawa, Canada; and
- ongoing guidance and mentoring from program staff and alumni.

Orientation begins November 2020. Office placements run until August 15, 2021. Two optional programs directly precede the main fellowship program: a two-month course on Congress and Foreign Policy, taught at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and a fellowship through the William A. Steiger fund to spend up to two months at the APSA Centennial Center carrying out a project in legislative studies.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a PhD in the last 15 years or will have defended a dissertation by November 2020.

Applications are welcome from political scientists in all subfields who can demonstrate a scholarly interest in Congress and the policymaking process.

Preference is given to those without extensive Capitol Hill experience.

Application Procedure: Applications must be <https://apsa.wufoo.com/forms/qlolhl0dn0mzd/submitted> online; and include:

- CV;
- 500-word personal statement;
- names and contact information for three references; and
- one sole-authored writing sample.

Applicants may apply through the same online form for the two optional pre-fellowship programs.

Submit your application for the 2020-2021 fellowship year by Tuesday, December 3, 2019. Please send questions about the program to <mailto:cfp@apsanet.org>.

Start Date: November 2020

Salary: $52,500 for the 9.5-month fellowship period, plus travel allowance. Fellows who are also selected for a fellowship through the Steiger Fund will receive a stipend for the duration of the Steiger Fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6172

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a full-time tenure-track assistant professor position in American Politics to begin in August 2020.

We seek qualified applicants with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service that would support the mission of the University of Scranton. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in political institutions and policy making processes. Teaching responsibilities include the U.S. Politics introductory course, Congress, public policy in the candidate's area of expertise, and research methods. Pre-tenure teaching load is ordinarily 3/3.

The capability to develop an active research program that involves mentoring undergraduates is preferred. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to our Public Affairs-Public Administration program.

Strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field required; candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment preferred.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) article/chapter length writing sample, and 4) contact information for three professional references.

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6179

Tokyo International University

Rank: Full-time positions in 1) International Relations/U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Relations/Comparative Politics (open specialization).

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

[Outline]

Tokyo International University is seeking to hire full-time Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors in two areas: 1) U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Relations/Comparative Politics (regional specialization is open; we are looking for those whose research rests on strong theoretical and empirical grounds).

[Content of work]

Responsibilities include teaching three courses per semester mainly in an English-medium undergraduate and/or graduate school program, advising and working with students from diverse backgrounds, and undertaking quality research. TIU's academic year consists of two 14-week semesters.

[Positions available]

1

[Address of work location]

Campus 1, 1-13-1 Matoba-kita, Kawagoe City, Saitama Pref. 350-1197, Japan
(about 30-40 mins from Tokyo by train)

[Starting date]

April 1 / September 1, 2020 (negotiable)

[Job type]

Professor level

Associate Professor/Lecturer (full-time) level

Assistant Professor level

Tenured or tenure-track upon grade

[Qualifications]

Successful candidates should already hold a Ph.D. or have a Ph.D. in hand by the time of employment, strong publication record or potential for active scholarly engagement, ability to teach students (both undergraduate and graduate) with diverse cultural background in the university's English Track Degree Program. We encourage serious research engagement and provide various support, including individual and collective research funding.

There are no limitations regarding citizenship of applicants, however successful candidates should be able to teach and provide guidance to students using English language.

[Compensation]

Contract period: if hired as tenured, no-period (except age limits) / if hired as tenure-track, 5 years

A competitive salary is offered. Remuneration package includes health insurance, pension, commuting allowance, annual research fund and individual research office.

[Application method]

Please specify to which position you are applying and send an email to &quot;saiyou@tiu.ac.jp&quot; with the following materials attached:

- 1) Cover letter of application
- 2) Curriculum vitae (please also include your complete contact details and contact information of three references)
- 3) List of classes taught (including title of class, brief description of contents, level)
- 4) Course syllabi of related fields that have been taught at any higher educational institution
- 5) Full text of three research achievements (e.g., Journal articles, publications, etc.)
- 6) Copy of diploma or transcript showing proof of Ph.D. or enrollment in a Ph.D. program
- 7) In the subject of your email, please include this code: [APSA201909]

[Deadline]

November 15 (Friday), 2019

[Note]

- We request that all application documents be send via e-mail and not by postal mail. Items sent through postal mail cannot be returned.
- Please describe your contact details clearly (phone number, e-mail address, current location, Skype ID, etc.)
- E-mail accounts through @hotmail, @msn, @live and @outlook may experience difficulty in receiving e-mails from the University. Please provide an alternative e-mail address if possible.

[Selection process]

First, a review of applications will be conducted, and only applicants deemed suitable will be contacted and invited for an interview (in person or via Skype). Those applicants who are invited to an interview may be requested to submit three Letters of Recommendation from relevant institutions.

For the on-site final interview, reimbursement for round-trip airfare, domestic public transportation allowance, and hotel (one night) will be provided to overseas candidates.

[Contact details]

Global Talent Acquisition Department

Tokyo International University Foundation

4-23-23, Takadanobaba, Shinjuku, Tokyo 169-0075

Email: saiyou@tiu.ac.jp

[Additional information]

All the information collected will be used solely for its intended purpose of evaluating applicants. Information will not be used for any other purpose.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6145

Georgia State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. We seek a scholar whose research focuses on political identity, broadly defined (including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, class, and sexual orientation) in the U.S. context. We welcome scholars employing institutional or behavioral approaches to the study of identity. The position will begin Fall 2020, pending budgetary approval. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to teach courses on political identity at the undergraduate, M.A., and PhD levels. Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to effectively teach a diverse student body. We enthusiastically encourage applications from women, minorities, firstgeneration candidates, and other underrepresented groups in the academy. Candidates must have a PhD in political science or a related field in hand by August 2020.

Applicants should send a letter of interest that includes a brief statement outlining their ability to work with a diverse student body, a curriculum vitae, a statement of your research agenda, examples of scholarly work, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and graduate transcripts to polssearch@gsu.edu. Please list three references who will provide letters of recommendation upon request.

We will begin reviewing files on October 1, 2019. Materials submitted before October 10th will be given full consideration. Georgia State University, an enterprising R-1 university, is located in the heart of downtown Atlanta, a vibrant international city in the Southeastern U.S. GSU enrolls and graduates one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative research by building a diverse faculty. The department offers bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University, a unit of the University System of Georgia, is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate against applicants due to race, ethnicity, gender, veteran status, or on the basis of disability or any other federal, state or local protected class. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6171

Stanford University

Rank: Hoover Fellow
Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Hoover Institution - Hoover Fellows
 A path for early-career scholars

The Hoover Institution at Stanford University seeks outstanding scholars for appointments at the rank of Hoover Fellow. The term of the appointment is five years and may be renewed. The position is located at the Hoover Institution, Stanford, CA.

The academic activities of the Hoover Institution generally fall into the areas of Economic Policy, Politics and Governance, and National Security. Candidates' work should fit into at least one of these categories. A candidate must have or expect to complete a PhD or equivalent degree in a relevant field, including history, international relations, political science, national security and public policy.

Hoover Fellows are expected to achieve a considerable publication record and scholarly impact through the pursuit of topics that also have implications for public policy.

Hoover Fellows are expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the Hoover Institution. There will be no teaching or formal administrative responsibilities during the appointment. Salary and benefits are highly competitive.

To apply, please submit:

- A cover letter or statement of interest that includes a description of academic background and experience
- A recent publication and a current working paper or draft book chapter
- A curriculum vitae
- A future research statement (two pages maximum)
- Three letters of recommendation that focus on the candidate's research and research potential.

Successful applicants will have a proven record of and potential for scholarly excellence. Applicants must have completed a PhD or equivalent degree by September 1, 2020.

Completed applications must be submitted online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14175> by October 15, 2019. Please direct questions to Anita Young (ayoung2@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 9/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6165

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: American Politics - Full Professor

The Government Department at the University of Texas at Austin is seeking to hire a leading scholar in American Politics for a tenured position at the rank of Full Professor to begin in fall 2020. The search is open with respect to specialty and methodological approach.

Duties will include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, the College of Liberal Arts, and the University. The successful candidate will have a highly distinguished scholarly record of publication, a record of teaching excellence, and demonstrated excellence in intellectual and institutional leadership. The Department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and service. The application should highlight demonstrated experience working with diverse populations; examples might include mentoring activities, research interests, committee service, courses taught, recruitment and retention activities.

UT Austin is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual-career couples and single parents.

Salary is highly competitive and commensurate with rank, experience and qualifications.

Applicants must have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment.

Applicants should upload a vitae, examples of scholarly work, and teaching materials. The department will begin reviewing applications on October 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68322>

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 9/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6162

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: American Politics - Tenure-Track

The Government Department at the University of Texas at Austin invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The search is open with respect to specialty and methodological approach.

Duties will include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, the College of Liberal Arts, and the University. The successful candidate will show evident promise of excellence in scholarly research and publication, teaching, and intellectual and institutional leadership. The Department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and service. The application should highlight any experiences working with diverse populations; examples might include mentoring activities, research interests, committee service, courses taught, recruitment and retention activities. Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications.

UT Austin is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual-career couples and single parents.

Applications from candidates with strong methodological skills are especially welcome. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. for appointment as Assistant Professor or expect to obtain it within a year of joining the faculty as Instructor.

Applicants should upload a vitae, three letters of recommendation, examples of scholarly work, and teaching materials. The department will begin reviewing applications on October 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68319>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6160

Washington College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor -3 terms

The Department of Political Science at Washington College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor in American Government and Policy for three consecutive semesters: the 2020 Spring Semester and 2020-2021 Academic Year. The teaching load is three courses in the fall and three courses each spring.

For the Spring 2020 semester, we seek a professor who can teach Introduction to American Government, American Foreign Policy, and Parties and Interest groups. For the fall 2020 semester, responsibilities include teaching our introductory course in American government and politics and a course on Elections (and possibly a First Year Seminar). For the spring 2021 semester, the candidate will teach one section of our introductory course in American government, the American Presidency and American Foreign Policy or another policy course. In addition to teaching, faculty responsibilities will also include some senior thesis advising. The position includes benefits and salary is competitive.

Washington College, founded in 1782, is a selective liberal arts institution of about 1450 students that emphasizes excellence in teaching and a commitment to scholarly research. It is located on Maryland's Eastern Shore, about 1.5 hours from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. For more information please consult the college's website (<http://www.washcoll.edu>) and the department's website (<http://polisci.washcoll.edu>). Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts from all institutions attended, two letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations if available TO: Dr. Melissa Deckman, Chair, Department of Political Science, Washington College, 300 Washington Avenue, Chestertown, MD 21620-1197. Telephone: (410) 810-7494; FAX: 410-778-7891; e-mail: mdeckman2@washcoll.edu. Washington College an Equal Opportunity Employer; women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6148

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science and the Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center at the University of Oklahoma seek an established scholar who is also a skilled and enthusiastic instructor at the advanced assistant or associate professor rank. We seek candidates with teaching and research interests related to legislative politics, civic engagement, and more broadly, to strengthening representative democracy through an engaged and informed citizenry.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core American Politics and Government curriculum by teaching four courses per academic year, including Introduction to American Government, Community Scholars, and additional courses in the candidate's area of expertise; contribute to the civic engagement mission of the Department and Center by supporting a diverse array of services and programs such as the National Education for Women's (N.E.W.) leadership program and the Community Engagement and Experiment Lab (CEEL), among others; and continue to build a national or international scholarly profile.

The position will be jointly appointed to OU's Political Science Department, which is centrally placed in the university's core curriculum — with a course required of all graduates. In addition, faculty members enjoy strong relationships with interdisciplinary research and teaching centers at OU. As the flagship institution for the state of Oklahoma, faculty work with state policymakers and leaders of public, non-profit, tribal, and private organizations.

The Carl Albert Center was established in 1979 as a living tribute to the ideals, leadership, and accomplishments of the Honorable Carl Albert and houses one of the largest congressional archives in the country. The Center, through its endowment, offers a wide range of programming, provides Center faculty with substantial research and travel support, and funds undergraduate research and graduate fellowship programs.

Qualifications

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science and be able to demonstrate an active research agenda in legislative studies and/or civic engagement, broadly defined. The successful candidate should also have an established publication record in high-quality outlets, potential to secure external research funding, and a commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate, masters, and doctoral students.

Application Instructions

Include a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and 3-5 letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on September 30th, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position may be directed to the chairs of the search committee, Michael Crespin (crespin@ou.edu) or Scott Robinson (scott.e.robinson@ou.edu). The position will begin in August 2020.

Application Process

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge. Applicants should go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66142> to submit their application.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Oklahoma, in compliance with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, gender expression, age, religion, disability, political beliefs, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. This includes, but is not limited to: admissions, employment, financial aid, housing, services in educational programs or activities, or health care services that the University operates or provides.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6141

Ohio State University

Rank: American Political Institutions

Department: Political Science

Position: American Political Institutions

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in American politics, one of its traditional areas of strength. The candidate should study political institutions, policymaking processes, and/or representational outcomes, and should have a high degree of conceptual and methodological sophistication. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August 2020. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14426>. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate's past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

Review of applications will begin on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to first last at Vladimir Kogan at kogan.18@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:

Cover Letter

Curriculum Vitae

Research Statement

Teaching Statement

Diversity Statement

Publication List

Job Market Letter

Other papers or chapters

Unofficial Graduate Transcript

Three Reference Letters

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6133

Ohio State University

Rank: Politics of Race, Gender, and Ethnicity in American Politics

Department: Political Science

Position: Politics of Race, Gender, and Ethnicity in American Politics

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in the Politics of Race, Gender and Politics, or Ethnicity in American politics. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments, and they should have a high degree of theoretical and methodological sophistication. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

This position is part of a Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative by the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University to increase diversity in our professorial ranks, foster an inclusiveness, and promote research and teaching on topics central to racial, ethnic, gender, and sexual orientation.

Qualifications: The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August of 2020.

Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14427>. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate's past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

Review of applications will begin on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to William Minozzi at minozzi.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually vibrant and diverse environment of exceptional faculty, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:

Cover Letter
Curriculum Vitae
Research Statement
Teaching Statement
Diversity Statement
Publication List
Job Market Paper
Other papers or chapters
Unofficial Graduate Transcript
Three Reference Letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6134

Touro College and University System

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

- Teach four courses each semester, split between an all-male campus in Queens and an all-female campus in Manhattan.
- Assist in student advisement within the Political Science Department, including course selection and career planning. This may include orientation and during other times when classes are not in session.
- Respond to needs and concerns of departmental faculty, administrative staff and students in a respectful and professional manner.
- Engage students in the classroom and inspire them to fulfill department and college-wide goals. Work closely with each student on multiple drafts of papers in order to improve their writing skills.
- Create clear course descriptions and syllabi with achievable evaluable goals. Evaluate student work with thoughtful comments and in a timely manner.
- Participate in professional conferences and/or publish work in academic journals in order to increase the visibility of the Touro College and University system.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, with advanced study in comparative politics and American government.
- At least 2 years teaching experience in a post-secondary institution.
- Record of academic research.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6135

Arizona State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Latina/o Politics

Specializations: Latino Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics

Assistant Professor
School of Politics and Global Studies
Arizona State University

The School of Politics and Global Studies at Arizona State University (Tempe) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor whose research and teaching focus is on Latina/o politics, race/ethnicity and U.S. politics, broadly defined. This is an academic year, benefits-eligible appointment. The anticipated start date is August 2020.

The successful candidate will contribute to curriculum development; teach at the undergraduate, master's and doctoral levels as appropriate; supervisor honors, masters and doctoral students; conduct research publishable in top-tier academic journals and/or top university presses in the discipline; participate in professional and university service; and develop grant proposals for external funding as PI or co-PI.

The position is open regarding the particular substantive dimensions and theoretical perspectives emphasized, as well as methodological approach(es). Along with the emphasis on Latina/o politics, additional consideration will be given to candidates whose scholarship incorporates analysis across various racial/ethnic groups in the U.S. and to related factors (such as class and gender), and across various realms of politics (such as institutions, behavior, and combinations thereof).

The School of Politics and Global Studies values interdisciplinary scholarship, and the successful candidates will have the opportunity to affiliate and collaborate with other schools and centers at Arizona State University. Learn more about what The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has to offer by viewing <https://thecollege.asu.edu/faculty>.

Minimum Qualifications: candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline by the time of appointment; demonstrated excellence in research commensurate with appointment at the level of assistant professor; demonstrated potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; and evidence of promise in and commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching.

Desired qualifications: demonstrated success meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities; a research focus with the potential to advance the mission of the School of Politics and Global Studies especially in the areas of Latina/o politics and race/ethnicity and U.S. politics; a clear record of, or clear potential for, publishing in top journals and/or top university presses.

The application deadline is October 19, 2019 if not filled, then every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed. A complete application must include the following: a letter of application stating qualifications, experience, research plans, and teaching interests; a statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence; a complete curriculum vita; a writing sample, and contact information for three references. Candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. degree completed by August 1, 2020.

All application materials must be received by the deadline and submitted electronically to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/67709>. (We will not accept any mailed applicant material, including reference letters; this is an online, paperless search.)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6126

New Mexico State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, American Politics

The Department of Government at New Mexico State University (Las Cruces) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position (9 month) beginning August 2020 to teach courses in public administration, public policy and/or political science; conduct scholarly research, professional service and outreach to public agencies and groups.

Qualifications:

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration, D.P.A. or Ph.D. in closely related field such as public affairs or public policy is required. Applicants from other disciplines will not be considered. Degree must be completed before August 2021 but preference will be given to those with degree in hand by August 2020.

Examples of duties:

Areas are open, although candidates capable of teaching graduate courses in nonprofit management, environmental or energy policy issues are preferred.

Candidates should indicate in their application material the mix of graduate and undergraduate courses in the departments programs they are capable of teaching. The successful candidate must possess strong teaching and research skills, ability to work effectively with students, faculty and community leaders, a demonstrated commitment to public service, and an ability to contribute to the department's on-line offerings. Preference will be given to those committed to public administration, and/or experience working in state/local government or the nonprofit sector. We have a strong commitment to increasing faculty diversity. Women and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For more information about the department, visit our homepage at <https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/>

New Mexico State University is a comprehensive land-grant institution of higher learning accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. An active research university, NMSU anchors the southern end of New Mexico's Rio Grande Research Corridor, exceeding $140 million in research and public service expenditures. NMSU is classified as a Hispanic-serving institution by the federal government with a total minority enrollment over 48%. Home to the state's NASA Space Grant Program, NMSU is located in Las Cruces, which features desert mesas, the farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley, and the Organ Mountains, an extension of the Rocky Mountain chain. The University is committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment.

Applicants should submit the following to NMSU via its jobs posting website: <https://jobs.nmsu.edu/postings/36459>

- 1) letter describing teaching experience and interests in this position
- 2) current vitae
- 3) writing sample
- 4) evidence of teaching ability
- 5) unofficial transcripts
- 6) three (3) letters of recommendation

For questions regarding the position, contact Dr. Christina Medina, Associate Professor and Chair of Faculty Search Committee at camedina@nmsu.edu

NMSU is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer

Offer of employment is contingent on verification of individual's eligibility for employment in the United States

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6123

University of North Carolina, Greensboro

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor Position in Political Science: American Politics
The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor, beginning August 1, 2020. Candidates must have or should anticipate a Ph.D in Political Science or a related field by the time of appointment. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching specialties are in political psychology, race and politics, or women and politics, but we will consider those from other subfields in American politics as well. The faculty member will teach courses in American politics as well as introductory research methods to undergraduate and MPA students. The department has fifteen full-time faculty and has strong B.A. and MPA programs. Salary is competitive.

UNCG is a Minority Serving Institution, with an undergraduate population of 45% ethnic minority students. UNCG and the Political Science Department foster an environment of collaboration across departments and schools and support community-engaged research. UNCG is proud of the diversity of its student body and we seek to attract an equally diverse applicant pool for this position. UNCG is located in a metropolitan area of more than 1.6 million in the Piedmont region of North Carolina, between the Atlantic Ocean and the Appalachian mountains. UNCG is an EOE/Affirmative Action/M/F/D/V employer and are strongly committed to increasing faculty diversity.

Applicants should apply online at <https://spartantalent.uncg.edu> and click on "Faculty" (position #001603). Please submit a cover letter, a statement of teaching interests and philosophy, a research statement, up to two representative writing samples, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations (if available), and a curriculum vitae.

You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions on how to submit a confidential letter of reference. Inquiries should be made to the search committee chair, Professor David Holian, dbholian@uncg.edu.

The department webpage is <http://www.uncg.edu/psc/>. The review of applications will begin on October 18th and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6118

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associates in Religion and Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

The John C. Danforth Center on Religion and Politics seeks applications from junior scholars and recent Ph.D. graduates for up to four postdoctoral fellowships in residence at Washington University in St. Louis. The appointment is for one year, renewable for a second year. Eligible applicants must complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2020, and have completed it no earlier than January 1, 2015. In exceptional cases a qualified applicant holding a J.D., without the Ph.D., may be considered. Research associates will spend most of their time pursuing research and writing for their own projects. They will also serve the intellectual life of the Danforth Center on Religion and Politics through participation in its biweekly interdisciplinary seminar and events hosted by the Center. Their teaching responsibilities will include: 1) developing one course per year to complement and contribute to the Center's curricular offerings, and 2) possibly assisting in one additional course each year (depending on the particular teaching needs of the Center). Washington University in St. Louis is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer and especially encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Required Qualifications: Applicants should hold a doctorate in religious studies, politics, anthropology, law, philosophy, theology, American studies, history, area studies, sociology, or another relevant field. Scholars should be engaged in projects centrally concerned with religion and politics in the United States, historically or in the present day.

Application Instructions: Applicants must send all of the following information as a single pdf file to the Center at rap@wustl.edu:

- 1) Cover letter including an overview of the postdoctoral research project
- 2) Current curriculum vitae
- 3) Relevant writing sample (25-35 pages)
- 4) Two undergraduate course proposals (a summary paragraph for each will suffice)

Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation submitted on their behalf to rap@wustl.edu.

Applications are due in full by December 1, 2019. Applicants will be notified of fellowship decisions by March 2, 2020. For more information, contact the Center at (314) 935-9345 or via e-mail at rap@wustl.edu.

Salary: $50,000

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6103

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Public Administration

FACULTY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT
PART-TIME

Department: Political Science

Effective Date of Appointment: Spring 2020

About the University:

One of the largest universities in the country, California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is an urban, comprehensive university that delivers award-winning undergraduate and graduate programs to nearly 40,000 students annually and counts more than 330,000 alumni who elevate Southern California and beyond. Since its founding in 1958, CSUN has made a significant and long-term economic impact on California, generating nearly $1.9 billion in economic impact and more than 11,700 jobs each year. The LAEDC recognized CSUN as its 2015 Eddy Award winner for its positive economic impact. Serving more students on Pell Grants than any other institution in California, CSUN is also a social elevator and one of the most diverse universities in the country. CSUN ranks 13th in awarding bachelor’s degrees to traditionally underserved students and enrolls the largest number of students who are Deaf and hard-of-hearing of any U.S. state university. The journal Nature recently named CSUN a Rising Star for scientific research, and the NSF ranks CSUN in the top five nationally among similar institutions for graduates who go on to earn doctorates in the sciences. CSUN is where individuals rise and through them, so does Greater Los Angeles and beyond.

CSUN’s Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

Anticipated Needs:

Instructors for face-to-face Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below:

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Courses or Specialization

Upper division courses in:

- 1. POLS 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Current Salary Range:

Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($4229-$5971)
Paid in 6 monthly installments

Qualifications:

Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field.

University teaching experience is strongly preferred.

A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Deadline for Spring Semester 2020 only: September 30, 2019

Inquiries and applications should be addressed to:

Dr. David Leitch
Chair and Eugene C. Price Professor
Department of Political Science

California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff St.
Northridge, CA 91330-8254

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in CSU Executive Order 1096. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting the Office of Faculty Affairs at (818) 677-2962.

Department of Political Science

Temporary/Part-Time Teaching Interests Checklist– Spring 2020

Name of Applicant: _____

v PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- ___486SOC Social and Science Career Internship
___494I/IA Political Science Internship
___496DC DC Politics, Culture, and History
___496PR Professional Development in DC

C o m m e n t s: _____

Application material required:

- 1. This form completed
2. CV
3. Sample syllabus
4. Copies of teaching evaluations or
5. Letter of recommendation if you have not previously taught

Mail to:

Dr. David Leitch, Chair and Eugene C. Price Professor
Department of Political Science
California State University, Northridge
18111 Nordhoff Street
Northridge, CA 91330-8254

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 8/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6104

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track/tenured professor (open rank) in American Politics. This position is pending final budgetary approval.

Basic Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department expects applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework, but has no preferred methodological approach. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To be considered, please complete the online faculty application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/70025> and upload a letter containing a brief statement of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research and teaching interest, and copies of at least three representative publications. If you already have tenure, include the complete contact information for at least three (3) references. If you do not currently have tenure, please send at least three letters of recommendation to pscjobs\_AP@gwu.edu. Only complete applications will be considered. Review of applications will begin on 9/27/2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6101

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is seeking to appoint a tenure-track faculty member in the field of American Politics, starting July 1, 2020. The successful candidate will be able to teach courses and conduct research in American Politics, broadly defined. Significant promise of research excellence is a necessary condition for consideration, as is evidence of significant skills in teaching. Successful applicants will be expected to teach and mentor a diverse student body. Salary commensurate with qualifications.

Applications from women and minorities are particularly welcome. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes all to apply, including protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Review of applications will begin October 15, and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply for the position, please follow this link: <http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/168434>. Please include a cover letter, writing sample, curriculum vitae, and evidence of teaching excellence.

Applicants will be required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (please note that four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6106

University of North Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Florida seeks candidates for a tenure track appointment as an Assistant Professor in American politics and government beginning in August 2020. The field in American Politics is open. The department seeks a broadly trained scholar and has curricular needs across a broad spectrum of American politics, including institutions, behavior, and state and local government. The department also welcomes the use of innovative teaching technologies including distance learning and hybrid classes. There are also opportunities for the selected candidate to teach in the department's Masters of Public Administration Program. Candidates should demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching, research and service and a commitment to increasing the participation of members of underrepresented groups. The teaching load is three courses per semester. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Government, or a related discipline is required by August 2020.

Applicants must complete an online application, as well as upload supplemental documents, at www.unfjobs.org in order to be considered for this position. Applicants who do not apply online and/or upload all the required documents will not be considered for this position. Once you submit both your completed application and uploaded documents you will receive a confirmation number. Keep the confirmation number for your records.

Applicants must attach the following required documents to be considered for this position.

- (1) a letter of interest stating teaching interests and research plans
- (2) a complete curriculum vitae
- (3) Please provide a one-page statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in the areas of teaching and research
- (4) graduate school transcripts*
- (5) one sample of research and writing
- (6) evidence of teaching effectiveness
- (7) three current professional letters of recommendation (uploaded as one document)

*Official transcripts are required by the time of employment

If the applicant is unable to attach the letters of recommendation with the application, they can be emailed to: Americanpolitics@unf.edu

Review of applications will begin October 11, 2019. This position will be considered open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6086

Coastal Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Urban Politics, Political Theory

The College of Humanities and Fine Arts at Coastal Carolina University invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning August 2020. The Department of Politics is interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests cover some combination of race and ethnic politics, urban politics, American Political Development, and political theory.

The chosen candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of appointment. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in the field; prior experience with experiential and distance learning would be beneficial.

Coastal Carolina University is a public comprehensive liberal arts institution located in Conway, South Carolina, just nine miles from the Atlantic coastal resort city of Myrtle Beach. Coastal Carolina University enrolls over 10,000 students from 45 states and 58 nations. The University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the baccalaureate and selective master's degrees of national and/or regional significance in the arts and sciences, business, humanities, education, and health and human services, a specialist degree in educational leadership, and Ph.D. degrees in Marine Science and Education.

Coastal Carolina University is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from underrepresented groups to apply.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application that addresses the qualifications specified in this advertisement, a curriculum vitae, writing sample, copies of transcripts, statements about teaching and research, and contact information for three (3) professional references electronically at: <http://jobs.coastal.edu/postings/8139>. Review of application materials will begin October 1st and continue until the position is filled.

For additional information, please contact Dr. Mikel Norris (mnorris1@coastal.edu, 843-349-4033) or Dr. Adam Chamberlain, Chair of the Department of Politics (achamber@coastal.edu, 843-349-6506).

Coastal Carolina University is an EO/AA employer

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6062

University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: African American Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in American politics in the subfield of race and ethnicity with expertise in the African American political experience.

The successful candidate's scholarship and teaching should examine racial politics in the U.S. and can focus on gender, political behavior, institutions, and public opinion. The individual also will be expected to work with the African and African American Studies program.

The position entails conducting research leading to publication, designing graduate and undergraduate courses, providing curriculum material, constructing syllabi, leading classroom instruction, writing and administering exams, coaching students in the writing of essays, mentoring and evaluating students, serving on various faculty- and student-oriented committees, and participating in the faculty decision-making of the Department of Political Science.

Regular, reliable, and non-disruptive attendance is an essential job duty, as is the ability to create and maintain collegial, harmonious working relationships with others.

Apply at:

<https://jobs.uark.edu/postings/35971>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6057

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Africana Studies-Political Science

Africana Studies-Political Science Associate Professor Position

The Departments of Africana Studies and Political Science at Rutgers University-New Brunswick seek to hire a nationally recognized scholar in the field of contemporary race relations at the Associate Professor level, to begin September 1, 2020. Candidates should have an outstanding and sustained record of research, teaching, and mentorship. Research and teaching interests should include the study of American political institutions such as Congress and or the presidency; political rhetoric; social movements; and African American politics. We particularly welcome candidates specializing in the diverse factors shifting the landscape for African American politics in recent decades. We encourage candidates who engage in public discourse of their research beyond formal academic circles, though this is not required. The successful candidate's tenure home will be in Africana Studies, with a partial appointment in Political Science, and with teaching and service responsibilities divided between the two Departments.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Africana Studies and Political Science Departments are strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and a list of three references to: <http://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/99091>. Review of applicants will begin on October 15th and continue until the job is filled.

Confidential letters of recommendation should be emailed directly by the referee to reference@aficana.rutgers.edu – the applicant's name should appear in the subject line.

All job offers are contingent upon successful pre-employment background screening prior to commencement of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6048

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

American Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of American Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarly research on American politics, including but not limited to political behavior, political institutions, identity politics, American political development, and/or American political thought. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor. Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8344>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jee-willi@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6045

St. Lawrence University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics. The successful candidate will teach in the area of Congress or race & ethnic politics. Secondary areas of expertise are welcomed in public policy, state and local politics, or American political thought. The candidate will be prepared to teach courses in their areas of expertise as well as an introductory course on American Politics. The position begins August 2020 and the teaching load is three courses per semester. Strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field required; candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field in-hand by August 2020 preferred.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://employment.stlawu.edu/postings/1954> by uploading all required materials which are defined in the "special instructions to applicant" section. Review of applications will begin on October 8, 2019. Questions about the position may be sent to Dr. Grace Huang (ghuang@stlawu.edu), Search Chair.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Located at 23 Romoda Drive, Canton, NY, St. Lawrence University is a coeducational, private, independent liberal arts institution of about 2,400 students from more than 40 states and 40 nations. The educational opportunities at St. Lawrence inspire students and prepare them to be critical and creative thinkers, to find a compass for their lives and careers, and to pursue knowledge and understanding for the benefit of themselves, humanity and the planet. Through its focus on active engagement with ideas in and beyond the classroom, a St. Lawrence education leads students to make connections that transform lives and communities, from the local to the global.

For additional information about St. Lawrence, please visit <http://www.stlawu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/8/2019

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6042

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics beginning August 2020. As a Carnegie R1 university, we seek scholars with a strong research agenda in either of these specializations to help grow the prestige of our department. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics. The ability to teach courses in research methods (graduate and undergraduate) is desirable. Our needs in Public Policy (American or Comparative) are broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (urban and regional planning, health policy, political economy, and policy analysis, etc). Our needs in American Behavioral Politics are also broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (citizen decision-making, public opinion, media and politics, voting behavior, and race/gender and politics, etc.). A strong record of peer-reviewed publications will ultimately be required for tenure.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field. ABD applicants near completion will be considered. The degree must be completed by the time of appointment. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching to be considered; evidence of excellence in research and teaching is preferred.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Set against the backdrop of the Franklin Mountains in the Chihuahuan Desert, The University of Texas at El Paso is located along the U.S.–Mexico border in one of the world's largest binational communities. UTEP's award-winning, sustainably designed campus landscape and unique Bhutanese architecture create an energizing and tranquil oasis in the bustling El Paso–Juárez metroplex of 2.7 million residents. El Paso is a highly livable, bicultural community of almost 700,000 people that offers affordable homes and attractive neighborhoods. It has consistently been named among the safest large U.S. cities. El Paso experiences almost 300 days of sunshine annually, and residents enjoy outdoor activities year-round. The City of El Paso is adjacent to the state of New Mexico and the country of Mexico, making it an ideal venue for academic programs and research studies on topics of national interest, such as bilingual education/language acquisition, border environment and immigration, environmental sustainability and infrastructure, health disparities, and international trade and commerce.

Application Procedure: The deadline for applications is October 21, 2019 and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality (sample syllabi/statement of teaching philosophy), article/chapter length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Please contact Dr. Todd A. Curry by email (tacurry@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
Hiring decisions are subject to final budget approval.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6009

Baylor University

Rank: Regular Lecturer

Specializations: Urban Politics, African American Politics, Latino Politics

Baylor University is a private Christian university and a nationally ranked research institution, consistently listed with highest honors among The Chronicle of Higher Education's "Great Colleges to Work For." The University is recruiting new faculty with a deep commitment to excellence in teaching, research and scholarship. Baylor seeks faculty who share in our aspiration to become a tier one research institution while strengthening our distinctive Christian mission as described in our strategic vision, Pro Futuris, (www.baylor.edu/profuturis/) and academic strategic plan, Illuminate (baylor.edu/illuminate). As the world's largest Baptist University, Baylor offers over 40 doctoral programs and has more than 17,000 students from all 50 states and more than 85 countries.

Baylor seeks to fill the following regular lecturer faculty position within the College of Arts and Sciences:

Regular Lecturer

The Department of Political Science at Baylor University invites applications for the position of regular lecturer in American politics. This position emphasizes excellent teaching, although scholarly productivity is appreciated and ability to generate external grants is recognized. The department is interested in applicants from all fields of American politics, with an ability to teach urban politics, minority and ethnic group politics, and American public law considered very important. Applicants may also contribute to the flourishing MA and PhD programs and to the direction of the undergraduate public service internship program in the department. Review of applications will begin as they are received, and to assure full consideration applications should arrive by October 1, 2019.

Candidates should possess an earned doctorate in Political Science in the field of American politics. Please submit a letter of application, a current CV, official transcripts showing the highest degree conferred, three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing samples, and statement of participation in a faith community in the Judeo-Christian tradition. Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. All applications are to be submitted on Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/67312>

To learn more about the above position, the College of Arts and Sciences, and Baylor University, please visit the appropriate URL: www.baylor.edu/political\_science or www.baylor.edu/hr/facultypositions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6040

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2020 to September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on outstanding performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12905> (link is external)

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6038

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfrack@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address:
jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/22/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6037

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Methodology
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the levels of associate or full professor with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to apply online at the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board at: apply.interfolio.com/67089. Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; and 2) a curriculum vitae. Consideration of applications will begin on September 22nd and will continue until the position is filled or the search has ended; early submission is encouraged. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/22/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6034

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the assistant professor level with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) writing sample; 4) brief teaching statement; 5) brief research statement; and 6) at least three letters of recommendation. Applicants also are encouraged to submit as optional documents up to three publications or unpublished manuscripts and evidence of teaching performance, such as teaching evaluations, if available. Applications will be accepted until the deadline of October 1, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

To be considered, those interested must apply through The University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board, which uses Interfolio to accept applications: apply.interfolio.com/66855. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/20/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6022

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:
Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science with focus on Public Law

Starting Date:
August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:
Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6014

Lycoming College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2020. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in American politics. Specialization within subfield is open. Lycoming's small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College's interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution. Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered and are encouraged to apply.

To Apply:

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript. Electronic submission of application materials is required (PDF format preferred). Please reference "Assistant Professor of Political Science" in the subject line of the email.

Email: jobs@lycoming.edu

To guarantee full consideration, applications should be submitted by October 1, 2019. Post-offer pre-employment drug screen conducted.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 6004

Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU)

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Commonwealth University is seeking applications for a tenure eligible faculty position at the Assistant Professor rank to begin August 2020 to support the Department's teaching and research mission in the area of American Politics, broadly defined.

We are seeking candidates with active and innovative research agendas. Candidates who collaborate across disciplines are particularly desirable, as are candidates with proven track records of grant funding and the potential for scholarship that complements and expands existing expertise in the department. Though not required, we seek a scholar who can contribute to the University's mission to address problems of underrepresented and/or urban communities.

Successful candidates should be able to teach Introduction to U.S. Government, undergraduate Research Methods, the Political Science Senior Seminar capstone course, and/or upper-level courses in their area of expertise. Though no specific area of expertise is required, we encourage applications from candidates whose research engages with our concentration in Civil Rights; potential course offerings could, therefore, include: The Politics of Race, Class, and Gender, Women & American Politics, and/or African American Politics.

The position carries an expectation of service to the department, College and/or University, as well as an expectation of service to the field of political science more broadly.

The position requires a PhD in political science, or a closely related field, at the time of employment. Successful candidates will have demonstrated expertise and potential for publication in the faculty area of research. Successful candidates will also have demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

We will be at the APSA Annual Meeting; to schedule an interview please contact polistaff@vcu.edu.

For more detailed information and to apply, please visit: www.vcujobs.com

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Only electronic applications will be accepted. Please apply online at www.vcujobs.com. Applicants must upload a CV, cover letter and the following supplemental documents: Research Statement, Teaching Philosophy, Writing Sample, and Diversity & Inclusion Statement. Candidates are also encouraged to include course evaluations and sample syllabi if available. Please merge supplementary files into one PDF and upload as the "Other" document in the online application site. Please submit all required documents with your online application. Failure to provide all required documents will result in our inability to review and consider your application. Upon submission of your application, references will be automatically contacted and asked to provide a letter of recommendation. Questions should be directed to Dr. Andrew Murphy at amurphy5@vcu.edu. Application deadline is October 1, 2019. Start date will be August 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/19/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6012

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

You will be impressed by the quality of the Political Science and International Relations Programs at Geneseo. The focus of the department is on analytical sophistication and enabling graduates to think critically about political life in a variety of settings. To learn more about our department visit: https://www.geneseo.edu/political\_sciencehttps://www.geneseo.edu/political\_science&lt;a&gt;.

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNY Geneseo is seeking applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin August, 2020. Duties of the position include:

- Teach the American Politics Introductory course, a course on the American Presidency and/or Interest Groups and Social Movements, plus additional upper division courses in American Politics, which could include courses on Women and Politics, Identity Politics, and/or Class-based Politics.
- Establish a program of research and publication in Political Science with a focus on American Politics.
- Contribute to pedagogical and curricular development and management of the Political Science major at Geneseo.
- Provide academic advisement to students.
- Mentor and supervise undergraduate research and other projects.
- Contribute to governance through service at the department and college level.
- Contribute service to the discipline and university.

Our priority is teaching excellence. We seek someone with a strong commitment to teaching in a liberal arts setting and who is prepared to teach both introductory courses and advanced courses in their area of expertise. A commitment to working effectively with students from diverse backgrounds is essential. We also value applicant experience with integrative learning, such as linking academic endeavors with social advocacy or community engagement.

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter, a CV, and additional materials that speak to their teaching effectiveness. The cover letter should address teaching philosophy, interests and plans for establishing a research program. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit letters of recommendation at the time of application.

Please submit materials at jobs.geneseo.edu. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt.

To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by November 8, 2019. The search committee anticipates conducting initial interviews by telephone/Skype during the week of December 2, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/8/2019
Date Posted: 8/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5979

American Political Science Association

Rank: Director, Congressional Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Other, American Government and Politics

AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION (APSA)

&lt;b&gt;POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT&lt;/b&gt;

POSITION TITLE: Director, Congressional Fellowship Program

SALARY: Commensurate with experience

REQUIRED EDUCATION: Advanced degree in political science or related other social science discipline, Ph.D. preferred;

REQUIRED EXPERIENCE: 3+ year relevant experience

&lt;b&gt;POSITION DESCRIPTION&lt;/b&gt;

The Director leads the Congressional Fellowship Program, a highly selective, nonpartisan program for mid-career professionals that sends 30-40 individuals a year to serve placements on Capitol Hill. In addition, the Director will head up 1-2 ongoing or new initiatives based on the APSA strategic plan. This position is a unique opportunity to directly contribute to the continued success and development of a signature APSA program and play a leadership role within the association.

&lt;b&gt;STATUS&lt;/b&gt;

Full-time, Exempt

&lt;b&gt;SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES&lt;/b&gt;

1 Program Assistant/Associate

&lt;b&gt;ESSENTIAL RESPONSIBILITIES&lt;/b&gt;

Congressional Fellowship Program

- Directs the 10-month program for 30-40 fellows, recruiting and arranging selection of fellows directly funded by APSA and liaising with outside sponsor organizations.
- Organizes yearly orientation and other programming for the fellows, and develops new programs and activities to support the program.
- Supports fellows in securing fellowship placements in the legislative or executive branches and liaises with government offices supporting fellows.
- Develops materials to publicize the program and represents the program to outside groups and sponsors.
- Organizes events and develops materials for the Congressional Fellowship Program alumni community.
- Reports to and liaises with the APSA Congressional Fellowship Program Advisory Committee and APSA Council on various aspects of the program, and organizes the annual Advisory Committee meeting.
- Collaborates with the APSA Finance and Development teams to oversee the fellowship endowment, operating costs, and budget of the program, and to raise external funding for the program.

Other

With input from the Executive Director and Deputy Director, leads 1-2 new or ongoing initiatives in support of the APSA strategic plan (2020-2022).

&lt;b&gt;ESSENTIAL SKILLS & EXPERIENCE&lt;/b&gt;

- Advanced degree in political science or related other social science discipline, Ph.D. preferred;
- Experience working on Capitol Hill or liaising with members of Congress and their staff;
- Familiarity with current events and issues facing higher education, the social sciences, and the discipline of political science;

- Strong analytical and public speaking skills and ability to write clearly and concisely;
- Excellent organizational skills with high attention to detail and adherence to deadlines;
- Adaptability and ability to work in a fast-paced team environment;
- Superb collaboration skills to work with colleagues across departments at APSA to meet shared goals;
- Sound judgment and initiative related to appropriate and independent action and problem-solving;
- Ability to maintain confidentiality while working on sensitive tasks; and,
- Experience with academic program administration and administrative responsibilities.

&lt;b&gt;ABOUT APSA&lt;/b&gt;

The APSA is a 501(c) 3 nonprofit educational association that serves a membership base of 13,000 in over 80 countries. With a range of programs and services for individuals, departments and institutions, APSA brings together political scientists from all fields of inquiry, regions and occupational endeavors within and outside academe in order to expand awareness and understanding of politics. To learn more about APSA, please visit www.apsanet.org. APSA offers a comprehensive compensation and benefits package. APSA has a Metro-accessible location in DuPont Circle in Washington, DC, with a full-time staff of 29. APSA is an equal opportunity employer committed to workplace diversity and welcomes applications from anyone with the qualifications indicated above.

&lt;b&gt;HOW TO APPLY&lt;/b&gt;

To be considered, submit a c.v. and cover letter indicating how your experience and skills align with the description and the essential skills required of the position, by email to APSA at <mailto:hr@apsanet.org> or hr@apsanet.org. Please write '&lt;b&gt;Director, Congressional Fellowship Program&lt;/b&gt;' in the subject line. Consideration will begin as soon as resumes are received, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5973

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Labor Politics

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or Ph.D. in appropriate related discipline, with specialization in American Politics. Degree at time of application or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2020.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, effective teaching.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, successful research and publication.
- Experience with, or demonstrated potential for, effective participation in faculty governance.
- Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Evidence of training in one or more of the following specializations in American politics: political behavior, political institutions, campaigns/elections, public opinion, social movements, state and local politics, or interest groups.
- Ability to connect specific areas of interest with broader questions within political science, such as the impact and intersectional dimensions of economic, racial, ethnic, and gender inequality in American politics and democratic governance.
- Evidence of ability to effectively teach one or more current University course offerings in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels (e.g., Introduction to American Government; Racial and Ethnic Politics—U.S.; Urban Politics; The Media and American Politics; How Democratic is the U.S.?; Public Opinion and Political Behavior; Public Policy; Parties, Campaigns, and Elections; California Government in Comparative Perspective; Scope and Methods of Political Science; The United States Congress; The American Presidency; Senior Seminar in Law, Politics, and Policy; and Graduate Seminars in Research Methods in Political Science, American Political Institutions, American Political Behavior, and Policy and Politics).
- Evidence of ability to develop new course offerings in American politics that engage issues of diversity, particularly as related to race and ethnicity.
- Evidence of support for and/or experience related to the University's strong commitment to the academic success of its diverse student body.
- Evidence of ability to engage in research leading to conference participation and publication.
- Evidence of interest in and/or experience with department, college, university and community service.

Duties:

- Teach and develop courses in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels.
- Advise and mentor students, including the supervision of Master's students taking comprehensive exams and theses.
- Engage in research leading to conference participation and publications.
- Participate in faculty governance.
- Participate in service to the department, college, university, and community.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here:

<https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/careers/benefits/Documents/cfa-unit-3-benefits-summary.pdf>

How to Apply - Required Documentation:

- An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (maximum two pages, single-spaced). For further information and guidelines, please visit: <http://www.csulb.edu/EquityDiversityStatement>

- Letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications
- CV (including current email address)
- Three recent academic letters of recommendation
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree
- Finalists will also be required to submit the following:
  - 1) A signed SC-1 form,
  - 2) Three current letters of recommendation independently provided by references, and
  - 3) An official transcript (e-transcript preferred, if available)

All required documentation shall be submitted electronically through:

<https://AcademicJobsOnline.org>

Position ID:

CSULB-PoliticalScience-ASSTPROFESSOR [#13761, 2579]

Upon request, finalists will be required to submit original, official documents, as noted in the required documentation section.

Requests for information should be addressed to:

Darin DeWitt, Associate Professor
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science
1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605
(562) 985-4711
darin.dewitt@csulb.edu

Review of applications to begin October 1, 2019

Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5974

Smith College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and Statistical & Data Sciences

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Women & Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Electoral Behavior

The Department of Government (GOV) and the Program in Statistical & Data Sciences (SDS) at Smith College invite applications for a joint, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin July 1, 2020.

By time of appointment the applicant must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely-related discipline (e.g., public policy) -- as well as advanced training in statistics, data science, or a closely-related field at the graduate level. Candidates specializing in American political institutions and public policy are preferred. Statistical and Data Science specializations might include, for example, the public policy implications of data storage and mining, machine learning and public health, modeling of voting behavior, surveillance and data privacy policy, or computer algorithms for law enforcement and sentencing.

The position has a teaching load of 2:2 -- i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year -- and will have a joint teaching commitment to GOV and SDS, split evenly. In GOV, we anticipate that the person would teach introduction to public policy, introduction to American Government, and upper-level courses related to their area of expertise in which students analyze data. In SDS, the person would teach introductory statistics or data science, as well as intermediate and advanced-level courses in their area of interest, for example multiple regression, machine learning, data journalism, data visualization, data ethics, or text mining. Candidates from groups underrepresented in STEM or quantitative political science are encouraged to apply.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country and is dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. The faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes. Tenure-track faculty members teach two courses each semester, mentor and advise undergraduates, and enjoy a generous sabbatical policy. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here: <https://www.smith.edu/about-smith/provost/faculty-development>. The Five College Consortium -- comprising Smith, Amherst, Mount Holyoke and Hampshire Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts-Amherst -- provides a rich intellectual and cultural life. Details about GOV and SDS may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/> and <https://www.smith.edu/sds/>.

Submit application at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66801> with a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching philosophy, an article- or chapter-length writing sample, and three confidential letters of recommendation. The research and teaching statements should address the candidate's commitment to diversity and inclusion, as well as their interest in working at a women's college. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Summer 2019
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/13/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5971

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Housing, Education Policy, Criminal Justice

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate professor in American politics and public policy, with an emphasis on political institutions and the policy making process, to begin July 1, 2020.

All applicants must have a PhD in the area of Political Science, Public Policy, or a related policy discipline conferred by the time of appointment. Please note that we are searching at both the junior and tenured levels. Successful candidates will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in American political institutions and policy-making. While we encourage applications from scholars studying all areas of Public Policy, GPS has particular interest in Health, Education, Criminal Justice, Transportation, or Housing Policy.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at:
 Assistant Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02210>
 Associate Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02211>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5965

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor of Public Policy

The University of Michigan's Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy invites applications from social scientists with a PhD in political science, government, public policy or other closely-related disciplines for one or more tenured positions in American politics at the rank of associate or full professor. The Ford School is committed to attracting and retaining a distinguished and diverse faculty. Successful candidates must demonstrate a record of outstanding research impact; ability and willingness to teach core and elective courses in undergraduate, master and PhD degree programs in public policy; effective public and policy engagement; and a keen interest in interacting with students, faculty, staff, and policy practitioners in an interdisciplinary professional school environment. Candidates should combine relevant substantive expertise with strong interests in public policy.

This is an ongoing search. First consideration will be given to applications received by October 1, 2019, but applications will be considered until the position is filled. The following application materials are required: a letter of interest; curriculum vitae; a statement of research and policy interests; a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; and a statement describing how your work would contribute to the Ford School's and University of Michigan's strategic commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion (fordschool.umich.edu/dei).

Interested applicants may upload their application materials to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66729>

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5957

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Political Institutions

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in American political institutions for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. The department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. The appointment is open with respect to empirical approach. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within the department. Candidates able to assist in graduate training in quantitative methods or formal theory should indicate those competencies. The appointment will begin Fall 2020. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2019. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2019, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position.

Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2020.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at apply.interfolio.com/66541.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5962

William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (American politics / behavior)

The Department of Government at William & Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics with specialty in political behavior. Appointment will begin August 10, 2020. Within political behavior, we are especially interested in candidates with interests in racial or ethnic politics, or the politics of inclusion. The successful candidate will have excellent preparation; will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department bring new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a cognate discipline at the time appointment begins (August 10, 2020).

Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching quantitative research methods (including political polling and survey methods), racial or ethnic politics, or the politics of inclusion is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, a writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a statement describing previous professional experiences or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 16, 2019. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

Government is one of the largest majors on campus. Our faculty receive support from various research centers on campus, and we contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Africana Studies, Data Science, Environmental Science and Policy, Gender Sexuality and Women's Studies, Global Studies, International Relations, Public Health, and Public Policy. William & Mary is convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/16/2019
Date Posted: 8/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5960

George Washington University

Rank: Professor (Open Rank) of Political Management and Legislative Affairs Program Director, Graduate School of Political Management (GSPM)

The College of Professional Studies (CPS) of The George Washington University invites applications from qualified applicants for this open rank full-time fiscal year faculty position with an administrative appointment as the Director of the Legislative Affairs Program at the Graduate School of Political Management. This is a twelve-month, non-tenure-track, renewable appointment with an initial appointment period of three years, beginning as early as January 1, 2020.

The GSPM master's degree in Legislative Affairs program educates experienced professionals in Congressional operations, how procedures shape policy outcomes, and how entities like constituents, the executive branch, and lobbyists impact the work of Congress. (For more information on the program, see gspm.gwu.edu). Legislative Affairs is one of four degree programs in the Graduate School of Political Management, together with Political Management, Strategic Public Relations and a Spanish-language degree in Political Communication and Strategic Governance.

Duties and Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching 4 courses per year (over 3 terms), undertaking research, participating in public thought leadership and media opportunities, advising students, contributing to the school's marketing and recruiting efforts, offering curricular and program support, coordinating comprehensive exams, monitoring the Army Fellows Program, recruiting and onboarding part-time faculty, and participating in the advancement of GSPM's mission via service.

Basic Qualifications:

Applicants must have: 1) an advanced degree such as a PhD, a law degree, or other relevant degree by the date of appointment; 2) research and teaching experience in the field of legislative affairs; 3) experience in politics and policymaking at the national level; and 4) a strong working knowledge of the politics and culture of Capitol Hill.

How to apply: Complete an online faculty application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/69277> and upload a cover letter and Curriculum Vitae.

Only complete applications will be considered. Review of applications will begin on September 13, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

The university is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer that does not unlawfully discriminate in any of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or on any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5955

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in five of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions> degree no later than August 31, 2020. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in their original scholarship as well as in teaching.

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. Each Collegiate Assistant Professor also has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical in the third year of residence. The position comes with an annual salary for 2020-21, of $72,307.80, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $5,000. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2020.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <http://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 26, 2019.

These positions are part of the Service Employees International Union.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 11, 2019.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 25, 2019. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non\_discrimination\_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/11/2019

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 5953

Drake University

Rank: Department Chair

The Department of Political Science at Drake University seeks to recruit an exceptional scholar for a tenured position at the rank of associate professor who can provide effective and visionary leadership as the Chair of the Department of Political Science. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in American public policy. Teaching responsibilities include the introductory American Politics course and upper level courses covering domestic public policy (process and theory), policy analysis, and topics consistent with the individual's research specialization. Chairs serve three-year terms, with the possibility of renewal, and have their teaching load reduced from the standard 3-3 load.

Drake is a private, comprehensive, coeducational institution located in Des Moines, Iowa, the fastest growing city in the Midwest and the state capital of Iowa. Drake is a hub of political activity during the Iowa caucuses and offers exceptional opportunities for experiential learning, student engagement, and scholarship on policy formulation and discourse in local, state, and national contexts. We are an equal-opportunity employer (EEO) dedicated to building a diverse and pluralistic community and strongly encourage applications from all qualified applicants. We are excited to welcome colleagues who will provide support for and work effectively with individuals and groups from diverse backgrounds. The Department consists of 7 full-time faculty members and offers majors in both politics and international relations. Information about the department can be found at: <https://www.drake.edu/polsci/>

Salary is competitive with peer schools and dependent on qualifications and experience. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019. To apply, go to <https://drake.hiretouch.com/> and submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, the names of three references, evidence of teaching effectiveness including sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement on teaching philosophy, a writing sample and a diversity statement.

Questions may be directed to the search committee chair Arthur Sanders at arthur.sanders@drake.edu. If you plan on being at APSA in Washington, please contact the search committee chair ahead of time to arrange an informal conversation about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/8/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5942

Boston University

Rank: Part-Time Lecturer, Spring 2020
Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Judicial Politics

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks a part time, adjunct faculty to teach one undergraduate lecture courses in Spring 2020, in the general theme of American Political Institutions. The courses may focus on any specific branch (presidency, congress, the courts). Applicants should be ABD or hold a PhD in a relevant field. Please send a resume, letter of interest, and the names of three references to Neta Crawford, Department Chair, Political Science, Boston University, by 30 September, 2019. Email - politicschair@bu.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/7/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5932

Harvard University

Rank: William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics
Specializations: Canada, North America, United States

The Canada Program at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites applications for the William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship. Two fellows will be appointed for the 2020–2021 academic year, with the possibility of extending the fellowship for one additional year—conditional on the approval of the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, WCFIA associated faculty, and the co-hosting academic department.

The fellowship is open to scholars in all disciplines who are engaged in US-Canada comparative research and teaching, with preference given to individuals working within the social sciences and humanities. For postdoctoral candidates who will have completed the PhD within 12 months of the August 1, 2020 start date, verification of completion of the degree will be required prior to the appointment. Those in possession of a PhD for more than five years are ineligible.

The fellowship provides an annual stipend of $68,000, which is supplemented by funding for research and for individual health insurance coverage. The fellow will be required to teach one course during the year, and will be expected to engage with the Canada Program and with the University's wider community. Fellows receive shared office space at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, and enjoy full access to the University's library, archival, and computing resources.

TO APPLY:

Candidates should submit: a letter of application describing their suitability for the fellowship; a curriculum vitae with a list of publications; a sample of their written work; a teaching portfolio, containing a statement on teaching experience and syllabi; and three letters of recommendation.

TO SUBMIT:

<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9111>

DEADLINE:

All application materials must be received no later than Friday, November 1, 2019.

For more information about the Canada Program, please visit: http://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

For more information about the WCFIA Canada Program, please visit: http://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/7/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 5937

Williams College

Rank: Associate or Full Professor in Asian American Studies
Specializations: Asian American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Social Movements

American Studies Program

Job description for 2020-2021

The American Studies Program at Williams College seeks to make a tenured appointment at the rank of Associate or Full Professor in Asian American Studies, to start July 1, 2020. The program seeks to complement and expand the existing expertise of our faculty who teach Asian American topics, and is especially interested in applications from those scholars whose research interests and teaching focus on social science or related topics and whose portfolios encompass interdisciplinary approaches.

The candidate should be a committed and imaginative scholar with an established record of excellence in scholarship and teaching and experience in program-building. We have a strong preference for those who demonstrate a commitment to the interdisciplinary nature and methodologies of American Studies in their research and teaching; the hire will be expected to teach both the introductory course and the junior-level theories and methods course, in addition to courses in their specialties. The teaching load is two courses per semester and a winter-study course every other January.

American Studies at Williams is a small but vibrant program with a diverse faculty and dynamic and engaged majors, whose numbers are growing. Created in 1940, it is one of the oldest American Studies programs in the country and has been at the forefront at Williams in teaching courses that foreground issues of race and racism, class, gender/sexuality, globalization, diaspora, among others. The hire will join three other Asian Americanists at the college and will have a hand in hiring a junior tenure-track Asian Americanist the following year. We are especially interested in candidates from historically under-represented groups, candidates whose scholarship and teaching enrich the diversity and intellectual vibrancy of our academic communities, and candidates who have experience working effectively with diverse student populations.

Please send the following application materials to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Dorothy Wang via Interfolio (<http://apply.interfolio.com/66535>): a letter of application that includes a summary of current and future scholarship, teaching interests and experience, and experience working effectively with students who are widely diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, nationality, gender, sexual orientation, and religion; a curriculum vitae; and names of three references. All applications received by Oct. 1, 2019 will receive full consideration. Semi-finalists will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation by Oct. 18 and preliminary video interviews will be scheduled during the week of Oct. 21. Finalists will be invited to Williamstown for a campus interview in mid-November.

All offers of employment are contingent on completion of a background check. Further information is available at: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>.

Williams is a coeducational liberal arts college located in the Berkshires of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on the teaching and scholarship of its faculty and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2000 students. Please visit the Williams website (<http://williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5935

San Francisco State University

Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics with a focus on women and politics

San Francisco State University's Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American politics with a focus on women and politics beginning August 2020. Scholars who examine public policy at the state-level will be of particular interest, especially those studying California. We seek qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Responsibilities: The position requires teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in American politics and women and politics. In addition, the position requires mentoring and advising undergraduate and graduate students, developing an active ongoing program of scholarship in your area of specialty, and ongoing committee and service assignments. A detailed position description is available at <https://politicalscience.sfsu.edu/>.

Qualifications: Required

? Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field. Ph.D. must be completed by August 1, 2020

? Expertise in American politics and women and politics

Qualifications: Preferred

? Expertise in state-level politics, especially California politics

? Ability and experience teaching courses in the areas of American politics and women and politics

? Active record of scholarship related to your specialty area

? Experience teaching and working closely with students from historically under-represented communities will be considered a plus

? Ability to demonstrate how you will incorporate inclusion, diversity, and educational equity in your courses and scholarship

Rank and salary: Assistant Professor. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. The California State University (CSU) provides generous health, retirement and other benefits.

The Department of Political Science at SFSU was founded in the mid 1960s during a period of intense political activism, and it carries on this legacy through rigorous and interdisciplinary research and engaged pedagogy. Our students reflect the racial, ethnic, and class diversity of the San Francisco Bay Area and bring their experiences, insights, and knowledge to the classroom. We teach BA and MA courses in American politics, comparative politics, political theory, and public law, plus required courses in research methods.

The mission of San Francisco State University is to create and maintain an environment for learning that promotes respect for and appreciation of scholarship, freedom, human diversity, and the cultural mosaic of the City of San Francisco and the Bay Area; to promote excellence in instruction and intellectual accomplishment; and to provide broadly accessible higher education for residents of the region and state, as well as the nation and world. To fulfill its mission, the University is committed to the following goals:

- Attracting, retaining and graduating a highly diverse student body
- Providing disciplinary and interdisciplinary liberal arts and professional education that is academically rigorous and intellectually challenging
- Providing curricula that reflect all dimensions of human diversity, and that encourage critical thinking and a commitment to social justice
- Recruiting, retaining and supporting a diverse faculty whose teaching demonstrates an active engagement with their individual fields of study and whose creative and scholarly work is an extension of the classroom, laboratory or studio

- Employing a staff and administration reflecting the diversity of our student community and the values of the campus
- Fostering a collegial and cooperative intellectual environment that includes recognition and appreciation of differing viewpoints and promotes academic freedom within the University community
- Serving the communities with which its students and faculty are engaged

Application process: Submit (1) a letter of application, (2) current CV, (3) a statement of teaching philosophy and research interests, (4) a statement of how your teaching and scholarship align with the commitment of the Political Science Department to foster an inclusive and diverse academic community, (5) three letters of recommendation, (6) a writing sample, (7) academic transcripts, and (8) your course syllabi and teaching evaluations, if available. If files are submitted separately, then please clearly label each with last name and document title.

Submit materials as email attachments to plisearch@sfsu.edu by October 1st. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the position should be sent to Francis Neely, Chair of the search committee, at fneely@sfsu.edu.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5929

University of Wisconsin, La Crosse

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

The University of Wisconsin-La Crosse invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor beginning August 2020 in the Department of Political Science and Public Administration. Preference will be given to applicants with research and teaching interests in American Politics, with an emphasis in political behavior, political participation, public opinion, and/or the politics of gender, race, and class. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to teaching excellence, including dynamic, inclusive, and engaging classroom practices. The position will also include advising responsibilities, and the potential for directing undergraduate research projects, teaching lower and upper level research methods courses, and teaching the capstone seminar. In addition to teaching excellence and scholarly productivity, the Department also places a high value on service to the University and wider community.

The 11-member department offers undergraduate majors and minors in both Political Science and Public Administration and offers courses that serve interdisciplinary minors in Ethnic and Racial Studies; International Studies; International Business; Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies; Criminal Justice; and Environmental Studies. The department also collaborates with the university's Secondary Teacher Education Preparation (STEP) Program. The usual teaching load is three preparations and four (3 credit) courses per semester, two of which will be Political Science upper division courses and two of which will be the General Education course American National Government.

Candidates for the appointment should have completed or be near to completing a doctorate in Political Science by the start date. If a doctorate is not yet earned, it must be earned by the first personnel review, no later than May 15, 2021.

For additional information about this position and to apply, please visit <https://employment.uwlax.edu/>. Complete application materials must be submitted online, and will include: 1. a cover letter, with a description about how you envision yourself contributing to the department's American Government offerings; 2. a curriculum vitae; and 3. the names, email addresses and phone numbers for three academic references.

Applicant review will begin October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Note: Electronic submission of application materials is required. For additional information about this position and to apply, please visit <https://employment.uwlax.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5907

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Specializations: Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Psychology

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in American Politics. We are interested in candidates with expertise in legislatures, institutions, race and politics, political behavior, and political psychology.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66085>

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5903

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2020. We are particularly eager to consider applicants who specialize in American Politics and related fields. In addition, we will consider especially strong applicants working in other fields (including comparative politics, international relations, methods, political theory, and racial/ethnic politics). Pending administrative approval, we will also consider applicants at the rank of Associate Professor.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, the aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. Appointments will be effective on July 1, 2020. A PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by September 16, 2019. Applications will be accepted, however, until the position is filled.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Where to Apply: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF04796>

Department Contact: Evelyn Godinez at egodinez@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5909

University of Illinois, Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor-Political Science-American Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (LAS) at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) invites applications for the position of tenure track Assistant Professor in political science, with specialization in any aspect of American politics, beginning in the 2020-2021 academic year, subject to budgetary approval. The department has a variety of needs in American politics, especially in institutions. The successful candidate will complement and augment the current faculty's substantive expertise.

Assistant professors are expected to teach two (2) courses per semester at the undergraduate and/or graduate level, as assigned by the department head. They are also expected to maintain a consistent record of high-quality academic research and publication, provide service to the department and the profession, and contribute to the intellectual life of the department.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science or a related discipline in hand (or be very near completion), and to provide evidence of the ability to maintain a research agenda and a commitment to excellence in teaching.

To apply, complete an on-line application, including the names and email addresses for three or more references, and upload full curriculum vitae, two writing samples totaling no more than 100 pages, and a cover letter that summarizes candidate's research and teaching qualifications at <https://jobs.uic.edu/job-board>. Questions about the position can be directed to Prof. Christopher Mooney, at cmoon1@uic.edu, the chair of the search committee. The Search Committee will begin reviewing applications on October 11, 2019. For fullest consideration, applications should be completed by that date. The position will remain open until filled.

UIC is a Carnegie Doctoral/Research I institution (Highest Research Activity), located in the heart of the City of Chicago and one of the nation's largest metropolitan areas. It is a comprehensive public university with a diverse student body of more than 30,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students. UIC is federally recognized by the US Department of Education as a Minority Serving Institution (MSI) through its status as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution (AANAPISI).

The University of Illinois at Chicago is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer, dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We strongly encourage applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and covered veterans. The University of Illinois may conduct background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 5899

North Carolina State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, American Politics, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science in North Carolina State University's School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position beginning August 2020. We seek candidates with research and teaching expertise in American judicial politics. The strongest candidates also will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in comparative judicial politics.

Primary teaching responsibilities will be at the undergraduate level in the department's Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in Political Science. Faculty with relevant interests may also teach in the department's Master of International Studies program. Candidates interested in teaching social science methodology should note that interest in their applications.

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or a related field and must demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence, strong research and publication skills, and future research productivity. Applicants who can thrive in, and help foster, a diverse research and learning environment are especially encouraged to apply. Examples of mentorship are welcome as part of the application packet.

The Department of Political Science prides itself on high quality research and teaching. We aim to promote faculty success through close mentoring for junior faculty, supportive departmental research colloquia, and regular support for collaborative research. As a land grant institution, we welcome scholars who seek to engage with contemporary public debates.

NC State is located in Raleigh, N.C., the state capital and heart of the Research Triangle. It is also home to the NC Supreme Court, the NC Appeals Court, and the US District Court for Eastern North Carolina. Raleigh regularly is ranked as one of the nation's best places to live and work. The university is consistently ranked among the top 50 public universities in the country.

The ability to carry out an original research agenda in political science. Strong commitment to excellence in teaching is expected.

Excellent communication skills.

If available, applicants should also attach sample syllabi and teaching evaluations. In addition, applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation and transcripts sent to the Search Committee Chair.

Information requests may be addressed to :

Dr. James Zink, jrzink@ncsu.edu,
Chair, Assistant Professor position, Department of Political Science
Campus Box 8102,
NC State University,
Raleigh, NC 27695-8102.

Teaching experience in Political Science at the college level, and demonstrated evidence of teaching excellence. You may apply at <http://jobs.ncsu.edu/postings/121447>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5892

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Government & Politics

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Government & Politics with a specialization in Political Communication. We are open with respect to theoretical orientation and methodological approaches. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in the American government & politics curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as departmental needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2. Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and scholarly emphasis in American government and politics; evidence of an active research agenda focused on political communication; PhD in Political Science by August 16, 2020; evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting Departmental and institutional values; demonstrated alignment of teaching and/or research with departmental strength in environmental politics and policy; ability to contribute to methods training (quantitative, qualitative, or research design).

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by September 1, 2019. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application outlining teaching interests and research agenda. Please include a brief statement on how your teaching, research and/or service align with the preferred qualifications; 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of published or presented work, and 6) The names and contact information of three professional referees who will be emailed immediately upon submission of an application with a request to submit a letter of reference. Please note that a complete application consists of the requested materials and three letters of reference. Your referees will be emailed a request for a letter of reference immediately upon submission of your application. As such, applicants should allow sufficient time for their letters to be submitted by September 8, 2019 to ensure full consideration. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates, including letters of reference, will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Courtenay Daum (Courtenay.daum@colostate.edu). To apply, please visit: <http://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/69770>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5891

Oberlin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, American Politics

The Oberlin College Politics Department invites applications for a non-continuing position for Spring semester 2020 in American national political institutions (other than the courts). Appointment to this position will be for one semester and will carry the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor depending on the qualifications of the candidate.

The Politics Department has thirteen full-time faculty positions and approximately 120 junior and senior majors. Information about the Department can be found at our web site: <http://www.oberlin.edu/politics/>

We seek candidates with teaching and research interests in America's main national political institutions other than the courts, namely Congress, the Presidency and/or related institutions (e.g., bureaucracy, interest groups). The incumbent will teach three courses in the general area of American politics and American political institutions (other than the courts).

Among the qualifications required for this appointment is the Ph.D. degree in hand or in progress (ABD). Candidates must demonstrate interest and potential excellence in undergraduate teaching. Successful teaching experience at the college level is desirable.

Compensation - Within the range established for this position, salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and includes an excellent benefits package.

To be assured of consideration, a letter of application, which includes a statement of research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, graduate academic transcript, a short writing sample, evidence of teaching experience, and three recent letters of reference should be sent by October 15, 2019. Application materials received after that date may be considered until the position is filled. Salary will depend on qualifications and experience.

To apply, candidates should visit the online application site found at <https://jobs.oberlin.edu/postings/7934>.

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Oberlin College and Conservatory's online application process at: <https://jobs.oberlin.edu/>

*By providing three (3) Professional References (names and email addresses), you agree that we may contact them through our applicant web portal. Reference writers will be asked to submit an electronic Letter of Recommendation on behalf of the applicant. Please note: At this time we are unable to accept Letters of Recommendation from an Interfolio email address.

Finalists will be required to have official graduate academic transcripts submitted to Oberlin College directly by the degree granting institution.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by the October 15th deadline will be guaranteed full consideration.

Address questions about applicant materials to the chair of the search committee, Professor Stephen Crowley scrowley@oberlin.edu

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5654

University of Oregon

Rank: Pro Tem Instructor - Pool

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oregon seeks qualified applicants for its open instructor pool. The pool is for part-time, temporary, limited duration teaching appointments not to exceed one year, but with the possibility of renewal for up to a total of three years.

The department anticipates hiring an instructor with expertise in politics of law. The instructional assignment will include PS 275 Legal Process, which is typically taught as a broad introduction to the politics of law. It could also include PS 484 Supreme Court. The appointment may be for part of the academic year, such as two courses in one term, and could thus begin in January 2020 (starting in Winter term) or April 2020 (Spring term).

The department welcomes applicants with broad expertise in the field to fill additional temporary and emergency instructional needs that may occur throughout the academic year.

Please apply online with a CV, cover letter describing teaching experience, academic transcripts, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations (if available), and three references.

Applications will be accepted on a continuous basis. Screening of applications will take place as positions become available and continue until positions are filled.

Initial application review will begin August 25, 2019.

View full details and apply at careers.uoregon.edu/cw/en-us/job/524365/pro-tem-instructor-open-pool

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5885

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor. We are open to candidates studying a range of policy areas; candidates should demonstrate an active and rigorous research agenda in their chosen policy specialty. The successful candidate will excel in the classroom and seek ways to integrate their scholarship and teaching. Candidates should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses on U.S. public policy. Candidates who can also expand our course offerings in other areas such as public administration, race & ethnic politics, gender & politics, or urban/local politics would be desirable, as would candidates who could teach research methods or specialized courses in data analytics/science. The typical teaching load is three courses per semester, with the possibility of a course release per year for research after the first year through a competitive proposal process. A Ph.D. is preferred, but the College will consider ABDs if the degree will be granted by time of appointment. Applications received by September 13, 2019, will receive full consideration.

The Department of Political Science is a supportive and dynamic community of scholars and students. The Department has seven tenured or tenure-track members and is conducting searches this year for two additional tenure-track positions. Over 180 students major in Political Science, and another 130 major in the interdisciplinary International Studies program. The Department offers minors in public policy and pre-law which draw students from across a wide range of academic disciplines.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a highly selective institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its 6,500 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. The College also offers focused graduate programs in nursing, business, education and English. In 2006, TCNJ was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ's seven schools—Arts & Communication; Business; Education; Humanities & Social Sciences; Science; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Engineering. TCNJ faculty members are teacher-scholars who share a commitment to the liberal arts. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. TCNJ has 39 major buildings, including the 4th-best college library in the nation, according to the Princeton Review.

Applicants should submit the following materials using the online application system at link: <https://chm.tbe.taleo.net/chm03/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=TCNJ&cws=37&rid=1016>. A final offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a background investigation.

- 1) A cover letter describing qualifications and research and teaching interests,
- 2) curriculum vitae,
- 3) one scholarly writing sample,
- 4) evidence of teaching effectiveness,
- 5) a statement on diversity and inclusion detailing how diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their work as teachers, scholars, and mentors, and
- 6) contact information for 3-5 references.

Applicants should also have three referees submit confidential letters of recommendation directly to publicpolicysearch-group@tcnj.edu. Questions about the position can be directed to Daniel Bowen (bowend@tcnj.edu), Public Policy Search Committee Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/13/2019

Date Posted: 7/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5866

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Economic, Racial/Ethnic, and/or Gender Inequality

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position – Advertisement
Department of Political Science at The University of Tennessee

Economic Racial/Ethnic and/or Gender Inequality

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in economic, racial/ethnic, and/or gender inequality, to begin Fall 2020. The position is open with regard to field in Political Science (or related discipline) and methodological approach. We welcome applications from scholars across the discipline who analyze how political actors, processes, institutions, outcomes or individuals are racialized, classed, and/or gendered and/or who take intersectional approaches to understanding these questions. We are particularly interested in applicants with substantive research agendas that grapple with challenging issues of marginalization and exclusion and who exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically motivated research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci-utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66902>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5864

North Central College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at North Central College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in political science with emphasis in public law, judicial politics, law and society, or comparative law to begin Fall 2020. Ph.D. must be in hand by August 1, 2020. Our department is committed to preparing students to contribute meaningfully to a democracy, while at the same time understanding the nuance of political equality and civic participation. We value diversity and are committed to social justice, equity, and inclusiveness. Experience working with historically marginalized and underserved communities will be weighed in a candidate's favor.

Applicants should have teaching experience and show potential for excellence in undergraduate teaching and scholarship. In addition to teaching courses in law (Introduction to Law, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties), a candidate should be prepared to teach the introductory course in American government and contribute to the department's methodology courses. The department expects that the successful candidate will also develop courses in their areas of expertise. There will be additional opportunities for the successful candidate to contribute to North Central's tradition of interdisciplinary learning.

Founded in 1861, North Central College is a selective, comprehensive liberal arts institution of about 3000 students, located 28 miles west of Chicago in Naperville. The College is in a period of growth with the addition of a $60 million Science Center opened in March 2017. The college is within walking distance of the Naperville Metra station and is next to downtown Naperville. The Naperville area is home to many excellent school districts and Naperville, IL has been ranked as one of the best places to live by Money magazine. For more information, please visit: <http://www.noctrl.edu>.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of scholarly interest, evidence of teaching effectiveness and three letters of recommendation in an electronic format.

To apply on line copy and paste link below into browser: <https://northcentralcollege.peopleadmin.com/postings/6584>

For further information, please email Dr. William Muck, Chair of Political Science, at wjmuck@noctrl.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5857

Oklahoma State University

Rank: American Government Coordinator

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University (www.polsci.okstate.edu) invites applications for a tenure track position specializing in American Politics to begin in August 2020. The position is open rank and thus may be at the Assistant, Associate or Full levels, depending on candidate qualifications and experience. Successful candidates will pursue an active scholarly agenda and publish in high-quality outlets. A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is expected at the time of the appointment. Successful candidates will teach Introduction to American Government (POLS 1113) and serve as the American Government Coordinator. Preference will be given to candidates with expertise in political institutions; specifically, the U.S. Congress/state legislatures and political parties and those prepared to teach related courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Successful candidates must have experience teaching Introduction to American Government as the lead instructor of the course. As American Government Coordinator, they will play a central role in the assessment of POLS 1113 learning outcomes and leading initiatives related to POLS 1113 to promote student success and growth in majors. One course reduction will be granted per academic year for performing these administrative duties.

Oklahoma State University is one of the state's two comprehensive research universities with a Stillwater campus population of 23,000 students. The Department offers the following degrees in Political Science: B.S., B.A. and M.A. The teaching load is normally two courses per semester and can include both undergraduate and graduate level courses. Completed applications received by October 1, 2019 will be given full consideration. Applicants are asked to have the following submitted through Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/65893> a letter of application outlining your interest in this position and preparation and vision for serving as American Government Coordinator, research expertise and teaching interests/experience; vitae; graduate transcripts; three letters of recommendation; evidence of successful teaching and scholarship; and short research and teaching statements.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. The department encourages applications from women and minorities. About one third of our undergraduate majors are minorities. Among our tenure-track faculty, 9 percent are from underrepresented racial/ethnic minority groups and 55 percent are female. Oklahoma State University, as an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding non-discrimination and affirmative action. Oklahoma State University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all individuals and does not discriminate based on race, religion, age, sex, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, disability, or veteran status with regard to employment, educational programs and activities, and/or admissions. For more information, visit <https://eeo.okstate.edu>. This position is contingent upon availability of funds.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5824

University of Denver

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow

The Center on American Politics focuses broadly on issues related to modern American political concerns, including representation, democratic engagement, electoral behavior, and the health of governing institutions. The position is open to a broad range of research specialties involving the study of American politics.

Position Summary

The Center on American Politics at the University of Denver invites applicants for a post-doctoral fellow position. The appointment will be for two years beginning September 1, 2020. The post-doctoral fellow will receive a competitive annual stipend and have access to a $10,000 annual research account. The fellow will be expected to participate in several Center events and to give a presentation to faculty and students about the fellow's research efforts.

More information on the Center on American Politics can be found at <http://www.du.edu/americanpolitics/index.html>.

Essential Functions

- Conduct scholarly research on phenomena associated with American politics with an eye toward producing manuscripts publishable in peer reviewed journals or academic presses.
- Interact with other University faculty in areas related to their research.
- Present research at talks and lunches, and attend presentations of other scholars in their research area.

Required Qualifications

- ABD or Ph.D. in political science or related field with research focus related to American politics.

Work Schedule

- To be coordinated with Director of Center on American Politics.

Application Deadline

- Priority will be given to applications received by 5:00 p.m. (MDT) on November 1, 2019, but will consider applications until the position is filled.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through <http://jobs.du.edu/cw/en-us/job/492504/postdoctoral-research-associate-center-on-american-politics> to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted. Once within the job description online, please scroll to the bottom of the page to apply. For questions about this position, please contact Dr. Seth Masket at Seth.Masket@du.edu.

Please include the following documents with your application:

- CV
- Letter of interest describing research agenda
- Sample of written work (e.g., chapter from dissertation or book, peer-reviewed article).
- Inclusive excellence statement (The separate inclusive excellence statement should be a succinct description of how the candidate's research, teaching, and/or service contributes to inclusive excellence and involves effective interaction with members of historically underrepresented communities. See <http://www.du.edu/cme/resources/inclusive-excellence.html> for more details.)
- At least two letters of recommendation.

All offers of employment are based upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5810

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Policy Approaches to Sexual Violence - Cluster Hire

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Criminal Justice, Health Care

The University of Wisconsin-Madison seeks to hire a faculty member with research and teaching interests in policy issues around sexual violence.

The scholar should have expertise in the interplay between social science, policy, and government. This may include scholars who are interested in issues such as rehabilitation and reintegration of sexual violence criminals, disparities in policing and sentencing policies for sexual violence criminals, sexual harassment policy issues in the public sector or workplace, Title IX issues in educational policy, child and adult sex trafficking, or the geopolitics of gender-based violence and sexual violence such as the context of war (and political violence more broadly), migration, refugee experiences, and disaster experiences. Or, this may include scholars who study the policy issues attached to: sexual violence imposed by domestic partners; gender/social inequality and its impact on sexual violence; substance abuse (e.g., alcohol and drug) and sexual violence; sexual violence against sex workers; weapon use and sexual violence; history of child abuse and sexual violence; sexual violence and HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases; the role of physicians in screening for sexual assault; marriage laws and sexual violence; mental health and sexual violence; and the relationship between sexual violence and economic pressure, social norms, inter-generational transmission, forced marriage, or education levels.

Ideally the candidate will be positioned to contribute knowledge to improve laws, or the implementation of laws or policies, to prevent and address sexual violence. Public policy experts could use their expertise in the policymaking process, as well as policy analysis and evaluation to identify "what works" and (what doesn't & "work" within existing sexual violence policies and laws, and then, in the spirit of the Wisconsin Idea, to share these evidence-based solutions with the public, as well as public sector leaders.

This faculty position is part of a faculty cluster search, "Sexual Violence: Connecting Social Science Research with Policy." The cluster defines "Sexual Violence" broadly, and it includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, sex trafficking, violence against sexual minorities, as well as gender-based violence.

Three faculty positions will be hired in the cluster, which will build a world-class, new core of interdisciplinary strength in research to address issues of sexual violence domestically and/or globally-making UW-Madison a research leader in this critical area. The first faculty position [PVL 99483] focuses on "Psychological Aspects of Sexual Violence" (including potentially research on psychological aspects of victimization, psychological factors contributing to perpetration, and/or theory-based development of interventions designed to prevent sexual assault), while the second faculty position [PVL 99523] is around "Societal Aspects of Sexual Violence" (including potentially research on the social causes and consequences of sexual violence, addressing the disproportionate impact of sexual violence in particular communities (e.g., sexual minority groups, people with disabilities) or the geopolitics of sexual violence and trauma. The third faculty position is "Policy Approaches to Sexual Violence," the subject of this search [PVL 99600].

These positions are part of the UW's Cluster Hiring Initiative, designed to foster innovative, outstanding research programs that will stimulate productive interactions among faculty and students in sexual violence research across campus and to expand interdisciplinary research in this area. Further information regarding this initiative can be found at: <https://facstaff.provost.wisc.edu/cluster-hiring-initiative/>

The successful candidate will have a primary appointment at the La Follette School of Public Affairs or another pertinent unit on campus. Tenure home will be determined at the time of hiring. Expectations include a commitment to the important functions of research, instruction, and outreach, as well as professional and university service as appropriate to faculty rank.

Responsibilities include conducting research and teaching at all levels required, with service at the professional and university level.

Teaching will include courses to undergraduate students, as well as graduate students. For example, the teaching load at the La Follette School of Public Affairs in a typical academic year consists of four courses each year. Mentoring graduate students will be required as well.

To apply, go to <http://jobs.wisc.edu> and search for PVL 99600. To begin the application process, please click on the 'Apply Now' button. You will be asked to create a profile and upload a C.V., cover letter, a research statement, a teaching statement, and 2 samples of written work (please upload these 2 samples together). You will also be asked to provide contact information for three (3) references as part of your online application.

The deadline for assuring full consideration is October 15, 2019; however, positions will remain open and applications may be considered until the position is filled.

For full position description, visit <https://jobs.hr.wisc.edu/en-us/job/502079/assistant-professor-public-policy-approaches-to-sexual-violence-cluster-hire>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/23/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5816

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2020. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in American political behavior or representation, including the representation of underrepresented groups. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods and the ability to contribute to graduate training in that area. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2020.

The application deadline is September 15, 2019. A complete application must include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, two writing samples, a research statement, and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://jobs.rice.edu/postings/20611>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/22/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5807

University of Nebraska, Lincoln

Rank: Assistant Professor -- Political Psychology

Assistant Professor – Political Psychology

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position beginning August 2020. We invite applications from individuals with a strong program of research in the area of political psychology, broadly defined.

Minimum required qualifications include: a Ph.D. in political science, psychology, or related field or evidence the degree will be completed by August 2020. Preferred qualifications include: evidence of research agenda focused on political psychology; an active research program with strong potential for producing high impact publications and attracting external grant funding; strong interest in interdisciplinary research and collaboration; and ability to teach American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Standard teaching load is four courses per year. Salary, start-up package, and fringe benefits are competitive.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. To be considered for the position, please go to <http://employment.unl.edu>, requisition F_190108, and click "apply for this job." Candidates should submit a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample through this website (statements and writing sample will need to be combined into one document for submission). Three letters of recommendation should be emailed to jhibbing1@unl.edu or mailed to: Dr. John Hibbing, Chair, Political Psychology Search Committee, Department of Political Science, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Lincoln, NE 68588-0328.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 7/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5808

Rollins College

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Rollins College invites applications for the position of tenure-track Assistant Professor, American Politics, beginning August 2020. We seek a broadly-trained Americanist with particular interests in specialties such as political behavior, political communication/information, voting and elections, methodology, and Latino or minority politics. Ph.D. at time of appointment is preferred, but ABDs will be considered.

The successful candidate will also have a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence in a liberal arts institution. The successful candidate will teach a regular load of three courses per semester, including introduction to American government and one course yearly for our general education program. Among other topics, the department would especially welcome candidates with the ability to teach courses in quantitative methods and elections.

The successful candidate must also be able to contribute to a diverse and inclusive learning and working environment at Rollins. We view differences (e.g. nationality, race, gender, age, sexual orientation, socioeconomic class, physical ability, perspectives) as rich opportunities for understanding, learning, and growth.

Founded in 1885, Rollins is an independent, comprehensive, liberal arts college. The campus, noted for its lakefront beauty and for its unique location, is set in the residential community of Winter Park, just 15 minutes from one of the nation's most dynamic urban centers, Orlando. Rollins enrolls approximately 3,200 students in diverse degree programs at the undergraduate and graduate level. Rollins ranks #1 or #2 annually among 128 Southern master's-level universities in the annual rankings of "America's Best Colleges," released by U.S. News & World Report. For additional information, please visit the College website at www.rollins.edu and the Department of Political Science website at <https://www.rollins.edu/political-science> Special Instructions to Applicants:

To apply, please submit an application at the following location: <https://jobs.rollins.edu/en-us/job/492945/assistant-professor-american-politics> and upload the following materials: Letter of interest, Curriculum vitae, Sample of scholarly writing, Statement of teaching philosophy, Teaching evaluations, if available.

Provide three reference names and email addresses on application. Emails will be sent directly to referees with instructions to upload recommendation letters.

Inquiries should be sent to:

Dexter Boniface, Chair
Department of Political Science
E-mail: dboniface@rollins.edu

Preference will be given to applications received by October 1, 2019, but review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Our Values:

Rollins seeks to foster and to model a campus environment that is welcoming, safe, and inclusive to all of our administrators, faculty, staff, and students. We view differences (e.g. nationality, race, gender, age, sexual orientation, socioeconomic class, physical ability, learning styles, perspectives, etc.) not as obstacles to be overcome but as rich opportunities for understanding, learning, and growth.

Through its mission, Rollins College is firmly committed to creating a just community that embraces multiculturalism; persons from historically under-represented minority groups are therefore encouraged to apply. Rollins does not discriminate on the basis of sex, disability, race, age, religion, color, national or ethnic origin, ancestry, marital status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, physical characteristics, or any other category protected by federal, state, or local law, in its educational programs and activities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5803

CUNY-John Jay College of Criminal Justice

Rank: Lecturer

ABOUT JOHN JAY COLLEGE

John Jay College of Criminal Justice is a senior college of the City University of New York (CUNY) led by President Karol V. Mason and an internationally recognized leader in educating for justice. John Jay is a federally-designated Hispanic-serving institution, it is ranked third in the nation in Black student success, and it is a top ten institution for promoting student social mobility. John Jay is proud to serve a diverse and dynamic student body of 15,000 students that includes nearly fifty percent students who are first in their family to attend college as well as students who are immigrants, from low-income families, or from other historically underrepresented groups.

The College participates in the doctoral programs of the Graduate Center of the City University of New York and offers bachelor's and master's degrees in traditional criminal justice-related fields of study as well as in a robust portfolio of liberal arts and sciences programs that highlight themes of justice across the arts, sciences, humanities, and social sciences. John Jay College seeks staff and faculty members who thrive in multicultural academic environments and are committed to access and excellence in higher education.

POSITION OVERVIEW

Lecturer—American Politics

DUTIES

Performs teaching and related faculty functions in area(s) of expertise. Shares responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions. Position begins in Fall 2020.

The Political Science Department at John Jay College, CUNY seeks an outstanding applicant for a tenure-track equivalent position as a lecturer in American politics beginning in Fall 2020. After seven years, a successful candidate may apply for a certificate of continuous employment, which provides job security privileges similar to tenure.

Applicants must demonstrate that they are qualified to teach our undergraduate introductory American Government and Politics course. The Department seeks applicants with experience teaching this or similar courses and a track record of using innovative methods in undergraduate teaching. The successful applicant will also help coordinate the department's other sections of our introductory American Politics course in an effort to improve teaching methods.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach multiple sections of American Government and Politics each academic year. In addition, the ability to teach our department's foundation courses such as US Congress; US Presidency; Political Parties, Interest Groups and Social Movements; Urban Politics; Introduction to Public Policy; Political Philosophy; Western Political Thought; International Relations; or Comparative Politics are considered a plus.

QUALIFICATIONS

Bachelor's degree in area(s) of expertise, and the ability to teach successfully.

OTHER QUALIFICATIONS

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

A master's degree in political science is required. A Ph.D. in political science is preferred. A track record of teaching excellence is also required. Candidates holding only a J.D. will not be considered.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

Applicants with a Ph.D. in political science or who will have a Ph.D. in political science by Fall 2020 are preferred.

COMPENSATION

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

CUNY offers faculty a competitive compensation and benefits package covering health insurance, pension and retirement benefits, paid parental leave, and savings programs. We also provide mentoring and support for research, scholarship, and publication as part of our commitment to ongoing faculty professional development.

HOW TO APPLY

If you are viewing the job posting on any website other than CUNYfirst, please follow the instructions below:

- Go to www.cuny.edu and click on "Employment";
- Click "Search job listings";
- Search by job Opening ID number 20842
- Click on "more options to search for CUNY jobs";
- Click on the "Apply Now" button and follow the instructions

Candidates should provide a letter of application, a CV/resume, and, in one document, 1) a statement of teaching philosophy; 2) evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness; 3) a representative syllabus for American Government and Politics and 4) a writing sample.

All should be provided electronically through CUNYfirst following the instructions above. In addition, three letters of recommendation should be emailed directly to the Chair of the Political Science Department, Andrew Sidman, at asidman@jjay.cuny.edu. For more information about the position, email the chair of the search committee, Associate Professor Andrew Sidman at asidman@jjay.cuny.edu.

CLOSING DATE

Review of resumes to begin July 30, 2019.

Posting closes on October 1, 2019.

JOB SEARCH CATEGORY

CUNY Job Posting: Faculty

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

AVAILABILITY AT APSA ANNUAL MEETING

We are happy to meet with perspective applicants at the annual meeting of the APSA. We will have a member of the department available:

Thursday from 2:00 to 4:00 PM
Friday from 11:00 AM to 12:00 PM
Saturday from 8:30 to 11:00 AM

Please contact Andrew Sidman (asidman@jjay.cuny.edu) to arrange for an interview.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5795

Georgetown University in Qatar

Rank: Faculty Position in American Political Thought and Government - Assistant Professor

Faculty position in American Political Thought and Government - Assistant Professor

Georgetown University in Qatar invites applications for a core faculty position in American Government at the rank of Assistant Professor. Core faculty positions are full-time positions designed to replicate the institutional commitment to academic freedom and professional opportunities associated with tenure-track and tenured appointments.

We are especially interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in American political thought. The successful candidate will be able to teach the required undergraduate course "Political and Social Thought," as well as undergraduate courses in American Government and a graduate seminar on American politics.

Applicants must demonstrate evidence of an active research agenda and promise of future research productivity, as well as a strong commitment to excellence in teaching.

The teaching load for core faculty is 2-2. Assistant Professors are eligible for one semester of fully-paid Junior Faculty Research Fellowship, typically taken in the third or fourth year of service at GU-Q.

Qatar offers a diverse, safe, and family-friendly environment. Compensation and expatriate benefits packages are extremely competitive. GU-Q provides generous research support and support for conference travel. Faculty members at GU-Q are eligible to apply for Qatar National Priorities Research Program grants from the Qatar National Research Fund for various research opportunities.

For more information on GU-Q, see <https://www.qatar.georgetown.edu>. For a glimpse of what it is like to teach and live in Qatar, see: <https://youtu.be/HNoERrWln4k>.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should provide a cover letter detailing teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, and the names of three scholarly references. All application materials should be emailed to GUQ\_AMGOV@georgetown.edu (note: there is an underscore "_" between GUQ and AMGOV in this email address). Please reference "American Government Search" in the subject line. Faxed applications will not be accepted.

Queries about the position should be directed to Dr. Clyde Wilcox, chairperson of the search committee at: wilcox@georgetown.edu.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/18/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5800

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Syracuse University
 American Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks a tenure-track Assistant Professor in American Politics for a position beginning in Fall 2020. We welcome candidates whose teaching and research focus on political institutions, particularly Congress, among other substantive areas of interest within the field.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests. Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Campbell Public Affairs Institute or one of Maxwell's other interdisciplinary centers (<http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/>).

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field or a credible expectation of completing all requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2020. The Maxwell School is interested in candidates who can contribute to the inclusiveness and diversity of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobops.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by September 15, 2019. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5792

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Politics with expertise in American public law. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law. This candidate will serve as the institution's pre-law faculty advisor and previous experience with applied legal practice/education is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. or J.D. by the time of appointment, although a Ph.D. is preferred. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by September 15, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65555>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5787

Centre College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Quantitative Methods

Centre College invites applications for a Two-Year Visiting Assistant Professor in Politics with expertise in American and comparative political institutions. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college.

Candidates may specialize in either American or comparative politics as their primary field but must have a strong secondary specialization in the other. Ideal candidates should be able to teach courses on U.S. political institutions (Congress, Presidency, state and local politics, e.g.) as well as equivalent global political institutions. This candidate must also be able to teach courses on quantitative data analysis and contribute to the major's political research curricular track. Previous work with applied politics (campaigns, data analytics, journalism, e.g.) and/or a research focus on the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, or sexuality and political institutions is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65567>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky

HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5788

University of Redlands

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics with a focus on Race and Ethnic Politics and Policy. The department encourages applicants from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position, and applicants are required to submit evidence of their strengths and experience in these areas.

The standard six-course load for the position will be distributed across fall and spring semesters and May Term according to the candidate's interests and departmental needs. Primary teaching responsibilities for our undergraduate program include Introduction to American Politics, and courses in race and ethnic politics. The ability to teach Introduction to Public Policy is preferred. Candidates may also offer courses that support various interdisciplinary programs at the university. We welcome teacher-scholars interested in policy areas such as welfare, housing, civil rights, immigration, and urban and regional policy.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in working with students who have diverse cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds to accomplish curricular goals.

The University of Redlands is a private, comprehensive liberal arts institution located 60 miles east of Los Angeles in a suburban town of 70,000. The campus is surrounded by orange groves and sits at the base of the San Bernardino Mountains, approximately 60 miles from the coast and 40 miles west of Palm Springs. Information about the University and its mission and facilities is available at www.redlands.edu.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications received by October 15 are assured consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

POSITION CRITERIA: A Ph.D. in Political Science by September 2020 is preferred. Evidence of success at college teaching and an ability to work in a collaborative, team-based environment are preferred.

INQUIRIES: Candidates may contact the search committee chair, Renée Van Vechten, at renee\_vanvechten@redlands.edu with additional questions or concerns. Members of the department will be available to meet with candidates at the 2019 annual meeting of the American Political Science Association.

TO APPLY: Please submit the following materials using the Academic Jobs Online website at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo>: a cover letter, current CV, evidence of teaching and research excellence, and three letters of reference.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed, please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN. MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY. AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5786

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Washington University in St. Louis seeks candidates for two positions at the Assistant or Associate professor level in the area of American politics to begin Fall 2020 or later.

Duties include research and publication, course teaching, student advising, and department and university service. Diversity and inclusion are core values at Washington University in St. Louis, and the strong candidate will demonstrate the ability to create inclusive classrooms and environments in which a diverse array of students can learn and thrive.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required at the assistant or associate level. In addition, candidates at the associate professor rank must, through research and publication, have made a significant contribution to one or more subfields in Political Science.

This position is in the Department of Political Science. The position is located at Seigle Hall. This position is for the Danforth Campus in the School of Arts & Sciences.

This position is full-time and works approximately 37.5 hours per week.

This position is eligible for full-time benefits. Please click the following link to view a summary of benefits: <https://wustl.box.com/s/8wkhs25yssf0775x9d6nd6vqa7obpth7>

Washington University in St. Louis is committed to the principles and practices of equal employment opportunity and especially encourages applications by those underrepresented in their academic fields. It is the University's policy to recruit, hire, train, and promote persons in all job titles without regard to race, color, age, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, and genetic information.

We will begin reviewing files on August 15 and will continue doing so until the search is concluded. Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, at least three letters of reference, writing samples, and other relevant materials. All applications and supporting documentation should be submitted electronically through the Washington University HR system (<http://hr.wustl.edu/opportunities/Pages/default.aspx>). Candidates should create an account, search job requisition number 44677, complete the application form and upload a CV and supporting materials. Letters of reference can be e-mailed to artsci-pschair@email.wustl.edu. If you encounter difficulties with the application process, please email artsci-pschair@email.wustl.edu for additional instructions. All other questions may be directed to Heather Sloan-Randick at (314) 935-5852.

All external candidates receiving an offer for employment will be required to submit to pre-employment screening for this position. Current employees applying for a new position within the university may be subject to this requirement. The screenings will include a criminal background check and, as applicable for the position, other background checks, drug screen, employment and education or licensure/certification verification, physical examination, certain vaccinations and/or governmental registry checks. All offers are contingent upon successful completion of required screening.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 7/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5774

California State University, San Bernardino

Rank: Assistant Professor, Constitutional Law and American Politics

POSITION: Assistant Professor

START DATE: August 17, 2020

SALARY: Dependent on qualifications and expertise

APPLICATION DEADLINE: November 1, 2019

SUBFIELD: Constitutional Law and American Politics

RANK AND QUALIFICATIONS: Tenure-track Assistant Professor. Candidates must hold Ph.D. at time of employment and demonstrate evidence of teaching and research promise.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

The Department of Political Science at California State University, San Bernardino seeks applicants for a tenure-track position with primary expertise in the fields of Constitutional Law, including civil liberties and civil rights, and American Politics, including political institutions and public policy, to begin August, 2020. A Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. We expect successful candidates for this tenure-track position to teach courses in Constitutional Law and American Politics. The successful candidate will teach a variety of upper-division courses in these and related areas of specialization and also teach lower-division American Government courses. In addition, the candidate may be asked to teach graduate courses. The successful candidate will produce scholarly research and provide service to the university and community.

California State University, San Bernardino (CSUSB) is located in San Bernardino in the Inland Empire, 60 miles east of Los Angeles and operates a satellite campus in Palm Desert located in Coachella

Valley. CSUSB serves approximately 20,000 students, of which 81% are first-generation college students, and graduates about 5,000 students annually. As a designated Hispanic Serving Institution, CSUSB reflects the dynamic diversity of the region and has one of the most diverse student populations of any university in the Inland Empire, and the second highest Hispanic enrollment of all public universities in California. CSUSB employs 467 full-time faculty and offers 48 undergraduate, 35 graduate, and 1 doctoral degree programs and 14 academic programs with national accreditation.

At CSUSB, diversity, equity and inclusion are values central to our mission. We recognize that diversity and inclusion in all its forms are necessary for our institutional success. By fully leveraging our diverse experiences, backgrounds and insights, we inspire innovation, challenge the status quo and create better outcomes for our students and community. As part of CSUSB's commitment to hire, develop and retain a diverse faculty, we offer a variety of networking, mentoring and development programs for our junior faculty. We are committed to building and sustaining a CSUSB community that is supportive and inclusive of all individuals. Qualified applicants with experience in ethnically diverse settings and/or who demonstrate a commitment to serving diverse student populations are strongly encouraged to apply.

TYPICAL ACTIVITIES:

Preferred candidates will be expected to meet the traditional requirements of excellence in teaching, active scholarly and professional work, and service to the university and community.

Qualified candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching and mentoring a diverse student population and to working effectively with faculty, staff and students across a wide range of disciplines.

In addition, new faculty are encouraged to develop and participate in activities that support the University's strategic plan. This plan emphasizes: a) student success; b) faculty and staff success; c) stewarding resources; d) community engagement and partnerships; and, e) enhancing campus identity. CSUSB's Strategic Plan is available at <https://www.csusb.edu/strategic-plan>.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required by time of appointment.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:

To assure full consideration, application materials are due by November 1, 2019.

To apply please submit the following required documents:

- 1) Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of application that includes:
  - a. A statement of your teaching philosophy.
  - b. A statement of your research experience and goals.
  - c. A statement of how you might contribute to CSUSB's Strategic Plan areas.
- 3) Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as teaching portfolios, reports on teaching observations, and/or student evaluations of teaching (if available).

4) Unofficial copies of all postsecondary degree transcripts (official transcripts will be required prior to appointment).

5) Reference List - names, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three referees whom we may contact to obtain letters of recommendation.

6) A Diversity Statement, which may include your interpretation of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and must include specific examples of how your background and your educational and/or professional experiences have prepared you for this role at California State University, San Bernardino (maximum 1,000 words).

Formal review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Information regarding CSUSB's Department of Political Science can be found at <https://csbs.csusb.edu/political-science>. If you are interested in this opportunity, we invite you to apply at: <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/csusb/jobs/2495455>.

Salary is commensurate with experience.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

California State University, San Bernardino is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status. This position adheres to CSU policies against Sex Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Violence, including Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, and Stalking. This requires completion of Sexual Violence Prevention Training within 6 months of assuming employment and on a two-year basis thereafter. (Executive Order 1096 - Revised July 21, 2017)

This position may be "Designated" under California State University's Conflict of Interest Code. This would require the filing of a Statement of Economic Interest on an annual basis and the completion of training within 6 months of assuming office and every 2 years thereafter. Visit the Human Resources Conflict of Interest web page link for additional information: <http://hrd.csusb.edu/conflictInterest.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5763

Emory University

Rank: Assistant Professor - American Politics

Assistant Professor – American Politics
Department of Political Science
Emory University
Atlanta, GA

The Department of Political Science at Emory University invites applications for a tenure track position in American politics, to begin in the fall semester 2020. The position is at the level of Assistant Professor.

Applicants must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in both research and teaching. A complete application will include the following materials: a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future research, writing sample, teaching portfolio, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, and a diversity statement. Emory University is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. In the diversity statement, applicants should reflect upon their experience and vision regarding the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds. Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. or be on track to complete a Ph.D. prior to September 2020. The teaching load and benefits are competitive. Application review will begin on August 19, 2019. Applications received up to 30 days after review begins will be given full consideration.

To apply for this position, please submit your materials free of charge through Interfolio by visiting <https://apply.interfolio.com/65216>

Emory University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. Women, minorities, persons with disabilities and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 8/19/2019
Date Posted: 7/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5761

University of Missouri, St. Louis

Rank: Nonprofit Management and American Politics

The University of Missouri-St. Louis invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level with expertise in the areas of Nonprofit Management & Leadership and in American Politics. The ability to teach a graduate course in quantitative methods is desirable. The person filling this position will have an appointment in the Political Science department and the NASPAA-accredited Public Policy Administration program within Political Science. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Nonprofit Management, Public Administration, Political Science, or a closely related field by the date of the appointment, August 15, 2020.

We seek an active scholar oriented to research and publication, high-quality teaching and community engagement. The department is also interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests respect and integrate a variety of methodological approaches. The normal teaching load, assuming an active research agenda, is two courses per semester. Salary is competitive.

The Department of Political Science

The mission of the Department of Political Science is to promote greater understanding of politics, government, and public policy by creating new knowledge, bringing new perspectives to existing knowledge, and disseminating scholarship to students and to the regional, national, and global communities. We offer a BA, an MA and a PhD in Political Science, a BA in International Relations, and a BS and a Master's in Public Policy Administration. Our department has a special responsibility to anchor our community with objective knowledge, civility, empathy, and democratic engagement; faculty work with UMSL's Community Innovation and Action Center and with community organizations.

The department maintains a high, steady level of quality publication of peer reviewed books, articles and chapters. The UMSL Political Science faculty rank about in the top ten percent of faculty in peer departments in all Public and Carnegie R-2 universities. The department also emphasizes first-rate teaching, and faculty have received numerous teaching awards. UMSL Political Scientists are very active, very visible representatives of the campus who are actively engaged in our community. The department's long-standing commitment to inclusion is reflected in the diversity of its faculty, students, and curriculum.

The University of Missouri–St. Louis

Established in 1963 in suburban St. Louis, UMSL is the largest public university in eastern Missouri with a current enrollment of over 16,000 in day and evening sessions. This metropolitan research and teaching institution is consistently recognized for its strong programs across disciplines, and it is considered a primary driver of the St. Louis economy, providing industries with educated and capable employees and leaders. UMSL is committed to meeting the diverse needs in the state's largest metropolitan community and, accordingly, is educating traditional and nontraditional students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs so they are prepared to be leaders in health professions; liberal and fine arts; science and technology; and in metropolitan and international affairs such as business, education and public policy. UMSL is a leader in partnerships with key institutions in the St. Louis Region. Alliances and programs have resulted from collaborations with the Missouri Botanical Garden, Saint Louis Zoo, St. Louis Science Center, Danforth Plant Science Center, and many others.

UMSL is one of four institutions in the University of Missouri land-grant system and is classified as RU-H (high research activity) and as a Community Engaged Campus by Carnegie rankings. Both the campus and the College of Arts and Science are committed to an inclusive campus community that values and respects all its members and achieves educational excellence through diversity. We encourage applications from individuals from diverse and minority backgrounds, including individuals with disabilities and veterans. For further information about UMSL, please see: <http://www.umsl.edu/proud/index.html>.

The Search Process

Applicants must apply online at www.umsl.jobs and submit a cover letter outlining qualifications and interests, and a CV. Applicants also should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be sent to David Robertson, Chair, Department of Political Science, One University Blvd., St. Louis, MO, 63121. Review of applications will begin on October 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Anticipated start date is August 15, 2020. Inquiries and nominations for the position can be sent to David Robertson (daverobertson@ umsl.edu). The University of Missouri-St. Louis is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5757

Boston College

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Politics: Religion and Politics

Description

The Department of Political Science at Boston College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position, beginning in advance of the fall 2020 semester, with a focus on religion and politics in America. We are open to a variety of approaches to the ways that religion and politics intersect – for example, constitutional issues, historical approaches, public policy concerns, the role of religion in structuring political and partisan conflicts, and the impact of religious commitments on the attitudes and behaviors of citizens. Applicants should have completed the PhD or be very near to finishing. Rank will be Assistant Professor or Instructor, depending upon degree status. Interested candidates should send a letter of introduction, curriculum vitae, confidential letters of recommendation, graduate transcript, and writing sample to <http://apply.interfolio.com/65078>. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be uploaded to Interfolio by the individual letter writers. Applications must be received by October 1, 2019. Applications must be submitted online. No email applications or U.S.P.S. applications will be accepted.

Boston College conducts background checks as part of the hiring process.

Boston College is a Jesuit, Catholic university that strives to integrate research excellence with a foundational commitment to formative liberal arts education. We encourage applications from candidates who are committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic community. Boston College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of any legally protected category including disability and protected veteran status. To learn more about how BC supports diversity and inclusion throughout the university, please visit the Office for Institutional Diversity at <http://www.bc.edu/offices/diversity>.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5746

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Behavior

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an Assistant Professor who specializes in Political Behavior beginning in the Fall of 2020. Research interests may include public opinion, voting behavior, political psychology, political participation, or political communication and candidates who brings a race or gender lens to their analysis would be especially welcome. The regular teaching load for this position includes two sections of our introductory methods class as well as a seminar in advanced methods. LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Follow the link to apply: <http://jobs.lmu.edu/postings/40243>

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks qualified applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer. Women, persons of color, LGBTQ and gender-nonconforming individuals, people living with disabilities, and others with diverse life experiences and beliefs are encouraged to apply. (Visit www.lmu.edu for more information.)

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<http://jobs.lmu.edu>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; and 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and, if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. A minimum of three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLSjobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLSjobs@lmu.edu. The deadline for applications is September 15th. A PhD is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2020 will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5750

University of Georgia

Rank: Philip H. Alston, Jr. Distinguished Chair

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for the Philip H. Alston Jr. Distinguished Chair in any substantive area of American politics, methodology, or theory. The start date is slated for August 2020.

Duties include teaching and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate student levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets. Salary is appropriate for an esteemed chaired position. The appointment also includes a substantial endowment for research and development.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or allied field is required. A distinguished record of academic scholarship and of grant-supported research and a standing in political science and the social sciences commensurate with a distinguished university professorship are expected. Leadership roles in the discipline, whether within a university or in the discipline broadly construed, are preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and a list of the names of at least five references. References will only be contacted if a candidate reaches the short list. Materials should be submitted to the UGA job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/99240>.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities, and is conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia (UGA), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<http://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,600 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 36,000 students, including over 27,500 undergraduates and over 8,500 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 17 schools and colleges as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5739

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning in the fall semester of 2020. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. We seek candidates whose scholarly and teaching interests include race and ethnic politics in the U.S. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in American politics, a course in race and ethnic politics, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other American politics courses in the candidate's areas of specialization.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in American politics, but ABD candidates will also be considered with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be completed before the beginning of the second year.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to: Professor Scott Meinke at smeinke@bucknell.edu. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2019.

Candidates who wish to meet for an optional preliminary interview at APSA should email a CV to smeinke@bucknell.edu by August 14 and indicate their expected availability during the conference.

About Bucknell

Founded in 1846 and located along the banks of the Susquehanna River in historic Lewisburg, Pa., Bucknell University is an undergraduate-focused institution that stands uniquely at the intersection of top-ranked liberal arts, engineering and management programs. Our students choose from more than 50 majors and 60 minors in the arts, engineering, humanities, management, and natural and social sciences, as well as extensive global study, service-learning and research opportunities. Bucknell's 3,600 undergraduate and 100 graduate students enjoy a low 9:1 student-faculty ratio and exceptional opportunities to collaborate with faculty mentors.

Bucknell's beautiful 450-acre campus includes first-rate facilities and is home to more than 90 percent of its students. Residential life is vibrant with about 150 student-run organizations, 27 NCAA Division I athletic teams, a robust arts culture, and a strong student commitment to community and global service work.

Bucknell is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, marital status, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from historically underrepresented groups to apply.

The Community

Located in central Pennsylvania, Lewisburg features a variety of restaurants, beautiful Victorian homes, the restored art deco Campus Theatre (owned by the University), charming shops and boutiques, and the Barnes and Noble at Bucknell University Bookstore. About 33,000 residents live in the region.

The city of Williamsport is about a 30-minute drive from campus, and Penn State University's main campus is about an hour away, as is Harrisburg, Pennsylvania's state capital. Bucknell is about three hours from New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

The cost of living here is low compared to that of major U.S. cities and suburbs. Bucknell's surroundings yield fresh produce, cultural activities and events, and many opportunities for outdoor activity on the Susquehanna River and in the nearby state parks and forests. The Lewisburg Area School District receives excellent reviews for its schools at all grade levels. Lewisburg Area High School is consistently ranked among the top 50 high schools in Pennsylvania for SAT scores and statewide exams.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5740

American University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Position Announcement

Assistant/Associate Professor
Department of Government
School of Public Affairs
American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position as the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in American Politics beginning August 1, 2020. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completed by August 2020. Successful candidates will have strong methodological skills. The department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests extend beyond American politics to comparative politics or methodology and who will further the department's goals of producing high impact research, providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching, and contributing to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/64438>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and statement of research interests. Applicants at the rank of Assistant Professor should include three letters of recommendation and Associate Professor faculty candidates should include a list of three references. Please email govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5735

University of Georgia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Methodology and American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for two tenure-track assistant professors in Methodology and American Politics, starting August 2020. The candidates' research interests can be from any area of American Politics. Duties include teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets.

Minimum Qualifications:

Candidates should have PhD or an earned doctorate by Fall 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The successful candidate will possess strong quantitative skills, clear substantive interest in American politics, and an eagerness to teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship is preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form) to the UGA job site at <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/98323>.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications received September 27th, 2019 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Contact:
Wendi Finch

Email:
wendif@uga.edu

Phone:
706-542-2057

Fax:
706-542-4421

Address:
180 Baldwin Hall
Athens GA, 30602-1615

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/27/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5721

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5715

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, with a particular focus on the African-American political experience, beginning July 1, 2020. Amherst College is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff. Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed with respect to its student body. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 10 percent of our students are international students. We expect the successful candidate to excel at teaching and mentoring students who are diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates' scholarship should examine racial politics in the U.S. and can focus on social movements, civil society, elections, civil rights, voter suppression, religion, the racial policies and constituencies of political parties, the relationship between racial and ethnic identity, and racial stratification in urban and local politics.

We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialties and in directing undergraduate research projects. The successful candidate must have a Ph. D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/64697> a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter.) Review of applications will begin on Monday, October 7, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/25/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5710

Pomona College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Pomona College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in the politics of the United States, with a focus on questions of race and ethnicity. Our department has a broad understanding of the field of political science and encourages applications from a variety of approaches, methodologies and perspectives.

Pomona is a top-ten liberal arts college with a diverse and outstanding student body of approximately 1,550 students. The College maintains a student-to-faculty ratio of eight to one and is strongly committed to small-scale residential education. Accordingly, the department values excellent teaching. Faculty at Pomona teach two courses a semester, including introductory courses (in this case, at least one section of &quot;Introduction to American Politics&quot; annually). College faculty are expected to maintain an active scholarship and service profile. The College offers many forms of support for scholarship, including a full-year, pre-tenure research leave.

Pomona has a need-blind, no-loan admission policy and values equal access to higher education. The successful candidate will have experience working with students from diverse backgrounds and a demonstrated commitment to improving access to and success in higher education for underrepresented students.

Founded in 1887, Pomona College is the founding member of the Claremont Colleges, a unique constellation of five small undergraduate colleges and two graduate institutions located in southern California near the foothills of the San Gabriel mountains, about 35 miles east of Los Angeles. Students of the Claremont Colleges can cross-register for courses at any of the colleges, and faculty and staff across the colleges often collaborate.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted by October 1, 2019. To apply, please submit to Academic Jobs Online: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) graduate school transcripts; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness; 6) three sample syllabi; 7) a research statement; 8) written samples of your research; 9) a statement addressing your demonstrated ability to mentor a diverse student body, and 10) three letters of recommendation. Alternatively, hard copies of the same materials may be sent to: Susan McWilliams Barndt, Chair, Pomona College Politics Department, 425 North College Avenue, Claremont, CA. 91711. For more information, contact susan.mcwilliams@pomona.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 6/19/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5699

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Behavior and Quantitative Methods, as well as the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2020. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time faculty members, approximately 150 undergraduate majors and master's programs in both Public Administration and Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. George Connor, Head
 Department of Political Science
 Missouri State University
 901 S. National Ave.
 Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins October 7, 2019 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/11/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 5678

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

Merrimack College

Rank: Lecturer, Political Science

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, United States

Merrimack College invites applications for a one-year, non-tenure track position as Lecturer of Political Science with the possibility of renewal beginning in Fall 2019. Teaching load is four courses per semester total. The position involves the unique component of teaching two introductory level American Politics courses per semester to selected high school students from the Abbott Lawrence Academy on Merrimack's campus. Abbott Lawrence Academy is a public school with an entrance exam in Lawrence, Massachusetts that provides a high quality, rigorous, college preparatory education. You can find more information about the program at: <https://www.lawrence.k12.ma.us/index.php/ala-about>. The Lecturer position also involves a regular presence on the Abbott Lawrence Academy campus. In addition to the two courses per semester with Abbott Lawrence Academy, the successful candidate will also teach two courses per semester to Merrimack College students: our introductory level American Politics course and a course on Massachusetts State and Local Government. There is the possibility of teaching additional upper level American Politics courses upon successful renewal.

Qualifications: PhD is required at time of appointment.

Merrimack College seeks to nourish and sustain our five core values of leadership, community, awareness, scholarship, and service. The College is committed to building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from members of underrepresented groups. All candidates are encouraged to describe in their application previous activities or interest in building a culture committed to diversity and inclusive excellence, as well as how they will engage in fostering a culture that values diversity and inclusive excellence at Merrimack College.

Review of applications will begin on May 21 and will continue until position is filled.

To Apply: Interested applicants should apply online through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13633>. Application materials should include: a letter of interest, C.V., evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation.

About Merrimack: The only Catholic, Augustinian college in New England, Merrimack College is an independent, coeducational institution with more than 4,200 undergraduates and graduate students from 34 states and 36 countries, and comprises schools of liberal arts, science and engineering, health sciences, education and social policy, and business. The college's 220-acre campus is approximately 25 miles north of Boston in North Andover and Andover, Mass. Merrimack is a Master's Colleges & Universities/Medium Programs institution in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. Merrimack recently placed 21st in the nation for "Colleges That Add the Most Value" in Money's special Best Colleges report and was ranked as one of the top 10 colleges in the northern United States for the fourth year in a row — and the only regional college judged "up and coming" by higher education leadership in the northern United States, according to U.S. News.

This position is subject to the successful completion of a criminal background check.

Merrimack College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 4/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5616

University of Hawaii, Hilo

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science and Administration of Justice

The Department of Political Science and Administration of Justice at University of Hawaii at Hilo invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Criminal Justice/American Politics, to begin on August 1, 2019. Ph.D. in Political Science in hand from an accredited college or university is required at the time of appointment. The successful candidate will be able to teach Intro to American Politics, Intro to Administration of Justice, Criminal Justice, Criminal Law and Procedure, Criminology, Research Methodology, Capstone Seminar in Administration of Justice, and other upper division American politics courses contributing to the Administration of Justice Major. Experience teaching distance learning courses desired. Deadline for application is March 8, 2019. For a complete description, application instructions and to submit an application, please visit <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/hawaiiedu> and search for position number 82352. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Failure to submit all required documents shall deem an application to be incomplete. Note: If you have not applied for a position before using NEOGOV, you will need to create an account.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 3/8/2019
Date Posted: 1/31/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5395

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Position (International Political Economy)
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations
Specializations: Political Economy, Research Methods, East Asia
 Faculty Position (International Political Economy) - Job ID: 4879

The Division of Social Science at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to hire a faculty member in International Political Economy. The position is open in rank (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor), but preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to East Asia and demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology.

Applicants should have a PhD degree.

Salary is highly competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Application Procedure

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample publication, and three letters of reference to the attention of: Search and Appointments Committee Chair, Division of Social Science, HKUST, Clear Water Bay, Hong Kong by email to sosearch@ust.hk. Review of applications will start on 1 December 2019 and the search will continue until the position is filled. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and has a range of family-friendly policies in place.

(Information provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes.)

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7248

John Cabot University

Rank: Full-time tenure track faculty position in Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other
Specializations: Africa, Environmental Policy, Electoral Behavior

Full-time tenure track faculty position in Comparative Politics

John Cabot University, an accredited American liberal arts university in Rome, Italy, offering four-year degree programs, invites applications for an open-rank (assistant or associate) full-time tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics. The initial appointment is for two years with the possibility of tenure. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction. We seek candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service and program development. The ideal candidate should have familiarity and experience with the American liberal arts educational tradition.

All candidates with a strong grounding in comparative politics are welcome to apply. Special consideration will be given to candidates with expertise in teaching advanced research methodology; elections, public opinion and voting behavior; environmental politics; and gender studies. There is no regional specialization for the position, but a focus on Africa, Latin America or Europe would also be welcome. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate level courses with a load of three courses per semester as well as be an active member of the university community. Ability to teach graduate level courses is an asset.

Applications should include 1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest and fit for teaching at an American liberal arts college in Rome; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching and research interests; and 4) evidence of teaching excellence. Materials should be sent as a single pdf file to: CompPolSearch@johncabot.edu. Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the same email address.

The deadline to submit applications is November 1, 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to start in the fall semester of 2020. Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

John Cabot University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic or national origin, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or disability in any of its policies, programs, and services.

Information about JCU can be found at: <http://www.johncabot.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/27/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 6238

John Cabot University

Rank: Full-time tenure track faculty position in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Political Economy, International Security, Environmental Policy

Full-time tenure track faculty position in International Relations

John Cabot University, an accredited American liberal arts university in Rome, Italy, offering four-year degree programs, invites applications for an open-rank (assistant or associate) full-time tenure-track faculty position in International Relations. The initial appointment is for two years with the possibility of tenure. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction.

Preference will be given to candidates with a second field in American or Comparative Politics. We seek applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service and program development.

Special consideration will be given to candidates with expertise in international political economy, international development, public policy or international security (including non-traditional security areas such as food security, cyber security or the environment). Teaching experience with quantitative research methodology would be welcome. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate level courses with a load of three courses per semester as well as be an active member of the university community. The ideal candidate should have familiarity and experience with the American liberal arts educational tradition. Ability to teach graduate level courses is an asset.

Applications should include 1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest and fit for teaching at an American liberal arts college in Rome; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching and research interests; and 4) evidence of teaching excellence. Materials should be sent as a single pdf file to: politicalSciSearch@johncabot.edu. Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the same email address.

The deadline to submit applications is November 1, 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to start in the fall semester of 2020. Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

John Cabot University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic or national origin, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or disability in any of its policies, programs, and services.

Information about JCU can be found at: <http://www.johncabot.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7238

University of Oxford

Rank: Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: International Security, State Politics, Conflict Processes

Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence)
Blavatnik School of Government, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter in association with Kellogg College, Oxford
Grade 36S: £48,114 - £64,605 p.a.

The Blavatnik School of Government seeks applications for an Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence). This is a full-time position based at Blavatnik School of Government, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter, Woodstock Road, Oxford. The post will be held in association with a non-tutorial fellowship at Kellogg College situated on Banbury Road, Oxford.

The school aspires to be one of the world's leading academic institutions for research, teaching, and public leadership development which improves government. This Associate Professorship will bring to the school an academic with an emerging global reputation for excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement in the area of political violence and security. We are seeking an academic whose work advances understanding and practice of issues related to security, whether in civil or international contexts. We are interested in someone who works at the nexus of security and state capacities – research into the logics of civil conflict, the challenge of violence in post-conflict societies, and the character of police and security sector reforms would all fit within this description, as would others.

The appointment will be made in association with a non-tutorial fellowship at Kellogg College, where the Fellow is expected to take part in the administration and governance of the College by participation in the Governing Body and other committees. The Official Fellow will be entitled to the rights of Common Table which comprise free lunches and Guest Night Dinners; a pensionable academic allowance of £732 p.a., an advisor's allowance of £644 p.a., and a library allowance of £200 p.a. Additionally, an allowance of £2,754 p.a. would be payable upon award of the Full Professor title.

The successful candidate should have a doctorate in a relevant discipline, such as international relations, politics, public policy or a closely related field; a track record of internationally excellent articles in highly ranked, peer-reviewed academic journals, commensurate with the candidate's career stage; an outstanding programme of applied research in the field of security; the ability and willingness to teach, supervise, and assess high-achieving and challenging graduate students from diverse cultural backgrounds; the ability and willingness to develop and teach upon short courses for senior practitioners from diverse cultural backgrounds; and a commitment to outstanding and innovative teaching.

The appointee will be required to engage in original, world-class applied research on public policy; to secure research funding and successfully complete research projects on public policy; to disseminate research through publication in highly ranked, peer-reviewed academic journals. You will also contribute to the development and delivery of the Master of Public Policy (MPP); give lectures, classes and tutorials; supervise master and doctoral students in the school; and contribute as appropriate to the school's programme of short courses for senior leaders and policymakers.

Further information (including details about how to apply) is included in the further particulars here: <https://www.bsg.ox.ac.uk/jobs/associate-professorship-security-state-violence>

If you have any questions, please contact Brooke Martin-Garbutt, HR Manager using the email address below.

The successful candidate would be expected to join by 1 July 2020 or soon thereafter.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 21 October 2019. We aim to hold interviews at the school from Monday 25 November 2019.

Applications are particularly welcome from women and black and minority ethnic candidates, who are under-represented in academic posts in Oxford.

Contact Person : Brooke Martin-Garbutt

Vacancy ID : 142794

Contact Phone : 01865 614340

Closing Date : 21-Oct-2019

Contact Email : brooke.martin-garbutt@bsg.ox.ac.uk

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7239

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor: Global Urban Inequalities

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor: Global Urban Inequalities

Department of City and Regional Planning

College of Environmental Design

University of California, Berkeley

The Department of City and Regional Planning (DCRP), together with the Global Metropolitan Studies program (GMS) at the University of California, Berkeley, seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Global Urban Inequalities at the rank of Assistant Professor with an expected start date of July 1, 2020. Candidates must have the vision and drive to chart new intellectual territory, be committed to developing new initiatives and multidisciplinary collaborations, attract externally-funded research, and demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence. Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Berkeley and the Department of City and Regional Planning. Successful candidates for our faculty position will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity and inclusion. For more information about DCRP, see <http://dcrp.ced.berkeley.edu>.

Segregation, inequality, poverty, and the lack of adequate shelter and basic infrastructural services are enormous challenges confronting urban planners everywhere. In the Global South, these challenges acquire particular characteristics, as many cities are built by poor residents in significant ways and planning typically acts after the fact, re-urbanizing or upgrading what has been improvised before. DCRP and GMS seek a scholar whose research addresses these challenges in an international context. The ideal candidate would bridge theory, research and praxis to reveal the complexities of urbanization and development issues related to global poverty and inequality, the intensification of urban land and resource use, socio-environmental challenges, political economy, or the changing face of socio-political movements. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work focuses on the transformation of cities in the Global South, who examine the social forces, institutions, and power relations that mediate or exacerbate urban inequalities, and whose critical research supports more democratic, socially just, and sustainable forms of urbanization.

The research focus of this scholar could span any number of areas, including: urban political conflicts; public participation and democratic processes in cities; inequalities in infrastructure provision; land use and law; poverty and informality; population, migration, settlement, and displacement; emergent social movements; inequality and gender dynamics; and recasting urban theory and practice from the perspective of the Global South.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, go to: <https://apptrkr.com/1604495>

Application deadline is Wednesday, October 30, 2019.

Queries may be directed to the search committee chair at dcrp.cal@berkeley.edu with "Global Urban Inequalities" in the subject line.

The University of California is an AA/EEO Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/30/2019

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6229

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Adviser

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for one full-time non-tenure stream position as Lecturer and Academic Adviser. The appointment requires a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and prior teaching experience. The successful candidate is expected to serve as the advisor for a third of the undergraduate majors in the department and to teach four undergraduate courses per year, including one section per semester of Introduction to Global Studies, which the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., in political theory, comparative politics, or international relations). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in nonwestern or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc that complement our existing political theory courses. In addition, the successful candidate will be responsible for supporting Departmental curriculum and programming, outside-the-classroom learning, etc.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and ability to teach the Introduction to Global Studies course. Successful candidates are expected to engage in teaching and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio (statement of philosophy, list of courses, sample syllabi and materials, etc), writing sample(s), teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjc2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by January 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6224

University of Alabama at Birmingham

Rank: Assistant Professor- International Relations and/or Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics, starting August 2020. While the search is open to all subfields, we are particularly interested in candidates who specialize in the area of human rights. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or completed Ph.D. in-hand by August 2020), a promising research agenda, a commitment to quality instruction, and a capacity to work collaboratively to achieve the department's vision and strategic goals.

The Department offers a B.A. in Political Science as well as a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration (MPA) degree, and plays a key role in servicing and developing programs in International Studies, Pre-Law, Women's and Gender Studies, and Human Rights. Currently the department has approximately 95 Political Science and 70 International Studies undergraduate majors, 80 Public Administration graduate students, and 11 full-time faculty members, with anticipated growth in the next few years. See the departmental website for more information (<https://www.uab.edu/cas/pspa/>).

With over 22,000 students and 2,200 full-time faculty members, UAB ranks in the top 15 public universities for federal research funding and is the major teaching-research university in the state. UAB ranks in the top ten nationally for student diversity, with over one hundred countries represented on campus. Birmingham is the largest city in Alabama and offers a vibrant cultural community with a wide array of recreational opportunities.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, statements on research and teaching interests, and a list of three references. Applicants will apply at: <http://uab.peopleadmin.com/postings/5510>. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Tina Reuter, Search Committee Chair, at tkreuter@uab.edu.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or completed Ph.D. in-hand by August 2020). Teaching and research specialization in international relations and/or comparative politics. Research and teaching expertise in human rights.

UAB is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to fostering a diverse, equitable and family-friendly environment in which all faculty and staff can excel and achieve work/life balance irrespective of, race, national origin, age, genetic or family medical history, gender, faith, gender identity and expression as well as sexual orientation. UAB also encourages applications from individuals with disabilities and veterans. A pre-employment background check investigation is performed on candidates selected for employment.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6220

Seoul National University

Rank: Tenure Track in International Relations or Comparative Politics/Area Studies

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Seoul National University is searching for a tenure track position in either International Relations or Comparative Politics/Area Studies. The position is for foreign nationals (non-Korean citizens) and open to all ranks.

We are particularly interested in a candidate specialized in Europe, Middle East, or Asia with excellent research capacity and strong commitment to teaching. Candidate with other interests are also welcomed to apply.

The expected starting date is Spring 2020. Upon employment, the individual will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in English. Teaching load is one class per semester for the first year, and regular teaching load is two per semester thereafter. Housing subsidy will be available.

Please submit your application to the following application website. The application due date is October 22, 2019, 17:00.(Korea Time)

<https://professor.snu.ac.kr/>

How to Apply:

1) Follow the link below

<https://professor.snu.ac.kr/>

2) Click on the English tab at the upper right corner

3) Find the 'Job Openings & Notice' posting, 'College of Social Sciences, 2nd Announcement of Faculty Openings, 2019'

4) Apply online.

* For more detailed instructions, please refer to the attachment.

* Salary: University Scale

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 10/22/2019

Date Posted: 9/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6214

Watson Institute, Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, to be taken within a three-year period, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from across the social sciences on issues that can be understood in a comparative global context. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. As full members of the Watson Institute's scholarly community, fellows are required to be in residence during the academic year. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for conference-related travel, research expenses, and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2020, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 16, 2019, to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/67272>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits.
- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on October 16; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2020.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact:

Professor J. Nicholas Ziegler, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. J\_Ziegler@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson\_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues.

Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 10/16/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6206

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Lecturer Pool - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Lecturer Pool - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Job #JPF02254

College of Letters & Science - Social Sciences - Political Science

RECRUITMENT PERIOD

Open date: September 14th, 2019

Next review date: Thursday, Oct 31, 2019 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Friday, Sep 11, 2020 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Applications will continue to be accepted until this date, but those received after the review date will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

DESCRIPTION

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a pool of qualified temporary lecturers to teach courses as needed in the areas of American Politics, California Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology & Formal Theory, Political Theory & Philosophy, Models & Politics, Political Behavior, Public Law & Jurisprudence, and Public Policy & Organization.

The number of positions varies from semester to semester, depending on the needs of the department. Positions may range from 33% to 100%, depending on the number of classes being taught.

Appointments typically start at the beginning of the semester and may be renewed based on need, funding, and performance.

General Duties: In addition to teaching responsibilities, general duties include holding office hours, assigning grades, advising students, preparing course materials (e.g. syllabus), and maintaining a course website.

Basic Qualifications: Bachelor's degree (or equivalent international degree) is required at the time of application.

Preferred Qualifications: Completion of all Ph.D. (or equivalent) degree requirements except dissertation at the time of application or, full-time paid political experience of at least 4 years within the last 10 years.

Salary: Initial salary will be based on applicant's teaching experience. The current minimum salary for an academic-year full-time annual salary is $56,381. Lecturers teaching one course in a single semester are typically appointed at a 17% annual rate.

The department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching. UC Berkeley has a number of policies and programs in place to support employees as they balance work and family.

To apply, please go to the following link:
<https://apptrkr.com/1612845>

Letters of reference may be solicited for finalists.

When and if the department contacts references, all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/evalltr.html>) prior to submitting their letters.

The department typically reviews applications for fall course needs in April/May, for spring course needs in October/November, and for summer course needs in February/March. Summer session classes are held during the months of May-August.

Please note: The use of a lecturer pool does not guarantee that an open position exists. See the review date specified in AP Recruit to learn whether the department is currently reviewing applications for a specific position. If there is no future review date specified, your application may not be considered at this time.

Please direct questions to Kristine Nera at knera@berkeley.edu

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

REQUIREMENTS

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).
- Statement of Teaching (Optional)
- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness - i.e. past course syllabi, teaching evaluations, etc.
(Optional)

Reference requirements

- 0-5 required (contact information only)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/11/2020

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6202

University of Mary Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Affairs at the University of Mary Washington invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position starting the 2020-21 academic year. The candidate should have a major field in comparative politics with demonstrated expertise in the politics of Latin America. The committee will look favorably on candidates who are also willing and able to teach a course on United States foreign policy. As UMW is a teaching-focused institution, successful candidates must demonstrate teaching experience and excellence in teaching in an inclusive environment that embraces diverse talents and backgrounds. Successful candidates should also provide evidence of success in scholarly activity (e.g., publications or grants).

Candidates must submit the following materials to be considered for the position:

Cover Letter

CV

Teaching Statement and Evaluations

Sample Syllabi

Three letters of recommendation

Graduate Transcripts

The University of Mary Washington accepts only completed online applications and related materials at careers.umw.edu. Faxed, mailed, or emailed applications or documentation will not be considered. Employment offers are contingent upon the successful completion of criminal background checks. If accommodations are requested either before or at the time of the interview, please contact the Recruitment Office at 540-654-1238.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6196

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in Health and International Development

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of International Development at LSE seeks to hire an Assistant Professor who will strengthen our internationally renowned, innovative and publicly engaged faculty. The post holder will contribute to the intellectual life of the School through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching as instructed by the Head of Department, and participating in the School and wider Department activities.

Candidates should have a track record or trajectory of internationally excellent publications in health and international development from any of these perspectives: development studies, geography, government, international relations, politics, or sociology.

Candidates who conduct research in any developing country or countries are encouraged to apply (the "Region" menu requires one region to be selected and does not have a general option -- all regions welcome).

You will have proven ability, as evidenced by existing publications or potential to publish in top journals or with leading book publishers in health and international development; and a clear, well developed and viable strategy for future outstanding research that has the potential to result in world-leading publications.

Successful applicants will also have a PhD or be close to completing a PhD in one of the above mentioned areas by the post start date.

You will also have a demonstrable ability to teach on postgraduate programmes in health and international development.

For further information about the post, including instructions on how to apply, please see here:

<https://www.jobs.ac.uk/job/BVG251/assistant-professor-in-health-and-international-development>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/16/2019

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6187

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position ID: F00175P

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, beginning August 2020. Candidates should be trained in Comparative Politics with a focus on Latin America. Scholars whose research also has implications for Latino/Latina communities in the United States are especially encouraged to apply. Completed Ph.D. is preferred although A.B.D.s will be considered. The University of Texas at Arlington is a designated Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI).

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive courses in their area of expertise, including introductory courses, core undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate to the rank. Salary is competitive. Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service.

Arlington, Texas is centrally located to major cultural, sporting, and entertainment venues, situated in the heart of the Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan area, with over 6 million residents and more than twenty municipalities (<http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities><http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities>). The University of Texas at Arlington campus is a short twenty-minute drive to DFW International Airport, downtown Fort Worth and downtown Dallas. The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols><http://www.uta.edu/pols>) has a strong social media presence (Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter), and offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over three hundred undergraduate majors and minors, and 20 to 30 graduate students.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) provide a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) one writing sample, and 4) names and contact information of three professional references. Screening will begin immediately upon receipt of a completed application. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

UT Arlington is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The use of tobacco products is prohibited on UT Arlington properties. A criminal background check will be conducted on finalists.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6193

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/16/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6183

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Chapman University seeks applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science, in the Department of Political Science, within Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, beginning in August 1, 2020.

The Department of Political Science and the MA in International Studies program seeks candidates whose research bridges theory and practice, so as to promote and support student engagement in the fields associated with human security. Teaching responsibilities will be split between the Political Science Department and the MA in International Studies Program at Chapman.

Tenure track faculty are expected to develop and maintain an active research agenda and are evaluated on their research/scholarly activity, teaching, service, and advising/mentoring.

Requirements include:

- Doctorate in Political Science or related field by the start date.
- Demonstrated strong research trajectory, including publications and involvement with professional organizations.
- Evidence of teaching excellence, including innovative and inclusive pedagogy.
- Demonstrated capacity to advise graduate and undergraduate students, including on coursework, research projects and career prospects.
- Specialization in the area of Human Security including but not limited to: environmental security (such as climate change adaptation, global health or food security); gender and/or race and security; conflict and/or environmentally induced displacement; poverty and sustainable development; governance issues related to new security paradigms.

Qualified applicants must electronically submit a faculty application, cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing sample and letter from three academic/professional references to:

Drs. Art Blaser and Crystal Murphy
 Search Committee Co-Chairs
 c/o: Talisa Flores at tflores@chapman.edu
 Please use "Assistant Professor of Political Science/International Studies" as the email subject line.

Application review will begin October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications. Chapman University offers a relocation expense reimbursement package as well as a first-time Orange County homebuyer assistance program. Successful completion of a background check is required for the final candidate.

Subject to final budget approval.

Download a copy of the Chapman Faculty Application for Employment here:

<https://webfarm.chapman.edu/Jobs/NewHire-FacultyApplication.docx>

***

Chapman University, located in the heart of Orange County, California, offers traditional undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences and select pre-professional and graduate programs. Ranked in the top tier of Western universities, by U.S. News and World Report, Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. The University is classified by Carnegie as an R-2 research institution; Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. More information is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/>

The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. More information on diversity and inclusion at Chapman University is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/diversity>.

Chapman University is an equal opportunity employer committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community. The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ancestry, citizenship status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, military and veteran status, marital status, pregnancy, genetic information or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. The University is committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6176

Tokyo International University

Rank: Full-time positions in 1) International Relations/U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Relations/Comparative Politics (open specialization).

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

[Outline]

Tokyo International University is seeking to hire full-time Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors in two areas: 1) U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Relations/Comparative Politics (regional specialization is open; we are looking for those whose research rests on strong theoretical and empirical grounds).

[Content of work]

Responsibilities include teaching three courses per semester mainly in an English-medium undergraduate and/or graduate school program, advising and working with students from diverse backgrounds, and undertaking quality research. TIU's academic year consists of two 14-week semesters.

[Positions available]

1

[Address of work location]

Campus 1, 1-13-1 Matoba-kita, Kawagoe City, Saitama Pref. 350-1197, Japan
(about 30-40 mins from Tokyo by train)

[Starting date]

April 1 / September 1, 2020 (negotiable)

[Job type]

Professor level
Associate Professor/Lecturer (full-time) level
Assistant Professor level
Tenured or tenure-track upon grade

[Qualifications]

Successful candidates should already hold a Ph.D. or have a Ph.D. in hand by the time of employment, strong publication record or potential for active scholarly engagement, ability to teach students (both undergraduate and graduate) with diverse cultural background in the university's English Track Degree Program. We encourage serious research engagement and provide various support, including individual and collective research funding.

There are no limitations regarding citizenship of applicants, however successful candidates should be able to teach and provide guidance to students using English language.

[Compensation]

Contract period: if hired as tenured, no-period (except age limits) / if hired as tenure-track, 5 years

A competitive salary is offered. Remuneration package includes health insurance, pension, commuting allowance, annual research fund and individual research office.

[Application method]

Please specify to which position you are applying and send an email to "saiyou@tiu.ac.jp" with the following materials attached:

- 1) Cover letter of application
- 2) Curriculum vitae (please also include your complete contact details and contact information of three references)
- 3) List of classes taught (including title of class, brief description of contents, level)
- 4) Course syllabi of related fields that have been taught at any higher educational institution
- 5) Full text of three research achievements (e.g., Journal articles, publications, etc.)
- 6) Copy of diploma or transcript showing proof of Ph.D. or enrollment in a Ph.D. program
- 7) In the subject of your email, please include this code: [APSA201909]

[Deadline]

November 15 (Friday), 2019

[Note]

- We request that all application documents be sent via e-mail and not by postal mail. Items sent through postal mail cannot be returned.
- Please describe your contact details clearly (phone number, e-mail address, current location, Skype ID, etc.)

- E-mail accounts through @hotmail, @msn, @live and @outlook may experience difficulty in receiving e-mails from the University. Please provide an alternative e-mail address if possible.

[Selection process]

First, a review of applications will be conducted, and only applicants deemed suitable will be contacted and invited for an interview (in person or via Skype). Those applicants who are invited to an interview may be requested to submit three Letters of Recommendation from relevant institutions.

For the on-site final interview, reimbursement for round-trip airfare, domestic public transportation allowance, and hotel (one night) will be provided to overseas candidates.

[Contact details]

Global Talent Acquisition Department
Tokyo International University Foundation
4-23-23, Takadanobaba, Shinjuku, Tokyo 169-0075
Email: saiyou@tiu.ac.jp

[Additional information]

All the information collected will be used solely for its intended purpose of evaluating applicants. Information will not be used for any other purpose.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6145

University College London

Rank: Lecturer in Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: Great Britain, Political Economy, Research Methods

UCL Political Science
School of Public Policy
London

Lecturer in Comparative Political Economy

Full Time:

The appointment will be on UCL Grade 8.

The salary range will be £43,884 - £51,769 per annum Plus £8,000 per annum Market Supplement, inclusive of London Allowance.

The Department of Political Science would like to recruit a Lecturer in Comparative Political Economy to contribute to research and teaching. The new Lecturer will be expected to undertake research of the highest international standard to add to the research standing and culture of the Department. The postholder will teach lectures and seminars at postgraduate and undergraduate level in comparative politics and comparative political economy.

We welcome applications engaging in all areas of political economy and comparative politics research and teaching, and are particularly keen to receive applications from candidates in the areas of British, European and comparative political analysis and / or public policy economics and analysis.

The post will commence on the 1st July 2020.

Successful candidates must have PhD in Political Science or related subject, (candidates nearing completion may be considered).

Experience of teaching in political economy or related modules at undergraduate or postgraduate level and a proven ability to undertake academic research that is internationally recognised and of high-quality is essential.

Experience of conducting research that feeds into policy-making or other forms of real-world impact would be desirable.

UCL vacancy reference: 1824690

Applicants should apply online. To access further details about the position and how to apply please click on the 'Apply' button above.

Informal enquiries may be made to Professor Jennifer Hudson (jennifer.hudson@ucl.ac.uk)

If you have any queries regarding the vacancy or the application process, please contact Ajay Patel, Finance and Staffing Administrator to the Department of Political Science, School of Public Policy, (polsci.staffing@ucl.ac.uk).

Closing Date: 20/10/2019

Latest time for the submission of applications: 23:59.

Interview Date: 13th December 2019

UCL Taking Action for Equality

We will consider applications to work on a part-time, flexible and job share basis wherever possible.

Our department is working towards an Athena SWAN award. We are committed to advancing gender equality within our department.

To apply click here <https://atsv7.wcn.co.uk/saf/login.cgi?SID=b3duZXJ0eXBIPWZhaXlmalNvZGU9MTgyNDY5MCZleHRlcm5hbDQvNDc4NTcmb3duZXJ0eXlNNTA0MTE3OA==> 1824690

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/20/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 6173

Columbia University

Rank: Istvan Deak Visiting Professor in East Central European Studies

Columbia University invites applications for István Deák Visiting Professorship(s) in East Central European Studies for one or two semesters (fall and/or spring) in the academic year 2020-2021. The professorship, commemorating Professor Deák's legacy of excellence in research and teaching, is open to scholars who have active interest and accomplishments in East and Central European studies. Appointment(s) will be open-rank, to be filled at any level from Visiting Assistant to Visiting Full Professor.

The visiting professor(s) will be appointed in one of the Humanities or Social Science departments of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. The visitors will teach two courses per semester, one a lecture course of broad interest for undergraduates, the other a seminar for upper-level undergraduates and graduate students. The visitors are expected to give one public lecture and participate in the academic life of the University, whose interests in East and Central European studies are well represented on campus by the East Central European Center, the European Institute, and the Harriman Institute.

Please provide a letter of application, curriculum vitae, the names of three persons who may be asked to provide a letter of reference, and a modest sample (article or book chapter) of scholarship. The letter of application should include a statement of which semester the applicant prefers, a list with titles and brief (one-paragraph long) descriptions of two courses which the applicant might teach, and a description of the applicant's current research interests.

All applications must be made through Columbia's online Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) at: <http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4011>

Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer —Race/Gender/Disability/Veteran.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6159

Fordham University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics (Environmental Policy)

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2020. The position is located at Fordham's Lincoln Center (Manhattan) campus.

We are particularly interested in candidates in the field of comparative environmental policy. A regional specialization focusing on Asia or Latin America is especially desired. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to undergraduate and graduate curricular needs in political science, as well as contribute to Fordham's interdisciplinary Environmental Studies Program. We encourage to apply candidates who will deepen our engagement with institutions within New York City and contribute to our University and department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Review of applications will begin on October 15. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) to Professor Sarah Lockhart, Committee Chair, via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/68311>: cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample (no more than 30-35 pages), course syllabi, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Application materials should also address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6156

Stanford University

Rank: 2020-21 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow in Contemporary Asia

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2020–2021 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2020-2021 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows in Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2020) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $65,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2020-2021 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 16, 2019, until December 20, 2019.

For additional information and to apply, visit <https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship>

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 9/9/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6120

Columbia University

Rank: Gerald L. Curtis Professor of Modern Japanese Politics and Foreign Policy

The Columbia University Department of Political Science and the School of International and Public Affairs invite applications for a distinguished scholar at any academic rank, from tenure-track assistant professor to tenured full professor, to fill the Gerald L. Curtis Professorship in Modern and Contemporary Japanese Politics and Foreign Policy to begin July 1, 2020. A Ph.D. and the ability to do research in the Japanese language are required. Candidates will be expected to teach and sustain an active research and publication agenda involving public policy issues in contemporary Japanese politics and/or foreign relations. The candidate will be expected to play a leadership role in the Weatherhead East Asian Institute in organizing research and programmatic activities concerning Japanese politics and foreign policy.

All applications must be submitted through Columbia University's Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) here: <http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4057>

Non-tenured applicants should upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, list of references, and at least two brief writing samples.

Tenured applicants should upload a vitae and letter of interest detailing current and future research plans.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6130

Touro College and University System

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

- Teach four courses each semester, split between an all-male campus in Queens and an all-female campus in Manhattan.

- Assist in student advisement within the Political Science Department, including course selection and career planning. This may include orientation and during other times when classes are not in session.

- Respond to needs and concerns of departmental faculty, administrative staff and students in a respectful and professional manner.

- Engage students in the classroom and inspire them to fulfill department and college-wide goals. Work closely with each student on multiple drafts of papers in order to improve their writing skills.

- Create clear course descriptions and syllabi with achievable evaluable goals. Evaluate student work with thoughtful comments and in a timely manner.

- Participate in professional conferences and/or publish work in academic journals in order to increase the visibility of the Touro College and University system.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science, with advanced study in comparative politics and American government.

- At least 2 years teaching experience in a post-secondary institution.

- Record of academic research.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6135

Columbia University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Columbia University's Department of Political Science invites applications for tenure-track positions in Comparative Politics at the Assistant Professor level to begin July 1, 2020. Ph.D. required at the time of appointment. Candidates will be expected to sustain an active research and publication agenda and teach in undergraduate and graduate programs. All candidates must have excellent scholarship and excellent promise for future development as scholars and teachers. Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a list of three references, and a writing sample. A joint position with the School of International and Public Affairs is possible. The Search Committee will begin reviewing applications on October 4, 2019, and will continue to consider applications until the positions are filled.

For more information and to apply, please visit our online application site at <http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/3804>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6111

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development's Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high quality, policy relevant research on critical issues related to global development and poverty alleviation.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2020 for one year (and will consider two years). The Center's postdoctoral fellows program is intended for promising new and recent PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy relevant research on topics related to critical issues for international development and poverty alleviation.

The Center's postdoctoral fellows will be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University. The Center provides a competitive salary plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2019 via the application form linked from the King Center's website.

For more details and information please visit <https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoralfellowsprogram>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6105

Columbia University

Rank: Lecturer in Discipline - Comparative Politics, Policy-making and Political Development

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Lecturer in Discipline

Comparative Politics, Policy-making and Political Development

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline in the fields of political development and in comparative politics and policy-making, to begin July 1, 2020.

Candidates must have a demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and research or practice related to comparative politics and policy-making and political development. Research interests or practice should be policy-relevant. Master's degree or equivalent degree required. Ph.D. and/or relevant professional experience at senior level strongly preferred.

Applicants should be qualified to teach courses related to comparative politics, policy analysis, policy-making and political development in demanding Master's degree programs in international and public affairs. There also is a strong preference for candidates who have demonstrated success in teaching large lecture courses with a writing intensive focus. A major component of the lecturer's instructional responsibilities will include teaching policy analysis and policy memo-writing to Master's students as part of a required course on policy-making in comparative context.

Please visit our online application site at:

<http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4025>

for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Committee will begin reviewing applications on a rolling basis on September 15 and anticipates scheduling initial flyouts in late September or early October. For further information, please contact Joe Chartier, Academic Department Administrator, School of International and Public Affairs, at jc3317@sipa.columbia.edu.

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train students at the master's and doctoral level for careers in global public policy.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA's academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6099

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: International Relations and Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Conflict Processes, Defense

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for multiple tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in International Relations and Comparative Politics beginning August 2020. Application review will begin on 01 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. Scholars with expertise in interstate war, great power politics, ethnic conflict, and political violence are encouraged to apply. Regional expertise in either Africa, South/Southeast Asia, or Russia is also desired. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at

<https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProf-PolSci-AY20.php>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6102

Arizona State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science -- Global Human Rights

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Gender Politics & Policy

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences in the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) is seeking a full-time, benefits-eligible, tenure-track Assistant Professor of Sociology, Anthropology or Political Science with expertise in Global Human Rights. The current position is part of the development of a global human rights hub at ASU. Preference will be given to candidates who can collaborate with existing Political Science, Sociology and Anthropology faculty at ASU who work in this area and whose research interests focus on examining global human rights law in relation to minority groups, including but not limited to gender, LGBT, race, and dis/ability.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is presently in a period of expansion and innovation around new initiatives and new programs. Since Fall 2017, the School has added ten new tenured / tenure-track faculty, including seven new faculty in Political Science, Sociology, and Anthropology. This academic year, the School has been approved to recruit five additional tenured / tenure-track faculty, including the current position.

Required Qualifications: The successful candidate must a) have a doctoral degree in sociology, political science, anthropology or related social science-focused field by the time of appointment; and, b) a record reflecting training and experience relevant to the field of global human rights; c) a research agenda that is focused on global human rights law, and d) demonstrate excellence in research commensurate with appointment at the level of Assistant Professor at ASU.

Desired Qualifications: a) research interest that focuses on examining global human rights law in relation to minority groups, including but not limited to gender, LGBT, race, and dis/ability; b) empirical research experience and interests that align with current faculty expertise in migration and refugees, gender in a comparative context, and/or international law and organizations; c) demonstrate potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; d) demonstrate experience in promoting interdisciplinary collaborations in research; e) a demonstrated ability to teach B.A. and/or M.A. students in this field; f) evidence of commitment to undergraduate and graduate mentoring; and, g) demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population, including first generation students.

More information about ASU's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences can be found at <https://newcollege.asu.edu/directory/sbs>; more information about ASU's New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences can be found at <http://newcollege.asu.edu>.

ASU has a strong commitment to a racially diverse faculty; one that is reflective of contemporary America.

Deadline: October 14, 2019; if not filled, every two weeks thereafter until search is closed.

Application procedure: Applications will only be accepted electronically via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/67140>

Requested material will include: 1) a letter of application, which explicitly addresses your academic experience, situates your research in the field and notes your teaching philosophy; 2) a current curriculum vitae with contact information; and, 3) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted during initial review and will only be contacted after candidate notification).

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions which includes a criminal background check, verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications. Employment is contingent upon successful passing of the background check.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 8/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6097

Wake Forest University

Rank: Worrell Chair in Politics and International Affairs

POSITION AVAILABLE

WAKE FOREST UNIVERSITY

WORRELL CHAIR IN POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

The Department of Politics and International Affairs at Wake Forest University is seeking an outstanding scholar and teacher to fill a named chair in the areas of comparative political economy or comparative public policy, at the Full or Associate Professor level. Originally established as the Worrell Chair in Anglo-American Studies, acknowledging transformations within the discipline and a move towards more widely comparative scholarship, the Department now seeks a scholar of comparative political economy or comparative public policy with a focus on Europe. In recognition of the named professorship, candidates should have a prominent record of scholarship that is internationally recognized as well as a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Areas of expertise might include but are not limited to the examination of policy areas such as social welfare, immigration, environment, education, and healthcare; labor and the political economy; and the social and political inequalities associated with race, class, and gender.

The Department of Politics and International Affairs includes faculty who are both dedicated teachers and active researchers. Salary will be commensurate with the rank and stature of the selected applicant.

Founded in 1834, Wake Forest University is ranked among the top 30 national universities in the United States. The university is located in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, a vibrant, small city with a thriving arts community. At Wake Forest and in Winston-Salem there are many opportunities for multi-disciplinary collaboration and community-engaged research. Wake Forest University and Winston-Salem also house one of the fastest growing urban technology innovation districts in the United States, Wake Forest Innovation Quarter.

Wake Forest University and the Department of Politics and International Affairs welcome diversity and encourage inclusivity. We therefore seek applicants with demonstrated success in engaging diverse populations. Wake Forest University is an AA/EO employer and values an inclusive and diverse learning community and campus climate.

The deadline for applications is November 15th, 2019. Inquiries and questions about the position should be directed to the Chair of the Search Committee: Helga Welsh at welsh@wfu.edu subject line: "Worrell Chair." Applications are accepted on line www.wfu.careers. A complete application includes a letter of interest and a C.V. Additional information and references will be requested from finalists. Technical questions may be directed to wakejobs@wfu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6090

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Syracuse University
Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science seeks a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics for a position beginning in Fall 2020. We seek candidates whose teaching and research focus on the Middle East and North Africa.

The political science department is housed within the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, which is committed to citizenship education at the undergraduate level and to graduate education in public affairs and the social sciences. We seek candidates who complement the broader Maxwell mission and have interdisciplinary interests.

Successful candidates may be invited to affiliate with the Moynihan Institute of Global Affairs or one of Maxwell's other interdisciplinary centers (<http://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers/>).

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science or a related field or a credible expectation of completing all requirements for the Ph.D. by August 2020. The Maxwell School is interested in candidates who can contribute to the inclusiveness and diversity of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest and a CV, a sample of professional writing, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of quality teaching. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

In addition, applicants will be required to provide the full email addresses of three references.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by October 1, 2019. However, the department will continue to consider applications until this position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6084

Temple University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Temple University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in comparative politics. The position is open with respect to methodology and substantive topics of research. We are especially interested in candidates whose substantive research interests include conflict, violence, contentious politics, or ethnicity and identity, and with regional expertise in Europe, Africa, or Southeast Asia.

Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in both research and teaching. Evidence of external grant/fellowship support is desirable.

Candidates are expected to have completed a Ph.D. by the beginning of their appointment. Please send a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a sample of written or published scholarly work; teaching portfolio (e.g., sample syllabi, student and/or peer evaluations); graduate school transcript; and three letters of recommendation to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/67534>

Professor Roselyn Hsueh will chair the search committee. Applications received by October 1, 2019 will receive best consideration.

Temple University is a state-related Carnegie Research University (highest research activity) located in Philadelphia. The College of Liberal Arts is home to 32 undergraduate majors, 32 minors, 23 certificate programs and 15 graduate degree programs. With its vibrant and diverse array of educational programs, the College of Liberal Arts plays a tremendous role in Temple University's academic success and its mission mirrors both the historical importance of the liberal arts in society and the principles on which the university was founded.

Temple University is an Affirmative Action equal opportunity employer and particularly encourages applications from women and persons of color.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6060

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Comparative Politics/Data Science

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Comparative Politics/Data Science Department of Political Science University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

The Department of Political Science at the University of Illinois invites applications and nominations for a full-time, open rank (assistant, associate, or full) tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics with a specialization in data science. The position is open with regard to the candidate's substantive research interests in comparative politics. Outstanding senior candidates will be considered for a chair affiliated with the Cline Center for Advanced Social Research. Candidates must possess strong theoretical, analytical, and empirical skills.

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is an established center for advancement in data science. The National Center for Supercomputing Applications (NCSA), the Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology, the Center for Advanced Study (CAS), the School of Information Sciences (iSchool), and the Cline Center for Advanced Social Research all offer opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration. In this context, the Department of Political Science seeks to build on its current strengths in quantitative and computational social science.

The Illinois College of Liberal Arts and Sciences is a world leader in research, teaching, and public engagement. Faculty in the College create knowledge, address critical societal needs through the transfer and application of knowledge, and prepare students for lives of impact in the state, nation, and globally. To meet these objectives, the College embraces and values diversity and difference through hiring faculty candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and/or service to the diversity and excellence of the Illinois community.

The University of Illinois is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, women, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. For more information, please visit <http://go.illinois.edu/EEO>.

The successful candidate will show potential to publish in top disciplinary journals and demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching appropriate for the rank sought. Successful candidates are expected to teach effectively at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, establish and maintain an active and independent research program, and provide service to the department, the university, and the profession.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related social science discipline in hand or show clear evidence of completion before the start of appointment. The anticipated starting date is August 16, 2020; the starting salary is competitive. Candidates with superior qualifications who will complete all Ph.D. requirements within the first appointment year may be appointed at the rank of Instructor. After the Ph.D. requirement is met, the appointment will be changed to Assistant Professor.

To apply, create your candidate profile through <https://jobs.illinois.edu> and upload your application materials: letter of application (specifying the rank for which the applicant is applying), CV, up to three representative publications or working papers, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement of research interests, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also include a statement detailing how their teaching, service and/or scholarship has contributed to the success of students from racial, ethnic, and gender backgrounds that are underrepresented in your academic field. Applicants who have not yet had the opportunity for such experience should note how their work will further Illinois' and the College of LAS' commitment to diversity. The online application will require the contact information or Interfolio ID for three professional references. For applications at the assistant professor rank, referees will be contacted electronically by the Department within 1-2 business days after submission of the application. After a review of the research record, the search committee may then contact applicants at the associate and full professor rank to solicit letters of reference. Only applications submitted through the University of Illinois Job Board will be considered.

To ensure full consideration, all required application materials must be submitted by September 27, 2019; letters of reference for applicants at the assistant professor rank must be received no later than October 4, 2019. Early application submission is encouraged to allow time for referees to submit letters of recommendation. The University of Illinois conducts criminal background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer. For further information regarding application procedures or to submit nominations, you may contact Brenda Stamm at stamm@illinois.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/27/2019

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6063

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Gender and Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8350>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6046

Purdue University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science at Purdue University seeks applications for up to two tenure-track assistant professors with strong skills in computational social science and data science, broadly defined, and who apply them to substantive questions in political science, preferably in the areas of comparative politics or international relations. Examples of strengths include machine learning, network modeling, statistical methods for large and complex data, natural language processing, text, audio, and/or image analytics, data visualization, and/or other related methods. Exceptional candidates at the level of associate professor with tenure may be considered.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and be able to teach courses at the intersection of data science, quantitative methods, and his or her substantive fields of expertise, and with some courses being part of the College of Liberal Arts' Integrated Cornerstone first-year curriculum. Candidates at the level of advanced assistant or associate professor are expected to have a strong track record of high-quality publications, appropriate to rank. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline is required.

Desired qualifications include interest in contributing to social science methodological training across campus; interest in contributing to a broader integrative data science initiative at Purdue; an interest in attracting external funding; and a commitment to teaching excellence.

Purdue University's Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and off-campus engagement. Candidates should address their commitment to diversity and inclusion in at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals as they relate to promoting a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. The Political Science Department is home to the journal Politics, Groups, and Identities. Faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. Many faculty members hold joint appointments or affiliations with other departments and programs, including Communication, African American Studies, Civil Engineering, Industrial Engineering, and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The department offers graduate certificates to students across campus in Social Policy, Environmental Policy, and Human Rights. The department is also home to the director of the award-winning C-SPAN Archives, located at the Purdue Research Park.

Applications

Candidates should submit application materials electronically via <https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=6956&company=purdueuniv&username=>

Applications should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a sample of written work, instructional materials such as syllabi and course evaluations, and a cover letter discussing the applicant's qualifications for the position. Candidates at the level of associate professor with tenure may submit names three references in lieu of letters.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to the search committee chair, Dr. James McCann, mccannj@purdue.edu. A background check will be required for employment in this position.

Equal Opportunity

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6044

Harvard University

Rank: Weatherhead Scholars Program

The Weatherhead Scholars Program, a program at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs (WCFIA), welcomed its first class of participants in 2017–2018. Established in 1958, the WCFIA is the largest international social science research center within the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. We support international, transnational, global, and comparative research, whether historical or contemporary, including policy analysis.

The Weatherhead Scholars Program offers visiting faculty, postdoctoral researchers, and experienced practitioners the opportunity to spend up to one year at Harvard conducting research. During their time in residence, Scholars are expected to participate in the Weatherhead Forum and in the Scholars Program Seminar; contribute to some of the Center's many other intellectual activities, including our research clusters; and to engage with the undergraduate and graduate student communities.

As participants in the Weatherhead Scholars Program, postdoctoral researchers and visiting scholars receive a one-year formal appointment from Harvard University granting them important privileges. These include access to the Harvard library system, computer labs, and Harvard University faculty club. Our scholars are an integral part of the more than 300 faculty, fellows, students, and staff in residence at the Center.

To be eligible for a postdoctoral position, a scholar will have completed his/her PhD in the last three calendar years, or will have defended by the start of the academic appointment. There are a limited number of $50,000 stipends for postdoctoral fellows (health insurance is also available to stipendiary postdocs). Visiting scholars – established faculty from other universities – are not eligible for funding support from the Weatherhead Center.

More information is available at <https://scholarsprogram.wcfia.harvard.edu>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6032

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood

Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2020 to September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on outstanding performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12905> (link is external)

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6038

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Methodology

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the levels of associate or full professor with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to apply online at the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board at: apply.interfolio.com/67089. Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; and 2) a curriculum vitae. Consideration of applications will begin on September 22nd and will continue until the position is filled or the search has ended; early submission is encouraged. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6034

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lecturer/Senior Lecturer

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an educator-track Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Political Science to teach research methods as well as other modules in Comparative Politics and/or Governance and Public Policy for our undergraduate curriculum. The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester), of which at least two should be in methods.

Lectureships at NUS are career positions in which advancement (to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor) is possible. Appointments are for three years initially and are renewable on an ongoing basis, subject to good performance and departmental teaching needs. Compensation and benefits are similar to those of faculty members on the tenure track and are competitive.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science. The Department recognizes four main subfields: Comparative Politics; Governance and Public Policy; International Relations; and Political Theory. The Department also hosts the programme in Global Studies.

Candidates should send a CV, a letter detailing their research and teaching interests, at least two samples of written work, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at pol-box5@nus.edu.sg

All applicants should also submit sample syllabi, student evaluations, and other evidence of teaching quality. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 21 October 2019.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6025

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the assistant professor level with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) writing sample; 4) brief teaching statement; 5) brief research statement; and 6) at least three letters of recommendation. Applicants also are encouraged to submit as optional documents up to three publications or unpublished manuscripts and evidence of teaching performance, such as teaching evaluations, if available. Applications will be accepted until the deadline of October 1, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

To be considered, those interested must apply through The University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board, which uses Interfolio to accept applications: apply.interfolio.com/66855. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6022

Stetson University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Comparative Politics and Post-Communist Studies)

Stetson University seeks an assistant professor of political science with a primary area of expertise in comparative politics and a focus on the post-communist world. The candidate should have a desire to teach and conduct research in a liberal arts setting. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level courses in comparative politics and offering innovative first-year and/or junior seminars, the candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and contribute to Stetson's Program in Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies, as well as the potential to offer courses in other related programs (e.g. International Studies, Gender Studies, and Global Development).

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The teacher-scholar model at Stetson requires that tenure-track faculty teach three courses each semester complemented with quality scholarship and service. Primary teaching responsibilities include our introductory and upper level courses in comparative politics and the post-communist world. Other courses will be based on the candidate's expertise and may include offerings for the University's requirements in General Education, including First Year Seminars and Junior Seminars. The faculty member is also expected to mentor students academically and professionally.

Candidates should demonstrate a passion for quality teaching, combined with the ability to produce rigorous peer-reviewed academic scholarship. Scholarly activity leading to publication in peer-reviewed journals and service to the Department, the College of Arts and Sciences, the University, and the profession are required. For more information on our expectations in teaching and scholarship, our tenure policies, and our support for faculty professional development, please see the Office of the Provost and Academic Affairs website: <http://www.stetson.edu/administration/provost/index.php>.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies, Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies, Latin American Studies, Africana Studies, the Honors Program, Environmental Science and Studies, and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, and Public Administration and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 2,800 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered at the main campus and at Stetson University Center in Celebration include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 32,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2020

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of undergraduate and graduate transcripts, 5) three letters of recommendation sent under separate cover by the recommenders via e-mail (at least one of which should include an evaluation of teaching ability), and 6) a statement of research interests and a description of how undergraduate students might participate in that research. Candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Departmental representatives will conduct interviews at the Career Fair of the Annual Meeting of the American Political Science Association, August 29-September 1 in Washington, D.C. Participation in these interviews is not required and non-participation will not affect a candidate's application in any way.

Review of applications will begin on October 1 and continue until the position is filled.

Please submit all application materials electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6010

University of Memphis

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at The University of Memphis invites applications for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics at the level of Assistant Professor. The position will start in the fall 2020 pending the availability of funds. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand by August 2020. We seek applications from candidates in all areas of comparative politics. Candidates must be able to teach undergraduate and graduate classes in comparative politics and must show promise of excellence in research and teaching. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Please submit a letter detailing current research interests and teaching experience, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, a writing sample (dissertation chapter, published article or conference paper), evidence of teaching potential, and three letters of recommendation on-line at <https://workforum.memphis.edu/postings/23139>. For all other inquiries please contact: Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, The University of Memphis, TN 38152. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled, pending availability of funds. The University of Memphis is a Research II University with an enrollment of approximately 20,000 students. The University of Memphis is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to diversifying its work force. Applications from women, minorities, and individuals with disabilities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6013

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor - Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, East Asia, Middle East

Associate/ Full Professor – Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one full-time tenure-stream appointment in the field of Comparative Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor and will begin on July 1, 2020, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field. The successful candidate will have a demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program.

We are interested in comparative politics scholars who focus on the regions of East Asia or Africa or the Middle East. While subject area is open, we especially welcome candidates whose research focuses on race, conflict, regime change, political violence, state formation/building, resource politics, human rights, or distributive politics. The successful candidate will be able to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in Comparative Politics, as well as advanced courses in East Asia or Africa or the Middle East.

Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive caliber, as evidenced by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in leading journals or with leading presses in the field, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished accolades or awards, other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, strong endorsements by referees of high standing, and an outstanding track-record of externally funded research.

Evidence of excellence in teaching and a demonstrated commitment to graduate education and mentorship are required and will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a strong teaching statement, sample course syllabi, and the teaching evaluations, as well as strong letters of reference.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see www.utm.utoronto.ca/~w3pol/ and www.chass.utoronto.ca/polsci/.

Salary and rank will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To be considered for this position, all application materials must be submitted online by clicking the apply link below. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample (e.g., an article offprint), two comparative politics syllabi (1 graduate and 1 undergraduate), a statement of teaching expertise and interest (1 page max), teaching evaluations, and a statement outlining current and future research interests (2 pages max).

Equity and diversity are among UTM's core values and are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must also ask three referees to send confidential letters of recommendation directly via email (on letterhead, signed, dated and scanned) to the Chair, Professor Andrea Olive, at polsci.utm@utoronto.ca by the closing date.

To receive consideration, applications and all materials (including letters of reference) must be received by October 31, 2019.

Please submit attachments in PDF format only. Submission guidelines can be found at: uoft.me/how-to-apply. If you have questions about this position, please contact chair.pol.utm@utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see uoft.me/UP.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5993

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies Academy Scholars Program, 2020-2021

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences or law with a command of the language and history or culture of countries or regions outside of the United States or Canada. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in cultures or regions outside of the US or Canada shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Scholars applying by the October 1, 2019 deadline for the August 2020 postdoctoral fellowships must have completed the PhD or equivalent after September 30, 2016.

Academy Scholars are appointed for a two-year, in-residence, postdoctoral fellowship at The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA. Academy Scholars receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire additional training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $70,000. If selected before earning the PhD, the Scholar will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the postdoctoral fellowships beginning in August 2020 is due by October 1, 2019. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 4, 2019. Notification of scholarships will be made in late December 2019.

For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <https://academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

For questions, email: applicationinquiries@wcfia.harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 6001

Naval Postgraduate School

Rank: Associate/Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, Western Europe, Russia

European Security and Politics

Tenure Track

Assistant or Associate Professor

Department of National Security Affairs

Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

The Department of National Security Affairs at the Naval Postgraduate School seeks applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant/Associate professor interested in research and teaching in the field of European politics with a specialization in European security issues. Relevant expertise might include the politics of the NATO alliance, domestic politics of EU and NATO members' foreign and security policy, European-U.S. relations or EU-Russian relations. Candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for teaching excellence and scholarly research. The successful candidate must also be prepared to teach introductory Masters-level courses on the government and politics of Europe and on European Security Institutions, as well as courses in her/his/their specific research specialty.

The Naval Postgraduate School is a fully accredited graduate school the students of which are drawn from the armed forces and civilian agencies of the United States and other countries. The Department of National Security Affairs is multi-disciplinary, with curricula based on Political Science, History, and Economics. Tenure-track professors typically teach a 2-2 load on a quarter system and are expected to maintain an active portfolio of academic research, publishing, and institutional service.

Minimum qualifications:

- An earned doctoral degree from an accredited institution
- Evidence of teaching aptitude
- Evidence of potential to advise student theses and dissertations
- Evidence of strong potential for scholarship leading to scholarly publications

Employment requirements:

- U.S. citizenship is required
  - Background check and eligibility for a Secret-level clearance
- Applications should include a CV, cover letter (including teaching and research interests), official graduate transcripts, and syllabi of relevant courses taught, preferably at the graduate level. Candidates should also submit up to three writing samples and three letters of recommendation. These confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted separately. ABDs are welcome to apply with the understanding that the award of a Ph.D. degree is a condition of employment. Applications will be accepted until Monday October 14, 2019. Expected start date is in the fall of 2020. Address applications and supporting materials electronically to the National Security Affairs Department at nsdept@nps.edu.

Questions and any other inquiries may be directed to:

Prof. Anne Clunan
Chair, European Security and Politics Search Committee
Department of National Security Affairs
Naval Postgraduate School
Monterey, CA 93943
alclunan@nps.edu

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Relocation package, including recruitment/relocation incentive may be authorized.

The Naval Postgraduate School is an equal opportunity employer. For additional information about NPS, please refer to the website at <http://www.nps.edu>

NOTE: IF YOU ARE A VETERAN, you are strongly encouraged to identify your Veterans' Preference on your resume or elsewhere in your application package (type of preference, dates of service, date of VA letter, character of service, etc.).

Additional Veterans' Information: if you are not sure of your preference eligibility, visit the Department of Labor's website: <http://dol.gov/elaws/vets/vetpref/mservice.htm>

For more veterans' preference information, visit: <http://www.fedshirevets.gov/job/vetpref/index.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5996

The College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor Global Environmental Justice

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Open, Other

Description

The Departments of Environmental Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seek to fill a tenure track position in Global Environmental Justice at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2020. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in environmental politics and social justice with area studies expertise and a high proficiency in qualitative methodologies.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in environmental justice and social justice, broadly conceived. They would teach introductory and advanced courses in the Environmental Studies and Political Science departments, supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement, and participate in teaching the College's First Year Seminar. We seek to hire a scholar whose research and teaching addresses one or more dimensions of environmental justice, such as: the intersections of global climate change and class, ethnic, or racial inequalities; comparative environmental movements; forced displacement and migration due to environmental crisis; food or water insecurity; or environmental governance. In addition, we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching can connect with one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Africana Studies, Global & International Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, Urban Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Application Instructions

We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), a statement regarding how the applicant will contribute to the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66667>. Applications received by October 1, 2019, will receive full consideration. Please contact Matt Mariola (m-mariola@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Environmental Studies and Chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5991

McMaster University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at McMaster University invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in Comparative Public Policy. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with a preferred starting date of July 1, 2020.

Candidates must have earned a PhD in Political Science, or a related discipline, by the date of appointment or shortly thereafter. The main criteria for selection are research and teaching excellence. Candidates must demonstrate an emerging record of research accomplishments that contribute to and advance the comparative study of public policy. Candidates must also demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching, and strong potential for excellence as a graduate supervisor.

The successful candidate will have evidence of high-quality scholarly output and excellence in research. They will be expected to carry out an independent research program yielding significant peer-reviewed publications, and to compete successfully for external funding to support this research program. Candidates from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives and substantive policy interests are encouraged to apply, including those who apply innovative approaches involving socially engaged and participatory research.

The successful candidate will also demonstrate strong potential for outstanding teaching contributions at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and an ongoing commitment to academic and pedagogical excellence in support of the department's programs. At the undergraduate level, the appointee will be expected to teach introductory as well as more advanced courses in an area of their expertise. At the graduate level, the appointee will teach courses as part of the Masters in Political Science and the PhD program in Comparative Public Policy, and be expected to supervise graduate students in their areas of research expertise. These can include mainstream policy studies as well as projects that adopt critical approaches to policy. The capacity to strengthen the department's commitment to practice-based learning is an asset.

The person who fills this position is expected to contribute to the department's supportive and collegial working environment, and to make substantive contributions through service to the department, the Faculty, the University, and/or the broader community.

McMaster University consistently ranks among the top 5 research intensive universities in Canada and among the top 100 universities worldwide. It has a strong focus on community-based research and experiential learning that complements classroom studies with hands-on experience. Community engagement and a commitment to service and to the public good has been a key part of McMaster's history. The Department of Political Science provides a strong, supportive and collegial research culture, building the research capacity of faculty and graduate students. It offers MA degrees in Political Science and International Relations, and PhD degrees in Comparative Public Policy and International Relations, as well as a range of undergraduate programs. Further information on the Department can be found at <http://www.politicalscience.mcmaster.ca>.

McMaster is strongly committed to employment equity within its community and to recruiting a diverse faculty and staff. The diversity of our workforce is at the core of our innovation and creativity and strengthens our research and teaching excellence. The University encourages applications from all qualified candidates, particularly women, persons with disabilities, First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples, members of racialized communities, and LGBTQ+ identified persons. The University seeks qualified candidates who share our commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion. Applicants are asked to include, as part of their application package, a statement describing their commitment to and demonstrated experience advancing equity, diversity and inclusion in post-secondary education, community-based or other professional settings.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. To comply with the Government of Canada's reporting requirements, the University is obliged to gather information about applicants' status as either Permanent Residents of Canada or Canadian citizens. Applicants need not identify their country of origin or current citizenship, however, all applications must include in the cover letter one of the following statements: "I am a citizen / permanent resident of Canada" OR "I am not a citizen or permanent resident of Canada." Applications that do not include this information will be deemed incomplete.

How to apply:

Applicants should submit the following documents electronically as PDFs through www.workingatmcmaster.ca/careers/

- Cover letter;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Statement of research;
- Statement of contributions and commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion – addressing past, ongoing, and/or potential contributions through teaching, research, professional activity, and/or service;
- Evidence of teaching excellence;
- Academic writing sample.

In addition, applicants must arrange for three letters of reference to be sent directly by referees to Dr. Karen Bird, Chair, Department of Political Science at polisci@mcmaster.ca

Applicants will also be sent a link to complete an online voluntary Diversity Survey. All information collected is confidential and will be used to support efforts to broaden the diversity of the applicant pool and to promote a fair, equitable, and inclusive hiring process.

Job applicants requiring accommodation to participate in the hiring process should contact the Human Resources Service Centre at 905-525-9140 ext. 222-HR (22247) or the Faculty of Social Sciences Human Resources Advisor at ext. 24552 to communicate accommodation needs.

Consideration of applications will begin on October 11, 2019.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/15/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5988

Harvard University

Rank: Tenure-Track or Tenured Professor in ethnic studies, Asian American studies, Latinx studies, and/or studies of Islam in America

The Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University seeks to appoint up to four professors who study race, ethnicity and/or migration with focus on Asian American, Latinx, and/or Islam in America Studies. We seek candidates who work in one or more of these areas or who do comparative work across them. These positions may be offered at either the rank of tenured full professor or as tenure-track positions, and will be located in appropriate FAS departments and programs in the humanities and social sciences. Appointed faculty will teach and advise at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The appointments are expected to begin on July 1, 2020.

Tenure-track applicants should apply at <http://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9186>

Tenured-level applicants should apply at <http://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9187>

Basic Qualifications

Doctoral degree.

Additional Qualifications

(Tenure-track) Demonstrated strong commitment to teaching and research; and experience working with and teaching diverse students. (Tenured-level) Intellectual leadership in the field; potential for significant contributions to the Faculty, University, and wider scholarly community; demonstrated excellence in teaching and mentoring; and experience working with and teaching diverse students.

Special Instructions

Please submit the following materials through the ARIES portal (<http://academicpositions.harvard.edu>). Candidates are encouraged to apply by October 1, 2019; applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. List of courses recently taught
4. Research statement
5. Teaching and mentorship statement
6. A statement describing efforts to encourage diversity, inclusion, and belonging, including past, current, and anticipated future contributions in the areas of teaching and research.
7. (Tenure-track applicants only) Names and contact information of three referees, who will be asked by a system-generated email to upload a letter of recommendation once the candidate's application has been submitted. Three letters of recommendation are required, and the application is considered complete only when at least three letters have been received.

Contact Information

Kimberly O'Hagan
Robinson Hall 200
35 Quincy Street
Cambridge, MA 02138

Contact Email

ethnicstudiessearch@fas.harvard.edu

Equal Opportunity Employer

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5983

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020.

This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

Assistant Professor, Political Science, Human Security

University of Nevada, Reno - Main Campus

Job Description

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) invites applications for a tenure-track, full-time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of human security. We seek a scholar researching large-scale political, environmental, economic and/or social problems, potentially crossing international boundaries. Specializations might include, but are not limited to, linkages between climate change and food security; regional or global health issues affecting human security; research on refugees, migration, the dispossessed or internally displaced people as a result of famine, drought, environmental deterioration, or conflict. The Political Science Department at UNR has a growing emphasis in the broad area of human security and a commitment to inclusion. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to develop their own courses and research agenda under this umbrella and be expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower and upper division undergraduate, MA/PhD). This could at times include specific courses required for degree programs. The normal teaching load is 2/2. We welcome applicants from any empirical research methodological tradition, but expect a high-level of sophistication and rigor. The start-up package is competitive.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand by August 15, 2020.
 A developing or established research agenda in human security
 A record of, or potential for, publishing in top-tier journals and presses in relevant fields
 A rigorous, empirical research methodology.
 Demonstrated excellence, or clear evidence of potential for excellence, in teaching

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of or potential for strong external grant activity
 Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in research, teaching and/or service

Compensation Grade/Rank

II, Assistant Professor

Department Information

The UNR Department of Political Science is an energetic, collegial and exciting community of political scientists and public policy and public administration scholars with a deep commitment to excellence in research and teaching as well as to leadership in the Department, the University, and the diverse northern Nevada community. The Department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA and PhD degrees. It offers a BA in Political Science and coordinates the International Affairs major and minors in Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and Renewable Energy. Faculty are linked with a variety of College and University-wide initiatives, such as the Cybersecurity Center and the Gender, Race and Identity Program. Additional information about the Department can be found at: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science>. The University of Nevada, Reno is a Research 1 land-grant campus of the Nevada System of Higher Education with a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students. Nearly half of incoming students identify as being from an underrepresented group. In accordance with the university's land grant, tier one research institution mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many U.S. transportation hubs and to Mexico. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Program

Total Compensation

The total compensation package includes a negotiable competitive salary, moving allowance (if applicable), a rich retirement plan, health insurance options that include dental and vision, life insurance, long-term disability, along with many other benefits. Additionally, there is a grant-in-aid educational benefit for faculty and dependents. For more information, please visit: UNR Benefits

Contact Information for this position

Search Chair-William Eubank bille@unr.edu
 Search co-Coordinator- Karen Braun kbraun@unr.edu
 Search co-Coordinator-Tamela Gorden tgorden@unr.edu

To apply, please go to: https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Assistant-Professor--Political-Science--Human-Security\_R0117646. A complete application must include the following:

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita
- 2) Cover letter stating qualifications, experience, research plans and teaching experience
- 3) Three letters of recommendation
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) Two research-based writing samples

Please contact jobs@unr.edu, the day you apply, if assistance is needed with uploading documents.

Close Date or Open Until Filled

Position is open until filled; first review of applications will begin Oct. 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5981

Harvard University

Rank: China Public Policy Postdoctoral Fellow

Specializations: China, Political Economy, History & Politics

The Ash Center for Democratic Governance and Innovation at the Harvard Kennedy School will offer up to two postdoctoral fellowships in the field of contemporary Chinese public policy to recent Ph.D. graduates of exceptional promise.

Eligibility

Applicants must have received their Ph.D. within five years of the start of the fellowship in a relevant discipline in the social sciences or history. Preference will be given to those working in the areas of domestic politics, political economy, business-government relations, state-society relations, environmental/energy governance, and social development in China, with a focus on public policy challenges. Knowledge of Chinese is required, specifically the ability to work with original Chinese language sources.

Residence in the Cambridge area and participation in the activities of the Center (such as our biweekly doctoral fellows workshop series) is required. It is expected that the successful applicant will give at least one research presentation or public talk during the fellowship period. Foreign nationals must be eligible for J-1 visa sponsorship.

Knowledge of Chinese is required, as well as the ability to work with original sources.

Those who are chosen to receive fellowships must have completed ALL requirements for the Ph.D. degree (including the dissertation defense) by June 1, 2020. Preference will be given to applicants with no previous postdoctoral fellowships.

Benefits

Each fellowship will run for a period of up to two years. The recipient will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, health insurance, and a work space. Some research/travel funds may also be available.

How to Apply

To submit an application for the AY2020-22 fellowship, please download the Post-Doc Application. Email the completed form, research proposal, writing samples and a current CV by December 2, 2019 (Monday) at 11:59PM EST to Ash_Fellowships@hks.harvard.edu with "Postdoctoral Fellowships in China Public Policy" in the SUBJECT line. Recommendation letters should be emailed directly to the Ash Center from the referees.

Any inquiries regarding the fellowship should be directed to: Dr. Kaori Urayama, Ash Center Fellows Program Manager, at kaori_urayama@hks.harvard.edu .

Please note that we do not provide critique/feedback on unsuccessful applications.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/2/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5970

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in comparative politics for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. The department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. The appointment is open with respect to empirical approach. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within the department and across the broader Vanderbilt community. We especially welcome applications from scholars who specialize in Eastern Europe and/or Asia, to help facilitate scholarship and curricular bridges between the Department of Political Science and the Max Kade Center for European and German Studies and/or the Vanderbilt Asian Studies Program. Candidates able to assist in graduate training in quantitative methods or formal theory should indicate those competencies. The appointment will begin Fall 2020. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2019. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2019, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position.

Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2020.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at: apply.interfolio.com/66543 .

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5963

Portland State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Departments of Political Science and International & Global Studies at Portland State University are searching for a shared tenure-track Assistant Professor position. The ideal candidate will conduct research and teach in the fields of Comparative Politics and/or International Relations with a focus on development. There is a strong preference for candidates who study development through the lens of international political economy, Africa, the Middle East, human rights policy, or global health policy.

Please submit:

- letter of application (cover letter),
- curriculum vitae,
- graduate transcripts (upload under "Other-2"),
- writing sample (e.g. article, book chapter, conference paper, etc) and,
- teaching evaluations (upload under 'Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness') .

Please list the names, telephone numbers and email addresses for three professional references. As soon as you submit your application, your references will be emailed a link to upload their letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Department of Political Science at polisci@pdx.edu

Portland State University is Oregon's most affordable public research university, located in the heart of one of America's most dynamic cities. Our mission to "let knowledge serve the city" reflects our dedication to turning ideas into action — in Portland and around the world. The city is our campus, giving students unmatched access to career connections, a vibrant cultural scene and hands-on learning experiences with hundreds of community partners. More than 27,000 students from all backgrounds bring diverse perspectives to our classrooms and campus life, from the tree-lined Park Blocks to the bustling Urban Plaza and state-of-the-art science labs. We are proud of our world-class faculty, groundbreaking research and international reputation for excellence in sustainability, community engagement and innovation.

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. in a related field must be completed by September 1, 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Creates an environment that acknowledges, encourages and celebrates differences.
- Functions and communicates effectively and respectfully within the context of varying beliefs, behaviors, orientations, identities and cultural backgrounds.
- Seeks opportunities to gain experience working and collaborating in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings with a willingness to change for continual improvement
- Adheres to all PSU's policies including the policies on Prohibited Discrimination & Harassment and the Professional Standards of Conduct.
- Contributes to a culture of environmental stewardship, practices resource conservation, and actively works toward achieving long-term sustainability goals.

Professional Standards of Conduct:

At Portland State University, all employees are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner which maintains a safe, respectful, and productive environment for faculty, students, administrators, and staff. It is the responsibility of every member of the Portland State University community to conduct themselves in accordance with our PSU Professional Standards of Conduct which are available at www.pdx.edu/hr/professional-standards-conduct.

Total Compensation Range &amp; Benefits Statement:

The starting annual salary rate for this position will be between $65,007-$67,005. The starting salary may be negotiable above this range, however it will be dependent upon the knowledge, experience, skills and abilities of the chosen candidate, the budget of the hiring committee, and approval from HR.

PSU's excellent benefits package includes 95% premium paid healthcare; a generous retirement and vacation package, and reduced tuition rates for employee, spouse or dependent at any of the Oregon Public Universities

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5945

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

Specializations: South Asia, Middle East, Religion & Politics

Assistant-Level Faculty Position in the Social Sciences with a focus on Muslim Societies

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position focused on the culture, economics or politics of Muslim societies. We especially welcome applications from scholars who are studying Muslim societies in Iran and Central Asia, as well as South, Southeast and East Asia.

The successful applicant for this position will be appointed in one of the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, Communication, Economics, Political Science, or Sociology. The successful applicant will have teaching and advising responsibilities in their home department and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae including list of publications, and one recent writing sample. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 25, 2019. Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14164>

For Anthropology applicants only: Anthropology will contact candidates at a later date to request that three confidential letters of recommendation be submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5941

Harvard University

Rank: William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Canada, North America, United States

The Canada Program at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites applications for the William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship. Two fellows will be appointed for the 2020–2021 academic year, with the possibility of extending the fellowship for one additional year—conditional on the approval of the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, WCFAIA associated faculty, and the co-hosting academic department.

The fellowship is open to scholars in all disciplines who are engaged in US-Canada comparative research and teaching, with preference given to individuals working within the social sciences and humanities. For postdoctoral candidates who will have completed the PhD within 12 months of the August 1, 2020 start date, verification of completion of the degree will be required prior to the appointment. Those in possession of a PhD for more than five years are ineligible.

The fellowship provides an annual stipend of $68,000, which is supplemented by funding for research and for individual health insurance coverage. The fellow will be required to teach one course during the year, and will be expected to engage with the Canada Program and with the University's wider community. Fellows receive shared office space at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, and enjoy full access to the University's library, archival, and computing resources.

TO APPLY:

Candidates should submit: a letter of application describing their suitability for the fellowship; a curriculum vitae with a list of publications; a sample of their written work; a teaching portfolio, containing a statement on teaching experience and syllabi; and three letters of recommendation.

TO SUBMIT:

<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9111>

DEADLINE:

All application materials must be received no later than Friday, November 1, 2019.

For more information about the Canada Program, please visit: http://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

For more information about the WCFIA Canada Program, please visit: http://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/7/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 5937

Rutgers University, Camden

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor – International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Middle East, South Asia, Western Europe

Rutgers University – Camden Campus

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor – International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University-Camden invites applications for a full time, tenure track appointment at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in Political Science. The primary field of specialization is International Relations with expertise in Security Studies and the ability to contribute to teaching in the department's U.S. National Security Certificate Program. A regional specialty in the Middle East, Asia, or Europe is desirable. Ph.D. must be awarded no later than June 2020.

The Camden Campus is a unit of Rutgers University and as such all applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly potential commensurate with expectations at a public research university. Rutgers-Camden places a high value on providing meaningful undergraduate opportunities for research <http://fas.camden.rutgers.edu/student-experience/undergraduate-research/curca/> and for civic engagement <http://www.camden.rutgers.edu/office-civic-engagement>.

The Political Science Department includes nine full-time faculty members serving approximately 250 majors. While the course load and publishing expectations reflect those of a large research institution, our class size and commitment to individualized attention, especially in our honors program, reflect the advantages of a smaller liberal arts environment. Camden is located directly across the Delaware River from Philadelphia, offering a diversity of transportation, and housing, cultural and educational options.

Candidates should submit the following materials to Rutgers University-Camden at the following link - <http://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/100911>

(1) a letter of interest emphasizing teaching experience as well as research accomplishments and agenda; (2) a CV; (3) three letters of reference; and (4) an unofficial transcript documenting doctoral studies to date. Please be sure to submit documents as pdf files or MS Word documents. Hiring for this position is contingent on final

University funding approval. The Department will be interviewing candidates at the APSA meetings and applications will be accepted until October 15, 2019. Rutgers is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University and our department seek to attract diverse faculty and staff of the highest caliber. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 8/7/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5939

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for a postdoctoral research position for the 2020-2021 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Post-doctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines bearing on the study of Economic Diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (September 28, 2020 – June 11, 2021), and to interact with faculty and Ph.D. students, giving at least one research talk. Selected fellows are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019, for full consideration; however, the posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process: All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02196>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or receive a Ph.D. degree in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines related to the study of Economic Diplomacy by the start of appointment.

Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on December 6, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. CCD Fellows will receive applicable UCSD benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the UCSD's background check policy.

For more information about the Center for Commercial Diplomacy fellowship program, please contact Alexandra Hubenko, Executive Director, at ahubenko@ucsd.edu

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5926

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor in Social Diversity

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a tenure-stream appointment in the area of Social Diversity. We are seeking a candidate whose research focuses on key issues of development and diversity, and who can teach core courses in both fields too. We seek candidates with deep area-based expertise in the Global South but, within those parameters, we are open as to precise region or country of specialisation. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence on July 1, 2020, or shortly thereafter.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

Candidates must provide strong evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by a record of publications in leading outlets in the field or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, independent, and externally funded research program and to pursue outstanding research at the highest international level. Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a teaching dossier, to include a strong statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations and teaching accomplishments, and strong endorsements from referees. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St George) campus.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, article-length writing sample (approximately 10,000 words), teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. Because we seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity, candidates are also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups. Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed and scanned) directly to the Chair of the search committee in the Department of Political Science, Professor Antoinette Handley, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 3, 2019.

All application materials should be submitted through the University of Toronto's online application system. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by October 3, 2019.

If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/3/2019

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5925

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Comparative Politics/Comparative Political Economy

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics and Comparative Political Economy.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/53011>

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5904

Gettysburg College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor – Comparative Politics/East Asian Politics

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2020.

Qualifications:

The department seeks candidates in the subfield of comparative politics, with a specialization in East Asia, a substantive focus on Chinese politics, and the ability to teach a course in Japanese politics. The successful candidate will be able to teach the department's introductory comparative government course, upper-level courses in his or her specialty, and contribute to the department's methods requirement. The successful candidate should have a commitment to teaching in a liberal arts tradition and show evidence of scholarly engagement.

We are particularly interested in candidates whose teaching and scholarship will contribute to the department's commitment to diversity and academic excellence. As part of the cover letter or teaching statement, we invite you to elaborate on your cultural proficiencies and experiences engaging an increasingly diverse student body.

The College welcomes the candidate to join a group of East Asianists who are currently housed in eight academic departments across humanities and social sciences at the College. These faculty members have built strong academic connections through curriculum and undergraduate research/capstone projects.

A PhD in political science or ABD status is required. The teaching load is 3/2.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/3121>. Please submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample; transcripts; and a separate statement about your teaching philosophy. The cover letter should be addressed to Professor Bruce Larson, Chair, Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references listed will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Application materials must be received by October 1, 2019. Review of applications will begin immediately. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Bruce Larson: blarson@gettysburg.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5896

Mount Saint Mary's University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, Conflict Processes

The Department of Political Science at Mount St. Mary's University invites outstanding teacher-scholars to apply for a tenure-track appointment starting in August 2020. The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. in political science with a specialization in international relations and/or comparative politics and will have demonstrated a commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service to a campus community.

The successful candidate must possess the ability to teach in two or more of the following areas: social science research methods, American foreign policy, conflict and security studies, international law and organizations, and/or human rights. In addition, the successful candidate must possess the ability to teach in a one or more of the following regional specializations: The Middle East and North Africa, sub-Saharan Africa and/or Russia and Eastern Europe. The regional courses contribute to the Core Program, our common liberal arts curriculum, and our international studies program.

Qualified applicants will have a Ph.D. in political science before May 2020 and will have a primary area of competence in international relations/comparative politics with an ability to teach in our interdisciplinary Core Program courses, including our first year symposium course.

Mount St. Mary's University is the second oldest Catholic university in America and seeks faculty members eager to engage and support our Catholic identity. Located in a serene mountain setting in Emmitsburg, Md., yet near major metropolitan areas, the Mount is a comprehensive, nationally recognized Catholic university with an enrollment of over 2,000 students and a 13:1 student to faculty ratio.

Salary

This is a full-time position with full benefits and annual, holiday, and sick leave. Competitive salary commensurate to experience.

Position Status

- Full-time position-Beginning August 2020
- Applications received by October 15, 2020 will be given full consideration.

Required Documents

- Cover letter that briefly summarizes your qualifications and interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- 3 Letters of Recommendation
- Student Evaluations

Ways to Apply

Please send cover letter, curriculum vitae, student evaluations, and three letters of recommendation to polisci@msmary.edu or to the following address:

PS/IS Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Mount St. Mary's University
16300 Old Emmitsburg Road
Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5908

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Faculty Position - Sabancı University

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: political behavior, political regime change or political economy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5910

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics/ Public Policy (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics/Public Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: Turkish Politics, policy evaluation or social policy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5911

North Carolina State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, American Politics, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science in North Carolina State University's School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position beginning August 2020. We seek candidates with research and teaching expertise in American judicial politics. The strongest candidates also will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in comparative judicial politics.

Primary teaching responsibilities will be at the undergraduate level in the department's Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in Political Science. Faculty with relevant interests may also teach in the department's Master of International Studies program. Candidates interested in teaching social science methodology should note that interest in their applications.

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or a related field and must demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence, strong research and publication skills, and future research productivity. Applicants who can thrive in, and help foster, a diverse research and learning environment are especially encouraged to apply. Examples of mentorship are welcome as part of the application packet.

The Department of Political Science prides itself on high quality research and teaching. We aim to promote faculty success through close mentoring for junior faculty, supportive departmental research colloquia, and regular support for collaborative research. As a land grant institution, we welcome scholars who seek to engage with contemporary public debates.

NC State is located in Raleigh, N.C., the state capital and heart of the Research Triangle. It is also home to the NC Supreme Court, the NC Appeals Court, and the US District Court for Eastern North Carolina. Raleigh regularly is ranked as one of the nation's best places to live and work. The university is consistently ranked among the top 50 public universities in the country.

The ability to carry out an original research agenda in political science. Strong commitment to excellence in teaching is expected. Excellent communication skills.

If available, applicants should also attach sample syllabi and teaching evaluations. In addition, applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation and transcripts sent to the Search Committee Chair.

Information requests may be addressed to :

Dr. James Zink, jrzink@ncsu.edu,

Chair, Assistant Professor position, Department of Political Science
Campus Box 8102,

NC State University,
Raleigh, NC 27695-8102.

Teaching experience in Political Science at the college level, and demonstrated evidence of teaching excellence. You may apply at <http://jobs.ncsu.edu/postings/121447>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5892

Cornell University

Rank: Tenure-Track Positions

Tenure-track positions at the ILR School, Cornell University

The ILR School at Cornell University is hiring in a number of areas this year. ILR is the world's leading college focused on work, employment, and labor issues, with faculty from a number of disciplinary backgrounds. Brief position descriptions and links to the full listings are below. Cornell University is an equal opportunity employer, and women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

Tenure-Track Position in Labor Movements and Collective Representation

(<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14116>)

Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations (ILR) invites applications to fill a tenure-track faculty position at the assistant professor level in Labor Movements and Collective Representation to begin August 2020. Applicants should have research and teaching interests related to labor movements or other forms of collective worker representation. A demonstrated potential for high quality teaching and research leading to publication in top-tier journals is essential. At the time of appointment, applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in industrial relations, sociology, political science, anthropology, management, or other related disciplines. Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, vita, research statement, teaching statement, diversity and inclusion statement, writing sample, and three reference letters. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019. Inquiries about this position should be directed to Prof. Virginia Doellgast (vld7@cornell.edu), Prof. Kate Griffith (kategriffith@cornell.edu), Prof. Shannon Gleeson (smg338@cornell.edu), or Prof. Sarosh Kuruvilla (sck4@cornell.edu).

Tenure-Track Position in International and Comparative Labor & Employment Law

(<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14115>)

Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations (ILR) invites applications to fill a tenure-track faculty position (at the assistant, associate or full professor level) in International and Comparative Labor & Employment Law to begin August 2020. Applicants should have research and teaching interests related to international and comparative labor & employment law. A demonstrated potential for high quality teaching and research leading to publication in top-tier journals is essential. Policy-oriented experience in the field of international and comparative labor & employment law is desirable. At the time of appointment, applicants must have completed a J.D. and/or a Ph.D. in industrial relations, sociology, political science, management, or other related disciplines. Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, vita, research statement, teaching statement, diversity and inclusion statement, writing sample, and three reference letters. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019. Inquiries about this position should be directed to Prof. Virginia Doellgast (vld7@cornell.edu), Prof. Kate Griffith (kategriffith@cornell.edu), Prof. Shannon Gleeson (smg338@cornell.edu), or Prof. Sarosh Kuruvilla (sck4@cornell.edu).

Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date:*Date Posted: 8/1/2019Salary: NegotiableeJobs ID: 5873University of Southern California*Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (Los Angeles) invites applications for a broad and open-ended search for a tenure track Assistant Professor in the field of Comparative Politics. We welcome applications from scholars who have excellent theoretical and methodological training with regional expertise. Substantive areas of interest include state formation and capacity, authoritarianism and democratization, contentious politics, identity politics, race and ethnicity, political institutions and policymaking, and the political economy of development.

A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate education is expected. The position is anticipated to begin in Fall semester 2020, and a Ph.D. is required by the start of the appointment. Review of applications will start September 15 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-in-comparative-politics/1209/12726751>. The applicant should upload a CV, a letter of interest, writing samples, a statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Inquiries may be sent to poir.requests@dornsife.usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/1/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5890Worcester State University*Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science*Specializations: Latin American, South Asia, Southeast Asia

The Department of History and Political Science at Worcester State University seeks a tenure-track Political Scientist in the field of Comparative Politics and/or International Relations with an area specialty in South Asia, Southeast Asia, or Latin America.

The successful candidate will teach the department's introductory courses in Global Politics and International Relations, as well as Political Science Research Methods and upper-level courses in their specialty, and should be prepared to contribute to the university's interdisciplinary programs including Global Studies, Ethnic Studies, Pre-Law, Environmental and Sustainability Studies, and/or Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, and to further Worcester State's commitment to increasing and fostering diversity in our campus community.

The teaching load is four courses per semester. Instructional formats may include face-to-face classes, blended, or fully online courses. Responsibilities of the position include carrying out a scholarly research agenda, advising undergraduate students, and otherwise contributing to the academic and strategic missions of the department and the university.

REQUIREMENTS

A Ph.D. in Political Science is required and must be conferred by August 2020.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Review of applications will begin October 1 and continue until position is filled.

Salary and rank commensurate with education and experience.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

All applicants must apply online at: <http://worcester.interviewexchange.com>

Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, writing sample (of approximately 30 pages), sample syllabus, and 3 signed letters of reference dated within six months of the posting date. Original transcripts will be required if degrees cannot be verified through the National Student Clearinghouse.

All information that can be uploaded to one's e-account should be done so by the applicant; information which cannot may be faxed to 508-929-8169 or sent to the following address:

Director of Human Resources
Worcester State University
486 Chandler Street
Worcester, MA 01602-2597

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/1/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5887Florida State University*Rank: Assistant Professor

The Florida State University is recruiting an assistant professor of political science on a tenure earning line to begin in August 2020. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, conduct research in their area of expertise and contribute to department, college and university service. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda, strong analytical and empirical skills, and seek to achieve the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to undergraduate and graduate education. The department is especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in scientific study of international conflict and cooperation, including interstate and intrastate conflict, political violence, and human rights. Successful candidates will have training in advanced quantitative methods and be able to contribute to graduate training in that area. Candidates must have earned their doctoral degrees before their appointment begins in August, 2020.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Doctoral 1 institution. Its student population of around 42,000 includes around 8,500 students in graduate and professional schools. Tallahassee is the Florida state capital has a population of about 190,000 within a metro area with about 375,000 residents. The department has over 1,100 majors, an applied master degree program that focuses on practical political management, and a doctoral program.

Florida State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The University is committed to diversity and inclusion (<https://diversity.fsu.edu/>), and we seek individuals who are dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, who share the University's goals to achieve greater diversity and inclusion, and who are reflective of our student body. The successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in a diverse, multicultural and inclusive setting. We encourage applications from women, minorities, and/or individuals with a demonstrated commitment to a culturally and intellectually diverse workplace.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application that indicates their research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendations, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Please submit files and questions about the search to polisci@fsu.edu. To ensure that materials are reviewed, please submit files by October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 7/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5869

University of Wisconsin, La Crosse

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

The University of Wisconsin-La Crosse invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor beginning August 2020 in the Department of Political Science and Public Administration. Preference will be given to applicants with teaching and research interests in comparative politics, with a particular preference for specialization in one or more of the following areas: Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Latin America, security studies, human security, environmental policy, and/or sustainable development. Candidates must demonstrate a commitment to teaching excellence, including dynamic, inclusive, and engaging classroom practices. The position will also include advising responsibilities, and the potential for directing undergraduate research projects, teaching lower and upper level research methods courses, and teaching the capstone seminar. In addition to teaching excellence, the Department places a high value on service to the University/wider community and scholarly productivity. Candidates must also demonstrate a commitment to service and a scholarship agenda.

Candidates for the appointment should have or be near to completing a doctorate in Political Science by the start date. If a doctorate is not yet earned, it must be earned by the first personnel review, no later than May 15, 2021.

The 11-member department offers undergraduate majors and minors in both Political Science and Public Administration and offers courses that serve interdisciplinary minors in Ethnic and Racial Studies; International Studies; International Business; Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies; Criminal Justice; and Environmental Studies. The department also collaborates with the university's Secondary Teacher Education Preparation (STEP) Program. The usual teaching load is three preparations and four (3 credit) courses per semester, two of which will be Political Science upper division electives and two of which will be General Education courses based on candidate interest and preparation. General Education courses offered by the department include American National Government, State and Local Government, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Contemporary Global Issues.

Required Application Submissions:

1. Cover letter, with a description about how you envision yourself contributing to the department's Comparative Politics curriculum
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Names, email addresses, and phone numbers for three academic/professional references

Applicant review will begin September 20, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Note: Electronic submission of application materials is required. For additional information about this position and to apply, please visit <https://employment.uwlax.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5865

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Economic, Racial/Ethnic, and/or Gender Inequality

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position – Advertisement
 Department of Political Science at The University of Tennessee

Economic Racial/Ethnic and/or Gender Inequality

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in economic, racial/ethnic, and/or gender inequality, to begin Fall 2020. The position is open with regard to field in Political Science (or related discipline) and methodological approach. We welcome applications from scholars across the discipline who analyze how political actors, processes, institutions, outcomes or individuals are racialized, classed, and/or gendered and/or who take intersectional approaches to understanding these questions. We are particularly interested in applicants with substantive research agendas that grapple with challenging issues of marginalization and exclusion and who exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically motivated research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66902>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5864

North Central College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at North Central College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in political science with emphasis in public law, judicial politics, law and society, or comparative law to begin Fall 2020. Ph.D. must be in hand by August 1, 2020. Our department is committed to preparing students to contribute meaningfully to a democracy, while at the same time understanding the nuance of political equality and civic participation. We value diversity and are committed to social justice, equity, and inclusiveness. Experience working with historically marginalized and underserved communities will be weighed in a candidate's favor.

Applicants should have teaching experience and show potential for excellence in undergraduate teaching and scholarship. In addition to teaching courses in law (Introduction to Law, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties), a candidate should be prepared to teach the introductory course in American government and contribute to the department's methodology courses. The department expects that the successful candidate will also develop courses in their areas of expertise. There will be additional opportunities for the successful candidate to contribute to North Central's tradition of interdisciplinary learning.

Founded in 1861, North Central College is a selective, comprehensive liberal arts institution of about 3000 students, located 28 miles west of Chicago in Naperville. The College is in a period of growth with the addition of a $60 million Science Center opened in March 2017. The college is within walking distance of the Naperville Metra station and is next to downtown Naperville. The Naperville area is home to many excellent school districts and Naperville, IL has been ranked as one of the best places to live by Money magazine. For more information, please visit: <http://www.noctrl.edu>.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of scholarly interest, evidence of teaching effectiveness and three letters of recommendation in an electronic format.

To apply on line copy and paste link below into browser: <https://northcentralcollege.peopleadmin.com/postings/6584>

For further information, please email Dr. William Muck, Chair of Political Science, at wjmuck@noctrl.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5857

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania is conducting a search for a tenure-track assistant professor in the area of conflict studies, broadly defined. We seek an outstanding scholar and teacher who takes a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of conflict including, but not limited to, the study of inter-state and intra-state war and the study of any form of political or inter-group violence (ethnic, religious, racial, sexual). The search is open with regard to methodological orientation and field concentration. Candidates working in International Relations, Comparative Politics, or any other sub-field specialization in political science and adjacent disciplines are invited to apply.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is required at the start of the appointment. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, and teaching statement, should be uploaded to apply.interfolio.com/64682.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating a more diverse faculty (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>). The University of Pennsylvania is an EOE. Minorities/Women/Individuals with disabilities/Protected Veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5842

Texas Tech University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University is seeking applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in Comparative Politics to begin Fall 2020. The department is seeking candidates with research and teaching specializations in Latin America. We prefer those candidates with strong, quantitative methods training and the ability to teach graduate methods courses an added plus. Evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and a commitment to attracting external funds are also highly valued. We expect faculty to provide service to the department, TTU, and the community. Experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. The successful candidate will have their PhD in Political Science completed by the start of the appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, writing sample, contact information for three references, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. These items should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 18204BR. Applications for the position will start to be reviewed on or about 10/1/2019 and will continue until the position is filled. For questions about the position, contact the department chair, Prof. Timothy Nokken.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5814

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business

Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for tenure-track positions at all ranks beginning September 1, 2020. The positions are for scholars of exceptional caliber who will strengthen the political economy group's research and teaching and make a distinctive programmatic contribution to the Graduate School of Business. The political economy group at the GSB is a collaboration of economists and political scientists. We welcome applications from across political economy and political science broadly construed, both theoretical and empirical, and focusing on developed as well as developing countries. Outstanding research and teaching skills are essential. Applicants at all ranks will be considered and must have a PhD or expect to complete one before September 1, 2020.

Applicants should submit their applications electronically by visiting the web site <http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/recruiting> and uploading their curriculum vitae, research papers and publications, and teaching evaluations, if applicable, on that site. For an application to be considered complete, all applicants must submit a CV, a job market paper and arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted by November 30, 2019. Please note that we will be reviewing and considering applications as they come in. For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to Faculty\_Recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5811

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics, Tenure-Track

The Department of Political Science seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics, broadly defined. We are open with respect to methodological approach and substantive and/or regional area of interest.

We seek a scholar whose work is focused on the urgent and perennial questions of world politics. These are now, and for the next several decades, likely to be concerned with processes of democratization, threats to democracy, causes of global inequality, challenges to national identity posed by migration, the political economy of changing modes of production, the regional and global impact of climate change, and how social movements succeed or fail. We are open with respect to the successful candidate's areas of interest and expertise which could include but are not restricted to the above questions and other interests such as diaspora, Native American and comparative Indigenous politics, human rights, authoritarianism or non-violent political change.

Successful candidates will contribute to the intellectual diversity of the department. They should be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses and advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in comparative politics. They may also teach in their substantive area of expertise.

Boston University is an exciting place in which to study and teach politics. It has internationally known regionally focused centers, e.g. an African Studies Center and a Center for the Study of Europe. Other centers focus on religion, gender and sexuality, cities, and long-range futures.

Application materials, addressed to the Chair of the Comparative Politics Search Committee, should be submitted electronically on <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14078> and include: a letter of interest describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience including your accomplishments in areas contributing to diversity, equity and inclusion; curriculum vitae; transcripts; evidence of previous teaching experience, including syllabi if those are available; a short writing sample, and three letters of reference sent directly from your recommenders.

Applications will be reviewed starting on 1 October 2019. Official transcripts are required prior to employment. The start day for employment is 1 July 2020, pending final budgetary approval.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5801

Centre College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Quantitative Methods

Centre College invites applications for a Two-Year Visiting Assistant Professor in Politics with expertise in American and comparative political institutions. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college.

Candidates may specialize in either American or comparative politics as their primary field but must have a strong secondary specialization in the other. Ideal candidates should be able to teach courses on U.S. political institutions (Congress, Presidency, state and local politics, e.g.) as well as equivalent global political institutions. This candidate must also be able to teach courses on quantitative data analysis and contribute to the major's political research curricular track. Previous work with applied politics (campaigns, data analytics, journalism, e.g.) and/or a research focus on the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, or sexuality and political institutions is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65567>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5788

University of Louisville

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is accepting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin August 1, 2020. The position is in comparative politics and/or international relations, with preferred research specialization and teaching interests in Middle East and/or African Politics. The position's teaching expectations also include the department's introductory classes in comparative politics. Competitive candidates should have demonstrated research potential and teaching experience. University policy requires completion of a Ph.D. by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Department of Political Science has 20 full-time professors and is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body. We have over 450 students and offer BA, BS, and MA degrees. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university. Interested candidates must apply online at www.louisville.edu/jobs and attach a curriculum vitae. In addition, applicants should send a cover letter, a sample of written work, graduate transcripts, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of reference to Dr. Jasmine Farrier, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292 or via email to polisci@louisville.edu. Application review will begin on September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To apply for this position, follow the "Online App. Form" link below and then click on the "Apply Now" button. You must answer all required fields and submit your application by clicking the "Submit" button. Detailed instructions are available at louisville.edu/jobs in the "My Career Tools" section. Vacancies are routinely removed from the jobs portal around 7:00PM on the deadline date. If the posting description requested that you follow up and mail or email other documents, your application will not be considered complete until those have been received by the department.

NOTE:

Only ONE attachment can be uploaded per application. If you wish to include a cover letter or other documents, please combine them as one document with your resume/cv, save the document with a simple short title that contains only letters, spaces, or numbers, and then upload.

EFFECTIVE 08/01/2018, the option to use an existing resume will no longer be available. On or after this date, please use the option to "Upload a new resume" to attach your CV or resume document.

Computers are available for application submission at the Human Resources Department located at 1980 Arthur Street - Louisville, Kentucky 40208. If you have any questions or problems please contact, Center for Faculty Personnel - FACPERS@louisville.edu or by phone 502-852-5301

If you require assistance or accommodation with our online application process, you may schedule an appointment at (502) 852-6258 with Employment Services at the Human Resources office located at 1980 Arthur Street, Louisville, KY 40208.

Application Information

<https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=177041727>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5791

Harvard Business School

Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Political Science

Harvard Business School is seeking candidates for a tenure-track position in the Business, Government, and the International Economy (BGIE) unit. We will consider candidates whose research interests include international political economy or comparative political economy. The search is open with regard to methodological approach. Candidates may come directly from Ph.D. programs or from the faculties of other universities. The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020.

All applicants should have excellent academic credentials and a demonstrated potential for conducting outstanding research. The School is particularly interested in applicants with interdisciplinary interests and strong records of, or potential for, excellence in teaching.

Successful candidates will, at the outset, teach a required first-year MBA course on the economic, political, and social environment of global business.

Applications must be received no later than September 26th, 2019 and should include: cover letter, curriculum vitae, description of research, and writing sample (preferably dissertation chapters). Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted through the online portal by the referees.

To apply please go to this website and select "Tenure-Track Position in Political Science" when choosing a position on the application:

<http://www.hbs.edu/research/faculty-recruiting>

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 9/26/2019

Date Posted: 7/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5777

Bentley University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Public Policy/International Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

JOB DESCRIPTION SUMMARY:

The Global Studies Department at Bentley University, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Public Policy/International Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2020. We particularly welcome candidates with expertise in policy areas such as sustainability, development, and health—areas that complement existing programs and appeal to students at a business university.

The successful candidate will be asked to contribute to enhancing our two departmental majors - Public Policy and International Affairs - and to complement the department's existing strengths, which are grounded in political science, geography and cultural studies. While the position is open with respect to region, we especially welcome candidates whose work focuses on regions with emerging economies, particularly in Asia or Africa.

Founded in 1917, Bentley University is a private, Business-focused university with a strong commitment to the Arts and Sciences. Bentley enrolls approximately 5,500 students at the undergraduate, graduate and doctoral levels. Located in Waltham, Massachusetts, Bentley is on the doorstep of one of the nation's leading cities. With over 35 colleges and universities, the greater Boston area is a vibrant place to work and live.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach core courses in public policy/international affairs and electives in their area of expertise.

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a continuing research agenda focused on publication and a strong dedication to excellence in teaching, with preference for candidates with classroom experience. We especially welcome candidates who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to the classroom.

PhD required. (Requirements for your doctoral degree must be confirmed prior to the start of the fall 2020 semester.)

Position will remain open until filled. However, priority consideration will be given to applications received by September 30, 2019.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS:

All application materials should be submitted through Bentley's on-line employment site at <https://bentley.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty>. Applications should include a letter of interest and CV. Names and contact information for three references are required upon application. Bentley will contact these confidential references for those candidates moving forward in the process.

Bentley University requires references checks and may conduct other pre-employment screening.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT:

Bentley University strives to create a campus community that welcomes the exchange of ideas, and fosters a culture that values differences and views them as a strength in our community.

Bentley University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, building strength through diversity. The University is committed to building a community of talented students, faculty and staff who reflect the diversity of global business. We strongly encourage applications from persons from underrepresented groups, individuals with disabilities, covered veterans and those with diverse experiences and backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/30/2019
Date Posted: 7/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5769

Skidmore College

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Political Science Department at Skidmore College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations with a secondary specialization in Comparative Politics. The appointment will begin in Fall 2020. We are looking for a candidate who is broadly trained in one or more of the following issue areas: migration, transnational population flows, global public health, illicit markets, international organizations, and environmental politics. The successful candidate will have fieldwork experience and area expertise in either Sub-Saharan Africa or Latin America. We expect the successful candidate to contribute to Skidmore College's Black Studies Program and/or Latin American & Latinx Studies Program, as well as to the First-Year Experience. The position carries a 3-2 teaching load, and the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in International Relations and Comparative Politics that will include Introduction to Comparative and International Politics and other courses in their specialization.

The college encourages candidates to apply from under-represented groups and individuals who have demonstrated experience with diverse populations who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service. We invite you to discuss any relevant aspects of your candidacy in your cover letter.

The application deadline is October 1, 2019. Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a sample of professional writing, teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, evaluations of undergraduate teaching or other evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation. A Ph.D. in Political Science at time of appointment is required.

Minimum Qualifications
 Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment.
<https://careers.skidmore.edu/postings/3395>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 7/5/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5749

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position Announcement

Assistant Professor
 Department of Government
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2020. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completed by August 2020. Successful candidates will have strong methodological skills. The department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests extend beyond comparative politics to American politics or methodology, and build on the department's goals of producing high impact research, providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching, and contributing to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/64947>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, and three letters of recommendation. Please email govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/2/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5734

Colorado College

Rank: Comparative Politics Position - Open Rank

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College is hiring for a position in comparative politics, broadly defined. The rank is open. The position requires expertise in the Middle East and North Africa, broadly defined. Crucial to the position is potential for, and commitment to, excellence in scholarship as well as in teaching at a liberal arts institution.

Colorado College is committed to fostering an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work. Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals.

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The teaching load is six blocks a year. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research.

If the successful candidate is to begin employment at the assistant professor level, all requirements for the Ph.D. should be completed by the starting date of August 24, 2020.

Applicants should submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research goals; 4) a statement of pedagogical principles; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (including syllabi and evaluations); 6) undergraduate and graduate transcripts; 7) a dissertation abstract (if applying at the assistant professor level); 8) a sample of scholarly publications, and 9) three letters of recommendation to: <https://employment.coloradocollege.edu/postings/4035>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/15/2019
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5731

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Chinese Politics: International or Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: China, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for a position in international relations or comparative politics with a focus on China. We are especially interested in scholars who examine China's role in the world through the lens of international or comparative political economy.

The Department prides itself on its ability to foster innovative research and forge cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods.

Applicants at the level of assistant or associate professor are welcome. In addition to a cover letter, all applicants should submit a research statement, description of teaching philosophy, a writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send three letters of recommendation via Interfolio. Applicants at the level of associate professor, please provide the names of three references. Please visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/64888> to upload application materials.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2020.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5726

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/3/2020

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5683

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments can be from 15 days to one-month during the 2020-2021 academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 18, 2019. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12122>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay, 15 days to one-month during the academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5682

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2020-2021 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2020 - January 31, 2021; spring semester: February 1- June 30, 2021). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 18, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12121>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;
- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Required Qualifications: Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5681

Brandeis University

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor

Specializations: Russia, Africa, South Asia

The Department of Politics at Brandeis University invites applications for a full-time tenure track or tenured position in Comparative Politics at the rank of assistant professor or associate professor. The successful candidate's term will begin in the Fall of 2020.

We are especially, but not solely, interested in candidates with regional expertise in Russia, Eastern Europe, Sub-Saharan Africa, or South Asia and with substantive interest in issues of ethnic politics, conflict and conflict mitigation, democratization and de-democratization, political economy, political institutions, parties, and/or elections. Candidates must demonstrate teaching and research excellence.

Duties include the teaching of undergraduate and graduate courses in Comparative Politics (with courses cross-listed in the International Global Studies program, as appropriate), graduate student advising, doctoral dissertation supervision, undergraduate thesis advising, and university and departmental service.

The course load is 2/2.

Candidates applying at the rank of assistant professor should have a PhD in Political Science in hand by August 2020. Candidates applying at the rank of associate professor should have a proven publication record appropriate to this rank.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research and teaching interests that includes potential course offerings and syllabi and student evaluations where available, a chapter or article-length writing sample, and three letters of reference. Brandeis University is committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion in faculty scholarship, teaching, and service. Applicants are encouraged to address these goals in their cover letter or in their teaching and research statement. These materials can be submitted electronically at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13898>.

First consideration will be given to applications received by September 20, 2019. Questions about the position can be directed to: Eva Bellin (ebellin@brandeis.edu), Chair, Search Committee on Comparative Politics.

This position is subject to budget approval.

At Brandeis we believe that diversity, equity, and inclusion are essential components of academic excellence. Brandeis is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer that is committed to creating equitable access and opportunities for applicants to all employment positions. Because diversity, equity, and inclusion are at the core of Brandeis' history and mission, we value and are seeking candidates with a variety of social identities, including those that have been under-represented in higher education. The search committee is therefore particularly interested in candidates who, through their scholarly pursuits, teaching, and/or service experiences, will build on Brandeis' reputation for academic excellence and prepare its students for creative engagement in a pluralistic society.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5692

Mrs.

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

Occidental College

Rank: ASSOCIATE/ADVANCED ASSISTANT PROFESSOR in Global Political Economy

A search in Global Political Economy at the Associate Professor with tenure or at the Advanced Assistant levels. We are looking for applicants who have demonstrated an ambitious research and practice agenda with a particular interest in applicants whose work focuses on areas such as the Sustainable Development Goals; Human Rights-based Approaches to Economic Development; Equity/Equality in economic structures (with reference to race, class, identity, and/or gender and the imperative of democratic inclusion); or alternative approaches to studying dominant approaches to international trade, globalization and other topic areas in Global Political Economy. More information on the Young Initiative is here: <https://www.oxy.edu/academics/global-engagement/young-initiative>. The hire will eventually be expected to play a leadership role in the Young Initiative Committee, including its rotating chair-ship.

Priority will be given to applicants who have demonstrated a research agenda that leverages substantial fieldwork with international or regional organizations and/or transnational NGOs. An expectation will be that the hire will continue Occidental College's engagement with on-the-ground work in international affairs, at the local/Los Angeles, transnational, and/or global levels. A priority is the ability to advance the College's mission and an understanding of the distinctiveness of the Liberal Arts culture.

Occidental College is a highly-selective, urban liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body, its commitment to academic excellence and equity, and its undergraduate research programs. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, the College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in Northeast Los Angeles. As one of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental affords students and faculty unique engagement with communities, cultural institutions, and academic resources throughout Los Angeles. Occidental College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, sexual orientation, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by State or Federal Law. We strongly encourage all underrepresented candidates, especially women and persons of color, to apply.

Candidates should send their application as an electronic file to Ms. Chamnan Lim at youngsearch@oxy.edu. A complete application will include the following materials: (1) a cover letter that details the interest in teaching at Occidental and potential linkages to priorities of the Young Initiative in Global Political Economy; (2) a discussion of the applicant's academic research and field practice; (3) a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; (4) a scholarly work sample; (5) Curriculum Vitae; and (6) a list of referees.

All materials are due no later than October 1, 2019; applications received after the deadline will not be reviewed. Interviews of semi-finalists will be held via videoconference.

For information on the Department of Diplomacy & World Affairs, including current course offerings, please visit our website at: <http://www.oxy.edu/diplomacy-world-affairs>. For information on the Young Initiative on the Global Political Economy, please visit our website at the address noted above. Inquiries about the position, the DWA department, or the Young Initiative can be directed to the Interim Young Initiative in the Global Political Economy Chair, Professor Anthony Tirado Chase: achase@oxy.edu.

We will consider for employment all qualified Applicants, including those with Criminal Histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 5/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5660

University of New Orleans

Rank: Doris Zemurray Stone Chair in Latin American Studies

POSITION SUMMARY: The University of New Orleans invites applications and nominations for the endowed Doris Zemurray Stone Chair in Latin American Studies. The University of New Orleans has expanded its work in Latin America to include faculty research in Latin America and a Latin American student outreach program. The endowment includes support for the Chair, for an annual conference, for a Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and for the expansion of summer and other programs in Latin America.

RESPONSIBILITIES: Responsibilities of the chair-holder include: 1) pursuit of chair-holder's research interest; 2) teaching in the chair-holder's area of expertise; 3) development and oversight of a center for Latin American studies; 4) curriculum development and coordination of existing course offerings in the study of Latin America, broadly defined; 5) participation in the existing Latin American Outreach Program, which includes recruitment of students in Latin America; 6) service as a University liaison to the local Latin American community; 7) organizing an annual academic conference, and 8) involvement in fundraising, including student scholarship from the endowment.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS: PhD in a social science or humanities academic discipline as an advanced assistant professor or higher, with a clear track towards tenure; teaching, research, and administrative experience in Latin American and Caribbean studies sufficient to meet the expectations for an endowed chair-holder.

DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS: Experience in administrative and fund-raising activities towards program development and a record of teaching and research consistent with broadly conceived sympathies to interdisciplinary, cross-cultural, and comparative approaches to Latin American, Caribbean, and Circum-Caribbean studies, as well as broadly defined research, teaching and regional geographic interests. APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Application materials, including a letter of interest, a cv, a sample of published writing, and the names and contact information of three professional references, should be sent to Dr. Jeffrey David Ehrenreich, Zemurray Stone Chair Selection Committee, University of New Orleans, New Orleans, LA 70148 (jehrenre@uno.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/16/2018
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5159

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2019. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2019 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 31, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/5/2018
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 4971

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Position (International Political Economy)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

Specializations: Political Economy, Research Methods, East Asia

Faculty Position (International Political Economy) - Job ID: 4879

The Division of Social Science at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to hire a faculty member in International Political Economy. The position is open in rank (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor), but preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to East Asia and demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology.

Applicants should have a PhD degree.

Salary is highly competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Application Procedure

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample publication, and three letters of reference to the attention of: Search and Appointments Committee Chair, Division of Social Science, HKUST, Clear Water Bay, Hong Kong by email to sosearch@ust.hk. Review of applications will start on 1 December 2019 and the search will continue until the position is filled. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and has a range of family-friendly policies in place.

(Information provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes.)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7248

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: Tenure-track Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Foreign Policy

Job Openings for Tenure-track Professor

About the KDI School

KDI School of Public Policy and Management is a graduate school of policy studies founded in 1997 with the support of the Korean government and is the educational arm of the KDI, the nation's most respected economic think tank. KDI has consistently contributed to the government's policy making and implementation, and based on KDI's four decade long research and development consulting experience, our school has been educating public officials and private sector managers from around the globe by providing strategic tools to deal with the growing complexities of the modern world.

As part of the government's policy, KDI School relocated its campus to Sejong City, the new administrative center. With this new proximity to government agencies and research institutes in the area, we expect to enjoy various benefits ranging from calm, pleasant living environment to great synergies achieved through interdisciplinary collaborations.

KDI School is committed to establishing a dynamic framework for knowledge-sharing, where outstanding teaching and research can directly support balanced, sustainable growth in the developing world. To this aim we provide a work environment conducive to academic creativity, offering financial support for research and subsidizing trips to overseas conferences. The school provides relocation assistance and faculty housings on a request and availability basis. All Courses are taught in English.

Position Description

KDI School of Public Policy and Management seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position from those with expertise in the areas of either, International Relations, Innovation / Technology Policy and Management, Environmental Policy and Sustainable Development, Any other Development and Public Policy/Management related Fields. Candidates from economics, public policy, political science, or other closely related fields are invited to apply. Successful candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for research and teaching performance, and can contribute to and benefit from an interdisciplinary environment and interact with colleagues of other fields of social science in our school.

Available Fields

- International Relations
- Innovation / Technology Policy and Management
- Environmental Policy and Sustainable Development
- Any other Development and Public Policy/Management related Fields

of openings: 3

Job Qualifications

An applicant must have a Ph.D. or should be expecting to receive one by September 2019 or 2020 in one of the above-mentioned academic fields.

Application Deadline

All application materials must arrive by October 31, 2019(Korean Standard Time).

Application Requirements

Submit applications electronically to recruit@kdis.ac.kr. Please include;

1. Curriculum vitae (please delete the names of schools where the applicant studied)
2. Cover letter (specify field you're applying for)
3. Research papers (one or two recent working papers or publications)
4. Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the School by the referees.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019
Date Posted: 9/30/2019
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 7249

University of California, Santa Barbara

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The University of California, Santa Barbara Department of Political Science seeks a scholar in international relations for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of assistant professor with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2020. The appointment may concentrate on any research specialty within the field of international relations, although we are particularly interested in substantive scholarship that relates to the Department's strong interdisciplinary foci in the study of identity or the environment. While we are open with respect to methodological or theoretical approach, the successful candidate must be qualified to teach core graduate seminars in international relations. The candidate's research should be theoretically informed and must demonstrate mastery of appropriate research methods.

The minimum requirement to be considered an applicant is the completion of all requirements for a Ph.D. (or equivalent degree), except the dissertation, in Political Science (or related field) at the time of application. Ph.D. preferred.

UCSB is the first Hispanic-Serving Institution in the American Association of Universities (AAU). The University is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service as appropriate to the position. Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Santa Barbara. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, staff and students who share our commitment to these values. The department encourages all applicants to submit a Statement of Contributions to Diversity addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and service.

Completed applications received by October 31, 2019 will receive primary consideration, but the position will remain open until filled. Applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (or other evidence of teaching effectiveness), and arrange for three letters from academic references on their behalf via the UC Recruit website. All application materials should be submitted via UC Recruit: <https://recruit.ap.ucsb.edu/apply/JPF01605>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7256

John Cabot University

Rank: Full-time tenure track faculty position in International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Political Economy, International Security, Environmental Policy

Full-time tenure track faculty position in International Relations

John Cabot University, an accredited American liberal arts university in Rome, Italy, offering four-year degree programs, invites applications for an open-rank (assistant or associate) full-time tenure-track faculty position in International Relations. The initial appointment is for two years with the possibility of tenure. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction.

Preference will be given to candidates with a second field in American or Comparative Politics. We seek applicants with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service and program development.

Special consideration will be given to candidates with expertise in international political economy, international development, public policy or international security (including non-traditional security areas such as food security, cyber security or the environment). Teaching experience with quantitative research methodology would be welcome. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate level courses with a load of three courses per semester as well as be an active member of the university community. The ideal candidate should have familiarity and experience with the American liberal arts educational tradition. Ability to teach graduate level courses is an asset.

Applications should include 1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest and fit for teaching at an American liberal arts college in Rome; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching and research interests; and 4) evidence of teaching excellence. Materials should be sent as a single pdf file to: politicalSciSearch@johncabot.edu. Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the same email address.

The deadline to submit applications is November 1, 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to start in the fall semester of 2020. Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

John Cabot University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic or national origin, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or disability in any of its policies, programs, and services.

Information about JCU can be found at: <http://www.johncabot.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/27/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7238

Loyola University, Chicago

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor

Job Title: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor International Relations with expertise in International Development

Background: Loyola University Chicago (LUC), College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, for academic year 2020-2021. The department seeks applicants in International Relations with expertise in International Development, inclusive of (but not limited to) human security, international human rights, foreign assistance, international trade and investment, international political economy, or civil conflict. The successful candidate will be joining a department with more than 20 faculty members and more than 600 majors and minors. For more information about the department, please visit its website at <http://www.luc.edu/politicalscience/index.shtml>.

Duties and Responsibilities: The International Relations position involves teaching undergraduate courses as well as an occasional graduate course in our graduate program. The candidate will be expected to teach courses in the subfield of International Relations, including an introductory International Relations course.

Minimum Qualifications: The candidate will have a Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of the appointment. Candidates for the position must clearly demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research, and have a record of (or clear potential for) distinguished scholarship, grant-funded research, and student mentorship. Experience working or conducting research, and or teaching in the area of International Relations with expertise in International Development is desirable. The candidate should be willing to support the mission of Loyola University Chicago and the goals of a Jesuit Catholic education.

Special Instructions to Applicants: Candidates should submit a current Curriculum Vitae, a statement outlining the applicant's research agenda, a statement on teaching experience, and a letter of interest to www.careers.luc.edu. They also should arrange for three recommendations or evaluations from individuals prepared to speak to their professional qualifications for this position, especially in terms of scholarship and undergraduate teaching and mentorship, to be submitted electronically to the above website. Samples of scholarly publications and additional materials related to teaching excellence can also be uploaded to this site or mailed to:

Alexandru Grigorescu, Ph.D., Search Committee Chair
Department of Political Science
Loyola University Chicago
1032 W. Sheridan Road
Chicago, Illinois 60660

Review of applications will begin October 28, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Loyola University Chicago is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer with a strong commitment to hiring for our mission and diversifying our faculty. The University seeks to increase the diversity of its professoriate, workforce and undergraduate and graduate student populations because broad diversity – including a wide range of individuals who contribute to a robust academic environment – is critical to achieving the University's mission of excellence in education, research, educational access and services in an increasingly diverse society. Therefore, in holistically accessing the many qualifications of each applicant, we would factor favorably an individual's record of conduct that includes experience with an array of diverse perspectives, as well as a wide variety of different educational, research or other work activities. Among other qualifications, we would also factor favorably experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic career or degrees.

As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our strategic plan to deliver a transformative education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about LUC's mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission. For information about the university's focus on transformative education, they should consult our website at www.luc.edu/transformatived.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7247

The College of Idaho

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Economy or International Political Economy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Specializations: American Politics, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The College of Idaho's Department of Political Economy invites applications for a tenure-track entry-level faculty position that will commence in Fall 2020.

The Department approaches political economy in a broad theoretical manner similar to early modern thinkers such as John Locke, Adam Smith, and Karl Marx. We emphasize the intricate relationship between economics and politics and reject the push for narrow specialization and an overemphasis on formal models. We are open to approaches including public policy analysis, historical institutionalism, heterodox economics, behavioral economics, area studies, and research methods that emphasize the analysis of real-world data. We grant significant autonomy to faculty members to design their own lower and upper division courses that support the department's political economy approach and vision. Professional development support for research, conference travel, and sabbatical leave is available.

The Department offers two related majors: Political Economy and International Political Economy. The successful candidate will EITHER primarily serve the Political Economy major focusing on domestic political economy and policy-making in the United States, OR primarily serve the International Political Economy major focusing on the global economy, international relations, development, and comparative political economy. The department also offers minors supporting the College of Idaho's PEAK curriculum. The teaching load is 3-3 with an additional course taught during each January term.

Successful candidates will have an active research agenda while demonstrating a passion for teaching in the liberal arts tradition. They will join a student-centered department where teaching and mentoring are valued as the highest priority. Such mentorship has recently led students in the department to Marshall, Truman, and Rhodes scholarships as well as to national recognition of departmental faculty for teaching excellence.

A Ph.D. is required in Political Economy, Political Science, International Political Economy, International Relations, Economics (heterodox), Behavioral Economics, or other related fields. Courses to be taught include introductory courses in the field and advanced courses based on the candidate's expertise. Advanced ABD applicants will be considered.

Applications must include letter of interest, CV, statement demonstrating a passion for teaching in the liberal arts tradition, sample syllabi, recent course evaluations, and at least three letters of recommendation.

Candidates must be authorized to work in the United States as of the expected hire date and throughout the date of the contract without sponsorship from The College of Idaho.

Application review will begin October 14, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position has been filled. Please submit application materials via email to hr@collegeofidaho.edu with subject 'Political Economy Search.'

With over 125 years of history, The College of Idaho is a regional and national leader in higher education. The College of Idaho is an inclusive community of exceptional learning that challenges the ambitious and forges pathways to success and purpose. To learn more about The College of Idaho, please visit www.collegeofidaho.edu.

The College of Idaho is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to attracting, retaining, and maximizing the performance of a diverse and inclusive workforce.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7240

University of Oxford

Rank: Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: International Security, State Politics, Conflict Processes

Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence)
Blavatnik School of Government, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter in association with Kellogg College, Oxford
Grade 36S: £48,114 - £64,605 p.a.

The Blavatnik School of Government seeks applications for an Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence). This is a full-time position based at Blavatnik School of Government, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter, Woodstock Road, Oxford. The post will be held in association with a non-tutorial fellowship at Kellogg College situated on Banbury Road, Oxford.

The school aspires to be one of the world's leading academic institutions for research, teaching, and public leadership development which improves government. This Associate Professorship will bring to the school an academic with an emerging global reputation for excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement in the area of political violence and security. We are seeking an academic whose work advances understanding and practice of issues related to security, whether in civil or international contexts. We are interested in someone who works at the nexus of security and state capacities – research into the logics of civil conflict, the challenge of violence in post-conflict societies, and the character of police and security sector reforms would all fit within this description, as would others.

The appointment will be made in association with a non-tutorial fellowship at Kellogg College, where the Fellow is expected to take part in the administration and governance of the College by participation in the Governing Body and other committees. The Official Fellow will be entitled to the rights of Common Table which comprise free lunches and Guest Night Dinners; a pensionable academic allowance of £732 p.a., an advisor's allowance of £644 p.a., and a library allowance of £200 p.a. Additionally, an allowance of £2,754 p.a. would be payable upon award of the Full Professor title.

The successful candidate should have a doctorate in a relevant discipline, such as international relations, politics, public policy or a closely related field; a track record of internationally excellent articles in highly ranked, peer-reviewed academic journals, commensurate with the candidate's career stage; an outstanding programme of applied research in the field of security; the ability and willingness to teach, supervise, and assess high-achieving and challenging graduate students from diverse cultural backgrounds; the ability and willingness to develop and teach upon short courses for senior practitioners from diverse cultural backgrounds; and a commitment to outstanding and innovative teaching.

The appointee will be required to engage in original, world-class applied research on public policy; to secure research funding and successfully complete research projects on public policy; to disseminate research through publication in highly ranked, peer-reviewed academic journals. You will also contribute to the development and delivery of the Master of Public Policy (MPP); give lectures, classes and tutorials; supervise master and doctoral students in the school; and contribute as appropriate to the school's programme of short courses for senior leaders and policymakers.

Further information (including details about how to apply) is included in the further particulars here: <https://www.bsg.ox.ac.uk/jobs/associate-professorship-security-state-violence>

If you have any questions, please contact Brooke Martin-Garbutt, HR Manager using the email address below.

The successful candidate would be expected to join by 1 July 2020 or soon thereafter.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 21 October 2019. We aim to hold interviews at the school from Monday 25 November 2019.

Applications are particularly welcome from women and black and minority ethnic candidates, who are under-represented in academic posts in Oxford.

Contact Person : Brooke Martin-Garbutt

Vacancy ID : 142794

Contact Phone : 01865 614340

Closing Date : 21-Oct-2019

Contact Email : brooke.martin-garbutt@bsg.ox.ac.uk

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7239

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant or Associate, Health Care Policy & Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University seeks to hire a tenured or tenure track professor in the field of health care policy and management, at either the Assistant or Associate level, beginning in fall 2020.

We are interested in attracting a creative, engaging, and innovative colleague with credentials in health care policy and/or management. We welcome a variety of specializations including but not limited to the financing and delivery of health care; the organization and management of health care delivery systems; the politics of health care policy reform; and the impact of health care policy reform on the delivery of healthcare. Candidates with domestic, international, or comparative perspectives are welcome. Applicants should have an active research agenda and a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a research program, teaching in the department's world-renowned professional master programs, teaching one or more undergraduate courses, mentoring MPA and PhD students, and engaging in service.

Our department is collegial, supportive, and interdisciplinary. We welcome applicants from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to public administration, public management, public policy, health administration, economics, political science, sociology, public health, social work, and other social science fields.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Aging, Behavioral Health, and Neuroscience. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions for a research cluster in the focus area of aging. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Maxwell School, the College of Arts and Sciences, Falk College, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. In addition, the individual will also have the opportunity to become affiliated with one or more of the University's other interdisciplinary research centers such as the University's Aging Studies Institute, Maxwell School's Center of Policy Research or the Maxwell School's Program for Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration. Therefore, a track record of collaborative research output is particularly desirable, and record of success in obtaining research support, particularly from the National Institutes of Health or the National Science Foundation.

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School is home to the world's first master of public administration program, which is ranked first among more than 250 graduate public affairs programs in the United States and has several top-ranked specialties (U.S. News & World Report). The department is also home to a top-ranked master's program in international relations (Foreign Policy magazine), as well as several other programs, including a Ph.D. in public administration, a master's degree in public health, executive master's degrees in public administration and international relations, and a wide range of certificate programs.

To be considered, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/76528>) and attach: a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of professional writing, names and complete contact information for 3 references. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6228

University of Florida

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor: International Relations (Gender/Race/Sexualities)

Faculty Full-Time

Visiting Assistant Professor: International Relations (Gender/Race/Sexualities)

The Department of Political Science at the University of Florida, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor to begin January 2, 2020. The position is a full-time, nine-month, one-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. The department seeks to hire a person broadly engaged in research that is field-bridging, adding to our tradition of intellectual diversity. We are particularly interested in candidates who combine rigorous and original scholarship in keeping with the cluster hire themes of race and ethnicity, representation and justice, gender and other categories of identity, and the politics of inequality. Other research fields and a variety of methodological approaches are welcome.

We are seeking candidates who can teach two courses per fall and two courses per spring semester in the field of International Relations, including courses in their own area of research. The courses will include introductory and advanced undergraduate courses and graduate seminars. We have a preference for candidates combining studies of race and gender with justice or inequality. The successful candidate is also expected to develop experiential learning opportunities for undergraduates and excel in mentoring undergraduate research in the department's Honors and Junior Fellows programs. Applicants will have a Ph.D. in hand, or will have completed a Ph.D. by December 31, 2019. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience, and includes a full benefits package. More information about the Department of Political Science can be found at: <http://www.polisci.ufl.edu>.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted online at <http://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing/> and must include:

- a) Cover letter
- b) Curriculum vitae
- c) Statement of research interests/plans
- d) Statement of teaching interests/philosophy
- e) Statement on a commitment to diversity in research, teaching, and mentoring
- f) One article reprint or pre-print
- g) Three confidential letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. All candidates for employment are subject to a pre-employment screening which includes a review of criminal records, reference checks, and verification of education.

The selected candidate will be required to provide an official transcript to the hiring department upon hire. A transcript will not be considered "official" if a designation of "Issued to Student" is visible. Degrees earned from an educational institution outside of the United States require evaluation by a professional credentialing service provider approved by the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES), which can be found at <http://www.naces.org/>.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6227

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Adviser

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for one full-time non-tenure stream position as Lecturer and Academic Adviser. The appointment requires a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and prior teaching experience. The successful candidate is expected to serve as the advisor for a third of the undergraduate majors in the department and to teach four undergraduate courses per year, including one section per semester of Introduction to Global Studies, which the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., in political theory, comparative politics, or international relations). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in nonwestern or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc that complement our existing political theory courses. In addition, the successful candidate will be responsible for supporting Departmental curriculum and programming, outside-the-classroom learning, etc.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and ability to teach the Introduction to Global Studies course. Successful candidates are expected to engage in teaching and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio (statement of philosophy, list of courses, sample syllabi and materials, etc), writing sample(s), teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjc2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by January 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6224

University of Alabama at Birmingham

Rank: Assistant Professor- International Relations and/or Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics, starting August 2020. While the search is open to all subfields, we are particularly interested in candidates who specialize in the area of human rights. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or completed Ph.D. in-hand by August 2020), a promising research agenda, a commitment to quality instruction, and a capacity to work collaboratively to achieve the department's vision and strategic goals.

The Department offers a B.A. in Political Science as well as a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration (MPA) degree, and plays a key role in servicing and developing programs in International Studies, Pre-Law, Women's and Gender Studies, and Human Rights. Currently the department has approximately 95 Political Science and 70 International Studies undergraduate majors, 80 Public Administration graduate students, and 11 full-time faculty members, with anticipated growth in the next few years. See the departmental website for more information (<https://www.uab.edu/cas/pspa/>).

With over 22,000 students and 2,200 full-time faculty members, UAB ranks in the top 15 public universities for federal research funding and is the major teaching-research university in the state. UAB ranks in the top ten nationally for student diversity, with over one hundred countries represented on campus. Birmingham is the largest city in Alabama and offers a vibrant cultural community with a wide array of recreational opportunities.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, statements on research and teaching interests, and a list of three references. Applicants will apply at: <http://uab.peopleadmin.com/postings/5510>. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Tina Reuter, Search Committee Chair, at tkreuter@uab.edu.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or completed Ph.D. in-hand by August 2020). Teaching and research specialization in international relations and/or comparative politics. Research and teaching expertise in human rights.

UAB is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to fostering a diverse, equitable and family-friendly environment in which all faculty and staff can excel and achieve work/life balance irrespective of, race, national origin, age, genetic or family medical history, gender, faith, gender identity and expression as well as sexual orientation. UAB also encourages applications from individuals with disabilities and veterans. A pre-employment background check investigation is performed on candidates selected for employment.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6220

Seoul National University

Rank: Tenure Track in International Relations or Comparative Politics/Area Studies

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Seoul National University is searching for a tenure track position in either International Relations or Comparative Politics/Area Studies. The position is for foreign nationals (non-Korean citizens) and open to all ranks.

We are particularly interested in a candidate specialized in Europe, Middle East, or Asia with excellent research capacity and strong commitment to teaching. Candidate with other interests are also welcomed to apply.

The expected starting date is Spring 2020. Upon employment, the individual will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in English. Teaching load is one class per semester for the first year, and regular teaching load is two per semester thereafter. Housing subsidy will be available.

Please submit your application to the following application website. The application due date is October 22, 2019, 17:00.(Korea Time)

<https://professor.snu.ac.kr/>

How to Apply:

1) Follow the link below

<https://professor.snu.ac.kr/>

2) Click on the English tab at the upper right corner

3) Find the 'Job Openings & Notice' posting, 'College of Social Sciences, 2nd Announcement of Faculty Openings, 2019'

4) Apply online.

* For more detailed instructions, please refer to the attachment.

* Salary: University Scale

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 10/22/2019

Date Posted: 9/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6214

Syracuse University

Rank: Senior Faculty, Director of International Relations

The Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University seeks to hire a senior faculty member to provide academic and programmatic leadership of its professional Master of Arts in International Relations (MAIR) program. We are seeking to hire either a candidate with sufficient academic qualifications to be hired at the rank of associate or full professor with tenure, or a candidate with substantial leadership experience in a professional field involving extensive international affairs work, who could be appointed as a professor of practice. The person hired will be a faculty member in the Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School beginning in August, 2020.

The Maxwell School's MAIR program is highly regarded internationally, ranking among the top professional international affairs programs in the world, and it is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs (APSIA). The MAIR program is administered by the Department of Public Administration and International Affairs, which consists of a highly diverse and interdisciplinary faculty, and is also home to a top ranked Master of Public Administration. The MAIR program is strongly interdisciplinary, and draws on courses offered across the Maxwell School which includes departments of Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science and Sociology. The program also offers exceptional global programming that allows students to complete internships and coursework at locations around the world; it utilizes facilities at the leading global think-tank CSIS located in Washington DC to provide students an option of completing part of their program in the nation's capital; and it provides options for innovative dual degree programs with, among others, the Hertie School of Governance in Berlin, Germany, the Newhouse School of Communications at Syracuse University, and the College of Law.

The successful candidate will bring innovation and leadership to the tasks of setting goals and priorities for the MAIR program, identifying resource needs, and developing and overseeing the implementation of new programming and recruiting strategies. The candidate will have the support of, and work closely with the Dean of the Maxwell School, the Chair of Public Administration and International Affairs, and faculty and professional staff. The person hired will also be expected to teach courses in the MAIR program and maintain either an active research agenda or other forms of engagement in the professional international affairs community.

The position is open to candidates from a wide-range of social science disciplines and candidates with appropriate academic qualifications can be considered for a courtesy or joint appointment with one of the other social science departments in the Maxwell School. We encourage applications from candidates with expertise in any one of a broad range of areas covered in the MAIR program. These areas include, but are not limited to adaptation to climate change, conflict studies, diplomacy, environmental sustainability, global governance, humanitarian assistance, human rights, international development, international finance, international political economy, international security, international trade, management and leadership of international organizations, NGO management and leadership, peace studies, and regional studies focused on Africa, East Asia, Europe, Latin America, Middle East, or South Asia. Successful candidates may affiliate with one of Maxwell's interdisciplinary centers (<https://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers>).

Competitive candidates will have familiarity with professional trends, opportunities and career paths in the field of professional international affairs work. Familiarity with programs and trends in professional international affairs education and a demonstrated commitment to training the next generation of leaders in international affairs is required. Strong candidates will have either distinguished academic achievements including a record of high quality research and teaching, or a distinguished professional career involving leadership positions with substantial responsibilities. Regardless of whether a candidate's primary qualifications are academic or professional, he or she should have a record of engagement with international affairs scholars, policy makers, and practitioners. A Ph.D. is preferred, but not required for candidates whose qualifications are primarily professional and who would be hired as a professor of practice. Members of groups that are underrepresented in higher education leadership positions are strongly encouraged to apply. Salary is commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (<http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/81772>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest, which emphasizes what qualities and ideas you would bring to leadership of the MAIR program at the Maxwell School, a CV, and contact information including a full email address of three references. Evidence of quality teaching can be submitted and will be considered but is not required. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, we will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Syracuse University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to equality of opportunity and a diverse work force. Women, military veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of other traditionally underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6213

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for the endowed Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy, starting in August 2020. Appointment will be made at the associate or full professor level depending on the applicant's credentials. We seek a diverse pool and will consider applicants with any specialization in international relations. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, international affairs, international relations, public policy, or a related discipline.

The successful applicant will be expected to work closely with the department chair to expand the masters and doctoral programs, including recruitment and program development. Teaching expectations include undergraduate and graduate courses in the field of expertise. The position comes with a summer research stipend, research and travel support, a graduate assistant, and a reduced teaching load.

Review of applications will begin October 25, 2019. To apply, complete an online application at <http://www.jobs.aum.edu/postings/3034> and upload the following materials: 1) a letter of application to include areas of specialization, current and future research agenda, teaching areas with course titles and teaching philosophy, and most significant professional service; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) two recent writing samples; 4) graduate transcript (official transcript will be needed at time of hire); and 5) contact information for at least three professional references. Separately, three confidential letters of reference are required and must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu by the application deadline.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes eight tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate and master's degree in political science and a nationally ranked, NASPAA-accredited master's degree in public administration. We also offer a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Auburn University at Montgomery (AUM), a comprehensive public university, is the metropolitan campus of Auburn University. Located in the state capital on a 500-acre campus, AUM enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. AUM is ranked by U.S. News and World Report as one of the top twenty-five Comprehensive Regional Universities in the South and by the Princeton Review as one of the best colleges in the Southeast. Montgomery is a diverse city offering an array of cultural and recreational opportunities including the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, world-class museums and memorials including the new Legacy Museum and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice, a ballet company, a natural habitat zoo, a chamber music society, an independent film theater, and the Montgomery Biscuits Double-A baseball team; it is home to Maxwell-Gunter Air Force Base and Air University, Hyundai Motor's first U.S. production facility, and the headquarters of leading non-profits including Equal Justice Initiative and the Southern Poverty Law Center. The campus is within a two and a half hour drive to Atlanta, ninety minutes to Birmingham, and less than three hours to the Gulf Coast.

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is open until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right to stop accepting applications once interviewing has begun.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/25/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6208

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor in the field of International Law & International Organization

The Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the study of International Law & International Organization beginning July 1, 2020, subject to budget approval. We seek applicants who focus on the impact and uses of international law in any functional areas, including (but not restricted to) human rights, development, diplomacy, security, global environment, international trade and finance, and international organization. We welcome applications from scholars in any relevant discipline, including law, political science, sociology, history, and international relations, and are open to all methodological approaches and regional specializations. Successful candidates would be expected to have completed a Ph.D. by August 15, 2020. The Pardee School of Global Studies is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching. Candidates who have demonstrated policy experience are especially encouraged to apply.

Boston University is an AAU institution with a rich tradition dedicated to inclusion and social justice. The BU Pardee School believes that the cultural and social diversity of our faculty, staff, and students is vitally important to the distinction and excellence of our research and academic programs. We are eager to have join our ranks a colleague who supports our institutional commitment to ensuring BU is inclusive, equitable, diverse, and a place where all constituents can thrive.

Please submit 1) a letter of application describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) three letters of recommendation at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/14454>. Questions about the position or the Pardee School may be directed to Ms. Elaine Bidianos at elaineb@bu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. The expected starting date for employment is July 1, 2020. The Pardee School of Global Studies offers B.A. and M.A. degrees and is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6205

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor in the field of Technology & International Relations

Specializations: Science & Technology, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

The Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Technology & International Relations. The position will begin July 1, 2020, subject to budget approval. We seek applicants whose work focuses on the impact and regulation of technology in contemporary international relations, including in international security, environment, development, commerce, communications, and human rights.

We welcome applications from scholars in any relevant discipline, including international relations, science and technology studies, political science, history, sociology, anthropology, development, and international political economy. We are open to all methodological approaches and regional specializations, but have a particular interest in candidates who incorporate data analytics in the context of social science instruction. Successful candidates would be expected to have completed a Ph.D. by August 15, 2020. The Pardee School of Global Studies is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching. Candidates who have demonstrated policy experience are especially encouraged to apply.

Boston University is an AAU institution with a rich tradition dedicated to inclusion and social justice. The BU Pardee School believes that the cultural and social diversity of our faculty, staff, and students is vitally important to the distinction and excellence of our research and academic programs. We are eager to have join our ranks a colleague who supports our institutional commitment to ensuring BU is inclusive, equitable, diverse, and a place where all constituents can thrive.

Please submit 1) a letter of application describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) three letters of recommendation at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14455>. Questions about the position or the Pardee School may be directed to Ms. Elaine Bidianos at elaineb@bu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. The expected starting date for employment is July 1, 2020. The Pardee School of Global Studies offers B.A. and M.A. degrees and is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6207

Watson Institute, Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, to be taken within a three-year period, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from across the social sciences on issues that can be understood in a comparative global context. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. As full members of the Watson Institute's scholarly community, fellows are required to be in residence during the academic year. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for conference-related travel, research expenses, and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2020, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 16, 2019, to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/67272>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits.
- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on October 16; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2020.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact:

Professor J. Nicholas Ziegler, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. J\_Ziegler@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson\_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 10/16/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6206

Columbia University

Rank: Adjunct Professor

The Department of Political Science at Columbia University invites applications for an adjunct professor to teach an upper-level undergraduate course in the politics of international economic relations in the Spring 2020 semester.

The course is taught in two weekly lectures and one discussion section led by a teaching assistant each week.

The course involves reading and evaluation of the dominant theoretical and methodological approaches currently used in the IPE field, as well as examination of prominent debates within the major IPE subject areas of trade, finance, development and globalization.

Qualifications: A Ph.D. in political science is required. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

To apply, please send a CV, cover letter, list of professional references, and teaching evaluations (if available) to Kay Achar (kea6@columbia.edu) with the subject line "Adjunct Professor Application."

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6199

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Lecturer Pool - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Lecturer Pool - Department of Political Science/College of Letters and Science

Job #JPF02254

College of Letters & Science - Social Sciences - Political Science

RECRUITMENT PERIOD

Open date: September 14th, 2019

Next review date: Thursday, Oct 31, 2019 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)
Apply by this date to ensure full consideration by the committee.

Final date: Friday, Sep 11, 2020 at 11:59pm (Pacific Time)

Applications will continue to be accepted until this date, but those received after the review date will only be considered if the position has not yet been filled.

DESCRIPTION

The Charles and Louise Travers Department of Political Science in the College of Letters and Science at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a pool of qualified temporary lecturers to teach courses as needed in the areas of American Politics, California Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Methodology & Formal Theory, Political Theory & Philosophy, Models & Politics, Political Behavior, Public Law & Jurisprudence, and Public Policy & Organization.

The number of positions varies from semester to semester, depending on the needs of the department. Positions may range from 33% to 100%, depending on the number of classes being taught.

Appointments typically start at the beginning of the semester and may be renewed based on need, funding, and performance.

General Duties: In addition to teaching responsibilities, general duties include holding office hours, assigning grades, advising students, preparing course materials (e.g. syllabus), and maintaining a course website.

Basic Qualifications: Bachelor's degree (or equivalent international degree) is required at the time of application.

Preferred Qualifications: Completion of all Ph.D. (or equivalent) degree requirements except dissertation at the time of application or, full-time paid political experience of at least 4 years within the last 10 years.

Salary: Initial salary will be based on applicant's teaching experience. The current minimum salary for an academic-year full-time annual salary is $56,381. Lecturers teaching one course in a single semester are typically appointed at a 17% annual rate.

The department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching. UC Berkeley has a number of policies and programs in place to support employees as they balance work and family.

To apply, please go to the following link:

<https://apptrkr.com/1612845>

Letters of reference may be solicited for finalists.

When and if the department contacts references, all letters will be treated as confidential per University of California policy and California state law. Please refer potential referees, including when letters are provided via a third party (i.e., dossier service or career center), to the UC Berkeley statement of confidentiality (<http://apo.berkeley.edu/evaltr.html>) prior to submitting their letters.

The department typically reviews applications for fall course needs in April/May, for spring course needs in October/November, and for summer course needs in February/March. Summer session classes are held during the months of May-August.

Please note: The use of a lecturer pool does not guarantee that an open position exists. See the review date specified in AP Recruit to learn whether the department is currently reviewing applications for a specific position. If there is no future review date specified, your application may not be considered at this time.

Please direct questions to Kristine Nera at knera@berkeley.edu

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy see: <http://policy.ucop.edu/doc/4000376/NondiscrimAffirmAct>

REQUIREMENTS

Document requirements

- Curriculum Vitae - Your most recently updated C.V.
- Statement on Contributions to Advancing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion - Statement on your contributions to diversity, equity, and inclusion, including information about your understanding of these topics, your record of activities to date, and your specific plans and goals for advancing equity and inclusion if hired at Berkeley (for additional information go to <https://ofew.berkeley.edu/recruitment/contributions-diversity>).
- Statement of Teaching (Optional)
- Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness - i.e. past course syllabi, teaching evaluations, etc. (Optional)

Reference requirements

- 0-5 required (contact information only)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 9/11/2020

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6202

University of Mary Washington

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and International Affairs at the University of Mary Washington invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position starting the 2020-21 academic year. The candidate should have a major field in comparative politics with demonstrated expertise in the politics of Latin America. The committee will look favorably on candidates who are also willing and able to teach a course on United States foreign policy. As UMW is a teaching-focused institution, successful candidates must demonstrate teaching experience and excellence in teaching in an inclusive environment that embraces diverse talents and backgrounds. Successful candidates should also provide evidence of success in scholarly activity (e.g., publications or grants).

Candidates must submit the following materials to be considered for the position:

Cover Letter

CV

Teaching Statement and Evaluations

Sample Syllabi

Three letters of recommendation

Graduate Transcripts

The University of Mary Washington accepts only completed online applications and related materials at Careers.umw.edu. Faxed, mailed, or emailed applications or documentation will not be considered. Employment offers are contingent upon the successful completion of criminal background checks. If accommodations are requested either before or at the time of the interview, please contact the Recruitment Office at 540-654-1238.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6196

Georgetown University in Qatar

Rank: Director of the Center for International and Regional Studies

Director of the Center for International and Regional Studies
Georgetown University in Qatar

Georgetown University in Qatar invites applications for the position of Director of the Center for International and Regional Studies (CIRS). Established at GU-Q in 2005 CIRS is dedicated to the academic study of regional and international issues through promoting dialogue and the exchange of ideas, research and scholarship, and engagement with national and international scholars, practitioners, opinion-makers, activists, and the wider community. To date CIRS has launched over 40 major research initiatives, published numerous books with university presses, and has established itself as a leading academic research center working in and on the Gulf region and the greater Middle East.

Guided by the principles of academic excellence, forward vision, and community engagement, the CIRS mission revolves around five principal goals:

- To provide a forum for scholarship and research on international and regional affairs
- To encourage in-depth examination and exchange of ideas by undertaking its own research projects and facilitating faculty and student research
- To foster thoughtful dialogue among students, scholars, and practitioners of international affairs
- To act as a catalyst for researchers worldwide to come together in Doha for the production of original research on issues of particular regional and global relevance
- To facilitate the free flow of ideas and knowledge through publishing the products of its research, sponsoring public lectures, and holding working groups designed to explore political, social, cultural, and economic complexities of the Middle East in the twenty-first century
- To engage in outreach activities with a wide range of local, regional, and international partners

Reporting to the Dean, the Director of CIRS will provide strategic leadership for the Center and guide its growth and development in close collaboration with the CIRS advisory board and the faculty of GU-Q. The successful candidate will be responsible for sustaining and expanding the Center's research agenda, actively engaging GU-Q faculty and students in the Center's research initiatives, and fostering collaboration with scholars, policy makers, and decision makers, both locally and globally, to expand the Center's reputation and the impact of its research. The Director ensures that the Center's programs support the university's broader goals of scholarship and teaching, and works closely with the Dean and different academic and administrative units towards this end. The Director will also contribute to the Center's research output by actively participating in CIRS research projects and through maintaining an active publication agenda of his or her own.

The Director is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the Center's day-to-day operations and programing. Core areas of responsibility include:

- Ensure quality of research and analysis produced by CIRS
- Set timelines for publication of research
- Coordinate the work of the program's scholars to maintain a coherent intellectual agenda in line with the Center's mission
- Build collaborative relationships with GU-Q faculty and other scholars and experts to facilitate the success of the Center's research efforts
- Maintain collaborative partnerships with internal and external stakeholders to facilitate the operations of the Center
- Develop programs that facilitate student research
- Submit annual reports outlining the Center's activities and programs and their impact and outcomes
- Manage the CIRS budget
- Manage and supervise the CIRS staff and associated fellows

This is a senior administrative position at GU-Q. Candidates should be established scholars with outstanding academic credentials suitable for appointment as a senior core faculty member at GU-Q, including a distinguished record of scholarship and teaching, and a background in political science, international affairs, history, or a relevant social science discipline. In addition to full time directorship of CIRS, the candidate will have a reduced teaching load of 1 course per semester. Candidates must also demonstrate familiarity with the history and politics of the Gulf and the larger Middle East. Candidates with broad understanding of American Higher Education, and previous administrative experience as a department chair or as the director of a research program, institute, or center are particularly encouraged to apply.

To be considered for the position, interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, and the names and contact details of five professional references to: GUQ-CIRS@georgetown.edu.

We will start reviewing applications on November 1 and will continue to receive applications until the position is filled.

For more information about GU-Q, see: <https://apptrkr.com/1616033>

For more information about CIRS, including ongoing and future initiatives and research projects, please visit <https://cirs.georgetown.edu/>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6194

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in Health and International Development

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of International Development at LSE seeks to hire an Assistant Professor who will strengthen our internationally renowned, innovative and publicly engaged faculty. The post holder will contribute to the intellectual life of the School through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching as instructed by the Head of Department, and participating in the School and wider Department activities.

Candidates should have a track record or trajectory of internationally excellent publications in health and international development from any of these perspectives: development studies, geography, government, international relations, politics, or sociology.

Candidates who conduct research in any developing country or countries are encouraged to apply (the "Region" menu requires one region to be selected and does not have a general option -- all regions welcome).

You will have proven ability, as evidenced by existing publications or potential to publish in top journals or with leading book publishers in health and international development; and a clear, well developed and viable strategy for future outstanding research that has the potential to result in world-leading publications.

Successful applicants will also have a PhD or be close to completing a PhD in one of the above mentioned areas by the post start date.

You will also have a demonstrable ability to teach on postgraduate programmes in health and international development.

For further information about the post, including instructions on how to apply, please see here:

<https://www.jobs.ac.uk/job/BVG251/assistant-professor-in-health-and-international-development>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/16/2019

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6187

University of Mississippi

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Mississippi invites applications to fill a tenure-track position at the level of Assistant Professor in International Relations, starting Fall 2020. The Department is foremost interested in hiring an excellent candidate, with all areas of specialization invited to apply. Successful candidates should add to the Department's strength in quantitative methods. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field. Candidates must complete an online application at <https://careers.olemiss.edu>. Requirements include a completed PhD or at least ABD standing with the expectation of completion by Fall 2020, as well as a potential for or record of excellence in teaching and research. The online application should include a cover letter indicating research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, writing samples, graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. Review of all applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled or until an adequate applicant pool is established.

The University of Mississippi is an EOE/AA/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disability/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity/Title VI/Title VII/Title IX/504/ADA/ADEA employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6186

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Chapman University seeks applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science, in the Department of Political Science, within Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, beginning in August 1, 2020.

The Department of Political Science and the MA in International Studies program seeks candidates whose research bridges theory and practice, so as to promote and support student engagement in the fields associated with human security. Teaching responsibilities will be split between the Political Science Department and the MA in International Studies Program at Chapman.

Tenure track faculty are expected to develop and maintain an active research agenda and are evaluated on their research/scholarly activity, teaching, service, and advising/mentoring.

Requirements include:

- Doctorate in Political Science or related field by the start date.
- Demonstrated strong research trajectory, including publications and involvement with professional organizations.
- Evidence of teaching excellence, including innovative and inclusive pedagogy.
- Demonstrated capacity to advise graduate and undergraduate students, including on coursework, research projects and career prospects.
- Specialization in the area of Human Security including but not limited to: environmental security (such as climate change adaptation, global health or food security); gender and/or race and security; conflict and/or environmentally induced displacement; poverty and sustainable development; governance issues related to new security paradigms.

Qualified applicants must electronically submit a faculty application, cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing sample and letter from three academic/professional references to:

Drs. Art Blaser and Crystal Murphy

Search Committee Co-Chairs

c/o: Talisa Flores at tflores@chapman.edu

Please use "Assistant Professor of Political Science/International Studies" as the email subject line.

Application review will begin October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications. Chapman University offers a relocation expense reimbursement package as well as a first-time Orange County homebuyer assistance program. Successful completion of a background check is required for the final candidate.

Subject to final budget approval.

Download a copy of the Chapman Faculty Application for Employment here:

<https://webfarm.chapman.edu/Jobs/NewHire-FacultyApplication.docx>

***

Chapman University, located in the heart of Orange County, California, offers traditional undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences and select pre-professional and graduate programs. Ranked in the top tier of Western universities, by U.S. News and World Report, Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. The University is classified by Carnegie as an R-2 research institution; Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. More information is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/>

The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. More information on diversity and inclusion at Chapman University is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/diversity>.

Chapman University is an equal opportunity employer committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community. The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ancestry, citizenship status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, military and veteran status, marital status, pregnancy, genetic information or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. The University is committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6176

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professors, Liberal Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Open

Specializations: East Asia, International Political Economy, Women & Politics

Clinical Assistant Professors
LIBERAL STUDIES

New York University Arts and Science

Liberal Studies at New York University invites applications for Clinical Assistant Professor positions to begin September 1, 2020, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

Liberal Studies provides a unique interdisciplinary educational experience to undergraduate students. The Liberal Studies Core consists of a two-year interdisciplinary global curriculum drawing on great works across civilizations. The Global Liberal Studies Bachelor of Arts, one of NYU's premier liberal arts degrees, builds on the global core with an upper division set of interdisciplinary concentrations that direct students toward different areas of global study.

We seek applicants for the following positions:

East Asian Studies:

Ph.D. in East Asian Studies, History, Political Science, or related fields. Candidates should have the ability to teach interdisciplinary seminars on East Asia to introduce undergraduates to the politics, history, intellectual thought, and development of the region within a global context. Preference for a specialist in Korea and/or Japan. Candidates should have the ability to teach upper division seminars in their areas of expertise as well as first and second year seminars in the Core Curriculum.

Global Works and Society:

PhD in Political Theory, Philosophy, History, or related fields in the social sciences. Candidates should have the ability to teach global works that examine enduring questions of philosophy, religion, political and social theory, and history from antiquity to the early 18th century in the Global Works and Society sequence of the Core Curriculum. Candidates must embrace interdisciplinary, intersectional, and global perspectives, and have the ability to teach upper-division seminars in their areas of expertise.

Global Justice:

Ph.D. in Global Justice, Politics, Anthropology, Human Geography, or related fields. Preference for a specialist in International Migration and/or Women's Rights. Candidates should have the ability to teach upper division seminars in their areas of expertise as well as first and second year seminars in the Core Curriculum.

Minimum qualifications: a Ph.D. by the date of appointment; three years of college-level teaching experience; and demonstrated excellence in teaching. Publications and evidence of outstanding scholarship and relevant professional activity are strongly encouraged.

All Liberal Studies full-time faculty hold renewable term contracts, initially three years, and later five years in duration. Faculty are eligible for promotion within the Clinical faculty ranks (Associate, Full). Faculty normally teach three classes per semester, advise undergraduates, and contribute service to Liberal Studies and to the University.

Applications include ONLY (1) a cover letter, (2) a current c.v., and (3) a Diversity and Inclusion Statement addressing past and/or potential future contributions to diversity through teaching, professional activity, and/or service (additional information can be found here <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html>). Complete applications must be recorded by 11:59 p.m. Eastern Standard Time (US), October 22nd, 2019. Applications recorded after this deadline will not be considered.

Applicants may apply directly through the following links:

East Asian Studies: <http://apply.interfolio.com/6757>

Global Works and Society: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67580>

Global Justice: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67579>

Liberal Studies offers a global liberal arts curriculum at sites around the globe in the context of a leading research university. We seek scholar/educators of the highest caliber whose work reflects an interest in global diversity. Liberal Studies strongly encourages applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts & Science commitment to diversity, equality, and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6174

Tokyo International University

Rank: Full-time positions in 1) International Relations/U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Relations/Comparative Politics (open specialization).

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

[Outline]

Tokyo International University is seeking to hire full-time Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors in two areas: 1) U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Relations/Comparative Politics (regional specialization is open; we are looking for those whose research rests on strong theoretical and empirical grounds).

[Content of work]

Responsibilities include teaching three courses per semester mainly in an English-medium undergraduate and/or graduate school program, advising and working with students from diverse backgrounds, and undertaking quality research. TIU's academic year consists of two 14-week semesters.

[Positions available]

1

[Address of work location]

Campus 1, 1-13-1 Matoba-kita, Kawagoe City, Saitama Pref. 350-1197, Japan

(about 30-40 mins from Tokyo by train)

[Starting date]

April 1 / September 1, 2020 (negotiable)

[Job type]

Professor level

Associate Professor/Lecturer (full-time) level

Assistant Professor level

Tenured or tenure-track upon grade

[Qualifications]

Successful candidates should already hold a Ph.D. or have a Ph.D. in hand by the time of employment, strong publication record or potential for active scholarly engagement, ability to teach students (both undergraduate and graduate) with diverse cultural background in the university's English Track Degree Program. We encourage serious research engagement and provide various support, including individual and collective research funding.

There are no limitations regarding citizenship of applicants, however successful candidates should be able to teach and provide guidance to students using English language.

[Compensation]

Contract period: if hired as tenured, no-period (except age limits) / if hired as tenure-track, 5 years

A competitive salary is offered. Remuneration package includes health insurance, pension, commuting allowance, annual research fund and individual research office.

[Application method]

Please specify to which position you are applying and send an email to &quot;saiyou@tiu.ac.jp&quot; with the following materials attached:

- 1) Cover letter of application
- 2) Curriculum vitae (please also include your complete contact details and contact information of three references)
- 3) List of classes taught (including title of class, brief description of contents, level)
- 4) Course syllabi of related fields that have been taught at any higher educational institution
- 5) Full text of three research achievements (e.g., Journal articles, publications, etc.)
- 6) Copy of diploma or transcript showing proof of Ph.D. or enrollment in a Ph.D. program
- 7) In the subject of your email, please include this code: [APSA201909]

[Deadline]

November 15 (Friday), 2019

[Note]

- We request that all application documents be send via e-mail and not by postal mail. Items sent through postal mail cannot be returned.
- Please describe your contact details clearly (phone number, e-mail address, current location, Skype ID, etc.)
- E-mail accounts through @hotmail, @msn, @live and @outlook may experience difficulty in receiving e-mails from the University. Please provide an alternative e-mail address if possible.

[Selection process]

First, a review of applications will be conducted, and only applicants deemed suitable will be contacted and invited for an interview (in person or via Skype). Those applicants who are invited to an interview may be requested to submit three Letters of Recommendation from relevant institutions.

For the on-site final interview, reimbursement for round-trip airfare, domestic public transportation allowance, and hotel (one night) will be provided to overseas candidates.

[Contact details]

Global Talent Acquisition Department

Tokyo International University Foundation
4-23-23, Takadanobaba, Shinjuku, Tokyo 169-0075
Email: saiyou@tiu.ac.jp

[Additional information]

All the information collected will be used solely for its intended purpose of evaluating applicants. Information will not be used for any other purpose.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6145

University of New Hampshire

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

The University of New Hampshire is a major research institution, providing comprehensive, high-quality undergraduate and graduate programs. UNH is located in Durham, on a 188-acre campus, 60 miles north of Boston, 8 miles from the Atlantic coast, and is convenient to New Hampshire's lakes and mountains. The university enrolls 13,000 students, with a full-time faculty of over 600, offering 90 undergraduate and more than 70 graduate programs. The University seeks excellence through diversity among its administrators, faculty, staff, and students. The university prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, veteran status, or marital status. Application by members of all underrepresented groups is encouraged, as are international applicants.

Summary of Position:

The department seeks research and teaching expertise primarily in international relations, international security and/or human security. Preference will be given for regional and linguistic expertise in sub-Saharan Africa, Russia, or Eurasia. The position will enhance departmental strengths in international relations and contribute to realizing UNH's strategic goals of internationalization and sustainability. The successful candidate will teach a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses in international security and international relations. The expected teaching load is two courses per semester.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Please be prepared to provide the following at the time of application: CV, cover letter, scholarly document and contact information for three references to provide confidential letters of recommendation. For inquiries or additional information, please contact Alynna Lyon (Alynna.lyon@unh.edu).

Acceptable Minimum Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have a PhD in hand, an active research program, evidence of excellence in scholarship, and a commitment to outstanding teaching.

Additional Preferred Qualifications

Candidate must hold a commitment to promoting excellence in achieving ethnic, gender, and cultural diversity. The successful candidate will have the demonstrated ability to work with faculty, staff, students and community groups of diverse academic, socioeconomic, cultural, sexual orientation, disability, and ethnic backgrounds.

Salary Information

Salary is complemented by a comprehensive benefits package which includes medical, dental, retirement, tuition, and paid time off.

To view description and apply, visit <https://jobs.usnh.edu/postings/33799>

Special Requirements

A background check will be required as a condition of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6175

Stanford University

Rank: Hoover Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Hoover Institution - Hoover Fellows

A path for early-career scholars

The Hoover Institution at Stanford University seeks outstanding scholars for appointments at the rank of Hoover Fellow. The term of the appointment is five years and may be renewed. The position is located at the Hoover Institution, Stanford, CA.

The academic activities of the Hoover Institution generally fall into the areas of Economic Policy, Politics and Governance, and National Security. Candidates' work should fit into at least one of these categories. A candidate must have or expect to complete a PhD or equivalent degree in a relevant field, including history, international relations, political science, national security and public policy.

Hoover Fellows are expected to achieve a considerable publication record and scholarly impact through the pursuit of topics that also have implications for public policy.

Hoover Fellows are expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the Hoover Institution. There will be no teaching or formal administrative responsibilities during the appointment. Salary and benefits are highly competitive.

To apply, please submit:

- A cover letter or statement of interest that includes a description of academic background and experience
- A recent publication and a current working paper or draft book chapter
- A curriculum vitae
- A future research statement (two pages maximum)
- Three letters of recommendation that focus on the candidate's research and research potential.

Successful applicants will have a proven record of and potential for scholarly excellence. Applicants must have completed a PhD or equivalent degree by September 1, 2020.

Completed applications must be submitted online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14175> by October 15, 2019. Please direct questions to Anita Young (ayoung2@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6165

Fordham University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Politics (Security)

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track position in International Politics at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2020. The position is located at Fordham's Rose Hill (Bronx) campus.

We are particularly interested in candidates in the field of international security with a specialization in cybersecurity and a secondary focus in interstate conflict, nuclear proliferation, and/or terrorism. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to undergraduate and graduate curricular needs in political science, as well as to Fordham's Interdisciplinary Center for Cybersecurity. We encourage candidates to apply who will deepen our engagement with institutions or federal agencies within New York City and contribute to our University and department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Review of applications will begin on October 15. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) to Professor Ida Bastiaens, Committee Chair, via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/67817>: cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, course syllabi, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Application materials should also address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6149

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow - WEALTHPOL: The Politics of Wealth Inequality and Mobility in the 21st Century

Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Political Theory

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is looking for a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join a research team to work on an exciting new project directed by Professor Ben Ansell, the Project Investigator (PI), and supported by the European Research Council (ERC).

The project examines political causes and consequences of wealth inequality across the industrialised world. The project divides into three core work packages, which are to be accomplished over the life of the grant. The first two work packages are macro data collection exercises assembling cross-nationally and historically comparable surveys of wealth mobility outcomes and policies. The last work package focuses on the micro-foundations of attitudes towards wealth mobility using both laboratory and survey experiments.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all three projects though their own skillset and interests may fit more closely into particular areas. S/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project as well as to co-author work with the Principal Investigator, and pursue their own related research agenda.

The postholder's duties will include assisting in compiling a cross-national database of wealth inequality and mobility, and to aid in disseminating the results of this work including the construction of an online open-access database. They will also be expected to develop a policy database of inheritance, gift, capital gains and other wealth-related policies, dating back to 1945 across the industrialised world. In addition, they will assist with the tendering, design, implementation and analysis of survey experiments to be conducted across six European countries.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD (or near completion) in the field of political science, sociology, and economics. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of wealth and income inequality, with the ability to use statistical software at an advanced level, with skills in data collection, management and analysis. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

This is a full time appointment fixed term, for two years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Thursday, 9 October 2019. Interviews will take place on Monday, 21 October.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website, quoting reference 142651.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 6146

Stanford University

Rank: 2020-21 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow in Contemporary Asia

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2020–2021 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2020-2021 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows in Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2020) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including North-east, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $65,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2020-2021 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 16, 2019, until December 20, 2019.

For additional information and to apply, visit <https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship>

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 9/9/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6120

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Mackey Professorship in Middle East Studies

The University of Oklahoma's Department of International and Area Studies, a multidisciplinary academic department in the dynamic College of International Studies (CIS), invites applications for the Mackey Professorship in Middle East Studies. We seek advanced assistant professors or associate professors for this tenure-track or tenured position. We are interested in candidates working on issues of energy, resources and environment in the Middle East, to include the political economy of energy, critical political economy, development, human development, and the political economy of conflict.

Scholars in the fields of political science/political economy, history, sociology, anthropology, and geography (or related humanities and social sciences disciplines) are welcome to apply. Candidates must have relevant Middle East regional expertise and language skills. Submit a letter of application addressing research interests and teaching experience, including attention to how the applicant fosters diversity and inclusion in the classroom, as well as a list of at least 3 references to apply.interfolio.com/67229. We encourage applications from under-represented groups as we continue to build a diverse faculty.

The University of Oklahoma is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Protected veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/gxhzgn748bbkry55>

PI113472481

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6137

Whitworth University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

POSITION SUMMARY:

The Political Science department, a four-member department with a strong teaching and publication tradition, is announcing a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor. The political science faculty at Whitworth has a common interest in justice and reconciliation—both international and domestic. We are looking for a candidate who will add to our strength in that area.

STARTING DATE: FALL 2020

PRIMARY TEACHING RESPONSIBILITIES:

Teach an annual seven-course load with a primary focus on International Relations. Ability to teach in our interdisciplinary Environmental Studies program is required. The ability to teach in the Peace Studies program is strongly preferred; ability to teach in a regional area that complements current department offerings is also welcomed. The full-time teaching load consists of three courses in the fall, three courses in the spring and a course in January-term. The position is open at the assistant level; however, in an exceptional circumstance a candidate could be hired at the associate level. Whitworth has well-established off-campus study programs and the department welcomes applications from candidates eager to participate in these.

OTHER RESPONSIBILITIES:

Additional responsibilities include participation in departmental activities and governance; professional and research activities, attending state, regional and national professional association meetings; attending faculty assemblies, development days, and retreat, serving on committees and advising.

SPECIFIC JOB KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS AND ABILITIES:

- Demonstrated awareness and commitment to effectively establishing relationships and positive communications across multiple dimensions of diversity including, but not limited to, race, gender, physical limitations, sexual orientation, gender identity, class or religious perspectives
- A personal commitment to the Christian faith and to the integration of faith and learning
- Demonstrated effectiveness at college-level teaching
- Strong potential for an on-going stream of research in the candidate's area of specialization
- The ability to communicate effectively in the language of instruction (English)
- A commitment to equal opportunity for all persons
- A commitment to the educational mission of Whitworth University as a Christian liberal arts university affiliated with the Presbyterian church

QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. or ABD in political science

SALARY: Commensurate with experience and qualifications

TO APPLY: Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, your teaching philosophy, candidates most recent student feedback surveys, a one-page document outlining your personal commitment to the Christian faith at www.whitworth.edu/facultycareers

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS: A background and/or credit check will be required of the successful applicant, as well as an official transcript and physical exam (if applicable).

DEADLINE: Application Materials will be received until the position is filled. Initial screening of applicants will begin immediately

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6136

Columbia University

Rank: Gerald L. Curtis Professor of Modern Japanese Politics and Foreign Policy

The Columbia University Department of Political Science and the School of International and Public Affairs invite applications for a distinguished scholar at any academic rank, from tenure-track assistant professor to tenured full professor, to fill the Gerald L. Curtis Professorship in Modern and Contemporary Japanese Politics and Foreign Policy to begin July 1, 2020. A Ph.D. and the ability to do research in the Japanese language are required. Candidates will be expected to teach and sustain an active research and publication agenda involving public policy issues in contemporary Japanese politics and/or foreign relations. The candidate will be expected to play a leadership role in the Weatherhead East Asian Institute in organizing research and programmatic activities concerning Japanese politics and foreign policy.

All applications must be submitted through Columbia University's Recruitment of Academic Personnel System (RAPS) here: <http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4057>

Non-tenured applicants should upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, list of references, and at least two brief writing samples.

Tenured applicants should upload a vitae and letter of interest detailing current and future research plans.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6130

Arizona State University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Conflict and Human Rights

Assistant Professor

School of Politics and Global Studies

Arizona State University

The School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS) at Arizona State University (Tempe) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor position in the area of Conflict and Human Rights. This is an academic year, benefits-eligible appointment. The anticipated start date is August 2020.

The position is open with respect to theoretical orientation, substantive focus within the broadly defined area of conflict and human rights, and methodological approach. The expectations of this position include teaching courses at the undergraduate, master's and doctoral levels as appropriate; supervising and mentoring honors, masters and doctoral students especially in the subfields of international relations or comparative politics; developing an active research agenda with publications in top-tier academic journals; participation in professional, university, and school service.

The School of Politics and Global Studies values interdisciplinary scholarship, and the successful candidates will have the opportunity to affiliate and collaborate with other schools and centers at Arizona State University. Learn more about what The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has to offer by viewing <https://thecollege.asu.edu/faculty>.

Minimum Qualifications: candidates must hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or related discipline by the time of appointment; demonstrated excellence in research in the area of conflict and human rights commensurate with appointment at the level of assistant professor; demonstrated potential for publishing in top internationally recognized scholarly journals and/or top university presses; the potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; promise in and commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching, including the ability to contribute to SPGS's undergraduate courses offerings in political science and/or global studies and its PhD in political science.

Desired qualifications: demonstrated success meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities; a research and teaching focus in international relations or comparative politics with the potential to advance the interdisciplinary mission of SPGS especially in the area of conflict and human rights.

The application deadline is October 19, 2019; if not filled, then every two weeks thereafter until the search is closed. A complete application must include the following: a letter of application stating qualifications, experience, research plans, and teaching interests; a statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence; a complete curriculum vita; a writing sample, and contact information for three references. Candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. degree completed by August 1, 2020.

All application materials must be received by the deadline and submitted electronically to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/67710>. (We will not accept any mailed applicant material, including reference letters; this is an online, paperless search.)

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6125

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor International Development and Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Assistant Professor International Development and Security

TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION

GOLDMAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY AT UC BERKELEY

The Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a tenure-track appointment to the faculty at the Assistant Professor rank, with an expected start date of July 1, 2020. We seek applications from intellectually exciting scholars whose research informs and advances the design and analysis of policy and who will teach innovative courses to a diverse student body. We are especially interested in candidates whose research and expertise focus on international development and/or security policy.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, please go to <https://apptrkr.com/1576594>. The deadline to apply is October 15, 2019. Please direct all questions to Aaron Schiller at aaschiller@berkeley.edu

UC Berkeley is an AA/EEO employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6115

University of Kentucky

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Patterson School of Diplomacy and International Commerce at the University of Kentucky invites applications for a tenure track appointment starting in August 2020 at the Assistant Professor rank. The ideal candidate will combine a focus on international commerce with an area of functional or regional expertise, preferably in Asia. Applicants from the disciplines of political science, history, and law are particularly welcome. Professional experience working with an IO, NGO or government, would be a plus, as would be extended study, research or teaching overseas. Candidates must already possess an earned doctorate/terminal degree.

The Patterson School is a selective 18-month professional masters degree program in international affairs. Each year's incoming student cohort is generally limited to thirty-five, all full-time and residential. Our faculty is an interdisciplinary mix of traditional academics and former foreign affairs professionals. Coursework and seminars are supplemented with a rich offering of experiential co-curricular activities. Academic concentrations are offered in: diplomacy; international security and intelligence; international commerce; and international organizations and development.

In addition to standard faculty scholarly research, service and outreach responsibilities, the successful candidate will be expected to teach and to help organize and support co-curricular activities.

Additional information about the Patterson School can be found at <http://www.uky.edu/pattersonschool>

To apply, please submit CV and cover letter along with application. Please also include the contact information for at least three references when prompted in the application. This information may be used to solicit reference letters from your contacts within the employment system.

Applications will be reviewed beginning October 31st, 2019, and continue until the position is filled.

Located in Lexington, Kentucky

PhD. Required

Apply for posting: <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/242812>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 6114

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development's Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high quality, policy relevant research on critical issues related to global development and poverty alleviation.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2020 for one year (and will consider two years).

The Center's postdoctoral fellows program is intended for promising new and recent PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy relevant research on topics related to critical issues for international development and poverty alleviation.

The Center's postdoctoral fellows will be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University. The Center provides a competitive salary plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2019 via the application form linked from the King Center's website.

For more details and information please visit <https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoralfellowsprogram>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6105

Columbia University

Rank: Lecturer in Discipline - Comparative Politics, Policy-making and Political Development

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Lecturer in Discipline
 Comparative Politics, Policy-making and Political Development

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline in the fields of political development and in comparative politics and policy-making, to begin July 1, 2020.

Candidates must have a demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and research or practice related to comparative politics and policy-making and political development. Research interests or practice should be policy-relevant. Master's degree or equivalent degree required. Ph.D. and/or relevant professional experience at senior level strongly preferred.

Applicants should be qualified to teach courses related to comparative politics, policy analysis, policy-making and political development in demanding Master's degree programs in international and public affairs. There also is a strong preference for candidates who have demonstrated success in teaching large lecture courses with a writing intensive focus. A major component of the lecturer's instructional responsibilities will include teaching policy analysis and policy memo-writing to Master's students as part of a required course on policy-making in comparative context.

Please visit our online application site at:

<http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4025>

for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Committee will begin reviewing applications on a rolling basis on September 15 and anticipates scheduling initial flyouts in late September or early October. For further information, please contact Joe Chartier, Academic Department Administrator, School of International and Public Affairs, at jc3317@sipa.columbia.edu.

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train students at the master's and doctoral level for careers in global public policy.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA's academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6099

George Washington University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in International Relations at the rank of assistant professor. This position is pending final budgetary approval.

Basic Qualifications: Applicants must have an active, theoretically-oriented research agenda as evidenced by working papers or publications, and be able to teach graduate and undergraduate courses as indicated by research presentations and/or teaching assessments. The Department expects applicants to have strong substantive and methodological training, as demonstrated by completed coursework, but has no preferred methodological approach. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. or doctoral degree in Political Science or a related field. ABDs will be considered but must have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. by the date of appointment.

Application Procedure: To apply please complete an online faculty application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/70022> and upload a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching/research interest (including a summary of teaching evaluations, if available), and sample publications. In addition, please send at least three letters of recommendation to pscjobs\_IR@gwu.edu. Review of applications will begin on 9/27/2019, and will continue until the position is filled. Only complete applications will be considered.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6100

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: International Relations and Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Conflict Processes, Defense

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for multiple tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in International Relations and Comparative Politics beginning August 2020. Application review will begin on 01 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. Scholars with expertise in interstate war, great power politics, ethnic conflict, and political violence are encouraged to apply. Regional expertise in either Africa, South/Southeast Asia, or Russia is also desired. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at

<https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProf-PolSci-AY20.php>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6102

Arizona State University

Rank: Advanced Assistant or Associate Professor of Sociology or Anthropology

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, International Law & Organizations, Immigration Policy

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences in the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) is seeking a full-time, benefits-eligible, tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenure-eligible Associate Professor of Sociology or Anthropology whose research focuses on either: a) gender and migration in transnational context; and/or b) global human rights. The current position is part of the development of a global human rights hub at ASU and coincides with a concerted effort to build strength in and further support for Sociology within the School and across ASU. Preference will be given to candidates who can collaborate with existing Sociology, Anthropology and Political Science faculty and whose research interests focus on examining the fields of gender, migration, and/or human rights.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is presently in a period of expansion and innovation around new initiatives and new programs. Since Fall 2017, the School has added ten new tenured / tenure-track faculty, including seven new faculty in Political Science, Sociology, and Anthropology. This academic year, the School has been approved to recruit five additional tenured / tenure-track faculty, including the current position.

Required Qualifications: The successful candidate must: a) have a doctoral degree in Sociology, Anthropology, or a related social science field by the time of appointment; b) a research agenda that is focused on either migration and gender in a transnational context, and/or global human rights; and c) demonstrate excellence in research commensurate with appointment at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor at ASU.

Desired Qualifications: a) Priority will be given to scholars currently at the advanced Assistant Professor or early Associate Professor level; b) Evidence of experience teaching in either migration and gender in a transnational context, and/or global human rights; c) Research interests that align with current faculty in either migration and gender in a transnational context, and/or global human rights; d) Evidence of the potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; e) Experience teaching and mentoring students to conduct research at either the graduate or undergraduate level; f) Experience in leadership of undergraduate or graduate programs; g) Demonstrate experience in promoting interdisciplinary collaborations in research; h) Experience contributing to curricular and program development; and, i) Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population, including first generation students.

More information about ASU's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences can be found at <https://newcollege.asu.edu/directory/sbs>; more information about ASU's New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences can be found at <http://newcollege.asu.edu>.

ASU has a strong commitment to a racially diverse faculty; one that is reflective of contemporary America.

Deadline: October 7, 2019; if not filled, every two weeks thereafter until search is closed.

Application procedure: Applications will only be accepted electronically via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/67250>

Requested material will include: 1) a letter of application, which explicitly addresses your academic experience, situates your research in the field and notes your teaching philosophy; 2) a current curriculum vitae with contact information; and 3) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted during initial review and will only be contacted after candidate notification).

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions which includes a criminal background check, verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications. Employment is contingent upon successful passing of the background check.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/7/2019

Date Posted: 8/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6098

Arizona State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science -- Global Human Rights

Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Gender Politics & Policy

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences in the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) is seeking a full-time, benefits-eligible, tenure-track Assistant Professor of Sociology, Anthropology or Political Science with expertise in Global Human Rights. The current position is part of the development of a global human rights hub at ASU. Preference will be given to candidates who can collaborate with existing Political Science, Sociology and Anthropology faculty at ASU who work in this area and whose research interests focus on examining global human rights law in relation to minority groups, including but not limited to gender, LGBT, race, and dis/ability.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is presently in a period of expansion and innovation around new initiatives and new programs. Since Fall 2017, the School has added ten new tenured / tenure-track faculty, including seven new faculty in Political Science, Sociology, and Anthropology. This academic year, the School has been approved to recruit five additional tenured / tenure-track faculty, including the current position.

Required Qualifications: The successful candidate must a) have a doctoral degree in sociology, political science, anthropology or related social science-focused field by the time of appointment; and, b) a record reflecting training and experience relevant to the field of global human rights; c) a research agenda that is focused on global human rights law, and d) demonstrate excellence in research commensurate with appointment at the level of Assistant Professor at ASU.

Desired Qualifications: a) research interest that focuses on examining global human rights law in relation to minority groups, including but not limited to gender, LGBT, race, and dis/ability; b) empirical research experience and interests that align with current faculty expertise in migration and refugees, gender in a comparative context, and/or international law and organizations; c) demonstrate potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; d) demonstrate experience in promoting interdisciplinary collaborations in research; e) a demonstrated ability to teach B.A. and/or M.A. students in this field; f) evidence of commitment to undergraduate and graduate mentoring; and, g) demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population, including first generation students.

More information about ASU's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences can be found at <https://newcollege.asu.edu/directory/sbs>; more information about ASU's New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences can be found at <http://newcollege.asu.edu>.

ASU has a strong commitment to a racially diverse faculty; one that is reflective of contemporary America.

Deadline: October 14, 2019; if not filled, every two weeks thereafter until search is closed.

Application procedure: Applications will only be accepted electronically via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/67140>

Requested material will include: 1) a letter of application, which explicitly addresses your academic experience, situates your research in the field and notes your teaching philosophy; 2) a current curriculum vitae with contact information; and, 3) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted during initial review and will only be contacted after candidate notification).

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions which includes a criminal background check, verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications. Employment is contingent upon successful passing of the background check.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 8/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6097

Coastal Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Intelligence and National Security Studies

The College of Humanities and Fine Arts at Coastal Carolina University invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Intelligence and National Security Studies beginning August 2020. This program, housed within the Department of Politics, seeks applicants with specializations related to intelligence communication and research, with particular interests in intelligence writing and briefing skills, open source intelligence collection, and intelligence-policymaker relations. Candidates engaging in scholarship that employs new research methods in intelligence and/or security studies would be of particular interest.

Candidates are required to have a Ph.D. in hand, or be a Ph.D. candidate with a projected dissertation completion date before the time of appointment.

Candidates in Political Science, Security Studies, or other relevant fields are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in the field, as well as support the continued growth and development of the Intelligence and National Security Studies program.

Coastal Carolina University is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from underrepresented groups to apply.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application that addresses the qualifications specified in this advertisement, a curriculum vitae, writing sample, copies of transcripts, statements about teaching and research, and contact information for three (3) professional references electronically at: <http://jobs.coastal.edu/postings/8140>. Review of application materials will begin October 1st. For additional information, please contact Dr. Rick Kilroy (rkilroy@coastal.edu, 843-349-6927) or Dr. Adam Chamberlain, Chair of the Department of Politics (achamber@coastal.edu, 843-349-6506).

Coastal Carolina University is a public comprehensive liberal arts institution located in Conway, South Carolina, just nine miles from the Atlantic coastal resort city of Myrtle Beach. Coastal Carolina University enrolls over 10,000 students from 45 states and 58 nations. The University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the baccalaureate and selective master's degrees of national and/or regional significance in the arts and sciences, business, humanities, education, and health and human services, a specialist degree in educational leadership, and Ph.D. degrees in Marine Science and Education.

Coastal Carolina University is an EO/AA employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6061

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University invites applications from outstanding candidates for a faculty position at the Assistant Professor level beginning in the Fall of 2020. The position is part of a new initiative in data analytics and global affairs, housed in the School's Landegger Program in International Business Diplomacy. The ideal candidate would have outstanding quantitative skills; interest in teaching data collection, estimation, and visualization; and a field of application relating to international affairs, such as international trade, international political economy, development, migration, health, investment, finance, international business regulation, corporate governance, energy, or the environment. Candidates must demonstrate outstanding research potential and have their PhD by the start of employment.

The committee will begin reviewing applications on November 1, 2019. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, job market paper, and three letters of recommendation. All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14327>. Faxed, emailed, or mailed applications will not be accepted.

Questions about the online application should be directed to Sarah Albro Nebbeling, Assistant Director of Faculty Affairs at ska60@georgetown.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Dr. Carol A. Benedict at benedicc@georgetown.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6052

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Gender and Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8350>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6046

Purdue University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science at Purdue University seeks applications for up to two tenure-track assistant professors with strong skills in computational social science and data science, broadly defined, and who apply them to substantive questions in political science, preferably in the areas of comparative politics or international relations. Examples of strengths include machine learning, network modeling, statistical methods for large and complex data, natural language processing, text, audio, and/or image analytics, data visualization, and/or other related methods. Exceptional candidates at the level of associate professor with tenure may be considered.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and be able to teach courses at the intersection of data science, quantitative methods, and his or her substantive fields of expertise, and with some courses being part of the College of Liberal Arts' Integrated Cornerstone first-year curriculum. Candidates at the level of advanced assistant or associate professor are expected to have a strong track record of high-quality publications, appropriate to rank. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline is required.

Desired qualifications include interest in contributing to social science methodological training across campus; interest in contributing to a broader integrative data science initiative at Purdue; an interest in attracting external funding; and a commitment to teaching excellence.

Purdue University's Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and off-campus engagement. Candidates should address their commitment to diversity and inclusion in at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals as they relate to promoting a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. The Political Science Department is home to the journal Politics, Groups, and Identities. Faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. Many faculty members hold joint appointments or affiliations with other departments and programs, including Communication, African American Studies, Civil Engineering, Industrial Engineering, and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The department offers graduate certificates to students across campus in Social Policy, Environmental Policy, and Human Rights. The department is also home to the director of the award-winning C-SPAN Archives, located at the Purdue Research Park.

Applications

Candidates should submit application materials electronically via <https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=6956&company=purdueuniv&username=>

Applications should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a sample of written work, instructional materials such as syllabi and course evaluations, and a cover letter discussing the applicant's qualifications for the position. Candidates at the level of associate professor with tenure may submit names three references in lieu of letters.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to the search committee chair, Dr. James McCann, mccannj@purdue.edu. A background check will be required for employment in this position.

Equal Opportunity

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6044

Harvard University

Rank: Weatherhead Scholars Program

The Weatherhead Scholars Program, a program at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs (WCFIA), welcomed its first class of participants in 2017–2018. Established in 1958, the WCFIA is the largest international social science research center within the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. We support international, transnational, global, and comparative research, whether historical or contemporary, including policy analysis.

The Weatherhead Scholars Program offers visiting faculty, postdoctoral researchers, and experienced practitioners the opportunity to spend up to one year at Harvard conducting research. During their time in residence, Scholars are expected to participate in the Weatherhead Forum and in the Scholars Program Seminar; contribute to some of the Center's many other intellectual activities, including our research clusters; and to engage with the undergraduate and graduate student communities.

As participants in the Weatherhead Scholars Program, postdoctoral researchers and visiting scholars receive a one-year formal appointment from Harvard University granting them important privileges. These include access to the Harvard library system, computer labs, and Harvard University faculty club. Our scholars are an integral part of the more than 300 faculty, fellows, students, and staff in residence at the Center.

To be eligible for a postdoctoral position, a scholar will have completed his/her PhD in the last three calendar years, or will have defended by the start of the academic appointment. There are a limited number of $50,000 stipends for postdoctoral fellows (health insurance is also available to stipendiary postdocs). Visiting scholars – established faculty from other universities – are not eligible for funding support from the Weatherhead Center.

More information is available at <https://scholarsprogram.wcfia.harvard.edu>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6032

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Methodology

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the levels of associate or full professor with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to apply online at the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board at: apply.interfolio.com/67089. Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; and 2) a curriculum vitae. Consideration of applications will begin on September 22nd and will continue until the position is filled or the search has ended; early submission is encouraged. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6034

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Professor of the Politics of the Arab World

The Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service (SFS) at Georgetown University seeks to hire a Political Scientist of the Arab World. The primary program affiliation for this position will be with the Center for Contemporary Arab Studies (CCAS) and its Master of Arts in Arab Studies (MAAS). The position will be full-time tenure-line at the assistant professor level. Applications are invited from early-career political scientists as well as those who expect to complete their Ph.D. by the time of appointment. We are looking for a scholar with strong potential for achievement in scholarship, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and intellectual leadership.

The teaching load is two courses per semester, and the successful candidate will teach the MAAS core class "Politics of the Arab World", as well as other political science electives about the contemporary Arab world to Georgetown undergraduate and graduate students. The successful candidate will have the ability to teach political science to an interdisciplinary group of students with a primary interest in the politics of the region. The candidate should be proficient in Arabic. We welcome applications from scholars with diverse methodological emphases and fieldwork-grounded approaches.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a representative writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and if possible, evidence of teaching record (syllabi, course evaluations, etc.). All applications and supporting materials must be submitted through the following link: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14305>. Faxed, emailed, or mailed applications will not be accepted.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Georgetown University is a Catholic and Jesuit, student-centered research university. Established in 1789, the university was founded on the principle that serious and sustained discourse among people of different faiths, cultures, and beliefs promotes intellectual, ethical and spiritual understanding. We embody this principle in the diversity of our students, faculty and staff, our commitment to justice, our intellectual openness and our international character. SFS, founded in 1919, is a premier school of international affairs that provides a rigorous education grounded in both theory and practice while instilling the Jesuit values of service. CCAS, since its founding in 1975, has remained committed to critical thought, constructive dialogue, and creative engagement with the Arab world. CCAS's Arab Studies program is distinguished by its emphasis on study of the contemporary Arab world, its rigorous Arabic language training and its multidisciplinary approach to the Arab world.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6031

Indiana University- Bloomington, Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies

Rank: Assistant Professor, Contemporary Japanese Politics and Society

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Public Policy

Specializations: Japan, State Politics, Social Movements

Indiana University Bloomington's Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies (HLS) seeks a full-time tenure-track assistant professor of contemporary Japanese politics and society, broadly defined, to begin August 1, 2020. The position is 100% in HLS's renowned multidisciplinary Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures (EALC). The teaching load is two courses per semester. Teaching responsibilities encompass both undergraduate and graduate courses and will include the teaching of a new course on "Japanese Politics and Society."

This is an exciting moment to join the newly named and expanding Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies as it leads the university's international research and teaching missions. Established nearly sixty years ago, the EALC department has a long history of interdisciplinarity and boasts faculty strengths in a wide array of social sciences.

Minimum requirements are a Ph.D. in a relevant social science discipline (e.g., sociology, anthropology, political science) and active research agendas examining contemporary political and/or social issues that involve Japanese-language sources and in-country fieldwork.

We are particularly interested in candidates combining disciplinary rigor and area studies expertise to examine real-world challenges facing contemporary Japan and who are interested in contributing to and benefiting from EALC's new 21st Century Japan Politics and Society Initiative (established in 2018).

Applicants should submit a letter of application describing research and teaching interests, a C.V., and a writing sample along with three letters of reference. ABD candidates are welcome to apply, but must have the Ph.D. in hand by July 31, 2020. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8197>

Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to: Ethan Michelson at emichels@indiana.edu. Applications received by October 18, 2019 are guaranteed full consideration.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6029

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor of International Relations

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a three-semester visiting position beginning in January 2020 and ending on June 30, 2021. Rank will be at Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, depending on qualifications. Teaching experience is preferred. The position requires teaching 3 courses in the spring semester of 2020 and a 3/2 load in 2020-2021. Teaching responsibilities include: Introduction to International Politics, Introduction to Comparative Politics, and an upper-level course in the scholar's area of research in international relations.

Applicant must send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching, research and diversity statements, teaching evaluation forms and a sample of scholarly writing to <http://apply.interfolio.com/67171>. Applicants must also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted directly to Interfolio by the recommenders. Inquiries about the position (but no application materials) may be directed to Professor Jennifer Kibbe (jkibbe@fandm.edu).

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

The Committee will begin reviewing complete applications on September 15, 2019. Applications submitted by that date will be given priority consideration. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6016

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the assistant professor level with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) writing sample; 4) brief teaching statement; 5) brief research statement; and 6) at least three letters of recommendation. Applicants also are encouraged to submit as optional documents up to three publications or unpublished manuscripts and evidence of teaching performance, such as teaching evaluations, if available. Applications will be accepted until the deadline of October 1, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

To be considered, those interested must apply through The University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board, which uses Interfolio to accept applications: apply.interfolio.com/66855. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6022

University of Minnesota

Rank: Advanced Assistant or Associate Professor in Global Policy Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Environmental Policy, International Political Economy

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The School's mission is to inspire, educate, and support innovative leaders to advance the common good in a diverse and changing world. The School is NASPAA-accredited, ranked nationally in the top ten U.S. based schools of public affairs, and widely recognized for examining public issues and shaping public policy and governance at the local, state, national, and international levels. The Humphrey School works to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages faculty applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

With this current search, the Humphrey School seeks to hire a tenure-track advanced Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor eligible for tenure at the University of Minnesota whose research, scholarship, academic leadership and service focus broadly on global policy. Evidence of established scholarship with the potential for contributions of national and international significance is required for candidates at the pre-tenure assistant professor level. Appointment at the tenured level of associate professor requires evidence of excellence and national/international policy-relevant impact in scholarly research, teaching and service.

The successful candidate must have strong, demonstrated applied research and teaching interests in comparative foreign policy, international relations, international economics and trade policy, and/or global environmental policy. Candidates with specific country expertise and strong regional and/or international interests will also be considered. Although the tenure home and position will be at the Humphrey School, there are ample opportunities to collaborate and affiliate with scholars in departments across the University of Minnesota.

Candidates must be committed to scholarly and policy-relevant research at the highest levels; willing and able to teach in the School's core curriculum; provide leadership to its established public policy Masters and public affairs Ph.D. programs; be willing to help prepare students for professional careers; and function collaboratively in a multi-and inter-disciplinary environment.

A Ph.D. is required in public policy, international relations, development studies, economics, political science, political economy, sociology or related fields with a focus on international policy and global affairs. The Humphrey School is especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated interest in public policy, broadly construed, whose approach to teaching and research is both innovative and inclusive in terms of race, gender, class and ethnicity.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement and three samples of recent research (publications or manuscripts), teaching statement, and the names/addresses of three references (reference letters will be requested for short-listed candidates). All candidates must hold a PhD by the time of employment.

All interested candidates must apply online. Applications will be reviewed beginning October 7, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Select the link to access our careers site.
2. Sign In to access your account or if you are not an existing user select the New User link to create one.
3. Review the job description and select the Apply button to begin your application.

<https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/ext/332091>

If you are a current employee of our organization please use the following link instead:

<https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/int/332091>

Address cover letter to: Search Committee for Global Policy, Humphrey School of Public Affairs, c/o Human Resources Department, 301-19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Salary will be commensurate with experience. Benefits include health, dental, faculty life/disability insurance, retirement, and social security. The starting date for this appointment is August 24, 2020 or as soon thereafter as possible.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6023

Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU)

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Commonwealth University is seeking applications for a tenure eligible faculty position at the Assistant Professor rank to begin August 2020 to support the Department's research and teaching mission in the area of International Relations.

We are seeking candidates with active and innovative research agendas. Candidates with proven track records of grant funding and the potential for scholarship that complements and expands existing expertise in the department are particularly desirable.

Successful candidates will be able to teach one or more of the following undergraduate courses along with upper-level courses in their area of expertise: International Relations, Senior Seminar, and Research Methods in Political Science. Successful candidates will also demonstrate the potential for excellent teaching.

The position carries an expectation of service to the department, College and/or University, as well as an expectation of service to the field of political science more broadly.

The position requires a PhD in political science, or a closely related field, at the time of employment. Successful candidates will have demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU.

We will be at the APSA Annual Meeting. To schedule an interview, please contact polistaff@vcu.edu.

For more detailed information and to apply, please visit: www.vcujobs.com

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Only electronic applications will be accepted. Please apply online at www.vcujobs.com. Applicants must upload a CV, cover letter and the following supplemental documents: Research Statement, Teaching Philosophy, Writing Sample, and Diversity & Inclusion Statement. Candidates are also encouraged to include course evaluations and sample syllabi if available. Please merge supplementary files into one PDF and upload as the "Other" document in the online application site. Please submit all required documents with your online application. Failure to provide all required documents will result in our inability to review and consider your application. Upon submission of your application, references will be automatically contacted and asked to provide a letter of recommendation. Questions about the position should be directed to Dr. Judy Twigg (jtwigg@vcu.edu). The application deadline is October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6011

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies
Academy Scholars Program, 2020-2021

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences or law with a command of the language and history or culture of countries or regions outside of the United States or Canada. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in cultures or regions outside of the US or Canada shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Scholars applying by the October 1, 2019 deadline for the August 2020 postdoctoral fellowships must have completed the PhD or equivalent after September 30, 2016.

Academy Scholars are appointed for a two-year, in-residence, postdoctoral fellowship at The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA. Academy Scholars receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire additional training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $70,000. If selected before earning the PhD, the Scholar will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the postdoctoral fellowships beginning in August 2020 is due by October 1, 2019. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 4, 2019. Notification of scholarships will be made in late December 2019.

For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <https://academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

For questions, email: applicationinquiries@wcfia.harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 6001

Naval Postgraduate School

Rank: Associate/Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, Western Europe, Russia

European Security and Politics

Tenure Track

Assistant or Associate Professor

Department of National Security Affairs

Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

The Department of National Security Affairs at the Naval Postgraduate School seeks applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant/Associate professor interested in research and teaching in the field of European politics with a specialization in European security issues. Relevant expertise might include the politics of the NATO alliance, domestic politics of EU and NATO members' foreign and security policy, European-U.S. relations or EU-Russian relations. Candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for teaching excellence and scholarly research. The successful candidate must also be prepared to teach introductory Masters-level courses on the government and politics of Europe and on European Security Institutions, as well as courses in her/his/their specific research specialty.

The Naval Postgraduate School is a fully accredited graduate school the students of which are drawn from the armed forces and civilian agencies of the United States and other countries. The Department of National Security Affairs is multi-disciplinary, with curricula based on Political Science, History, and Economics. Tenure-track professors typically teach a 2-2 load on a quarter system and are expected to maintain an active portfolio of academic research, publishing, and institutional service.

Minimum qualifications:

- An earned doctoral degree from an accredited institution
- Evidence of teaching aptitude
- Evidence of potential to advise student theses and dissertations

- Evidence of strong potential for scholarship leading to scholarly publications

Employment requirements:

- U.S. citizenship is required
- Background check and eligibility for a Secret-level clearance

Applications should include a CV, cover letter (including teaching and research interests), official graduate transcripts, and syllabi of relevant courses taught, preferably at the graduate level. Candidates should also submit up to three writing samples and three letters of recommendation. These confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted separately. ABDs are welcome to apply with the understanding that the award of a Ph.D. degree is a condition of employment. Applications will be accepted until Monday October 14, 2019. Expected start date is in the fall of 2020.

Address applications and supporting materials electronically to the National Security Affairs Department at nsadep@nps.edu.

Questions and any other inquiries may be directed to:

Prof. Anne Clunan

Chair, European Security and Politics Search Committee

Department of National Security Affairs

Naval Postgraduate School

Monterey, CA 93943

alclunan@nps.edu

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Relocation package, including recruitment/relocation incentive may be authorized.

The Naval Postgraduate School is an equal opportunity employer. For additional information about NPS, please refer to the website at <http://www.nps.edu>

NOTE: IF YOU ARE A VETERAN, you are strongly encouraged to identify your Veterans' Preference on your resume or elsewhere in your application package (type of preference, dates of service, date of VA letter, character of service, etc.).

Additional Veterans' Information: if you are not sure of your preference eligibility, visit the Department of Labor's website: <http://dol.gov/elaws/vets/vetpref/mservice.htm>

For more veterans' preference information, visit: <http://www.fedshirevets.gov/job/vetpref/index.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5996

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor in international relations, pending budgetary approval. We welcome applications from all areas of international relations, but are particularly interested in candidates who employ rigorous social scientific methods in their research and whose work complements and builds on departmental strengths.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020, and applicants should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field before the appointment begins. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjY2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2019, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5999

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications in International Relations for appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2020. Successful candidates should hold a PhD in Political Science or related field by start date of appointment.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Successful candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing demonstrated and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information this statement can be found at <http://facultydiversity.ucsd.edu/recruitment/contributions-to-diversity.html>).

All materials should be submitted via UCSD RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF02206>) for position: Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations).

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5984

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

Assistant Professor, Political Science, Human Security
University of Nevada, Reno - Main Campus

Job Description

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) invites applications for a tenure-track, full-time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of human security. We seek a scholar researching large-scale political, environmental, economic and/or social problems, potentially crossing international boundaries. Specializations might include, but are not limited to, linkages between climate change and food security; regional or global health issues affecting human security; research on refugees, migration, the dispossessed or internally displaced people as a result of famine, drought, environmental deterioration, or conflict. The Political Science Department at UNR has a growing emphasis in the broad area of human security and a commitment to inclusion. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to develop their own courses and research agenda under this umbrella and be expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower and upper division undergraduate, MA/PhD). This could at times include specific courses required for degree programs. The normal teaching load is 2/2. We welcome applicants from any empirical research methodological tradition, but expect a high-level of sophistication and rigor. The start-up package is competitive.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand by August 15, 2020.
A developing or established research agenda in human security
A record of, or potential for, publishing in top-tier journals and presses in relevant fields
A rigorous, empirical research methodology.
Demonstrated excellence, or clear evidence of potential for excellence, in teaching

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of or potential for strong external grant activity
Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in research, teaching and/or service

Compensation Grade/Rank

II, Assistant Professor

Department Information

The UNR Department of Political Science is an energetic, collegial and exciting community of political scientists and public policy and public administration scholars with a deep commitment to excellence in research and teaching as well as to leadership in the Department, the University, and the diverse northern Nevada community. The Department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA and PhD degrees. It offers a BA in Political Science and coordinates the International Affairs major and minors in Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and Renewable Energy. Faculty are linked with a variety of College and University-wide initiatives, such as the Cybersecurity Center and the Gender, Race and Identity Program. Additional information about the Department can be found at: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science>. The University of Nevada, Reno is a Research 1 land-grant campus of the Nevada System of Higher Education with a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students. Nearly half of incoming students identify as being from an underrepresented group. In accordance with the university's land grant, tier one research institution mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many U.S. transportation hubs and to Mexico. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Program

Total Compensation

The total compensation package includes a negotiable competitive salary, moving allowance (if applicable), a rich retirement plan, health insurance options that include dental and vision, life insurance, long-term disability, along with many other benefits. Additionally, there is a grant-in-aid educational benefit for faculty and dependents. For more information, please visit: UNR Benefits

Contact Information for this position

Search Chair-William Eubank bille@unr.edu
Search co-Coordinator- Karen Braun kbraun@unr.edu
Search co-Coordinator-Tamela Gorden tgorden@unr.edu

To apply, please go to: https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Assistant-Professor--Political-Science--Human-Security\_R0117646. A complete application must include the following:

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita
- 2) Cover letter stating qualifications, experience, research plans and teaching experience
- 3) Three letters of recommendation
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) Two research-based writing samples

Please contact jobs@unr.edu, the day you apply, if assistance is needed with uploading documents.

Close Date or Open Until Filled

Position is open until filled; first review of applications will begin Oct. 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5981

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Housing, Education Policy, Criminal Justice

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate professor in American politics and public policy, with an emphasis on political institutions and the policy making process, to begin July 1, 2020.

All applicants must have a PhD in the area of Political Science, Public Policy, or a related policy discipline conferred by the time of appointment. Please note that we are searching at both the junior and tenured levels. Successful candidates will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in American political institutions and policy-making. While we encourage applications from scholars studying all areas of Public Policy, GPS has particular interest in Health, Education, Criminal Justice, Transportation, or Housing Policy.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at:
Assistant Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02210>
Associate Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02211>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5965

Portland State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Departments of Political Science and International & Global Studies at Portland State University are searching for a shared tenure-track Assistant Professor position. The ideal candidate will conduct research and teach in the fields of Comparative Politics and/or International Relations with a focus on development. There is a strong preference for candidates who study development through the lens of international political economy, Africa, the Middle East, human rights policy, or global health policy.

Please submit:

- letter of application (cover letter),
- curriculum vitae,
- graduate transcripts (upload under "Other-2"),

- writing sample (e.g. article, book chapter, conference paper, etc) and,
- teaching evaluations (upload under 'Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness').

Please list the names, telephone numbers and email addresses for three professional references. As soon as you submit your application, your references will be emailed a link to upload their letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Department of Political Science at polisci@pdx.edu

Portland State University is Oregon's most affordable public research university, located in the heart of one of America's most dynamic cities. Our mission to "let knowledge serve the city" reflects our dedication to turning ideas into action — in Portland and around the world. The city is our campus, giving students unmatched access to career connections, a vibrant cultural scene and hands-on learning experiences with hundreds of community partners. More than 27,000 students from all backgrounds bring diverse perspectives to our classrooms and campus life, from the tree-lined Park Blocks to the bustling Urban Plaza and state-of-the-art science labs. We are proud of our world-class faculty, groundbreaking research and international reputation for excellence in sustainability, community engagement and innovation.

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. in a related field must be completed by September 1, 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Creates an environment that acknowledges, encourages and celebrates differences.
- Functions and communicates effectively and respectfully within the context of varying beliefs, behaviors, orientations, identities and cultural backgrounds.
- Seeks opportunities to gain experience working and collaborating in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings with a willingness to change for continual improvement
- Adheres to all PSU's policies including the policies on Prohibited Discrimination & Harassment and the Professional Standards of Conduct.
- Contributes to a culture of environmental stewardship, practices resource conservation, and actively works toward achieving long-term sustainability goals.

Professional Standards of Conduct:

At Portland State University, all employees are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner which maintains a safe, respectful, and productive environment for faculty, students, administrators, and staff. It is the responsibility of every member of the Portland State University community to conduct themselves in accordance with our PSU Professional Standards of Conduct which are available at www.pdx.edu/hr/professional-standards-conduct.

Total Compensation Range & Benefits Statement:

The starting annual salary rate for this position will be between $65,007-$67,005. The starting salary may be negotiable above this range, however it will be dependent upon the knowledge, experience, skills and abilities of the chosen candidate, the budget of the hiring committee, and approval from HR.

PSU's excellent benefits package includes 95% premium paid healthcare; a generous retirement and vacation package, and reduced tuition rates for employee, spouse or dependent at any of the Oregon Public Universities

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5945

Stanford University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

Specializations: South Asia, Middle East, Religion & Politics

Assistant-Level Faculty Position in the Social Sciences with a focus on Muslim Societies

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position focused on the culture, economics or politics of Muslim societies. We especially welcome applications from scholars who are studying Muslim societies in Iran and Central Asia, as well as South, Southeast and East Asia.

The successful applicant for this position will be appointed in one of the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, Communication, Economics, Political Science, or Sociology. The successful applicant will have teaching and advising responsibilities in their home department and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae including list of publications, and one recent writing sample. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 25, 2019. Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/14164>

For Anthropology applicants only: Anthropology will contact candidates at a later date to request that three confidential letters of recommendation be submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5941

Bridgewater State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Political Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position to begin in the fall semester 2020 at the level of assistant professor. The successful applicant will be a broadly trained political scientist with a primary field of international relations. The successful applicant will be required to teach courses in international relations, American foreign policy, and other courses in the department's concentration in International Affairs. Review of applications will begin October 21.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is required. ABD candidates will be considered. A commitment to teaching excellence, and evidence of scholarly activity in the field of international relations are also required. Applicants should be strongly committed to excellence in teaching and advising, and to working in a multicultural environment that fosters diversity. They should also have an ability to use technology effectively in teaching and learning, the ability to work collaboratively, evidence of scholarly activity, and a commitment to public higher education.

The Political Science Department at Bridgewater State University houses one of three the NASPAA Accredited Master of Public Administration programs in the state of Massachusetts. The department's faculty members are dedicated to the highest standards of teaching, scholarship and professional, university and community service. The undergraduate program offers degrees in four concentrations including international affairs, public administration, American politics and legal studies while the MPA program offers a concentration in civic and nonprofit leadership. We are looking for faculty who are committed to helping the department achieve future growth. Two-thirds of our students are first-generation college students, students of color, and/or Pell Grant recipients; BSU is committed to the achievement of academic excellence by students from diverse backgrounds. BSU is primarily a teaching institution with ample opportunity for research (especially in collaboration with students). Internal funds are available for faculty scholarship and professional travel.

Please be aware that employment at Bridgewater State University is contingent upon completion of a successful background check.

For more information on this position and to apply, please visit the following link:

<https://jobs.bridgew.edu/postings/15741>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/28/2019

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5938

Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Macau

Rank: Full/Associate/Assistant Professor of Political Science

Full/Associate/Assistant Professor of Political Science

International Relations

(Ref. No.: FSS/DGPA/07/2019)

The University of Macau (UM) is the only public comprehensive university in Macao. Leveraging this unique advantage, UM aims to establish itself as a world-class university with regional characteristics. English is its working language. In recent years, UM has seen a significant development in and a rising international recognition for its teaching, research, and community service. It has implemented a unique '4-in-1' education model that integrates discipline-specific education, general education, research and internship education, and community and peer education. Combining this model with the largest residential college system in Asia, UM provides all-round education to students. In addition, it recruits outstanding scholars from around the world to create a multilingual and multicultural learning environment for students. With the development of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, and the new initiatives of the university to boost cutting-edge research and interdisciplinary programmes, UM embraces unprecedented opportunities for development, and offers bright career prospect to professionals in different areas.

The Department of Government and Public Administration of the Faculty of Social Sciences is inviting applications for academic positions at the rank of Full/Associate/Assistant Professor in the discipline of international relations.

The Department of Government and Public Administration is currently comprised of 19 full-time staff members and offers programmes leading to Bachelor's, Master's and PhD degrees. Faculty members actively engage in research with particular focus on comparative politics, public administration and policy, international relations, and studies of the greater China regions. More information about the Department is available at the UM website: <http://www.um.edu.mo/fss/pa/>.

Qualifications

The required area of specialization is international relations, broadly based to include sub-areas of international relations theory, international/Asian security, global governance, and comparative politics with expertise on major power politics, i.e., U.S. foreign policy. Appointment may be at Full, Associate or Assistant Professor rank, depending on qualifications. Applicants must have a PhD in a relevant field and a proven record of publication in high caliber international journals and presses. Applicants should demonstrate a strong commitment to quality research and scholarship and documented excellence in teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants must be able to lecture and publish research in English. Proficiency in English is required as it is the working language, while knowledge in Chinese/Portuguese will be an advantage.

The selected candidate is expected to assume duty in January 2020.

Position and Remuneration

A taxable annual remuneration starting from MOP800,800 (approximately USD98,860) will be commensurate with the successful applicants' academic qualification and relevant professional experience. The current local maximum income tax rate is 12% but is effectively around 5% - 7% after various discretionary exemptions. Apart from competitive remuneration, UM offers a wide range of benefits, such as medical insurance, provident fund, on campus accommodation/housing allowance and other subsidies. Further details on our package are available at: https://www.um.edu.mo/admo/vacancy\_faq/.

D

Application Procedure

Applicants should visit <https://career.admo.um.edu.mo/> for more details, and apply ONLINE. Review of applications will commence immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants may consider their applications not successful if they are not invited for an interview within 3 months of application.

Human Resources Section, Office of Administration
University of Macau, Av. da Universidade, Taipa, Macau, China
Website: <https://career.admo.um.edu.mo/>; Email: vacancy@um.edu.mo

Tel: +853 8822 8578; Fax: +853 8822 2412

The effective position and salary index are subject to the Personnel Statute of the University of Macau in force. The University of Macau reserves the right not to appoint a candidate. Applicants with less qualification and experience can be offered lower positions under special circumstances.

***Personal data provided by applicants will be kept confidential and used for recruitment purpose only***

** Under the equal condition of qualifications and experience, priority will be given to Macao permanent residents**

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5895

Harvard University

Rank: William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Canada, North America, United States

The Canada Program at Harvard University's Weatherhead Center for International Affairs invites applications for the William Lyon Mackenzie King Postdoctoral Fellowship. Two fellows will be appointed for the 2020–2021 academic year, with the possibility of extending the fellowship for one additional year—conditional on the approval of the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, WCFA associated faculty, and the co-hosting academic department.

The fellowship is open to scholars in all disciplines who are engaged in US-Canada comparative research and teaching, with preference given to individuals working within the social sciences and humanities. For postdoctoral candidates who will have completed the PhD within 12 months of the August 1, 2020 start date, verification of completion of the degree will be required prior to the appointment. Those in possession of a PhD for more than five years are ineligible.

The fellowship provides an annual stipend of $68,000, which is supplemented by funding for research and for individual health insurance coverage. The fellow will be required to teach one course during the year, and will be expected to engage with the Canada Program and with the University's wider community. Fellows receive shared office space at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, and enjoy full access to the University's library, archival, and computing resources.

TO APPLY:

Candidates should submit: a letter of application describing their suitability for the fellowship; a curriculum vitae with a list of publications; a sample of their written work; a teaching portfolio, containing a statement on teaching experience and syllabi; and three letters of recommendation.

TO SUBMIT:

<https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9111>

DEADLINE:

All application materials must be received no later than Friday, November 1, 2019.

For more information about the Canada Program, please visit:

http://programs.wcfia.harvard.edu/canada\_program

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

For more information about the WCFLA Canada Program, please visit: http://programs.wcfla.harvard.edu/canada\_program

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/7/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 5937

Rutgers University, Camden

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor – International Relations, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Middle East, South Asia, Western Europe

Rutgers University – Camden Campus
 Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor – International Relations, Comparative Politics

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University-Camden invites applications for a full time, tenure track appointment at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in Political Science. The primary field of specialization is International Relations with expertise in Security Studies and the ability to contribute to teaching in the department's U.S. National Security Certificate Program. A regional specialty in the Middle East, Asia, or Europe is desirable. Ph.D. must be awarded no later than June 2020.

The Camden Campus is a unit of Rutgers University and as such all applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly potential commensurate with expectations at a public research university. Rutgers-Camden places a high value on providing meaningful undergraduate opportunities for research <http://fas.camden.rutgers.edu/student-experience/undergraduate-research/curca/> and for civic engagement <http://www.camden.rutgers.edu/office-civic-engagement>.

The Political Science Department includes nine full-time faculty members serving approximately 250 majors. While the course load and publishing expectations reflect those of a large research institution, our class size and commitment to individualized attention, especially in our honors program, reflect the advantages of a smaller liberal arts environment. Camden is located directly across the Delaware River from Philadelphia, offering a diversity of transportation, and housing, cultural and educational options.

Candidates should submit the following materials to Rutgers University-Camden at the following link - <http://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/100911>

(1) a letter of interest emphasizing teaching experience as well as research accomplishments and agenda; (2) a CV; (3) three letters of reference; and (4) an unofficial transcript documenting doctoral studies to date. Please be sure to submit documents as pdf files or MS Word documents. Hiring for this position is contingent on final University funding approval. The Department will be interviewing candidates at the APSA meetings and applications will be accepted until October 15, 2019. Rutgers is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University and our department seek to attract diverse faculty and staff of the highest caliber. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5939

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for a postdoctoral research position for the 2020-2021 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Post-doctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines bearing on the study of Economic Diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (September 28, 2020 – June 11, 2021), and to interact with faculty and Ph.D. students, giving at least one research talk. Selected fellows are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019, for full consideration; however, the posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process: All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02196>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or receive a Ph.D. degree in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines related to the study of Economic Diplomacy by the start of appointment.

Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on December 6, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. CCD Fellows will receive applicable UCSD benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the UCSD's background check policy.

For more information about the Center for Commercial Diplomacy fellowship program, please contact Alexandra Hubenko, Executive Director, at ahubenko@ucsd.edu

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5926

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream appointment in the area of International Relations. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence on July 1, 2020, or shortly thereafter.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

Candidates must provide strong evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by a record of publications in leading outlets in the field or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, independent, and externally funded research program and to pursue outstanding research at the highest international level. Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a teaching dossier, to include a strong statement of teaching philosophy, teaching accomplishments, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations, and strong endorsements from referees. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St George) campus.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, article-length writing sample (approximately 10,000 words), teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. Because we seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity, candidates are also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed and scanned) directly to the Chair of the search committee in the Department of Political Science, Professor Antoinette Handley, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 10, 2019.

All application materials should be submitted through the University of Toronto's online application system. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, include reference letters, must be received by October 10, 2019.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/10/2019

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5924

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in International Relations. We are interested in candidates from all areas of International Relations, though we have a particular interest in those with expertise in International Political Economy and International Organization.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/53014>.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/6/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5905

Duke University

Rank: Instructor

Duke University
 American Grand Strategy Instructor

The Department of Political Science and the Sanford School of Public Policy at Duke University invites applications for a one-year Instructor in political science in the field of American Grand Strategy to begin in July or August 2020. This is a one-year sabbatical replacement, with no guarantee of a second year. The Instructor would be required to teach a 2-2 load, with 2 courses originating in the Political Science Department and 2 courses originating in the Sanford School of Public Policy. The Instructor would also be required to actively contribute to the life of Duke's Program in American Grand Strategy, to include: helping recruit and host visiting speakers, helping lead field trips (including a staff ride of the Gettysburg battlefield), and mentoring undergraduate and graduate students. We are seeking candidates with expertise in American foreign policy, American civil-military relations, and American grand strategy. Demonstrated aptitude in teaching is required. Demonstrated aptitude in both the academic and the policy world is highly desired. Successful candidates will be expected to have completed the Ph.D. no later than July 1, 2020.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest describing their suitability for the distinctive requirements of this position, a curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching excellence, and the names and contact information for three recommenders who can collectively evaluate the candidate's qualifications in both the academic and policy domains. All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14134>. Address correspondence to: Chair, American Grand Strategy Lecturing Fellow Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Box 90204, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0204.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Date Posted: 8/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5898

Gettysburg College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor – Political Theory/International Relations

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2020.

Qualifications:

The department seeks candidates in the subfields of political theory and international relations. The successful candidate is expected to offer introductory and upper-level courses in political theory. We are particularly interested in candidates who can teach a course on advanced international relations theory. The ability to teach a course on the global movement of peoples is a plus.

The department seeks candidates whose teaching and scholarship will contribute to the department's commitment to diversity and academic excellence. As part of the cover letter or teaching statement, we invite you to elaborate on your cultural proficiencies and experiences engaging an increasingly diverse student body.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/3126>. Please submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample; transcripts; and a separate statement about your teaching philosophy. The cover letter should be addressed to Professor Caroline Hartzell, Chair, Political Theory/International Relations Search Committee, Department of Political Science. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references listed will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Application materials must be received by September 25, 2019. Review of applications will begin immediately. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Caroline Hartzell: chartzel@gettysburg.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/25/2019
Date Posted: 8/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5901

Mount Saint Mary's University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, Conflict Processes

The Department of Political Science at Mount St. Mary's University invites outstanding teacher-scholars to apply for a tenure-track appointment starting in August 2020. The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. in political science with a specialization in international relations and/or comparative politics and will have demonstrated a commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service to a campus community.

The successful candidate must possess the ability to teach in two or more of the following areas: social science research methods, American foreign policy, conflict and security studies, international law and organizations, and/or human rights. In addition, the successful candidate must possess the ability to teach in a one or more of the following regional specializations: The Middle East and North Africa, sub-Saharan Africa and/or Russia and Eastern Europe. The regional courses contribute to the Core Program, our common liberal arts curriculum, and our international studies program.

Qualified applicants will have a Ph.D. in political science before May 2020 and will have a primary area of competence in international relations/comparative politics with an ability to teach in our interdisciplinary Core Program courses, including our first year symposium course.

Mount St. Mary's University is the second oldest Catholic university in America and seeks faculty members eager to engage and support our Catholic identity. Located in a serene mountain setting in Emmitsburg, Md., yet near major metropolitan areas, the Mount is a comprehensive, nationally recognized Catholic university with an enrollment of over 2,000 students and a 13:1 student to faculty ratio.

Salary

This is a full-time position with full benefits and annual, holiday, and sick leave. Competitive salary commensurate to experience.

Position Status

- Full-time position-Beginning August 2020
- Applications received by October 15, 2020 will be given full consideration.

Required Documents

- Cover letter that briefly summarizes your qualifications and interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- 3 Letters of Recommendation
- Student Evaluations

Ways to Apply

Please send cover letter, curriculum vitae, student evaluations, and three letters of recommendation to polisci@msmary.edu or to the following address:

PS/IS Search Committee
Department of Political Science
Mount St. Mary's University
16300 Old Emmitsburg Road
Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5908

Sabancı University

Rank: Open rank - International Political Economy (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve International Political Economy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5912

Sabancı University

Rank: Open rank - International Relations (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve International Relations. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: international conflict, foreign policy or civil conflict.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5913

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Political Economy

We are looking to recruit an Assistant Professor in International Political Economy.

All candidates must have a research interest in international political economy and must also show a clear and viable strategy for future top-quality research. We are open with respect to methodological and theoretical approaches.

Candidates will need a completed PhD, or be close to obtaining one, in International Relations or a related field by 1 September 2020. Candidates should also have a proven or developing record of publications in refereed international journals or with highly-respected book publishers based on research that is, or has the potential to be, internationally excellent in terms of originality, significance and rigour. Teaching ability in international political economy at undergraduate or postgraduate level is essential.

Successful candidates should have excellent communication skills and an ability to work as part of a team with colleagues across the School. The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

The post will start on 1 September 2020.

For further information about the post, please see the how to apply document, job description and the person specification.

To apply for this post, please go to www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs. If you have any technical queries with applying on the online system, please use the "contact us" links at the bottom of the LSE Jobs page. Should you have any queries about the role, please email hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk.

The closing date for receipt of applications is 15 September 2019 (23.59 UK time). We are unable to accept any late applications.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5883

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Security

We are looking to recruit an Assistant Professor in International Security, ideally with specialism in strategy and military doctrine, conventional and unconventional warfare, deterrence and coercive diplomacy, or nuclear proliferation and arms control. The post holder will pursue an internationally excellent and potentially world-leading research agenda in the field of international relations and to teach international security at undergraduate/postgraduate level and supervise PhD students.

All candidates must have a research interest in international security and must also show a clear and viable strategy for future top-quality research. We are open with respect to methodological and theoretical approaches.

Candidates will need a completed PhD, or be close to obtaining one, in International Relations or a related field by 1 September 2020. Candidates should also have a proven or developing record of publications in refereed international journals or with highly-respected book publishers based on research that is, or has the potential to be, internationally-excellent in terms of originality, significance and rigor. Teaching ability in international security at undergraduate or postgraduate level is essential.

Successful candidates should have excellent communication skills and an ability to work as part of a team with colleagues across the School. The other criteria that will be used when shortlisting for this post can be found on the person specification, which is attached to this vacancy on the LSE's online recruitment system.

In addition to a competitive salary the benefits that come with this job include an occupational pension scheme, a research incentive scheme with personal reward options, generous research leave (sabbatical) entitlement, a collegial faculty environment and excellent support, training and development opportunities.

The post will start on 1 September 2020.

For further information about the post, please see the <https://jobs.lse.ac.uk/ViewAttachment.aspx?enc=jmxxpV+AcVus8i/wvT3FZXrrCOvCUGNwd9uca/>

tGZrAITAAGsyzrpruWFHzf0K8leYIku6u9SZ3U8cx/I38rFr81FNjAKMNTwtmDDBZgUzz0PgmtrdJItlbcwV9+nyORhow to apply document&lt;/a&gt;, <https://jobs.lse.ac.uk/ViewAttachment.aspx?enc=jmXPV+AcVus8i/wvT3FZXrrCOvCUGNWd9uca/tGZrAITAAGsyzrpruWFHzf0K8le4VgW8OMhbjV8kpTIZTQmIOK3nmbWgnc7Bcb8RAy+z7n9EvpLTz/t8NlweyuJ35Ejobdescription&lt;/a&gt;>; and the <https://jobs.lse.ac.uk/ViewAttachment.aspx?enc=jmXPV+AcVus8i/wvT3FZXrrCOvCUGNWd9uca/tGZrAITAAGsyzrpruWFHzf0K8leSUFvePHTnZBucTKgUx/yckbkmCwTBC/E9NqTKY06Ck1QfuhAhY7Rv0rvSOCdFHP2personspecification.&lt;/a&gt;>

To apply for this post, please go to <https://www.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobswww.lse.ac.uk/LSEJobs&lt;/a&gt;>. If you have any technical queries with applying on the online system, please use the “contact us” links at the bottom of the LSE Jobs page. Should you have any queries about the role, please email <mailto:hr.jobs@lse.ac.uk> &lt;/a&gt;.

&lt;/b&gt;The closing date for receipt of applications is 15 September 2019 (23.59 UK time). We are unable to accept any late applications.&lt;/b&gt;

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5882

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: East Asia, Latin American, Middle East

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12563>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate’s scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant’s qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University’s background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5847

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University’s Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2020-2021 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12564>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5844

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow in Regional Political Economy – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12562>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5846

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

Specializations: Conflict Processes, International Security, Foreign Policy

The Department of Political Science and the International Studies Program at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invite applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in International Relations, to join our community in August 2020. The position carries a teaching load of three courses per semester divided between Political Science and the interdisciplinary International Studies Program. A PhD by the time of appointment is required. Completed applications received by September 13, 2019 will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

The successful candidate will show promise as a teacher and scholar of International Relations, ideally in the areas of international conflict, national security, foreign policy, the democratic peace, or international norms. Candidates should also identify the International Studies specialization to which they could best contribute (see <https://internationalstudies.tcnj.edu/>). The successful candidate will excel in the classroom in part by integrating scholarship and teaching.

The Political Science Department and the International Studies Program collaborate closely and form a dynamic community of scholars and students. The Department has seven tenured or tenure-track members (and is conducting searches this year for two additional tenure-track positions) who teach and mentor roughly 180 majors. The International Studies Program draws on faculty from Political Science, History, World Languages and Cultures, the School of Business and other academic units to offer nine specialized tracks of study for about 130 majors. Both units also offer minors that draw students from across a wide range of academic disciplines.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a highly selective institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its 6,500 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. The College also offers focused graduate programs in nursing, business, education and English. In 2006, TCNJ was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ's seven schools—Arts & Communication; Business; Humanities and Social Sciences; Education; Science; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Engineering. TCNJ faculty members are teacher-scholars who share a commitment to the liberal arts. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. TCNJ has 39 major buildings, including the 4th-best college library in the nation, according to the Princeton Review.

To apply, please submit all of the following items using the online application system at the following link: <https://chm.tbe.taleo.net/chm03/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=TCNJ&cws=37&rid=1017>. A final offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a background investigation.

- 1) Cover letter describing qualifications and research and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae (CV);
- 3) Unofficial graduate transcript;
- 4) Scholarly writing sample;
- 5) Evidence of teaching effectiveness including teaching evaluations and sample syllabi;
- 6) A statement on diversity and inclusion detailing how diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their work as teachers, scholars, and mentors;
- 7) Contact information for three references.

Applicants should also have at least three references submit confidential letters of recommendation directly to irisresearch-group@tcnj.edu. Any questions can be directed to Brian Potter (potter@tcnj.edu), the chairperson of the search committee.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/13/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5876

University of Connecticut

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Connecticut is seeking to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor in the area of International Relations, based at the University's Stamford campus, beginning in the Fall of 2020.

The successful candidate will provide undergraduate teaching and service at the University's Stamford campus, but may occasionally have the opportunity to teach a graduate seminar and contribute to the research opportunities at the University's main campus in Storrs. UConn Stamford is located 40 miles from New York City. Reappointment and tenure will be determined by the Department of Political Science at Storrs, with input from the Stamford campus.

The Department of Political Science has 37 faculty members, over 800 undergraduate students and 50 graduate students, and actively engages in research in American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and Public Law. Our faculty have enjoyed recognition for their scholarship both nationally and internationally. The department has traditionally featured an active Colloquia series that highlights scholars from UConn and other universities, as well as opportunities for collaboration with the Human Rights Institute, Africana Studies Institute, Asian and Asian American Studies Institute, Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Program, El Instituto, and many others. Our department is committed to epistemological, methodological and theoretical openness and diversity. For more information about the Department, please visit www.polisci.uconn.edu.

The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to research and scholarship through extramural funding or fellowships and high-quality publications. They will be expected to aspire to gain national recognition as through honorific awards. In the area of teaching, the successful candidate will share a deep commitment to effective instruction at the undergraduate and graduate levels, development of innovative courses and mentoring of students in research, outreach and professional development. Newly hired faculty will also be expected to broaden participation among members of under-represented groups; demonstrate through their research, teaching, and/or public engagement the richness of diversity in the learning experience; and use culturally competent instructional methods and research tools.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field completed by start date; evidence or promise of a strong research/publication record; the ability to teach courses in political science at both the graduate and undergraduate levels; and a deep commitment to promoting diversity through their academic and research programs. All candidates must possess excellent communication skills. Equivalent foreign degrees are acceptable.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS

When the department adopted its current academic plan during the spring of 2019, department faculty identified three areas to emphasize in the future hiring of faculty: (1) Race and Ethnic politics; (2) International law, justice and human rights; and (3) Environmental politics and sustainability. Although this search is open to applicants with any substantive focus within the International Relations subfield, strengths in these areas will be considered during the formal selection process.

APPOINTMENT TERMS

This is a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position with an anticipated start date of August 23, 2020. The successful candidate's primary academic appointment will be at the Stamford campus with the possibility of assignment at UConn's main campus. Salary is competitive based on experience and qualifications.

TO APPLY

Select "Apply Now" to be redirected to Academic Jobs Online to complete your application. Please submit the following: a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, a statement describing teaching and research interests, writing samples, and (if available) course syllabi and teaching evaluations. Your letter of application should include a statement indicating the candidate's commitment to diversity (including broadening participation, integrating multicultural experiences in instruction and research and pedagogical techniques to meet the needs of diverse learning styles, etc.). Additionally, please follow the instructions in Academic Jobs Online to direct three reference writers to submit letters of reference on your behalf.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Employment of the successful candidate is contingent upon the successful completion of a pre-employment criminal background check. (Search #2020044)

This position will be filled subject to budgetary approval.

All employees are subject to adherence to the State Code of Ethics, which may be found at <http://www.ct.gov/ethics/site/default.asp>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5884

University of Southern California

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California (Los Angeles) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor of International Relations, anticipated to begin Fall 2020. We seek applicants with a strong research program in international relations. In keeping with the history of studying international relations at USC in an interdisciplinary and methodologically diverse way, we welcome scholars with strong substantive backgrounds in aspects of international politics such as diplomacy, the construction of international order, the evolving nature of international relations and who can add value to existing strengths in the department in the study of decision-making, identity politics and institutions. We particularly welcome those who can draw on multiple methodological approaches.

A strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching is expected. The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by time of appointment, preferably in Political Science, though other disciplines may be considered. Review of application will start September 15 and will continue until the position is filled.

In order to be considered, applicants are required to complete an electronic USC application: follow this link or paste it in a browser: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-of-international-relations/1209/12723564>. The applicant should upload a CV, a letter of interest, research sample, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Inquiries may be sent to poir.requests@dornsife.usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5889

Worcester State University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science

Specializations: Latin American, South Asia, Southeast Asia

The Department of History and Political Science at Worcester State University seeks a tenure-track Political Scientist in the field of Comparative Politics and/or International Relations with an area specialty in South Asia, Southeast Asia, or Latin America.

The successful candidate will teach the department's introductory courses in Global Politics and International Relations, as well as Political Science Research Methods and upper-level courses in their specialty, and should be prepared to contribute to the university's interdisciplinary programs including Global Studies, Ethnic Studies, Pre-Law, Environmental and Sustainability Studies, and/or Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, and to further Worcester State's commitment to increasing and fostering diversity in our campus community.

The teaching load is four courses per semester. Instructional formats may include face-to-face classes, blended, or fully online courses. Responsibilities of the position include carrying out a scholarly research agenda, advising undergraduate students, and otherwise contributing to the academic and strategic missions of the department and the university.

REQUIREMENTS

A Ph.D. in Political Science is required and must be conferred by August 2020.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Review of applications will begin October 1 and continue until position is filled.

Salary and rank commensurate with education and experience.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

All applicants must apply online at: <http://worcester.interviewexchange.com>

Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, writing sample (of approximately 30 pages), sample syllabus, and 3 signed letters of reference dated within six months of the posting date. Original transcripts will be required if degrees cannot be verified through the National Student Clearinghouse.

All information that can be uploaded to one's e-account should be done so by the applicant; information which cannot may be faxed to 508-929-8169 or sent to the following address:

Director of Human Resources
Worcester State University
486 Chandler Street
Worcester, MA 01602-2597

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5887

York University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations / Security Studies

The Department of Politics, Faculty of Liberal Arts & Professional Studies invites applications for a professorial stream tenure-track appointment in International Relations / Security Studies at the Assistant Professor level, to commence July 1, 2020. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval.

A PhD by the start of the appointment in Political Science, International Relations, or a related field is required. Candidates must show excellence or promise of excellence in teaching, scholarly research and publication and service.

The Department of Politics is internationally recognized as one of the leading sites of International Relations scholarship informed by a diverse range of critical intellectual approaches. Applicants should have an ongoing program of research and specialize in International Security understood broadly. The successful candidate's research should complement the present scholarly profile of the Department of Politics in the study of International Security, and develop it in new and innovative ways.

The successful candidate must be suitable for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. The position will involve graduate teaching and supervision, as well as undergraduate teaching. Pedagogical innovation in high priority areas such as experiential education and technology enhanced learning is preferred. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate actively in Department and University-level service.

York University has a policy on Accommodation in Employment for Persons with Disabilities and is committed to working towards a barrier-free workplace and to expanding the accessibility of the workplace to persons with disabilities. Candidates who require accommodation during the selection process are invited to contact Professor Elizabeth Dauphinee, Chair of the Search Committee at polsjobs@yorku.ca.

York University is an Affirmative Action (AA) employer and strongly values diversity, including gender and sexual diversity, within its community. The AA Program, which applies to women, members of visible minorities (racialized groups), Aboriginal (Indigenous) people and persons with disabilities, can be found at <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/> or by calling the AA line at 416-736-5713. Applicants wishing to self-identify as part of York University's Affirmative Action program can do so by downloading, completing and submitting the form found at: <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/self-identification-form/>. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens, permanent residents and Indigenous peoples in Canada will be given priority. No application will be considered without a completed mandatory Work Status Declaration form which can be found at <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/affirmative-action/work-authorization-form>.

The deadline for receipt of completed applications is 13 October 2019. A letter of application with an up-to-date curriculum vitae, a statement of research and teaching interests, three letters of reference and teaching evaluations should be sent to: Professor David Mutimer, Chair, Department of Politics, Email: polsjobs@yorku.ca – (Subject line: Assistant Professor – International Security).

Posting End Date: October 13, 2019

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/13/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5877

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Florida State University is recruiting an assistant professor of political science on a tenure earning line to begin in August 2020. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, conduct research in their area of expertise and contribute to department, college and university service. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda, strong analytical and empirical skills, and seek to achieve the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to undergraduate and graduate education. The department is especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in scientific study of international conflict and cooperation, including interstate and intrastate conflict, political violence, and human rights. Successful candidates will have training in advanced quantitative methods and be able to contribute to graduate training in that area. Candidates must have earned their doctoral degrees before their appointment begins in August, 2020.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Doctoral 1 institution. Its student population of around 42,000 includes around 8,500 students in graduate and professional schools. Tallahassee is the Florida state capital has a population of about 190,000 within a metro area with about 375,000 residents. The department has over 1,100 majors, an applied master degree program that focuses on practical political management, and a doctoral program.

Florida State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The University is committed to diversity and inclusion (<https://diversity.fsu.edu/>), and we seek individuals who are dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, who share the University's goals to achieve greater diversity and inclusion, and who are reflective of our student body. The successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in a diverse, multicultural and inclusive setting. We encourage applications from women, minorities, and/or individuals with a demonstrated commitment to a culturally and intellectually diverse workplace.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application that indicates their research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendations, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Please submit files and questions about the search to polisci@fsu.edu. To ensure that materials are reviewed, please submit files by October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5869

Cornell University

Rank: Open Rank Tenure-track Position in International Relations

The Department of Government invites applicants for an open rank, tenured or tenure-track position in International Relations with a specialization in international political economy starting in the fall semester 2020. We are also open to research specializations in areas such as climate change and the environment; artificial intelligence, big data, and cybersecurity; and transgovernmental networks and nonstate actors. Our primary interest, however, is in candidates whose research and teaching are focused on the field of international political economy. A PhD is required no later than July 1, 2020.

Applicants should apply online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14126>. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, and three letters of recommendation, as well as teaching evaluations and materials if available. We will be doing interviews at APSA from 2-4pm on Friday, August 30, 2019. We will begin to review applications starting September 16, 2019, and will continue until the search is complete.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5858

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations

Position Title: Assistant Professor, International Relations

Category: Tenure-track

Department: Government

Department URL: <http://www.claremontmckenna.edu/govt/>

Description:

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position, at the assistant professor rank, in the subfield of international relations, beginning July 1, 2020. A qualified candidate, with PhD in political science in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, would have research experience in international relations, and the capacity to teach international relations theory, U.S. foreign relations, and one or more of the following: humanitarian assistance, intervention, and conflict prevention.

The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Given our commitment to cultivating a challenging and inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinion, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Procedures and Timetable:

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy. Letters of recommendation are required from three or more references and should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching.

The deadline for applications is October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5840

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania is conducting a search for a tenure-track assistant professor in the area of conflict studies, broadly defined. We seek an outstanding scholar and teacher who takes a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of conflict including, but not limited to, the study of inter-state and intra-state war and the study of any form of political or inter-group violence (ethnic, religious, racial, sexual). The search is open with regard to methodological orientation and field concentration. Candidates working in International Relations, Comparative Politics, or any other sub-field specialization in political science and adjacent disciplines are invited to apply.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is required at the start of the appointment. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, and teaching statement, should be uploaded to apply.interfolio.com/64682.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating a more diverse faculty (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>). The University of Pennsylvania is an EOE. Minorities/Women/Individuals with disabilities/Protected Veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5842

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Policy Approaches to Sexual Violence - Cluster Hire

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Criminal Justice, Health Care

The University of Wisconsin-Madison seeks to hire a faculty member with research and teaching interests in policy issues around sexual violence.

The scholar should have expertise in the interplay between social science, policy, and government. This may include scholars who are interested in issues such as rehabilitation and reintegration of sexual violence criminals, disparities in policing and sentencing policies for sexual violence criminals, sexual harassment policy issues in the public sector or workplace, Title IX issues in educational policy, child and adult sex trafficking, or the geopolitics of gender-based violence and sexual violence such as the context of war (and political violence more broadly), migration, refugee experiences, and disaster experiences. Or, this may include scholars who study the policy issues attached to: sexual violence imposed by domestic partners; gender/social inequality and its impact on sexual violence; substance abuse (e.g., alcohol and drug) and sexual violence; sexual violence against sex workers; weapon use and sexual violence; history of child abuse and sexual violence; sexual violence and HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases; the role of physicians in screening for sexual assault; marriage laws and sexual violence; mental health and sexual violence; and the relationship between sexual violence and economic pressure, social norms, inter-generational transmission, forced marriage, or education levels.

Ideally the candidate will be positioned to contribute knowledge to improve laws, or the implementation of laws or policies, to prevent and address sexual violence. Public policy experts could use their expertise in the policymaking process, as well as policy analysis and evaluation to identify "what works" and (what doesn't "work") within existing sexual violence policies and laws, and then, in the spirit of the Wisconsin Idea, to share these evidence-based solutions with the public, as well as public sector leaders.

This faculty position is part of a faculty cluster search, "Sexual Violence: Connecting Social Science Research with Policy." The cluster defines "Sexual Violence" broadly, and it includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, sex trafficking, violence against sexual minorities, as well as gender-based violence.

Three faculty positions will be hired in the cluster, which will build a world-class, new core of interdisciplinary strength in research to address issues of sexual violence domestically and/or globally-making UW-Madison a research leader in this critical area. The first faculty position [PVL 99483] focuses on "Psychological Aspects of Sexual Violence" (including potentially research on psychological aspects of victimization, psychological factors contributing to perpetration, and/or theory-based development of interventions designed to prevent sexual assault), while the second faculty position [PVL 99523] is around "Societal Aspects of Sexual Violence" (including potentially research on the social causes and consequences of sexual violence, addressing the disproportionate impact of sexual violence in particular communities (e.g., sexual minority groups, people with disabilities) or the geopolitics of sexual violence and trauma. The third faculty position is "Policy Approaches to Sexual Violence," the subject of this search [PVL 99600].

These positions are part of the UW's Cluster Hiring Initiative, designed to foster innovative, outstanding research programs that will stimulate productive interactions among faculty and students in sexual violence research across campus and to expand interdisciplinary research in this area. Further information regarding this initiative can be found at: <https://facstaff.provost.wisc.edu/cluster-hiring-initiative/>

The successful candidate will have a primary appointment at the La Follette School of Public Affairs or another pertinent unit on campus. Tenure home will be determined at the time of hiring. Expectations include a commitment to the important functions of research, instruction, and outreach, as well as professional and university service as appropriate to faculty rank.

Responsibilities include conducting research and teaching at all levels required, with service at the professional and university level.

Teaching will include courses to undergraduate students, as well as graduate students. For example, the teaching load at the La Follette School of Public Affairs in a typical academic year consists of four courses each year. Mentoring graduate students will be required as well.

To apply, go to <http://jobs.wisc.edu> and search for PVL 99600. To begin the application process, please click on the 'Apply Now' button. You will be asked to create a profile and upload a C.V., cover letter, a research statement, a teaching statement, and 2 samples of written work (please upload these 2 samples together). You will also be asked to provide contact information for three (3) references as part of your online application.

The deadline for assuring full consideration is October 15, 2019; however, positions will remain open and applications may be considered until the position is filled.

For full position description, visit <https://jobs.hr.wisc.edu/en-us/job/502079/assistant-professor-public-policy-approaches-to-sexual-violence-cluster-hire>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/23/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5816

Rice University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Rice University, located in Houston, Texas, invites applications for a tenure-track position to begin July 1, 2020. The appointment will be made at the rank of assistant professor. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, perform research in their specialized area, and contribute to university service. Therefore, successful candidates will have a promising research agenda and strong analytical and empirical skills as well as aspire to the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to graduate and undergraduate education. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in the scientific study of international conflict and cooperation, including interstate or intrastate conflict, political violence, and human rights. Successful candidates will have advanced skills in quantitative research methods and the ability to contribute to graduate training in that area. Candidates must currently have a Ph.D. or complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2020.

The application deadline is September 15, 2019. A complete application must include a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, two writing samples, a research statement, and three letters of recommendation (applicants must provide contact information for three references who will be contacted automatically for letters of recommendation). All applications should be submitted electronically at <http://jobs.rice.edu/postings/20619>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/22/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5806

Lewis & Clark College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs

Specializations: Middle East, Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations

Lewis & Clark College, a private liberal arts college with 2,000 undergraduates, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professorship in the Department of International Affairs, beginning in fall 2020. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement the department's strengths [https://college.lclark.edu/departments/international\_affairs/]. Teaching and research in (1) Middle East and United States Foreign Policy or (2) Human Rights and International Law are particularly desirable. In addition, applicants are desired with interdisciplinary exposure to international relations and with interest and ability to teach an introduction to international relations course. Ph.D. in a field central to international relations is required at the time of appointment as a tenure-track member of the faculty. The usual teaching load is five courses per academic year, with a course reduction in the first year, and there is a one-semester pre-tenure sabbatical. Potential for excellent teaching and research at an undergraduate institution is essential. A complete application must include (1) a cover letter of application, which includes statements of research interests and teaching experience, as well as a description of how the applicant's teaching and/or work in the campus community will contribute to a culture of inclusion and campus diversity; (2) a statement of teaching philosophy; (3) a statement of research plan; (4) a curriculum vitae; (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (6) sample of scholarship (published articles, and/or works in progress); (7) graduate transcripts; and (8) three letters of recommendation (uploaded separately by the referees). All materials should be addressed to Bob Mandel, Chair International Affairs Search Committee, and must be submitted via Interfolio [<http://apply.interfolio.com/65571>]. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5799

University of Louisville

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Louisville is accepting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin August 1, 2020. The position is in comparative politics and/or international relations, with preferred research specialization and teaching interests in Middle East and/or African Politics. The position's teaching expectations also include the department's introductory classes in comparative politics. Competitive candidates should have demonstrated research potential and teaching experience. University policy requires completion of a Ph.D. by February 15th of the first probationary year.

The Department of Political Science has 20 full-time professors and is proud of a diverse and dynamic faculty and student body. We have over 450 students and offer BA, BS, and MA degrees. The University of Louisville is a Carnegie-classified R1 metropolitan research university. Interested candidates must apply online at www.louisville.edu/jobs and attach a curriculum vitae. In addition, applicants should send a cover letter, a sample of written work, graduate transcripts, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of reference to Dr.

Jasmine Farrier, Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292 or via email to polisci@louisville.edu. Application review will begin on September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To apply for this position, follow the "Online App. Form" link below and then click on the "Apply Now" button. You must answer all required fields and submit your application by clicking the "Submit" button. Detailed instructions are available at louisville.edu/jobs in the "My Career Tools" section. Vacancies are routinely removed from the jobs portal around 7:00PM on the deadline date. If the posting description requested that you follow up and mail or email other documents, your application will not be considered complete until those have been received by the department.

NOTE:

Only ONE attachment can be uploaded per application. If you wish to include a cover letter or other documents, please combine them as one document with your resume/cv, save the document with a simple short title that contains only letters, spaces, or numbers, and then upload.

EFFECTIVE 08/01/2018, the option to use an existing resume will no be longer available. On or after this date, please use the option to "Upload a new resume" to attach your CV or resume document.

Computers are available for application submission at the Human Resources Department located at 1980 Arthur Street - Louisville, Kentucky 40208. If you have any questions or problems please contact, Center for Faculty Personnel - FACPER@louisville.edu or by phone 502-852-5301

If you require assistance or accommodation with our online application process, you may schedule an appointment at (502) 852-6258 with Employment Services at the Human Resources office located at 1980 Arthur Street, Louisville, KY 40208.

Application Information

<https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=177041727>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5791

Bentley University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Public Policy/International Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

JOB DESCRIPTION SUMMARY:

The Global Studies Department at Bentley University, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Public Policy/International Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2020. We particularly welcome candidates with expertise in policy areas such as sustainability, development, and health—areas that complement existing programs and appeal to students at a business university.

The successful candidate will be asked to contribute to enhancing our two departmental majors - Public Policy and International Affairs - and to complement the department's existing strengths, which are grounded in political science, geography and cultural studies. While the position is open with respect to region, we especially welcome candidates whose work focuses on regions with emerging economies, particularly in Asia or Africa.

Founded in 1917, Bentley University is a private, Business-focused university with a strong commitment to the Arts and Sciences. Bentley enrolls approximately 5,500 students at the undergraduate, graduate and doctoral levels. Located in Waltham, Massachusetts, Bentley is on the doorstep of one of the nation's leading cities. With over 35 colleges and universities, the greater Boston area is a vibrant place to work and live.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach core courses in public policy/international affairs and electives in their area of expertise.

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a continuing research agenda focused on publication and a strong dedication to excellence in teaching, with preference for candidates with classroom experience. We especially welcome candidates who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to the classroom.

PhD required. (Requirements for your doctoral degree must be confirmed prior to the start of the fall 2020 semester.)

Position will remain open until filled. However, priority consideration will be given to applications received by September 30, 2019.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS:

All application materials should be submitted through Bentley's online employment site at <https://bentley.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty>. Applications should include a letter of interest and CV. Names and contact information for three references are required upon application. Bentley will contact these confidential references for those candidates moving forward in the process.

Bentley University requires references checks and may conduct other pre-employment screening.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT:

Bentley University strives to create a campus community that welcomes the exchange of ideas, and fosters a culture that values differences and views them as a strength in our community.

Bentley University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, building strength through diversity. The University is committed to building a community of talented students, faculty and staff who reflect the diversity of global business. We strongly encourage applications from persons from underrepresented groups, individuals with disabilities, covered veterans and those with diverse experiences and backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5769

California State University, San Bernardino*Rank: Assistant Professor, International Relations and National Security

POSITION: Assistant Professor

START DATE: August 17, 2020

SALARY: Dependent on qualifications and expertise

APPLICATION DEADLINE: November 1, 2019

SUBFIELD: International Relations and National Security

RANK AND QUALIFICATIONS: Tenure-track Assistant Professor. Candidates must hold Ph.D. at time of employment and demonstrate evidence of teaching and research promise.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

The Department of Political Science seeks applicants for a tenure-track position with primary expertise in the field of International Relations, including strategic studies, national security policy, and American foreign policy to begin August, 2020. A Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. We expect successful candidates for this tenure-track position to teach courses in International Relations and National Security. The successful candidate will teach a variety of undergraduate courses in these and related areas of specialization. In addition, the candidate may be asked to teach graduate courses. The successful candidate will produce scholarly research and provide service to the university and community.

California State University, San Bernardino (CSUSB) is located in San Bernardino in the Inland Empire, 60 miles east of Los Angeles and operates a satellite campus in Palm Desert located in Coachella Valley. CSUSB serves approximately 20,000 students, of which 81% are first-generation college students, and graduates about 5,000 students annually. As a designated Hispanic Serving Institution, CSUSB reflects the dynamic diversity of the region and has one of the most diverse student populations of any university in the Inland Empire, and the second highest Hispanic enrollment of all public universities in California. CSUSB employs 467 full-time faculty and offers 48 undergraduate, 35 graduate, and 1 doctoral degree programs and 14 academic programs with national accreditation.

At CSUSB, diversity, equity and inclusion are values central to our mission. We recognize that diversity and inclusion in all its forms are necessary for our institutional success. By fully leveraging our diverse experiences, backgrounds and insights, we inspire innovation, challenge the status quo and create better outcomes for our students and community. As part of CSUSB's commitment to hire, develop and retain a diverse faculty, we offer a variety of networking, mentoring and development programs for our junior faculty. We are committed to building and sustaining a CSUSB community that is supportive and inclusive of all individuals. Qualified applicants with experience in ethnically diverse settings and/or who demonstrate a commitment to serving diverse student populations are strongly encouraged to apply.

TYPICAL ACTIVITIES:

Preferred candidates will be expected to meet the traditional requirements of excellence in teaching, active scholarly and professional work, and service to the university and community.

Qualified candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching and mentoring a diverse student population and to working effectively with faculty, staff and students across a wide range of disciplines.

In addition, new faculty are encouraged to develop and participate in activities that support the University's strategic plan. This plan emphasizes: a) student success; b) faculty and staff success; c) stewarding resources; d) community engagement and partnerships; and, e) enhancing campus identity. CSUSB's Strategic Plan is available at <https://www.csusb.edu/strategic-plan>.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required by time of appointment.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:

To assure full consideration, application materials are due by November 1, 2019.

To apply please submit the following required documents:

- 1) Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of application that includes:
  - a. A statement of your teaching philosophy.
  - b. A statement of your research experience and goals.
  - c. A statement of how you might contribute to CSUSB's Strategic Plan areas.
- 3) Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as teaching portfolios, reports on teaching observations, and/or student evaluations of teaching (if available).
- 4) Unofficial copies of all postsecondary degree transcripts (official transcripts will be required prior to appointment).
- 5) Reference List - names, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three referees whom we may contact to obtain letters of recommendation.
- 6) A Diversity Statement, which may include your interpretation of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and must include specific examples of how your background and your educational and/or professional experiences have prepared you for this role at California State University, San Bernardino (maximum 1,000 words).

Formal review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Information regarding CSUSB's Department of Political Science can be found at <https://csbs.csusb.edu/political-science>. If you are interested in this opportunity, we invite you to apply at: <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/csusb/jobs/2495455> .

Salary is commensurate with experience.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

California State University, San Bernardino is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status. This position adheres to CSU policies against Sex Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Violence, including Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, and Stalking. This requires completion of Sexual Violence Prevention Training within 6 months of assuming employment and on a two-year basis thereafter. (Executive Order 1096 - Revised July 21, 2017)

This position may be "Designated" under California State University's Conflict of Interest Code. This would require the filing of a Statement of Economic Interest on an annual basis and the completion of training within 6 months of assuming office and every 2 years thereafter. Visit the Human Resources Conflict of Interest web page link for additional information: <http://hrd.csusb.edu/conflictInterest.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5764

University of Missouri, St. Louis

Rank: International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri-St. Louis invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty position in International Relations at the rank of Assistant Professor. Specialization is open, but we are especially interested in candidates with expertise in international political economy, international organizations and international law. The ability to teach a graduate course in quantitative methods is desirable. The department offers bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees in Political Science, including a new B.A. in International Relations.

The department seeks an active scholar oriented to research and publication as well as high quality teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. The department is also interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests respect and integrate a variety of methodological approaches. The normal teaching load, assuming an active research agenda, is two courses per semester. Applicants should have Ph.D. in hand by the date of the appointment. Salary is competitive.

The Department of Political Science

The mission of the Department of Political Science is to promote greater understanding of politics, government, and public policy by creating new knowledge, bringing new perspectives to existing knowledge, and disseminating scholarship to students and to the regional, national, and global communities. Our department has a special responsibility to anchor our community with objective knowledge, civility, empathy, and democratic engagement.

The department maintains a high, steady level of quality publication of peer reviewed books, articles and chapters. The UMSL Political Science faculty rank about in the top ten percent of faculty in peer departments in all Public and Carnegie R-2 universities. The department also emphasizes high quality teaching at all levels, and faculty have received numerous teaching awards. UMSL Political Scientists are very active, very visible representatives of the campus who provide the community with faculty expertise and knowledge. The department's long-standing commitment to inclusion is reflected in the diversity of its faculty, students, and curriculum.

The University of Missouri–St. Louis

Established in 1963 in suburban St. Louis, UMSL is the largest public university in eastern Missouri with a current enrollment of over 16,000 in day and evening sessions. This metropolitan research and teaching institution is consistently recognized for its strong programs across disciplines, and it is considered a primary driver of the St. Louis economy, providing industries with educated and capable employees and leaders. UMSL is committed to meeting the diverse needs in the state's largest metropolitan community and, accordingly, is educating traditional and nontraditional students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs so they are prepared to be leaders in health professions; liberal and fine arts; science and technology; and in metropolitan and international affairs such as business, education and public policy. UMSL is a leader in partnerships with key institutions in the St. Louis Region. Alliances and programs have resulted from collaborations with the Missouri Botanical Garden, Saint Louis Zoo, St. Louis Science Center, Danforth Plant Science Center, and many others.

UMSL is one of four institutions in the University of Missouri land-grant system and is classified as RU-H (high research activity) and as a Community Engaged Campus by Carnegie rankings. Both the campus and the College of Arts and Science are committed to an inclusive campus community that values and respects all its members and achieves educational excellence through diversity. We encourage applications from individuals from diverse and minority backgrounds, including individuals with disabilities and veterans. For further information about UMSL, please see: <http://www.umsl.edu/proud/index.html>.

The Search Process

Applicants must apply online at www.umsl.jobs and submit a cover letter outlining qualifications and interests, and a CV. Applicants also should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be sent to David Robertson, Chair, Department of Political Science, One University Blvd., St. Louis, MO, 63121. Review of applications will begin on October 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Anticipated start date is August, 2020. Inquiries and nominations for the position can be sent to David Robertson (daverobertson@umsl.edu). The University of Missouri-St. Louis is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5756

Skidmore College

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Political Science Department at Skidmore College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations with a secondary specialization in Comparative Politics. The appointment will begin in Fall 2020. We are looking for a candidate who is broadly trained in one or more of the following issue areas: migration, transnational population flows, global public health, illicit markets, international organizations, and environmental politics. The successful candidate will have fieldwork experience and area expertise in either Sub-Saharan Africa or Latin America. We expect the successful candidate to contribute to Skidmore College's Black Studies Program and/or Latin American & Latinx Studies Program, as well as to the First-Year Experience. The position carries a 3-2 teaching load, and the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in International Relations and Comparative Politics that will include Introduction to Comparative and International Politics and other courses in their specialization.

The college encourages candidates to apply from under-represented groups and individuals who have demonstrated experience with diverse populations who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their research, teaching, and/or service. We invite you to discuss any relevant aspects of your candidacy in your cover letter.

The application deadline is October 1, 2019. Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a sample of professional writing, teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, evaluations of undergraduate teaching or other evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation. A Ph.D. in Political Science at time of appointment is required.

Minimum Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science at the time of appointment.

<https://careers.skidmore.edu/postings/3395>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/5/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5749

University of San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: East Asia, China, Southeast Asia

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level with expertise in East Asia and an ability to teach courses on China.

Successful candidates will be expected to offer a variety of courses that meet the needs of the Department of Political Science and International Relations. They should be prepared to teach introductory, upper division and graduate courses in Asian politics and foreign policy, international relations theory, and research methods, as well as other courses in international relations that fit with the applicant's interests.

Candidates must be fully committed to liberal arts education and to excellence in teaching and student advising. Candidates must also have a significant scholarly agenda and will be expected to engage actively in service at the departmental, college, and/or university levels after the first year. The normal teaching load is three courses per semester.

Applicants should have completed a PhD in Political Science/International Relations before September 2020.

Applicants must submit 1) a cover letter that describes the candidate's research agenda and the courses they would like to teach; 2) a CV; 3) official graduate transcripts; 4) three letters of recommendation that address both teaching and scholarship; 5) a writing sample; 6) a summary of teaching evaluations and evidence of teaching excellence; 7) a statement of teaching philosophy that includes discussion of how they approach diversity in the classroom.

The Department of Political Science and International Relations is committed to diversity and seeks candidates who share that commitment.

Candidates are encouraged to submit application materials at their earliest convenience using the following link: <https://www.sandiego.edu/jobs/>. Job #1152

To ensure full consideration, applications must be complete by September 15, 2019.

Questions and requests for informal interviews at the 2019 APSA conference in Washington D.C. should be directed to Search Committee Chair, Dr. Avi Spiegel (spiegel@sandiego.edu).

If you have any technical questions or difficulties please contact the Employment Services Team at 619-260-6806, or email us at jobs@sandiego.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5745

Colorado College

Rank: International Relations Position - Open Rank

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College is hiring for a position in international relations. The rank is open. The position requires expertise in Russia and/or Europe, broadly defined, as well as the ability to teach United States foreign policy. Crucial to the position is potential for, and commitment to, excellence in scholarship as well as in teaching at a liberal arts institution.

Colorado College is committed to fostering an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work. Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals.

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The average teaching load is six blocks a year. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research.

All requirements for the Ph.D. should be completed by the starting date of August 24, 2020.

Applicants should submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of research goals; 4) a statement of pedagogical principles; 5) evidence of teaching effectiveness (including syllabi and evaluations); 6) undergraduate and graduate transcripts; 7) a dissertation abstract (if applying at the assistant professor level); 8) a sample of scholarly publications, and 9) three letters of recommendation to: <https://employment.coloradocollege.edu/postings/4036>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/30/2019
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5732

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Chinese Politics: International or Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: China, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for a position in international relations or comparative politics with a focus on China. We are especially interested in scholars who examine China's role in the world through the lens of international or comparative political economy.

The Department prides itself on its ability to foster innovative research and forge cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods.

Applicants at the level of assistant or associate professor are welcome. In addition to a cover letter, all applicants should submit a research statement, description of teaching philosophy, a writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send three letters of recommendation via Interfolio. Applicants at the level of associate professor, please provide the names of three references. Please visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/64888> to upload application materials.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2020.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5726

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/3/2020
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5683

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments can be from 15 days to one-month during the 2020-2021 academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 18, 2019. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12122>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay, 15 days to one-month during the academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5682

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2020-2021 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2020 - January 31, 2021; spring semester: February 1 - June 30, 2021). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 18, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12121>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;

- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
- 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Required Qualifications: Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5681

Texas A&M University

Rank: Tenure-track assistant professor

Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in International Affairs/Applied Methodology

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the broad area of International Affairs with skill in applied quantitative methodology. The Bush School of Government and Public Service has built an outstanding faculty who are looking to hire a collegial Assistant Professor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach more than one section of the required course in introductory-level quantitative methods. We are broadly open to a candidate's regional and/or topical area of international affairs specialization, e.g., political violence, human rights, or international migration and refugees. Bush School faculty exclusively teach master's degree graduate students in international affairs in a standard 2-2 load. We have a preference for candidates who would also be able to teach more advanced methods courses, quantitative or qualitative, including GIS. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at <http://bush.tamu.edu>.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, History, Geography, International Relations, or a related discipline by September 2020. The individual selected will have demonstrated a strong commitment to teaching and research in the context of a public policy graduate school environment. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2020.

Applicants should send a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae and a sample of written work, along with three letters of recommendation, to:

Professor Gregory Gause

c/o Ms. Peg Hosea (preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolinta-facultysearch@tamu.edu)

The Bush School of Government & Public Service

Texas A&M University

4220 TAMU

College Station, TX 77843-4220

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5723

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, East Asia

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in International Relations at the assistant professor rank. Candidates whose work focuses on international security will receive special consideration, but we also encourage scholars of foreign policy to apply. We are seeking candidates with a regional specialization in East Asia. Teaching responsibilities will involve both undergraduate courses and graduate seminars in our Masters of Global Studies (MGS) program. The successful candidate will be expected to teach general courses on international relations, courses in their specific IR subfield, and courses on the comparative politics of East Asia. While ABDs will be considered, applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2020. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time faculty members, approximately 150 undergraduate majors and master's programs in both Public Administration and Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. George Connor, Head
Department of Political Science
Missouri State University
901 S. National Ave.
Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins September 16, 2019 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5679

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor International Political Economy

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for a tenure track position in International Political Economy at the rank of Assistant Professor starting in the fall semester 2020. Ph.D. in political science is strongly preferred. ABDs in political science or government will be considered; however continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D.

Candidates should have a thorough grounding in International Relations and economics and demonstrate the ability to address questions of broad relevance to the global economy. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is required. Evidence of teaching excellence and promise of a strong record of research and publication are essential. Broad training in political science is expected.

Teaching duties include a 3/2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3/2 teaching load is continued for another three years.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 13, 2019. Questions about the position can be directed to the department chair, Dr. Marcus Kreuzer at political.science@villanova.edu.

Candidates interested in arranging an interview at the APSA conference, please send your CV to political.science@villanova.edu no later than August 15. We will notify prospective interviewees by August 20.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/13/2019

Date Posted: 6/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5677

Mrs.

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

Occidental College

Rank: ASSOCIATE/ADVANCED ASSISTANT PROFESSOR in Global Political Economy

A search in Global Political Economy at the Associate Professor with tenure or at the Advanced Assistant levels. We are looking for applicants who have demonstrated an ambitious research and practice agenda with a particular interest in applicants whose work focuses on areas such as the Sustainable Development Goals; Human Rights-based Approaches to Economic Development; Equity/Equality in economic structures (with reference to race, class, identity, and/or gender and the imperative of democratic inclusion); or alternative approaches to studying dominant approaches to international trade, globalization and other topic areas in Global Political Economy. More information on the Young Initiative is here: <https://www.oxy.edu/academics/global-engagement/young-initiative>. The hire will eventually be expected to play a leadership role in the Young Initiative Committee, including its rotating chair-ship.

Priority will be given to applicants who have demonstrated a research agenda that leverages substantial fieldwork with international or regional organizations and/or transnational NGOs. An expectation will be that the hire will continue Occidental College's engagement with on-the-ground work in international affairs, at the local/Los Angeles, transnational, and/or global levels. A priority is the ability to advance the College's mission and an understanding of the distinctiveness of the Liberal Arts culture.

Occidental College is a highly-selective, urban liberal arts college recognized for its diverse student body, its commitment to academic excellence and equity, and its undergraduate research programs. Named one of America's most beautiful campuses, the College is situated in the vibrant neighborhoods of Eagle Rock and Highland Park in Northeast Los Angeles. As one of the few urban liberal arts colleges in the country, Occidental affords students and faculty unique engagement with communities, cultural institutions, and academic resources throughout Los Angeles. Occidental College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, sexual orientation, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by State or Federal Law. We strongly encourage all underrepresented candidates, especially women and persons of color, to apply.

Candidates should send their application as an electronic file to Ms. Chamnan Lim at youngsearch@oxy.edu. A complete application will include the following materials: (1) a cover letter that details the interest in teaching at Occidental and potential linkages to priorities of the Young Initiative in Global Political Economy; (2) a discussion of the applicant's academic research and field practice; (3) a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; (4) a scholarly work sample; (5) Curriculum Vitae; and (6) a list of referees.

All materials are due no later than October 1, 2019; applications received after the deadline will not be reviewed. Interviews of semi-finalists will be held via videoconference.

For information on the Department of Diplomacy & World Affairs, including current course offerings, please visit our website at: <http://www.oxy.edu/diplomacy-world-affairs>. For information on the Young Initiative on the Global Political Economy, please visit our website at the address noted above. Inquiries about the position, the DWA department, or the Young Initiative can be directed to the Interim Young Initiative in the Global Political Economy Chair, Professor Anthony Tirado Chase: achase@oxy.edu.

We will consider for employment all qualified Applicants, including those with Criminal Histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5660

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2019. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2019 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 31, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/5/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4971

METHODOLOGY

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

Rank: Faculty Position (International Political Economy)

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, International Relations

Specializations: Political Economy, Research Methods, East Asia

Faculty Position (International Political Economy) - Job ID: 4879

The Division of Social Science at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology seeks to hire a faculty member in International Political Economy. The position is open in rank (Assistant Professor/Associate Professor), but preference will be given to candidates with an active research agenda related to East Asia and demonstrated excellence in scholarship and in research methodology.

Applicants should have a PhD degree.

Salary is highly competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Fringe benefits including annual leave, medical and dental benefits will be provided. Housing benefits will also be provided where applicable. Initial appointment at Associate/Assistant Professor rank will normally be on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement. A gratuity will be payable upon successful completion of contract.

Application Procedure

Applicants should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample publication, and three letters of reference to the attention of: Search and Appointments Committee Chair, Division of Social Science, HKUST, Clear Water Bay, Hong Kong by email to ssearch@ust.hk. Review of applications will start on 1 December 2019 and the search will continue until the position is filled. The University is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and has a range of family-friendly policies in place.

(Information provided by applicants will be used for recruitment and other employment-related purposes.)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7248

John Cabot University

Rank: Full-time tenure track faculty position in Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Africa, Environmental Policy, Electoral Behavior

Full-time tenure track faculty position in Comparative Politics

John Cabot University, an accredited American liberal arts university in Rome, Italy, offering four-year degree programs, invites applications for an open-rank (assistant or associate) full-time tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics. The initial appointment is for two years with the possibility of tenure. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction. We seek candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service and program development. The ideal candidate should have familiarity and experience with the American liberal arts educational tradition.

All candidates with a strong grounding in comparative politics are welcome to apply. Special consideration will be given to candidates with expertise in teaching advanced research methodology; elections, public opinion and voting behavior; environmental politics; and gender studies. There is no regional specialization for the position, but a focus on Africa, Latin America or Europe would also be welcome. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate level courses with a load of three courses per semester as well as be an active member of the university community. Ability to teach graduate level courses is an asset.

Applications should include 1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest and fit for teaching at an American liberal arts college in Rome; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching and research interests; and 4) evidence of teaching excellence. Materials should be sent as a single pdf file to: CompPolSearch@johncabot.edu. Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the same email address.

The deadline to submit applications is November 1, 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to start in the fall semester of 2020. Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

John Cabot University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic or national origin, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or disability in any of its policies, programs, and services.

Information about JCU can be found at: <http://www.johncabot.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6238

Oxford College of Emory University

Rank: QTM, Assistant Professor of QTM, Tenure track

Located 36 miles east of Atlanta on the original campus of Emory College in Oxford, Georgia, Oxford College of Emory University invites applications for tenure-track position of Assistant Professor of Quantitative Theory and Methods, to begin August 2020. Emory's Institute for Quantitative Theory and Methods (IQTM; see quantitative.emory.edu) promotes the teaching, learning, and use of quantitative analysis across disciplines. IQTM currently offers undergraduate degrees in four interdisciplinary majors and one minor. The successful candidate would teach core coursework in these majors, including Probability and Statistics (QTM 210) and two one-credit courses introducing statistical computing using R (QTM 150/151). Oxford faculty regularly teach a first-year seminar course on a topic in their discipline. Teaching responsibilities may also include Introduction to Scientific Methods (QTM 110), a quantitative elective, or a course in the candidate's disciplinary area. Areas of research interest and expertise are open. Teaching, scholarship, and service are expected; the teaching load is the equivalent of three courses per semester.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in a social science discipline with an emphasis on quantitative methods or a Ph.D. in Statistics completed by the time of appointment. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to and record of teaching excellence and an active engagement in scholarship. An ability to work effectively in a liberal arts program with a diverse student body and faculty is desired.

Application Instructions

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, scholarship statement, statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching excellence (including student evaluations of teaching, if available), and undergraduate and graduate transcripts (unofficial acceptable) via Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/67701>. Three confidential letters of recommendation may be requested at a later date. Complete applications submitted by October 1, 2019 will receive full consideration.

One of Emory University's four schools partnering in undergraduate education, Oxford College provides 975 first- and second-year students of high academic profile an intensive liberal-arts program for the first two years of their Emory bachelor's degree. We are interested in candidates with a commitment to working with a remarkably diverse student body in an inclusive learning community that values excellence in teaching and close student-faculty interaction. Applications from women and historically underrepresented minorities are particularly welcome.

For more information about Oxford College and for a full listing of open positions, visit <http://oxford.emory.edu/hiring>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6154

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in quantitative political methodology to begin fall 2020. The successful candidate should have research interests in methods and is expected to meet departmental instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Priority will be given to candidates that can also contribute to teaching and research in other subfields of Political Science.

Applications should be submitted to the following: <https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Assistant-Professor/20688>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6110

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the assistant professor level with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) writing sample; 4) brief teaching statement; 5) brief research statement; and 6) at least three letters of recommendation. Applicants also are encouraged to submit as optional documents up to three publications or unpublished manuscripts and evidence of teaching performance, such as teaching evaluations, if available. Applications will be accepted until the deadline of October 1, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

To be considered, those interested must apply through The University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board, which uses Interfolio to accept applications: apply.interfolio.com/66855. Review of applications will begin on September 20, 2019. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6074

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at the University of Chicago is building in political methodology and political economy. We invite applications for multiple positions at the levels of associate or full professor with substantive interests in American Politics, Comparative Politics, or International Relations. Candidates must be able to contribute to the department's graduate curriculum with courses in formal or quantitative methods.

Applicants are required to apply online at the University of Chicago's Academic Recruitment job board at: apply.interfolio.com/67089. Applicants are required to include: 1) a cover letter; and 2) a curriculum vitae. Consideration of applications will begin on September 22nd and will continue until the position is filled or the search has ended; early submission is encouraged. Only short-listed candidates will be contacted. Appointments may begin as early as July 1, 2020.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6072

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science of the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political methodology.

The department seeks applicants from all subfields of political methodology. Strong candidates will make significant contributions to political methodology and seek to address important substantive questions in political science. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. Appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2020. Minimum basic qualification (must be met by time of application).

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching and service. Typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Applicants will be required to submit a cover letter of interest that describes their research and training, CV, writing samples, teaching evidence/evaluations, Statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of reference. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only completed applications that include the letters of reference may be reviewed by the committee.

Review of Applications will begin on October 30, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 30, 2019 will receive full consideration. Applications and materials will be submitted using UCR's on-line application system located at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01163>.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up (<http://product-help.interfolio.com/m/27438/l/266289-confidential-letter-uploads-to-online-application-systems>.)

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 4/1/2020

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6064

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science of the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political methodology.

The department seeks applicants from all subfields of political methodology. Strong candidates will make significant contributions to political methodology and seek to address important substantive questions in political science. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. Appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2020. Minimum basic qualification (must be met by time of application).

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching and service. Typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Applicants will be required to submit a cover letter of interest that describes their research and training, CV, writing samples, teaching evidence/evaluations, Statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of reference. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only completed applications that include the letters of reference may be reviewed by the committee.

Review of Applications will begin on October 30, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 30, 2019 will receive full consideration. Applications and materials will be submitted using UCR's on-line application system located at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01163>.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up (<http://product-help.interfolio.com/m/27438/l/266289-confidential-letter-uploads-to-online-application-systems>.)

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law

Start Date: Summer 2020

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6065

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in the fields of Formal Theory or Quantitative Analysis. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13301> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. Ph.D. is required. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton Politics faculty members. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to F/Q Postdoctoral Fellowship Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 14, 2020.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition Number: D-20-POL-00010

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6050

Purdue University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science at Purdue University seeks applications for up to two tenure-track assistant professors with strong skills in computational social science and data science, broadly defined, and who apply them to substantive questions in political science, preferably in the areas of comparative politics or international relations. Examples of strengths include machine learning, network modeling, statistical methods for large and complex data, natural language processing, text, audio, and/or image analytics, data visualization, and/or other related methods. Exceptional candidates at the level of associate professor with tenure may be considered.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda and be able to teach courses at the intersection of data science, quantitative methods, and his or her substantive fields of expertise, and with some courses being part of the College of Liberal Arts' Integrated Cornerstone first-year curriculum. Candidates at the level of advanced assistant or associate professor are expected to have a strong track record of high-quality publications, appropriate to rank. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a related discipline is required.

Desired qualifications include interest in contributing to social science methodological training across campus; interest in contributing to a broader integrative data science initiative at Purdue; an interest in attracting external funding; and a commitment to teaching excellence.

Purdue University's Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and off-campus engagement. Candidates should address their commitment to diversity and inclusion in at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals as they relate to promoting a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. The Political Science Department is home to the journal Politics, Groups, and Identities. Faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. Many faculty members hold joint appointments or affiliations with other departments and programs, including Communication, African American Studies, Civil Engineering, Industrial Engineering, and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The department offers graduate certificates to students across campus in Social Policy, Environmental Policy, and Human Rights. The department is also home to the director of the award-winning C-SPAN Archives, located at the Purdue Research Park.

Applications

Candidates should submit application materials electronically via <https://career8.successfactors.com/sfcareer/jobreqcareer?jobId=6956&company=purdueuniv&username=>

Applications should include curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, three letters of recommendation, a sample of written work, instructional materials such as syllabi and course evaluations, and a cover letter discussing the applicant's qualifications for the position. Candidates at the level of associate professor with tenure may submit names three references in lieu of letters.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to the search committee chair, Dr. James McCann, mccannj@purdue.edu. A background check will be required for employment in this position.

Equal Opportunity

Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6044

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lecturer/Senior Lecturer

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an educator-track Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Political Science to teach research methods as well as other modules in Comparative Politics and/or Governance and Public Policy for our undergraduate curriculum. The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester), of which at least two should be in methods.

Lectureships at NUS are career positions in which advancement (to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor) is possible. Appointments are for three years initially and are renewable on an ongoing basis, subject to good performance and departmental teaching needs. Compensation and benefits are similar to those of faculty members on the tenure track and are competitive.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science. The Department recognizes four main subfields: Comparative Politics; Governance and Public Policy; International Relations; and Political Theory. The Department also hosts the programme in Global Studies.

Candidates should send a CV, a letter detailing their research and teaching interests, at least two samples of written work, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at pol-box5@nus.edu.sg

All applicants should also submit sample syllabi, student evaluations, and other evidence of teaching quality. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 21 October 2019.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6025

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Faculty Position in Complex Systems

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Research Methods, Intelligence

The Center for the Study of Complex Systems (CSCS) at the University of Michigan seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in complex systems science. This is a University-year appointment at the Assistant Professor level although more senior applicants will also be considered. The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

Required Qualifications: We seek applicants with a research agenda focused on the development and/or application of complex systems models and/or methods. This may involve theoretical or applied research in areas of complex systems including (but not limited to) mathematical and computational work in network science, emergence and robustness, related topics in computer science, or scientific applications where complex systems theory lies at the core of the approach such as quantitative modeling of social systems, biological structure and development, evolution, artificial life and cognition. We are particularly interested in candidates with a record of working across disciplines.

How to Apply: All applications must be uploaded here: <http://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/Apply/CSCS>. This faculty position will be a joint appointment between CSCS and another academic department or school at the University of Michigan. Candidates should identify one or more partner units at the University of Michigan suitable for such a joint appointment. Applicants must submit a CV, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and evidence of teaching excellence, if any. At least three letters of recommendation are required and must be uploaded onto the same website. Review of applications will begin on 1 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6030

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor – Methodology/Computational Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh seeks candidates for a tenure-stream position in Political Methodology and Computational Social Science at the level of Assistant Professor. We are seeking researchers that have expertise in applying machine learning approaches, broadly construed, to computationally intensive problems in social science. Researchers modeling social media or networks, those employing novel data (e.g., eye-tracking, MRI or GIS data), at scale, or applying creative measurement and visualization strategies to explore topics such as algorithmic biases would be particularly competitive for this position, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work complements and builds on departmental strengths. We encourage applications not only from candidates who have been trained in Political Science departments, but also interdisciplinary researchers whose interests intersect with political science topics. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching ability, the promise of attracting external funding for his/her research, and will have the opportunity to join the interdisciplinary MLHub initiative at Pitt.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020, and applicants should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science, Information Science, Computer Science, or a related field before the appointment begins. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjY3>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2019, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5998

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Methodology)

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California San Diego (<http://polisci.ucsd.edu>) invites applications in empirical political methodology for an appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2020. Applicants should demonstrate strong skills in quantitative methods, which may include one or more of the following: econometrics, applied statistics, causal inference, survey methodology, data science, computational social science. Successful candidates should hold a PhD in Political Science or related field by start of appointment.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Successful candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing demonstrated and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information this statement can be found at <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-info.asp>).

All materials should be submitted via UCSD RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF02208>) for position: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Methodology).

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5985

Smith College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and Statistical & Data Sciences

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Women & Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Electoral Behavior

The Department of Government (GOV) and the Program in Statistical & Data Sciences (SDS) at Smith College invite applications for a joint, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin July 1, 2020.

By time of appointment the applicant must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely-related discipline (e.g., public policy) -- as well as advanced training in statistics, data science, or a closely-related field at the graduate level. Candidates specializing in American political institutions and public policy are preferred. Statistical and Data Science specializations might include, for example, the public policy implications of data storage and mining, machine learning and public health, modeling of voting behavior, surveillance and data privacy policy, or computer algorithms for law enforcement and sentencing.

The position has a teaching load of 2:2 -- i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year -- and will have a joint teaching commitment to GOV and SDS, split evenly. In GOV, we anticipate that the person would teach introduction to public policy, introduction to American Government, and upper-level courses related to their area of expertise in which students analyze data. In SDS, the person would teach introductory statistics or data science, as well as intermediate and advanced-level courses in their area of interest, for example multiple regression, machine learning, data journalism, data visualization, data ethics, or text mining. Candidates from groups underrepresented in STEM or quantitative political science are encouraged to apply.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country and is dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. The faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes. Tenure-track faculty members teach two courses each semester, mentor and advise undergraduates, and enjoy a generous sabbatical policy. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here: <https://www.smith.edu/about-smith/provost/faculty-development>. The Five College Consortium -- comprising Smith, Amherst, Mount Holyoke and Hampshire Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts-Amherst -- provides a rich intellectual and cultural life. Details about GOV and SDS may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/> and <https://www.smith.edu/sds/>.

Submit application at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66801> with a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching philosophy, an article- or chapter-length writing sample, and three confidential letters of recommendation. The research and teaching statements should address the candidate's commitment to diversity and inclusion, as well as their interest in working at a women's college. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5971

University of Toronto

Rank: Assistant Professor in Quantitative Political Science

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure-stream appointment in the area of Quantitative Political Methodology. We are looking for a candidate with a high level of expertise in methodology and seek candidates who also have a substantive interest in area-based politics (for example in US politics), and are able to teach and do research in both these fields. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will commence on July 1, 2020, or shortly thereafter.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline at the time of appointment or shortly thereafter. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <http://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

Candidates must provide strong evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive calibre, as evidenced by a record of publications in leading outlets in the field or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, independent, and externally-funded research program, and to pursue outstanding research at the highest international level. Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a teaching dossier to include a strong statement of teaching philosophy, sample course materials, teaching evaluations, and teaching accomplishments, and strong endorsements from referees. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St George) campus.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply by clicking on the link below. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, article-length writing sample (approximately 10,000 words), teaching dossier (including a statement of teaching philosophy, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations), and a statement outlining current and future research interests. Because we seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity, candidates are also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups. Applicants should also ask three referees to send letters (on letterhead, signed and scanned) directly to the Chair of the search committee in the Department of Political Science, Professor Antoinette Handley, via e-mail at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca by the closing date, October 7, 2019.

All application materials should be submitted through the University of Toronto's online application system. Submission guidelines can be found at: <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>.

All application material, including reference letters, must be received by October 7, 2019.

If you have questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/7/2019

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5923

Mount Saint Mary's University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, Conflict Processes

The Department of Political Science at Mount St. Mary's University invites outstanding teacher-scholars to apply for a tenure-track appointment starting in August 2020. The ideal candidate will possess a Ph.D. in political science with a specialization in international relations and/or comparative politics and will have demonstrated a commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service to a campus community.

The successful candidate must possess the ability to teach in two or more of the following areas: social science research methods, American foreign policy, conflict and security studies, international law and organizations, and/or human rights. In addition, the successful candidate must possess the ability to teach in a one or more of the following regional specializations: The Middle East and North Africa, sub-Saharan Africa and/or Russia and Eastern Europe. The regional courses contribute to the Core Program, our common liberal arts curriculum, and our international studies program.

Qualified applicants will have a Ph.D. in political science before May 2020 and will have a primary area of competence in international relations/comparative politics with an ability to teach in our interdisciplinary Core Program courses, including our first year symposium course.

Mount St. Mary's University is the second oldest Catholic university in America and seeks faculty members eager to engage and support our Catholic identity. Located in a serene mountain setting in Emmitsburg, Md., yet near major metropolitan areas, the Mount is a comprehensive, nationally recognized Catholic university with an enrollment of over 2,000 students and a 13:1 student to faculty ratio.

Salary

This is a full-time position with full benefits and annual, holiday, and sick leave. Competitive salary commensurate to experience.

Position Status

- Full-time position-Beginning August 2020
- Applications received by October 15, 2020 will be given full consideration.

Required Documents

- Cover letter that briefly summarizes your qualifications and interest in the position
- Curriculum vitae
- 3 Letters of Recommendation
- Student Evaluations

Ways to Apply

Please send cover letter, curriculum vitae, student evaluations, and three letters of recommendation to polisci@msmary.edu or to the following address:

PS/IS Search Committee

Department of Political Science

Mount St. Mary's University

16300 Old Emmitsburg Road

Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5908

Emory University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor – Quantitative Methodologist

The Department of Quantitative Theory and Methods (QTM) at Emory University anticipates hiring three quantitative social scientists with expertise in statistics, data science, mathematical modeling, and/or analytical theory. The positions are tenure-track at the level of Assistant Professor or, for the extraordinary file, tenured at the Associate Professor level. Teaching load is competitive.

QTM is a new and rapidly growing interdisciplinary department at Emory designed to connect faculty communities involved in quantitative research across the college and university. The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in both research and teaching, as well as an interest in contributing to and participating in QTM's intellectual mission. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. by September 2020.

A complete application will consist of a cover letter, a research statement, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Please submit (along with other materials) a brief statement that reflects upon your experience and vision regarding the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds.

Application review will begin on September 3, 2019. Applications received up to 30 days after review begins will receive full consideration.

To apply for this position, please visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/66128> and submit your materials free of charge through Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 5881

University of Southern California

Rank: Assistant Professor in Methods: Quantitative and/or Formal Theory

Assistant Professor in Methods: Quantitative and/or Formal Theory

The Department of Political Science and International Relations (POIR) in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in methods that is anticipated to begin in the fall of 2020. We seek a scholar specializing in advanced quantitative methods and/or formal theory who will contribute to the substantive research fields of American politics, comparative politics, or international relations in POIR.

A strong commitment to research and undergraduate and graduate education is expected. The candidate must have completed a Ph.D. by the appointment date. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To be considered, applicants must submit an electronic application by following this link: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/assistant-professor-in-methods-quantitative-and-or-formal-theory/1209/12726752>. Required materials for upload include a CV, letter of interest, sample research paper, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness, the names of three individuals who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and official graduate transcripts. Send inquiries to poir.requests@dornsife.usc.edu. Materials submitted by regular mail will not be accepted.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5888

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor. We are open to candidates studying a range of policy areas; candidates should demonstrate an active and rigorous research agenda in their chosen policy specialty. The successful candidate will excel in the classroom and seek ways to integrate their scholarship and teaching. Candidates should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses on U.S. public policy. Candidates who can also expand our course offerings in other areas such as public administration, race & ethnic politics, gender & politics, or urban/local politics would be desirable, as would candidates who could teach research methods or specialized courses in data analytics/science. The typical teaching load is three courses per semester, with the possibility of a course release per year for research after the first year through a competitive proposal process. A Ph.D. is preferred, but the College will consider ABDs if the degree will be granted by time of appointment. Applications received by September 13, 2019, will receive full consideration.

The Department of Political Science is a supportive and dynamic community of scholars and students. The Department has seven tenured or tenure-track members and is conducting searches this year for two additional tenure-track positions. Over 180 students major in Political Science, and another 130 major in the interdisciplinary International Studies program. The Department offers minors in public policy and pre-law which draw students from across a wide range of academic disciplines.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a highly selective institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its 6,500 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. The College also offers focused graduate programs in nursing, business, education and English. In 2006, TCNJ was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ's seven schools—Arts & Communication; Business; Education; Humanities & Social Sciences; Science; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Engineering. TCNJ faculty members are teacher-scholars who share a commitment to the liberal arts. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. TCNJ has 39 major buildings, including the 4th-best college library in the nation, according to the Princeton Review.

Applicants should submit the following materials using the online application system at link: <https://chm.tbe.taleo.net/chm03/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=TCNJ&cws=37&rid=1016>. A final offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a background investigation.

- 1) A cover letter describing qualifications and research and teaching interests,
- 2) curriculum vitae,
- 3) one scholarly writing sample,
- 4) evidence of teaching effectiveness,

5) a statement on diversity and inclusion detailing how diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their work as teachers, scholars, and mentors, and

6) contact information for 3-5 references.

Applicants should also have three referees submit confidential letters of recommendation directly to publicpolicysearch-group@tcnj.edu. Questions about the position can be directed to Daniel Bowen (bowend@tcnj.edu), Public Policy Search Committee Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/13/2019

Date Posted: 7/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5866

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Tenured or Tenure-Track Professor of Communication in the Area of Media Effects

The University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School for Communication seeks to hire a tenure-track faculty member (open rank) to begin fall semester 2020. Applicants' research and teaching should employ quantitative methods in the study of communication and social influence in the public information environment. Though we will consider strong candidates in all areas of social influence (including political and persuasive/strategic communication), we are particularly interested in health communication candidates. Research expertise in conventional and cutting edge methods are valued; these may include observational, experimental, neuroscientific, or computational approaches. Applicants should also have a track record of (or clear potential for) obtaining external research funds, including federal grants.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Communication or a related field by the start of the appointment. Candidates who add to our School and University diversity are strongly encouraged to apply.

The Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Pennsylvania is a graduate school of communication theory and research, with 20 full-time faculty and approximately 80 doctoral students representing a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds and interests. The faculty also has primary responsibility for an undergraduate communication major within the School of Arts and Sciences.

Submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, three names of references, and three articles, chapters or other research to Professor John L. Jackson, Jr., Dean, Annenberg School for Communication, University of Pennsylvania via <http://apply.interfolio.com/65061>. For full consideration, applications must be postmarked no later than Monday, September 30, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5773

University of Georgia

Rank: Philip H. Alston, Jr. Distinguished Chair

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for the Philip H. Alston Jr. Distinguished Chair in any substantive area of American politics, methodology, or theory. The start date is slated for August 2020.

Duties include teaching and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate student levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets. Salary is appropriate for an esteemed chaired position. The appointment also includes a substantial endowment for research and development.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or allied field is required. A distinguished record of academic scholarship and of grant-supported research and a standing in political science and the social sciences commensurate with a distinguished university professorship are expected. Leadership roles in the discipline, whether within a university or in the discipline broadly construed, are preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and a list of the names of at least five references. References will only be contacted if a candidate reaches the short list. . Materials should be submitted to the UGA job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/99240> .

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities, and is conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia (UGA), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<http://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,600 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 36,000 students, including over 27,500 undergraduates and over 8,500 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 17 schools and colleges as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5739

Texas A&M University
Rank: Tenure-track assistant professor

Tenure-Track, Assistant Professor in International Affairs/Applied Methodology

The Department of International Affairs in the Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University invites applications and nominations for a tenure-track, assistant professor position in the broad area of International Affairs with skill in applied quantitative methodology. The Bush School of Government and Public Service has built an outstanding faculty who are looking to hire a collegial Assistant Professor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach more than one section of the required course in introductory-level quantitative methods. We are broadly open to a candidate's regional and/or topical area of international affairs specialization, e.g., political violence, human rights, or international migration and refugees. Bush School faculty exclusively teach master's degree graduate students in international affairs in a standard 2-2 load. We have a preference for candidates who would also be able to teach more advanced methods courses, quantitative or qualitative, including GIS. Additional information about the Bush School and department is available at <http://bush.tamu.edu>.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, History, Geography, International Relations, or a related discipline by September 2020. The individual selected will have demonstrated a strong commitment to teaching and research in the context of a public policy graduate school environment. The start date for this position will be September 1, 2020.

Applicants should send a formal letter of interest that includes reference to the position, a curriculum vitae and a sample of written work, along with three letters of recommendation, to:

Professor Gregory Gause
 c/o Ms. Peg Hosea (preferably as electronic attachments to bushschoolinta-facultysearch@tamu.edu)
 The Bush School of Government & Public Service
 Texas A&M University
 4220 TAMU
 College Station, TX 77843-4220

The review of applications will begin September 20, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/28/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5723

University of Georgia
Rank: Assistant Professor of Methodology and American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for two tenure-track assistant professors in Methodology and American Politics, starting August 2020. The candidates' research interests can be from any area of American Politics. Duties include teaching and mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets.

Minimum Qualifications:

Candidates should have PhD or an earned doctorate by Fall 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The successful candidate will possess strong quantitative skills, clear substantive interest in American politics, and an eagerness to teach and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and scholarship is preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a recent publication or research-related writing sample, a teaching portfolio including evaluations, transcripts, and a list of three letter writers, who will separately provide letters of recommendation (in electronic form) to the UGA job site at <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/98323>.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications received September 27th, 2019 will receive full consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities and conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status. Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR at hrweb@uga.edu. Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

Contact:
 Wendi Finch

Email:

wendif@uga.edu

Phone:
706-542-2057

Fax:
706-542-4421

Address:
180 Baldwin Hall
Athens GA, 30602-1615

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5721

Missouri State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Missouri State University invites applications for a nine-month, tenure-track appointment in American Politics at the assistant professor rank. The successful candidate should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses in Political Behavior and Quantitative Methods, as well as the introductory American politics course. While ABDs will be considered, the successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment in August 2020. The successful candidate will be able to enhance the Public Affairs mission of the University and should demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations. The successful candidate should demonstrate a commitment to teaching and service and possess an identifiable research agenda which demonstrates the potential for a sustained record of scholarship leading to publications in peer-reviewed journals.

The Department of Political Science has 16 full-time faculty members, approximately 150 undergraduate majors and master's programs in both Public Administration and Global Studies. Missouri State University is a selective-admission, comprehensive, and multi-campus university system with an enrollment of over 20,000 students, 150 undergraduate majors, and 47 graduate programs. MSU is located in Springfield, MO, with a metropolitan population of over 400,000, in the heart of the Ozarks region of Southwest Missouri.

Apply online at <https://jobs.missouristate.edu/>. For additional information, contact:

Dr. George Connor, Head
Department of Political Science
Missouri State University
901 S. National Ave.
Springfield, MO 65897

Salary is competitive and commensurate with background and experience. Consideration of applicants begins October 7, 2019 and continues until the position is filled. Employment will require a criminal background check at University expense.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5678

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

Mrs.

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

NON-ACADEMIC

CUNY Graduate Center

Rank: Research Associate (Post-Doctoral Fellow) – Ph.D. Program in Environmental Psychology

Research Associate (Post-Doctoral Fellow) – Ph.D. Program in Environmental Psychology

Job ID: 20959

Compensation: Commensurate with experience and qualifications

Closing Date: Open until filled with review of applications to begin on September 9, 2019

The Graduate Center, CUNY is the focal point for advanced teaching and research at The City University of New York (CUNY), the nation's largest urban public university. With over 35 doctoral and master's programs of the highest caliber, the Graduate Center fosters pioneering research and scholarship in the arts and sciences and prepares students for careers in universities and the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. The Graduate Center's commitment to research and scholarship for the public good is exemplified by its more than 30 centers, institutes, and initiatives, including its Advanced Science Research Center (ASRC), a 200,000 square-foot facility in upper Manhattan, designed to promote collaboration among scientists in five areas of global research and innovation: nanoscience, photonics, structural biology, neuroscience, and environmental sciences.

The Graduate Center (GC) benefits from highly ambitious and diverse students and alumni - who in turn teach hundreds of thousands of undergraduates every year. Through its public programs, the Graduate Center enhances New York City's intellectual and cultural life.

The GC seeks a Post-Doctoral Fellow in Urban Studies, to be housed in the interdisciplinary Environmental Psychology Ph.D. Program. The Marilyn J. Gittell Post-doctoral Fellowship, established in honor of the late Political Science Professor at the GC, is for a social science Ph.D. working on areas that concerned Marilyn Gittell, especially research focused on cities, urban politics, public policy, democratic and civic engagement, social movements, citizenship and governance, and community practices, both domestically and abroad. This is a 1-year fellowship, with the possibility for one 1-year renewal.

The Environmental Psychology program draws upon interdisciplinary as the means to include the many necessary perspectives for understanding the interactions of people and place, while embracing the policy and design disciplines that share our environments—including our built environment, social settings, informational environments, and natural ones.

The goal of the Gittell Post-Doctoral Fellowship program is to prepare researchers committed to understanding and addressing critical issues in community-engaged research, especially in urban settings. The Fellow will be expected to articulate and advance a research agenda based in the legacy of Marilyn Gittell's work and help administer activities sponsored by the Marilyn J. Gittell Endowed Chair in Urban Studies. The Fellow serves in a key leadership and programming position within the Gittell Collective (<http://gittellcollective.gc.cuny.edu/>), based at the Graduate Center, and in the national URBAN research network (<http://urbanresearchnetwork.org/>).

The Post-Doctoral Fellow will report to the Gittell Chair in Urban Studies.

Duties include but are not limited to:

- Research: With the guidance of the Gittell Chair in Urban Studies, articulate and advance a research agenda in the legacy of the work of Marilyn J. Gittell. Research training will also include support for travel to meetings related to the trainee's research interests. The Post-Doctoral Fellow may work towards disseminating a recently completed dissertation, and/or begin other research.

- Program Administration and Leadership: Work closely with the Gittell Chair in Urban Studies, the Post-Doctoral Fellow is responsible for various administrative duties related to the Gittell Collective at the GC and the national URBAN research network. These activities may include administering grant and fellowships, website maintenance, meeting facilitation, conference organizing, etc. This work includes institution-building and leadership in thoughtful visioning, framing, and implementation of Gittell-related programming.

- Education: Engage in mentorship with Gittell graduate student fellows, and help student fellows acquire skills and knowledge required to conduct independent research and analysis of issues and problems related to urban studies and community-based research.

The Post-Doctoral Fellowship does not carry a teaching course load.

General Duties:

- Conducts academic research in connection with CUNY programs; may assist faculty, staff, and students in conducting research and lead research efforts involving others.

- Develops research plans and proposals and participates in acquiring funding

- Collects, analyzes, and assures validity of data

- Writes progress reports; writes and publishes findings

- Collaborates with internal and external colleagues

- Adheres to standards for safety and hygiene and ethical conduct as defined by the University and relevant outside parties

Minimum Qualifications:

Doctoral Degree in a related field and demonstrated research ability.

Other Qualifications:

Candidates should have a Ph.D. in hand by October 2019, in Political Science, Sociology, Urban Studies, Planning, Geography, Anthropology, History, or a related field. Candidates who received their Ph.D. in 2016 or later will be considered. The GC seeks candidates who demonstrate scholarship or achievement, have worked independently in programming, able to mentor successfully, and able to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

How to Apply:

1. Please apply using the link below:

https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS\_HRAM.HRS\_CE.GBL?Page=HRS\_CE\_JOB\_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=20959&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

Click on &quot;Apply Now&quot; which will bring you to the registration screen. If you are a new user, you must register to apply. If you already have a user ID, please use your existing ID to apply. Make sure to upload a cover letter, resume, and contact information for three (3) professional references (name, title, and organization). Please upload all documents in Word or PDF format as one file.

OR

2. Go to <http://cuny.jobs/> and search for Job ID 20959.

Equal Employment Opportunity:

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6117

American Political Science Association

Rank: Director, Congressional Fellowship Program

Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Other, American Government and Politics

AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION (APSA)

&lt;b&gt;POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT&lt;/b&gt;

POSITION TITLE: Director, Congressional Fellowship Program

SALARY: Commensurate with experience

REQUIRED EDUCATION: Advanced degree in political science or related other social science discipline, Ph.D. preferred;

REQUIRED EXPERIENCE: 3+ year relevant experience

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The Director leads the Congressional Fellowship Program, a highly selective, nonpartisan program for mid-career professionals that sends 30-40 individuals a year to serve placements on Capitol Hill. In addition, the Director will head up 1-2 ongoing or new initiatives based on the APSA strategic plan. This position is a unique opportunity to directly contribute to the continued success and development of a signature APSA program and play a leadership role within the association.

STATUS

Full-time, Exempt

SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES

1 Program Assistant/Associate

ESSENTIAL RESPONSIBILITIES

Congressional Fellowship Program

- Directs the 10-month program for 30-40 fellows, recruiting and arranging selection of fellows directly funded by APSA and liaising with outside sponsor organizations.
- Organizes yearly orientation and other programming for the fellows, and develops new programs and activities to support the program.
- Supports fellows in securing fellowship placements in the legislative or executive branches and liaises with government offices supporting fellows.
- Develops materials to publicize the program and represents the program to outside groups and sponsors.
- Organizes events and develops materials for the Congressional Fellowship Program alumni community.
- Reports to and liaises with the APSA Congressional Fellowship Program Advisory Committee and APSA Council on various aspects of the program, and organizes the annual Advisory Committee meeting.
- Collaborates with the APSA Finance and Development teams to oversee the fellowship endowment, operating costs, and budget of the program, and to raise external funding for the program.

Other

With input from the Executive Director and Deputy Director, leads 1-2 new or ongoing initiatives in support of the APSA strategic plan (2020-2022).

ESSENTIAL SKILLS & EXPERIENCE

- Advanced degree in political science or related other social science discipline, Ph.D. preferred;
- Experience working on Capitol Hill or liaising with members of Congress and their staff;
- Familiarity with current events and issues facing higher education, the social sciences, and the discipline of political science;
- Strong analytical and public speaking skills and ability to write clearly and concisely;
- Excellent organizational skills with high attention to detail and adherence to deadlines;
- Adaptability and ability to work in a fast-paced team environment;
- Superb collaboration skills to work with colleagues across departments at APSA to meet shared goals;

- Sound judgment and initiative related to appropriate and independent action and problem-solving;
- Ability to maintain confidentiality while working on sensitive tasks; and,
- Experience with academic program administration and administrative responsibilities.

ABOUT APSA

The APSA is a 501(c) 3 nonprofit educational association that serves a membership base of 13,000 in over 80 countries. With a range of programs and services for individuals, departments and institutions, APSA brings together political scientists from all fields of inquiry, regions and occupational endeavors within and outside academe in order to expand awareness and understanding of politics. To learn more about APSA, please visit www.apsanet.org. APSA offers a comprehensive compensation and benefits package. APSA has a Metro-accessible location in DuPont Circle in Washington, DC, with a full-time staff of 29. APSA is an equal opportunity employer committed to workplace diversity and welcomes applications from anyone with the qualifications indicated above.

HOW TO APPLY

To be considered, submit a c.v. and cover letter indicating how your experience and skills align with the description and the essential skills required of the position, by email to APSA at <mailto:hr@apsanet.org> or hr@apsanet.org. Please write 'Director, Congressional Fellowship Program' in the subject line. Consideration will begin as soon as resumes are received, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5973

OPEN

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Open

Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values at Princeton University invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2020-21. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines provided their research plans qualify. In recent years fellows have been drawn from fields including philosophy, political theory, literature, history, classics, economics and law, but this list is not meant to be exhaustive. Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton and to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period is anticipated to begin on September 1 and run for the academic year. Fellows normally receive stipends of up to one-half their academic-year salaries (subject to a minimum and maximum set each fall). Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Stipends for independent scholars will not exceed the maximum for fellows holding appointments elsewhere.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

- The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> for more information);
- The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;
- The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12522>.

The following materials will be required:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) written in the past three years;
3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 4, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by end of business day on Monday, November 11, 2019. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced in late March 2020.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/4/2019

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6232

Hood College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Hood College Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the Assistant/Associate Professor rank beginning August 2020. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in political science and have demonstrated ability, or strong potential for success, in teaching courses in modern and contemporary political theory and courses on civic engagement and non-profit studies. The faculty member will also be expected to engage in scholarship and professional development activities. The faculty member will be responsible for coordinating the nonprofit minor and play a significant leadership role in the Martha E. Church Center for Community Engagement. The Center was established in 2017 to strengthen and expand the College's community outreach efforts and to significantly increase students' engagement in the community, including but not limited to civic activities, community-based research, service learning and internships. The successful candidate will help the College build a bold and exciting vision and plan for the Center as a cornerstone of the strategic goal to provide experiential learning opportunities to all students and fulfill its mission to "empower students to use their hearts, minds and hands to meet personal, professional and global challenges and to lead purposeful lives of responsibility, leadership, service and civic engagement".

A Ph.D. in political science is required. Candidates with undergraduate teaching experience and a record of research publications and/or presentations are preferred or equivalent combination of education and experience.

Qualified candidates are invited to apply online via our electronic application which require a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, research statement and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be sent to Dr. Tamelyn Tucker-Worgs, Chair of the Department of Political Science, by email to politicalscience@hood.edu. For full consideration, please respond by October 28, 2019.

If you need assistance with the on-line application process, please email humanresources@hood.edu or call (301) 696-3592.

Hood College is committed to diversity in its faculty and staff and subscribes to a policy of hiring only individuals legally eligible to work in the United States. EOE/AAP/M/F/Vet/Disability Employer

Hood College does not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, color, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, marital status, pregnancy, disability, religion, or age in recruitment, admission and access to, or treatment, or employment in its programs, services, benefits, or activities as required by applicable laws including Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and complies with the law regarding reasonable accommodation for disabled applicants and students. Inquiries about discrimination or reasonable accommodation should be referred to the Title IX and Section 504 Coordinator at Alumnae Hall, 401 Rosemont Avenue, Frederick, MD. 21701 (AD 312), (301) 696-3592. For complete information on Hood College's nondiscrimination policy, please visit <http://www.hood.edu/non-discrimination/>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6221

Northeastern University

Rank: URBAN INFORMATICS CLUSTER HIRE, OPEN RANK
- ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

Specializations: Urban Politics, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Northeastern University seeks nominations and applications for several tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in computational social science, with a focus on urban informatics, quantitative methods, or network science, with an expected start date of Fall 2020. Successful candidates will have a distinguished scholarly record using methodological approaches that leverage and work with large or complex data sources to study social phenomena, including but not limited to questions pertaining to cities and communities. We have special interest in scholars whose work includes the use of administrative, scraped, archival, or internet-gathered data. We are seeking scholars who work in spatial, network, or textual analysis, and/or use machine-learning tools. Competitive applicants will also have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and leadership. Faculty appointments will be made in one or more of the member departments of the CSSH, including the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Department of Economics, and the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Cross-college appointments are possible. Successful applicants will likely affiliate with one of our research centers dedicated to this work, including the Boston Area Research Initiative, the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks, or the Network Science Institute.

The position will support the University's commitment to innovation in experiential learning as well as the college's mission in integrating data and technology in the analysis of society, policy, and governance. Candidates should have demonstrated commitment to fostering diverse and inclusive environments as well as to promoting experiential learning, which are central to a Northeastern University education.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample, as well as the names of three references. For those who would be appointed at the assistant professor level, we will request references upon receipt of application.

To apply, please go to <http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/faculty-positions> and click on the link for full-time positions or full-time interdisciplinary positions or if viewing this description on the Northeastern University website, click "Apply to this job." Please address nominations and inquiries about the position to Professor Daniel O'Brien, at d.obrien@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin Oct. 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is a leader in the Experiential Liberal Arts. Founded in 1898, Northeastern University is a dynamic and highly selective urban research university in the center of Boston. Grounded in its signature co-op program, Northeastern provides unprecedented global experiential learning opportunities. The College is strongly committed to fostering excellence through diversity and enthusiastically welcomes nominations and applications from members of groups underrepresented in academia.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6217

Princeton University

Rank: 2020-2021 LAPA Fellowships

The Program in Law and Public Affairs (LAPA) at Princeton invites outstanding faculty members of any discipline, independent scholars, lawyers, and judges to apply for residential fellowships for 2020-2021. LAPA Fellows devote the major portion of their time to their own research and writing on law-related subjects of empirical, interpretive, doctrinal and/or normative significance. In addition, LAPA Fellows are expected to be in residence for ten months and participate in LAPA programs, including a biweekly seminar, a weekly luncheon discussion group, as well as some public events and conferences. The program does not support, as a primary activity, off-site fieldwork or work in remote archives, development of course materials, work in legal practice, or residence elsewhere.

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13181>

THE DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION IS 11:59 PM (EST) NOVEMBER 13, 2019.

For additional information and requirements see: <http://lapa.princeton.edu/fellowships>

LAPA is cosponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, the University Center for Human Values and Princeton University.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/13/2019

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6215

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor in the field of Technology & International Relations

Specializations: Science & Technology, International Law & Organizations, International Political Economy

The Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Technology & International Relations. The position will begin July 1, 2020, subject to budget approval. We seek applicants whose work focuses on the impact and regulation of technology in contemporary international relations, including in international security, environment, development, commerce, communications, and human rights.

We welcome applications from scholars in any relevant discipline, including international relations, science and technology studies, political science, history, sociology, anthropology, development, and international political economy. We are open to all methodological approaches and regional specializations, but have a particular interest in candidates who incorporate data analytics in the context of social science instruction. Successful candidates would be expected to have completed a Ph.D. by August 15, 2020. The Pardee School of Global Studies is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching. Candidates who have demonstrated policy experience are especially encouraged to apply.

Boston University is an AAU institution with a rich tradition dedicated to inclusion and social justice. The BU Pardee School believes that the cultural and social diversity of our faculty, staff, and students is vitally important to the distinction and excellence of our research and academic programs. We are eager to have join our ranks a colleague who supports our institutional commitment to ensuring BU is inclusive, equitable, diverse, and a place where all constituents can thrive.

Please submit 1) a letter of application describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) three letters of recommendation at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/14455>. Questions about the position or the Pardee School may be directed to Ms. Elaine Bidianos at elaineb@bu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. The expected starting date for employment is July 1, 2020. The Pardee School of Global Studies offers B.A. and M.A. degrees and is committed to multidisciplinary, policy-relevant research and teaching.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6207

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Political Science Professor – Open Rank

Subfield(s): Open, Open, Open

Political Science Professor – Open Rank

Division of Social Science

NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi is searching for new faculty to conduct important research and teach the next generation of global leaders.

You are invited to apply for an open-rank position in Political Science. This tenured/tenure-track search includes all fields and methodologies, and applications from senior scholars (Associate and Full Professor) are especially welcome.

NYU Abu Dhabi's unique location in the Middle East makes it an ideal headquarters for social scientists working to better understand global societies, both past and present. The disciplines in this field seek to deepen our understanding of how people behave in a wide variety of contexts and to assess the consequences of individual, group, and societal decisions.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a pioneer of higher education in a global world, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, while advancing cooperation and progress on humanity's shared challenges. Part of the NYU global network, NYU Abu Dhabi offers an outstanding liberal arts and science education to students from the United Arab Emirates, United States, and around the world, focusing on intercultural understanding and leadership. It supports innovative research that pushes the frontiers of knowledge forward and responds in powerful and interdisciplinary ways to vital global and local questions. NYU Abu Dhabi advances NYU as a model university for the 21st century and contributes in multiple ways to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based economy in Abu Dhabi.

As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students, and providing an intellectually rich environment. Students are drawn from around the globe, surpassing all traditional academic benchmarks. The NYU Abu Dhabi undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other honors.

Working for NYU Abu Dhabi

A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it's your home and in order for you to research, teach, and thrive, we're offering a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. Start with generous relocation allowances to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by competitive salaries, housing and transportation allowances, and educational assistance for your dependents. Health and wellness services round out our offerings, plus more. Click <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/working-at-nyuad.html> for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

This position requires a Ph.D. in Political Science.

We seek individuals who have, or have the potential to develop, a strong record of scholarship and have the ability to develop and lead high-quality research.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items, to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68225>

CV

Cover Letter

Statement of Teaching Interests

Recent Teaching Evaluations (if available)

Statement of Research Interests

Three (3) Representative Writing Samples

For candidates applying for the Assistant Professor Positions, please submit the names and email addresses of three (3) references who will be contacted to upload their letter confidentially through Interfolio. For candidates applying to the Senior faculty position, please submit a list of three references that may be contacted at a later date.

We will begin looking at applications on September 23, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. Shortlisted candidates are expected to be invited for campus visits in Abu Dhabi and New York early Spring 2020. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in academic year 2020-2021.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now. Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6195

College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Urban Studies Program at The College of Wooster invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor position in urban studies, with a focus on spatial (in)justices, to begin August 2020. Disciplinary fields and geographical areas of expertise are open, though the candidate must be able to teach courses exploring spatial issues through an interdisciplinary lens and supervise undergraduate research projects in urban studies. A strong preference will be for candidates who can offer courses in Geographic Information Systems (GIS). The teaching load is typically 5.5 courses per year, which may include advising senior theses.

Applicants from any humanistic discipline or interdisciplinary field are welcome, including but not limited to, Anthropology, Art History, Architecture, Cultural Geography, History, Literary Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Sociology, and Africana Studies. This position will also be expected to participate in the College's First-Year Seminar Program. Candidates should hold or expect a Ph.D., and prior teaching experience is highly desirable. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; copies of unofficial graduate transcripts; evidence of strong teaching (including teaching philosophy, syllabi and student evaluations, if applicable) and research (including research statement and writing sample of 25 pages or less); diversity statement; and three reference letters through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/68424>. The diversity statement should detail how the applicant has engaged and/or expects to engage with issues of diversity in the classroom and the curriculum, as well as on campus and in the broader community.

If you have questions regarding Interfolio, please contact Santha Schuch, Administrative Coordinator, the Urban Studies Program, at sschuch@wooster.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Heather Fitz Gibbon, Chair of Urban Studies, at hfitzgibbon@wooster.edu.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6180

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

&lt;b&gt;American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists&lt;b&gt;

The American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program is currently accepting online applications for congressional fellowships for political scientists. The nine-month program in Washington, D.C., gives scholars a hands-on understanding of Congress through placements in congressional offices.

Fellows begin their fellowship year with a comprehensive one-month orientation with congressional experts and policy leaders. Fellows then work in full-time placements of their choosing in a personal office or committee in the House of Representatives or Senate.

The fellowship year also features:

- winter and spring seminar series on congress;
- visit to the district or state of a Member of Congress;
- optional study programs in Annapolis, Maryland, and Ottawa, Canada; and
- ongoing guidance and mentoring from program staff and alumni.

Orientation begins November 2020. Office placements run until August 15, 2021. Two optional programs directly precede the main fellowship program: a two-month course on Congress and Foreign Policy, taught at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and a fellowship through the William A. Steiger fund to spend up to two months at the APSA Centennial Center carrying out a project in legislative studies.

&lt;b&gt;Required Qualifications:&lt;b&gt; Applicants must have completed a PhD in the last 15 years or will have defended a dissertation by November 2020.

Applications are welcome from political scientists in all subfields who can demonstrate a scholarly interest in Congress and the policymaking process.

Preference is given to those without extensive Capitol Hill experience.

&lt;b&gt;Application Procedure:&lt;b&gt; Applications must be <https://apsa.wufoo.com/forms/qlohl0dn0mzd/submitted> online&lt;a&gt; and include:

- CV;
- 500-word personal statement;
- names and contact information for three references; and
- one sole-authored writing sample.

Applicants may apply through the same online form for the two optional pre-fellowship programs.

Submit your application for the 2020-2021 fellowship year by &lt;b&gt;Tuesday, December 3, 2019.&lt;b&gt; Please send questions about the program to <mailto:cfp@apsanet.org>&lt;a&gt;.

&lt;b&gt;Start Date:&lt;b&gt; November 2020

&lt;b&gt;Salary:&lt;b&gt; $52,500 for the 9.5-month fellowship period, plus travel allowance. Fellows who are also selected for a fellowship through the Steiger Fund will receive a stipend for the duration of the Steiger Fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6172

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professors, Liberal Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Open

Specializations: East Asia, International Political Economy, Women & Politics

Clinical Assistant Professors

LIBERAL STUDIES

New York University Arts and Science

Liberal Studies at New York University invites applications for Clinical Assistant Professor positions to begin September 1, 2020, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

Liberal Studies provides a unique interdisciplinary educational experience to undergraduate students. The Liberal Studies Core consists of a two-year interdisciplinary global curriculum drawing on great works across civilizations. The Global Liberal Studies Bachelor of Arts, one of NYU's premier liberal arts degrees, builds on the global core with an upper division set of interdisciplinary concentrations that direct students toward different areas of global study.

We seek applicants for the following positions:

East Asian Studies:

Ph.D. in East Asian Studies, History, Political Science, or related fields. Candidates should have the ability to teach interdisciplinary seminars on East Asia to introduce undergraduates to the politics, history, intellectual thought, and development of the region within a global context. Preference for a specialist in Korea and/or Japan. Candidates should have the ability to teach upper division seminars in their areas of expertise as well as first and second year seminars in the Core Curriculum.

Global Works and Society:

PhD in Political Theory, Philosophy, History, or related fields in the social sciences. Candidates should have the ability to teach global works that examine enduring questions of philosophy, religion, political and social theory, and history from antiquity to the early 18th century in the Global Works and Society sequence of the Core Curriculum. Candidates must embrace interdisciplinary, intersectional, and global perspectives, and have the ability to teach upper-division seminars in their areas of expertise.

Global Justice:

Ph.D. in Global Justice, Politics, Anthropology, Human Geography, or related fields. Preference for a specialist in International Migration and/or Women's Rights. Candidates should have the ability to teach upper division seminars in their areas of expertise as well as first and second year seminars in the Core Curriculum.

Minimum qualifications: a Ph.D. by the date of appointment; three years of college-level teaching experience; and demonstrated excellence in teaching. Publications and evidence of outstanding scholarship and relevant professional activity are strongly encouraged.

All Liberal Studies full-time faculty hold renewable term contracts, initially three years, and later five years in duration. Faculty are eligible for promotion within the Clinical faculty ranks (Associate, Full). Faculty normally teach three classes per semester, advise undergraduates, and contribute service to Liberal Studies and to the University.

Applications include ONLY (1) a cover letter, (2) a current c.v., and (3) a Diversity and Inclusion Statement addressing past and/or potential future contributions to diversity through teaching, professional activity, and/or service (additional information can be found here <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html>). Complete applications must be recorded by 11:59 p.m. Eastern Standard Time (US), October 22nd, 2019. Applications recorded after this deadline will not be considered.

Applicants may apply directly through the following links:

East Asian Studies: <http://apply.interfolio.com/6757>

Global Works and Society: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67580>

Global Justice: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67579>

Liberal Studies offers a global liberal arts curriculum at sites around the globe in the context of a leading research university. We seek scholar/educators of the highest caliber whose work reflects an interest in global diversity. Liberal Studies strongly encourages applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts & Science commitment to diversity, equality, and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6174

Columbia University

Rank: Russian Politics Postdoctoral Research Fellow

The Harriman Institute of Columbia University invites applications for a Russian Politics postdoctoral fellowship. This fellowship is open to scholars conducting research in Russian politics. The fellowship will cover an 18-month period beginning January 1, 2020, and comes with an annual salary of $51,376 (plus benefits). This postdoctoral fellowship is provisional and contingent upon the Harriman Institute's receipt of a grant.

Requirements: The Russian Politics Postdoctoral Fellow is responsible for developing and coordinating the policy seminars (Spring 2020 and AY 2020-2021) with Professors Timothy Frye, Joshua Tucker (NYU), Elise Giuliano, and Alexander Cooley. The Fellow is required to be in residence in the New York City area.

Eligibility: We encourage applications from Social Science disciplines. The applicant's research must focus on Russian politics. Fellowships are open to junior scholars who have received a Ph.D. in a relevant discipline from June 30, 2017, to December 31, 2019, and do not hold a tenure-track position. Recipients must complete all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation defended and deposited) by December 1, 2019.

Application Process

The following materials are required of all applicants:

1. Curriculum Vitae.
2. Research proposal: 2-3 page statement describing the research project you would pursue at Columbia University if awarded a fellowship, indicating its relation (if any) to your doctoral dissertation.
3. Writing sample, such as an article or dissertation chapter.
4. Letters of recommendation: 2 letters of reference that include an evaluation of your research.
5. Previous Education: Indicate on your curriculum vitae each college and university you have attended with the inclusive dates.

All application materials (including letters of reference) must be received by the Harriman Institute on or before October 15, 2019. Candidates may be invited for a phone/Skype interview. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Awards will be announced by November 7, 2019.

Please send completed application materials by email in a single PDF file to Xan Faber: xl2101@columbia.edu. Letters of recommendation should be sent separately by the referees to Ms. Faber by that deadline.

For questions, please contact Xan Faber at 212-854-6219. For more information about the Harriman Institute, please see <http://harriman.columbia.edu/>

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6158

University of Massachusetts Amherst

Rank: Associate or Full Professor, Political Behavior

Job Description:

The Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Amherst (<http://polsci.umass.edu/>) invites applications for a position at the Associate or Full Professor rank. We seek an accomplished scholar whose research addresses fundamental questions about the health and quality of the American democratic system, including those who study the United States from a comparative context. The successful candidate should be an expert in survey research and methodology, and exhibit a track record of publishing innovative empirical research on issues related to political behavior, public opinion, and/or institutions. This faculty member will also serve as a core contributor and member of the leadership team of the UMass Poll, a high-profile survey organization that seeks to assess the political behavior, public opinion, and civic health in Massachusetts, the United States, and abroad. Preference will be given to individuals with an outstanding record of publishing research in top peer reviewed journals, a record of attracting external funding in support of high impact research, and experience in training graduate students in survey research methods.

Requirements:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or in a closely related field is required at the time of appointment.

Additional Information:

The appointment is expected to begin September 1, 2020. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications.

Application Instructions:

Candidates should submit a cover letter, a CV, up to three samples of current scholarship, a brief statement of teaching and mentoring philosophy, and contact information for three individuals who can provide recommendations. In addition to the materials noted above, applicants should also submit a one-page diversity statement that discusses the candidate's skills, experiences and commitment to: teaching and mentoring diverse and historically underrepresented student populations, professional service that assists in achieving equity, inclusion, and diversity, and how the candidate's past or future research addresses fundamental questions important to an increasingly diverse and global society.

APPLY HERE: <http://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/502630/political-science-associatefull-professor-umass-pollpolitical-behavior>

Consideration of applications will begin November 1, 2019. Materials should be submitted electronically. Please direct questions concerning this position to Professor Tatishe Nteta, Search Committee Chair, nteta@polsci.umass.edu. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Massachusetts Amherst is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences and its departments and programs value diversity of faculty, students and curriculum as a key component of academic excellence. Women and members of minority groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6169

Duke Kunshan University

Rank: Faculty Position in International Political Economy

Duke Kunshan University (DKU) invites applications for a faculty position in International Political Economy to begin in the academic year 2020-2021. We seek broadly trained candidates with an ability to teach courses in international institutions and political institutions and processes. These positions are open with regard to rank including tenured, tenure track and non-tenure track. Mid-career and senior faculty are especially encouraged to apply. In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time for at least two years (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative, interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of <8% and a student body represented by over 40 countries. We also offer a series of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in an appropriate field. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, and a teaching statement, as well as the names and contact information for three references. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14460>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using "International Political Economy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 15, 2019; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

As an international intellectual community that encourages diversity, openness and creative learning, DKU welcomes outstanding faculty from around the world who contribute diverse perspectives and experiences to a global learning and research environment. DKU particularly welcomes applications from underrepresented groups and minorities.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6150

Texas A&M University

Rank: ACES Fellowship

2019-2020 ACCOUNTABILITY, CLIMATE, EQUITY, AND SCHOLARSHIP (ACES) FELLOWS PROGRAM

Texas A&M University's Accountability, Climate, Equity, and Scholarship (ACES) Fellows Program is a faculty pipeline initiative that connects those advancing outstanding scholarship with relevant disciplinary units on campus. The ACES Fellows Program is administered by the Office for Diversity at Texas A&M in partnership with the College of Liberal Arts. In recognition of Texas A&M University's Diversity Plan, the ACES Fellows Program is aimed at promoting the research, teaching, and scholarship of early career scholars who embrace the belief that 'diversity is an indispensable component of academic excellence' (Texas A&M, Commitment to Diversity). From this experience at Texas A&M, fellows should develop an understanding of the value of diversity and the power that it holds for students, faculty, and staff to enrich their lives.

As a Tier 1 research and land-grant institution, Texas A&M upholds its responsibility to accountability, campus climate, equity, and scholarship by maintaining a campus that affirms equity and fosters inclusion and belonging. Significantly, Texas A&M holds itself accountable to improved campus climate and equity goals through clear, accessible measures. ACES Fellows are afforded access to invaluable academic and professional development experiences to advance their careers as scholars. It is possible that some ACES Fellows will be hired as tenure-track faculty at the conclusion of the fellowship. ACES Fellows will benefit from: prescriptive mentoring, access to instructional best practices, a vast array of world-class research and productivity resources, and a robust network of renowned Texas A&M scholars from across disciplines.

ABOUT THE 2019-2020 ACES FELLOWS PROGRAM

Texas A&M University's ACES Fellows Program is a two-year (24 month) fellowship for early career PhDs. Applicants should have earned their PhD between January 1, 2016 and July 1, 2020.

The stipend is $60,000 per year plus benefits. Benefits including medical, dental, and vision are available. The fellowship period generally begins August 1 and ends on July 31. Start dates are negotiable, but must commence between July 1 and August 10.

Fellows will receive reimbursement for one-time relocation fees (up to $5,000), a research and travel allowance of $3,000 per year, and a private office.

ACES Fellows will teach one course per academic year, thereby benefiting from dedicated research time. Fellows will hold the title of Visiting Assistant Professor.

A hallmark of the Texas A&M University's ACES Fellows Program is the mentoring ACES Fellows will receive, as well as its attention to community-building among ACES Fellows.

ELIGIBILITY

Applications are welcome from scholars with a strength in, and evidence of, a respect for diversity and inclusion. We invite applications from scholars whose work aligns with a field or department in the College of Liberal Arts. Applicants' doctoral degrees should be completed between January 1, 2016 and July 1, 2020.

APPLICATION

Applications are due by 9 am on October 1, 2019. Texas A&M University's ACES Fellows Program is administered by the Office for Diversity at Texas A&M in partnership with the College of Liberal Arts. You may apply using the following link: College of Liberal Arts (<http://bit.ly/libarts2019>).

The application for the Texas A&M University's ACES Fellows Program requires submission of the following:

- Cover letter (3-5 pages, double-spaced, 12-point font size)
- Proposal of scholarly project(s) (3-5 pages, double-spaced, 12-point font size) that will be conducted during the fellowship years
- Statement (1-3 pages, double-spaced, 12-point font size) explaining how your scholarship, teaching, and/or other experiences have demonstrated a commitment to diversity and how that commitment may benefit Texas A&M University
- One writing sample (e.g., book chapter, chapter from your dissertation, journal article, work under review, or work in progress)
- Contact information for three references including name, title, and contact information -- Please do not include your letters of reference with your application materials. The Office for Diversity will ask you for your letters if your application advances through the review process.

Please email ACES@tamuedu if you have any questions related to eligibility, technical issues with the application, or program details.

Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Texas A&M University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability employer committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment. Applications from women, minorities, and members of other underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged and will be actively sought. The University is aware that attracting and retaining exceptional faculty often depends on meeting the needs of two careers and therefore implements policies that contribute to work-life balance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 6128

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associates in Religion and Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

The John C. Danforth Center on Religion and Politics seeks applications from junior scholars and recent Ph.D. graduates for up to four postdoctoral fellowships in residence at Washington University in St. Louis. The appointment is for one year, renewable for a second year. Eligible applicants must complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2020, and have completed it no earlier than January 1, 2015. In exceptional cases a qualified applicant holding a J.D., without the Ph.D., may be considered. Research associates will spend most of their time pursuing research and writing for their own projects. They will also serve the intellectual life of the Danforth Center on Religion and Politics through participation in its biweekly interdisciplinary seminar and events hosted by the Center. Their teaching responsibilities will include: 1) developing one course per year to complement and contribute to the Center's curricular offerings, and 2) possibly assisting in one additional course each year (depending on the particular teaching needs of the Center). Washington University in St. Louis is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer and especially encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Required Qualifications: Applicants should hold a doctorate in religious studies, politics, anthropology, law, philosophy, theology, American studies, history, area studies, sociology, or another relevant field. Scholars should be engaged in projects centrally concerned with religion and politics in the United States, historically or in the present day.

Application Instructions: Applicants must send all of the following information as a single pdf file to the Center at rap@wustl.edu:

- 1) Cover letter including an overview of the postdoctoral research project
- 2) Current curriculum vitae
- 3) Relevant writing sample (25-35 pages)
- 4) Two undergraduate course proposals (a summary paragraph for each will suffice)

Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation submitted on their behalf to rap@wustl.edu.

Applications are due in full by December 1, 2019. Applicants will be notified of fellowship decisions by March 2, 2020. For more information, contact the Center at (314) 935-9345 or via e-mail at rap@wustl.edu.

Salary: $50,000

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/1/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 6103

Haverford College

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, Open

Haverford College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in its Peace, Justice, and Human Rights program to begin Fall semester 2020. The successful candidate must have a PhD at the time of appointment. The position is open to scholars at all pre-tenure levels with training in the humanities or social sciences whose work is interdisciplinary and focuses on questions of justice, human rights, and related fields. All specializations are welcome, but there is particular interest in scholars who can contribute to programs in Health Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, or Visual Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory course on peace, justice, and human rights and/or applied ethics, as well as offer more specialized courses in their area of expertise, and engage in inclusive pedagogy and mentoring of an increasingly diverse student body. Haverford College embraces the teacher-scholar model and supports faculty research through programs and funding opportunities.

Peace, Justice, and Human Rights (PJHR) is an interdisciplinary concentration attracting students from many different disciplines; it offers students the opportunity to study the history, philosophy, and critiques of the rights tradition, examine issues of justice in their local and international contexts, and apply humanistic, social scientific, theoretical, and ethical reasoning to real-world problems. The program's goal is to foster cross-disciplinary collaboration and new perspectives on entrenched problems. For more information, see <http://www.haverford.edu/pjhr/>

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio [<https://apply.interfolio.com/67577>]: a cover letter addressing qualifications for the position, curriculum vitae, a sample course syllabus or description of a class you'd like to teach in the PJHR program, a teaching statement (3-4 pages) that highlights pedagogical strategies and discusses how you approach diversity and inclusion in the classroom, a writing sample (up to 25 pages), and three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates are encouraged to seek letter writers who together can address your abilities and promise as a teacher, mentor, and scholar/researcher. New applications submitted after 11:59 pm on Friday, November 1 will not be considered.

Haverford College is a leading liberal arts college serving highly motivated students on a nationally recognized arboretum in suburban Haverford, just outside Philadelphia.

Questions about the application process should be directed to hc-PJHRsearch@haverford.edu. For technical questions, please contact Interfolio directly at 1-877-997-8807 or help@interfolio.com.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 8/28/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6083

University of Western Ontario

Rank: Tier 1 Canada Research Chair in Inequality, Gender, and Policy

Tier 1 Canada Research Chair in Inequality, Gender and Policy

The Faculty of Social Science at Western University, one of Canada's leading research-intensive universities, invites applications for a Tier 1 Canada Research Chair (CRC) in the area of Inequality, Gender and Policy at the rank of tenured Full Professor with a starting date of July 1, 2020, or as negotiated. Candidates must hold a Ph.D. or equivalent in a relevant discipline. Scholars working with mixed methods are welcome to apply, with the expectation the successful candidate will be a highly accomplished quantitative social scientist. The successful candidate will be appointed to either the Department of Sociology (<http://sociology.uwo.ca/>) or the Department of Political Science (<http://politicalscience.uwo.ca/>). A joint appointment may also be considered. This academic appointment is conditional upon the successful award of the Tier 1 CRC. A Tier 1 CRC is a 7-year appointment with the possibility of renewal. CRC appointments typically include reduced teaching, generous research budgets and support from the department, faculty, NEST, and the Government of Canada.

Western University recognizes that our commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion is central to the University's mandate as a research intensive institution of higher learning and a community leader. Western understands that our pursuit of research excellence and our commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion are mutually supporting. As such, Western is committed to achieving and maintaining an equitable representation amongst our Canada Research Chair holders, as well as within Western's broader research enterprise.

In accordance with the criteria set for Tier 1 Canada Research Chairs (<http://www.chairs-chaires.gc.ca/>), the candidate must be an outstanding and innovative researcher whose accomplishments are recognized internationally as having a major impact on their field; have a record of excellence in attracting and supervising graduate students and in teaching; a record of success in attracting external funding, and demonstrated leadership experience in the field. The candidate must also propose an original and innovative research program that will attract external funding and excellent trainees, graduate students and future researchers.

The selected candidate will be nominated by Western University to apply for the Tier 1 CRC in Inequality, Gender and Policy. The CRC application will demonstrate the exceptional quality of the candidate and their research program as well as the fit of the candidate with the institutional environment and the strategic research plans of the Department, Faculty and University: https://ssc.uwo.ca/about\_us/officedean/annual\_report.html; https://president.uwo.ca/strategic\_planning/index.html.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Robert Andersen, Dean of Social Science
Western University, Social Science Centre, Room 9438, 1151 Richmond Street, London, ON, Canada, N6A 5C2 Tel.: +1 519 661-2053 • Fax: +1 519 661-3868 • socsci-dean@uwo.ca • <http://www.ssc.uwo.ca>

Western University recognizes the potential impact that legitimate career interruptions can have on a candidate's record of research achievement. Potential candidates are encouraged to explain within their application the impact that career interruptions have had on their record, and to submit a full career or extended CV to a chairholder position in cases where they have had career interruptions.

With annual research funding exceeding $220 million, and an international reputation for success, Western ranks as one of Canada's top research-intensive universities. Our research excellence expands knowledge and drives discovery with real-world application. Western also provides an exceptional employment experience, offering competitive salaries, a wide range of employment opportunities, and one of Canada's most beautiful campuses. Since 1878 the Western experience has combined academic excellence with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social, and cultural growth in order to serve our communities. Western University delivers an academic experience second to none.

Situated in the Faculty of Social Science, the Departments of Sociology and Political Science offer full programs for undergraduate, MA, and PhD students. Social Science at Western is ranked 84th in the 2019 QS world rankings. The Faculty of Social Science is currently in a period of significant faculty renewal having made over 40 hires over the last few years, with at least 10 more hires anticipated. We have also recently opened NEST, the Network for Economic and Social Trends, which houses a number of research centres in the Faculty including the Centre for Research in Social Inequality, the Centre for Human Capital and Productivity, the Centre for Urban Policy and Local Governance, the Centre for Computational and Quantitative Social Science, and the Statistics Canada Research Data Centre: <http://nest.uwo.ca>.

Applications must include: the application for Full-Time Faculty Position form <http://www.uwo.ca/facultyrelations/pdf/recruitment/full-time-application-form.pdf>; a letter of interest; a detailed C.V.; a research plan for the Chair; bibliographical information on 3 refereed publications or working papers most relevant to the area of the Chair; evidence of teaching success, and the names, addresses, and email addresses for 3 referees.

Review of applications will begin after September 30, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. All PDF application materials should be emailed to the Search Committee, c/o Karen Foullong, Faculty Affairs Coordinator, Office of the Dean, Faculty of Social Science, Western University, kfoullon@uwo.ca.

Western University's Recruitment and Retention Office is available to assist in the transition of successful applicants and their families.

This position includes a comprehensive benefits package. Further details can be accessed at: http://www.uwo.ca/hr/benefits/your\_benefits/faculty.html

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Western is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women, members of racialized groups/visible minorities, Indigenous peoples/Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, persons of any sexual orientation, and persons of any gender identity or gender expression.

In accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents.

Accommodations are available for applicants with disabilities throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodations for interviews or other meetings, please contact Karen Foullong at 519-661-2111 ext. 84958 or kfoullon@uwo.ca.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 6070

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13302> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition No: D-20-POL-00011

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 8/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6051

Indiana University- Bloomington, Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies

Rank: Assistant Professor, Contemporary Japanese Politics and Society

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: Japan, State Politics, Social Movements

Indiana University Bloomington's Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies (HLS) seeks a full-time tenure-track assistant professor of contemporary Japanese politics and society, broadly defined, to begin August 1, 2020. The position is 100% in HLS's renowned multidisciplinary Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures (EALC). The teaching load is two courses per semester. Teaching responsibilities encompass both undergraduate and graduate courses and will include the teaching of a new course on "Japanese Politics and Society."

This is an exciting moment to join the newly named and expanding Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies as it leads the university's international research and teaching missions. Established nearly sixty years ago, the EALC department has a long history of interdisciplinarity and boasts faculty strengths in a wide array of social sciences.

Minimum requirements are a Ph.D. in a relevant social science discipline (e.g., sociology, anthropology, political science) and active research agendas examining contemporary political and/or social issues that involve Japanese-language sources and in-country fieldwork.

We are particularly interested in candidates combining disciplinary rigor and area studies expertise to examine real-world challenges facing contemporary Japan and who are interested in contributing to and benefiting from EALC's new 21st Century Japan Politics and Society Initiative (established in 2018).

Applicants should submit a letter of application describing research and teaching interests, a C.V., and a writing sample along with three letters of reference. ABD candidates are welcome to apply, but must have the Ph.D. in hand by July 31, 2020. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8197>

Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to: Ethan Michelson at emichels@indiana.edu. Applications received by October 18, 2019 are guaranteed full consideration.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/21/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6029

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher – Division of Social Science

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September 2020. Later start dates are also possible.

Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, and a research sample, to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66364>.

To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

Note: The position will close on March 15, 2020, though we will continue to consider applicants until all positions are filled. Candidates for political science will begin to be evaluated starting October 1, 2019; candidates for Sociology will be evaluated beginning November 1, 2019; and candidates for economics will be evaluated starting December 15, 2019.

Please visit our website at <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/postdoctoral-and-research.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socials-science@nyu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6018

Princeton University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Race, Ethnicity and Politics

The Department of Politics seeks applications from well-qualified individuals for one or more tenure-track junior faculty positions with a particular interest in race, ethnicity and politics. Applications are welcome from all of the major subfields in political science, including American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory. These positions involve teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Princeton is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Interested applicants should apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13162>. Candidates should submit a vita, cover letter, research statement, writing sample, transcripts, and the names and contact information of three references. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to Nicole Wagenblast, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

For best consideration apply by September 16, 2019.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition No: D-20-POL-00009

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6006

The College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor Global Environmental Justice

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Open, Other

Description

The Departments of Environmental Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seek to fill a tenure track position in Global Environmental Justice at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2020. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in environmental politics and social justice with area studies expertise and a high proficiency in qualitative methodologies.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in environmental justice and social justice, broadly conceived. They would teach introductory and advanced courses in the Environmental Studies and Political Science departments, supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement, and participate in teaching the College's First Year Seminar. We seek to hire a scholar whose research and teaching addresses one or more dimensions of environmental justice, such as: the intersections of global climate change and class, ethnic, or racial inequalities; comparative environmental movements; forced displacement and migration due to environmental crisis; food or water insecurity; or environmental governance. In addition, we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching can connect with one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Africana Studies, Global & International Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, Urban Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Application Instructions

We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), a statement regarding how the applicant will contribute to the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66667>. Applications received by October 1, 2019, will receive full consideration. Please contact Matt Mariola (m-mariola@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Environmental Studies and Chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5991

University of Southern California

Rank: Farhang Foundation Junior Chair in Iranian Studies

The Department of Middle East Studies at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles seeks to fill the Farhang Foundation Junior Chair in Iranian Studies at the Assistant Professor rank (tenure track). We are looking for a specialist of modern Iran with a social science orientation. Applicants with training in anthropology, sociology, political economy, environmental studies, urban studies, or geography will be considered. Applicants must have received their Ph.D. by August 15, 2020, the start date of the position. Review of complete applications will begin on September 15. Inquiries should be sent to (mdes@usc.edu).

In addition to the letter of application, applicants should include their curriculum vitae, a writing sample, the names of three referees who will be contacted by USC for a letter of reference, and sample syllabi. The position will remain open until filled. In order to be considered for this position, all candidates must apply via the "Apply" button.

link at <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/farhang-foundation-junior-chair-in-iranian-studies/1209/12723560>.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5982

Princeton University

Rank: Lecturer

The Politics Department at Princeton University has an occasional need for lecturers (part-time and/or full-time) to teach or co-teach in areas such as American Politics, Comparative Politics, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods, International Relations, and/or Political Theory. Advanced degree required.

Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13001> and <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13001&lt;/a>>; Please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of teaching interest. Due to the volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No letters of recommendation are required at this time. You will be required to submit contact information for one reference, but your reference will not be contacted at this time.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition No: D-20-POL-00008

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5969

University of Washington

Rank: Full-Time Lecturer in Political Science

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a three-year, renewable position as a Full Time Lecturer in Political Science starting in September 2020. University of Washington lecturers engage in teaching and service and participate in the intellectual life of the department. This position will be expected to teach a broad range of introductory and upper-level classes. Lecturers have an annual service period of nine months (Sept 16-June 15) and teach six courses per year (2 per 10 week quarter). Candidates should have completed all requirements for a PhD in Political Science (or foreign equivalent) by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, teaching statement, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. The teaching statement should describe the applicant's undergraduate and graduate level teaching interests, teaching philosophy, reasons for seeking the position, and provide evidence of teaching effectiveness. As a public institution, the University of Washington seeks candidates committed to working with diverse student and community populations. Therefore, applicants are encouraged to describe how their teaching supports diverse communities.

Candidate materials should be electronically submitted to <http://apply.interfolio.com/66148> Priority will be given to applications received before September 15, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5952

Texas A&M University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Tenure-Track

The Department of Political Science at Texas A&M University is recruiting for a tenure-track (Assistant Professor) position that is open with respect to subfield. Successful candidates will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and actively contribute to undergraduate and graduate teaching. Strong research and teaching interests that cut across traditional subfields of political science would be highly valued. Ph.D. required. The starting date for this position is fall 2020.

The department offers Ph.D., MA, BA, and BS degrees and has 34 tenured/tenure track faculty members, 50 graduate students, and approximately 1000 undergraduate majors. Further information about the department is available at <http://pols.tamu.edu>. Texas A&M is a research-intensive flagship university with more than 60,000 students including 10,000 graduate students making it the sixth largest university in the United States. The student body includes 26% African American, Hispanic, Asian or Pacific Islander, and American Indian or Alaskan Native students, as well as approximately 5,000 international students from 130 countries. We seek candidates who can teach effectively in a diverse and global classroom. Texas A&M ranks among the top universities nationally in total research expenditures (with more than $800 million dollars per year). Texas A&M University is committed to enriching the learning and working environment for all visitors, students, faculty, and staff by promoting a culture that embraces inclusion, diversity, equity, and accountability. Diverse perspectives, talents, and identities are vital to accomplishing our mission and living our core values.

Applicants should submit the following materials by email to polisci-jobs@tamu.edu: a letter of interest (referencing research agenda, past or planned contributions to advancing diversity, and teaching interests), a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, any available teaching evaluations, and a writing sample. Applicants should also have three letters of reference submitted electronically to Professor Guy D. Whitten, Acting Head, Department of Political Science at polisci-jobs@tamu.edu tamu.edu. Salary is competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Our review of applications will begin on September 3, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. The Texas A&M System is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5944

Williams College

Rank: Associate or Full Professor in Asian American Studies

Specializations: Asian American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Social Movements

American Studies Program

Job description for 2020-2021

The American Studies Program at Williams College seeks to make a tenured appointment at the rank of Associate or Full Professor in Asian American Studies, to start July 1, 2020. The program seeks to complement and expand the existing expertise of our faculty who teach Asian American topics, and is especially interested in applications from those scholars whose research interests and teaching focus on social science or related topics and whose portfolios encompass interdisciplinary approaches.

The candidate should be a committed and imaginative scholar with an established record of excellence in scholarship and teaching and experience in program-building. We have a strong preference for those who demonstrate a commitment to the interdisciplinary nature and methodologies of American Studies in their research and teaching; the hire will be expected to teach both the introductory course and the junior-level theories and methods course, in addition to courses in their specialties. The teaching load is two courses per semester and a winter-study course every other January.

American Studies at Williams is a small but vibrant program with a diverse faculty and dynamic and engaged majors, whose numbers are growing. Created in 1940, it is one of the oldest American Studies programs in the country and has been at the forefront at Williams in teaching courses that foreground issues of race and racism, class, gender/sexuality, globalization, diaspora, among others. The hire will join three other Asian Americanists at the college and will have a hand in hiring a junior tenure-track Asian Americanist the following year. We are especially interested in candidates from historically under-represented groups, candidates whose scholarship and teaching enrich the diversity and intellectual vibrancy of our academic communities, and candidates who have experience working effectively with diverse student populations.

Please send the following application materials to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Dorothy Wang via Interfolio ( <http://apply.interfolio.com/66535>): a letter of application that includes a summary of current and future scholarship, teaching interests and experience, and experience working effectively with students who are widely diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, nationality, gender, sexual orientation, and religion; a curriculum vitae; and names of three references.

All applications received by Oct. 1, 2019 will receive full consideration. Semi-finalists will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation by Oct. 18 and preliminary video interviews will be scheduled during the week of Oct. 21. Finalists will be invited to Williamstown for a campus interview in mid-November.

All offers of employment are contingent on completion of a background check. Further information is available at: <http://dean-faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>.

Williams is a coeducational liberal arts college located in the Berkshires of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on the teaching and scholarship of its faculty and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2000 students. Please visit the Williams website (<http://williams.edu>). Beyond meeting fully its legal obligations for non-discrimination, Williams is committed to building a diverse and inclusive community where members from all backgrounds can live, learn, and thrive together.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5935

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): Open, Open, Open

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an Associate/Full Professor Tenured faculty position in any political science subfield. Applicants in International Relations, Political Theory, and Comparative Politics/Comparative Political Economy should also apply to the advertised searches in those subfields.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, contact references, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66092>

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5902

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Junior Faculty Position

The UCLA Department of Political Science invites applications from outstanding candidates for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin on July 1, 2020. We are particularly eager to consider applicants who specialize in American Politics and related fields. In addition, we will consider especially strong applicants working in other fields (including comparative politics, international relations, methods, political theory, and racial/ethnic politics). Pending administrative approval, we will also consider applicants at the rank of Associate Professor.

UCLA and the UCLA Department of Political Science are firmly committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion. Therefore, we ask each applicant to submit with their application a statement that addresses their past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

The online application should include a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, the aforementioned diversity statement, evidence of teaching excellence in related courses, at least one writing sample, a graduate transcript, and three letters of recommendation. The letters of recommendation should be uploaded directly by the referees. Appointments will be effective on July 1, 2020. A PhD in Political Science or related field should be in hand prior to the appointment. To ensure full consideration, the online application should be completed by September 16, 2019. Applications will be accepted, however, until the position is filled.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy.

Where to Apply: <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF04796>

Department Contact: Evelyn Godinez at egodinez@polisci.ucla.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5909

Emory University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor – Quantitative Methodologist

The Department of Quantitative Theory and Methods (QTM) at Emory University anticipates hiring three quantitative social scientists with expertise in statistics, data science, mathematical modeling, and/or analytical theory. The positions are tenure-track at the level of Assistant Professor or, for the extraordinary file, tenured at the Associate Professor level. Teaching load is competitive.

QTM is a new and rapidly growing interdisciplinary department at Emory designed to connect faculty communities involved in quantitative research across the college and university. The successful candidate must demonstrate excellence or the promise of excellence in both research and teaching, as well as an interest in contributing to and participating in QTM's intellectual mission. The candidate should have completed the Ph.D. by September 2020.

A complete application will consist of a cover letter, a research statement, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching portfolio, writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Please submit (along with other materials) a brief statement that reflects upon your experience and vision regarding the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds.

Application review will begin on September 3, 2019. Applications received up to 30 days after review begins will receive full consideration.

To apply for this position, please visit <https://apply.interfolio.com/66128> and submit your materials free of charge through Interfolio.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 5881

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks qualified candidates for two positions, open to subfield. The primary focus of our search is at the tenure track assistant professor level; however, we may consider more senior candidates under certain circumstances. The department seeks outstanding scholars who rigorously approach the systematic study of political phenomena. The positions are to begin September 1, 2020, pending administrative approval.

Qualifications:

Candidates are expected to possess a Ph.D. by September 2020, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research that has been published or otherwise disseminated in a manner appropriate to career stage, and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level. NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, experience, and service an ability to contribute to this goal, and a commitment to fostering inclusivity and teaching in a university setting.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/65911> with a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three references, a sample of scholarly writing stripped of any identifying information, and teaching, research, and diversity statements (see below). While we will continue to review applications into the fall, candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 15, 2019. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

For the Diversity Statement: Please describe the ways in which your (1) scholarship, (2) teaching and mentoring, and/or (3) service and engagement demonstrate your commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. We are particularly interested in hearing about (1) concrete steps you have taken (or are planning to take) to foster an inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally, and (2) how these steps connect with your broader views on the topics of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

For the Writing Sample: Please be sure to remove any identifying information (e.g., name and institutional affiliation) from this document.

Required Applicant Documents:

Cover letter
CV or Resume
Statement of Research and Goals
Statement of Teaching
Writing Sample - stripped of any identifying information
Diversity Statement
Three Letters of Reference

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5839

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Economic, Racial/Ethnic, and/or Gender Inequality

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position – Advertisement
Department of Political Science at The University of Tennessee

Economic Racial/Ethnic and/or Gender Inequality

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in economic, racial/ethnic, and/or gender inequality, to begin Fall 2020. The position is open with regard to field in Political Science (or related discipline) and methodological approach. We welcome applications from scholars across the discipline who analyze how political actors, processes, institutions, outcomes or individuals are racialized, classed, and/or gendered and/or who take intersectional approaches to understanding these questions. We are particularly interested in applicants with substantive research agendas that grapple with challenging issues of marginalization and exclusion and who exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically motivated research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society.

More information about the Department is available at: polisci-utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66902>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at jnamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5864

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position - Advertisement
Department of Political Science
The University of Tennessee

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in Public Law to begin Fall 2020. Area of specialization in Public Law and field within Political Science are open. We are particularly interested in applicants who use rigorous analytical approaches to address substantively important questions including but not limited to issues of race, gender, and/or inequality in the law or legal processes. The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). Preference will be shown for applicants with teaching and research interests that complement existing departmental interests and strengths, have a capacity for attracting extramural funding, demonstrate evidence of or potential for college/university teaching excellence, and exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion. The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society.

More information about the Department is available at: <http://web.utk.edu/~polisci>.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66892>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5863

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select postdoctoral scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The postdoctoral appointment will be for one academic year for scholars who have received a Ph.D. at an institution outside the United States and, who at the time of application, do not have a tenure-track faculty appointment. The candidates must also demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and have exhibited unusual intellectual promise.

During the academic year 2020-21, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Thinking Globally." How people have thought about the planet has informed the institutions, norms, and policies that have pulled it together and torn it apart. For centuries, ideas of free trade, human rights or global governance have framed cooperation and competition, order and disorder. Such ideas have also spawned border-crossing movements, from campaigns to end slavery to commitments to reduce carbon emissions. In turn, global thinking and action have often reinforced commitments to national ideas and efforts to curb global exchange. The goal for the 2020-21 cohort will be to explore how ideas framed the understanding of interests and the making of institutions that have yielded commonness and conflict across and within borders. We will also explore how these ideas and practices came into being through scientific networks, foundations, and think tanks. We welcome applicants from all disciplinary and inter-disciplinary fields from the sciences to the humanities whose work addresses this set of themes in any historical period or world region.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12281>. Applications are due by November 15, 2019 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, post-doctoral applicants must have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. before July 1, 2020 but cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, September 1, 2020. If a candidate has turned in a final draft of their dissertation but not yet completed their Ph.D. before the start date, they may be temporarily appointed as a Senior Research Assistant with a 10% reduction in salary. Upon providing verification that they have completed all requirements for the Ph.D., they would then be promoted in rank and salary. The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' proposed research projects, the relationship of their projects to the program theme, the candidates' scholarly records and their ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program.

For more information on eligibility requirements and the Fung Global Fellows Program see <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/call-applications>.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2019:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (**Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 15, 2019 deadline.**)

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5767

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select both senior scholars and early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pool. The fellowship will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar in the designated theme of the program, and have exhibited unusual intellectual promise. They will be expected to return to their position after the conclusion of the fellowship. Early career scholars selected will be in residence at Princeton for an academic year; senior scholars selected will be in residence at Princeton between three to ten months during the academic year.

During the academic year 2020-21, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be “Thinking Globally.” How people have thought about the planet has informed the institutions, norms, and policies that have pulled it together and torn it apart. For centuries, ideas of free trade, human rights or global governance have framed cooperation and competition, order and disorder. Such ideas have also spawned border-crossing movements, from campaigns to end slavery to commitments to reduce carbon emissions. In turn, global thinking and action have often reinforced commitments to national ideas and efforts to curb global exchange. The goal for the 2020-21 cohort will be to explore how ideas framed the understanding of interests and the making of institutions that have yielded commonness and conflict across and within borders. We will also explore how these ideas and practices came into being through scientific networks, foundations, and think tanks. We welcome applicants from all disciplinary and inter-disciplinary fields from the sciences to the humanities whose work addresses this set of themes in any historical period or world region.

Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12282>. Applications are due by November 15, 2019 (11:59 p.m. EST).

Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program theme, the candidate's scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. Early-career scholars must have received their Ph.D. or equivalent no earlier than September 1, 2010. Senior scholars must have received their doctorates before September 1, 2010, and have a record of scholarly accomplishment in the designated theme of the program.

For more information on eligibility requirements and the Fung Global Fellows Program see <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/call-applications>.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2019:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- For those applicants with a faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant's current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (**Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 15, 2019 deadline.**)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5766

OTHER

Hertie School

Rank: Professor of Sustainability

The Hertie School, Berlin

A European Professional School for Public Policy is recruiting a

Professor of Sustainability

Professor or Assistant Professor

The Hertie School is recruiting a Professor or Assistant Professor of Sustainability, with a research agenda in environmental as well as economic and/or social sustainability.

Relevant research areas in environmental sustainability may include (among others) biodiversity, cities and transport, pollution, agriculture and/or land use and water. An ideal candidate combines this with a research agenda in economic and/or social sustainability, which may include (among others) human well-being, inequality and poverty, inter-generational justice, environmental accounting, sustainable economic growth, environmental taxation, large-scale risk, long-term policy design, and/or evolution of norms.

The candidate will contribute to the development of the new Hertie Centre for Sustainability and will interact with faculty members with expertise in climate change and energy. Applicants should be interested in working in an interdisciplinary environment.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position, or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. We are looking for a candidate with a background in economics, though this does not have to be a PhD. An early career candidate will be appointed as tenure-track Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts). A more advanced candidate would initially be on a fixed contract of negotiable length prior to a tenure review. In highly exceptional circumstances, a particularly outstanding candidate may be appointed with tenure.

The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research, teaching, and outreach at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a commitment to teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes and be able to collaborate with new centres of competence which will be set up over the next years. Those are the Jacques Delors Institute Berlin – Centre for European Affairs, the Centre for International Security Policy, the Centre on Fundamental Rights, the Centre for Sustainability, the Centre on Digital Governance, and the Hertie School Data Science Lab. The successful candidate is expected to actively contribute to the research and outreach activities of the Centre for Sustainability.

As a private university, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Germany's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community as well as to the policy world.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. It takes a family friendly workplace seriously.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 30 November 2019. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Early career candidates should include three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with their work.

To submit your application, please upload the requested documents here:

<https://hertie-school.dvnci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/184/professor-of-sustainability-fmdiv-professor-or-assistant-professor>

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Christian Flachsland (flachsland@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7260

Hertie School of Governance

Rank: Professor of International Political Economy

Specializations: Political Economy, Economic Policy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Hertie School, Berlin

A European Professional School for Public Policy is recruiting a

Professor of International Political Economy

Professor or Assistant Professor

The Hertie School is recruiting a Professor or Assistant Professor of International Political Economy. We are looking for a candidate with a research agenda in the politics and economics of globalization and trade. Themes that intersect with development and global inequalities are welcome. This candidate will play an important leadership role in our "Finance and Trade" track of our Masters of International Affairs (MIA).

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position, or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. An early career candidate will be appointed as Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts) with the possibility of tenure. A more advanced candidate would be subject to a two-year probationary period before the granting of tenure.

The expected start date is 1 September 2020 or February 2021.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research at the highest levels in their discipline, through an established record of publication in top outlets. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a strong commitment to high-quality teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes. Collaboration with new centres of competence of the Hertie School is encouraged. Those are the Jacques Delors Institute Berlin, the Centre for International Security Policy, the Centre on Fundamental Rights, the Centre for Sustainability, the Centre on Digital Governance, and the Hertie School Data Science Lab.

As a private university, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Germany's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community as well as to the policy world.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. It takes a family friendly workplace seriously. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 30 November 2019. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Early career candidates should include three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with their work.

To submit your application, please upload the requested documents here: <https://hertie-school.dvnci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/185/professor-of-international-political-economy-fmdiv-professor-or-assistant-professor>

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org. For questions about the position, please contact Dean Mark Hallerberg (hallerberg@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7261

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Tenure-Track Position in Political Communication

The UCLA Department of Communication invites nominations and applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant level. Candidates at the associate level may be considered; and consideration will be given to exceptional senior candidates. Applicants should have visibility and outstanding research in political communication, media effects, media institutions, digital media, related subject areas, or (ideally) work that combines these areas. Salary will be competitive.

The appointment will begin in July 2020. Responsibilities will include maintaining an active and impactful program of research, teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate level, and university service.

Qualifications: Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Communication, Political Science, or a related field. Applications are welcome from scholars with expertise including—but not limited to— “big data” and machine learning skills (particularly in the collection and analysis of new media, archival, or visual content) or lab and field experiments. We also encourage applications from scholars with demonstrated excellence in undergraduate teaching, graduate mentorship and advising, and success in pursuing grant support for their research.

Applicants are to apply for these positions online at <https://recruit.apo.ucla.edu/JPF04891>. The requirements are: a cover letter; a statement of research and teaching interests; a curriculum vitae; a statement on Contributions to Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion; and 3-4 letters of recommendation (or for senior faculty a list of 3-4 individuals who can serve as a reference).

To ensure your application is given full consideration, files should be completed by October 31, 2019.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6230

Siena College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - Tenure-track

The Department of Political Science & International Relations and the Communications program at Siena College invite applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the area of Political Communication at the Assistant Professor level to begin in the Fall of 2020. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Communications, or a related field by the time of appointment.

As a liberal arts institution, we seek candidates with a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. The successful candidate will teach a regular 3 course load each semester, primarily in the Political Communications track of the interdisciplinary Communications major. The successful candidate must be qualified to teach Introduction to Political Communication, Mass Media & Government, Political Advertising & Marketing, and Special Topics in Political Communications, as well as an introductory level political science course. Preferred candidates will be qualified to teach research methods courses in Political Science or Communications.

Siena College is a learning community advancing the ideals of a liberal arts education, rooted in its identity as a Franciscan and Catholic college. Located in Loudonville, N.Y., two miles north of the state capital, the 176-acre beautiful, suburban campus is home to over 3,000 undergraduates. Siena offers over 1,200 program combinations from 32 majors and 80-plus minor and certificate programs as well as graduate degrees in Accounting and Business.

Siena College is committed to attracting, supporting, and retaining a diverse faculty. We actively encourage applications from women, minorities, persons with disabilities, veterans, and others from under-represented groups who may make a positive contribution to the diversification of ideas and perspectives.

Siena College is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Application Procedure: Deadline for applications is October 31, 2019. Applications should include a cover letter, a curriculum vita, a description of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching effectiveness (may include syllabi and summaries of teaching evaluations), and three letters of recommendation. Please submit your application through the Interview Exchange portal used by Siena College at <http://siena.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=115560>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 9/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7250

University of California, Santa Barbara

Rank: Assistant Professor in Migration and Immigration

The University of California, Santa Barbara Department of Political Science seeks a scholar in the area of migration and immigration studies for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2020. We are open to scholars in all subfields of political science. We are particularly interested in scholars whose research addresses issues in the Department's strong interdisciplinary foci in the study of identity or the environment. Migration brings together people of different ethnicities, races, and religious beliefs, creating new challenges for identity politics. Moreover, climate change and environmental disasters are intimately tied to the phenomena of migration. However, migration also has implications for U.S. domestic, transnational, and global governance. We therefore define the position broadly.

The minimum requirement to be considered an applicant is the completion of all requirements for a Ph.D. (or equivalent degree), except the dissertation, in Political Science (or related field) at the time of application. Ph.D. preferred.

UCSB is the first Hispanic-Serving Institution in the American Association of Universities (AAU). The University is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service as appropriate to the position. Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Santa Barbara. Our excellence can only be fully realized by faculty, staff and students who share our commitment to these values. The department encourages all applicants to submit a Statement of Contributions to Diversity addressing past and/or potential contributions to diversity through research, teaching, and service.

Completed applications received by October 31, 2019 will receive primary consideration, but the position will remain open until filled. Applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (or other evidence of teaching effectiveness), and three letters from academic references. All application materials should be submitted via UC Recruit: <https://recruit.ap.ucsb.edu/apply/JPF01607>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7257

Arizona State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Critical Data Studies

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences in the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) is seeking a full-time, benefits-eligible, tenure-track Assistant Professor of Social Technologies / Critical Data Studies to conduct research and teach at the intersection of data and social sciences. ASU's New College offers a rich, interdisciplinary environment within a university that has been selected as the most innovative in the United States for the last five years. Situated within a school that includes faculties in anthropology, communication, political science, psychology, social technologies, and sociology, we seek scholars who will pursue programs of inquiry with national and international influence. In addition, our new colleague will be highly engaged in shaping the future of critical data studies across ASU and beyond.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is presently in a period of expansion and innovation around new initiatives and programs. Since Fall 2017, the School has added ten new tenured/tenure-track faculty, in addition to several lecturers and postdoctoral positions. This academic year, the School has been approved to recruit five additional tenured/tenure-track faculty, including the current position, and a Critical Data Studies postdoctoral scholar.

Required qualifications: a) Ph.D. in Communication, Computer Science, Geography, Information Science, Political Science, Psychology, Science and Technology Studies, Sociology, or a cognate field by the time of appointment; b) Evidence of an ongoing research program that demonstrates a deep investigation of the intersection of data and society; c) Demonstrated excellence in teaching and research commensurate with appointment at the level of Assistant Professor at ASU.

Desired Qualifications: a) Evidence of innovation in computational methods/data science and demonstrated expertise in any of the following: i) the relationship of algorithms and automation to social change, ii) the politics and policies of platforms, iii) critical approaches to social sciences using big data and computational approaches, and iv) social dimensions of wearable and IoT systems; b) Evidence of the potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; c) An interest in engaging in interdisciplinary collaborations in research; d) A commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and mentoring; and, e) A demonstrated interest in promoting and supporting diversity through service and research; f) experience in and skill with addressing issues of equality in the classroom; and g) experience in and/or willingness to engage with culturally responsive teaching and its importance to students' lives, interests, and communities

More information about ASU's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences can be found at <https://newcollege.asu.edu/directory/sbs>. More information about ASU's New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences can be found at <http://newcollege.asu.edu>. To learn about ASU's unique mission and charter, please see: <https://www.asu.edu/about/>. Arizona State University has a strong commitment to a diverse faculty, one that is reflective of the contemporary United States.

Arizona State University is deeply committed to positioning itself as one of the great new universities by seeking to build excellence, enhance educational access and have an impact on our community, state, nation and the world. To do that requires our faculty and staff to reflect the intellectual, ethnic and cultural diversity of our nation and world so that our students learn from the broadest perspectives, and we engage in the advancement of knowledge with the most inclusive understanding possible of the issues we are addressing through our scholarly activities.

Deadline: November 1, 2019. Applications will continue to be accepted on a rolling basis for a reserve pool. Applications in the reserve pool may then be reviewed in the order in which they were received until the position is filled.

Application procedure: Applications will only be accepted electronically via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68316>

Requested material will include: 1) a letter of application, which explicitly addresses your academic experience, situates your research in the field and notes your teaching philosophy; 2) a current curriculum vitae with contact information; and 3) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted during initial review and will only be contacted after candidate notification).

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions which includes a criminal background check, verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications. Employment is contingent upon successful passing of the background check.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7241

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar of Critical Data Studies

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences in the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) is seeking a full-time, benefits-eligible Postdoctoral Scholar in Social Technologies / Critical Data Studies to conduct research and teach at the intersection of data and social sciences. This scholar will be expected to conduct their own independent program of research and teach 1 course per academic year. We seek scholars who will pursue programs of inquiry with national and international influence. There is an expectation of funding for up to two years, with the possibility of a start date as early as January 2020. The scholar would be expected to be in residence at ASU.

ASU's New College offers a rich, interdisciplinary environment within a university that has been selected as the most innovative in the United States for the last five years. Critical Data Studies is situated within a school that includes faculties in anthropology, communication, political science, psychology, social technologies, and sociology. The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is presently in a period of expansion and innovation around new initiatives and programs. Since Fall 2017, the School has added ten new tenured/tenure-track faculty, in addition to six new lecturers and two postdoctoral positions. This academic year, the School has been approved to recruit five additional tenured/tenure-track faculty, including a tenure-track Assistant Professor in Critical Data Studies, five new Lecturers and two more postdoctoral scholars, including the current position.

Required qualifications: The successful candidate must have: a) Ph.D. in Communication, Computer Science, Geography, Information Science, Political Science, Psychology, Science and Technology Studies, Sociology, or a cognate field by the time of appointment; b) Evidence of an ongoing research program that demonstrates a deep investigation of the intersection of data and society; and, c) An ability for the Postdoctoral Scholar to be in residence at ASU.

Desired Qualifications: a) Evidence of innovation in computational methods/data science and demonstrated expertise in any of the following: i) the relationship of algorithms and automation to social change, ii) the politics and policies of platforms, iii) critical approaches to social sciences using big data and computational approaches, and iv) social dimensions of wearable and IoT systems; b) Evidence of the potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; c) An interest in engaging in interdisciplinary collaborations in research; d) A demonstrated interest in promoting and supporting diversity through service and research; e) experience in and skill with addressing issues of equality in the classroom; and f) experience in and/or willingness to engage with culturally responsive teaching and its importance to students' lives, interests, and communities

More information about ASU's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences can be found at <https://newcollege.asu.edu/directory/sbs>. More information about ASU's New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences can be found at <http://newcollege.asu.edu>. To learn about ASU's unique mission and charter, please see: <https://www.asu.edu/about/>.

Arizona State University is deeply committed to positioning itself as one of the great new universities by seeking to build excellence, enhance educational access and have an impact on our community, state, nation and the world. To do that requires our faculty and staff to reflect the intellectual, ethnic and cultural diversity of our nation and world so that our students learn from the broadest perspectives, and we engage in the advancement of knowledge with the most inclusive understanding possible of the issues we are addressing through our scholarly activities.

Deadline: November 1, 2019. Applications will continue to be accepted on a rolling basis for a reserve pool. Applications in the reserve pool may then be reviewed in the order in which they were received until the position is filled.

Application procedure: Applications will only be accepted electronically via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/69224>

Requested material will include: 1) a letter of application, which explicitly addresses your academic experience and situates your research in the field; 2) a current curriculum vitae with contact information; and 3) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted during initial review and will only be contacted after candidate notification).

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions which includes a criminal background check, verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications. Employment is contingent upon successful passing of the background check.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7242

John Cabot University

Rank: Full-time tenure track faculty position in Comparative Politics

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Other

Specializations: Africa, Environmental Policy, Electoral Behavior

Full-time tenure track faculty position in Comparative Politics

John Cabot University, an accredited American liberal arts university in Rome, Italy, offering four-year degree programs, invites applications for an open-rank (assistant or associate) full-time tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics. The initial appointment is for two years with the possibility of tenure. Candidates are expected to be fluent in English, which is the language of instruction. We seek candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science, demonstrated excellence in teaching and research, and commitment to academic service and program development. The ideal candidate should have familiarity and experience with the American liberal arts educational tradition.

All candidates with a strong grounding in comparative politics are welcome to apply. Special consideration will be given to candidates with expertise in teaching advanced research methodology; elections, public opinion and voting behavior; environmental politics; and gender studies. There is no regional specialization for the position, but a focus on Africa, Latin America or Europe would also be welcome. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introductory and advanced undergraduate level courses with a load of three courses per semester as well as be an active member of the university community. Ability to teach graduate level courses is an asset.

Applications should include 1) a cover letter addressing the candidate's interest and fit for teaching at an American liberal arts college in Rome; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a statement of teaching and research interests; and 4) evidence of teaching excellence. Materials should be sent as a single pdf file to: CompPolSearch@johncabot.edu. Applicants should arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the same email address.

The deadline to submit applications is November 1, 2019. The successful candidate will be expected to start in the fall semester of 2020. Only short-listed candidates will be notified.

John Cabot University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, ethnic or national origin, religion, sex, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or disability in any of its policies, programs, and services.

Information about JCU can be found at: <http://www.johncabot.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6238

The College of Idaho

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Economy or International Political Economy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Specializations: American Politics, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The College of Idaho's Department of Political Economy invites applications for a tenure-track entry-level faculty position that will commence in Fall 2020.

The Department approaches political economy in a broad theoretical manner similar to early modern thinkers such as John Locke, Adam Smith, and Karl Marx. We emphasize the intricate relationship between economics and politics and reject the push for narrow specialization and an overemphasis on formal models. We are open to approaches including public policy analysis, historical institutionalism, heterodox economics, behavioral economics, area studies, and research methods that emphasize the analysis of real-world data. We grant significant autonomy to faculty members to design their own lower and upper division courses that support the department's political economy approach and vision. Professional development support for research, conference travel, and sabbatical leave is available.

The Department offers two related majors: Political Economy and International Political Economy. The successful candidate will EITHER primarily serve the Political Economy major focusing on domestic political economy and policy-making in the United States, OR primarily serve the International Political Economy major focusing on the global economy, international relations, development, and comparative political economy. The department also offers minors supporting the College of Idaho's PEAK curriculum. The teaching load is 3-3 with an additional course taught during each January term.

Successful candidates will have an active research agenda while demonstrating a passion for teaching in the liberal arts tradition. They will join a student-centered department where teaching and mentoring are valued as the highest priority. Such mentorship has recently led students in the department to Marshall, Truman, and Rhodes scholarships as well as to national recognition of departmental faculty for teaching excellence.

A Ph.D. is required in Political Economy, Political Science, International Political Economy, International Relations, Economics (heterodox), Behavioral Economics, or other related fields. Courses to be taught include introductory courses in the field and advanced courses based on the candidate's expertise. Advanced ABD applicants will be considered.

Applications must include letter of interest, CV, statement demonstrating a passion for teaching in the liberal arts tradition, sample syllabi, recent course evaluations, and at least three letters of recommendation.

Candidates must be authorized to work in the United States as of the expected hire date and throughout the date of the contract without sponsorship from The College of Idaho.

Application review will begin October 14, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position has been filled. Please submit application materials via email to hr@collegeofidaho.edu with subject 'Political Economy Search.'

With over 125 years of history, The College of Idaho is a regional and national leader in higher education. The College of Idaho is an inclusive community of exceptional learning that challenges the ambitious and forges pathways to success and purpose. To learn more about The College of Idaho, please visit www.collegeofidaho.edu.

The College of Idaho is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. We are committed to attracting, retaining, and maximizing the performance of a diverse and inclusive workforce.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/14/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7240

University of Michigan

Rank: Contemporary Jewry

The Frankel Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Michigan invites applications for a tenured appointment at the Associate or Professor rank in the field of contemporary Jewry. This is a university-year appointment with an expected start date of September 1, 2020. Discipline and specialization within the field are open. The successful candidate will be able to contribute to the Frankel Center's strengths in graduate training, and offer undergraduate courses that contribute to the curriculum of Judaic Studies. Applicants should submit a letter of application, which includes a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, a curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching excellence, a writing sample, and the names of three references. Note that references will be contacted for finalists only. Application materials must be submitted electronically. Please go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/63534> to apply. Review of applications will begin November 15, and will continue until an appointment is made.

Women and Minorities are encouraged to apply. The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples, and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6235

Northeastern University

Rank: URBAN INFORMATICS CLUSTER HIRE, OPEN RANK - ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

Specializations: Urban Politics, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Northeastern University seeks nominations and applications for several tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in computational social science, with a focus on urban informatics, quantitative methods, or network science, with an expected start date of Fall 2020. Successful candidates will have a distinguished scholarly record using methodological approaches that leverage and work with large or complex data sources to study social phenomena, including but not limited to questions pertaining to cities and communities. We have special interest in scholars whose work includes the use of administrative, scraped, archival, or internet-gathered data. We are seeking scholars who work in spatial, network, or textual analysis, and/or use machine-learning tools. Competitive applicants will also have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and leadership. Faculty appointments will be made in one or more of the member departments of the CSSH, including the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Department of Economics, and the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Cross-college appointments are possible. Successful applicants will likely affiliate with one of our research centers dedicated to this work, including the Boston Area Research Initiative, the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks, or the Network Science Institute.

The position will support the University's commitment to innovation in experiential learning as well as the college's mission in integrating data and technology in the analysis of society, policy, and governance. Candidates should have demonstrated commitment to fostering diverse and inclusive environments as well as to promoting experiential learning, which are central to a Northeastern University education.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample, as well as the names of three references. For those who would be appointed at the assistant professor level, we will request references upon receipt of application.

To apply, please go to <http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/faculty-positions> and click on the link for full-time positions or full-time interdisciplinary positions or if viewing this description on the Northeastern University website, click "Apply to this job." Please address nominations and inquiries about the position to Professor Daniel O'Brien, at d.obrien@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin Oct. 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is a leader in the Experiential Liberal Arts. Founded in 1898, Northeastern University is a dynamic and highly selective urban research university in the center of Boston. Grounded in its signature co-op program, Northeastern provides unprecedented global experiential learning opportunities. The College is strongly committed to fostering excellence through diversity and enthusiastically welcomes nominations and applications from members of groups underrepresented in academia.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6217

Harvard University

Rank: FELLOWS-IN-RESIDENCE

FELLOWS-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM APPLICATION DEADLINE NOVEMBER 15

The Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics at Harvard University invites applications from a broad range of researchers and practitioners who will work over the course of the year on pressing issues in ethics. Faculty in arts and sciences and professional schools, postdoctoral scholars, practitioners, and researchers from industry, government, and NGOs are eligible to apply.

For the 2020-21 academic year, the theme at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics will once again be the Ethics of Technological and Biomedical Innovation.

Priority will be given to early career scholars and practitioners whose work closely aligns with this theme, but we reserve some "open" slots for senior scholars and practitioners, and for exceptionally competitive applicants whose work in ethics falls outside this scope. The goal will be to craft a cohort in which "thematic" fellows and "open" fellows will all find valuable intellectual partnerships to support and spur their work.

All Fellows-in-Residence will be expected to devote the majority of their time to their individual projects and to participate in regular work-in-progress seminars. In addition, Fellows are strongly encouraged to participate in the Center's programming, which includes public lectures, themed seminars and reading groups, conferences, workshops, and lunch discussions.

Under our current theme, the Center is pleased to offer joint fellowship opportunities with the following Centers:

- Berkman-Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University
- Carr Center for Human Rights at the Harvard Kennedy School
- Center for Bioethics at the Harvard Medical School
- Center for Research on Computation and Society at the Harvard John A. Paulson School of Engineering and Applied Sciences
- Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics at the Harvard Law School

Applicants will be invited to indicate on the application form whether they wish to be considered for a joint fellowship position with one of these Centers. If selected, the joint fellowship will offer access to development opportunities and programming at the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics and our partnering Center.

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must have a PhD, professional degree, or a minimum of 5 years of equivalent professional experience. Applicants from any discipline or professional field will be considered. Those who have previously held a yearlong residential Fellowship at the Center are not eligible; this limitation does not apply to former Undergraduate Fellows or former Graduate Fellows. The Fellows-in-Residence Program runs the course of the academic year, typically from the beginning of September through the end of May, and is open to all applicants who meet the above criteria, regardless of citizenship.

STIPEND

Faculty:

We offer a stipend of one-half of your base academic year salary, up to $75,000, and a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Post-Doc:

The stipend for post-doctoral fellows was $50,000.00 in 2019-20 and will be set for 2020-21 in accordance with the University rate. We also provide a research allowance of up to $3,000 for approved expenses directly related to your work, such as travel, books, and research assistance.

Practitioners:

Practitioner stipends will be determined on a case-by-case basis, commensurate with experience.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

To apply, you will need to complete an online application form, found at ethics.harvard.edu/fellows-in-residence, which includes submission of the following in .pdf, .doc, or .docx form:

- Cover letter stating your background and interest in the Edmond J. Safra Center for Ethics Fellows-in-Residence Program
- CV
- Research proposal
- Recent writing sample

Names and contact information for three professional references will be requested, no letters will be accepted at this stage.

The deadline for submitting this application is November 15, 2019. Please note that the application form will be saved automatically while in progress, but no edits or alterations will be allowed once you have submitted the application. Should you have any questions regarding this application process, please send an email to EJSafraFellowships@fas.harvard.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6212

Villanova University

Rank: Lawrence C. Gallen Teaching Faculty in the Humanities

Lawrence C. Gallen Teaching Faculty in the Humanities
Villanova University

Posting Number: 2019648F

Position Title: Lawrence C. Gallen Teaching Faculty in the Humanities

Position Type: Faculty

Location: Villanova, PA

Recruitment Type: Internal/External Applicants

Work Schedule: full-time/9-months

Department: 151-Augustine and Culture Seminar Program

Position Summary:

The Augustine and Culture Seminar Program seeks scholars in the Humanities to apply for one (1) full-time, non-tenure track position as the Lawrence C. Gallen Teaching Faculty in the Humanities. The Gallen Teaching Faculty are responsible for teaching three sections per semester of the Augustine and Culture Seminar, a writing intensive interdisciplinary seminar program required of all first year students. The individual is expected to take a leadership role within the ACS program, including committee work and faculty development.

The mission of the Augustine and Culture Seminar is to introduce first-year students to the shared intellectual inquiry that makes a community of scholars. We therefore seek candidates who will engage our students and our faculty in studying questions of common concern in the humanities.

Villanova is a Catholic University sponsored by the Augustinian order. Diversity and inclusion have been and will continue to be an integral component of Villanova University's mission. The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and seeks candidates who understand, respect and can contribute to the University's mission and values.

Duties and Responsibilities:

- The Gallen fellows are responsible for teaching three sections per semester of the Augustine and Culture Seminar. ACS is a two-semester writing intensive interdisciplinary seminar program, required of all first year students. ACS 1000 focuses on texts of antiquity and the Middle Ages, including Augustine's Confessions. ACS 1001 continues the emphasis on self in the world through the lens of modernity, starting with Shakespeare and continuing to the present. The course gives attention to the Catholic intellectual Tradition and its ongoing mission to defend the dignity of the human person, recognize the need for human solidarity, and serve the common good. Each class is capped at sixteen students. The students are expected to write a minimum of thirty pages per semester.
- Candidates must have a Ph.D. in a Humanities discipline, a strong commitment to teaching and learning in the Liberal Arts, and an interest in teaching the thought of Augustine.
- The Gallen Teaching Faculty help develop and oversee various scholarly activities sponsored by the program, including conferences, faculty workshops, and other projects. In addition, the Gallen fellows contribute to Villanova's residential Learning Communities.

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in a Humanities discipline should be completed by June 30, 2020. In addition, successful candidates should have significant experience in teaching ACS or a comparable interdisciplinary humanities course.

Preferred Qualifications:

Candidates who have demonstrated effective and innovative teaching in ACS or a comparable interdisciplinary humanities course will receive preference.

Physical Requirements and/or Unusual Work Hours:

Special Message to Applicants:

Applicants must apply on-line at <http://jobs.villanova.edu>. All materials must be received by November 1, 2019. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Marylu Hill, Associated Professor, Director, The Augustine and Culture Seminar Program at Marylu.hill@villanova.edu

Applications must include:

- Application letter
- Current and complete curriculum vitae
- Copies of unofficial transcripts (undergraduate and graduate)
- Contact information for three references. We will request letters for interviewees only.
- Statement of Contribution to Mission
- Statement of Teaching Philosophy
- Statement of Research Interests

Posting Date: 09/16/2019

Closing Date (12am ET): 11/01/2019

Salary Posting Information: Competitive

Salary Band: N/A

Job Classification: faculty

References Needed:

Minimum Number of References Needed: 3

Maximum Number of References Needed: 3

Required Documents

1. Cover Letter / Letter of Interest
2. Resume / Curriculum Vitae
3. Statement of Teaching Philosophy
4. Transcripts
5. Statement of Research Interests
6. Statement of Contribution to Mission

Optional Documents

1. Writing Sample/Publications
2. Other Document
3. Other Document (2)

For more information or to apply, please visit: <https://apptrkr.com/1617127>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6210

University of British Columbia

Rank: President's Excellence Chair in Global Migration

The Department of Political Science at the University of British Columbia (UBC), Vancouver Campus, invites applications for a President's Excellence Chair in Global Migration, a full-time tenured appointment at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor with anticipated start date of July 1, 2020. The chair will be provided with research funds and have a reduced teaching load for a seven-year term, which can be renewed* for an additional 7 year term. For more information on the President's Excellence Chairs at UBC please visit: ubc.ca/excellence. We are seeking a senior scholar with expertise in Global Migration and the ability to build on growing momentum in this area at UBC and provide intellectual and institutional leadership. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. and be an outstanding researcher whose scholarship has made a significant international impact; have a strong record of attracting and supervising graduate students; have demonstrated excellence in teaching all levels of students; and be pursuing an original and productive research program in Global Migration.

The candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels in Political Science, as well as supervise undergraduates, graduate students, and postdoctoral fellows, and contribute to service at the departmental level and beyond. Migration is an interdisciplinary research excellence cluster at UBC, and the successful candidate will be expected to participate in and contribute to the growth of this cluster. There also is the possibility of teaching in and contributing to other cognate units, including the possibility of a cross-appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of major research contributions and current and future research programs, a curriculum vitae, a brief statement (1-2 pages) of teaching philosophy, interests and accomplishments, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, sample syllabi), a 1 page statement about experience working with a diverse student body and contributions or potential contributions to creating/advancing a culture of equity and inclusion, and names and addresses (e-mail addresses included) of four referees.

Applications should be submitted online at <https://poli.air.arts.ubc.ca/presidents-excellence-chair-in-global-migration-application-form/> Job ID: 35313. Review of applications will begin on October 19, 2019. Applications received by that date are assured of full review, though applications will be considered until the position is filled.

*The name of the renewed Chair is subject to change.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6201

London School of Economics

Rank: Assistant Professor in Health and International Development

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Department of International Development at LSE seeks to hire an Assistant Professor who will strengthen our internationally renowned, innovative and publicly engaged faculty. The post holder will contribute to the intellectual life of the School through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching as instructed by the Head of Department, and participating in the School and wider Department activities.

Candidates should have a track record or trajectory of internationally excellent publications in health and international development from any of these perspectives: development studies, geography, government, international relations, politics, or sociology.

Candidates who conduct research in any developing country or countries are encouraged to apply (the "Region" menu requires one region to be selected and does not have a general option -- all regions welcome).

You will have proven ability, as evidenced by existing publications or potential to publish in top journals or with leading book publishers in health and international development; and a clear, well developed and viable strategy for future outstanding research that has the potential to result in world-leading publications.

Successful applicants will also have a PhD or be close to completing a PhD in one of the above mentioned areas by the post start date.

You will also have a demonstrable ability to teach on postgraduate programmes in health and international development.

For further information about the post, including instructions on how to apply, please see here:
<https://www.jobs.ac.uk/job/BVG251/assistant-professor-in-health-and-international-development>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/16/2019

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6187

University of Massachusetts, Amherst

Rank: Assistant Professor - Law & Inequality

Job Description:

The interdisciplinary Legal Studies Program of the Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applications for a faculty position at the Assistant Professor rank expected to start on September 1, 2020. We welcome applications from scholars studying law and inequality. Substantive areas could include access to justice; bias in the administration of justice; human and civil rights; social inequality and discrimination; crime and criminal justice; citizenship and immigration; gender, race, and the law; environmental and technological injustices; law and social movements; disparities in the labor force; and other interdisciplinary areas of study. We encourage applications from scholars studying American, comparative, and/or international law and inequality topics.

The successful candidate should exhibit significant promise in scholarly publishing, a commitment to teaching excellence, and the ability to contribute to the intellectual growth of the Legal Studies Program and the Department of Political Science. The capacity to secure extramural funding will be looked upon favorably.

Legal Studies at UMass is the oldest undergraduate liberal arts program for the study of law and society in the country, and the only one in New England at a public university. The Program is housed in the Department of Political Science and maintains its own undergraduate major. The expanding Legal Studies Program is a center for ambitious intellectual activity and research that addresses important questions about the place of law in societies around the world while teaching undergraduate Legal Studies students and Political Science graduate students. The Department of Political Science is committed to teaching and research that crosses traditional disciplinary and sub-field boundaries and engages a broad range of methodological approaches.

The University of Massachusetts Amherst, the flagship campus of the UMass system, is home to over 22,000 undergraduate and 6,300 graduate students from all 50 states and nearly 100 countries. It boasts a world-class faculty committed to performance and growth in scholarship, opportunity, diversity and inclusion. It is a research intensive, land-grant institution with growing research expenditures currently totaling more than $195 million annually. Further information about the University's strategic plan can be found on the Chancellor's Office website.

Requirements:

Applicants must have earned a PhD in Political Science or a closely related social science discipline by the starting date of the appointment.

Additional Information:

Review of applications begins on October 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

Application Instructions:

Apply here: <http://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/502765/political-science-legal-studies-assistant-professor-law-inequality>

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, up to three samples of written work, evidence of quality teaching (such as summaries of teaching evaluations and/or a teaching statement), and contact information for at least three reference writers who are willing to submit letters upon request, through the UMass online applications system (available at the end of September 2019). In addition to the materials noted above, applicants should also submit a one-page diversity statement that discusses past or future contributions to inclusive excellence in the areas of research, teaching and/or outreach. Applicants are required to apply through the UMass online application system, unless unable to do so because of lack of computer access or disability. Inquiries about the position can be addressed to Associate Professor Jamie Rowen, the Search Committee Chair, at jrowen@legal.umass.edu.

About UMass Amherst

UMass Amherst, the Commonwealth's flagship campus, is a nationally ranked public research university offering a full range of undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. The University sits on nearly 1,450-acres in the scenic Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts, and offers a rich cultural environment in a bucolic setting close to major urban centers. In addition, the University is part of the Five Colleges (including Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, and Smith College), which adds to the intellectual energy of the region.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6191

University of Nebraska, Omaha

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor -Local Government Management

The School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha, seeks applicants for a faculty position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with an emphasis in local government management, to begin August 2020. A Ph.D. in Public Administration or a relevant field is required by the employment start date. We seek candidates who will make significant teaching and research contributions in our degree programs, including: Ph.D. in Public Administration, MPA, and Master of Science in Urban Studies. We are looking for someone whose work connects local government to broader governance issues. Preference will be given to candidates who have the ability to teach courses in municipal administration, as well as ethics and/or quantitative research methods/data analytics. The course teaching load for this position is 2:2. Candidates should also be able to teach in both face-to-face and online settings, and demonstrate excellence in research, teaching, and a commitment to community engagement. Review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The School of Public Administration boasts a supportive and collaborative academic culture in our mission to strengthen public service in a democratic and diverse society. We are home to one of the longest-accredited MPA programs in the country, which is offered both online and on campus with an enrollment of approximately 275 students. The MPA program is ranked #8 nationally in local government management, as well as #4 in public finance and budgeting, #11 in nonprofit management, and is in the top 10% of ranked programs overall. The Master of Science in Urban Studies program attracts social entrepreneurs, urban thinkers and agents of change. Our Ph.D. in Public Administration program includes a specialization in Urban Management, and faculty regularly work with our doctoral students.

Community engagement is a strong focus for the School, which is located in the College of Public Affairs and Community Service. We have an active network of local government alumni in the region, and our faculty and students work closely with the Nebraska City/County Management Association as well as the International City/County Management Association. Valuable resources are available for grant and contract opportunities, including the Center for Public Affairs Research, the Center for Collaboration Science, and the Barbara A. Weitz Community Engagement Center.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University, with a student body of about 15,000. We are a metropolitan university, located in the heart of Omaha, which has a population of 463,000. The population of the eight-county metropolitan area is 943,000.

For more information, visit <http://spa.unomaha.edu> or contact the chair of the search committee: Dr. Carol Ebdon at cebdon@unomaha.edu.

To apply for this position, please go to <http://unomaha.peopleadmin.com/postings/9542>. The application must include: current curriculum vita, a letter addressing experience and qualifications, the names and contact information for three references, teaching philosophy statement and summary of teaching evaluations, and a research writing sample.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6190

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Director of the Center for Latin American Studies

Director of Center for Latin American Studies, University Center for International Studies, University of Pittsburgh

The University of Pittsburgh seeks a dynamic scholar to serve as director of its Center for Latin American Studies (<https://www.ucis.pitt.edu/clas>) beginning August 2020. Founded in 1964, the Center for Latin American Studies is the oldest center within the University Center for International Studies (UCIS), which now includes six area and thematic studies centers. The mission of CLAS is to promote global understanding through support for teaching, learning, and research in and on Latin America, the Caribbean, and the diverse diasporic communities of Latin American and Caribbean origin in the United States and elsewhere. CLAS provides faculty with the resources and intellectual environment to realize cutting-edge research, and students with unequaled educational experience and a solid path to a successful career. Through its community engagement programs, the center shares its resources regionally, nationally, and internationally.

Candidates must be leading scholars in their field, holding the tenured rank of associate or full professor. The successful applicant will join the appropriate disciplinary home in one of three schools at the University: the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Education, or the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs. For the initial six years of their appointment, the individual will serve as director of the Center and receive a corresponding reduction in teaching and service obligations to their department/school.

Unless there is a renewal of that appointment (mutually agreeable to the faculty member, the department chair or dean, and the Director of UCIS), the successful applicant will resume full-time responsibilities in their home department or school thereafter.

Administrative responsibilities include: developing academic programs; supervision of center staff (all centers have dedicated administrative associate directors); overseeing the implementation of all activities of the center; representing the center and UCIS at activities in various communities (locally, domestically, and abroad); development efforts for the center; guiding strategic grant seeking and application; and supporting the efforts of the Vice-Provost for Global Affairs (who also serves as the Director of UCIS). Examples of the last include periodic crafting of responses to critical events related to the region, providing briefings for high-level international visitors and delegations visiting the University, and assisting in developing itineraries for (and possibly accompanying) Chancellor- and/or Provost-level delegation visits to the region. Responsibilities are year-round; it is understood, however, that the scholarship and other responsibilities will require the candidate to travel and be absent from campus on occasion.

Successful candidates must hold a Ph.D. or relevant terminal degree with substantial research and teaching experience in Latin American Studies. We prefer candidates whose work intersects with migration, race, health, and/or gender; these and other research issues align with a new commitment by the Provost to invest in building Latinx studies at the University. Successful candidates must have a proven track record of administrative leadership and experience and of managing colleagues in a productive and collaborative manner. They must also have a demonstrated commitment to diversity and inclusion with highly developed skills in building a collaborative culture that values the strength of differing views and experiences.

The University of Pittsburgh is an urban, state-related institution located in an area with a metropolitan population of approximately 2.3 million. The University is comprised of sixteen schools, four regional campuses outside of Pittsburgh, and four University centers (including UCIS) which serve the entire University community.

Applicants should apply by November 1, 2019, at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjcw>. They will be required to upload the following: a comprehensive C.V.; a letter of interest that outlines their scholarly and administrative interests and skills; a one-to-two-page diversity statement, discussing how past, planned, or potential contributions or experiences relating to diversity, equity, and inclusion will advance the University of Pittsburgh's commitment to inclusive excellence; and the names of three references.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6188

Providence College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Service and Black Studies

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Social Movements, Social Welfare

The Department of Public and Community Service Studies and the Black Studies Program at Providence College invites applications for a full-time joint tenure-track assistant professor position beginning August 2020. The successful candidate must show evidence of potential for excellence in teaching and publication in the area of Black feminisms, class and inequality, and critical pedagogy, with particular expertise in social movements, social identities, and feminist approaches to community-engaged research and organizing, particularly around the intersection of race and class. As our student body, and Public and Community Service majors and Black Studies minors in particular, grow increasingly diverse, we have a strong preference for publicly engaged scholarship, and candidates with interests in and evidence of student-centered pedagogical and mentoring practices. Moreover, as students of color and their allies have demanded in college and university protests across the nation, we support the students' desire to hire faculty who demonstrate a deep commitment to and proven ability in supporting the success of students from historically marginalized economic, social, and cultural groups. The course load is 3-3 with the option for a one semester pre-tenure research leave after three years of service as a member of the Ordinary Faculty. A Ph.D. in related fields appropriate to a joint appointment in Public and Community Service and Black Studies is required and applicants must have dissertation in hand at the time of appointment.

Applicants should apply online at the College's career site at <https://careers.providence.edu> and submit a cover letter, curriculum vita, and teaching statement/philosophy. For additional information, please contact Dr. Zophia Edwards, search chair, at zedwards@providence.edu.

To ensure full consideration, please submit all application materials by October 15th, 2019. Applications will be reviewed until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6170

Duke University

Rank: Research Associate

The DevLab@Duke is seeking to hire a Research Associate to support several innovative projects focused on the application of machine learning to the forecasting of democratic breakdowns, the closure of civic space, and the foreign policy behavior of authoritarian regimes. DevLab@Duke's machine learning portfolio currently includes two large projects, and we are considering others. The Research Associate position will include technical, management and administrative tasks. Technical tasks could include anything from responding to donor requests for specific analyses to contributing to scraping data and natural language processing of it. The Research Associate will also provide administrative and management across the ML portion of DevLab's research portfolio, which will include organizing group meetings, and report writing.

Successful candidates will collaborate with Professors Scott de Marchi and Erik Wibbels, as well other members of the DevLab, in an interdisciplinary environment. They will be expected to work with lab associates to provide timely input to development practitioners affiliated with the DevLab—including donors, implementers and evaluators—at all stages of project conceptualization, design, implementation, evaluation and reporting.

Responsibilities will include:

- ? Contributions to the technical portions of the project.
- ? Conducting desk research, drafting and editing documents and reports.
- ? Providing administrative and logistical support to project teams, including project work planning and reporting as needed.
- ? Developing and updating a DevLab Machine Learning website page and drafting quarterly blogs.
- ? Facilitating communication/collaboration between DevLab clients, Principal Investigators, Postdocs, grad students and research analysts.
- ? Organizing and scheduling meetings and project check-ins associated with various DevLab projects.
- ? Monitoring program budgets and reconciling expenditures.
- ? Proposal development and concept notes for contract and grant applications, as needed.

Qualifications:

- ? Prospective candidates are expected to have done graduate work and completed an MA in one or more of these areas:
  - o International Development
  - o Economics
  - o Political Science
  - o Statistics
  - o Computer Science
  - o Public Policy
- Coursework and/or demonstrated research/professional experience with data analytics is required
- Additional experience with visualization would be desirable, as would a background in both python and R.
- Strong attention to detail.
- Ability to follow through on multiple tasks in a fast-paced environment.
- Excellent verbal communication and writing skills.
- Project management or coordination experience is preferred.

Come join our energetic and innovative team! We offer you the opportunity to work as part of a creative and committed team. The initial appointment is for one year, with options of renewal for another one or two years. The position comes with competitive salary and benefits. We also offer a strong array of benefits to our employees, including professional development, competitive health insurance plans, robust Paid Time Off, opportunities to gain technical experience, and more.

To learn more about DevLab@Duke, please visit our website: <http://www.devlab@duke.com>.

There is no deadline for applying to the opening, but applications will be considered on a rolling basis starting immediately, and we are eager for the right applicant to join us. Applications (including a statement of interests, a curriculum vitae, and three references) should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14532>

For questions/information, please email heather.huntington@duke.edu.

Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Date Posted: 9/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6147

Oxford College of Emory University

Rank: QTM, Assistant Professor of QTM, Tenure track

Located 36 miles east of Atlanta on the original campus of Emory College in Oxford, Georgia, Oxford College of Emory University invites applications for tenure-track position of Assistant Professor of Quantitative Theory and Methods, to begin August 2020. Emory's Institute for Quantitative Theory and Methods (IQTM; see quantitative.emory.edu) promotes the teaching, learning, and use of quantitative analysis across disciplines. IQTM currently offers undergraduate degrees in four interdisciplinary majors and one minor. The successful candidate would teach core coursework in these majors, including Probability and Statistics (QTM 210) and two one-credit courses introducing statistical computing using R (QTM 150/151). Oxford faculty regularly teach a first-year seminar course on a topic in their discipline. Teaching responsibilities may also include Introduction to Scientific Methods (QTM 110), a quantitative elective, or a course in the candidate's disciplinary area. Areas of research interest and expertise are open. Teaching, scholarship, and service are expected; the teaching load is the equivalent of three courses per semester.

Qualifications

A Ph.D. in a social science discipline with an emphasis on quantitative methods or a Ph.D. in Statistics completed by the time of appointment. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to and record of teaching excellence and an active engagement in scholarship. An ability to work effectively in a liberal arts program with a diverse student body and faculty is desired.

Application Instructions

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, scholarship statement, statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching excellence (including student evaluations of teaching, if available), and undergraduate and graduate transcripts (unofficial acceptable) via Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/67701>. Three confidential letters of recommendation may be requested at a later date. Complete applications submitted by October 1, 2019 will receive full consideration.

One of Emory University's four schools partnering in undergraduate education, Oxford College provides 975 first- and second-year students of high academic profile an intensive liberal-arts program for the first two years of their Emory bachelor's degree. We are interested in candidates with a commitment to working with a remarkably diverse student body in an inclusive learning community that values excellence in teaching and close student-faculty interaction. Applications from women and historically underrepresented minorities are particularly welcome.

For more information about Oxford College and for a full listing of open positions, visit <http://oxford.emory.edu/hiring>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6154

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow - WEALTHPOL: The Politics of Wealth Inequality and Mobility in the 21st Century
Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Political Theory

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is looking for a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join a research team to work on an exciting new project directed by Professor Ben Ansell, the Project Investigator (PI), and supported by the European Research Council (ERC).

The project examines political causes and consequences of wealth inequality across the industrialised world. The project divides into three core work packages, which are to be accomplished over the life of the grant. The first two work packages are macro data collection exercises assembling cross-nationally and historically comparable surveys of wealth mobility outcomes and policies. The last work package focuses on the micro-foundations of attitudes towards wealth mobility using both laboratory and survey experiments.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all three projects though their own skillset and interests may fit more closely into particular areas. S/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project as well as to co-author work with the Principal Investigator, and pursue their own related research agenda.

The postholder's duties will include assisting in compiling a cross-national database of wealth inequality and mobility, and to aid in disseminating the results of this work including the construction of an online open-access database. They will also be expected to develop a policy database of inheritance, gift, capital gains and other wealth-related policies, dating back to 1945 across the industrialised world. In addition, they will assist with the tendering, design, implementation and analysis of survey experiments to be conducted across six European countries.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD (or near completion) in the field of political science, sociology, and economics. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of wealth and income inequality, with the ability to use statistical software at an advanced level, with skills in data collection, management and analysis. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

This is a full time appointment fixed term, for two years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Thursday, 9 October 2019. Interviews will take place on Monday, 21 October.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website, quoting reference 142651.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 6146

Christopher Newport University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Studies

Working Title

Assistant Professor of American Studies

Appointment Type

Full Time

Purpose of Position

The Department of Leadership and American Studies at Christopher Newport University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Studies, effective August 2020. Applicants must be committed to undergraduate education and demonstrate the potential for excellence in teaching and research with undergraduates. The successful candidate will have a research focus and expertise in the American constitutional tradition. Preference will be given to candidates whose research focuses on the origins of America and/or American constitutionalism, America's intellectual or economic history, comparative constitutionalism, public law in the United States, the judiciary, or contemporary constitutional issues. The successful candidate must be academically qualified and prepared to teach in the American Studies core as well as upper level courses in the candidate's expertise. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to become a fellow in CNU's Center for American Studies, an interdisciplinary center dedicated to teaching and scholarship on America's founding principles and history, economic foundations, and national security. The nominal teaching load for tenure track appointments is 3-3. The Ph.D. in American Studies or a related field is required for appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor. In some cases, exceptionally well-qualified candidates may be considered for appointment at a higher rank and ABD candidates who will not hold the Ph.D. by the time of appointment may be considered for appointment at the rank of Instructor. Phi Beta Kappa membership is highly desirable.

Departmental Information

The Department of Leadership and American Studies at Christopher Newport University is composed of 16 highly credentialed, full-time faculty who represent multidisciplinary expertise relevant to Leadership and American Studies. Our department offers a major in American Studies with tracks in constitutional studies, humanities, and social sciences; a minor in American Studies; and a minor in Leadership Studies. The Leadership Studies minor welcomes students from all disciplines and is an integral part of the President's Leadership Program, an educational experience that empowers students to recognize their leadership potential and develop personal and social responsibility for the betterment of self and society. Our department is also connected with the Center for American Studies, which promotes undergraduate and faculty scholarship on America's founding principles and history, economic foundations, and national security in order to uphold sensible notions of political, economic liberty, and civic responsibility. Beyond the classroom, combined the Department of Leadership and American Studies and the Center for American Studies sponsor and support student involvement in undergraduate research collaborations with faculty, national and international conferences, workshops, extracurricular programs, internships, community service, and study abroad.

Candidates wishing to know more about the program are invited to visit <http://cnu.edu/academics/departments/lams/>.

Faculty Information

CNU is committed to outstanding teaching and learning, undergraduate education, and the liberal studies core; the University is seeking to shelter a Phi Beta Kappa chapter. The Fall 2018 freshman class of 1,230 students was selected from 7,500 admission applications, and presented average high school GPA and SAT scores of 3.8 and 1220, respectively. Capital improvements (approaching $1 billion) on the beautiful, 260-acre campus, located between historic Colonial Williamsburg and the ocean resort of Virginia Beach, integrate the University's liberal arts vision, nurturing mind, body, and spirit. These include the state-of-the-art Tribble Library; three new academic buildings including a newly opened integrated science building; the Freeman Center athletic complex; and the I.M. Pei-designed Ferguson Center for the Arts, which brings to Virginia the finest performing artists in the world.

Our faculty enjoy an atmosphere of collegiality and mutual respect that rewards outstanding teaching and fosters active intellectual and creative engagement. CNU is committed to ensuring that all people are welcomed, honored and fully engaged in the life of our academic community. We recruit exceptional and diverse faculty and encourage applications from individuals who are underrepresented in their profession. Faculty are productive scholars and researchers, supported by professional development funds. Faculty and administrators regularly consult and collaborate as the University works to sustain a culture of scholarly inquiry, informed debate, and civic action that enriches students, faculty, and the surrounding community. The result is a supportive and cohesive academic setting in which the University cultivates and carries forward its mission. Competitive salary with excellent health and retirement benefits and a well-designed family leave policy further enhance the CNU workplace. For further information on CNU, please visit our website at <http://www.cnu.edu>.

Application Deadline

10/13/2019

Application Instructions

To apply, please provide a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts (photocopies acceptable for initial screening), statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation (letters should be uploaded with application materials or emailed to facultyrecruitment@cnu.edu).

Review of applications will begin on October 13, 2019. Applications received after October 13, 2019, will be accepted but considered only if needed.

Search finalists are required to complete a CNU sponsored background check.

Quick Link for Internal Postings

<http://jobs.cnu.edu/postings/8473>

EEO Statement

Christopher Newport University, an EO Employer, is fully Committed to Access and Opportunity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6121

NYU Shanghai

Rank: Political Science, Tenured/Tenure-track

NYU Shanghai seeks to recruit a mid-career or senior scholar in Comparative Politics with a focus on East Asia. We are particularly interested in candidates able to teach a range of introductory and advanced courses in comparative politics, especially Chinese politics.

Terms of employment at NYU Shanghai are comparable to U.S. institutions with respect to research start-up funds and compensation, and they include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend time at NYU New York and other sites of the NYU Global Network, engaging in both research and teaching.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, and electronic copies of up to five relevant publications.

Review of applications will begin on October 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Please visit our website at <http://shanghai.nyu.edu/en/about/work-here/open-positions-faculty> for instructions and other information on how to apply. Questions can be addressed to shanghai.faculty.recruitment@nyu.edu. Applications are received via Interfolio at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67600>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/4/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6122

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in quantitative political methodology to begin fall 2020. The successful candidate should have research interests in methods and is expected to meet departmental instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Priority will be given to candidates that can also contribute to teaching and research in other subfields of Political Science.

Applications should be submitted to the following: <https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Assistant-Professor/20688?>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6110

University of Michigan

Rank: Emerging Democracies Postdoctoral Fellow

Fellowship period: September 2020 - August 2022

Application deadline: January 15, 2020

The Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies (WCED) at the University of Michigan invites scholars who have received their Ph.D. since 2018 to apply for the WCED Postdoctoral Fellowship. This two-year fellowship supports multidisciplinary research on the broad historical, political, economic, and societal conditions under which democracy and autocracy either emerge and endure or falter and fail.

Up to two awards are available for the 2020-22 fellowship. WCED Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in occasional WCED workshops and events, and present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, while in full-time residence at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. A teaching opportunity may be possible during the second year of the fellowship, if desired.

We welcome applicants from all disciplines, though the majority of past applicants and Fellows have come from political science, sociology, and history. Fellows must have successfully defended and filed their dissertation before beginning the fellowship. Eligibility is restricted to those who have received their Ph.D. after January 1, 2018.

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $50,000 and up to $7,000 in research funds during the post-doctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning September 1, 2020 through August 31, 2022). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Candidates will be required to submit:

- A two-page research plan that outlines the research project and how the fellow will spend his/her time during the fellowship year.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter, conference paper, or journal article.
- Two letters of recommendation.

Fellowship applications must be received by January 15, 2020, 11:59 pm EST. Applicants will be notified in March 2020.

Application link available at <https://www.i.umich.edu/wced/postdoctoral-fellows.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: 1/15/2020

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5768

Arizona State University

Rank: Advanced Assistant or Associate Professor of Sociology or Anthropology

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, International Law & Organizations, Immigration Policy

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences in the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) is seeking a full-time, benefits-eligible, tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenure-eligible Associate Professor of Sociology or Anthropology whose research focuses on either: a) gender and migration in transnational context; and/or b) global human rights. The current position is part of the development of a global human rights hub at ASU and coincides with a concerted effort to build strength in and further support for Sociology within the School and across ASU. Preference will be given to candidates who can collaborate with existing Sociology, Anthropology and Political Science faculty and whose research interests focus on examining the fields of gender, migration, and/or human rights.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences is presently in a period of expansion and innovation around new initiatives and new programs. Since Fall 2017, the School has added ten new tenured / tenure-track faculty, including seven new faculty in Political Science, Sociology, and Anthropology. This academic year, the School has been approved to recruit five additional tenured / tenure-track faculty, including the current position.

Required Qualifications: The successful candidate must: a) have a doctoral degree in Sociology, Anthropology, or a related social science field by the time of appointment; b) a research agenda that is focused on either migration and gender in a transnational context, and/or global human rights; and c) demonstrate excellence in research commensurate with appointment at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor at ASU.

Desired Qualifications: a) Priority will be given to scholars currently at the advanced Assistant Professor or early Associate Professor level; b) Evidence of experience teaching in either migration and gender in a transnational context, and/or global human rights; c) Research interests that align with current faculty in either migration and gender in a transnational context, and/or global human rights; d) Evidence of the potential to establish a strong, externally-funded research program; e) Experience teaching and mentoring students to conduct research at either the graduate or undergraduate level; f) Experience in leadership of undergraduate or graduate programs; g) Demonstrate experience in promoting interdisciplinary collaborations in research; h) Experience contributing to curricular and program development; and, i) Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population, including first generation students.

More information about ASU's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences can be found at <https://newcollege.asu.edu/directory/sbs>; more information about ASU's New College of Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences can be found at <http://newcollege.asu.edu>.

ASU has a strong commitment to a racially diverse faculty; one that is reflective of contemporary America.

Deadline: October 7, 2019; if not filled, every two weeks thereafter until search is closed.

Application procedure: Applications will only be accepted electronically via Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/67250>

Requested material will include: 1) a letter of application, which explicitly addresses your academic experience, situates your research in the field and notes your teaching philosophy; 2) a current curriculum vitae with contact information; and 3) the names and contact information for three references (references will not be contacted during initial review and will only be contacted after candidate notification).

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions which includes a criminal background check, verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications. Employment is contingent upon successful passing of the background check.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/7/2019

Date Posted: 8/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6098

Haverford College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, Open

Haverford College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in its Peace, Justice, and Human Rights program to begin Fall semester 2020. The successful candidate must have a PhD at the time of appointment. The position is open to scholars at all pre-tenure levels with training in the humanities or social sciences whose work is interdisciplinary and focuses on questions of justice, human rights, and related fields. All specializations are welcome, but there is particular interest in scholars who can contribute to programs in Health Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, or Visual Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory course on peace, justice, and human rights and/or applied ethics, as well as offer more specialized courses in their area of expertise, and engage in inclusive pedagogy and mentoring of an increasingly diverse student body. Haverford College embraces the teacher-scholar model and supports faculty research through programs and funding opportunities.

Peace, Justice, and Human Rights (PJHR) is an interdisciplinary concentration attracting students from many different disciplines; it offers students the opportunity to study the history, philosophy, and critiques of the rights tradition, examine issues of justice in their local and international contexts, and apply humanistic, social scientific, theoretical, and ethical reasoning to real-world problems. The program's goal is to foster cross-disciplinary collaboration and new perspectives on entrenched problems. For more information, see <http://www.haverford.edu/pjhr/>

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio [<https://apply.interfolio.com/67577>]: a cover letter addressing qualifications for the position, curriculum vitae, a sample course syllabus or description of a class you'd like to teach in the PJHR program, a teaching statement (3-4 pages) that highlights pedagogical strategies and discusses how you approach diversity and inclusion in the classroom, a writing sample (up to 25 pages), and three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates are encouraged to seek letter writers who together can address your abilities and promise as a teacher, mentor, and scholar/researcher. New applications submitted after 11:59 pm on Friday, November 1 will not be considered.

Haverford College is a leading liberal arts college serving highly motivated students on a nationally recognized arboretum in suburban Haverford, just outside Philadelphia.

Questions about the application process should be directed to hc-pjhrsearch@haverford.edu. For technical questions, please contact Interfolio directly at 1-877-997-8807 or help@interfolio.com.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6083

Princeton University

Rank: The Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a possible opening in September 2020. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical issues arising from developments in medicine, the biological sciences, or population health. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

The Shapiro Fellow will spend from one to three years at Princeton conducting research and teaching the equivalent of one course each year (subject to sufficient enrollments and approval by the Dean of the Faculty). He or she will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and will be invited to participate in other activities of the University Center for Human Values including a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty.

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed all the requirements for the Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree by the start date, and should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by that date. An applicant may have a background in any area of ethical studies, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be related to the field of bioethics.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be taken into account.

Term of Appointment

The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate; the Shapiro Fellow will also carry the title of Lecturer, if teaching. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12363>.

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words). Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
3. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Thursday, December 5, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by Thursday, December 12, 2019. If a vacancy for this position is confirmed, the selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions will be announced in late April 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/5/2019

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6079

Coastal Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Intelligence and National Security Studies

The College of Humanities and Fine Arts at Coastal Carolina University invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Intelligence and National Security Studies beginning August 2020. This program, housed within the Department of Politics, seeks applicants with specializations related to intelligence communication and research, with particular interests in intelligence writing and briefing skills, open source intelligence collection, and intelligence-policymaker relations. Candidates engaging in scholarship that employs new research methods in intelligence and/or security studies would be of particular interest.

Candidates are required to have a Ph.D. in hand, or be a Ph.D. candidate with a projected dissertation completion date before the time of appointment.

Candidates in Political Science, Security Studies, or other relevant fields are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in the field, as well as support the continued growth and development of the Intelligence and National Security Studies program.

Coastal Carolina University is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from underrepresented groups to apply.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application that addresses the qualifications specified in this advertisement, a curriculum vitae, writing sample, copies of transcripts, statements about teaching and research, and contact information for three (3) professional references electronically at: <http://jobs.coastal.edu/postings/8140>. Review of application materials will begin October 1st. For additional information, please contact Dr. Rick Kilroy (rkilroy@coastal.edu, 843-349-6927) or Dr. Adam Chamberlain, Chair of the Department of Politics (achamber@coastal.edu, 843-349-6506).

Coastal Carolina University is a public comprehensive liberal arts institution located in Conway, South Carolina, just nine miles from the Atlantic coastal resort city of Myrtle Beach. Coastal Carolina University enrolls over 10,000 students from 45 states and 58 nations. The University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the baccalaureate and selective master's degrees of national and/or regional significance in the arts and sciences, business, humanities, education, and health and human services, a specialist degree in educational leadership, and Ph.D. degrees in Marine Science and Education.

Coastal Carolina University is an EO/AA employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6061

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Africana Studies-Political Science

Africana Studies-Political Science Associate Professor Position
The Departments of Africana Studies and Political Science at Rutgers University-New Brunswick seek to hire a nationally recognized scholar in the field of contemporary race relations at the Associate Professor level, to begin September 1, 2020. Candidates should have an outstanding and sustained record of research, teaching, and mentorship. Research and teaching interests should include the study of American political institutions such as Congress and or the presidency; political rhetoric; social movements; and African American politics. We particularly welcome candidates specializing in the diverse factors shifting the landscape for African American politics in recent decades. We encourage candidates who engage in public discourse of their research beyond formal academic circles, though this is not required. The successful candidate's tenure home will be in Africana Studies, with a partial appointment in Political Science, and with teaching and service responsibilities divided between the two Departments.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Africana Studies and Political Science Departments are strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and a list of three references to: <http://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/99091>. Review of applicants will begin on October 15th and continue until the job is filled.

Confidential letters of recommendation should be emailed directly by the referee to reference@aficana.rutgers.edu – the applicant's name should appear in the subject line.

All job offers are contingent upon successful pre-employment background screening prior to commencement of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6048

Bates College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

The Department of Politics at Bates College invites applications for a tenure-tracked position focusing on the politics of gender and development. The department is particularly interested in scholarship and teaching that intersect with Africana and African Diasporic Studies through a gender and development lens. Candidates who demonstrate success with marginalized and underrepresented students and lived experiences are encouraged to apply. Applicants should show a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching, to scholarly research, and to the implementation of inclusive pedagogies. The position would start on August 1, 2020. Candidates should have a Ph.D. completed, or nearly complete. We are open to and encourage a variety of methodological approaches and paths to scholarly excellence. Responsibilities include teaching five courses per year (usually two courses per semester and one course during a four-week "short term" in May) as well as academic advisement of majors and advisement of individual senior theses. The college and the department are committed to enhancing the diversity and inclusivity of the campus community and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to this goal and identify their strengths and experiences in this area are encouraged to apply. Consideration of applications will begin October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

QUALIFICATIONS

ABD will be considered, Ph.D., preferred.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Review of applications begins October 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit the following: (1) a letter of application, (2) curriculum vita, (3) pedagogy statement, (4) research statement, (5) statement on how attention to inclusion and equity informs your teaching and research, (6) writing sample, (7) graduate transcripts, and (8) three letters of recommendation.

Employment is contingent upon successful completion of a background check.

<http://apply.interfolio.com/66700>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5995

Harvard University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies
Academy Scholars Program, 2020-2021

The Academy Scholars Program identifies and supports outstanding scholars at the start of their careers whose work combines disciplinary excellence in the social sciences or law with a command of the language and history or culture of countries or regions outside of the United States or Canada. Their scholarship may elucidate domestic, comparative, or transnational issues, past or present.

The Academy Scholars are a select community of individuals with resourcefulness, initiative, curiosity, and originality, whose work in cultures or regions outside of the US or Canada shows promise as a foundation for exceptional careers in major universities or international institutions. Harvard Academy Scholarships are open only to recent PhD (or comparable professional school degree) recipients and doctoral candidates. Scholars applying by the October 1, 2019 deadline for the August 2020 postdoctoral fellowships must have completed the PhD or equivalent after September 30, 2016.

Academy Scholars are appointed for a two-year, in-residence, postdoctoral fellowship at The Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA. Academy Scholars receive substantial financial and research assistance to undertake sustained projects of research and/or acquire additional training in their chosen fields and areas. Some teaching is permitted but not required. The Senior Scholars, a distinguished group of Harvard University faculty members, act as mentors to the Academy Scholars to help them achieve their intellectual potential.

Postdoctoral Academy Scholars will receive an annual stipend of $70,000. If selected before earning the PhD, the Scholar will receive an annual stipend of $31,000 until awarded the PhD or equivalent degree. The online application for the postdoctoral fellowships beginning in August 2020 is due by October 1, 2019. Finalist interviews will take place in Cambridge on December 4, 2019. Notification of scholarships will be made in late December 2019.

For complete information on how to apply and for access to the online application, please visit: <https://academy.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

For questions, email: applicationinquiries@wcfia.harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 6001

The College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor Global Environmental Justice

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Open, Other

Description

The Departments of Environmental Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seek to fill a tenure track position in Global Environmental Justice at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2020. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in environmental politics and social justice with area studies expertise and a high proficiency in qualitative methodologies.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in environmental justice and social justice, broadly conceived. They would teach introductory and advanced courses in the Environmental Studies and Political Science departments, supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement, and participate in teaching the College's First Year Seminar. We seek to hire a scholar whose research and teaching addresses one or more dimensions of environmental justice, such as: the intersections of global climate change and class, ethnic, or racial inequalities; comparative environmental movements; forced displacement and migration due to environmental crisis; food or water insecurity; or environmental governance. In addition, we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching can connect with one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Africana Studies, Global & International Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, Urban Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Application Instructions

We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), a statement regarding how the applicant will contribute to the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66667>. Applications received by October 1, 2019, will receive full consideration. Please contact Matt Mariola (m-mariola@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Environmental Studies and Chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5991

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor – Methodology/Computational Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh seeks candidates for a tenure-stream position in Political Methodology and Computational Social Science at the level of Assistant Professor. We are seeking researchers that have expertise in applying machine learning approaches, broadly construed, to computationally intensive problems in social science. Researchers modeling social media or networks, those employing novel data (e.g., eye-tracking, MRI or GIS data), at scale, or applying creative measurement and visualization strategies to explore topics such as algorithmic biases would be particularly competitive for this position, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work complements and builds on departmental strengths. We encourage applications not only from candidates who have been trained in Political Science departments, but also interdisciplinary researchers whose interests intersect with political science topics. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching ability, the promise of attracting external funding for his/her research, and will have the opportunity to join the interdisciplinary MLHub initiative at Pitt.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020, and applicants should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science, Information Science, Computer Science, or a related field before the appointment begins. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjY3>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2019, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5998

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

Assistant Professor, Political Science, Human Security
University of Nevada, Reno - Main Campus

Job Description

The Political Science Department at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) invites applications for a tenure-track, full-time appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of human security. We seek a scholar researching large-scale political, environmental, economic and/or social problems, potentially crossing international boundaries. Specializations might include, but are not limited to, linkages between climate change and food security; regional or global health issues affecting human security; research on refugees, migration, the dispossessed or internally displaced people as a result of famine, drought, environmental deterioration, or conflict. The Political Science Department at UNR has a growing emphasis in the broad area of human security and a commitment to inclusion. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to develop their own courses and research agenda under this umbrella and be expected to teach at all levels of the curriculum (lower and upper division undergraduate, MA/PhD). This could at times include specific courses required for degree programs. The normal teaching load is 2/2. We welcome applicants from any empirical research methodological tradition, but expect a high-level of sophistication and rigor. The start-up package is competitive.

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand by August 15, 2020.
A developing or established research agenda in human security
A record of, or potential for, publishing in top-tier journals and presses in relevant fields
A rigorous, empirical research methodology.
Demonstrated excellence, or clear evidence of potential for excellence, in teaching

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of or potential for strong external grant activity
Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in research, teaching and/or service

Compensation Grade/Rank

II, Assistant Professor

Department Information

The UNR Department of Political Science is an energetic, collegial and exciting community of political scientists and public policy and public administration scholars with a deep commitment to excellence in research and teaching as well as to leadership in the Department, the University, and the diverse northern Nevada community. The Department is home to three graduate programs that confer MA, MPA and PhD degrees. It offers a BA in Political Science and coordinates the International Affairs major and minors in Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and Renewable Energy. Faculty are linked with a variety of College and University-wide initiatives, such as the Cybersecurity Center and the Gender, Race and Identity Program. Additional information about the Department can be found at: <https://www.unr.edu/political-science>. The University of Nevada, Reno is a Research 1 land-grant campus of the Nevada System of Higher Education with a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students. Nearly half of incoming students identify as being from an underrepresented group. In accordance with the university's land grant, tier one research institution mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many U.S. transportation hubs and to Mexico. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Program

Total Compensation

The total compensation package includes a negotiable competitive salary, moving allowance (if applicable), a rich retirement plan, health insurance options that include dental and vision, life insurance, long-term disability, along with many other benefits. Additionally, there is a grant-in-aid educational benefit for faculty and dependents. For more information, please visit: UNR Benefits

Contact Information for this position

Search Chair-William Eubank bille@unr.edu
Search co-Coordinator- Karen Braun kbraun@unr.edu
Search co-Coordinator-Tamela Gorden tgorden@unr.edu

To apply, please go to: https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Assistant-Professor--Political-Science--Human-Security\_R0117646. A complete application must include the following:

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita

- 2) Cover letter stating qualifications, experience, research plans and teaching experience
- 3) Three letters of recommendation
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) Two research-based writing samples

Please contact jobs@unr.edu, the day you apply, if assistance is needed with uploading documents.

Close Date or Open Until Filled
 Position is open until filled; first review of applications will begin Oct. 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5981

American Political Science Association
Rank: Director, Congressional Fellowship Program
Subfield(s): Non-Academic, Other, American Government and Politics

AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION (APSA)
 &lt;b>POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT&lt;/b>
 POSITION TITLE: Director, Congressional Fellowship Program
 SALARY: Commensurate with experience
 REQUIRED EDUCATION: Advanced degree in political science or related other social science discipline, Ph.D. preferred;
 REQUIRED EXPERIENCE: 3+ year relevant experience

&lt;b>POSITION DESCRIPTION&lt;/b>
 The Director leads the Congressional Fellowship Program, a highly selective, nonpartisan program for mid-career professionals that sends 30-40 individuals a year to serve placements on Capitol Hill. In addition, the Director will head up 1-2 ongoing or new initiatives based on the APSA strategic plan. This position is a unique opportunity to directly contribute to the continued success and development of a signature APSA program and play a leadership role within the association.

&lt;b>STATUS&lt;/b>
 Full-time, Exempt

&lt;b>SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES&lt;/b>
 1 Program Assistant/Associate

&lt;b>ESSENTIAL RESPONSIBILITIES&lt;/b>
 Congressional Fellowship Program

- Directs the 10-month program for 30-40 fellows, recruiting and arranging selection of fellows directly funded by APSA and liaising with outside sponsor organizations.
- Organizes yearly orientation and other programming for the fellows, and develops new programs and activities to support the program.
- Supports fellows in securing fellowship placements in the legislative or executive branches and liaises with government offices supporting fellows.
- Develops materials to publicize the program and represents the program to outside groups and sponsors.

- Organizes events and develops materials for the Congressional Fellowship Program alumni community.
- Reports to and liaises with the APSA Congressional Fellowship Program Advisory Committee and APSA Council on various aspects of the program, and organizes the annual Advisory Committee meeting.
- Collaborates with the APSA Finance and Development teams to oversee the fellowship endowment, operating costs, and budget of the program, and to raise external funding for the program.

Other
 With input from the Executive Director and Deputy Director, leads 1-2 new or ongoing initiatives in support of the APSA strategic plan (2020-2022).

&lt;b>ESSENTIAL SKILLS & EXPERIENCE&lt;/b>

- Advanced degree in political science or related other social science discipline, Ph.D. preferred;
- Experience working on Capitol Hill or liaising with members of Congress and their staff;
- Familiarity with current events and issues facing higher education, the social sciences, and the discipline of political science;
- Strong analytical and public speaking skills and ability to write clearly and concisely;
- Excellent organizational skills with high attention to detail and adherence to deadlines;
- Adaptability and ability to work in a fast-paced team environment;
- Superb collaboration skills to work with colleagues across departments at APSA to meet shared goals;
- Sound judgment and initiative related to appropriate and independent action and problem-solving;
- Ability to maintain confidentiality while working on sensitive tasks; and,
- Experience with academic program administration and administrative responsibilities.

&lt;b>ABOUT APSA&lt;/b>
 The APSA is a 501(c) 3 nonprofit educational association that serves a membership base of 13,000 in over 80 countries. With a range of programs and services for individuals, departments and institutions, APSA brings together political scientists from all fields of inquiry, regions and occupational endeavors within and outside academe in order to expand awareness and understanding of politics. To learn more about APSA, please visit www.apsanet.org. APSA offers a comprehensive compensation and benefits package. APSA has a Metro-accessible location in DuPont Circle in Washington, DC, with a full-time staff of 29. APSA is an equal opportunity employer committed to workplace diversity and welcomes applications from anyone with the qualifications indicated above.

&lt;b>HOW TO APPLY&lt;/b>
 To be considered, submit a c.v. and cover letter indicating how your experience and skills align with the description and the essential skills required of the position, by email to APSA at <mailto:hr@apsanet.org>. Please write '&lt;b>Director, Congressional Fellowship Program&lt;/b>' in the subject line. Consideration will begin as soon as resumes are received, and the position will remain open until filled.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5973

Rutgers University, New Brunswick
Rank: Feminist Theory

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University New Brunswick seeks applicants for a tenure track Assistant Professor in political theory/feminist theory who can contribute to the department's unique Women and Politics subfield. We are open to all feminist theory candidates including those with interests in intersectionality, critical race theory, and/or queer theory. Strong familiarity with interdisciplinary feminist scholarship is preferred. This position begins September 1, 2020. Candidate must be able to teach standard undergraduate survey courses in political theory as well as advanced graduate seminars in feminist theory. PhD required in Political Science or related field.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and a list of three references to: <http://jobs.rutgers.edu/postings/98192>. Review of applicants will begin on September 26 and continue until the job is filled.

Confidential letters of recommendation should be emailed directly by the referee to references@polisci.rutgers.edu – the applicant's name should appear in the subject line.

All job offers are contingent upon successful pre-employment background screening prior to commencement of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/13/2019
Salary: $90,000 - $99,999
eJobs ID: 5977

Cornell University
Rank: HIST/GOVT Endowed Chair
Specializations: History & Politics, China, Southeast Asia

Cornell University's College of Arts and Sciences and the History Department, in collaboration with the Department of Government, welcomes applications for an endowed chair. Appointment could be at the full professor or associate professor level. The successful candidate may teach courses and potentially serve in a leadership capacity with Cornell's CAPS program (<https://caps.cornell.edu/>). The position will begin July 1, 2020.

We seek a senior scholar (Associate or Full Professor) whose scholarship focuses on China and the Asia Pacific region in the world. Candidates should exhibit superb research achievements, excellence in teaching, and leadership ability. Preference is for a scholar who brings a historical perspective to their research and has Mandarin language skills. Please apply through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/12996>.

We will begin to review applications starting October 1, 2019. Questions about the position and the search can be sent to the chair of the committee, Professor Derek Chang, at dsc37@cornell.edu. We embrace diversity and seek candidates who will create a climate that attracts students and faculty of all races, nationalities and genders. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply. Cornell University is a recognized EEO/AA employer and educator, valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/9/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5956

University of Notre Dame
Rank: Tenured Faculty Position in Constitutional Studies

The Department of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for an full-time tenured position in Constitutional Studies. The department seeks applications from promising and distinguished scholars with a research focus in American constitutionalism, which includes but is not limited to public law, the history and philosophy of American democracy, and American constitutional development.

The successful candidate will be a member of and offer graduate-level courses in the Department's Ph.D. subfield in Constitutional Studies and core classes in the University's undergraduate minor in Constitutional Studies, such as: "American Constitutionalism," "Constitutional Government & Public Policy," and "The History and Philosophy of Constitutional Government."

The successful candidate will also contribute to Notre Dame's thriving Program in Constitutional Studies, a center of research and teaching devoted to the production of distinguished scholarship and the cultivation of knowledgeable and civically-minded citizens. The Program directs the University's growing 100+ student minor in Constitutional Studies and sponsors many lectures, seminars, and colloquia each academic year.

Apply by October 1, 2019 at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66708>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/9/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5954

Stanford University
Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other
Specializations: South Asia, Middle East, Religion & Politics

Assistant-Level Faculty Position in the Social Sciences with a focus on Muslim Societies

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position focused on the culture, economics or politics of Muslim societies. We especially welcome applications from scholars who are studying Muslim societies in Iran and Central Asia, as well as South, Southeast and East Asia.

The successful applicant for this position will be appointed in one of the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, Communication, Economics, Political Science, or Sociology. The successful applicant will have teaching and advising responsibilities in their home department and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies' curricular and outreach efforts.

Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae including list of publications, and one recent writing sample. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 25, 2019. Please use the following link to apply: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14164>

For Anthropology applicants only: Anthropology will contact candidates at a later date to request that three confidential letters of recommendation be submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5941

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Positions in Environmental Policy

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for one or more new tenure-track or tenured positions focused on environmental policy in an international context.

Applications are invited from scholars engaged in rigorous social science research, public policy, or related environmental science work. Applicants must have an interest in, and preferably a demonstrated record of, contributing to multi-disciplinary, collaborative, and policy-oriented programs. Successful candidates will hold a PhD in an appropriate discipline or in public policy, and should be comfortable working with both policy and climate/environmental science communities.

While priority will be given to early career candidates, senior applicants will also be considered. Applicants attracted to a university with a Catholic identity, and minority and female applicants, are especially encouraged to apply.

Successful candidates will be appointed through the Keough School of Global Affairs, but may have concurrent affiliations with other academic departments (e.g. in the social sciences) and relevant centers and institutes at Notre Dame (including the Environmental Change Initiative, the Eck Institute for Global Health, and ND Energy). Oriented toward research, teaching, and service dedicated to the advancement of human development, the Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu/>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a professional master's degree and undergraduate degrees, and supports doctoral programs.

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest and a C.V. Junior candidates should also arrange for the submission of three letters of reference, a statement of research, and a teaching statement which includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available.

All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66421>.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Ted Beatty

Chair, Environmental Policy Search Committee

Keough School of Global Affairs

University of Notre Dame

ebeatty@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. The position will close to new applications on November 1, 2019.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5927

University of Kentucky

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration at the University of Kentucky is seeking a faculty member at any rank beginning in August 2020. We seek outstanding scholars with a degree in Economics, Political Science, Public Policy, or Sociology who can contribute to our Ph.D., professional master's degrees, or our new undergraduate degree. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in a substantive policy such as health, environmental, or social policy.

The Martin School is consistently ranked as one of the top 25 public policy schools and is a University Center of Excellence with a multidisciplinary faculty offering five degrees: Master of Public Administration, Master of Public Policy, Master of Public Financial Management, Ph.D. in Public Policy and Administration, or our undergraduate public policy degree.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Review of applications will begin immediately. All interested applicants should send an online application at <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/236741>. Please include a letter of application and a curriculum vitae.

Inquiries are encouraged and should be submitted Dr. Ron Zimmer, search committee chair, at ron.zimmer@uky.edu. Interviews will be held at the APPAM meetings. For more information about the Martin School, please visit <http://www.martin.uky.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5920

University of Kentucky

Rank: Faculty Position, Public and Nonprofit Management
Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration at the University of Kentucky seeks applications for a position in public management beginning as early as spring, 2020 and no later than fall, 2020. The position will carry tenure at the rank of associate or professor. Ideal candidates will apply public management scholarship to a substantive area such as environmental, health, social policy, or nonprofit management. We seek outstanding scholars who can contribute to our Ph.D. program, our professional master's degree programs, and/or a new undergraduate degree in public policy.

The Martin School is consistently ranked as one of the top 25 public policy schools and is a University Center of Excellence with a multidisciplinary faculty.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled with review of applications beginning September 3, 2019. Interested applicants should submit a UK Online Application at <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/236750> Please include a CV, letter of interest, and contact information for three references along with application.

Inquiries should be submitted to Eugenia F. Toma, search committee chair, at Eugenia.toma@uky.edu. For more information about the Martin School, please visit <http://www.martin.uky.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/6/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5921

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Assistant Professor in Korean Studies

The Keough School of Global Affairs at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a tenure track (assistant level) faculty position in Korean Studies. The position will begin in Fall 2020; Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at the time of hire. The appointment will be based at the Keough School of Global Affairs, with a possible concurrent appointment in a disciplinary department.

The Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a professional master's degree and an undergraduate supplementary major, and supports doctoral programs. The successful applicant will work closely with the Liu Institute for Asia and Asian Studies, one of the constituent institutes of the Keough School, in furthering the integration of Asia-related expertise into the activities of the School, and promoting Asia-focused pathways within the curriculum of the Keough School.

Applicants for this position are expected to have a clear regional specialization pertaining to Korea (North, South, or both) as well as the ability to use Korean-language material in both teaching and research. Interaction with Notre Dame's thriving Korean Language program, housed in the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures, will also be expected.

Applicants should have a disciplinary specialization in the social sciences, with preference for anthropology, international relations, peace studies, political science, or sociology.

Application Instructions

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest, a C.V., a statement of research, and a teaching statement that includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available. Applicants should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference.

Application materials should be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66205>

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Prof. Michel Hockx
 Director, Liu Institute for Asia and Asian Studies
 Chair, Korean Studies Search Committee
 Keough School of Global Affairs
 University of Notre Dame
mhockx@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. The position will close to new applications on October 15, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/6/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5918

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Junior Faculty Position in Constitutional Studies

The Department of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position in Constitutional Studies. The department seeks applications from promising and distinguished scholars with a research focus in American constitutionalism, which includes but is not limited to public law, the history and philosophy of American democracy, and American constitutional development.

The successful candidate will be a member of and offer graduate-level courses in the Department's Ph.D. subfield in Constitutional Studies and core classes in the University's undergraduate minor in Constitutional Studies, such as: "American Constitutionalism," "Constitutional Government & Public Policy," and "The History and Philosophy of Constitutional Government."

The successful candidate will also contribute to Notre Dame's thriving Program in Constitutional Studies, a center of research and teaching devoted to the production of distinguished scholarship and the cultivation of knowledgeable and civically-minded citizens. The Program directs the University's growing 100+ student minor in Constitutional Studies and sponsors many lectures, seminars, and colloquia each academic year.

Apply by October 1, 2019 at <https://apply.interfolio.com/66463>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5916

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Comparative Politics/Comparative Political Economy

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics and Comparative Political Economy.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/53011>

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/6/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5904

Sabancı University

Rank: FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION
SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University (<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding scholars specialized in conflict resolution/transformation. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research concerns one or more of the following areas: peace psychology; scientific study of peace and conflict; dynamics of cooperation; approaches to peacemaking (negotiation, mediation, facilitation); theories of applied conflict resolution; processes and mechanisms for solving and transforming conflicts.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5914

Sabancı University

Rank: FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION
SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University (<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding scholars specialized in conflict resolution/transformation practices. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research and teaching focus on conflict resolution skills, such as listening, reframing, negotiation and mediation.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academicv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5915

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellows - QSS

The Program in Quantitative Social Science (QSS) at Dartmouth College is pleased to announce that it is searching for postdoctoral fellows for the 2020-21 academic year. QSS is an interdisciplinary program that integrates modern statistical, computational, and mathematical tools with social science questions. Each fellow should be highly motivated, collegial, and able to work independently on a research agenda that is grounded in quantitative social science. Fellows should be interested in working with existing QSS faculty who have expertise in a diverse range of social science disciplines on campus (for more, see <https://qss.dartmouth.edu/people>).

During the 2020-21 academic year, QSS fellows will participate in the intellectual life of the program by interacting with each other, with QSS faculty, and with undergraduate students pursuing a minor or major in QSS. Fellows will also attend seminars and workshops and are expected to present their own research on a regular basis. There are many postdoctoral fellows at Dartmouth College, and QSS fellows will be part of a large community on campus. Postdoctoral fellows are guaranteed one year of funding with opportunities to extend funding for an additional year.

The annual stipend for each QSS fellow is $50,000, and in addition each fellow receives a one-time $5,000 account for equipment, travel, and research materials. Dartmouth College operates on the quarter system, and fellows teach one course per year, the subject of which will be negotiated with the QSS chair. Fellows will be compensated for courses taught, and teaching supplements will be negotiated with the Associate Dean.

Requirements:

1. Ph.D. in any social science or related discipline, expected or granted by September, 2020.
2. Substantive interest in any social science field, with preference given to candidates who demonstrate substantial overlap and interest working with QSS faculty and affiliates or other Dartmouth faculty.

3. Research interests that strongly intersect statistical, computational, or mathematical methods
4. A proven ability to work both independently and collaboratively
5. A demonstrated interest in interdisciplinary research

Application Materials:

- 1) A cover letter that is no longer than two pages
- 2) Curriculum vitae that includes all publications
- 3) Statement of research interests (two pages or fewer) that includes a short description of the research the applicant would like to pursue while in residence at Dartmouth
- 4) Names of Dartmouth faculty of interest to the applicant
- 5) Three letters of reference
- 6) A published or unpublished journal-length manuscript written in English

Applications will be reviewed starting on October 25, 2019. Interested individuals can apply at the following URL: <http://apply.interfolio.com/65324>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5875

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the 2020-2021 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 – July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12561>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5845

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2020-2021 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12564>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5844

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in the Study of Democracy

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in the study of democracy in any region of the world, including policies and practices related to democratization and regime change. Scholars from a variety of disciplines who are engaged in rigorous social science research will be considered. Applicants should have an interest in contributing to a multi-disciplinary and policy-oriented school. Applicants attracted to a university with a Catholic identity, and minority and female applicants, are especially encouraged to apply. While priority will be given to consideration of junior candidates (ABD, postdoc, assistant professors or non-tenured associate professors), senior applicants may also be considered. A Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree is required at the time of hire.

The successful hire will be based in the Keough School of Global Affairs, and affiliated with the Kellogg Institute for International Studies. Oriented toward research, teaching, and service dedicated to the advancement of integral human development, the Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu/>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a professional master's degree and undergraduate degrees, and supports doctoral programs. The Kellogg Institute for International Studies (<http://kellogg.nd.edu/>) has for over 35 years been a leading center for interdisciplinary research and programming on issues of democracy and human development.

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest and a C.V. Junior candidates (ABD, postdoc, assistant or non-tenured associate professors) should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference, a statement of research, a writing sample, and a teaching statement which includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available.

All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/65959>

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:
Prof. Paolo Carozza
Chair, Democracy Search Committee
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
pcaozza@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. The position will close to new applications on January 15, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 7/29/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5862

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania is conducting a search for a tenure-track assistant professor in the area of conflict studies, broadly defined. We seek an outstanding scholar and teacher who takes a rigorous theoretical and empirical approach to the study of conflict including, but not limited to, the study of inter-state and intra-state war and the study of any form of political or inter-group violence (ethnic, religious, racial, sexual). The search is open with regard to methodological orientation and field concentration. Candidates working in International Relations, Comparative Politics, or any other sub-field specialization in political science and adjacent disciplines are invited to apply.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. A Ph.D. or equivalent degree is required at the start of the appointment. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, writing sample, and teaching statement, should be uploaded to apply.interfolio.com/64682.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The Department of Political Science is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to creating a more diverse faculty (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>). The University of Pennsylvania is an EOE. Minorities/Women/Individuals with disabilities/Protected Veterans are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/24/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5842

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Computational Social Science

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering and the College of Arts and Letters at the University of Notre Dame invites applications for an open rank faculty position in Computational Social Science. Candidates should possess an earned Ph.D. in computer science or in a social science field that makes extensive use of computational methods in research. Home departments include Computer Science and Engineering, Sociology, Political Science, or other units in College of Arts and Letters with the opportunity for cross appointments with other colleges and departments. Applications at the ranks of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor will be considered; exceptional candidates may be considered for appointment to a chaired professorship.

Notre Dame is supporting interdisciplinary efforts that integrate computer and data science with a variety of scholarly disciplines, including the social sciences, humanities, and creative arts. University-wide undergraduate minors in Computers and Digital Technologies and Data Science provide integrative opportunities across disciplines. This hire is intended to grow and, where appropriate, provide leadership and strategic direction to interdisciplinary research as well as foster growth in undergraduate opportunities.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and contact information for three professional references to <http://apply.interfolio.com/65475>. At later stages of the process we may request a writing sample. Review of applications will begin on October 15th, 2019 and remain open until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Professor Tim Weninger (tweninger@nd.edu).

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/19/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5802

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/3/2020

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5683

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies is launching an open call for applications for next year's visiting short-term fellowships. We are looking for top scholars in their field. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Appointments can be from 15 days to one-month during the 2020-2021 academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021). The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines stipend on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of seniority and current institutional affiliation.

Visiting Fellows will be expected to devote themselves to research and to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed below must be received by October 18, 2019. All candidates must apply online to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12122>.

- 1) Cover letter (in English) indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay, 15 days to one-month during the academic year (September 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021), title of the proposed research project, and an explanation for reasons to be here at Princeton (i.e., use the library, look at particular archives, work with members of the faculty, etc.);
- 2) Curriculum vitae (in English);
- 3) A statement (in English) describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (1,500 – 2,000 words);
- 4) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5682

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking top scholars in their fields who have teaching experience and will provide Princeton students with a unique opportunity to study topics that are not regularly offered at the University. Applications will be accepted from outstanding scholars in the humanities and social sciences, as well as from established writers, artists, filmmakers, or architects working on projects relating to Latin America who are stellar teachers.

Visiting Research Scholars will be expected to teach one undergraduate course per semester, conditional upon sufficient enrollments and approval of a Princeton department and the Dean of the Faculty, and to participate in PLAS-related events on campus.

Appointments are for one or two semesters, during the 2020-2021 academic year (fall semester: September 1, 2020 - January 31, 2021; spring semester: February 1- June 30, 2021). A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered. The Office of the Dean of the Faculty determines salary on the basis of current academic rank and award duration; appointment rank at Princeton is determined on the basis of experience and current institutional affiliation.

How to Apply:

For full consideration, all the materials listed must be received by October 18, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. All candidates must submit materials (in English) and apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12121>.

- 1) Cover letter indicating the applicant's proposed length of stay (1-2 semesters), title of the proposed research project, and teaching interests;
- 2) Curriculum vitae;
- 3) One undergraduate seminar proposal or syllabus for each proposed semester of the fellowship, including a statement of how this course(s) would enhance undergraduate education at Princeton;

- 4) A statement describing the research project and its scholarly contribution (2,000 – 3,000 words);
 5) The names and contact information of two referees (the Program will contact them, if needed, later).

Required Qualifications: Advanced degree preferred.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5681

Princeton University

Rank: Lecturer in Contemporary Middle Eastern Politics

***REVISED APPLICATION DEADLINE**

***REVISED APPLICATION DEADLINE**

The Politics Department at Princeton University seeks well-qualified applicants for a part-time lecturer position that will involve teaching an undergraduate seminar in the area of Contemporary Middle Eastern politics in Spring 2020. Responsibilities will also include holding weekly office hours and grading coursework. Position duty time will be based on student enrollments and departmental need.

Advanced degree required; Ph.D. and teaching experience preferred.

Please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching interest, and contact information for three references. Due to the volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No letters of recommendation will be required at the time of application. For fullest consideration, please apply by November 15, 2019.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Requisition number: D-19-POL-00008

Start Date: Spring 2020

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5714

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Arizona State University (ASU - Tempe) seeks applications for a one-year postdoctoral research scholar in Political Economy, located in the Center for the Study of Economic Liberty (CSEL) and the School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS). This position has an anticipated Fall 2019 start date. This is a full-time, benefits eligible, academic year appointment, and has the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The ideal candidate will develop his or her own research, in addition to contributing to ongoing research of faculty mentor(s) within CSEL and SPGS. The postdoc will also have opportunities to teach in SPGS. Possible research topics include: The political economy of development and democratization; Urbanization and migration; Electoral protest and violence; Civil conflict and repression. Strong writing skills, an ongoing independent research agenda and a record of presenting at national and international conferences are strongly desired. The ideal candidate will also have skills in advanced quantitative research methods and causal inference. We anticipate that the postdoc will be an active participant in workshops, conferences and events at CSEL and SPGS

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

Must possess a Ph.D. by time of appointment in Political Science; Economics; Public Policy; Applied Economics; or Development Economics.

Desired Qualifications:

Strong writing skills; Presentations skills developed at conferences; Skills in advanced quantitative research methods and casual inference; and possession of an independent research agenda.

Application Instructions

Center for the Study of Economic Liberty: The Center for the Study of Economic Liberty is creating research programs that evaluate the contribution of economic liberty to human betterment. The Center's programs help to advance the academic and public reputation of the W.P. Carey School of Business, in which it was founded several years ago, and the newly-founded School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with which it is affiliated. For more information about the Center, please see <https://csel.asu.edu>.

The School of Politics and Global Studies: The School of Politics and Global Studies is an interdisciplinary School with a mission to create and disseminate knowledge contributing to society's understanding of how politics and governance shape and influence issues and contexts at local, national and global levels. The faculty are organized into working groups, including a new working group in Political Economy. For more information on the School, please see <https://spgs.asu.edu/>.

The School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership. The School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership aims to create a new kind of leader, blending tradition and innovation, and exploring questions of freedom and governance. For more information about the School, please see <http://sctel.asu.edu>.

W. P. Carey School of Business. The W. P. Carey School of Business at Arizona State University is a comprehensive school of business offering nationally and internationally respected undergraduate, masters, and doctoral programs. The Undergraduate Program, which houses one of the country's few stand-alone business honors programs, is ranked in the top 30 and includes six majors ranked among the top 20 within their fields according to U.S. News & World Report. The W. P. Carey MBA is ranked in the top 30 by U.S. News & World Report. With over 250 tenure-track faculty, the W. P. Carey School is a research leader that maintains vibrant collaborative relationships with business worldwide. For more information on the School, please see <https://wpcarey.asu.edu/>.

Application Deadline and Procedure: The initial application deadline is June 6, 2019; if not filled, applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until search is closed. To apply, submit 1) curriculum vitae, and 2) cover letters of interest addressed to Dr. Ross Emmett, Director and Search Committee Chair, via <http://apply.interfolio.com/63598> The letter should explain qualifications and accomplishments and future plans in research and teaching. A background check is required prior to employment.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/18/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 5696

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow
Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase “cPASS Postdoc Fellow” in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/25/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5470

POLITICAL THEORY

Wheaton College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Wheaton College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment that would begin in Fall 2020 at the rank of assistant professor. We seek applicants whose primary training is in political theory and can teach a wide range of theory courses as well as contribute to the College’s interdisciplinary general education Core curriculum. Ph.D. is expected and teaching experience is preferred.

For more information on the position, please contact Dr. Bryan McGraw, Search Committee Chair, Department of Politics & International Relations (bryan.mcgraw@wheaton.edu). To apply, please upload an introductory letter describing teaching experience, scholarly interests, and commitment to the Christian faith to <https://t.ly/JVjEm>. Promising candidates will receive full application materials.

Review of completed applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/15/2019
Date Posted: 9/27/2019
Salary: Any
eJobs ID: 7243

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Open

Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships
 The University Center for Human Values at Princeton University invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2020-21. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines provided their research plans qualify. In recent years fellows have been drawn from fields including philosophy, political theory, literature, history, classics, economics and law, but this list is not meant to be exhaustive. Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton and to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period is anticipated to begin on September 1 and run for the academic year. Fellows normally receive stipends of up to one-half their academic-year salaries (subject to a minimum and maximum set each fall). Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Stipends for independent scholars will not exceed the maximum for fellows holding appointments elsewhere.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

- The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> for more information);
- The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;
- The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12522>.

The following materials will be required:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) written in the past three years;
3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 4, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by end of business day on Monday, November 11, 2019. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced in late March 2020.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/4/2019

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6232

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Professorship for Distinguished Teaching

Call for Applications

Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Professorship for Distinguished Teaching

Spring 2021: Political Theory

The University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Professorship for Distinguished Teaching. We aim to make an appointment for the Spring 2021 term.

This visiting professorship was established as part of Princeton's 250th Anniversary teaching initiatives, enabling the University Center to bring to campus excellent undergraduate teachers and scholars whose teaching and research explicitly examine values in public and private life. Candidates in all fields are eligible but special consideration for Spring 2021 applications will be given to scholars who have a demonstrated expertise in teaching political theory. This is a one-semester position (half of a nine-month faculty position) and brings a commensurate proportion of a full year salary.

Since the successful candidate must demonstrate an established record of teaching excellence, applicants should normally hold a tenured position in their home institution. Candidates who have received teaching awards will be given especially serious consideration, but receipt of such awards is not a necessary condition for selection if there is other evidence of outstanding teaching. The professorship is not intended for early-career faculty and we do not generally consider nominees who have taught for fewer than five years. We are keen to consider candidates who have been innovative in the classroom through their use of technology, although again this is not a necessary condition for selection. Princeton is especially interested in qualified nominees who can contribute through their research and teaching to the diversity and excellence of our academic community.

Visiting professors normally teach one undergraduate course, organize at least one event focused on pedagogy, and participate in seminars, colloquia, and other activities of the University Center for Human Values. They also enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

The appointment committee will consider applicants on the basis of:

- The quality of their teaching and relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values;
- The quality of their previous and proposed research and their ability to benefit from and contribute to the activities of the University Center for Human Values;
- The contribution they are likely to make to higher education in the future through teaching and writing about ethics and human values.

Applications

Interested applicants should apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12902>. The following materials will be required. The application deadline is Friday, October 18, 2019:

1. A cover letter describing the applicant's interest in affiliation with the University Center;
2. A curriculum vitae;
3. A statement of the applicant's teaching record in the last five-to-ten years listing courses offered and describing the evidence of distinguished teaching (e.g., teaching awards received and/or a summary of institutional teaching assessments);
4. A scholarly paper or book chapter accepted for publication within the last five years, ideally not exceeding 12,000 words (not including bibliography);
5. A brief prospectus of research to be undertaken at Princeton;
6. The names and contact information of three referees, at least one of whom should be able to comment knowledgeably on the applicant's teaching record (in the event that their views are sought, referees will be contacted by the search committee).

The selection committee may request further information, such as institutional documentation of the teaching record, at a later stage.

We anticipate concluding the selection process by April 2020.

For more information about the University Center for Human Values, please visit our web site: uchv.princeton.edu

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified candidates will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Professors for Distinguished Teaching (AY2001-AY2020)

2000-2001
Melissa S. Williams, University of Toronto

2001-2002
J. Donald Moon, Wesleyan University

2002-2003
J. B. Schneewind, Johns Hopkins University

2003-2004
James Tatum, Dartmouth College

2004-2005
Dale Jamieson, New York University

2005-2006
Walter Sinnott-Armstrong, Dartmouth College

2006-2007
Jonathan Haidt, University of Virginia

2007-2008
Don Marquis, University of Kansas

2008-2009
Lawrie Balfour, University of Virginia

2009-2010
Fania Oz-Salzberger, Haifa University and Monash University

2010-2011
John Seery, Pomona College

2011-2012
Larry Temkin, Rutgers University

2012-2013
Peter Brooks, Princeton University

2013-2014
Quentin Skinner, Queen Mary, University of London

2014-2015
Dan Edelstein, Stanford University

2015-2016
Geoffrey Sayre-McCord, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill

2016-2017
Susan Brison, Dartmouth College

2017-2018
John A. Hall, McGill University

Spring 2018
Lori Gruen, Wesleyan University

2018-19
Adam Potkay, College of William & Mary

Spring 2019
Benjamin Berger, Swarthmore College

Spring 2020
Stephen Stich, Rutgers University

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 10/18/2019
Date Posted: 9/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6231

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Assistant/Associate Political Scientist - Russia/Eastern Europe

Assistant/Associate Political Scientist - Russia/Eastern Europe

Description

The Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies (DSES) in collaboration with the Center for Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies (CREEES) at The University of Texas at Austin invites applications for the position of tenure-track assistant or tenured associate professor of Political Science, with an anticipated start in the fall semester of 2020. We seek applications from scholars with expertise on Russia and preferably at least one other East European state, who conduct research in the requisite languages. Scholarship must focus on the Russian circulation/weaponization of (dis)information in Eastern Europe, and ideally, the larger global context. We prefer candidates whose interests span and connect quantitative and qualitative approaches, and are informed by interdisciplinary methods. We seek also candidates who are policy oriented, and who can speak to the larger national and international policy implications of their research. The selected candidate will be housed in the interdisciplinary Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies with a courtesy appointment in Government. They will be expected to exhibit a commitment to service in the DSES, CREEES, the college, and university, and be qualified to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, as well as direct graduate and undergraduate student independent research.

Salary is based upon qualifications and experience.

The successful candidate for this position will be joining the UT Austin faculty as part of the Cluster and Interdisciplinary Hiring Initiative. This initiative is designed to supplement departmentally-based hiring practices and norms and extend collaborative research and scholarship. This new initiative is authorizing up to 40 new faculty hires whose interdisciplinary areas of knowledge cross the boundaries of existing academic departments. The selected candidate will be expected to actively participate as a core member of The Global Internet, Media and (Dis)Information Cluster. Contributions to the cluster will be an important facet of the faculty member's annual performance evaluations and consideration for promotion/tenure.

The University of Texas at Austin is an AA/EEO employer, and requires all expected hires to undergo a criminal background check.

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions. The University embraces and promotes diversity in its work environments.

The position is subject to final budgetary approval.

Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science is required.

Application Instructions:

Applicants should submit a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three letters of reference, and a scholarly writing sample of approximately 30 pages to Professor Mary Neuburger, Chair, Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies, via Interfolio at <https://apptrkr.com/1631613>. If you do not have a Dossier account with Interfolio, you will be prompted to create one prior to applying for the position, assistance available from Interfolio's Customer Support - help@interfolio.com or call (877) 997-8807.

Deadline for applications is October 30, 2019 and finalists will be interviewed via Skype in November or December.

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/30/2019

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6234

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate 2020-2022

The Political Theory Project (PTP) at Brown University will be appointing up to two Postdoctoral Fellows. Post-doctorates must have received their PhD's within the past three years. Salary is competitive.

Appointments are for two years. Postdoctoral fellows will pursue their own research, participate in PTP working groups, and teach one seminar course per year. In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by November 22, 2019 will be assured of full consideration.

Qualifications

PhD must have been received by July 2020 or within the previous three years.

Application Instructions

In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and a writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by November 22, 2020 will be assured of full consideration.

Apply.interfolio.com/67925

Start Date: Summer 2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6223

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor: Global Urban Inequalities

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor: Global Urban Inequalities

Department of City and Regional Planning

College of Environmental Design

University of California, Berkeley

The Department of City and Regional Planning (DCRP), together with the Global Metropolitan Studies program (GMS) at the University of California, Berkeley, seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Global Urban Inequalities at the rank of Assistant Professor with an expected start date of July 1, 2020. Candidates must have the vision and drive to chart new intellectual territory, be committed to developing new initiatives and multidisciplinary collaborations, attract externally-funded research, and demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence. Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Berkeley and the Department of City and Regional Planning. Successful candidates for our faculty position will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity and inclusion. For more information about DCRP, see <http://dcrp.ced.berkeley.edu>.

Segregation, inequality, poverty, and the lack of adequate shelter and basic infrastructural services are enormous challenges confronting urban planners everywhere. In the Global South, these challenges acquire particular characteristics, as many cities are built by poor residents in significant ways and planning typically acts after the fact, re-urbanizing or upgrading what has been improvised before. DCRP and GMS seek a scholar whose research addresses these challenges in an international context. The ideal candidate would bridge theory, research and praxis to reveal the complexities of urbanization and development issues related to global poverty and inequality, the intensification of urban land and resource use, socio-environmental challenges, political economy, or the changing face of socio-political movements. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work focuses on the transformation of cities in the Global South, who examine the social forces, institutions, and power relations that mediate or exacerbate urban inequalities, and whose critical research supports more democratic, socially just, and sustainable forms of urbanization.

The research focus of this scholar could span any number of areas, including: urban political conflicts; public participation and democratic processes in cities; inequalities in infrastructure provision; land use and law; poverty and informality; population, migration, settlement, and displacement; emergent social movements; inequality and gender dynamics; and recasting urban theory and practice from the perspective of the Global South.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, go to:
<https://apptrkr.com/1604495>

Application deadline is Wednesday, October 30, 2019.

Queries may be directed to the search committee chair at dcrp.cal@berkeley.edu with "Global Urban Inequalities" in the subject line.

The University of California is an AA/EEO Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/30/2019

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6229

University of Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor: Political Theory

Faculty Full-Time

in Race and Ethnicity, Representation and Justice, Gender and other categories of Identity, and the Politics of Inequality

Assistant Professor: Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Florida, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, invites applications for a full-time, nine-month, and tenure-track Assistant Professor in Political Theory to begin August 16, 2020. The Department hopes to hire faculty broadly engaged in research that is field-bridging, adding to our Department's tradition of intellectual diversity and pluralism, as well as to better reflect the interests of our diverse undergraduate and graduate students. We are particularly interested in candidates who combine rigorous and original scholarship in keeping with the cluster hire themes of race and ethnicity, representation and justice, gender and other categories of identity, and the politics of inequality. Substantive research fields and methodological approaches are open.

We are particularly interested in applicants focusing on questions of race, ethnicity, gender, or other categories of identity. Scholars conducting research on comparative or non-Western political thought are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates should be able to offer courses in political theory at the graduate and undergraduate levels.

Successful applicants are expected to teach two courses per fall and two courses per spring semester, with a mix of introductory and advanced undergraduate courses and graduate seminars. The ability to develop experiential learning opportunities for undergraduates and excel in mentoring undergraduate research in the Department's Honors and Junior Fellows programs is a plus. Salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience, and includes a full benefits package. More information about the Department of Political Science can be found at: <http://www.polisci.ufl.edu>.

For full consideration, applications must be submitted online at <http://explore.jobs.ufl.edu/cw/en-us/listing/> and must include:

- a) Cover letter
- b) Curriculum vitae
- c) Statement of research interests/plans
- d) Statement of teaching interests/philosophy
- e) Statement on a commitment to diversity in research, teaching, and mentoring
- f) A writing sample (a dissertation chapter or one article reprint or pre-print)
- g) Three confidential letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin October 15, 2019, and continue until all the position is filled. All candidates for employment are subject to a pre-employment screening which includes a review of criminal records, reference checks, and verification of education.

The selected candidate will be required to provide an official transcript to the hiring department upon hire. A transcript will not be considered "official" if a designation of "Issued to Student" is visible. Degrees earned from an educational institution outside of the United States require evaluation by a professional credentialing service provider approved by the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES), which can be found at <http://www.naces.org/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6226

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Adviser

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for one full-time non-tenure stream position as Lecturer and Academic Adviser. The appointment requires a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and prior teaching experience. The successful candidate is expected to serve as the advisor for a third of the undergraduate majors in the department and to teach four undergraduate courses per year, including one section per semester of Introduction to Global Studies, which the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., in political theory, comparative politics, or international relations). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in nonwestern or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc that complement our existing political theory courses. In addition, the successful candidate will be responsible for supporting Departmental curriculum and programming, outside-the-classroom learning, etc.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and ability to teach the Introduction to Global Studies course. Successful candidates are expected to engage in teaching and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio (statement of philosophy, list of courses, sample syllabi and materials, etc), writing sample(s), teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjc2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by January 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6224

DeSales University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

DESALES UNIVERSITY invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science to begin Fall, 2020. Although this is a non-tenure position, the successful applicant can take advantage of our generous long-term contracts with the possibility of conversion to a tenure track position in the future. Online teaching experience desired. Prospective candidates should be able to teach undergraduate courses in American government, political philosophy, and public policy. A doctorate in Political Science or a related field is preferred. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and photocopies of transcripts to Andrew M. Essig, Ph.D., Political Science Program, DeSales University, 2755 Station Avenue, Center Valley, PA 18034-9568. Electronic submissions should be emailed to colleen.petrick@desales.edu. Review for the position will begin after October 15 and continue until filled.

DeSales University is a Catholic liberal arts institution on a beautiful 500-acre campus in the Lehigh Valley of eastern Pennsylvania, approximately one hour from Philadelphia and one and a half hours from New York City. EOE For further information, please visit our web site <http://www.desales.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6216

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor (NTT)

University of Missouri: Open Field/Teaching Assistant Professor (Non Tenure-Track)

The University of Missouri invites applications for a non tenure-track teaching assistant professorship jointly appointed in the Department of Political Science and the Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy. Competitive applicants will have demonstrated ability to effectively teach Introduction to American Government and courses in the University of Missouri's new B. A. in Constitutional Democracy major. These courses include "The Intellectual World of the American Founders," and "The Constitutional Debates, 1787-1788." For more about these degree programs and related initiatives, see <https://democracy.missouri.edu>.

The University of Missouri ("Mizzou"), located in the culturally vibrant small city of Columbia, is approximately 125 miles from both St. Louis and Kansas City. The campus enrolls more than 30,000 students; it is Missouri's largest public research university and the heart of the four-campus University of Missouri System. As a member of the Association of American Universities since 1908, Mizzou is one of the nation's top institutions of higher learning. The Kinder Institute on Constitutional Democracy is an academic center with allied programs for undergraduate and graduate students, jointly operated by members of the University of Missouri history and political science departments, in cooperation with other scholars across campus. Supported by a generous endowment from the Kinder Foundation, it is dedicated to research, teaching, and community engagement on the subject of American political thought and history as understood from a wide variety of perspectives.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or closely related field is required by the start of the appointment on August 15, 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

The demonstrated ability to effectively teach large lecture-style courses in American Government, as well as small discussion-based courses in the University's Constitutional Democracy major including "The Intellectual World of the American Founders" and "The Constitutional Debates, 1787-1788."

Please apply on line at: <https://hrs.missouri.edu/find-a-job/academic> (Job ID 31694). Use the online application and be prepared to upload the following materials:

- your current C.V
- a letter of application describing your teaching and service interests
- a statement of no more than one page explaining how your past record and future plans will help the university meet its goal of advancing the values of inclusion, diversity, and equity in higher education.

Reference letters should be sent electronically to politicalscience@missouri.edu or by hard copy to: Chair, NTT Recruitment Committee, Department of Political Science; 113 Professional Building; University of Missouri, Columbia, MO 65211-0630.

Applicants may contact Dr. Jay Dow (dowj@missouri.edu), Chair of the Search Committee and Professor of Political Science, with any questions about the job duties. Contact Human Resource Services (muhrs@missouri.edu) for any questions about the application process. We will begin reviewing applications on October 24. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6219

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: Clinical Assistant Professors, Liberal Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Political Theory, Open

Specializations: East Asia, International Political Economy, Women & Politics

Clinical Assistant Professors

LIBERAL STUDIES

New York University Arts and Science

Liberal Studies at New York University invites applications for Clinical Assistant Professor positions to begin September 1, 2020, pending administrative and budgetary approval.

Liberal Studies provides a unique interdisciplinary educational experience to undergraduate students. The Liberal Studies Core consists of a two-year interdisciplinary global curriculum drawing on great works across civilizations. The Global Liberal Studies Bachelor of Arts, one of NYU's premier liberal arts degrees, builds on the global core with an upper division set of interdisciplinary concentrations that direct students toward different areas of global study.

We seek applicants for the following positions:

East Asian Studies:

Ph.D. in East Asian Studies, History, Political Science, or related fields. Candidates should have the ability to teach interdisciplinary seminars on East Asia to introduce undergraduates to the politics, history, intellectual thought, and development of the region within a global context. Preference for a specialist in Korea and/or Japan. Candidates should have the ability to teach upper division seminars in their areas of expertise as well as first and second year seminars in the Core Curriculum.

Global Works and Society:

PhD in Political Theory, Philosophy, History, or related fields in the social sciences. Candidates should have the ability to teach global works that examine enduring questions of philosophy, religion, political and social theory, and history from antiquity to the early 18th century in the Global Works and Society sequence of the Core Curriculum. Candidates must embrace interdisciplinary, intersectional, and global perspectives, and have the ability to teach upper-division seminars in their areas of expertise.

Global Justice:

Ph.D. in Global Justice, Politics, Anthropology, Human Geography, or related fields. Preference for a specialist in International Migration and/or Women's Rights. Candidates should have the ability to teach upper division seminars in their areas of expertise as well as first and second year seminars in the Core Curriculum.

Minimum qualifications: a Ph.D. by the date of appointment; three years of college-level teaching experience; and demonstrated excellence in teaching. Publications and evidence of outstanding scholarship and relevant professional activity are strongly encouraged.

All Liberal Studies full-time faculty hold renewable term contracts, initially three years, and later five years in duration. Faculty are eligible for promotion within the Clinical faculty ranks (Associate, Full). Faculty normally teach three classes per semester, advise undergraduates, and contribute service to Liberal Studies and to the University.

Applications include ONLY (1) a cover letter, (2) a current c.v., and (3) a Diversity and Inclusion Statement addressing past and/or potential future contributions to diversity through teaching, professional activity, and/or service (additional information can be found here <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html>). Complete applications must be recorded by 11:59 p.m. Eastern Standard Time (US), October 22nd, 2019. Applications recorded after this deadline will not be considered.

Applicants may apply directly through the following links:

East Asian Studies: <http://apply.interfolio.com/6757>

Global Works and Society: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67580>

Global Justice: <https://apply.interfolio.com/67579>

Liberal Studies offers a global liberal arts curriculum at sites around the globe in the context of a leading research university. We seek scholar/educators of the highest caliber whose work reflects an interest in global diversity. Liberal Studies strongly encourages applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the Arts & Science commitment to diversity, equality, and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Vet/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6174

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Political Science Department at California State University seeks applicants for the position of Assistant Professor specializing in Public Law.

--Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

--Applicants whose primary field of study is Political Philosophy or Theory are discouraged from applying. However, the ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

Our department has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

CSU Channel Islands is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with a special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in Political Science
- Extensive training in judicial politics and American law
- Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education
- Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity
- Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics
- Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Preferred Qualifications

- Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy
- Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research
- Active participation in the life of the department and university
- Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses
- Ability to cope with ambiguity

Apply online: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6161

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Political Theory - Tenure Track - History of Political Thought

The Department of Government invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in normative political theory/philosophy with a focus on the history of political thought and its illumination of enduring and contemporary issues and themes. Duties include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, the College of Liberal Arts, and the University.

We are interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and service. The application should highlight demonstrated experience working with diverse populations; examples might include mentoring activities, research interests, committee service, courses taught, recruitment and retention activities.

UT Austin is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual-career couples and single parents.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. for appointment as Assistant Professor or expect to obtain it within a year of joining the faculty as Instructor.

The department will start reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. To get full consideration applications should be submitted no later than October 30, 2019. Applicants should submit a vitae, transcripts, three letters of recommendation, examples of scholarly work, and teaching materials.

Applicants must apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68320>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/30/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6163

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow - WEALTHPOL: The Politics of Wealth Inequality and Mobility in the 21st Century
Subfield(s): International Relations, Other, Political Theory

The Department of Politics and International Relations at the University of Oxford is looking for a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join a research team to work on an exciting new project directed by Professor Ben Ansell, the Project Investigator (PI), and supported by the European Research Council (ERC).

The project examines political causes and consequences of wealth inequality across the industrialised world. The project divides into three core work packages, which are to be accomplished over the life of the grant. The first two work packages are macro data collection exercises assembling cross-nationally and historically comparable surveys of wealth mobility outcomes and policies. The last work package focuses on the micro-foundations of attitudes towards wealth mobility using both laboratory and survey experiments.

The successful candidate will provide research support across all three projects though their own skillset and interests may fit more closely into particular areas. S/he will be expected to contribute to the running of the project as well as to co-author work with the Principal Investigator, and pursue their own related research agenda.

The postholder's duties will include assisting in compiling a cross-national database of wealth inequality and mobility, and to aid in disseminating the results of this work including the construction of an online open-access database. They will also be expected to develop a policy database of inheritance, gift, capital gains and other wealth-related policies, dating back to 1945 across the industrialised world. In addition, they will assist with the tendering, design, implementation and analysis of survey experiments to be conducted across six European countries.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD (or near completion) in the field of political science, sociology, and economics. Applicants should have an interest in and strong understanding of wealth and income inequality, with the ability to use statistical software at an advanced level, with skills in data collection, management and analysis. In addition, they should have a willingness and ability to contribute to the dissemination of project results and to represent the project at conferences and external events.

This is a full time appointment fixed term, for two years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Thursday, 9 October 2019. Interviews will take place on Monday, 21 October.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website, quoting reference 142651.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 6146

Michigan State University

Rank: Instructor - Fixed Term

Michigan State University's James Madison College (JMC) seeks candidates for a full-time fixedterm instructor position specializing in the history of political philosophy for a one-semester position. Candidates should be able to teach "Constitutionalism and Democracy (MC271)," "Beyond Liberal Democracy: New Directions in Political Theory (MC371), and a senior seminar focused on political economy. Applicants should demonstrate broad competence in early modern and contemporary political theory and commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Completion of Ph.D. in a related field is preferred prior to the time of appointment.

James Madison College provides a liberal education in public affairs, combining the ethos of a small liberal arts college with the advantages of a large, diverse university. The faculty's primary mission is excellence in undergraduate teaching, and the college is noted for its rigorous academic standards and attention to the analytical, writing and speaking skills of its students. JMC is home to four majors (Comparative Cultures and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy, and Social Relations and Policy) and four minors (Muslim Studies; European Studies; Political Economy; and Science, Technology, the Environment and Public Policy). In addition, JMC has close working relationships with MSU's area studies centers and its many international teaching and research centers. For more information on James Madison College, visit www.jmc.msu.edu.

Applicants should supply a statement addressing how their teaching interests would contribute to the Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy field and to JMC's curriculum and mission more broadly. Supporting materials should include a CV, transcript, sample syllabi, and the names/contact info for three confidential references that can speak to teaching expertise, evidence of teaching approach and effectiveness. The position is posted on the Careers @MSU website, posting 600960/600962, and applicants must apply through <http://jobs.msu.edu> to be considered for the position. Please note, this is a pool posting for all JMC Fixed-Term needs.

Applicants who apply to this pool posting may be considered for various positions they qualify for. Applicants should apply for both postings (Annual Year and Academic Year), allowing for consideration for one semester or full year positions. Review of applications for this specific position need will begin on October 1, 2019.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce and inclusive culture that encourages all people to reach their full potential. The University actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, members of the LGBTQ community, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Persons with disabilities have the right to request and receive reasonable accommodation.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6127

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor International Development and Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Political Theory
Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Assistant Professor International Development and Security

TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION

GOLDMAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY AT UC BERKELEY

The Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a tenure-track appointment to the faculty at the Assistant Professor rank, with an expected start date of July 1, 2020. We seek applications from intellectually exciting scholars whose research informs and advances the design and analysis of policy and who will teach innovative courses to a diverse student body. We are especially interested in candidates whose research and expertise focus on international development and/or security policy.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, please go to <https://apptrkr.com/1576594>. The deadline to apply is October 15, 2019. Please direct all questions to Aaron Schiller at aaschiller@berkeley.edu

UC Berkeley is an AA/EEO employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6115

Washington University in St. Louis

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associates in Religion and Politics
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

The John C. Danforth Center on Religion and Politics seeks applications from junior scholars and recent Ph.D. graduates for up to four postdoctoral fellowships in residence at Washington University in St. Louis. The appointment is for one year, renewable for a second year. Eligible applicants must complete the Ph.D. by July 1, 2020, and have completed it no earlier than January 1, 2015. In exceptional cases a qualified applicant holding a J.D., without the Ph.D., may be considered. Research associates will spend most of their time pursuing research and writing for their own projects. They will also serve the intellectual life of the Danforth Center on Religion and Politics through participation in its biweekly interdisciplinary seminar and events hosted by the Center. Their teaching responsibilities will include: 1) developing one course per year to complement and contribute to the Center's curricular offerings, and 2) possibly assisting in one additional course each year (depending on the particular teaching needs of the Center). Washington University in St. Louis is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer and especially encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Required Qualifications: Applicants should hold a doctorate in religious studies, politics, anthropology, law, philosophy, theology, American studies, history, area studies, sociology, or another relevant field. Scholars should be engaged in projects centrally concerned with religion and politics in the United States, historically or in the present day.

Application Instructions: Applicants must send all of the following information as a single pdf file to the Center at rap@wustl.edu:

- 1) Cover letter including an overview of the postdoctoral research project
- 2) Current curriculum vitae
- 3) Relevant writing sample (25-35 pages)
- 4) Two undergraduate course proposals (a summary paragraph for each will suffice)

Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation submitted on their behalf to rap@wustl.edu.

Applications are due in full by December 1, 2019. Applicants will be notified of fellowship decisions by March 2, 2020. For more information, contact the Center at (314) 935-9345 or via e-mail at rap@wustl.edu.

Salary: $50,000

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6103

Duke University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Duke University invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor in the field of Political Theory to begin in July or August 2020. The search is not restricted to any particular subfield within political theory. Candidates should have potential for excellence in teaching and research at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Successful candidates will be expected to have completed their Ph.D. no later than July 1, 2020.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest describing their research agenda, a curriculum vitae, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample, evidence of teaching excellence, and three letters of recommendation. All application materials should be submitted electronically using the following site: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14363>. Address correspondence to: Chair, Political Theory Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 140 Science Drive, 208 Gross Hall, Box 90204, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0204.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Duke University is located in Durham, North Carolina and is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6081

Haverford College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, Open

Haverford College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor in its Peace, Justice, and Human Rights program to begin Fall semester 2020. The successful candidate must have a PhD at the time of appointment. The position is open to scholars at all pre-tenure levels with training in the humanities or social sciences whose work is interdisciplinary and focuses on questions of justice, human rights, and related fields. All specializations are welcome, but there is particular interest in scholars who can contribute to programs in Health Studies, Environmental Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, or Visual Studies. The successful candidate will be expected to teach an introductory course on peace, justice, and human rights and/or applied ethics, as well as offer more specialized courses in their area of expertise, and engage in inclusive pedagogy and mentoring of an increasingly diverse student body. Haverford College embraces the teacher-scholar model and supports faculty research through programs and funding opportunities.

Peace, Justice, and Human Rights (PJHR) is an interdisciplinary concentration attracting students from many different disciplines; it offers students the opportunity to study the history, philosophy, and critiques of the rights tradition, examine issues of justice in their local and international contexts, and apply humanistic, social scientific, theoretical, and ethical reasoning to real-world problems. The program's goal is to foster cross-disciplinary collaboration and new perspectives on entrenched problems. For more information, see <http://www.haverford.edu/pjhr/>

Applicants should submit the following via Interfolio [<https://apply.interfolio.com/67577>]: a cover letter addressing qualifications for the position, curriculum vitae, a sample course syllabus or description of a class you'd like to teach in the PJHR program, a teaching statement (3-4 pages) that highlights pedagogical strategies and discusses how you approach diversity and inclusion in the classroom, a writing sample (up to 25 pages), and three confidential letters of recommendation. Candidates are encouraged to seek letter writers who together can address your abilities and promise as a teacher, mentor, and scholar/researcher. New applications submitted after 11:59 pm on Friday, November 1 will not be considered.

Haverford College is a leading liberal arts college serving highly motivated students on a nationally recognized arboretum in suburban Haverford, just outside Philadelphia.

Questions about the application process should be directed to hc-PJHRresearch@haverford.edu. For technical questions, please contact Interfolio directly at 1-877-997-8807 or help@interfolio.com.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6083

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Positions in Values and Public Policy

The University Center for Human Values and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for postdoctoral or more senior research positions in Values and Public Policy. We aim to support highly promising scholars trained in moral and political philosophy, political theory, normative economics and related areas, in developing a research agenda in the ethical dimensions of public policy.

Candidates undertake a research project exploring a normative problem in an area of public policy in which the Woodrow Wilson School conducts research. They are affiliated with the UCHV and a WWS unit that can support their work.

Candidates contribute the equivalent of one course each year to the undergraduate or graduate programs of the School or the UCHV. This contribution may be fulfilled by teaching a course on a topic related to ethical issues in public policy, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval by the Dean of the Faculty; or by service to the School or Center. If teaching a semester-long course, the successful candidate carries the additional title of Lecturer.

Qualifications

Applications welcome from candidates who have or expect to have a Ph.D. by the start date, normally beginning September 1, 2020. Applicants should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by the date of appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment.

Applicants' dissertation research need not be specifically in values and public policy, but they will be expected to demonstrate a commitment to working on a research project in this area. Projects must be related to an area in which the School has a Center or Program (such as science and environmental policy, health and well-being, or globalization and governance). For more information about these and other areas, as well as a list of Centers and Programs visit: <http://www.princeton.edu/centers-programs>.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of previous accomplishments, promise of the proposed research project in values and public policy, and likelihood that the project will be enhanced by being carried out at the Woodrow Wilson School. Contribution to the University's teaching program will also be considered.

Term of Appointment

The term of appointment is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2020, with the expectation of renewal for one further year assuming good performance. Applicants are expected to be in residence for the duration of the appointment. Princeton offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application: <https://puwebp.princeton.edu/AcadHire/apply/application.xhtml?listingId=12401>

A complete application will include the following materials:

1. Current curriculum vitae;
2. Research proposal (up to 1,500 words), conforming to the expectations stated above. Please identify the Woodrow Wilson School center or program with which you wish to be associated and briefly describe what you hope to gain from carrying out the project there. Supply an indicative title for the project at the beginning of the proposal;

3. Scholarly paper or dissertation chapter (up to 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing your scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who will be asked to comment specifically on your qualifications for the proposed project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for uploading letters.

Materials must be submitted online by Monday, November 11, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by end of business on Thursday, November 14, 2019. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately so letters received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions expected in late March 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/11/2019

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6077

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant Professor (Political Theory)

The Department of Political Science within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego invites applications in Political Theory for appointment at the rank of tenure-track Assistant Professor to begin July 1, 2020. Applicants should demonstrate how their research agenda is pertinent to ongoing debates of broad interest to political scientists. Successful candidates should hold a PhD in Political Science or related field by start date of appointment.

Our department is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. Successful candidates will share this commitment and be prepared to teach graduate and undergraduate students, demonstrate the highest standards of scholarship and professional activity, and contribute to a campus climate that supports equity, inclusion, and diversity. Appointment level and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales.

To apply, candidates must provide a cover letter, vita, samples of written research, three letters of reference, and a statement summarizing demonstrated and/or potential contributions to diversity and leadership (further information this statement can be found at <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-info.asp>).

All materials should be submitted via UCSD RECRUIT (<https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/apply/JPF02228>) for position: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory).

Review of applications will begin September 25, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

UCSD is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer with a strong institutional commitment to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6080

Coastal Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Urban Politics, Political Theory

The College of Humanities and Fine Arts at Coastal Carolina University invites applications for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor of Political Science beginning August 2020. The Department of Politics is interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests cover some combination of race and ethnic politics, urban politics, American Political Development, and political theory.

The chosen candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Political Science by the time of appointment. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in the field; prior experience with experiential and distance learning would be beneficial.

Coastal Carolina University is a public comprehensive liberal arts institution located in Conway, South Carolina, just nine miles from the Atlantic coastal resort city of Myrtle Beach. Coastal Carolina University enrolls over 10,000 students from 45 states and 58 nations. The University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the baccalaureate and selective master's degrees of national and/or regional significance in the arts and sciences, business, humanities, education, and health and human services, a specialist degree in educational leadership, and Ph.D. degrees in Marine Science and Education.

Coastal Carolina University is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from underrepresented groups to apply.

Interested candidates should submit: a letter of application that addresses the qualifications specified in this advertisement, a curriculum vitae, writing sample, copies of transcripts, statements about teaching and research, and contact information for three (3) professional references electronically at: <http://jobs.coastal.edu/postings/8139>. Review of application materials will begin October 1st and continue until the position is filled.

For additional information, please contact Dr. Mikel Norris (mnorris1@coastal.edu, 843-349-4033) or Dr. Adam Chamberlain, Chair of the Department of Politics (achamber@coastal.edu, 843-349-6506).

Coastal Carolina University is an EO/AA employer

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6062

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Critical Black Urbanism

UCLA

Luskin School of Public Affairs

Department of Urban Planning

Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Critical Black Urbanism

The Department of Urban Planning at the UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs seeks to hire a tenure-track faculty member at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Critical Black Urbanism. We seek a scholar who studies the Black experience and whose research and teaching has direct relevance for urban planning. Attractive candidates for this position might study racial segregation, Black migration, Black geographies, community organizing, community and/or economic development, the Black diaspora, policing and incarceration, urban and planning history, critical legal studies, or related topics.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Urban Planning, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Sociology, Political Science, or a related social science discipline, have a robust research agenda, and be prepared to teach and mentor students at the undergraduate, Master's, and Ph.D. levels.

To apply, please submit a brief cover letter, CV, a research statement of less than 500 words highlighting scholarly contributions of recent research and plans for the near future, one publication or writing sample that best represents your work, a teaching statement of less than 300 words outlining the content of a class you would like to teach, a statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion, and three letters of recommendation.

This position reflects a commitment by the UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs and the Department of Urban Planning to emphasize communities of color in scholarship, teaching, and professional practice. Faculty in the school and department have ongoing collaborations with ethnic studies departments and centers at UCLA. We expect that the faculty member who holds this position will benefit from and strengthen existing linkages to the Ralph J. Bunche Center for African American Studies, the Department of African American Studies, and other relevant units.

The Department of Urban Planning currently hosts 18 tenured/tenure-track planning faculty, 6 affiliated tenured/tenure-track faculty, 7 long-term adjunct/practice faculty, 3 active professors emeriti, 35 PhD students, 150 master's students, and a growing number of undergraduate majors. Department faculty also teach undergraduate students in the Luskin School's Major in Public Affairs, which just completed its inaugural academic year. We have a tradition of intellectual leadership in urban and regional studies and design, and our faculty, students, and alumni are committed to social justice and progressive planning ideals.

Los Angeles is a global city renowned for its dynamism, robust economy, cultural diversity, spectacular climate, as well as high levels of inequality, poverty and homelessness, residential segregation, and traffic. The UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs is an interdisciplinary school with highly ranked departments of Social Welfare and Public Policy. All faculty in the Luskin School of Public Affairs (including the Departments of Social Welfare, Urban Planning, and Public Policy) have opportunities to participate in current school initiatives in global affairs, digital technologies, the environment, democracy and inequality, global development, Latin American cities, and social justice, equity, and opportunity.

UCLA offers competitive salary and attractive benefits packages, including a housing assistance program for new faculty members. The University of California seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the people of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning. The Department of Urban Planning in particular is committed to diversity and excellence in our faculty, students, and scholarship, and we especially encourage candidates who share and can contribute to this commitment.

The expected start date is July 1, 2020. All materials must be submitted via UCLA Academic Recruit by October 15, 2019, to be guaranteed full consideration.

To Apply, visit:
<https://apptrkr.com/1590947>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 8/27/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6058

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Gender and Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8350>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6046

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

American Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of American Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarly research on American politics, including but not limited to political behavior, political institutions, identity politics, American political development, and/or American political thought. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor. Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8344>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jee-willi@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6045

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2020 to September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on outstanding performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12905> (link is external)

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6038

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Faculty Position in Complex Systems

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Research Methods, Intelligence

The Center for the Study of Complex Systems (CSCS) at the University of Michigan seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in complex systems science. This is a University-year appointment at the Assistant Professor level although more senior applicants will also be considered. The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

Required Qualifications: We seek applicants with a research agenda focused on the development and/or application of complex systems models and/or methods. This may involve theoretical or applied research in areas of complex systems including (but not limited to) mathematical and computational work in network science, emergence and robustness, related topics in computer science, or scientific applications where complex systems theory lies at the core of the approach such as quantitative modeling of social systems, biological structure and development, evolution, artificial life and cognition. We are particularly interested in candidates with a record of working across disciplines.

How to Apply: All applications must be uploaded here: <http://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/Apply/CSCS>. This faculty position will be a joint appointment between CSCS and another academic department or school at the University of Michigan. Candidates should identify one or more partner units at the University of Michigan suitable for such a joint appointment. Applicants must submit a CV, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and evidence of teaching excellence, if any. At least three letters of recommendation are required and must be uploaded onto the same website. Review of applications will begin on 1 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6030

Furman University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Specializations: Political Thought: Historical, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory

The Tocqueville Program at Furman University invites applications for a 2-year Postdoctoral Fellowship in Western and American Political Thought to begin in August 2020. Housed in the Department of Politics and International Affairs, the Tocqueville Program exists to encourage serious and open engagement with the moral questions at the heart of political life through the study of classic texts of the Western and American political and philosophic tradition. We encourage applicants whose teaching philosophy and research agenda fit with this mission. The PhD degree (in hand or expected by the beginning of the 2020-21 academic year) is a required qualification.

The teaching load for the Postdoctoral Fellow will be three courses per academic year; courses to be taught include American Political Thought and Introduction to Political Thought, and other courses as needed by the Department of Politics and International Affairs. The Postdoctoral Fellow will also participate actively in the Tocqueville Program's activities and contribute to its administration as needed. More information about the Tocqueville Program is available here: www.furman.edu/tocqueville.

We will begin reviewing applications on December 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, sample course syllabi and teaching evaluations, copy of graduate transcript(s), and a sample(s) of professional writing (published work preferred). Candidates should also include a statement describing how their teaching, scholarship, mentoring and/or service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values. Please submit these materials here:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Furman\_Careers/job/Main-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Fellow-of-Politics---International-Affairs\_R000726

Please have three recommenders submit letters of recommendation using the following link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/references/job/Main-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Fellow-of-Politics---International-Affairs\_R000725

Furman University is a selective private liberal arts and sciences college committed to helping students develop intellectually, personally, and interpersonally and providing the practical skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly-changing world. Furman professors are exceptional teacher-scholars who mentor undergraduate students within a campus community that values and encourages diverse ideas and perspectives. Our recently-launched strategic vision, The Furman Advantage, promises students an individualized four-year pathway facilitated by team of mentors and infused with a rich and varied set of high impact experiences outside the classroom that include undergraduate research, study away, internships, community-focused learning, and opportunities to engage across differences.

Furman is located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is one of the fastest growing cities in the Southeast and is ranked among "America's Ten Best" by Forbes Magazine. The charming downtown features excellent restaurants, in-town parks, shops, museums, galleries, music venues, and theaters. The city also has excellent public and private schools and a vibrant international community. A 20-mile bike and running trail connects the university to Greenville and to Travelers Rest, which was named "one of America's coolest small towns." The surrounding area abounds with outdoor recreational activities and has some of the most beautiful lakes, rivers, and mountains in the country. Greenville is within easy reach of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Atlantic Beaches. The newly renovated Greenville-Spartanburg Airport, located just 25 minutes from downtown, runs daily flights to major cities and airline hubs. Greenville is 2 1/2 hours from Atlanta and only one hour from Asheville, North Carolina. It is an ideal place to live and work.

Furman is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and staff. The University aspires to create a community of people representing a multiplicity of identities including gender, race, religion, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, geographic origin, socioeconomic background, ideology, world view, and varied abilities. Domestic partners of employees are eligible for comprehensive benefits.

For any questions please contact the chairperson of the search committee, Benjamin Storey, at benjamin.storey@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5976

Furman University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Department of Politics and International Affairs at Furman University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor to begin August 1, 2020. The candidate's teaching responsibilities will include Introduction to Political Thought and other courses as needed. The position is open to all specialties in political thought. S/he must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching and excellence in scholarship. The teaching load is five courses per academic year. A Ph.D. is required by August 1, 2020.

We will begin reviewing applications on December 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, sample course syllabi and teaching evaluations, copy of graduate transcript(s), and a sample(s) of professional writing (published work preferred). Candidates should also include a statement describing how their teaching, scholarship, mentoring and/or service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values. Please submit these materials via the following link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Furman\_Careers/job/Main-Campus/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Politics---International-Affairs\_R000728

Please ask three recommenders to submit letters of recommendation using the following link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/references/job/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Politics---International-Affairs\_R000727

Furman University is a selective private liberal arts and sciences college committed to helping students develop intellectually, personally, and interpersonally and providing the practical skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly-changing world. Furman professors are exceptional teacher-scholars who mentor undergraduate students within a campus community that values and encourages diverse ideas and perspectives. Our recently-launched strategic vision, The Furman Advantage, promises students an individualized four-year pathway facilitated by team of mentors and infused with a rich and varied set of high impact experiences outside the classroom that include undergraduate research, study away, internships, community-focused learning, and opportunities to engage across differences.

Furman is located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is one of the fastest growing cities in the Southeast and is ranked among "America's Ten Best" by Forbes Magazine. The charming downtown features excellent restaurants, in-town parks, shops, museums, galleries, music venues, and theaters. The city also has excellent public and private schools and a vibrant international community. A 20-mile bike and running trail connects the university to Greenville and to Travelers Rest, which was named "one of America's coolest small towns." The surrounding area abounds with outdoor recreational activities and has some of the most beautiful lakes, rivers, and mountains in the country. Greenville is within easy reach of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Atlantic Beaches. The newly renovated Greenville-Spartanburg Airport, located just 25 minutes from downtown, runs daily flights to major cities and airline hubs. Greenville is 2 1/2 hours from Atlanta and only one hour from Asheville, North Carolina. It is an ideal place to live and work.

Furman is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and staff. The University aspires to create a community of people representing a multiplicity of identities including gender, race, religion, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, geographic origin, socioeconomic background, ideology, world view, and varied abilities. Domestic partners of employees are eligible for comprehensive benefits.

For any questions please contact the chairperson of the search committee, Benjamin Storey, at benjamin.storey@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5975

Rutgers University, New Brunswick

Rank: Feminist Theory

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University New Brunswick seeks applicants for a tenure track Assistant Professor in political theory/feminist theory who can contribute to the department's unique Women and Politics subfield. We are open to all feminist theory candidates including those with interests in intersectionality, critical race theory, and/or queer theory. Strong familiarity with interdisciplinary feminist scholarship is preferred. This position begins September 1, 2020. Candidate must be able to teach standard undergraduate survey courses in political theory as well as advanced graduate seminars in feminist theory. PhD required in Political Science or related field.

As one of 34 public US institutions that belong to the Association of American Universities, Rutgers is among the leading research universities in the US and Canada. Rutgers University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, with a historic commitment to diversity. The Political Science Department is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of our faculty. Women, minorities, and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability, protected veteran status or any other classification protected by law.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, and a list of three references to: <http://jobs.rutgers.edu/> postings/98192. Review of applicants will begin on September 26 and continue until the job is filled.

Confidential letters of recommendation should be emailed directly by the referee to references@polisci.rutgers.edu – the applicant's name should appear in the subject line.

All job offers are contingent upon successful pre-employment background screening prior to commencement of employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: $90,000 - $99,999

eJobs ID: 5977

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Formal Political Theory

The Departments of Political Science and Economics at Vanderbilt University invite applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in formal theory for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor, with a joint position in the Departments of Political Science and Economics. Both departments are committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within and between the political science and economics departments. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to graduate training in formal theory, as well as contributing to substantive literatures in political science and economics; and successful candidates will be expected to contribute to curriculum development in both departments. The appointment will begin Fall 2020. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2019. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2019, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position.

Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2020.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at apply.interfolio.com/66540.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5964

University of Washington

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Washington invites applications for a full time (100%) tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political theory, beginning September 2020. Tenure track faculty engage in teaching, research and service and have an annual service period of nine months (Sept 16-June 15). This position will teach courses in contemporary political theory and history of political thought and engage in an innovative research agenda. Candidates should have completed all requirements for a PhD in Political Science or a related field (or foreign equivalent) by the appointment date, though qualified applicants at the ABD level will also be considered.

Applications should include a cover letter, current CV, writing sample, research statement, teaching statement, diversity statement, and three letters of recommendation. The research statement should describe the applicant's substantive research interests and accomplishments. The teaching statement should describe the applicant's teaching philosophy, list undergraduate and graduate level teaching interests, and provide evidence of teaching effectiveness. As a public institution, the University of Washington seeks candidates committed to working with diverse student and community populations. Therefore, applicants are encouraged to describe how their scholarship and teaching support diverse communities.

Candidate materials should be electronically submitted to <http://apply.interfolio.com/66136> Priority will be given to applications received before September 15, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5951

Barnard College-Columbia University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Theory

Barnard College is a highly selective liberal arts college for women, affiliated with Columbia University. The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of Political Theory. We are open to all areas of specialization, but we are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in the politics of race, gender, or inequality, broadly defined.

Applicants must have completed the PhD, show strong promise in their scholarship, and have demonstrated excellence in teaching at or beyond the level of teaching assistant. Barnard College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is actively committed to creating a diverse and inclusive community. We especially encourage applications from women, people of color, persons with disabilities, LGBT people, people from diverse economic backgrounds, and individuals from other underrepresented groups.

Completed applications should be received by September 10, 2019. Applications should include a cover letter describing research and teaching interests; a curriculum vitae; a research statement; one dissertation chapter or published writing sample; an official graduate transcript; teaching evaluations; optional syllabi for courses taught independently (or potential courses the applicant would like to teach); and three letters of recommendation.

Please apply online to: <http://careers.barnard.edu/postings/4454>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/10/2019

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5922

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Theory

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in Political Theory. We are interested in candidates from all areas of Political Theory, though we have a particular interest in those with expertise in race and identity.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66095>

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/6/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5906

Gettysburg College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor – Political Theory/International Relations

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Gettysburg College invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2020.

Qualifications:

The department seeks candidates in the subfields of political theory and international relations. The successful candidate is expected to offer introductory and upper-level courses in political theory. We are particularly interested in candidates who can teach a course on advanced international relations theory. The ability to teach a course on the global movement of peoples is a plus.

The department seeks candidates whose teaching and scholarship will contribute to the department's commitment to diversity and academic excellence. As part of the cover letter or teaching statement, we invite you to elaborate on your cultural proficiencies and experiences engaging an increasingly diverse student body.

Application Details:

Applicants should apply online at: <http://gettysburg.peopleadmin.com/postings/3126>. Please submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample; transcripts; and a separate statement about your teaching philosophy.

The cover letter should be addressed to Professor Caroline Hartzell, Chair, Political Theory/International Relations Search Committee, Department of Political Science. In addition, applicants should enter the names and email addresses of three professional references. After the applicant completes his/her on-line application, the professional references listed will be contacted by Gettysburg College via email to submit letters of recommendation electronically. At least one of the letters of recommendation must address the applicant's teaching effectiveness.

Application materials must be received by September 25, 2019. Review of applications will begin immediately. Inquiries can be addressed to Professor Caroline Hartzell: chartzel@gettysburg.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/25/2019
Date Posted: 8/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5901

University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Theory

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities invites applications for one full-time faculty position in Political Theory beginning fall semester 2020 (08/31/20). The position will be filled either by a tenure-track assistant professor or by a tenured associate professor (please note the different application requirements below).

The appointment will be 100% time over the nine-month academic year (late-August to late-May), and will be made at the rank of either tenure-track assistant professor or tenured associate professor, consistent with collegiate and university policy. Salary is competitive, and dependent on qualifications and experience.

We seek outstanding colleagues committed to scholarly research and teaching at the highest level, and we especially welcome applications from underrepresented groups.

We seek candidates who are deeply conversant in the history of Western political theory, and can teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels that draw upon this canon.

Further, we seek candidates who will advance the substantive commitment of the department's strategic plan: to investigate "democracy under threat" across its multiple dimensions. "Democracy Under Threat" is a department-wide initiative to guide hiring and research. It means that we are most interested in work that, in a sustained manner, draws upon global historical knowledge to understand contemporary threats to democracy (such as resurgent authoritarianism, legitimization crises of contemporary liberal democratic institutions, crises of political economy and/or late capitalism, racialized politics and inequalities, etc.). Scholars using intersectional approaches to feminist and democratic theories and/or who focus on such issues as justice and injustice, inequality, or global migration are of special interest.

We also seek candidates who share the department's ongoing commitment to study the intersection of power, equity, and diversity and its effect on social science inquiry. Finally, we value candidates who actively place their research in dialogue with other subfields in political science, the social sciences and humanities, and with the broader university community and public.

More information regarding the department's strategic plan can be found at <https://cla.umn.edu/polisci/news-events>, under the announcement for this search.

Qualifications:

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in political science or related field is required. Advanced ABD's may be considered for appointment at the rank of tenure-track instructor, with the stipulation that the Ph.D. is conferred in the first year of the appointment.

Preferred Qualifications:

College/university-level teaching experience is preferred.

Candidates will be evaluated according to (a) overall quality of their academic preparation and scholarly work, (b) contribution of their scholarly research to the department's academic priorities and fields of inquiry, (c) evidence of commitment to teaching and skills as a teacher, and (d) strength of recommendations.

Duties / Responsibilities:

Faculty in the Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts are expected to maintain an active research program, teach and advise undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute service appropriate for the rank of appointment to the department, college, University, and profession.

The Standards for Promotion and Tenure in the Department of Political Science are available at: <https://faculty.umn.edu/sites/faculty.umn.edu/files/polsci.pdf>

For information on faculty workload guidelines and principles in the College of Liberal Arts, visit: <https://neighborhood.cla.umn.edu/college-knowledge/workload-principles-and-guidelines>

About the Department / College / University:

The Department of Political Science is committed to excellence in graduate and undergraduate education and to the conduct of leading social science research. For further information, please visit the department website, <http://cla.umn.edu/polisci>.

Established in 1868, the College of Liberal Arts supports the University of Minnesota's land-grant mission as home to disciplines in the arts, humanities, and social sciences. The College of Liberal Arts is committed to intellectual freedom, the pursuit of new knowledge, and the belief that the liberal arts are the foundation of academic learning. CLA prepares students to be independent and original thinkers, innovators in their chosen fields; to create meaning in their lives and in their life's work; and to become productive citizens and leaders in their communities and the world. The College of Liberal Arts values diverse cultures, experiences, and perspectives as key to innovation and excellent education. <https://cla.umn.edu/>

Founded in 1851, the University of Minnesota, with its five campuses and more than 65,000 students, is one of the largest, most comprehensive universities in the United States, and ranks among the most prestigious research universities in the world. It is both a major research institution, with scholars of national and international reputation, and a state land-grant university, with a strong tradition of education and public engagement.

The University recognizes and values the importance of diversity and inclusion in enriching the employment experience of its employees and in supporting the academic mission. The University is committed to attracting and retaining employees with varying identities and backgrounds.

The University of Minnesota provides equal access to and opportunity in its programs, facilities, and employment without regard to race, color, creed, religion, national origin, gender, age, marital status, disability, public assistance status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. To learn more about diversity at the U: <http://diversity.umn.edu>.

Application Instructions:

For All Applicants:

Applications will be reviewed beginning September 23, 2019. However, applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

For questions about the position, please contact the Department of Political Science, at (612) 624-4144.

For questions about the application process, or to request an accommodation during the application process, please e-mail employ@umn.edu or call (612) 624-UOHR (8647).

Any offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Our presumption is that prospective employees are eligible to work here. Criminal convictions do not automatically disqualify finalists from employment.

For Associate Professor Applicants:

Apply online through the University of Minnesota's Job Center: <https://humanresources.umn.edu/content/find-job>

- Job Opening ID: 331794
- Job Posting Title: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)
- Job Code: 9402
- Jobs Posted Within: Last Three Months (or greater)
- Keyword(s): Political Science

Applications must be submitted online. To be considered for this position, please click the APPLY button and follow the instructions. You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position, and attach a cover letter and C.V.

Additional materials may be requested from candidates at a future date. Additional documents can be attached after application by accessing your "My Job Applications" page and uploading documents there.

For Assistant Professor Applicants:

Apply online through the University of Minnesota's Job Center: <https://humanresources.umn.edu/content/find-job>

- Job Opening ID: 331794
- Job Posting Title: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)
- Job Code: 9403
- Jobs Posted Within: Last Three Months (or greater)
- Keyword(s): Political Science

Applications must be submitted online. To be considered for this position, please click the APPLY button and follow the instructions.

You will have the opportunity to complete an online application for the position, and attach a cover letter and C.V. Additional documents must be attached to your "My Job Applications" page, and can be attached after submission of the application by exiting and re-entering the Job Center, accessing your "My Job Applications" page, and uploading documents there.

The following required materials must be attached to your online application:

1. Cover letter
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Writing sample (in the candidate's central area of research)
4. Brief statement of research interests
5. Brief statement of teaching philosophy and interests

Additional materials may be requested from candidates at a future date.

In addition to the electronically-submitted materials, applicants at the assistant professor-level are asked to arrange for at least THREE letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the department.

The letters of recommendation may be emailed to psearch@umn.edu, or mailed to:

Political Theory Search Committee
Attn: Alexis Cuttance
Department of Political Science
University of Minnesota-Twin Cities
267 19th Avenue South, Room 1414
Minneapolis, MN 55455

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5893

Oberlin College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Ethnic & Feminist Theory, Political Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Oberlin College Politics Department invites applications for a non-continuing position for Spring semester 2020 in Political Theory. Appointment to this position will be for one semester and will carry the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor depending on the qualifications of the candidate.

The Politics Department has thirteen full-time faculty positions and approximately 120 junior and senior majors. Information about the Department can be found at our web site: <http://www.oberlin.edu/politics/>

The incumbent will teach three courses in the general area of political theory. We seek someone who would be able to teach courses covering the history of European political thought. In addition, expertise in one or more of the following would be welcome: environmental political theory; feminist theory; queer theory; critical race theory; colonialism and postcolonialism; and citizenship.

Among the qualifications required for this appointment is the Ph.D. degree in hand or in progress (ABD). Candidates must demonstrate interest and potential excellence in undergraduate teaching. Successful teaching experience at the college level is desirable.

Within the range established for this position, salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and includes an excellent benefits package.

To apply, candidates should visit the online application site found at <http://jobs.oberlin.edu/postings/7736>.

A complete application will be comprised of 1) a Cover Letter that includes an articulation of the applicant's teaching philosophy; 2) a Curriculum Vitae; 3) Unofficial transcript; 4) Writing Sample; 5) Evidence of Teaching; and, 6) Letters of Reference from three (3) recommenders.

All application materials must be submitted electronically through Oberlin College and Conservatory's online application process at: <https://jobs.oberlin.edu>.

Accepting applications through 10/15/2019.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5655

Bard College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Studies - Political Theory

The Political Studies program at Bard College invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position in Political Theory at the rank of assistant professor, to begin Fall 2020. The search is open to all areas of specialization within Political Theory, though we are seeking candidates whose teaching and research will complement rather than replicate the program's current strengths in Arendtian and American political thought. Applicants should be able to teach courses in canonical traditions of Political Theory, but we especially welcome applications from candidates who can bring critical approaches to the canon, focusing on race, gender and/or non-Western political thought. A candidate who is able to speak across the subfields of Political Science and to the wider social science and humanities communities at the College is especially welcome. Our program's concern with issues of social justice leads us to invest in recruiting colleagues who in their scholarship, teaching and service demonstrate experience with, knowledge of and sensitivity to the needs of culturally diverse populations and who are committed to working with students holding a range of worldviews. The successful candidate will be expected to have completed all the requirements for the doctoral degree by August 2020. Review of applications will begin on September 6, 2019. To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, a teaching portfolio (including sample syllabi and student evaluations), and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/65906>. Candidates who would like to be considered for an optional preliminary interview at APSA should submit their application materials by August 10th. Bard College is a highly selective co-educational liberal arts college located in the Hudson Valley, 90 miles north of New York City. For more information on Bard, visit www.bard.edu. Bard College is an equal opportunity employer and is especially interested in candidates whose record of achievement will contribute to the diversity goals of the institution.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/6/2019

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5821

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business*Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy*Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for tenure-track positions at all ranks beginning September 1, 2020. The positions are for scholars of exceptional caliber who will strengthen the political economy group's research and teaching and make a distinctive programmatic contribution to the Graduate School of Business. The political economy group at the GSB is a collaboration of economists and political scientists. We welcome applications from across political economy and political science broadly construed, both theoretical and empirical, and focusing on developed as well as developing countries. Outstanding research and teaching skills are essential. Applicants at all ranks will be considered and must have a PhD or expect to complete one before September 1, 2020.

Applicants should submit their applications electronically by visiting the web site <http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/recruiting> and uploading their curriculum vitae, research papers and publications, and teaching evaluations, if applicable, on that site. For an application to be considered complete, all applicants must submit a CV, a job market paper and arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted by November 30, 2019. Please note that we will be reviewing and considering applications as they come in. For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to Faculty\_Recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: 11/30/2019Date Posted: 7/22/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5811University of Georgia*Rank: Philip H. Alston, Jr. Distinguished Chair*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for the Philip H. Alston Jr. Distinguished Chair in any substantive area of American politics, methodology, or theory. The start date is slated for August 2020.

Duties include teaching and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate student levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets. Salary is appropriate for an esteemed chaired position. The appointment also includes a substantial endowment for research and development.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or allied field is required. A distinguished record of academic scholarship and of grant-supported research and a standing in political science and the social sciences commensurate with a distinguished university professorship are expected. Leadership roles in the discipline, whether within a university or in the discipline broadly construed, are preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and a list of the names of at least five references. References will only be contacted if a candidate reaches the short list. . Materials should be submitted to the UGA job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/99240> .

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities, and is conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia (UGA), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<http://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,600 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 36,000 students, including over 27,500 undergraduates and over 8,500 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 17 schools and colleges as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 7/5/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 5739Yale-NUS College*Rank: J. Y. Pillay Chairs in the Social Sciences

Appointment J. Y. Pillay Chairs in the Social Sciences

Position Description Yale-NUS College is a liberal arts college of 1000 students, with approximately 100 full-time faculty. The College is a collaboration between the National University of Singapore and Yale University. Yale-NUS students are intellectually elite, with an acceptance rate of <7%, and extremely international, representing 66 countries. They go through a unique and rigorous Common Curriculum that combines Western and Eastern traditions with contemporary skills.

We will appoint two senior scholars as J. Y. Pillay Professors in the Social Sciences. The J. Y. Pillay chairs, established in honour of Professor J. Y. Pillay, an eminent policy maker and corporate leader in Singapore, are for scholars who are at the forefront of research and education in their field. These chairs positions are available for both fulltime tenured and short-term visiting appointments.

We encourage applicants in any field/discipline of the social sciences but are prioritizing political studies in this year's search. We welcome applications from scholars working in all areas of political science, political economy, or political thought, including those whose research bridges different disciplines. We would, for example, be interested to hear from scholars whose work explores tensions between liberal democracy and authoritarian rule, whether as a question for political theory or a subject for empirical research. Regardless of subject, we expect applicants to explain why the research they are doing is significant.

The J Y Pillay Professors will join in developing and teaching our programmes in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE) and Global Affairs. They will also contribute to the College's distinctive Common Curriculum (<http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum>). They will provide academic leadership through their research and teaching by engaging in significant research, teaching well, helping to develop the curriculum in the College, and mentoring other faculty. The College places emphasis on productive and impactful research programs, akin to other top liberal arts colleges in the world.

The appointee will be expected to begin duties in time for the start of the 2020-2021 academic year.

Faculty receive salaries that are competitive with the most prestigious liberal arts colleges in the world, a substantial start-up grant as well as a yearly travel and research allowance, and are able to access additional funding from Yale-NUS, National University of Singapore, and Singapore's Ministry of Education. Most international faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million that is known for its high quality of life and sits at the heart of a vibrant region.

Application Procedure

Applications should consist of the following: a cover letter explaining why the position at Yale-NUS is of interest; a full curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications; statements on research interests, teaching experience, and teaching philosophy, including how these might fit with the College's particular mission and curriculum; names and contact information of three academic referees; and other relevant documents.

Applications should be submitted via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>.

Review of applications begins in August 2019 and continues until the positions are filled. For general enquiries, please email: Enquiry\_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg

Equal Opportunity Employer

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity, and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to continually support these values. For more information about the College, please visit <https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg>

Personal Data Protection Act (PDPA)

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorise the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5748

Yale-NUS College

Rank: Three Tenure-Track or Tenured (open rank: assistant, associate, full and endowed professors) faculty positions in Global Affairs/Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE)

Appointment Three Tenure-Track or Tenured (open rank: assistant, associate, full and endowed professors) faculty positions in Global Affairs/Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE)

Position Description Yale-NUS College is a collaboration between the National University of Singapore and Yale University, offering a liberal arts curriculum combining Western and Eastern traditions with contemporary skills. Our community of 1000 students represent 66 countries and are intellectually elite, with an acceptance rate of &lt;math>7\%</math>. Our 100 full-time faculty teach two small seminars per semester, with a guaranteed pre-tenure sabbatical and generous research support. The College invites outstanding applications for at least three open rank, tenure-track or tenured positions in the social sciences. Candidates would teach in our Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) and / or Global Affairs (GA) majors, as well as in Yale-NUS's flagship common curriculum (<http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum>).

For GA, we particularly welcome applications from scholars who can teach international development or international/comparative political economy or quantitative methods, or who have regional expertise in the Middle East, Africa, or Latin America.

For PPE, evidence of scholarship or teaching that integrates two or more PPE fields (politics, economics, philosophy) would be an asset. Applicants require a PhD in a relevant discipline, such as politics, economics, sociology, development studies, or geography. They should be active researchers with a commitment to creative and effective undergraduate teaching and mentoring. The College places emphasis on productive and impactful research programs, akin to other top liberal arts colleges in the world. The appointee will be expected to begin duties in the 2020-2021 academic year.

Outstanding candidates at the junior level will be considered for the NUS Presidential Young Professorship. Outstanding senior candidates will be considered for a JY Pillay Chair in the Social Sciences - <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/13904>.

Faculty receive highly competitive salaries, a generous start-up grant, and yearly travel and research allowance, with access on a competitive basis to substantial additional grant funding. Most qualify for subsidized housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a vibrant, multicultural city of six million, with a very high quality of life.

Application Procedure

Applications should include a cover letter; a full curriculum vitae; a research statement; a teaching philosophy statement; and teaching evaluations (if available). These should be submitted via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>. The cover letter should: indicate for which position(s) the candidate wishes to be considered, explain the interest in Yale-NUS, and how the candidate's experience and expertise might fit with our mission and curriculum.

Additionally, applicants for the tenure-track position should ensure that three (3) academic referees submit a letter via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>. For tenured positions, applicants should provide names and contact information of three (3) academic referees.

Review of complete applications will begin August 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries should be made to the Social Sciences Divisional Manager at Enquiry\_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg.

Equal Opportunity Employer

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity, and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to continually support these values. For more information about the College, please visit <https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg>

Personal Data Protection Act (PDPA)

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorise the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5747

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in political theory beginning in the fall semester of 2020. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. We seek candidates whose scholarly and teaching interests include American political thought. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in political theory, a course in American political thought, and other courses in the candidate's areas of specialization.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in political theory, but ABD candidates will also be considered with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be completed before the beginning of the second year.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to: Professor Scott Meinke at smeinke@bucknell.edu. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2019.

Candidates who wish to meet for an optional preliminary interview at APSA should email a CV to smeinke@bucknell.edu by August 14 and indicate their expected availability during the conference.

About Bucknell

Founded in 1846 and located along the banks of the Susquehanna River in historic Lewisburg, Pa., Bucknell University is an undergraduate-focused institution that stands uniquely at the intersection of top-ranked liberal arts, engineering and management programs. Our students choose from more than 50 majors and 60 minors in the arts, engineering, humanities, management, and natural and social sciences, as well as extensive global study, service-learning and research opportunities. Bucknell's 3,600 undergraduate and 100 graduate students enjoy a low 9:1 student-faculty ratio and exceptional opportunities to collaborate with faculty mentors.

Bucknell's beautiful 450-acre campus includes first-rate facilities and is home to more than 90 percent of its students. Residential life is vibrant with about 150 student-run organizations, 27 NCAA Division I athletic teams, a robust arts culture, and a strong student commitment to community and global service work.

Bucknell is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, marital status, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from historically underrepresented groups to apply.

The Community

Located in central Pennsylvania, Lewisburg features a variety of restaurants, beautiful Victorian homes, the restored art deco Campus Theatre (owned by the University), charming shops and boutiques, and the Barnes and Noble at Bucknell University Bookstore. About 33,000 residents live in the region.

The city of Williamsport is about a 30-minute drive from campus, and Penn State University's main campus is about an hour away, as is Harrisburg, Pennsylvania's state capital. Bucknell is about three hours from New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

The cost of living here is low compared to that of major U.S. cities and suburbs. Bucknell's surroundings yield fresh produce, cultural activities and events, and many opportunities for outdoor activity on the Susquehanna River and in the nearby state parks and forests. The Lewisburg Area School District receives excellent reviews for its schools at all grade levels. Lewisburg Area High School is consistently ranked among the top 50 high schools in Pennsylvania for SAT scores and statewide exams.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5741

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is seeking to appoint a tenure-track faculty member starting July 1, 2020. We seek a scholar who will serve as a core faculty member in UNC's thriving Philosophy, Politics, and Economics Program and contribute to the Department's normative political theory subfield. The successful candidate will be able to teach political theory courses, have research and teaching interests that include the intersection of philosophy, politics, and economics, and be committed to the value of PPE as an educational and intellectual endeavor. The successful candidate will be expected to teach the core courses in PPE and thus must have a working knowledge of political economy and game theory. Significant promise of research excellence is a necessary condition for consideration, as is evidence of significant skills in teaching. Salary commensurate with qualifications.

Applications from women and minorities are particularly welcome. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes all to apply, including protected veterans and individuals with disabilities. Review of applications will begin October 1st 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

To apply for the position, please follow this link: <http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/163161>. Please include a cover letter, writing sample, curriculum vitae, and evidence of teaching excellence. Candidates are required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of professional references at the time of application (four are required). Recommenders identified by the applicant will be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Applicants may also list the email address of a Graduate Coordinator who will upload their references instead of the referring faculty. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5730

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2020-21. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

While Ph.D. must be in hand, the fellowship is otherwise open as to seniority. Most applicants will be on sabbatical or other leave from an existing faculty position, but it is not a requirement that the applicant already hold a faculty appointment.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <https://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Bred Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by September 16.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 4/9/2019

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 5596

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: Tenure-track Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Foreign Policy

Job Openings for Tenure-track Professor

About the KDI School

KDI School of Public Policy and Management is a graduate school of policy studies founded in 1997 with the support of the Korean government and is the educational arm of the KDI, the nation's most respected economic think tank. KDI has consistently contributed to the government's policy making and implementation, and based on KDI's four decade long research and development consulting experience, our school has been educating public officials and private sector managers from around the globe by providing strategic tools to deal with the growing complexities of the modern world.

As part of the government's policy, KDI School relocated its campus to Sejong City, the new administrative center. With this new proximity to government agencies and research institutes in the area, we expect to enjoy various benefits ranging from calm, pleasant living environment to great synergies achieved through interdisciplinary collaborations.

KDI School is committed to establishing a dynamic framework for knowledge-sharing, where outstanding teaching and research can directly support balanced, sustainable growth in the developing world. To this aim we provide a work environment conducive to academic creativity, offering financial support for research and subsidizing trips to overseas conferences. The school provides relocation assistance and faculty housings on a request and availability basis. All Courses are taught in English.

Position Description

KDI School of Public Policy and Management seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position from those with expertise in the areas of either, International Relations, Innovation / Technology Policy and Management, Environmental Policy and Sustainable Development, Any other Development and Public Policy/Management related Fields. Candidates from economics, public policy, political science, or other closely related fields are invited to apply. Successful candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for research and teaching performance, and can contribute to and benefit from an interdisciplinary environment and interact with colleagues of other fields of social science in our school.

Available Fields

- International Relations
- Innovation / Technology Policy and Management
- Environmental Policy and Sustainable Development
- Any other Development and Public Policy/Management related Fields

of openings: 3

Job Qualifications

An applicant must have a Ph.D. or should be expecting to receive one by September 2019 or 2020 in one of the above-mentioned academic fields.

Application Deadline

All application materials must arrive by October 31, 2019(Korean Standard Time).

Application Requirements

Submit applications electronically to recruit@kdis.ac.kr. Please include;

1. Curriculum vitae (please delete the names of schools where the applicant studied)
2. Cover letter (specify field you're applying for)
3. Research papers (one or two recent working papers or publications)
4. Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the School by the referees.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 9/30/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7249

University of Mount Union

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Mount Union is currently inviting applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position, beginning August 2020.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach three courses per semester (12 credit hours) and must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate education in a liberal arts setting. Primary responsibilities include:

Teaching introductory courses in American Politics, Law and Public Service as well as upper-level courses on American Institutions (Presidency; Congress); Law (e.g. Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Legal Advocacy); and Public Policy. The ability to contribute additional courses in the candidate's area of specialization will be welcome.

- Contributing to the University of Mount Union's Integrative Core curriculum,
- Contributing to the strengthening and expansion of the Political Science curriculum,
- Guiding the growing legal studies program and the new 3-3 BA/JD programs,
- Contributing to the total university community and to civic and community life.
- Additional duties may be set by the department given institutional needs and priorities.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (with a focus on American Politics, Public Policy and/or Law) by time of appointment is required. A J.D. or related degree will be an added plus. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to student-centered teaching and to scholarship

Candidates should provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and three letters of reference to the Political Science Search Committee. Electronic applications are required and can be submitted online at <http://www.mountunion.edu/employment>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Michael Grossman (grossmmo@mountunion.edu) with any questions. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

This position is required to complete assigned University compliance training as communicated by the University.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job. When requested, reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions of the job.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7246

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant or Associate, Health Care Policy & Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University seeks to hire a tenured or tenure track professor in the field of health care policy and management, at either the Assistant or Associate level, beginning in fall 2020.

We are interested in attracting a creative, engaging, and innovative colleague with credentials in health care policy and/or management. We welcome a variety of specializations including but not limited to the financing and delivery of health care; the organization and management of health care delivery systems; the politics of health care policy reform; and the impact of health care policy reform on the delivery of healthcare. Candidates with domestic, international, or comparative perspectives are welcome. Applicants should have an active research agenda and a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a research program, teaching in the department's world-renowned professional master programs, teaching one or more undergraduate courses, mentoring MPA and PhD students, and engaging in service.

Our department is collegial, supportive, and interdisciplinary. We welcome applicants from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to public administration, public management, public policy, health administration, economics, political science, sociology, public health, social work, and other social science fields.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Aging, Behavioral Health, and Neuroscience. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions for a research cluster in the focus area of aging. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Maxwell School, the College of Arts and Sciences, Falk College, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. In addition, the individual will also have the opportunity to become affiliated with one or more of the University's other interdisciplinary research centers such as the University's Aging Studies Institute, Maxwell School's Center of Policy Research or the Maxwell School's Program for Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration. Therefore, a track record of collaborative research output is particularly desirable, and record of success in obtaining research support, particularly from the National Institutes of Health or the National Science Foundation.

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School is home to the world's first master of public administration program, which is ranked first among more than 250 graduate public affairs programs in the United States and has several top-ranked specialties (U.S. News & World Report). The department is also home to a top-ranked master's program in international relations (Foreign Policy magazine), as well as several other programs, including a Ph.D. in public administration, a master's degree in public health, executive master's degrees in public administration and international relations, and a wide range of certificate programs.

To be considered, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/76528>) and attach: a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of professional writing, names and complete contact information for 3 references. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6228

Western Carolina University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science and Public Affairs at Western Carolina University is searching for a nine-month tenure-track assistant professor in Public Administration. The successful candidate will contribute to our NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Affairs Program and our thriving undergraduate program in Political Science. The normal teaching load is three courses per semester and the expectation is that the candidate will teach approximately half of those courses in the MPA and half in our undergraduate program. In addition to teaching excellence, the successful candidate will be expected to maintain a productive and influential research program in public administration and contribute to the department, university, region and profession through meaningful service.

Review of applications will begin October 20, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit vita, cover letter (which should address teaching and research), evidence of teaching effectiveness, a research sample, and the names and contact information for three professional references. Applicants must also attach copies of unofficial transcripts from the highest degree earned. For more information about the department please visit our website at <http://politicalscience.wcu.edu>.

Western Carolina University (WCU) is a 12,000-student campus in the University of North Carolina system that offers 120 areas of study for undergraduates and more than 50 graduate-level programs. The Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accredits WCU to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. Western Carolina University is committed to the Boyer model of scholarship, the stewardship of place, integrated learning, and engagement in our classrooms and in our communities. The campus is located in the picturesque Cullowhee valley between the Great Smoky and Blue Ridge mountains, 50 miles west of Asheville, North Carolina. MPA courses are offered in the evenings at our instructional site in Asheville. The entire region is noted for its excellent quality of life and access to outdoor activities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6204

University of Nebraska, Omaha

Rank: Emergency Management and Disaster Science Chair - Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Political Economy, Constitutional Law & Theory

Faculty Position Announcement

Emergency Management and Disaster Science Chair at the Rank of Associate Professor

School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha

The University of Nebraska at Omaha seeks applicants for a faculty position of Associate Professor/Chair of the Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program, within the School of Public Administration to begin in August 2020. A successful candidate for this position will possess a PhD in Emergency Management or a related field. We are seeking applicants who can provide administrative leadership and faculty expertise in the field of Emergency Management and Disaster Science. Candidates seeking to fill the position should have interests and demonstrated capacity to teach in at least one of the following areas: preparedness and risk management, agency collaboration, law and administration, and response and recovery. A willingness to teach introductory, upper level, and graduate courses in emergency management and offer courses in an on-line format is also required. Candidates must have the demonstrated ability to conduct research in emergency management and disaster science. Potential for externally funded and peer-reviewed published work is also required.

The position offers a teaching load of two courses per semester and a nine-month contract. One course release per year and stipend will be granted for serving as Program Chair. Duties include program administration, teaching, research, and community engagement.

Review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The University and the Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program has a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups and strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply for this position. The University of Nebraska does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, marital status, and/or political affiliation in its programs, activities, or employment.

The UNO Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program is the largest undergraduate emergency management and fire services management program in the state and the only program that offers a Bachelor of Science in Emergency Management, minors in Emergency Management, Fire Services Management, Tribal Management and Emergency Services and an undergraduate certificate in Tribal Management and Emergency Services. The Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program was only initiated seven years ago, but has proven to be one of the fastest expanding academic programs in the Nebraska University System. Currently, the program has three tenure track positions, three instructor lines, a visiting professor, an academic advisor/program coordinator, a student services associate, and a .5 FTE administrative assistant. At the start of the current academic year 2019-2020, the program had 138 BSEM majors and pre-majors, over 100 minors in Emergency Management, Fire Services Management, and Tribal Management and Emergency Services, over 25 Tribal Management and Emergency Services certificate students, 7 MPA students and two PA doctoral students specializing in Emergency Management.

The School of Public Administration boasts a supportive and collaborative academic culture. It is home to one of the longest-accredited MPA programs in the country, enrolling over 200 graduate students, offering the program both online and on campus. The MPA program is ranked among the top 10-percent of all such programs in the upcoming 2019 edition of America's Best Graduate Schools, and is ranked #6 in Public Budgeting and Finance, and #11 in Nonprofit Management. The School is also home to one of the few Ph.D. programs in Public Administration in the Great Plains region; faculty regularly have the opportunity to work with Ph.D. students.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University. We are a metropolitan university, located in the heart of Omaha, which has a population of 463,000. The population of the eight-county metropolitan area is 943,000.

To apply for this position, please go to <http://unomaha.peopleadmin.com/postings/9612>. The application must include: current curriculum vita; a letter addressing experience and qualifications; the names and contact information for three references.

For more information on the program, visit our web page at <http://emgt.unomaha.edu>. For more information on the School, visit our web page at <http://spa.unomaha.edu> or contact the chair of the search committee: Dr. Yu-Che Chen (yuchen@unomaha.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6197

University of Nebraska, Omaha

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor -Local Government Management

The School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha, seeks applicants for a faculty position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with an emphasis in local government management, to begin August 2020. A Ph.D. in Public Administration or a relevant field is required by the employment start date. We seek candidates who will make significant teaching and research contributions in our degree programs, including: Ph.D. in Public Administration, MPA, and Master of Science in Urban Studies. We are looking for someone whose work connects local government to broader governance issues. Preference will be given to candidates who have the ability to teach courses in municipal administration, as well as ethics and/or quantitative research methods/data analytics. The course teaching load for this position is 2:2. Candidates should also be able to teach in both face-to-face and online settings, and demonstrate excellence in research, teaching, and a commitment to community engagement. Review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The School of Public Administration boasts a supportive and collaborative academic culture in our mission to strengthen public service in a democratic and diverse society. We are home to one of the longest-accredited MPA programs in the country, which is offered both online and on campus with an enrollment of approximately 275 students. The MPA program is ranked #8 nationally in local government management, as well as #4 in public finance and budgeting, #11 in nonprofit management, and is in the top 10% of ranked programs overall. The Master of Science in Urban Studies program attracts social entrepreneurs, urban thinkers and agents of change. Our Ph.D. in Public Administration program includes a specialization in Urban Management, and faculty regularly work with our doctoral students.

Community engagement is a strong focus for the School, which is located in the College of Public Affairs and Community Service. We have an active network of local government alumni in the region, and our faculty and students work closely with the Nebraska City/County Management Association as well as the International City/County Management Association. Valuable resources are available for grant and contract opportunities, including the Center for Public Affairs Research, the Center for Collaboration Science, and the Barbara A. Weitz Community Engagement Center.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University, with a student body of about 15,000. We are a metropolitan university, located in the heart of Omaha, which has a population of 463,000. The population of the eight-county metropolitan area is 943,000.

For more information, visit <http://spa.unomaha.edu> or contact the chair of the search committee: Dr. Carol Ebdon at cebdon@unomaha.edu.

To apply for this position, please go to <http://unomaha.peopleadmin.com/postings/9542>. The application must include: current curriculum vita, a letter addressing experience and qualifications, the names and contact information for three references, teaching philosophy statement and summary of teaching evaluations, and a research writing sample.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6190

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration to begin August 16, 2020. Individuals conducting research in Nonprofit Administration, Emergency Management, or Local Government are especially encouraged to apply. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to the department's NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program, with the ability to teach core and elective classes in this program. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, or a closely related field of study is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Xuhong Su (suxuhong@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6185

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor of Public Affairs -- Public Management

The La Follette School of Public Affairs at the University of Wisconsin-Madison is seeking high performing faculty to teach public management, and how public management supports the development and implementation of local, state and federal policies.

Candidates will conduct productive research, be committed teachers, and welcome being part of an inter-disciplinary department dedicated to promoting good public policy. Successful candidates will be expected to teach at the undergraduate and masters/graduate level, lead a scholarly research program, as well as perform university and professional service. Candidates with a strong potential to conduct externally-supported research and research grants are preferred.

The selected scholar will teach core courses in public management, as well as upper-level electives in specialty topics in public management such as: performance management, public sector leadership, nonprofit management, public budgeting, or public policymaking process.

For this position, the strongest candidate will be a scholar who is capable and interested in engaging in public dialogues, including interactions with the media, as well as in advising state and local government officials.

We encourage applicants from public management or public administration traditions. The research and teaching may also include domestic or international public management or public administration.

To begin the application process, please go to jobs.wisc.edu, go to PVL 99400, then click on the 'Apply Now' button and create a profile.

Submit a letter of interest (including research and teaching interests), your curriculum vitae, and a writing sample. You are also asked to provide the name and contact information for three references.

The deadline for assured consideration is October 5, 2019; however, the position will remain open and applications may be considered until it is filled.

The University of Wisconsin is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/5/2019
Date Posted: 9/5/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 6132

New Mexico State University

Rank: Assistant Professor
Specializations: Energy Policy, Environmental Policy, American Politics

The Department of Government at New Mexico State University (Las Cruces) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position (9 month) beginning August 2020 to teach courses in public administration, public policy and/or political science; conduct scholarly research, professional service and outreach to public agencies and groups.

Qualifications:

Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration, D.P.A. or Ph.D. in closely related field such as public affairs or public policy is required. Applicants from other disciplines will not be considered. Degree must be completed before August 2021 but preference will be given to those with degree in hand by August 2020.

Examples of duties:

Areas are open, although candidates capable of teaching graduate courses in nonprofit management, environmental or energy policy issues are preferred.

Candidates should indicate in their application material the mix of graduate and undergraduate courses in the departments programs they are capable of teaching. The successful candidate must possess strong teaching and research skills, ability to work effectively with students, faculty and community leaders, a demonstrated commitment to public service, and an ability to contribute to the department's on-line offerings. Preference will be given to those committed to public administration, and/or experience working in state/local government or the nonprofit sector. We have a strong commitment to increasing faculty diversity. Women and members of underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply. For more information about the department, visit our homepage at <https://deptofgov.nmsu.edu/>

New Mexico State University is a comprehensive land-grant institution of higher learning accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities. An active research university, NMSU anchors the southern end of New Mexico's Rio Grande Research Corridor, exceeding $140 million in research and public service expenditures. NMSU is classified as a Hispanic-serving institution by the federal government with a total minority enrollment over 48%. Home to the state's NASA Space

Grant Program, NMSU is located in Las Cruces, which features desert mesas, the farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley, and the Organ Mountains, an extension of the Rocky Mountain chain. The University is committed to building a culturally diverse educational environment.

Applicants should submit the following to NMSU via its jobs posting website: <https://jobs.nmsu.edu/postings/36459>

- 1) letter describing teaching experience and interests in this position
- 2) current vitae
- 3) writing sample
- 4) evidence of teaching ability
- 5) unofficial transcripts
- 6) three (3) letters of recommendation

For questions regarding the position, contact Dr. Christina Medina, Associate Professor and Chair of Faculty Search Committee at camedina@nmsu.edu

NMSU is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer

Offer of employment is contingent on verification of individual's eligibility for employment in the United States

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/18/2019
Date Posted: 9/4/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 6123

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer
Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Public Administration

FACULTY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT
 PART-TIME

Department: Political Science
 Effective Date of Appointment: Spring 2020

About the University:

One of the largest universities in the country, California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is an urban, comprehensive university that delivers award-winning undergraduate and graduate programs to nearly 40,000 students annually and counts more than 330,000 alumni who elevate Southern California and beyond. Since its founding in 1958, CSUN has made a significant and long-term economic impact on California, generating nearly $1.9 billion in economic impact and more than 11,700 jobs each year. The LAEDC recognized CSUN as its 2015 Eddy Award winner for its positive economic impact. Serving more students on Pell Grants than any other institution in California, CSUN is also a social elevator and one of the most diverse universities in the country. CSUN ranks 13th in awarding bachelor's degrees to traditionally underserved students and enrolls the largest number of students who are Deaf and hard-of-hearing of any U.S. state university. The journal Nature recently named CSUN a Rising Star for scientific research, and the NSF ranks CSUN in the top five nationally among similar institutions for graduates who go on to earn doctorates in the sciences. CSUN is where individuals rise and through them, so does Greater Los Angeles and beyond.

CSUN's Commitment to You:

for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

University of Minnesota

Rank: Advanced Assistant or Associate Professor in Global Policy Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Environmental Policy, International Political Economy

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The School's mission is to inspire, educate, and support innovative leaders to advance the common good in a diverse and changing world. The School is NASPAA-accredited, ranked nationally in the top ten U.S. based schools of public affairs, and widely recognized for examining public issues and shaping public policy and governance at the local, state, national, and international levels. The Humphrey School works to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages faculty applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

With this current search, the Humphrey School seeks to hire a tenure-track advanced Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor eligible for tenure at the University of Minnesota whose research, scholarship, academic leadership and service focus broadly on global policy. Evidence of established scholarship with the potential for contributions of national and international significance is required for candidates at the pre-tenure assistant professor level. Appointment at the tenured level of associate professor requires evidence of excellence and national/international policy-relevant impact in scholarly research, teaching and service.

The successful candidate must have strong, demonstrated applied research and teaching interests in comparative foreign policy, international relations, international economics and trade policy, and/or global environmental policy. Candidates with specific country expertise and strong regional and/or international interests will also be considered. Although the tenure home and position will be at the Humphrey School, there are ample opportunities to collaborate and affiliate with scholars in departments across the University of Minnesota.

Candidates must be committed to scholarly and policy-relevant research at the highest levels; willing and able to teach in the School's core curriculum; provide leadership to its established public policy Masters and public affairs Ph.D. programs; be willing to help prepare students for professional careers; and function collaboratively in a multi- and inter-disciplinary environment.

A Ph.D. is required in public policy, international relations, development studies, economics, political science, political economy, sociology or related fields with a focus on international policy and global affairs. The Humphrey School is especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated interest in public policy, broadly construed, whose approach to teaching and research is both innovative and inclusive in terms of race, gender, class and ethnicity.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement and three samples of recent research (publications or manuscripts), teaching statement, and the names/addresses of three references (reference letters will be requested for short-listed candidates). All candidates must hold a PhD by the time of employment.

All interested candidates must apply online. Applications will be reviewed beginning October 7, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Select the link to access our careers site.
2. Sign In to access your account or if you are not an existing user select the New User link to create one.
3. Review the job description and select the Apply button to begin your application.

<https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/ext/332091>

If you are a current employee of our organization please use the following link instead:

<https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/int/332091>

Address cover letter to: Search Committee for Global Policy, Humphrey School of Public Affairs, c/o Human Resources Department, 301-19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Salary will be commensurate with experience. Benefits include health, dental, faculty life/disability insurance, retirement, and social security. The starting date for this appointment is August 24, 2020 or as soon thereafter as possible.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6023

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020.

This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

University of Miami

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Miami invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of public administration. We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality scholarship in any subfield of public administration and/or public management. The ideal candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching and will be able to contribute to both our Masters of Public Administration (MPA) and undergraduate major in public administration. Applicants should also be able to teach at least one course in our forthcoming Masters of Public Policy (MPP) program. The expected teaching assignment is 2-2. Candidates should have a PhD or anticipate PhD completion by August 15, 2020 in public administration, public management, political science, or a related field.

Interested applicants may apply online at www.miami.edu/careers. Applicants should upload documents including a CV; a cover letter; a one-page teaching statement with a list of possible courses the applicant could teach, including but not limited to our existing course offerings; a PhD transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application); a writing sample; as well as three reference letters to be submitted via this site as well. Applications received on or before Monday, October 21, 2019, will be given full consideration, though the committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. For further information about the position, please contact the Department Chair (Gregory Koger, gkoger@miami.edu) or Search chair (Jonathan West, jwest@miami.edu). Additional information about the Department is available at <http://www.as.miami.edu/politicalscience/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/12/2019

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 5934

University of Kentucky

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration at the University of Kentucky is seeking a faculty member at any rank beginning in August 2020. We seek outstanding scholars with a degree in Economics, Political Science, Public Policy, or Sociology who can contribute to our Ph.D., professional master's degrees, or our new undergraduate degree. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in a substantive policy such as health, environmental, or social policy.

The Martin School is consistently ranked as one of the top 25 public policy schools and is a University Center of Excellence with a multidisciplinary faculty offering five degrees: Master of Public Administration, Master of Public Policy, Master of Public Financial Management, Ph.D. in Public Policy and Administration, or our undergraduate public policy degree.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Review of applications will begin immediately. All interested applicants should send an online application at <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/236741>. Please include a letter of application and a curriculum vitae.

Inquiries are encouraged and should be submitted Dr. Ron Zimmer, search committee chair, at ron.zimmer@uky.edu. Interviews will be held at the APPAM meetings. For more information about the Martin School, please visit <http://www.martin.uky.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5920

University of Kentucky

Rank: Faculty Position, Public and Nonprofit Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration at the University of Kentucky seeks applications for a position in public management beginning as early as spring, 2020 and no later than fall, 2020. The position will carry tenure at the rank of associate or professor. Ideal candidates will apply public management scholarship to a substantive area such as environmental, health, social policy, or nonprofit management. We seek outstanding scholars who can contribute to our Ph.D. program, our professional master's degree programs, and/or a new undergraduate degree in public policy.

The Martin School is consistently ranked as one of the top 25 public policy schools and is a University Center of Excellence with a multidisciplinary faculty.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled with review of applications beginning September 3, 2019. Interested applicants should submit a UK Online Application at <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/236750> Please include a CV, letter of interest, and contact information for three references along with application.

Inquiries should be submitted to Eugenia F. Toma, search committee chair, at Eugenia.toma@uky.edu. For more information about the Martin School, please visit <http://www.martin.uky.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5921

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned Ph.D. or DPA in Public Administration, Political Science, or a closely related field from an accredited institution is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of successful teaching at the undergraduate level.
- 3) Evidence of experience teaching American government courses.
- 4) Documented research and scholarship in public administration in one or more of the following areas: third-sector and non-profit management; information technology, e-governance, m-governance; and/or public sector organizational communication.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful experience teaching Public Administration courses at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of successful teaching using high impact practices, including, but not limited to: writing intensive curriculum, collaborative assignments and projects, diversity exploration, and/or community-based learning.
- 3) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate may be required to teach an introductory American government course, undergraduate upper division public administration courses, and graduate level public administration courses.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics and international relations. The department is one of 15 departments within the College of Natural and Social Sciences, which supports the academic programs for 6000 students and 660 instructional personnel. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, who participate in University governance and serve in numerous student advisory capacities. We have a very robust public administration program and congenial faculty who are strongly committed to a long-range strategic vision that links our urban focus with global issues and opportunities. Our highly regarded NASPAA-accredited MPA program, which serves Southern California, has become an important resource for government and nonprofit agencies seeking graduates with skills in all areas of public administration, including policy analysis, budgetary process and financial administration, human resource management, program and policy evaluation, and intergovernmental and intersectoral relations. In a given year, well over half of our 90+ MPA students are employed professionals seeking an MPA for purposes of advancement to managerial positions.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.

- 4) A list of three professional references.
 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:
 Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:
 Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Public Administration Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair Jessica DeShazo at: jdeshaz@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

In addition to meeting fully its obligations under federal and state law, Cal State LA is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual. To that end, all qualified individuals will receive equal consideration without regard to economic status, race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, pregnancy, national origin or cultural background, political views, sex, sexual orientation, gender identification, age, disability, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran status.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/TITLE IX EMPLOYER

Upon request, reasonable accommodation will be provided to individuals with protected disabilities to (a) complete the employment process and (b) perform essential job functions when this does not cause undue hardship.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5897

Appalachian State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Government and Justice Studies at Appalachian State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Administration at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning Fall semester 2020. Areas of interest are open, however, there is a particular interest for candidates with expertise in Human Resource Management. Professional experience in Public Administration, particularly at the local or state level and/or in non-profit management, is desired. A doctorate in Public Administration, Political Science, or a related discipline is required at the time of appointment. A J.D. is not sufficient for this position.

The teaching load is three courses per semester for faculty who maintain an active research agenda. Responsibilities include instruction at the graduate and undergraduate levels, an active program of scholarship, instruction at on-campus and off-campus sites, student advising, and participation in service activities.

The Master of Public Administration program is NASPAA-accredited and has over 60 students, most of whom specialize in local government or non-profit administration (see mpa.appstate.edu). The Department houses undergraduate programs in criminal justice and political science and graduate programs in political science and public administration. Additional information about the Department of Government and Justice Studies can be found at <http://gjs.appstate.edu>.

Appalachian State University, in North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains, prepares students to lead purposeful lives as global citizens who understand and engage their responsibilities in creating a sustainable future for all. The transformational Appalachian experience promotes a spirit of inclusion that brings people together in inspiring ways to acquire and create knowledge, to grow holistically, to act with passion and determination, and embrace diversity and difference. As one of 17 campuses in the University of North Carolina system, Appalachian enrolls about 19,000 students, has a low student-to-faculty ratio and offers more than 150 undergraduate and graduate majors.

The initial review of applications will begin on September 9, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants must send a completed application consisting of a letter outlining teaching and research interests, a current vitae, a transcript from the doctoral-granting institution, and recommendation letters from three references. References will not be contacted without prior notice to the candidate. Applications and inquiries should be sent to Dr. Kathryn Webb Farley at pubadmsearch@appstate.edu.

Proper documentation of identity and employability will be required before the hiring process can be finalized. Any offer of employment to a successful candidate will be conditioned upon the University's receipt of a satisfactory criminal background report. For more information, please visit <http://www.hrs.appstate.edu/employment/epa-jobs/academic-affairs>.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5868

SUNY, University at Albany

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

About University at Albany:
 Established in 1844 and designated a University Center of the State University of New York in 1962, the University at Albany's broad mission of excellence in undergraduate and graduate education, research and public service engages a diverse student body of more than 17,900 students in nine schools and colleges across three campuses.

Located in Albany, New York, New York State's capital, the University is convenient to Boston, New York City and the Adirondacks.

Rockefeller College is part of the University at Albany. The college is home to a diverse group of scholars interested in teaching and research on issues of importance in the public and nonprofit sectors. Ranked 21st overall by US News and World Report, the Department of Public Administration and Policy offers an undergraduate major, a Master of Public Administration (MPA), and a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Policy. The department is nationally ranked in information technology management, public management, public policy analysis, non-profit management, and public finance and budgeting. We actively seek and support demographic diversity in our faculty and student body. To learn more about the Department, visit our website at <https://www.albany.edu/rockefeller/pad.shtml>.

Job Description:

The Department of Public Administration and Policy at the University at Albany's Rockefeller College of Public Affairs and Policy invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor beginning fall 2020. Applicants must possess a specialization in public budgeting, public finance, and /or public financial management. The ideal candidates must be committed to excellence in scholarly research and should be effective teachers. Faculty in Rockefeller College are expected to pursue an active research program, teach and supervise undergraduate and graduate students, and engage in service activities.

We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality research and who employ a variety of methodological approaches. Applicants must have a research agenda that demonstrates a substantial, on-going interest in government and the public sector. Candidates are expected to teach core undergraduate and graduate courses as well as courses that are specific to the Department's public financial concentration.

Candidates are expected to teach core undergraduate and graduate courses as well as courses that are specific to the Department's public financial concentration.

Requirements:

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Public Administration, Public Affairs, or an allied field such as Economics or Finance from a college or university accredited by a US Department of Education or internationally recognized accrediting organization. The degree must be completed on or before September 1, 2020
- A trajectory that suggests a tenurable research record
- Ability to teach core public budgeting and financial management graduate and undergraduate courses
- Ability and willingness to mentor graduate and undergraduate students
- Potential to fulfill the mission of Rockefeller College
- Excellent communication skills: ability to communicate effectively orally and in writing
- Applicants must address in their applications their ability to work with culturally diverse populations

Preferred Qualifications:

- Ability to teach undergraduate statistics courses
- Experience in the practice of public or managerial finance
- Experience seeking grants

Additional Information:

Professional Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Salary Range: Salary will be commensurate with the candidate's experience and qualifications

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, or Clery Act, mandates that all Title IV institutions, without exception, prepare, publish and distribute an Annual Security Report. This report consists of two basic parts: disclosure of the University's crime statistics for the past three years; and disclosures regarding the University's current campus security policies. The University at Albany's Annual Security Report is available in portable document format [PDF] by clicking this link <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.shtml>

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online via <http://albany.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=113096>

Applicants MUST submit the following documents:

- A cover letter addressed to Edmund C. Stazyk, Chair of the Search Committee; stating how they meet all the required minimum qualifications and any of the applicable preferred qualifications
- Curriculum vitae
- A writing sample
- Teaching evaluations, if applicable
- Three letters of recommendation
- Graduate transcripts must be emailed to PADsearch@Albany.edu

Note: After submitting your curriculum vitae, the subsequent pages give you instructions for uploading additional documents (i.e. cover letter etc.).

See the FAQ for using our online system. Please contact us if you need assistance applying through this website.

Returning Applicants - Login to your UAlbany Careers Account to check your completed application.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5843

University of Missouri, St. Louis

Rank: Nonprofit Management and American Politics

The University of Missouri-St. Louis invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level with expertise in the areas of Nonprofit Management & Leadership and in American Politics. The ability to teach a graduate course in quantitative methods is desirable. The person filling this position will have an appointment in the Political Science department and the NASPAA-accredited Public Policy Administration program within Political Science. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Nonprofit Management, Public Administration, Political Science, or a closely related field by the date of the appointment, August 15, 2020.

We seek an active scholar oriented to research and publication, high-quality teaching and community engagement. The department is also interested in candidates whose research and teaching interests respect and integrate a variety of methodological approaches. The normal teaching load, assuming an active research agenda, is two courses per semester. Salary is competitive.

The Department of Political Science

The mission of the Department of Political Science is to promote greater understanding of politics, government, and public policy by creating new knowledge, bringing new perspectives to existing knowledge, and disseminating scholarship to students and to the regional, national, and global communities. We offer a BA, an MA and a PhD in Political Science, a BA in International Relations, and a BS and a Master's in Public Policy Administration. Our department has a special responsibility to anchor our community with objective knowledge, civility, empathy, and democratic engagement; faculty work with UMSL's Community Innovation and Action Center and with community organizations.

The department maintains a high, steady level of quality publication of peer reviewed books, articles and chapters. The UMSL Political Science faculty rank about in the top ten percent of faculty in peer departments in all Public and Carnegie R-2 universities. The department also emphasizes first-rate teaching, and faculty have received numerous teaching awards. UMSL Political Scientists are very active, very visible representatives of the campus who are actively engaged in our community. The department's long-standing commitment to inclusion is reflected in the diversity of its faculty, students, and curriculum.

The University of Missouri–St. Louis

Established in 1963 in suburban St. Louis, UMSL is the largest public university in eastern Missouri with a current enrollment of over 16,000 in day and evening sessions. This metropolitan research and teaching institution is consistently recognized for its strong programs across disciplines, and it is considered a primary driver of the St. Louis economy, providing industries with educated and capable employees and leaders. UMSL is committed to meeting the diverse needs in the state's largest metropolitan community and, accordingly, is educating traditional and nontraditional students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs so they are prepared to be leaders in health professions; liberal and fine arts; science and technology; and in metropolitan and international affairs such as business, education and public policy. UMSL is a leader in partnerships with key institutions in the St. Louis Region. Alliances and programs have resulted from collaborations with the Missouri Botanical Garden, Saint Louis Zoo, St. Louis Science Center, Danforth Plant Science Center, and many others.

UMSL is one of four institutions in the University of Missouri land-grant system and is classified as RU-H (high research activity) and as a Community Engaged Campus by Carnegie rankings. Both the campus and the College of Arts and Science are committed to an inclusive campus community that values and respects all its members and achieves educational excellence through diversity. We encourage applications from individuals from diverse and minority backgrounds, including individuals with disabilities and veterans. For further information about UMSL, please see: <http://www.umsl.edu/proud/index.html>.

The Search Process

Applicants must apply online at www.umsl.jobs and submit a cover letter outlining qualifications and interests, and a CV. Applicants also should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be sent to David Robertson, Chair, Department of Political Science, One University Blvd., St. Louis, MO, 63121. Review of applications will begin on October 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Anticipated start date is August 15, 2020. Inquiries and nominations for the position can be sent to David Robertson (daverobertson@umsl.edu).

umsl.edu). The University of Missouri-St. Louis is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5757

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

University of Copenhagen

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant Professorship(s) in Public Administration and Public Policy

We invite applications for one or more positions as Tenure Track Assistant Professor at the Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Copenhagen. The position(s) are available from 1 March 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter.

Applications are sought from eminent candidates, who can enhance the Department's research, education and societal impact in public administration and public policy.

For more on the Department and its pluralistic academic environment, please consult our webpage: <http://politicalscience.ku.dk/about/>

Job Description

General duties attached to the position as Assistant Professor are:

- Research within the field of public administration and public policy
- Teaching, supervision and examination of undergraduate and post-graduate students

- Administrative tasks
- Knowledge sharing with the rest of the society

Emphasis will be put on the applicant's ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the Department through conducting and publishing outstanding quality research, engaging in high quality teaching, disseminate knowledge and make a knowledge-based societal impact. An assistant professor is expected to develop competences and experience within research, teaching and dissemination. In time, the assistant professor should develop competences to attract funding within his or her specialist area.

An assistant professorship is a further-education post. Supervision as well as pedagogical training is provided. The position(s) will be covered by the tenure track programme at the University of Copenhagen. The programme offers tenure-track candidates a contract of six years that can result in a tenured associate professorship. For additional information about assistant professorships, tenure-track assistant professorships and the Job Structure for Academic Staff at the University, see: <http://employment.ku.dk/faculty/career-at-upch/> and: <http://employment.ku.dk/tenure-track/tenure-track-at-ucph/>

Qualifications

Essential Qualifications

To be qualified for the position the applicant must have a PhD in Political Science or equivalent academic qualifications as well as:

- An aspiration to increase our understanding of the world and its problems based on a proven record of outstanding research, as evidenced primarily by a well-received PhD dissertation and an emerging international reputation based on a publication profile that complements the existing research strengths of the Department
- A commitment to contribute to the delivery of an excellent student experience based on a track record of excellence in teaching in one or more of the main areas covered by the Department. The Department prefers candidates, who can cover more than one of the main courses taught at BSc level.
- An engagement in knowledge exchange and policy-impact in Denmark as well as in an international context. We encourage proactive engagement with government, business and community partners to enhance the impact of research and education and improve the employability of our students.
- Robust interpersonal skills which enables the candidate to be a constructive and empathic colleague in a diverse and vibrant working environment.

We will expect candidates to present a clear, well-developed and viable strategy for future outstanding research that will result in further world-leading publications, external research funding as well as a commitment to innovate teaching.

Information

Additional information can be obtained from acting Head of Department, Professor MSO Jacob Gerner Hariri Tel. +45 35 32 35 67: institutleder@ifs.ku.dk

The deadline for applications, including enclosures is 1 October 2019 (at Noon 12.00 Danish Time)

Please note: Applications cannot be based on this extract. Click here for full announcement: <https://employment.ku.dk/faculty/>

Apply

<https://candidate.hr-manager.net/ApplicationForm/SinglePageApplicationForm.aspx?cid=1307&departmentId=18992&ProjectId=149460&MediaId=4638>

Part of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU), and among Europe's top-ranking universities, the University of Copenhagen promotes research and teaching of the highest international standard. Rich in tradition and modern in outlook, the University gives students and staff the opportunity to cultivate their talent in an ambitious and informal environment. An effective organisation – with good working conditions and a collaborative work culture – creates the ideal framework for a successful academic career.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 6/13/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5689

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2019. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2019 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 31, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/5/2018

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 4971

PUBLIC LAW

University of Mount Union

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Mount Union is currently inviting applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position, beginning August 2020.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach three courses per semester (12 credit hours) and must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate education in a liberal arts setting. Primary responsibilities include:

Teaching introductory courses in American Politics, Law and Public Service as well as upper-level courses on American Institutions (Presidency; Congress); Law (e.g. Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Legal Advocacy); and Public Policy. The ability to contribute additional courses in the candidate's area of specialization will be welcome.

- Contributing to the University of Mount Union's Integrative Core curriculum,
- Contributing to the strengthening and expansion of the Political Science curriculum,
- Guiding the growing legal studies program and the new 3-3 BA/ JD programs,
- Contributing to the total university community and to civic and community life.
- Additional duties may be set by the department given institutional needs and priorities.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (with a focus on American Politics, Public Policy and/or Law) by time of appointment is required. A J.D. or related degree will be an added plus. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to student-centered teaching and to scholarship

Candidates should provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and three letters of reference to the Political Science Search Committee. Electronic applications are required and can be submitted online at <http://www.mountunion.edu/employment>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Michael Grossman (grossmmo@mountunion.edu) with any questions. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

This position is required to complete assigned University compliance training as communicated by the University.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job. When requested, reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions of the job.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7246

University of Alabama at Birmingham

Rank: Assistant Professor – Public Law

Subfield: Public Law

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (UAB) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law, starting August 2020. We seek candidates with teaching and research expertise in any area relating to the study of law and legal institutions. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or completed Ph.D. in-hand by August 2020), a promising research agenda, a commitment to quality instruction, and a capacity to work collaboratively to achieve the department's vision and strategic goals.

The Department offers a B.A. in Political Science as well as a NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration (MPA) degree, and plays a key role in servicing and developing programs in International Studies, Pre-Law, Women's and Gender Studies, and Human Rights. Currently the department has approximately 95 Political Science and 70 International Studies undergraduate majors, 80 Public Administration graduate students, and 11 full-time faculty members, with anticipated growth in the next few years. See the departmental website for more information (<https://www.uab.edu/cas/pspa/>).

With over 22,000 students and 2,200 full-time faculty members, UAB ranks in the top 15 public universities for federal research funding and is the major teaching-research university in the state. UAB ranks in the top ten nationally for student diversity, with over one hundred countries represented on campus. Birmingham is the largest city in Alabama and offers a vibrant cultural community with a wide array of recreational opportunities.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, statements on research and teaching interests, and a list of three references. Applicants will apply at: <http://uab.peopleadmin.com/postings/5507>. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Erin Borry, Search Committee Chair, at borry@uab.edu.

Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or completed Ph.D. in hand by August 2020), with teaching and research expertise in any area relating to the study of law and legal institutions.

UAB is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer committed to fostering a diverse, equitable and family-friendly environment in which all faculty and staff can excel and achieve work/life balance irrespective of, race, national origin, age, genetic or family medical history, gender, faith, gender identity and expression as well as sexual orientation. UAB also encourages applications from individuals with disabilities and veterans. A pre-employment background check investigation is performed on candidates selected for employment.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6218

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position ID: F00176P

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, focusing on American politics and public law/judicial politics, beginning August 2020. Completed Ph.D. is preferred although A.B.D.s will be considered. Scholars with a focus on the US Supreme Court/federal courts are especially invited to apply.

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive policy courses in their area of expertise, to contribute to the Department's pre-law curriculum, to participate in pre-law advising, and to teach introductory courses, core undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate to the rank. Salary is competitive. Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service.

Arlington, Texas is centrally located to major cultural, sporting, and entertainment venues, situated in the heart of the Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan area, with over 6 million residents and more than twenty municipalities (<http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities><http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities>). The University of Texas at Arlington campus is a short twenty-minute drive to DFW International Airport, downtown Fort Worth and downtown Dallas. The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols><http://www.uta.edu/pols>) and <https://www.facebook.com/POLSatUTArlington> offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over two hundred and forty undergraduate majors and minors and twenty to thirty graduate students.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) provide a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) one writing sample, and 4) names and contact information of three professional references. Screening will begin immediately upon receipt of a completed application. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

UT Arlington is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The use of tobacco products is prohibited on UT Arlington properties. A criminal background check will be conducted on finalists.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6192

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Political Science

About Mills College:

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top masters universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As <https://www.mills.edu/uniquely-mills/facts-about-mills.php> in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit <https://www.mills.edu/>

Job Description:

The Department:

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

The Position:

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

Requirements:

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Additional Information:

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant's background check must be cleared.

Application Instructions:

To apply, submit the following documents at <https://apptrkr.com/1613827>

- Employee Application
- Resume
- Cover Letter and
- Contact Information for 3 References

Qualified applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly research, teaching portfolio (sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy), and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin October 18.

Please note that you can only upload 6 "Other" documents. You can consolidate multiple pages/documents into one file upload. The file size limit for each upload is 10Mb.

Review of applicants will begin immediately; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6184

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

California State University Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at California State University, Channel Islands has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation, and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

The Department of Political Science at CSU Channel Islands invites applications for a tenure-track position in public law and judicial politics.

- Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

- The ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

- We are deeply committed to creating a diverse and inclusive department. Applications from historically underrepresented groups are encouraged.

Applicants should submit documentation that illustrates a student-centered approach to teaching, a commitment to interdisciplinarity, and evidence of potential or actual research achievements.

Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science

Extensive training in judicial politics and American law

Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education

Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity

Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics

Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

As a condition of employment, this position will require a background check. The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

Preferred Qualifications:

Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy, is desirable

Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research

Active participation in the life of the department and university

Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses

Ability to cope with ambiguity

For more information and to apply online please visit our website at: www.csucifacultyjobs.com; Application review begins on 10/07/2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/7/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6168

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Political Science Department at California State University seeks applicants for the position of Assistant Professor specializing in Public Law.

--Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

--Applicants whose primary field of study is Political Philosophy or Theory are discouraged from applying. However, the ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

Our department has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

CSU Channel Islands is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with a special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications

--Ph.D. in Political Science

--Extensive training in judicial politics and American law

--Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education

--Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity

--Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics

--Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Preferred Qualifications

--Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy

--Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research

--Active participation in the life of the department and university

--Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses

--Ability to cope with ambiguity

Apply online: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6161

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Apply at: <https://mills.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=115636>

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top master's universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6166

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Public Law - Full Professor

The Government Department at the University of Texas at Austin is seeking to hire a leading scholar in Public Law, for a tenured position at the rank of Full Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The search is open to scholars working in any specialty within the field of Public Law, broadly defined. Duties will include undergraduate and graduate teaching, research, and service to the Department, the College of Liberal Arts, and the University.

The successful candidate will have a highly distinguished scholarly record of publication, a record of teaching excellence, and demonstrated excellence in intellectual and institutional leadership. The Department is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and service. The application should highlight experience working with diverse populations; examples might include mentoring activities, research interests, committee service, courses taught, recruitment and retention activities.

UT Austin is committed to addressing the family needs of faculty, including dual-career couples and single parents.

Salary is highly competitive and commensurate with rank, experience and qualifications.

Applicants must have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment.

Applicants should upload a vitae, examples of scholarly work, and teaching materials. The department will begin reviewing applications on October 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Applicants must apply through Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68321>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6164

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

American Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of American Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarly research on American politics, including but not limited to political behavior, political institutions, identity politics, American political development, and/or American political thought. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor. Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8344>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jee-willi@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6045

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science with focus on Public Law

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:
Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6014

Rutgers University, Camden

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor – Public Law, Political Theory

Rutgers University – Camden Campus

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor – Public Law, Political Theory

The Political Science Department at Rutgers University-Camden invites applications for a full time, tenure track appointment at the rank of assistant or associate professor. Teaching responsibilities will be two classes per semester in the fields of Political Theory and Public Law, including an array of courses on the Constitution and Legal Process. The successful candidate will also provide pre-law advising to undergraduate students and contribute to the department's minor in Legal Studies. Ph.D. must be awarded no later than June 30, 2020.

The Camden Campus is a unit of Rutgers University and as such all applicants must demonstrate a record of scholarly potential commensurate with expectations at a public research university. Rutgers-Camden places a high value on providing meaningful undergraduate opportunities for research <http://fas.camden.rutgers.edu/student-experience/undergraduate-research/curca/> and for civic engagement <http://www.camden.rutgers.edu/office-civic-engagement>.

The Political Science Department includes nine full-time faculty members serving approximately 250 majors. While the course load, research support, and publishing expectations reflect those of a large research institution, our class size and commitment to individualized attention, especially in our departmental honors program, reflect the advantages of a smaller liberal arts environment. Camden is located directly across the Delaware River from Philadelphia, offering a diversity of transportation, housing, cultural and educational options. Candidates should submit the following materials electronically to Ms. Lisa Alston, lisa.alston@rutgers.edu: (1) a letter of interest emphasizing teaching experience as well as research accomplishments and agenda; (2) a CV; (3) three letters of reference; and (4) an unofficial transcript documenting doctoral studies to date. Please be sure to submit documents as pdf files or MS Word documents. Hiring for this position is contingent on final University funding approval. The Department will be interviewing candidates at the APSA meetings and applications will be accepted until October 15, 2019. Rutgers is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The University and our Department seek to attract diverse faculty and staff of the highest caliber. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5940

North Carolina State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Judicial Politics, American Politics, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science in North Carolina State University's School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA) invites applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position beginning August 2020. We seek candidates with research and teaching expertise in American judicial politics. The strongest candidates also will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in comparative judicial politics.

Primary teaching responsibilities will be at the undergraduate level in the department's Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in Political Science. Faculty with relevant interests may also teach in the department's Master of International Studies program. Candidates interested in teaching social science methodology should note that interest in their applications.

Applicants must have a PhD in Political Science or a related field and must demonstrate evidence of teaching excellence, strong research and publication skills, and future research productivity. Applicants who can thrive in, and help foster, a diverse research and learning environment are especially encouraged to apply. Examples of mentorship are welcome as part of the application packet.

The Department of Political Science prides itself on high quality research and teaching. We aim to promote faculty success through close mentoring for junior faculty, supportive departmental research colloquia, and regular support for collaborative research. As a land grant institution, we welcome scholars who seek to engage with contemporary public debates.

NC State is located in Raleigh, N.C., the state capital and heart of the Research Triangle. It is also home to the NC Supreme Court, the NC Appeals Court, and the US District Court for Eastern North Carolina. Raleigh regularly is ranked as one of the nation's best places to live and work. The university is consistently ranked among the top 50 public universities in the country.

The ability to carry out an original research agenda in political science. Strong commitment to excellence in teaching is expected. Excellent communication skills.

If available, applicants should also attach sample syllabi and teaching evaluations. In addition, applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation and transcripts sent to the Search Committee Chair.

Information requests may be addressed to :
Dr. James Zink, jrzink@ncsu.edu,
Chair, Assistant Professor position, Department of Political Science
Campus Box 8102,
NC State University,
Raleigh, NC 27695-8102.
Teaching experience in Political Science at the college level, and demonstrated evidence of teaching excellence. You may apply at <http://jobs.ncsu.edu/postings/121447>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/2/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5892

University of Oregon

Rank: Pro Tem Instructor - Pool

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oregon seeks qualified applicants for its open instructor pool. The pool is for part-time, temporary, limited duration teaching appointments not to exceed one year, but with the possibility of renewal for up to a total of three years.

The department anticipates hiring an instructor with expertise in politics of law. The instructional assignment will include PS 275 Legal Process, which is typically taught as a broad introduction to the politics of law. It could also include PS 484 Supreme Court. The appointment may be for part of the academic year, such as two courses in one term, and could thus begin in January 2020 (starting in Winter term) or April 2020 (Spring term).

The department welcomes applicants with broad expertise in the field to fill additional temporary and emergency instructional needs that may occur throughout the academic year.

Please apply online with a CV, cover letter describing teaching experience, academic transcripts, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations (if available), and three references.

Applications will be accepted on a continuous basis. Screening of applications will take place as positions become available and continue until positions are filled.

Initial application review will begin August 25, 2019.

View full details and apply at careers.uoregon.edu/cw/en-us/job/524365/pro-tem-instructor-open-pool

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5885

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position - Advertisement
Department of Political Science
The University of Tennessee

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in Public Law to begin Fall 2020. Area of specialization in Public Law and field within Political Science are open. We are particularly interested in applicants who use rigorous analytical approaches to address substantively important questions including but not limited to issues of race, gender, and/or inequality in the law or legal processes. The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). Preference will be shown for applicants with teaching and research interests that complement existing departmental interests and strengths, have a capacity for attracting extramural funding, demonstrate evidence of or potential for college/university teaching excellence, and exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion. The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: <http://web.utk.edu/~polisci>.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66892>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5863

North Central College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at North Central College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in political science with emphasis in public law, judicial politics, law and society, or comparative law to begin Fall 2020. Ph.D. must be in hand by August 1, 2020. Our department is committed to preparing students to contribute meaningfully to a democracy, while at the same time understanding the nuance of political equality and civic participation. We value diversity and are committed to social justice, equity, and inclusiveness. Experience working with historically marginalized and underserved communities will be weighed in a candidate's favor.

Applicants should have teaching experience and show potential for excellence in undergraduate teaching and scholarship. In addition to teaching courses in law (Introduction to Law, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties), a candidate should be prepared to teach the introductory course in American government and contribute to the department's methodology courses. The department expects that the successful candidate will also develop courses in their areas of expertise. There will be additional opportunities for the successful candidate to contribute to North Central's tradition of interdisciplinary learning.

Founded in 1861, North Central College is a selective, comprehensive liberal arts institution of about 3000 students, located 28 miles west of Chicago in Naperville. The College is in a period of growth with the addition of a $60 million Science Center opened in March 2017. The college is within walking distance of the Naperville Metra station and is next to downtown Naperville. The Naperville area is home to many excellent school districts and Naperville, IL has been ranked as one of the best places to live by Money magazine. For more information, please visit: <http://www.noctrl.edu>.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of scholarly interest, evidence of teaching effectiveness and three letters of recommendation in an electronic format.

To apply on line copy and paste link below into browser: <https://northcentralcollege.peopleadmin.com/postings/6584>

For further information, please email Dr. William Muck, Chair of Political Science, at wjmuck@noctrl.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5857

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Politics with expertise in American public law. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law. This candidate will serve as the institution's pre-law faculty advisor and previous experience with applied legal practice/education is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. or J.D. by the time of appointment, although a Ph.D. is preferred. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by September 15, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65555>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greatkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5787

California State University, San Bernardino

Rank: Assistant Professor, Constitutional Law and American Politics

POSITION: Assistant Professor

START DATE: August 17, 2020

SALARY: Dependent on qualifications and expertise

APPLICATION DEADLINE: November 1, 2019

SUBFIELD: Constitutional Law and American Politics

RANK AND QUALIFICATIONS: Tenure-track Assistant Professor. Candidates must hold Ph.D. at time of employment and demonstrate evidence of teaching and research promise.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

The Department of Political Science at California State University, San Bernardino seeks applicants for a tenure-track position with primary expertise in the fields of Constitutional Law, including civil liberties and civil rights, and American Politics, including political institutions and public policy, to begin August, 2020. A Ph.D. is required at the time of appointment. We expect successful candidates for this tenure-track position to teach courses in Constitutional Law and American Politics. The successful candidate will teach a variety of upper-division courses in these and related areas of specialization and also teach lower-division American Government courses. In addition, the candidate may be asked to teach graduate courses. The successful candidate will produce scholarly research and provide service to the university and community.

California State University, San Bernardino (CSUSB) is located in San Bernardino in the Inland Empire, 60 miles east of Los Angeles and operates a satellite campus in Palm Desert located in Coachella Valley. CSUSB serves approximately 20,000 students, of which 81% are first-generation college students, and graduates about 5,000 students annually. As a designated Hispanic Serving Institution, CSUSB reflects the dynamic diversity of the region and has one of the most diverse student populations of any university in the Inland Empire, and the second highest Hispanic enrollment of all public universities in California. CSUSB employs 467 full-time faculty and offers 48 undergraduate, 35 graduate, and 1 doctoral degree programs and 14 academic programs with national accreditation.

At CSUSB, diversity, equity and inclusion are values central to our mission. We recognize that diversity and inclusion in all its forms are necessary for our institutional success. By fully leveraging our diverse experiences, backgrounds and insights, we inspire innovation, challenge the status quo and create better outcomes for our students and community. As part of CSUSB's commitment to hire, develop and retain a diverse faculty, we offer a variety of networking, mentoring and development programs for our junior faculty. We are committed to building and sustaining a CSUSB community that is supportive and inclusive of all individuals. Qualified applicants with experience in ethnically diverse settings and/or who demonstrate a commitment to serving diverse student populations are strongly encouraged to apply.

TYPICAL ACTIVITIES:

Preferred candidates will be expected to meet the traditional requirements of excellence in teaching, active scholarly and professional work, and service to the university and community.

Qualified candidates must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching and mentoring a diverse student population and to working effectively with faculty, staff and students across a wide range of disciplines.

In addition, new faculty are encouraged to develop and participate in activities that support the University's strategic plan. This plan emphasizes: a) student success; b) faculty and staff success; c) stewarding resources; d) community engagement and partnerships; and, e) enhancing campus identity. CSUSB's Strategic Plan is available at <https://www.csusb.edu/strategic-plan>.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

Ph.D. in Political Science or related field is required by time of appointment.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:

To assure full consideration, application materials are due by November 1, 2019.

To apply please submit the following required documents:

- 1) Curriculum Vitae
- 2) Letter of application that includes:
  - a. A statement of your teaching philosophy.
  - b. A statement of your research experience and goals.
  - c. A statement of how you might contribute to CSUSB's Strategic Plan areas.
- 3) Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as teaching portfolios, reports on teaching observations, and/or student evaluations of teaching (if available).
- 4) Unofficial copies of all postsecondary degree transcripts (official transcripts will be required prior to appointment).
- 5) Reference List - names, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three referees whom we may contact to obtain letters of recommendation.
- 6) A Diversity Statement, which may include your interpretation of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and must include specific examples of how your background and your educational and/or professional experiences have prepared you for this role at California State University, San Bernardino (maximum 1,000 words).

Formal review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Information regarding CSUSB's Department of Political Science can be found at <https://csbs.csusb.edu/political-science>. If you are interested in this opportunity, we invite you to apply at: <https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/csusb/jobs/2495455>.

Salary is commensurate with experience.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

The person holding this position is considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

California State University, San Bernardino is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status. This position adheres to CSU policies against Sex Discrimination, Sexual Harassment, and Sexual Violence, including Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, and Stalking. This requires completion of Sexual Violence Prevention Training within 6 months of assuming employment and on a two-year basis thereafter. (Executive Order 1096 - Revised July 21, 2017)

This position may be "Designated" under California State University's Conflict of Interest Code. This would require the filing of a Statement of Economic Interest on an annual basis and the completion of training within 6 months of assuming office and every 2 years thereafter. Visit the Human Resources Conflict of Interest web page link for additional information: <http://hrd.csusb.edu/conflictInterest.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5763

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Immigration Policy

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5759

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

McGill University

Rank: Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory

Applications are invited for a one-semester or full-year Visiting Fulbright Research Chair in Constitutional and Political Theory in academic year 2020-21. This fellowship for US citizens includes a $US 25,000 stipend with no teaching responsibilities.

Hosted in the Research Group on Constitutional Studies (RGCS), a unit of the Yan P. Lin Centre for the Study of Freedom and Global Orders in the Ancient and Modern Worlds, this award is open to scholars in political theory and is open with respect to methodology and approach in that field. Applications are also invited from scholars in neighbouring areas of legal theory and jurisprudence, political philosophy and political science. The Chair will pursue research in political and constitutional theory broadly construed. The ability to engage with scholars and students across methodologies — normative, empirical, intellectual-historical, jurisprudential, and formal, for example — is more important than particular areas of emphasis.

While Ph.D. must be in hand, the fellowship is otherwise open as to seniority. Most applicants will be on sabbatical or other leave from an existing faculty position, but it is not a requirement that the applicant already hold a faculty appointment.

The Chair-holder will be in residence at RGCS for one semester, will deliver one public lecture, regularly attend and also present work at an RGCS workshop, and, if appropriate, guest-lecture or lead guest discussions in political science classes. The Chair will more generally take an active part in the intellectual life of McGill, RGCS, and the Groupe de Recherche Interuniversitaire en Philosophie Politique.

Full eligibility information and the online application are available at <https://www.fulbright.ca/programs/american-scholars/primary-awards/policy.html>. Those interested are encouraged to contact Jacob Levy at rgcs.mcgill@gmail.com (especially for questions about thematic fit) and Bred Hector at bhector@fulbright.ca (especially for procedural questions) early in the application process. Applications must be fully complete by September 16.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 4/9/2019

Salary: $20,000 - $29,999

eJobs ID: 5596

PUBLIC POLICY

Hertie School

Rank: Professor of Sustainability

The Hertie School, Berlin

A European Professional School for Public Policy is recruiting a

Professor of Sustainability

Professor or Assistant Professor

The Hertie School is recruiting a Professor or Assistant Professor of Sustainability, with a research agenda in environmental as well as economic and/or social sustainability.

Relevant research areas in environmental sustainability may include (among others) biodiversity, cities and transport, pollution, agriculture and/or land use and water. An ideal candidate combines this with a research agenda in economic and/or social sustainability, which may include (among others) human well-being, inequality and poverty, inter-generational justice, environmental accounting, sustainable economic growth, environmental taxation, large-scale risk, long-term policy design, and/or evolution of norms.

The candidate will contribute to the development of the new Hertie Centre for Sustainability and will interact with faculty members with expertise in climate change and energy. Applicants should be interested in working in an interdisciplinary environment.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position, or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. We are looking for a candidate with a background in economics, though this does not have to be a PhD. An early career candidate will be appointed as tenure-track Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts). A more advanced candidate would initially be on a fixed contract of negotiable length prior to a tenure review. In highly exceptional circumstances, a particularly outstanding candidate may be appointed with tenure.

The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research, teaching, and outreach at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a commitment to teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes and be able to collaborate with new centres of competence which will be set up over the next years. Those are the Jacques Delors Institute Berlin – Centre for European Affairs, the Centre for International Security Policy, the Centre on Fundamental Rights, the Centre for Sustainability, the Centre on Digital Governance, and the Hertie School Data Science Lab. The successful candidate is expected to actively contribute to the research and outreach activities of the Centre for Sustainability.

As a private university, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Germany's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community as well as to the policy world.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. It takes a family friendly workplace seriously.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 30 November 2019. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Early career candidates should include three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with their work.

To submit your application, please upload the requested documents here:

<https://hertie-school.dvinci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/184/professor-of-sustainability-fmdiv-professor-or-assistant-professor>

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Christian Flachsland (flachsland@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7260

KDI School of Public Policy and Management

Rank: Tenure-track Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Foreign Policy

Job Openings for Tenure-track Professor

About the KDI School

KDI School of Public Policy and Management is a graduate school of policy studies founded in 1997 with the support of the Korean government and is the educational arm of the KDI, the nation's most respected economic think tank. KDI has consistently contributed to the government's policy making and implementation, and based on KDI's four decade long research and development consulting experience, our school has been educating public officials and private sector managers from around the globe by providing strategic tools to deal with the growing complexities of the modern world.

As part of the government's policy, KDI School relocated its campus to Sejong City, the new administrative center. With this new proximity to government agencies and research institutes in the area, we expect to enjoy various benefits ranging from calm, pleasant living environment to great synergies achieved through interdisciplinary collaborations.

KDI School is committed to establishing a dynamic framework for knowledge-sharing, where outstanding teaching and research can directly support balanced, sustainable growth in the developing world. To this aim we provide a work environment conducive to academic creativity, offering financial support for research and subsidizing trips to overseas conferences. The school provides relocation assistance and faculty housings on a request and availability basis. All Courses are taught in English.

Position Description

KDI School of Public Policy and Management seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position from those with expertise in the areas of either, International Relations, Innovation / Technology Policy and Management, Environmental Policy and Sustainable Development, Any other Development and Public Policy/Management related Fields. Candidates from economics, public policy, political science, or other closely related fields are invited to apply. Successful candidates should demonstrate a strong potential for research and teaching performance, and can contribute to and benefit from an interdisciplinary environment and interact with colleagues of other fields of social science in our school.

Available Fields

- International Relations
- Innovation / Technology Policy and Management
- Environmental Policy and Sustainable Development
- Any other Development and Public Policy/Management related Fields

of openings: 3

Job Qualifications

An applicant must have a Ph.D. or should be expecting to receive one by September 2019 or 2020 in one of the above-mentioned academic fields.

Application Deadline

All application materials must arrive by October 31, 2019(Korean Standard Time).

Application Requirements

Submit applications electronically to recruit@kdis.ac.kr. Please include;

1. Curriculum vitae (please delete the names of schools where the applicant studied)
2. Cover letter (specify field you're applying for)
3. Research papers (one or two recent working papers or publications)
4. Three letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the School by the referees.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 9/30/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7249

University of Oxford

Rank: Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Specializations: International Security, State Politics, Conflict Processes

Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence)
 Blavatnik School of Government, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter in association with Kellogg College, Oxford
 Grade 36S: £48,114 - £64,605 p.a.

The Blavatnik School of Government seeks applications for an Associate Professorship of Public Policy (Security and State Violence). This is a full-time position based at Blavatnik School of Government, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter, Woodstock Road, Oxford. The post will be held in association with a non-tutorial fellowship at Kellogg College situated on Banbury Road, Oxford.

The school aspires to be one of the world's leading academic institutions for research, teaching, and public leadership development which improves government. This Associate Professorship will bring to the school an academic with an emerging global reputation for excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement in the area of political violence and security. We are seeking an academic whose work advances understanding and practice of issues related to security, whether in civil or international contexts. We are interested in someone who works at the nexus of security and state capacities – research into the logics of civil conflict, the challenge of violence in post-conflict societies, and the character of police and security sector reforms would all fit within this description, as would others.

The appointment will be made in association with a non-tutorial fellowship at Kellogg College, where the Fellow is expected to take part in the administration and governance of the College by participation in the Governing Body and other committees. The Official Fellow will be entitled to the rights of Common Table which comprise free lunches and Guest Night Dinners; a pensionable academic allowance of £732 p.a., an advisor's allowance of £644 p.a., and a library allowance of £200 p.a. Additionally, an allowance of £2,754 p.a. would be payable upon award of the Full Professor title.

The successful candidate should have a doctorate in a relevant discipline, such as international relations, politics, public policy or a closely related field; a track record of internationally excellent articles in highly ranked, peer-reviewed academic journals, commensurate with the candidate's career stage; an outstanding programme of applied research in the field of security; the ability and willingness to teach, supervise, and assess high-achieving and challenging graduate students from diverse cultural backgrounds; the ability and willingness to develop and teach upon short courses for senior practitioners from diverse cultural backgrounds; and a commitment to outstanding and innovative teaching.

The appointee will be required to engage in original, world-class applied research on public policy; to secure research funding and successfully complete research projects on public policy; to disseminate research through publication in highly ranked, peer-reviewed academic journals. You will also contribute to the development and delivery of the Master of Public Policy (MPP); give lectures, classes and tutorials; supervise master and doctoral students in the school; and contribute as appropriate to the school's programme of short courses for senior leaders and policymakers.

Further information (including details about how to apply) is included in the further particulars here: <https://www.bsg.ox.ac.uk/jobs/associate-professorship-security-state-violence>

If you have any questions, please contact Brooke Martin-Garbutt, HR Manager using the email address below.

The successful candidate would be expected to join by 1 July 2020 or soon thereafter.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Monday 21 October 2019. We aim to hold interviews at the school from Monday 25 November 2019.

Applications are particularly welcome from women and black and minority ethnic candidates, who are under-represented in academic posts in Oxford.

Contact Person : Brooke Martin-Garbutt
 Vacancy ID : 142794
 Contact Phone : 01865 614340
 Closing Date : 21-Oct-2019
 Contact Email : brooke.martin-garbutt@bsg.ox.ac.uk

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7239

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Open

Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values at Princeton University invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2020-21. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines provided their research plans qualify. In recent years fellows have been drawn from fields including philosophy, political theory, literature, history, classics, economics and law, but this list is not meant to be exhaustive. Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton and to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period is anticipated to begin on September 1 and run for the academic year. Fellows normally receive stipends of up to one-half their academic-year salaries (subject to a minimum and maximum set each fall). Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Stipends for independent scholars will not exceed the maximum for fellows holding appointments elsewhere.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

- The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> for more information);
- The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;
- The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12522>.

The following materials will be required:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) written in the past three years;
3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 4, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by end of business day on Monday, November 11, 2019. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced in late March 2020.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/4/2019

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6232

University of Texas, Austin

Rank: Assistant/Associate Political Scientist - Russia/Eastern Europe

Assistant/Associate Political Scientist - Russia/Eastern Europe

Description

The Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies (DSES) in collaboration with the Center for Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies (CREEES) at The University of Texas at Austin invites applications for the position of tenure-track assistant or tenured associate professor of Political Science, with an anticipated start in the fall semester of 2020. We seek applications from scholars with expertise on Russia and preferably at least one other East European state, who conduct research in the requisite languages. Scholarship must focus on the Russian circulation/weaponization of (dis)information in Eastern Europe, and ideally, the larger global context. We prefer candidates whose interests span and connect quantitative and qualitative approaches, and are informed by interdisciplinary methods. We seek also candidates who are policy oriented, and who can speak to the larger national and international policy implications of their research. The selected candidate will be housed in the interdisciplinary Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies with a courtesy appointment in Government. They will be expected to exhibit a commitment to service in the DSES, CREEES, the college, and university, and be qualified to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, as well as direct graduate and undergraduate student independent research.

Salary is based upon qualifications and experience.

The successful candidate for this position will be joining the UT Austin faculty as part of the Cluster and Interdisciplinary Hiring Initiative. This initiative is designed to supplement departmentally-based hiring practices and norms and extend collaborative research and scholarship. This new initiative is authorizing up to 40 new faculty hires whose interdisciplinary areas of knowledge cross the boundaries of existing academic departments. The selected candidate will be expected to actively participate as a core member of The Global Internet, Media and (Dis)Information Cluster. Contributions to the cluster will be an important facet of the faculty member's annual performance evaluations and consideration for promotion/tenure.

The University of Texas at Austin is an AA/EEO employer, and requires all expected hires to undergo a criminal background check.

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions. The University embraces and promotes diversity in its work environments.

The position is subject to final budgetary approval.

Qualifications

Ph.D. in Political Science is required.

Application Instructions:

Applicants should submit a letter of application, a curriculum vitae, three letters of reference, and a scholarly writing sample of approximately 30 pages to Professor Mary Neuburger, Chair, Department of Slavic and Eurasian Studies, via Interfolio at <https://apptrkr.com/1631613>. If you do not have a Dossier account with Interfolio, you will be prompted to create one prior to applying for the position, assistance available from Interfolio's Customer Support - help@interfolio.com or call (877) 997-8807.

Deadline for applications is October 30, 2019 and finalists will be interviewed via Skype in November or December.

The University of Texas at Austin, as an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. The University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, or veteran status in employment, educational programs and activities, and admissions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/30/2019

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6234

University of Wisconsin, Stout

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-STOUT
VACANCY ANNOUNCEMENT

Assistant Professor of Political Science

This is a position for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science, focused on American Institutions and Public Policy. We are seeking a candidate who is interested in an interdisciplinary, collaborative environment that values teaching and an active and applied research agenda. Our faculty have conducted award winning research, developed exciting new courses, and managed large and innovative National Science Foundation grants, all while also mentoring students as part of a supportive and inviting community. Our department includes professors of political science, sociology, economics, anthropology, geography, social work, and history. We thrive on and celebrate that diversity while each maintaining a commitment to the importance of our respective disciplines. The Applied Social Science B.S. program is a central focus of the department, but faculty also collaborate creatively with the other 50 programs on campus, as well as with other universities (within the University of Wisconsin system and beyond).

The anticipated start date is August 24, 2020.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Minimum Ph.D. in Political Science by the beginning of the appointment
- Preference will be given to candidates with:
  - o Subfields in American Institutions and Public Policy
  - o Minor subfields in Race and Ethnicity in American Politics; Research Methods
  - o Demonstrated potential to teach undergraduate majors and non-majors
  - o Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively in an interdisciplinary setting
  - o Scholarly promise and the potential for service within the UW shared governance ethic

RESPONSIBILITIES

Contribute to instruction, research/scholarship, and university/community service.

Teach 12 credit hours per semester, assess student learning, schedule and maintain appropriate office hours, and be available to students for consultation and academic advisement. Attend and participate in meetings of the Social Science Department and History/Politics discipline. Courses will include Introduction to American Government, along with other courses in public policy and American Institutions which complement and expand the department's current offerings, and contribute to the University's commitments to general education, diversity, global understanding, and the interdisciplinary Applied Social Science B.S. Program. The ability to teach courses in Race and Ethnicity in American Politics, and Research Methods is also desirable.

Show the ability to work collaboratively and engage in professional service, scholarly activities, and the pursuit of external funding. Interdisciplinary collaboration with faculty in conducting applied research in non-profit, business and industry, social service, and/or government sectors is encouraged. Interest in online delivery is a plus.

CAMPUS INFORMATION

The University of Wisconsin-Stout offers a rich, dynamic and collaborative environment in which to work and grow. A member of the University of Wisconsin system, UW-Stout is unique within the system--it is named after its founder, James Huff Stout, and holds the distinction of being Wisconsin's Polytechnic University, a designation which highlights our combination of applied learning, real-world experiences and a solid liberal arts foundation.

UW-Stout offers 50 undergraduate and 24 graduate degrees, including two terminal degrees. Average student enrollment is 9,000.

UW-Stout faculty enjoy opportunities for cross-disciplinary collaboration, state-of-the-art facilities, and a modern digital environment. UW-Stout values innovative approaches to solving problems in society and industry, and faculty are encouraged to maintain strong ties and seek collaborative projects within their disciplines and industries.

All undergraduate students participating in traditional, on campus-based programs are issued laptops. Faculty use the university's online course delivery system and must be available for online interactions and/or alternate time frames for teaching. Faculty members teach, advise students, conduct research, assess student learning and engage in service activities.

Menomonie, Wisconsin, is a town of 16,000 located in the beautiful Chippewa River Valley, 25 miles west of Eau Claire and 60 miles east of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and Saint Paul.

More information about the UW-Stout community and region: <http://www.uwstout.edu/about/community.cfm>. Facts and data about the university: <http://www.uwstout.edu/about/facts.cfm>.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. The UW System provides an excellent benefits package including participation in the Wisconsin State retirement plan.

- Benefit Details: <http://www.uwsa.edu/ohrwd/benefits/summaries/fasl.pdf>
- Total Compensation Estimator: <https://www.wisconsin.edu/ohrwd/benefits/totalcomp/>

As an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer, UW-Stout is committed to inclusive excellence and is actively seeking applications from individuals from diverse groups; veterans and individuals with disabilities.

An offer of employment is contingent upon the final candidate passing a criminal background check and a reference check process. The reference check process includes asking the final candidate and most recent supervisor questions regarding sexual violence and sexual harassment. Final candidates with previous employment within the UW System and State of WI agencies will be subject to additional reference checks.

A successful candidate must have authorization to work within the United States as required by the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986.

In response to a public records request, the University of Wisconsin System will not reveal the identities of applicants who request confidentiality in their online application, except that the identity of the successful final candidate will be released. See Wis. Stat. sec. 19.36(7).

For campus safety information and crime statistics visit: <http://www.uwstout.edu/police/clery.cfm>

TO APPLY

Go to: <http://jobs.uwstout.edu/>

Screening of applications will begin November 18, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled.

Your online application will not be considered complete until all required documents are attached, and all required fields are completed. Note: Once you have attached your materials and submitted your application you will not be able to go into the system and change them.

Please be sure you have included the following documents:

- Cover letter specifically addressing how you meet the minimum and preferred qualifications
- Current Curriculum Vitae
- Evidence of teaching ability (e.g. student evaluations, peer evaluations/observations, teaching philosophy)

- Conference paper or journal article (published or submitted)
- Names and contact information for a minimum of three current references
- Unofficial copies of transcripts; official transcripts required at time of hire

Before starting the online application process we recommend you preview the frequently asked questions (FAQs) available at: <https://kb.wisc.edu/hrs/page.php?id=21900>

It is the policy of UW-Stout to provide reasonable accommodations to qualified applicants with disabilities. If you need assistance, or accommodation in applying because of a disability, please contact us using the information below. Employment opportunities will not be denied because of the need to make reasonable accommodations for a qualified individual's disability.

If you have application questions, contact:
Beverly Deyo-Svensden, Recruitment Coordinator
Email: deyo-svensdenb@uwstout.edu
Phone: 715-232-2287

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6233

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant or Associate, Health Care Policy & Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University seeks to hire a tenured or tenure track professor in the field of health care policy and management, at either the Assistant or Associate level, beginning in fall 2020.

We are interested in attracting a creative, engaging, and innovative colleague with credentials in health care policy and/or management. We welcome a variety of specializations including but not limited to the financing and delivery of health care; the organization and management of health care delivery systems; the politics of health care policy reform; and the impact of health care policy reform on the delivery of healthcare. Candidates with domestic, international, or comparative perspectives are welcome. Applicants should have an active research agenda and a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a research program, teaching in the department's world-renowned professional master programs, teaching one or more undergraduate courses, mentoring MPA and PhD students, and engaging in service.

Our department is collegial, supportive, and interdisciplinary. We welcome applicants from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to public administration, public management, public policy, health administration, economics, political science, sociology, public health, social work, and other social science fields.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Aging, Behavioral Health, and Neuroscience. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions for a research cluster in the focus area of aging. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Maxwell School, the College of Arts and Sciences, Falk College, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. In addition, the individual will also have the opportunity to become affiliated with one or more of the University's other interdisciplinary research centers such as the University's Aging Studies Institute, Maxwell School's Center of Policy Research or the Maxwell School's Program for Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration. Therefore, a track record of collaborative research output is particularly desirable, and record of success in obtaining research support, particularly from the National Institutes of Health or the National Science Foundation.

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School is home to the world's first master of public administration program, which is ranked first among more than 250 graduate public affairs programs in the United States and has several top-ranked specialties (U.S. News & World Report). The department is also home to a top-ranked master's program in international relations (Foreign Policy magazine), as well as several other programs, including a Ph.D. in public administration, a master's degree in public health, executive master's degrees in public administration and international relations, and a wide range of certificate programs.

To be considered, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/76528>) and attach: a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of professional writing, names and complete contact information for 3 references. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6228

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor: Global Urban Inequalities

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Assistant Professor: Global Urban Inequalities

Department of City and Regional Planning
College of Environmental Design
University of California, Berkeley

The Department of City and Regional Planning (DCRP), together with the Global Metropolitan Studies program (GMS) at the University of California, Berkeley, seeks applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Global Urban Inequalities at the rank of Assistant Professor with an expected start date of July 1, 2020. Candidates must have the vision and drive to chart new intellectual territory, be committed to developing new initiatives and multidisciplinary collaborations, attract externally-funded research, and demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching excellence. Diversity, equity, and inclusion are core values at UC Berkeley and the Department of City and Regional Planning. Successful candidates for our faculty position will demonstrate evidence of a commitment to advancing equity and inclusion. For more information about DCRP, see <http://dcrp.ced.berkeley.edu>.

Segregation, inequality, poverty, and the lack of adequate shelter and basic infrastructural services are enormous challenges confronting urban planners everywhere. In the Global South, these challenges acquire particular characteristics, as many cities are built by poor residents in significant ways and planning typically acts after the fact, re-urbanizing or upgrading what has been improvised before. DCRP and GMS seek a scholar whose research addresses these challenges in an international context. The ideal candidate would bridge theory, research and praxis to reveal the complexities of urbanization and development issues related to global poverty and inequality, the intensification of urban land and resource use, socio-environmental challenges, political economy, or the changing face of socio-political movements. We are particularly interested in candidates whose work focuses on the transformation of cities in the Global South, who examine the social forces, institutions, and power relations that mediate or exacerbate urban inequalities, and whose critical research supports more democratic, socially just, and sustainable forms of urbanization.

The research focus of this scholar could span any number of areas, including: urban political conflicts; public participation and democratic processes in cities; inequalities in infrastructure provision; land use and law; poverty and informality; population, migration, settlement, and displacement; emergent social movements; inequality and gender dynamics; and recasting urban theory and practice from the perspective of the Global South.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, go to:
<https://apptrkr.com/1604495>

Application deadline is Wednesday, October 30, 2019.

Queries may be directed to the search committee chair at dcrp.cal@berkeley.edu with "Global Urban Inequalities" in the subject line.

The University of California is an AA/EEO Employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/30/2019

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6229

DeSales University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Policy

DESALES UNIVERSITY invites applications for an Assistant Professor of Political Science to begin Fall, 2020. Although this is a non-tenure position, the successful applicant can take advantage of our generous long-term contracts with the possibility of conversion to a tenure track position in the future. Online teaching experience desired. Prospective candidates should be able to teach undergraduate courses in American government, political philosophy, and public policy. A doctorate in Political Science or a related field is preferred. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, and photocopies of transcripts to Andrew M. Essig, Ph.D., Political Science Program, DeSales University, 2755 Station Avenue, Center Valley, PA 18034-9568. Electronic submissions should be emailed to colleen.petrick@desales.edu. Review for the position will begin after October 15 and continue until filled.

DeSales University is a Catholic liberal arts institution on a beautiful 500-acre campus in the Lehigh Valley of eastern Pennsylvania, approximately one hour from Philadelphia and one and a half hours from New York City. EOE For further information, please visit our web site <http://www.desales.edu/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6216

Northeastern University

Rank: URBAN INFORMATICS CLUSTER HIRE, OPEN RANK - ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

Specializations: Urban Politics, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Northeastern University seeks nominations and applications for several tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in computational social science, with a focus on urban informatics, quantitative methods, or network science, with an expected start date of Fall 2020. Successful candidates will have a distinguished scholarly record using methodological approaches that leverage and work with large or complex data sources to study social phenomena, including but not limited to questions pertaining to cities and communities. We have special interest in scholars whose work includes the use of administrative, scraped, archival, or internet-gathered data. We are seeking scholars who work in spatial, network, or textual analysis, and/or use machine-learning tools. Competitive applicants will also have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and leadership. Faculty appointments will be made in one or more of the member departments of the CSSH, including the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Department of Economics, and the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Cross-college appointments are possible. Successful applicants will likely affiliate with one of our research centers dedicated to this work, including the Boston Area Research Initiative, the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks, or the Network Science Institute.

The position will support the University's commitment to innovation in experiential learning as well as the college's mission in integrating data and technology in the analysis of society, policy, and governance. Candidates should have demonstrated commitment to fostering diverse and inclusive environments as well as to promoting experiential learning, which are central to a Northeastern University education.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample, as well as the names of three references. For those who would be appointed at the assistant professor level, we will request references upon receipt of application.

To apply, please go to <http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/faculty-positions> and click on the link for full-time positions or full-time interdisciplinary positions or if viewing this description on the Northeastern University website, click "Apply to this job." Please address nominations and inquiries about the position to Professor Daniel O'Brien, at d.obrien@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin Oct. 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is a leader in the Experiential Liberal Arts. Founded in 1898, Northeastern University is a dynamic and highly selective urban research university in the center of Boston. Grounded in its signature co-op program, Northeastern provides unprecedented global experiential learning opportunities. The College is strongly committed to fostering excellence through diversity and enthusiastically welcomes nominations and applications from members of groups underrepresented in academia.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6217

University College London

Rank: Lecturer in Human Rights

UCL Political Science
School of Public Policy
London

Lecturer in Human Rights
Full Time

The appointment will be on UCL Grade 8.

The salary range will be £44,674 - £52,701 per annum Plus £8,000 per annum Market Supplement, inclusive of London Allowance.

The Department of Political Science would like to recruit a Lecturer in Human Rights to contribute to research and teaching. The new Lecturer will be expected to undertake research of the highest international standard to add to the research standing and culture of the Department.

We welcome applications engaging in all areas of human rights research and teaching, and are particularly keen to receive applications from candidates in the areas of: human rights institutions, human rights politics, and international human rights principles, standards, norms. We also welcome applications from candidates who teach/research on the application/practice of human rights in other areas of politics, such as climate change, global environmental politics, development, migration, or business.

The post will commence on the 1st July 2020.

PhD in Political Science or related subject (candidates nearing completion may be considered).

A proven ability to undertake academic research that is internationally recognised and of high-quality, evidence of potential for high quality academic research in a relevant field and experience of teaching Human Rights or related modules at undergraduate or postgraduate level are all essential.

Experience of conducting research that feeds into policy-making or other forms of real-world impact would be desirable.

For further details about the vacancy and how to apply online please go to <https://www.ucl.ac.uk/human-resources/working-ucl/jobs-ucl> and search on Reference Number 1827126.

When applying please include a CV and a cover letter which should include a statement of research and teaching interests.

Informal enquiries may be made to Professor Jennifer Hudson ( jennifer.hudson@ucl.ac.uk ).

If you have any queries regarding the vacancy or the application process, please contact Ajay Patel, Finance and Staffing Administrator to the Department of Political Science, School of Public Policy, (polsci.staffing@ucl.ac.uk).

Closing Date: 3 November 2019

Latest time for the submission of applications: 23:59.

Interview Date: TBC

UCL Taking Action for Equality

We will consider applications to work on a part-time, flexible and job share basis wherever possible.

Our department is working towards an Athena SWAN award. We are committed to advancing gender equality within our department.

To apply click here https://atsv7.wcn.co.uk/search\_engine/jobs.cgi?owner=5041178&ownertype=fair&jcode=1827126

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 11/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6211

Auburn University Montgomery

Rank: Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Auburn University at Montgomery invites applications for the endowed Khaled Chair in Political Science and International Policy, starting in August 2020. Appointment will be made at the associate or full professor level depending on the applicant's credentials. We seek a diverse pool and will consider applicants with any specialization in international relations. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in political science, international affairs, international relations, public policy, or a related discipline.

The successful applicant will be expected to work closely with the department chair to expand the masters and doctoral programs, including recruitment and program development. Teaching expectations include undergraduate and graduate courses in the field of expertise. The position comes with a summer research stipend, research and travel support, a graduate assistant, and a reduced teaching load.

Review of applications will begin October 25, 2019. To apply, complete an online application at <http://www.jobs.aum.edu/postings/3034> and upload the following materials: 1) a letter of application to include areas of specialization, current and future research agenda, teaching areas with course titles and teaching philosophy, and most significant professional service; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) two recent writing samples; 4) graduate transcript (official transcript will be needed at time of hire); and 5) contact information for at least three professional references. Separately, three confidential letters of reference are required and must be sent by email to politicalscience@aum.edu by the application deadline.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration includes eight tenure-track faculty and offers an undergraduate and master's degree in political science and a nationally ranked, NASPAA-accredited master's degree in public administration. We also offer a Ph.D. in Public Administration and Public Policy jointly with Auburn University's Department of Political Science.

Auburn University at Montgomery (AUM), a comprehensive public university, is the metropolitan campus of Auburn University. Located in the state capital on a 500-acre campus, AUM enrolls approximately 5000 undergraduate and graduate students and attracts a diverse student body. AUM is ranked by U.S. News and World Report as one of the top twenty-five Comprehensive Regional Universities in the South and by the Princeton Review as one of the best colleges in the Southeast. Montgomery is a diverse city offering an array of cultural and recreational opportunities including the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, world-class museums and memorials including the new Legacy Museum and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice, a ballet company, a natural habitat zoo, a chamber music society, an independent film theater, and the Montgomery Biscuits Double-A baseball team; it is home to Maxwell-Gunter Air Force Base and Air University, Hyundai Motor's first U.S. production facility, and the headquarters of leading non-profits including Equal Justice Initiative and the Southern Poverty Law Center. The campus is within a two and a half hour drive to Atlanta, ninety minutes to Birmingham, and less than three hours to the Gulf Coast.

Auburn University at Montgomery is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to achieving excellence through diversity; therefore, we encourage applications from historically underrepresented groups, veterans, and individuals with disabilities.

While this position is open until filled, Auburn University at Montgomery reserves the right to stop accepting applications once interviewing has begun.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/25/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6208

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor-Public Policy

Dear Colleagues:

The Georgia Institute of Technology's School of Public Policy is seeking applications for a tenure-track position, assistant professor rank. We are seeking a Ph.D. who will teach public finance. Applicants may be from a variety of disciplinary and field perspectives in keeping with the interdisciplinary profile of our School. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

We seek to expand our existing strengths in one of the core areas of the department, including: science, technology and innovation policy; climate, energy and environmental policy; information and communication technologies, and cybersecurity policy; philosophy and ethics; and data analytics and other research methods. We also are expanding our expertise in the social policy, and urban and regional economic development areas. Our work in these areas benefits from synergy with Georgia Tech's world-class programs in the sciences, engineering, computer science, design and planning, and business. Job duties will include research, teaching and advising students, and service activities at Georgia Tech.

Applicants should submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three publications; 4) a research statement, including descriptions of future research plans; 5) a teaching statement, including descriptions of teaching interests; and 6) names and contact information of three academic references. Please apply using the on-line application process at <https://academicjobsonline.org>. Direct any questions by email to facesearch@pubpolicy.gatech.edu with "PubP Asst. Professor" in the subject line. Applications are due on or before December 15, 2019. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

The School of Public Policy has 30 faculty members and we instruct students in undergraduate, master's and Ph.D. programs. See our webpage at <http://spp.gatech.edu/> for more information. Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance and is aware that attracting faculty may require meeting the needs of two careers.

Sincerely yours,

Kaye Husbands Fealing Chair, School of Public Policy

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6203

Watson Institute, Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow at Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University aspires to promote a just and peaceful world through research, teaching, and public engagement. Central to this mission is the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, an effort to galvanize the careers of young social scientists conducting research related to the Institute's three core thematic areas: development, governance, and security. Participants in this program will join an interdisciplinary community of scholars engaged in theoretically and substantively important research addressing the most pressing global issues of our time. Fellows receive two years of support, to be taken within a three-year period, with the expectation that they will pursue research and participate fully in the intellectual life of the Institute. Fellows will also teach one course per year in the Institute or in an affiliated Brown University social science department.

Founded in 1764, Brown is a leading research university distinct for its student-centered learning and deep sense of purpose. Brown University students, faculty, and staff are driven by the idea that their work will have an impact on the world. Brown is a place where rigorous scholarship, complex problem-solving, and service to the public good are defined by collaboration, intellectual discovery, and working in ways that transcend traditional disciplinary boundaries.

The fellowship competition is open to candidates from across the social sciences on issues that can be understood in a comparative global context. The selection process, open with regard to nationality and geographic area of research, is highly competitive and typically generates over 500 applications for 4 or 5 places. Scholars who have received their PhDs within two years of the application deadline are eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently – or have previously been – postdoctoral fellows in other programs are not eligible to apply. As full members of the Watson Institute's scholarly community, fellows are required to be in residence during the academic year. Fellows will receive an annual stipend of $60,000, for this benefits-eligible position. Additional funding will be made available for conference-related travel, research expenses, and research-related programming on campus. Candidates selected for the Postdoctoral Fellows program who have not completed their dissertations by July 1, 2020, will be paid a reduced salary until their dissertation is defended.

To receive full consideration, the following materials should be submitted by October 16, 2019, to the application portal <http://apply.interfolio.com/67272>

- A cover letter stating the applicant's academic field, status of their dissertation, and proposed research to be conducted during their fellowship period. The cover letter should not exceed 2,000 words and should make clear where in the Institute's core areas of security, development, or governance the proposed research best fits.
- An up-to-date curriculum vitae.
- A copy of each graduate transcript.
- A writing sample.
- Three letters of recommendation from scholars familiar with the applicant's research.

Review of applications will begin on October 16; to receive full consideration applications should be received by that date. Awards will be announced in January 2020.

For further information regarding the Watson Institute Postdoctoral Fellows Program, please visit the Watson Institute website (watson.brown.edu) or contact:

Professor J. Nicholas Ziegler, Faculty Director of the Watson Postdoctoral Fellows Program, Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International and Public Affairs, Brown University 111 Thayer Street, Box 1970 Providence, RI 02912. J\_Ziegler@brown.edu. For information about the application process, please email: Watson\_Applications@brown.edu

Brown University is situated on the East Side of Providence, on historic College Hill, overlooking downtown Providence. The area around Brown has a friendly, residential vibe, with plentiful housing options, shopping, cafés, and restaurants, all within walking distance of campus. With its low cost of living and historic architecture, the capital city is a vibrant place to live and work that offers a dynamic arts and culture scene, including many music, theater, and art venues. Located in southern New England, the State of Rhode Island features more than 400 miles of coastline and 100 beaches. Beautiful farms, vineyards, orchards, wooded trails, and numerous historic towns cover its 1200 square miles.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 10/16/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6206

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Development

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for junior faculty positions in international development, with an interest in program evaluation and applying scholarship to policy and practice. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by the beginning of the appointment and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/68842. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) two letters of recommendation; and 3) one writing sample. Review of applications will begin on September 26, 2019. No applications will be accepted after December 1, 2019.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6200

University of Nebraska, Omaha

Rank: Emergency Management and Disaster Science Chair - Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Political Economy, Constitutional Law & Theory

Faculty Position Announcement

Emergency Management and Disaster Science Chair at the Rank of Associate Professor

School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha

The University of Nebraska at Omaha seeks applicants for a faculty position of Associate Professor/Chair of the Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program, within the School of Public Administration to begin in August 2020. A successful candidate for this position will possess a PhD in Emergency Management or a related field. We are seeking applicants who can provide administrative leadership and faculty expertise in the field of Emergency Management and Disaster Science. Candidates seeking to fill the position should have interests and demonstrated capacity to teach in at least one of the following areas: preparedness and risk management, agency collaboration, law and administration, and response and recovery. A willingness to teach introductory, upper level, and graduate courses in emergency management and offer courses in an on-line format is also required. Candidates must have the demonstrated ability to conduct research in emergency management and disaster science. Potential for externally funded and peer-reviewed published work is also required.

The position offers a teaching load of two courses per semester and a nine-month contract. One course release per year and stipend will be granted for serving as Program Chair. Duties include program administration, teaching, research, and community engagement. Review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The University and the Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program has a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups and strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply for this position. The University of Nebraska does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, marital status, and/or political affiliation in its programs, activities, or employment.

The UNO Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program is the largest undergraduate emergency management and fire services management program in the state and the only program that offers a Bachelor of Science in Emergency Management, minors in Emergency Management, Fire Services Management, Tribal Management and Emergency Services and an undergraduate certificate in Tribal Management and Emergency Services. The Emergency Management and Disaster Science Program was only initiated seven years ago, but has proven to be one of the fastest expanding academic programs in the Nebraska University System. Currently, the program has three tenure track positions, three instructor lines, a visiting professor, an academic advisor/program coordinator, a student services associate, and a .5 FTE administrative assistant. At the start of the current academic year 2019-2020, the program had 138 BSEM majors and pre-majors, over 100 minors in Emergency Management, Fire Services Management, and Tribal Management and Emergency Services, over 25 Tribal Management and Emergency Services certificate students, 7 MPA students and two PA doctoral students specializing in Emergency Management.

The School of Public Administration boasts a supportive and collaborative academic culture. It is home to one of the longest-accredited MPA programs in the country, enrolling over 200 graduate students, offering the program both online and on campus. The MPA program is ranked among the top 10-percent of all such programs in the upcoming 2019 edition of America's Best Graduate Schools, and is ranked #6 in Public Budgeting and Finance, and #11 in Nonprofit Management. The School is also home to one of the few Ph.D. programs in Public Administration in the Great Plains region; faculty regularly have the opportunity to work with Ph.D. students.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University. We are a metropolitan university, located in the heart of Omaha, which has a population of 463,000. The population of the eight-county metropolitan area is 943,000.

To apply for this position, please go to <http://unomaha.peopleadmin.com/postings/9612>. The application must include: current curriculum vita; a letter addressing experience and qualifications; the names and contact information for three references.

For more information on the program, visit our web page at <http://emgt.unomaha.edu>. For more information on the School, visit our web page at <http://spa.unomaha.edu> or contact the chair of the search committee: Dr. Yu-Che Chen (yuchen@unomaha.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6197

Georgetown University in Qatar

Rank: Director of the Center for International and Regional Studies

Director of the Center for International and Regional Studies
Georgetown University in Qatar

Georgetown University in Qatar invites applications for the position of Director of the Center for International and Regional Studies (CIRS). Established at GU-Q in 2005 CIRS is dedicated to the academic study of regional and international issues through promoting dialogue and the exchange of ideas, research and scholarship, and engagement with national and international scholars, practitioners, opinion-makers, activists, and the wider community. To date CIRS has launched over 40 major research initiatives, published numerous books with university presses, and has established itself as a leading academic research center working in and on the Gulf region and the greater Middle East.

Guided by the principles of academic excellence, forward vision, and community engagement, the CIRS mission revolves around five principal goals:

- To provide a forum for scholarship and research on international and regional affairs
- To encourage in-depth examination and exchange of ideas by undertaking its own research projects and facilitating faculty and student research
- To foster thoughtful dialogue among students, scholars, and practitioners of international affairs
- To act as a catalyst for researchers worldwide to come together in Doha for the production of original research on issues of particular regional and global relevance
- To facilitate the free flow of ideas and knowledge through publishing the products of its research, sponsoring public lectures, and holding working groups designed to explore political, social, cultural, and economic complexities of the Middle East in the twenty-first century
- To engage in outreach activities with a wide range of local, regional, and international partners

Reporting to the Dean, the Director of CIRS will provide strategic leadership for the Center and guide its growth and development in close collaboration with the CIRS advisory board and the faculty of GU-Q. The successful candidate will be responsible for sustaining and expanding the Center's research agenda, actively engaging GU-Q faculty and students in the Center's research initiatives, and fostering collaboration with scholars, policy makers, and decision makers, both locally and globally, to expand the Center's reputation and the impact of its research. The Director ensures that the Center's programs support the university's broader goals of scholarship and teaching, and works closely with the Dean and different academic and administrative units towards this end. The Director will also contribute to the Center's research output by actively participating in CIRS research projects and through maintaining an active publication agenda of his or her own.

The Director is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the Center's day-to-day operations and programing. Core areas of responsibility include:

- Ensure quality of research and analysis produced by CIRS
- Set timelines for publication of research
- Coordinate the work of the program's scholars to maintain a coherent intellectual agenda in line with the Center's mission
- Build collaborative relationships with GU-Q faculty and other scholars and experts to facilitate the success of the Center's research efforts
- Maintain collaborative partnerships with internal and external stakeholders to facilitate the operations of the Center
- Develop programs that facilitate student research
- Submit annual reports outlining the Center's activities and programs and their impact and outcomes
- Manage the CIRS budget
- Manage and supervise the CIRS staff and associated fellows

This is a senior administrative position at GU-Q. Candidates should be established scholars with outstanding academic credentials suitable for appointment as a senior core faculty member at GU-Q, including a distinguished record of scholarship and teaching, and a background in political science, international affairs, history, or a relevant social science discipline. In addition to full time directorship of CIRS, the candidate will have a reduced teaching load of 1 course per semester. Candidates must also demonstrate familiarity with the history and politics of the Gulf and the larger Middle East. Candidates with broad understanding of American Higher Education, and previous administrative experience as a department chair or as the director of a research program, institute, or center are particularly encouraged to apply.

To be considered for the position, interested candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, and the names and contact details of five professional references to: GUQ-CIRS@georgetown.edu.

We will start reviewing applications on November 1 and will continue to receive applications until the position is filled.

For more information about GU-Q, see: <https://apptrkr.com/1616033>

For more information about CIRS, including ongoing and future initiatives and research projects, please visit <https://cirs.georgetown.edu/>

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex (including pregnancy, gender identity and expression, and sexual orientation), disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6194

University of Nebraska, Omaha

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor - Public Policy

Faculty Position Announcement – Public Policy
School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha
The School of Public Administration, University of Nebraska Omaha, seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with an emphasis in public policy, to begin August 2020. A PhD in Public Administration, Public Affairs, Public Policy, or a related field is required by the employment start date. We seek candidates who will make significant contributions in our doctoral and masters programs in teaching and research that broadly connects policy processes to public and nonprofit management and the larger governance environment. The course teaching load for this position is 2:2. Candidates should also be able to teach in both face-to-face and online settings, and demonstrate promise of excellence in research, teaching, and a commitment to community engagement. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

The School of Public Administration boasts a supportive and collaborative academic culture. It is home to one of the longest-accredited MPA programs in the country, enrolling approximately 275 graduate students each year, offering the program both online and on campus. The MPA program is ranked among the top 10-percent of all such programs in the upcoming 2019 edition of America's Best Graduate Schools, and is ranked #6 in Public Budgeting and Finance, and #11 in Nonprofit Management. The School is also home to one of the few Ph.D. programs in Public Administration in the Great Plains region; faculty regularly have the opportunity to work with Ph.D. students. The University of Nebraska at Omaha is a Carnegie Doctoral Research University. For more information, visit our web page at <http://spa.unomaha.edu> or contact the chair of the search committee: Dr. Gary S. Marshall (gmarshall@unomaha.edu).

To apply for this position, please go to <http://unomaha.peopleadmin.com/postings/9548>. The application must include: current curriculum vita; a letter addressing experience and qualifications; the names and contact information for three references; and evidence of teaching excellence, productive scholarly research, and commitment to community engagement.

The university and school have a strong commitment to achieving diversity among faculty and staff. We are particularly interested in receiving applications from members of underrepresented groups and strongly encourage women and persons of color to apply for this position.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6189

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Political Science

About Mills College:

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top masters universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As <https://www.mills.edu/uniquely-mills/facts-about-mills.php> in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color,

Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit <https://www.mills.edu/>

Job Description:

The Department:

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

The Position:

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

Requirements:

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Additional Information:

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant's background check must be cleared.

Application Instructions:

To apply, submit the following documents at <https://apptrkr.com/1613827>

- Employee Application
- Resume
- Cover Letter and
- Contact Information for 3 References

Qualified applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, sample of scholarly research, teaching portfolio (sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy), and three letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin October 18.

Please note that you can only upload 6 "Other" documents. You can consolidate multiple pages/documents into one file upload. The file size limit for each upload is 10Mb.

Review of applicants will begin immediately; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6184

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

&lt;b&gt;American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists&lt;/b&gt;

The American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program is currently accepting online applications for congressional fellowships for political scientists. The nine-month program in Washington, D.C., gives scholars a hands-on understanding of Congress through placements in congressional offices.

Fellows begin their fellowship year with a comprehensive one-month orientation with congressional experts and policy leaders. Fellows then work in full-time placements of their choosing in a personal office or committee in the House of Representatives or Senate.

The fellowship year also features:

- winter and spring seminar series on congress;
- visit to the district or state of a Member of Congress;
- optional study programs in Annapolis, Maryland, and Ottawa, Canada; and
- ongoing guidance and mentoring from program staff and alumni.

Orientation begins November 2020. Office placements run until August 15, 2021. Two optional programs directly precede the main fellowship program: a two-month course on Congress and Foreign Policy, taught at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and a fellowship through the William A. Steiger fund to spend up to two months at the APSA Centennial Center carrying out a project in legislative studies.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a PhD in the last 15 years or will have defended a dissertation by November 2020.

Applications are welcome from political scientists in all subfields who can demonstrate a scholarly interest in Congress and the policymaking process.

Preference is given to those without extensive Capitol Hill experience.

Application Procedure: Applications must be <https://apsa.wufoo.com/forms/qlohl0dn0mzd/submitted> online; and include:

- CV;
- 500-word personal statement;
- names and contact information for three references; and
- one sole-authored writing sample.

Applicants may apply through the same online form for the two optional pre-fellowship programs.

Submit your application for the 2020-2021 fellowship year by Tuesday, December 3, 2019. Please send questions about the program to <mailto:cfp@apsanet.org>.

Start Date: November 2020

Salary: $52,500 for the 9.5-month fellowship period, plus travel allowance. Fellows who are also selected for a fellowship through the Steiger Fund will receive a stipend for the duration of the Steiger Fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6172

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a full-time tenure-track assistant professor position in American Politics to begin in August 2020.

We seek qualified applicants with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service that would support the mission of the University of Scranton. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in political institutions and policy making processes. Teaching responsibilities include the U.S. Politics introductory course, Congress, public policy in the candidate's area of expertise, and research methods. Pre-tenure teaching load is ordinarily 3/3.

The capability to develop an active research program that involves mentoring undergraduates is preferred. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to our Public Affairs-Public Administration program.

Strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field required; candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment preferred.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) article/chapter length writing sample, and 4) contact information for three professional references.

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6179

University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Tenure/Tenure Track Business and Public Policy Position

Description:

The Business, Government & Society (BGS) Department of the McCombs School of Business, University of Texas at Austin seeks applicants for a faculty position at the assistant or tenured associate professor level. BGS is an interdisciplinary department that applies rigorous social science research methods to legal, ethical, regulatory and social issues that businesses face.

Qualifications:

The ideal candidate will have a Ph.D. in political science, political economy or a related field and enable BGS to contribute to important public policy debates where business intersects with government and/or society. Candidates should have a demonstrable methodological skill set and a rigorous research agenda relevant to business and its nonmarket environment as well as the potential to publish in top quality academic journals in these areas. Candidates should also demonstrate potential for teaching excellence. The appointment will be effective September 1, 2020.

Applicant Instructions:

Interested parties should submit the following: 1) a cover letter, 2) CV, 3) brief statements of research and teaching interests, and 4) any evidence of teaching and research effectiveness. All applications submitted by October 31, 2019 will receive full consideration, although the search will continue until a suitable candidate is identified. UT-Austin uses Interfolio's Faculty Search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials free of charge. The posting is available here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/68222>

Direct any inquiries to: Robert.Prentice@mcombs.utexas.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6178

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Political Science Department at California State University seeks applicants for the position of Assistant Professor specializing in Public Law.

--Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

--Applicants whose primary field of study is Political Philosophy or Theory are discouraged from applying. However, the ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

Our department has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

CSU Channel Islands is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with a special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications

--Ph.D. in Political Science

--Extensive training in judicial politics and American law

--Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education

--Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity

--Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics

--Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Preferred Qualifications

--Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy

--Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research

--Active participation in the life of the department and university

--Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses

--Ability to cope with ambiguity

Apply online: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6161

Stanford University

Rank: Hoover Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, American Government and Politics

Hoover Institution - Hoover Fellows

A path for early-career scholars

The Hoover Institution at Stanford University seeks outstanding scholars for appointments at the rank of Hoover Fellow. The term of the appointment is five years and may be renewed. The position is located at the Hoover Institution, Stanford, CA.

The academic activities of the Hoover Institution generally fall into the areas of Economic Policy, Politics and Governance, and National Security. Candidates' work should fit into at least one of these categories. A candidate must have or expect to complete a PhD or equivalent degree in a relevant field, including history, international relations, political science, national security and public policy.

Hoover Fellows are expected to achieve a considerable publication record and scholarly impact through the pursuit of topics that also have implications for public policy.

Hoover Fellows are expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the Hoover Institution. There will be no teaching or formal administrative responsibilities during the appointment. Salary and benefits are highly competitive.

To apply, please submit:

- A cover letter or statement of interest that includes a description of academic background and experience

- A recent publication and a current working paper or draft book chapter

- A curriculum vitae

- A future research statement (two pages maximum)

- Three letters of recommendation that focus on the candidate's research and research potential.

Successful applicants will have a proven record of and potential for scholarly excellence. Applicants must have completed a PhD or equivalent degree by September 1, 2020.

Completed applications must be submitted online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14175> by October 15, 2019. Please direct questions to Anita Young (ayoung2@stanford.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019
Date Posted: 9/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6165

Duke Kunshan University
Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy

Duke Kunshan University (DKU) invites applications for faculty positions in Public Policy to begin in the academic year 2020-2021 in areas including but not limited to environmental, social, and urban policy. We seek broadly trained candidates with an ability to teach courses in comparative public policy and in applied areas of policy focus. At DKU, public policy is part of interdisciplinary majors in Environmental Science, Global Health, Institutions and Governance, Political Economy, and US Studies.

These positions are open with regard to rank including tenured, tenure track and non-tenure track. Mid-career and senior faculty are especially encouraged to apply. In order to meet Chinese visa requirements, prior to the position start date international (non-Chinese) candidates must have worked full-time for at least two years (including post-doctoral work) after receiving their Bachelor's degree.

DKU is a collaborative partnership of Duke University, Wuhan University and the Municipality of Kunshan, China (<https://dukekunshan.edu.cn/>). Our campus provides an innovative, interdisciplinary undergraduate liberal arts experience to a student body that will number 2000 students and 150+ faculty, with an acceptance rate of 8% and a student body represented by over 40 countries. We also offer a series of Master's level graduate programs. The DKU pedagogical model draws on the best of Duke's educational experience and resources to reimagine undergraduate instruction on an intimate campus setting.

Similar to the best liberal arts colleges in the United States, DKU values dedication to teaching excellence in a liberal arts environment, as well as a strong commitment to successful scholarly engagement and research. This includes research with undergraduate students. As a whole, the Duke Kunshan faculty will have strong commitments to teaching and research, and outstanding quality in both areas will be highly valued.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in an appropriate field. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a clear statement of the candidate's specific interest in DKU, a curriculum vitae, a research statement, and a teaching statement, as well as the names and contact information for three references. All materials should be submitted through Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14462>. The search committee also invites and encourages letters of nomination for potential candidates. Nominations and questions about the positions may be sent to social-science-search@dukekunshan.edu.cn using "Public Policy" as the subject line. Priority will be given to applications received by October 15, 2019; we will accept applications until the positions are filled.

The DKU campus is 37 miles west of Shanghai in Kunshan, and is connected to Shanghai via an 18-minute high-speed train. DKU provides internationally competitive compensation, housing allowance, child education benefits (for applicable faculty positions), and a discretionary fund or start-up package.

As an international intellectual community that encourages diversity, openness and creative learning, DKU welcomes outstanding faculty from around the world who contribute diverse perspectives and experiences to a global learning and research environment. DKU particularly welcomes applications from underrepresented groups and minorities.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6151

University of Chicago
Rank: Assistant Professor - Economics

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for junior faculty positions in Economics. The search is open with respect to field, but we especially encourage applications from scholars focused in education, inequality, health, crime, and urban policy issues. Applicants must expect to have completed their Ph.D. by July 31, 2020 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

The apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/68259. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) two letters of recommendation; and 3) one writing sample. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a third letter of reference and/or additional writing samples. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019. No applications will be accepted after May 15, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:
Date Posted: 9/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6152

University of Chicago
Rank: Associate or Full Professor - Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenured faculty positions in public policy, political science, and economics. The search is open with respect to rank – Associate or Full. We are interested in scholars with research focused in political institutions, economic theory, and international trade. Applicants must apply through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic jobs board at: apply.interfolio.com/68258. Applicants must submit a curriculum vitae and at least one sample publication. Review of applications will begin on October 10, 2019. No applications will be accepted after June 30, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:*Date Posted: 9/10/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6153Stanford University*Rank: 2020-21 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow in Contemporary AsiaSubfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public PolicySpecializations: East Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia

Stanford University: 2020–2021 Postdoctoral Fellowships in Contemporary Asia

The Walter H. Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center at Stanford University is pleased to announce its search for two 2020-2021 Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellows in Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies. Made possible through the generosity of Walter H. Shorenstein, awards will be made to two junior scholars (recent PhDs must have degree conferral and approval by June 30, 2020) for research and writing on Asia.

The primary focus of the fellowship is on contemporary political, economic, or social change in the Asia-Pacific region (including Northeast, Southeast, and South Asia), or topics in international relations and international political economy. The postdoctoral fellowship is a 10-month appointment with a salary rate commensurate with Stanford policy (based on an annual 12-month rate of $65,000), plus $2,000 for research expenses. Appointments will begin in the fall quarter of the 2020-2021 academic year.

Applications will be accepted starting September 16, 2019, until December 20, 2019.

For additional information and to apply, visit <https://aparc.fsi.stanford.edu/education/fellowship-and-training-opportunities/shorenstein-postdoctoral-fellowship>

The Shorenstein Asia-Pacific Research Center (APARC) is dedicated to the study of critical issues affecting the countries of Asia and their regional and global relations. Our scholar community is comprised of distinguished academics and practitioners in government, business, and civil society. Through policy-relevant research, publications, education, public programs, and international collaborations, we address pressing challenges in a world in which Asia plays an increasingly central role.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: 12/20/2019Date Posted: 9/9/2019Salary: $50,000 - $59,999eJobs ID: 6120Pennsylvania State University*Rank: Open Rank Search, Environmental Policy

Open Rank Search, Environmental Policy

The School of Public Policy at Pennsylvania State University welcomes applications for an open rank, tenure-track faculty position in environmental policy. The start date for the position is August 2020. Candidates must have earned a Ph.D. in public policy or a related social science field (e.g. political science, sociology, or economics) by August 2020. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated ability for conducting high-quality research; a track-record of or potential for securing external funding; demonstrated teaching excellence; a willingness to help mentor graduate students; and a willingness to participate in service to the program, university and public policy field. In addition, successful candidates must have demonstrated a commitment to building an inclusive, equitable and diverse campus community. The successful candidate will also have the opportunity to work with a network of scholars in the interdisciplinary Penn State Institute of Energy and Environment and the Water Faculty Consortium (<http://www.iee.psu.edu/>). The School of Public Policy at Penn State (University Park) was created in 2018 in response to the call in the university strategic plan for Penn State to address complex global issues. With strong social sciences, data analytics and sciences, Penn State is well-positioned to be a leader in public policy. Currently the program has a MPP degree, which is welcoming its first cohort of MPP students in fall 2019. This is a great opportunity for an energetic scholar, teacher, and colleague who would like to help build an outstanding public policy program at a top research university. Applicants can learn more about the School by reviewing the web page: <http://publicpolicy.psu.edu/>. Interested candidates must submit an online application at <https://psu.jobs>, and should upload the following application materials electronically (pdf): letter of interest, CV, and one recent writing sample. Candidates who currently hold tenured or tenure track positions should also upload a list of three references with contact information, while junior candidates (ABDs, recent Ph.Ds., and post-docs) should have three recommendation letters sent to Francine Hamilton, Administrative Support Coordinator for Public Policy at fth10@psu.edu. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and will continue until the positions are filled. To review the Annual Security Report, which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters and policies, please go to <https://police.psu.edu/annual-security-reports>, which will also explain how to request a paper copy of the Annual Security Report. Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Apply online at <https://apptrkr.com/1590933>

CAMPUS SECURITY CRIME STATISTICS: For more about safety at Penn State, and to review the Annual Security Report which contains information about crime statistics and other safety and security matters, please go to <http://www.police.psu.edu/clery/>, which will also provide you with detail on how to request a hard copy of the Annual Security Report.

Penn State is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer, and is committed to providing employment opportunities to all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability or protected veteran status.

Copyright ©2017 Jobelephant.com Inc. All rights reserved.

<https://www.jobelephant.com/jeid-2d4eb4cc94ceb44da5603d7f085becba>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6129

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Affairs -- Climate Policy

The La Follette School of Public Affairs at the University of Wisconsin-Madison is seeking a high performing faculty member to research and teach on climate policy.

The selected candidate will conduct productive research, be a committed teacher, and welcome being part of an inter-disciplinary department dedicated to promoting good public policy. Teaching will involve core courses in Public Affairs and International Public Affairs, as well as upper-level electives in climate and environmental policy. We seek a scholar who will conduct research on the determinants of government policy on climate change and/or its domestic and international public policy implications. The scope of topics we will consider within climate change and climate policy is broad, but the selected candidate's work must include explicit focus on the roles of governments. We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the Masters in International Public Affairs program.

The La Follette School is a highly ranked school of public affairs, and one of many highly ranked social science units at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. The University is consistently ranked among the top universities in terms of success in federally funded research grants and is highly supportive of an interdisciplinary approach to scholarship.

To begin the application process, please go to jobs.wisc.edu, go to PVL 99517, then click on the 'Apply Now' button and create a profile.

Submit a letter of interest (including research and teaching interests), your curriculum vitae, and a writing sample. You are also asked to provide the name and contact information for three references.

The deadline for assured consideration is October 15, 2019; however, the position will remain open and applications may be considered until it is filled.

The University of Wisconsin is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6131

University of California, Berkeley

Rank: Assistant Professor International Development and Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Political Theory
Specializations: International Security, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

Assistant Professor International Development and Security

TENURE-TRACK FACULTY POSITION

GOLDMAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY AT UC BERKELEY

The Goldman School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley invites applications for a tenure-track appointment to the faculty at the Assistant Professor rank, with an expected start date of July 1, 2020. We seek applications from intellectually exciting scholars whose research informs and advances the design and analysis of policy and who will teach innovative courses to a diverse student body. We are especially interested in candidates whose research and expertise focus on international development and/or security policy.

For more information about the position, including required qualifications and application materials, please go to <https://apptrkr.com/1576594>. The deadline to apply is October 15, 2019. Please direct all questions to Aaron Schiller at aaschiller@berkeley.edu

UC Berkeley is an AA/EEO employer.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6115

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development's Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high quality, policy relevant research on critical issues related to global development and poverty alleviation.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2020 for one year (and will consider two years). The Center's postdoctoral fellows program is intended for promising new and recent PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy relevant research on topics related to critical issues for international development and poverty alleviation.

The Center's postdoctoral fellows will be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University. The Center provides a competitive salary plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2019 via the application form linked from the King Center's website.

For more details and information please visit <https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoralfellowprogram>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6105

California State University, Northridge

Rank: Part Time Lecturer

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Public Administration

FACULTY POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT
 PART-TIME

Department: Political Science
 Effective Date of Appointment: Spring 2020

About the University:

One of the largest universities in the country, California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is an urban, comprehensive university that delivers award-winning undergraduate and graduate programs to nearly 40,000 students annually and counts more than 330,000 alumni who elevate Southern California and beyond. Since its founding in 1958, CSUN has made a significant and long-term economic impact on California, generating nearly $1.9 billion in economic impact and more than 11,700 jobs each year. The LAEDC recognized CSUN as its 2015 Eddy Award winner for its positive economic impact. Serving more students on Pell Grants than any other institution in California, CSUN is also a social elevator and one of the most diverse universities in the country. CSUN ranks 13th in awarding bachelor's degrees to traditionally underserved students and enrolls the largest number of students who are Deaf and hard-of-hearing of any U.S. state university. The journal Nature recently named CSUN a Rising Star for scientific research, and the NSF ranks CSUN in the top five nationally among similar institutions for graduates who go on to earn doctorates in the sciences. CSUN is where individuals rise and through them, so does Greater Los Angeles and beyond.

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.

For more information about the University, visit our website at: <http://www.csun.edu>

Anticipated Needs:

Instructors for face-to-face Washington, D.C.-based classes in support of the CSUN in DC Internship Program. Specific classes are listed below:

Note: All part-time faculty appointments are temporary and do not confer academic rank. Final determination of part-time teaching assignments is contingent upon student enrollment figures and funding.

Courses or Specialization

Upper division courses in:

1. POLS 486SOC. Social Science Career Internship
2. POLS 494I/A. Political Science Internship
3. POLS 449DC. DC Politics, Culture, and History
4. POLS 449PR. Professional Development in DC

Current Salary Range:

Fractional Amount of Base Salary ($4229-$5971)

Paid in 6 monthly installments

Qualifications:

Applicants must have Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field in hand or must be in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy or must have at least 10 years of professional experience working in government, politics, non-profit management, or advocacy. Applicants who are in the advanced stages of Ph.D. candidacy must have passed the comprehensive examination for the Ph.D. in their field.

University teaching experience is strongly preferred.

A demonstrated ability and commitment to teach, mentor and work with a diverse student population.

Application Deadline for Spring Semester 2020 only: September 30, 2019

Inquiries and applications should be addressed to:

Dr. David Leitch
 Chair and Eugene C. Price Professor
 Department of Political Science
 California State University, Northridge
 18111 Nordhoff St.
 Northridge, CA 91330-8254

General Information:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Northridge has made crime-reporting statistics available on-line here. Print copies are available by request from the Department of Police Services, the Office for Faculty Affairs, and the Office of Equity and Diversity.

The person holding this position may be considered a 'mandated reporter' under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

CSUN is an Equal Opportunity Employer and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, ethnicity, religion, national origin, age, gender, gender identity/expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, marital status, veteran status, and disability. Our nondiscrimination policy is set forth in CSU Executive Order 1096. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for applicants with disabilities who self-disclose by contacting the Office of Faculty Affairs at (818) 677-2962.

Department of Political Science
 Temporary/Part-Time Teaching Interests Checklist– Spring 2020
 Name of Applicant: _____

v PLEASE INDICATE COURSES YOU ARE INTERESTED IN TEACHING:

- ___ 486SOC Social and Science Career Internship
- ___ 494I/IA Political Science Internship
- ___ 496DC DC Politics, Culture, and History
- ___ 496PR Professional Development in DC

C o m m e n t s: _____

Application material required:

1. This form completed
2. CV
3. Sample syllabus
4. Copies of teaching evaluations or
5. Letter of recommendation if you have not previously taught

Mail to:

Dr. David Leitch, Chair and Eugene C. Price Professor
 Department of Political Science
 California State University, Northridge
 18111 Nordhoff Street
 Northridge, CA 91330-8254

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6104

Columbia University

Rank: Lecturer in Discipline - Comparative Politics, Policy-making and Political Development

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Lecturer in Discipline

Comparative Politics, Policy-making and Political Development

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track, renewable position of Lecturer in Discipline in the fields of political development and in comparative politics and policy-making, to begin July 1, 2020.

Candidates must have a demonstrated record of accomplishment in teaching and research or practice related to comparative politics and policy-making and political development. Research interests or practice should be policy-relevant. Master's degree or equivalent degree required. Ph.D. and/or relevant professional experience at senior level strongly preferred.

Applicants should be qualified to teach courses related to comparative politics, policy analysis, policy-making and political development in demanding Master's degree programs in international and public affairs. There also is a strong preference for candidates who have demonstrated success in teaching large lecture courses with a writing intensive focus. A major component of the lecturer's instructional responsibilities will include teaching policy analysis and policy memo-writing to Master's students as part of a required course on policy-making in comparative context.

Please visit our online application site at:

<http://pa334.peopleadmin.com/postings/4025>

for further information about this position and to submit your application.

Committee will begin reviewing applications on a rolling basis on September 15 and anticipates scheduling initial flyouts in late September or early October. For further information, please contact Joe Chartier, Academic Department Administrator, School of International and Public Affairs, at jc3317@sipa.columbia.edu.

Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs brings together an interdisciplinary faculty to conduct research in policy-related fields and train students at the master's and doctoral level for careers in global public policy.

Columbia University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The search committee is especially interested in candidates who, through their research, teaching, and/or service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of SIPA's academic community. Applications from women and underrepresented minorities are strongly encouraged.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6099

University of California, Los Angeles

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Critical Black Urbanism

UCLA

Luskin School of Public Affairs

Department of Urban Planning

Tenure-Track Faculty Position in Critical Black Urbanism

The Department of Urban Planning at the UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs seeks to hire a tenure-track faculty member at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Critical Black Urbanism. We seek a scholar who studies the Black experience and whose research and teaching has direct relevance for urban planning. Attractive candidates for this position might study racial segregation, Black migration, Black geographies, community organizing, community and/or economic development, the Black diaspora, policing and incarceration, urban and planning history, critical legal studies, or related topics.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Urban Planning, Ethnic Studies, Geography, Sociology, Political Science, or a related social science discipline, have a robust research agenda, and be prepared to teach and mentor students at the undergraduate, Master's, and Ph.D. levels.

To apply, please submit a brief cover letter, CV, a research statement of less than 500 words highlighting scholarly contributions of recent research and plans for the near future, one publication or writing sample that best represents your work, a teaching statement of less than 300 words outlining the content of a class you would like to teach, a statement that addresses past and/or potential contributions to equity, diversity, and inclusion, and three letters of recommendation.

This position reflects a commitment by the UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs and the Department of Urban Planning to emphasize communities of color in scholarship, teaching, and professional practice. Faculty in the school and department have ongoing collaborations with ethnic studies departments and centers at UCLA. We expect that the faculty member who holds this position will benefit from and strengthen existing linkages to the Ralph J. Bunche Center for African American Studies, the Department of African American Studies, and other relevant units.

The Department of Urban Planning currently hosts 18 tenured/tenure-track planning faculty, 6 affiliated tenured/tenure-track faculty, 7 long-term adjunct/practice faculty, 3 active professors emeriti, 35 PhD students, 150 master's students, and a growing number of undergraduate majors. Department faculty also teach undergraduate students in the Luskin School's Major in Public Affairs, which just completed its inaugural academic year. We have a tradition of intellectual leadership in urban and regional studies and design, and our faculty, students, and alumni are committed to social justice and progressive planning ideals.

Los Angeles is a global city renowned for its dynamism, robust economy, cultural diversity, spectacular climate, as well as high levels of inequality, poverty and homelessness, residential segregation, and traffic. The UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs is an interdisciplinary school with highly ranked departments of Social Welfare and Public Policy. All faculty in the Luskin School of Public Affairs (including the Departments of Social Welfare, Urban Planning, and Public Policy) have opportunities to participate in current school initiatives in global affairs, digital technologies, the environment, democracy and inequality, global development, Latin American cities, and social justice, equity, and opportunity.

UCLA offers competitive salary and attractive benefits packages, including a housing assistance program for new faculty members. The University of California seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the people of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students richly varied disciplines, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning. The Department of Urban Planning in particular is committed to diversity and excellence in our faculty, students, and scholarship, and we especially encourage candidates who share and can contribute to this commitment.

The expected start date is July 1, 2020. All materials must be submitted via UCLA Academic Recruit by October 15, 2019, to be guaranteed full consideration.

To Apply, visit:

<https://apptrkr.com/1590947>

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age or protected veteran status. For the complete University of California nondiscrimination and affirmative action policy, see: UC Nondiscrimination & Affirmative Action Policy

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6058

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for junior faculty positions in Political Science. The search is open with respect to subfield. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by July 31, 2020 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/67498. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, and 4) a no more than one-page abstract from their job market paper or dissertation. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, additional writing sample, and/or third letter of reference. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2019. No applications will be accepted after May 15, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6056

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics beginning August 2020. As a Carnegie R1 university, we seek scholars with a strong research agenda in either of these specializations to help grow the prestige of our department. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics. The ability to teach courses in research methods (graduate and undergraduate) is desirable. Our needs in Public Policy (American or Comparative) are broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (urban and regional planning, health policy, political economy, and policy analysis, etc). Our needs in American Behavioral Politics are also broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (citizen decision-making, public opinion, media and politics, voting behavior, and race/gender and politics, etc.). A strong record of peer-reviewed publications will ultimately be required for tenure.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field. ABD applicants near completion will be considered. The degree must be completed by the time of appointment. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching to be considered; evidence of excellence in research and teaching is preferred.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Set against the backdrop of the Franklin Mountains in the Chihuahuan Desert, The University of Texas at El Paso is located along the U.S.–Mexico border in one of the world's largest binational communities. UTEP's award-winning, sustainably designed campus landscape and unique Bhutanese architecture create an energizing and tranquil oasis in the bustling El Paso–Juárez metroplex of 2.7 million residents. El Paso is a highly livable, bicultural community of almost 700,000 people that offers affordable homes and attractive neighborhoods. It has consistently been named among the safest large U.S. cities. El Paso experiences almost 300 days of sunshine annually, and residents enjoy outdoor activities year-round. The City of El Paso is adjacent to the state of New Mexico and the country of Mexico, making it an ideal venue for academic programs and research studies on topics of national interest, such as bilingual education/language acquisition, border environment and immigration, environmental sustainability and infrastructure, health disparities, and international trade and commerce.

Application Procedure: The deadline for applications is October 21, 2019 and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality (sample syllabi/statement of teaching philosophy), article/chapter length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Please contact Dr. Todd A. Curry by email (tacurry@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
Hiring decisions are subject to final budget approval.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6009

University of Miami

Rank: Assistant Professor

The University of Miami (UM) is considered among the top tier institutions of higher education in the U.S. for its academic excellence, superior medical care, and cutting-edge research. At the U, we are committed to attracting a talented workforce to support our common purpose of transforming lives through teaching, research, and service. Through our values of Diversity, Integrity, Responsibility, Excellence, Compassion, Creativity and Teamwork (DIRECCT) we strive to create an environment where everyone contributes in making UM a great place to work. We are one of the largest private employers in Miami-Dade County; home to more than 13,400 faculty and staff from all over the world.

The Department of Political Science at the University of Miami invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the field of public policy. We welcome applications from candidates engaged in high-quality scholarship in any subfield of domestic or comparative public policy. The ideal candidate will provide evidence of excellence in teaching and will be able to contribute to both our forthcoming Masters of Public Policy (MPP) and undergraduate major in public administration. Applicants should also be able to teach at least one course in our Masters of Public Administration (MPA) program. The expected teaching assignment is 2-2. Candidates should have a PhD or anticipate Ph.D. completion by August 15, 2020 in public policy, public management, political science, or a related field.

Interested applicants may apply online at www.miami.edu/careers. Applicants should upload documents including a CV; a cover letter; a one-page teaching statement with a list of possible courses the applicant could teach, including but not limited to our existing course offerings; a PhD transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application); a writing sample; as well as three reference letters to be submitted via this site as well. Applications received on or before Monday, October 21, 2019, will be given full consideration, though the committee will continue to accept applications until the position is filled. For further information about the position, please contact the Department Chair (Gregory Koger, gkoger@miami.edu) or Search chair (Joe Uscinski, uscinski@miami.edu). Additional information about the Department is available at <http://www.as.miami.edu/politicalscience/>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6035

Indiana University- Bloomington, Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies

Rank: Assistant Professor, Contemporary Japanese Politics and Society

Subfield(s): Open, International Relations, Public Policy
Specializations: Japan, State Politics, Social Movements

Indiana University Bloomington's Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies (HLS) seeks a full-time tenure-track assistant professor of contemporary Japanese politics and society, broadly defined, to begin August 1, 2020. The position is 100% in HLS's renowned multidisciplinary Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures (EALC). The teaching load is two courses per semester. Teaching responsibilities encompass both undergraduate and graduate courses and will include the teaching of a new course on "Japanese Politics and Society."

This is an exciting moment to join the newly named and expanding Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies as it leads the university's international research and teaching missions. Established nearly sixty years ago, the EALC department has a long history of interdisciplinarity and boasts faculty strengths in a wide array of social sciences.

Minimum requirements are a Ph.D. in a relevant social science discipline (e.g., sociology, anthropology, political science) and active research agendas examining contemporary political and/or social issues that involve Japanese-language sources and in-country fieldwork.

We are particularly interested in candidates combining disciplinary rigor and area studies expertise to examine real-world challenges facing contemporary Japan and who are interested in contributing to and benefiting from EALC's new 21st Century Japan Politics and Society Initiative (established in 2018).

Applicants should submit a letter of application describing research and teaching interests, a C.V., and a writing sample along with three letters of reference. ABD candidates are welcome to apply, but must have the Ph.D. in hand by July 31, 2020. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application at: <https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8197>

Questions regarding the position or application process can be directed to: Ethan Michelson at emichels@indiana.edu. Applications received by October 18, 2019 are guaranteed full consideration.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6029

National University of Singapore

Rank: Lecturer/Senior Lecturer

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the National University of Singapore invites applications for an educator-track Lectureship or Senior Lectureship in Political Science to teach research methods as well as other modules in Comparative Politics and/or Governance and Public Policy for our undergraduate curriculum. The teaching load is six modules per academic year (three per semester), of which at least two should be in methods.

Lectureships at NUS are career positions in which advancement (to open-contracted Associate Professor and Professor) is possible. Appointments are for three years initially and are renewable on an ongoing basis, subject to good performance and departmental teaching needs. Compensation and benefits are similar to those of faculty members on the tenure track and are competitive.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science. The Department recognizes four main subfields: Comparative Politics; Governance and Public Policy; International Relations; and Political Theory. The Department also hosts the programme in Global Studies.

Candidates should send a CV, a letter detailing their research and teaching interests, at least two samples of written work, and letters from three referees to the Chair of the Search Committee at pol-box5@nus.edu.sg

All applicants should also submit sample syllabi, student evaluations, and other evidence of teaching quality. To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by 21 October 2019.

Please note that only short-listed candidates will be notified

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/21/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6025

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor

Rank: Faculty Position in Complex Systems

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Research Methods, Intelligence

The Center for the Study of Complex Systems (CSCS) at the University of Michigan seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position in complex systems science. This is a University-year appointment at the Assistant Professor level although more senior applicants will also be considered. The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

Required Qualifications: We seek applicants with a research agenda focused on the development and/or application of complex systems models and/or methods. This may involve theoretical or applied research in areas of complex systems including (but not limited to) mathematical and computational work in network science, emergence and robustness, related topics in computer science, or scientific applications where complex systems theory lies at the core of the approach such as quantitative modeling of social systems, biological structure and development, evolution, artificial life and cognition. We are particularly interested in candidates with a record of working across disciplines.

How to Apply: All applications must be uploaded here: <http://webapps.lsa.umich.edu/Apply/CSCS>. This faculty position will be a joint appointment between CSCS and another academic department or school at the University of Michigan. Candidates should identify one or more partner units at the University of Michigan suitable for such a joint appointment. Applicants must submit a CV, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and evidence of teaching excellence, if any. At least three letters of recommendation are required and must be uploaded onto the same website. Review of applications will begin on 1 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Michigan is supportive of the needs of dual career couples and is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. Women and minority candidates are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/21/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6030

University of Minnesota

Rank: Advanced Assistant or Associate Professor in Global Policy
Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Public Administration
Specializations: Foreign Policy, Environmental Policy, International Political Economy

The Humphrey School of Public Affairs is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff, and student body. The School's mission is to inspire, educate, and support innovative leaders to advance the common good in a diverse and changing world. The School is NASPAA-accredited, ranked nationally in the top ten U.S. based schools of public affairs, and widely recognized for examining public issues and shaping public policy and governance at the local, state, national, and international levels. The Humphrey School works to enrich the diversity of the University community and encourages faculty applicants from a wide range of backgrounds to apply. We seek candidates whose approach to teaching and research is innovative and inclusive in terms of structurally or historically underrepresented groups.

With this current search, the Humphrey School seeks to hire a tenure-track advanced Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor eligible for tenure at the University of Minnesota whose research, scholarship, academic leadership and service focus broadly on global policy. Evidence of established scholarship with the potential for contributions of national and international significance is required for candidates at the pre-tenure assistant professor level. Appointment at the tenured level of associate professor requires evidence of excellence and national/international policy-relevant impact in scholarly research, teaching and service.

The successful candidate must have strong, demonstrated applied research and teaching interests in comparative foreign policy, international relations, international economics and trade policy, and/or global environmental policy. Candidates with specific country expertise and strong regional and/or international interests will also be considered. Although the tenure home and position will be at the Humphrey School, there are ample opportunities to collaborate and affiliate with scholars in departments across the University of Minnesota.

Candidates must be committed to scholarly and policy-relevant research at the highest levels; willing and able to teach in the School's core curriculum; provide leadership to its established public policy Masters and public affairs Ph.D. programs; be willing to help prepare students for professional careers; and function collaboratively in a multi-and inter-disciplinary environment.

A Ph.D. is required in public policy, international relations, development studies, economics, political science, political economy, sociology or related fields with a focus on international policy and global affairs. The Humphrey School is especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated interest in public policy, broadly construed, whose approach to teaching and research is both innovative and inclusive in terms of race, gender, class and ethnicity.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement and three samples of recent research (publications or manuscripts), teaching statement, and the names/addresses of three references (reference letters will be requested for short-listed candidates). All candidates must hold a PhD by the time of employment.

All interested candidates must apply online. Applications will be reviewed beginning October 7, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Select the link to access our careers site.
2. Sign In to access your account or if you are not an existing user select the New User link to create one.
3. Review the job description and select the Apply button to begin your application.

<https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/ext/332091>

If you are a current employee of our organization please use the following link instead:

<https://hr.myu.umn.edu/jobs/int/332091>

Address cover letter to: Search Committee for Global Policy, Humphrey School of Public Affairs, c/o Human Resources Department, 301-19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Salary will be commensurate with experience. Benefits include health, dental, faculty life/disability insurance, retirement, and social security. The starting date for this appointment is August 24, 2020 or as soon thereafter as possible.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/20/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6023

Duke University

Rank: Tenured or Tenure-track Professor in Public Policy and Political Science

The Sanford School of Public Policy is undertaking a major hiring initiative in political science, economics, and public policy. Within this initiative we are seeking to hire two political scientists at the advanced assistant professor (i.e., at least 2 years post-PhD), associate professor, or full professor level. The positions are open with respect to the major subfields within Political Science; we welcome applications from political scientists whose work connects to most major areas of public policy: domestic social policy, environment and energy, health policy, international development, international security, the intersection of technology and policy, and media and democracy. In addition, we value applications from faculty with a record of entrepreneurial research projects, a strong interest in policy engagement, and experience with innovative classroom approaches. Faculty may teach in any of our core existing programs and be part of building new professional offerings.

The Sanford School includes a full-time faculty of almost 70 and offers an undergraduate major, three masters programs, and a Ph.D. program. More information on the Sanford School can be found at www.sanford.duke.edu.

Applicants should submit a letter that includes a brief overview of the applicant's program of research, a CV, and digital copies or links for up to three papers or articles that best exemplify their work. Applications will be treated confidentially and should be submitted via the following website: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14276>. Applications received by September 27, 2019, will be assured full consideration.

Self-inquiries and nominations of candidates are encouraged and should be submitted to Philip Napoli, Search Committee Chair, at philip.napoli@duke.edu.

Duke is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Duke aspires to create a community built on collaboration, innovation, creativity, and belonging. Our collective success depends on the robust exchange of ideas -an exchange that is best when the rich diversity of our perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences flourishes. To achieve this exchange, it is essential that all members of the community feel secure and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community have a responsibility to uphold these values.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: 9/27/2019

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6008

University of Toronto, Mississauga

Rank: Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream - Urban Policy and Politics

Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream – Urban Policy and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for a full-time teaching-stream position in the area of Urban Policy and Politics. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream and will begin on July 1, 2020, or shortly thereafter.

Candidates are expected to have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field by date of appointment or soon thereafter. Applicants with a Ph.D. in a related field and a strong track record in the civil service or a non-government organization are also encouraged to apply. We seek enthusiastic and innovative individuals pursuing a long-term academic career in pedagogy. In addition to excellence in teaching, the successful candidate will also be expected to create and support experiential learning opportunities, participate in the development of undergraduate curriculum, to engage in undergraduate mentorship, and to help foster a vibrant intellectual environment for our undergraduate programs.

We seek candidates whose teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. Candidates must have teaching expertise in a degree granting program at the undergraduate program level, including lecture preparation and delivery, curriculum development, and/or development of online material/lectures. Additionally, candidates must possess a demonstrated commitment to excellent pedagogical practices and a demonstrated interest in teaching-related scholarly activities.

Evidence of excellence in teaching and pedagogical inquiry can be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, awards and accolades, presentations at significant conferences, the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a strong teaching statement, sample syllabi, course materials, and teaching evaluations, as well as strong letters of reference from referees of high standing.

At the University of Toronto Mississauga, the expectation of faculty members in the teaching stream is that they bring a dimension of teaching excellence and educational innovation that enhances undergraduate or graduate education and adds significantly to the quality of the student experience. The Department of Political Science is interested in expanding its experiential learning opportunities, specifically developing an internship program relating to Urban Policy/Politics and seeks candidates with strong relevant experience and the desire to take the lead in development of such a program.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To be considered for this position, all application materials must be submitted online by clicking the apply link below. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy (1 page), sample syllabi and course assignments (max 10 pages) and prior student evaluation or other assessments of teaching effectiveness (max 10 pages).

Equity and diversity are among UTM's core values and are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must arrange for three referees to send confidential letters of recommendation, including one primarily addressing the candidate's teaching, directly via email (on letterhead, signed and scanned) to the Chair, Professor Andrea Olive, at polsci.utm@utoronto.ca by the closing date.

Applications and all materials (including reference letters) must be received by October 17th, 2019.

Please submit attachments in PDF format only. Submission guidelines can be found at: uoft.me/how-to-apply. If you have questions about this position, please contact chair.pol.utm@utoronto.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see uof-t.me/UP.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/17/2019

Date Posted: 8/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5992

McMaster University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at McMaster University invites applications for a full-time tenure-track appointment in Comparative Public Policy. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with a preferred starting date of July 1, 2020.

Candidates must have earned a PhD in Political Science, or a related discipline, by the date of appointment or shortly thereafter. The main criteria for selection are research and teaching excellence. Candidates must demonstrate an emerging record of research accomplishments that contribute to and advance the comparative study of public policy. Candidates must also demonstrate a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching, and strong potential for excellence as a graduate supervisor.

The successful candidate will have evidence of high-quality scholarly output and excellence in research. They will be expected to carry out an independent research program yielding significant peer-reviewed publications, and to compete successfully for external funding to support this research program. Candidates from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives and substantive policy interests are encouraged to apply, including those who apply innovative approaches involving socially engaged and participatory research.

The successful candidate will also demonstrate strong potential for outstanding teaching contributions at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and an ongoing commitment to academic and pedagogical excellence in support of the department's programs. At the undergraduate level, the appointee will be expected to teach introductory as well as more advanced courses in an area of their expertise. At the graduate level, the appointee will teach courses as part of the Masters in Political Science and the PhD program in Comparative Public Policy, and be expected to supervise graduate students in their areas of research expertise. These can include mainstream policy studies as well as projects that adopt critical approaches to policy. The capacity to strengthen the department's commitment to practice-based learning is an asset.

The person who fills this position is expected to contribute to the department's supportive and collegial working environment, and to make substantive contributions through service to the department, the Faculty, the University, and/or the broader community.

McMaster University consistently ranks among the top 5 research intensive universities in Canada and among the top 100 universities worldwide. It has a strong focus on community-based research and experiential learning that complements classroom studies with hands-on experience. Community engagement and a commitment to service and to the public good has been a key part of McMaster's history. The Department of Political Science provides a strong, supportive and collegial research culture, building the research capacity of faculty and graduate students. It offers MA degrees in Political Science and International Relations, and PhD degrees in Comparative Public Policy and International Relations, as well as a range of undergraduate programs. Further information on the Department can be found at <http://www.politicalscience.mcmaster.ca>.

McMaster is strongly committed to employment equity within its community and to recruiting a diverse faculty and staff. The diversity of our workforce is at the core of our innovation and creativity and strengthens our research and teaching excellence. The University encourages applications from all qualified candidates, particularly women, persons with disabilities, First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples, members of racialized communities, and LGBTQ+ identified persons. The University seeks qualified candidates who share our commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion. Applicants are asked to include, as part of their application package, a statement describing their commitment to and demonstrated experience advancing equity, diversity and inclusion in post-secondary education, community-based or other professional settings.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. To comply with the Government of Canada's reporting requirements, the University is obliged to gather information about applicants' status as either Permanent Residents of Canada or Canadian citizens. Applicants need not identify their country of origin or current citizenship, however, all applications must include in the cover letter one of the following statements: "I am a citizen / permanent resident of Canada" OR "I am not a citizen or permanent resident of Canada." Applications that do not include this information will be deemed incomplete.

How to apply:

Applicants should submit the following documents electronically as PDFs through www.workingatmcmaster.ca/careers/

- Cover letter;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Statement of research;
- Statement of contributions and commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion – addressing past, ongoing, and/or potential contributions through teaching, research, professional activity, and/or service;
- Evidence of teaching excellence;
- Academic writing sample.

In addition, applicants must arrange for three letters of reference to be sent directly by referees to Dr. Karen Bird, Chair, Department of Political Science at polisci@mcmaster.ca

Applicants will also be sent a link to complete an online voluntary Diversity Survey. All information collected is confidential and will be used to support efforts to broaden the diversity of the applicant pool and to promote a fair, equitable, and inclusive hiring process.

Job applicants requiring accommodation to participate in the hiring process should contact the Human Resources Service Centre at 905-525-9140 ext. 222-HR (22247) or the Faculty of Social Sciences Human Resources Advisor at ext. 24552 to communicate accommodation needs.

Consideration of applications will begin on October 11, 2019.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 8/15/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5988

Smith College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Government and Statistical & Data Sciences

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Women & Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Electoral Behavior

The Department of Government (GOV) and the Program in Statistical & Data Sciences (SDS) at Smith College invite applications for a joint, tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, to begin July 1, 2020.

By time of appointment the applicant must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely-related discipline (e.g., public policy) -- as well as advanced training in statistics, data science, or a closely-related field at the graduate level. Candidates specializing in American political institutions and public policy are preferred. Statistical and Data Science specializations might include, for example, the public policy implications of data storage and mining, machine learning and public health, modeling of voting behavior, surveillance and data privacy policy, or computer algorithms for law enforcement and sentencing.

The position has a teaching load of 2:2 -- i.e., four semester-long courses over the academic year -- and will have a joint teaching commitment to GOV and SDS, split evenly. In GOV, we anticipate that the person would teach introduction to public policy, introduction to American Government, and upper-level courses related to their area of expertise in which students analyze data. In SDS, the person would teach introductory statistics or data science, as well as intermediate and advanced-level courses in their area of interest, for example multiple regression, machine learning, data journalism, data visualization, data ethics, or text mining. Candidates from groups underrepresented in STEM or quantitative political science are encouraged to apply.

Located in Northampton, MA, Smith College is the largest women's college in the country and is dedicated to excellence in teaching and research across the liberal arts. The faculty of outstanding scholars interact with students in small classes. Tenure-track faculty members teach two courses each semester, mentor and advise undergraduates, and enjoy a generous sabbatical policy. Smith College offers opportunities to foster faculty success at every career stage, such as those listed here: <https://www.smith.edu/about-smith/provost/faculty-development>. The Five College Consortium -- comprising Smith, Amherst, Mount Holyoke and Hampshire Colleges, and the University of Massachusetts-Amherst -- provides a rich intellectual and cultural life. Details about GOV and SDS may be found at <https://www.smith.edu/gov/> and <https://www.smith.edu/sds/>.

Submit application at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66801> with a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching philosophy, an article- or chapter-length writing sample, and three confidential letters of recommendation. The research and teaching statements should address the candidate's commitment to diversity and inclusion, as well as their interest in working at a women's college. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Summer 2019

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5971

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Housing, Education Policy, Criminal Justice

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate professor in American politics and public policy, with an emphasis on political institutions and the policy making process, to begin July 1, 2020.

All applicants must have a PhD in the area of Political Science, Public Policy, or a related policy discipline conferred by the time of appointment. Please note that we are searching at both the junior and tenured levels. Successful candidates will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in American political institutions and policy-making. While we encourage applications from scholars studying all areas of Public Policy, GPS has particular interest in Health, Education, Criminal Justice, Transportation, or Housing Policy.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at:

Assistant Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02210>

Associate Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02211>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5965

Davidson College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Education Politics and Policy

The Departments of Educational Studies and Political Science invite applications for a tenure-track assistant professor specializing in Education Politics and Policy to begin July 1, 2020. Demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching, active and high-quality scholarship, and commitment to student advising and support are essential. We are interested in candidates whose teaching and research interests focus on contemporary educational policy issues in the United States including, but not limited to, inequality, educational change, K-12 education, and/or higher education. The candidate should be broadly enough trained to be able to contribute to wider course offerings in the field of public policy. We are especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated commitment to diversity and inclusion. Successful candidates will demonstrate potential to make a major contribution to the college's aspirations to build its curricular and co-curricular offerings in policy studies. This includes potential to establish community and college connections through education policy initiatives.

Candidates holding Ph.D.s in Educational Policy, Political Science, or Public Policy are preferred but we welcome candidates with other degrees that give them strong grounding in the theory and practice of policy analysis. We welcome applications from candidates with strong multi-methodological skills, and with a pluralistic approach to social science methodology; with trans-disciplinary interests that complement Davidson College's growing inter-disciplinary programs; and with potential to contribute to the college's existing strength integrating liberal arts education with policy engagement. The successful applicant will be expected to offer five courses per year (four in the first year of employment). Candidates will generally teach 3 courses per year in Educational Studies, principally serving the Education Policy track, and 2 courses per year in Political Science, such as Introduction to Policy Analysis, Public Policy, Comparative Public Policy, and/or State and Local Politics. We welcome candidates who are enthusiastic about teaching a first-year writing seminar annually or every other year. Applications from both Ph.D.-holders and very advanced ABDs will be considered.

The following materials are required: letter of application; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; statements addressing the candidate's teaching experience and interests and research agenda; graduate school transcript; and evidence of demonstrated or potential excellence in and enthusiasm for undergraduate teaching. Also include a statement on how teaching, research, and/or service might contribute to Davidson's institutional commitment to diversity and inclusion. Answers to additional questions can be found at The deadline for receipt of applications is October 1, 2019. All application materials can be submitted at <http://employment.davidson.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/9/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 5947

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in five of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2020. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in their original scholarship as well as in teaching.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. Each Collegiate Assistant Professor also has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical in the third year of residence. The position comes with an annual salary for 2020-21, of $72,307.80, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $5,000. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2020.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <http://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 26, 2019.

These positions are part of the Service Employees International Union.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 11, 2019.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 25, 2019. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non\_discrimination\_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/11/2019

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 5953

Drake University

Rank: Department Chair

The Department of Political Science at Drake University seeks to recruit an exceptional scholar for a tenured position at the rank of associate professor who can provide effective and visionary leadership as the Chair of the Department of Political Science. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in American public policy. Teaching responsibilities include the introductory American Politics course and upper level courses covering domestic public policy (process and theory), policy analysis, and topics consistent with the individual's research specialization. Chairs serve three-year terms, with the possibility of renewal, and have their teaching load reduced from the standard 3-3 load.

Drake is a private, comprehensive, coeducational institution located in Des Moines, Iowa, the fastest growing city in the Midwest and the state capital of Iowa. Drake is a hub of political activity during the Iowa caucuses and offers exceptional opportunities for experiential learning, student engagement, and scholarship on policy formulation and discourse in local, state, and national contexts. We are an equal-opportunity employer (EEO) dedicated to building a diverse and pluralistic community and strongly encourage applications from all qualified applicants. We are excited to welcome colleagues who will provide support for and work effectively with individuals and groups from diverse backgrounds. The Department consists of 7 full-time faculty members and offers majors in both politics and international relations. Information about the department can be found at: <https://www.drake.edu/polsci/>

Salary is competitive with peer schools and dependent on qualifications and experience. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019. To apply, go to <https://drake.hiretouch.com/> and submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, the names of three references, evidence of teaching effectiveness including sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement on teaching philosophy, a writing sample and a diversity statement.

Questions may be directed to the search committee chair Arthur Sanders at arthur.sanders@drake.edu. If you plan on being at APSA in Washington, please contact the search committee chair ahead of time to arrange an informal conversation about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5942

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for a postdoctoral research position for the 2020-2021 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Post-doctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines bearing on the study of Economic Diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (September 28, 2020 – June 11, 2021), and to interact with faculty and Ph.D. students, giving at least one research talk. Selected fellows are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019, for full consideration; however, the posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process: All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02196>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or receive a Ph.D. degree in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines related to the study of Economic Diplomacy by the start of appointment.

Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on December 6, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. CCD Fellows will receive applicable UCSD benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the UCSD's background check policy.

For more information about the Center for Commercial Diplomacy fellowship program, please contact Alexandra Hubenko, Executive Director, at ahubenko@ucsd.edu

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5926

University of Kentucky

Rank: Faculty Position in Public Policy and Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Other

The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration at the University of Kentucky is seeking a faculty member at any rank beginning in August 2020. We seek outstanding scholars with a degree in Economics, Political Science, Public Policy, or Sociology who can contribute to our Ph.D., professional master's degrees, or our new undergraduate degree. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in a substantive policy such as health, environmental, or social policy.

The Martin School is consistently ranked as one of the top 25 public policy schools and is a University Center of Excellence with a multidisciplinary faculty offering five degrees: Master of Public Administration, Master of Public Policy, Master of Public Financial Management, Ph.D. in Public Policy and Administration, or our undergraduate public policy degree.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Review of applications will begin immediately. All interested applicants should send an online application at <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/236741> Please include a letter of application and a curriculum vitae.

Inquiries are encouraged and should be submitted Dr. Ron Zimmer, search committee chair, at ron.zimmer@uky.edu. Interviews will be held at the APPAM meetings. For more information about the Martin School, please visit <http://www.martin.uky.edu>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5920

University of Kentucky

Rank: Faculty Position, Public and Nonprofit Management

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Martin School of Public Policy and Administration at the University of Kentucky seeks applications for a position in public management beginning as early as spring, 2020 and no later than fall, 2020. The position will carry tenure at the rank of associate or professor. Ideal candidates will apply public management scholarship to a substantive area such as environmental, health, social policy, or nonprofit management. We seek outstanding scholars who can contribute to our Ph.D. program, our professional master's degree programs, and/or a new undergraduate degree in public policy.

The Martin School is consistently ranked as one of the top 25 public policy schools and is a University Center of Excellence with a multidisciplinary faculty.

Applications will be accepted until the position is filled with review of applications beginning September 3, 2019. Interested applicants should submit a UK Online Application at <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/236750> Please include a CV, letter of interest, and contact information for three references along with application.

Inquiries should be submitted to Eugenia F. Toma, search committee chair, at Eugenia.toma@uky.edu. For more information about the Martin School, please visit <http://www.martin.uky.edu/>.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5921

Sabanci University

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics/ Public Policy (Sabanci University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabanci University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabanci University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics/Public Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: Turkish Politics, policy evaluation or social policy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabanci University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academicv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5911

Cornell University

Rank: Tenure-Track Positions

Tenure-track positions at the ILR School, Cornell University

The ILR School at Cornell University is hiring in a number of areas this year. ILR is the world's leading college focused on work, employment, and labor issues, with faculty from a number of disciplinary backgrounds. Brief position descriptions and links to the full listings are below. Cornell University is an equal opportunity employer, and women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

Tenure-Track Position in Labor Movements and Collective Representation

(<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14116>)

Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations (ILR) invites applications to fill a tenure-track faculty position at the assistant professor level in Labor Movements and Collective Representation to begin August 2020. Applicants should have research and teaching interests related to labor movements or other forms of collective worker representation. A demonstrated potential for high quality teaching and research leading to publication in top-tier journals is essential. At the time of appointment, applicants must have completed a Ph.D. in industrial relations, sociology, political science, anthropology, management, or other related disciplines. Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, vita, research statement, teaching statement, diversity and inclusion statement, writing sample, and three reference letters. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019. Inquiries about this position should be directed to Prof. Virginia Doellgast (vld7@cornell.edu), Prof. Kate Griffith (kategriffith@cornell.edu), Prof. Shannon Gleeson (smg338@cornell.edu), or Prof. Sarosh Kuruvilla (sck4@cornell.edu).

Tenure-Track Position in International and Comparative Labor & Employment Law

(<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14115>)

Cornell University's School of Industrial and Labor Relations (ILR) invites applications to fill a tenure-track faculty position (at the assistant, associate or full professor level) in International and Comparative Labor & Employment Law to begin August 2020. Applicants should have research and teaching interests related to international and comparative labor & employment law. A demonstrated potential for high quality teaching and research leading to publication in top-tier journals is essential. Policy-oriented experience in the field of international and comparative labor & employment law is desirable. At the time of appointment, applicants must have completed a J.D. and/or a Ph.D. in industrial relations, sociology, political science, management, or other related disciplines. Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, vita, research statement, teaching statement, diversity and inclusion statement, writing sample, and three reference letters. Review of applications will begin October 1, 2019. Inquiries about this position should be directed to Prof. Virginia Doellgast (vld7@cornell.edu), Prof. Kate Griffith (kategriffith@cornell.edu), Prof. Shannon Gleeson (smg338@cornell.edu), or Prof. Sarosh Kuruvilla (sck4@cornell.edu).

Diversity and Inclusion are a part of Cornell University's heritage. We are a recognized employer and educator valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5873

Georgetown University

Rank: Tenure-Track Faculty in Ethics and Public Policy

The McCourt School of Public Policy at Georgetown University seeks to hire a tenure-track faculty member who conducts research on ethics and public policy and who can teach graduate-level courses in this area. Candidates with a Ph.D. in a social science discipline, public policy, public administration, philosophy, or law will be considered. The McCourt School has a special interest in ethical issues arising from big data, whether compiled by the government or by large corporations. Other possibilities include the ethics of public administration, bio-ethics, and artificial intelligence.

The McCourt School is primarily targeting junior faculty members (freshly minted Ph.D.s, assistant professors with one or two years on their tenure clock), but advanced assistant professors and recently tenured associate professors may apply.

Applications can be submitted via: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14167>. Candidates should apply no later than September 20, 2019 to receive consideration. If you wish to be interviewed at the APSA meetings in Washington, D.C., August 30-31, please indicate that in your cover letter, and the committee will consider your request.

In 2013, the Georgetown Public Policy Institute, which originated in the mid 1980s, became the McCourt School of Public Policy. The McCourt School is growing rapidly and offers a number of graduate degrees, including a Masters of Public Policy, Masters in Policy Management, Master of International Policy & Development, and a Masters of Science in Data Science for Public Policy degree. It also offers executive education programs.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability, or other categories protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5886

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the 2020-2021 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 – July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12561>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5845

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: East Asia, Latin American, Middle East

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12563>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/9/2019
Date Posted: 8/1/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5847

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2020-2021 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12564>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/29/2019
Date Posted: 8/1/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5844

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow in Regional Political Economy – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12562>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three referees, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5846

The College of New Jersey

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor. We are open to candidates studying a range of policy areas; candidates should demonstrate an active and rigorous research agenda in their chosen policy specialty. The successful candidate will excel in the classroom and seek ways to integrate their scholarship and teaching. Candidates should be prepared to teach undergraduate courses on U.S. public policy. Candidates who can also expand our course offerings in other areas such as public administration, race & ethnic politics, gender & politics, or urban/local politics would be desirable, as would candidates who could teach research methods or specialized courses in data analytics/science. The typical teaching load is three courses per semester, with the possibility of a course release per year for research after the first year through a competitive proposal process. A Ph.D. is preferred, but the College will consider ABDs if the degree will be granted by time of appointment. Applications received by September 13, 2019, will receive full consideration.

The Department of Political Science is a supportive and dynamic community of scholars and students. The Department has seven tenured or tenure-track members and is conducting searches this year for two additional tenure-track positions. Over 180 students major in Political Science, and another 130 major in the interdisciplinary International Studies program. The Department offers minors in public policy and pre-law which draw students from across a wide range of academic disciplines.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a highly selective institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. Emphasizing a residential experience for its 6,500 undergraduates, TCNJ is one of Barron's 75 "Most Competitive" American colleges, and U.S. News & World Report's No. 1 public institution of its kind in the northern region of the country. The College also offers focused graduate programs in nursing, business, education and English. In 2006, TCNJ was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ's seven schools—Arts & Communication; Business; Education; Humanities & Social Sciences; Science; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Engineering. TCNJ faculty members are teacher-scholars who share a commitment to the liberal arts. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of NYC and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. TCNJ has 39 major buildings, including the 4th-best college library in the nation, according to the Princeton Review.

Applicants should submit the following materials using the online application system at link: <https://chm.tbe.taleo.net/chm03/ats/careers/v2/viewRequisition?org=TCNJ&cws=37&rid=1016>. A final offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a background investigation.

- 1) A cover letter describing qualifications and research and teaching interests,
- 2) curriculum vitae,
- 3) one scholarly writing sample,
- 4) evidence of teaching effectiveness,
- 5) a statement on diversity and inclusion detailing how diversity and inclusion are incorporated into their work as teachers, scholars, and mentors, and
- 6) contact information for 3-5 references.

Applicants should also have three referees submit confidential letters of recommendation directly to publicpolicysearch-group@tcnj.edu. Questions about the position can be directed to Daniel Bowen (bowend@tcnj.edu), Public Policy Search Committee Chair.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/13/2019

Date Posted: 7/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5866

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Assistant Professor, Public Policy Approaches to Sexual Violence - Cluster Hire

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Specializations: Gender Politics & Policy, Criminal Justice, Health Care

The University of Wisconsin-Madison seeks to hire a faculty member with research and teaching interests in policy issues around sexual violence.

The scholar should have expertise in the interplay between social science, policy, and government. This may include scholars who are interested in issues such as rehabilitation and reintegration of sexual violence criminals, disparities in policing and sentencing policies for sexual violence criminals, sexual harassment policy issues in the public sector or workplace, Title IX issues in educational policy, child and adult sex trafficking, or the geopolitics of gender-based violence and sexual violence such as the context of war (and political violence more broadly), migration, refugee experiences, and disaster experiences. Or, this may include scholars who study the policy issues attached to: sexual violence imposed by domestic partners; gender/social inequality and its impact on sexual violence; substance abuse (e.g., alcohol and drug) and sexual violence; sexual violence against sex workers; weapon use and sexual violence; history of child abuse and sexual violence; sexual violence and HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases; the role of physicians in screening for sexual assault; marriage laws and sexual violence; mental health and sexual violence; and the relationship between sexual violence and economic pressure, social norms, intergenerational transmission, forced marriage, or education levels.

Ideally the candidate will be positioned to contribute knowledge to improve laws, or the implementation of laws or policies, to prevent and address sexual violence. Public policy experts could use their expertise in the policymaking process, as well as policy analysis and evaluation to identify "what works" and (what doesn't "work") within existing sexual violence policies and laws, and then, in the spirit of the Wisconsin Idea, to share these evidence-based solutions with the public, as well as public sector leaders.

This faculty position is part of a faculty cluster search, "Sexual Violence: Connecting Social Science Research with Policy." The cluster defines "Sexual Violence" broadly, and it includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, sex trafficking, violence against sexual minorities, as well as gender-based violence.

Three faculty positions will be hired in the cluster, which will build a world-class, new core of interdisciplinary strength in research to address issues of sexual violence domestically and/or globally-making UW-Madison a research leader in this critical area. The first faculty position [PVL 99483] focuses on "Psychological Aspects of Sexual Violence" (including potentially research on psychological aspects of victimization, psychological factors contributing to perpetration, and/or theory-based development of interventions designed to prevent sexual assault), while the second faculty position [PVL 99523] is around "Societal Aspects of Sexual Violence" (including potentially research on the social causes and consequences of sexual violence, addressing the disproportionate impact of sexual violence in particular communities (e.g., sexual minority groups, people with disabilities) or the geopolitics of sexual violence and trauma. The third faculty position is "Policy Approaches to Sexual Violence," the subject of this search [PVL 99600].

These positions are part of the UW's Cluster Hiring Initiative, designed to foster innovative, outstanding research programs that will stimulate productive interactions among faculty and students in sexual violence research across campus and to expand interdisciplinary research in this area. Further information regarding this initiative can be found at: <https://facstaff.provost.wisc.edu/cluster-hiring-initiative/>

The successful candidate will have a primary appointment at the La Follette School of Public Affairs or another pertinent unit on campus. Tenure home will be determined at the time of hiring. Expectations include a commitment to the important functions of research, instruction, and outreach, as well as professional and university service as appropriate to faculty rank.

Responsibilities include conducting research and teaching at all levels required, with service at the professional and university level.

Teaching will include courses to undergraduate students, as well as graduate students. For example, the teaching load at the La Follette School of Public Affairs in a typical academic year consists of four courses each year. Mentoring graduate students will be required as well.

To apply, go to <http://jobs.wisc.edu> and search for PVL 99600. To begin the application process, please click on the 'Apply Now' button. You will be asked to create a profile and upload a C.V., cover letter, a research statement, a teaching statement, and 2 samples of written work (please upload these 2 samples together). You will also be asked to provide contact information for three (3) references as part of your online application.

The deadline for assuring full consideration is October 15, 2019; however, positions will remain open and applications may be considered until the position is filled.

For full position description, visit <https://jobs.hr.wisc.edu/en-us/job/502079/assistant-professor-public-policy-approaches-to-sexual-violence-cluster-hire>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/23/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5816

Stanford University, Graduate School of Business

Rank: Faculty Positions in Political Economy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Graduate School of Business invites applications for tenure-track positions at all ranks beginning September 1, 2020. The positions are for scholars of exceptional caliber who will strengthen the political economy group's research and teaching and make a distinctive programmatic contribution to the Graduate School of Business. The political economy group at the GSB is a collaboration of economists and political scientists. We welcome applications from across political economy and political science broadly construed, both theoretical and empirical, and focusing on developed as well as developing countries. Outstanding research and teaching skills are essential. Applicants at all ranks will be considered and must have a PhD or expect to complete one before September 1, 2020.

Applicants should submit their applications electronically by visiting the web site <http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/recruiting> and uploading their curriculum vitae, research papers and publications, and teaching evaluations, if applicable, on that site. For an application to be considered complete, all applicants must submit a CV, a job market paper and arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted by November 30, 2019. Please note that we will be reviewing and considering applications as they come in. For questions regarding the application process, please send an email to Faculty_Recruiter@gsb.stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5811

Bentley University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Comparative Public Policy/International Public Policy

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Comparative Politics, International Relations

JOB DESCRIPTION SUMMARY:

The Global Studies Department at Bentley University, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Comparative Public Policy/International Public Policy at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2020. We particularly welcome candidates with expertise in policy areas such as sustainability, development, and health—areas that complement existing programs and appeal to students at a business university.

The successful candidate will be asked to contribute to enhancing our two departmental majors - Public Policy and International Affairs - and to complement the department's existing strengths, which are grounded in political science, geography and cultural studies. While the position is open with respect to region, we especially welcome candidates whose work focuses on regions with emerging economies, particularly in Asia or Africa.

Founded in 1917, Bentley University is a private, Business-focused university with a strong commitment to the Arts and Sciences. Bentley enrolls approximately 5,500 students at the undergraduate, graduate and doctoral levels. Located in Waltham, Massachusetts, Bentley is on the doorstep of one of the nation's leading cities. With over 35 colleges and universities, the greater Boston area is a vibrant place to work and live.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach core courses in public policy/international affairs and electives in their area of expertise.

Candidates must demonstrate evidence of a continuing research agenda focused on publication and a strong dedication to excellence in teaching, with preference for candidates with classroom experience. We especially welcome candidates who bring diverse perspectives and experiences to the classroom.

PhD required. (Requirements for your doctoral degree must be confirmed prior to the start of the fall 2020 semester.)

Position will remain open until filled. However, priority consideration will be given to applications received by September 30, 2019.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS:

All application materials should be submitted through Bentley's on-line employment site at <https://bentley.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/faculty>. Applications should include a letter of interest and CV. Names and contact information for three references are required upon application. Bentley will contact these confidential references for those candidates moving forward in the process.

Bentley University requires references checks and may conduct other pre-employment screening.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT:

Bentley University strives to create a campus community that welcomes the exchange of ideas, and fosters a culture that values differences and views them as a strength in our community.

Bentley University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, building strength through diversity. The University is committed to building a community of talented students, faculty and staff who reflect the diversity of global business. We strongly encourage applications from persons from underrepresented groups, individuals with disabilities, covered veterans and those with diverse experiences and backgrounds.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/30/2019

Date Posted: 7/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5769

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate/Full Professor-Development

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for a tenured faculty position in international economics and public policy. The position can be at the rank of tenured associate or full professor. We are searching for scholars whose research interests include at least one of: the economics of international development, political economy, energy and the environment, trade, social policy, security, and other aspects of public policy in international contexts. Research interest and experience in India are an advantage.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic jobs board at: apply.interfolio.com/65117. Applicants must upload a curriculum vitae and at least one sample publication. Review of applications will begin on August 5, 2019. No applications will be accepted after June 30, 2020.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5743

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684