

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

December 2019 | Volume 8, Issue 12

ISSN 2167-8332

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4

American Government and Politics 9

Comparative Politics 49

International Relations 83

Methodology 117

Non-Academic 127

Open 127

Other 143

Political Theory 174

Public Administration 190

Public Law 198

Public Policy 209

About the Journal

Published monthly by the American Political Science Association, Political Science Jobs is an online journal containing all active jobs in political science as listed in the APSA online job board eJobs. The combined resource of the Political Science Jobs journal and the daily updated and fully searchable eJobs platform provides a comprehensive employment resource for political science and supports a transparent, efficient, and ethically-grounded labor market for the discipline.

Access to the journal is made freely accessible to APSA's over 14,000 individual and departmental members within the US and around the world.

Submissions

Job listings may be submitted to the journal via the online eJobs platform at www.apsanet.org/jobs and applicable fees may apply.

Online Access: www.apsanet.org/jobs

The core content in this journal draws upon active listings within eJobs, linkages to association programs and career resources. Readers are encouraged to visit the eJobs website for daily updates on new job listings and candidate resumes, and use the online features including search tool to locate listings by field of interest, employer or candidate name, region, keyword, position, salary, institution type, and most recent submissions.

Copyright © 2012
American Political Science Association
All rights reserved

APSA does not grant permission to any individual or party to republish or otherwise distribute this journal or any portion therein in any print or electronic form.

POLITICAL SCIENCE JOBS

December 2019 | Volume 8, Issue 12

ISSN 2167-8332

Online journal from the American Political Science Association

In this Issue

Career Resources

Finding a Job in Political Science 3

Job Listings

Administration 4 (8 listings)

American Government and Politics 9 (74 listings)

Comparative Politics 49 (65 listings)

International Relations 83 (67 listings)

Methodology 117 (20 listings)

Non-Academic 127 (1 listings)

Open 127 (30 listings)

Other 143 (60 listings)

Political Theory 174 (32 listings)

Public Administration 190 (16 listings)

Public Law 198 (20 listings)

Public Policy 209 (47 listings)

Total listings this issue 440

Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

More on the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program

For more information about the JCQ program and to view the departments who agreed to answer these questions at www.apsanet.org/JCQ.

Political Science Jobs for December

ADMINISTRATION

Rice University

Rank: Dean, School of Social Sciences

Subfield(s): Administration, Other, Open

Rice University seeks a distinguished academic leader and administrator to serve as the next dean of its School of Social Sciences and to work in collaboration with an outstanding faculty to enhance world-class research, educate the next generation of innovative leaders and advance a shared vision for transformational social impact.

Located on a bucolic wooded campus in the heart of Houston, Rice combines the resources of a preeminent research institution with the feel of an intimate, student-centered college. Among the nation's leading universities, Rice enrolls approximately 7,000 students, more than half of whom are undergraduates. The university is highly selective; 22 applicants compete for each place in the incoming class. More than 350 undergraduates complete majors in the social sciences annually; an additional 100-plus complete undergraduate minors; and the school awards more than 65 master's and 20 doctoral degrees.

The dean of the School of Social Sciences will provide leadership to 91 tenure track and 26 non-tenure track faculty across seven departments: Anthropology, Economics, Linguistics, Political Science, Psychological Sciences, Sociology and Sports Management. The next dean will be the first to take office in Kraft Hall, which will serve as the new home for Sociology, Economics and several centers and institutes at Rice.

Rice seeks in the next dean a leader who will inspire a pursuit of excellence and passion for creativity; invest in student success and well-being; listen to and learn from others; advance institutional diversity, equity and inclusion; and generate new resources to strengthen the School of Social Sciences.

The dean will work in close partnership with faculty throughout the school and across the university to sustain existing strengths and build new capacity, fostering the success of each department and of the School of Social Sciences as a whole. Learn more and download a complete leadership profile at wittkiewer.com/position/RiceSocialSciences.

Applications and nominations are invited, and the search will remain open until an appointment is made. Candidate materials should include a CV, letter of interest and contact information for at least five references. References will not be contacted without candidates' prior knowledge.

Please direct confidential inquiries, nominations and applications to the search consultants, Robin Mamlet, Philip Tang and Elizabeth Bohan, at RiceSocialSciences@wittkiewer.com.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7476

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Research Fellow

Research Fellow - Institute for Politics and Strategy- 2014341

Job Summary:

At Carnegie Mellon University, the study of politics through the discipline of political science with support from other social science disciplines is centered in the Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS).

We carry on a respected tradition of interdisciplinary political science at Carnegie Mellon as it builds upon the university's rich heritage of applying basic science to issues of public policy and coordinate many different academic programs and centers. The academic programs include the undergraduate major in International Relations and Politics (IRP), the undergraduate major in Economics and Politics, the minor in International Relations and Politics, the minor in Politics and Public Policy, the minor in Cybersecurity and International Conflict, the Accelerated Master of Science in International Relations and Politics (IRP/AMP), CMU's Washington Semester Program (CMU/WSP), and the Master of Information Technology Strategy Program (MITS). The affiliated research centers include the Center for International Relations and Politics (CIRP) and the Institute for Strategic Analysis (ISA).

We are searching for a Research Fellow to join the IPS team. In this role, you will be responsible for conducting research to inform the regular writing of op-eds, articles, and speeches by the director, and developing regular briefing books to inform media efforts and research by the director. Reporting to the Director and Deputy Director, you will receive assignments for research, tasks, and projects. This is an exciting opportunity if you thrive in an interesting and challenging work environment.

Core responsibilities will include:

- Conducting qualitative and quantitative research with minimal supervision to meet established deadlines for varying short-term and long-term projects;
- Supporting the research and writing process to inform the regular writing of op-eds, articles, and speeches by the director;
- Developing regular briefing books to inform media efforts and research by the director;
- Assisting with book preparation;
- Handling logistics and supporting activities for the CIRP Policy Forum, Institute for Strategic Analysis (ISA) events, and IPS related functions.

Flexibility, excellence, and passion are vital qualities within IPS. Inclusion, collaboration and cultural sensitivity are valued competencies at CMU. Therefore, we are in search of a team member who is able to effectively interact with a varied population of internal and external partners at a high level of integrity. We are looking for someone who shares our values and who will support the mission of the university through their work.

You should demonstrate:

- Broad knowledge of issues related to foreign policy;
- Strong writing and editing skills, project management, and general administrative skills;
- Ability to work independently, follow through on projects and assignments with little or no supervision;
- Excellent organizational, interpersonal, verbal and written communication skills;
- Analytical, reasoning and problem-solving skills, high energy, and capacity to work on a team; and
- Capability to multi-task effectively and work under pressure of deadlines and/or specific project outcomes.

This is a full-time, benefit eligible, fixed-term position running from January 2020 through July 2022.

Qualifications

-Bachelor's degree in international relations, political science, or related field required; Master's degree preferred.

-Minimum one to two years of professional or academic experience in quantitative and/or qualitative research required.

You should be willing to travel to various campus and off-campus locations, including travel to Washington, DC, and other locations as needed. You should also be able to work outside normal business hours as occasional weekend and evening work will be required.

Applications

-All applications must be submitted through the Carnegie Mellon University Careers Portal.

<https://cmu.taleo.net/careersection/2/jobdetail.ftl?job=2014341&tz>

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7470

University of Florida

Rank: Director, Program In African American Studies

The Program in African American Studies at the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS), University of Florida (UF) seeks to hire a Director with a broad vision, excellent communication and administrative skills, and a proven record combining scholarship with program leadership and development. The new Director will work with program faculty and the Office of the Dean to realize the College's aspirations for departmental status for African American Studies.

The Program in African American Studies

The University of Florida has offered African American studies courses since 1969. Catalyzed by the passing of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King in 1968, students, educators and activists across the country, intensified the call for increased access to higher education for African Americans. In 1969 the University of Florida responded by establishing an African American Studies Program in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; representing a major step towards racial equality and desegregation. In 1971, the University awarded its first African American Studies certificate, its first minor in 2006, and its first major in 2014.

Fifty years later, the program has continued to flourish. Boasting award-winning faculty in both research and teaching, and a rapidly growing number of students, African American Studies reflects the University of Florida's commitment to academic excellence through diversity and inclusion.

The program is committed to teaching and research that examines the African American experience in a transnational context from a broad base of disciplinary theories. Its faculty members are dedicated to community outreach and community-based learning, including study abroad. The Director will lead a talented and dynamic group of faculty, building upon these foundations, while implementing a clear and ambitious strategic vision for future growth that includes the creation of a Department of African American Studies.

The program supports a rich environment of scholarship, culture, and creativity, which provides a thriving and welcoming home to all affiliated students, staff, and faculty. Students can choose from over 50 courses routinely offered by multiple units at UF. The Program offers a Minor and a Major and aspires to add a graduate curriculum. The UF Libraries system has designated library staff tasked with the enhancement of its current research collection. More information about the Program in African American Studies can be found at: <https://afam.clas.ufl.edu/>

The Program Director

The Director holds a tenured appointment within an appropriate CLAS academic unit at the rank of Associate or Full Professor. Administrative responsibilities include program development and coordination, budgetary and personnel management, faculty recruitment and retention, liaison work with affiliated units within and outside the university, and fundraising.

The new Director will be instrumental in the progress of the program to department status, as proposed by CLAS Dean David E. Richardson. As part of that commitment, Dean Richardson has also authorized searches for four new tenure-track faculty members in African American Studies. The new director will work with a steering committee and existing faculty and the Office of the Dean to determine the areas of specialization for these positions in order to maximize the potential for continued and enhanced success.

The Director must have an earned doctorate and have demonstrated active involvement in the field of African American Studies through a distinguished record of research, teaching, related scholarly activities, and program building. The Director should be able to communicate effectively with diverse constituencies and show evidence of fundraising and administrative skills, including a strong commitment to participatory governance. The Director should also demonstrate a capacity for working collaboratively across disciplinary boundaries with faculty and students from diverse backgrounds and perspectives.

The University of Florida

The University of Florida is a public land-grant institution and member of the Association of American Universities enrolling 55,000 students, including more than 36,000 residential undergraduates. UF is among the nation's most academically diverse universities, with 16 colleges offering 100 undergraduate degree programs, 200 graduate programs, and professional degrees in the areas of dentistry, law, medicine, pharmacy, and veterinary medicine. The University of Florida is ranked among the Top 10 Public National Universities by US News and World Report and is 2nd in the nation among public universities on the Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine list of Best College Values for 2018.

The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 200 graduate programs, and 30 certificates across the following 16 colleges and schools:

College of Agricultural and Life Sciences

College of Journalism and Communications

College of the Arts

Levin College of Law

Warrington College of Business

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

Administration College of Dentistry

College of Medicine

College of Design, Construction and Planning

College of Nursing

College of Education

College of Pharmacy

Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering

College of Public Health and Health Professions

College of Health and Human Performance

College of Veterinary Medicine

The university is currently in the middle of the $3 billion Go Greater fundraising campaign, and to date more than $1.7 billion has been raised. Funding objectives for academic units, include faculty endowments, scholarships, infrastructure, and other initiatives specific to units and collaborative programs.

More information on the University of Florida is available at <http://www.ufl.edu>.

The Gainesville Area

Gainesville is located in North Central Florida and has approximately 285,000 residents. The region is known for its diversity of cultural events, restaurants, year-round outdoor recreational activities, social opportunities, and abundant natural resources including forests, lakes, springs, rivers, and wetlands. More information about Gainesville is available at: <http://www.cityofgainesville.org> and <https://www.visitflorida.com/en-us/cities/gainesville.html>.

Qualifications

Ph.D. degree required.

Application Instructions

For full consideration, applications must be submitted online via Interfolio (search position #42239 at <https://facultyjobs.hr.ufl.edu>). An Interfolio account will need to be created if the applicant does not already have one. Your application must include (1) a letter of application summarizing the applicant's qualifications, interests, and suitability for the position, (2) a complete curriculum vitae, and (3) a list of names and contact information of three references. After initial review, applicants who are chosen to receive further consideration will be asked to request confidential letters of recommendation from the references. For additional questions regarding the application process, please contact Robin Schrieber (robinjs@ufl.edu 352-392-0780).

Applications will be reviewed beginning January 21, 2019, and the position will remain open until filled. To ensure full consideration, application materials should be received by January 21, 2019. Applications received after this date may be considered at the discretion of the committee and/or hiring authority.

All candidates for employment are subject to a pre-employment screening which includes a review of criminal records, reference checks, and verification of education.

The selected candidate will be required to provide an official transcript to the hiring department upon hire. A transcript will not be considered “official” if a designation of “Issued to Student” is visible. Degrees earned from an educational institution outside of the United States require evaluation by a professional credentialing service provider approved by the National Association of Credential Evaluation Services (NACES), which can be found at <http://www.naces.org/>.

The University of Florida is an equal opportunity institution dedicated to building a broadly diverse and inclusive faculty and staff. Searches are conducted in accordance with Florida's Sunshine Law. If an accommodation due to disability is needed in order to apply for this position, please call (352) 392-2477 or the Florida Relay System at (800) 955-8771 (TDD).

The University of Florida particularly welcomes applicants who can contribute to a diverse and inclusive environment through their scholarship, teaching, mentoring, and professional service.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7359

Arizona State University

Rank: Director, School of Human Evolution & Social Change

Director, School of Human Evolution and Social Change
Arizona State University

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at Arizona State University (ASU) invites applications for the position of Director of the School of Human Evolution and Social Change (SHESC) with a concurrent appointment as a tenured Full Professor. ASU serves more than 70,000 students across five campuses, and has a rapidly growing digital immersion population. SHESC is located on ASU's Tempe campus. Tempe is part of the greater Phoenix metropolitan area. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2020.

Research and teaching at SHESC (<https://shesc.asu.edu>) has contributed to ASU ranking #1 in anthropology in both research funding and output. A vibrant community of scholars, teachers, and professionals, SHESC includes over 45 tenure-track faculty members that serve 800 undergraduate majors in anthropology, global health, and applied math and 110 PhD and MA students across four graduate programs. A highly engaged and collaborative unit, SHESC is a leader in research and educational initiatives in traditional anthropological subfields (archaeology, bioarchaeology, evolutionary anthropology, sociocultural anthropology) and problem-based fields of applied math, environmental social science, and global health. SHESC faculty are affiliated with a wide diversity of transdisciplinary research groups, including the Institute of Human Origins, the Julie Ann Wrigley Global Institute of Sustainability, the Teotihuacan Research Laboratory and the Centers for Archaeology and Society, Bioarchaeology, Digital Antiquity, Evolution and Medicine, Global Health, and Social Dynamics and Complexity, and the Arizona-Phoenix Long-Term Ecological Research program.

The Director will develop and implement a comprehensive plan for SHESC and strategic initiatives related to the faculty, staff, and students, providing leadership, vision, and the capacity to engage faculty across a range of disciplines, while sustaining a culture of collaboration both within and beyond the School, strengthening links with other academic units at ASU, and with the wider community. The Director will also maintain an internationally recognized research program and contribute to the teaching mission of the university. The Director will foster growth and innovation in the School's research endeavors; attract, develop, and retain exceptional faculty members from diverse backgrounds and disciplines; promote student success and career readiness; develop interdisciplinary research and teaching initiatives; advance entrepreneurial opportunities; and enhance productive relationships within and outside the university community.

Minimum Qualifications

- A PhD or equivalent in anthropology, environmental social science or global health, or a related field or discipline
- A record of excellence in teaching and service in an academic setting
- A distinguished scholarly record commensurate with the rank of tenured Professor
- Academic leadership experience

Desired Qualifications

- Demonstrated commitment to cultivating and supporting a diverse faculty and student population
- Relevant administrative experience
- Demonstrated appreciation for interdisciplinary approaches to teaching and research
- Demonstrated ability or articulated potential to catalyze cutting-edge research
- Demonstrated ability for mentorship and professional development of emerging scholars
- A record of externally-funded research
- Potential for innovative and strategic leadership in an academic setting
- Commitment to building community-based initiatives
- Commitment to developing donor relations and fundraising

This is a paperless search. To apply, please submit to <http://apply.interfolio.com/69718> : (1) a cover letter outlining how you meet the above qualifications and your vision for leading a transdisciplinary academic unit such as SHESC, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a statement addressing how your past and/or potential contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence, and (4) contact information including emails for three references. References may be contacted at a later stage of the search and only with the candidate's approval. Initial deadline for receipt of complete applications is November 24, 2019. If the position is not filled, reviews will occur every week thereafter until the search is closed. Cover letter can be addressed to Professor Steven Neuberg, Search Committee Chair. Questions about the position should be directed to the search committee chair at steven.neuberg@asu.edu.

The College values our cultural and intellectual diversity, and continually strives to foster a welcoming and inclusive environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can strengthen the diversity of the academic community. Learn more about what The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has to offer by visiting <https://thecollege.asu.edu/faculty>.

A background check is required for employment.

Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law. <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401.html>. <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX>.

In compliance with federal law, ASU prepares an annual report on campus security and fire safety programs and resources. ASU's Annual Security and Fire Safety Report is available online at <https://www.asu.edu/police/PDFs/ASU-Clery-Report.pdf>. You may request a hard copy of the report by contacting the ASU Police Department at 480-965-3456.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 11/24/2019

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7352

University of Arkansas, Little Rock

Rank: Director, School of Public Affairs

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock invites applications for a twelve-month appointment as associate or full professor to serve as the Director of the School of Public Affairs (position #R99296), with an anticipated start date of July 1, 2020. The selected candidate will lead a diverse and dynamic group of scholars and practitioners in building UA Little Rock's newly founded School of Public Affairs, and teach in the NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program. The School is part of the College of Social Sciences & Communication (CSSC), a community of teacher-scholars and professionals whose mission is to apply theory and research to drive social change and inspire human expression, reflection, and interconnection (see ualr.edu/cssc).

Required Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, Public Policy, Public Affairs, or a related field; Associate Professor rank, or equivalent, at current or last institution; Demonstrated record of excellence in research, teaching, and public or nonprofit community engagement; Ability to teach courses in the Master of Public Administration program.

Preferred Qualifications: Full professor, or equivalent, rank at current or last institution; Evidence of accomplishments and innovation in administration, scholarship, and community engagement; Professional experience in public or nonprofit management; Experience in attracting external funding and developing and managing collaboration with stakeholders; Experience teaching graduate-level public affairs/administration/policy, urban affairs, or state and local government courses; Experience in the governance and delivery of an MPA program; Professional experience working with nonprofit agencies, and state and local government entities, to bring about community-engaged change.

Application materials must be submitted through the online application system. Additional information about these positions are available under the Jobs link on the Human Resources' website at <http://ualr.edu/humanresources/>. Consideration of applications will begin on December 1, 2019. Incomplete applications cannot be considered; any materials not submitted as requested using the online application system renders an application incomplete. Inquiries about the position may be made to Dr. April Chatham-Carpenter, Interim Director of the School of Public Affairs, at axchathamca@ualr.edu or by phone at 501-569-8790.

This position is subject to a pre-employment criminal and financial history background check. A criminal conviction or arrest pending adjudication and/or adverse financial history alone shall not disqualify an applicant in the absence of a relationship to the requirements of the position. Background check information will be used in a confidential, non-discriminatory manner consistent with state and federal law.

Under Arkansas law, all applications are subject to disclosure. Persons hired must have proof of legal authority to work in the United States.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7333

University of Southern California

Rank: Director and Co-Director

Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies at USC Dornsife: Director and Co-Director Search

USC Dornsife College of Arts, Letters and Sciences seeks two dynamic leaders to serve as the Director and Co-Director of the Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies. One will serve as the director of natural science, and the other will serve as the director of social science. Both will hold endowed chairs.

For more than five decades, USC Wrigley has been a regional leader in marine science and sustainability research. The USC Wrigley Marine Science Center, a state-of-the-art research center and teaching facility on Catalina Island, 20 miles offshore from Los Angeles, provides a testbed for early-stage sustainability innovations. A staff of more than 30 supports research and educational outreach on Catalina and the main campus.

Recognizing that solutions to our environmental crises will require contributions across many disciplines, the Institute's new mission is to bring together natural and social scientific research to address contemporary environmental problems. The Director and Co-Director will lead this ambitious expansion of Wrigley's mission to become a major national center for frontier research on sustainability and the environment. This is an opportunity to reinvent the Wrigley Institute. The Director and Co-Director will guide a comprehensive approach to tackling sustainability challenges that prioritizes action toward meaningful change.

In addition to setting the intellectual agenda for the Institute, the new leadership will foster new research initiatives, enhance its educational programming, work with foundations and the public to enhance environmental awareness, steer fundraising efforts, and manage the Institute's staff.

We will consider applicants at the full professor level from disciplines in both the natural and social sciences. The Institute's leadership structure will be determined based on scholarly credentials, leadership experience and vision. Both successful candidates will bring a distinguished record of innovative research and publication related to environmental studies. The successful applicants will each have a primary appointment in his / her disciplinary home department within USC Dornsife and must each hold a doctoral degree in appropriate field of study.

A pairing of a natural scientist and a social scientist who have contemplated their collaborative vision for the Wrigley Institute in advance would be welcomed (but is not prerequisite for either position).

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, and statement on personal research accomplishments and future research directions, a statement on teaching and educational activities, and three names of individuals familiar with the applicant's work to be contacted for letters of recommendation. Applications should also include a vision statement on how, as a leader in the USC Wrigley Institute, the applicant would advance the Institute's goals. To be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application through the following link: <https://uscareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/wrigley-institute-for-environmental-studies-at-usc-dornsife-director-and-co-director/1209/13209724> .

Inquiries from social scientists may be directed to William Deverell, Search Committee Chair, deverell@usc.edu and for Natural Sciences to Will Berelson, Search Committee Chair, berelson@usc.edu. These two search committees will work together to select the best leadership team. Review of completed applications will begin November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6177

University of Southern California

Rank: Director and Co-Director

Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies at USC Dornsife: Director and Co-Director Search

USC Dornsife College of Arts, Letters and Sciences seeks two dynamic leaders to serve as the Director and Co-Director of the Wrigley Institute for Environmental Studies. One will serve as the director of natural science, and the other will serve as the director of social science. Both will hold endowed chairs.

For more than five decades, USC Wrigley has been a regional leader in marine science and sustainability research. The USC Wrigley Marine Science Center, a state-of-the-art research center and teaching facility on Catalina Island, 20 miles offshore from Los Angeles, provides a testbed for early-stage sustainability innovations. A staff of more than 30 supports research and educational outreach on Catalina and the main campus.

Recognizing that solutions to our environmental crises will require contributions across many disciplines, the Institute's new mission is to bring together natural and social scientific research to address contemporary environmental problems. The Director and Co-Director will lead this ambitious expansion of Wrigley's mission to become a major national center for frontier research on sustainability and the environment. This is an opportunity to reinvent the Wrigley Institute. The Director and Co-Director will guide a comprehensive approach to tackling sustainability challenges that prioritizes action toward meaningful change.

In addition to setting the intellectual agenda for the Institute, the new leadership will foster new research initiatives, enhance its educational programming, work with foundations and the public to enhance environmental awareness, steer fundraising efforts, and manage the Institute's staff.

We will consider applicants at the full professor level from disciplines in both the natural and social sciences. The Institute's leadership structure will be determined based on scholarly credentials, leadership experience and vision. Both successful candidates will bring a distinguished record of innovative research and publication related to environmental studies. The successful applicants will each have a primary appointment in his / her disciplinary home department within USC Dornsife and must each hold a doctoral degree in appropriate field of study.

A pairing of a natural scientist and a social scientist who have contemplated their collaborative vision for the Wrigley Institute in advance would be welcomed (but is not prerequisite for either position).

Applications should include a curriculum vitae, and statement on personal research accomplishments and future research directions, a statement on teaching and educational activities, and three names of individuals familiar with the applicant's work to be contacted for letters of recommendation. Applications should also include a vision statement on how, as a leader in the USC Wrigley Institute, the applicant would advance the Institute's goals. To be considered for this position, applicants are required to submit an electronic USC application through the following link: <https://usccareers.usc.edu/job/los-angeles/wrigley-institute-for-environmental-studies-at-usc-dornsife-director-and-co-director/1209/13209724> .

Inquiries from social scientists may be directed to William Deverell, Search Committee Chair, deverell@usc.edu and for Natural Sciences to Will Berelson, Search Committee Chair, berelson@usc.edu. These two search committees will work together to select the best leadership team. Review of completed applications will begin November 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

USC is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, protected veteran status, disability, or any other characteristic protected by law or USC policy. USC will consider for employment all qualified applicants with criminal histories in a manner consistent with the requirements of the Los Angeles Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring ordinance.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6143

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Provost for Academic Data and Decision Support

Boston University seeks a strategic analyst of academic data to support decision-making in the Office of the University Provost. The Assistant Provost for Academic Data and Decision Support (Assistant Provost) will be responsible for the analysis of institutional and external data to support academic planning, academic program assessment, and external reporting. Working in partnership with the senior officers with oversight of Undergraduate, Graduate, Diversity, Faculty, and Research portfolios, the Assistant Provost will actively collaborate with the University Office for Institutional Research (OIR) and Information Services and Technology (IS&T) to guide the collection, analysis, and interpretation of data related to the academic mission and activities of Boston University. The incumbent will represent the Office of the Provost in developing data-based strategies for assessing academic quality, institutional outcomes, measuring institutional performance against strategic plan goals, comparative analysis with peer institutions, conducting regular and ad-hoc studies, and reporting to campus constituencies and external agencies. The Assistant Provost reports to the Associate Provost for Graduate Affairs.

Required Skills

- Minimally, MA/MS in social science, education, business, statistics or other field requiring quantitative research methods; PhD preferred.
- Ability to design and create reports to summarize aggregate data that are visually attractive and easy to understand.
- Demonstrated ability to appropriately use descriptive and analytic statistics.
- Facility with office software, data analysis software, academic management platforms, survey administration software, and web-based enterprise systems including, for example, MicroStrategy and PowerBI). Willingness/ability to learn new software.
- Excellent written, verbal and presentation skills.
- Supervision experience.
- Excellent interpersonal, organizational, and time management skills.
- Ability to work both independently and collaboratively, take initiative on and manage concurrent projects, and meet deadlines.
- Ability to maintain confidentiality of sensitive or personal information.

Interested candidates can apply via the Boston University HR Job Posting: https://bu.silkroad.com/epostings/index.cfm?fuseaction=app.jobinfo&cid=23&jobid=304162&company_id=15509&verson=1&source=ONLINE&JobOwner=1017621&level=levelid2&levelid2=4271&startflag=3

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/15/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5781

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Yale University

Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2020. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Please apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/71940>. Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample.

To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020 when we will begin the review process, although we will continue to accept applications if there is still a vacancy.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7533

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in American Politics

Institute for Politics and Strategy, Carnegie Mellon University
<http://www.cmu.edu/ips/>

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in American Politics.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Please submit your application through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, position ID 56424. <http://apply.interfolio.com/71633>

Please contact cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu if you have any questions about the application.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7517

University of Virginia

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia invites applications for a postdoctoral research position. The position is offered for one year starting in July 2020, with an expected salary of $62,000 plus benefits. In addition to carrying out his or her own research, the appointee will collaborate with a Batten faculty member, Craig Volden, on research related to the Center for Effective Lawmaking.

A PhD degree in Political Science or related disciplines is required. Strong quantitative, communication, and project management skills are also required. Applicants with a track record of publication are strongly preferred.

To apply, visit <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs>, search on posting number R0012014, and complete a candidate profile. Please include: a CV, cover letter, a two-page proposal on how you would like to contribute to the Center for Effective Lawmaking and contact information for 3 references. Please review www.thelawmakers.org for more information about the Center.

For immediate consideration, please apply by December 11, 2019. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7510

Wesleyan University

Rank: Research Fellows in Computational Social Science

The Wesleyan Media Project (WMP) led by Dr. Erika Franklin Fowler, in collaboration with Wesleyan University's Quantitative Analysis Center (QAC), is seeking postdoctoral or pre-doctoral researchers in computational social science to join us at the forefront of advancing real-time analyses of political and health-related audiovisual and textual messages using computational methods. WMP leverages large-scale advertising and media messaging datasets applying theory and methods from political science, behavioral and communication science, network science, data science and machine learning. The fellowship positions are for a one-year appointment beginning July 1, 2020 with an option for an additional second year contingent upon performance. Individuals with a PhD, or those working towards a PhD, in computer science, data science, political science, in quantitative social science fields, or a cognate discipline including network science or machine learning are encouraged to apply. Preference for candidates with expertise and experience in topic modeling, AI, statistical natural language processing / text mining and analysis of audiovisual materials (including sound, images and video). The fellow will work closely with Dr. Fowler, WMP's Project Manager, and QAC faculty and staff on the analysis of textual, visual, and video-based political and health messages from a variety of sources (political/insurance TV ads, digital/social/online ads, television news, tweets, etc.) and will be involved in collaborative publications on an interdisciplinary program to analyze the volume, content, and effect of media messaging on television and online in electoral and health policy contexts. As a Fellow the successful candidate will engage in original research, test and evaluate alternative algorithms and have the opportunity to present and publish your work. The position will also contribute broadly both to computational analysis in the QAC and in the social sciences at Wesleyan by working with undergraduate students engaged in the lab's research projects and by offering courses in the Quantitative Analysis Center. The teaching load is one course per year in the first year and one course per semester in the second year. We strongly encourage applications from underrepresented minorities.

Minimum Qualifications -

Ph.D. (ABD considered) in computer science, data science, quantitative social science and related fields.

Strong interest in collaborating on data mining projects and willing to work with social scientists and students of different backgrounds.

Experience with applications of machine learning in data analysis. The ideal candidate will have expertise and experience in text mining, use of HPC tools and data extraction and analysis from audio and video sources. Experience in teaching quantitative/computing courses to undergraduate students.

Special Instructions to Applicants -

You will be asked to upload electronic versions of the items we require, which are (1) a cover letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) statement of research, and (4) teaching interests. As part of the teaching statement (or cover letter), we invite you to describe your cultural competencies and experiences engaging a diverse student body.

You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of two referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation (please double-check the accuracy of the email addresses of the referees you name to insure that you have the most up-to-date email addresses for each one).

After you have submitted all of the required documents, you will see a confirmation number. At that point, each of the two referees whose email address you have provided will receive an automatically-generated email requesting that he or she submit a letter of reference for you.

Additional Information -

Please contact Erika Franklin Fowler (efowler@wesleyan.edu) if you have questions about the application process.

Note for Interfolio users:

We gladly accept letters of recommendation from Interfolio. From your Interfolio account, please use the "web delivery" method to upload your letters directly to our online application.

For further instructions, look here: <https://support.interfolio.com/>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7511

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow (Stanford University)

Postdoctoral Fellow (Stanford University)

Start Date: July or August, 2020

Application Deadline: December 15, 2019

Title: Postdoctoral Fellow

Department: Political Science

Company: Stanford University

Job position/rank: Fellowships/Post-docs, postdoctoral

Subfield: American Politics

Salary range: Competitive.

Professors Justin Grimmer and Andrew Hall seek a postdoctoral fellow to assist with quantitative political science research and the building of the Democracy and Polarization Lab, which Grimmer and Hall co-direct. The lab is focused on studying policy-relevant questions about democratic elections, election administration, and online and offline polarization. Primary responsibilities will include contributing to ongoing research on candidates entry into US elections, how algorithms affect the consumption of online content, as well as a small number of tasks including: organizing weekly lab meetings, helping to plan a small number of conferences and other events, and identifying and helping to pursue potential grant opportunities. The term is one year.

Candidates must have their Ph.D. completed before the start of the appointment. The strong candidates will: have completed quantitative research on American politics or political economy; have deep experience collecting and maintaining datasets; have extensive programming experience in R and Stata; have expertise in applied econometrics and causal inference; and are organized, thorough, punctual, and highly responsive on email.

Applications must be submitted through Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15526>) and include the following information:

1. Curriculum Vitae
2. Writing sample
3. Replication code from a completed project
4. Graduate Transcript showing that all the requirements for the Ph.D. have been completed, and a letter from the Ph.D. advisor, if not done, stating they will be by July 2020
5. Two Letters of Recommendation

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/15/2019

Date Posted: 11/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7492

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship - Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (Penn)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Immigration Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics

The Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (CSERI) invites applications, starting November 4, 2019 for a one-year postdoctoral research fellowship in the social sciences.

CSERI is a center initiative supported by the University of Pennsylvania and the School of Arts and Sciences. In addition to this postdoctoral fellowship, CSERI will host visiting scholars and graduate students, organize workshops initiated by the Center's Faculty Advisory Council, and support graduate and undergraduate student social science research at Penn.

The 2020-2021 CSERI Postdoctoral Research Fellow will help organize and participate in faculty/graduate student workshops, aid in the evaluation of the progress of graduate students and undergraduates receiving research grants, and can collaborate with CSERI faculty affiliates on research projects. However, the Fellow will largely have the opportunity to pursue their own research and participate more generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities, but the post-doc is expected to be in residence.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,500 in research support, with the opportunity to apply for additional funding. Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the social sciences in the last two years (not earlier than 2017), or who expect to complete their degree by July 2020.

Skills with statistical analysis, qualitative software, GIS, experimental and other approaches are desirable, but not necessary.

Please submit all required materials through Interfolio at this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71010>

To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received through Interfolio by December 20, 2019.

Review of applications will begin immediately after the submission deadline, and final notifications are expected to go out by February 21, 2020. The starting date for this one-year Postdoctoral Research Fellow appointment is negotiable but should be effective no later than August 15, 2020.

<https://web.sas.upenn.edu/cseri/opportunities/post-doctoral-fellowship/>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 11/17/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7487

EDUCATIONAL TESTING SERVICE

Rank: Become an AP Reader

In June 2019, over 18,000 high school and college faculty members served as AP Readers, scoring over 5.1 million exams during the annual AP Reading. The AP Program would like to invite you to join the pool of eligible AP Readers as we prepare for the 2020 Reading. If you are already an AP Reader, thank you so much for your service.

We have a significant need for Readers in your subject in 2020. If you are not an AP Reader, apply to become one today. You may be eligible to join the Reading pool if you have taught your AP subject for 2 years or more. The sooner that you apply the better chance you have to be invited to the 2020 AP Reading.*

Review AP Reader benefits and apply

The 2019 Post Reading survey shows that:

- 97% of Readers that participate in the AP Reading have a positive experience
- 97% of returning High School AP Readers have actually made changes to the way they teach or score work as a direct result of their participation in the AP Reading

Opportunities exist to score onsite, as well as from home in some subjects. While we accept applications from AP teachers for all subjects, professionals with expertise in the following subjects are needed the most to expand the AP Reader pool.

Comparative Government & Politics

U.S. Government & Politics

European History

U.S. History

Human Geography

World History: Modern

Depending on the AP Reader needs for each subject, we may select you to serve as an AP Reader in the first year that you apply, or you may be considered for future AP Readings. New applicants in the subjects listed above have a higher probability of being invited to the 2020 Reading versus new applicants in other subjects.

*If you are currently an AP Reader or have recently submitted an application to become a Reader, there is no need to reapply.

Work sponsorships are unavailable for this position. All Applicants must be authorized to work for any employer in the United States.

AP CSP, Seminar, and Research teachers are encouraged to apply to become AP Readers, regardless of years of teaching experience.

Apply Here: <http://www.Click2Apply.net/f8qkmkjic6mdtbbq>

PI115395796

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7464

Fort Lewis CollegeRank: Assistant Professor of Political Science*Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

Fort Lewis College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science specializing in public law, judicial politics, and U.S. political institutions to start in August 2020. We are particularly interested in candidates with knowledge, experience, and interest in tribal law or federal Indian policy. The successful candidate would teach courses in areas such as U.S. National Government, Tribal Governance, Constitutional Law, Federal Indian Policy, Civil Rights and Liberties, Criminal Justice, and other areas of interest. Fort Lewis College prides itself on providing a high-quality, hands-on education to a diverse group of students, and over one third of our student body identifies as Indigenous or Native American. The primary responsibility of this position is teaching, but developing a research agenda is expected and supported by the department and College.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by August 2020
- Demonstrated ability to teach and conduct research in law and U.S. politics

Preferred Qualifications:

- Substantive interest and expertise in tribal law or federal Indian policy
- Interest in working to develop interdisciplinary courses on tribal sovereignty, law, and federal Indian policy spanning political science, Native and Indigenous studies, and a new MPA program
- Experience teaching underrepresented populations
- J.D. and/or any professional experience working in tribal governance, public policy, or law

Major Responsibilities:

- Teaching courses such as U.S. National Government, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties, Criminal Justice, Tribal Governance, and specialized courses depending on interests and area of research
- Demonstrating a commitment to student success in the classroom, during office hours, through mentoring political science students, and by supervising undergraduate research projects
- Coordinating the pre-law minor
- Maintaining an active program of scholarship and disciplinary engagement
- Participating in departmental and college governance and professional service?

A complete application packet includes:

- Cover letter addressing interest and qualifications for position
- Include details regarding how your course design and personal and professional experiences allow you to encourage a learning environment grounded in equity and inclusion. "How do you envision contributing to Fort Lewis College's commitment to equity and inclusion?"
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information for three current, professional references

Submit materials as one PDF file via email to:

Paul DeBell, Search Chair
Polisci-search@fortlewis.edu

Application materials received by January 12, 2020 will receive full consideration. Position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 11/11/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7456Mills College*Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Political Science*About Mills College:

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top masters universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As <https://www.mills.edu/uniquely-mills/facts-about-mills.php> in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit <https://www.mills.edu/>

Job Description:The Department:

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

The Position:

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

Requirements:

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Additional Information:

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant's background check must be cleared.

Application Instructions:

To apply, submit the following documents at <https://apptrkr.com/1705390>

- Employee Application
- Cover Letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Sample of scholarly research
- Teaching portfolio (sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy,)
- Contact Information for 3 References who are willing to submit letters of recommendation

Please note that you can only upload 6 "Other" documents. You can consolidate multiple pages/documents into one file upload. The file size limit for each upload is 10Mb.

Review of applicants will begin October 18, 2019; applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7457

Simpson College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Congress, Presidency, Civil Rights & Liberties

SIMPSON COLLEGE

Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Political Science Department at Simpson College is inviting applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor. The starting date for this position is August 2020.

The candidate will teach introductory American politics and upper-level courses in institutions (U.S. Congress, Presidency, and the Supreme Court) and his or her area of specialization. The ability to teach Civil Liberties or a similar course in the pre-law track is strongly preferred. The candidate will be part of the rotation for a first year seminar or a senior research capstone in the major. The teaching load is six courses per year, including opportunities to teach experiential or international travel courses in May Term. Iowa is at the center of U.S. presidential politics every four years, and our faculty work closely with the non-partisan Culver Public Policy Center and the college's award-winning debate team.

A record of teaching excellence and commitment to mentoring and advising are essential. The candidate will need a PhD in hand by time of appointment in August 2020.

Simpson is a four-year private college of the liberal arts and sciences affiliated with the United Methodist Church. The main campus is twelve miles from Iowa's capital city of Des Moines. Simpson has a history of graduating alumni who are leaders in civic and public affairs.

Priority review of applications will begin on January 6, 2020 and continue until this position is filled. Please submit one document (PDF) with your cover letter, vita, graduate transcripts, and teaching evaluations (or evidence of teaching effectiveness). A cover letter should list contact information for three references and illustrate how your background and experiences make you a good fit for teaching at a liberal arts college.

Please send all materials to employment@simpson.edu with the subject line: POLITICAL SCIENCE SEARCH.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 11/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7451

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position in Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for a 2-year post-doctoral position; all fields will be considered with a preference for those with strong empirical methodological skills.

Applicants should also demonstrate how they can contribute to faculty diversity, such as through membership in a group that is historically underrepresented in political science or through other experience.

Positions are for two years during which time the scholars focus on scholarship and participate in an array of professional development activities that integrate and expose them to the faculty experience, including the opportunity to teach in the second year.

In order to be eligible for this program, applicants must have completed their doctoral degree within that past 6 years – or expect to complete their doctoral degree by no later than July 1, 2020.

The deadline for applications is December 1, 2019. Candidates who demonstrate evidence of scholarship potential to be competitive for tenure-track appointments at the University of Missouri or other research universities will be invited for on-campus interviews.

To apply, please visit: <https://tinyurl.com/MU-PFF-Postdoc>. Applicants will be asked to include the following in their online application:

- Cover letter expressing interest in the position
- CV
- Statement of goals for postdoctoral position
- Diversity statement
- One-page abstract of doctoral dissertation
- Writing sample
- 3 letters of reference

Questions may be directed to Dr. Lissa Behm-Morawitz (Associate Dean of the Graduate School) at postdoc@missouri.edu; or Dr. Lael Keiser (Interim Chair of Political Science) at keiserl@missouri.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 11/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7450

American University-SIS

Rank: One Full-Time Non-Tenure Track Faculty Position

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track faculty appointment for the Academic Year 2020-2021 with a focus on US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Academic Rank and compensation will depend on the successful candidate's experience, accomplishments and professional stature in the field. The appointment is for one academic year, commencing on August 1, 2020, with the expectation that the appointment may be renewed for subsequent academic years subject to satisfactory performance and budgetary authorization.

The position is intended for a person who will teach courses six courses (undergraduate and/or MA-level graduate) per academic year. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service. Applicants should share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a social science discipline by the anticipated start date or employment. Experienced practitioners with equivalent qualifications (MA/MS/JD and ten years of professional experience in the field) will also be considered.

The successful candidate will teach primarily courses related to US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Review of applications will begin in January 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

- Applications must be submitted electronically via <http://apply.interfolio.com/69797>

- Attach a letter of application that addresses affinities with relevant teaching areas

- Attach a 1-page statement of teaching philosophy

- Attach student evaluations of teaching, if applicable and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness

- Please also attach a statement of your past or future contributions to diversity and inclusion in professional settings or in institutions of higher education

- You will be asked to submit the names and email addresses of three professional references and request that they be contacted through the Interfolio portal for a confidential letter of recommendation.

Queries about the search may be sent to Assistant Dean for Graduate Education Michael Schroeder at schroede@american.edu Assistance with the online application system can be found here: <https://support.interfolio.com>

American University is a private institution of higher education in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs with 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. SIS faculty produce transformational research and our prime location provides opportunities for collaboration with professionals in government, the private sector, think tanks and other non-profits. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7410

Colorado Mesa University

Rank: Visiting Professor of History or Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Distinguished scholars in History or Political Science are invited to apply for the Wayne N. Aspinall Chair at Colorado Mesa University. For a $10,000 stipend, the visiting professor will spend three weeks on the Colorado Mesa University campus from late March-to mid-April 2021; teach a one-credit course, give a major public lecture, and make any other invited appearances. Applications must include a vitae, a brief outline of a course proposal and a topic for the major public lecture. Submit application by February 1, 2020 to Dr. Justin Gollob, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Colorado Mesa University, 1100 North Ave., Grand Junction, CO 81501. Feel free to direct any inquiries to jgollob@coloradomesa.edu or 970 248-1279.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 7365

CUNY-Graduate Center

Rank: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor – Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science

Position Title: Assistant, Associate or Full Professor – Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science

Job ID: 21254

Compensation: Competitive

Closing Date: Open until filled with review of applications to begin on December 2, 2019

Faculty Vacancy Announcement

Performs teaching, research and guidance duties in area(s) of expertise. Shares responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions.

CAMPUS SPECIFIC INFORMATION

The Graduate Center is the focal point for advanced teaching and research at The City University of New York (CUNY), the nation's largest urban public university. With over 35 doctoral and master's programs of the highest caliber, the Graduate Center fosters pioneering research and scholarship in the arts and sciences and prepares students for careers in universities and the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. The Graduate Center's commitment to research and scholarship for the public good is exemplified by its more than 30 centers, institutes, and initiatives, including its Advanced Science Research Center (ASRC), a 200,000-square-foot facility in upper Manhattan designed to promote collaboration among scientists in global research and innovation.

The Graduate Center (GC) benefits from highly ambitious and diverse students and alumni who in turn teach hundreds of thousands of undergraduates every year. Through its public programs, the Graduate Center enhances New York City's intellectual and cultural life.

The Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science at the GC seeks an Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in American Politics, broadly defined. There may be a possibility to obtain a Distinguished Professor designation for this position. The Political Science Program provides a collegial and inclusive environment to a diverse group of students and faculty. This is a tenure track position reporting to the Executive Officer of the Program.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda, a commitment to graduate teaching, and a genuine interest in serving the GC community. S/he will advise Master's and Ph.D. students, and have regular administrative responsibilities within the Program and University.

The position will begin in Fall 2020.

Qualifications:

For Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor:

Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

A preferred candidate should have:

- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Extensive research experience in American Politics, as demonstrated by publications in books and peer-reviewed journals.
- Ability to teach graduate courses and supervise Master's theses and Ph.D. dissertations.
- Ability to work in collaboration with the GC and CUNY to create fellowship opportunities and employment pipelines for graduate students.

How to Apply:

1. Please apply using the link below:

https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=21254&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

Click on "Apply Now" which will bring you to the registration screen. If you are a new user, you must register to apply. If you already have a user ID, please use your existing ID to apply. The application must include a curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, a research statement including scholarly interests, a teaching statement including topics of seminars the candidate is prepared to offer, and contact information for four (4) references including one from a graduate student. Please upload all documents as one file.

OR

2. Go to <http://cuny.jobs/> and search for Job ID 21254.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7426

CUNY-Graduate Center

Rank: Assistant, Associate, Full, or Distinguished Professor

Performs teaching, research and guidance duties in area(s) of expertise. Shares responsibility for committee and department assignments including administrative, supervisory, and other functions.

CAMPUS SPECIFIC INFORMATION

The Graduate Center is the focal point for advanced teaching and research at The City University of New York (CUNY), the nation's largest urban public university. With over 35 doctoral and master's programs of the highest caliber, the Graduate Center fosters pioneering research and scholarship in the arts and sciences and prepares students for careers in universities and the private, nonprofit, and government sectors. The Graduate Center's commitment to research and scholarship for the public good is exemplified by its more than 30 centers, institutes, and initiatives, including its Advanced Science Research Center (ASRC), a 200,000-square-foot facility in upper Manhattan designed to promote collaboration among scientists in global research and innovation.

The Graduate Center (GC) benefits from highly ambitious and diverse students and alumni who in turn teach hundreds of thousands of undergraduates every year. Through its public programs, the Graduate Center enhances New York City's intellectual and cultural life.

The Ph.D./M.A. Program in Political Science at the GC seeks an Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor in American Politics, broadly defined. There may be a possibility to obtain a Distinguished Professor designation for this position. The Political Science Program provides a collegial and inclusive environment to a diverse group of students and faculty. This is a tenure track position reporting to the Executive Officer of the Program.

The successful candidate will have an active research agenda, a commitment to graduate teaching, and a genuine interest in serving the GC community. S/he will advise Master's and Ph.D. students, and have regular administrative responsibilities within the Program and University.

The position will begin in Fall 2020.

Qualifications:

For Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor:

Ph.D. degree in area(s) of experience or equivalent. Also required are the ability to teach successfully, demonstrated scholarship or achievement, and ability to cooperate with others for the good of the institution.

A preferred candidate should have:

- Ph.D. in Political Science.
- Extensive research experience in American Politics, as demonstrated by publications in books and peer-reviewed journals.
- Ability to teach graduate courses and supervise Master's theses and Ph.D. dissertations.
- Ability to work in collaboration with the GC and CUNY to create fellowship opportunities and employment pipelines for graduate students.

How to Apply:

1. Please apply using the link below:

https://home.cunyfirst.cuny.edu/psp/cnyepprd/GUEST/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_JOB_DTL&Action=A&JobOpeningId=21254&SiteId=1&PostingSeq=1

Click on "Apply Now" which will bring you to the registration screen. If you are a new user, you must register to apply. If you already have a user ID, please use your existing ID to apply. The application must include a curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations, a research statement including scholarly interests, a teaching statement including topics of seminars the candidate is prepared to offer, and contact information for four (4) references including one from a graduate student. Please upload all documents as one file.

OR

2. Go to <http://cuny.jobs/> and search for Job ID 21254.

Equal Employment Opportunity:

CUNY encourages people with disabilities, minorities, veterans and women to apply. At CUNY, Italian Americans are also included among our protected groups. Applicants and employees will not be discriminated against on the basis of any legally protected category, including sexual orientation or gender identity. EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7423

Lamar University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Job Summary: The Department of Political Science invites applications for one full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science beginning August 2020.

Candidates should be able to teach introduction to comparative politics and advanced upper level comparative politics courses covering such areas as Western democracies, developing nations and/or a regional focus. Candidates should also be able to teach American Government (POLS 2301 and POLS 2302).

Qualifications: Candidates should have PhD in Political Science or Government awarded by date of employment. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate Lamar University's diverse population of students online and face-to-face; maintain an active service agenda; demonstrate a strong commitment to and evidence of an active research agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally-related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Application Procedure: The application deadline is January 15, 2020 or until the position is filled. Apply online at: <https://jobs.lamar.edu>.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson.

Recommendation letters can be sent to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7373

St. Michael's CollegeRank: Assistant Professor of Political Science; Subfield: American Politics

Saint Michael's College seeks to hire a tenure-track assistant professor starting in August 2020 to teach in the Political Science department and to collaborate in developing the new program in Criminology. The position requires a candidate with a Ph.D. in-hand by Aug 2020, or ABD with Ph.D. to be completed within six months of appointment, or a J.D. in hand with teaching experience at the college level.

The ideal candidate will teach introduction to American National Politics as well as an introductory course on Criminal Justice, a required course for the inter-disciplinary Criminology major, with a focus on racial disparities. Additional upper-level Political Science and Criminology electives and capstone seminars will draw from the candidate's expertise. In the past, such courses have included American Law and Society, American Constitutional Law, Capital Punishment, and Terrorism. We would also be interested in courses that emphasize intersectional approaches to race and racism, and are inclusive of gender and gender identity, immigrant status, social class, and/or sexuality. This is a unique opportunity to contribute to the development of an innovative program at an institution with a commitment to social justice and civic engagement. The teaching load is three courses a semester with upper-level courses capped at 25 and seminars at 15. The College seeks teacher-scholars who are committed to excellence in teaching and peer-reviewed scholarship. Junior faculty have access to summer funding, support for domestic and international conference travel, and research funding.

Requirements:

- PhD (in-hand by Aug 2020 or ABD with Ph.D. to be completed within 6 months of appointment, or a J. D. in hand with teaching experience at the college level)

Application Instructions:

Please be prepared to attach the following documents applying via this link: <http://smcvt.interviewexchange.com>

- Cover letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- A statement of teaching and research interests
- Teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness
- A statement of contributions to or interest in cultivating equity and diversity in academic communities
- Writing Sample
- Official graduate transcript
- Names and contacts of three reference-writers

Review of applications will begin on November 10th and will continue until the position is filled. The initial round of interviews will take place over Zoom or other video conference technology, and shortlisted candidates invited early in the spring semester of 2020 for campus interviews.

Start Date:Application Deadline: 11/11/2019Date Posted: 10/21/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7366University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley*Rank: Lecturer (Full-Time)*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a 3-Year Full-Time Lecturer in US Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government & Politics to begin September 1, 2020. The successful candidate will teach 4 sections per semester, including U.S. Federal Government & Politics, Texas Government & Politics, and upper-division courses in the candidate's sub-field specialization. The Department is interested in receiving applications from individuals specializing in any subfield of the discipline.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: 12/27/2019Date Posted: 10/17/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7355Clements Center for National Security (University of Texas at Austin)*Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Clements Center for National Security at the University of Texas at Austin seeks applications from recent PhD recipients for its Postdoctoral Fellowship Program.

Consistent with the Clements Center's mission areas of history, strategy, and statecraft, applicants from all disciplines whose research bears directly on foreign and defense policy, intelligence, or international security are welcome to apply. However, strong preference will be given to applicants with a doctorate in history or whose research has a strong historical component of any era, from ancient to modern. Successful applicants will be able to spend the substantial portion of their time working on their own research and writing projects, while taking advantage of the many academic resources available at the University of Texas-Austin. Additionally, Fellows will be required to play an active role in the Clements Center's programs and activities; any specific responsibilities will be by mutual agreement between the Fellow and the Clements Center leadership. Fellows accepted to the program will be offered a competitive stipend, full use of UT facilities, and office space at the Clements Center. In some cases Fellows will be welcome to teach a course at the University of Texas. Each appointment is for one year, and in exceptional cases may be considered for renewal for a second year.

Applicants should submit a current c.v., a letter of application, graduate school transcripts, a brief (no more than two-page, single-spaced) statement of proposed research, and three letters of recommendation.

Applications are due no later than February 3, 2020. Note that applicants are required to have received their doctorate by August 2020, the date the Postdoctoral Fellowship will commence. Please direct any questions to Alex Foggett, the Clements Center's Programs Manager, at alex.foggett@austin.utexas.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/3/2020
Date Posted: 10/16/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7348

James Madison University

Rank: Assistant Professor - U.S. Government

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR- U.S. GOVERNMENT- {JobLink# F1403} -

The Political Science Department at James Madison University is seeking a tenure-track faculty member specializing in U.S. Government at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning with the fall 2020 semester. A doctoral degree in political science (or a closely related field) is required by the starting date for appointment as Assistant Professor; candidates at the ABD level can be appointed at the rank of Lecturer. The successful applicant will teach an introductory-level course in U.S. government, a research methods course required for all political science and public policy & administration majors, and courses on the politics of race and ethnicity.

The department seeks candidates with strong research skills and demonstrated teaching potential. Review of applications will begin {November 15, 2019} and will continue until the position is filled. To apply for this position candidates must apply online at JobLink.jmu.edu regarding reference posting number {# F1403}. On that website, candidates will post a cover letter, vita, unofficial graduate transcript(s), three letters of recommendation, an example of research, and evidence of teaching effectiveness (including teaching evaluations, assignments, and course syllabi, if available). The cover letter should include a discussion of the candidate's research interests, teaching experience and philosophy, and contributions or potential contributions to the diversity of the classroom, program, and university.

Salary shall be commensurate with experience. The College of Arts and Letters (CAL) at JMU serves as a cross-disciplinary center of intellectual inquiry and practice on campus. All programs in the college are committed to fostering rigorous, constructive dialogue in classrooms, local communities, and the larger world.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/16/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7341

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Constitutional Law & Theory

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Constitutional Law & Theory to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) critical race theory or critical legal studies. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program with courses anchored in the concepts and methods of political science, while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach courses on Civil Rights & Liberties, Federalism, Judicial Process, a course in their substantive specialization, and required lower-division courses in U.S. Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government and Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/27/2019
Date Posted: 10/16/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7347

University of North Texas

Rank: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2020 in American politics. We seek candidates who study contentious politics broadly defined to include either behavior or institutional analyses. Areas of behavioral research may include social movements, political violence, disaffected groups, collective action/mobilization, labor movements, or the struggle for power. Candidates may also study institutional features such as the legislative process, the courts, and the media as it relates to political contention dynamics. The research focus may be at the local, state, or national level. The successful candidate should be able to contribute to instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate level. Candidates who have the Ph.D. by the start date are preferred.

All applicants must meet the following criteria: (1) A Ph.D. in Political Science (highly qualified ABD candidates will also be considered) and (2) evidence that demonstrates a potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service will be required of the selected candidate. Preference will be given to candidates who have a record of publication, can teach graduate methods courses, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

The faculty member will teach core, upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses, continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

Applicants must submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a narrative describing scholarly research, (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (6) a copy of unofficial transcripts, and (7) the names and contact information of three references via UNT's Faculty Jobs portal at <https://facultyjobs.unt.edu>.

Review of applications will begin on October 24, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit their applications and all supporting materials as close as possible to the review date. UNT is an AA/ADA/EOE.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7331

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Postdoctoral Fellowships – Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society

ABOUT THE FELLOWSHIPS

The Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society brings promising new scholars to Stanford University for 1-2 year appointments as postdoctoral fellows.

Currently Stanford PACS is accepting applications for two postdoctoral fellowship opportunities for the 2020-21 academic year:

- The Program on Democracy and the Internet
- The Digital Civil Society Lab

Each fellow will be affiliated with the relevant Stanford PACS initiative (either the Digital Civil Society Lab or the Program on Democracy and the Internet) and potentially also with a department or school at Stanford University.

The annual fellowship stipend is $67,000, plus the standard benefits that postdoctoral fellows at Stanford University receive, including health insurance and travel funds. The fellowship program falls under U.S. Immigration J-1 Exchange Visitor Visa activities.

The start date of the fellowship will be September 2020, unless otherwise agreed. To assume a postdoctoral fellowship, scholars must have a PhD in hand by July 1, 2020. We cannot consider applications from scholars who earned a PhD earlier than May 1, 2018.

For both of these fellowships, we encourage applications from candidates representing a broad range of disciplines including the social sciences, humanities, law, computer science and engineering.

I. Program on Democracy and the Internet

The Program on Democracy and the Internet (PDI) envisions digital technologies supporting rather than subverting democracy by maximizing the benefits and minimizing the threats through changes in policy, technology, and social and ethical technological norms.

Digital technologies are having a profound impact on democracy in the United States and around the world. New communication platforms that give voice to the previously voiceless also empower nefarious actors who seek to undermine democracy, silence journalists and minority groups, manipulate search engines, sow distrust, and more.

Concerns about virality, deception, anonymity, echo chambers, and platform information monopolies pose new challenges for democracy in the digital age. Current research to understand these challenges and, on the basis of theory and evidence, craft solutions, remains nascent, fragmented, and incomplete. A strong knowledge base is critical for policy makers, corporate leaders, and technologists to make decisions that protect and promote democracy in the digital age.

The Program on Democracy and the Internet is investigating key research themes which include:

- Reform options for platforms to combat hate speech, bots, and disinformation.
- Algorithmic bias
- Deteriorating health of digital information ecosystems and its effect on democracy and civil rights
- Changes in the media landscape due to shifts caused by digital innovation.
- Impact of the internet on election campaigns and voting.

The Program on Democracy and the Internet's work draws from the social sciences, humanities, engineering, computer science, and the law to understand the challenges digital technologies pose to liberal democracies around the world.

Each fellow will collaborate with one of the PDI faculty on PDI research relevant to their field of study and current line of scholarship. The fellows will spend 20 percent of their time working on their own research and 80 percent assisting in the research of one of the PDI directors. For examples of past work, see the publications page. In addition, fellows may be asked to coordinate speaker series and seminars.

The program is led by Principal Investigators Nathaniel Persily, James B. McClatchy Professor of Law at Stanford Law School and Co-Director of the Cyber Policy Center, Francis Fukuyama, Senior Fellow at the Freeman Spogli Institute, and PACS Faculty Co-Director and Professor of Political Science, Rob Reich.

PDI is a joint initiative of the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (Stanford PACS) and the Cyber Policy Center at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies.

For a sense of the scholarship that PDI supports, see: <https://pacscenter.stanford.edu/research/project-on-democracy-and-the-internet/projects/>.

II. Digital Civil Society Lab

The Digital Civil Society Lab (DCSL) envisions an independent civil society that thrives in the digital age through the safe, ethical and effective use of private digital resources for public benefit.

The digital age has transformed civil society participation and organization, and it has presented new challenges and threats. Our dependencies on digital software and infrastructure require new insights into how these digital systems work and how an independent civil society can engage them safely, ethically and effectively for mission.

The Digital Civil Society Lab aims to understand how digital technology has transformed civil society and shape these transformations by engaging research, practitioner and policy communities across the interconnected domains that support a thriving and independent civil society in the digital age:

- Technology: software and hardware designed for the values and interest of civil society actors
- Organizations: structures and practices that align with civil society missions and protect institutional independence from markets or governments
- Policy: legal practices and regulatory frames that protect the building blocks of civil society, including free association, speech, and privacy
- Norms: social norms and practices that promote safe and ethical data collection, generation and use, and that support the critical role of civil society in democracies

The Digital Civil Society Lab is investigating key research themes which include:

- The key dimensions of digital infrastructure and data and how they influence the role of independent civil society in democracies;
- Understanding, creating, and expanding access to software, hardware and digital practices that align with the values of civil society in democracies;
- The nature of digital data donations and/or the governance mechanisms, enterprise forms, or legal constructs that such donations require;
- Understanding interactions between global digital networks, digital activism, and traditional and emergent forms of association in civil society.

The Lab's research draws from the humanities, social sciences, engineering, computer science and the law to understand and advance the principles of civil society and democracies in the digital age.

DCSL is an initiative of the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (Stanford PACS) and is led by Lucy Bernholz, senior research scholar at Stanford PACS, and Rob Reich, professor of Political Science and faculty co-director of Stanford PACS.

For a sense of the scholarship that DCSL supports, see: <https://pacscenter.stanford.edu/research/digital-civil-society-lab/>.

Please note: Postdoctoral fellows at DCSL are expected to participate fully in a biweekly seminar series at the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society, and are expected to contribute to teaching the Digital Civil Society seminar in partnership with other DCSL faculty, scholars and postdocs.

HOW TO APPLY

To be considered for a postdoctoral fellowship with either the Program on Democracy and the Internet or with the Digital Civil Society Lab, submit an application via the online application portal.

Applicants will be asked to include the following:

- Cover letter detailing the reasons for the applicant's interest in the fellowship;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Fellowship proposal detailing the research that the applicant would undertake while at Stanford, and how it fits within the research agenda of the specific initiative to which the applicant is applying. In this section, please disclose if you have additional funding arrangements.
- Writing sample consisting of either a dissertation chapter or a recent published paper. There are no specific page length or formatting requirements for this sample;

- Graduate transcript with proof that the applicant has completed all the requirements for the PhD, or a letter from their PhD advisor stating when they will do so;
- Two (or more) Letters of Recommendation. These should be submitted via the application portal.

CONTACT

Questions about the Program on Democracy and the Internet should be directed to Eloise Duvillier at eloise@stanford.edu.

Questions about the Digital Civil Society Lab should be directed to Heather Noelle Robinson at hnrbsn@stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7324

Texas A&M University, Corpus Christi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Job Description

The College of Liberal Arts at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi is seeking a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science in American Politics to begin fall 2020. The successful candidate will teach introductory courses in American National Government and State and Local Government in stand-alone courses, as well as part of a collaborative teaching team working in the university's nationally recognized First-Year Learning Communities Program.

In addition, the successful candidate will contribute to the teaching needs of the Political Science major. A strong commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and service is expected. The normal teaching load will be 3-3.

Department

The Department of Social Sciences (DSOC) is a multi-disciplinary department in the College of Liberal Arts that offers undergraduate degrees in Political Science and Criminal Justice and the graduate degree of Masters of Public Administration. Because of its contribution to the core curriculum, Political Science generates some of the highest levels of student credit hours in the University. The Criminal Justice program is one of the largest undergraduate majors on campus. The MPA program is the largest graduate program in the College of Liberal Arts. DSOC faculty are leaders on campus, in the community, and in their disciplines. We value excellence and work daily to support the University's Momentum 2020 Overarching Goal to become an emerging research university with an unparalleled commitment to every student's success, closing gaps in achievement, and delivering a robust campus experience.

First-Year Learning Communities Program

Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi's First-Year Learning Communities Program (FYLCP) is an innovative nationally recognized program which helps students to make successful academic and social transitions from high school to the University. For more information, visit the FYLCP webpage at <http://undergrad.tamucc.edu/FYLCP/learning-communities.html>.

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science. ABD will be considered; degree must be conferred at the time of appointment. Ph.D. must meet the appropriate credentialing requirements for the Southern Association for Colleges and Schools (SACS);

Experience or the ability to teach the Presidency and Congress; Experience or the ability to teach American National Government and State and Local Government; and Be available to accept teaching assignments that may include classroom, hybrid, and online classes.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience teaching undergraduate quantitative research methods and senior seminar;

Demonstrate a race and ethnic politics perspective broadly defined in their work;

Demonstrate a facility with student-centered, critical thinking methods of teaching;

Demonstrate an understanding/appreciation of the University's student population and campus mission;

Demonstrate the ability to teach introductory and majors courses in the required and preferred areas (see the aforementioned position description);

A desire for or experience in a team teaching environment;

Classroom and online teaching experience;

Demonstrate teaching effectiveness through student evaluations, peer reviews, and/or self-evaluation; and

Demonstrate an active research program agenda that has resulted in or the potential to result in published scholarly works or peer-reviewed products.

TO APPLY: http://hr.tamucc.edu/Job_Opportunities/index.html

All required documentation must be submitted to be considered for the position.

A completed application will include:

1. A letter of application addressing the qualifications listed above,
2. A curriculum vitae,
3. A statement of teaching philosophy and applicable evidence for teaching effectiveness,
4. A research statement,
5. A writing sample,
6. Three professional references including names, addresses, titles, telephone numbers, and email addresses, and
7. Copies of unofficial transcripts for graduate coursework.

The job posting will remain open until a finalist has been selected. Review of applications will begin Monday, December 2, 2019.

All positions are security-sensitive. Applicants are subject to a criminal history investigation, and employment is contingent upon the institution's verification of credentials and/or other information required by the institution's procedures, including the completion of the criminal history check.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7322

The Heritage Foundation

Rank: Visiting Fellow in American Political Thought

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The one-year Visiting Fellowship in the B. Kenneth Simon Center for Principles and Politics is open to university faculty (on sabbatical, on leave, or retired) and to recent Ph.D.'s. Applicants should demonstrate an ability to relate the foundational principles of American political thought to contemporary issues and debates. The Fellow will conduct research in any of the areas of interest to the center including, but not limited to:

1. The Founding and Founding Principles
2. Constitutional Government and the Administrative State
3. Modern Conservatism and Liberalism
4. The American Regime (broadly understood)

The Fellow will:

- Publish research papers for the Heritage Foundation.
- Publish topical commentary in media outlets.
- Work on his/her academic projects (in previous years, fellows have used their time at Heritage to complete books).
- Organize a conference, funded by Heritage, that brings together leading experts in one's subject area.
- Give public lectures at Heritage.

Requirements:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field.
- Preference will be given to faculty members on sabbatical or on leave, although recent Ph.D.'s will be considered.

Location

- The scholar will preferably work at the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C. Office space will be provided. The residency requirement, however, is flexible and the fellow need not relocate to Washington, D.C.

Duration

- The Fellowship will last one year and run from September 2020 to August 2021. The duration and start dates, however, are flexible and will be determined by the successful candidate and the Heritage Foundation.

Compensation

- The Fellow will receive an annualized salary, commensurate with his/her experience. As this is a temporary position, it does not include employee benefits such as health insurance.

Additional Benefits:

- Ongoing research support from Center's staff (including a dedicated intern for research)
- Loan privileges with the Library of Congress

To Apply:

Mail or e-mail the following materials:

- 1.) A short proposal outlining what you would work on during your time at Heritage, including the publications you intend to produce and the theme of the conference you will host.
- 2.) C.V.
- 3.) One academic writing sample and one non-academic publication.

Completed applications are being accepted until further notice. Notification will be made when the position is filled. Questions and application materials should be sent to:

Jessica Kline
The Heritage Foundation
214 Massachusetts Avenue, NE
Washington, D.C. 20002
Email: Jessica.kline@heritage.org

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7318

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Associate or Full Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Senior Rank (Tenured Full or Associate Professor)

Cyberpolitics and National/International Security Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured faculty position at the Full Professor or Associate Professor level in cyberpolitics and national or international security policy to begin Fall 2020.

The position is part of a cross-disciplinary, campus-wide initiative in the area of cybersecurity. Scholars conducting cross-disciplinary research in applied cyber security are encouraged to apply, but an applicant's primary field must be Political Science or closely related discipline.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline. Applicants must have a track record of scholarship, publications, and research funding relating to cybersecurity and international politics. We are especially interested in candidates who link cybersecurity to broader social, political, economic, and policy questions in the contexts of national and/or international security. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute directly to the Department's nascent doctoral program in cyber politics and will be expected to collaborate on research and grant applications with faculty in Computer Science, Information Systems and Cyber Security, Engineering, and UTSA's highly regarded Cyber Security Program. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Department's traditional undergraduate and/or graduate courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. We are especially interested in applicants who can teach graduate and undergraduate courses on Cyber and International Politics; Cyber Strategy; Cyber Deterrence and Coercion; Cyber and Intelligence; Cyberwarfare and Military Operations; Technological and Social Revolutions in International Relations; Global Governance and Cyber; Cyber and International Ethics; Law, Politics, and Cyber-Security; New Global Threats; and Global or National Security Policy.

Applicants must demonstrate potential for research publication and a strong potential to attract external funding commensurate with the rank for which the applicant is applying. Applicants' research must demonstrate strong theoretical grounding in national or international security. Candidates must have the ability to work with and be sensitive to the educational needs of a culturally diverse urban population.

All applicants should also provide representative evidence of high-quality teaching – ideally in courses that address cyber security in the context of deterrence and coercion, national or international security, global affairs and governance. Applicants must also be willing to teach a range of courses in international relations or global affairs within their specializations.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor, the successful applicant must have an established research agenda, evidence of initiatives to acquire external research funding, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their respective fields of specialization, have excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, a track record of grant applications and awards, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants who can offer courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science, international relations/global affairs, and/or international/national security policy.

Applicants should submit electronically in PDF format:

1. Letter of application stating the rank for which application is made, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. A research and teaching statement, including discussion of the role that diversity and inclusion play in an academic environment (no more than 200 words);
4. A copy of all graduate transcripts;
5. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
6. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
7. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
8. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Submit electronic materials to: <https://jobs.utsa.edu> (click on Faculty for details)

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

This is a security sensitive position. Employment is contingent upon a successful background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/9/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7315

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

Required Qualifications:

The Department of Political Science seeks to hire in the field of American Politics beginning in the Fall 2020. We intend to review applications at the rank of Full or Associate Professor as well as those from advanced Assistant Professors who wish to be considered for a tenured appointment. The department is particularly interested in applicants with expertise in political institutions but will also consider applicants from any subfield of American politics. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field from an accredited doctoral program. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Advanced skills in quantitative methods and/or experiments in addition to an established track record of graduate student collaboration and mentoring are highly desirable. Additional duties include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college and university levels.

Preferred Qualifications:

Specific interests in applicants with expertise in political institutions but will also consider applicants from any subfield of American politics.

Responsibilities & Requirements:

Responsibilities will include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, supervision of student research and writing, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college and university levels.

Special Notes:

This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA. Internal and external search to occur simultaneously.

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at <mailto:info@goer.ny.gov> or info@goer.ny.gov.

Stony Brook University is 100% tobacco-free as of January 1, 2016. See our policy and learn more at <https://www.stonybrook.edu/tobaccofreestonybrook.edu/tobaccofree>.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

Application Procedure

Those interested in this position should:

1. Complete the online <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/oide-equity/resources/applicants-survey.php> Applicant Information Survey. Do not submit this survey to the department with your application. Any questions regarding the survey, please email <mailto:oide@stonybrook.edu>.

2. Submit a <https://www.asa.stonybrook.edu/asa/ASAForms/Department/HRS/Document/HRSF0113State> Employment Application, cover letter, CV, and academic references at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018>. Alternately, you may submit your application package to the departmental address below.

We will give primary consideration to all applications received by 10/28/2019, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Interested candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names of three academic references to the electronic job advertisement system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018>; or by mail to Chair, American Politics & Policy Search, S-701 Social and Behavioral Sciences Building, Department of Political Science, 4392 SUNY, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4392.

Inquiries regarding the position can be sent to: PoliticalScienceRecruitment@stonybrook.edu

Chair, American Politics & Policy Search
 S-701 Social and Behavioral Sciences Building
 Department of Political Science
 4392 SUNY
 Stony Brook, NY 11794-4392

Institutional Advertisement: <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/faculty-jobs/positions/faculty-librarian/current-year/Associate-Full-Professor>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 10/8/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7308

Mills College

Rank: Adjunct Assistant Professor to Teach One Course on American Presidency

COURSE TITLE: PPOL 115: The American Presidency
Department: Public Policy and Political Science

Department: The Public Policy and Political Science Department at Mills College is pleased to announce an opportunity for an instructor to teach PPOL 115: The American Presidency for the Spring 2020 semester.

Course Description: This course examines the presidential selection process, the scope and powers of the office, and the major determinants of presidential behavior. Instructors are encouraged to make the course particularly relevant to the upcoming presidential election.

Requirements: Minimum qualification is a Master's Degree in Political Science or an associated field. Terminal degree in Political Science or an associated field with a concentration on American Politics preferred.

Compensation: For faculty new to Mills, compensation is $6,000 per course without a terminal degree and $6,500 per course with a terminal degree. Adjunct compensation is governed by a collective bargaining agreement and increases with seniority at Mills College.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant's background check must be cleared.

About Mills College: Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top master's universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit www.mills.edu.

To apply visit: <https://mills.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=116673>

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7303

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting a tenure-track assistant professor in the area(s) of Cyber Security and Privacy. This position will have an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020.

This interdisciplinary position will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units for their appointment. All relevant areas will be considered, such as (but not limited to) Mathematics, Statistics, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, Psychology, Computer Science, Legal Studies, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Philosophy, Criminal Justice, and Political Science.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution at the time of appointment in an area appropriate to the cluster. The selected candidate must also have a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record.

Preferred qualifications: A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is strongly preferred.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. In particular, candidates that have a track record in security and privacy issues affecting software and systems in various platforms (cloud, IoT, cyber-physical) are strongly encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will also have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security and privacy. (See <https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved to date.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided.

UCF has a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry, including large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, Oracle, Apple, AMD, Boeing, SpaceX, Blue Origin, etc. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school. Orlando has one of the fastest growing and dynamic economies in the nation. In 2018, among major metropolitan areas, Orlando enjoyed the fifth largest increase in population. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your approach and experience meeting the needs of a diverse community, both in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague. In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

- 1) the above-mentioned diversity statement,
- 2) a cover letter*,
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) teaching statement,
- 5) research statement, and
- 6) contact information for three professional references (include email addresses).

*In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, any experience working on interdisciplinary teams, how they will enhance the existing cluster team, and identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home and any joint appointments they would desire.

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Yan Solihin at yan.solihin@ucf.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7299

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate - CSDP

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on or about September 1, 2020. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required.

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars must be in residence at Princeton during the academic terms, and are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events. Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2020-2021 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to position req D-20-WWS-00010 <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14021>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, December 2, 2019 at 11:59 p.m. EST (including letters of recommendation from the two references).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/2/2019

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7289

Princeton University - CSDP

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar - CSDP

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for ten-month positions anticipated to start on or about September 1, 2020. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their position.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars must be in residence at Princeton during the academic terms, and are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary (those who hold faculty appointments at other academic institutions normally receive one-half their academic-year salaries for the appointment period, but this may vary depending on level of support from the home institution), applicable benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Verification of employment and salary will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, a brief statement of anticipated (estimated) salary support from the home institution for the 2020-2021 academic year, and statement of the home institution's leave policy. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2020-2021 should apply to req number D-20-WWS-00011 <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14041>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, December 2, 2019 at 11:59 p.m. EST.

Start Date:Application Deadline: 12/2/2019Date Posted: 10/4/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7295University of Central Florida*Rank: Tenure-track Assistant Professor: American Politics and Security Studies*Specializations: Quantitative Methods, International Security, Intelligence

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs at the University of Central Florida (UCF) in-vites applications for a nine-month, tenure earning Assistant Professor position with an anticipated start date in August 2020. The candidate is expected to specialize in American Politics with a focus on broadly defined domestic/international security issues including, but not limited to, cyber, economic, environmental, food, gender, and foreign policy policing. The candidate is also expected to teach various quantitative methods courses at the doctoral level. A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field such as Security Studies from an accredited institution by time of hire is required. Preference will be given to candidates who will participate actively in and complement existing strengths of the School's Security Studies doctoral program. We are especially interested in an individual who can contribute through their research, teaching and service to the diversity and excellence of our academic community and foster an environment in which faculty, staff, and students from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, and personal experiences are welcomed and can thrive.

The School of Politics, Security, and International Affairs offers an M.A. Program in Political Science and a Ph.D. Program in Security Studies that produces cutting-edge research in conflict studies and human security. Its undergraduate programs enroll approximately 1,400 majors in Political Science and International & Global Studies. The Kurdish Political Studies Program, the India Center, Center for Global Economic and Environmental Opportunity, the Prince Mohammed Bin Fahd (PMBF) Program for Strategic Research and Studies, and the Lou Frey Institute of Politics & Government, as well as the Intelligence Community Center for Academic Excellence are all housed in the School (for more information, visit <https://sciences.ucf.edu/politics>).

The School is part of College of Sciences (COS) that houses most of the university's natural, computational, and social sciences in eight departments, two schools, and several centers. The college's programs play a key role in advancing UCF as a national research university that is determined to help faculty and students from all backgrounds achieve success. For more information, visit <https://sciences.ucf.edu/>.

UCF, located in Orlando, Florida, is classified as a "Doctoral University: Very High Research Activity" and a "Community Engagement" institution by the Carnegie Foundation. With a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students, UCF is one of the largest universities in the country. The university offers more than 200 degree programs, including more than 100 at the graduate level. UCF is committed to diversity and is a designated Hispanic Serving Institution. For more information, visit <http://www.ucf.edu>.

To be considered candidates must apply online at <http://ucf.edu/jobs> (job number 498315). In addition to the online application, candidates must upload the following materials: a letter of interest, curriculum vitae (CV), a research statement, the names and contact information of three professional references, and a graduate transcript. Where available, please upload syllabi and student evaluations. Applications must be completed by November 7, 2019. Questions regarding the position should be directed to Dr. Gunes Murat Tezcur, Chair, Search Committee, at tezcur@ucf.edu.

EEO Statement:

As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: 11/7/2019Date Posted: 10/4/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7288University of New Mexico*Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor - American Politics, Latino/Hispanic Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of New Mexico seeks candidates for an Assistant or Associate Professor (dependent on qualifications) faculty position in American politics with a specialization in Latino/Hispanic politics, which is a full-time, 9-month, tenure-track position. The position begins August 2020. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Government, or related field by the start date of appointment and have a research specialization in American politics with a specialization in Latino/Hispanic politics. The minimum and preferred qualifications are listed below. For best consideration, apply no later than November 8, 2019. This position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science currently employs 14 regular faculty members and maintains a small but highly competitive and nationally recognized graduate program (MA and Ph.D.), as well as a high-quality undergraduate major (BA). The department has a rich history of excellence in the area of Latino/Hispanic politics, and UNM's Center for Social Policy, Center for Regional Studies, as well as Southwest Hispanic Research Institute, provide funding and research support for Latino focused scholarship. UNM is a Carnegie Doctoral/ Research-Extensive University and US/DE Minority-Serving public university. As the state's largest university, UNM serves a diverse student population of over 26,000 at its main campus in Albuquerque, a metropolitan area of more than 500,000 people. Albuquerque sits one mile above sea level and enjoys a moderate high-desert climate with four distinct seasons and an average of 310 days of sunshine per year. New Mexico offers world-class skiing and abundant outdoor activities. As one of the oldest cities in the U.S., Albuquerque has a unique multicultural history and heritage that lend to an enchanting culture rich with tradition, cuisine, art, dance, and theatre.

Minimum qualifications are a) Ph.D. in Political Science, Government, or related field by the start date of appointment; and b) Research specialization in American politics with a specialization in Latino/Hispanic politics. Preferred qualifications for the position are a) Demonstrated or potential excellence in conducting substantively and theoretically significant research in Latino/Hispanic politics reflected in a record of publication in this sub-field of American politics; b) Demonstrated or potential excellence in teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in Latino/Hispanic politics; c) Strong methodological expertise; d) Ability to train graduate students whose work is focused on Latino/Hispanic politics and policy; e) Capacity to add to the intellectual breadth of the department; f) Demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion and student success and working with broadly diverse students and communities.

For best consideration, all application materials must be received by November 8, 2019. The position will remain open until filled. Only applications submitted through the application system at <https://www.unmedu/jobs> (Posting # 10911) can be considered. Applications must include: 1) a letter describing the applicant's qualifications as they relate to the minimum and preferred criteria defined above; 2) a current curriculum vita (please include email address and telephone number); 3) a writing sample that exemplifies the candidate's expertise in Latino/Hispanic politics; 4) teaching materials including a teaching statement, at least one sample course syllabus, and course evaluations for any classes taught at the undergraduate or graduate level); 5) Additionally, three letters of recommendation must be emailed directly by your references to Ashley Banks, Department Administrator, Political Science Tel: 505 277-8930, Email: asbanks@unm.edu by the priority deadline.

Semi-finalists may be asked to submit additional samples of written work, and additional teaching materials. Applicants who are appointed to a UNM faculty position are required to provide an official certification of successful completion of all degree requirements prior to their initial employment with UNM. Consistent with UNM's affirmative action policies, all applicants from members of protected groups will be given especially careful review to ensure full consideration. Inquiries about the online application process can be directed to Ashley Banks, Department Administrator, Political Science Tel: 505 277-8930, Email: asbanks@unm.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7291

Rhodes College

Rank: Chair of Political Science - American Politics

The Political Science Department at Rhodes College invites applications for a tenured position in American Politics to begin Fall of 2020. Rhodes College believes that diversity and inclusion are critical to our success as an institution, and we seek to recruit, develop, and retain the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. Applicants must have completed all requirements for a Ph.D. in Political Science, and have a record of excellence in teaching and an active program of scholarship appropriate for a tenured appointment at the rank of associate or full professor, with a focus in areas other than the department's existing strengths. Interest in chairing the department is an expectation of the position. Teaching responsibilities usually include five courses a year, but serving as Chair reduces the teaching responsibilities and includes an additional stipend. Courses may include the introductory U.S. politics course and upper-level courses in the candidate's area of specialization. Preference will be given to candidates who could contribute to the College's interdisciplinary programs (<https://www.rhodes.edu/content/majors-minors>).

The College has sabbatical leave opportunities, generous travel funding, and reimbursement of relocation costs within the College's policy. Further, it provides start-up funds and additional opportunities to apply for funding in support of teaching and research.

Rhodes is a nationally ranked residential college committed to the liberal arts and sciences. Our highest priorities are intellectual engagement, service to others, commitment to diversity and inclusion, and honor among ourselves. Our students live and learn on one of the country's most beautiful campuses, located in the heart of Memphis, an economic, medical, and cultural center, making Rhodes one of a handful of prominent liberal arts colleges in a major metropolitan area. (<http://www.rhodes.edu/content/liberal-arts-city>)

Rhodes College prides itself on being a diverse, inclusive, and welcoming environment. We are an equal opportunity employer committed to diversity and antidiscrimination. (<https://handbook.rhodes.edu/employeehandbook/employment-policies/anti-discrimination-and-harassment-policy>)

Please apply online at jobs.rhodes.edu. A complete application will include 1) a cover letter that addresses the strengths you will bring as a teacher and scholar to a liberal arts college environment, as well as your interest and experiences relevant for serving as Department Chair; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) the names and contact information for three references; 4) a separate statement that addresses how your experiences with teaching, scholarship, and/or service will contribute to a college community that includes a commitment to diversity and inclusion as one of its core values. The online application system will solicit letters electronically from the candidate's recommenders, once their contact information has been entered by the candidate and all other required application materials have been submitted.

Review of completed applications will begin November 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Candidates from backgrounds typically underrepresented in higher education are strongly encouraged to apply. Background checks are required before candidates can be brought to campus for interviews.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/2/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7278

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics with specialty in political behavior and civic engagement. Within political behavior and civic engagement, we are especially interested in candidates with interests in group identity, racial or ethnic politics, and survey and/or experimental methods. The successful candidate will possess a strong commitment to producing high-quality independent scholarship, as well as a demonstrated interest in collaborative research efforts.

Candidates who are interested in working with the Community Engagement + Experiments Laboratory, and have an interest in fostering community engagement through their teaching and research, are strongly preferred. <http://ou.edu/ceel> We also welcome applications from candidates who could teach undergraduate methods. The teaching load for this position is two courses per semester.

The University of Oklahoma is located in Norman, a college town of 120,000 featuring great schools and affordable housing. Campus is 30 minutes from Oklahoma City. With a population of over 650,000 and a metropolitan area of over 1.4 million, OKC is home to the NBA's Oklahoma City Thunder, the AAA OKC Dodgers baseball team, America's best new restaurant (Nonesuch) in 2018 according to Bon Appetit magazine, a public boathouse district that doubles as a U.S. Olympic rowing training site, The Myriad Botanical Gardens, and Scissortail Park, a new 70-acre urban park spanning the Oklahoma River downtown.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a related discipline at the time appointment begins. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, a writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, graduate transcript, and 3 letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Any questions can be emailed to the American Politics search committee chair, Dr. Tyler Johnson tylerjohnson@ou.edu. The position will begin August 2020. Applicants must apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/68223>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7279

Berry College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Government and International Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Parties & Organizations, Electoral Behavior, Public Opinion

The Department of Government and International Studies at Berry College seeks a scholar-teacher-mentor who will engage our students in courses focusing on campaigns and elections, interest groups, public opinion, or policy (with an American or a regional focus) and will be competent to teach social science research methods. We seek an innovative teacher who will create new courses that invite students from other disciplines into the study of political science and international affairs. This Tenure-Track position begins in August 2020. The successful candidate will typically teach a 3-3 load, with their upper-level course and 2 sections of a course in our Foundations Program (American National Government, Comparative Politics, or Contemporary World Issues). Noted for its mentoring of students, the department offers an excellent undergraduate education that emphasizes the development of strong writing and critical thinking skills that will prepare students for entry into the workforce or for advanced study. We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and scholarship will add diversity to the college curriculum and engage the community, including by cultivating internship opportunities. Candidates from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. All applicants should describe in their statement of teaching philosophy their experience with, and/or commitment to, teaching a diverse student body.

Minimum Qualifications: PhD required by August 2020. An active research agenda, an interest in mentoring undergraduate research, and a demonstrated commitment to teaching undergraduates from a range of disciplines, cultures, and academic backgrounds is essential.

Berry is a selective independent college of 2,100 located adjacent to Rome, GA, midway between Atlanta, GA, and Chattanooga, TN. Berry's educational approach deliberately unites challenging academic programs with practical work experience in a residential campus community that encourages faith and emphasizes caring for the needs of others above self. This commitment to an "education of the head, heart and hands" remains as relevant today as when our founder instilled this ethic more than a century ago.

Nationally recognized for quality of learning and quality of life, Berry offers first-rate undergraduate degree programs in the sciences, humanities, arts and human sciences, as well as undergraduate and master's level opportunities in business and teacher education. The College's stunning 27,000-acre campus affords opportunities that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Berry's ongoing commitment is to provide exceptional educational experiences to talented students from a wide range of social and economic backgrounds.

The college provides benefit options with no employee costs for medical, dental, disability, and life insurance, including spouse and dependents at a reduced rate. An Equal Opportunity Institution, Berry complies with all applicable laws and provisions prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies. Berry respects the essential dignity of all individuals and accordingly hires and promotes employees without regard to matters of personal identity such as ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, and political affiliation.

Berry College is committed to ensuring facilities, programs, services, and activities are accessible to everyone, including those seeking employment at Berry College. Inquiries about interview or workplace accommodations are welcomed and can be directed to Wayne Phipps, Director of Human Resources, at 706.290.2698.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, along with a current CV, copies of transcripts, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference to Darla Fox, Department of Government and International Studies, dfox@berry.edu. Email inquiries: esands@berry.edu. For more information on our program, please visit our website at: <https://www.berry.edu/academics/majors/political-science>.

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2019 and materials must be received by that date to ensure full consideration.

Persons applying for employment with Berry College may be required to submit a full national background check. Berry College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7269

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant Professor

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Assistant Professor (Tenure Track)

Research Methods in Political Science and Global Affairs

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to teach undergraduate and graduate level courses as part of the degree requirements in five of the Department's degree programs: Political Science (graduate and undergraduate), Global Affairs (graduate and undergraduate), and Politics and Law (undergraduate). Required courses in these programs include: Designing Research in Political Science; Quantitative Methods in Political Science; Research Methods in Global Affairs; and graduate Research Methods. The appointment begins Fall 2020. This position also supports collaborative and interdisciplinary teaching, research, and grants application objectives in University initiatives in such areas as Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and Data Analytics that employ quantitative and/or qualitative methodologies. The Department is home to 18 tenured and tenure-track faculty members, NTT faculty, administrative staff, and nearly 600 majors pursuing B.A. and M.A. degrees. Faculty members engage in individual and collaborative research around the world in such areas as global governance, comparative politics, security regimes, national security and intelligence, cyber security strategy and politics, political communications and institutions, federal justice policies, race and gender issues, social policy, human rights issues, constitutional development and judicial institutions, human migration patterns, geographic information systems, and political economy.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or directly related discipline by August 31, 2020. Evidence of ability to teach all research design and methods courses listed above at undergraduate and graduate levels. Teaching at the undergraduate level includes instruction in understanding, interpreting, assessing, and developing research designs; and literacy and basic proficiency in statistical topics and techniques (e.g., classic hypothesis testing, univariate through multivariate analyses, data management, entry and manipulation, and graphical presentation of analysis). Teaching at the graduate level includes basic working knowledge of the empirical, quantitative, and/or qualitative approaches/techniques used by social scientists in understanding social/political phenomena, including skills in the use of SPSS, R, and/or STATA. All applicants must provide representative evidence of high-quality teaching in a variety of research methods and other courses.

Successful applicants must be willing to participate in collaborative interdisciplinary research activities to develop external research grants and to advise during such collaborative activities on appropriate statistical approaches/techniques. Successful applicants will be able to articulate a research agenda including an applicant's emerging record of journal or other peer-reviewed publications. Successful candidates must be able to demonstrate their ability to work with and be sensitive to the educational needs of diverse urban populations and support the University's commitment to thrive as a Hispanic Serving Institution and a model for student success.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given also to applicants prepared to teach courses in traditional sub-fields of political science and/or international relations, ranging from introductory surveys to more specialized and upper-level lecture and graduate seminars in an applicant's specialization.

Applicants should submit electronically in PDF format:

1. Letter of application for the rank of assistant professor, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. A research, teaching, and service statement that includes discussion of the role that diversity and inclusion play in an academic environment. The research statement must articulate an applicant's research agenda; the teaching statement must articulate an applicant's teaching philosophy. The service statement must address an applicant's commitment to service to the department, college, university, profession, and community;

4. A copy of all graduate transcripts;
5. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three)
6. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
7. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction);
8. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation. Submit electronic materials to: <https://jobs.utsa.edu> (click on 'Faculty' for position details)

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and will continue until position is filled.

This is a security sensitive position. Employment is contingent upon a successful background check.

UTSA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants who are selected for interviews must be able to show proof that they will be eligible and qualified to work in the United States by time of hire.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7264

University of Mount Union

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Mount Union is currently inviting applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position, beginning August 2020.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach three courses per semester (12 credit hours) and must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate education in a liberal arts setting. Primary responsibilities include:

Teaching introductory courses in American Politics, Law and Public Service as well as upper-level courses on American Institutions (Presidency; Congress); Law (e.g. Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Legal Advocacy); and Public Policy. The ability to contribute additional courses in the candidate's area of specialization will be welcome.

- Contributing to the University of Mount Union's Integrative Core curriculum,
- Contributing to the strengthening and expansion of the Political Science curriculum,
- Guiding the growing legal studies program and the new 3-3 BA/JD programs,
- Contributing to the total university community and to civic and community life.

- Additional duties may be set by the department given institutional needs and priorities.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (with a focus on American Politics, Public Policy and/or Law) by time of appointment is required. A J.D. or related degree will be an added plus. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to student-centered teaching and to scholarship

Candidates should provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and three letters of reference to the Political Science Search Committee. Electronic applications are required and can be submitted online at <http://www.mountunion.edu/employment>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Michael Grossman (grossmmo@mountunion.edu) with any questions. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

This position is required to complete assigned University compliance training as communicated by the University.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job. When requested, reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions of the job.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7246

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

The American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program is currently accepting online applications for congressional fellowships for political scientists. The nine-month program in Washington, D.C., gives scholars a hands-on understanding of Congress through placements in congressional offices.

Fellows begin their fellowship year with a comprehensive one-month orientation with congressional experts and policy leaders. Fellows then work in full-time placements of their choosing in a personal office or committee in the House of Representatives or Senate.

The fellowship year also features:

- winter and spring seminar series on congress;
- visit to the district or state of a Member of Congress;
- optional study programs in Annapolis, Maryland, and Ottawa, Canada; and
- ongoing guidance and mentoring from program staff and alumni.

Orientation begins November 2020. Office placements run until August 15, 2021. Two optional programs directly precede the main fellowship program: a two-month course on Congress and Foreign Policy, taught at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and a fellowship through the William A. Steiger fund to spend up to two months at the APSA Centennial Center carrying out a project in legislative studies.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a PhD in the last 15 years or will have defended a dissertation by November 2020.

Applications are welcome from political scientists in all subfields who can demonstrate a scholarly interest in Congress and the policymaking process.

Preference is given to those without extensive Capitol Hill experience.

Application Procedure: Applications must be submitted online at <https://apsa.wufoo.com/forms/qlolhl0dn0mzd/submitted> and include:

- CV;
- 500-word personal statement;
- names and contact information for three references; and
- one sole-authored writing sample.

Applicants may apply through the same online form for the two optional pre-fellowship programs.

Submit your application for the 2020-2021 fellowship year by Tuesday, December 3, 2019. Please send questions about the program to <mailto:cfp@apsanet.org>.

Start Date: November 2020

Salary: $52,500 for the 9.5-month fellowship period, plus travel allowance. Fellows who are also selected for a fellowship through the Steiger Fund will receive a stipend for the duration of the Steiger Fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6172

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a full-time tenure-track assistant professor position in American Politics to begin in August 2020.

We seek qualified applicants with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service that would support the mission of the University of Scranton. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in political institutions and policy making processes. Teaching responsibilities include the U.S. Politics introductory course, Congress, public policy in the candidate's area of expertise, and research methods. Pre-tenure teaching load is ordinarily 3/3.

The capability to develop an active research program that involves mentoring undergraduates is preferred. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to our Public Affairs-Public Administration program.

Strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field required; candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment preferred.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) article/chapter length writing sample, and 4) contact information for three professional references.

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6179

Georgia State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Georgia State University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. We seek a scholar whose research focuses on political identity, broadly defined (including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, class, and sexual orientation) in the U.S. context. We welcome scholars employing institutional or behavioral approaches to the study of identity. The position will begin Fall 2020, pending budgetary approval. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to teach courses on political identity at the undergraduate, M.A., and PhD levels. Preference will be given to candidates who can demonstrate the ability to effectively teach a diverse student body. We enthusiastically encourage applications from women, minorities, first-generation candidates, and other underrepresented groups in the academy. Candidates must have a PhD in political science or a related field in hand by August 2020.

Applicants should send a letter of interest that includes a brief statement outlining their ability to work with a diverse student body, a curriculum vitae, a statement of your research agenda, examples of scholarly work, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and graduate transcripts to polsearch@gsu.edu. Please list three references who will provide letters of recommendation upon request.

We will begin reviewing files on October 1, 2019. Materials submitted before October 10th will be given full consideration. Georgia State University, an enterprising R-1 university, is located in the heart of downtown Atlanta, a vibrant international city in the Southeastern U.S. GSU enrolls and graduates one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation. The Department is committed to serving this student body and advancing innovative research by building a diverse faculty. The department offers bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University, a unit of the University System of Georgia, is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate against applicants due to race, ethnicity, gender, veteran status, or on the basis of disability or any other federal, state or local protected class. An offer of employment will be conditional on background verification.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6171

Washington College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor -3 terms

The Department of Political Science at Washington College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor in American Government and Policy for three consecutive semesters: the 2020 Spring Semester and 2020-2021 Academic Year. The teaching load is three courses in the fall and three courses each spring.

For the Spring 2020 semester, we seek a professor who can teach Introduction to American Government, American Foreign Policy, and Parties and Interest groups. For the fall 2020 semester, responsibilities include teaching our introductory course in American government and politics and a course on Elections (and possibly a First Year Seminar). For the spring 2021 semester, the candidate will teach one section of our introductory course in American government, the American Presidency and American Foreign Policy or another policy course. In addition to teaching, faculty responsibilities will also include some senior thesis advising. The position includes benefits and salary is competitive.

Washington College, founded in 1782, is a selective liberal arts institution of about 1450 students that emphasizes excellence in teaching and a commitment to scholarly research. It is located on Maryland's Eastern Shore, about 1.5 hours from Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia. For more information please consult the college's website (<http://www.washcoll.edu>) and the department's website (<http://polisci.washcoll.edu>). Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts from all institutions attended, two letters of recommendation, and teaching evaluations if available TO: Dr. Melissa Deckman, Chair, Department of Political Science, Washington College, 300 Washington Avenue, Chestertown, MD 21620-1197. Telephone: (410) 810-7494; FAX: 410-778-7891; e-mail: mdeckman2@washcoll.edu. Washington College an Equal Opportunity Employer; women and members of minority groups are strongly encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6148

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

The Department of Political Science and the Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center at the University of Oklahoma seek an established scholar who is also a skilled and enthusiastic instructor at the advanced assistant or associate professor rank. We seek candidates with teaching and research interests related to legislative politics, civic engagement, and more broadly, to strengthening representative democracy through an engaged and informed citizenry.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core American Politics and Government curriculum by teaching four courses per academic year, including Introduction to American Government, Community Scholars, and additional courses in the candidate's area of expertise; contribute to the civic engagement mission of the Department and Center by supporting a diverse array of services and programs such as the National Education for Women's (N.E.W.) leadership program and the Community Engagement and Experiment Lab (CEEL), among others; and continue to build a national or international scholarly profile.

The position will be jointly appointed to OU's Political Science Department, which is centrally placed in the university's core curriculum — with a course required of all graduates. In addition, faculty members enjoy strong relationships with interdisciplinary research and teaching centers at OU. As the flagship institution for the state of Oklahoma, faculty work with state policymakers and leaders of public, non-profit, tribal, and private organizations.

The Carl Albert Center was established in 1979 as a living tribute to the ideals, leadership, and accomplishments of the Honorable Carl Albert and houses one of the largest congressional archives in the country. The Center, through its endowment, offers a wide range of programming, provides Center faculty with substantial research and travel support, and funds undergraduate research and graduate fellowship programs.

Qualifications

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in political science and be able to demonstrate an active research agenda in legislative studies and/or civic engagement, broadly defined. The successful candidate should also have an established publication record in high-quality outlets, potential to secure external research funding, and a commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate, masters, and doctoral students.

Application Instructions

Include a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and 3-5 letters of recommendation. Review of applications will begin on September 30th, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Questions about the position may be directed to the chairs of the search committee, Michael Crespín (crespín@ou.edu) or Scott Robinson (scott.e.robinson@ou.edu). The position will begin in August 2020.

Application Process

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Applicants should go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66142> to submit their application.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

The University of Oklahoma, in compliance with all applicable federal and state laws and regulations does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, gender expression, age, religion, disability, political beliefs, or status as a veteran in any of its policies, practices, or procedures. This includes, but is not limited to: admissions, employment, financial aid, housing, services in educational programs or activities, or health care services that the University operates or provides.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6141

Ohio State University

Rank: American Political Institutions

Department: Political Science

Position: American Political Institutions

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in American politics, one of its traditional areas of strength. The candidate should study political institutions, policymaking processes, and/or representational outcomes, and should have a high degree of conceptual and methodological sophistication. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

Qualifications:

The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August 2020. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14426>. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate's past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service. Review of applications will begin on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to first last at Vladimir Kogan at kogan.18@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually diverse environment, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Research Statement
- Teaching Statement
- Diversity Statement
- Publication List

- Job Market Letter
- Other papers or chapters
- Unofficial Graduate Transcript
- Three Reference Letters

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6133

Ohio State University

Rank: Politics of Race, Gender, and Ethnicity in American Politics

Department: Political Science

Position: Politics of Race, Gender, and Ethnicity in American Politics

Rank: Assistant Professor

Description: The Department of Political Science at the Ohio State University seeks to hire in the Politics of Race, Gender and Politics, or Ethnicity in American politics. We particularly encourage applicants with innovative approaches to studying important democratic questions, including but not limited to the use of novel data, original techniques for causal inference, and/or field or lab experiments, and they should have a high degree of theoretical and methodological sophistication. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching and potential for attracting external funding.

This position is part of a Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative by the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University to increase diversity in our professorial ranks, foster an inclusiveness, and promote research and teaching on topics central to racial, ethnic, gender, and sexual orientation.

Qualifications: The successful candidate should have a PhD in political science or expect to have the degree in hand by August of 2020. Appointment is contingent on the university's verification of credentials and other information required by law and/or university policies, including but not limited to a criminal background check.

About Columbus:

The Ohio State University campus is located in Columbus, the capital city of Ohio. Columbus is the Midwest's fastest-growing city and the nation's 14th largest city. Columbus offers a diverse array of welcoming neighborhoods and a vibrant arts and culture scene. Additional information about all that the Columbus area has to offer is available at <https://visit.osu.edu/experience>.

Application Instructions:

Apply to Academic Jobs Online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14427>. A complete application includes a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement, publication list, examples of research, other papers or chapters, unofficial graduate transcript, three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site), and a diversity statement that addresses the candidate's past efforts, as well as future plans, to advance equity, diversity, and inclusion in their scholarship, teaching, and service.

Review of applications will begin on October 1st and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries may be directed to William Minozzi at minozzi.1@osu.edu.

The Ohio State University is committed to establishing a culturally and intellectually vibrant and diverse environment of exceptional faculty, encouraging all members of our learning community to reach their full potential. We are responsive to dual-career families and strongly promote work-life balance to support our community members through a suite of institutionalized policies. The university is a member of the Ohio/Western Pennsylvania/West Virginia Higher Education Recruitment Consortium (HERC).

The Ohio State University is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation or identity, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

Application Materials Required:

Submit the following items online at this website:

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Research Statement
- Teaching Statement
- Diversity Statement
- Publication List
- Job Market Paper
- Other papers or chapters
- Unofficial Graduate Transcript
- Three Reference Letters (to be submitted by the reference writers at this site)

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6134

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/26/2019
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 6049

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

American Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of American Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarly research on American politics, including but not limited to political behavior, political institutions, identity politics, American political development, and/or American political thought. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor. Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8344>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jee-willi@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/23/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6045

St. Lawrence University

Rank: Assistant Professor of American Politics

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics. The successful candidate will teach in the area of Congress or race & ethnic politics. Secondary areas of expertise are welcomed in public policy, state and local politics, or American political thought. The candidate will be prepared to teach courses in their areas of expertise as well as an introductory course on American Politics. The position begins August 2020 and the teaching load is three courses per semester. Strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field required; candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field in-hand by August 2020 preferred.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://employment.stlawu.edu/postings/1954> by uploading all required materials which are defined in the "special instructions to applicant" section. Review of applications will begin on October 8, 2019. Questions about the position may be sent to Dr. Grace Huang (ghuang@stlawu.edu), Search Chair.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Located at 23 Romoda Drive, Canton, NY, St. Lawrence University is a coeducational, private, independent liberal arts institution of about 2,400 students from more than 40 states and 40 nations. The educational opportunities at St. Lawrence inspire students and prepare them to be critical and creative thinkers, to find a compass for their lives and careers, and to pursue knowledge and understanding for the benefit of themselves, humanity and the planet. Through its focus on active engagement with ideas in and beyond the classroom, a St. Lawrence education leads students to make connections that transform lives and communities, from the local to the global.

For additional information about St. Lawrence, please visit <http://www.stlawu.edu>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/8/2019

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6042

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics beginning August 2020. As a Carnegie R1 university, we seek scholars with a strong research agenda in either of these specializations to help grow the prestige of our department. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics. The ability to teach courses in research methods (graduate and undergraduate) is desirable. Our needs in Public Policy (American or Comparative) are broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (urban and regional planning, health policy, political economy, and policy analysis, etc). Our needs in American Behavioral Politics are also broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (citizen decision-making, public opinion, media and politics, voting behavior, and race/gender and politics, etc.). A strong record of peer-reviewed publications will ultimately be required for tenure.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field. ABD applicants near completion will be considered. The degree must be completed by the time of appointment. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching to be considered; evidence of excellence in research and teaching is preferred.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Set against the backdrop of the Franklin Mountains in the Chihuahuan Desert, The University of Texas at El Paso is located along the U.S.–Mexico border in one of the world's largest binational communities. UTEP's award-winning, sustainably designed campus landscape and unique Bhutanese architecture create an energizing and tranquil oasis in the bustling El Paso–Juárez metroplex of 2.7 million residents. El Paso is a highly livable, bicultural community of almost 700,000 people that offers affordable homes and attractive neighborhoods. It has consistently been named among the safest large U.S. cities. El Paso experiences almost 300 days of sunshine annually, and residents enjoy outdoor activities year-round. The City of El Paso is adjacent to the state of New Mexico and the country of Mexico, making it an ideal venue for academic programs and research studies on topics of national interest, such as bilingual education/language acquisition, border environment and immigration, environmental sustainability and infrastructure, health disparities, and international trade and commerce.

Application Procedure: The deadline for applications is October 21, 2019 and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality (sample syllabi/statement of teaching philosophy), article/chapter length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Please contact Dr. Todd A. Curry by email (tacurry@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
Hiring decisions are subject to final budget approval.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6009

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2020 to September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on outstanding performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12905> (link is external)

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6038

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

* a curriculum vitae;

* a scholarly paper written in the past three years;

* a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;

* contact information for two references;

* a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions

Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science with focus on Public Law

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).

2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.

3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.

4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.

2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.

3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.

4) A list of three professional references.

5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6014

Lycoming College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Position Summary:

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2020. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in American politics. Specialization within subfield is open. Lycoming's small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College's interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution. Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered and are encouraged to apply.

To Apply:

Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript. Electronic submission of application materials is required (PDF format preferred). Please reference "Assistant Professor of Political Science" in the subject line of the email.

Email: jobs@lycoming.edu

To guarantee full consideration, applications should be submitted by October 1, 2019. Post-offer pre-employment drug screen conducted.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/19/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 6004

SUNY, Geneseo

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

You will be impressed by the quality of the Political Science and International Relations Programs at Geneseo. The focus of the department is on analytical sophistication and enabling graduates to think critically about political life in a variety of settings. To learn more about our department visit: https://www.geneseo.edu/political_sciencehttps://www.geneseo.edu/political_science

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at SUNYGeneseo is seeking applicants for a tenure-track assistant professor position to begin August, 2020. Duties of the position include:

- Teach the American Politics Introductory course, a course on the American Presidency and/or Interest Groups and Social Movements, plus additional upper division courses in American Politics, which could include courses on Women and Politics, Identity Politics, and/or Class-based Politics.
- Establish a program of research and publication in Political Science with a focus on American Politics.
- Contribute to pedagogical and curricular development and management of the Political Science major at Geneseo.
- Provide academic advisement to students.
- Mentor and supervise undergraduate research and other projects.
- Contribute to governance through service at the department and college level.
- Contribute service to the discipline and university.

Our priority is teaching excellence. We seek someone with a strong commitment to teaching in a liberal arts setting and who is prepared to teach both introductory courses and advanced courses in their area of expertise. A commitment to working effectively with students from diverse backgrounds is essential. We also value applicant experience with integrative learning, such as linking academic endeavors with social advocacy or community engagement.

Applicants should be prepared to upload a cover letter, a CV, and additional materials that speak to their teaching effectiveness. The cover letter should address teaching philosophy, interests and plans for establishing a research program. In addition, applicants should be prepared to supply contact information (email address) for three references. References will be contacted and invited to submit letters of recommendation at the time of application.

Please submit materials at jobs.geneseo.edu. Review of completed applications will begin upon receipt.

To be guaranteed consideration, applications must be completed by November 8, 2019. The search committee anticipates conducting initial interviews by telephone/Skype during the week of December 2, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/8/2019
Date Posted: 8/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5979

California State University, Long Beach

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, Labor Politics

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or Ph.D. in appropriate related discipline, with specialization in American Politics. Degree at time of application or official notification of completion of the doctoral degree by August 1, 2020.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, effective teaching.
- Record of, or demonstrated potential for, successful research and publication.
- Experience with, or demonstrated potential for, effective participation in faculty governance.
- Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Evidence of training in one or more of the following specializations in American politics: political behavior, political institutions, campaigns/elections, public opinion, social movements, state and local politics, or interest groups.
- Ability to connect specific areas of interest with broader questions within political science, such as the impact and intersectional dimensions of economic, racial, ethnic, and gender inequality in American politics and democratic governance.
- Evidence of ability to effectively teach one or more current University course offerings in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels (e.g., Introduction to American Government; Racial and Ethnic Politics—U.S.; Urban Politics; The Media and American Politics; How Democratic is the U.S.?; Public Opinion and Political Behavior; Public Policy; Parties, Campaigns, and Elections; California Government in Comparative Perspective; Scope and Methods of Political Science; The United States Congress; The American Presidency; Senior Seminar in Law, Politics, and Policy; and Graduate Seminars in Research Methods in Political Science, American Political Institutions, American Political Behavior, and Policy and Politics).
- Evidence of ability to develop new course offerings in American politics that engage issues of diversity, particularly as related to race and ethnicity.
- Evidence of support for and/or experience related to the University's strong commitment to the academic success of its diverse student body.
- Evidence of ability to engage in research leading to conference participation and publication.
- Evidence of interest in and/or experience with department, college, university and community service.

Duties:

- Teach and develop courses in American politics at the undergraduate and graduate levels.
- Advise and mentor students, including the supervision of Master's students taking comprehensive exams and theses.
- Engage in research leading to conference participation and publications.
- Participate in faculty governance.
- Participate in service to the department, college, university, and community.

CSULB seeks to recruit faculty who enthusiastically support the University's strong commitment to the academic success of all of our students, including students of color, students with disabilities, students who are first generation to college, veterans, students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds, and students of diverse sexual orientations and gender expressions. CSULB seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to serve the People of California, to maintain the excellence of the University, and to offer our students a rich variety of expertise, perspectives, and ways of knowing and learning.

Information on excellent benefits package available to CSULB faculty is located here:

<https://www2.calstate.edu/csu-system/careers/benefits/Documents/cfa-unit-3-benefits-summary.pdf>

How to Apply - Required Documentation:

- An Equity and Diversity Statement about your teaching or other experiences, successes, and challenges in working with a diverse student population (maximum two pages, single-spaced). For further information and guidelines, please visit: <http://www.csulb.edu/EquityDiversityStatement>
- Letter of application addressing the required and preferred qualifications
- CV (including current email address)
- Three recent academic letters of recommendation
- Writing sample
- Teaching evaluations
- Copy of transcript from institution awarding highest degree
- Finalists will also be required to submit the following:
 - 1) A signed SC-1 form,
 - 2) Three current letters of recommendation independently provided by references, and
 - 3) An official transcript (e-transcript preferred, if available)

All required documentation shall be submitted electronically through: <https://AcademicJobsOnline.org>

Position ID:

CSULB-PoliticalScience-ASSTPROFESSOR [#13761, 2579]

Upon request, finalists will be required to submit original, official documents, as noted in the required documentation section.

Requests for information should be addressed to:

Darin DeWitt, Associate Professor
California State University, Long Beach
Department of Political Science
1250 Bellflower Boulevard
Long Beach, CA 90840-4605
(562) 985-4711

darin.dewitt@csulb.edu

Review of applications to begin October 1, 2019

Position opened until filled (or recruitment canceled)

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5974

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Housing, Education Policy, Criminal Justice

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate professor in American politics and public policy, with an emphasis on political institutions and the policy making process, to begin July 1, 2020.

All applicants must have a PhD in the area of Political Science, Public Policy, or a related policy discipline conferred by the time of appointment. Please note that we are searching at both the junior and tenured levels. Successful candidates will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in American political institutions and policy-making. While we encourage applications from scholars studying all areas of Public Policy, GPS has particular interest in Health, Education, Criminal Justice, Transportation, or Housing Policy.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at:

Assistant Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02210>

Associate Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02211>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5965

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor in American Political Institutions

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in American political institutions for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. The department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. The appointment is open with respect to empirical approach. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within the department. Candidates able to assist in graduate training in quantitative methods or formal theory should indicate those competencies. The appointment will begin Fall 2020. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2019. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2019, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position.

Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2020.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at apply.interfolio.com/66541.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5962

William & Mary

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government (American politics / behavior)

The Department of Government at William & Mary seeks applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level in American politics with specialty in political behavior. Appointment will begin August 10, 2020. Within political behavior, we are especially interested in candidates with interests in racial or ethnic politics, or the politics of inclusion. The successful candidate will have excellent preparation; will possess a demonstrated commitment to producing high-level scholarship and outstanding classroom teaching; will help the Department bring new perspectives to its research profile and curricular offerings; and will be interested in mentoring student research or conducting collaborative research with students. Teaching will include a mix of lecture and seminar courses at the undergraduate level.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in political science or a cognate discipline at the time appointment begins (August 10, 2020).

Demonstrated interest or previous experience teaching quantitative research methods (including political polling and survey methods), racial or ethnic politics, or the politics of inclusion is preferred.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, a writing sample, evidence of teaching effectiveness, transcript (unofficial is acceptable for initial application), and a statement describing previous professional experiences or future plans (or both) that demonstrate a commitment to diversity and inclusion. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions for how to submit a letter of reference. For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, September 16, 2019. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed.

Government is one of the largest majors on campus. Our faculty receive support from various research centers on campus, and we contribute to interdisciplinary programs such as Africana Studies, Data Science, Environmental Science and Policy, Gender Sexuality and Women's Studies, Global Studies, International Relations, Public Health, and Public Policy. William & Mary is convenient to Richmond (the state capital) and Washington, DC.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 9/16/2019
Date Posted: 8/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5960

Yale University

Rank: Assistant Professor, American Politics

Specializations: Political Behavior, Race & Ethnic Politics, Political Psychology

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in American Politics. We are interested in candidates with expertise in legislatures, institutions, race and politics, political behavior, and political psychology.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66085>

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 8/6/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5903

University of Illinois, Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor-Political Science-American Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (LAS) at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) invites applications for the position of tenure track Assistant Professor in political science, with specialization in any aspect of American politics, beginning in the 2020-2021 academic year, subject to budgetary approval. The department has a variety of needs in American politics, especially in institutions. The successful candidate will complement and augment the current faculty's substantive expertise.

Assistant professors are expected to teach two (2) courses per semester at the undergraduate and/or graduate level, as assigned by the department head. They are also expected to maintain a consistent record of high-quality academic research and publication, provide service to the department and the profession, and contribute to the intellectual life of the department.

Candidates should have a PhD in Political Science or a related discipline in hand (or be very near completion), and to provide evidence of the ability to maintain a research agenda and a commitment to excellence in teaching.

To apply, complete an on-line application, including the names and email addresses for three or more references, and upload full curriculum vitae, two writing samples totaling no more than 100 pages, and a cover letter that summarizes candidate's research and teaching qualifications at <https://jobs.uic.edu/job-board>. Questions about the position can be directed to Prof. Christopher Mooney, at cmoon1@uic.edu, the chair of the search committee. The Search Committee will begin reviewing applications on October 11, 2019. For fullest consideration, applications should be completed by that date. The position will remain open until filled.

UIC is a Carnegie Doctoral/Research I institution (Highest Research Activity), located in the heart of the City of Chicago and one of the nation's largest metropolitan areas. It is a comprehensive public university with a diverse student body of more than 30,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students. UIC is federally recognized by the US Department of Education as a Minority Serving Institution (MSI) through its status as a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution (AANAPISI).

The University of Illinois at Chicago is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer, dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. We strongly encourage applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities, and covered veterans. The University of Illinois may conduct background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer. Background checks will be performed in compliance with the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: $80,000 - $89,999

eJobs ID: 5899

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Economic, Racial/Ethnic, and/or Gender Inequality

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position – Advertisement
Department of Political Science at The University of Tennessee

Economic Racial/Ethnic and/or Gender Inequality

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in economic, racial/ethnic, and/or gender inequality, to begin Fall 2020. The position is open with regard to field in Political Science (or related discipline) and methodological approach. We welcome applications from scholars across the discipline who analyze how political actors, processes, institutions, outcomes or individuals are racialized, classed, and/or gendered and/or who take intersectional approaches to understanding these questions. We are particularly interested in applicants with substantive research agendas that grapple with challenging issues of marginalization and exclusion and who exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically motivated research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci-utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66902>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/29/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5864

North Central College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science
Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at North Central College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in political science with emphasis in public law, judicial politics, law and society, or comparative law to begin Fall 2020. Ph.D. must be in hand by August 1, 2020. Our department is committed to preparing students to contribute meaningfully to a democracy, while at the same time understanding the nuance of political equality and civic participation. We value diversity and are committed to social justice, equity, and inclusiveness. Experience working with historically marginalized and underserved communities will be weighed in a candidate's favor.

Applicants should have teaching experience and show potential for excellence in undergraduate teaching and scholarship. In addition to teaching courses in law (Introduction to Law, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties), a candidate should be prepared to teach the introductory course in American government and contribute to the department's methodology courses. The department expects that the successful candidate will also develop courses in their areas of expertise. There will be additional opportunities for the successful candidate to contribute to North Central's tradition of interdisciplinary learning.

Founded in 1861, North Central College is a selective, comprehensive liberal arts institution of about 3000 students, located 28 miles west of Chicago in Naperville. The College is in a period of growth with the addition of a $60 million Science Center opened in March 2017. The college is within walking distance of the Naperville Metra station and is next to downtown Naperville. The Naperville area is home to many excellent school districts and Naperville, IL has been ranked as one of the best places to live by Money magazine. For more information, please visit: <http://www.noctrl.edu>.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of scholarly interest, evidence of teaching effectiveness and three letters of recommendation in an electronic format.

To apply on line copy and paste link below into browser: <https://northcentralcollege.peopleadmin.com/postings/6584>

For further information, please email Dr. William Muck, Chair of Political Science, at wjmuck@noctrl.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/26/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5857

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics
Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Politics with expertise in American public law. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law. This candidate will serve as the institution's pre-law faculty advisor and previous experience with applied legal practice/education is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. or J.D. by the time of appointment, although a Ph.D. is preferred. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by September 15, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65555>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5787

Centre College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Quantitative Methods

Centre College invites applications for a Two-Year Visiting Assistant Professor in Politics with expertise in American and comparative political institutions. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college.

Candidates may specialize in either American or comparative politics as their primary field but must have a strong secondary specialization in the other. Ideal candidates should be able to teach courses on U.S. political institutions (Congress, Presidency, state and local politics, e.g.) as well as equivalent global political institutions. This candidate must also be able to teach courses on quantitative data analysis and contribute to the major's political research curricular track. Previous work with applied politics (campaigns, data analytics, journalism, e.g.) and/or a research focus on the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, or sexuality and political institutions is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65567>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5788

University of Redlands

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Redlands welcomes applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics with a focus on Race and Ethnic Politics and Policy. The department encourages applicants from historically under-represented groups and those interested in making contributions to the University's Public Policy and other interdisciplinary programs. Excellence in teaching and dedication to mentoring our diverse undergraduate student population are essential qualifications for this position, and applicants are required to submit evidence of their strengths and experience in these areas.

The standard six-course load for the position will be distributed across fall and spring semesters and May Term according to the candidate's interests and departmental needs. Primary teaching responsibilities for our undergraduate program include Introduction to American Politics, and courses in race and ethnic politics. The ability to teach Introduction to Public Policy is preferred. Candidates may also offer courses that support various interdisciplinary programs at the university. We welcome teacher-scholars interested in policy areas such as welfare, housing, civil rights, immigration, and urban and regional policy.

The University of Redlands is committed to increasing the diversity of the university community and the curriculum. Candidates are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in working with students who have diverse cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds to accomplish curricular goals.

The University of Redlands is a private, comprehensive liberal arts institution located 60 miles east of Los Angeles in a suburban town of 70,000. The campus is surrounded by orange groves and sits at the base of the San Bernardino Mountains, approximately 60 miles from the coast and 40 miles west of Palm Springs. Information about the University and its mission and facilities is available at www.redlands.edu.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Applications received by October 15 are assured consideration, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

POSITION CRITERIA: A Ph.D. in Political Science by September 2020 is preferred. Evidence of success at college teaching and an ability to work in a collaborative, team-based environment are preferred.

INQUIRIES: Candidates may contact the search committee chair, Renée Van Vechten, at renee_vanvechten@redlands.edu with additional questions or concerns. Members of the department will be available to meet with candidates at the 2019 annual meeting of the American Political Science Association.

TO APPLY: Please submit the following materials using the Academic Jobs Online website at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo>: a cover letter, current CV, evidence of teaching and research excellence, and three letters of reference.

In compliance with The Americans with Disability Act, if selected for the interview process and accommodations are needed, please call (909) 748-8040.

SUBMISSION OF A RESUME OR APPLICATION INDICATES AGREEMENT THAT THE UNIVERSITY MAY VERIFY ANY AND ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED THEREIN. MEMBERS OF UNDERREPRESENTED GROUPS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY. AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5786

University of Georgia

Rank: Philip H. Alston, Jr. Distinguished Chair

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for the Philip H. Alston Jr. Distinguished Chair in any substantive area of American politics, methodology, or theory. The start date is slated for August 2020.

Duties include teaching and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate student levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets. Salary is appropriate for an esteemed chaired position. The appointment also includes a substantial endowment for research and development.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or allied field is required. A distinguished record of academic scholarship and of grant-supported research and a standing in political science and the social sciences commensurate with a distinguished university professorship are expected. Leadership roles in the discipline, whether within a university or in the discipline broadly construed, are preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and a list of the names of at least five references. References will only be contacted if a candidate reaches the short list. . Materials should be submitted to the UGA job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/99240> .

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities, and is conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia (UGA), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<http://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,600 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 36,000 students, including over 27,500 undergraduates and over 8,500 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 17 schools and colleges as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5739

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (American Politics)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics beginning in the fall semester of 2020. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. We seek candidates whose scholarly and teaching interests include race and ethnic politics in the U.S. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in American politics, a course in race and ethnic politics, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other American politics courses in the candidate's areas of specialization.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in American politics, but ABD candidates will also be considered with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be completed before the beginning of the second year.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to: Professor Scott Meinke at smeinke@bucknell.edu. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2019.

Candidates who wish to meet for an optional preliminary interview at APSA should email a CV to smeinke@bucknell.edu by August 14 and indicate their expected availability during the conference.

About Bucknell

Founded in 1846 and located along the banks of the Susquehanna River in historic Lewisburg, Pa., Bucknell University is an undergraduate-focused institution that stands uniquely at the intersection of top-ranked liberal arts, engineering and management programs. Our students choose from more than 50 majors and 60 minors in the arts, engineering, humanities, management, and natural and social sciences, as well as extensive global study, service-learning and research opportunities. Bucknell's 3,600 undergraduate and 100 graduate students enjoy a low 9:1 student-faculty ratio and exceptional opportunities to collaborate with faculty mentors.

Bucknell's beautiful 450-acre campus includes first-rate facilities and is home to more than 90 percent of its students. Residential life is vibrant with about 150 student-run organizations, 27 NCAA Division I athletic teams, a robust arts culture, and a strong student commitment to community and global service work.

Bucknell is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, marital status, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from historically underrepresented groups to apply.

The Community

Located in central Pennsylvania, Lewisburg features a variety of restaurants, beautiful Victorian homes, the restored art deco Campus Theatre (owned by the University), charming shops and boutiques, and the Barnes and Noble at Bucknell University Bookstore. About 33,000 residents live in the region.

The city of Williamsport is about a 30-minute drive from campus, and Penn State University's main campus is about an hour away, as is Harrisburg, Pennsylvania's state capital. Bucknell is about three hours from New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

The cost of living here is low compared to that of major U.S. cities and suburbs. Bucknell's surroundings yield fresh produce, cultural activities and events, and many opportunities for outdoor activity on the Susquehanna River and in the nearby state parks and forests. The Lewisburg Area School District receives excellent reviews for its schools at all grade levels. Lewisburg Area High School is consistently ranked among the top 50 high schools in Pennsylvania for SAT scores and statewide exams.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5740

American University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Position Announcement

Assistant/Associate Professor
Department of Government
School of Public Affairs
American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position as the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in American Politics beginning August 1, 2020. Depending on qualifications, the appointee to this position may be recommended for tenure at the time of hiring. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completed by August 2020. Successful candidates will have strong methodological skills. The department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests extend beyond American politics to comparative politics or methodology and who will further the department's goals of producing high impact research, providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching, and contributing to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/64438>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and statement of research interests. Applicants at the rank of Assistant Professor should include three letters of recommendation and Associate Professor faculty candidates should include a list of three references. Please email govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5735

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, with a particular focus on the African-American political experience, beginning July 1, 2020. Amherst College is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff. Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed with respect to its student body. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 10 percent of our students are international students. We expect the successful candidate to excel at teaching and mentoring students who are diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates' scholarship should examine racial politics in the U.S. and can focus on social movements, civil society, elections, civil rights, voter suppression, religion, the racial policies and constituencies of political parties, the relationship between racial and ethnic identity, and racial stratification in urban and local politics.

We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialties and in directing undergraduate research projects. The successful candidate must have a Ph. D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates should submit electronically to <https://apply.interfolio.com/64697> a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter.) Review of applications will begin on Monday, October 7, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5710

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@ rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

The Institute for the American Constitutional Heritage (IACH) at the University of Oklahoma (OU) seeks an established and nationally recognized scholar to hold the newly established Sanders Family Chair in Law and Liberty. The position is at the associate or full professor level and will be jointly appointed in the Department of Classics & Letters and the successful candidate's home disciplinary department or College, e.g., History or Political Science (both in the College of Arts and Sciences), or the College of Law.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core mission of the IACH, a vibrant interdisciplinary center for the study of American constitutionalism housed in Classics & Letters. The IACH has four faculty lines and over 30 affiliated faculty across the university who offer courses to over 100 undergraduates majoring or minoring in Constitutional Studies.

We seek a candidate with a teaching and research profile that would include, but not be limited to, the ancient roots of law, liberty, and self-governance; the development of republican thought and ideas of liberty and the rule of law in the modern world; and the historical and ideological background of the American founding.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. (or a J.D. for exceptional candidates with established records of scholarly excellence) and a substantial scholarly record in a discipline related to the core mission of the IACH. The successful candidate should also have an established commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students, as well as experience in graduate teaching and mentoring, or clear potential for excellence in this area. The teaching load will be three courses a year (2-1).

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should initially submit a letter of interest, a current C.V., and three letters of reference to. Applicants should go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/59901>.

to submit their application. The position will begin in August 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5469

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

Princeton University

Rank: Comparative Politics Postdoctoral Researchers at the Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice

The Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice at Princeton University, under the auspices of the Department of Politics and in collaboration with the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, invites applications for postdoctoral or more senior research positions for the 2020-21 year. Renewal is contingent on satisfactory performance. The aim of the program is to promote a group of promising scholars in the broad area of comparative politics, with a special but not exclusive focus on empirical democratic theory and comparative institutions.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have or expect to have a Ph.D. in the fields of political science, history, political sociology, and economics. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (anticipated to be September 1, 2020 through August 31, 2021).

For full consideration, apply by January 16, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14261> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members.

Successful applicants will be provided a competitive salary, standard benefits, and an annual allowance to support conference and career development travel.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in March 2020.

For more information about the Comparative Politics Postdoctoral Program at the Mamdouha S. Bobst Center for Peace and Justice, please contact Naseem L. Brady, Program Manager at nlbrady@Princeton.EDU.

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/16/2020
Date Posted: 11/25/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7527

Occidental College

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Politics Department at Occidental College invites applications for a non-tenure track appointment to teach one section of Politics 120: Introduction to Comparative Politics. A Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but the department will also consider candidates who are ADB.

To apply please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, syllabus for introduction to comparative politics and/or description of structure and content of such a course, and teaching evaluations to: Thalia González, Chair, Politics Department at rcorona@oxy.edu. Review of materials will begin immediately with a start date of January 21, 2020. For information on the academic calendar please visit: <http://oxy.smartcatalogiq.com/2019-2020/Catalog/Academic-Calendar>.

The course meeting time is Tuesdays and Thursdays 10:05am - 11:30am. In addition to the course meeting time, the course instructor is required to hold 1.5 hours of office hours in addition the course meeting time, which can be scheduled for before or after the course itself. An office space will be provided for the course instructor. Compensation for the course is $8000.

Start Date: Spring 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/22/2019
Salary: Below $20,000
eJobs ID: 7521

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in International Relations and Politics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, International Security, Research Methods, and International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, Position ID:56242 <http://apply.interfolio.com/71476>

Please email cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 2/7/2020
Date Posted: 11/21/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7518

Valdosta State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Valdosta State University's Department of Political Science in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences seeks applicants for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor. We seek applicants who would be an outstanding teacher, successful researcher, and an active contributor to the department, college, and university. All Valdosta State University faculty share the responsibility of teaching courses at multiple levels as needed in their respective disciplines. The successful candidate will be responsible for teaching a 4/4 load during the academic year (Fall and Spring semesters), conducting scholarship, and providing service to the department, college, and university.

Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Administration at time of appointment; a demonstrated commitment to excellence in teaching and learning, as well as scholarship; and a commitment to diversity and inclusion. Preference will be given to a comparative political scientist whose primary regional specialization is African politics—though the sub-region preference is open (i.e., sub-Saharan Africa, Middle East-North Africa, Eastern Africa, etc.). A secondary preference is for a Middle Eastern specialist or an Asian comparative political scientist with training in quantitative methodology. Finally, successful candidates will also have backgrounds in Public Administration and/or Public Policy so that they can contribute to our MPA and DPA programs.

The Department of Political Science, housed in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, is home to dynamic educators, accomplished researchers, and professionally engaged faculty. The department offers high-quality undergraduate programs in Political Science, Organizational Leadership, and Legal Studies as well as M.A. and D.P.A. programs in Public Administration. The Political Science program offers courses on political behavior, comparative politics, American government, constitutional law, global affairs, foreign policy, and more.

Valdosta State University, founded in 1906 and elevated to university status in 1993, is a regional comprehensive university located on a gorgeous 168-acre campus of palm trees, vast green lawns, Spanish mission style architecture and an award-winning design. The university serves a student enrollment of approximately 11,200 from all states within the US and hosts over 300 international students from more than 76 countries. Located in the city of Valdosta, the city is a very family-friendly area with new housing developments, modest living costs, excellent public and private schools, a vibrant music and arts scene, and a 170-acre theme park, Wild Adventures. The city is served by the Valdosta Regional Airport and is home to Moody Air Force Base. The city is located just north of the Florida state line on Interstate 75 and is within a two-hour drive of Jacksonville and Tallahassee, Florida and a three-hour drive of Atlanta, Georgia. For more information visit <http://www.valdosta.edu> and for more information about the community visit <http://www.valdostachamber.com>.

Online application is required and should be submitted at <https://valdosta.peopleadmin.com/postings/19093> by January 10, 2020. For more information, contact Dr. Bernard Tamas, Search Chair, via email bitamas@valdosta.edu or phone 229-333-5771.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7516

Virginia Tech

Rank: Assistant Professor / Comparative Politics/Middle East/North Africa

Comparative Politics/Middle East/North Africa
Department of Political Science
College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences
Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor. This position will have a focus on Middle Eastern/North African Comparative Politics and will begin August 10, 2020. Teaching requirements for this position will be four courses a year.

The Department is particularly interested in comparativists with expertise in the Arab World, Israel/Palestine and/or Iran who are broadly trained in a range of social science methodologies, with specializations in the areas of political institutions and regimes, migration, social movements, security broadly defined, to include energy and the environment. They should be prepared to offer a variety of courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. There will be occasional travel to attend national conferences and meetings. Candidates from diverse backgrounds are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate will be required to have a criminal background check.

Required qualifications: A Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field is required by the time of appointment. Candidates must have a research focus that involves comparative political analysis in the MENA region and demonstrated excellence in research. They also must have evidence of teaching effectiveness to meet the Department's key teaching needs in its B.A. and M.A. programs.

Desired qualifications: Preference will be given to candidates who are comfortable with different methodological and theoretical approaches to the study of comparative politics, with experience in field work and appropriate language skills. The candidate should be able to work with undergraduate and graduate students at the master's and doctoral levels in political science and international studies along with non-majors in core curricular courses. Prior teaching experience at the undergraduate and graduate levels is helpful.

The Carnegie Foundation classifies Virginia Tech as a university with "very high research activity," and the Political Science Department also has a strong record of excellence in teaching. Members of the Department work closely with faculty in transdisciplinary programs, including the Alliance for Social, Political, Ethical, and Cultural Thought (ASPECT), the School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA), Women's and Gender Studies, Africana Studies, and the Department of Science, Technology, and Society.

Interested persons must apply at www.jobs.vt.edu, Job No. 511605, where they will submit a cover letter, current curriculum vitae, recent writing samples, and teaching evaluations, along with contact information for no more than four academic references. Screening of applications will begin January 21, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. All inquiries can be sent to: Dr. Laura Zanotti, lzanotti@vt.edu, or Comparative Politics/Middle East/North Africa Search Committee, Department of Political Science, 531 Major Williams Hall (0130), Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA 24061. Individuals with additional questions or with disabilities desiring accommodations in the application process should contact the search committee chair. For further information on the department, see www.psci.vt.edu

Virginia Tech does not discriminate against employees, students, or applicants on the basis of age, color, disability, sex (including pregnancy), gender, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status, or otherwise discriminate against employees or applicants who inquire about, discuss, or disclose their compensation or the compensation of other employees or applicants, or any other basis protected by law. For inquiries regarding non-discrimination policies, contact the Office of Equity and Access at 540-231-2010 or Virginia Tech, North End Center, Suite 2300 (0318), 300 Turner St. NW, Blacksburg, VA 24061.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7513

Waseda University

Rank: Tenured Position in Russian Studies and Russian as a Foreign Language

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics at Waseda University invites applications for the tenured position of Professor or Associate Professor in Russian Studies and Russian as a Foreign Language. Located in central Tokyo, we are part of a leading research university in Japan.

1. Department and institution: Faculty of Political Science and Economics (FPSE), Waseda University

2. Field: Russian Studies and Russian as a Foreign Language

3. Courses to teach:

Russian and CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning) courses in Russian for undergraduate programs; courses in Russian Studies for postgraduate programs; related courses

4. Qualifications and requirements:

1) Applicants hold or will have completed (by the time of appointment) a doctoral degree.

2) Applicants should be able to teach Russian and CLIL courses in Russian, to coordinate the curriculum of Russian as a Foreign Language, and to contribute to the foreign language education system of the Faculty by collaborating with other faculty members who teach languages.

3) Applicants should be able to teach Russian Studies and supervise students at either the Graduate School of Political Science or the Graduate School of Economics.

4) Applicants should be able to teach methodology courses at either the Graduate School of Political Science or the Graduate School of Economics.

5) Applicants should be able to teach their courses in English.

6) It is desirable for applicants to be able to communicate in Japanese and to have taught Russian as a Foreign Language at a higher education institution.

5. Number of positions available: One

6. Title: Professor (tenured) or Associate Professor (tenured)

The rank will be determined by the successful candidate's experience in teaching, his or her academic and research accomplishments, and the Committee's evaluation of the candidate's performance throughout the screening process. The successful candidate will be notified of the title and the salary by the Dean at the final stage of the screening process.

7. Salary and working conditions:

Salary and allowances:

Salary and allowances will be paid in accordance with the regulations of the University.

Working days and hours:

Scheduled working days and working hours (starting/finishing times; rest periods) are based on the regulations of the University. The discretionary labor system for professional work will be applied to research work. The nature of academic research being taken into account, working hours and the ways in which to proceed shall be at the discretion of each faculty member.

Holidays:

Holidays are Saturdays, Sundays, New Year's holidays, legally recognized public holidays, and compensatory holidays appointed by the University for classes held on some public holidays and on the anniversary of the University's founding. Holidays fixed in advance by the University as working days will be excluded from compensation. When, under exceptional circumstances, teaching and other duties in FPSE are scheduled for holidays, Faculty employees are entitled to compensatory holidays.

Leave:

Leave is determined by the Labor Standards Act and related laws. In addition, some days are designated by the University as leave days.

Social insurance:

Employees shall join schemes for an employee pension, health insurance, labor insurance, and employment insurance.

Research funding:

Individual research allowance: 210,000 yen per annum

Academic conference travel subsidy: 90,000 yen per annum

Academic conference travel subsidy (overseas): 110,000 yen per annum

Various competitive research grants/funds are available at the University.

8. Starting date:

September 1, 2020, or April 1, 2021 (alternatively, an agreed-upon later date)

9. Application:

Applications must be submitted via the following website:

https://www.wasedapse.jp/en/fpse1/eng_input.php

In the "Application Category" on the screen, choose "Russian Studies/Russian." In "References," provide the contact information (name, affiliation, title, email address) of two persons from whom FPSE may request, at some stage of the screening, letters of recommendation.

Upload the following documents as PDF files:

1) Cover letter (please download the form from the website; it should be filled out in English or Japanese) to "(1) Application form/Cover letter"

2) Curriculum vitae (in any format; the Waseda template is downloadable from the website; it should be filled out in English or Japanese) to "(2) Curriculum vitae"

[Note: The CV should include a list of academic/professional accomplishments, with peer-reviewed books/articles clearly marked.]

3) Statement of research and teaching interests (in any format) to "(3) Additional application material 1"

The statement should include the following:

(3-A) a summary of three major academic works [for each piece, approx. 300 words in Russian and approx. 300 words in English]

(3-B) a statement concerning current and future research plans [approx. 500 words in Russian and approx. 500 words in English]

(3-C) a statement concerning the teaching of CLIL courses in Russian [approx. 500 words in Russian and approx. 500 words in English]

4) Three major academic works to “(4) Additional application material 2,” “(5) Additional application material 3,” and “(6) Additional application material 4”

[Note: Send any book (not to be returned to the applicant) directly to: Attn: Application for Faculty Position in Russian Studies/Russian, Faculty of Political Science and Economics, Waseda University 1-6-1 Nishi Waseda, Shinjuku, Tokyo 169-8050 Japan]

Documents in their original form, prescribed forms, and instructions for applicants are available at the following address: <https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2019/11/17/11183/>

10. Application deadline: 1:00 p.m. (JST) on Friday, January 10, 2020

11. Screening:

There will be three stages in the recruitment process: 1) shortlisting; 2) the Committee’s interview with each shortlisted candidate; and 3) the Dean’s interview with the successful candidate. The outcome of the shortlisting process will be notified to all applicants by the end of February 2020. The date of the interviews with shortlisted candidates will be announced in due course. Each interviewee will also be asked to give a condensed version of a course lecture, along with a presentation on any part of his or her research. Please note that shortlisted candidates will be asked to send a copy of the doctoral degree certificate (or equivalent document) to FPSE prior to the date of the interview.

Inquiries: pse-hr-russian-studies@list.waseda.jp

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7505

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship - Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (Penn)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Immigration Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics

The Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (CSERI) invites applications, starting November 4, 2019 for a one-year postdoctoral research fellowship in the social sciences.

CSERI is a center initiative supported by the University of Pennsylvania and the School of Arts and Sciences. In addition to this postdoctoral fellowship, CSERI will host visiting scholars and graduate students, organize workshops initiated by the Center’s Faculty Advisory Council, and support graduate and undergraduate student social science research at Penn.

The 2020-2021 CSERI Postdoctoral Research Fellow will help organize and participate in faculty/graduate student workshops, aid in the evaluation of the progress of graduate students and undergraduates receiving research grants, and can collaborate with CSERI faculty affiliates on research projects. However, the Fellow will largely have the opportunity to pursue their own research and participate more generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities, but the post-doc is expected to be in residence.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,500 in research support, with the opportunity to apply for additional funding. Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the social sciences in the last two years (not earlier than 2017), or who expect to complete their degree by July 2020.

Skills with statistical analysis, qualitative software, GIS, experimental and other approaches are desirable, but not necessary.

Please submit all required materials through Interfolio at this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71010>

To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received through Interfolio by December 20, 2019.

Review of applications will begin immediately after the submission deadline, and final notifications are expected to go out by February 21, 2020. The starting date for this one-year Postdoctoral Research Fellow appointment is negotiable but should be effective no later than August 15, 2020.

<https://web.sas.upenn.edu/cseri/opportunities/post-doctoral-fellowship/>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 11/17/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7487

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist, Arab Barometer

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Politics seeks a Senior Research Specialist to assist with data collection, management, and analysis for the Arab Barometer. The Arab Barometer is a nonpartisan research network that provides insight into the social, political, and economic attitudes and values of ordinary citizens across the Arab World. Its objective is to disseminate and apply survey findings in order to contribute to political reform and to strengthen institutional capacity for public opinion research.

The Research Data Specialist works in close collaboration with the Arab Barometer team including the project director, research associates, communication associate, graduate and undergraduate students, and research colleagues in the U.S. and the Middle East and North Africa.

This position will be based in Washington, D.C. and is a 2-year term position with the possibility of renewal based on satisfactory performance and grant funding.

Responsibilities

The Research Data Specialist assists with the maintenance and development of scripts, including R (dplyr,ggplot), Python (pandas, matplotlib), Java, Matlab, and Stata, related to collecting and processing Arab Barometer data. During the data collection phase, this includes programming the questionnaire, validating the programming, quality control checks on data, data cleaning, and management of Arab Barometer survey data. The position also conducts data analysis for research projects including modeling, diagnostics, and graphic visualization for reports, articles and other publications.

Qualifications

Essential Qualifications

- Creative problem-solving skills
- Strong analytical and research skills
- Strong programming skills
- Background in quantitative analysis
- Knowledge of Stata, R, or other statistical software is required
- Experience with Python(pandas, matplotlib), Java, Matlab strongly preferred
- Strong verbal and written communications skills
- Demonstrated attention to detail
- Ability to communicate research results clearly and concisely
- Ability to meet tight deadlines across multiple survey projects while ensuring accuracy of results
- Proven experience in undertaking research involving survey data analysis, including using Stata, R, and other software
- Familiarity and experience with regression and MLE techniques, including advanced techniques such as multi-level modeling

Preferred Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in social sciences, statistics, or computer programming with Master's degree preferred
- Experience with conducting international survey research
- Arabic language skills highly desirable
- Knowledge and interest in the Middle East and North Africa

Apply online at <https://hr.princeton.edu/careers/search-opportunities> (requisition 2019-11156).

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7482

The New School

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs and Global Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs (SGPIA) and the Global Studies Program of The New School invite applications for a renewable-term (non-tenure track) faculty position as Assistant Professor of International Affairs and Global Studies beginning on July 1, 2020.

We are seeking a scholar from any of the disciplines in the social sciences with an active agenda of research and publication relevant to the two programs, and a record of excellent teaching. We encourage applications from candidates whose research crosses disciplines and works with heterodox/non-mainstream theoretical frameworks (such as feminist, post-colonial/decolonial, non-Western, or indigenous approaches, among others). We are interested in candidates who pursue innovative research agendas that engage with urgent contemporary challenges, and who explore creative pedagogies. A particular research focus is not required. However, there are fields that would be of particular interest, including: environmental studies, science and technology studies, legal studies and indigenous studies. Research areas of interest include global justice, sustainability, and digital technologies. A focus on the Global South would be preferred, particularly China and the Middle East region.

The teaching load is five graduate/undergraduate courses per year or its equivalent, plus advising students and supervising theses in both programs. The successful candidate should also demonstrate an interest and aptitude for curriculum development and rotational faculty leadership roles.

The position would be a joint appointment to SGPIA that offers graduate degrees and the Global Studies program that serves undergraduates. The position is homed in SGPIA in the Schools of Public Engagement but will involve participating in and contributing to teaching, advising and service in both faculties. Both are interdisciplinary programs that include faculty with diverse disciplinary backgrounds in the social sciences and the humanities. Both programs bridge critical theory and practical training and investigate complex global processes and issues. The approach is distinctive in the New School tradition: reflective, iconoclastic, and socially engaged. Information about The New School and the Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs can be found at: <https://www.newschool.edu/public-engagement/ma-ms-international-affairs/> and Global Studies at: <https://www.newschool.edu/lang/global-studies/>.

The New School is committed to actively recruiting from a diverse pool of applicants. We encourage candidates from around the world and from groups underrepresented in US higher education to apply. The New School does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, color, creed, sex or gender (including gender identity and expression), pregnancy, sexual orientation, religion, religious practices, mental or physical disability, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, veteran status, marital or partnership status, or any other legally protected status

The New School, a private university in New York City, serves undergraduate and graduate students across a range of fields with a commitment to bringing social science research and practices in design to studying issues of our time and challenging students to become engaged global citizens dedicated to contributing to the public good.

Qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in one of the social sciences (including but not limited to political science, economics, anthropology, sociology, and geography),
- teaching experience at the university level,
- capacity to work well with people from diverse cultural backgrounds and levels of professional experience.

To Apply:

For full consideration, please submit applications by December 1st although applications will be considered until the position is filled. Using The New School's human resources website, <http://careers.newschool.edu> applicants must submit:

1. a cover letter summarizing their qualifications and teaching experience;

2. a curriculum vitae;
3. a statement of teaching philosophy and practice relevant to this position;
4. two academic writing samples;
5. teaching evaluations;
6. the names of three references.

For information on the University benefits package including health and retirement plans, please visit <http://www.newschool.edu/human-resources/benefits/>

<https://careers.newschool.edu/postings/18340>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7477

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Lightning Scholar

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Immigration Policy, Defense

PERRY WORLD HOUSE LIGHTNING SCHOLARS SABBATICAL RESIDENCY PROGRAM:
CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Global Innovation Program at the University of Pennsylvania's Perry World House invites applications for its 2020-2021 Lightning Scholars Program. This program brings untenured, but tenure-track, faculty at either the assistant or associate level from around the world to Philadelphia for a semester or year of writing, fellowship, and bridging the gap between academia and the policy world.

Since launching in 2016, Perry World House has catalyzed interdisciplinary and policy-relevant research by scholars at Penn and around the globe and convened conversations in Philadelphia on the most pressing global challenges. With fellowship and scholars programs, Perry World House has connected Penn's students and faculty with the world's leading academics and policy makers, infusing our research, teaching and, engagement with the ideas, wisdom and experience of those shaping world events.

This fellowship program allows untenured faculty members at leading research universities around the world to join Perry World House and the Penn community for a semester or full academic year in residence in Philadelphia to produce a major research project or book. While the fellowship program is for faculty working on global affairs topics, preference will be given to faculty working on subjects broadly related to our two research themes, The Future of the Global Order: Technology, Power and Governance and Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Demography. We are also especially interested in applications from faculty working at the intersection of our research themes and climate change policy. More information on our research themes can be found here: <https://global.upenn.edu/perryworldhouse/research>.

The ideal candidates for this new program will be looking for an in-residence fellowship away from their home institution that will provide the space and support to write, but also the opportunity to collaborate with an interdisciplinary and vibrant community of global affairs scholars and practitioners. Perry World House is especially interested in faculty whose work connects to important global policy conversations and who will want to engage in dialogue with some of the many policymakers from around the world who visit Perry World House. The program's compensation is significant and negotiated on a case-by-case basis. The program is intended to allow the selected Lightning

Scholar to take a comfortable leave from their home institution often by supporting the difference between a one semester sabbatical provided by the home institution and a full year leave. Although final compensation will depend on the circumstances of each applicant, the program will provide at least $50,000 as well as relevant fees and health insurance, if needed. The fellowship will also include $5,000 in research support, as well as the opportunity to help shape workshops and colloquia at Perry World House.

Applications, which should be submitted via Interfolio, are welcome from scholars who have either a Ph.D. or equivalent degrees (including a J.D.), are standing faculty members at a college or university, and are on the tenure track but still untenured. Applications for the 2020-2021 academic years will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting January 13, 2020. Applicants must include a cover-letter, three-page proposal, CV, a letter of support from their home department/institution, and a confidential letter of recommendation. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of support should be received by that date. To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71105>

General Information

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email visitingfellowship@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7478

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship - Borders and Boundaries

Specializations: Defense, Immigration Policy, Foreign Policy

PERRY WORLD HOUSE POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT
BORDERS & BOUNDARIES IN WORLD POLITICS, AY 2020-2021

The Project on Borders and Boundaries in World Politics is looking to fill two postdoctoral fellow positions. Both are one-year and renewable. Partially supported by the National Science Foundation, the Project is concerned with boundaries between organized human communities, broadly understood. International borders, border regions and border crossings have multiple significance as designations of state authority, security buffers, expressions of social meaning and opportunities for economic integration. Border regions and activities speak to national and local encounters with neighbors and the rest of the world. This project is concerned with how humans demarcate the space between “us” and “them.” It contextualizes border architecture, infrastructure and institutions as expressions of various social, political and economic anxieties associated with globalization. This research team will concern itself with a broad range of questions relating to “bordering” in world politics. The project team is run by Professor Beth Simmons, Andrea Mitchell University Professor in Law, Political Science, and Business Ethics, as well as Assistant Professor Michael Kenwick (Rutgers University).

Research Postdoctoral Fellowship: The postdoctoral fellow will split their time between their own research and Borders & Boundaries project research. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to work 25% of their time on project research. Applicants with an interest in territorial politics; migration and movement across borders; development in and across border regions; border crossing regimes, architectures and institutions; transnational migration; transnational crime, human trafficking and law enforcement across borders; and related issues are welcome to apply. Skills in empirical spatial analysis, GIS technologies, mapping technologies, experimental analyses, computerized textual and imaging analyses, and similar technologies are highly desirable, as are computer programming skills and experience using large computer databases and statistical software.

Research and Program Management Postdoctoral Fellowship: The post-doctoral fellow will work with and help manage the Borders & Boundaries research team. Since the successful candidate will have primary responsibility for managing team effort and output, strong data management and organizational skills are essential. Skills in computational methods, GIS and spatial data analytics, textual and imaging analysis, network analysis, and/or experimental methods are particularly valued, as is experience working within a research lab. We welcome candidates pursuing research careers inside or outside academia. Substantive interest in territorial politics; migration; development in and across border regions; border crossing regimes; transnational crime, law enforcement across borders and related issues is valued. The fellow is expected to actively work on lab projects and coordinate effort among team members.

Requirements and Application Information

There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to give a presentation during the academic year in the Perry World House Seminar Series, engage with Perry World House’s Undergraduate Student Fellows, and attend regularly scheduled seminars. Perry World House will also introduce each postdoctoral fellow to related faculty and leaders of centers and institutes at the University of Pennsylvania. Postdocs will be housed with the Global Innovation Program in Perry World House.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than June 2018), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting Monday, January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

To apply, please go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/71226>. Applicants will be asked to complete a short form as well as upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students), and contact information for a letter writer, who will be asked to submit a confidential letter of recommendation through Interfolio.

General Information

Upon provision of and contingent upon proof of conferral of the PhD degree, all postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn’s Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email postdoc@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7480

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship - Global Innovation Program

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Defense, Immigration Policy

PERRY WORLD HOUSE POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

The Global Innovation Program at the University of Pennsylvania’s Perry World House invites applications for its postdoctoral fellowship program during the 2020-2021 academic year. The Global Innovation Program is the research arm of Perry World House, the University of Pennsylvania’s new university-wide hub for global engagement and interdisciplinary international policy research. Perry World House connects Penn to the international policy world through research, student engagement, and public programming, bringing the university’s intellectual resources to bear on the urgent global challenges of the 21st century.

We hope to bring several postdoctoral fellows to campus for the 2020-2021 academic year. We are seeking excellent scholars who study global affairs and have interest in interdisciplinary outreach and policy relevance. We are particularly interested in applicants in the following areas:

- The Future of the Global Order: Power, Technology, and Governance
- Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Demography

The Future of the Global Order

Changes in global economic, military, and technological circumstances are evident in growing concerns around the world about the future of arms control, multilateral economic institutions, technological decoupling, the future of the Islamic State, and more. The post-Cold War global order may be at a tipping point. In addition, systemic trends such as globalization and climate change mean that the challenges of today and tomorrow will be global – and require global responses. The role of automated trading algorithms in the 2010 “Flash Crash” in the United States, combined with the specter of drone warfare around the world due and the proliferation of military robotics, highlight how the intersection of technologies such as cyber and robotics presents enormous challenges for global business and diplomatic norms. In a time of change, academic research has the potential to shed significant light on these issues, and highlight new and important approaches for the global policy community.

In this theme area, Perry World House will focus in part, but not exclusively, on four areas: the impacts of emerging technologies for global politics, shifting global power balances and how they influence both state and non-state actors, the evolution of international legal regimes, and the ability of the international community to sustain effective governing institutions in times of change.

Global Shifts

Urbanization, migration, and demographic changes are transforming the human environment, creating both new challenges and opportunities. The UN High Commission for Refugees said in 2015 that the world faces the highest level of human displacement since its founding in 1950. New and changing migration patterns, whether driven by civil wars, instability due to environmental change, economic hardships, or potential opportunities elsewhere, have depth and nuance that have proven hard to predict – or track. At the same time, over 66% of the world's population will live in urban spaces by 2050, raising critical questions about urban vitality and sustainability.

Yet, the diverse causes and consequences of urbanization, migration, and demographic change have not been fully understood, and are too often examined in isolation. The University of Pennsylvania is poised to contribute to pressing policy debates and to help develop new approaches to these global shifts given the University's numerous strengths in urban studies, sociology, demography, law, and politics. The Global Innovation Program at Perry World House will bring together Penn's strengths in these areas through an interconnected examination of urbanization, migration, and demography.

Requirements and Application Information

Postdoctoral fellows in Global Order and Global Shifts research areas will pursue their own research as well as participate in the intellectual life of the Global Innovation Program and Perry World House. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to give a presentation during the academic year in the Perry World House Seminar Series, publish policy relevant scholarship related to Perry World House themes, and attend regularly scheduled seminars. They will also be expected to spend up to 10% of their time contributing to the intellectual environment at Perry World House, including working with Perry World House's Undergraduate Student Fellows, as well as designing and planning engagement in relevant theme areas. Perry World House will also introduce each postdoctoral fellow to related faculty and leaders of centers and institutes at the University of Pennsylvania.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees (including a J.D. in the case of applicants focused on international legal regimes) in the last two years (not earlier than 2018), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting Monday, January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

Upon provision of and contingent upon proof of conferral of the PhD degree, all postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71103>. Applicants will be asked to complete a short form as well as upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation.

General Information

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email postdoc@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7479

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position Penn Identity & Conflict Lab

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

ONE POST-DOCTORAL POSITION, AY 2020-2021:

PENN IDENTITY & CONFLICT LAB

The Penn Identity & Conflict (PIC) Lab, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis at the Department of Political Science of the University of Pennsylvania, seeks exceptional candidates for a one-year, full-time, renewable, residential appointment as a postdoctoral research fellow. The Lab is dedicated to addressing a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict. The Lab prioritizes research in three key areas: how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict of different forms. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, and the Lab integrates knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to better understand bias, discrimination, and violence.

Fellows will split their time between their own research and work with Professor Nicholas Sambanis on different projects generated from the PIC Lab. Ongoing projects address foreign intervention and peacebuilding after ethno-sectarian war; the legacies of wartime violence exposure; the causes of violent escalation of separatist conflicts; and causes and mitigation of non-violent inter-group conflict, including conflict between native and immigrant populations.

Requirements and Application Information

Job responsibilities will vary depending on the strengths and interests of the successful applicant but will include some combination of conducting research and co-authoring papers and reports with the PIC Lab Director and affiliated faculty; assisting with grant proposals; and providing support with data collection, management, and analysis for ongoing projects at the Lab.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods (statistical analysis, survey, and experimental methods). Programming skills are highly desirable. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communications skills and prior experience using large computer databases and different statistical software (including Stata, R, and Qualtrics). Applicants should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, highly self-disciplined, and self-motivated; they should be able to work individually and as part of a team; and be open to conducting fieldwork outside the U.S. Inter-disciplinary training in experimental economics and/or social psychology and adjacent fields is a plus.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Fellows will be expected to help organize the PIC Lab workshop; will give one presentation during the academic year at the workshop and potentially in the Perry World House Seminar Series; and will potentially help organize a conference/policy workshop.

Compensation and General Information

All postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than 2017), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71104> Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of a letter writer who can submit a letter of recommendation.

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email pic-lab@sas.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7481

Bocconi University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science (Comparative Politics)

The Department of Social and Political Sciences at Bocconi University is inviting applications for a faculty position at the Assistant Professor level in Political Science, specifically within the comparative politics subfield (SSD 14/A2, SC SPS/04) with an appointment beginning on September 1, 2020.

The area of research specialization is open, but to complement the existing strengths and profile of the department, candidates engaged in research employing rigorous quantitative analysis is preferred. The candidate should also be able to teach courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels on the politics of Africa, Asia, and/or the Middle East.

Bocconi University is a leading European research and teaching institution in economics, social sciences, management and related disciplines. The Department of Social and Political Sciences has a major role in staffing an undergraduate program in International Politics and Government, a master's program in Politics and Policy Analysis, and a PhD program in Public Policy and Administration.

Bocconi provides an ideal interdisciplinary research environment. The Department of Social and Political Sciences combines faculty from several allied disciplines and fields of study—public administration, political science, sociology, economics, history, public health, demography—who share an interest policy-relevant research. The Department counts 60 tenured or tenure-track faculty members. Bocconi is located in Italy's most vibrant center, Milan, a historic, cosmopolitan and international city in a metropolitan area of 3 million that is well connected to the rest of Europe and the world.

Knowledge of Italian is not required. Applicants should hold or expect a PhD in political science before September 1, 2020. The successful applicant will have to demonstrate strong potential in research. Terms of employment are competitive.

Applications should be received by January 15, 2020. Applicants must submit (1) a current curriculum vitae, (2) a job market paper (and other published papers), (3) a cover letter, and (4) teaching and research statements via the on-line form using PDF attachments at www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket. Additionally, at least three academic letters of reference must also be submitted by the referees via www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/15/2020

Date Posted: 11/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7369

University of Zurich

Rank: Postdoctoral position in the research group of Professor Jonathan Slapin

Description of UZH unit

The Department of Political Science at the University of Zurich (<http://www.ipz.uzh.ch>) invites applications for a postdoctoral position (60-70%) in the research group of Prof. Dr. Jonathan Slapin, who holds a Professorship in Political Institutions and European Politics.

Responsibilities

The successful candidate will engage in research and teaching in the area of comparative politics, political institutions, or European politics. Preference will be given to candidates with a demonstrated substantive interest in parties, legislatures, electoral institutions, or other topics related to the chair. Interest in computational social science is a plus.

The successful candidate is expected to pursue their own research interests and contribute to research ongoing within the Chair, acquire funded projects and produce outstanding scholarship with publications in top journals and presses.

Teaching includes seminars or courses in English or German (approx. 2-4 hours weekly in 2 semesters of 14 weeks) and advising students.

Qualifications

- PhD in political science or relevant neighboring discipline
- Outstanding research potential in the area of comparative political institutions, broadly defined
- Excellent quantitative methods skills with knowledge of relevant statistical software (e.g. Stata, R, Python)
- Ability to work in a team and also to conduct independent research
- Motivation to pursue an international academic career
- International experience is a plus

Language requirements

Excellent command of English, knowledge of German is a plus

Methods skills

Excellent training in standard econometric analysis, quantitative text analysis, data science, machine learning, data management, and knowledge of relevant statistical software.

We offer

The position will be filled for 3 years with renewal for further 3 years contingent on research productivity, teaching quality and participation to departmental activities. Salary starts at approx. between CHF 57'000 and 67'000.

This position opens on

The starting date for the position is between February 1 and September 1, 2020 or by agreement.

Further information

Please send to sekretariat@ipz.uzh.ch (as one PDF-attachment): a cover letter, CV with list of publications, transcripts, brief research statement (2 pages max), one writing sample, names of three people who would be willing to serve as a reference. Informal inquiries are encouraged and may be sent to jonathanb.slavin@uzh.ch.

Closing date for applications

A rolling deadline for applications – open until filled – latest January 15, 2020.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 1/15/2020

Date Posted: 11/7/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7452

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position in Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for a 2-year post-doctoral position; all fields will be considered with a preference for those with strong empirical methodological skills.

Applicants should also demonstrate how they can contribute to faculty diversity, such as through membership in a group that is historically underrepresented in political science or through other experience.

Positions are for two years during which time the scholars focus on scholarship and participate in an array of professional development activities that integrate and expose them to the faculty experience, including the opportunity to teach in the second year.

In order to be eligible for this program, applicants must have completed their doctoral degree within that past 6 years – or expect to complete their doctoral degree by no later than July 1, 2020.

The deadline for applications is December 1, 2019. Candidates who demonstrate evidence of scholarship potential to be competitive for tenure-track appointments at the University of Missouri or other research universities will be invited for on-campus interviews.

To apply, please visit: <https://tinyurl.com/MU-PFF-Postdoc>. Applicants will be asked to include the following in their online application:

- Cover letter expressing interest in the position
- CV
- Statement of goals for postdoctoral position
- Diversity statement
- One-page abstract of doctoral dissertation
- Writing sample
- 3 letters of reference

Questions may be directed to Dr. Lissa Behm-Morawitz (Associate Dean of the Graduate School) at postdoc@missouri.edu; or Dr. Lael Keiser (Interim Chair of Political Science) at keiserl@missouri.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 11/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7450

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The School for International Studies at Simon Fraser University seeks an established scholar for a full-time, tenure track position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor to fill the Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security, a position endowed by The Simons Foundation Canada. The start date could be as early as July 1, 2020.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science discipline, or an SJD in law, and an outstanding record of research and teaching. The chairholder will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and teaching focused on the nexus of international law and human security, broadly defined. The chairholder will create new curriculum, provide intellectual leadership, and foster public understanding through conferences and symposia. The Chair is endowed with a research grant and a reduced teaching load of normally two courses per year. Appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, depending on qualifications.

Simon Fraser University is a leading Canadian public research university (consistently ranked #1 by Maclean's Magazine for best comprehensive university in Canada). The School for International Studies is an interdisciplinary unit with research and teaching programs focused on peace and security; international development; human rights and international law; and governance and civil society. The School is based at SFU's Vancouver campus in the heart of downtown.

This is a senior level position. Only those holding a faculty position at the Associate Professor or Professor rank will be considered. Applications will be treated in confidence and should include: a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching, one representative publication, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants should also provide the names, addresses and phone/e-mail of six academic referees of high standing. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 8, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. The position is subject to the availability of funding.

Materials should be sent in a single pdf file via email to instst@sfu.ca. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Tamir Moustafa, at tmoustafa@sfu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7445

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Comparative Politics with a substantive focus on countries or regions in the developing world. We are especially interested in scholars using big data, machine learning, or experimental and quasi-experimental methods; and whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply on Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70321>. Please contact

Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions regarding the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 11/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7438

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Political-Economy with a substantive focus on comparative political-economy and/or applied game theory. We are especially interested in scholars whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply at Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70423>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions about the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is strongly committed to non-discriminatory hiring practices, and encourages applications from individuals who will further expand the diversity of our faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 11/4/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7436

University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa
Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level in Comparative Politics beginning August 16, 2020. The successful candidate should have a strong research agenda that applies rigorous methods to important theoretical questions. The position is open to candidates with any theoretical or regional expertise, but we seek to expand upon our existing strengths and thus particularly encourage applications from scholars with area expertise in sub-Saharan Africa, Asia, or Russia.

The University of Alabama is a student-centered research university and the flagship campus of the University of Alabama system. The Political Science Department offers B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. A completed Ph.D. in political science is required for appointment at the level of Assistant Professor.

To apply, go to <https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/46049> and complete the online application. Attach a letter of application, curriculum vitae, research statement, samples of publications and papers, and syllabi and course evaluations for any courses taught. Arrange to have transcripts of graduate work and three letters of recommendation sent directly to: Comparative Politics Search Committee, Department of Political Science, University of Alabama, Box 870213, Tuscaloosa, AL 35487-0213, or via email at kmnolen@ua.edu. For more information, contact Terry J. Royed, Search Committee Chair, at troyed@ua.edu. We will begin reviewing applications on January 15, 2020 and will continue reviewing applications until the position is filled. The University of Alabama is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and actively seeks diversity among its employees. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7439

Yale University
Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2020-21
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for ten months, starting in August or September 2020. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/70841>

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/31/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 7425

University of Nevada, Reno
Rank: Professor, Rick and Cathy Trachok Endowed Chair in International Studies
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The College of Liberal Arts at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) invites applications for appointment as the Rick & Cathy Trachok Endowed Chair in International Studies at the rank of Professor or Advanced Associate Professor. We seek a scholar in the humanities or social sciences with an international reputation and a strong record of research and teaching. The applicant will have demonstrated expertise in contemporary or historical research of global, world regional, or comparative focus. Specialization is open, and applicants from any discipline represented in UNR's College of Liberal Arts may apply, but priority will be given to candidates in the fields of Anthropology, English, History, and Political Science. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses and will play a leadership role in UNR's Ozmen Institute for Global Studies. Please apply at the following link to be considered: https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Professor--Rick-and-Cathy-Trachok-Endowed-Chair-in-International-Studies_R0118980

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. degree and status as an advanced associate or full professor;
- Demonstrated expertise and significant experience in some aspect of international studies;
- A record of publishing in top-tier journals and presses;
- A strong, ongoing program of research;
- Research proficiency in one or more languages in addition to English;

Demonstrated excellence in teaching

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of or potential for strong external grant activity

Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in research, teaching and/or service

Compensation Grade/Rank

Associate Professor, III

Full Professor, IV

College Information

The College of Liberal Arts is central to the intellectual and artistic life of the University of Nevada, Reno and is committed to fostering diversity, equity and inclusivity. The college contributes to the University's efforts to provide undergraduate students with general and specialized education that will prepare them for advanced study, careers and citizenship in a diverse world. It offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degrees, emphasizes inquiry, discovery, and openness to new ideas and perspectives, and supports major scholarly research and creative activity in the humanities, social sciences and arts.

The University of Nevada, Reno is a Research 1 land-grant campus of the Nevada System of Higher Education with a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students. Nearly half of incoming students identify as being from an underrepresented group. In accordance with the university's land grant, tier one research institution mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many U.S. transportation hubs and to Mexico. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Program

Total Compensation

The total compensation package includes a negotiable competitive salary, moving allowance (if applicable), a rich retirement plan, health insurance options that include dental and vision, life insurance, long-term disability, along with many other benefits. Additionally, there is a grant-in-aid educational benefit for faculty and dependents. For more information, please visit: UNR Benefits

Contact Information for this position

Search Chair-Robert Joe Cutter, rcutter@unr.edu

Search co-Coordinator- Spencer Schultz, spencerschultz@unr.edu

Exempt

Yes

Full-Time Equivalent

100.0%

Required Attachment(s)

Please attach the following documents to your application. Please contact jobs@unr.edu, the day you apply, if assistance is needed with attachments:

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita;
- 2) Cover letter stating qualifications, experience, research plans and teaching experience
- 3) Contact information for three professional references
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) Two research-based writing samples

Open Until Filled

Position is open until filled; however, first review of applications will begin begin November 27, 2019. Qualified individuals are encouraged to apply immediately. This search will close without notice when a sufficient number of applications are received or a hiring decision has been made.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7422

North Dakota State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

North Dakota State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position in political economy, to begin on August 16, 2020.

The department of Criminal Justice & Political Science at NDSU is recruiting for a 9-month tenure-track position, at the rank of assistant professor—or, for especially qualified applicants, associate professor—starting Fall 2020. We seek candidates with expertise in any area of political economy, although especially invite applications from candidates who focus on the political economy of development. For candidates with a regional specialization, we are especially interested in scholars studying areas other than Europe and North America. Successful applicants should be versed in comparative or international political economy and have a strong commitment to policy-relevant research and teaching. This is a 50% research, 40% teaching, 10% service position. The teaching load is, at most, 2-2, with at least one course release in the first three years. While the tenure home will be in the Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science, this position will be affiliated with the NDSU College of Business' Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research, teaching, and outreach that contributes to the Institute's mission. In turn, the Institute may also provide opportunities for graduate student assistance, course buyouts, and summer research support. Successful applicants will be prepared to teach core undergraduate courses in comparative politics and/or international relations, upper-division classes on political economy, political institutions, and global policy issues, and will have opportunities to contribute to existing and emerging programs in public policy, political and economic institutions, and global studies. The department has minimal service expectations for pre-tenure faculty.

Minimum Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for the position are: 1) a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Economics, or a related discipline, conferred no later than August, 2020, 2) evidence of research productivity, or potential to publish scholarship in peer reviewed journals, presses, and other outlets appropriate to one's field, 3) experience teaching political economy, institutions, and/or global policy courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels, 4) potential to contribute to the Challey Institute's mission, and 5) effective written and oral communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications

We will give priority to candidates who 1) can provide substantial evidence of research productivity and quality, 2) can provide substantial evidence of teaching effectiveness, 3) have experience pursuing and/or obtaining external funding, 4) have a research focus on the political economy of development, 5) conduct teaching and research that can contribute to NDSU's commitment to diversity and inclusion, 6) have experience working in, or developing, a global studies program, 7) have experience contributing to, or developing, a master's program in public policy, and/or 8) have a regional focus outside Europe and North America.

Application

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, course materials, evidence of participation in teaching professionalization activities, and, if available, evaluations by peers and/or mentors; please do not include student evaluations of teaching), and names and contact information for 3 references (we will contact references for roughly 10 short-listed applicants). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://jobs.ndsu.edu/postings/10886>. Initial screening of applications will begin on or about November 21, 2019.

NDSU especially encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups.

The Department

The Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science has 12 tenure-track faculty members and serves roughly 100 undergraduate majors in political science, and 200 undergraduate and 20 graduate students in criminal justice. Faculty in the department teach four classes per year. The NDSU community and national organizations have regularly recognized department faculty for excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. The college provides faculty with computing resources and tenure-track faculty within the department receive a yearly research and professionalization budget that covers travel to 1-2 conferences, and which faculty routinely supplement with College and University travel grants.

The Challey Institute

The Sheila and Robert Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth is an interdisciplinary institute that aims to advance understanding in the areas of innovation, trade, and institutions to identify policies and solutions that enhance economic growth and opportunity. The Challey Institute works toward achieving its mission by engaging in research, student programming, and outreach in the areas of (1) international trade, investment, and immigration, (2) innovation and entrepreneurship, and (3) institutions and policy.

The University

North Dakota State University is a comprehensive, student-focused, land-grant, research university with more than 14,000 students from 47 states and 79 countries. NDSU was the first university in North Dakota to be named to the most research-intensive category by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and is listed in the National Science Foundation's top 100 in several areas, including agricultural sciences, social sciences, physical sciences, chemistry, psychology, and computer sciences.

NDSU values faculty members' work-life balance and the needs of dual-career couples. The College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences' guidelines on family-related reassignment of duties are available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/ahss/family2010.pdf> and University policy on extension of the probationary period for personal or family reasons is available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/352.pdf>. NDSU is an ADVANCE institution and has a Focus on Resources for Women's Advancement, Recruitment/Retention, and Development (FORWARD) program, that, as part of its efforts, has developed procedures and funding streams for dual career hiring at NDSU: <https://www.ndsu.edu/forward/>. Applicants can find more information about NDSU at <http://www.ndsu.edu>.

The Community

NDSU is located in Fargo-Moorhead (F-M), a pleasant, safe, diversifying, and growing community of approximately 245,000 people. As the largest population center in the region, F-M is a hub of entertainment, finance, information technology, and medical services for a large geographic area including the state of North Dakota, and western Minnesota. Two universities (NDSU and Minnesota State University Moorhead) and one private liberal arts college (Concordia College) are located in F-M. The F-M area has a healthy economy: ND has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the U.S., good public schools, low crime rates, ample shopping, local theatre and music companies, several art galleries, semi-professional baseball and hockey, and Division I intercollegiate athletics. Hector International Airport in Fargo is convenient and is served by several major airlines. Sun, clear skies, and clean air predominate year-round. Visiting nearby northern Minnesota lakes, canoeing, camping, cycling, softball, and soccer are popular in summer; winter pastimes include cross-country skiing, skating, and snowmobiling. The city has an excellent park system that includes several quality golf courses and bicycle/running/ski paths along the Red River, which divides Fargo-Moorhead. Fargo is an hour drive from a major resort area in the Minnesota "lakes country" and two hours from scenic Itasca State Park, where you will find the headwaters of the Mississippi river. Central and western North Dakota offer beautiful hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and related opportunities in the Badlands, national grasslands, and numerous river valleys. Winnipeg, Manitoba is less than a four-hour drive to the north and Minneapolis-St. Paul is an equal distance to the south-east.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7385

Lamar University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Job Summary: The Department of Political Science invites applications for one full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science beginning August 2020.

Candidates should be able to teach introduction to comparative politics and advanced upper level comparative politics courses covering such areas as Western democracies, developing nations and/or a regional focus. Candidates should also be able to teach American Government (POLS 2301 and POLS 2302).

Qualifications: Candidates should have PhD in Political Science or Government awarded by date of employment. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate Lamar University's diverse population of students online and face-to-face; maintain an active service agenda; demonstrate a strong commitment to and evidence of an active research agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally-related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Application Procedure: The application deadline is January 15, 2020 or until the position is filled. Apply online at: <https://jobs.lamar.edu>.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson.

Recommendation letters can be sent to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7373

Williams College

Rank: Visiting Professor in Comparative Politics

Specializations: Africa, South Asia, Post Soviet Region

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a one-year appointment in the 2020-2021 academic year, as Visiting Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics. We particularly seek individuals who can teach courses focused on East Asia, Africa, or with other regional focus, and who complement the department's existing comparative curriculum. The teaching load is four courses, split evenly between the fall and spring semesters. We welcome applications from members of groups traditionally underrepresented in the field.

Candidates should have the Ph.D. completed by June 2020. Application items should include: a cover letter detailing teaching experience and competencies as well as current scholarly interests; 2 syllabi of classes taught or planned to be taught; a curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; teaching evaluations accompanied by comparative or statistical context (if available); and a writing sample of only one article or chapter. We ask you to write in your cover letter about your ability to work effectively with a student population that is broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

We will begin to review applications on January 6, but will consider submissions until the search is completed. All application materials should be submitted through Interfolio <http://apply.interfolio.com/70578>. Fax and email applications will not be accepted. Inquiries may be sent Sarah Campbell-Copp at sjc2@williams.edu. All offers of employment are contingent upon completion of a background check. Further information is available here: <https://faculty.williams.edu/prospective-faculty/background-check-policy/>

Williams College is a coeducational liberal arts institution located in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts. The college has built its reputation on outstanding teaching and scholarship and on the academic excellence of its approximately 2,000 students. Please visit the Williams College website (<http://www.williams.edu>).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7388

Columbia University

Rank: Post Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, East Asia, International Security

Columbia University & Harvard University
China and the World Program (C&WP)
Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI)

Professors Thomas J. Christensen of Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Alastair Iain Johnston of Harvard University's Government Department jointly founded the China and the World fellowship program for the advanced study of China's international relations in 2005. As part of Professor Christensen's recent move to Columbia University, the Program was renamed the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program (C&WP) in 2018. The China and the World Program supports research that integrates theoretical innovations in the field of international relations with the rigorous study of China's interactions with countries, regions, institutions, and non-state actors.

For academic year 2020-2021, C&WP will collaborate with the Weatherhead East Asian Institute at Columbia University (WEAI) to award 2 postdoctoral research fellowships. Both fellows will be in residence at Columbia University (one funded by WEAI and one funded by CWP), and will teach one course in the spring semester. When not attending to program-related duties, fellows' time should be devoted to their own research, and to participating actively in the life of C&WP and WEAI. Fellows also will be expected to make at least one public presentation during their appointment and participate in the annual C&WP workshop where an entire day is devoted entirely to the examination of the fellows' research by former fellows of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who are currently working on revising their Ph.D. thesis for publication as a book, or who are just beginning a second major research project.

The appointment is for the 2020-2021 academic year, beginning September 1, 2020, ending May 31, 2021. The position comes with shared office space and access to the libraries and resources of Columbia University.

Qualifications:

- Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 1, 2017 and August 31, 2020.
- Applications from individuals who hold or have held full-time teaching appointments will not be considered.
- Only applicants working on some aspect of China's relations with the outside world that supports CWP's and WEAI's missions need apply.

Application Process:

To apply, submit application materials to sipacwp@columbia.edu. Please note that applicants are required to send all files in one email or to upload them to a cloud based application and send the URL via email for full consideration. Faxed or mailed applications will not be considered.

- 1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
- Updated Curriculum Vitae, including a list of classes taught (if any)
- Project description
- Two scholarly writing samples
- One course proposal with syllabus for a seminar directed at M.A. students and advanced undergraduates
- Course evaluations for classes taught (if any)
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees
- Two letters of reference. Please note: Applicants should submit only the name and contact information of their referees. Referees should submit their letter directly to sipacwp@columbia.edu.

Application Deadline

All application materials, including letters of reference, must be received by December 20, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. Candidates may be invited for an interview to be held by video, phone, or in person. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their applications in February 2020; a public announcement will be made by April 2020.

For more information about the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program, or the Weatherhead East Asian Institute, please visit www.CWP.SIPA.Columbia.edu, and www.weai.columbia.edu respectively.

This search is subject to all rules and regulations of Columbia University. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 10/24/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7384

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Lecturer (Full-Time)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a 3-Year Full-Time Lecturer in US Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government & Politics to begin September 1, 2020. The successful candidate will teach 4 sections per semester, including U.S. Federal Government & Politics, Texas Government & Politics, and upper-division courses in the candidate's sub-field specialization. The Department is interested in receiving applications from individuals specializing in any subfield of the discipline.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7355

Midwestern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: East Asia, Africa, Middle East

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position to begin in fall 2020. We seek a candidate whose primary teaching interest is comparative politics with a specialization in Asia, Middle East, or Africa, as well as the ability to teach quantitative research methods. The ability to teach courses in climate and environmental politics or international relations is desired, but not required. The applicant should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (an ABD candidate would be required to have a Ph.D. by August 2021), and should contribute to the teaching and research mission of the university.

The Department of Political Science offers a B.A. Political Science and a B.A. Global Studies. It also houses the interdisciplinary minor in Women's and Gender Studies and a successful Model United Nations program.

The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Salary is competitive, depending on experience.

Midwestern State University is a public liberal arts university with an enrollment of approximately 6,000 students located in Wichita Falls, a city of 106,000 about 2 hours northwest of Dallas/Fort Worth (www.msutexas.edu). As a Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COLAC) member institution, Midwestern State University is particularly committed to excellence in teaching and seeks applicants that will contribute to this mission. This position is designated as security sensitive and requires the finalist to complete a criminal background check. EEO/ADAAA compliance employer.

Please send a 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) teaching evaluations, 4) one example of scholarly work, and 5) three letters of recommendation to:

Dr. Linda Veazey, Chair
Department of Political Science
Midwestern State University
3410 Taft Boulevard
Wichita Falls, TX 76308
linda.veazey@msutexas.edu

The initial review of complete applications will begin January 13, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/13/2020
Date Posted: 10/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7325

SUNY, Binghamton University

Rank: Assistant Professor
Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology
Specializations: Conflict Processes, Quantitative Methods, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science at Binghamton University (SUNY) invites applications for an assistant professorship in international relations and/or comparative politics, focusing on political violence and civil conflict, to begin in August 2020. Preference will be given to candidates who can contribute to teaching in the department's graduate quantitative methods sequence, as well as connect with the Data Science Transdisciplinary Area of Excellence (TAE). The Data Science TAE comprises a collaborative group of data scientists from across campus who are at the leading edge of the data science revolution within their own disciplines. Candidates with demonstrable strengths in one or more of the following will be strongly preferred: mixed methods, statistics & econometrics, computational methods, and/or experimental methods. Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of recent or current research, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Applications received by November 10, 2019 will be given first consideration, although we will accept applications until the position has been filled. Binghamton University is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer. It is the policy of Binghamton University to provide for and promote equal opportunity employment, compensation, and other terms and conditions of employment without discrimination on the basis of sex, age, race, color, religion, disability, national origin, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, veteran or military service member status, marital status, domestic violence victim status, genetic predisposition or carrier status, or arrest and/or criminal conviction record unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification or other exception. Submit applications at <http://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=116819>.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/10/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7317

The Heritage Foundation

Rank: Visiting Fellow in American Political Thought
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics
Specializations: Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The one-year Visiting Fellowship in the B. Kenneth Simon Center for Principles and Politics is open to university faculty (on sabbatical, on leave, or retired) and to recent Ph.D.'s. Applicants should demonstrate an ability to relate the foundational principles of American political thought to contemporary issues and debates. The Fellow will conduct research in any of the areas of interest to the center including, but not limited to:

1. The Founding and Founding Principles
2. Constitutional Government and the Administrative State
3. Modern Conservatism and Liberalism
4. The American Regime (broadly understood)

The Fellow will:

- Publish research papers for the Heritage Foundation.
- Publish topical commentary in media outlets.
- Work on his/her academic projects (in previous years, fellows have used their time at Heritage to complete books).
- Organize a conference, funded by Heritage, that brings together leading experts in one's subject area.
- Give public lectures at Heritage.

Requirements:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field.
- Preference will be given to faculty members on sabbatical or on leave, although recent Ph.D.'s will be considered.

Location

- The scholar will preferably work at the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C. Office space will be provided. The residency requirement, however, is flexible and the fellow need not relocate to Washington, D.C.

Duration

- The Fellowship will last one year and run from September 2020 to August 2021. The duration and start dates, however, are flexible and will be determined by the successful candidate and the Heritage Foundation.

Compensation

- The Fellow will receive an annualized salary, commensurate with his/her experience. As this is a temporary position, it does not include employee benefits such as health insurance.

Additional Benefits:

- Ongoing research support from Center's staff (including a dedicated intern for research)
- Loan privileges with the Library of Congress

To Apply:

Mail or e-mail the following materials:

- 1.) A short proposal outlining what you would work on during your time at Heritage, including the publications you intend to produce and the theme of the conference you will host.
- 2.) C.V.
- 3.) One academic writing sample and one non-academic publication.

Completed applications are being accepted until further notice. Notification will be made when the position is filled. Questions and application materials should be sent to:

Jessica Kline
The Heritage Foundation
214 Massachusetts Avenue, NE
Washington, D.C. 20002
Email: Jessica.kline@heritage.org

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7318

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Associate or Full Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Senior Rank (Tenured Full or Associate Professor)

Cyberpolitics and National/International Security Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured faculty position at the Full Professor or Associate Professor level in cyberpolitics and national or international security policy to begin Fall 2020.

The position is part of a cross-disciplinary, campus-wide initiative in the area of cybersecurity. Scholars conducting cross-disciplinary research in applied cyber security are encouraged to apply, but an applicant's primary field must be Political Science or closely related discipline.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline. Applicants must have a track record of scholarship, publications, and research funding relating to cybersecurity and international politics. We are especially interested in candidates who link cybersecurity to broader social, political, economic, and policy questions in the contexts of national and/or international security. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute directly to the Department's nascent doctoral program in cyber politics and will be expected to collaborate on research and grant applications with faculty in Computer Science, Information Systems and Cyber Security, Engineering, and UTSA's highly regarded Cyber Security Program. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Department's traditional undergraduate and/or graduate courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. We are especially interested in applicants who can teach graduate and undergraduate courses on Cyber and International Politics; Cyber Strategy; Cyber Deterrence and Coercion; Cyber and Intelligence; Cyberwarfare and Military Operations; Technological and Social Revolutions in International Relations; Global Governance and Cyber; Cyber and International Ethics; Law, Politics, and Cyber-Security; New Global Threats; and Global or National Security Policy.

Applicants must demonstrate potential for research publication and a strong potential to attract external funding commensurate with the rank for which the applicant is applying. Applicants' research must demonstrate strong theoretical grounding in national or international security. Candidates must have the ability to work with and be sensitive to the educational needs of a culturally diverse urban population.

All applicants should also provide representative evidence of high-quality teaching – ideally in courses that address cyber security in the context of deterrence and coercion, national or international security, global affairs and governance. Applicants must also be willing to teach a range of courses in international relations or global affairs within their specializations.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor, the successful applicant must have an established research agenda, evidence of initiatives to acquire external research funding, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their respective fields of specialization, have excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, a track record of grant applications and awards, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants who can offer courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science, international relations/global affairs, and/or international/national security policy.

Applicants should submit electronically in PDF format:

1. Letter of application stating the rank for which application is made, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. A research and teaching statement, including discussion of the role that diversity and inclusion play in an academic environment (no more than 200 words);

4. A copy of all graduate transcripts;
5. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
6. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
7. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
8. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Submit electronic materials to: <https://jobs.utsa.edu> (click on Faculty for details)

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

This is a security sensitive position. Employment is contingent upon a successful background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7315

Tulane University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Center for Inter-American Policy and Research (CIPR) invites applications for five (5) research fellowships for the Academic Year of 2020-2021, some with program administration duties and others with light teaching. Applications from the social sciences in the fields of international relations, international political economy, comparative politics, political sociology, and policy studies are encouraged. Latin American expertise and Spanish or Portuguese fluency required. Fellows will be selected based on intellectual merit, experience, the potential impact of their planned research for CIPR programs, and teaching needs of the host department.

Fellowships are one-year, residential, full-time appointments with a stipend of $48,450 plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported. In addition to their planned research, applicants must be prepared to carry out either program administration or adjunct teaching responsibilities. In the program administration track, fellows will be expected to work with CIPR's director in the Commitment to Equity Project and/or Research Group MEGA: Mobilization, Extractivism, and Government Action, and/or to develop programmatic content and projects in Inter-American relations, comparative political economy, citizenship rights, human development, and others. The other fellowships carry a one course per semester adjunct teaching load in the department of the fellow's primary discipline and in the candidate's major subfields, without administrative responsibilities. In both cases, specific responsibilities will be defined jointly during the initial phase of the appointment. Applicants must plan to complete their Ph.D. no later than May 2020. Recent graduates with no longer than three years since receiving their Ph.D. are especially encouraged to apply.

Application must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting apply.interfolio.com/68880 and must include (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter describing research interests and intended research at CIPR if selected, fit to the program and teaching experience; (3) a graduate transcript; (4) two recommendation letters; (5) a writing sample; and (6) teaching evaluations if available. For further information, please contact Ludovico Feoli, Director, Center for Inter-American Policy Research. Applications will be reviewed starting December 31, 2019.

Tulane University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. All eligible candidates are invited to apply for position vacancies as appropriate.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7304

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting a tenure-track assistant professor in the area(s) of Cyber Security and Privacy. This position will have an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020.

This interdisciplinary position will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units for their appointment. All relevant areas will be considered, such as (but not limited to) Mathematics, Statistics, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, Psychology, Computer Science, Legal Studies, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Philosophy, Criminal Justice, and Political Science.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution at the time of appointment in an area appropriate to the cluster. The selected candidate must also have a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record.

Preferred qualifications: A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is strongly preferred.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. In particular, candidates that have a track record in security and privacy issues affecting software and systems in various platforms (cloud, IoT, cyber-physical) are strongly encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will also have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security and privacy. (See <https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved to date.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided.

UCF has a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry, including large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, Oracle, Apple, AMD, Boeing, SpaceX, Blue Origin, etc. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school. Orlando has one of the fastest growing and dynamic economies in the nation. In 2018, among major metropolitan areas, Orlando enjoyed the fifth largest increase in population. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your approach and experience meeting the needs of a diverse community, both in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague. In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

- 1) the above-mentioned diversity statement,
- 2) a cover letter*,
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) teaching statement,
- 5) research statement, and
- 6) contact information for three professional references (include email addresses).

*In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, any experience working on interdisciplinary teams, how they will enhance the existing cluster team, and identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home and any joint appointments they would desire.

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Yan Solihin at yan.solihin@ucf.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7299

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate - CSDP

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on or about September 1, 2020. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required.

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars must be in residence at Princeton during the academic terms, and are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events. Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2020-2021 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to position req D-20-WWS-00010 <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14021>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, December 2, 2019 at 11:59 p.m. EST (including letters of recommendation from the two references).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/2/2019

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7289

Princeton University - CSDP

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar - CSDP

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for ten-month positions anticipated to start on or about September 1, 2020. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their position.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars must be in residence at Princeton during the academic terms, and are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary (those who hold faculty appointments at other academic institutions normally receive one-half their academic-year salaries for the appointment period, but this may vary depending on level of support from the home institution), applicable benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Verification of employment and salary will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, a brief statement of anticipated (estimated) salary support from the home institution for the 2020-2021 academic year, and statement of the home institution's leave policy. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2020-2021 should apply to req number D-20-WWS-00011 <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14041> . The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, December 2, 2019 at 11:59 p.m. EST.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/2/2019

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7295

Berry College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Government and International Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Parties & Organizations, Electoral Behavior, Public Opinion

The Department of Government and International Studies at Berry College seeks a scholar-teacher-mentor who will engage our students in courses focusing on campaigns and elections, interest groups, public opinion, or policy (with an American or a regional focus) and will be competent to teach social science research methods. We seek an innovative teacher who will create new courses that invite students from other disciplines into the study of political science and international affairs. This Tenure-Track position begins in August 2020. The successful candidate will typically teach a 3-3 load, with their upper-level course and 2 sections of a course in our Foundations Program (American National Government, Comparative Politics, or Contemporary World Issues). Noted for its mentoring of students, the department offers an excellent undergraduate education that emphasizes the development of strong writing and critical thinking skills that will prepare students for entry into the workforce or for advanced study. We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and scholarship will add diversity to the college curriculum and engage the community, including by cultivating internship opportunities. Candidates from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. All applicants should describe in their statement of teaching philosophy their experience with, and/or commitment to, teaching a diverse student body.

Minimum Qualifications: PhD required by August 2020. An active research agenda, an interest in mentoring undergraduate research, and a demonstrated commitment to teaching undergraduates from a range of disciplines, cultures, and academic backgrounds is essential.

Berry is a selective independent college of 2,100 located adjacent to Rome, GA, midway between Atlanta, GA, and Chattanooga, TN. Berry's educational approach deliberately unites challenging academic programs with practical work experience in a residential campus community that encourages faith and emphasizes caring for the needs of others above self. This commitment to an "education of the head, heart and hands" remains as relevant today as when our founder instilled this ethic more than a century ago.

Nationally recognized for quality of learning and quality of life, Berry offers first-rate undergraduate degree programs in the sciences, humanities, arts and human sciences, as well as undergraduate and master's level opportunities in business and teacher education. The College's stunning 27,000-acre campus affords opportunities that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Berry's ongoing commitment is to provide exceptional educational experiences to talented students from a wide range of social and economic backgrounds.

The college provides benefit options with no employee costs for medical, dental, disability, and life insurance, including spouse and dependents at a reduced rate. An Equal Opportunity Institution, Berry complies with all applicable laws and provisions prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies. Berry respects the essential dignity of all individuals and accordingly hires and promotes employees without regard to matters of personal identity such as ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, and political affiliation.

Berry College is committed to ensuring facilities, programs, services, and activities are accessible to everyone, including those seeking employment at Berry College. Inquiries about interview or workplace accommodations are welcomed and can be directed to Wayne Phipps, Director of Human Resources, at 706.290.2698.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, along with a current CV, copies of transcripts, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference to Darla Fox, Department of Government and International Studies, dfox@berry.edu. Email inquiries: esands@berry.edu. For more information on our program, please visit our website at: <https://www.berry.edu/academics/majors/political-science>.

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2019 and materials must be received by that date to ensure full consideration.

Persons applying for employment with Berry College may be required to submit a full national background check. Berry College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7269

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Visiting Research Professor

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is seeking to appoint a visiting research professor who is based in Latin America or Spain and studies Latin American politics for the fall or spring semester of the academic year 2020-21. Responsibilities of the successful candidate include working on your own research and contributing to departmental activities related to research and teaching on Latin America during the semester in residence. The quality of completed research and of the proposed research project will be an important selection criterion.

Qualifications are a Ph.D. and a minimum of 5 years of research and teaching experience. Compensation consists of a travel and research allowance, health insurance, and a total of $32,000 in salary over the duration of the appointment. The successful candidate will be expected to be in residence for a minimum of 4 ½ months.

Applications from women and minorities are particularly welcome. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes all to apply, including individuals with disabilities. Deadline for applications is December 16, 2019, and applicants will be notified in February.

To apply for the position, please follow this link: <http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/169988>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a research proposal of no more than 1,500 words. Applicants are required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of three professional references at the time of application. Recommenders identified by the applicant may be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support if the applicant becomes a finalist. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 7266

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Adviser

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for one full-time non-tenure stream position as Lecturer and Academic Adviser. The appointment requires a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and prior teaching experience. The successful candidate is expected to serve as the advisor for a third of the undergraduate majors in the department and to teach four undergraduate courses per year, including one section per semester of Introduction to Global Studies, which the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., in political theory, comparative politics, or international relations). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in nonwestern or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc that complement our existing political theory courses. In addition, the successful candidate will be responsible for supporting Departmental curriculum and programming, outside-the-classroom learning, etc.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and ability to teach the Introduction to Global Studies course. Successful candidates are expected to engage in teaching and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio (statement of philosophy, list of courses, sample syllabi and materials, etc), writing sample(s), teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjc2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by January 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6224

University of Texas, Arlington

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position ID: F00175P

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, beginning August 2020. Candidates should be trained in Comparative Politics with a focus on Latin America. Scholars whose research also has implications for Latino/Latina communities in the United States are especially encouraged to apply. Completed Ph.D. is preferred although A.B.D.s will be considered. The University of Texas at Arlington is a designated Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI).

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive courses in their area of expertise, including introductory courses, core undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate to the rank. Salary is competitive. Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service.

Arlington, Texas is centrally located to major cultural, sporting, and entertainment venues, situated in the heart of the Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan area, with over 6 million residents and more than twenty municipalities (<http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities><http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities>). The University of Texas at Arlington campus is a short twenty-minute drive to DFW International Airport, downtown Fort Worth and downtown Dallas. The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols><http://www.uta.edu/pols>) has a strong social media presence (Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter), and offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over three hundred undergraduate majors and minors, and 20 to 30 graduate students.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) provide a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) one writing sample, and 4) names and contact information of three professional references. Screening will begin immediately upon receipt of a completed application. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

UT Arlington is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The use of tobacco products is prohibited on UT Arlington properties. A criminal background check will be conducted on finalists.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6193

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolde-ndi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Chapman University seeks applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science, in the Department of Political Science, within Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, beginning in August 1, 2020.

The Department of Political Science and the MA in International Studies program seeks candidates whose research bridges theory and practice, so as to promote and support student engagement in the fields associated with human security. Teaching responsibilities will be split between the Political Science Department and the MA in International Studies Program at Chapman.

Tenure track faculty are expected to develop and maintain an active research agenda and are evaluated on their research/scholarly activity, teaching, service, and advising/mentoring.

Requirements include:

- Doctorate in Political Science or related field by the start date.
- Demonstrated strong research trajectory, including publications and involvement with professional organizations.
- Evidence of teaching excellence, including innovative and inclusive pedagogy.
- Demonstrated capacity to advise graduate and undergraduate students, including on coursework, research projects and career prospects.
- Specialization in the area of Human Security including but not limited to: environmental security (such as climate change adaptation, global health or food security); gender and/or race and security; conflict and/or environmentally induced displacement; poverty and sustainable development; governance issues related to new security paradigms.

Qualified applicants must electronically submit a faculty application, cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing sample and letter from three academic/professional references to:

Drs. Art Blaser and Crystal Murphy

Search Committee Co-Chairs

c/o: Talisa Flores at tflores@chapman.edu

Please use "Assistant Professor of Political Science/International Studies" as the email subject line.

Application review will begin October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications. Chapman University offers a relocation expense reimbursement package as well as a first-time Orange County homebuyer assistance program. Successful completion of a background check is required for the final candidate.

Subject to final budget approval.

Download a copy of the Chapman Faculty Application for Employment here:

<https://webfarm.chapman.edu/Jobs/NewHire-FacultyApplication.docx>

Chapman University, located in the heart of Orange County, California, offers traditional undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences and select pre-professional and graduate programs. Ranked in the top tier of Western universities, by U.S. News and World Report, Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. The University is classified by Carnegie as an R-2 research institution; Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. More information is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/>

The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. More information on diversity and inclusion at Chapman University is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/diversity>.

Chapman University is an equal opportunity employer committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community. The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ancestry, citizenship status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, military and veteran status, marital status, pregnancy, genetic information or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. The University is committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6176

Fordham University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics (Environmental Policy)

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track position in Comparative Politics at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2020. The position is located at Fordham's Lincoln Center (Manhattan) campus.

We are particularly interested in candidates in the field of comparative environmental policy. A regional specialization focusing on Asia or Latin America is especially desired. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to undergraduate and graduate curricular needs in political science, as well as contribute to Fordham's interdisciplinary Environmental Studies Program. We encourage to apply candidates who will deepen our engagement with institutions within New York City and contribute to our University and department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Review of applications will begin on October 15. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) to Professor Sarah Lockhart, Committee Chair, via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/68311>: cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample (no more than 30-35 pages), course syllabi, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Application materials should also address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6156

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development's Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high quality, policy relevant research on critical issues related to global development and poverty alleviation.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2020 for one year (and will consider two years). The Center's postdoctoral fellows program is intended for promising new and recent PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy relevant research on topics related to critical issues for international development and poverty alleviation.

The Center's postdoctoral fellows will be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University. The Center provides a competitive salary plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2019 via the application form linked from the King Center's website.

For more details and information please visit <https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoralfellowsprogram>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6105

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: International Relations and Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Conflict Processes, Defense

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for multiple tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in International Relations and Comparative Politics beginning August 2020. Application review will begin on 01 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. Scholars with expertise in interstate war, great power politics, ethnic conflict, and political violence are encouraged to apply. Regional expertise in either Africa, South/Southeast Asia, or Russia is also desired. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at

<https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProf-PolSci-AY20.php>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6102

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Gender and Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8350>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6046

Princeton University

Rank: Garwood Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6036

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2020 to September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on outstanding performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone

Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12905> (link is external)

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6038

Princeton University

Rank: James Madison Program Visiting Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

Specializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

The College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor Global Environmental Justice

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Open, Other

Description

The Departments of Environmental Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seek to fill a tenure track position in Global Environmental Justice at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2020. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in environmental politics and social justice with area studies expertise and a high proficiency in qualitative methodologies.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in environmental justice and social justice, broadly conceived. They would teach introductory and advanced courses in the Environmental Studies and Political Science departments, supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement, and participate in teaching the College's First Year Seminar. We seek to hire a scholar whose research and teaching addresses one or more dimensions of environmental justice, such as: the intersections of global climate change and class, ethnic, or racial inequalities; comparative environmental movements; forced displacement and migration due to environmental crisis; food or water insecurity; or environmental governance. In addition, we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching can connect with one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Africana Studies, Global & International Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, Urban Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Application Instructions

We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), a statement regarding how the applicant will contribute to the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66667>. Applications received by October 1, 2019, will receive full consideration. Please contact Matt Mariola (m-mariola@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Environmental Studies and Chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5991

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in comparative politics for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. The department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. The appointment is open with respect to empirical approach. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within the department and across the broader Vanderbilt community. We especially welcome applications from scholars who specialize in Eastern Europe and/or Asia, to help facilitate scholarship and curricular bridges between the Department of Political Science and the Max Kade Center for European and German Studies and/or the Vanderbilt Asian Studies Program. Candidates able to assist in graduate training in quantitative methods or formal theory should indicate those competencies. The appointment will begin Fall 2020. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2019. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2019, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position.

Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2020.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at: apply.interfolio.com/66543.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5963

Portland State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Departments of Political Science and International & Global Studies at Portland State University are searching for a shared tenure-track Assistant Professor position. The ideal candidate will conduct research and teach in the fields of Comparative Politics and/or International Relations with a focus on development. There is a strong preference for candidates who study development through the lens of international political economy, Africa, the Middle East, human rights policy, or global health policy.

Please submit:

- letter of application (cover letter),
- curriculum vitae,
- graduate transcripts (upload under "Other-2"),
- writing sample (e.g. article, book chapter, conference paper, etc) and,
- teaching evaluations (upload under 'Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness').

Please list the names, telephone numbers and email addresses for three professional references. As soon as you submit your application, your references will be emailed a link to upload their letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Department of Political Science at polisci@pdx.edu

Portland State University is Oregon's most affordable public research university, located in the heart of one of America's most dynamic cities. Our mission to "let knowledge serve the city" reflects our dedication to turning ideas into action — in Portland and around the world. The city is our campus, giving students unmatched access to career connections, a vibrant cultural scene and hands-on learning experiences with hundreds of community partners. More than 27,000 students from all backgrounds bring diverse perspectives to our classrooms and campus life, from the tree-lined Park Blocks to the bustling Urban Plaza and state-of-the-art science labs. We are proud of our world-class faculty, groundbreaking research and international reputation for excellence in sustainability, community engagement and innovation.

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. in a related field must be completed by September 1, 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Creates an environment that acknowledges, encourages and celebrates differences.
- Functions and communicates effectively and respectfully within the context of varying beliefs, behaviors, orientations, identities and cultural backgrounds.
- Seeks opportunities to gain experience working and collaborating in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings with a willingness to change for continual improvement

- Adheres to all PSU's policies including the policies on Prohibited Discrimination & Harassment and the Professional Standards of Conduct.
- Contributes to a culture of environmental stewardship, practices resource conservation, and actively works toward achieving long-term sustainability goals.

Professional Standards of Conduct:

At Portland State University, all employees are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner which maintains a safe, respectful, and productive environment for faculty, students, administrators, and staff. It is the responsibility of every member of the Portland State University community to conduct themselves in accordance with our PSU Professional Standards of Conduct which are available at www.pdx.edu/hr/professional-standards-conduct.

Total Compensation Range & Benefits Statement:

The starting annual salary rate for this position will be between $65,007-$67,005. The starting salary may be negotiable above this range, however it will be dependent upon the knowledge, experience, skills and abilities of the chosen candidate, the budget of the hiring committee, and approval from HR.

PSU's excellent benefits package includes 95% premium paid healthcare; a generous retirement and vacation package, and reduced tuition rates for employee, spouse or dependent at any of the Oregon Public Universities

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5945

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for a postdoctoral research position for the 2020-2021 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Post-doctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines bearing on the study of Economic Diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (September 28, 2020 – June 11, 2021), and to interact with faculty and Ph.D. students, giving at least one research talk. Selected fellows are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019, for full consideration; however, the posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process: All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02196>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or receive a Ph.D. degree in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines related to the study of Economic Diplomacy by the start of appointment.

Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on December 6, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. CCD Fellows will receive applicable UCSD benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the UCSD's background check policy.

For more information about the Center for Commercial Diplomacy fellowship program, please contact Alexandra Hubenko, Executive Director, at ahubenko@ucsd.edu

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5926

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Comparative Politics/Comparative Political Economy

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics and Comparative Political Economy.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/53011>

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5904

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Faculty Position - Sabancı University

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: political behavior, political regime change or political economy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu

<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5910

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics/ Public Policy (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics/Public Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: Turkish Politics, policy evaluation or social policy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5911

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Florida State University is recruiting an assistant professor of political science on a tenure earning line to begin in August 2020. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, conduct research in their area of expertise and contribute to department, college and university service. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda, strong analytical and empirical skills, and seek to achieve the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to undergraduate and graduate education. The department is especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in scientific study of international conflict and cooperation, including interstate and intrastate conflict, political violence, and human rights. Successful candidates will have training in advanced quantitative methods and be able to contribute to graduate training in that area. Candidates must have earned their doctoral degrees before their appointment begins in August, 2020.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Doctoral 1 institution. Its student population of around 42,000 includes around 8,500 students in graduate and professional schools. Tallahassee is the Florida state capital has a population of about 190,000 within a metro area with about 375,000 residents. The department has over 1,100 majors, an applied master degree program that focuses on practical political management, and a doctoral program.

Florida State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The University is committed to diversity and inclusion (<https://diversity.fsu.edu/>), and we seek individuals who are dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, who share the University's goals to achieve greater diversity and inclusion, and who are reflective of our student body. The successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in a diverse, multicultural and inclusive setting. We encourage applications from women, minorities, and/or individuals with a demonstrated commitment to a culturally and intellectually diverse workplace.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application that indicates their research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendations, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Please submit files and questions about the search to polisci@fsu.edu. To ensure that materials are reviewed, please submit files by October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5869

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Economic, Racial/Ethnic, and/or Gender Inequality

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position – Advertisement
Department of Political Science at The University of Tennessee

Economic Racial/Ethnic and/or Gender Inequality

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in economic, racial/ethnic, and/or gender inequality, to begin Fall 2020. The position is open with regard to field in Political Science (or related discipline) and methodological approach. We welcome applications from scholars across the discipline who analyze how political actors, processes, institutions, outcomes or individuals are racialized, classed, and/or gendered and/or who take intersectional approaches to understanding these questions. We are particularly interested in applicants with substantive research agendas that grapple with challenging issues of marginalization and exclusion and who exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically motivated research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66902>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5864

North Central College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at North Central College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in political science with emphasis in public law, judicial politics, law and society, or comparative law to begin Fall 2020. Ph.D. must be in hand by August 1, 2020. Our department is committed to preparing students to contribute meaningfully to a democracy, while at the same time understanding the nuance of political equality and civic participation. We value diversity and are committed to social justice, equity, and inclusiveness. Experience working with historically marginalized and underserved communities will be weighed in a candidate's favor.

Applicants should have teaching experience and show potential for excellence in undergraduate teaching and scholarship. In addition to teaching courses in law (Introduction to Law, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties), a candidate should be prepared to teach the introductory course in American government and contribute to the department's methodology courses. The department expects that the successful candidate will also develop courses in their areas of expertise. There will be additional opportunities for the successful candidate to contribute to North Central's tradition of interdisciplinary learning.

Founded in 1861, North Central College is a selective, comprehensive liberal arts institution of about 3000 students, located 28 miles west of Chicago in Naperville. The College is in a period of growth with the addition of a $60 million Science Center opened in March 2017. The college is within walking distance of the Naperville Metra station and is next to downtown Naperville. The Naperville area is home to many excellent school districts and Naperville, IL has been ranked as one of the best places to live by Money magazine. For more information, please visit: <http://www.noctrl.edu>.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of scholarly interest, evidence of teaching effectiveness and three letters of recommendation in an electronic format.

To apply on line copy and paste link below into browser: <https://northcentralcollege.peopleadmin.com/postings/6584>

For further information, please email Dr. William Muck, Chair of Political Science, at wjmuck@noctrl.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5857

Boston University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics, Tenure-Track

The Department of Political Science seeks to hire a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics, broadly defined. We are open with respect to methodological approach and substantive and/or regional area of interest.

We seek a scholar whose work is focused on the urgent and perennial questions of world politics. These are now, and for the next several decades, likely to be concerned with processes of democratization, threats to democracy, causes of global inequality, challenges to national identity posed by migration, the political economy of changing modes of production, the regional and global impact of climate change, and how social movements succeed or fail. We are open with respect to the successful candidate's areas of interest and expertise which could include but are not restricted to the above questions and other interests such as diaspora, Native American and comparative Indigenous politics, human rights, authoritarianism or non-violent political change.

Successful candidates will contribute to the intellectual diversity of the department. They should be able to teach introductory undergraduate courses and advanced undergraduate and graduate courses in comparative politics. They may also teach in their substantive area of expertise.

Boston University is an exciting place in which to study and teach politics. It has internationally known regionally focused centers, e.g. an African Studies Center and a Center for the Study of Europe. Other centers focus on religion, gender and sexuality, cities, and long-range futures.

Application materials, addressed to the Chair of the Comparative Politics Search Committee, should be submitted electronically on <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14078> and include: a letter of interest describing your teaching and research interests and professional experience including your accomplishments in areas contributing to diversity, equity and inclusion; curriculum vitae; transcripts; evidence of previous teaching experience, including syllabi if those are available; a short writing sample, and three letters of reference sent directly from your recommenders.

Applications will be reviewed starting on 1 October 2019. Official transcripts are required prior to employment. The start day for employment is 1 July 2020, pending final budgetary approval.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5801

Centre College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Presidency, Congress, Quantitative Methods

Centre College invites applications for a Two-Year Visiting Assistant Professor in Politics with expertise in American and comparative political institutions. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college.

Candidates may specialize in either American or comparative politics as their primary field but must have a strong secondary specialization in the other. Ideal candidates should be able to teach courses on U.S. political institutions (Congress, Presidency, state and local politics, e.g.) as well as equivalent global political institutions. This candidate must also be able to teach courses on quantitative data analysis and contribute to the major's political research curricular track. Previous work with applied politics (campaigns, data analytics, journalism, e.g.) and/or a research focus on the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, or sexuality and political institutions is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment. Applications from A.B.D.

candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by October 1, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65567>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 10/1/2019
Date Posted: 7/17/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5788

American University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position Announcement

Assistant Professor
 Department of Government
 School of Public Affairs
 American University

The School of Public Affairs at American University invites applications for a tenure-line position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Comparative Politics beginning August 1, 2020. Applicants should have a PhD or an anticipated PhD completed by August 2020. Successful candidates will have strong methodological skills. The department is especially interested in scholars whose research and teaching interests extend beyond comparative politics to American politics or methodology, and build on the department's goals of producing high impact research, providing innovative undergraduate and graduate teaching, and contributing to high visibility centers and research initiatives at American University.

Salary and benefits are competitive. Review of applications will begin on September 16, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled, subject to ongoing budgetary approval. Please submit applications via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/64947>. Include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, and three letters of recommendation. Please email govsearch@american.edu if you have any questions.

Established in 1934, the School of Public Affairs offers undergraduate and graduate programs in the departments of Government; Justice, Law, & Criminology; and Public Administration & Policy. The School's programs are consistently ranked among the best in the field of public affairs by U.S. News & World Report. Learn more about the School of Public Affairs at www.american.edu/spa.

American University is a private institution within easy reach of many centers of government, business, research, and arts located in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu.

American University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution that operates in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, personal appearance, gender identity and expression, family responsibilities, political affiliation, source of income, veteran status, an individual's genetic information or any other bases under federal or local laws (collectively "Protected Bases") in its programs and activities. American University is a tobacco and smoke free campus.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 7/2/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5734

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Chinese Politics: International or Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: China, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for a position in international relations or comparative politics with a focus on China. We are especially interested in scholars who examine China's role in the world through the lens of international or comparative political economy.

The Department prides itself on its ability to foster innovative research and forge cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods.

Applicants at the level of assistant or associate professor are welcome. In addition to a cover letter, all applicants should submit a research statement, description of teaching philosophy, a writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send three letters of recommendation via Interfolio. Applicants at the level of associate professor, please provide the names of three references. Please visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/64888> to upload application materials.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2020.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5726

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).

5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/3/2020

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5683

Mrs.

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Grand Strategy, Security, and Statecraft Fellowship

With the support of the Charles Koch Foundation, the MIT Security Studies Program and the Belfer Center for Science and International Affairs are now accepting applications for joint two-year, pre- and post-doctoral fellowships in "the Project on Grand Strategy, Security and Statecraft."

<https://ssp.mit.edu/about/fellowships/statecraft-fellows-program><https://ssp.mit.edu/about/fellowships/statecraft-fellows-program>

Applications for 2020-2021 fellowships are being accepted until January 24, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/24/2020

Date Posted: 11/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7526

Southern Methodist University

Rank: Colin Powell Teaching Fellow in International Relations

Position No. 0070004. The Political Science Department at Southern Methodist University (SMU), in cooperation with the Tower Center for Public Policy and International Affairs, invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track position of Colin Powell Teaching Fellow in International Relations, starting Fall 2020. Teaching responsibilities include two classes per semester. Minimum qualifications include the completed Ph.D. in political science (required at the time of appointment), experience teaching undergraduate courses in political science, and a detailed research agenda. Candidates with expertise in international security studies, U.S. foreign policy, and international institutions are especially encouraged to apply.

The Political Science Department at SMU is a collegial, research-active community of scholars across all subfields of political science and administers undergraduate programs in political science, international studies, and public policy. The Tower Center is an interdisciplinary academic center that seeks to bridge the gap between the worlds of policymaking and academia by supporting research in public policy and international affairs. Classes at SMU are small and expectations are high in both teaching and research. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to teaching for both the Political Science Department and the Tower Scholars Program, a selective public policy minor that attracts exceptionally gifted students and is one of SMU's flagship undergraduate programs. The successful candidate for the Colin Powell Fellowship will be mentored by senior members of SMU's Political Science Department, who will provide guidance to help the Fellow develop her/his teaching and research portfolio. Salary, benefits, and research funding are competitive. Appointment to the position will be for one academic year, with the possibility of renewal for a second year upon satisfactory performance.

Applicants should submit a letter of application (including a statement of research and teaching interests), curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness if available, and a writing sample, through the Interfolio system at <http://apply.interfolio.com/71374>. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of recommendation uploaded using the Interfolio system. Questions regarding the position may be addressed to Prof. Stefano Recchia at: srecchia@smu.edu. Review of applications will begin on January 10, 2020, but the search will remain open until the position is filled. The committee will notify applicants of the employment decision after the position is filled.

Southern Methodist University is a comprehensive university of 11,000 undergraduate and graduate students located on a beautiful urban campus just north of downtown Dallas, Texas. SMU is an equal opportunity employer and will not discriminate in any program or activity on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity and expression. Women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The Executive Director for Access and Equity/Title IX Coordinator is designated to handle inquiries regarding nondiscrimination policies and may be reached at the Perkins Administration Building, Room 204, 6425 Boaz Lane, Dallas, TX 75205, 214-768-3601, accessequity@smu.edu. Hiring is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7525

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in International Relations and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, International Security, Research Methods, and International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;
- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, Position ID:56242 <http://apply.interfolio.com/71476>

Please email cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7518

Duke University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Duke University

Duke University was created in 1924 through an indenture of trust by James Buchanan Duke. Today, Duke is regarded as one of America's leading research universities. Located in Durham, North Carolina, Duke is positioned in the heart of the Research Triangle, which is ranked annually as one of the best places in the country to work and live. Duke has more than 15,000 students who study and conduct research in its 10 undergraduate, graduate and professional schools. With about 40,000 employees, Duke is the third largest private employer in North Carolina, and it now has international programs in more than 150 countries.

American Grand Strategy

The American Grand Strategy (AGS) Program is Duke's lead interdisciplinary initiative that creates and disseminates new knowledge in the grand strategy field. The mission of the program is to prepare the next generation of strategists by studying past generations and interacting with current strategic leaders.

In 2018, AGS partnered with a team of scholar-practitioners from Johns Hopkins University, and University of Texas-Austin to launch a consortium to better prepare the next generation to confront geopolitical challenges and better understand American national interests abroad. This position would support AGS in the consortium's efforts by advancing the body of rigorous scholarship investigating these questions and exposing Duke students to cutting edge work in this area.

Job Description

AGS seeks an America in the World Consortium Post-Doctoral Associate to begin in July 2020. Applicants from all disciplines whose research bears directly on American grand strategy, broadly defined, are welcome to apply. However, strong preference will be given to applicants with a doctorate in political science whose research has a strong connection to policy.

The America in the World Associate will be expected to conduct independent research activities in preparation for a full time academic or research career and will teach one seminar suitable for cross-listing in the Department of Political Science and the Sanford School of Public Policy. The Associate will also contribute to the life of the AGS program by attending and, where appropriate and by mutual agreement, serving as a senior leader on co-curricular activities.

The Associate is expected to be in residence and may not undertake any other sustained teaching or employment during his/her tenure at Duke. Successful applicants will be able to spend the substantial portion of their time working on their own research and writing projects, while taking advantage of the many academic resources available at Duke University.

Stipend Information

The Associate accepted to the program will be offered a competitive stipend, full use of Duke facilities, and office space at the Sanford School of Public Policy or the Department of Political Science as appropriate.

The position will provide funding for a minimum of 12 months.

Requirements:

- A terminal degree in a related field such as political science, public policy or history.
- Established work in a related area.

How to Apply:

Please submit the following items to begin your application on Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajol/jobs/15537>

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Statement
- A sample syllabus that is representative of a suggested course
- Article or writing sample representing an existing contribution to the field of American grand strategy, broadly defined.

Contact Name:

Melanie Benson

Contact Email:

Melanie.benson@duke.edu

Deadline to Apply:

Sunday, January 5, 2020

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Duke aspires to create a community built on collaboration, innovation, creativity, and belonging. Our collective success depends on the robust exchange of ideas—an exchange that is best when the rich diversity of our perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences flourishes. To achieve this exchange, it is essential that all members of the community feel secure and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community have a responsibility to uphold these values.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Date Posted: 11/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7498

Western Connecticut State University

Rank: Assistant Professor Political Science International Relations

Western Connecticut State University
Macricostas School of Arts & Sciences
Department of Social Sciences

Assistant Professor – Political Science – International Relations

Tenure-Track

Academic Year 2020 - 2021

Western Connecticut State University's Macricostas School of Arts & Sciences is pleased to announce that applications are being accepted for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science in International Relations.

The Macricostas School of Arts and Sciences is home to 13 departments (<http://www.wcsu.edu/departments.asp>), 21 undergraduate majors (<http://www.wcsu.edu/admissions/programs.asp>) and five graduate majors (<http://www.wcsu.edu/graduate/degrees/degrees.asp>), and offers a variety of ways for students to further their education. The Department of Social Sciences offers BA degrees in Anthropology/Sociology, Economics, Political Science, and Social Sciences. WCSU's social sciences programs provide students with a critical understanding and holistic appreciation of the cultural, political, social and economic behavior of society.

The successful candidate must have a primary concentration in International Relations and be prepared to teach advanced courses on a range of topics in the field. The successful candidate will also be able to teach quantitative methods as part of the department's methods core, which culminates in a senior thesis capstone.

Faculty members are expected to conduct scholarly research, as well as participate in departmental and university service by taking an active role in developing new curricula, advising and mentoring students, serving on departmental and university committees, assisting student groups on campus, and engaging in professional activity. WCSU has a 4/4 teaching load, but class sizes are capped at between 15-38 students each. Faculty may apply for course load reduction for research purposes beginning in their second year. Additionally, there are generous travel, research, and other grants competitively awarded each year.

Qualifications: A completed doctorate in Political Science with a primary focus in International Relations is required at time of employment. Preference will be given to applicants with a secondary qualification in Comparative Politics. Candidates with demonstrable strengths in one or more of the following will be preferred: environmental politics, conflict studies, computational methods, and media and politics. Prior teaching experience at the collegiate level is preferred. We are particularly interested in applicants who have experience working with students from diverse backgrounds and a demonstrated commitment to improving access to higher education for first generation and under-represented groups.

WCSU is committed to enhancing our diverse university community by actively encouraging candidates who can contribute to this goal to apply. We take pride in our pluralistic community and continue to seek excellence through diversity and inclusion.

Salary & Benefits: The salary range is $64,422 – $85,896 and is commensurate upon candidates' experience. WCSU offers a comprehensive benefits package. Additional information on benefits can be found at www.wcsu.edu/hr/benefits/. There are grant opportunities to support research and conference attendance.

Application Process: Interested applicants must submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement; and the names and contact information for at least three (3) professional references to facultyvitae@wcsu.edu. In the Email Subject Line Reference Search #900-003. All materials should be submitted as PDF files. Applications must be received by Friday, January 17, 2019. Late applications will not be accepted.

State and Federal requirements expect that organizations with 100 or more employees invite applicants to self-identify gender and race. We kindly request all applicants to complete the Affirmative Action Data Questionnaire via the following link: <http://www.wcsu.edu/diversity/affirmative-action-data-questionnaire/>. Any questions may be directed to Ms. Keisha Stokes in the WCSU Office of Diversity and Equity at stokesk@wcsu.edu. Completion of this data will not affect your opportunity for employment, or terms or conditions of employment. This form will be used for reporting purposes only and will be kept separate from all search records and only accessed by the Office of Diversity and Equity.

WCSU is an Affirmative Action Equal Opportunity Educator/Employer

PI115627066

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7504

Creighton University

Rank: Resident Assistant Professor

Creighton University's Department of Political Science and International Relations invites applications from highly motivated, successful, and collaborative candidates for a Resident Assistant Professor position in the Department of Political Science and International Relations beginning August 2020. The successful candidate will have completed the PhD., have teaching experience, and show promise of excellence in both teaching and scholarship. We are interested in candidates broadly trained in international relations theories and approaches. Successful candidates will also have substantial methodological training. The candidate will need to teach introductory and upper division undergraduate courses in the International Relations program. The successful candidate will also be willing and able to mentor undergraduates in substantial empirical research projects, such as the department's senior thesis requirement and contribute to collaborative faculty-student research. The position would begin in August of 2020 and is renewable for an additional academic year.

We encourage applications from qualified individuals representing all backgrounds and faith traditions who can contribute to our distinctive academic traditions. Creighton is a Jesuit/Catholic University, emphasizing formation of character as well as education in the liberal arts. It places a premium on small class size and on serious interaction among faculty and students that contribute to a strong community of learning. Creighton University is an EEO/AA employer, committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. Minority and women candidates are encouraged to apply. Review of applications begins on January 6, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Please submit letter of interest indicating qualifications, statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly agenda, as well as an updated C.V., four letters of recommendation, and evidence of achievement in teaching and scholarship to: Dr. Erika Moreno, Chair, Political Science and International Relations, Creighton University, 2500 California Plaza, Omaha, NE 68178.

Potential candidates are encouraged to review the Faculty Handbook at:

https://www.creighton.edu/fileadmin/user/GeneralCounsel/docs/Faculty_Handbook_2016__complete_.pdf

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7493

International Crisis Group

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship on the Future of Conflict

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Behavior

Postdoctoral Fellowship on the Future of Conflict

The International Crisis Group (Crisis Group) and the Empirical Studies of Conflict Project (ESOC) seek applicants for a Postdoctoral Fellowship position. This position provides the opportunity to work closely with Crisis Group experts and ESOC academic researchers. The fellowship will entail empirical research, policy analysis, and engagement with policymakers to prevent, resolve or better manage deadly conflict. The fellow will contribute directly to Crisis Group reports. We are particularly interested in three thematic areas: the economic causes and consequences of conflict, the relationship between climate change and conflict, and the role of new technologies in conflict. We are open to geographic focuses on the countries/regions Crisis Group covers across Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America and the Middle East (see www.crisisgroup.org).

The fellow will be primarily based in one of Crisis Group's offices in New York, DC or London -- with travel as needed for the field research -- or in a Crisis Group regional office as appropriate based on geographic focus area. In addition, the fellow will regularly visit ESOC members relevant to their research and actively collaborate with a multi-university team of scholars who are conducting cutting edge research on the causes and consequences of politically motivated conflict through the production, aggregation, and dissemination of high-resolution data on historical and current conflicts.

Qualifications include:

We seek candidates with exceptional potential to thrive in a demanding policy role while advancing their own cutting-edge research. Candidates should be on track to complete a PhD in economics, political science, public policy or a related discipline by June 2020, or have recently completed their PhD. Preference will be given to scholars with a successful track record of international field research and econometric analysis in the areas of political violence, governance, or development, and demonstrated experience and interest in policy analysis. Relevant language skills and regional experience will be taken into account. Fellowship recipients have included Mica Sviatschi (Assistant Professor, Princeton Economics), Renard Sexton (Assistant Professor, Emory Political Science), Jane Esberg (2019-2020 fellow), and Anouk Rigterink (2019-2020 fellow).

Applications should include a letter of introduction of no more than 3 pages, a CV, and contact information for three references. The cover letter should address both regional and thematic interests.

A competitive salary, commensurate with experience, and excellent benefits will be offered. The start date is negotiable but no sooner than 1 April 2020.

Screening of applications will begin on 1 December and continue on a rolling basis until the position is filled. All applications must be received by 1 February 2020.

Click the link below to apply to this position:

<https://jobs.crisisgroup.org/o/postdoctoral-fellowship-on-the-future-of-conflict>

Potential applicants unfamiliar with ESOC's research program are welcome to contact Assistant Professor Tarek Ghani (tghani@wustl.edu) or Professor Jacob N. Shapiro (jns@princeton.edu) with questions and to visit <http://esoc.princeton.edu/> to learn more.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7472

The New School

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs and Global Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs (SGPIA) and the Global Studies Program of The New School invite applications for a renewable-term (non-tenure track) faculty position as Assistant Professor of International Affairs and Global Studies beginning on July 1, 2020.

We are seeking a scholar from any of the disciplines in the social sciences with an active agenda of research and publication relevant to the two programs, and a record of excellent teaching. We encourage applications from candidates whose research crosses disciplines and works with heterodox/non-mainstream theoretical frameworks (such as feminist, post-colonial/decolonial, non-Western, or indigenous approaches, among others). We are interested in candidates who pursue innovative research agendas that engage with urgent contemporary challenges, and who explore creative pedagogies. A particular research focus is not required. However, there are fields that would be of particular interest, including: environmental studies, science and technology studies, legal studies and indigenous studies. Research areas of interest include global justice, sustainability, and digital technologies. A focus on the Global South would be preferred, particularly China and the Middle East region.

The teaching load is five graduate/undergraduate courses per year or its equivalent, plus advising students and supervising theses in both programs. The successful candidate should also demonstrate an interest and aptitude for curriculum development and rotational faculty leadership roles.

The position would be a joint appointment to SGPIA that offers graduate degrees and the Global Studies program that serves undergraduates. The position is homed in SGPIA in the Schools of Public Engagement but will involve participating in and contributing to teaching, advising and service in both faculties. Both are interdisciplinary programs that include faculty with diverse disciplinary backgrounds in the social sciences and the humanities. Both programs bridge critical theory and practical training and investigate complex global processes and issues. The approach is distinctive in the New School tradition: reflective, iconoclastic, and socially engaged. Information about The New School and the Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs can be found at: <https://www.newschool.edu/public-engagement/ma-ms-international-affairs/> and Global Studies at: <https://www.newschool.edu/lang/global-studies/>.

The New School is committed to actively recruiting from a diverse pool of applicants. We encourage candidates from around the world and from groups underrepresented in US higher education to apply. The New School does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, color, creed, sex or gender (including gender identity and expression), pregnancy, sexual orientation, religion, religious practices, mental or physical disability, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, veteran status, marital or partnership status, or any other legally protected status.

The New School, a private university in New York City, serves undergraduate and graduate students across a range of fields with a commitment to bringing social science research and practices in design to studying issues of our time and challenging students to become engaged global citizens dedicated to contributing to the public good.

Qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in one of the social sciences (including but not limited to political science, economics, anthropology, sociology, and geography),
- teaching experience at the university level,
- capacity to work well with people from diverse cultural backgrounds and levels of professional experience.

To Apply:

For full consideration, please submit applications by December 1st although applications will be considered until the position is filled. Using The New School's human resources website, <http://careers.newschoo.edu> applicants must submit:

1. a cover letter summarizing their qualifications and teaching experience;
2. a curriculum vitae;
3. a statement of teaching philosophy and practice relevant to this position;
4. two academic writing samples;
5. teaching evaluations;
6. the names of three references.

For information on the University benefits package including health and retirement plans, please visit <http://www.newschoo.edu/human-resources/benefits/>

<https://careers.newschoo.edu/postings/18340>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7477

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Lightning Scholar

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Immigration Policy, Defense

PERRY WORLD HOUSE LIGHTNING SCHOLARS SABBATICAL RESIDENCY PROGRAM:
CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

The Global Innovation Program at the University of Pennsylvania's Perry World House invites applications for its 2020-2021 Lightning Scholars Program. This program brings untenured, but tenure-track, faculty at either the assistant or associate level from around the world to Philadelphia for a semester or year of writing, fellowship, and bridging the gap between academia and the policy world.

Since launching in 2016, Perry World House has catalyzed interdisciplinary and policy-relevant research by scholars at Penn and around the globe and convened conversations in Philadelphia on the most pressing global challenges. With fellowship and scholars programs, Perry World House has connected Penn's students and faculty with the world's leading academics and policy makers, infusing our research, teaching and, engagement with the ideas, wisdom and experience of those shaping world events.

This fellowship program allows untenured faculty members at leading research universities around the world to join Perry World House and the Penn community for a semester or full academic year in residence in Philadelphia to produce a major research project or book. While the fellowship program is for faculty working on global affairs topics, preference will be given to faculty working on subjects broadly related to our two research themes, The Future of the Global Order: Technology, Power and Governance and Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Demography. We are also especially interested in applications from faculty working at the intersection of our research themes and climate change policy. More information on our research themes can be found here: <https://global.upenn.edu/perryworldhouse/research>.

The ideal candidates for this new program will be looking for an in-residence fellowship away from their home institution that will provide the space and support to write, but also the opportunity to collaborate with an interdisciplinary and vibrant community of global affairs scholars and practitioners. Perry World House is especially interested in faculty whose work connects to important global policy conversations and who will want to engage in dialogue with some of the many policymakers from around the world who visit Perry World House. The program's compensation is significant and negotiated on a case-by-case basis. The program is intended to allow the selected Lightning Scholar to take a comfortable leave from their home institution often by supporting the difference between a one semester sabbatical provided by the home institution and a full year leave. Although final compensation will depend on the circumstances of each applicant, the program will provide at least $50,000 as well as relevant fees and health insurance, if needed. The fellowship will also include $5,000 in research support, as well as the opportunity to help shape workshops and colloquia at Perry World House.

Applications, which should be submitted via Interfolio, are welcome from scholars who have either a Ph.D. or equivalent degrees (including a J.D.), are standing faculty members at a college or university, and are on the tenure track but still untenured. Applications for the 2020-2021 academic years will be reviewed on a rolling basis starting January 13, 2020. Applicants must include a cover-letter, three-page proposal, CV, a letter of support from their home department/institution, and a confidential letter of recommendation. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of support should be received by that date.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71105>

General Information

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email visitingfellowship@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7478

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship - Borders and Boundaries

Specializations: Defense, Immigration Policy, Foreign Policy

PERRY WORLD HOUSE POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

BORDERS & BOUNDARIES IN WORLD POLITICS, AY 2020-2021

The Project on Borders and Boundaries in World Politics is looking to fill two postdoctoral fellow positions. Both are one-year and renewable. Partially supported by the National Science Foundation, the Project is concerned with boundaries between organized human communities, broadly understood. International borders, border regions and border crossings have multiple significance as designations of state authority, security buffers, expressions of social meaning and opportunities for economic integration. Border regions and activities speak to national and local encounters with neighbors and the rest of the world. This project is concerned with how humans demarcate the space between "us" and "them." It contextualizes border architecture, infrastructure and institutions as expressions of various social, political and economic anxieties associated with globalization. This research team will concern itself with a broad range of questions relating to "bordering" in world politics. The project team is run by Professor Beth Simmons, Andrea Mitchell University Professor in Law, Political Science, and Business Ethics, as well as Assistant Professor Michael Kenwick (Rutgers University).

Research Postdoctoral Fellowship: The postdoctoral fellow will split their time between their own research and Borders & Boundaries project research. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to work 25% of their time on project research. Applicants with an interest in territorial politics; migration and movement across borders; development in and across border regions; border crossing regimes, architectures and institutions; transnational migration; transnational crime, human trafficking and law enforcement across borders; and related issues are welcome to apply. Skills in empirical spatial analysis, GIS technologies, mapping technologies, experimental analyses, computerized textual and imaging analyses, and similar technologies are highly desirable, as are computer programming skills and experience using large computer databases and statistical software.

Research and Program Management Postdoctoral Fellowship: The post-doctoral fellow will work with and help manage the Borders & Boundaries research team. Since the successful candidate will have primary responsibility for managing team effort and output, strong data management and organizational skills are essential. Skills in computational methods, GIS and spatial data analytics, textual and imaging analysis, network analysis, and/or experimental methods are particularly valued, as is experience working within a research lab. We welcome candidates pursuing research careers inside or outside academia. Substantive interest in territorial politics; migration; development in and across border regions; border crossing regimes; transnational crime, law enforcement across borders and related issues is valued. The fellow is expected to actively work on lab projects and coordinate effort among team members.

Requirements and Application Information

There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to give a presentation during the academic year in the Perry World House Seminar Series, engage with Perry World House's Undergraduate Student Fellows, and attend regularly scheduled seminars. Perry World House will also introduce each postdoctoral fellow to related faculty and leaders of centers and institutes at the University of Pennsylvania. Postdocs will be housed with the Global Innovation Program in Perry World House.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than June 2018), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting Monday, January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

To apply, please go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/71226>. Applicants will be asked to complete a short form as well as upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one-page research statement, writing sample, unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students), and contact information for a letter writer, who will be asked to submit a confidential letter of recommendation through Interfolio.

General Information

Upon provision of and contingent upon proof of conferral of the PhD degree, all postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email postdoc@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7480

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: PostDoc Fellowship - Global Innovation Program

Specializations: Foreign Policy, Defense, Immigration Policy

PERRY WORLD HOUSE POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

The Global Innovation Program at the University of Pennsylvania's Perry World House invites applications for its postdoctoral fellowship program during the 2020-2021 academic year. The Global Innovation Program is the research arm of Perry World House, the University of Pennsylvania's new university-wide hub for global engagement and interdisciplinary international policy research. Perry World House connects Penn to the international policy world through research, student engagement, and public programming, bringing the university's intellectual resources to bear on the urgent global challenges of the 21st century.

We hope to bring several postdoctoral fellows to campus for the 2020-2021 academic year. We are seeking excellent scholars who study global affairs and have interest in interdisciplinary outreach and policy relevance. We are particularly interested in applicants in the following areas:

- The Future of the Global Order: Power, Technology, and Governance
- Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Demography

The Future of the Global Order

Changes in global economic, military, and technological circumstances are evident in growing concerns around the world about the future of arms control, multilateral economic institutions, technological decoupling, the future of the Islamic State, and more. The post-Cold War global order may be at a tipping point. In addition, systemic trends such as globalization and climate change mean that the challenges of today and tomorrow will be global – and require global responses. The role of automated trading algorithms in the 2010 “Flash Crash” in the United States, combined with the specter of drone warfare around the world due and the proliferation of military robotics, highlight how the intersection of technologies such as cyber and robotics presents enormous challenges for global business and diplomatic norms. In a time of change, academic research has the potential to shed significant light on these issues, and highlight new and important approaches for the global policy community.

In this theme area, Perry World House will focus in part, but not exclusively, on four areas: the impacts of emerging technologies for global politics, shifting global power balances and how they influence both state and non-state actors, the evolution of international legal regimes, and the ability of the international community to sustain effective governing institutions in times of change.

Global Shifts

Urbanization, migration, and demographic changes are transforming the human environment, creating both new challenges and opportunities. The UN High Commission for Refugees said in 2015 that the world faces the highest level of human displacement since its founding in 1950. New and changing migration patterns, whether driven by civil wars, instability due to environmental change, economic hardships, or potential opportunities elsewhere, have depth and nuance that have proven hard to predict – or track. At the same time, over 66% of the world’s population will live in urban spaces by 2050, raising critical questions about urban vitality and sustainability.

Yet, the diverse causes and consequences of urbanization, migration, and demographic change have not been fully understood, and are too often examined in isolation. The University of Pennsylvania is poised to contribute to pressing policy debates and to help develop new approaches to these global shifts given the University’s numerous strengths in urban studies, sociology, demography, law, and politics. The Global Innovation Program at Perry World House will bring together Penn’s strengths in these areas through an interconnected examination of urbanization, migration, and demography.

Requirements and Application Information

Postdoctoral fellows in Global Order and Global Shifts research areas will pursue their own research as well as participate in the intellectual life of the Global Innovation Program and Perry World House. Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to give a presentation during the academic year in the Perry World House Seminar Series, publish policy relevant scholarship related to Perry World House themes, and attend regularly scheduled seminars. They will also be expected to spend up to 10% of their time contributing to the intellectual environment at Perry World House, including working with Perry World House’s Undergraduate Student Fellows, as well as designing and planning engagement in relevant theme areas. Perry World House will also introduce each postdoctoral fellow to related faculty and leaders of centers and institutes at the University of Pennsylvania.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees (including a J.D. in the case of applicants focused on international legal regimes) in the last two years (not earlier than 2018), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting Monday, January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

Upon provision of and contingent upon proof of conferral of the PhD degree, all postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71103>. Applicants will be asked to complete a short form as well as upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of two letter writers who can submit a letter of recommendation.

General Information

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn’s Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email postdoc@pwh.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7479

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position Penn Identity & Conflict Lab

POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

ONE POST-DOCTORAL POSITION, AY 2020-2021:

PENN IDENTITY & CONFLICT LAB

The Penn Identity & Conflict (PIC) Lab, led by Professor Nicholas Sambanis at the Department of Political Science of the University of Pennsylvania, seeks exceptional candidates for a one-year, full-time, renewable, residential appointment as a postdoctoral research fellow. The Lab is dedicated to addressing a broad range of critical questions focused on inter-group conflict. The Lab prioritizes research in three key areas: how social identities shape individual behavior, how conflict affects identities, and what interventions are effective in reducing inter-group conflict of different forms. Both violent and non-violent forms of conflict are considered, and the Lab integrates knowledge across the social and behavioral sciences to better understand bias, discrimination, and violence.

Fellows will split their time between their own research and work with Professor Nicholas Sambanis on different projects generated from the PIC Lab. Ongoing projects address foreign intervention and peacebuilding after ethno-sectarian war; the legacies of wartime violence exposure; the causes of violent escalation of separatist conflicts; and causes and mitigation of non-violent inter-group conflict, including conflict between native and immigrant populations.

Requirements and Application Information

Job responsibilities will vary depending on the strengths and interests of the successful applicant but will include some combination of conducting research and co-authoring papers and reports with the PIC Lab Director and affiliated faculty; assisting with grant proposals; and providing support with data collection, management, and analysis for ongoing projects at the Lab.

Successful applicants will have excellent training in quantitative methods (statistical analysis, survey, and experimental methods). Programming skills are highly desirable. Applicants should have outstanding organizational and communications skills and prior experience using large computer databases and different statistical software (including Stata, R, and Qualtrics). Applicants should be intellectually curious, ambitious, energetic, highly self-disciplined, and self-motivated; they should be able to work individually and as part of a team; and be open to conducting fieldwork outside the U.S. Inter-disciplinary training in experimental economics and/or social psychology and adjacent fields is a plus.

There is no formal teaching requirement. Fellows will be expected to help organize the PIC Lab workshop; will give one presentation during the academic year at the workshop and potentially in the Perry World House Seminar Series; and will potentially help organize a conference/policy workshop.

Compensation and General Information

All postdoctoral fellow positions pay a stipend of $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,000 in research support.

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the last two years (not earlier than 2017), or who expect to complete their degree by June 2020. Applications will be reviewed starting January 13, 2020. To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received by that date.

To apply, please go to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71104> Applicants will be asked to upload a cover letter, CV/resume, one page research statement, writing sample, and unofficial PhD transcript (only required for current graduate students). We will also ask for the name and email address of a letter writer who can submit a letter of recommendation.

The University of Pennsylvania is strongly committed to Penn's Action Plan for Faculty Diversity and Excellence and to establishing a more diverse community at Penn (for more information see: <http://www.upenn.edu/almanac/volumes/v58/n02/diversityplan.html>).

The University of Pennsylvania values diversity and seeks talented students, faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds. The University of Pennsylvania does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, age, disability, veteran status or any other legally protected class status in the administration of its admissions, financial aid, educational or athletic programs, or other University-administered programs or in its employment practices. Questions or complaints regarding this policy should be directed to the Executive Director of the Office of Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Programs, Sansom Place East, 3600 Chestnut Street, Suite 228, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6106; or (215) 898-6993 (Voice) or (215) 898-7803 (TDD).

If you have questions, please email pic-lab@sas.upenn.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7481

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: CFR Call for 2020-2021 Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship

Nuclear security is one of the greatest challenges facing the world today. The spread of nuclear weapons to unstable and hostile states, the risk of conflict between nuclear-armed nations, and the potential for terrorist groups to acquire nuclear arms all demand new thinking and creative policy solutions. The Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship offers younger scholars studying nuclear security issues the opportunity to spend a period of twelve months at CFR's offices in New York or Washington, DC, conducting policy-relevant research. While in residence full time at CFR, selected fellows will lead a project of their own design, conduct original research, and write at least one policy-relevant document.

Fellowship Award

The duration of the fellowship is twelve months, preferably beginning in September. The program awards a stipend of $110,000 for junior faculty and $80,000 for postdoctoral fellows. Payment will be made in twelve equal monthly installments. Fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR, and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance.

Application

The deadline to apply for the Fellowship is December 15, 2019. Program details, eligibility requirements, and the online application can be found online at: <https://www.cfr.org/fellowships/stanton-nuclear-security-fellowship>. If you have additional questions, please contact fellowships@cfr.org.

How to Apply

You can apply for this position online at <https://www.cfr.org/fellowships/stanton-nuclear-security-fellowship>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7471

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, International Relations

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly motivated Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy to join the research team at the Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford.

The research project aims to contribute international and comparative research on how different technology companies approach issues around free speech and news/journalism, and how policymakers and regulators are approaching technology companies' role in these two areas. The project will operate at the intersection between social science, media and technology research, and policy and law, and seeks to produce timely, relevant, and accessible high-quality empirical research to advance our understanding of – and inform decision making around – issues in the area of technology and policy important for the future of journalism worldwide

The successful candidate will take responsibility for and conduct the empirical research necessary for the implementation and execution of this approach as well as working with colleagues on developing an appropriate approach to the project, academic publications and other project outputs based on the research done.

You should hold a completed PhD/DPhil (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies, social science, or the law. Experience in working with relevant quantitative methods, analysis and familiarity with the existing literature and work and excellent written, editing, and verbal communication skills to demonstrate the potential to write and present at an international level are essential. Knowledge of the literature and debate around platform governance and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research would be desirable.

This is a full-time appointment fixed-term for 2 years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Friday 13 December 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website quoting reference 143613.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/13/2019

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7467

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, International Relations

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly motivated Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy to join the research team at the Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford.

The research project aims to contribute international and comparative research on how different technology companies approach issues around free speech and news/journalism, and how policymakers and regulators are approaching technology companies' role in these two areas. The project will operate at the intersection between social science, media and technology research, and policy and law, and seeks to produce timely, relevant, and accessible high-quality empirical research to advance our understanding of – and inform decision making around – issues in the area of technology and policy important for the future of journalism worldwide

The successful candidate will take responsibility for and conduct the empirical research necessary for the implementation and execution of this approach as well as working with colleagues on developing an appropriate approach to the project, academic publications and other project outputs based on the research done.

You should hold a completed PhD/DPhil (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies, social science, or the law. Experience in working with relevant quantitative methods, analysis and familiarity with the existing literature and work and excellent written, editing, and verbal communication skills to demonstrate the potential to write and present at an international level are essential. Knowledge of the literature and debate around platform governance and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research would be desirable.

This is a full-time appointment fixed-term for 2 years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Friday 13 December 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website quoting reference 143613.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/13/2019

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7468

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Nuclear Security Fellow

NUCLEAR SECURITY FELLOWS PROGRAM

The Security Studies Program at MIT invites applications for fellows in the field of nuclear security. Fellowships are available for pre-doctoral and post-doctoral scholars and for junior faculty. Fellows are expected to produce policy-relevant research, including book manuscripts, draft articles, dissertations, chapters in edited volumes, or reports. Nuclear security is defined broadly to include nuclear terrorism, nuclear proliferation and nonproliferation, nuclear weapons, nuclear doctrine and force structure, nuclear energy as it relates to nuclear security, and other topics that involve nuclear security. The deadline for applications is 10 January 2020. Application forms (and further information about eligibility requirements) are available at <https://ssp.mit.edu/about/fellowships/nuclear-security-fellows-program><https://ssp.mit.edu/about/fellowships/nuclear-security-fellows-program>. Applications, along with any further questions should be submitted by email to: <mailto:ssp-fellowships@mit.edu><mailto:ssp-fellowships@mit.edu>. MIT is an AA/EO employer and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Start Date: Fall

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7462

Dartmouth College

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellows Program in U.S. Foreign Policy and International Security

The John Sloan Dickey Center for International Understanding at Dartmouth College invites applications for the 2020-21 (September - June) Dartmouth Fellows Program in U.S. Foreign Policy and International Security. Historically, most Fellows have been political scientists and historians, but we welcome applications from any scholar whose research bears directly on foreign policy or international security. While scholars at all stages of their careers will be considered, applicants who are recent recipients of the Ph.D., or equivalent degree, are especially welcomed. Fellows must be in residence during their Fellowship to participate in Dickey Center seminars and events throughout the academic year.

Fellows receive competitive stipends, research support, and benefits, comparable to those offered by other fellowship programs. Faculty on leave from their home institutions will receive half of their annual salary, up to $50,000. Dartmouth is an EE/AO employer.

Applications will be evaluated based on the quality and significance of the proposed research and its relevance to foreign policy and international security, and the ability of the applicant to benefit from interaction with and mentoring from Dartmouth faculty.

HOW TO APPLY

Applicants must submit all of the following by Thursday, January 2, 2020, to:
apply.interfolio.com/70904

- A curriculum vitae
- Research abstract (200 words max.)
- A statement of up to 1,500 words describing the proposed research project
- A writing sample (50 pp. max)
- Two confidential letters of reference
- Graduate school transcript (Unofficial transcripts are acceptable. Junior faculty and professionals may include a transcript, but are not required to do so.)
- A confidential financial statement on a separate page indicating the applicant's other sources of support available during the fellowship period and—for current faculty only—current salary.

Questions? Please contact Thomas Candon (Thomas.K.Candon@dartmouth.edu or 603-646-4079).

Start Date: Spring 2019

Application Deadline: 1/2/2020

Date Posted: 11/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7447

University of Missouri, Columbia

Rank: Post-Doctoral Position in Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri invites applications for a 2-year post-doctoral position; all fields will be considered with a preference for those with strong empirical methodological skills.

Applicants should also demonstrate how they can contribute to faculty diversity, such as through membership in a group that is historically underrepresented in political science or through other experience.

Positions are for two years during which time the scholars focus on scholarship and participate in an array of professional development activities that integrate and expose them to the faculty experience, including the opportunity to teach in the second year.

In order to be eligible for this program, applicants must have completed their doctoral degree within that past 6 years – or expect to complete their doctoral degree by no later than July 1, 2020.

The deadline for applications is December 1, 2019. Candidates who demonstrate evidence of scholarship potential to be competitive for tenure-track appointments at the University of Missouri or other research universities will be invited for on-campus interviews.

To apply, please visit: <https://tinyurl.com/MU-PFF-Postdoc>. Applicants will be asked to include the following in their online application:

- Cover letter expressing interest in the position
- CV
- Statement of goals for postdoctoral position
- Diversity statement
- One-page abstract of doctoral dissertation
- Writing sample
- 3 letters of reference

Questions may be directed to Dr. Lissa Behm-Morawitz (Associate Dean of the Graduate School) at postdoc@missouri.edu; or Dr. Lael Keiser (Interim Chair of Political Science) at keiserl@missouri.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 11/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7450

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The School for International Studies at Simon Fraser University seeks an established scholar for a full-time, tenure track position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor to fill the Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security, a position endowed by The Simons Foundation Canada. The start date could be as early as July 1, 2020.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science discipline, or an SJD in law, and an outstanding record of research and teaching. The chairholder will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and teaching focused on the nexus of international law and human security, broadly defined. The chairholder will create new curriculum, provide intellectual leadership, and foster public understanding through conferences and symposia. The Chair is endowed with a research grant and a reduced teaching load of normally two courses per year. Appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, depending on qualifications.

Simon Fraser University is a leading Canadian public research university (consistently ranked #1 by Maclean's Magazine for best comprehensive university in Canada). The School for International Studies is an interdisciplinary unit with research and teaching programs focused on peace and security; international development; human rights and international law; and governance and civil society. The School is based at SFU's Vancouver campus in the heart of downtown.

This is a senior level position. Only those holding a faculty position at the Associate Professor or Professor rank will be considered. Applications will be treated in confidence and should include: a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching, one representative publication, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants should also provide the names, addresses and phone/e-mail of six academic referees of high standing. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 8, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. The position is subject to the availability of funding.

Materials should be sent in a single pdf file via email to intst@sfu.ca. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Tamir Moustafa, at tmoustafa@sfu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7445

American University-SIS

Rank: One Full-Time Non-Tenure Track Faculty Position

The School of International Service (SIS) at American University (AU) invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track faculty appointment for the Academic Year 2020-2021 with a focus on US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Academic Rank and compensation will depend on the successful candidate's experience, accomplishments and professional stature in the field. The appointment is for one academic year, commencing on August 1, 2020, with the expectation that the appointment may be renewed for subsequent academic years subject to satisfactory performance and budgetary authorization.

The position is intended for a person who will teach courses six courses (undergraduate and/or MA-level graduate) per academic year. All faculty are expected to hold office hours and participate in School and University activities and service. Applicants should share the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Applicants should hold a PhD or the highest equivalent degree in a social science discipline by the anticipated start date or employment. Experienced practitioners with equivalent qualifications (MA/MS/JD and ten years of professional experience in the field) will also be considered.

The successful candidate will teach primarily courses related to US foreign policy and national/global/human security.

Review of applications will begin in January 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

- Applications must be submitted electronically via <http://apply.interfolio.com/69797>

- Attach a letter of application that addresses affinities with relevant teaching areas

- Attach a 1-page statement of teaching philosophy

- Attach student evaluations of teaching, if applicable and/or other evidence of teaching effectiveness

- Please also attach a statement of your past or future contributions to diversity and inclusion in professional settings or in institutions of higher education

- You will be asked to submit the names and email addresses of three professional references and request that they be contacted through the Interfolio portal for a confidential letter of recommendation.

Queries about the search may be sent to Assistant Dean for Graduate Education Michael Schroeder at schroede@american.edu Assistance with the online application system can be found here: <https://support.interfolio.com>

American University is a private institution of higher education in the nation's capital. For more information about American University, visit www.american.edu. American University's School of International Service (SIS) is a top-ten school of international affairs with 3,000 students, 120+ full-time faculty and more than 20,000 alumni worldwide. SIS faculty produce transformational research and our prime location provides opportunities for collaboration with professionals in government, the private sector, think tanks and other non-profits. Learn more about SIS at www.american.edu/sis.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7410

Colorado Mesa University

Rank: Visiting Professor of History or Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Distinguished scholars in History or Political Science are invited to apply for the Wayne N. Aspinall Chair at Colorado Mesa University. For a $10,000 stipend, the visiting professor will spend three weeks on the Colorado Mesa University campus from late March-to mid-April 2021; teach a one-credit course, give a major public lecture, and make any other invited appearances. Applications must include a vitae, a brief outline of a course proposal and a topic for the major public lecture. Submit application by February 1, 2020 to Dr. Justin Gollob, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Colorado Mesa University, 1100 North Ave., Grand Junction, CO 81501. Feel free to direct any inquiries to jgollob@coloradomesa.edu or 970 248-1279.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 7365

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate Professor, International Economics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration

Associate Professor, International Economics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (<http://gps.ucsd.edu>) is seeking to fill a tenured Associate Professor position in the field of economics effective July 1, 2020. The school seeks an outstanding scholar with a strong empirical orientation working on issues related to the global economy, including trade and trade policy, multinational enterprises, international macro, immigration, and spatial and urban analysis. Successful candidates will demonstrate an established empirical agenda at the highest standards of professional research, a commitment to policy analysis, a clear track record of thought leadership and service, and the ability to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion in higher education. All applicants must have a PhD in Economics. This hire is part of a multi-year expansion of the School's faculty.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin January 2, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at: <https://apptrkr.com/1689239>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7434

University of California, Davis

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar

Post-Doctoral Position at the University of California, Davis

We are looking to recruit a post-doctoral scholar for an inter-disciplinary research project on A Network Analytic Study of the Determinants and Consequences of Burden Sharing in International Alliances and Defense Cooperation Agreements, 1945-2010. This is a one-year position, with a possibility for an additional one-year renewal. Potential applicants should note that there are two postdoctoral positions available on this project. Applicants are welcome to apply for both positions. This ad seeks candidates from political science or international relations. The following qualifications are mandatory for this position:

- a. Ph.D. in hand at the start of the position.
- b. Demonstrated research on international security, defense cooperation, political conflict and violence, and/or international law.
- c. Knowledge of and experience in network analysis, complex systems, and/or spatial analysis.
- d. Strong statistical data analysis and data management skills.

The following skills and experiences would be considered as strong advantages:

- a. Programming experience (Python, R, Java)
- b. Foreign language proficiencies
- c. Experience collecting, coding, and managing international relations data.
- d. Experience managing research assistants and research teams.

This is a full-time position with an annual salary of $54,000 plus UC Davis fringe benefits. UC Davis is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer.

Deadline for the application is December 31, 2019 or until the position is filled. The start date of the position is July 1, 2020. However, a slightly later date can be arranged.

Submit cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and sample writing (article, dissertation chapters, etc.) to <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF03262>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7417

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Professor, Rick and Cathy Trachok Endowed Chair in International Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The College of Liberal Arts at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) invites applications for appointment as the Rick & Cathy Trachok Endowed Chair in International Studies at the rank of Professor or Advanced Associate Professor. We seek a scholar in the humanities or social sciences with an international reputation and a strong record of research and teaching. The applicant will have demonstrated expertise in contemporary or historical research of global, world regional, or comparative focus. Specialization is open, and applicants from any discipline represented in UNR's College of Liberal Arts may apply, but priority will be given to candidates in the fields of Anthropology, English, History, and Political Science. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses and will play a leadership role in UNR's Ozmen Institute for Global Studies. Please apply at the following link to be considered: https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Professor--Rick-and-Cathy-Trachok-Endowed-Chair-in-International-Studies_R0118980

Required Qualifications

Ph.D. degree and status as an advanced associate or full professor;

Demonstrated expertise and significant experience in some aspect of international studies;

A record of publishing in top-tier journals and presses;
 A strong, ongoing program of research;
 Research proficiency in one or more languages in addition to English;
 Demonstrated excellence in teaching

Preferred Qualifications

Evidence of or potential for strong external grant activity
 Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in research, teaching and/or service

Compensation Grade/Rank

Associate Professor, III
 Full Professor, IV

College Information

The College of Liberal Arts is central to the intellectual and artistic life of the University of Nevada, Reno and is committed to fostering diversity, equity and inclusivity. The college contributes to the University's efforts to provide undergraduate students with general and specialized education that will prepare them for advanced study, careers and citizenship in a diverse world. It offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degrees, emphasizes inquiry, discovery, and openness to new ideas and perspectives, and supports major scholarly research and creative activity in the humanities, social sciences and arts.

The University of Nevada, Reno is a Research 1 land-grant campus of the Nevada System of Higher Education with a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students. Nearly half of incoming students identify as being from an underrepresented group. In accordance with the university's land grant, tier one research institution mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many U.S. transportation hubs and to Mexico. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Program

Total Compensation

The total compensation package includes a negotiable competitive salary, moving allowance (if applicable), a rich retirement plan, health insurance options that include dental and vision, life insurance, long-term disability, along with many other benefits. Additionally, there is a grant-in-aid educational benefit for faculty and dependents. For more information, please visit: UNR Benefits

Contact Information for this position

Search Chair-Robert Joe Cutter, rcutter@unr.edu

Search co-Coordinator- Spencer Schultz, spencerschultz@unr.edu

Exempt

Yes
 Full-Time Equivalent

100.0%
 Required Attachment(s)

Please attach the following documents to your application. Please contact jobs@unr.edu, the day you apply, if assistance is needed with attachments:

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita;
- 2) Cover letter stating qualifications, experience, research plans and teaching experience
- 3) Contact information for three professional references
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) Two research-based writing samples

Open Until Filled

Position is open until filled; however, first review of applications will begin begin November 27, 2019. Qualified individuals are encouraged to apply immediately. This search will close without notice when a sufficient number of applications are received or a hiring decision has been made.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7422

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Post Doc Fellow

Two Year Post Doctorate at the Sam Nunn School of International Affairs

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs at Georgia Tech invites applications for a two year post-doctoral fellowship to begin Fall 2020. The ideal candidate would have policy-relevant academic research and teaching interests that interface with one of the School's core programs in Emerging Technologies and International Security or in Global Development.

A successful applicant will conduct individual research, participate in relevant outreach activities, collaborate with Nunn School faculty and graduate students to pursue sponsored research programs, and teach one course per semester. The teaching requirements are negotiable and may be reduced by a collaborative research project. Therefore, the search committee strongly encourages applications from those who seek opportunities to collaborate with other parts of Georgia Tech's campus including the Georgia Tech Research Institute and the science and engineering schools. The salary is $60,000 per year.

Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests, an example of scholarly work, and the names and contact information for at least three references to postdoc.nunnschool@inta.gatech.edu. Applicants should have their referees submit their letters to the email above at the time of application. Applications will be considered until 1 February 2020 but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment. Please direct inquiries to Lawrence Rubin (lawrence.rubin@inta.gatech.edu).

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We strongly encourage applications from women, underrepresented minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 10/29/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7407

North Dakota State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

North Dakota State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position in political economy, to begin on August 16, 2020.

The department of Criminal Justice & Political Science at NDSU is recruiting for a 9-month tenure-track position, at the rank of assistant professor—or, for especially qualified applicants, associate professor—starting Fall 2020. We seek candidates with expertise in any area of political economy, although especially invite applications from candidates who focus on the political economy of development. For candidates with a regional specialization, we are especially interested in scholars studying areas other than Europe and North America. Successful applicants should be versed in comparative or international political economy and have a strong commitment to policy-relevant research and teaching. This is a 50% research, 40% teaching, 10% service position. The teaching load is, at most, 2-2, with at least one course release in the first three years. While the tenure home will be in the Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science, this position will be affiliated with the NDSU College of Business' Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research, teaching, and outreach that contributes to the Institute's mission. In turn, the Institute may also provide opportunities for graduate student assistance, course buyouts, and summer research support. Successful applicants will be prepared to teach core undergraduate courses in comparative politics and/or international relations, upper-division classes on political economy, political institutions, and global policy issues, and will have opportunities to contribute to existing and emerging programs in public policy, political and economic institutions, and global studies. The department has minimal service expectations for pre-tenure faculty.

Minimum Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for the position are: 1) a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Economics, or a related discipline, conferred no later than August, 2020, 2) evidence of research productivity, or potential to publish scholarship in peer reviewed journals, presses, and other outlets appropriate to one's field, 3) experience teaching political economy, institutions, and/or global policy courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels, 4) potential to contribute to the Challey Institute's mission, and 5) effective written and oral communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications

We will give priority to candidates who 1) can provide substantial evidence of research productivity and quality, 2) can provide substantial evidence of teaching effectiveness, 3) have experience pursuing and/or obtaining external funding, 4) have a research focus on the political economy of development, 5) conduct teaching and research that can contribute to NDSU's commitment to diversity and inclusion, 6) have experience working in, or developing, a global studies program, 7) have experience contributing to, or developing, a master's program in public policy, and/or 8) have a regional focus outside Europe and North America.

Application

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, course materials, evidence of participation in teaching professionalization activities, and, if available, evaluations by peers and/or mentors; please do not include student evaluations of teaching), and names and contact information for 3 references (we will contact references for roughly 10 short-listed applicants). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://jobs.ndsu.edu/postings/10886>. Initial screening of applications will begin on or about November 21, 2019.

NDSU especially encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups.

The Department

The Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science has 12 tenure-track faculty members and serves roughly 100 undergraduate majors in political science, and 200 undergraduate and 20 graduate students in criminal justice. Faculty in the department teach four classes per year. The NDSU community and national organizations have regularly recognized department faculty for excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. The college provides faculty with computing resources and tenure-track faculty within the department receive a yearly research and professionalization budget that covers travel to 1-2 conferences, and which faculty routinely supplement with College and University travel grants.

The Challey Institute

The Sheila and Robert Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth is an interdisciplinary institute that aims to advance understanding in the areas of innovation, trade, and institutions to identify policies and solutions that enhance economic growth and opportunity. The Challey Institute works toward achieving its mission by engaging in research, student programming, and outreach in the areas of (1) international trade, investment, and immigration, (2) innovation and entrepreneurship, and (3) institutions and policy.

The University

North Dakota State University is a comprehensive, student-focused, land-grant, research university with more than 14,000 students from 47 states and 79 countries. NDSU was the first university in North Dakota to be named to the most research-intensive category by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and is listed in the National Science Foundation's top 100 in several areas, including agricultural sciences, social sciences, physical sciences, chemistry, psychology, and computer sciences.

NDSU values faculty members' work-life balance and the needs of dual-career couples. The College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences' guidelines on family-related reassignment of duties are available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/ahss/family2010.pdf> and University policy on extension of the probationary period for personal or family reasons is available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/352.pdf>. NDSU is an ADVANCE institution and has a Focus on Resources for Women's Advancement, Recruitment/Retention, and Development (FORWARD) program, that, as part of its efforts, has developed procedures and funding streams for dual career hiring at NDSU: <https://www.ndsu.edu/forward/>. Applicants can find more information about NDSU at <http://www.ndsu.edu>.

The Community

NDSU is located in Fargo-Moorhead (F-M), a pleasant, safe, diversifying, and growing community of approximately 245,000 people. As the largest population center in the region, F-M is a hub of entertainment, finance, information technology, and medical services for a large geographic area including the state of North Dakota, and western Minnesota. Two universities (NDSU and Minnesota State University Moorhead) and one private liberal arts college (Concordia College) are located in F-M. The F-M area has a healthy economy: ND has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the U.S., good public schools, low crime rates, ample shopping, local theatre and music companies, several art galleries, semi-professional baseball and hockey, and Division I intercollegiate athletics. Hector International Airport in Fargo is convenient and is served by several major airlines. Sun, clear skies, and clean air predominate year-round. Visiting nearby northern Minnesota lakes, canoeing, camping, cycling, softball, and soccer are popular in summer; winter pastimes include cross-country skiing, skating, and snowmobiling. The city has an excellent park system that includes several quality golf courses and bicycle/running/ski paths along the Red River, which divides Fargo-Moorhead. Fargo is an hour drive from a major resort area in the Minnesota "lakes country" and two hours from scenic Itasca State Park, where you will find the headwaters of the Mississippi river. Central and western North Dakota offer beautiful hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and related opportunities in the Badlands, national grasslands, and numerous river valleys. Winnipeg, Manitoba is less than a four-hour drive to the north and Minneapolis-St. Paul is an equal distance to the south-east.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7385

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Paul and Marcia Wythes Center on Contemporary China of the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS) invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate for the academic year for a 12-month appointment with the possibility of renewal contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding. Preferred start date September 1, 2020. The position is open to a scholar who would be in residence and participate in all of the Center's activities, including student-faculty seminars, workshops, and public lectures. The ideal applicant will have received a Ph.D. within the past three years and studies aspects of contemporary Chinese society from a social science disciplinary perspective. He/she will have opportunities to collaborate with the center's faculty.

To apply for a postdoctoral position, please link to <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14361>. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Applications should include:

- 1.A cover letter
- 2.A statement of research plans and their relation to CCC activities (1-3 pages)
- 3.A current curriculum vitae
- 4.Contact information for two references
- 5.Two writing samples.

Application deadline: Jan 31, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST

Questions about the application process for this position may be directed to Yan Bennett at ybennett@princeton.edu. More information on the Center can be found at ccc.princeton.edu.

Requisition No: D-20-PII-00003

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7401

Lamar University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Job Summary: The Department of Political Science invites applications for one full-time, tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Political Science beginning August 2020.

Candidates should be able to teach introduction to comparative politics and advanced upper level comparative politics courses covering such areas as Western democracies, developing nations and/or a regional focus. Candidates should also be able to teach American Government (POLS 2301 and POLS 2302).

Qualifications: Candidates should have PhD in Political Science or Government awarded by date of employment. Salary and rank are dependent on experience and credentials.

The successful candidate will implement effective teaching strategies and communicate with, motivate, and evaluate Lamar University's diverse population of students online and face-to-face; maintain an active service agenda; demonstrate a strong commitment to and evidence of an active research agenda; participate with other faculty in professional and scholarly exchanges within the department and throughout the university; and participate in educationally-related aspects of community and civic affairs.

Application Procedure: The application deadline is January 15, 2020 or until the position is filled. Apply online at: <https://jobs.lamar.edu>.

Submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, evidence of teaching effectiveness, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation to: Political Science Search Committee Chairperson.

Recommendation letters can be sent to: jobs@lamar.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7373

Columbia University

Rank: Post Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, East Asia, International Security

Columbia University & Harvard University
China and the World Program (C&WP)
Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI)

Professors Thomas J. Christensen of Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Alastair Iain Johnston of Harvard University's Government Department jointly founded the China and the World fellowship program for the advanced study of China's international relations in 2005. As part of Professor Christensen's recent move to Columbia University, the Program was renamed the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program (C&WP) in 2018. The China and the World Program supports research that integrates theoretical innovations in the field of international relations with the rigorous study of China's interactions with countries, regions, institutions, and non-state actors.

For academic year 2020-2021, C&WP will collaborate with the Weatherhead East Asian Institute at Columbia University (WEAI) to award 2 postdoctoral research fellowships. Both fellows will be in residence at Columbia University (one funded by WEAI and one funded by CWP), and will teach one course in the spring semester. When not attending to program-related duties, fellows' time should be devoted to their own research, and to participating actively in the life of C&WP and WEAI. Fellows also will be expected to make at least one public presentation during their appointment and participate in the annual C&WP workshop where an entire day is devoted entirely to the examination of the fellows' research by former fellows of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who are currently working on revising their Ph.D. thesis for publication as a book, or who are just beginning a second major research project.

The appointment is for the 2020-2021 academic year, beginning September 1, 2020, ending May 31, 2021. The position comes with shared office space and access to the libraries and resources of Columbia University.

Qualifications:

- Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 1, 2017 and August 31, 2020.
- Applications from individuals who hold or have held full-time teaching appointments will not be considered.
- Only applicants working on some aspect of China's relations with the outside world that supports CWP's and WEAI's missions need apply.

Application Process:

To apply, submit application materials to sipacwp@columbia.edu. Please note that applicants are required to send all files in one email or to upload them to a cloud based application and send the URL via email for full consideration. Faxed or mailed applications will not be considered.

- 1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
- Updated Curriculum Vitae, including a list of classes taught (if any)
- Project description
- Two scholarly writing samples
- One course proposal with syllabus for a seminar directed at M.A. students and advanced undergraduates
- Course evaluations for classes taught (if any)
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees
- Two letters of reference. Please note: Applicants should submit only the name and contact information of their referees. Referees should submit their letter directly to sipacwp@columbia.edu.

Application Deadline

All application materials, including letters of reference, must be received by December 20, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. Candidates may be invited for an interview to be held by video, phone, or in person. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their applications in February 2020; a public announcement will be made by April 2020.

For more information about the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program, or the Weatherhead East Asian Institute, please visit www.CWP.SIPA.Columbia.edu, and www.weai.columbia.edu respectively.

This search is subject to all rules and regulations of Columbia University. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 10/24/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7384

Clements Center for National Security (University of Texas at Austin)

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Clements Center for National Security at the University of Texas at Austin seeks applications from recent PhD recipients for its Postdoctoral Fellowship Program.

Consistent with the Clements Center's mission areas of history, strategy, and statecraft, applicants from all disciplines whose research bears directly on foreign and defense policy, intelligence, or international security are welcome to apply. However, strong preference will be given to applicants with a doctorate in history or whose research has a strong historical component of any era, from ancient to modern. Successful applicants will be able to spend the substantial portion of their time working on their own research and writing projects, while taking advantage of the many academic resources available at the University of Texas-Austin. Additionally, Fellows will be required to play an active role in the Clements Center's programs and activities; any specific responsibilities will be by mutual agreement between the Fellow and the Clements Center leadership. Fellows accepted to the program will be offered a competitive stipend, full use of UT facilities, and office space at the Clements Center. In some cases Fellows will be welcome to teach a course at the University of Texas. Each appointment is for one year, and in exceptional cases may be considered for renewal for a second year.

Applicants should submit a current c.v., a letter of application, graduate school transcripts, a brief (no more than two-page, single-spaced) statement of proposed research, and three letters of recommendation. Applications are due no later than February 3, 2020. Note that applicants are required to have received their doctorate by August 2020, the date the Postdoctoral Fellowship will commence. Please direct any questions to Alex Foggett, the Clements Center's Programs Manager, at alex.foggett@austin.utexas.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/3/2020

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7348

The University of Texas at Austin

Rank: Predoctoral Fellowship

The Clements Center for National Security at the University of Texas at Austin seeks applications from current PhD candidates for its Predoctoral Fellowship Program.

Consistent with the Clements Center's mission areas of history, strategy, and statecraft, applicants from all disciplines whose research bears directly on foreign and defense policy, intelligence, or international security are welcome to apply. However, strong preference will be given to applicants pursuing a doctorate in history or whose research has a strong historical component of any era, from ancient to modern. This fellowship is designed to help expedite dissertation completion, so applicants should be in the dissertation writing phase and within one year (or in exceptional cases two years) of anticipated dissertation submission. Successful applicants will be able to spend the substantial portion of their time working on their own research and writing projects, while taking advantage of the many academic resources available at the University of Texas-Austin. Additionally, Fellows will be required to play an active role in the Clements Center's programs and activities; any specific responsibilities will be by mutual agreement between the Fellow and the Clements Center leadership. Fellows accepted to the program will be offered a competitive stipend, full use of UT facilities, and office space at the Clements Center. Each appointment is for one year.

Applicants should submit a current c.v., a personal statement, graduate school transcripts, a brief (no more than two-page, single-spaced) research statement, and three letters of recommendation. Applications are due no later than February 3, 2020. Please direct any questions to Alex Foggett, the Clements Center's Programs Manager, at alex.foggett@austin.utexas.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/3/2020

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 7349

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in International Relations starting Fall 2020. The position is on a fixed-term contract (Four years renewable) and open to candidates at the Assistant or Associate Professor levels. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses at the B.A. and M.A. levels in the field of international relations (including introductory courses in international relations theory), foreign-policy analysis and international security. Candidates with a focus on the global south (Asia, Africa, and/or Latin America) and/or critical security studies are particularly encouraged to apply. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, an accomplished and active research agenda, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to equal opportunity and a diverse faculty.

Requirements:

A PhD is required at the time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing research and publication program and teaching experience. In addition to research and teaching, responsibilities include service to the Department and the University.

Application Procedures:

Priority will be given to applications received by November 30, 2019. The position is open until filled.

All applicants must submit the following documents online:

- a) A current C.V
- b) A letter of interest
- c) A statement of teaching philosophy
- d) A completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF)
- e) A copy of a recently published or accepted article or chapter
- f) Three letters of reference

Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; with the name of the candidate/Faculty position/ Department.

All applications should be uploaded online:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/faculty/services/faculty-vacancies>

Please take note of your account login details. If additional questions are asked, you will be prompted to login into the AUC portal.

For more information, e-mail Dr. Rabab El Mahdi, Chair, relmahdi@aucegypt.edu; Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, gehanwm@aucegypt.edu; or visit the department's website at:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7329

Midwestern State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: East Asia, Africa, Middle East

The Department of Political Science seeks applications for a tenure-track, assistant professor position to begin in fall 2020. We seek a candidate whose primary teaching interest is comparative politics with a specialization in Asia, Middle East, or Africa, as well as the ability to teach quantitative research methods. The ability to teach courses in climate and environmental politics or international relations is desired, but not required. The applicant should hold a Ph.D. in Political Science (an ABD candidate would be required to have a Ph.D. by August 2021), and should contribute to the teaching and research mission of the university.

The Department of Political Science offers a B.A. Political Science and a B.A. Global Studies. It also houses the interdisciplinary minor in Women's and Gender Studies and a successful Model United Nations program.

The teaching load is 12 hours per semester. Salary is competitive, depending on experience.

Midwestern State University is a public liberal arts university with an enrollment of approximately 6,000 students located in Wichita Falls, a city of 106,000 about 2 hours northwest of Dallas/Fort Worth (www.msutexas.edu). As a Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) member institution, Midwestern State University is particularly committed to excellence in teaching and seeks applicants that will contribute to this mission. This position is designated as security sensitive and requires the finalist to complete a criminal background check. EEO/ADAAA compliance employer.

Please send a 1) letter of application, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) teaching evaluations, 4) one example of scholarly work, and 5) three letters of recommendation to:

Dr. Linda Veazey, Chair
Department of Political Science
Midwestern State University
3410 Taft Boulevard
Wichita Falls, TX 76308
linda.veazey@msutexas.edu

The initial review of complete applications will begin January 13, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7325

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Postdoctoral Fellowships – Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society

ABOUT THE FELLOWSHIPS

The Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society brings promising new scholars to Stanford University for 1-2 year appointments as postdoctoral fellows.

Currently Stanford PACS is accepting applications for two postdoctoral fellowship opportunities for the 2020-21 academic year:

- The Program on Democracy and the Internet
- The Digital Civil Society Lab

Each fellow will be affiliated with the relevant Stanford PACS initiative (either the Digital Civil Society Lab or the Program on Democracy and the Internet) and potentially also with a department or school at Stanford University.

The annual fellowship stipend is $67,000, plus the standard benefits that postdoctoral fellows at Stanford University receive, including health insurance and travel funds. The fellowship program falls under U.S. Immigration J-1 Exchange Visitor Visa activities.

The start date of the fellowship will be September 2020, unless otherwise agreed. To assume a postdoctoral fellowship, scholars must have a PhD in hand by July 1, 2020. We cannot consider applications from scholars who earned a PhD earlier than May 1, 2018.

For both of these fellowships, we encourage applications from candidates representing a broad range of disciplines including the social sciences, humanities, law, computer science and engineering.

I. Program on Democracy and the Internet

The Program on Democracy and the Internet (PDI) envisions digital technologies supporting rather than subverting democracy by maximizing the benefits and minimizing the threats through changes in policy, technology, and social and ethical technological norms.

Digital technologies are having a profound impact on democracy in the United States and around the world. New communication platforms that give voice to the previously voiceless also empower nefarious actors who seek to undermine democracy, silence journalists and minority groups, manipulate search engines, sow distrust, and more. Concerns about virality, deception, anonymity, echo chambers, and platform information monopolies pose new challenges for democracy in the digital age. Current research to understand these challenges and, on the basis of theory and evidence, craft solutions, remains nascent, fragmented, and incomplete. A strong knowledge base is critical for policy makers, corporate leaders, and technologists to make decisions that protect and promote democracy in the digital age.

The Program on Democracy and the Internet is investigating key research themes which include:

- Reform options for platforms to combat hate speech, bots, and disinformation.
- Algorithmic bias
- Deteriorating health of digital information ecosystems and its effect on democracy and civil rights
- Changes in the media landscape due to shifts caused by digital innovation.
- Impact of the internet on election campaigns and voting.

The Program on Democracy and the Internet's work draws from the social sciences, humanities, engineering, computer science, and the law to understand the challenges digital technologies pose to liberal democracies around the world.

Each fellow will collaborate with one of the PDI faculty on PDI research relevant to their field of study and current line of scholarship. The fellows will spend 20 percent of their time working on their own research and 80 percent assisting in the research of one of the PDI directors. For examples of past work, see the publications page. In addition, fellows may be asked to coordinate speaker series and seminars.

The program is led by Principal Investigators Nathaniel Persily, James B. McClatchy Professor of Law at Stanford Law School and Co-Director of the Cyber Policy Center, Francis Fukuyama, Senior Fellow at the Freeman Spogli Institute, and PACS Faculty Co-Director and Professor of Political Science, Rob Reich.

PDI is a joint initiative of the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (Stanford PACS) and the Cyber Policy Center at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies.

For a sense of the scholarship that PDI supports, see: <https://pacscenter.stanford.edu/research/project-on-democracy-and-the-internet/projects/>.

II. Digital Civil Society Lab

The Digital Civil Society Lab (DCSL) envisions an independent civil society that thrives in the digital age through the safe, ethical and effective use of private digital resources for public benefit.

The digital age has transformed civil society participation and organization, and it has presented new challenges and threats. Our dependencies on digital software and infrastructure require new insights into how these digital systems work and how an independent civil society can engage them safely, ethically and effectively for mission.

The Digital Civil Society Lab aims to understand how digital technology has transformed civil society and shape these transformations by engaging research, practitioner and policy communities across the interconnected domains that support a thriving and independent civil society in the digital age:

- Technology: software and hardware designed for the values and interest of civil society actors
- Organizations: structures and practices that align with civil society missions and protect institutional independence from markets or governments
- Policy: legal practices and regulatory frames that protect the building blocks of civil society, including free association, speech, and privacy
- Norms: social norms and practices that promote safe and ethical data collection, generation and use, and that support the critical role of civil society in democracies

The Digital Civil Society Lab is investigating key research themes which include:

- The key dimensions of digital infrastructure and data and how they influence the role of independent civil society in democracies;
- Understanding, creating, and expanding access to software, hardware and digital practices that align with the values of civil society in democracies;
- The nature of digital data donations and/or the governance mechanisms, enterprise forms, or legal constructs that such donations require;
- Understanding interactions between global digital networks, digital activism, and traditional and emergent forms of association in civil society.

The Lab's research draws from the humanities, social sciences, engineering, computer science and the law to understand and advance the principles of civil society and democracies in the digital age.

DCSL is an initiative of the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (Stanford PACS) and is led by Lucy Bernholz, senior research scholar at Stanford PACS, and Rob Reich, professor of Political Science and faculty co-director of Stanford PACS.

For a sense of the scholarship that DCSL supports, see: <https://pacscenter.stanford.edu/research/digital-civil-society-lab/>.

Please note: Postdoctoral fellows at DCSL are expected to participate fully in a biweekly seminar series at the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society, and are expected to contribute to teaching the Digital Civil Society seminar in partnership with other DCSL faculty, scholars and postdocs.

HOW TO APPLY

To be considered for a postdoctoral fellowship with either the Program on Democracy and the Internet or with the Digital Civil Society Lab, submit an application via the online application portal.

Applicants will be asked to include the following:

- Cover letter detailing the reasons for the applicant's interest in the fellowship;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Fellowship proposal detailing the research that the applicant would undertake while at Stanford, and how it fits within the research agenda of the specific initiative to which the applicant is applying.

In this section, please disclose if you have additional funding arrangements.

- Writing sample consisting of either a dissertation chapter or a recent published paper. There are no specific page length or formatting requirements for this sample;
- Graduate transcript with proof that the applicant has completed all the requirements for the PhD, or a letter from their PhD advisor stating when they will do so;
- Two (or more) Letters of Recommendation. These should be submitted via the application portal.

CONTACT

Questions about the Program on Democracy and the Internet should be directed to Eloise Duvillier at eloise@stanford.edu.

Questions about the Digital Civil Society Lab should be directed to Heather Noelle Robinson at hnrbsn@stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7324

SUNY, Binghamton University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

Specializations: Conflict Processes, Quantitative Methods, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science at Binghamton University (SUNY) invites applications for an assistant professorship in international relations and/or comparative politics, focusing on political violence and civil conflict, to begin in August 2020. Preference will be given to candidates who can contribute to teaching in the department's graduate quantitative methods sequence, as well as connect with the Data Science Transdisciplinary Area of Excellence (TAE). The Data Science TAE comprises a collaborative group of data scientists from across campus who are at the leading edge of the data science revolution within their own disciplines. Candidates with demonstrable strengths in one or more of the following will be strongly preferred: mixed methods, statistics & econometrics, computational methods, and/or experimental methods. Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of recent or current research, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Applications received by November 10, 2019 will be given first consideration, although we will accept applications until the position has been filled. Binghamton University is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer. It is the policy of Binghamton University to provide for and promote equal opportunity employment, compensation, and other terms and conditions of employment without discrimination on the basis of sex, age, race, color, religion, disability, national origin, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, veteran or military service member status, marital status, domestic violence victim status, genetic predisposition or carrier status, or arrest and/or criminal conviction record unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification or other exception. Submit applications at <http://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=116819>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7317

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: International Security, Foreign Policy, Developing Nations

<https://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=177117863&Title=International%20Relations%2C%20Assistant%20Professor%2C%20UNLV%20College%20of%20Liberal%20Arts%20%5BR0118730%5D&aID=584>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7319

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Associate or Full Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Senior Rank (Tenured Full or Associate Professor)

Cyberpolitics and National/International Security Policy

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenured faculty position at the Full Professor or Associate Professor level in cyberpolitics and national or international security policy to begin Fall 2020.

The position is part of a cross-disciplinary, campus-wide initiative in the area of cybersecurity. Scholars conducting cross-disciplinary research in applied cyber security are encouraged to apply, but an applicant's primary field must be Political Science or closely related discipline.

Required Qualifications: All applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a directly related discipline. Applicants must have a track record of scholarship, publications, and research funding relating to cybersecurity and international politics. We are especially interested in candidates who link cybersecurity to broader social, political, economic, and policy questions in the contexts of national and/or international security. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute directly to the Department's nascent doctoral program in cyber politics and will be expected to collaborate on research and grant applications with faculty in Computer Science, Information Systems and Cyber Security, Engineering, and UTSA's highly regarded Cyber Security Program. Teaching responsibilities include two courses per semester in the Department's traditional undergraduate and/or graduate courses in Political Science and Global Affairs. We are especially interested in applicants who can teach graduate and undergraduate courses on Cyber and International Politics; Cyber Strategy; Cyber Deterrence and Coercion; Cyber and Intelligence; Cyberwarfare and Military Operations; Technological and Social Revolutions in International Relations; Global Governance and Cyber; Cyber and International Ethics; Law, Politics, and Cyber-Security; New Global Threats; and Global or National Security Policy.

Applicants must demonstrate potential for research publication and a strong potential to attract external funding commensurate with the rank for which the applicant is applying. Applicants' research must demonstrate strong theoretical grounding in national or international security. Candidates must have the ability to work with and be sensitive to the educational needs of a culturally diverse urban population.

All applicants should also provide representative evidence of high-quality teaching – ideally in courses that address cyber security in the context of deterrence and coercion, national or international security, global affairs and governance. Applicants must also be willing to teach a range of courses in international relations or global affairs within their specializations.

To be considered at the tenured Associate Professor, the successful applicant must have an established research agenda, evidence of initiatives to acquire external research funding, a strong record of publications, excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

To be considered at the tenured Full Professor level, successful applicants must be recognized authorities in their respective fields of specialization, have excellent teaching skills with demonstrated effectiveness, a track record of grant applications and awards, and a track record of service. Tenure is contingent on Board of Regents approval.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants who can offer courses in traditional and emerging sub-fields of political science, international relations/global affairs, and/or international/national security policy.

Applicants should submit electronically in PDF format:

1. Letter of application stating the rank for which application is made, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. A research and teaching statement, including discussion of the role that diversity and inclusion play in an academic environment (no more than 200 words);
4. A copy of all graduate transcripts;
5. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three);
6. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
7. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction evaluation);
8. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation.

Submit electronic materials to: <https://jobs.utsa.edu> (click on Faculty for details)

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

This is a security sensitive position. Employment is contingent upon a successful background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7315

Tulane University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Center for Inter-American Policy and Research (CIPR) invites applications for five (5) research fellowships for the Academic Year of 2020-2021, some with program administration duties and others with light teaching. Applications from the social sciences in the fields of international relations, international political economy, comparative politics, political sociology, and policy studies are encouraged. Latin American expertise and Spanish or Portuguese fluency required. Fellows will be selected based on intellectual merit, experience, the potential impact of their planned research for CIPR programs, and teaching needs of the host department.

Fellowships are one-year, residential, full-time appointments with a stipend of $48,450 plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported. In addition to their planned research, applicants must be prepared to carry out either program administration or adjunct teaching responsibilities. In the program administration track, fellows will be expected to work with CIPR's director in the Commitment to Equity Project and/or Research Group MEGA: Mobilization, Extractivism, and Government Action, and/or to develop programmatic content and projects in Inter-American relations, comparative political economy, citizenship rights, human development, and others. The other fellowships carry a one course per semester adjunct teaching load in the department of the fellow's primary discipline and in the candidate's major subfields, without administrative responsibilities. In both cases, specific responsibilities will be defined jointly during the initial phase of the appointment. Applicants must plan to complete their Ph.D. no later than May 2020. Recent graduates with no longer than three years since receiving their Ph.D. are especially encouraged to apply.

Application must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting apply.interfolio.com/68880 and must include (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter describing research interests and intended research at CIPR if selected, fit to the program and teaching experience; (3) a graduate transcript; (4) two recommendation letters; (5) a writing sample; and (6) teaching evaluations if available. For further information, please contact Ludovico Feoli, Director, Center for Inter-American Policy Research. Applications will be reviewed starting December 31, 2019.

Tulane University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. All eligible candidates are invited to apply for position vacancies as appropriate.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7304

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill

Rank: Visiting Research Professor

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is seeking to appoint a visiting research professor who is based in Latin America or Spain and studies Latin American politics for the fall or spring semester of the academic year 2020-21. Responsibilities of the successful candidate include working on your own research and contributing to departmental activities related to research and teaching on Latin America during the semester in residence. The quality of completed research and of the proposed research project will be an important selection criterion.

Qualifications are a Ph.D. and a minimum of 5 years of research and teaching experience. Compensation consists of a travel and research allowance, health insurance, and a total of $32,000 in salary over the duration of the appointment. The successful candidate will be expected to be in residence for a minimum of 4 ½ months.

Applications from women and minorities are particularly welcome. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is an equal opportunity employer and educator that welcomes all to apply, including individuals with disabilities. Deadline for applications is December 16, 2019, and applicants will be notified in February.

To apply for the position, please follow this link: <http://unc.peopleadmin.com/postings/169988>. Please include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a research proposal of no more than 1,500 words. Applicants are required to identify the names, titles and email addresses of three professional references at the time of application. Recommenders identified by the applicant may be contacted via email with instructions for uploading their letters of support if the applicant becomes a finalist. Alternatively, applicants may list Interfolio as a reference and the application system will solicit recommendations directly from Interfolio. Please see <http://help.interfolio.com/entries/24062742-Uploading-Letters-to-an-Online-Application-System> for instructions. Departmental contact person is Shannon Eubanks; the department address is Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, CB# 3265, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265 and the web address is <http://www.unc.edu/depts/polisci>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: $30,000 - $39,999

eJobs ID: 7266

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant or Associate, Health Care Policy & Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University seeks to hire a tenured or tenure track professor in the field of health care policy and management, at either the Assistant or Associate level, beginning in fall 2020.

We are interested in attracting a creative, engaging, and innovative colleague with credentials in health care policy and/or management. We welcome a variety of specializations including but not limited to the financing and delivery of health care; the organization and management of health care delivery systems; the politics of health care policy reform; and the impact of health care policy reform on the delivery of healthcare. Candidates with domestic, international, or comparative perspectives are welcome. Applicants should have an active research agenda and a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a research program, teaching in the department's world-renowned professional master programs, teaching one or more undergraduate courses, mentoring MPA and PhD students, and engaging in service.

Our department is collegial, supportive, and interdisciplinary. We welcome applicants from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to public administration, public management, public policy, health administration, economics, political science, sociology, public health, social work, and other social science fields.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Aging, Behavioral Health, and Neuroscience. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions for a research cluster in the focus area of aging. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Maxwell School, the College of Arts and Sciences, Falk College, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. In addition, the individual will also have the opportunity to become affiliated with one or more of the University's other interdisciplinary research centers such as the University's Aging Studies Institute, Maxwell School's Center of Policy Research or the Maxwell School's Program for Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration. Therefore, a track record of collaborative research output is particularly desirable, and record of success in obtaining research support, particularly from the National Institutes of Health or the National Science Foundation.

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School is home to the world's first master of public administration program, which is ranked first among more than 250 graduate public affairs programs in the United States and has several top-ranked specialties (U.S. News & World Report). The department is also home to a top-ranked master's program in international relations (Foreign Policy magazine), as well as several other programs, including a Ph.D. in public administration, a master's degree in public health, executive master's degrees in public administration and international relations, and a wide range of certificate programs.

To be considered, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/76528>) and attach: a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of professional writing, names and complete contact information for 3 references. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6228

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Adviser

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for one full-time non-tenure stream position as Lecturer and Academic Adviser. The appointment requires a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and prior teaching experience. The successful candidate is expected to serve as the advisor for a third of the undergraduate majors in the department and to teach four undergraduate courses per year, including one section per semester of Introduction to Global Studies, which the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., in political theory, comparative politics, or international relations). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in nonwestern or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc that complement our existing political theory courses. In addition, the successful candidate will be responsible for supporting Departmental curriculum and programming, outside-the-classroom learning, etc.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and ability to teach the Introduction to Global Studies course. Successful candidates are expected to engage in teaching and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio (statement of philosophy, list of courses, sample syllabi and materials, etc), writing sample(s), teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjc2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by January 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6224

Syracuse University

Rank: Senior Faculty, Director of International Relations

The Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University seeks to hire a senior faculty member to provide academic and programmatic leadership of its professional Master of Arts in International Relations (MAIR) program. We are seeking to hire either a candidate with sufficient academic qualifications to be hired at the rank of associate or full professor with tenure, or a candidate with substantial leadership experience in a professional field involving extensive international affairs work, who could be appointed as a professor of practice. The person hired will be a faculty member in the Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School beginning in August, 2020.

The Maxwell School's MAIR program is highly regarded internationally, ranking among the top professional international affairs programs in the world, and it is a member of the Association of Professional Schools of International Affairs (APSIA). The MAIR program is administered by the Department of Public Administration and International Affairs, which consists of a highly diverse and interdisciplinary faculty, and is also home to a top ranked Master of Public Administration. The MAIR program is strongly interdisciplinary, and draws on courses offered across the Maxwell School which includes departments of Anthropology, Economics, Geography, History, Political Science and Sociology. The program also offers exceptional global programming that allows students to complete internships and coursework at locations around the world; it utilizes facilities at the leading global think-tank CSIS located in Washington DC to provide students an option of completing part of their program in the nation's capital; and it provides options for innovative dual degree programs with, among others, the Hertie School of Governance in Berlin, Germany, the Newhouse School of Communications at Syracuse University, and the College of Law.

The successful candidate will bring innovation and leadership to the tasks of setting goals and priorities for the MAIR program, identifying resource needs, and developing and overseeing the implementation of new programming and recruiting strategies. The candidate will have the support of, and work closely with the Dean of the Maxwell School, the Chair of Public Administration and International Affairs, and faculty and professional staff. The person hired will also be expected to teach courses in the MAIR program and maintain either an active research agenda or other forms of engagement in the professional international affairs community.

The position is open to candidates from a wide-range of social science disciplines and candidates with appropriate academic qualifications can be considered for a courtesy or joint appointment with one of the other social science departments in the Maxwell School. We encourage applications from candidates with expertise in any one of a broad range of areas covered in the MAIR program. These areas include, but are not limited to adaptation to climate change, conflict studies, diplomacy, environmental sustainability, global governance, humanitarian assistance, human rights, international development, international finance, international political economy, international security, international trade, management and leadership of international organizations, NGO management and leadership, peace studies, and regional studies focused on Africa, East Asia, Europe, Latin America, Middle East, or South Asia. Successful candidates may affiliate with one of Maxwell's interdisciplinary centers (<https://www.maxwell.syr.edu/centers>).

Competitive candidates will have familiarity with professional trends, opportunities and career paths in the field of professional international affairs work. Familiarity with programs and trends in professional international affairs education and a demonstrated commitment to training the next generation of leaders in international affairs is required. Strong candidates will have either distinguished academic achievements including a record of high quality research and teaching, or a distinguished professional career involving leadership positions with substantial responsibilities. Regardless of whether a candidate's primary qualifications are academic or professional, he or she should have a record of engagement with international affairs scholars, policy makers, and practitioners. A Ph.D. is preferred, but not required for candidates whose qualifications are primarily professional and who would be hired as a professor of practice. Members of groups that are underrepresented in higher education leadership positions are strongly encouraged to apply. Salary is commensurate with experience and professional accomplishments.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

For consideration, candidates must complete an online faculty application (<http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/81772>) and attach online the following: a letter of interest, which emphasizes what qualities and ideas you would bring to leadership of the MAIR program at the Maxwell School, a CV, and contact information including a full email address of three references. Evidence of quality teaching can be submitted and will be considered but is not required. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed.

Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, we will continue to consider applications until the position is filled.

Syracuse University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer with a strong commitment to equality of opportunity and a diverse work force. Women, military veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of other traditionally underrepresented groups are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6213

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Chapman University seeks applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science, in the Department of Political Science, within Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, beginning in August 1, 2020.

The Department of Political Science and the MA in International Studies program seeks candidates whose research bridges theory and practice, so as to promote and support student engagement in the fields associated with human security. Teaching responsibilities will be split between the Political Science Department and the MA in International Studies Program at Chapman.

Tenure track faculty are expected to develop and maintain an active research agenda and are evaluated on their research/scholarly activity, teaching, service, and advising/mentoring.

Requirements include:

- Doctorate in Political Science or related field by the start date.
- Demonstrated strong research trajectory, including publications and involvement with professional organizations.
- Evidence of teaching excellence, including innovative and inclusive pedagogy.
- Demonstrated capacity to advise graduate and undergraduate students, including on coursework, research projects and career prospects.
- Specialization in the area of Human Security including but not limited to: environmental security (such as climate change adaptation, global health or food security); gender and/or race and security; conflict and/or environmentally induced displacement; poverty and sustainable development; governance issues related to new security paradigms.

Qualified applicants must electronically submit a faculty application, cover letter, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, writing sample and letter from three academic/professional references to:

Drs. Art Blaser and Crystal Murphy

Search Committee Co-Chairs

c/o: Talisa Flores at tflores@chapman.edu

Please use "Assistant Professor of Political Science/International Studies" as the email subject line.

Application review will begin October 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications. Chapman University offers a relocation expense reimbursement package as well as a first-time Orange County homebuyer assistance program. Successful completion of a background check is required for the final candidate.

Subject to final budget approval.

Download a copy of the Chapman Faculty Application for Employment here:

<https://webfarm.chapman.edu/Jobs/NewHire-FacultyApplication.docx>

Chapman University, located in the heart of Orange County, California, offers traditional undergraduate programs in the arts and sciences and select pre-professional and graduate programs. Ranked in the top tier of Western universities, by U.S. News and World Report, Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. The University is classified by Carnegie as an R-2 research institution; Chapman has gained national recognition with its commitment to excellence through research and innovative teaching. More information is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/>

The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. More information on diversity and inclusion at Chapman University is available at <https://www.chapman.edu/diversity>.

Chapman University is an equal opportunity employer committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic global community. The University is dedicated to enhancing diversity and inclusion in all aspects of recruitment and employment. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ancestry, citizenship status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, military and veteran status, marital status, pregnancy, genetic information or any other characteristic protected by state or federal law. The University is committed to achieving a diverse faculty and staff and encourages members of underrepresented groups to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6176

Fordham University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Politics (Security)

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure track position in International Politics at the Assistant Professor level, beginning Fall 2020. The position is located at Fordham's Rose Hill (Bronx) campus.

We are particularly interested in candidates in the field of international security with a specialization in cybersecurity and a secondary focus in interstate conflict, nuclear proliferation, and/or terrorism. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to undergraduate and graduate curricular needs in political science, as well as to Fordham's Interdisciplinary Center for Cybersecurity. We encourage candidates to apply who will deepen our engagement with institutions or federal agencies within New York City and contribute to our University and department's commitment to quality teaching and research.

Review of applications will begin on October 15. Interested applicants must submit the following documents in electronic format (PDF or Microsoft Word) to Professor Ida Bastiaens, Committee Chair, via Interfolio, at <http://apply.interfolio.com/67817>: cover letter, curriculum vitae, writing sample, course syllabi, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Application materials should also address how the candidate's teaching, mentoring, scholarship, and/or community service supports Fordham University's commitment to diversity. Ph.D. at the time of appointment is required.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6149

Whitworth University

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

POSITION SUMMARY:

The Political Science department, a four-member department with a strong teaching and publication tradition, is announcing a tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor. The political science faculty at Whitworth has a common interest in justice and reconciliation—both international and domestic. We are looking for a candidate who will add to our strength in that area.

STARTING DATE: FALL 2020

PRIMARY TEACHING RESPONSIBILITIES:

Teach an annual seven-course load with a primary focus on International Relations. Ability to teach in our interdisciplinary Environmental Studies program is required. The ability to teach in the Peace Studies program is strongly preferred; ability to teach in a regional area that complements current department offerings is also welcomed. The full-time teaching load consists of three courses in the fall, three courses in the spring and a course in January-term. The position is open at the assistant level; however, in an exceptional circumstance a candidate could be hired at the associate level. Whitworth has well-established off-campus study programs and the department welcomes applications from candidates eager to participate in these.

OTHER RESPONSIBILITIES:

Additional responsibilities include participation in departmental activities and governance; professional and research activities, attending state, regional and national professional association meetings; attending faculty assemblies, development days, and retreat, serving on committees and advising.

SPECIFIC JOB KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS AND ABILITIES:

- Demonstrated awareness and commitment to effectively establishing relationships and positive communications across multiple dimensions of diversity including, but not limited to, race, gender, physical limitations, sexual orientation, gender identity, class or religious perspectives
- A personal commitment to the Christian faith and to the integration of faith and learning
- Demonstrated effectiveness at college-level teaching
- Strong potential for an on-going stream of research in the candidate's area of specialization
- The ability to communicate effectively in the language of instruction (English)
- A commitment to equal opportunity for all persons
- A commitment to the educational mission of Whitworth University as a Christian liberal arts university affiliated with the Presbyterian church

QUALIFICATIONS: Ph.D. or ABD in political science

SALARY: Commensurate with experience and qualifications

TO APPLY: Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, your teaching philosophy, candidates most recent student feedback surveys, a one-page document outlining your personal commitment to the Christian faith at www.whitworth.edu/facultycareers

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS: A background and/or credit check will be required of the successful applicant, as well as an official transcript and physical exam (if applicable).

DEADLINE: Application Materials will be received until the position is filled. Initial screening of applicants will begin immediately

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6136

University of Kentucky

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Patterson School of Diplomacy and International Commerce at the University of Kentucky invites applications for a tenure track appointment starting in August 2020 at the Assistant Professor rank. The ideal candidate will combine a focus on international commerce with an area of functional or regional expertise, preferably in Asia. Applicants from the disciplines of political science, history, and law are particularly welcome. Professional experience working with an IO, NGO or government, would be a plus, as would be extended study, research or teaching overseas. Candidates must already possess an earned doctorate/terminal degree.

The Patterson School is a selective 18-month professional masters degree program in international affairs. Each year's incoming student cohort is generally limited to thirty-five, all full-time and residential. Our faculty is an interdisciplinary mix of traditional academics and former foreign affairs professionals. Coursework and seminars are supplemented with a rich offering of experiential co-curricular activities. Academic concentrations are offered in: diplomacy; international security and intelligence; international commerce; and international organizations and development.

In addition to standard faculty scholarly research, service and outreach responsibilities, the successful candidate will be expected to teach and to help organize and support co-curricular activities.

Additional information about the Patterson School can be found at <http://www.uky.edu/pattersonschool>

To apply, please submit CV and cover letter along with application. Please also include the contact information for at least three references when prompted in the application. This information may be used to solicit reference letters from your contacts within the employment system.

Applications will be reviewed beginning October 31st, 2019, and continue until the position is filled.

Located in Lexington, Kentucky

PhD. Required

Apply for posting: <http://ukjobs.uky.edu/postings/242812>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 6114

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development's Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high quality, policy relevant research on critical issues related to global development and poverty alleviation.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2020 for one year (and will consider two years). The Center's postdoctoral fellows program is intended for promising new and recent PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy relevant research on topics related to critical issues for international development and poverty alleviation.

The Center's postdoctoral fellows will be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University. The Center provides a competitive salary plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2019 via the application form linked from the King Center's website.

For more details and information please visit <https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoralfellowsprogram>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6105

U.S. Naval Academy

Rank: International Relations and Comparative Politics

Specializations: International Security, Conflict Processes, Defense

The Political Science Department of the United States Naval Academy invites applications for multiple tenure-track Assistant Professor positions in International Relations and Comparative Politics beginning August 2020. Application review will begin on 01 October 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

The U.S. Naval Academy is a service academy and top tier liberal arts college with a commitment to excellence in faculty teaching, research, and service. Scholars with expertise in interstate war, great power politics, ethnic conflict, and political violence are encouraged to apply. Regional expertise in either Africa, South/Southeast Asia, or Russia is also desired. A strong commitment to undergraduate teaching is essential. Candidates should have a robust research agenda and demonstrate potential for research excellence, as well as a strong commitment to student advising and institutional service.

For more information about this position and how to apply please visit the USNA position announcement at

<https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/AsstProf-PolSci-AY20.php>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/30/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6102

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Gender and Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8350>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6046

Franklin & Marshall College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor of International Relations

The Department of Government at Franklin & Marshall College invites applications for a three-semester visiting position beginning in January 2020 and ending on June 30, 2021. Rank will be at Visiting Assistant Professor or Visiting Instructor, depending on qualifications. Teaching experience is preferred. The position requires teaching 3 courses in the spring semester of 2020 and a 3/2 load in 2020-2021. Teaching responsibilities include: Introduction to International Politics, Introduction to Comparative Politics, and an upper-level course in the scholar's area of research in international relations.

Applicant must send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, teaching, research and diversity statements, teaching evaluation forms and a sample of scholarly writing to <http://apply.interfolio.com/67171>. Applicants must also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted directly to Interfolio by the recommenders. Inquiries about the position (but no application materials) may be directed to Professor Jennifer Kibbe (jkibbe@fandm.edu).

Pursuant to cultivating an inclusive college community, the search committee will holistically assess the qualifications of each applicant. We will consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds. We will also consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to academic success.

The Committee will begin reviewing complete applications on September 15, 2019. Applications submitted by that date will be given priority consideration. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6016

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor – International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the level of Assistant Professor in international relations, pending budgetary approval. We welcome applications from all areas of international relations, but are particularly interested in candidates who employ rigorous social scientific methods in their research and whose work complements and builds on departmental strengths.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020, and applicants should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field before the appointment begins. Successful candidates are expected to engage in research, teaching, and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjY2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2019, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5999

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Housing, Education Policy, Criminal Justice

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate professor in American politics and public policy, with an emphasis on political institutions and the policy making process, to begin July 1, 2020.

All applicants must have a PhD in the area of Political Science, Public Policy, or a related policy discipline conferred by the time of appointment. Please note that we are searching at both the junior and tenured levels. Successful candidates will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in American political institutions and policy-making. While we encourage applications from scholars studying all areas of Public Policy, GPS has particular interest in Health, Education, Criminal Justice, Transportation, or Housing Policy.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at:

Assistant Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02210>

Associate Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02211>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5965

Portland State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Departments of Political Science and International & Global Studies at Portland State University are searching for a shared tenure-track Assistant Professor position. The ideal candidate will conduct research and teach in the fields of Comparative Politics and/or International Relations with a focus on development. There is a strong preference for candidates who study development through the lens of international political economy, Africa, the Middle East, human rights policy, or global health policy.

Please submit:

- letter of application (cover letter),
- curriculum vitae,
- graduate transcripts (upload under "Other-2"),
- writing sample (e.g. article, book chapter, conference paper, etc) and,
- teaching evaluations (upload under 'Evidence of Teaching Effectiveness') .

Please list the names, telephone numbers and email addresses for three professional references. As soon as you submit your application, your references will be emailed a link to upload their letters of recommendation.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and continue until the position is filled. If you have any questions, please contact the Department of Political Science at polisci@pdx.edu

Portland State University is Oregon's most affordable public research university, located in the heart of one of America's most dynamic cities. Our mission to "let knowledge serve the city" reflects our dedication to turning ideas into action — in Portland and around the world. The city is our campus, giving students unmatched access to career connections, a vibrant cultural scene and hands-on learning experiences with hundreds of community partners. More than 27,000 students from all backgrounds bring diverse perspectives to our classrooms and campus life, from the tree-lined Park Blocks to the bustling Urban Plaza and state-of-the-art science labs. We are proud of our world-class faculty, groundbreaking research and international reputation for excellence in sustainability, community engagement and innovation.

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. in a related field must be completed by September 1, 2020.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Creates an environment that acknowledges, encourages and celebrates differences.
- Functions and communicates effectively and respectfully within the context of varying beliefs, behaviors, orientations, identities and cultural backgrounds.
- Seeks opportunities to gain experience working and collaborating in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings with a willingness to change for continual improvement
- Adheres to all PSU's policies including the policies on Prohibited Discrimination & Harassment and the Professional Standards of Conduct.
- Contributes to a culture of environmental stewardship, practices resource conservation, and actively works toward achieving long-term sustainability goals.

Professional Standards of Conduct:

At Portland State University, all employees are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner which maintains a safe, respectful, and productive environment for faculty, students, administrators, and staff. It is the responsibility of every member of the Portland State University community to conduct themselves in accordance with our PSU Professional Standards of Conduct which are available at www.pdx.edu/hr/professional-standards-conduct.

Total Compensation Range & Benefits Statement:

The starting annual salary rate for this position will be between $65,007-$67,005. The starting salary may be negotiable above this range, however it will be dependent upon the knowledge, experience, skills and abilities of the chosen candidate, the budget of the hiring committee, and approval from HR.

PSU's excellent benefits package includes 95% premium paid healthcare; a generous retirement and vacation package, and reduced tuition rates for employee, spouse or dependent at any of the Oregon Public Universities

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/8/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 5945

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for a postdoctoral research position for the 2020-2021 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Post-doctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines bearing on the study of Economic Diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (September 28, 2020 – June 11, 2021), and to interact with faculty and Ph.D. students, giving at least one research talk. Selected fellows are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019, for full consideration; however, the posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process: All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02196>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or receive a Ph.D. degree in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines related to the study of Economic Diplomacy by the start of appointment.

Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on December 6, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. CCD Fellows will receive applicable UCSD benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the UCSD's background check policy.

For more information about the Center for Commercial Diplomacy fellowship program, please contact Alexandra Hubenko, Executive Director, at ahubenko@ucsd.edu

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5926

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, International Relations

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in International Relations. We are interested in candidates from all areas of International Relations, though we have a particular interest in those with expertise in International Political Economy and International Organization.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/53014>.

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5905

Sabancı University

Rank: Open rank - International Political Economy (Sabanci University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabanci University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve International Political Economy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5912

Sabancı University

Rank: Open rank - International Relations (Sabanci University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabanci University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve International Relations. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: international conflict, foreign policy or civil conflict.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5913

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: East Asia, Latin American, Middle East

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12563>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5847

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2020-2021 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12564>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5844

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow in Regional Political Economy – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12562>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;

- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5846

Florida State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Florida State University is recruiting an assistant professor of political science on a tenure earning line to begin in August 2020. Assistant professors are expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses, conduct research in their area of expertise and contribute to department, college and university service. Successful candidates will have a promising research agenda, strong analytical and empirical skills, and seek to achieve the highest standards of scholarship, professional activity, and commitment to undergraduate and graduate education. The department is especially interested in candidates whose research interests and expertise lie in scientific study of international conflict and cooperation, including interstate and intrastate conflict, political violence, and human rights. Successful candidates will have training in advanced quantitative methods and be able to contribute to graduate training in that area. Candidates must have earned their doctoral degrees before their appointment begins in August, 2020.

Florida State University is a Carnegie Foundation-classified Doctoral 1 institution. Its student population of around 42,000 includes around 8,500 students in graduate and professional schools. Tallahassee is the Florida state capital has a population of about 190,000 within a metro area with about 375,000 residents. The department has over 1,100 majors, an applied master degree program that focuses on practical political management, and a doctoral program.

Florida State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The University is committed to diversity and inclusion (<https://diversity>).

fsu.edu/), and we seek individuals who are dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, who share the University's goals to achieve greater diversity and inclusion, and who are reflective of our student body. The successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in a diverse, multicultural and inclusive setting. We encourage applications from women, minorities, and/or individuals with a demonstrated commitment to a culturally and intellectually diverse workplace.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application that indicates their research and teaching interests, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a writing sample, (4) three letters of recommendations, and (5) a graduate school transcript. Please submit files and questions about the search to polisci@fsu.edu. To ensure that materials are reviewed, please submit files by October 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 7/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5869

Cornell University

Rank: Open Rank Tenure-track Position in International Relations

The Department of Government invites applicants for an open rank, tenured or tenure-track position in International Relations with a specialization in international political economy starting in the fall semester 2020. We are also open to research specializations in areas such as climate change and the environment; artificial intelligence, big data, and cybersecurity; and transgovernmental networks and nonstate actors. Our primary interest, however, is in candidates whose research and teaching are focused on the field of international political economy. A PhD is required no later than July 1, 2020.

Applicants should apply online at: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14126>. Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of written work, and three letters of recommendation, as well as teaching evaluations and materials if available. We will be doing interviews at APSA from 2-4pm on Friday, August 30, 2019. We will begin to review applications starting September 16, 2019, and will continue until the search is complete.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 9/16/2019

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5858

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Chinese Politics: International or Comparative Political Economy

Specializations: China, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Department of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University invites applications for a position in international relations or comparative politics with a focus on China. We are especially interested in scholars who examine China's role in the world through the lens of international or comparative political economy.

The Department prides itself on its ability to foster innovative research and forge cross-field synergies that reach beyond the traditional divides of our discipline. We are a methodologically diverse and pluralistic department, and we encourage applications from those trained in a variety of research methods.

Applicants at the level of assistant or associate professor are welcome. In addition to a cover letter, all applicants should submit a research statement, description of teaching philosophy, a writing sample, and curriculum vitae. In addition, candidates applying at the level of assistant professor should send three letters of recommendation via Interfolio. Applicants at the level of associate professor, please provide the names of three references. Please visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/64888> to upload application materials.

Review of applications will begin on October 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. The position will commence on July 1, 2020.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5726

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

1) Cover letter

- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/3/2020

Date Posted: 7/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5683

Mrs.

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 5/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5651

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

METHODOLOGY

Yale University

Rank: Research Postdoctoral Associate

Professors Alan Gerber and Gregory Huber at the Yale Institution for Social and Policy Studies (ISPS) and Center for the Study of American Politics (CSAP) seek a postdoctoral research associate for a one-year, full-time appointment beginning July 1, 2020. Projects will include, but are not limited to, field experiments, studies on political identity formation, and research on the effects of political attitudes on political participation and voter choice. Job responsibilities will be tailored to the strengths of the successful applicant, but will likely include assisting with research projects involving researchers at multiple institutions, data collection and management, and preliminary data analysis.

Technical skills such as computer programming or a math background are highly desirable. Excellent organizational skills, experience using computer databases and statistical software, and coursework in statistical methods are essential. Project management experience is a plus. PhD or equivalent degree at time of hire is required. Salary is negotiable.

Yale is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Please apply online at <https://apply.interfolio.com/71940>. Application materials include a cover letter, current C.V., copy of graduate transcripts, 2 letters of recommendation, and one writing sample.

To ensure full consideration, please submit all materials by February 1, 2020 when we will begin the review process, although we will continue to accept applications if there is still a vacancy.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 12/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7533

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in International Relations and Politics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology

The Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS) at Carnegie Mellon University invites candidates to apply for a teaching postdoctoral fellowship positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, International Security, Research Methods, and International Political Economy.

Postdoctoral fellows will be expected to teach one course per semester, complete independent research, and attend IPS sponsored seminars and other events. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of IPS and become involved in Carnegie Mellon's rich interdisciplinary community.

The postdoctoral fellowship position will run from August 1, 2020, to July 31, 2022. The salary for this position is $45,000 with a $2,500 research and travel budget. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible position.

Preference will be given to applicants who have received their PhD degree between November 30, 2017, and August 1, 2020. The application deadline is February 7, 2020.

Materials to be submitted:

- Cover letter of one to two pages briefly stating the applicant's academic background, research agenda, and interest in the program;
- CV;
- Research Statement;

- Teaching Statement (titles and short descriptions of at least two courses that the candidate is eligible to teach)
- Two scholarly writing samples;
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees; and
- Two reference letters.

Applications should be submitted through Interfolio to Carnegie Mellon University, Institute for Politics and Strategy, Position ID:56242 <http://apply.interfolio.com/71476>

Please email cmuips@andrew.cmu.edu with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/7/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7518

Creighton University

Rank: Resident Assistant Professor

Creighton University's Department of Political Science and International Relations invites applications from highly motivated, successful, and collaborative candidates for a Resident Assistant Professor position in the Department of Political Science and International Relations beginning August 2020. The successful candidate will have completed the PhD., have teaching experience, and show promise of excellence in both teaching and scholarship. We are interested in candidates broadly trained in international relations theories and approaches. Successful candidates will also have substantial methodological training. The candidate will need to teach introductory and upper division undergraduate courses in the International Relations program. The successful candidate will also be willing and able to mentor undergraduates in substantial empirical research projects, such as the department's senior thesis requirement and contribute to collaborative faculty-student research. The position would begin in August of 2020 and is renewable for an additional academic year.

We encourage applications from qualified individuals representing all backgrounds and faith traditions who can contribute to our distinctive academic traditions. Creighton is a Jesuit/Catholic University, emphasizing formation of character as well as education in the liberal arts. It places a premium on small class size and on serious interaction among faculty and students that contribute to a strong community of learning. Creighton University is an EEO/AA employer, committed to a diverse faculty, staff, and student body. Minority and women candidates are encouraged to apply. Review of applications begins on January 6, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. Salary will be commensurate with experience.

Please submit letter of interest indicating qualifications, statement of teaching philosophy and scholarly agenda, as well as an updated C.V., four letters of recommendation, and evidence of achievement in teaching and scholarship to: Dr. Erika Moreno, Chair, Political Science and International Relations, Creighton University, 2500 California Plaza, Omaha, NE 68178.

Potential candidates are encouraged to review the Faculty Handbook at:

https://www.creighton.edu/fileadmin/user/GeneralCounsel/docs/Faculty_Handbook_2016__complete_.pdf

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/18/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7493

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist, Arab Barometer
Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Politics seeks a Senior Research Specialist to assist with data collection, management, and analysis for the Arab Barometer. The Arab Barometer is a nonpartisan research network that provides insight into the social, political, and economic attitudes and values of ordinary citizens across the Arab World. Its objective is to disseminate and apply survey findings in order to contribute to political reform and to strengthen institutional capacity for public opinion research.

The Research Data Specialist works in close collaboration with the Arab Barometer team including the project director, research associates, communication associate, graduate and undergraduate students, and research colleagues in the U.S. and the Middle East and North Africa.

This position will be based in Washington, D.C. and is a 2-year term position with the possibility of renewal based on satisfactory performance and grant funding.

Responsibilities

The Research Data Specialist assists with the maintenance and development of scripts, including R (dplyr,ggplot), Python (pandas, matplotlib), Java, Matlab, and Stata, related to collecting and processing Arab Barometer data. During the data collection phase, this includes programming the questionnaire, validating the programming, quality control checks on data, data cleaning, and management of Arab Barometer survey data. The position also conducts data analysis for research projects including modeling, diagnostics, and graphic visualization for reports, articles and other publications.

Qualifications

Essential Qualifications

- Creative problem-solving skills
- Strong analytical and research skills
- Strong programming skills
- Background in quantitative analysis
- Knowledge of Stata, R, or other statistical software is required
- Experience with Python(pandas, matplotlib), Java, Matlab strongly preferred
- Strong verbal and written communications skills
- Demonstrated attention to detail
- Ability to communicate research results clearly and concisely
- Ability to meet tight deadlines across multiple survey projects while ensuring accuracy of results
- Proven experience in undertaking research involving survey data analysis, including using Stata, R, and other software
- Familiarity and experience with regression and MLE techniques, including advanced techniques such as multi-level modeling

Preferred Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in social sciences, statistics, or computer programming with Master's degree preferred

- Experience with conducting international survey research
- Arabic language skills highly desirable
- Knowledge and interest in the Middle East and North Africa

Apply online at <https://hr.princeton.edu/careers/search-opportunities> (requisition 2019-11156).

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/14/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 7482

NYU Shanghai

Rank: Data Science (Social Sciences), Tenured/Tenure-track

NYU Shanghai is adding new open-rank faculty positions to expand our research and teaching activities in data science. We seek entrepreneurial data scientists with a proven research record in applying advanced statistical and computational methods to the social sciences including, but not limited to sociology, psychology, political science, economics, urban studies, and environmental studies. We are particularly, but not exclusively, interested in candidates with expertise in causal inference, machine learning, or time series analysis. Also, experience with real-world large scale datasets is desirable. Successful candidates need to demonstrate vision for their research program at NYU Shanghai, as well as commitment to interdisciplinary research and education. NYU Shanghai has a vibrant undergraduate program in Data Science, and the Data Science group at NYU Shanghai closely collaborates with the Center for Data Sciences, and with the Courant Institute of Mathematics, at NYU in New York.

Terms of employment at NYU Shanghai are comparable to U.S. institutions with respect to research start-up funds and compensation, and they include housing subsidies and educational subsidies for children. Faculty may also spend time at NYU New York and other sites of the NYU Global Network, engaging in both research and teaching.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, and electronic copies of up to five relevant publications. Applicants are asked to please remove/not include their name on these materials before submission.

To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of at least three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload a reference letter.

Review of applications will begin on December 10, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Please visit our website at <http://shanghai.nyu.edu/en/about/work-here/open-positions-faculty> for instructions and other information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please email the NYUSH NY Office of Faculty Recruitment at shanghai.faculty.recruitment@nyu.edu. Applications are received via Interfolio at: apply.interfolio.com/70894.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7461

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Comparative Politics

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Comparative Politics with a substantive focus on countries or regions in the developing world. We are especially interested in scholars using big data, machine learning, or experimental and quasi-experimental methods; and whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply on Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70321>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions regarding the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 11/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7438

IE School of Global and Public Affairs

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Economy

IE University's School of Global and Public Affairs (IEGPA) seeks applicants for a position at the rank of Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Political-Economy with a substantive focus on comparative political-economy and/or applied game theory. We are especially interested in scholars whose research addresses issues of technological change and innovation. The successful candidate should demonstrate capacity to produce publications in top peer-reviewed outlets, both generalist and field journals, in the coming years.

We also seek academics with the capacity to engage in policy relevant work, and with a commitment to institution-building: applying for research grants, participating in affiliated research centers and academic programs, and expanding the IEGPA's current network and partnerships.

Applications should include a cover letter and vita, a job market paper, and three academic references. Candidates must have a PhD from a recognized Department of Political Science or Economics, or demonstrate clear evidence that the PhD will be complete by July, 2020. Candidates may apply at Interfolio by Dec. 15th, 2019, using the following link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70423>. Please contact Sara Flores (Sara.Flores@ie.edu) with questions about the application process.

The IEGPA is part of IE University, located in Madrid and Segovia, Spain; and is a full-member of the Association of Professional Schools in International Affairs (APSIA). We are committed to world-class professional education and academic research in the social sciences, public policy, and international affairs.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, attractive teaching commitments, and an enriching and cosmopolitan work environment in the heart of Madrid. Our working language is English, and both our faculty and student body are highly diverse and international.

IE University is strongly committed to non-discriminatory hiring practices, and encourages applications from individuals who will further expand the diversity of our faculty.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/15/2019
Date Posted: 11/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7436

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab: Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to quantify the impacts of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. By guiding the people who set public policy, as well as those who directly serve immigrant communities, our research can generate solutions and ultimately improve countless lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Position: We are looking for multiple postdoctoral fellows to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects related to immigration policy around the globe. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on identification, survey design, data acquisition, data analysis and interpretation of results. IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc's time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year beginning in August 2020. Salary is competitive and standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications: The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis; experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental program evaluations would be highly useful; knowledge of immigration/refugee policy, with the ability to operate in a language other than English, will also be highly valued. We are open to scholars with a wide range of expertise in immigration and policy and have a particular interest in researchers focused on migration and development.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research missions.

Application Requirements: Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample and at least two letters of recommendation. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process. Applications should be submitted by November 8, 2019, though applications may be considered after the deadline. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the Executive Director of the Immigration Policy Lab, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc 2020).

Applications will only be accepted via AcademicJobsOnline: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15074>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/8/2019
Date Posted: 10/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7419

University of North Texas Rank: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of North Texas invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position beginning fall 2020 in American politics. We seek candidates who study contentious politics broadly defined to include either behavior or institutional analyses. Areas of behavioral research may include social movements, political violence, disaffected groups, collective action/mobilization, labor movements, or the struggle for power. Candidates may also study institutional features such as the legislative process, the courts, and the media as it relates to political contention dynamics. The research focus may be at the local, state, or national level. The successful candidate should be able to contribute to instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate level. Candidates who have the Ph.D. by the start date are preferred.

All applicants must meet the following criteria: (1) A Ph.D. in Political Science (highly qualified ABD candidates will also be considered) and (2) evidence that demonstrates a potential for excellence in research, teaching, and service will be required of the selected candidate. Preference will be given to candidates who have a record of publication, can teach graduate methods courses, and who show a willingness to work with other faculty and graduate students.

The faculty member will teach core, upper-level undergraduate and graduate courses, continue a record of robust scholarly research, direct graduate research, and provide service to the department, college, and university. The typical teaching load is 2/2.

Applicants must submit: (1) a cover letter, (2) a curriculum vitae, (3) a narrative describing scholarly research, (4) a writing sample, (5) evidence of teaching effectiveness, (6) a copy of unofficial transcripts, and (7) the names and contact information of three references via UNT's Faculty Jobs portal at <https://facultyjobs.unt.edu>.

Review of applications will begin on October 24, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. To ensure full consideration, applicants are encouraged to submit their applications and all supporting materials as close as possible to the review date. UNT is an AA/ADA/EOE.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7331

SUNY, Binghamton University Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Methodology
Specializations: Conflict Processes, Quantitative Methods, Research Methods

The Department of Political Science at Binghamton University (SUNY) invites applications for an assistant professorship in international relations and/or comparative politics, focusing on political violence and civil conflict, to begin in August 2020. Preference will be given to candidates who can contribute to teaching in the department's graduate quantitative methods sequence, as well as connect with the Data Science Transdisciplinary Area of Excellence (TAE). The Data Science TAE comprises a collaborative group of data scientists from across campus who are at the leading edge of the data science revolution within their own disciplines. Candidates with demonstrable strengths in one or more of the following will be strongly preferred: mixed methods, statistics & econometrics, computational methods, and/or experimental methods. Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, samples of recent or current research, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of reference. Applications received by November 10, 2019 will be given first consideration, although we will accept applications until the position has been filled.

Binghamton University is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer. It is the policy of Binghamton University to provide for and promote equal opportunity employment, compensation, and other terms and conditions of employment without discrimination on the basis of sex, age, race, color, religion, disability, national origin, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, veteran or military service member status, marital status, domestic violence victim status, genetic predisposition or carrier status, or arrest and/or criminal conviction record unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification or other exception. Submit applications at <http://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/candapply.jsp?JOBID=116819>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7317

University of Texas, San Antonio

Rank: Assistant Professor

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT SAN ANTONIO

Department of Political Science and Geography

Position Announcement

Assistant Professor (Tenure Track)

Research Methods in Political Science and Global Affairs

The Department of Political Science and Geography at The University of Texas at San Antonio (UTSA) invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position to teach undergraduate and graduate level courses as part of the degree requirements in five of the Department's degree programs: Political Science (graduate and undergraduate), Global Affairs (graduate and undergraduate), and Politics and Law (undergraduate). Required courses in these programs include: Designing Research in Political Science; Quantitative Methods in Political Science; Research Methods in Global Affairs; and graduate Research Methods. The appointment begins Fall 2020. This position also supports collaborative and interdisciplinary teaching, research, and grants application objectives in University initiatives in such areas as Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and Data Analytics that employ quantitative and/or qualitative methodologies. The Department is home to 18 tenured and tenure-track faculty members, NTT faculty, administrative staff, and nearly 600 majors pursuing B.A. and M.A. degrees. Faculty members engage in individual and collaborative research around the world in such areas as global governance, comparative politics, security regimes, national security and intelligence, cyber security strategy and politics, political communications and institutions, federal justice policies, race and gender issues, social policy, human rights issues, constitutional development and judicial institutions, human migration patterns, geographic information systems, and political economy.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science or directly related discipline by August 31, 2020. Evidence of ability to teach all research design and methods courses listed above at undergraduate and graduate levels. Teaching at the undergraduate level includes instruction in understanding, interpreting, assessing, and developing research designs; and literacy and basic proficiency in statistical topics and techniques (e.g., classic hypothesis testing, univariate through multivariate analyses, data management, entry and manipulation, and graphical presentation of analysis). Teaching at the graduate level includes basic working knowledge of the empirical, quantitative, and/or qualitative approaches/techniques used by social scientists in understanding social/political phenomena, including skills in the use of SPSS, R, and/or STATA. All applicants must provide representative evidence of high-quality teaching in a variety of research methods and other courses.

Successful applicants must be willing to participate in collaborative interdisciplinary research activities to develop external research grants and to advise during such collaborative activities on appropriate statistical approaches/techniques. Successful applicants will be able to articulate a research agenda including an applicant's emerging record of journal or other peer-reviewed publications. Successful candidates must be able to demonstrate their ability to work with and be sensitive to the educational needs of diverse urban populations and support the University's commitment to thrive as a Hispanic Serving Institution and a model for student success.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given also to applicants prepared to teach courses in traditional sub-fields of political science and/or international relations, ranging from introductory surveys to more specialized and upper-level lecture and graduate seminars in an applicant's specialization.

Applicants should submit electronically in PDF format:

1. Letter of application for the rank of assistant professor, research interests, teaching experiences, and qualifications for the position;
2. Current curriculum vita;
3. A research, teaching, and service statement that includes discussion of the role that diversity and inclusion play in an academic environment. The research statement must articulate an applicant's research agenda; the teaching statement must articulate an applicant's teaching philosophy. The service statement must address an applicant's commitment to service to the department, college, university, profession, and community;
4. A copy of all graduate transcripts;
5. Samples of written or published scholarly work (no more than three)
6. Two representative samples of syllabi for courses taught or proposed by the applicant;
7. Teaching evaluations (if available or other evidence of course instruction);
8. Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references who are familiar with the applicant's scholarship and/or teaching and can be contacted to provide letters of recommendation. Submit electronic materials to: <https://jobs.utsa.edu> (click on 'Faculty' for position details)

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019 and will continue until position is filled.

This is a security sensitive position. Employment is contingent upon a successful background check.

UTSA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants who are selected for interviews must be able to show proof that they will be eligible and qualified to work in the United States by time of hire.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7264

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in quantitative political methodology to begin fall 2020. The successful candidate should have research interests in methods and is expected to meet departmental instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Priority will be given to candidates that can also contribute to teaching and research in other subfields of Political Science.

Applications should be submitted to the following: <https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Assistant-Professor/20688?>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6110

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science of the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political methodology.

The department seeks applicants from all subfields of political methodology. Strong candidates will make significant contributions to political methodology and seek to address important substantive questions in political science. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. Appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2020. Minimum basic qualification (must be met by time of application).

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching and service. Typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Applicants will be required to submit a cover letter of interest that describes their research and training, CV, writing samples, teaching evidence/evaluations, Statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of reference. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only completed applications that include the letters of reference may be reviewed by the committee.

Review of Applications will begin on October 30, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 30, 2019 will receive full consideration. Applications and materials will be submitted using UCR's on-line application system located at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01163>.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up (<http://product-help.interfolio.com/m/27438/1/266289-confidential-letter-uploads-to-online-application-systems>.)

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 4/1/2020

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6064

University of California, Riverside

Rank: Assistant Professor – Political Methodology

The Department of Political Science of the University of California, Riverside, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in political methodology.

The department seeks applicants from all subfields of political methodology. Strong candidates will make significant contributions to political methodology and seek to address important substantive questions in political science. The successful candidate should be committed to excellence in undergraduate and graduate education and have a record or promise of research publication. Ph.D. is preferred; candidates who are ABD at the time of application will be considered. Appointment level and salary will be competitive and commensurate with education and experience. The appointment will commence on July 1, 2020. Minimum basic qualification (must be met by time of application).

Advancement through the faculty ranks at the University of California is through a series of structured, merit-based evaluations, occurring every 2-3 years, each of which includes substantial peer input.

Faculty in the University of California are expected to engage in research, teaching and service. Typical course load is four classes over the academic year.

Applicants will be required to submit a cover letter of interest that describes their research and training, CV, writing samples, teaching evidence/evaluations, Statement of Past and/or Planned Future Contributions to Advancing Diversity and Inclusive Excellence, and 3 letters of reference. Confidential Letters are solicited via the AP Recruit System Only – Applicant inserts reference names and solicits references from within AP Recruit at time of application. Only completed applications that include the letters of reference may be reviewed by the committee.

Review of Applications will begin on October 30, 2019 and may continue until the position is filled. Applications and supporting materials received by October 30, 2019 will receive full consideration. Applications and materials will be submitted using UCR's on-line application system located at <https://aprecruit.ucr.edu/apply/JPF01163>.

Applicants who use Interfolio may utilize a feature provided by the Interfolio Service to allow Interfolio to upload their letters directly into AP Recruit. Applicants can input an Interfolio-generated email address in place of their letter writer's email address. Interfolio refers to this as Online Application Deliveries. The following link on the Interfolio website shows how to set this up (<http://product-help.interfolio.com/m/27438/l/266289-confidential-letter-uploads-to-online-application-systems>.)

UCR is a world-class research university with an exceptionally diverse undergraduate student body. Its mission is explicitly linked to providing routes to educational success for underrepresented and first-generation college students. A commitment to this mission is a preferred qualification.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer with a strong institutional commitment to the achievement of excellence and diversity among its faculty and staff. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law

Start Date: Summer 2020

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6065

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a postdoctoral research associate or more senior research position in the fields of Formal Theory or Quantitative Analysis. This position involves a year of research at Princeton with the possibility of renewal for another year based on satisfactory performance and continued funding. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars and to increase the critical mass of scholars with interests in formal theory and quantitative methods at Princeton.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13301> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, transcript and the names and contact information of three references. Ph.D. is required. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton Politics faculty members. Unofficial transcripts are sufficient and may be uploaded with the application. Applicants who are unable to upload unofficial transcripts may send official transcripts to F/Q Postdoctoral Fellowship Search, Department of Politics, 001 Fisher

Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, NJ 08544. We will begin reviewing applications on February 14, 2020.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition Number: D-20-POL-00010

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6050

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor – Methodology/Computational Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh seeks candidates for a tenure-stream position in Political Methodology and Computational Social Science at the level of Assistant Professor. We are seeking researchers that have expertise in applying machine learning approaches, broadly construed, to computationally intensive problems in social science. Researchers modeling social media or networks, those employing novel data (e.g., eye-tracking, MRI or GIS data), at scale, or applying creative measurement and visualization strategies to explore topics such as algorithmic biases would be particularly competitive for this position, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work complements and builds on departmental strengths. We encourage applications not only from candidates who have been trained in Political Science departments, but also interdisciplinary researchers whose interests intersect with political science topics. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching ability, the promise of attracting external funding for his/her research, and will have the opportunity to join the interdisciplinary MLHub initiative at Pitt.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020, and applicants should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science, Information Science, Computer Science, or a related field before the appointment begins. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjY3>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2019, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 5998

University of Georgia

Rank: Philip H. Alston, Jr. Distinguished Chair

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for the Philip H. Alston Jr. Distinguished Chair in any substantive area of American politics, methodology, or theory. The start date is slated for August 2020.

Duties include teaching and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate student levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets. Salary is appropriate for an esteemed chaired position. The appointment also includes a substantial endowment for research and development.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or allied field is required. A distinguished record of academic scholarship and of grant-supported research and a standing in political science and the social sciences commensurate with a distinguished university professorship are expected. Leadership roles in the discipline, whether within a university or in the discipline broadly construed, are preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and a list of the names of at least five references. References will only be contacted if a candidate reaches the short list. . Materials should be submitted to the UGA job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/99240> .

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities, and is conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia (UGA), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<http://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,600 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 36,000 students, including over 27,500 undergraduates and over 8,500 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 17 schools and colleges as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central

HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5739

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 6/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5684

Mrs.

Rank: Assistant / Associate Professor of Political Science--International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at Westmont College, Santa Barbara, CA invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of associate or assistant professor in International Relations. The appointment will begin in August 2020. Candidates should be able to teach broadly in international relations, with preference given to those who can also offer courses in comparative politics and introductory research methods. Applicants must have a Ph.D., evidence of excellence in scholarship and teaching, and a commitment to mentoring undergraduate students. A normal teaching load includes three 4-unit courses per semester, committee assignments, and academic advising.

Westmont College is a nationally ranked, selective liberal arts college in the evangelical Protestant tradition. We desire faculty who are animated by a serious Christian faith, are able to engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and pedagogy, and who share a commitment to justice, citizenship, and service. Westmont has a strong commitment to cultural and academic diversity that is increasingly reflected in its student body, curriculum, and faculty. We seek a colleague who shares these commitments and will contribute to their rich applications in political science.

Please visit <https://www.westmont.edu/office-provost/open-positions> for application instructions and to submit relevant documents.

Questions may be addressed to Dr. Jesse Covington, chair of Political Science via e-mail: jcovington@westmont.edu. Review of applications will begin in June 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

For priority interview consideration, applications should be received by August 1, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 5/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5651

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 2/25/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5470

NON-ACADEMIC

New York University

Rank: Lab Manager - Center for Social Media and Politics

We are looking for a full-time lab manager. In this role, you will be embedded in our research teams in order to directly support the lab's cutting-edge output. Currently, we have a portfolio of over 25 projects on a wide range of questions related to social media and politics, each of which has different substantive and methodological motivations. As the lab manager, you will have two main responsibilities. First, you will monitor and coordinate all of the lab's research projects; second, you will provide direct support to a selected portfolio of projects. Given the nature of this position, a graduate-level background in quantitative social science and/or data science research is strongly encouraged, as is experience leading teams in a fast-paced environment.

Each project will require something different from the lab manager, ranging from coordinating with our survey vendors to training undergraduate RAs. We value initiative and adaptability, as well as a passion for the research process. While far from an exhaustive list, your responsibilities will include:

- Instituting systems of regular reporting on work performed, setting goals, tracking progress towards deliverables
- Holding meetings with research teams on each project, and reporting to Faculty Directors and Executive Director on progress
- Ensuring data tasks are regularly updated and best lab practices (e.g. coding and documentation) are followed
- Managing paper writing/revisions, writing IRB paperwork, and coordinating conference/journal submissions
- Training and supervising graduate/undergraduate RAs

The Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Center has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors. You will be given the opportunity to participate in the center's research environment, including attending conferences and seminars and working closely with a broad group of researchers associated with the lab.

The directors of CSMaP are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754><https://apply.interfolio.com/66754>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7326

OPEN

George Washington University

Rank: Director

The Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies (WGSS) program at The George Washington University seeks to appoint a tenured faculty member to serve as the Director of the WGSS program.

The WGSS program at GWU is the first graduate program in Women's Studies in the United States. Today, it is a thriving program that offers a BA, a BA/MA, two graduate degrees, two minors, one certificate, and a joint JD/MA. The Director of the program will provide scholarly leadership, oversee administration, budgeting, as well as student recruitment for the program.

The successful candidate will be jointly appointed and tenured in the appropriate department at The George Washington University as a Full or Associate Professor.

The appointment is expected to begin as early as Fall 2020.

Minimum Qualifications

PhD in Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies or in any Humanities or Social Sciences field or a terminal MFA degree; a record of scholarly publications such as books or journal articles; administrative and leadership experience; demonstrated commitment to global and intersectional approaches to the study of gender and sexuality; experience working with a diverse range of faculty, staff, and students; experience with program building, teaching, and/or advising at undergraduate and graduate levels.

Special Instructions to Applicants

Applicants should submit an online application at <http://www.gwu.jobs/postings/71761> and upload the following documents:

1. Cover letter (addressing teaching experience, program building experience, qualifications for leadership, and research interests).
2. Curriculum vitae.

Only complete applications will be considered. Review of applications will begin December 16, 2019 and continue immediately until the position is filled.

Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7531

United States Military Academy

Rank: Deputy Director of the Graduate Scholarship Program and Instructor/Assistant Professor in the Department of Social Sciences

DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF THE GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM AND INSTRUCTOR/ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN THE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SCIENCES at West Point.

The United States Military Academy (USMA) at West Point, established in 1802, is the nation's premier leader development institution. It is the only college specifically charged with preparing young men and women for service as officers in the United States Army, and it has a singular focus on educating leaders of strong moral courage who are creative, critical, and resourceful thinkers. Operating out of West Point's Department of Social Sciences, the USMA Graduate Scholarship Program supports the Academy's mission by developing cadets who demonstrate exceptional potential into thinking leaders for the U.S. Army and the nation. Cadets in the Scholarship Program receive intensive mentorship as they synthesize their academic and military experiences and articulate visions for their future. Cadets take a two-course sequence (XH497 Critical Thought and XH407 Advanced Critical Thought) and engage in developmental opportunities beyond the classroom. At the conclusion of the Scholarship Program cadets apply for nationally-competitive scholarships like the Rhodes, Marshall, and Fulbright.

Duties include:

- Teaching: design and teach challenging interdisciplinary courses to elite undergraduates; liaise with all academic departments to develop and assess curriculum.
- Advising: oversee submission of scholarship applications; coordinate institutional support to applicants, including letters of recommendation; manage internal selection process for nationally competitive scholarships; and facilitate cadet and faculty research partnerships to support scholarship opportunities.
- Outreach: raise awareness of scholarship opportunities among cadets, faculty, and staff at West Point; liaise with all academic departments to identify candidates for scholarship competitions; build a communication strategy to strengthen the USMA Graduate Scholarship Program's alumni community; sustain and develop relationships with external scholarship foundations and organizations; run a high-impact guest speaker series; host distinguished guests and organize events for groups of up to 50 people.

Qualifications:

1) Academic accomplishment (a Ph.D. in Political Science, Economics, or an interdisciplinary field that includes these disciplines by time of appointment is preferred); 2) Demonstrably strong writing, presenting, and editing skills; 3) Promise or evidence of excellence in teaching at the college level ; 4) Demonstrated ability to manage academic programs; 5) Promise or evidence of excellence in advising high-achieving undergraduates (experience with advising students on graduate scholarship applications is preferred).

Position details:

This is a full time appointment starting on or about July 6, 2020 for a term of 2 years. Appointments may be extended or renewed. As a term employee you will be eligible for medical insurance, life insurance, and retirement. You will also earn annual leave and sick leave. Starting salary for this position is $70,297 to $74,870 per year.

To apply:

No later than January 6, 2020, please submit a cover letter, CV, academic transcripts, three professional letters of recommendation, and a writing sample of no more than 20 pages to:

United States Military Academy
Office of the Dean
Department of Social Sciences
Attention: Dr. Rachel Yon
607 Cullum Road
West Point, New York 10996

Please contact Dr. Rachel Yon at rachel.yon@westpoint.edu with any questions.

For a complete job description and additional details see: <https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/552423900>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 11/26/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7530

Georgetown University

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor

The Department of Government at Georgetown University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-line Assistant Teaching Professor in Government, to begin August 2020.

A Ph.D. in hand by the time of appointment is required, as is evidence of teaching excellence. The ideal candidate will have academic administrative experience in an undergraduate setting, although less experienced candidates enthusiastic about making a career in the field of political science education are also encouraged to apply. The department is seeking a committed and inclusive educator who is enthusiastic about contributing to a dynamic, innovative undergraduate program located within a research-intensive department offering B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees.

The teaching load is five courses per academic year, which will likely include regular rotation in one or more undergraduate foundational or service courses (such as U.S. Political Systems, Comparative Politics Systems, Introduction to International Relations, Elements of Political Theory, International Security, or Analysis of Political Data) and specialized seminars in the successful candidate's area of expertise. Additional responsibilities includes serving as co-Director of Undergraduate Studies, with oversight of course scheduling for ~100 sections per semester, and coordination of the department's role in Georgetown's exciting new Capitol Applied Learning Lab, located near Capitol Hill (<https://futures.georgetown.edu/the-call/>). The period of the initial contract will be for three years.

More information on the Department of Government is located at <https://government.georgetown.edu/>. The department values new perspectives on the world and is deeply committed to building a more open discipline that seeks excellence wherever it may lie.

This is a 2-part application process. For your application to be fully considered, the following must be completed by January 3, 2020. Review of candidates will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

1. Visit <https://bit.ly/2XB50P6> and follow the on-screen instructions to create an applicant profile in the Georgetown application system. Please refer to the step-by-step guide for completing Part 1 at <https://georgetown.app.box.com/s/qv33z50g2ef8xxj0dlnbw7qll3lks0m>. Please email facultyapplicanthehelp@georgetown.edu for technical assistance.

2. Submit the required application materials below per the instructions on the Academic Jobs Online posting for this position found at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15509>: cover letter, CV, teaching evaluations, a statement on inclusive pedagogy, and three letters of recommendation that speak specifically to teaching and administrative experience.

Please direct all position inquiries to the chair of the search committee, Prof. Michele Swers, mls47@georgetown.edu.

Georgetown University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer fully dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, national origin, marital status, veteran status, disability or other categories protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 11/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7523

Earlham College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Politics

Description

The Politics Department at Earlham College invites applications for a full-time, visiting Assistant Professor beginning August 2020.

Politics at Earlham is a dynamic program, which is dedicated to providing students with rigorous disciplinary knowledge while also building key skills vital to career success. Students learn how to formulate political arguments, conduct research, apply theoretical frameworks, and simulate real-world politics. Our students regularly engage in collaborative research projects with members of the faculty, examining a wide array of political questions. Faculty in Politics support and administer the Politics, International Studies, and Public Policy majors at Earlham College.

This position fills a vacancy in International Relations, which will be under institutional consideration as a future tenure line.

Primary Duties & Responsibilities

We are seeking candidates with a love of undergraduate teaching and a PhD degree in political science, international relations or a related field. Areas of teaching interest, research interest, and country/region specialization are open, but we are seeking a candidate who will expand and diversify our current course offerings. Teaching in Earlham's first year seminar program is essential. An ability to teach a methods course, support related interdisciplinary programs, and contribute to co-curricular programs would be welcome. Research plans that could include undergraduates are welcome. The teaching load is 3-3.

Experience & Qualifications

Applicants must have Ph.D. in hand by August 2020. Previous teaching experience at the undergraduate level is preferred.

Application Instructions

Candidates should send applications as a single PDF. Applications should include a cover letter detailing teaching and research interests, a curriculum vitae, and a statement (approximately 300-500 words) describing the candidate's ability to contribute to Earlham's aspirations to be a diverse and inclusive institution, to be submitted to our administrative assistant Donna Sykes (politicssearch@earlham.edu). In addition, please submit three letters of recommendation (these may be sent under separate cover). Additional evidence of teaching effectiveness may be requested later in the process.

Applications should be received by 3 February 2020 to receive full consideration; submissions will be accepted until the position is filled.

Earlham College is an Equal Opportunity Employer that seeks applications from candidates who contribute to diversity in terms of race, ethnicity, age, religious affiliation, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, and veteran status, among other distinctions and contributions. As a College with a Quaker identity, Earlham also is eager to solicit applications from members of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers).

Earlham utilizes E-Verify to confirm employment eligibility for all newly hired employees within the United States.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7514

Waseda University

Rank: Tenured Position in Japanese Studies

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics at Waseda University invites applications for the tenured position of Professor or Associate Professor in Japanese Studies. Located in central Tokyo, we are part of a leading research university in Japan.

1. Department and institution: Faculty of Political Science and Economics (FPSE), Waseda University

2. Area open for application: Japanese Studies

3. Courses to teach:

- Courses on Japanese Studies at both the undergraduate and postgraduate level in the Faculty of Political Science and Economics.
- Other related courses.

4. Qualifications and requirements:

1) Applicants hold or will have completed (by the time of appointment) a doctoral degree.

2) Applicants should be able to supervise students at either the Graduate School of Political Science or the Graduate School of Economics.

3) Applicants should be able to teach both in Japanese and English.

4) Successful applicants may be asked to collaborate with the Center for Japanese Language at the University in order to support and mentor foreign students of the Faculty whose native language is not Japanese. This does not mean that applicants will teach Japanese as a second language.

5. Appointment: 1 position

6. Title: Professor (tenured) or Associate Professor (tenured)

The rank will be determined by the successful candidate's experience in teaching, his or her academic and research accomplishments, and the Committee's evaluation of the candidate's performance throughout the screening process. The successful candidate will be notified of the title, and the salary, by the Dean at the final stage of the screening.

7. Salary and working conditions:

·Salary and allowances:

Salary and allowances will be paid in accordance with the regulations of the University.

·Working days and hours:

Scheduled working days and working hours (starting/finishing times; rest periods) are based on the regulations of the University. The discretionary labor system for professional work will be applied to research work. The nature of academic research being taken into account, working hours and the ways in which to proceed shall be at the discretion of each faculty member.

·Holidays:

Holidays are Saturdays, Sundays, New Year's holidays, legally recognized public holidays, and compensatory holidays appointed by the University for classes held on some public holidays and on the anniversary of the University's founding. Holidays fixed in advance by the University as working days will be excluded from compensation. When, under exceptional circumstances, teaching and other duties in FPSE are scheduled for holidays, Faculty employees are entitled to compensatory holidays.

·Leave:

Leave is determined by the Labor Standards Act and related laws. In addition, some days are designated by the University as leave days.

·Social insurance:

Employees shall join schemes for an employee pension, health insurance, labor insurance, and employment insurance.

·Research funding:

Individual research allowance: 210,000 yen per annum

Academic conference travel subsidy: 90,000 yen per annum

Academic conference travel subsidy (overseas): 110,000 yen per annum

Various competitive research grants/funds are available at the University.

8. Starting date:

September 1, 2020 or April 1, 2021 (alternatively, an agreed-upon later date)

9. Application:

Applications must be submitted via the following website:

https://www.wasedapse.jp/en/fpse1/eng_input.php

In "Application Category" on the screen, choose "Japanese Studies". In "References," provide the contact information (name; affiliation; title; e-mail address) of two persons from whom FPSE may request, at some stage of the screening, letters of recommendation.

Upload the following documents in PDF files:

1) Cover letter (please download the form from the website; to be filled out in Japanese and/or English) to "(1) Application form/Cover letter"

2) Curriculum vitae (in any format; the Waseda template downloadable from the website; in either Japanese or English) to "(2) Curriculum vitae"

[Note: The CV should include a list of academic/professional accomplishments, with peer-reviewed books/articles clearly marked]

3) Statement of research and teaching interests (in any format) to "(3) Additional application material 1"

The statement should include the following:

(3-A) a summary of three major academic works [for each piece, approx. 600 characters in Japanese or approx. 300 words in English]

(3-B) a statement of current and future research plans [approx. 1,000 characters in Japanese or approx. 500 words in English]

(3-C) a statement of teaching plans or interests [approx. 1,000 characters in Japanese or approx. 500 words in English]

4) Three major academic works to "(4) Additional application material 2," "(5) Additional application material 3," and "(6) Additional application material 4"

[Note: Send any books (not to be returned to the applicant) directly to:

Attn: Application for Faculty Position in Japanese Studies
Faculty of Political Science and Economics, Waseda University
1-6-1 Nishi Waseda, Shinjuku, Tokyo 169-8050 Japan]

This document in its original form, the prescribed forms, and the instructions for applicants are available at the following address:
<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2019/11/17/11198/>

10. Application deadline: 1:00 p.m. (JST) on Friday, January 10, 2020

11. Screening:

There will be three stages in the recruitment process: 1) shortlisting; 2) the Committee having an interview with each shortlisted candidate; and 3) the Dean having an interview with the successful candidate. The outcome of the shortlisting process will be notified to all the applicants by the end of February, 2020. Interviews with shortlisted candidates are expected to take place in March. Each interviewee will also give a condensed version of a course lecture along with a presentation on any part of his or her research. Please note that shortlisted candidates will be asked to send a copy of the doctoral degree certificate (or an equivalent document) to FPSE prior to the date of the interview.

Inquiries: pse-hr-jstudies@list.waseda.jp

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7506

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Political Science Professor – Open Rank

Subfield(s): Open, Open, Open

Political Science Professor – Open Rank
Division of Social Science
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi is searching for new faculty to conduct important research and teach the next generation of global leaders.

You are invited to apply for an open-rank position in Political Science. This tenured/tenure-track search includes all fields and methodologies, and applications from senior scholars (Associate and Full Professor) are especially welcome.

NYU Abu Dhabi's unique location in the Middle East makes it an ideal headquarters for social scientists working to better understand global societies, both past and present. The disciplines in this field seek to deepen our understanding of how people behave in a wide variety of contexts and to assess the consequences of individual, group, and societal decisions.

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a pioneer of higher education in a global world, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, while advancing cooperation and progress on humanity's shared challenges. Part of the NYU global network, NYU Abu Dhabi offers an outstanding liberal arts and science education to students from the United Arab Emirates, United States, and around the world, focusing on intercultural understanding and leadership. It supports innovative research that pushes the frontiers of knowledge forward and responds in powerful and interdisciplinary ways to vital global and local questions. NYU Abu Dhabi advances NYU as a model university for the 21st century and contributes in multiple ways to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based economy in Abu Dhabi.

As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students, and providing an intellectually rich environment. Students are drawn from around the globe, surpassing all traditional academic benchmarks. The NYU Abu Dhabi undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other honors.

Working for NYU Abu Dhabi

A world-class institution deserves world-class benefits. At NYUAD, we recognize that Abu Dhabi is more than where you work, it's your home and in order for you to research, teach, and thrive, we're offering a comprehensive benefits package to our top talent. Start with generous relocation allowances to ensure a smooth transition to Abu Dhabi, followed by competitive salaries, housing and transportation allowances, and educational assistance for your dependents. Health and wellness services round out our offerings, plus more. Click <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/working-at-nyuad.html> for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

This position requires a Ph.D. in Political Science.

We seek individuals who have, or have the potential to develop, a strong record of scholarship and have the ability to develop and lead high-quality research.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items, to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/68225>

- . CV
- . Cover Letter
- . Statement of Teaching Interests
- . Recent Teaching Evaluations (if available)
- . Statement of Research Interests
- . Three (3) Representative Writing Samples
- . For candidates applying for the Assistant Professor Positions, please submit the names and email addresses of three (3) references who will be contacted to upload their letter confidentially through Interfolio.
- . For candidates applying to the Senior faculty position, please submit a list of three references that may be contacted at a later date.

We will begin looking at applications on September 23, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. Shortlisted candidates are expected to be invited for campus visits in Abu Dhabi and New York early Spring 2020. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in academic year 2020-2021.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socials-science@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now. Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7496

Rice University

Rank: Dean, School of Social Sciences

Subfield(s): Administration, Other, Open

Rice University seeks a distinguished academic leader and administrator to serve as the next dean of its School of Social Sciences and to work in collaboration with an outstanding faculty to enhance world-class research, educate the next generation of innovative leaders and advance a shared vision for transformational social impact.

Located on a bucolic wooded campus in the heart of Houston, Rice combines the resources of a preeminent research institution with the feel of an intimate, student-centered college. Among the nation's leading universities, Rice enrolls approximately 7,000 students, more than half of whom are undergraduates. The university is highly selective; 22 applicants compete for each place in the incoming class. More than 350 undergraduates complete majors in the social sciences annually; an additional 100-plus complete undergraduate minors; and the school awards more than 65 master's and 20 doctoral degrees.

The dean of the School of Social Sciences will provide leadership to 91 tenure track and 26 non-tenure track faculty across seven departments: Anthropology, Economics, Linguistics, Political Science, Psychological Sciences, Sociology and Sports Management. The next dean will be the first to take office in Kraft Hall, which will serve as the new home for Sociology, Economics and several centers and institutes at Rice.

Rice seeks in the next dean a leader who will inspire a pursuit of excellence and passion for creativity; invest in student success and well-being; listen to and learn from others; advance institutional diversity, equity and inclusion; and generate new resources to strengthen the School of Social Sciences.

The dean will work in close partnership with faculty throughout the school and across the university to sustain existing strengths and build new capacity, fostering the success of each department and of the School of Social Sciences as a whole. Learn more and download a complete leadership profile at wittkiewer.com/position/RiceSocialSciences.

Applications and nominations are invited, and the search will remain open until an appointment is made. Candidate materials should include a CV, letter of interest and contact information for at least five references. References will not be contacted without candidates' prior knowledge.

Please direct confidential inquiries, nominations and applications to the search consultants, Robin Mamlet, Philip Tang and Elizabeth Bohan, at RiceSocialSciences@wittkiewer.com.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7476

University of Canberra

Rank: Post-doctoral fellows (2)

University of Canberra

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellow (two positions), academic level B step 2.
Subfields: open

Specialization: deliberative democracy

Description:

The Centre for Deliberative Democracy and Global Governance at the University of Canberra seeks to appoint two Post-Doctoral Fellows to work in any area of deliberative democracy research. Both positions require the capacity to work in political theory and/or empirical social science, and to produce publications of the very highest quality. Each position is for a maximum of three years. These are research-intensive positions, though a portion the time in each position will be devoted to teaching. Appointees are expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the Centre through cooperating on research projects and co-authoring publications, helping to organize research projects, seminars, and conferences, and to help supervise PhD students.

Qualifications:

PhD in a relevant discipline completed after January 1, 2017, and before the time of commencement of the position, which will be as early as possible in 2020.

Application instructions:

Qualified candidates may apply using the following link, which also contains further information about the positions:

http://uctalent.canberra.edu.au/cw/en/job/494169/postdoctoral-fellow?fbclid=

IwAR0zMCHocVUKO2YbA9mkc0E3DsXvkqNnpPzE8xiEuqV0apaWkb1U7aXpQ

Start date: as early as possible in 2020

Application deadline: November 29, 2019

Salary: AUD 100,841-115,159

Start Date: Winter 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 11/7/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7453

University of Connecticut

Rank: Residential Fellowship

The University of Connecticut Humanities Institute invites applications for residential fellowships.

The Humanities Institute offers enthusiastic scholars a stipend, an office, and all the benefits of a Research I university to pursue their research. Just as important, the Institute fosters a rich, intellectual community for scholars to create, connect, and collaborate with one another.

Year-long fellowships are open to humanities professors, independent scholars, writers, and museum and library professionals. Fellows enjoy full use of UConn's research facilities, museums, and archives and special collections as well as easy access to Hartford, Boston, and New York City.

Application materials must be received by February 1, 2020.

For complete information, application, and guidelines: www.humanities.uconn.edu/become-a-fellow/

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6225

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab: Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to quantify the impacts of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. By guiding the people who set public policy, as well as those who directly serve immigrant communities, our research can generate solutions and ultimately improve countless lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civictech startup.

Position: We are looking for multiple postdoctoral fellows to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects related to immigration policy around the globe. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on identification, survey design, data acquisition, data analysis and interpretation of results. IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc's time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year beginning in August 2020. Salary is competitive and standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications: The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis; experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental program evaluations would be highly useful; knowledge of immigration/refugee policy, with the ability to operate in a language other than English, will also be highly valued. We are open to scholars with a wide range of expertise in immigration and policy and have a particular interest in researchers focused on migration and development.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research missions.

Application Requirements: Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample and at least two letters of recommendation. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process. Applications should be submitted by November 8, 2019, though applications may be considered after the deadline. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the Executive Director of the Immigration Policy Lab, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc 2020).

Applications will only be accepted via AcademicJobsOnline: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15074>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/8/2019

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7419

Chapman University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Chapman University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Environmental Science & Policy, an interdisciplinary program that draws from expertise in both the Schmid College of Science and Technology and the Wilkinson College of Art, Humanities and Social Sciences. This faculty position represents a joint appointment in both Schmid and Wilkinson Colleges.

Qualifications:

We seek candidates with an active research program in areas including but not limited to:

- Climate issues
- Environmental health
- Environmental justice
- Sustainability governance
- Urban planning
- Water policy

We value candidates who can identify avenues for collaboration both within and outside of the institution.

Candidates must hold a Ph.D. in a relevant field in the natural or social sciences (or related area) by the expected 8/1/20 position start date.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate is expected to lead a rigorous research program, which will include securing extramural funding, publishing in peer-reviewed journals, and incorporating undergraduate students in research. Teaching responsibilities will support the B.S. degree in Environmental Science & Policy and also include courses based on the candidate's field of expertise. Service to both Schmid and Wilkinson Colleges is also expected of the successful candidate.

Candidates should submit the following electronically via AcademicJobsOnline.org:

- ? Cover letter
- ? Curriculum vitae
- ? Statement of research (2 pages max)
- ? Statement of teaching philosophy (2 pages max)
- ? Contact information for three references
- ? Chapman University Faculty Employment Application

At Chapman University, we place great value in a diversity of experiences, backgrounds, and perspectives, particularly from groups that are traditionally under-represented in higher education within the US. As such we seek candidates who will support and advance our mission of being inclusive of all students in our teaching, our research, our collaborations, our service, and beyond. In either/both requested statements, please address any past experience and future plans to enhance diversity and inclusion.

Review of applications will commence December 1, 2019.

Inquiries may be directed to ES&P Search Chair at schmidcollege@chapman.edu.

Please use "Assistant Professor of Environmental Science & Policy" as the email subject line.

Successful completion of a criminal background check is required for the final candidate.

Chapman University is a nationally ranked institution offering traditional undergraduate and graduate programs in the heart of Orange County, one of Southern California's most diverse and vibrant regions. The university achieved R2 status in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education, a distinction held by just 10 percent of all U.S. universities. Our faculty include academic leaders who excel in research, publishing and world-class teaching in our 11 schools and colleges, including Schmid College of Science and Technology and Wilkinson College of Art, Humanities and Social Sciences. Dedicated to forward-looking, personalized education, we create an environment for unlimited achievement by both our students and faculty. More information about Schmid and Wilkinson Colleges is available at www.chapman.edu/science and www.chapman.edu/wilkinson, respectively.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 10/15/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7335

American University in Cairo

Rank: International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a position in International Relations starting Fall 2020. The position is on a fixed-term contract (Four years renewable) and open to candidates at the Assistant or Associate Professor levels. Teaching responsibilities will include a combination of courses at the B.A. and M.A. levels in the field of international relations (including introductory courses in international relations theory), foreign-policy analysis and international security. Candidates with a focus on the global south (Asia, Africa, and/or Latin America) and/or critical security studies are particularly encouraged to apply. The search committee is eager to review applications of individuals with demonstrated excellence in teaching, an accomplished and active research agenda, and an interest in living and working in the Middle East. The American University in Cairo is committed to equal opportunity and a diverse faculty.

Requirements:

A PhD is required at the time of appointment. Successful candidates should have an ongoing research and publication program and teaching experience. In addition to research and teaching, responsibilities include service to the Department and the University.

Application Procedures:

Priority will be given to applications received by November 30, 2019. The position is open until filled.

All applicants must submit the following documents online:

- A current C.V
- A letter of interest
- A statement of teaching philosophy
- A completed AUC Personal Information Form (PIF)
- A copy of a recently published or accepted article or chapter
- Three letters of reference

Please ask three referees familiar with your professional background to send letters directly to hussref@aucegypt.edu; with the name of the candidate/Faculty position/ Department.

All applications should be uploaded online:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/faculty/services/faculty-vacancies>

Please take note of your account login details. If additional questions are asked, you will be prompted to login into the AUC portal.

For more information, e-mail Dr. Rabab El Mahdi, Chair, relmahdi@aucegypt.edu; Ms. Gehan Wissa, Executive Assistant to the Chair, gehanwm@aucegypt.edu; or visit the department's website at:

<http://www.aucegypt.edu/huss/pols/pages/default.aspx>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7329

University of Missouri, St. Louis

Rank: DES LEE FOUNDATION ENDOWED PROFESSORSHIP IN AFRICAN/AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI-ST. LOUIS
 THE DES LEE FOUNDATION ENDOWED PROFESSORSHIP IN AFRICAN/AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES

The University of Missouri-St. Louis seeks nominations and applications for the Des Lee Foundation Endowed Professorship in African and African American Studies. The professorship is part of the Des Lee Collaborative Vision, a community of thirty-five endowed professors across disciplines at the University who collectively are dedicated to linking knowledge and resources with community partners through collaboration to build educational, cultural, and research opportunities for all members of the St. Louis community and around the world. The Des Lee Professorship in African/African American Studies will be housed in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Missouri-St. Louis, with shared commitment in the Office of International Studies and Programs (UMSL Global), and have an appointment in one of the following departments: Anthropology, English, History, Political Science, Psychological Sciences, or Sociology.

The successful candidate will be hired at the rank of associate or full professor. As teaching is an important component of this professorship, we are seeking an accomplished and recognized teacher who will take the lead role in developing the undergraduate African American and African Diaspora Studies Program, housed in the College of Arts and Sciences. The expected instructional load will be consistent with the University of Missouri System and University of Missouri-St. Louis policies, as well as the position's endowment agreement. This may include supervising directed research and capstone projects, engaging in research, and performing University and community service in close cooperation with UMSL Global to promote, expand, and strengthen African and African American Studies on and beyond the UMSL campus. The professor will participate in the Des Lee Collaborative Vision and connect with other endowed professors to extend and amplify UMSL's impact within the greater St. Louis region and beyond. A terminal degree (Ph.D. or equivalent), an active research program in any area of African, African American, or African Diasporic Studies with significant publications and/or exhibits, a strong teaching record, appropriate public outreach experience, a record of program development, excellent communication and motivational skills, and ability to synthesize disciplinary perspectives are required.

Salary is commensurate with experience, rank, and discipline.

The University of Missouri-St. Louis (UMSL) is an urban institution located in St. Louis, one of the 20 largest metropolitan areas in the United States. The St. Louis region is exceptionally rich in museums and cultural amenities, and is one of only two cities in the country which has established an area-wide taxing district to support its major cultural institutions, giving them the financial stability for continued growth and improvement. The University of Missouri-St. Louis has partnerships with the five institutions in this district, sharing resources and staff and creating special opportunities for students. For further information about St. Louis, please see: <http://www.stlregionalchamber.com/life/overview>.

UMSL is one of four institutions in the University of Missouri land-grant system and is classified as RU-H (high research activity) and as a Community Engaged Campus by Carnegie rankings. Both the campus and the College of Arts and Science are committed to an inclusive campus community that values and respects all its members and achieves educational excellence through diversity. We encourage applications from individuals from diverse and minority backgrounds, including individuals with disabilities and veterans. For further information about UMSL, please see: <http://www.umsl.edu/proud/index.html>.

Applicants must apply online at www.umsl.jobs and submit a cover letter outlining qualifications and interests, CV, along with names and contact information for five referees in a single .pdf or Word file. Applications received through other sources will not be considered. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Anticipated start date is August 2020. Inquiries and nominations for the position can be sent to Prof. Priscilla Dowden-White <padhist@umsl.edu> .

The University of Missouri-St. Louis is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer committed to excellence through diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7330

John Brown University

Rank: PPE & Gateway Coordinator

John Brown University, independent, evangelical, and Christian, seeks a full-time faculty member to teach in the Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) program and to coordinate the institution's Gateway Seminar course. Responsibilities include but are not limited to teaching undergraduate courses in two of the PPE areas, overseeing the Gateway Seminar, participating in the activities of the Center for Faith and Flourishing, and helping the PPE program to grow. This position will report to the appropriate division chair (depending on the primary discipline taught) and work closely with the dean of undergraduate studies and the director of the Center for Faith and Flourishing.

Philosophy, Politics, and Economics, JBU's newest minor, provides our students with an opportunity to explore, in an interdisciplinary fashion, three central disciplines that investigate who we are, how we organize, and how we exchange ideas, goods, and services. The minor's core centers on a two-semester sequence of PPE team taught courses, with additional courses in the three respective disciplines. PPE resides in JBU's Honors Scholars Program, but students inside and outside the program can take the courses and the minor.

The Gateway Seminar is an introduction to the purpose and method of Christian higher education and the distinctive mission of John Brown University, the communal intellectual life, and the application of a Christian worldview through exploration of a particular topic. This course also supports students in their transition to JBU. The course must be taken during the student's first semester at JBU.

The Center for Faith and Flourishing was established in 2019 after JBU received donor commitments of more than half a million dollars. The center aims to express, defend, and promote the university's historic mission of educating for head, heart, and hand. Principled commitment to our Christian beliefs makes us more, and not less, open-minded to opposing points of view. Similarly, seeking individual human flourishing makes us more, and not less, concerned for the good of society as a whole, because humans can flourish only in broader social networks that allow them to discover and to express who they are—and what they are meant to do with the gift of life. In addition to its support for first-year programming and PPE, the center supports lectures and debates to foster open discussion about challenging topics; student reading groups and colloquia; and other extracurricular activities.

An earned doctorate is preferred, master's degree required. Candidates must have expertise in one of the PPE disciplines and the ability to teach in a second. A desire to help new students succeed is also essential. Candidates must demonstrate the ability to integrate faith and learning in their teaching. Effective teaching experience in higher education, evidence of scholarly potential, and a commitment to Christian higher education are essential.

Position begins August 1, 2020. Screening process begins immediately and continues until the position is filled.

Submit electronically a letter of interest and vita to academicaffairs@jbu.edu, John Brown University, Siloam Springs, AR 72761. Phone: 479.524.7129. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7320

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: SNF Agora Open Rank Faculty - Challenges of Multi-Ethnic Democracy, Race, Inequality

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at the rank of Associate or Full Professor (soon-to-be-tenured Assistant Professors with exceptional records of scholarship can also be considered) in any discipline who focus on the dynamics of race and ethnicity, class and inequality, migration, group identities (including gender and sexuality), community and urban dynamics, and forms of structural inequality in shaping, interacting with, making possible, and challenging the realization of democracy in global contexts and the U.S. We define these terms broadly and seek scholars from a range of disciplines.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university's Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute.

Qualifications

Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2020.

Please apply at apply.interfolio.com/69848

Any nominations should be emailed to the SNF Agora Institute, at snfagora@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7313

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: SNF Agora Open Rank Faculty - Institutions of Democracy Under Stress

Description

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at the rank of Associate or Full Professor (soon-to-be-tenured Assistant Professors with exceptional records of scholarship can also be considered) in any discipline who focus on the institutional and organizational dimensions of democracy under stress, particularly as related to questions of civic engagement and inclusive discourse. We define these terms broadly and seek scholars from a range of disciplines, including but not limited to scholars who study the dynamics of states; state contexts; political, civic, social, and economic organizations and institutions; social movements; and social networks, as well as their role in shaping, interacting with, constraining, making possible, and challenging the realization of democracy in global contexts or the U.S.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university's Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute.

Qualifications

Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications by applying at <https://apply.interfolio.com/69837>.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2020.

Any nominations should be emailed to the SNF Agora Institute, at snfagora@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/9/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7311

New York University Arts and Science

Rank: PROFESSOR OF NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

Specializations: Native American Politics, Lesbian & Gay Studies, Environmental Policy

PROFESSOR OF NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL & CULTURAL ANALYSIS
New York University Arts and Science

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis at New York University invites applications for an open rank search (tenure-track or tenured) in the field of Native American Studies.

We especially welcome applications from scholars whose research relates to urban indigeneity, Critical Indigenous Theory, settler colonialism, literature, Indigenous resurgence and governance, Queer Studies, Indigenous pedagogies, environmental studies, and/or language revitalization. We encourage applications from scholars who work in collaboration with First Nations or Native American nations and whose research engages with Indigenous communities.

The Department of Social and Cultural Analysis is comprised of programs including American Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Metropolitan Studies, Africana Studies, Latino Studies, and Asian/Pacific/American Studies. Applicants who can speak to one or more of these fields and have an interest in building Indigenous Studies curriculum/programming at NYU are encouraged to apply. Visit the SCA website: http://as.nyu.edu/sca

The appointment will begin on September 1, 2020, subject to budgetary and administrative approval. Applications must include a cover letter, CV, and a research statement. Entry-level applicants should provide names and contact information of three recommenders. Ph.D. in hand by 9/1/2020 required. Because diversity and inclusion are an important part of the NYU mission, we request that you include a paragraph in your cover letter telling us how diversity and inclusion figure into your past, present, and future teaching, research, and community engagement.

Applicants must apply through Interfolio using this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/69291> <http://apply.interfolio.com/69291> Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2019.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please read here

(<http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html> <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>)

EOE/Affirmative Action/Minorities/Females/Veterans/Disabled/Sexual Orientation/Gender Identity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7306

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

Required Qualifications:

The Department of Political Science seeks to hire in the field of American Politics beginning in the Fall 2020. We intend to review applications at the rank of Full or Associate Professor as well as those from advanced Assistant Professors who wish to be considered for a tenured appointment. The department is particularly interested in applicants with expertise in political institutions but will also consider applicants from any subfield of American politics. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field from an accredited doctoral program. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Advanced skills in quantitative methods and/or experiments in addition to an established track record of graduate student collaboration and mentoring are highly desirable. Additional duties include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college and university levels.

Preferred Qualifications:

Specific interests in applicants with expertise in political institutions but will also consider applicants from any subfield of American politics.

Responsibilities & Requirements:

Responsibilities will include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, supervision of student research and writing, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college and university levels.

Special Notes:

This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA. Internal and external search to occur simultaneously.

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at <mailto:info@goer.ny.gov> info@goer.ny.gov

Stony Brook University is 100% tobacco-free as of January 1, 2016. See our policy and learn more at <https://www.stonybrook.edu/tobaccofreestonybrook.edu/tobaccofree>

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

Application Procedure

Those interested in this position should:

1. Complete the online <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/oide-equity/resources/applicants-survey.php> Applicant Information Survey. Do not submit this survey to the department with your application. Any questions regarding the survey, please email oide@stonybrook.edu oide@stonybrook.edu
2. Submit a <https://www.asa.stonybrook.edu/asa/ASAForms/Department/HRS/Document/HRSF0113> State Employment Application, cover letter, CV, and academic references at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018> <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018>. Alternately, you may submit your application package to the departmental address below.

We will give primary consideration to all applications received by 10/28/2019, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Interested candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names of three academic references to the electronic job advertisement system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018> <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018> or by mail to Chair, American Politics & Policy Search, S-701 Social and Behavioral Sciences Building, Department of Political Science, 4392 SUNY, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4392.

Inquiries regarding the position can be sent to: <mailto:PoliticalScienceRecruitment@stonybrook.edu> PoliticalScienceRecruitment@stonybrook.edu

Chair, American Politics & Policy Search
S-701 Social and Behavioral Sciences Building
Department of Political Science
4392 SUNY
Stony Brook, NY 11794-4392

Institutional Advertisement: <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/faculty-jobs/positions/faculty-librarian/current-year/Associate-Full-Professor> <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/faculty-jobs/positions/faculty-librarian/current-year/Associate-Full-Professor>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 10/8/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7308

New York University

Rank: Tenured or Tenure-Track Professor

We invite applications for a tenured or tenure-track position (rank open) for outstanding candidates with demonstrated abilities in both research and teaching in Social Science and Data Science. This is a fully joint position in two academic units: the Faculty of Arts and Science (FAS) social science department and the Center for Data Science (CDS) (<https://cds.nyu.edu/our-people/jobs>).

Requirements & Application:

Candidates should have a substantive background and active research interests in Anthropology, Linguistics, Political Science, or Sociology. Candidates should further have substantive interest and experience in Data Science methodology, broadly defined, and use that knowledge in their research. Examples of techniques and areas with which candidates might be familiar include supervised and unsupervised learning, pattern recognition, data mining, statistical modeling, natural language processing, high performance computing, and using “text as data.” A PhD in one of the named social sciences is preferred for junior candidates, and an ideal candidate would have advanced training in both that social science and Data Science. A proven ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in both a substantive domain, and in data science techniques, is required for this position.

The starting date is September 1, 2020, subject to budgetary and administrative approval. Applications should include a CV, a teaching and research statement, a writing sample and at least three references. Because diversity and inclusion are an important part of the NYU mission, we request that you include a paragraph in your cover letter telling us how diversity and inclusion figure into your past, present, and future teaching, research and community engagement – additional information can be found at <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity/recruitment/diversity-statements.html>. Review of complete applications will begin November 1, 2019 but all applicants will be considered until the position is filled. Applicants must apply through the following Interfolio application page: <http://apply.interfolio.com/69382>.

About FAS:

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, people with disabilities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality and inclusion, please find more information at <http://as.nyu.edu/departments/facultydiversity.html>.

About CDS:

The Center for Data Science is the focal point for NYU’s university-wide initiative in data science and statistics, established 6 years ago, and one of the country’s leading data science research and training facilities. CDS is a vibrant space with 16 jointly appointed faculty (growing to over 20 in the next two years) and 11 associated faculty across computer science, mathematics, engineering, neural science, linguistics, politics, psychology, physics, biology and business; a list of affiliate faculty spanning a wide range of NYU’s schools and departments, a highly successful Masters program, one of the first Data Science PhD programs as well as the new undergraduate program in data science. CDS’s research focuses on tools and methods at the intersection between applied mathematics, data science, high-dimensional statistics, machine learning, optimization, and several data driven application areas.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7294

Saint Anselm College

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellow

The Department of Politics at Saint Anselm College invites applications for a two-year term post-doctoral faculty member to begin Fall 2020. The successful candidate will enhance the diversity of the Department’s curricular offerings, teaching in one or more areas of specialization not currently included in our Department’s areas of expertise, and at least partly focusing on marginalized or underserved groups. Areas of specialty could include the politics of race in America, intersectionality, politics of First Nations and/or indigenous peoples, or regional politics of with a specialization in Middle East, North Africa, or Asia. The ability to teach a course on Research Methods is a plus, but not required.

To apply, submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching ability and research potential (samples of scholarship, articles or conference papers) and academic transcripts to the attention of Dr. Jennifer Lucas, Chair, Politics Department via the college website at www.anselm.edu/hr. Three letters of recommendation are required and should be submitted in PDF format via email to the department faculty assistant, Lorie Cochran at lcochran@anselm.edu. Full consideration will be given to applications received by December 1, 2019.

The position includes a 2-2 teaching load, with each semester likely including an introductory course (American Government, Comparative Politics, or International Relations) and either a course on Research Methods or an upper-level elective in their area of specialty. Interest in or experience working with students from underrepresented groups is preferred. In addition, the Department would expect him/her to serve on senior thesis committees, and to engage in conversation with the Politics faculty on methods of maintaining diversity in our curriculum. In addition to faculty development funds available for conferences, competitive funding opportunities for engaging pedagogies and presenting research are available, including grants funded by the New Hampshire Institute of Politics and the Diversity & Inclusion Innovation Fund.

A Ph.D. in political science is required by August 2020. Candidates should demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in teaching at the undergraduate level as well as scholarly research. Teaching experience at the undergraduate level is preferred.

Successful candidates will be able to assist the college to further its strategic goals for institution-wide diversity and inclusiveness.

Founded in 1889, Saint Anselm College is a Catholic, liberal arts college in the Benedictine tradition. The community includes approximately 2,000 students, 155 full-time faculty members and 401 full-time staff in addition to the monks of Saint Anselm Abbey. Located in Manchester, NH, Saint Anselm College is just 1 hour from Boston, the White Mountains, and the New England seacoast.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7280

Northeastern University

Rank: URBAN INFORMATICS CLUSTER HIRE, OPEN RANK - ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

Specializations: Urban Politics, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Northeastern University seeks nominations and applications for several tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in computational social science, with a focus on urban informatics, quantitative methods, or network science, with an expected start date of Fall 2020. Successful candidates will have a distinguished scholarly record using methodological approaches that leverage and work with large or complex data sources to study social phenomena, including but not limited to questions pertaining to cities and communities. We have special interest in scholars whose work includes the use of administrative, scraped, archival, or internet-gathered data. We are seeking scholars who work in spatial, network, or textual analysis, and/or use machine-learning tools. Competitive applicants will also have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and leadership. Faculty appointments will be made in one or more of the member departments of the CSSH, including the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Department of Economics, and the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Cross-college appointments are possible. Successful applicants will likely affiliate with one of our research centers dedicated to this work, including the Boston Area Research Initiative, the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks, or the Network Science Institute.

The position will support the University's commitment to innovation in experiential learning as well as the college's mission in integrating data and technology in the analysis of society, policy, and governance. Candidates should have demonstrated commitment to fostering diverse and inclusive environments as well as to promoting experiential learning, which are central to a Northeastern University education.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample, as well as the names of three references. For those who would be appointed at the assistant professor level, we will request references upon receipt of application.

To apply, please go to <http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/faculty-positions> and click on the link for full-time positions or full-time interdisciplinary positions or if viewing this description on the Northeastern University website, click "Apply to this job." Please address nominations and inquiries about the position to Professor Daniel O'Brien, at d.obrien@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin Oct. 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is a leader in the Experiential Liberal Arts. Founded in 1898, Northeastern University is a dynamic and highly selective urban research university in the center of Boston. Grounded in its signature co-op program, Northeastern provides unprecedented global experiential learning opportunities. The College is strongly committed to fostering excellence through diversity and enthusiastically welcomes nominations and applications from members of groups underrepresented in academia.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6217

College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Urban Studies Program at The College of Wooster invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track assistant professor position in urban studies, with a focus on spatial (in)justices, to begin August 2020. Disciplinary fields and geographical areas of expertise are open, though the candidate must be able to teach courses exploring spatial issues through an interdisciplinary lens and supervise undergraduate research projects in urban studies. A strong preference will be for candidates who can offer courses in Geographic Information Systems (GIS). The teaching load is typically 5.5 courses per year, which may include advising senior theses.

Applicants from any humanistic discipline or interdisciplinary field are welcome, including but not limited to, Anthropology, Art History, Architecture, Cultural Geography, History, Literary Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Sociology, and Africana Studies. This position will also be expected to participate in the College's First-Year Seminar Program. Candidates should hold or expect a Ph.D., and prior teaching experience is highly desirable. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; copies of unofficial graduate transcripts; evidence of strong teaching (including teaching philosophy, syllabi and student evaluations, if applicable) and research (including research statement and writing sample of 25 pages or less); diversity statement; and three reference letters through Interfolio: <https://apply.interfolio.com/68424>. The diversity statement should detail how the applicant has engaged and/or expects to engage with issues of diversity in the classroom and the curriculum, as well as on campus and in the broader community.

If you have questions regarding Interfolio, please contact Santha Schuch, Administrative Coordinator, the Urban Studies Program, at sschuch@wooster.edu. Questions about the position should be directed to Heather Fitz Gibbon, Chair of Urban Studies, at hfitzgibbon@wooster.edu.

Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6180

American Political Science AssociationRank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists*Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

The American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program is currently accepting online applications for congressional fellowships for political scientists. The nine-month program in Washington, D.C., gives scholars a hands-on understanding of Congress through placements in congressional offices.

Fellows begin their fellowship year with a comprehensive one-month orientation with congressional experts and policy leaders. Fellows then work in full-time placements of their choosing in a personal office or committee in the House of Representatives or Senate.

The fellowship year also features:

- winter and spring seminar series on congress;
- visit to the district or state of a Member of Congress;
- optional study programs in Annapolis, Maryland, and Ottawa, Canada; and
- ongoing guidance and mentoring from program staff and alumni.

Orientation begins November 2020. Office placements run until August 15, 2021. Two optional programs directly precede the main fellowship program: a two-month course on Congress and Foreign Policy, taught at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and a fellowship through the William A. Steiger fund to spend up to two months at the APSA Centennial Center carrying out a project in legislative studies.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a PhD in the last 15 years or will have defended a dissertation by November 2020.

Applications are welcome from political scientists in all subfields who can demonstrate a scholarly interest in Congress and the policymaking process.

Preference is given to those without extensive Capitol Hill experience.

Application Procedure: Applications must be <https://apsa.wufoo.com/forms/qlohl0dn0mzd/submitted> online and include:

- CV;
- 500-word personal statement;
- names and contact information for three references; and
- one sole-authored writing sample.

Applicants may apply through the same online form for the two optional pre-fellowship programs.

Submit your application for the 2020-2021 fellowship year by Tuesday, December 3, 2019. Please send questions about the program to <mailto:cfp@apsanet.org> or cfp@apsanet.org.

Start Date: November 2020

Salary: $52,500 for the 9.5-month fellowship period, plus travel allowance. Fellows who are also selected for a fellowship through the Steiger Fund will receive a stipend for the duration of the Steiger Fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6172

Princeton UniversityRank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks applicants for a Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior research position that involves a year of research at Princeton. The aim of the program is to nurture a diverse group of promising scholars, and there is a particular interest in attracting applications from groups that have been historically underrepresented in the field of political science at Princeton University. Ph.D. is required.

Interested applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13302> and submit a CV, cover letter, writing sample, and the names and contact information of three references. The cover letter should describe how applicants might engage in collaborative research projects with Princeton politics faculty members. Initial appointment is for one year with the possibility of renewal subject to satisfactory performance and available funding.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition No: D-20-POL-00011

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6051

New York University Abu DhabiRank: Postdoctoral Researcher – Division of Social Science

The Division of Social Science at New York University Abu Dhabi seeks to appoint several Post-Doctoral Researchers starting September 2020. Later start dates are also possible.

Applicants must have received a Ph.D. in the last three years or be within a few months from completion. Appointments will be for two academic years, renewable for one additional academic year, conditional on a satisfactory evaluation of performance.

We encourage applications from very promising candidates with a capacity to conduct innovative, high-quality scholarly research in the fields of Economics, Political Science, Sociology and Public Policy. Successful candidates are expected to develop a well-defined research program and to forge productive collaborations with faculty at NYUAD. The terms of employment are competitive.

To be considered, all applicants need to submit a curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, and a research sample, to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66364>.

To complete the online process, applicants will be prompted to enter the names and email addresses of three referees. Each referee will be contacted to upload their reference letter. The Social Science Division is keen on increasing diversity among faculty and postdoctoral fellows and especially encourages women and underrepresented minorities to apply.

Note: The position will close on March 15, 2020, though we will continue to consider applicants until all positions are filled. Candidates for political science will begin to be evaluated starting October 1, 2019; candidates for Sociology will be evaluated beginning November 1, 2019; and candidates for economics will be evaluated starting December 15, 2019.

Please visit our website at <https://nyuad.nyu.edu/en/about/careers/postdoctoral-and-research.html> for instructions and information on how to apply. If you have any questions, please e-mail nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/20/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 6018

The College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor Global Environmental Justice

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Open, Other

Description

The Departments of Environmental Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seek to fill a tenure track position in Global Environmental Justice at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2020. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in environmental politics and social justice with area studies expertise and a high proficiency in qualitative methodologies.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in environmental justice and social justice, broadly conceived. They would teach introductory and advanced courses in the Environmental Studies and Political Science departments, supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement, and participate in teaching the College's First Year Seminar. We seek to hire a scholar whose research and teaching addresses one or more dimensions of environmental justice, such as: the intersections of global climate change and class, ethnic, or racial inequalities; comparative environmental movements; forced displacement and migration due to environmental crisis; food or water insecurity; or environmental governance. In addition, we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching can connect with one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Africana Studies, Global & International Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, Urban Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Application Instructions

We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), a statement regarding how the applicant will contribute to the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66667>. Applications received by October 1, 2019, will receive full consideration. Please contact Matt Mariola (m-mariola@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Environmental Studies and Chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5991

Princeton University

Rank: Lecturer

The Politics Department at Princeton University has an occasional need for lecturers (part-time and/or full-time) to teach or co-teach in areas such as American Politics, Comparative Politics, Formal Theory/Quantitative Methods, International Relations, and/or Political Theory. Advanced degree required.

Interested applicants should apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13001> <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/13001> & Please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a statement of teaching interest. Due to the volume of applications, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted. No letters of recommendation are required at this time. You will be required to submit contact information for one reference, but your reference will not be contacted at this time.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Requisition No: D-20-POL-00008

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5969

Yale University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, Political Science

Subfield(s): Open, Open, Open

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an Associate/Full Professor Tenured faculty position in any political science subfield. Applicants in International Relations, Political Theory, and Comparative Politics/Comparative Political Economy should also apply to the advertised searches in those subfields.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, contact references, and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66092>

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5902

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Economic, Racial/Ethnic, and/or Gender Inequality

Subfield(s): Open, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, Gender Politics & Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position – Advertisement
Department of Political Science at The University of Tennessee

Economic Racial/Ethnic and/or Gender Inequality

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in economic, racial/ethnic, and/or gender inequality, to begin Fall 2020. The position is open with regard to field in Political Science (or related discipline) and methodological approach. We welcome applications from scholars across the discipline who analyze how political actors, processes, institutions, outcomes or individuals are racialized, classed, and/or gendered and/or who take intersectional approaches to understanding these questions. We are particularly interested in applicants with substantive research agendas that grapple with challenging issues of marginalization and exclusion and who exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically motivated research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: polisci.utk.edu. Faculty within the department are also associated with a variety of interdisciplinary programs and working groups across the university, including but not limited to the Critical Race Collective; the Global Studies program; the Intersectionality Community of Scholars; and the Women, Gender, and Sexuality program.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66902>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5864

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position - Advertisement
Department of Political Science
The University of Tennessee

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in Public Law to begin Fall 2020. Area of specialization in Public Law and field within Political Science are open. We are particularly interested in applicants who use rigorous analytical approaches to address substantively important questions including but not limited to issues of race, gender, and/or inequality in the law or legal processes. The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). Preference will be shown for applicants with teaching and research interests that complement existing departmental interests and strengths, have a capacity for attracting extramural funding, demonstrate evidence of or potential for college/university teaching excellence, and exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion. The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state's flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: <http://web.utk.edu/~polisci>.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66892>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5863

OTHER

Hamilton College

Rank: Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian

Hamilton College invites applications for the position of Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian in the Library and Information Technology Services (LITS). This role will focus on assisting a diverse audience of social science faculty and students with collection or creation, processing, and analysis of data. The Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian will refer or work with others in LITS and with LITS partners to support visualization, preservation, access, and reuse of data with the purpose of informing social science research and helping undergraduate students understand important social science concepts.

In addition, the Data Science/Analysis Research Librarian will provide research support and introduce cutting-edge data analysis tools and methodologies to LITS patrons as a member of the Research and Instructional Design (R&ID) Team where research and technology experts work together to support faculty and students with research and teaching. The R&ID Team provides an inclusive, respectful, and responsive service point, works collaboratively to meet exciting research challenges, supports learning communities, and introduces and facilitates the use of innovative technologies through consultation and instruction.

We are seeking a creative and analytical individual who enjoys variety in their work, thrives on working with others to solve challenging data-related problems, and is committed to lifelong teaching and learning of data analysis and technical skills. The position will serve as library liaison to one or more academic departments, based on data analysis needs and the individual's educational background.

Responsibilities:

Data Science/Data Analysis:

- Uses advanced skills with data analysis, data cleaning/wrangling/normalization, regular expressions, web scraping, and APIs to support and collaborate with researchers on data-related research.
- Retrieve/manipulate complex data from a variety of sources; transfer data between platforms for use in multiple computing environments.
- Work closely with and provide direct assistance to students in data science/analysis including workshops or other instruction.

- Assists with in-class instruction of statistic-based labs in the social sciences.
- Assist students with research projects and course assignments that require data analysis.
- Works collaboratively with others in LITS and with LITS partners such as the Quantitative & Symbolic Reasoning Center (QSR), Oral Communication Center (OCC), and the Writing Center.
- Assist in the choice, application, and interpretation of quantitative research methods, and with the use of statistical software needed to implement these methods.
- Works consistently to enhance technical skills and develop proficiency with new data analysis tools and techniques.
- Develops services in response to needs of faculty and students in the social sciences, LITS priorities, and diverse Hamilton populations.
- Build effective working relationships with faculty and students.
- Identifies, evaluates and recommends new and emerging data analysis research tools and methods for social science students and faculty, and LITS.

Research, Teaching, and Learning Support:

- Provide research support to the Hamilton faculty and students in the social sciences, members of the public, and the larger scholarly community.
- Collaborate with faculty, educational technologists, and other academic partners to provide instructional design support and promote digital and information literacy in the social sciences and across the curriculum.
- Serve as primary liaison to assigned academic departments, programs, and academic resource centers.
- Participate in the ongoing training and mentoring of the R&ID student tutors.
- Build collections in multiple formats to support the academic goals of the college.
- Maintain and apply a current awareness of best practices in teaching and learning, especially as related to data analysis and digital and information fluencies.
- Develop and maintain library resource guides for faculty and students.
- Engage in a variety of professional development activities.
- Participate in other duties and responsibilities as assigned.

Job-related qualifications representing the knowledge, skills, and attributes an individual needs to possess in order to perform the job in a satisfactory manner.

- Demonstrated ability and experience functioning successfully in a fast-paced environment with a strong service orientation.
- Ability to work collegially and communicate effectively with colleagues, faculty, and students.
- In-depth knowledge of a wide range of information sources and technologies, especially data science/analysis.
- Superior teaching skills.
- Curiosity about how technology is affecting research and teaching, and enthusiasm for collaboration with faculty and students in a liberal arts context.
- Excellent writing, problem-solving, and presentation skills.
- Demonstrated aptitude for quickly learning new tools and technologies.

Qualifications

- ALA-accredited master's degree in Library or Information Science, and/or related advanced degree in quantitative social science; extensive coursework in economics and econometrics.

- Equivalent combination of education, training, and experience will be considered.
- Experience conducting social science research at the graduate level.
- Experience providing data-related services in a library or research setting, either one-on-one or in a classroom setting.
- Intermediate to expert experience with R and STATA; experience with SPSS and SAS highly desirable.
- Proficiency with at least one programming language (such as Python or Java) highly desirable.
- Demonstrated advanced data skills, including data cleaning/wrangling/normalization, using regular expressions, and web scraping.
- Knowledge of software and tools supporting the discovery, management, analysis, and visualization of research data; including keeping abreast of current and emerging trends.
- Proficiency using tools and programming libraries to support text analysis.
- Experience working effectively with a team to plan and complete projects.
- Demonstrated ability to work with diverse populations as well as demonstrated commitment to diversity, inclusion, and accessibility.

Please submit cover letter, resume and contact information for three professional references.

Please address your cover letter to Dr. Nhora Serrano, Associate Director for Digital Learning and Research. In your cover letter, please describe your experiences with diversity and inclusion and your potential to support Hamilton's commitment to the same. Consideration of candidates will begin January 13, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

LITS is committed to creating an accessible, supportive environment and an educational experience that recognizes diversity and cultural competence as integral components of academic excellence. Candidates who can contribute to that goal are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths in this area.

Hamilton College (www.hamilton.edu) is a residential liberal arts college located in the Mohawk Valley of upstate New York. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at www.upstatenyherc.org, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/dof/faculty-development/resources-for-prospective-or-new-faculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and is committed to diversity in all areas of the campus community. Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits. Candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7520

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships - Self, Virtue and Public Life Initiative

University of Oklahoma, Norman OK. Two nine-month, non-renewable postdoctoral fellowships beginning late summer 2020. These positions will be associated with the Self, Virtue and Public Life initiative (<http://www.selfvirtueandpubliclife.com>)

), a three-year project funded by a generous grant from the Templeton Religion Trust. Significant research focus must be on issues related to the self, civic virtue and public life broadly construed. The postdoctoral fellowships are research positions with no teaching responsibilities, intended for early-career researchers interested in advancing their scholarship. Candidates must have a Ph.D. conferred by the start date. The fellowships will begin on August 16, 2020 and end on May 15, 2021. Those already in temporary or tenure-track positions are welcome to apply to spend a year at the University of Oklahoma. Candidates should send a short cover letter, the names of three references, CV, a writing sample, and a two-page description of the research they will pursue during the fellowship period by email attachment to <mailto:flourish@ou.edu>, or if that is not possible, to the Self, Virtue, and Public Life, 620 Parrington Oval, #208, Norman, OK 73019. Applicants must also submit an online application at: <https://jobs.ou.edu>. The deadline for receipt of applications is January 15, 2020. The University of Oklahoma is an equal employment opportunity employer. Protected veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/19/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7499

CNA Corporation

Rank: Research Scientist

<https://cna.hua.hrsmart.com/hrsmart/ats/Posting/view/1395> CLICK HERE TO APPLY

The Strategy, Policy, Plans, and Programs (SP3) division supports the Defense Department and other US Government organizations by providing decision-oriented, operationally-informed analysis that has a firm grounding in empirical social science methods. SP3 analysis is focused at the strategic and operational level of US National Security planning and execution. SP3 analysts have deep regional and functional expertise, a command of both theoretical and applied models, and a commitment to using primary source data to inform their analyses. All of our analysts conduct field research and have experience in the operational environment.

- 1) Develop and apply creative and innovative analytic solutions to complex problems with assistance/support from more senior staff. Play a supporting role in the mentoring and training of new staff individually or as a member of a project team.
- 2) Develop and maintain deep, specific institutional knowledge and expertise of primary clients/sponsors; their culture, organization, and issues. Use that knowledge to support training & mentoring of new staff, to support on-going work, and to support development and shaping of new work for existing clients/ sponsors.
- 3) Support business development efforts and/or marketing activities by interacting with CNA managers and current clients/sponsors on securing follow on work (e.g., small grants, or above core projects), expanding or developing new ideas for future projects, and occasionally working with potential clients/sponsors on developing new project ideas. Occasionally serve as internal reviewer of technical proposals.
- 4) Interact regularly and independently with clients/sponsors and related parties. Typically interact at the "peer equivalent" level.

level, and have some level of interaction at senior level. Effectively represent CNA as an organization.

5 Influence decisions by sponsors/ clients; provide sponsors/clients with implementable recommendations. Occasionally support efforts to enhance CNA's reputation via publishing and outreach activities.

6) Summarize and synthesize larger pieces of work into effective executive summaries/executive briefings. Effectively present work to more senior and larger audiences. Effectively communicate with & engage colleagues at all levels of the organization.

7) Work under limited direction and general supervision from division management. Lead projects of low to medium size and/or complexity, as well as significant tasks on large or more complex projects. Effectively manage all assigned projects, to include delivery of high-quality analytic products on-time, and on-budget.

8) Help train/mentor less experienced team members, and support other staff on projects as required. Regularly demonstrate initiative in pursuing improvements in the quality of our projects and analytic products. Participate in corporate initiatives when asked to do so, and make contributions to initiatives focused on making CNA a better place to work.

9) Perform other duties as assigned.

JOB REQUIREMENTS

1) Education: Minimum Master's degree in a relevant field or equivalent experience, PhD preferred.

2) Experience: Typical minimum requirements 5+ years of experience in research and analysis.

3) Skills: Extensive, working knowledge of contemporary and historical U.S. nuclear weapons policy and strategy, arms control policy, and deterrence theory and practice. Experience working with or in the Department of Defense preferred but not required. Broad, working knowledge of security and strategic studies research and literature. Ability to work on progressively more difficult projects/analyses, including directing portions of large research projects or small to medium projects under general supervision; Ability to operate independently and proactively in the execution of assignments; Ability to work in a multi-disciplinary environment; Strong critical thinking skills; Knowledge of research techniques; Strong planning and organizational skills; Excellent interpersonal skills; Strong and effective oral and written communication skills; Ability to interact directly and effectively with clients and influence their decisions.

4) Other: Ability to obtain and maintain an Active Secret Security Clearance.

HOW TO APPLY

All applicants must apply on CNA's careers portal.

<https://cna.hua.hrsmart.com/hrsmart/ats/Posting/view/1395> CLICK HERE TO APPLY

If you are having issues accessing the job application via the CLICK HERE button, please copy and paste the below url in a new web browser to apply to the position.

<https://cna.hua.hrsmart.com/hrsmart/ats/Posting/view/1395>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7491

University of Nebraska, Kearney

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Department of Political Science is seeking a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, beginning Fall 2020. The successful applicant will demonstrate teaching excellence in introductory and upper-level courses in Public Policy. The teaching assignments for the position will include courses in Public Policy or Public Administration and additional courses in subfield area (s) consistent with the successful applicant's preparation.

The successful applicant is expected to teach introductory and upper division classes in Political Science each semester and at least one graduate class each school year. In addition, they are expected to participate in departmental meetings and other departmental events and activities as well as maintain a productive research agenda.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by start of appointment. ABD candidates will be conditionally considered. The department prefers candidates with a Ph.D. and whose primary specialization is in Public Policy or Public Administration. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in health policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7497

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice

Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice

College of Behavioral and Social Sciences

CSU, Chico is committed to recruiting, developing and retaining the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. The university enrolls over 17,000 students annually; 43% are white, 33% are Latinx, 5% are Asian, 3% are African American, .5% are Native American and 5% are multi-racial/ethnic. We proudly hold Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI) designation, and over half of students will be the first generation in their family to earn a bachelor's degree.

The ideal candidate will share Chico State's demonstrated commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion, have prior experience working in culturally and socio-economically diverse learning environments, and will contribute to student success through inclusive pedagogy, as well as research and service to the university and surrounding North State communities. We invite you to apply to our welcoming teacher/scholar environment where you can have a successful career.

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for one tenure-track position in criminal justice at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins August 18, 2020.

Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.
Initial Review Date: 11/17/19; complete applications received after that date may be considered.

How to Apply: All applicants must apply online at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/5827>.

Applicants must provide a cover letter, CV, a complete set of transcripts (unofficial acceptable), writing sample, student evaluations of teaching if available, a statement regarding the role of diversity in the Academy and how you have addressed, or plan to address, teaching to diverse student groups, and three letters of recommendation when applying.

Letters of recommendation MUST be submitted by referees directly to the search committee chair: Dr. Matt Thomas at mothomas@csuchico.edu or by US Mail at address below in Department Section.

Applications submitted via email or in-person to the department will not be considered.

Qualification Details:

Minimum Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology, Political Science, or related disciplines is required. Candidates nearing completion of their doctorate will be considered; however, all requirements for conferral of the degree must be met no later than August 17, 2020. The research specialization is open within Criminal Justice. The successful candidate will primarily teach courses in the Criminal Justice Program. The successful candidate should provide evidence of their commitment to or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications: The ideal candidate will contribute to the Criminal Justice program by teaching courses within the core curriculum such as POLS 332 Criminal Justice Ethics and courses in criminological theory (i.e., POLS 363 Crime Prevention). The Department seeks candidates with expertise in one or more of the following areas: race/class/gender, policing/law enforcement, social control. The successful candidate will also be able to contribute to other programs in the department by teaching courses in areas such as research methods or other courses that bridge our degree programs. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department's course offerings: <http://catalog.csuchico.edu/viewer/19/POLS/offerings.html>.

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our programs. The criminal justice major has one of the most diverse student populations on campus. Additional information about our Department is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/pols/>. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at <http://www.csuchico.edu/bss/index.shtml>.

Letters of recommendation and job-related questions should be directed to:

Matt Thomas, Search Committee Chair
California State University, Chico
400 W. First Street
Chico, CA 95928-0455
530-898-5738
mothomas@csuchico.edu

CSU, Chico is an Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status and only employ individuals authorized to work in the U.S.

For disability-related accommodations, please call the ADA Coordinator at (530) 898-5959.

We acknowledge and are mindful that CSU, Chico stands on lands that were originally occupied by the first people of this area, the Mechoopda.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for California State University, Chico can be obtained by contacting the Chico State University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by visiting: www.csuchico.edu/up/clery_report.shtml

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 (revised July 21, 2017) as a condition of employment.

All positions are contingent on funding.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7368

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship - Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (Penn)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Immigration Policy, Race & Ethnic Politics, American Politics

The Penn Center for the Study of Ethnicity, Race and Immigration (CSERI) invites applications, starting November 4, 2019 for a one-year postdoctoral research fellowship in the social sciences.

CSERI is a center initiative supported by the University of Pennsylvania and the School of Arts and Sciences. In addition to this postdoctoral fellowship, CSERI will host visiting scholars and graduate students, organize workshops initiated by the Center's Faculty Advisory Council, and support graduate and undergraduate student social science research at Penn.

The 2020-2021 CSERI Postdoctoral Research Fellow will help organize and participate in faculty/graduate student workshops, aid in the evaluation of the progress of graduate students and undergraduates receiving research grants, and can collaborate with CSERI faculty affiliates on research projects. However, the Fellow will largely have the opportunity to pursue their own research and participate more generally in the intellectual life of the Penn community. There are no mandatory teaching responsibilities, but the post-doc is expected to be in residence.

The stipend for the postdoctoral fellowship is $53,000 plus relevant fees and health insurance. The position also provides $2,500 in research support, with the opportunity to apply for additional funding. Qualifications

Applications are welcome from scholars who have received their Ph.D. or equivalent degrees in the social sciences in the last two years (not earlier than 2017), or who expect to complete their degree by July 2020.

Skills with statistical analysis, qualitative software, GIS, experimental and other approaches are desirable, but not necessary.

Please submit all required materials through Interfolio at this link: <http://apply.interfolio.com/71010>

To receive full consideration, applications and letters of recommendation should be received through Interfolio by December 20, 2019.

Review of applications will begin immediately after the submission deadline, and final notifications are expected to go out by February 21, 2020. The starting date for this one-year Postdoctoral Research Fellow appointment is negotiable but should be effective no later than August 15, 2020.

<https://web.sas.upenn.edu/cseri/opportunities/post-doctoral-fellowship/>

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 11/17/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7487

Emory University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellow in Israel Studies

The Emory Institute for the Study of Modern Israel invites applications for an academic year appointment, for a post-doctoral position in Israel Studies. The holder of the position will teach on a topic of 19th-20th Zionism and/or Israel but not the Arab-Israeli conflict. Three courses will be required over the two semester appointment, with one of the three courses offered at an historically black college in the Atlanta metropolitan area. The disciplinary focus is open, though a concentration on contemporary history, politics, society, economics, and culture is preferred. Appointed fellows will provide mentoring for undergraduate students, participate actively in ISMI public programs during the grant period, and provide two public lectures each semester. Holders of the post-doctoral position will have access to a limited amount of funds for research and travel associated with the position.

? Applicants for the post-doc must have a PhD degree awarded by the time the appointment commences in August 2020.

? Preference will be given to applicants who have a demonstrated fluency in Hebrew.

? Preference will be given to applicants who have experience either in teaching or in the public policy realm with Israel as a major focus.

Apply using Interfolio at apply.interfolio.com/71200

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/5/2020

Date Posted: 11/15/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7483

University of Manchester

Rank: Hallsworth Research Fellowship in Chinese Political Economy

Hallsworth Research Fellowship in Chinese Political Economy
Manchester, UK

£32,816 - £51,034 per annum according to relevant experience. A research expenses allowance of up to £3,000 per annum is also available.

Fixed Term - From 1 September 2020 until 31 August 2023

Ref: HUM-14872

This role is tenable for three years from 1 September 2020 and open to excellent early career scholars who have completed a doctoral degree and have already demonstrated a potential for research in relevant subject areas.

Please note that this Fellowship is not intended to support postgraduate students.

Please consult the further particulars closely for further information, including the eligibility criteria.

Enquiries about the vacancy:

- Vacancy, shortlisting and interviews: Louise McMahon at simonandhallsworth@manchester.ac.uk
- General enquiries: hrservices@manchester.ac.uk or 0161 275 4499.
- Technical support: universityofmanchester@helpmeapply.co.uk or 0161 850 2004.

Please note that we are unable to respond to enquiries, accept CVs or applications from Recruitment Agencies.

To apply, please visit our website: <https://www.jobs.manchester.ac.uk/displayjob.aspx?jobid=18235>

Closing date: Friday 3 January 2020.

Interviews will be held during the week commencing 9 March 2020. If you have not been contacted by the end of March, you should assume that your application has been unsuccessful on this occasion.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 11/15/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7485

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist, Arab Barometer

Subfield(s): Methodology, Comparative Politics, Other

The Department of Politics seeks a Senior Research Specialist to assist with data collection, management, and analysis for the Arab Barometer. The Arab Barometer is a nonpartisan research network that provides insight into the social, political, and economic attitudes and values of ordinary citizens across the Arab World. Its objective is to disseminate and apply survey findings in order to contribute to political reform and to strengthen institutional capacity for public opinion research.

The Research Data Specialist works in close collaboration with the Arab Barometer team including the project director, research associates, communication associate, graduate and undergraduate students, and research colleagues in the U.S. and the Middle East and North Africa.

This position will be based in Washington, D.C. and is a 2-year term position with the possibility of renewal based on satisfactory performance and grant funding.

Responsibilities

The Research Data Specialist assists with the maintenance and development of scripts, including R (dplyr, ggplot), Python (pandas, matplotlib), Java, Matlab, and Stata, related to collecting and processing Arab Barometer data. During the data collection phase, this includes programming the questionnaire, validating the programming, quality control checks on data, data cleaning, and management of Arab Barometer survey data. The position also conducts data analysis for research projects including modeling, diagnostics, and graphic visualization for reports, articles and other publications.

Qualifications

Essential Qualifications

- Creative problem-solving skills
- Strong analytical and research skills
- Strong programming skills
- Background in quantitative analysis
- Knowledge of Stata, R, or other statistical software is required
- Experience with Python(pandas, matplotlib), Java, Matlab strongly preferred
- Strong verbal and written communications skills
- Demonstrated attention to detail
- Ability to communicate research results clearly and concisely
- Ability to meet tight deadlines across multiple survey projects while ensuring accuracy of results
- Proven experience in undertaking research involving survey data analysis, including using Stata, R, and other software
- Familiarity and experience with regression and MLE techniques, including advanced techniques such as multi-level modeling

Preferred Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in social sciences, statistics, or computer programming with Master's degree preferred
- Experience with conducting international survey research
- Arabic language skills highly desirable
- Knowledge and interest in the Middle East and North Africa

Apply online at <https://hr.princeton.edu/careers/search-opportunities> (requisition 2019-11156).

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. EEO IS THE LAW

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7482

Rice University

Rank: Dean, School of Social Sciences

Subfield(s): Administration, Other, Open

Rice University seeks a distinguished academic leader and administrator to serve as the next dean of its School of Social Sciences and to work in collaboration with an outstanding faculty to enhance world-class research, educate the next generation of innovative leaders and advance a shared vision for transformational social impact.

Located on a bucolic wooded campus in the heart of Houston, Rice combines the resources of a preeminent research institution with the feel of an intimate, student-centered college. Among the nation's leading universities, Rice enrolls approximately 7,000 students, more than half of whom are undergraduates. The university is highly selective; 22 applicants compete for each place in the incoming class. More than 350 undergraduates complete majors in the social sciences annually; an additional 100-plus complete undergraduate minors; and the school awards more than 65 master's and 20 doctoral degrees.

The dean of the School of Social Sciences will provide leadership to 91 tenure track and 26 non-tenure track faculty across seven departments: Anthropology, Economics, Linguistics, Political Science, Psychological Sciences, Sociology and Sports Management. The next dean will be the first to take office in Kraft Hall, which will serve as the new home for Sociology, Economics and several centers and institutes at Rice.

Rice seeks in the next dean a leader who will inspire a pursuit of excellence and passion for creativity; invest in student success and well-being; listen to and learn from others; advance institutional diversity, equity and inclusion; and generate new resources to strengthen the School of Social Sciences.

The dean will work in close partnership with faculty throughout the school and across the university to sustain existing strengths and build new capacity, fostering the success of each department and of the School of Social Sciences as a whole. Learn more and download a complete leadership profile at wittkiewer.com/position/RiceSocialSciences.

Applications and nominations are invited, and the search will remain open until an appointment is made. Candidate materials should include a CV, letter of interest and contact information for at least five references. References will not be contacted without candidates' prior knowledge.

Please direct confidential inquiries, nominations and applications to the search consultants, Robin Mamlet, Philip Tang and Elizabeth Bohan, at RiceSocialSciences@wittkiewer.com.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/14/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7476

The New School

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs and Global Studies

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Other

The Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs (SGPIA) and the Global Studies Program of The New School invite applications for a renewable-term (non-tenure track) faculty position as Assistant Professor of International Affairs and Global Studies beginning on July 1, 2020.

We are seeking a scholar from any of the disciplines in the social sciences with an active agenda of research and publication relevant to the two programs, and a record of excellent teaching. We encourage applications from candidates whose research crosses disciplines and works with heterodox/non-mainstream theoretical frameworks (such as feminist, post-colonial/decolonial, non-Western, or indigenous approaches, among others). We are interested in candidates who pursue innovative research agendas that engage with urgent contemporary challenges, and who explore creative pedagogies. A particular research focus is not required. However, there are fields that would be of particular interest, including: environmental studies, science and technology studies, legal studies and indigenous studies. Research areas of interest include global justice, sustainability, and digital technologies. A focus on the Global South would be preferred, particularly China and the Middle East region.

The teaching load is five graduate/undergraduate courses per year or its equivalent, plus advising students and supervising theses in both programs. The successful candidate should also demonstrate an interest and aptitude for curriculum development and rotational faculty leadership roles.

The position would be a joint appointment to SGPIA that offers graduate degrees and the Global Studies program that serves undergraduates. The position is homed in SGPIA in the Schools of Public Engagement but will involve participating in and contributing to teaching, advising and service in both faculties. Both are interdisciplinary programs that include faculty with diverse disciplinary backgrounds in the social sciences and the humanities. Both programs bridge critical theory and practical training and investigate complex global processes and issues. The approach is distinctive in the New School tradition: reflective, iconoclastic, and socially engaged. Information about The New School and the Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs can be found at: <https://www.newschool.edu/public-engagement/ma-ms-international-affairs/> and Global Studies at: <https://www.newschool.edu/lang/global-studies/>.

The New School is committed to actively recruiting from a diverse pool of applicants. We encourage candidates from around the world and from groups underrepresented in US higher education to apply. The New School does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, color, creed, sex or gender (including gender identity and expression), pregnancy, sexual orientation, religion, religious practices, mental or physical disability, national or ethnic origin, citizenship status, veteran status, marital or partnership status, or any other legally protected status

The New School, a private university in New York City, serves undergraduate and graduate students across a range of fields with a commitment to bringing social science research and practices in design to studying issues of our time and challenging students to become engaged global citizens dedicated to contributing to the public good.

Qualifications:

- A Ph.D. in one of the social sciences (including but not limited to political science, economics, anthropology, sociology, and geography),
- teaching experience at the university level,
- capacity to work well with people from diverse cultural backgrounds and levels of professional experience.

To Apply:

For full consideration, please submit applications by December 1st although applications will be considered until the position is filled. Using The New School's human resources website, <http://careers.newschool.edu> applicants must submit:

1. a cover letter summarizing their qualifications and teaching experience;
2. a curriculum vitae;
3. a statement of teaching philosophy and practice relevant to this position;
4. two academic writing samples;
5. teaching evaluations;
6. the names of three references.

For information on the University benefits package including health and retirement plans, please visit <http://www.newschool.edu/human-resources/benefits/>

<https://careers.newschool.edu/postings/18340>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7477

Carnegie Mellon University

Rank: Research Fellow

Research Fellow - Institute for Politics and Strategy- 2014341

Job Summary:

At Carnegie Mellon University, the study of politics through the discipline of political science with support from other social science disciplines is centered in the Institute for Politics and Strategy (IPS). We carry on a respected tradition of interdisciplinary political science at Carnegie Mellon as it builds upon the university's rich heritage of applying basic science to issues of public policy and coordinate many different academic programs and centers. The academic programs include the undergraduate major in International Relations and Politics (IRP), the undergraduate major in Economics and Politics, the minor in International Relations and Politics, the minor in Politics and Public Policy, the minor in Cybersecurity and International Conflict, the Accelerated Master of Science in International Relations and Politics (IRP/AMP), CMU's Washington Semester Program (CMU/WSP), and the Master of Information Technology Strategy Program (MITS). The affiliated research centers include the Center for International Relations and Politics (CIRP) and the Institute for Strategic Analysis (ISA).

We are searching for a Research Fellow to join the IPS team. In this role, you will be responsible for conducting research to inform the regular writing of op-eds, articles, and speeches by the director, and developing regular briefing books to inform media efforts and research by the director. Reporting to the Director and Deputy Director, you will receive assignments for research, tasks, and projects. This is an exciting opportunity if you thrive in an interesting and challenging work environment.

Core responsibilities will include:

- Conducting qualitative and quantitative research with minimal supervision to meet established deadlines for varying short-term and long-term projects;
- Supporting the research and writing process to inform the regular writing of op-eds, articles, and speeches by the director;
- Developing regular briefing books to inform media efforts and research by the director;
- Assisting with book preparation;
- Handling logistics and supporting activities for the CIRP Policy Forum, Institute for Strategic Analysis (ISA) events, and IPS related functions.

Flexibility, excellence, and passion are vital qualities within IPS. Inclusion, collaboration and cultural sensitivity are valued competencies at CMU. Therefore, we are in search of a team member who is able to effectively interact with a varied population of internal and external partners at a high level of integrity. We are looking for someone who shares our values and who will support the mission of the university through their work.

You should demonstrate:

- Broad knowledge of issues related to foreign policy;
- Strong writing and editing skills, project management, and general administrative skills;
- Ability to work independently, follow through on projects and assignments with little or no supervision;
- Excellent organizational, interpersonal, verbal and written communication skills;
- Analytical, reasoning and problem-solving skills, high energy, and capacity to work on a team; and
- Capability to multi-task effectively and work under pressure of deadlines and/or specific project outcomes.

This is a full-time, benefit eligible, fixed-term position running from January 2020 through July 2022.

Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in international relations, political science, or related field required; Master's degree preferred.
- Minimum one to two years of professional or academic experience in quantitative and/or qualitative research required.

You should be willing to travel to various campus and off-campus locations, including travel to Washington, DC, and other locations as needed. You should also be able to work outside normal business hours as occasional weekend and evening work will be required.

Applications

- All applications must be submitted through the Carnegie Mellon University Careers Portal.

<https://cmu.taleo.net/careersection/2/jobdetail.ftl?job=2014341&tz>

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7470

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, International Relations

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly motivated Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy to join the research team at the Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford.

The research project aims to contribute international and comparative research on how different technology companies approach issues around free speech and news/journalism, and how policymakers and regulators are approaching technology companies' role in these two areas. The project will operate at the intersection between social science, media and technology research, and policy and law, and seeks to produce timely, relevant, and accessible high-quality empirical research to advance our understanding of – and inform decision making around – issues in the area of technology and policy important for the future of journalism worldwide

The successful candidate will take responsibility for and conduct the empirical research necessary for the implementation and execution of this approach as well as working with colleagues on developing an appropriate approach to the project, academic publications and other project outputs based on the research done.

You should hold a completed PhD/DPhil (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies, social science, or the law. Experience in working with relevant quantitative methods, analysis and familiarity with the existing literature and work and excellent written, editing, and verbal communication skills to demonstrate the potential to write and present at an international level are essential. Knowledge of the literature and debate around platform governance and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research would be desirable.

This is a full-time appointment fixed-term for 2 years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Friday 13 December 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website quoting reference 143613.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/13/2019

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7467

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, International Relations

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly motivated Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy to join the research team at the Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford.

The research project aims to contribute international and comparative research on how different technology companies approach issues around free speech and news/journalism, and how policymakers and regulators are approaching technology companies' role in these two areas. The project will operate at the intersection between social science, media and technology research, and policy and law, and seeks to produce timely, relevant, and accessible high-quality empirical research to advance our understanding of – and inform decision making around – issues in the area of technology and policy important for the future of journalism worldwide

The successful candidate will take responsibility for and conduct the empirical research necessary for the implementation and execution of this approach as well as working with colleagues on developing an appropriate approach to the project, academic publications and other project outputs based on the research done.

You should hold a completed PhD/DPhil (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies, social science, or the law. Experience in working with relevant quantitative methods, analysis and familiarity with the existing literature and work and excellent written, editing, and verbal communication skills to demonstrate the potential to write and present at an international level are essential. Knowledge of the literature and debate around platform governance and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research would be desirable.

This is a full-time appointment fixed-term for 2 years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Friday 13 December 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website quoting reference 143613.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/13/2019

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7468

Southeast Missouri State University

Rank: Dean - College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Southeast Missouri State University, a dynamic and competitive regional public comprehensive institution located in Cape Girardeau, Missouri, invites applications and nominations for the position of the Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. The new Dean is to assume office on July 1, 2020.

Founded in 1873 as a teacher's college, Southeast Missouri State University has grown into a comprehensive Master's-level university that provides student-centered education, with a foundation of liberal arts and sciences, experiential and service-learning opportunities, cutting-edge technology, and exceptional instruction that prepares students for civic responsibility and professional careers.

Named among U.S. News' Best Regional Universities in the Midwest, Southeast Missouri State University has been accredited by the Higher Learning Commission since 1915 and 34 academic programs hold program-specific accreditations and certifications from 29 accrediting agencies. The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is home to the Departments of Communication Studies and Modern Languages; Criminal Justice, Social Work and Sociology; English; History and Anthropology; and Political Science, Philosophy and Religion.

Reporting to the Provost, the CHSS Dean will develop strategic and innovative partnerships within the College and with other deans and their colleges, faculty, students, staff, and committees. While providing strong leadership and a clear vision in the College, the Dean's role includes, but is not limited to, supporting and mentoring department chairpersons and faculty. The Dean is responsible for representing the financial needs of the College in the budgeting process. Participating in outreach activities, the Dean engages in admissions, recruitment, retention, and supports experiential learning with emphasis on the scholar-teacher model. This position builds and maintains donor relationships in support of the academic departments and their missions, priorities, and initiatives. The successful candidate will serve as a member of the Deans Council and multiple college and university committees, in the interest of shared governance.

Candidates should submit a cover letter demonstrating how they meet these required qualifications:

Required Qualifications

- An earned doctorate in Humanities or Social Sciences that is represented in one of the academic departments in the college from a regionally accredited University
- A record of accomplishments consistent with appointment as a tenured full professor in one of the departments within the college, including evidence of scholarly and research achievements and distinguished teaching experience
- Demonstrated appreciation for and understanding of the diverse disciplines represented in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences
- Proven experience in managing and strategically using budgets
- Evidence of effectiveness in planning, implementing, and assessing academic programs
- Demonstrated ability to develop effective working relationships with external constituencies
- A record of progressive administrative experience in higher education
- Evidence of a commitment to the recruitment, advancement, and retention of a diverse community of faculty, staff, and students

Southeast Missouri State University is interested in recruiting academic leaders with a commitment to excellence in graduate education grounded in the teacher-scholar model. Successful candidates will demonstrate the ability to facilitate the development of innovative support for graduate programs, faculty, and students with a focus on initiatives promoting student success, retention and degree completion.

For a complete position profile, please visit: <https://semo.edu/hr/deansearch.html>

Application Deadline: The position begins July 1, 2020 and will remain open until filled. To ensure full consideration, applications and nominations must be received by January 17, 2020.

Applications and nominations are to be submitted in confidence to Alissa Vandeven, Director of Human Resources, at avandeven@sem-o.edu.

To apply, submit the following items:

- Letter of interest addressing all required qualifications
- Current curriculum vitae
- Unofficial copies of transcripts (official transcripts required when an offer of employment is accepted)
- Statement of leadership philosophy
- Names and contact information of five professional references

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 1/17/2020

Date Posted: 11/12/2019

Salary: $140,000 - $149,999

eJobs ID: 7465

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Teaching Faculty in Computational Social Science

The College of Arts and Letters and the Department of Computer Science and Engineering at Notre Dame invite applications for a teaching faculty position in Computational Social Science. This new faculty member will support and, where appropriate, provide leadership and strategic direction to undergraduate programs at the interface of the liberal arts and computing. Potential home departments for this position include Anthropology, Economics, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology, as well as Computer Science and Engineering. Joint appointments are possible. A university goal is to “offer an unsurpassed undergraduate education”. Teaching faculty are expected to contribute substantially to this goal, to maintain professional currency, and to serve the profession and the University.

The University of Notre Dame is supporting interdisciplinary programs that integrate computer and data science with a variety of scholarly disciplines, including the social sciences, humanities, and creative arts. With university-wide undergraduate minors in Computers and Digital Technologies and Data Science, a new undergraduate degree that combines the study of liberal arts with computer science has been proposed and will launch in 2020.

Teaching focus includes introductory-level courses in computing and elective courses that span computing and liberal arts. Initial appointments will be made at the rank of Assistant Teaching Faculty and are renewable for up to five year terms. Promotions to more senior ranks are available, depending on performance.

Applicants must submit a cover letter, CV and teaching statement to apply.interfolio.com/69589. Review of applications will begin on December 15th, 2019 and remain open until the position is filled. Questions may be directed to Professor Tim Weninger (tweninger@nd.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7446

Minerva Schools at KGI

Rank: Faculty - Social Sciences: Political Science

We are currently appointing faculty to teach undergraduate courses in the social sciences beginning in the 2020-2021 academic year. We welcome applications from people at all career stages (e.g., Assistant, Associate and full Professor levels). Our courses are broad, and we are especially interested in applicants with degrees in political science. Those with quantitative interests are particularly encouraged to apply.

The Minerva Schools prepare students to become innovators and global leaders in a wide variety of disciplines. Our aim is to reinvent higher education at every level, from how we define the curriculum to how we teach. All Minerva classes are seminars, not lecture courses, and use active learning (facilitated by technology) to help students learn to think critically and creatively as well as to communicate and interact effectively with others. We teach using the Minerva Active Learning Forum, a web-based platform that supports real-time, synchronous seminars (ranging from 15-19 students) with high levels of student-faculty interaction. Students live together in residence halls, traveling to 7 different cities over their four undergraduate years of study.

You are a good fit for a Minerva faculty position if you are eager to join one of the most innovative institutions in higher education today. As a student-centric program, we focus on learning outcomes, small interactive class sessions, and deep engagement between faculty and students, with feedback given in both directions. Teaching is very collaborative, both in developing courses and working together to teach courses.

Because all classes are taught on our technology platform, you have complete flexibility to teach at Minerva via computer from any geographic location where there are good internet connections.

Please see our website for more information about Minerva’s course offerings in Social Sciences.

Qualifications

*Ph.D. or equivalent in relevant discipline (e.g., political science). ABD applicants accepted if degree will be complete by August 1, 2020.

*Quantitative research background, desirable

*Mixed methods background, not required, but desirable

*Documented teaching experience

*Comfort with new technology

*Passion for undergraduate teaching

*Willing to embrace innovative pedagogical approaches based on the science of learning

You must apply using the interfolio link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/70714>

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7443

The University of Hong Kong

Rank: Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in Public Administration

The University of Hong Kong

Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in Public Administration in the Department of Politics and Public Administration (Ref.: 498960)

Applications are invited for appointment as Tenure-Track Associate Professor/Assistant Professor in Public Administration in the Department of Politics and Public Administration (Ref.:498960), to commence in August 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter, on a three-year fixed-term basis, with the possibility of renewal and with consideration for tenure before the expiry of a second three-year fixed-term contract. Exceptionally outstanding candidates at the Associate Professor level may be considered for appointment on tenure terms.

The Department of Politics and Public Administration has played a leading role in Politics and Public Administration research and education since its establishment in 1970. The Department offers two highly successful taught postgraduate programmes - Master of Public Administration (MPA) and Master in International and Public Affairs (MIPA) - as well as a thriving undergraduate programme. More information about the Department can be obtained at <https://ppa.hku.hk/>.

Applicants should possess a Ph.D. degree and demonstrate achievements of excellence in research and teaching. While the areas of specialization are open, those with expertise in environmental policy and sustainability are preferred. Applications from other areas, such as policymaking process, public management and leadership, social innovation and entrepreneurship, collaborative governance, philanthropy and nonprofit management, and public policy analysis are also welcome. This position sits within the Faculty of Social Sciences and is open to all theoretical approaches. The Faculty values diverse research methodologies. We are particularly committed to upgrading our expertise in quantitative methods, and welcome applicants with relevant expertise.

A highly competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience will be offered, in addition to annual leave and medical benefits. At the current rates, salaries tax does not exceed 15% of the gross income. The appointment will attract a contract-end gratuity and University contribution to a retirement benefits scheme, totalling up to 15% of the basic salary. Housing benefits will be provided as applicable.

Applicants who have responded to the previous advertisement (Ref. 494028) need not re-apply.

The University only accepts online applications for the above post. Applicants should apply online at the University's careers site (<https://jobs.hku.hk>) and upload an up-to-date C.V., a letter of interest, graduate transcripts, writing samples, a research statement, a teaching statement and teaching evaluations. They should also arrange for three confidential references (quoting the applicant's name) to be sent directly by the referees to ppahr@hku.hk. Review of applications will commence on January 2, 2020 and continue until January 31, 2020, or until the post is filled, whichever is earlier.

The University is an equal opportunities employer and is committed to equality, ethics, inclusivity, diversity and transparency

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 1/31/2020

Date Posted: 11/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7442

Colorado Mesa University

Rank: Visiting Professor of History or Political Science

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Other

Distinguished scholars in History or Political Science are invited to apply for the Wayne N. Aspinall Chair at Colorado Mesa University. For a $10,000 stipend, the visiting professor will spend three weeks on the Colorado Mesa University campus from late March-to mid-April 2021; teach a one-credit course, give a major public lecture, and make any other invited appearances. Applications must include a vitae, a brief outline of a course proposal and a topic for the major public lecture. Submit application by February 1, 2020 to Dr. Justin Gollob, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Colorado Mesa University, 1100 North Ave., Grand Junction, CO 81501. Feel free to direct any inquiries to jpgollob@coloradomesa.edu or 970 248-1279.

Start Date: Spring 2021

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 7365

Pace University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor

Department of Political Science

Pace University has a proud history of preparing its diverse student body for a lifetime of professional success as a result of its unique program that combines rigorous academics and real-world experiences. Pace is ranked the #1 private, four-year college in the nation for upward economic mobility by Harvard University's Opportunity Insights, evidence of the transformative education the University provides. From its beginnings as an accounting school in 1906, Pace has grown to three campuses, enrolling 13,000 students in bachelor's, master's, and doctoral programs in more than 150 majors and programs, across a range of disciplines: arts, sciences, business, health care, technology, law, education, and more. The university also has one of the most competitive performing arts programs in the country. Pace has a signature, newly renovated campus in New York City, located in the heart of vibrant Lower Manhattan, next to Wall Street and City Hall, and two campuses in Westchester County, New York: a 200-acre picturesque Pleasantville Campus and a Law School in White Plains.

Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science

New York City Downtown Campus

The Political Science Department within the Dyson College of Arts and Sciences at Pace University invites applications for an anticipated tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September 2020. The position is located on the New York City campus in lower Manhattan.

Applicants should have an earned PhD. The successful candidate will have expertise in Latina/o politics and be able to direct the Latinx major. The candidate must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching and the ability to develop a scholarship program that involves students. The position requires courses be taught on Latinx politics and Latina/o studies, as well as additional courses in American politics. Further expertise in one or more of the following is desirable: American political institutions, IR, comparative politics, or political theory.

The Department of Political Science is committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community. Candidates who have experience working with a diverse range of faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to the climate of inclusivity are encouraged to identify their experiences in these areas.

Pace University offers a competitive total rewards package including tuition benefits for employees & their family, and generous time off.

To apply, please submit CV, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy or course syllabi in a single PDF file to:

LatinXPolitics@Pace.edu

Reference letters, transcripts, may be requested later in the process. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled; applications received by December 15, 2019 are guaranteed consideration.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7435

University of California, Davis

Rank: Post-Doctoral Scholar

Post-Doctoral Position at the University of California, Davis

We are looking to recruit a post-doctoral scholar for an inter-disciplinary research project on A Network Analytic Study of the Determinants and Consequences of Burden Sharing in International Alliances and Defense Cooperation Agreements, 1945-2010. This is a one-year position, with a possibility for an additional one-year renewal. We are seeking candidates from various social, economic, physical, mathematical, or information sciences. Potential applicants should note that there are two postdoctoral positions available on this project. Applicants are welcome to apply for both positions. This ad seeks candidates with expertise in network analysis and computational modeling and substantive knowledge of social and political processes. The following qualifications are mandatory for this position:

- Ph.D. in hand at the start of the position.
- Knowledge of and experience in network analysis.
- Knowledge of and experience with agent-based modeling.
- Strong statistical data analysis and data management skills.

The following skills and experiences would be considered as strong advantages.

- Programming experience (Python, Java, C++, C#, R)
- Demonstrated research on social and political processes within and among nations.
- Demonstrated research on social, physical, or communication networks.

- Experience managing research assistants and research teams.

This is a full-time position with an annual salary of $54,000 plus UC Davis fringe benefits. UC Davis is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer.

Deadline for the application is December 31, 2019. The start date of the position is July 1, 2020. However, a slightly later date can be arranged.

Submit cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and sample writing (article, dissertation chapters, etc.) to <https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/JPF03260>.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7416

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: 2 Year Visiting Lecturer

Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a 2-year Visiting Lecturer position in the Department of Politics to begin Fall 2020. The successful candidate will be able to teach the Introduction to Political Thought course, as well as additional intermediate and advanced courses in her/his areas of specialty in the subfields of Political Theory. We are particularly interested in candidates with thematic specialties in environmental theory, post-colonial theory, comparative political thought, datapolitics, or other fields not currently covered by the department. The teaching expectation is 5 courses per year. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand before August 2020.

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory political theory course and a course in your field of specialization, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) the mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate should be able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is January 15, 2020. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted. Instructions are online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/>.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first-generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/30/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7418

Texas Tech University

Rank: Director of Online and Regional Site Education

The Department of Political Science at Texas Tech University invites applications for the position of Director of Online and Regional Site Education. Applicants should have a PhD in Political Science (or equivalent), two years of experience in online education, and supervisory experience in an academic setting. Experience working with diverse student populations and first-generation students is highly desirable. The successful applicant will be required to perform the following functions:

- develop and design curriculum and courses for the department's online program, which serves students at the Lubbock campus and regional sites.
- maintain direct contact with students via instruction and technical support
- oversee administrative and instructional staff in course delivery, training of teaching assistants
- Assist faculty in the development of online, hybrid, and/or synchronous course offerings.
- serve on committees and manage the online program's administrative needs
- Coordination and administration of all online and regional site education for the Department of Political Science and its Masters of Public Administration program
- Supervise curriculum development and implementation of online course content, including integration of online curriculum with broader departmental needs
- Work closely with other departmental leadership and regional site directors on curriculum coordination

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, sample syllabi, a statement summarizing teaching experience and philosophy, three letters of reference, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. These items should be submitted at <http://www.texastech.edu/careers/>. The requisition number is 19281BR. For full consideration, all application materials must be received by December 2, 2019. Questions about the position should be directed to Tim Nokken, Chair, Department of political science, timothy.nokken@ttu.edu.

As an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, Texas Tech University is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment. Texas Tech is a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI). We actively encourage applications from all those who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community at Texas Tech University. The university welcomes applications from minorities, women, protected veterans, persons with disabilities, and dual-career couples.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 12/2/2019
Date Posted: 10/30/2019
Salary: $60,000 - $69,999
eJobs ID: 7412

University of Nevada, Reno

Rank: Professor, Rick and Cathy Trachok Endowed Chair in International Studies

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

The College of Liberal Arts at the University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) invites applications for appointment as the Rick & Cathy Trachok Endowed Chair in International Studies at the rank of Professor or Advanced Associate Professor. We seek a scholar in the humanities or social sciences with an international reputation and a strong record of research and teaching. The applicant will have demonstrated expertise in contemporary or historical research of global, world regional, or comparative focus. Specialization is open, and applicants from any discipline represented in UNR's College of Liberal Arts may apply, but priority will be given to candidates in the fields of Anthropology, English, History, and Political Science. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses and will play a leadership role in UNR's Ozmen Institute for Global Studies. Please apply at the following link to be considered: https://nshe.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/UNR-external/job/University-of-Nevada-Reno---Main-Campus/Professor--Rick-and-Cathy-Trachok-Endowed-Chair-in-International-Studies_R0118980

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. degree and status as an advanced associate or full professor;
- Demonstrated expertise and significant experience in some aspect of international studies;
- A record of publishing in top-tier journals and presses;
- A strong, ongoing program of research;
- Research proficiency in one or more languages in addition to English;
- Demonstrated excellence in teaching

Preferred Qualifications

- Evidence of or potential for strong external grant activity
- Evidence of attention to diversity, equity and inclusion in research, teaching and/or service

Compensation Grade/Rank

Associate Professor, III

Full Professor, IV

College Information

The College of Liberal Arts is central to the intellectual and artistic life of the University of Nevada, Reno and is committed to fostering diversity, equity and inclusivity. The college contributes to the University's efforts to provide undergraduate students with general and specialized education that will prepare them for advanced study, careers and citizenship in a diverse world. It offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate degrees, emphasizes inquiry, discovery, and openness to new ideas and perspectives, and supports major scholarly research and creative activity in the humanities, social sciences and arts.

The University of Nevada, Reno is a Research 1 land-grant campus of the Nevada System of Higher Education with a student population of approximately 22,000, including over 3,000 graduate students. Nearly half of incoming students identify as being from an underrepresented group. In accordance with the university's land grant, tier one research institution mission, our faculty are expected to contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research, teaching and service in a pluralistic environment.

The University has dynamic intellectual, artistic and sports life and a close relationship to the city of Reno, an emerging tech and innovation hub with a diverse population and a rich cultural history that hosts an active art, music and festival scene along the Truckee River. Known for its proximity to Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountains, Reno is a vibrant, diverse and growing city of 300,000 located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, about 200 miles east of San Francisco, about 100 miles east of Sacramento and 30 miles north of the state capital, Carson City. Combined with the neighboring city of Sparks, the Reno-Sparks metropolitan area has a population of 450,000. Reno is only 30-45 minutes from Lake Tahoe and major ski resorts and is rated one of the top locations in the United States for living and for outdoor recreation. It has an international airport with direct flights to many U.S. transportation hubs and to Mexico. For more information about the city and the surrounding area, please visit www.cityofreno.com and www.visitrenotahoe.com

Faculty Dual Career Assistance Program

The University of Nevada, Reno recognizes the importance of addressing dual-career couples' professional needs. We offer a dual career assistance program to newly hired faculty spouses/partners that provides resources and assists them to identify career opportunities in Northern Nevada. Dual Career Program

Total Compensation

The total compensation package includes a negotiable competitive salary, moving allowance (if applicable), a rich retirement plan, health insurance options that include dental and vision, life insurance, long-term disability, along with many other benefits. Additionally, there is a grant-in-aid educational benefit for faculty and dependents. For more information, please visit: UNR Benefits

Contact Information for this position

Search Chair-Robert Joe Cutter, rcutter@unr.edu

Search co-Coordinator- Spencer Schultz, spencerschultz@unr.edu

Exempt

Yes

Full-Time Equivalent

100.0%

Required Attachment(s)

Please attach the following documents to your application. Please contact jobs@unr.edu, the day you apply, if assistance is needed with attachments:

- 1) A complete Curriculum Vita;
- 2) Cover letter stating qualifications, experience, research plans and teaching experience
- 3) Contact information for three professional references
- 4) A brief statement (one page maximum) about how you would contribute toward our mission of creating a culturally inclusive environment in the role for which you are applying
- 5) Two research-based writing samples

Open Until Filled

Position is open until filled; however, first review of applications will begin begin November 27, 2019. Qualified individuals are encouraged to apply immediately. This search will close without notice when a sufficient number of applications are received or a hiring decision has been made.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7422

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Post Doc Fellow

Two Year Post Doctorate at the Sam Nunn School of International Affairs

The Sam Nunn School of International Affairs at Georgia Tech invites applications for a two year post-doctoral fellowship to begin Fall 2020. The ideal candidate would have policy-relevant academic research and teaching interests that interface with one of the School's core programs in Emerging Technologies and International Security or in Global Development.

A successful applicant will conduct individual research, participate in relevant outreach activities, collaborate with Nunn School faculty and graduate students to pursue sponsored research programs, and teach one course per semester. The teaching requirements are negotiable and may be reduced by a collaborative research project. Therefore, the search committee strongly encourages applications from those who seek opportunities to collaborate with other parts of Georgia Tech's campus including the Georgia Tech Research Institute and the science and engineering schools. The salary is $60,000 per year.

Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement of research interests, a description of teaching interests, an example of scholarly work, and the names and contact information for at least three references to postdoc.nunnschool@inta.gatech.edu. Applicants should have their referees submit their letters to the email above at the time of application. Applications will be considered until 1 February 2020 but the search will continue until the position is filled. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment. Please direct inquiries to Lawrence Rubin (lawrence.rubin@inta.gatech.edu).

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We strongly encourage applications from women, underrepresented minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 10/29/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7407

University of North Carolina, Pembroke

Rank: Assistant Professor of Emergency Management and Public Administration

Assistant Professor of Emergency Management and Public Administration.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Carolina, Pembroke seeks an assistant professor of emergency management and public administration. This position will be responsible for teaching emergency management courses at the graduate level, courses in public administration at the graduate level, and at least one of our general education courses (American National Government or Introduction to Political Science).

The area of teaching and research specialization within emergency management is open. Preference will be given to candidates that are focused clearly on the administration side of the discipline, as opposed to a public policy scholar. Preferences will also be given to candidates that show how their research may connect and enhance emergency resiliency and preparation both regionally as well as in the local community. Successful candidates must show excellence in both online teaching as well as in the traditional classroom since this position will require the candidate to consistently teach in both learning platforms. The teaching load for this position is a 3-3, typically teaching two to three graduate course each semester and one undergraduate course each year.

UNCP is a regional university serving rural North Carolina that emphasizes excellence in teaching. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration serves several programs including a B.A. program with four different concentrations, an active contributor to a B.I.S. program in Public and Non-profit Management, and a Master of Public Administration program with four different concentrations.

To be considered for this position, candidates must hold a Ph.D. in public administration, emergency management, or a closely related field, or be ABD with a clear date of completion. To apply, applicants must complete the application for employment form found at <https://jobs.uncp.edu> where they will be instructed to submit a CV, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio that demonstrates competence in online teaching and in person, as well as past course evaluations (if applicable). Candidates who are selected after the first round of consideration will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation for consideration. For questions, please contact the chair of the department, Dr. Emily Sharum (emily.neffsharum@uncp.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 10/23/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7375

Georgia State University

Rank: Associate Professor/Professor Public Economics, Public Finance, Public Budgeting, or Public Financial Management

Associate Professor/Professor Public Economics, Public Finance, Public Budgeting, or Public Financial Management

Position and Responsibilities:

The Andrew Young School of Policy Studies invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position beginning in August 2020 in the Department of Economics or the Department of Public Management and Policy at the Associate or Full Professor level. Due to an expansion in our evidence-based policy research, we are most interested in an experienced scholar who can make a substantial contribution to our applied public finance research cluster which includes the Center for State and Local Finance, the Fiscal Research Center, and the International Center for Public Policy. The ideal candidate will have interest in a leadership role in the cluster and will be a senior member of one of the academic departments. Applicants should have a primary research and teaching interest in public economics, public finance, public budgeting or public financial management, taxation, as well as strong interests in applied policy research. This position requires a doctorate degree from an accredited university in one of the following fields of study: economics, public policy, political science or public management. The hire will have access to unique administrative data and will be interested in using advanced big data empirical techniques. Responsibilities include teaching, research, and senior leadership of the cluster. The latter will be compensated via administrative release time.

Andrew Young School and Campus Environment:

The Andrew Young School is ranked among the top 20 policy schools in the U.S. The school houses five academic departments and outstanding research centers and institutes in health policy, international and domestic public policy, public finance, experimental economics, urban studies, and education policy, among others. Georgia State University, an enterprising R-1 university located in Atlanta, is a national leader in using innovation to drive student success and research growth. Enrolling and graduating one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation, Georgia State provides its world-class faculty and more than 50,000 students unsurpassed research, teaching, and learning opportunities in one of the 21st century's great global cities.

For additional information about the Andrew Young School: <https://aysps.gsu.edu/>

Qualifications:

REQUIRED:

- Ph.D. in economics, public policy, political science or public management
- Primary research and teaching interest in public economics, public finance, public budgeting or public financial management, taxation, as well as strong interests in applied policy research. Interest and experience working with policy makers to identify and deliver on a research agenda that produces causal evidence to inform policy aimed at improving child and family welfare
- Demonstrated success attracting external research funding
- Ability to pass a full background check
- Eligible to work in the U.S.

Condition of Work and Benefits:

Forty-hour work week
 Retirement plans include Teachers Retirement System, TIAA, VALIC, & Fidelity Twelve paid holidays
 Sick Leave
 Group health and life insurance
 Faculty rank and status
 Social Security
 Tenure track
 Optional pre-tax benefits
 Support for research and professional activities

Salary and Rank:

Salary commensurate with the candidate's education and experience. Appointment at a faculty rank, on a contract renewal basis. This position is subject to budgetary approval.

Submit a cover letter addressing the above qualifications; curriculum vita; name, address and phone number of three references. Review of materials will begin December 13 and continue until the position is filled.

Application submission:

All applications must be submitted through Academic Jobs Online (<https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14944>). No paper applications will be accepted unless specifically solicited.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7363

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Political Communication or Media and Politics, with an emphasis on big data

The Department of Political Science at Simon Fraser University is inviting applications for a continuing full-time research faculty appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor starting as early as July 2020.

The successful candidate will have evidence of high-quality scholarly output and excellence in research in Political Communication or Media and Politics, with an emphasis on big data. They will be expected to carry out an independent research program yielding significant peer-reviewed publications, and to compete successfully for external funding to support this research program. Research that aligns with SFU's Strategic Research plan will be a strength. This includes: rigorous data collection and analysis; interdisciplinary projects; and community-based policy research. Ideal candidates may also conduct research that aligns with SFU's core research challenges to understand our origins and strengthen civil society by advancing justice, equality and social responsibility.

The successful candidate will also demonstrate strong potential for outstanding teaching contributions at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and an ongoing commitment to academic and pedagogical excellence in support of the department's programs. At the undergraduate level, the appointee would be expected to teach introductory courses in quantitative methods or computational social science as well as more advanced courses in media and politics and political communications. At the graduate level, the appointee will teach courses as part of the Masters in Political Science and the PhD program in Political Science, and be expected to supervise graduate students in their areas of research expertise.

For more information about the Department, please visit <http://www.sfu.ca/politics.html>

Equity, diversity, and inclusion are essential to SFU's excellence as an engaged university. In keeping with SFU's strategic vision which pledges to foster a culture of inclusion and mutual respect and to celebrate diversity among faculty, SFU is committed to ensuring that no individual is denied access to employment opportunities for reasons unrelated to ability or qualifications. SFU is dedicated to building a diverse faculty by advancing the interests of underrepresented groups, specifically women, Indigenous people, persons with disability, visible minorities, and sexual and gender diverse communities. We strongly encourage individuals from these groups to apply. We are especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated history of advocating for equity, diversity, and inclusion.

SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Qualifications:

- PhD in political science, political communications or an aligned field in hand on the appointment start date or soon thereafter.
- Complete applications will consist of:
- Cover letter;
 - Curriculum Vitae;
 - Statement of research;

- Statement of contributions and commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion – addressing past, ongoing, and/or potential contributions through teaching, research, professional activity, and/or service;
- Evidence of teaching excellence;
- Academic writing sample;
- Three current letters of reference sent directly by the respective referees.

Applications will be reviewed starting November 9, 2019. Preference will be given to applications received by December 9, 2019

All materials should be sent electronically in one pdf document to: pol_apply@sfu.ca. Questions should be directed to polchair@sfu.ca.

This is an entry level position. Only those holding or those eligible to be promoted to the rank will be considered. The position is subject to availability of funding.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 10/18/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7358

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley Rank: Feminist Political Economy/Women & Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Feminist Political Economy and/or Women & Public Policy to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) social reproduction, non-wage/uncompensated labor, gendered labor markets, feminist state theory, intersectionality, women's human rights and gender equality, globalization and its impact on women in the Global South, solidarity movements, or women and public policy (e.g., health care, poverty). Applicants may have a U.S., comparative regional, or global perspective. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program anchored in the concepts and methods of political science while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate courses in their substantive specialization as well as introductory courses on U.S. Federal Government & Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/27/2019
Date Posted: 10/12/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7328

New York University Rank: Lab Manager - Center for Social Media and Politics

We are looking for a full-time lab manager. In this role, you will be embedded in our research teams in order to directly support the lab's cutting-edge output. Currently, we have a portfolio of over 25 projects on a wide range of questions related to social media and politics, each of which has different substantive and methodological motivations. As the lab manager, you will have two main responsibilities. First, you will monitor and coordinate all of the lab's research projects; second, you will provide direct support to a selected portfolio of projects. Given the nature of this position, a graduate-level background in quantitative social science and/or data science research is strongly encouraged, as is experience leading teams in a fast-paced environment.

Each project will require something different from the lab manager, ranging from coordinating with our survey vendors to training undergraduate RAs. We value initiative and adaptability, as well as a passion for the research process. While far from an exhaustive list, your responsibilities will include:

- Instituting systems of regular reporting on work performed, setting goals, tracking progress towards deliverables
- Holding meetings with research teams on each project, and reporting to Faculty Directors and Executive Director on progress
- Ensuring data tasks are regularly updated and best lab practices (e.g. coding and documentation) are followed
- Managing paper writing/revisions, writing IRB paperwork, and coordinating conference/journal submissions
- Training and supervising graduate/undergraduate RAs

The Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Center has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors. You will be given the opportunity to participate in the center's research environment, including attending conferences and seminars and working closely with a broad group of researchers associated with the lab.

The directors of CSMaP are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754><https://apply.interfolio.com/66754>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7326

Texas A&M University, Corpus Christi

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Job Description

The College of Liberal Arts at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi is seeking a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science in American Politics to begin fall 2020. The successful candidate will teach introductory courses in American National Government and State and Local Government in stand-alone courses, as well as part of a collaborative teaching team working in the university's nationally recognized First-Year Learning Communities Program.

In addition, the successful candidate will contribute to the teaching needs of the Political Science major. A strong commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and service is expected. The normal teaching load will be 3-3.

Department

The Department of Social Sciences (DSOC) is a multi-disciplinary department in the College of Liberal Arts that offers undergraduate degrees in Political Science and Criminal Justice and the graduate degree of Masters of Public Administration. Because of its contribution to the core curriculum, Political Science generates some of the highest levels of student credit hours in the University. The Criminal Justice program is one of the largest undergraduate majors on campus. The MPA program is the largest graduate program in the College of Liberal Arts. DSOC faculty are leaders on campus, in the community, and in their disciplines. We value excellence and work daily to support the University's Momentum 2020 Overarching Goal to become an emerging research university with an unparalleled commitment to every student's success, closing gaps in achievement, and delivering a robust campus experience.

First-Year Learning Communities Program

Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi's First-Year Learning Communities Program (FYLCP) is an innovative nationally recognized program which helps students to make successful academic and social transitions from high school to the University. For more information, visit the FYLCP webpage at <http://undergrad.tamucc.edu/FYLCP/learning-communities.html>.

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science. ABD will be considered; degree must be conferred at the time of appointment. Ph.D. must meet the appropriate credentialing requirements for the Southern Association for Colleges and Schools (SACS);

Experience or the ability to teach the Presidency and Congress;

Experience or the ability to teach American National Government and State and Local Government; and

Be available to accept teaching assignments that may include classroom, hybrid, and online classes.

Preferred Qualifications:

Experience teaching undergraduate quantitative research methods and senior seminar;

Demonstrate a race and ethnic politics perspective broadly defined in their work;

Demonstrate a facility with student-centered, critical thinking methods of teaching;

Demonstrate an understanding/appreciation of the University's student population and campus mission;

Demonstrate the ability to teach introductory and majors courses in the required and preferred areas (see the aforementioned position description);

A desire for or experience in a team teaching environment;

Classroom and online teaching experience;

Demonstrate teaching effectiveness through student evaluations, peer reviews, and/or self-evaluation; and

Demonstrate an active research program agenda that has resulted in or the potential to result in published scholarly works or peer-reviewed products.

TO APPLY: http://hr.tamucc.edu/Job_Opportunities/index.html

All required documentation must be submitted to be considered for the position.

A completed application will include:

1. A letter of application addressing the qualifications listed above,
2. A curriculum vitae,
3. A statement of teaching philosophy and applicable evidence for teaching effectiveness,
4. A research statement,
5. A writing sample,
6. Three professional references including names, addresses, titles, telephone numbers, and email addresses, and
7. Copies of unofficial transcripts for graduate coursework.

The job posting will remain open until a finalist has been selected. Review of applications will begin Monday, December 2, 2019.

All positions are security-sensitive. Applicants are subject to a criminal history investigation, and employment is contingent upon the institution's verification of credentials and/or other information required by the institution's procedures, including the completion of the criminal history check.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Veterans/Disability Employer committed to diversity.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/11/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7322

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: SNF Agora Open Rank Faculty - Social Cognition/Political Psychology

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation (SNF) Agora Institute at Johns Hopkins University seeks faculty (or nominations of faculty) for endowed professorships at the rank of Associate or Full Professor (soon-to-be-tenured Assistant Professors with exceptional records of scholarship can also be considered) in any discipline who focus on social cognition or political psychology. We seek scholars from a range of disciplines examining the cognitive and psychological foundations of social and collective behavior, especially as it relates to questions about civic engagement and inclusive discourse across the globe or in the U.S.

This search is part of a broader initiative at Johns Hopkins University to expand expertise in social cognition within the Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences and in other departments. Faculty hired to the SNF Agora Institute, however, can sit in any department in the university.

The SNF Agora Institute is a new, $150M multi-disciplinary initiative that integrates research, teaching, and practice to strengthen global democracy by improving and expanding civic engagement and inclusive dialogue, and by supporting inquiry that leads to real-world change. Housed in the university's Krieger School of Arts and Sciences, the SNF Agora Institute at JHU will serve as a leading forum bringing together experts from a range of fields—including but not limited to political science, sociology, history, neuroscience, psychology, philosophy, and ethics.

All SNF Agora faculty will be full members in a department at Johns Hopkins University and at the SNF Agora Institute.

Qualifications

Successful candidates should be established scholars with a substantial record of research and publication, or may be rising scholars of exceptional quality. All candidates should demonstrate an interest in the mission of the SNF Agora Institute.

Johns Hopkins is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The university is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Consistent with the university's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will assess the comprehensive qualifications of each applicant.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a cover letter specifying an appropriate department for their appointment, a research statement, curriculum vitae, and two to three representative publications. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2019 and continue until the positions are filled. Appointments will commence on July 1, 2020.

Please apply at apply.interfolio.com/69846

Any nominations should be emailed to the SNF Agora Institute, at snfagora@jhu.edu

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/9/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7314

California State University, Sacramento

Rank: Political Science Faculty/Internship Coordinator

The Department of Political Science at California State University, Sacramento seeks candidates to fill a tenure-track position of Political Science Faculty/Internship Coordinator at the rank of assistant professor to begin in fall 2020. Candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field are encouraged to apply. ABD candidates will be considered; if ABD, candidates will be required to complete the doctoral degree by January 2021. Applicants are expected to have the ability to coordinate and develop the department's internship programs and to direct the Sacramento Semester Program in addition to teaching undergraduate and graduate courses. Candidates must have a demonstrated commitment to working with a diverse student body and a diverse community. Candidates are also required to have a strong commitment to college teaching, experiential learning, and an ability to teach a range of undergraduate and graduate courses in Political Science, including an introduction to American government. Candidates are required to demonstrate potential for scholarly achievement; the department is open to methodological approaches. Additional preferred qualifications and application procedures are listed in the full vacancy announcement. The department reminds applicants that it is only necessary to meet the required qualifications in order to apply.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2019 and the position will remain open until filled. An applicant can find the full vacancy announcement at, and must apply through, the Sacramento State jobs website at <https://csus.peopleadmin.com/postings/4493>. The job posting number is 4493. Inquiries can be made to pols2019@csus.edu.

AA/EO Employer, Clery Act, mandated reporter, background check required.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/8/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7309

University of Central Florida

Rank: Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

Assistant Professor, Cyber Security and Privacy

The University of Central Florida (UCF) has established several interdisciplinary clusters to strengthen its academic offerings and research mission. In support of this effort, we are recruiting a tenure-track assistant professor in the area(s) of Cyber Security and Privacy. This position will have an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020.

This interdisciplinary position will be expected to strengthen both the cluster and a chosen tenure home department and may include a combination of joint appointments. A strong advantage of this position is the ability of the candidate to choose a combination of units for their appointment. All relevant areas will be considered, such as (but not limited to) Mathematics, Statistics, Industrial Engineering and Management Systems, Psychology, Computer Science, Legal Studies, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Philosophy, Criminal Justice, and Political Science.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D., terminal degree, or foreign degree equivalent from an accredited institution at the time of appointment in an area appropriate to the cluster. The selected candidate must also have a record of high impact research related to cyber security and privacy demonstrated by a strong scholarly and/or funding record.

Preferred qualifications: A history of working with teams, especially teams that span multiple disciplines, is strongly preferred.

The ideal candidate will have a strong background in cyber security and privacy and be on an upward leadership trajectory in these areas. In particular, candidates that have a track record in security and privacy issues affecting software and systems in various platforms (cloud, IoT, cyber-physical) are strongly encouraged to apply. The ideal candidate will also have research impact as reflected in high-quality publications and the ability to build a well-funded research program. We are looking for a team player who can help bring together current campus efforts in cyber security and privacy. (See <https://www.ucf.edu/faculty/cluster/cyber-security-and-privacy/> for a complete list of all the units involved to date.) Both individual and interdisciplinary infrastructure and startup support will be provided.

UCF has a diverse student body of more than 68,000 students and has grown substantially in size, quality, diversity, and reputation in its first 50 years. Today, the university offers more than 200 degree programs at its main campus in Orlando. UCF is an economic engine, attracting and supporting industries vital to the region's future while providing students with real-world experiences that help them succeed after graduation. UCF's Orlando location also puts it at the center of the Florida High Tech Corridor. The corridor has an excellent industrial base that includes software, defense, space, simulation and training, and a world-renowned entertainment industry, including large corporations such as Disney, Harris Corporation, Lockheed Martin, Siemens, Oracle, Apple, AMD, Boeing, SpaceX, Blue Origin, etc. Adjacent to UCF is a thriving research park that conducts over $2 billion in funded research, hosting more than 100 high-technology companies and UCF's Institute for Simulation and Training. The Central Florida area is designated by the State of Florida as the Center of Excellence in Modeling and Simulation. UCF also has an accredited medical school. Orlando has one of the fastest growing and dynamic economies in the nation. In 2018, among major metropolitan areas, Orlando enjoyed the fifth largest increase in population. Great weather, easy access to the seashore, one of the largest convention centers in the nation, and one of the world's best airports are just a few features that make Orlando an ideal location. We encourage you to learn more about UCF at <http://www.ucf.edu/faculty>.

Additional Application Materials Required:

UCF requires all applications and supporting documents to be submitted electronically through the Human Resources website, www.ucf.edu/jobs/. No paper or emailed applications or materials will be considered.

UCF has a diverse student body and community, and we are committed to meeting the needs of this community. Please tell us about your approach and experience meeting the needs of a diverse community, both in the context of a faculty-student setting and as a colleague. In addition to the online application, interested candidates must attach the following materials to their application:

- 1) the above-mentioned diversity statement,
- 2) a cover letter*,
- 3) curriculum vitae,
- 4) teaching statement,
- 5) research statement, and
- 6) contact information for three professional references (include email addresses).

*In the cover letter, candidates must address their background in cyber security and privacy, any experience working on interdisciplinary teams, how they will enhance the existing cluster team, and identify the department(s) for their potential tenure home and any joint appointments they would desire.

NOTE: Please have all application documents ready when applying so they can be attached at that time. Once the online submission process is finalized, the system does not allow applicants to submit additional documents at a later date.

This position has an anticipated start date of August 8, 2020. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Questions regarding this search can be directed to Yan Solihin at yan.solihin@ucf.edu.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement: As an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, UCF encourages all qualified applicants to apply, including women, veterans, individuals with disabilities, and members of traditionally underrepresented populations. UCF's Equal Opportunity Statement can be viewed at: <http://www.oie.ucf.edu/documents/PresidentsStatement.pdf>. As a Florida public university, UCF makes all application materials and selection procedures available to the public upon request.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7299

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy, General Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia invites applicants to apply for a teaching faculty position. The selected applicant will teach courses as part of the Batten School's social entrepreneurship curriculum and may assume some program responsibilities in the school's social entrepreneurship center (SE@UVA). The appointment begins in August 2020. Rank is at the Assistant Professor level.

We seek candidates from a range of disciplines including political science, economics, entrepreneurship, law, business ethics, business administration, finance, or public administration. A terminal degree in one of these disciplines or a related field is required, as is teaching experience. The successful candidate's professional and/or research experience focuses on social entrepreneurship broadly defined, including but not limited to work on social enterprise, impact investing and innovative finance, or public policy related to social innovation (i.e. state-level BCorp legislation, social impact bonds, tax policy related to social enterprise, and innovative hybrid business models).

The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of excellence in one or more of the following areas: professional experience within the social enterprise community, superior teaching and student mentoring, an interest in contributing to the scholarly community at Batten and U.Va. through collaborations with research faculty, and a research focus with a developing publication record in scholarly, practitioner, and/or policy venues.

Built upon the strong foundation of one of the nation's top public universities, the Batten School combines rigorous training in public policy with a unique emphasis on the acquisition of leadership skills. The School currently offers an MPP degree and an undergraduate major in public policy and leadership. The Batten School's SE@UVA center offers over a dozen courses to over 500 students each academic year and serves over 350 Social Entrepreneurship Minors. For more information about the center please visit www.seatuva.org.

To apply, visit <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs> and search for posting number R0010558, and complete a candidate profile. Include a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, contact information for three references, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a diversity statement that describes contributions to diversity-related research, teaching, and/or service. This is a non-tenure track position. Applicant review begins November 1, 2019 and the position is open until filled. For questions about the application process please contact Rhiannon O'Coin, Academic Recruiter at rmo2r@virginia.edu

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit <http://provost.virginia.edu/dual-career>.

For more information about UVA and the surrounding area, please visit: <http://uvacharge.virginia.edu/guide.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 10/6/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7296

Harvard University

Rank: Inequality in America Initiative Postdoctoral Fellowship

Unit: Division of Social Science | Faculty of Arts and Sciences
 Position: Inequality in America Initiative Postdoctoral Fellowship
 Deadline: 15 November 2019

The Inequality in America Initiative seeks applications from recent doctoral degree recipients interested in joining a multidisciplinary network of Harvard researchers working to address the manifold challenges of inequality. This program is intended to seed new research directions, facilitate collaboration across disciplines, and develop new leaders in the study of inequality who can publish at the highest level, reach the widest audience, and impact policy.

The fellowship is a two-year postdoctoral training program. The award includes $67,000/year plus fringe; office space; a $17,500 research account; up to $3,000 (incl. taxes) for relocation; and up to $3,000 for a manuscript workshop in year two.

The program director will pair each fellow with two Harvard faculty mentors (one from outside the fellow's primary discipline), participating in one or more of five research clusters:

- Mobility and Migration
- Science, Technology, Education, and Health
- Work, Family, and Opportunity
- Governance, Citizenship, and Social Justice
- America Inequality, Globally

Applicants to the fall 2020 program must have received a doctorate or equivalent terminal degree in April 2017 or later; applicants without a terminal degree must demonstrate that they will receive one by August 2020.

See more at <https://inequalityinamerica.fas.harvard.edu/postdoctoral-program>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/15/2019
Date Posted: 10/4/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7293

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate - CSDP

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks post-doctoral or more senior research associates for ten-month positions anticipated to start on or about September 1, 2020. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. PhD required.

Each research associate will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars must be in residence at Princeton during the academic terms, and are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events. Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary and applicable Princeton University benefits in accordance with university guidelines, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, and the names of two (and not more than two) references. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this 2020-2021 postdoctoral research associate position must apply to position req D-20-WWS-00010 <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14021>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, December 2, 2019 at 11:59 p.m. EST (including letters of recommendation from the two references).

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/2/2019
Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7289

Princeton University - CSDP

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar - CSDP

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Other

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP) seeks visiting scholars for ten-month positions anticipated to start on or about September 1, 2020. The Center supports empirical research on democratic political processes and institutions. Applications are welcome from political scientists and scholars in related social science disciplines. CSDP visiting scholar positions are restricted to employed scholars on leave who are expected to return to their position.

Each scholar will pursue research and contribute to the intellectual life of the Center, the Department of Politics, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. CSDP scholars must be in residence at Princeton during the academic terms, and are expected to participate in the weekly CSDP seminars and related weekly research seminars in the Department of Politics, as well as occasional lectures, conferences, and other events.

Successful candidates will receive a competitive salary (those who hold faculty appointments at other academic institutions normally receive one-half their academic-year salaries for the appointment period, but this may vary depending on level of support from the home institution), applicable benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research allowance.

Verification of employment and salary will be requested prior to approval by the Dean of the Faculty. PhD or equivalent doctoral degree required. Applicants must apply online and submit a CV, a 3-5 page (double-spaced) statement of research interest/research proposal, a writing sample, a brief statement of anticipated (estimated) salary support from the home institution for the 2020-2021 academic year, and statement of the home institution's leave policy. A cover letter is optional. Applicants for this Visiting Research Scholar position for 2020-2021 should apply to req number D-20-WWS-00011 <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/14041>. The deadline for receipt of complete applications is Monday, December 2, 2019 at 11:59 p.m. EST.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/2/2019

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7295

Georgetown University

Rank: tenure-track position in Strategy, Economics, Ethics, and Public Policy

Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business invites applications for a tenure-track position in its Strategy, Economics, Ethics, and Public Policy Area. The Strategy, Economics, Ethics, and Public Policy Area includes individuals whose primary research and teaching interests lie in economics, international business, international political economy, and strategy. The area is collegial and multi-disciplinary, with several members crossing disciplinary boundaries in research and teaching.

The position is open to scholars interested in conducting applied, international research. It is our expectation that the successful candidate will be someone whose scholarship addresses either firm behavior in the global economy or how global political and economic institutions and processes affect firms. We especially encourage applicants whose work has appeared or will appear in leading scholarly outlets.

The position is an open rank position. Georgetown University prides itself on the teaching excellence of its faculty and the successful applicant will be someone who has either demonstrated teaching ability or has the aptitude for teaching excellence.

We encourage applicants to apply via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/69413>.

* Junior applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter; (2) a curriculum vita; (3) up to two articles/working papers including the job market paper; (4) teaching evaluations; and (5) up to three letters of recommendation.

* Senior applicants should submit (1) a cover letter and (2) a curriculum vita.

(All inquiries will be held in confidence until a time mutually agreed upon.)

We will begin consideration of applications and nominations on 1 November 2019, but will accept inquiries until the position is filled.

ABOUT THE MCDONOUGH SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Located in Washington, D.C., Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business offers unparalleled access to the world's business, policy, and thought leaders. The school, which attracts faculty and students from around the world, is committed to developing principled leaders capable of making complex business decisions in a global environment and who are dedicated to serving both business and society. Georgetown McDonough offers undergraduate, MBA, Executive MBA, and specialized programs. More information can be found here.

ABOUT GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY

Georgetown University is one of the world's leading academic and research institutions, offering a unique educational experience that prepares the next generation of global citizens to lead and make a difference in the world. We are a vibrant community of exceptional students, faculty, alumni and professionals dedicated to real-world applications of our research, scholarship, faith and service.

Established in 1789, Georgetown is the nation's oldest Catholic and Jesuit university. Drawing upon the 450-year-old legacy of Jesuit education, we provide students with a world-class learning experience focused on educating the whole person through exposure to different faiths, cultures and beliefs. More information can be found here.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/2/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7281

Hertie School

Rank: Professor of Sustainability

The Hertie School, Berlin

A European Professional School for Public Policy is recruiting a

Professor of Sustainability

Professor or Assistant Professor

The Hertie School is recruiting a Professor or Assistant Professor of Sustainability, with a research agenda in environmental as well as economic and/or social sustainability.

Relevant research areas in environmental sustainability may include (among others) biodiversity, cities and transport, pollution, agriculture and/or land use and water. An ideal candidate combines this with a research agenda in economic and/or social sustainability, which may include (among others) human well-being, inequality and poverty, inter-generational justice, environmental accounting, sustainable economic growth, environmental taxation, large-scale risk, long-term policy design, and/or evolution of norms.

The candidate will contribute to the development of the new Hertie Centre for Sustainability and will interact with faculty members with expertise in climate change and energy. Applicants should be interested in working in an interdisciplinary environment.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position, or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. We are looking for a candidate with a background in economics, though this does not have to be a PhD. An early career candidate will be appointed as tenure-track Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts). A more advanced candidate would initially be on a fixed contract of negotiable length prior to a tenure review. In highly exceptional circumstances, a particularly outstanding candidate may be appointed with tenure.

The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research, teaching, and outreach at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a commitment to teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes and be able to collaborate with new centres of competence which will be set up over the next years. Those are the Jacques Delors Institute Berlin – Centre for European Affairs, the Centre for International Security Policy, the Centre on Fundamental Rights, the Centre for Sustainability, the Centre on Digital Governance, and the Hertie School Data Science Lab. The successful candidate is expected to actively contribute to the research and outreach activities of the Centre for Sustainability.

As a private university, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Germany's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community as well as to the policy world.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. It takes a family friendly workplace seriously.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 30 November 2019. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Early career candidates should include three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with their work.

To submit your application, please upload the requested documents here:

<https://hertie-school.dvinci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/184/professor-of-sustainability-fmdiv-professor-or-assistant-professor>

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Christian Flachsland (flachsland@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7260

Hertie School of Governance

Rank: Professor of International Political Economy

Specializations: Political Economy, Economic Policy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Hertie School, Berlin

A European Professional School for Public Policy is recruiting a

Professor of International Political Economy

Professor or Assistant Professor

The Hertie School is recruiting a Professor or Assistant Professor of International Political Economy. We are looking for a candidate with a research agenda in the politics and economics of globalization and trade. Themes that intersect with development and global inequalities are welcome. This candidate will play an important leadership role in our "Finance and Trade" track of our Masters of International Affairs (MIA).

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position, or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. An early career candidate will be appointed as Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts) with the possibility of tenure. A more advanced candidate would be subject to a two-year probationary period before the granting of tenure.

The expected start date is 1 September 2020 or February 2021.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research at the highest levels in their discipline, through an established record of publication in top outlets. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a strong commitment to high-quality teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes. Collaboration with new centres of competence of the Hertie School is encouraged. Those are the Jacques Delors Institute Berlin, the Centre for International Security Policy, the Centre on Fundamental Rights, the Centre for Sustainability, the Centre on Digital Governance, and the Hertie School Data Science Lab.

As a private university, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Germany's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community as well as to the policy world.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. It takes a family friendly workplace seriously. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 30 November 2019. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Early career candidates should include three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with their work.

To submit your application, please upload the requested documents here: <https://hertie-school.dvinci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/185/professor-of-international-political-economy-fmdiv-professor-or-assistant-professor>

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org. For questions about the position, please contact Dean Mark Hallerberg (hallerberg@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7261

W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research

Rank: Researcher/Senior Researcher

Hiring Full-Time Researcher/Senior Researcher

The W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research invites Ph.D. researchers in political science, economics, sociology, public policy or a related field to apply for a full-time research position. Recent Ph.Ds. may apply for a Researcher position, and those with at least 5 years of experience and an established publication record in peer-reviewed journals may apply for a Senior Researcher position.

The Upjohn Institute is an endowed, nonprofit research organization that conducts independent, nonpartisan research on employment-related issues. The Institute offers a thriving and collaborative research environment. Our staff includes eleven Ph.Ds. who share common research interests and are excellent colleagues. The Institute's endowment allows researchers considerable freedom in developing their agenda within the Institute's mission. Research staff also seek funding from foundations or government agencies as a way of augmenting their research or becoming more involved in finding practical solutions to employment problems. Researchers receive excellent support from in-house staff, including research assistants, computer specialists, information and database specialists, and administrative assistants.

The Institute is searching for candidates who have demonstrated strong analytical skills, excellent oral and written communication skills for both academic and lay audiences, and a strong interest in addressing policy-relevant issues. The Institute offers competitive salaries and benefits. The Institute is an equal opportunity employer.

Interested applicants should submit a letter of introduction, curriculum vitae, and two research papers to hr@upjohn.org. The position is open until filled.

About Kalamazoo, Michigan

Home of the Kalamazoo Promise, Kalamazoo is a progressive metropolitan area in Southwest Michigan, located just 30 minutes from the shores of Lake Michigan. Centered halfway between Chicago and Detroit, it has a rich arts culture and a strong educational community that includes Kalamazoo College, a private liberal arts college, and Western Michigan University, a large public research institution with a nationally-recognized medical school.

Start Date: Winter 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7263

Northeastern University

Rank: URBAN INFORMATICS CLUSTER HIRE, OPEN RANK - ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

Specializations: Urban Politics, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Northeastern University seeks nominations and applications for several tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in computational social science, with a focus on urban informatics, quantitative methods, or network science, with an expected start date of Fall 2020. Successful candidates will have a distinguished scholarly record using methodological approaches that leverage and work with large or complex data sources to study social phenomena, including but not limited to questions pertaining to cities and communities. We have special interest in scholars whose work includes the use of administrative, scraped, archival, or internet-gathered data. We are seeking scholars who work in spatial, network, or textual analysis, and/or use machine-learning tools. Competitive applicants will also have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and leadership. Faculty appointments will be made in one or more of the member departments of the CSSH, including the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Department of Economics, and the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Cross-college appointments are possible. Successful applicants will likely affiliate with one of our research centers dedicated to this work, including the Boston Area Research Initiative, the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks, or the Network Science Institute.

The position will support the University's commitment to innovation in experiential learning as well as the college's mission in integrating data and technology in the analysis of society, policy, and governance.

Candidates should have demonstrated commitment to fostering diverse and inclusive environments as well as to promoting experiential learning, which are central to a Northeastern University education.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample, as well as the names of three references. For those who would be appointed at the assistant professor level, we will request references upon receipt of application.

To apply, please go to <http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/faculty-positions> and click on the link for full-time positions or full-time interdisciplinary positions or if viewing this description on the Northeastern University website, click "Apply to this job." Please address nominations and inquiries about the position to Professor Daniel O'Brien, at d.obrien@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin Oct. 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is a leader in the Experiential Liberal Arts. Founded in 1898, Northeastern University is a dynamic and highly selective urban research university in the center of Boston. Grounded in its signature co-op program, Northeastern provides unprecedented global experiential learning opportunities. The College is strongly committed to fostering excellence through diversity and enthusiastically welcomes nominations and applications from members of groups underrepresented in academia.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6217

University of British Columbia

Rank: President's Excellence Chair in Global Migration

The Department of Political Science at the University of British Columbia (UBC), Vancouver Campus, invites applications for a President's Excellence Chair in Global Migration, a full-time tenured appointment at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor with anticipated start date of July 1, 2020. The chair will be provided with research funds and have a reduced teaching load for a seven-year term, which can be renewed* for an additional 7 year term. For more information on the President's Excellence Chairs at UBC please visit: ubc.ca/excellence. We are seeking a senior scholar with expertise in Global Migration and the ability to build on growing momentum in this area at UBC and provide intellectual and institutional leadership. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. and be an outstanding researcher whose scholarship has made a significant international impact; have a strong record of attracting and supervising graduate students; have demonstrated excellence in teaching all levels of students; and be pursuing an original and productive research program in Global Migration.

The candidate will teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels in Political Science, as well as supervise undergraduates, graduate students, and postdoctoral fellows, and contribute to service at the departmental level and beyond. Migration is an interdisciplinary research excellence cluster at UBC, and the successful candidate will be expected to participate in and contribute to the growth of this cluster. There also is the possibility of teaching in and contributing to other cognate units, including the possibility of a cross-appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter that includes a statement of major research contributions and current and future research programs, a curriculum vitae, a brief statement (1-2 pages) of teaching philosophy, interests and accomplishments, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., teaching evaluations, sample syllabi), a 1 page statement about experience working with a diverse student body and contributions or potential contributions to creating/advancing a culture of equity and inclusion, and names and addresses (e-mail addresses included) of four referees.

Applications should be submitted online at <https://poli.air.arts.ubc.ca/presidents-excellence-chair-in-global-migration-application-form/> Job ID: 35313. Review of applications will begin on October 19, 2019. Applications received by that date are assured of full review, though applications will be considered until the position is filled.

*The name of the renewed Chair is subject to change.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6201

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Director of the Center for Latin American Studies

Director of Center for Latin American Studies, University Center for International Studies, University of Pittsburgh

The University of Pittsburgh seeks a dynamic scholar to serve as director of its Center for Latin American Studies (<https://www.ucis.pitt.edu/clas>) beginning August 2020. Founded in 1964, the Center for Latin American Studies is the oldest center within the University Center for International Studies (UCIS), which now includes six area and thematic studies centers. The mission of CLAS is to promote global understanding through support for teaching, learning, and research in and on Latin America, the Caribbean, and the diverse diasporic communities of Latin American and Caribbean origin in the United States and elsewhere. CLAS provides faculty with the resources and intellectual environment to realize cutting-edge research, and students with unequalled educational experience and a solid path to a successful career. Through its community engagement programs, the center shares its resources regionally, nationally, and internationally.

Candidates must be leading scholars in their field, holding the tenured rank of associate or full professor. The successful applicant will join the appropriate disciplinary home in one of three schools at the University: the Kenneth P. Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Education, or the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs. For the initial six years of their appointment, the individual will serve as director of the Center and receive a corresponding reduction in teaching and service obligations to their department/school.

Unless there is a renewal of that appointment (mutually agreeable to the faculty member, the department chair or dean, and the Director of UCIS), the successful applicant will resume full-time responsibilities in their home department or school thereafter.

Administrative responsibilities include: developing academic programs; supervision of center staff (all centers have dedicated administrative associate directors); overseeing the implementation of all activities of the center; representing the center and UCIS at activities in various communities (locally, domestically, and abroad); development efforts for the center; guiding strategic grant seeking and application; and supporting the efforts of the Vice-Provost for Global Affairs (who also serves as the Director of UCIS). Examples of the last include periodic crafting of responses to critical events related to the region, providing briefings for high-level international visitors and delegations visiting the University, and assisting in developing itineraries for (and possibly accompanying) Chancellor- and/or Provost-level delegation visits to the region. Responsibilities are year-round; it is understood, however, that the scholarship and other responsibilities will require the candidate to travel and be absent from campus on occasion. Successful candidates must hold a Ph.D. or relevant terminal degree with substantial research and teaching experience in Latin American Studies. We prefer candidates whose work intersects with migration, race, health, and/or gender; these and other research issues align with a new commitment by the Provost to invest in building Latinx studies at the University. Successful candidates must have a proven track record of administrative leadership and experience and of managing colleagues in a productive and collaborative manner. They must also have a demonstrated commitment to diversity and inclusion with highly developed skills in building a collaborative culture that values the strength of differing views and experiences.

The University of Pittsburgh is an urban, state-related institution located in an area with a metropolitan population of approximately 2.3 million. The University is comprised of sixteen schools, four regional campuses outside of Pittsburgh, and four University centers (including UCIS) which serve the entire University community. Applicants should apply by November 1, 2019, at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjcw>. They will be required to upload the following: a comprehensive C.V.; a letter of interest that outlines their scholarly and administrative interests and skills; a one-to-two-page diversity statement, discussing how past, planned, or potential contributions or experiences relating to diversity, equity, and inclusion will advance the University of Pittsburgh's commitment to inclusive excellence; and the names of three references. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 9/17/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 6188

University of Colorado, Boulder

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Colorado Boulder invites applications for a tenure-track position at the assistant professor level in quantitative political methodology to begin fall 2020. The successful candidate should have research interests in methods and is expected to meet departmental instructional needs that include teaching methods at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Priority will be given to candidates that can also contribute to teaching and research in other subfields of Political Science.

Applications should be submitted to the following: <https://jobs.colorado.edu/jobs/JobDetail/Assistant-Professor/20688?>

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/3/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6110

University of Michigan

Rank: Emerging Democracies Postdoctoral Fellow

Fellowship period: September 2020 - August 2022
 Application deadline: January 15, 2020

The Weiser Center for Emerging Democracies (WCED) at the University of Michigan invites scholars who have received their Ph.D. since 2018 to apply for the WCED Postdoctoral Fellowship. This two-year fellowship supports multidisciplinary research on the broad historical, political, economic, and societal conditions under which democracy and autocracy either emerge and endure or falter and fail.

Up to two awards are available for the 2020-22 fellowship. WCED Postdoctoral Fellows are expected to focus on their own research, participate in occasional WCED workshops and events, and present at least one public lecture during their two-year fellowship, while in full-time residence at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. A teaching opportunity may be possible during the second year of the fellowship, if desired.

We welcome applicants from all disciplines, though the majority of past applicants and Fellows have come from political science, sociology, and history. Fellows must have successfully defended and filed their dissertation before beginning the fellowship. Eligibility is restricted to those who have received their Ph.D. after January 1, 2018.

Fellowships carry an annual salary of $50,000 and up to $7,000 in research funds during the post-doctoral appointment. Fellowship recipients will be eligible for U-M health, dental, and life insurance options (beginning September 1, 2020 through August 31, 2022). Fellows have full access to U-M library resources.

Candidates will be required to submit:

- A two-page research plan that outlines the research project and how the fellow will spend his/her time during the fellowship year.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- A scholarly writing sample, such as a dissertation chapter, conference paper, or journal article.
- Two letters of recommendation.

Fellowship applications must be received by January 15, 2020, 11:59 pm EST. Applicants will be notified in March 2020.

Application link available at <https://www.ii.umich.edu/wced/postdoctoral-fellows.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2019
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 9/1/2019
Salary: $50,000 - $59,999
eJobs ID: 5768

Princeton University

Rank: The Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics

The Princeton University Center for Human Values invites applications for the Harold T. Shapiro Postdoctoral Fellowship in Bioethics for a possible opening in September 2020. The Shapiro Fellowship supports outstanding scholars studying ethical issues arising from developments in medicine, the biological sciences, or population health. We particularly encourage proposals focusing on problems of practical importance that have broader theoretical interest.

The Shapiro Fellow will spend from one to three years at Princeton conducting research and teaching the equivalent of one course each year (subject to sufficient enrollments and approval by the Dean of the Faculty). He or she will participate in the Ira W. DeCamp Seminar in Bioethics and will be invited to participate in other activities of the University Center for Human Values including a year-long research seminar for visiting fellows and Center faculty.

Qualifications

Applicants must have completed all the requirements for the Ph.D., M.D., or other equivalent doctoral degree by the start date, and should not have more than two years of postdoctoral experience by that date. An applicant may have a background in any area of ethical studies, not necessarily in bioethics. However, the proposed research plan should be related to the field of bioethics.

Applications will be evaluated on the basis of the applicant's previous accomplishments and the promise of the proposed research project in bioethics. The capacity to contribute to the University's teaching program will also be taken into account.

Term of Appointment

The term of the fellowship is one year, normally beginning September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional years pending satisfactory performance. Appointment will be made to the rank of Postdoctoral Research Associate; the Shapiro Fellow will also carry the title of Lecturer, if teaching. Princeton University offers competitive salary and employee benefits.

How to Apply

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12363>.

A complete application will include the following supporting materials:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A research proposal (not to exceed 1,500 words). Please provide an indicative title in the heading;
3. A scholarly paper (of no more than 12,000 words, not including bibliography) representing the applicant's scholarly achievement or potential;
4. Contact information for two referees, who should be prepared to comment specifically about the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Thursday, December 5, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. We do not accept application materials by any other method. Letters of reference should be submitted by Thursday, December 12, 2019. If a vacancy for this position is confirmed, the selection committee will begin reviewing applications immediately so letters of reference received after the priority deadline may put candidates at a disadvantage.

Decisions will be announced in late April 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/5/2019

Date Posted: 8/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6079

The College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor Global Environmental Justice

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Open, Other

Description

The Departments of Environmental Studies and Political Science at The College of Wooster seek to fill a tenure track position in Global Environmental Justice at the level of Assistant Professor, beginning in the fall of 2020. We are looking for a broadly trained specialist in environmental politics and social justice with area studies expertise and a high proficiency in qualitative methodologies.

Qualifications

The successful candidate should have a demonstrated ability to teach courses and advise research projects in environmental justice and social justice, broadly conceived. They would teach introductory and advanced courses in the Environmental Studies and Political Science departments, supervise independent research projects as part of the College's Independent Study requirement, and participate in teaching the College's First Year Seminar. We seek to hire a scholar whose research and teaching addresses one or more dimensions of environmental justice, such as: the intersections of global climate change and class, ethnic, or racial inequalities; comparative environmental movements; forced displacement and migration due to environmental crisis; food or water insecurity; or environmental governance. In addition, we are interested in candidates whose research and teaching can connect with one or more interdisciplinary programs at The College of Wooster such as Africana Studies, Global & International Studies, East Asian Studies, South Asian Studies, Middle Eastern and North African Studies, Urban Studies, or Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. The College of Wooster enrolls a diverse student body (21% domestic students of color and 15% international students); applicants should have experience with diverse student populations.

Application Instructions

We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have had previous independent teaching experience. Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), a statement regarding how the applicant will contribute to the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/66667>. Applications received by October 1, 2019, will receive full consideration. Please contact Matt Mariola (m-mariola@wooster.edu), Associate Professor of Environmental Studies and Chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5991

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Assistant Professor – Methodology/Computational Political Science

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh seeks candidates for a tenure-stream position in Political Methodology and Computational Social Science at the level of Assistant Professor. We are seeking researchers that have expertise in applying machine learning approaches, broadly construed, to computationally intensive problems in social science. Researchers modeling social media or networks, those employing novel data (e.g., eye-tracking, MRI or GIS data), at scale, or applying creative measurement and visualization strategies to explore topics such as algorithmic biases would be particularly competitive for this position, and we welcome applications from scholars whose work complements and builds on departmental strengths. We encourage applications not only from candidates who have been trained in Political Science departments, but also interdisciplinary researchers whose interests intersect with political science topics. A successful candidate will have a strong research agenda, evidence of teaching ability, the promise of attracting external funding for his/her research, and will have the opportunity to join the interdisciplinary MLHub initiative at Pitt.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020, and applicants should have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science, Information Science, Computer Science, or a related field before the appointment begins. Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, two or three writing samples, teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of three letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/MjY3>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by September 16, 2019, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/16/2019

Date Posted: 8/16/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5998

Cornell University

Rank: HIST/GOVT Endowed Chair

Specializations: History & Politics, China, Southeast Asia

Cornell University's College of Arts and Sciences and the History Department, in collaboration with the Department of Government, welcomes applications for an endowed chair. Appointment could be at the full professor or associate professor level. The successful candidate may teach courses and potentially serve in a leadership capacity with Cornell's CAPS program (<https://caps.cornell.edu/>). The position will begin July 1, 2020.

We seek a senior scholar (Associate or Full Professor) whose scholarship focuses on China and the Asia Pacific region in the world. Candidates should exhibit superb research achievements, excellence in teaching, and leadership ability. Preference is for a scholar who brings a historical perspective to their research and has Mandarin language skills. Please apply through Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/12996>.

We will begin to review applications starting October 1, 2019. Questions about the position and the search can be sent to the chair of the committee, Professor Derek Chang, at dsc37@cornell.edu. We embrace diversity and seek candidates who will create a climate that attracts students and faculty of all races, nationalities and genders. We strongly encourage women and underrepresented minorities to apply. Cornell University is a recognized EEO/AA employer and educator, valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: 10/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/9/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5956

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Comparative Politics/Comparative Political Economy

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in Comparative Politics and Comparative Political Economy.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/53011>

Review of applications and nominations will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5904

Sabancı University

Rank: FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION
SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University (<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding scholars specialized in conflict resolution/transformation. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research concerns one or more of the following areas: peace psychology; scientific study of peace and conflict; dynamics of cooperation; approaches to peacemaking (negotiation, mediation, facilitation); theories of applied conflict resolution; processes and mechanisms for solving and transforming conflicts.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<http://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5914

Sabancı University

Rank: FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

FACULTY POSITION IN CONFLICT ANALYSIS AND RESOLUTION
SABANCI UNIVERSITY, ISTANBUL-TURKEY

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University (<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>) invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding scholars specialized in conflict resolution/transformation practices. We are particularly interested in applicants whose research and teaching focus on conflict resolution skills, such as listening, reframing, negotiation and mediation.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<http://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5915

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the 2020-2021 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 – July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12561>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5845

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2020-2021 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12564>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5844

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in the Study of Democracy

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track faculty position in the study of democracy in any region of the world, including policies and practices related to democratization and regime change. Scholars from a variety of disciplines who are engaged in rigorous social science research will be considered. Applicants should have an interest in contributing to a multi-disciplinary and policy-oriented school. Applicants attracted to a university with a Catholic identity, and minority and female applicants, are especially encouraged to apply. While priority will be given to consideration of junior candidates (ABD, postdoc, assistant professors or non-tenured associate professors), senior applicants may also be considered. A Ph.D. or equivalent terminal degree is required at the time of hire.

The successful hire will be based in the Keough School of Global Affairs, and affiliated with the Kellogg Institute for International Studies. Oriented toward research, teaching, and service dedicated to the advancement of integral human development, the Keough School (<http://keough.nd.edu/>) promotes interdisciplinary research on critical issues in global affairs, offers a professional master's degree and undergraduate degrees, and supports doctoral programs. The Kellogg Institute for International Studies (<http://kellogg.nd.edu/>) has for over 35 years been a leading center for interdisciplinary research and programming on issues of democracy and human development.

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest and a C.V. Junior candidates (ABD, postdoc, assistant or non-tenured associate professors) should also arrange for the submission of three confidential letters of reference, a statement of research, a writing sample, and a teaching statement which includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available.

All application materials must be submitted through the Interfolio/Notre Dame online application system: <http://apply.interfolio.com/65959>

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:
Prof. Paolo Carozza
Chair, Democracy Search Committee
Keough School of Global Affairs
University of Notre Dame
pcarozza@nd.edu

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. The position will close to new applications on January 15, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 7/29/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5862

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other

Specializations: Latin American, Central America, Caribbean

The Program in Latin American Studies (PLAS) is seeking candidates from any discipline who are engaged in scholarly or creative work on topics related to Latin American Studies to fill one to two Postdoctoral Research Associate or more senior positions. Candidates will be expected to devote themselves to research and writing, and may teach not more than one course per semester. When teaching, successful candidates will hold the secondary rank of Lecturer, and any teaching opportunities are subject to sufficient enrollments and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. They also will be invited to participate regularly in the scholarly activities of the PLAS intellectual community.

Appointments are for a 12-month term, starting September 1, 2020, with the possibility of renewal, contingent on satisfactory performance and continued funding.

A competitive salary commensurate with experience and excellent benefits will be offered.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to Apply

For full consideration, applications should be submitted by January 3, 2020, 11:59 p.m. EST.

All candidates must apply online and submit the below materials (in English) at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12123>.

- 1) Cover letter
- 2) Curriculum vitae
- 3) Statement of research interests (1,000 – 1,500 words)
- 4) A representative sample of recent work (under 30 written pages or equivalent in the candidate's professional medium; for artistic work, links within a PDF preferred).
- 5) Names and contact information for three references (the Program will contact them, if needed, at a later date)

Required Qualifications: Doctoral degree (earned within three years of the start date). Academic excellence, potential to bring new ideas and approaches to Princeton University and to interact successfully with a broad range of faculty and students.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/3/2020
Date Posted: 7/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5683

Arizona State University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Scholar

Arizona State University (ASU - Tempe) seeks applications for a one-year postdoctoral research scholar in Political Economy, located in the Center for the Study of Economic Liberty (CSEL) and the School of Politics and Global Studies (SPGS). This position has an anticipated Fall 2019 start date. This is a full-time, benefits eligible, academic year appointment, and has the possibility of a one-year renewal.

The ideal candidate will develop his or her own research, in addition to contributing to ongoing research of faculty mentor(s) within CSEL and SPGS. The postdoc will also have opportunities to teach in SPGS. Possible research topics include: The political economy of development and democratization; Urbanization and migration; Electoral protest and violence; Civil conflict and repression. Strong writing skills, an ongoing independent research agenda and a record of presenting at national and international conferences are strongly desired. The ideal candidate will also have skills in advanced quantitative research methods and causal inference. We anticipate that the postdoc will be an active participant in workshops, conferences and events at CSEL and SPGS

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

Must possess a Ph.D. by time of appointment in Political Science; Economics; Public Policy; Applied Economics; or Development Economics.

Desired Qualifications:

Strong writing skills; Presentations skills developed at conferences; Skills in advanced quantitative research methods and casual inference; and possession of an independent research agenda.

Application Instructions

Center for the Study of Economic Liberty: The Center for the Study of Economic Liberty is creating research programs that evaluate the contribution of economic liberty to human betterment. The Center's programs help to advance the academic and public reputation of the W.P. Carey School of Business, in which it was founded several years ago, and the newly-founded School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with which it is affiliated. For more information about the Center, please see <https://csef.asu.edu>.

The School of Politics and Global Studies: The School of Politics and Global Studies is an interdisciplinary School with a mission to create and disseminate knowledge contributing to society's understanding of how politics and governance shape and influence issues and contexts at local, national and global levels. The faculty are organized into working groups, including a new working group in Political Economy. For more information on the School, please see <https://spgs.asu.edu/>.

The School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership. The School of Civic and Economic Thought and Leadership aims to create a new kind of leader, blending tradition and innovation, and exploring questions of freedom and governance. For more information about the School, please see <http://scetl.asu.edu>.

W. P. Carey School of Business. The W. P. Carey School of Business at Arizona State University is a comprehensive school of business offering nationally and internationally respected undergraduate, masters, and doctoral programs. The Undergraduate Program, which houses one of the country's few stand-alone business honors programs, is ranked in the top 30 and includes six majors ranked among the top 20 within their fields according to U.S. News & World Report. The W. P. Carey MBA is ranked in the top 30 by U.S. News & World Report. With over 250 tenure-track faculty, the W. P. Carey School is a research leader that maintains vibrant collaborative relationships with business worldwide. For more information on the School, please see <https://wpccarey.asu.edu/>.

Application Deadline and Procedure: The initial application deadline is June 6, 2019; if not filled, applications will be reviewed every two weeks thereafter until search is closed. To apply, submit 1) curriculum vitae, and 2) cover letters of interest addressed to Dr. Ross Emmett, Director and Search Committee Chair, via <http://apply.interfolio.com/63598> The letter should explain qualifications and accomplishments and future plans in research and teaching. A background check is required prior to employment.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/18/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 5696

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) has up to 3 postdoctoral positions available for the next four academic years (2019-2020, 2020-2021, 2021-2022, 2022-2023). Each position is also renewable at the discretion of the cPASS Director.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and "big data") to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant's interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position. A printed copy of a curriculum vitae is also required. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to the following email address (jml110@ucsd.edu). Please ensure to include the phrase "cPASS Postdoc Fellow" in the subject heading. Review of applications will be ongoing.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5470

POLITICAL THEORYHamilton College

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Theory and Environmental Studies

The Government Department at Hamilton College invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor in Political Theory, with a specialty in environmental political theory, for the 2020-21 academic year. Teaching load is five courses per year with competitive salary and benefits. Teaching responsibilities include an introductory course in political theory, an upper-level introductory course in environmental political theory, and several courses related to the hire's own areas of interest.

Appointment begins July 1, 2020. ABD or Ph.D. required. We are seeking candidates who can demonstrate their experience in teaching or working with diverse student populations. Your cover letter should address the ways in which you would further the College's goal of building a diverse educational environment.

Please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, a list of courses the applicant is prepared to teach, and evidence of teaching performance to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/71605>. We will begin consideration of applications on January 15, 2020. Inquiries about the position (but no application materials) may be directed to Professor Sharon Rivera, Chair, Government Department, Hamilton College (govsrch@hamilton.edu).

Hamilton (www.hamilton.edu) is a residential liberal arts college located in upstate New York. Applicants with dual-career considerations can find other Hamilton and nearby academic job listings at www.higheredcareers.com, as well as additional information at <https://www.hamilton.edu/offices/dof/faculty-support-resources/resources-for-prospective-or-newfaculty/opportunities-for-spouses-or-partners> (Opportunities for Spouses or Partners). Hamilton College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and is committed to diversity in all areas of the campus community. Hamilton provides domestic partner benefits. Candidates from underrepresented groups in higher education are especially encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 11/21/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7519

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, International Relations

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly motivated Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy to join the research team at the Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford.

The research project aims to contribute international and comparative research on how different technology companies approach issues around free speech and news/journalism, and how policymakers and regulators are approaching technology companies' role in these two areas. The project will operate at the intersection between social science, media and technology research, and policy and law, and seeks to produce timely, relevant, and accessible high-quality empirical research to advance our understanding of – and inform decision making around – issues in the area of technology and policy important for the future of journalism worldwide

The successful candidate will take responsibility for and conduct the empirical research necessary for the implementation and execution of this approach as well as working with colleagues on developing an appropriate approach to the project, academic publications and other project outputs based on the research done.

You should hold a completed PhD/DPhil (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies, social science, or the law. Experience in working with relevant quantitative methods, analysis and familiarity with the existing literature and work and excellent written, editing, and verbal communication skills to demonstrate the potential to write and present at an international level are essential. Knowledge of the literature and debate around platform governance and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research would be desirable.

This is a full-time appointment fixed-term for 2 years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Friday 13 December 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website quoting reference 143613.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: 12/13/2019
Date Posted: 11/13/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7467

University of Oxford

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy
Subfield(s): Political Theory, Other, International Relations

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly motivated Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Technology and Policy to join the research team at the Reuters Institute for the Study of Journalism in the Department of Politics and International Relations, University of Oxford.

The research project aims to contribute international and comparative research on how different technology companies approach issues around free speech and news/journalism, and how policymakers and regulators are approaching technology companies' role in these two areas. The project will operate at the intersection between social science, media and technology research, and policy and law, and seeks to produce timely, relevant, and accessible high-quality empirical research to advance our understanding of – and inform decision making around – issues in the area of technology and policy important for the future of journalism worldwide

The successful candidate will take responsibility for and conduct the empirical research necessary for the implementation and execution of this approach as well as working with colleagues on developing an appropriate approach to the project, academic publications and other project outputs based on the research done.

You should hold a completed PhD/DPhil (or evidence of imminent completion) or equivalent experience in a substantive area of political or other social science including journalism/media studies, social science, or the law. Experience in working with relevant quantitative methods, analysis and familiarity with the existing literature and work and excellent written, editing, and verbal communication skills to demonstrate the potential to write and present at an international level are essential. Knowledge of the literature and debate around platform governance and familiarity with the existing literature and work in the field of comparative/international media research would be desirable.

This is a full-time appointment fixed-term for 2 years.

The closing date for applications is 12.00 noon on Friday 13 December 2019.

For more information and to apply, please visit our jobs website quoting reference 143613.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/13/2019

Date Posted: 11/13/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7468

New York University Abu Dhabi

Rank: Visiting Assistant/Associate/Full Professor of Political Theory (Open Rank), NYU Abu Dhabi

Visiting Assistant/Associate/Full Professor of Political Theory (Open Rank)
NYU Abu Dhabi

The Division of Social Science at NYU Abu Dhabi is searching for a Visiting Assistant/Associate/Full Professor of Political Theory (open rank). Candidates must be research active and specialize in at least one of these areas: democratic or liberal theory, applied ethics (especially relating to corporations and technology), comparative political theory (focusing on Asian traditions).

About NYU Abu Dhabi

NYU Abu Dhabi is a pioneer of higher education in a global world, dedicated to excellence in teaching and research, while advancing cooperation and progress on humanity's shared challenges. Part of the NYU global network, NYU Abu Dhabi offers an outstanding liberal arts and science education to students from the United Arab Emirates, United States, and around the world, focusing on intercultural understanding and leadership. It supports innovative research that pushes the frontiers of knowledge forward and responds in powerful and interdisciplinary ways to vital global and local questions. NYU Abu Dhabi advances NYU as a model university for the 21st century and contributes in multiple ways to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based economy in Abu Dhabi.

As an international center of excellence in teaching and research, our goal is to attract outstanding faculty who are leaders in their fields, encouraging them to create programs that draw outstanding students, and providing an intellectually rich environment. Students are drawn from around the globe, surpassing all traditional academic benchmarks. The NYU Abu Dhabi undergraduate student body has garnered an impressive record of scholarships, graduate-school appointments, and many other honors.

Working for NYU Abu Dhabi

The terms of employment are highly competitive and include additional benefits such as housing, relocation/repatriation, health insurance for self and eligible dependents, education assistance as outlined in the NYU Abu Dhabi Policy subject to eligibility criteria. Click here for more information on benefits for you and your dependents.

Qualifications

Candidates must hold a PhD and are expected to have considerable teaching experience. We seek candidates who can contribute to the intellectual life of the division. A strong record of professional achievement is preferred.

NYUAD is looking for individuals who are open to new environments, respectful of diverse backgrounds and learning styles.

The appointment would commence in Academic Year 2020-2021 and could be for up to three years, subject to budgetary approval. The NYUAD academic calendar typically starts the last week of August and ends in the last week of May. Candidates must be willing to relocate to the UAE in time for the beginning of the semester.

Application Instructions

To apply for this position, please submit the following items to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/70562>

- . A cover letter that explains your interest in teaching in NYU Abu Dhabi
- . Curriculum vitae (CV)
- . Statements of Research Interests
- . Statement of Teaching Interests
- . Writing Samples
- . Evidence of teaching effectiveness
- . For candidates applying to the assistant professor positions: Please submit contact information for three (3) referees who will then be asked to upload confidential letters of recommendation to NYU Abu Dhabi's online application system, Interfolio.
- . For Senior candidates: Please submit a list of three (3) references who may be contacted at a later date.

We will begin looking at applications on November 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. Shortlisted candidates are expected to be interviewed shortly thereafter. We anticipate that successful candidates can start the appointment and relocate to Abu Dhabi in August 2020.

For questions about this position, please email nyuad.socialscience@nyu.edu.

If this sounds like you, apply now. Join NYU Abu Dhabi, an exceptional place for exceptional people.

UAE Nationals are encouraged to apply.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7460

U.S. Naval Academy, VADM Stockdale Center for Ethical Leadership

Rank: Resident Fellowship

The U.S. Naval Academy's Stockdale Center invites applications for its annual Resident Fellowship Program for academic year 2020-2021.

The Secretary of the Navy and the Superintendent of the Naval Academy established the Center in 1998 to be a thought leader in the field of military ethics and leadership and serve the Naval Academy, the Naval Service and national institutions of influence.

Minimum qualifications: dissertation phase of a Ph.D. program in a humanities or social science area and U.S. citizenship. Ideal candidates will be published Ph.D. holders with university teaching experience in philosophy, political theory, international relations, public policy or history. We are especially interested in philosophy or political science Ph.D.s familiar with the normative and/or empirical literature on intelligence operations and/or "grey zone" operations.

The Stockdale Center anticipates selecting up to four residential fellows, whose focus will be a weekly seminar devoted to defense-related ethics topics. Fellows will also have the opportunity to teach Midshipmen and conduct additional research projects in cooperation with the Naval Academy's civilian and military faculty members.

Application review will begin January 1, 2020. Click here to be directed to the full advertisement on the United States Naval Academy Human Resources website, which includes application instructions: <https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/EthicsFellow-AY20.php>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 11/8/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7454

Mount Holyoke College

Rank: 2 Year Visiting Lecturer

Mount Holyoke College invites applications for a 2-year Visiting Lecturer position in the Department of Politics to begin Fall 2020. The successful candidate will be able to teach the Introduction to Political Thought course, as well as additional intermediate and advanced courses in her/his areas of specialty in the subfields of Political Theory. We are particularly interested in candidates with thematic specialties in environmental theory, post-colonial theory, comparative political thought, datapolitics, or other fields not currently covered by the department. The teaching expectation is 5 courses per year. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand before August 2020.

Please submit a letter of application, C.V., graduate transcripts, sample syllabi of an introductory political theory course and a course in your field of specialization, a short writing sample, and statements covering (1) research interests, (2) teaching philosophy, (3) the mentoring of a diverse student body. The successful candidate should be able to demonstrate excellence in teaching and mentoring students who are broadly diverse with regard to gender, race, ethnicity, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion. Deadline for applications is January 15, 2020. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference submitted on their behalf. Electronic prompts to referees will be generated automatically after the completed application has been submitted. Instructions are online at <https://jobs.mtholyoke.edu/>.

Mount Holyoke is an undergraduate liberal arts college for women with 2,200 students and 220 faculty. Over half the faculty are women; one-fourth are persons of color. Mount Holyoke College is located about 90 miles west of Boston in the Connecticut River valley, and is a member of the Five College Consortium consisting of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges and the University of Massachusetts.

Mount Holyoke College is committed to enriching the educational experience it offers through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff members. Mount Holyoke seeks to recruit and support a broadly diverse faculty who will contribute to the college's academic excellence, diversity of viewpoints and experiences, and relevance in a global society. In furtherance of academic excellence, the College encourages applications from individuals from underrepresented groups in the professoriate, including faculty of color, faculty with diverse gender identities, first-generation college students, individuals who have followed non-traditional pathways to college due to exceptional talent and motivation in the face of adversity, such as societal, economic or academic disadvantages, and individuals with a demonstrated commitment to applying and including diverse backgrounds and perspectives to learning, scholarship, service, and leadership in the academy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/15/2020

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7418

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Lecturer (Full-Time)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a 3-Year Full-Time Lecturer in US Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government & Politics to begin September 1, 2020. The successful candidate will teach 4 sections per semester, including U.S. Federal Government & Politics, Texas Government & Politics, and upper-division courses in the candidate's sub-field specialization. The Department is interested in receiving applications from individuals specializing in any subfield of the discipline.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7355

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Constitutional Law & Theory to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) critical race theory or critical legal studies. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program with courses anchored in the concepts and methods of political science, while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach courses on Civil Rights & Liberties, Federalism, Judicial Process, a course in their substantive specialization, and required lower-division courses in U.S. Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government and Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7327

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Constitutional Law & Theory

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Constitutional Law & Theory to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) critical race theory or critical legal studies. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program with courses anchored in the concepts and methods of political science, while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach courses on Civil Rights & Liberties, Federalism, Judicial Process, a course in their substantive specialization, and required lower-division courses in U.S. Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government and Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7347

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Specializations: Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory, Normative Political Theory

For 2020-21, the McCoy Family Center for Ethics in Society seeks to appoint up to two postdoctoral fellows. Selected fellows will be designated as either General Ethics Fellows or Interdisciplinary Ethics Fellows. The two types of fellows have some distinct training opportunities and responsibilities, but they form a common community at the Center and participate together in the Center's intellectual life. The programs are described in detail below. All applicants will be considered for both types of fellowships and do not need to tailor their application for one or the other fellowship.

General Ethics Fellowship

Some selected fellows will be part of our longstanding postdoctoral program that is open to candidates with substantial normative research in any area within philosophy or political science. For 2020-21, we are especially interested in candidates with research interests in inequality, global justice, and environmental ethics, but we welcome all applicants with strong normative interests. Applicants must have normative training and hold a Ph.D. in philosophy or political science. Scholars with a Ph.D. in Law will also be considered so long as their work focuses on ethical dimensions of public policy or law. General Ethics Fellows participate in the intellectual life of the Center for Ethics in Society (attend weekly workshops; events; professional training opportunities), teach one class per year, interact with undergraduates in the Ethics in Society Program, and contribute to an interdisciplinary ethics community across the campus.

Interdisciplinary Ethics Fellowship

2020-21 will be the fifth year of this fellowship program at the Center, and the Stanford Institute for Human-Centered Artificial Intelligence (HAI) will be a partner center again this year. The program is rooted in the commitment of the Center for Ethics in Society to bringing ethical reflection to bear on pressing social problems. Addressing many of these social problems involves knowledge of the work of social science, law, engineering, and the life sciences. The premise of this program is that the normative scholarship of our fellows will be enhanced by engagement with empirically-oriented scholars. To that end, each fellow in the program will be matched with a partner research center at Stanford that is dedicated to interdisciplinary research, including HAI and other campus centers depending on applicants' interests. For 2020-21 we are especially interested in candidates with research interests in artificial intelligence for our partnership with HAI. We are also interested in candidates with research interests in biomedical ethics or bioengineering for partnerships with other centers, but all applicants whose work may intersect with empirically-oriented scholarship will be considered. Applicants need not name a possible partner center on campus or tailor their materials for this type of fellowship. The Interdisciplinary Ethics Fellows and partner centers will be selected based on the natural match between their work.

Applicants must have normative training and hold a Ph.D. in Philosophy or Political Science. Scholars with a Ph.D. in Law will also be considered so long as their work focuses on ethical dimensions of public policy or law. Fellows will participate in the regular intellectual life of the partner center and the Center for Ethics in Society (e.g., attend weekly workshops; events; professional training opportunities), interact with undergraduates in the Ethics in Society Program, and contribute to an interdisciplinary ethics community across campus.

Appointment Requirements and Application Details

For both types of fellowships, the appointment term is Sept. 1, 2020 to Aug. 31, 2021. The initial term may be renewed for an additional year. Applicants must have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. by June 30, 2020. Candidates must also be no more than three years from the awarding of their degree (i.e., September 2017).

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its scholarly community. We welcome applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions. Salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, a writing sample (no more than 25 pages double-spaced), three letters of recommendation, a one-page research statement (single spaced), and list of classes they have taught and/or are prepared to teach. Additional materials will not be considered. All applicants will be considered for both types of fellowships, and finalists will be consulted about whether they may be designated as Interdisciplinary Ethics or General Ethics fellows.

Applications will be collected via Interfolio. Applications will not be accepted by email. Please visit the Center's website for information about how to submit your materials: <https://ethicsinsociety.stanford.edu/postdocs/application-process>

If you have questions, please email ethics_submissions@stanford.edu. Application Due Date: December 9, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Date Posted: 10/15/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7340

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowships for 2020-2021

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, History & Politics

Post-doctoral Fellowships for 2020-2021

The Center for the Study of Liberal Democracy invites applications for a postdoctoral fellowship in political theory for the academic year running from August 17, 2020 to May 16, 2021. Housed in the Department of Political Science, the Center for the Study of Liberal Democracy promotes appreciation and critical understanding of the cardinal principles and institutions of liberal democracy, including, but not limited to constitutionalism and rule of law; the meaning and scope of freedom and free markets in a democratic order; the place and role of religion in liberal democracies; the relationship between liberty and equality; the balances among security, liberty, and privacy in a dangerous world; the role of the military in a free society; education and the state; and competition between liberal democracy and competing ideologies, including various forms of autocracy and new political religions.

Eligible applicants must have completed all requirements for a Ph.D. by the date of application, and no earlier than August 15, 2017. The fellow will receive a stipend of $48,000 per year as well as research funds and benefits. The fellow will have opportunity to teach one course per semester in either the Department of Political Science or the Integrated Liberal Studies program, will assist with the CSLD's programming, and will take an active part in the workshops, conferences, and intellectual life of the Center and the political theory field. The fellowship can be extended for the 2021–22 academic year, and the appointment will begin in August 2020.

Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; (3) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education in the future; and (4) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to intellectual life of the Center.

To apply, visit the CSLD website (<https://csld.wisc.edu/postdoctoral-fellowship/>).

The deadline is January 15, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/15/2019
Salary: $40,000 - $49,999
eJobs ID: 7336

University of Wisconsin, Madison

Rank: Visiting Scholars for 2020-2021

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, History & Politics

Visiting Scholars for 2020-2021

The Center for the Study of Liberal Democracy invites college and university professors and with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Scholars for the academic year running from August 17, 2020 to May 16, 2021.

All Visiting Scholars will spend an academic year in residence at UW–Madison. They enjoy access to the Memorial Union and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Visiting Scholars are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, expected to attend or to participate in various activities of the Center, including faculty-graduate student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures. All CSLD Visiting Scholars must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Fellowships are open to all regardless of citizenship. Visiting Scholars normally receive a stipend of up to one-half their academic-year salary. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; (3) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education in the future; and (4) the contribution the applicant is likely to make to intellectual life of the Center.

To apply, visit the CSLD website (<https://csld.wisc.edu/visiting-scholars/>).

The deadline for submitting applications is January 15, 2020.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/15/2020
Date Posted: 10/15/2019
Salary: Negotiable
eJobs ID: 7337

The Heritage Foundation

Rank: Visiting Fellow in American Political Thought

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The one-year Visiting Fellowship in the B. Kenneth Simon Center for Principles and Politics is open to university faculty (on sabbatical, on leave, or retired) and to recent Ph.D.'s. Applicants should demonstrate an ability to relate the foundational principles of American political thought to contemporary issues and debates. The Fellow will conduct research in any of the areas of interest to the center including, but not limited to:

1. The Founding and Founding Principles
2. Constitutional Government and the Administrative State
3. Modern Conservatism and Liberalism
4. The American Regime (broadly understood)

The Fellow will:

- Publish research papers for the Heritage Foundation.
- Publish topical commentary in media outlets.
- Work on his/her academic projects (in previous years, fellows have used their time at Heritage to complete books).
- Organize a conference, funded by Heritage, that brings together leading experts in one's subject area.
- Give public lectures at Heritage.

Requirements:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field.
- Preference will be given to faculty members on sabbatical or on leave, although recent Ph.D.'s will be considered.

Location

- The scholar will preferably work at the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C. Office space will be provided. The residency requirement, however, is flexible and the fellow need not relocate to Washington, D.C.

Duration

- The Fellowship will last one year and run from September 2020 to August 2021. The duration and start dates, however, are flexible and will be determined by the successful candidate and the Heritage Foundation.

Compensation

- The Fellow will receive an annualized salary, commensurate with his/her experience. As this is a temporary position, it does not include employee benefits such as health insurance.

Additional Benefits:

- Ongoing research support from Center's staff (including a dedicated intern for research)
- Loan privileges with the Library of Congress

To Apply:

Mail or e-mail the following materials:

- 1.) A short proposal outlining what you would work on during your time at Heritage, including the publications you intend to produce and the theme of the conference you will host.
- 2.) C.V.
- 3.) One academic writing sample and one non-academic publication.

Completed applications are being accepted until further notice. Notification will be made when the position is filled. Questions and application materials should be sent to:

Jessica Kline
The Heritage Foundation
214 Massachusetts Avenue, NE
Washington, D.C. 20002
Email: Jessica.kline@heritage.org

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7318

Tulane University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory

The Center for Inter-American Policy and Research (CIPR) invites applications for five (5) research fellowships for the Academic Year of 2020-2021, some with program administration duties and others with light teaching. Applications from the social sciences in the fields of international relations, international political economy, comparative politics, political sociology, and policy studies are encouraged. Latin American expertise and Spanish or Portuguese fluency required. Fellows will be selected based on intellectual merit, experience, the potential impact of their planned research for CIPR programs, and teaching needs of the host department.

Fellowships are one-year, residential, full-time appointments with a stipend of $48,450 plus benefits. Travel and moving expenses are not supported. In addition to their planned research, applicants must be prepared to carry out either program administration or adjunct teaching responsibilities. In the program administration track, fellows will be expected to work with CIPR's director in the Commitment to Equity Project and/or Research Group MEGA: Mobilization, Extractivism, and Government Action, and/or to develop programmatic content and projects in Inter-American relations, comparative political economy, citizenship rights, human development, and others. The other fellowships carry a one course per semester adjunct teaching load in the department of the fellow's primary discipline and in the candidate's major subfields, without administrative responsibilities. In both cases, specific responsibilities will be defined jointly during the initial phase of the appointment. Applicants must plan to complete their Ph.D. no later than May 2020. Recent graduates with no longer than three years since receiving their Ph.D. are especially encouraged to apply.

Application must be submitted via Interfolio by visiting apply.interfolio.com/68880 and must include (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter describing research interests and intended research at CIPR if selected, fit to the program and teaching experience; (3) a graduate transcript; (4) two recommendation letters; (5) a writing sample; and (6) teaching evaluations if available. For further information, please contact Ludovico Feoli, Director, Center for Inter-American Policy Research. Applications will be reviewed starting December 31, 2019.

Tulane University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer committed to excellence through diversity. All eligible candidates are invited to apply for position vacancies as appropriate.

Start Date: Summer

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: $40,000 - $49,999

eJobs ID: 7304

University of Massachusetts, Lowell

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Lowell invites applicants for an Assistant Professor in Political Theory beginning in the fall of 2020. The successful candidate will have a demonstrable record of scholarship and teaching. All fields within political theory will be considered. Preference will be given to scholars whose research intersects with one of the two research strengths of the Department: Political Communication and Global Peace, Conflict, and Security. Other areas of interest include critical race theory, feminist theory, queer theory, intersectionality, or other approaches to identity. In terms of teaching, candidates should be prepared to teach introductory courses on ancient and modern political theory, democratic theory, and upper level courses in their specialty areas. Current workload guidelines assign a 2/2 teaching load to research productive scholars. Responsibilities include maintaining an active program of research, including pursuit of external funding if appropriate; teaching undergraduate and graduate level courses; engaging in departmental and university service.

The Political Science Department is housed within the University's College of Fine Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences (FAHSS). The College is the largest unit of the University, with 11 academic departments and over 200 full time faculty. FAHSS has experienced significant growth in recent years, including hiring more than 75 new faculty members, achieving 70% growth in funded research expenditures, and the addition of several new interdisciplinary graduate programs. The Department of Political Science features a growing and diverse body of faculty with research and teaching interests that cut across different geographical, methodological and thematic areas. The department has experienced significant enrollment growth in its undergraduate major (which includes specializations in American Politics, Political Communication, International Politics, and Law & Politics), and has played an integral role in the College's interdisciplinary graduate programs, including its PhD in Global Studies, Masters degree program in Peace and Conflict Studies, and the new MPA. Department faculty are engaged in leadership roles for a range of campus-wide research and experiential learning initiatives, including the Model UN Program, Emerging Scholar Program, the UMass Lowell Center for Public Opinion, Climate Change Initiative, and International Study Abroad Programs. For more information, please visit our homepage: <https://www.uml.edu/FAHSS/Political-Science/>

UML is committed to increasing the diversity in its faculty, staff, and student populations, as well as curriculum and support programs, while promoting an inclusive environment. We seek candidates who can contribute to this goal.

Minimum Qualifications (Required):

Ph.D. in Political Science or related field (or have finished requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment (fall of 2020)
Evidence of strong teaching ability
Established record of publication and/or conference dissemination displaying a clear research agenda in areas of research

Instructions to Applicants:

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. However, the position may close once an adequate number of qualified applications are received.

Please include the following required documents with your application:

CV

Cover letter

A statement of research agenda

A statement describing teaching goals and style

Three letters of recommendation

To apply, please visit <https://explorejobs.uml.edu/lowell/en-us/job/503181/assistant-professor-political-theory>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/4/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7290

Wheaton College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Theory

The Department of Politics and International Relations at Wheaton College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment that would begin in Fall 2020 at the rank of assistant professor. We seek applicants whose primary training is in political theory and can teach a wide range of theory courses as well as contribute to the College's interdisciplinary general education Core curriculum. Ph.D. is expected and teaching experience is preferred.

For more information on the position, please contact Dr. Bryan McGraw, Search Committee Chair, Department of Politics & International Relations (bryan.mcgraw@wheaton.edu). To apply, please upload an introductory letter describing teaching experience, scholarly interests, and commitment to the Christian faith to <https://t.ly/JVjEm>. Promising candidates will receive full application materials.

Review of completed applications will begin November 15 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/27/2019

Salary: Any

eJobs ID: 7243

Brown University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate 2020-2022

The Political Theory Project (PTP) at Brown University will be appointing up to two Postdoctoral Fellows. Post-doctorates must have received their PhD's within the past three years. Salary is competitive.

Appointments are for two years. Postdoctoral fellows will pursue their own research, participate in PTP working groups, and teach one seminar course per year. In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by November 22, 2019 will be assured of full consideration.

Qualifications

PhD must have been received by July 2020 or within the previous three years.

Application Instructions

In addition to a CV, three confidential letters of reference, and a writing sample, applications should include a cover letter describing how their research fits within the mission of the PTP.

Details about the Project's research and pedagogical missions can be found at www.politicaltheoryproject.org. Applications received by November 22, 2020 will be assured of full consideration.

Apply.interfolio.com/67925

Start Date: Summer 2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6223

University of Pittsburgh

Rank: Lecturer and Academic Adviser

Subfield(s): Political Theory, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh invites applications for one full-time non-tenure stream position as Lecturer and Academic Adviser. The appointment requires a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and prior teaching experience. The successful candidate is expected to serve as the advisor for a third of the undergraduate majors in the department and to teach four undergraduate courses per year, including one section per semester of Introduction to Global Studies, which the Department offers in close coordination with Pitt's Global Studies Center. Additional teaching will depend on the interests of the successful candidate (e.g., in political theory, comparative politics, or international relations). We are particularly interested in candidates who could offer upper-level courses in nonwestern or comparative political theory, post-colonial theory, etc that complement our existing political theory courses. In addition, the successful candidate will be responsible for supporting Departmental curriculum and programming, outside-the-classroom learning, etc.

The starting date for the position is September 1, 2020. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field and ability to teach the Introduction to Global Studies course. Successful candidates are expected to engage in teaching and service that contributes to the department's mission.

Applications should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio (statement of philosophy, list of courses, sample syllabi and materials, etc), writing sample(s), teaching evaluations (if available), a brief description of how your research, teaching or service demonstrates a commitment to diversity and inclusion, and a minimum of two letters of reference; references will receive email notification with instructions about submitting their letters. Please apply online at: <https://facultysearch.as.pitt.edu/apply/index/Mjc2>. In order to ensure full consideration, applications must be received by January 6, 2020, and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. The Political Science Department telephone number is (412) 648-7290; the contact e-mail address is wynn2@pitt.edu. The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/6/2020

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 6224

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Political Science Department at California State University seeks applicants for the position of Assistant Professor specializing in Public Law.

--Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

--Applicants whose primary field of study is Political Philosophy or Theory are discouraged from applying. However, the ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

Our department has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

CSU Channel Islands is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with a special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications

--Ph.D. in Political Science

--Extensive training in judicial politics and American law

--Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education

--Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity

--Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics

--Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Preferred Qualifications

--Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy

--Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research

--Active participation in the life of the department and university

--Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses
 --Ability to cope with ambiguity

Apply online: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6161

Michigan State University

Rank: Instructor - Fixed Term

Michigan State University's James Madison College (JMC) seeks candidates for a full-time fixedterm instructor position specializing in the history of political philosophy for a one-semester position. Candidates should be able to teach "Constitutionalism and Democracy (MC271)," "Beyond Liberal Democracy: New Directions in Political Theory (MC371), and a senior seminar focused on political economy. Applicants should demonstrate broad competence in early modern and contemporary political theory and commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching. Completion of Ph.D. in a related field is preferred prior to the time of appointment.

James Madison College provides a liberal education in public affairs, combining the ethos of a small liberal arts college with the advantages of a large, diverse university. The faculty's primary mission is excellence in undergraduate teaching, and the college is noted for its rigorous academic standards and attention to the analytical, writing and speaking skills of its students. JMC is home to four majors (Comparative Cultures and Politics, International Relations, Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy, and Social Relations and Policy) and four minors (Muslim Studies; European Studies; Political Economy; and Science, Technology, the Environment and Public Policy). In addition, JMC has close working relationships with MSU's area studies centers and its many international teaching and research centers. For more information on James Madison College, visit www.jmc.msu.edu.

Applicants should supply a statement addressing how their teaching interests would contribute to the Political Theory and Constitutional Democracy field and to JMC's curriculum and mission more broadly. Supporting materials should include a CV, transcript, sample syllabi, and the names/contact info for three confidential references that can speak to teaching expertise, evidence of teaching approach and effectiveness. The position is posted on the Careers @MSU website, posting 600960/600962, and applicants must apply through <http://jobs.msu.edu> to be considered for the position. Please note, this is a pool posting for all JMC Fixed-Term needs.

Applicants who apply to this pool posting may be considered for various positions they qualify for. Applicants should apply for both postings (Annual Year and Academic Year), allowing for consideration for one semester or full year positions. Review of applications for this specific position need will begin on October 1, 2019.

MSU is an Affirmative Action/Equal opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce and inclusive culture that encourages all people to reach their full potential.

The University actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, members of the LGBTQ community, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Persons with disabilities have the right to request and receive reasonable accommodation.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6127

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Political Theory, International Relations

Gender and Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of Gender and Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarship on questions of gender and politics. This thematic focus may be approached from any subfield or combination of subfields in the discipline including but not limited to American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. This position is at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor with tenure.

Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8350>.

Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jeewilli@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/23/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6046Indiana University, Bloomington*Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor American PoliticsSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

American Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of American Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarly research on American politics, including but not limited to political behavior, political institutions, identity politics, American political development, and/or American political thought. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor. Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8344>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jee-willi@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/23/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6045Princeton University*Rank: Garwood Visiting ProfessorSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political TheorySpecializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointment as Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellow for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. The Garwood Visiting Teaching Fellowship can be for one semester or the academic year. Garwood Visiting Fellows teach at least one undergraduate course on statesmanship and presidential leadership in Princeton University's Department of Politics, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Depending on the needs of the University, additional teaching opportunities may be available, again subject to enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

James Madison Program Fellows will spend their Fellowship in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University and are encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12907> (link is external).

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a course proposal and draft syllabus;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, what financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address:
jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:Application Deadline: 12/1/2019Date Posted: 8/22/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6036Princeton University*Rank: James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research AssociateSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political TheorySpecializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

Invitation for Postdoctoral Research Associate Applications

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites recent Ph.D. recipients to apply for appointments as Postdoctoral Research Associates or more senior researchers for the year from September 1, 2020 to September 1, 2021, with the possibility of renewal for an additional year, contingent on outstanding performance. All James Madison Program postdocs are expected to be in residence at Princeton University for the duration of the appointment. They may not be employed by another institution during the term of their Princeton appointment. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are, however, encouraged to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

The position is a fully funded, 12-month postdoctoral research associate appointment with benefits. All James Madison Program Postdoctoral Research Associates must have a Ph.D. degree. Applications are evaluated on the basis of (1) the significance of the proposed research; (2) the quality of the applicant's past research; and (3) the future contribution the applicant is likely to make to higher education. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

How to apply:

Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12905> (link is external)

A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;

- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;

- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;

- * contact information for two references.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019; applications will continue to be reviewed until positions are filled. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.

Associate Director

James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions Princeton University

83 Prospect Avenue

Princeton, NJ 08540

E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail)

Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:Application Deadline: 12/1/2019Date Posted: 8/22/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6038Princeton University*Rank: James Madison Program Visiting FellowSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political TheorySpecializations: American Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University is dedicated to the pursuit of scholarly excellence in the fields of constitutional law and political thought. Sponsored by Princeton's Department of Politics, the Program seeks to enrich the intellectual life of Princeton students and faculty by exploring American constitutional principles and structures through research and public discussion.

The Program invites college and university professors and other professionals with established records of scholarship to apply for appointments as Visiting Fellows for the academic year running from September 1, 2020 to June 1, 2021. One-semester appointments are possible but not preferred. Depending on the needs of the University, teaching opportunities may be available, subject to sufficient enrollment and approval of the Dean of the Faculty.

All James Madison Program Visiting Fellows will spend an academic year (9-month term) in residence at Princeton University. They enjoy access to Firestone Library and a wide range of other facilities and activities throughout the University.

Visiting Fellows are expected to devote full time to their proposed research. They are encouraged, however, to attend or participate in various activities of the Program, including faculty-student seminars, colloquia, and public lectures.

All James Madison Program Fellows must have a doctorate or equivalent degree. Positions are open to all regardless of citizenship. Fellows normally receive a stipend of one-half their academic-year salary plus a living allowance. The fellows' home institutions are expected to provide at least half of their academic-year salaries in addition to all benefits.

How to apply: Applicants are required to submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12906> (link is external). A complete application must include the following:

- * a curriculum vitae;
- * a scholarly paper written in the past three years;
- * a statement (no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research;
- * contact information for two references;
- * a confidential statement from home institution that indicates the applicant's salary for the current academic year, financial support their home institution and other sources are likely to provide, and what support they are likely to need from the Program.

For priority consideration application materials must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on December 1, 2019 for appointments beginning in September 2020. Awards will be announced in March 2020 or before.

Please address any inquiries to:

Matthew Franck, Ph.D.
Associate Director
James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions
Princeton University
83 Prospect Avenue
Princeton, NJ 08540
E-mail: mfranck@princeton.edu (link sends e-mail) / Web address: jmp.princeton.edu

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 8/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6037

Furman University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Specializations: Political Thought: Historical, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Theory

The Tocqueville Program at Furman University invites applications for a 2-year Postdoctoral Fellowship in Western and American Political Thought to begin in August 2020. Housed in the Department of Politics and International Affairs, the Tocqueville Program exists to encourage serious and open engagement with the moral questions at the heart of political life through the study of classic texts of the Western and American political and philosophic tradition. We encourage applicants whose teaching philosophy and research agenda fit with this mission. The PhD degree (in hand or expected by the beginning of the 2020-21 academic year) is a required qualification.

The teaching load for the Postdoctoral Fellow will be three courses per academic year; courses to be taught include American Political Thought and Introduction to Political Thought, and other courses as needed by the Department of Politics and International Affairs. The Postdoctoral Fellow will also participate actively in the Tocqueville Program's activities and contribute to its administration as needed. More information about the Tocqueville Program is available here: www.furman.edu/tocqueville.

We will begin reviewing applications on December 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, sample course syllabi and teaching evaluations, copy of graduate transcript(s), and a sample(s) of professional writing (published work preferred). Candidates should also include a statement describing how their teaching, scholarship, mentoring and/or service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values. Please submit these materials here:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Furman_Careers/job/Main-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Fellow-of-Politics---International-Affairs_R000726

Please have three recommenders submit letters of recommendation using the following link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/references/job/Main-Campus/Post-Doctoral-Fellow-of-Politics---International-Affairs_R000725

Furman University is a selective private liberal arts and sciences college committed to helping students develop intellectually, personally, and interpersonally and providing the practical skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly-changing world. Furman professors are exceptional teacher-scholars who mentor undergraduate students within a campus community that values and encourages diverse ideas and perspectives. Our recently-launched strategic vision, The Furman Advantage, promises students an individualized four-year pathway facilitated by team of mentors and infused with a rich and varied set of high impact experiences outside the classroom that include undergraduate research, study away, internships, community-focused learning, and opportunities to engage across differences.

Furman is located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is one of the fastest growing cities in the Southeast and is ranked among "America's Ten Best" by Forbes Magazine. The charming downtown features excellent restaurants, in-town parks, shops, museums, galleries, music venues, and theaters. The city also has excellent public and private schools and a vibrant international community. A 20-mile bike and running trail connects the university to Greenville and to Travelers Rest, which was named "one of America's coolest small towns." The surrounding area abounds with outdoor recreational activities and has some of the most beautiful lakes, rivers, and mountains in the country. Greenville is within easy reach of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Atlantic Beaches. The newly renovated Greenville-Spartanburg Airport, located just 25 minutes from downtown, runs daily flights to major cities and airline hubs. Greenville is 2 1/2 hours from Atlanta and only one hour from Asheville, North Carolina. It is an ideal place to live and work.

Furman is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and staff. The University aspires to create a community of people representing a multiplicity of identities including gender, race, religion, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, geographic origin, socioeconomic background, ideology, world view, and varied abilities. Domestic partners of employees are eligible for comprehensive benefits.

For any questions please contact the chairperson of the search committee, Benjamin Storey, at benjamin.storey@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/13/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5976

Furman University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Specializations: Political Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Thought: Historical

The Department of Politics and International Affairs at Furman University invites applications for a Visiting Assistant Professor to begin August 1, 2020. The candidate's teaching responsibilities will include Introduction to Political Thought and other courses as needed. The position is open to all specialties in political thought. S/he must demonstrate the potential for superb teaching and excellence in scholarship. The teaching load is five courses per academic year. A Ph.D. is required by August 1, 2020.

We will begin reviewing applications on December 1, 2019 and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, sample course syllabi and teaching evaluations, copy of graduate transcript(s), and a sample(s) of professional writing (published work preferred). Candidates should also include a statement describing how their teaching, scholarship, mentoring and/or service might contribute to a liberal arts college community that includes a commitment to diversity as one of its core values. Please submit these materials via the following link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/Furman_Careers/job/Main-Campus/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Politics---International-Affairs_R000728

Please ask three recommenders to submit letters of recommendation using the following link:

https://furman.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/references/job/Visiting-Assistant-Professor-of-Politics---International-Affairs_R000727

Furman University is a selective private liberal arts and sciences college committed to helping students develop intellectually, personally, and interpersonally and providing the practical skills necessary to succeed in a rapidly-changing world. Furman professors are exceptional teacher-scholars who mentor undergraduate students within a campus community that values and encourages diverse ideas and perspectives. Our recently-launched strategic vision, The Furman Advantage, promises students an individualized four-year pathway facilitated by team of mentors and infused with a rich and varied set of high impact experiences outside the classroom that include undergraduate research, study away, internships, community-focused learning, and opportunities to engage across differences.

Furman is located in Greenville, South Carolina, which is one of the fastest growing cities in the Southeast and is ranked among "America's Ten Best" by Forbes Magazine. The charming downtown features excellent restaurants, in-town parks, shops, museums, galleries, music venues, and theaters. The city also has excellent public and private schools and a vibrant international community. A 20-mile bike and running trail connects the university to Greenville and to Travelers Rest, which was named "one of America's coolest small towns." The surrounding area abounds with outdoor recreational activities and has some of the most beautiful lakes, rivers, and mountains in the country. Greenville is within easy reach of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Atlantic Beaches. The newly renovated Greenville-Spartanburg Airport, located just 25 minutes from downtown, runs daily flights to major cities and airline hubs. Greenville is 2 1/2 hours from Atlanta and only one hour from Asheville, North Carolina. It is an ideal place to live and work.

Furman is an Equal Opportunity Employer committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and staff. The University aspires to create a community of people representing a multiplicity of identities including gender, race, religion, spiritual belief, sexual orientation, geographic origin, socioeconomic background, ideology, world view, and varied abilities. Domestic partners of employees are eligible for comprehensive benefits.

For any questions please contact the chairperson of the search committee, Benjamin Storey, at benjamin.storey@furman.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 12/1/2019
Date Posted: 8/13/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5975

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Formal Political Theory

The Departments of Political Science and Economics at Vanderbilt University invite applications from outstanding political scientists with a specialization in formal theory for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor, with a joint position in the Departments of Political Science and Economics. Both departments are committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. We will give priority to important research that builds synergies within and between the political science and economics departments. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to graduate training in formal theory, as well as contributing to substantive literatures in political science and economics; and successful candidates will be expected to contribute to curriculum development in both departments. The appointment will begin Fall 2020. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2019. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2019, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position.

Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2020.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at apply.interfolio.com/66540.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5964

Yale University

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Political Theory

Yale University's Department of Political Science invites applications for an open rank (Assistant/Associate/Full Professor) tenure-track faculty position in Political Theory. We are interested in candidates from all areas of Political Theory, though we have a particular interest in those with expertise in race and identity.

The appointment will begin on July 1, 2020. Ph.D. or equivalent degree required at time of hire. Applications including a cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation (if untenured) or contact references (if tenured), and 2 writing samples should be uploaded to Interfolio: <http://apply.interfolio.com/66095>

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019, and to guarantee full consideration your file should be complete by this date.

Please contact Lani Colianna, Sr. Administrative Assistant for the Political Science Department, at poliscijobs@yale.edu if you have questions about the application process.

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/6/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5906

Bard College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Studies - Political Theory

The Political Studies program at Bard College invites applications for a full-time, tenure track position in Political Theory at the rank of assistant professor, to begin Fall 2020. The search is open to all areas of specialization within Political Theory, though we are seeking candidates whose teaching and research will complement rather than replicate the program's current strengths in Arendtian and American political thought. Applicants should be able to teach courses in canonical traditions of Political Theory, but we especially welcome applications from candidates who can bring critical approaches to the canon, focusing on race, gender and/or non-Western political thought. A candidate who is able to speak across the subfields of Political Science and to the wider social science and humanities communities at the College is especially welcome. Our program's concern with issues of social justice leads us to invest in recruiting colleagues who in their scholarship, teaching and service demonstrate experience with, knowledge of and sensitivity to the needs of culturally diverse populations and who are committed to working with students holding a range of worldviews. The successful candidate will be expected to have completed all the requirements for the doctoral degree by August 2020. Review of applications will begin on September 6, 2019. To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a sample of written work, a teaching portfolio (including sample syllabi and student evaluations), and three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/65906>. Candidates who would like to be considered for an optional preliminary interview at APSA should submit their application materials by August 10th. Bard College is a highly selective co-educational liberal arts college located in the Hudson Valley, 90 miles north of New York City. For more information on Bard, visit www.bard.edu. Bard College is an equal opportunity employer and is especially interested in candidates whose record of achievement will contribute to the diversity goals of the institution.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/6/2019

Date Posted: 7/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5821

University of Georgia

Rank: Philip H. Alston, Jr. Distinguished Chair

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at the University of Georgia invites applications and nominations for the Philip H. Alston Jr. Distinguished Chair in any substantive area of American politics, methodology, or theory. The start date is slated for August 2020.

Duties include teaching and mentoring at the undergraduate and graduate student levels and the publishing of original research in professional outlets. Salary is appropriate for an esteemed chaired position. The appointment also includes a substantial endowment for research and development.

Qualifications:

A Ph.D. in Political Science or allied field is required. A distinguished record of academic scholarship and of grant-supported research and a standing in political science and the social sciences commensurate with a distinguished university professorship are expected. Leadership roles in the discipline, whether within a university or in the discipline broadly construed, are preferred.

Special Instructions to Applicants:

Prospective candidates should submit the following in electronic form: a cover letter, a curriculum vita, and a list of the names of at least five references. References will only be contacted if a candidate reaches the short list. Materials should be submitted to the UGA job site at: <http://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/99240>.

For more information about the department, visit <http://spia.uga.edu/department-of-political-science/>. Athens is well known for its quality of life, including both outdoor and urban activities, and is conveniently located 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

The University of Georgia (UGA), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<http://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 70 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,600 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 36,000 students, including over 27,500 undergraduates and over 8,500 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 17 schools and colleges as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

Questions can be sent to Wendi Finch, Department of Political Science, University of Georgia, 180 Baldwin Hall, Athens, GA 30602-1615 (wendif@uga.edu). Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Department of Political Science is committed to enhancing the diversity of the department and the curriculum. Candidates who can contribute to these goals are encouraged to apply and to identify their strengths and experiences in this area in their cover letter. The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation or protected veteran status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5739

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in political theory beginning in the fall semester of 2020. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks. We seek candidates whose scholarly and teaching interests include American political thought. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in political theory, a course in American political thought, and other courses in the candidate's areas of specialization.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in Political Science with a sub-field specialization in political theory, but ABD candidates will also be considered with the understanding that the Ph.D. must be completed before the beginning of the second year.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to: Professor Scott Meinke at smeinke@bucknell.edu. The review of applications will begin on September 23, 2019.

Candidates who wish to meet for an optional preliminary interview at APSA should email a CV to smeinke@bucknell.edu by August 14 and indicate their expected availability during the conference.

About Bucknell

Founded in 1846 and located along the banks of the Susquehanna River in historic Lewisburg, Pa., Bucknell University is an undergraduate-focused institution that stands uniquely at the intersection of top-ranked liberal arts, engineering and management programs. Our students choose from more than 50 majors and 60 minors in the arts, engineering, humanities, management, and natural and social sciences, as well as extensive global study, service-learning and research opportunities. Bucknell's 3,600 undergraduate and 100 graduate students enjoy a low 9:1 student-faculty ratio and exceptional opportunities to collaborate with faculty mentors.

Bucknell's beautiful 450-acre campus includes first-rate facilities and is home to more than 90 percent of its students. Residential life is vibrant with about 150 student-run organizations, 27 NCAA Division I athletic teams, a robust arts culture, and a strong student commitment to community and global service work.

Bucknell is committed to fostering an environment that embraces diversity, equity and inclusion, and we seek candidates who will contribute to a climate that supports the growth and development of a diverse campus community. The University provides equal opportunity without regard to race, color, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, religion, national or ethnic origin, marital status, veteran status or disability in admissions, employment and in all of its educational programs and activities. We encourage individuals from historically underrepresented groups to apply.

The Community

Located in central Pennsylvania, Lewisburg features a variety of restaurants, beautiful Victorian homes, the restored art deco Campus Theatre (owned by the University), charming shops and boutiques, and the Barnes and Noble at Bucknell University Bookstore. About 33,000 residents live in the region.

The city of Williamsport is about a 30-minute drive from campus, and Penn State University's main campus is about an hour away, as is Harrisburg, Pennsylvania's state capital. Bucknell is about three hours from New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

The cost of living here is low compared to that of major U.S. cities and suburbs. Bucknell's surroundings yield fresh produce, cultural activities and events, and many opportunities for outdoor activity on the Susquehanna River and in the nearby state parks and forests. The Lewisburg Area School District receives excellent reviews for its schools at all grade levels. Lewisburg Area High School is consistently ranked among the top 50 high schools in Pennsylvania for SAT scores and statewide exams.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/3/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 5741

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Assistant Professor/Director of Fire Administration

Tenure-track Assistant Professor and Director of Fire Administration 12-month position, starting August 2020.

Responsibilities: Teach introductory, upper-division and graduate courses in Fire Administration, Public Administration and Political Science; direct the Fire Administration program, an online undergraduate degree completion program training fire service personnel skills in public administration needed to assume leadership positions; develop an academic research program resulting in a high level of productivity.

Minimum Qualifications: Doctoral degree in Political Science, Public Administration or another related social science field (e.g., Government, Public Policy & Administration), ABDs will be considered as long as the requirements for the degree are completed by August 2020; College-level teaching experience as instructor of record or teaching assistant; and a demonstrated record of scholarly activity, including a research agenda and at least one research presentation at a national or regional conference or one or more published or in press journal articles, book chapters or books in peer reviewed outlets; Primary research focus in Public Administration, Fire Administration, Emergency Management or closely related fields.

Preferred Qualifications: Research program focusing on fire management administration, fire sciences, emergency services administration, disaster sciences, or public safety; experience teaching or designing online courses; fire service experience.

Credentials Required for Application: Cover letter describing teaching and research interests; Curriculum vitae; Writing sample (e.g., a dissertation proposal or chapter, academic journal article, working paper to be submitted to a journal); Statement of contributions or commitment to diversity in higher education; Portfolio of Teaching Effectiveness, which includes a statement of teaching philosophy, a sample syllabus, and quantitative teaching evaluations (if available); Contact information for three professional academic referees who will provide a current letter of reference (dated within the past year); Copies of transcripts indicating all relevant graduate course work.

For a complete job description & instructions on how to apply for this position visit <https://bgsu.hiretouch.com/> or contact the Office of Human Resources, BGSU. In compliance with the ADA Amendments Act (ADAAA), if you have a disability and would like to request an accommodation in order to apply for a position with Bowling Green State University, please call 419-372-8421.

Application deadline is January 27, 2020.

Background check and official transcript showing highest degree earned required for employment.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 1/27/2020

Date Posted: 11/18/2019
Salary: $70,000 - $79,999
eJobs ID: 7494

University of Nebraska, Kearney

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Department of Political Science is seeking a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, beginning Fall 2020. The successful applicant will demonstrate teaching excellence in introductory and upper-level courses in Public Policy. The teaching assignments for the position will include courses in Public Policy or Public Administration and additional courses in subfield area (s) consistent with the successful applicant's preparation.

The successful applicant is expected to teach introductory and upper division classes in Political Science each semester and at least one graduate class each school year. In addition, they are expected to participate in departmental meetings and other departmental events and activities as well as maintain a productive research agenda.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by start of appointment. ABD candidates will be conditionally considered. The department prefers candidates with a Ph.D. and whose primary specialization is in Public Policy or Public Administration. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in health policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/18/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7497

University of Macau

Rank: Associate/Assistant Professor in Public Administration

Associate/Assistant Professor in Public Administration
 (Ref. No.: FSS/DGPA/AAP/10/2019)

The University of Macau (UM) is the only public comprehensive university in Macao. Leveraging this unique advantage, UM aims to establish itself as a world-class university with regional characteristics. English is its working language. In recent years, UM has seen a significant development in and a rising international recognition for its teaching, research, and community service. It has implemented a unique '4-in-1' education model that integrates discipline-specific education, general education, research and internship education, and community and peer education. Combining this model with the largest residential college system in Asia, UM provides all-round education to students. In addition, it recruits outstanding scholars from around the world to create a multilingual and multicultural learning environment for students. With the development of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, and the new initiatives of the university to boost cutting-edge research and interdisciplinary programmes, UM embraces unprecedented opportunities for development, and offers bright career prospect to professionals in different areas.

The Department of Government and Public Administration of the Faculty of Social Sciences invites applications for position of Associate/

Assistant Professor in Political Science and Public Administration. The department is currently comprised of 18 full-time staff members and offers programmes leading to Bachelor's, Master's and PhD degrees. Faculty members actively engage in research with particular focus on comparative politics, public administration and policy, international relations, international security and studies of the Greater China regions. More information about the department is available at the UM website: <https://www.um.edu.mo/fss/pa/>.

Qualifications

The required area of specialization is public administration, broadly based to include sub-areas of public policy, public finance, smart city management, e-government, government/society interactions, new technological innovation, and subjects related to government policy-making. Applicants must have a PhD in a relevant field and a proven record of publication in high caliber international journals and presses. Applicants should demonstrate a strong commitment to quality and quantitative research and scholarship and documented excellence in teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants must be able to lecture and publish research in English. Proficiency in English is required as it is the working language, while knowledge in Chinese/Portuguese will be an advantage.

The selected candidate is expected to assume duty in July 2020.

Remuneration

A taxable annual remuneration starting from MOP800,800 (approximately USD98,860) for Assistant Professor and from MOP985,600 (approximately USD121,680) for Associate Professor will be commensurate with the successful applicants' academic qualification and relevant professional experience. The current local maximum income tax rate is 12% but is effectively around 5% - 7% after various discretionary exemptions. Apart from competitive remuneration, UM offers a wide range of benefits, such as medical insurance, provident fund, on campus accommodation/housing allowance and other subsidies. Further details on our package are available at: https://www.um.edu.mo/admo/vacancy_faq/.

Application Procedure

Applicants should visit <https://career.admo.um.edu.mo/> for more details, and apply ONLINE. Review of applications will commence immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants may consider their applications not successful if they are not invited for an interview within 3 months of application.

Human Resources Section, Office of Administration

University of Macau, Av. da Universidade, Taipa, Macau, China
Website: <https://career.admo.um.edu.mo/>; Email: vacancy@um.edu.mo

Tel: +853 8822 8578; Fax: +853 8822 2412

The effective position and salary index are subject to the Personnel Statute of the University of Macau in force. The University of Macau reserves the right not to appoint a candidate. Applicants with less qualification and experience can be offered lower positions under special circumstances.

Personal data provided by applicants will be kept confidential and used for recruitment purpose only

 Under the equal condition of qualifications and experience, priority will be given to Macao permanent residents

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/11/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7455

Gallaudet University

Rank: Public Administration

Gallaudet University

Department of Government and Public Affairs

Tenure Track Position

Assistant Professor, Public Administration

Gallaudet University serves Deaf, Hard-of-Hearing, and hearing students from many different backgrounds and seeks to develop a workforce that reflects the diversity of its student body. Gallaudet is an equal employment opportunity/affirmative action employer and actively encourages deaf, hard-of-hearing, members of traditionally under-represented groups, people with disabilities, women, and veterans to apply for open positions.

General Information: The Department of Government and Public Affairs seeks candidates for one full-time 9-month tenure track position. Appointment date: August 16, 2020. Position is contingent upon funding.

Qualifications: A doctoral degree in Public Administration, specializing in any sub-field, or a Ph. D. Political Science, with a specialization in Public Administration or one of its subfields. Candidate would be expected to teach at least one course related to economics for public administrators. College teaching experience preferred; candidates should show a strong commitment to students and the department through quality teaching, scholarship, and service. Proficiency in American Sign Language (ASL) is highly desirable at the time of hire; if not already proficient, a new faculty member must develop proficiency in ASL in accordance with the Gallaudet University Faculty Handbook. Experience or interest in teaching within an on-line environment is a plus.

Responsibilities: The candidate is expected to teach within the MPA program, and will be responsible for a variety of courses within the core MPA curriculum. The department offers both face-to-face and on-line courses and would like a candidate who is comfortable teaching in both modes of instruction. The successful candidate will be expected to engage in in service activities for the Department, University and Community including advising and mentoring students, participation in Department meetings and events, recruitment of students and open houses, assessment of students and other appropriate activities. The candidate will also be expected to take an active role in leadership of the program and Department. The successful candidate will also be expected to produce scholarship within the field.

Application: Review of applications begins immediately and will continue until filled. Send a letter of application clearly outlining your qualifications and fit with the job description and requirements, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and research interests, and your personal and/or academic connection to diverse communities. In addition to this letter, please send your curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation to:

MPA Search Committee Chair,
Department of Government & Public Affairs
Gallaudet University
800 Florida Avenue, NE
Washington, D.C. 20002

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7444

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate Professor, International Economics
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration

Associate Professor, International Economics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (<http://gps.ucsd.edu>) is seeking to fill a tenured Associate Professor position in the field of economics effective July 1, 2020. The school seeks an outstanding scholar with a strong empirical orientation working on issues related to the global economy, including trade and trade policy, multinational enterprises, international macro, immigration, and spatial and urban analysis. Successful candidates will demonstrate an established empirical agenda at the highest standards of professional research, a commitment to policy analysis, a clear track record of thought leadership and service, and the ability to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion in higher education. All applicants must have a PhD in Economics. This hire is part of a multi-year expansion of the School's faculty.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin January 2, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at: <https://apptrkr.com/1689239>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/1/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7434

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Administration

Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Administration, Public Budgeting and/or Finance focus

The School of Public Policy and Innovative Leadership within the College of Liberal Arts at Colorado State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Policy and Administration with a teaching interest in public budgeting and/or public finance. This position will support a new graduate degree program launching Fall 2020, the Master of Public Policy and Administration (MPPA), and be a part of an exciting new interdisciplinary endeavor in the College.

The College values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in public policy and administration including a required graduate level core course in public budgeting. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as College needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2. Faculty members are expected to advise and mentor graduate students; develop an active research agenda; and provide service to the degree program, School, college, university, and community.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and scholarly emphasis in public policy and administration; evidence of the ability to teach public budgeting and/or public finance at the graduate level, an active research agenda in public policy and administration; PhD in Public Policy, Public Administration, or related field by August 16, 2020; and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: A demonstrated commitment to public service values; experience in internship mentorship and/or applied research experience; Ability to enhance the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting the College and School's institutional values.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by November 18, 2019. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application responding to the required and preferred qualifications 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of research (published or unpublished), and 6) The names and contact information of three professional referees. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Susan Opp at susan.opp@colostate.edu

Please apply at: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/72241>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 10/28/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7399

University of Toledo

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor - Public and Non-profit Administration

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of Toledo seeks applicants for a visiting assistant professor position in public administration starting in August 2020. This position will balance service and teaching obligations in our MPA program and in the undergraduate political science major. It may be renewed for up to 3 years pending satisfactory annual performance evaluations and budget authorization.

A Ph.D. in Public Administration, Political Science, or a closely related field of study is required by the start date of appointment. We will consider ABD's with a defense date slated no later than January 2021, or practitioners with a MPA degree from a NASPAA accredited program with 10+ years of relevant executive level experience in local government/ state government/ large nonprofit organizations. Preferred qualifications include those with collegiate teaching experience and experience mentoring underrepresented minority students. Those with a demonstrated ability to teach budgeting or significant training or research in this area will be preferred. Other desirable teaching areas include nonprofits and policy evaluation.

The visiting faculty member will be expected to teach graduate courses in budgeting, nonprofits, and related public administration courses. In addition, teaching undergraduate service courses such as American National Government or State and Local Government may be required subject to college, department, or MPA program needs. The position will entail some service obligations with the MPA program such as student recruitment and creating linkages with local nonprofit organizations and governments.

The University of Toledo is a thriving student-centered, community-engaged, comprehensive research university in Northwest Ohio with more than 20,000 students. The department of political science and public administration offers both a BA in political science and the MPA. We have a collegial department of talented scholars and strong teachers who work well together and who welcome diverse methodological approaches in research and teaching. The Toledo metro area has a population of over 650,000 and features world class museums and metroparks, a terrific zoo, theater, opera, baseball's famous AAA Mudhens, and Walleye hockey.

Candidates must apply at <https://jobs.utoledo.edu> with the following documents: a letter of application addressed to the Search Committee, a current CV, teaching evaluations, and transcripts. In addition, submit three letters of recommendation to Dr. Jami Taylor (jami.taylor@utoledo.edu). Priority will be given to applications received before December 5, 2019. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

The above list of duties is intended to describe the general nature and level of work performed by people assigned to this classification. It is not to be construed as an exhaustive list of duties performed by the people so classified, nor is it intended to limit or modify the right of any supervisor to assign, direct and control the work of employees under his/her supervision.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7394

University of North Carolina, Pembroke

Rank: Assistant Professor of Emergency Management and Public Administration

Assistant Professor of Emergency Management and Public Administration.

The Department of Political Science and Public Administration at the University of North Carolina, Pembroke seeks an assistant professor of emergency management and public administration. This position will be responsible for teaching emergency management courses at the graduate level, courses in public administration at the graduate level, and at least one of our general education courses (American National Government or Introduction to Political Science).

The area of teaching and research specialization within emergency management is open. Preference will be given to candidates that are focused clearly on the administration side of the discipline, as opposed to a public policy scholar. Preferences will also be given to candidates that show how their research may connect and enhance emergency resiliency and preparation both regionally as well as in the local community. Successful candidates must show excellence in both online teaching as well as in the traditional classroom since this position will require the candidate to consistently teach in both learning platforms. The teaching load for this position is a 3-3, typically teaching two to three graduate course each semester and one undergraduate course each year.

UNCP is a regional university serving rural North Carolina that emphasizes excellence in teaching. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration serves several programs including a B.A. program with four different concentrations, an active contributor to a B.I.S. program in Public and Non-profit Management, and a Master of Public Administration program with four different concentrations.

To be considered for this position, candidates must hold a Ph.D. in public administration, emergency management, or a closely related field, or be ABD with a clear date of completion. To apply, applicants must complete the application for employment form found at <https://jobs.uncp.edu> where they will be instructed to submit a CV, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio that demonstrates competence in online teaching and in person, as well as past course evaluations (if applicable). Candidates who are selected after the first round of consideration will be asked to submit three letters of recommendation for consideration. For questions, please contact the chair of the department, Dr. Emily Sharum (emily.neffsharum@uncp.edu).

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 10/23/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7375

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy, General Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia invites applicants to apply for a teaching faculty position. The selected applicant will teach courses as part of the Batten School's social entrepreneurship curriculum and may assume some program responsibilities in the school's social entrepreneurship center (SE@UVA). The appointment begins in August 2020. Rank is at the Assistant Professor level.

We seek candidates from a range of disciplines including political science, economics, entrepreneurship, law, business ethics, business administration, finance, or public administration. A terminal degree in one of these disciplines or a related field is required, as is teaching experience. The successful candidate's professional and/or research experience focuses on social entrepreneurship broadly defined, including but not limited to work on social enterprise, impact investing and innovative finance, or public policy related to social innovation

(i.e. state-level BCorp legislation, social impact bonds, tax policy related to social enterprise, and innovative hybrid business models).

The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of excellence in one or more of the following areas: professional experience within the social enterprise community, superior teaching and student mentoring, an interest in contributing to the scholarly community at Batten and U.Va. through collaborations with research faculty, and a research focus with a developing publication record in scholarly, practitioner, and/or policy venues.

Built upon the strong foundation of one of the nation's top public universities, the Batten School combines rigorous training in public policy with a unique emphasis on the acquisition of leadership skills. The School currently offers an MPP degree and an undergraduate major in public policy and leadership. The Batten School's SE@UVA center offers over a dozen courses to over 500 students each academic year and serves over 350 Social Entrepreneurship Minors. For more information about the center please visit www.seatuva.org.

To apply, visit <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs> and search for posting number R0010558, and complete a candidate profile. Include a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, contact information for three references, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a diversity statement that describes contributions to diversity-related research, teaching, and/or service. This is a non-tenure track position. Applicant review begins November 1, 2019 and the position is open until filled. For questions about the application process please contact Rhiannon O'Coin, Academic Recruiter at rmo2r@virginia.edu

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit <http://provost.virginia.edu/dual-career>.

For more information about UVA and the surrounding area, please visit: <http://uvacharge.virginia.edu/guide.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: 11/1/2019
Date Posted: 10/6/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7296

University of Mount Union

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science
Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Mount Union is currently inviting applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position, beginning August 2020.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach three courses per semester (12 credit hours) and must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate education in a liberal arts setting. Primary responsibilities include:

Teaching introductory courses in American Politics, Law and Public Service as well as upper-level courses on American Institutions (Presidency; Congress); Law (e.g. Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Legal Advocacy); and Public Policy. The ability to contribute additional courses in the candidate's area of specialization will be welcome.

- Contributing to the University of Mount Union's Integrative Core curriculum,
- Contributing to the strengthening and expansion of the Political Science curriculum,
- Guiding the growing legal studies program and the new 3-3 BA/JD programs,
- Contributing to the total university community and to civic and community life.
- Additional duties may be set by the department given institutional needs and priorities.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (with a focus on American Politics, Public Policy and/or Law) by time of appointment is required. A J.D. or related degree will be an added plus. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to student-centered teaching and to scholarship

Candidates should provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and three letters of reference to the Political Science Search Committee. Electronic applications are required and can be submitted online at <http://www.mountunion.edu/employment>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Michael Grossman (grossmmo@mountunion.edu) with any questions. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

This position is required to complete assigned University compliance training as communicated by the University.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job. When requested, reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions of the job.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 9/27/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7246

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant or Associate, Health Care Policy & Management
Subfield(s): Public Administration, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University seeks to hire a tenured or tenure track professor in the field of health care policy and management, at either the Assistant or Associate level, beginning in fall 2020.

We are interested in attracting a creative, engaging, and innovative colleague with credentials in health care policy and/or management. We welcome a variety of specializations including but not limited to the financing and delivery of health care; the organization and management of health care delivery systems; the politics of health care policy reform; and the impact of health care policy reform on the delivery of healthcare. Candidates with domestic, international, or comparative perspectives are welcome. Applicants should have an active research agenda and a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a research program, teaching in the department's world-renowned professional master programs, teaching one or more undergraduate courses, mentoring MPA and PhD students, and engaging in service.

Our department is collegial, supportive, and interdisciplinary. We welcome applicants from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to public administration, public management, public policy, health administration, economics, political science, sociology, public health, social work, and other social science fields.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Aging, Behavioral Health, and Neuroscience. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions for a research cluster in the focus area of aging. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Maxwell School, the College of Arts and Sciences, Falk College, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. In addition, the individual will also have the opportunity to become affiliated with one or more of the University's other interdisciplinary research centers such as the University's Aging Studies Institute, Maxwell School's Center of Policy Research or the Maxwell School's Program for Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration. Therefore, a track record of collaborative research output is particularly desirable, and record of success in obtaining research support, particularly from the National Institutes of Health or the National Science Foundation.

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School is home to the world's first master of public administration program, which is ranked first among more than 250 graduate public affairs programs in the United States and has several top-ranked specialties (U.S. News & World Report). The department is also home to a top-ranked master's program in international relations (Foreign Policy magazine), as well as several other programs, including a Ph.D. in public administration, a master's degree in public health, executive master's degrees in public administration and international relations, and a wide range of certificate programs.

To be considered, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/76528>) and attach: a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of professional writing, names and complete contact information for 3 references. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6228

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Administration to begin August 16, 2020. Individuals conducting research in Nonprofit Administration, Emergency Management, or Local Government are especially encouraged to apply. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to contribute to the department's NASPAA-accredited Master of Public Administration program, with the ability to teach core and elective classes in this program. A Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Administration, or a closely related field of study is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Xuhong Su (suxuhong@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6185

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

Troy University

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science invites applicants for an open rank tenure track position in political science with a concentration in comparative public administration beginning on August 1, 2020. This is a ten-month tenure-track position at our Troy, Alabama location. The minimum qualifications are a Ph.D. in Public Administration/International Relations/Comparative Politics/Political Science, or related field by August 1, 2020 with a research specialization in comparative public administration. The teaching will be in our master's degree (MPA) in public administration as well as undergraduate political science courses, which will be delivered in person as well as online. The job requires that the hire may be asked to teach courses at another Troy location depending on departmental needs. Preferred candidates will have a secondary specialization (such as research methods, or a regional specialization) that can complement our existing faculty strengths. The candidate needs to demonstrate excellence in research and teaching. For best consideration, please submit application documents by October 15, 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science at Troy University currently employs twenty-five faculty members who work in three programs: undergraduate political science, graduate international relations, and graduate public administration.

Applicants need to electronically submit a cover letter, CV, writing sample, teaching philosophy, research statement, and arrange to have three reference letters uploaded. To apply, please visit: <https://www.troyuniversityjobs.com/postings/22822>

Please direct all questions to Dr Terry Anderson at tanderson@troy.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/31/2019

Date Posted: 8/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5986

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned Ph.D. or DPA in Public Administration, Political Science, or a closely related field from an accredited institution is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of successful teaching at the undergraduate level.
- 3) Evidence of experience teaching American government courses.
- 4) Documented research and scholarship in public administration in one or more of the following areas: third-sector and non-profit management; information technology, e-governance, m-governance; and/or public sector organizational communication.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful experience teaching Public Administration courses at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of successful teaching using high impact practices, including, but not limited to: writing intensive curriculum, collaborative assignments and projects, diversity exploration, and/or community-based learning.
- 3) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate may be required to teach an introductory American government course, undergraduate upper division public administration courses, and graduate level public administration courses.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics and international relations. The department is one of 15 departments within the College of Natural and Social Sciences, which supports the academic programs for 6000 students and 660 instructional personnel. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, who participate in University governance and serve in numerous student advisory capacities. We have a very robust public administration program and congenial faculty who are strongly committed to a long-range strategic vision that links our urban focus with global issues and opportunities. Our highly regarded NASPAA-accredited MPA program, which serves Southern California, has become an important resource for government and nonprofit agencies seeking graduates with skills in all areas of public administration, including policy analysis, budgetary process and financial administration, human resource management, program and policy evaluation, and intergovernmental and intersectoral relations. In a given year, well over half of our 90+ MPA students are employed professionals seeking an MPA for purposes of advancement to managerial positions.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:
Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Public Administration Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair Jessica DeShazo at: jdeshaz@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment.

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

In addition to meeting fully its obligations under federal and state law, Cal State LA is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of tolerance, civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual. To that end, all qualified individuals will receive equal consideration without regard to economic status, race, ethnicity, color, religion, marital status, pregnancy, national origin or cultural background, political views, sex, sexual orientation, gender identification, age, disability, disabled veteran or Vietnam era veteran status.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/TITLE IX EMPLOYER

Upon request, reasonable accommodation will be provided to individuals with protected disabilities to (a) complete the employment process and (b) perform essential job functions when this does not cause undue hardship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5897

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

PUBLIC LAW

Harvard University

Rank: Environmental Fellow

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Science & Technology

APPLICATION DEADLINE: JANUARY 10, 2020

The Harvard University Center for the Environment created the Environmental Fellows program to enable recent doctorate recipients to use and expand Harvard's extraordinary resources to tackle complex environmental problems. The Environmental Fellows will work for two years with Harvard faculty members in any school or department while also strengthening connections across the University's academic disciplines.

The Award:

The fellowship includes a salary of $70,000 per year, employee health insurance eligibility, up to $2,500 reimbursement for relocation expenses, and a $2,500 annual allowance for travel and other professional expenses.

The Harvard University Center for the Environment expects to award approximately six fellowships for the 2020 cohort. The Center will organize a co-curricular program to ensure that the fellows get to know each other and each other's work. All fellows will attend biweekly dinners with their colleagues, faculty members, and guests.

Program Requirements:

- Candidates for 2020 Environmental Fellowships should have received their terminal degree between May 2016 and August 2020. (Fellows must have filed their dissertation before starting their appointment in September 2020.)
- Candidates with a doctorate or equivalent in any field are eligible, and they may propose research projects in any discipline. Applicants without a Ph.D. may apply if they have studied in fields where the Ph.D. is not the typical terminal degree. All successful candidates will be able to demonstrate experience performing scholarly research.
- Each candidate must secure a commitment from one or more Harvard faculty members to serve as a mentor and to provide office or lab space for the two-year fellowship.
- Candidates may have received their degrees at any university in the world. Foreign nationals are eligible for fellowships, though study at Harvard requires proficiency in English.
- Candidates who received terminal degrees from Harvard, and post-docs currently working at Harvard are eligible for the fellowship provided their research and host arrangements take them in new directions and forge new connections within the University. Harvard candidates should not propose to continue to work with the same professors or lab groups with whom they are currently associated. No candidate should propose to work extensively with his or her thesis advisor.
- Harvard is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.

- Successful candidates should be prepared to commit to work at Harvard for the full two years of the fellowship. This fellowship requires residency in the Cambridge area and any fieldwork trip must be scheduled for the summer or January recess.

Application Requirements:

1. Please complete the online application form found at [environmental_fellows@harvard.edu](https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9252 by January 10, 2020 at 5 p.m. (EST) and attach the relevant supporting documents as PDFs:

o curriculum vitae including list of publications;
o detailed research proposal where applicants should explain their specific reasons for applying to a Harvard residential environmental fellowship (maximum of five pages, references counted separately). Note: While applicants should discuss the proposal with their potential faculty hosts, the final product should clearly be the work of the applicant; and
o up to three publications/writing samples.

2. Three letters of reference, including one from the applicant's dissertation adviser.
3. A letter of support is also required from the applicant's host committing to serve as a mentor and explaining his or her commitment to the proposed research, including the provision of office or lab space. Hosts should send their letters directly to the attention of James Clem at the Center at <a href=).

If you have questions about the fellowship or application process, please contact:

James Clem

Harvard University Center for the Environment

26 Oxford Street, 4th Floor

Cambridge MA 02138

617-495-0368

james_clem@harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/12/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7466

Fort Lewis College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Civil Rights & Liberties

Fort Lewis College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor of Political Science specializing in public law, judicial politics, and U.S. political institutions to start in August 2020. We are particularly interested in candidates with knowledge, experience, and interest in tribal law or federal Indian policy. The successful candidate would teach courses in areas such as U.S. National Government, Tribal Governance, Constitutional Law, Federal Indian Policy, Civil Rights and Liberties, Criminal Justice, and other areas of interest. Fort Lewis College prides itself on providing a high-quality, hands-on education to a diverse group of students, and over one third of our student body identifies as Indigenous or Native American. The primary responsibility of this position is teaching, but developing a research agenda is expected and supported by the department and College.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by August 2020
- Demonstrated ability to teach and conduct research in law and U.S. politics

Preferred Qualifications:

- Substantive interest and expertise in tribal law or federal Indian policy
- Interest in working to develop interdisciplinary courses on tribal sovereignty, law, and federal Indian policy spanning political science, Native and Indigenous studies, and a new MPA program
- Experience teaching underrepresented populations
- J.D. and/or any professional experience working in tribal governance, public policy, or law

Major Responsibilities:

- Teaching courses such as U.S. National Government, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties, Criminal Justice, Tribal Governance, and specialized courses depending on interests and area of research
- Demonstrating a commitment to student success in the classroom, during office hours, through mentoring political science students, and by supervising undergraduate research projects
- Coordinating the pre-law minor
- Maintaining an active program of scholarship and disciplinary engagement
- Participating in departmental and college governance and professional service?

A complete application packet includes:

- Cover letter addressing interest and qualifications for position
- Include details regarding how your course design and personal and professional experiences allow you to encourage a learning environment grounded in equity and inclusion. "How do you envision contributing to Fort Lewis College's commitment to equity and inclusion?"
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information for three current, professional references

Submit materials as one PDF file via email to:

Paul DeBell, Search Chair
Polisci-search@fortlewis.edu

Application materials received by January 12, 2020 will receive full consideration. Position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7456

California State University, Chico

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies

Assistant Professor of Legal Studies
Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice
College of Behavioral and Social Sciences

CSU, Chico is committed to recruiting, developing and retaining the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool. The university enrolls over 17,000 students annually; 43% are white, 33% are Latinx, 5% are Asian, 3% are African American, .5% are Native American and 5% are multi-racial/ethnic. We proudly hold Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI) designation, and over half of our students will be the first generation in their family to earn a bachelor's degree.

The ideal candidate will share Chico State's demonstrated commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion, have prior experience working in culturally and socio-economically diverse learning environments, and will contribute to student success through inclusive pedagogy, as well as research and service to the university and surrounding North State communities. We invite you to apply to our welcoming teacher/scholar environment where you can have a successful career.

The Position: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice invites applications for a tenure-track position in Legal Studies at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins August 18, 2020. Salary: Salary commensurate with education and experience.

Initial Review Date: 12/6/2019; complete applications received after that date will be considered until position is filled.

How to Apply: All applicants must apply online at: <http://jobs.csuchico.edu/postings/5836>.

Applicants must provide a cover letter to include, a statement of views on teaching, promoting and fostering a learning environment supportive of diverse backgrounds, a CV, and student evaluations of teaching, if available. Three professional references with contact information should be sent directly to: Professor Sally Anderson at ssanderson@csuchico.edu.

Applications submitted via email or in-person to the department will not be considered.

Qualification Details:

Minimum Qualifications The minimum requirements for appointment to this position are: a Bachelor's degree and a Juris Doctor (J.D.) from an accredited law school, current membership in the State of California Bar or membership within two years of the start of employment, ability to teach courses in clinical legal education (i.e., Community Legal Information Clinic) and legal research and writing, and the capacity to engage in publishable academic and/or legal/professional research. The successful candidate should provide evidence of their commitment to or experience promoting and fostering a learning environment that is supportive of individuals from diverse backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications: Preference will be given to applicants with any of the following: legal clinical experience, paralegal supervision, experience in practicing law, teaching experience, and/or additional degrees, such as a L.L.M. or Ph.D. In addition to teaching courses in clinical legal education and legal research and writing, the ideal candidate will be able to teach courses in any one of the following areas: Legal Studies Senior Seminar, Constitutional Law, Introduction to Legal Studies, and other elective courses. Please see our current course catalog for a list of the department's course offerings: Course offerings. Ideal candidates will demonstrate evidence of a research agenda that will lead to publishable academic and/or legal/professional research.

Responsibilities: This tenure-track position carries responsibilities in the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service to the Department and the University. Teaching assignments are based upon qualifications of the individual and the needs of the department.

The Department: The Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice offers undergraduate degrees in political science (including an option in legal studies), criminal justice, international relations, and public administration, as well as Masters degrees in political science and public administration. We have an exciting curriculum, with numerous options to meet a host of academic interests, and an active and productive faculty committed to excellence in teaching and scholarship. Over 1,000 students major in our department's programs. Additional information about our Department is available at Political Science/. Additional information about the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences is available at College of BSS. CSU, Chico is committed to recruiting, developing and retaining the most talented people from a diverse candidate pool.

The Legal Studies Program: The Legal Studies Program within the Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice includes an active moot court program, a paralegal certificate program, and the Community Legal Information Clinic (CLIC). Founded in 1970, CLIC is an extensive undergraduate law clinic designed to benefit participating students by providing hands-on legal training and active learning experiences. CLIC also provides a unique civic engagement program that helps serve the legal service needs of Northern California. Additional information about the Legal Studies Program is available at: Legal Studies program

Job-related questions should be directed to:
Professor Sally Anderson, Search Committee Chair
CSU, Chico
400 W. First Street
Chico, CA 95929-0455
530-898-6478
saanderson@csuchico.edu

A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

An annual security report disclosing crime statistics for California State University, Chico can be obtained by contacting the Chico State University Police Department (530-898-5555) or by visiting: Clery Report

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 (revised July 21, 2017) as a condition of employment.

All positions are contingent on funding.

Start Date: Fall 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7441

Simon Fraser University

Rank: Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security
Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

The School for International Studies at Simon Fraser University seeks an established scholar for a full-time, tenure track position at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor to fill the Simons Chair in International Law and Human Security, a position endowed by The Simons Foundation Canada. The start date could be as early as July 1, 2020.

The successful candidate will have a PhD in a social science discipline, or an SJD in law, and an outstanding record of research and teaching. The chairholder will be expected to carry out a vigorous program of research and teaching focused on the nexus of international law and human security, broadly defined. The chairholder will create new curriculum, provide intellectual leadership, and foster public understanding through conferences and symposia. The Chair is endowed with a research grant and a reduced teaching load of normally two courses per year. Appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, depending on qualifications.

Simon Fraser University is a leading Canadian public research university (consistently ranked #1 by Maclean's Magazine for best comprehensive university in Canada). The School for International Studies is an interdisciplinary unit with research and teaching programs focused on peace and security; international development; human rights and international law; and governance and civil society. The School is based at SFU's Vancouver campus in the heart of downtown.

This is a senior level position. Only those holding a faculty position at the Associate Professor or Professor rank will be considered. Applications will be treated in confidence and should include: a letter of application, a statement of research and teaching, one representative publication, and a curriculum vitae. Applicants should also provide the names, addresses and phone/e-mail of six academic referees of high standing. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 8, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled. The position is subject to the availability of funding.

Materials should be sent in a single pdf file via email to intst@sfu.ca. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Tamir Moustafa, at tmoustafa@sfu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. SFU is an equity employer and encourages applications from all qualified individuals including women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, Indigenous Peoples, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university.

Under the authority of the University Act personal information that is required by the University for academic appointment competitions will be collected. For further details see: http://www.sfu.ca/vpacademic/Faculty_Openings/Collection_Notice.html.

Start Date: Summer 2020
Application Deadline: Open until Filled
Date Posted: 11/5/2019
Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 7445

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2020-21

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for ten months, starting in August or September 2020. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/70841>

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7425

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Constitutional Law & Theory to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) critical race theory or critical legal studies. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program with courses anchored in the concepts and methods of political science, while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach courses on Civil Rights & Liberties, Federalism, Judicial Process, a course in their substantive specialization, and required lower-division courses in U.S. Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government and Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7327

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Constitutional Law & Theory

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Constitutional Law & Theory to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) critical race theory or critical legal studies. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program with courses anchored in the concepts and methods of political science, while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach courses on Civil Rights & Liberties, Federalism, Judicial Process, a course in their substantive specialization, and required lower-division courses in U.S. Federal Government & Politics and/or Texas Government and Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7347

University of Mount UnionRank: Assistant Professor, Political ScienceSubfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Law

The Department of Political Science and International Studies at the University of Mount Union is currently inviting applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position, beginning August 2020.

Responsibilities:

The successful candidate will be expected to teach three courses per semester (12 credit hours) and must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate education in a liberal arts setting. Primary responsibilities include:

Teaching introductory courses in American Politics, Law and Public Service as well as upper-level courses on American Institutions (Presidency; Congress); Law (e.g. Constitutional Law, Civil Rights, Legal Advocacy); and Public Policy. The ability to contribute additional courses in the candidate's area of specialization will be welcome.

- Contributing to the University of Mount Union's Integrative Core curriculum,
- Contributing to the strengthening and expansion of the Political Science curriculum,
- Guiding the growing legal studies program and the new 3-3 BA/JD programs,
- Contributing to the total university community and to civic and community life.
- Additional duties may be set by the department given institutional needs and priorities.

Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science (with a focus on American Politics, Public Policy and/or Law) by time of appointment is required. A J.D. or related degree will be an added plus. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to student-centered teaching and to scholarship

Candidates should provide a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of research interests, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available) and three letters of reference to the Political Science Search Committee. Electronic applications are required and can be submitted online at <http://www.mountunion.edu/employment>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Dr. Michael Grossman (grossmmo@mountunion.edu) with any questions. Review of applications will begin October 31, 2019, and will continue until the positions are filled.

This position is required to complete assigned University compliance training as communicated by the University.

The specific statements shown in each section of this description are not intended to be all-inclusive. They represent typical elements and criteria necessary to successfully perform the job. When requested, reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions of the job.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 9/27/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7246University of Texas, Arlington*Rank: Assistant Professor

Position ID: F00176P

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas at Arlington invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor, focusing on American politics and public law/judicial politics, beginning August 2020. Completed Ph.D. is preferred although A.B.D.s will be considered. Scholars with a focus on the US Supreme Court/federal courts are especially invited to apply.

The successful applicant will be expected to develop and teach substantive policy courses in their area of expertise, to contribute to the Department's pre-law curriculum, to participate in pre-law advising, and to teach introductory courses, core undergraduate courses, and Master's level courses. Candidates should demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in social science research, undergraduate and graduate teaching, and service appropriate to the rank. Salary is competitive. Successful candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to diversity and equity in education through their scholarship, teaching, and/or service.

Arlington, Texas is centrally located to major cultural, sporting, and entertainment venues, situated in the heart of the Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan area, with over 6 million residents and more than twenty municipalities (<http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities><http://www.dfwandbeyond.com/cities>). The University of Texas at Arlington campus is a short twenty-minute drive to DFW International Airport, downtown Fort Worth and downtown Dallas. The Department of Political Science (<http://www.uta.edu/pols><http://www.uta.edu/pols> and <https://www.facebook.com/POLSatUTARlington><https://www.facebook.com/POLSatUTARlington>) offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. It serves students from across the University (in state-mandated introductory courses) as well as over two hundred and forty undergraduate majors and minors and twenty to thirty graduate students.

To apply applicants should go to <http://uta.peopleadmin.com/> and submit the following materials: 1) provide a current CV, 2) a letter of interest, 3) one writing sample, and 4) names and contact information of three professional references. Screening will begin immediately upon receipt of a completed application. Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled.

UT Arlington is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women, minorities, veterans, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The use of tobacco products is prohibited on UT Arlington properties. A criminal background check will be conducted on finalists.

Start Date: Fall 2020Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 9/17/2019Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 6192

University of South Carolina

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Law

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Carolina seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Law to begin August 16, 2020. The position is open with regard to substantive specialization. We seek candidates with well-conceived, theoretically-informed research agendas who have published in or demonstrate the promise of publishing in leading outlets. Successful candidates will be able to teach substantive courses in Public Law and Judicial Politics and contribute to the department's graduate and undergraduate programs in methodology. A Ph.D. is required by the start date of appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a writing sample; statements of research and teaching interests; graduate transcript; and contact information, including telephone number and email address, for three references. References will be contacted directly for letters of recommendation. The position will remain open until filled, and the search committee will begin reviewing applications on October 15, 2019. All applicants must fill out an online application at USC Jobs: <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/>.

Please contact the search committee chair, Robert Oldendick (rolendi@mailbox.sc.edu), with any questions. Information regarding the Department of Political Science can be found at the department's website: <http://artsandsciences.sc.edu/poli/welcome>.

The University of South Carolina System (www.sc.edu) is comprised of the state's flagship university in Columbia (founded in 1801 and currently one of the top 50 "Best Colleges" according to U.S. News and World Report), three regional comprehensive universities (USC Aiken, USC Beaufort and USC Upstate), and Palmetto College consisting of four two-year campuses (USC Lancaster, USC Salkehatchie, USC Sumter, USC Union and Fort Jackson/Extended University). Together, the USC System institutions offer more than 450 degree programs on campus and online and are uniquely positioned to meet the state's educational, cultural, health and research needs. The System employs nearly 14,000 people who work daily to improve the lives of students, fellow South Carolinians and the world. Our diverse engaged faculty and staff enjoy a dynamic and intellectually stimulating work environment.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/16/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6183

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Political Science Department at California State University seeks applicants for the position of Assistant Professor specializing in Public Law.

--Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

--Applicants whose primary field of study is Political Philosophy or Theory are discouraged from applying. However, the ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

Our department has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

CSU Channel Islands is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with a special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications

--Ph.D. in Political Science

--Extensive training in judicial politics and American law

--Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education

--Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity

--Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics

--Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Preferred Qualifications

--Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy

--Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research

--Active participation in the life of the department and university

--Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses

--Ability to cope with ambiguity

Apply online: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6161

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Judicial Politics, Constitutional Law & Theory, Criminal Justice

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Apply at: <https://mills.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=115636>

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top master's universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As one of the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/18/2019

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 6166

Indiana University, Bloomington

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Law

American Politics (Assistant or Associate Professor)

The Department of Political Science at Indiana University-Bloomington invites applications for one full-time tenure track professor in the field of American Politics, beginning August of 2020. Our goal is to hire the strongest candidate available who is doing interesting and important scholarly research on American politics, including but not limited to political behavior, political institutions, identity politics, American political development, and/or American political thought. This position is at the rank of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor. Candidates should demonstrate broad theoretical interests, active research agendas with the promise for publication in high-quality venues, strong teaching credentials, and proficiency in appropriate research methods. In addition to maintaining an ongoing research program, this faculty member would be expected to teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and to participate actively in departmental activities.

Successful candidates will have completed their Ph.D. degree in Political Science by August 1, 2020.

The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to building and supporting a diverse, inclusive, and equitable community of students and scholars.

Indiana University is an equal employment and affirmative action employer and a provider of ADA services. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, ethnicity, color, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, disability status, or protected veteran status.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be submitted by September 30, 2019; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Applicants should submit a letter of application, complete curriculum vitae, two publications or papers, course syllabi and summary of teaching evaluations, and have at least three letters of recommendation forwarded to us. All application materials should be submitted online to the attention of Lauren M. MacLean, Department Chair, Department of Political Science at: <http://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/8344>. Questions regarding the position or application process should be directed to Jessica Williams at 812-855-1209; email: jee-willi@indiana.edu; Department of Political Science, 210 Woodburn Hall, 1100 E. Seventh Street, Indiana University-Bloomington, Bloomington, Indiana, 47405-7110.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6045

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position:

Department of Political Science

Assistant Professor of Political Science with focus on Public Law

Starting Date:

August, 2020

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a “mandated reporter” under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6014

University of Tennessee, Knoxville

Rank: Assistant Professor in Public Law

Tenure Track, Assistant Professor Position - Advertisement
Department of Political Science
The University of Tennessee

The Department of Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor position in Public Law to begin Fall 2020. Area of specialization in Public Law and field within Political Science are open. We are particularly interested in applicants who use rigorous analytical approaches to address substantively important questions including but not limited to issues of race, gender, and/or inequality in the law or legal processes. The successful candidate must have strong research skills and a theoretically oriented research agenda that will lead to publication in peer-reviewed outlets (journals and/or books). Preference will be shown for applicants with teaching and research interests that complement existing departmental interests and strengths, have a capacity for attracting extramural funding, demonstrate evidence of or potential for college/university teaching excellence, and exhibit a commitment to diversity and inclusion. The position is a 9-month, tenure-track appointment, and the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is the state’s flagship research institution, a campus of choice for outstanding undergraduates, and a premier graduate institution. As a land-grant university, it is committed to excellence in learning, scholarship, and engagement with society. More information about the Department is available at: <http://web.utk.edu/~polisci>.

All the requirements for a Ph.D. in political science, public policy, or related field must be finished at the time of appointment. Applicants should send a cover letter explaining their research and teaching experience, a current CV, graduate transcripts, a sample of scholarly writing, and teaching evaluations (if available). All applicants should request letters from three references to be directly uploaded via Interfolio. Please submit application material in digital format via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/66892>. Review of applications begins October 15, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled. For questions or inquiries, contact Professor Jana Morgan at janamorgan@utk.edu.

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services. All qualified applicants will receive equal consideration for employment and admission without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, pregnancy, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, physical or mental disability, genetic information, veteran status, and parental status.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/29/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5863

North Central College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Law, American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences at North Central College seeks candidates for a tenure-track position in political science with emphasis in public law, judicial politics, law and society, or comparative law to begin Fall 2020. Ph.D. must be in hand by August 1, 2020. Our department is committed to preparing students to contribute meaningfully to a democracy, while at the same time understanding the nuance of political equality and civic participation. We value diversity and are committed to social justice, equity, and inclusiveness. Experience working with historically marginalized and underserved communities will be weighed in a candidate’s favor.

Applicants should have teaching experience and show potential for excellence in undergraduate teaching and scholarship. In addition to teaching courses in law (Introduction to Law, Constitutional Law, Civil Rights and Liberties), a candidate should be prepared to teach the introductory course in American government and contribute to the department’s methodology courses. The department expects that the successful candidate will also develop courses in their areas of expertise. There will be additional opportunities for the successful candidate to contribute to North Central’s tradition of interdisciplinary learning.

Founded in 1861, North Central College is a selective, comprehensive liberal arts institution of about 3000 students, located 28 miles west of Chicago in Naperville. The College is in a period of growth with the addition of a $60 million Science Center opened in March 2017. The college is within walking distance of the Naperville Metra station and is next to downtown Naperville. The Naperville area is home to many excellent school districts and Naperville, IL has been ranked as one of the best places to live by Money magazine. For more information, please visit: <http://www.noctrl.edu>.

Interested candidates should submit a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of scholarly interest, evidence of teaching effectiveness and three letters of recommendation in an electronic format.

To apply on line copy and paste link below into browser: <https://northcentralcollege.peopleadmin.com/postings/6584>

For further information, please email Dr. William Muck, Chair of Political Science, at wjmuck@noctrl.edu.

Review of applications will begin September 16, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5857

Centre College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Politics

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

Centre College invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Politics with expertise in American public law. We seek teacher-scholars that demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at a nationally-ranked liberal arts college. Ideal candidates should be able to teach a combination of introductory and upper level courses in American politics and public law, including courses focused on the American legal system, Constitutional law/interpretation, civil liberties, civil rights, and other related topics. We are especially interested in candidates with specializations at the intersection of race, ethnicity, gender, and/or sexuality and American public law. This candidate will serve as the institution's pre-law faculty advisor and previous experience with applied legal practice/education is desirable.

At Centre College, a six-course teaching load is typically divided between two long semesters (five courses divided between fall and spring) and a three-week winter term (one course). Candidates must have a Ph.D. or J.D. by the time of appointment, although a Ph.D. is preferred. Applications from A.B.D. candidates will be considered. The program strongly encourages applications from candidates who have experience with and enjoy teaching, mentoring, and creating inclusive environments where all students can thrive.

Centre College is committed to an environment that welcomes and supports diversity. Centre strives to create an environment where differences are celebrated rather than discouraged, where the individuals have the opportunity to exchange ideas and share in the richness of mutual experiences. Please view the Statement of Community.

Centre College, a highly selective liberal arts college of about 1,450 students, has one of the nation's premier study abroad programs and is ranked among the top fifty National Liberal Arts Colleges by U.S. News & World Report. Classes are small and academic standards are high. Centre graduates enjoy extraordinary success, with entrance to top graduate and professional schools, prestigious fellowships for further study abroad, and rewarding jobs. For information concerning the college, visit our website at <http://www.centre.edu>. The College is located in Danville, Kentucky, a town of 18,000 recognized for its high quality of life. It is within easy driving distance of Lexington, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

To apply, please submit the following materials by September 15, 2019: a letter of application, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, materials demonstrating teaching effectiveness, three confidential letters of recommendation, and transcripts. In addition, please include a diversity statement explaining how you would contribute to and/or address the issues of diversity and inclusion at Centre. The letter of application must include a statement addressing the candidate's experience and goals as a teacher/scholar in the liberal arts model. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2019.

Applications can be submitted via the Interfolio portal at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/65555>

Centre College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Centre College is a proud member of the Greater Kentucky Higher Education Recruitment Consortium: <http://www.greaterkyherc.org>. The Greater Kentucky HERC is a non-profit organization composed of a diverse group of colleges, universities, hospitals, government agencies, non-profit organizations, and members of private industry committed to recruiting and retaining a diverse, talented workforce. Member representatives include faculty, staff, human resources professionals, institutional leaders, and faculty relations experts.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 9/15/2019

Date Posted: 7/17/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5787

California State University, Los Angeles

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Immigration Policy

Minimum Qualifications:

- 1) An earned doctorate (Ph.D.) in Political Science from an accredited institution (or equivalent) is required; however, applicants nearing completion of the doctorate (ABD) may be considered. For appointment, the doctorate must be completed by the date of appointment (8/20/2020).
- 2) Evidence of teaching and research experience in one or more of the following areas: civil rights & civil liberties, constitutional law, immigration law, international law, legal advocacy, and/or judicial behavior.
- 3) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level.
- 4) Documented record of scholarship in political science, especially public law.

Preferred Qualifications:

- 1) Evidence of successful teaching experience at the graduate level.
- 2) Evidence of engaging students in scholarly activities.
- 3) Evidence of experience successfully teaching American government.

Duties:

The primary professional responsibilities of instructional faculty members are: teaching, research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and service to the University, profession and to the community. These responsibilities generally include: advising students, participation in campus and system-wide committees, maintaining office hours, working collaboratively and productively with colleagues, and participation in traditional academic functions.

The successful candidate will be committed to the academic success of all of our students and to an environment that acknowledges, encourages, and celebrates diversity and differences. To this end, the successful candidate will work effectively, respectfully, and collaboratively in diverse, multicultural, and inclusive settings. In addition, the successful candidate will be ready to join faculty, staff, students, and administrators in our University's shared commitment to the principles of engagement, service, and the public good.

Salary:

Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The University:

California State University, Los Angeles (Cal State LA) is one of 23 campuses within the California State University system. The University is the premier comprehensive public university in the heart of Los Angeles. Cal State LA is ranked number one in the U.S. for the upward mobility of its students, and is dedicated to engagement, service, and the public good. We offer nationally recognized programs in science, the arts, business, criminal justice, engineering, nursing, education, ethnic studies, and the humanities. Our faculty have a strong commitment to scholarship, research, creative pursuits, community engagement, and service.

Our 240,000 alumni reflect the City and County's dynamic mix of populations. The University has one of the most diverse student populations of any college or university in the nation. As a federally recognized Hispanic-Serving Institution, and Asian-American, Native American, and Pacific Islander-Serving Institution, Cal State LA recognizes the transformative power of education and embraces its duty to identify and serve the needs of all of its students. The University is committed to creating a community in which a diverse population can live, work and learn in an atmosphere of civility and respect for the rights and sensibilities of each individual.

The Department/Division/School:

The Department of Political Science at Cal State LA is housed in the College of Natural and Social Sciences, with student enrollment at 6000 distributed throughout 15 departments. The Department consists of ten full time faculty with teaching and research interests in public administration, public law, American government, political theory, comparative politics, and global politics. Faculty are active scholars, as well as innovative teachers, that advise and engage students in civic and scholarly activities. Faculty value diversity and participate in University shared governance. The Department offers three degree programs: Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with general, pre legal, public administration, and global options, Master of Arts in Political Science, and Master of Public Administration.

Required Documentation:

Please submit the following to the Search Committee Chair at the email address below:

- 1) A cover letter specifically addressing minimum and preferred qualifications.
- 2) A curriculum vitae.
- 3) A narrative statement describing your commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students in a multicultural/multiethnic urban campus environment with a substantial population of first-generation students.
- 4) A list of three professional references.
- 5) A University Application for Employment Form (www.calstatela.edu/academic/position).

Finalists will be required to submit:

Official transcripts.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

Application:

Review of applications will begin September 1, 2019, and will continue until the position is filled.

Please email all application materials in a single PDF to polisci@calstatela.edu. Please type "Political Science Public Law Tenure-Track Application" in the subject line.

Please address all questions to the search committee chair, Martin J. Adamian at: madamia2@calstatela.edu.

Note: The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 as a condition of employment. A background check (including a criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily before any candidate can be offered a position with the CSU. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the application status of applicants or continued employment of current CSU employees who apply for the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 7/9/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5759

Bowling Green State University

Rank: Adjunct professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Law, Public Administration

The Department of Political Science at Bowling Green State University seeks applications for possible part-time adjunct teaching positions for the Academic Year 2019-20 and Summer 2020. Successful applicants will teach undergraduate courses in Political Science, Public Administration, and related fields. Graduate teaching is a possibility. MA in Political Science or related field is required; PhD strongly preferred.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and two current (no more than a year old), original letters of reference and official transcripts indicating highest degree. Successful applicants will be required to authorize and pass a background check as a condition of employment. Please send materials to: Adjunct Teaching Committee, Department of Political Science, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403. No email applications will be accepted.

Unless they request otherwise, qualified applicants will also be considered for future adjunct teaching opportunities that may arise

Applications must be received by July 22, 2019.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/26/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5715

University of Oklahoma

Rank: Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

Rod and Nancy Sanders Chair in Law and Liberty

The Institute for the American Constitutional Heritage (IACH) at the University of Oklahoma (OU) seeks an established and nationally recognized scholar to hold the newly established Sanders Family Chair in Law and Liberty. The position is at the associate or full professor level and will be jointly appointed in the Department of Classics & Letters and the successful candidate's home disciplinary department or College, e.g., History or Political Science (both in the College of Arts and Sciences), or the College of Law.

The successful candidate will contribute to the core mission of the IACH, a vibrant interdisciplinary center for the study of American constitutionalism housed in Classics & Letters. The IACH has four faculty lines and over 30 affiliated faculty across the university who offer courses to over 100 undergraduates majoring or minoring in Constitutional Studies.

We seek a candidate with a teaching and research profile that would include, but not be limited to, the ancient roots of law, liberty, and self-governance; the development of republican thought and ideas of liberty and the rule of law in the modern world; and the historical and ideological background of the American founding.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. (or a J.D. for exceptional candidates with established records of scholarly excellence) and a substantial scholarly record in a discipline related to the core mission of the IACH. The successful candidate should also have an established commitment to teaching and mentoring undergraduate students, as well as experience in graduate teaching and mentoring, or clear potential for excellence in this area. The teaching load will be three courses a year (2-1).

Application Instructions

Interested applicants should initially submit a letter of interest, a current C.V., and three letters of reference to. Applicants should go to <http://apply.interfolio.com/59901> to submit their application. The position will begin in August 2020. The position will remain open until filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 2/25/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5469

PUBLIC POLICY

Southern Methodist University

Rank: Colin Powell Teaching Fellow in International Relations

Position No. 0070004. The Political Science Department at Southern Methodist University (SMU), in cooperation with the Tower Center for Public Policy and International Affairs, invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure-track position of Colin Powell Teaching Fellow in International Relations, starting Fall 2020. Teaching responsibilities include two classes per semester. Minimum qualifications include the completed Ph.D. in political science (required at the time of appointment), experience teaching undergraduate courses in political science, and a detailed research agenda. Candidates with expertise in international security studies, U.S. foreign policy, and international institutions are especially encouraged to apply.

The Political Science Department at SMU is a collegial, research-active community of scholars across all subfields of political science and administers undergraduate programs in political science, international studies, and public policy. The Tower Center is an interdisciplinary academic center that seeks to bridge the gap between the worlds of policymaking and academia by supporting research in public policy and international affairs. Classes at SMU are small and expectations are high in both teaching and research. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to teaching for both the Political Science Department and the Tower Scholars Program, a selective public policy minor that attracts exceptionally gifted students and is one of SMU's flagship undergraduate programs. The successful candidate for the Colin Powell Fellowship will be mentored by senior members of SMU's Political Science Department, who will provide guidance to help the Fellow develop her/his teaching and research portfolio. Salary, benefits, and research funding are competitive. Appointment to the position will be for one academic year, with the possibility of renewal for a second year upon satisfactory performance.

Applicants should submit a letter of application (including a statement of research and teaching interests), curriculum vitae, evidence of teaching effectiveness if available, and a writing sample, through the Interfolio system at <http://apply.interfolio.com/71374>. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of recommendation uploaded using the Interfolio system. Questions regarding the position may be addressed to Prof. Stefano Recchia at: srecchia@smu.edu. Review of applications will begin on January 10, 2020, but the search will remain open until the position is filled. The committee will notify applicants of the employment decision after the position is filled.

Southern Methodist University is a comprehensive university of 11,000 undergraduate and graduate students located on a beautiful urban campus just north of downtown Dallas, Texas. SMU is an equal opportunity employer and will not discriminate in any program or activity on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, or gender identity and expression. Women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply. The Executive Director for Access and Equity/Title IX Coordinator is designated to handle inquiries regarding nondiscrimination policies and may be reached at the Perkins Administration Building, Room 204, 6425 Boaz Lane, Dallas, TX 75205, 214-768-3601, accessequity@smu.edu. Hiring is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of a background check.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/22/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7525

RAND Corporation

Rank: Stanton Nuclear Security Fellowship

The RAND Corporation is accepting applications for up to three Stanton Nuclear Security Fellows. The application deadline is January 21, 2020.

The Stanton Nuclear Security Fellows Program was created to stimulate the development of the next generation of thought leaders on nuclear security related topics by supporting interdisciplinary research that will advance policy-relevant understanding of the issues.

Fellows carry out a year-long period of independent research. During their RAND tenure, fellows are expected to produce policy-relevant studies that contribute to the general body of knowledge on nuclear security. Fellows are located at one of three U.S. RAND offices: Santa Monica, CA; Washington, DC; or Pittsburgh, PA. Doctoral students will receive a $50,000 stipend, post-doctoral fellows will receive an $80,000 stipend, and junior faculty fellows will receive a $110,000 stipend.

Qualifications

Preference will go to candidates who are post-doctoral students or tenure track junior faculty members. Doctoral students may be considered if they have a well-defined dissertation topic in the field of nuclear security and are enrolled in a widely recognized graduate program, and must include as part of their application at least three dissertation chapters (that have been approved by the candidate's adviser for submission). Junior faculty at law schools or with a law degree as their terminal degree are eligible. Prior experience is broadly defined to include disciplines such as nuclear policy, security, engineering, physics, and related fields.

Education

Doctorate (JD, PhD, etc.)

Location

Santa Monica, CA, Pittsburgh, PA, Washington, DC

Apply

https://www.rand.org/about/edu_op/fellowships/stanton-nuclear.html

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/21/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7502

University of Chicago

Rank: Research Professor - Public Finance

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for a Research Professor in the field of state and local public finance. We are searching for candidates with relevant specialization in public capital markets, government accounting, state and local fiscal policy, public-private partnerships, or related topics. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in economics, political science, or associated discipline. The position will be an initial 5-year appointment.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/71697. Applicants are required to submit the following materials with their application: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) contact information for 2 references; 3) writing/research sample; 4) research statement; and 5) teaching statement. Review of applications will begin on December 20, 2019. No applications will be accepted after May 15, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7515

Duke University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Duke University

Duke University was created in 1924 through an indenture of trust by James Buchanan Duke. Today, Duke is regarded as one of America's leading research universities. Located in Durham, North Carolina, Duke is positioned in the heart of the Research Triangle, which is ranked annually as one of the best places in the country to work and live. Duke has more than 15,000 students who study and conduct research in its 10 undergraduate, graduate and professional schools. With about 40,000 employees, Duke is the third largest private employer in North Carolina, and it now has international programs in more than 150 countries.

American Grand Strategy

The American Grand Strategy (AGS) Program is Duke's lead interdisciplinary initiative that creates and disseminates new knowledge in the grand strategy field. The mission of the program is to prepare the next generation of strategists by studying past generations and interacting with current strategic leaders.

In 2018, AGS partnered with a team of scholar-practitioners from Johns Hopkins University, and University of Texas-Austin to launch a consortium to better prepare the next generation to confront geopolitical challenges and better understand American national interests abroad. This position would support AGS in the consortium's efforts by advancing the body of rigorous scholarship investigating these questions and exposing Duke students to cutting edge work in this area.

Job Description

AGS seeks an America in the World Consortium Post-Doctoral Associate to begin in July 2020. Applicants from all disciplines whose research bears directly on American grand strategy, broadly defined, are welcome to apply. However, strong preference will be given to applicants with a doctorate in political science whose research has a strong connection to policy.

The America in the World Associate will be expected to conduct independent research activities in preparation for a full time academic or research career and will teach one seminar suitable for cross-listing in the Department of Political Science and the Sanford School of Public Policy. The Associate will also contribute to the life of the AGS program by attending and, where appropriate and by mutual agreement, serving as a senior leader on co-curricular activities.

The Associate is expected to be in residence and may not undertake any other sustained teaching or employment during his/her tenure at Duke. Successful applicants will be able to spend the substantial portion of their time working on their own research and writing projects, while taking advantage of the many academic resources available at Duke University.

Stipend Information

The Associate accepted to the program will be offered a competitive stipend, full use of Duke facilities, and office space at the Sanford School of Public Policy or the Department of Political Science as appropriate.

The position will provide funding for a minimum of 12 months.

Requirements:

- A terminal degree in a related field such as political science, public policy or history.
- Established work in a related area.

How to Apply:

Please submit the following items to begin your application on Academic Jobs Online at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15537>

- Cover Letter
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Statement
- A sample syllabus that is representative of a suggested course
- Article or writing sample representing an existing contribution to the field of American grand strategy, broadly defined.

Contact Name:

Melanie Benson

Contact Email:

Melanie.benson@duke.edu

Deadline to Apply:

Sunday, January 5, 2020

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Duke aspires to create a community built on collaboration, innovation, creativity, and belonging. Our collective success depends on the robust exchange of ideas—an exchange that is best when the rich diversity of our perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences flourishes. To achieve this exchange, it is essential that all members of the community feel secure and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community have a responsibility to uphold these values.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Date Posted: 11/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7498

University of Nebraska, Kearney

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Department of Political Science is seeking a tenure-track Assistant Professor position, beginning Fall 2020. The successful applicant will demonstrate teaching excellence in introductory and upper-level courses in Public Policy. The teaching assignments for the position will include courses in Public Policy or Public Administration and additional courses in subfield area (s) consistent with the successful applicant's preparation.

The successful applicant is expected to teach introductory and upper division classes in Political Science each semester and at least one graduate class each school year. In addition, they are expected to participate in departmental meetings and other departmental events and activities as well as maintain a productive research agenda.

A Ph.D. in Political Science or related field by start of appointment. ABD candidates will be conditionally considered. The department prefers candidates with a Ph.D. and whose primary specialization is in Public Policy or Public Administration. We are particularly interested in candidates with research and teaching interests in health policy.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/18/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7497

International Crisis Group

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship on the Future of Conflict

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Behavior

Postdoctoral Fellowship on the Future of Conflict

The International Crisis Group (Crisis Group) and the Empirical Studies of Conflict Project (ESOC) seek applicants for a Postdoctoral Fellowship position. This position provides the opportunity to work closely with Crisis Group experts and ESOC academic researchers. The fellowship will entail empirical research, policy analysis, and engagement with policymakers to prevent, resolve or better manage deadly conflict. The fellow will contribute directly to Crisis Group reports. We are particularly interested in three thematic areas: the economic causes and consequences of conflict, the relationship between climate change and conflict, and the role of new technologies in conflict. We are open to geographic focuses on the countries/regions Crisis Group covers across Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America and the Middle East (see www.crisisgroup.org).

The fellow will be primarily based in one of Crisis Group's offices in New York, DC or London -- with travel as needed for the field research -- or in a Crisis Group regional office as appropriate based on geographic focus area. In addition, the fellow will regularly visit ESOC members relevant to their research and actively collaborate with a multi-university team of scholars who are conducting cutting edge research on the causes and consequences of politically motivated conflict through the production, aggregation, and dissemination of high-resolution data on historical and current conflicts.

Qualifications include:

We seek candidates with exceptional potential to thrive in a demanding policy role while advancing their own cutting-edge research. Candidates should be on track to complete a PhD in economics, political science, public policy or a related discipline by June 2020, or have recently completed their PhD. Preference will be given to scholars with a successful track record of international field research and econometric analysis in the areas of political violence, governance, or development, and demonstrated experience and interest in policy analysis. Relevant language skills and regional experience will be taken into account. Fellowship recipients have included Mica Sviatschi (Assistant Professor, Princeton Economics), Renard Sexton (Assistant Professor, Emory Political Science), Jane Esberg (2019-2020 fellow), and Anouk Rigterink (2019-2020 fellow).

Applications should include a letter of introduction of no more than 3 pages, a CV, and contact information for three references. The cover letter should address both regional and thematic interests.

A competitive salary, commensurate with experience, and excellent benefits will be offered. The start date is negotiable but no sooner than 1 April 2020.

Screening of applications will begin on 1 December and continue on a rolling basis until the position is filled. All applications must be received by 1 February 2020.

Click the link below to apply to this position:

<https://jobs.crisisgroup.org/o/postdoctoral-fellowship-on-the-future-of-conflict>

Potential applicants unfamiliar with ESOC's research program are welcome to contact Assistant Professor Tarek Ghani (tghani@wustl.edu) or Professor Jacob N. Shapiro (jns@princeton.edu) with questions and to visit <http://esoc.princeton.edu/> to learn more.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: 2/1/2020

Date Posted: 11/14/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7472

Harvard University

Rank: Environmental Fellow

Specializations: Environmental Policy, Energy Policy, Science & Technology

APPLICATION DEADLINE: JANUARY 10, 2020

The Harvard University Center for the Environment created the Environmental Fellows program to enable recent doctorate recipients to use and expand Harvard's extraordinary resources to tackle complex environmental problems. The Environmental Fellows will work for two years with Harvard faculty members in any school or department while also strengthening connections across the University's academic disciplines.

The Award:

The fellowship includes a salary of $70,000 per year, employee health insurance eligibility, up to $2,500 reimbursement for relocation expenses, and a $2,500 annual allowance for travel and other professional expenses.

The Harvard University Center for the Environment expects to award approximately six fellowships for the 2020 cohort. The Center will organize a co-curricular program to ensure that the fellows get to know each other and each other's work. All fellows will attend biweekly dinners with their colleagues, faculty members, and guests.

Program Requirements:

- Candidates for 2020 Environmental Fellowships should have received their terminal degree between May 2016 and August 2020. (Fellows must have filed their dissertation before starting their appointment in September 2020.)

- Candidates with a doctorate or equivalent in any field are eligible, and they may propose research projects in any discipline. Applicants without a Ph.D. may apply if they have studied in fields where the Ph.D. is not the typical terminal degree. All successful candidates will be able to demonstrate experience performing scholarly research.
- Each candidate must secure a commitment from one or more Harvard faculty members to serve as a mentor and to provide office or lab space for the two-year fellowship.
- Candidates may have received their degrees at any university in the world. Foreign nationals are eligible for fellowships, though study at Harvard requires proficiency in English.
- Candidates who received terminal degrees from Harvard, and post-docs currently working at Harvard are eligible for the fellowship provided their research and host arrangements take them in new directions and forge new connections within the University. Harvard candidates should not propose to continue to work with the same professors or lab groups with whom they are currently associated. No candidate should propose to work extensively with his or her thesis advisor.
- Harvard is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.
- Successful candidates should be prepared to commit to work at Harvard for the full two years of the fellowship. This fellowship requires residency in the Cambridge area and any fieldwork trip must be scheduled for the summer or January recess.

Application Requirements:

1. Please complete the online application form found at [environmental_fellows@harvard.edu](https://academicpositions.harvard.edu/postings/9252 by January 10, 2020 at 5 p.m. (EST) and attach the relevant supporting documents as PDFs:

o curriculum vitae including list of publications;
o detailed research proposal where applicants should explain their specific reasons for applying to a Harvard residential environmental fellowship (maximum of five pages, references counted separately). Note: While applicants should discuss the proposal with their potential faculty hosts, the final product should clearly be the work of the applicant; and
o up to three publications/writing samples.

2. Three letters of reference, including one from the applicant's dissertation adviser.
3. A letter of support is also required from the applicant's host committing to serve as a mentor and explaining his or her commitment to the proposed research, including the provision of office or lab space. Hosts should send their letters directly to the attention of James Clem at the Center at <a href=).

If you have questions about the fellowship or application process, please contact:

James Clem

Harvard University Center for the Environment

26 Oxford Street, 4th Floor

Cambridge MA 02138

617-495-0368

james_clem@harvard.edu

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/10/2020

Date Posted: 11/12/2019

Salary: $70,000 - $79,999

eJobs ID: 7466

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Associate Professor, International Economics

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Public Administration

Associate Professor, International Economics

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (<http://gps.ucsd.edu>) is seeking to fill a tenured Associate Professor position in the field of economics effective July 1, 2020. The school seeks an outstanding scholar with a strong empirical orientation working on issues related to the global economy, including trade and trade policy, multinational enterprises, international macro, immigration, and spatial and urban analysis. Successful candidates will demonstrate an established empirical agenda at the highest standards of professional research, a commitment to policy analysis, a clear track record of thought leadership and service, and the ability to contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion in higher education. All applicants must have a PhD in Economics. This hire is part of a multi-year expansion of the School's faculty.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin January 2, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at: <https://apptrkr.com/1689239>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7434

University of Cambridge

Rank: University Lecturer in Public Policy

The Department of Politics and International Studies is seeking to appoint a University Lectureship in Public Policy from 1st September 2020. This is an exciting opportunity to join a fast growing department at Cambridge. The post-holder will play a major role in the further development of the thriving public policy community at Cambridge, and make significant contributions to the Bennett Institute for Public Policy.

We are looking for a scholar with an excellent track record in both research and teaching on topics related to public policy, and welcome applicants from different disciplinary backgrounds. The successful candidate is expected to contribute to the continued growth of POLIS, where they will be based. They will produce research of high international standing and possess a flexible approach to teaching and administrative Departmental duties.

Candidates will need to show evidence of the following qualifications, skills and experience:

A doctorate in a relevant subject area or disciplinary field (or clear evidence that completion of such a doctorate is imminent);
Evidence of ability to engage in internationally recognised high-level research in chosen subject area, with publications and participation in scholarly activity commensurate with stage of career;
Evidence of ability to teach the subject effectively, and at all relevant levels;
Ability to play an effective role in the life and work of the Department;
Ability to work as part of a team.

Further information about the Department can be found at www.polis.cam.ac.uk

All applications will be considered by all relevant members of the department.

Interview dates will be confirmed after the closing date.

Once an offer of employment has been accepted, the successful candidate will be required to undergo a health assessment.

We particularly welcome applications from women and candidates from a BME background for this vacancy as they are currently under-represented at this level in our department.

Informal enquiries about the Lectureship may be addressed to Jason Sharman (jcs207@cam.ac.uk) in the first instance. Enquiries about the applications process should be addressed to Louisa Bailey (lkb44@cam.ac.uk).

To apply please follow this link online <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/23457/>

Please quote reference UE20918 on your application and in any correspondence about this vacancy.

The University actively supports equality, diversity and inclusion and encourages applications from all sections of society.

The University has a responsibility to ensure that all employees are eligible to live and work in the UK.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7433

University of Denver

Rank: Director and Chair of the Douglas and Mary Scrivner Institute of Public Policy

The University of Denver is pleased to announce the search for the founding Director and Chair of the Douglas and Mary Scrivner Institute of Public Policy at the Josef Korbel School of International Studies. This position offers an extraordinary opportunity for a visionary leader with an established record of excellence in public policy to build the Scrivner Institute's engagement, impact, and visibility locally, nationally, and internationally. We seek applications from and nominations for outstanding candidates from the leading ranks of public policy. The position will begin on July 1, 2020. The Scrivner Institute of Public Policy at the University of Denver was made possible by a generous gift from Douglas and Mary Scrivner in 2018 that will ultimately endow three faculty positions, in addition to supporting student scholarships and programming. The Scrivner Institute will be housed within the existing Josef Korbel School of International Studies, a top-ranked international affairs program with a range of both graduate and undergraduate degrees and a dynamic research profile. In re-launching a public policy program at the University of Denver, the Scrivner Institute and the Korbel School together intend to create a truly innovative, local-to-global public policy enterprise that trains students to meet 21st century challenges in both domestic and international spheres. Supporting path-breaking, interdisciplinary research and local, national and international policy engagement at the Scrivner Institute are critical components of our vision. Candidates must have qualifications appropriate for appointment as a tenured professor, including a distinguished record of rigorous scholarship and teaching/mentoring. The position is open to candidates from all fields of public policy. Effective and demonstrated administrative and budgetary expertise, the capacity for fundraising, and strong professional ties with broad policy communities are required. The desired candidate will also possess outstanding skills of leadership and collaboration in a setting that balances professional education with social science and public policy research. In addition, the successful candidate will have experience in and a commitment to enhancing diversity, equity and inclusion, fostering an open intellectual and professional culture, and will excel at communicating with a wide range of audiences. The desired candidate will have a demonstrated interest in engaging with community leaders, policy makers and business professionals to involve them in the teaching, research and programming activities of the Institute, which currently engages students through Denver- and Colorado-focused courses and events. The ideal candidate will expand and strengthen the ties of the Institute with Denver's and Colorado's policy communities, and beyond. The Scrivner Institute of Public Policy is strongly aligned with the University of Denver's strategic plan, < a href="http://impact.du.edu" >DU Impact 2025: < a href="http://impact.du.edu" >em>http://impact.du.edu< /a>; < a href="http://impact.du.edu" >em>http://impact.du.edu< /a>. This alignment demonstrates Scrivner's commitment to the student experience, experiential learning, and to serving the public. Scrivner will replace the Institute of Public Policy Studies (IPPS) that has existed at the University of Denver since the mid-1980s. IPPS has offered an undergraduate major in public policy that has required students to double major in another area. The public policy major has attracted 35-45 students over the years, and they are known as some of the most talented at the University. IPPS has also offered a 2-year Master of Public Policy degree that typically enrolls 10-15 students per year. The potential for growing these two degree programs is substantial. IPPS currently has four full-time faculty positions, including one tenure-line that is unfilled. Existing positions will be augmented by three more full-time faculty positions funded by the Scrivner gift, thus recruiting new faculty is a central responsibility of the new Director and Chair. IPPS currently has an annual expense budget of roughly $500,000, funded partly by a $1.8 million endowment. IPPS has historically focused only on teaching and training undergraduate and graduate students. The Scrivner Institute will expand that mission to include a strong public policy research and engagement presence that draws on colleges and disciplines from across the University of Denver campus and beyond. The Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver, within which the Scrivner Institute of Public Policy resides, is an interdisciplinary professional school that prepares students for careers in the public, private, academic and nonprofit sectors. Our programs provide students with the knowledge, skills, and networks to design policies, implement programs, and realize outcomes that enhance human capabilities around the world. The Josef Korbel School has approximately 385 undergraduate majors, 250 MA students and 20 PhD students. Both the city of Denver and the state of Colorado are attractive destinations for business, education and industry. Denver holds the #3 position for best places to live (US News 2018), and the #4 position for best places for business and careers (Forbes 2017). Denver is ranked the #1 mid-sized metropolitan college city in the U.S., and DU is among the top 20 major employers in the region, credited with providing an annual economic benefit of over $1 billion. Colorado ranks as the second most educated state in the U.S. with more than 39% of adults holding a bachelor's degree or higher and a median household income of $63,909, significantly higher than the $55,775 for the average household in the U.S. (WallSt.com). With 300 days of sunshine a year, outdoor and recreational culture is strong. The University of Denver is the oldest independent university in the Rocky Mountain region, with approximately 11,700 students in undergraduate and graduate programs. DU is classified as a Doctoral/Research University with high research activity. The University of Denver's vision is to be a great private university dedicated to the public good. As such, DU values inclusive excellence, recognizing that its success is dependent on how well it engages and includes the rich diversity of constituents. To learn more about inclusive excellence at the University of Denver, please visit: < a href="https://www.du.edu/about/diversity" >em>https://www.du.edu/about/diversity< /a>; < a href="https://www.du.edu/about/diversity" >em>https://www.du.edu/about/diversity< /a>. Minimum and Preferred Qualifications< /em>;< /em>Candidates must have a PhD in a social science or equivalent in the humanities or law. Extensive peer-reviewed as well as policy-oriented publications are required, as is administrative leadership in an academic or equivalent setting. Evidence of teaching excellence is strongly preferred. We are especially interested in applicants who have a demonstrated commitment to or experience working with diverse populations.< /em>< /em>Nominations and inquiries of interest should be submitted to the University's executive search firm: < div style="text-align: center;" >Martin Baker, Managing Partner< /div> < div style="text-align: center;" >Buffkin / Baker< /div> < div style="text-align: center;" >mailto:martin@buffkinbaker.com< /div> < a href="mailto:martin@buffkinbaker.com" >a href="mailto:martin@buffkinbaker.com" >em>mailto:martin@buffkinbaker.com< /a>; < /em>< /em>We will accept applications until the position is filled, but we will give first consideration to applications received by < strong>December 10, 2019, with on-campus interviews beginning in January, 2020.< /strong> Along with a cover letter, CV, 2 writing samples, and 4 recent course evaluations (if available), applicants should submit a 2-page statement of experience with creating diverse and inclusive research, working and/or teaching environments. Candidates should also provide a list of 5 referees whom we would contact should a candidate be shortlisted. Applications should be submitted via the < a href="https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/listing/DU_Careers" >a href="https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/listing/DU_Careers" >em>https://jobs.du.edu/en-us/listing/DU_Careers< /a>; website.< /em>< /em>The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications from women, minorities, members of the LGBTQ community, people with disabilities and veterans. The University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.< /em>< /em>PI114992712

Start Date:

Date Posted: 11/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7431

Bilkent University

Rank: Multiple Ranks in Political Science

Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Bilkent University (Turkey) invites applications for the following two full-time positions:

1. Assistant/Associate/Full Professor in Public Policy.
Applicants are expected to have a PhD in Political Science and/or Public Administration, or a cognate field at the time of appointment. They must demonstrate an active and methodologically rigorous research agenda and a strong record of publication. Applicants are also expected to offer high-quality teaching at undergraduate and postgraduate levels, including MA and/or PhD supervision.

2. Instructor in Sociology.
Applicants are expected to have a PhD in Political Science, Sociology, or a cognate field at the time of appointment. Candidates for the positions should have a record of high-quality teaching. Responsibilities include teaching Introduction to Sociology, which is a core course of the Political Science Department but also offered to the rest of the University (as must or elective).

The anticipated starting date for both positions is September 2020.

How to apply: Please submit your application by uploading the following items at this address: <https://stars.bilkent.edu.tr/staffapp/POLS2019>

- a) cover letter (inclusive of teaching and research statement)
- b) CV
- c) names and contact details of three referees (or three letters of recommendation, if available)
- d) two sample publications (article/s or introductory chapter of a monograph)

Application deadline: 31 December 2019

Contact details: pols@bilkent.edu.tr

Further information on Bilkent University is available here: <http://w3.bilkent.edu.tr/bilkent/about-bilkent/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/31/2019

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7424

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships with the Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance at Yale, 2020-21

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Public Law

Yale University's Leitner Program on Effective Democratic Governance housed at the Jackson Institute for Global Affairs is seeking applications for a Postdoctoral Associate with strong economics training and quantitative methods. The Postdoctoral Associate will work with a Yale group led by professors Frances Rosenbluth and Ian Shapiro in analyzing regulation, employment practices, and market outcomes, principally for OECD countries.

This is a full-time position. The Postdoctoral Associate will spend fifty percent of their time working collaboratively on this project and the other fifty percent pursuing their own research.

The appointment period will run for ten months, starting in August or September 2020. Fellows will be expected to be in full-time residence at Yale for the duration of their appointment.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, one page description of research plans, and two letters of recommendation. All information from the applicant should be submitted electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/70841>

Compensation includes a salary of $65,000 for the duration of the appointment, health insurance, and other benefits afforded to postdoctoral associates at Yale. For more information see <https://your.yale.edu/enroll#pda>.

Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled.

For questions concerning this search, please contact larisa.satara@yale.edu

Yale University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer. Yale values diversity among its students, staff, and faculty and strongly welcomes applications from women, persons with disabilities, protected veterans, and underrepresented minorities.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/31/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7425

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Open, Methodology, Public Policy

Specializations: Immigration Policy, Quantitative Methods, Developing Nations

About the Lab: Stanford University is seeking to appoint a Postdoctoral Research Fellow to join the Immigration Policy Lab (IPL). IPL conducts research that employs field and natural experimental methods to quantify the impacts of immigration and integration policies throughout the world. Using large datasets, creative research designs, and modern analytical tools, we bring new evidence to bear on the urgent problems practitioners face. By guiding the people who set public policy, as well as those who directly serve immigrant communities, our research can generate solutions and ultimately improve countless lives. IPL reorients academic training by placing postdocs in a hub of experiential research activity. Working side by side with faculty and professional staff, postdocs are fully immersed in an innovative research model that combines the efficiency and rigor of an academic lab with the energy and innovation of a civi-tech startup.

Position: We are looking for multiple postdoctoral fellows to join our team, collaborating on and developing projects related to immigration policy around the globe. The principal job of the postdoc will be to design and implement immigration policy evaluations and conduct rigorous quantitative analyses using advanced methods of causal inference under the supervision of Professors Jens Hainmueller, David Laitin, and Jeremy Weinstein. She or he will be involved in all aspects of the research, but with a particular emphasis on identification, survey design, data acquisition, data analysis and interpretation of results. IPL is a highly collaborative environment, and postdocs will have the opportunity to develop new lab projects with other team members as well as join existing ongoing projects. The postdoc will have the opportunity to co-author papers envisioned to appear in top journals that report on the results of the studies and work with an array of affiliated faculty from top institutions. While the majority of the postdoc's time will be dedicated to collaborative lab projects, there is also an opportunity to work on independent research.

The initial appointment will be for one year beginning in August 2020. Salary is competitive and standardized based on Stanford University guidelines. Benefits are provided.

Qualifications: The Postdoctoral Research Fellow will have completed a Ph.D., with a preference for Political Science, Economics, Sociology, Statistics, or Computer Science. She or he should have a range of statistical and data skills including graduate-level knowledge of program evaluation methods, data management, and data analysis; experience in running and analyzing field experiments and/or conducting quasi-experimental program evaluations would be highly useful; knowledge of immigration/refugee policy, with the ability to operate in a language other than English, will also be highly valued. We are open to scholars with a wide range of expertise in immigration and policy and have a particular interest in researchers focused on migration and development.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer. It welcomes nominations of, and applications from, women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research missions.

Application Requirements: Applications should include a cover letter, CV, graduate school transcripts, a writing sample and at least two letters of recommendation. Additional papers may be requested at a later date. Applicants should be prepared to complete a research design and data analysis exercise as part of the interview process. Applications should be submitted by November 8, 2019, though applications may be considered after the deadline. Applicants who have questions about the position may contact the Executive Director of the Immigration Policy Lab, Duncan Lawrence, directly (dlawrenc@stanford.edu, Subject: Immigration Lab Postdoc 2020).

Applications will only be accepted via AcademicJobsOnline: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15074>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/8/2019

Date Posted: 10/30/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7419

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Administration

Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Administration, Public Budgeting and/or Finance focus

The School of Public Policy and Innovative Leadership within the College of Liberal Arts at Colorado State University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Policy and Administration with a teaching interest in public budgeting and/or public finance. This position will support a new graduate degree program launching Fall 2020, the Master of Public Policy and Administration (MPPA), and be a part of an exciting new interdisciplinary endeavor in the College.

The College values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in public policy and administration including a required graduate level core course in public budgeting. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as College needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2. Faculty members are expected to advise and mentor graduate students; develop an active research agenda; and provide service to the degree program, School, college, university, and community.

Required Job Qualifications: Primary teaching and scholarly emphasis in public policy and administration; evidence of the ability to teach public budgeting and/or public finance at the graduate level, an active research agenda in public policy and administration; PhD in Public Policy, Public Administration, or related field by August 16, 2020; and evidence of teaching effectiveness.

Preferred Job Qualifications: A demonstrated commitment to public service values; experience in internship mentorship and/or applied research experience; Ability to enhance the College's commitment to diversity and inclusion reflecting the College and School's institutional values.

Application Procedure: Applications will be accepted until the position is filled; to ensure full consideration, complete applications should be received by November 18, 2019. Applicants should submit: 1) a letter of application responding to the required and preferred qualifications 2) Curriculum vitae; 3) Graduate school transcripts (unofficial transcripts acceptable at the initial stage of the search), 4) Evidence of demonstrated or potential teaching effectiveness (syllabi, teaching evaluations, letters of observation), 5) One sample of research (published or unpublished), and 6) The names and contact information of three professional referees. Questions about the position can be directed to Dr. Susan Opp at susan.opp@colostate.edu

Please apply at: <https://jobs.colostate.edu/postings/72241>

CSU is an EO/EA/AA employer and conducts background checks on all final candidates.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7399

North Dakota State University

Rank: Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor of Political Economy

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

North Dakota State University invites applications for a 9-month tenure-track position in political economy, to begin on August 16, 2020.

The department of Criminal Justice & Political Science at NDSU is recruiting for a 9-month tenure-track position, at the rank of assistant professor—or, for especially qualified applicants, associate professor—starting Fall 2020. We seek candidates with expertise in any area of political economy, although especially invite applications from candidates who focus on the political economy of development. For candidates with a regional specialization, we are especially interested in scholars studying areas other than Europe and North America. Successful applicants should be versed in comparative or international political economy and have a strong commitment to policy-relevant research and teaching. This is a 50% research, 40% teaching, 10% service position. The teaching load is, at most, 2-2, with at least one course release in the first three years. While the tenure home will be in the Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science, this position will be affiliated with the NDSU College of Business' Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth. The successful candidate will be expected to conduct research, teaching, and outreach that contributes to the Institute's mission. In turn, the Institute may also provide opportunities for graduate student assistance, course buyouts, and summer research support. Successful applicants will be prepared to teach core undergraduate courses in comparative politics and/or international relations, upper-division classes on political economy, political institutions, and global policy issues, and will have opportunities to contribute to existing and emerging programs in public policy, political and economic institutions, and global studies. The department has minimal service expectations for pre-tenure faculty.

Minimum Qualifications

The minimum qualifications for the position are: 1) a Ph.D. degree in Political Science, Economics, or a related discipline, conferred no later than August, 2020, 2) evidence of research productivity, or potential to publish scholarship in peer reviewed journals, presses, and other outlets appropriate to one's field, 3) experience teaching political economy, institutions, and/or global policy courses at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels, 4) potential to contribute to the Challey Institute's mission, and 5) effective written and oral communication skills.

Preferred Qualifications

We will give priority to candidates who 1) can provide substantial evidence of research productivity and quality, 2) can provide substantial evidence of teaching effectiveness, 3) have experience pursuing and/or obtaining external funding, 4) have a research focus on the political economy of development, 5) conduct teaching and research that can contribute to NDSU's commitment to diversity and inclusion, 6) have experience working in, or developing, a global studies program, 7) have experience contributing to, or developing, a master's program in public policy, and/or 8) have a regional focus outside Europe and North America.

Application

Applicants must submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of research interests, writing sample, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi, course materials, evidence of participation in teaching professionalization activities, and, if available, evaluations by peers and/or mentors; please do not include student evaluations of teaching), and names and contact information for 3 references (we will contact references for roughly 10 short-listed applicants). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://jobs.ndsu.edu/postings/10886>. Initial screening of applications will begin on or about November 21, 2019.

NDSU especially encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups.

The Department

The Department of Criminal Justice & Political Science has 12 tenure-track faculty members and serves roughly 100 undergraduate majors in political science, and 200 undergraduate and 20 graduate students in criminal justice. Faculty in the department teach four classes per year. The NDSU community and national organizations have regularly recognized department faculty for excellence in research, teaching, and mentorship. The college provides faculty with computing resources and tenure-track faculty within the department receive a yearly research and professionalization budget that covers travel to 1-2 conferences, and which faculty routinely supplement with College and University travel grants.

The Challey Institute

The Sheila and Robert Challey Institute for Global Innovation & Growth is an interdisciplinary institute that aims to advance understanding in the areas of innovation, trade, and institutions to identify policies and solutions that enhance economic growth and opportunity. The Challey Institute works toward achieving its mission by engaging in research, student programming, and outreach in the areas of (1) international trade, investment, and immigration, (2) innovation and entrepreneurship, and (3) institutions and policy.

The University

North Dakota State University is a comprehensive, student-focused, land-grant, research university with more than 14,000 students from 47 states and 79 countries. NDSU was the first university in North Dakota to be named to the most research-intensive category by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education and is listed in the National Science Foundation's top 100 in several areas, including agricultural sciences, social sciences, physical sciences, chemistry, psychology, and computer sciences.

NDSU values faculty members' work-life balance and the needs of dual-career couples. The College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences' guidelines on family-related reassignment of duties are available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/ahss/family2010.pdf> and University policy on extension of the probationary period for personal or family reasons is available at <https://www.ndsu.edu/fileadmin/policy/352.pdf>. NDSU is an ADVANCE institution and has a Focus on Resources for Women's Advancement, Recruitment/Retention, and Development (FORWARD) program, that, as part of its efforts, has developed procedures and funding streams for dual career hiring at NDSU: <https://www.ndsu.edu/forward/>. Applicants can find more information about NDSU at <http://www.ndsu.edu>.

The Community

NDSU is located in Fargo-Moorhead (F-M), a pleasant, safe, diversifying, and growing community of approximately 245,000 people. As the largest population center in the region, F-M is a hub of entertainment, finance, information technology, and medical services for a large geographic area including the state of North Dakota, and western Minnesota. Two universities (NDSU and Minnesota State University Moorhead) and one private liberal arts college (Concordia College) are located in F-M. The F-M area has a healthy economy: ND has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the U.S., good public schools, low crime rates, ample shopping, local theatre and music companies, several art galleries, semi-professional baseball and hockey, and Division I intercollegiate athletics. Hector International Airport in Fargo is convenient and is served by several major airlines. Sun, clear skies, and clean air predominate year-round. Visiting nearby northern Minnesota lakes, canoeing, camping, cycling, softball, and soccer are popular in summer; winter pastimes include cross-country skiing, skating, and snowmobiling. The city has an excellent park system that includes several quality golf courses and bicycle/running/ski paths along the Red River, which divides Fargo-Moorhead. Fargo is an hour drive from a major resort area in the Minnesota “lakes country” and two hours from scenic Itasca State Park, where you will find the headwaters of the Mississippi river. Central and western North Dakota offer beautiful hiking, camping, fishing, hunting, and related opportunities in the Badlands, national grasslands, and numerous river valleys. Winnipeg, Manitoba is less than a four-hour drive to the north and Minneapolis-St. Paul is an equal distance to the south-east.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/28/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7385

Columbia University

Rank: Post Doctoral Fellowship

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: China, East Asia, International Security

Columbia University & Harvard University
China and the World Program (C&WP)
Weatherhead East Asian Institute (WEAI)

Professors Thomas J. Christensen of Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs and Alastair Iain Johnston of Harvard University’s Government Department jointly founded the China and the World fellowship program for the advanced study of China’s international relations in 2005. As part of Professor Christensen’s recent move to Columbia University, the Program was renamed the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program (C&WP) in 2018. The China and the World Program supports research that integrates theoretical innovations in the field of international relations with the rigorous study of China’s interactions with countries, regions, institutions, and non-state actors.

For academic year 2020-2021, C&WP will collaborate with the Weatherhead East Asian Institute at Columbia University (WEAI) to award 2 postdoctoral research fellowships. Both fellows will be in residence at Columbia University (one funded by WEAI and one funded by CWP), and will teach one course in the spring semester. When not attending to program-related duties, fellows’ time should be devoted to their own research, and to participating actively in the life of C&WP and WEAI. Fellows also will be expected to make at least one public presentation during their appointment and participate in the annual C&WP workshop where an entire day is devoted entirely to the examination of the fellows’ research by former fellows of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who are currently working on revising their Ph.D. thesis for publication as a book, or who are just beginning a second major research project.

The appointment is for the 2020-2021 academic year, beginning September 1, 2020, ending May 31, 2021. The position comes with shared office space and access to the libraries and resources of Columbia University.

Qualifications:

- Applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements (dissertation completed and filed) between May 1, 2017 and August 31, 2020.

- Applications from individuals who hold or have held full-time teaching appointments will not be considered.
- Only applicants working on some aspect of China’s relations with the outside world that supports CWP’s and WEAI’s missions need apply.

Application Process:

To apply, submit application materials to sipacwp@columbia.edu. Please note that applicants are required to send all files in one email or to upload them to a cloud based application and send the URL via email for full consideration. Faxed or mailed applications will not be considered.

- 1-2 page cover letter that briefly states your interest in the program, your background, and a summary of your research project
- Updated Curriculum Vitae, including a list of classes taught (if any)
- Project description
- Two scholarly writing samples
- One course proposal with syllabus for a seminar directed at M.A. students and advanced undergraduates
- Course evaluations for classes taught (if any)
- Unofficial transcripts from all graduate-level degrees
- Two letters of reference. Please note: Applicants should submit only the name and contact information of their referees. Referees should submit their letter directly to sipacwp@columbia.edu.

Application Deadline

All application materials, including letters of reference, must be received by December 20, 2019, 11:59 p.m. EST. Candidates may be invited for an interview to be held by video, phone, or in person. All evaluations made in connection with applications received are confidential.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their applications in February 2020; a public announcement will be made by April 2020.

For more information about the Columbia-Harvard China and the World Program, or the Weatherhead East Asian Institute, please visit www.CWP.SIPA.Columbia.edu, and www.weai.columbia.edu respectively.

This search is subject to all rules and regulations of Columbia University. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/20/2019

Date Posted: 10/24/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7384

University of Texas, Rio Grande Valley

Rank: Feminist Political Economy/Women & Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty member in Feminist Political Economy and/or Women & Public Policy to begin September 1, 2020. The department is particularly interested in applicants with a critical research agenda that could include (but is not limited to) social reproduction, non-wage/uncompensated labor, gendered labor markets, feminist state theory, intersectionality, women's human rights and gender equality, globalization and its impact on women in the Global South, solidarity movements, or women and public policy (e.g., health care, poverty). Applicants may have a U.S., comparative regional, or global perspective. This position continues the department's effort to build an undergraduate and graduate program anchored in the concepts and methods of political science while simultaneously crossing disciplinary boundaries to incorporate topics, concepts, and methods utilized by other disciplines. The successful candidate will teach graduate and undergraduate courses in their substantive specialization as well as introductory courses on U.S. Federal Government & Politics. The department maintains a highly flexible teaching schedule (4 courses per academic year) that can include 1 to 2 day per week teaching schedules, evening schedules, and online teaching with possible support from graduate assistants, undergraduate research interns, and instructional coaches.

UTRGV faculty are expected to demonstrate a strong commitment to student success and to advancing the university, college, and department missions, as well as a commitment to UTRGV's vision, mission and core priorities (<http://www.utrgv.edu/strategic-plan/strategic-plan/index.htm>).

To apply, go to: <https://careers.utrgv.edu/postings/search>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/27/2019

Date Posted: 10/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7328

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowships

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Postdoctoral Fellowships – Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society

ABOUT THE FELLOWSHIPS

The Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society brings promising new scholars to Stanford University for 1-2 year appointments as postdoctoral fellows.

Currently Stanford PACS is accepting applications for two postdoctoral fellowship opportunities for the 2020-21 academic year:

- The Program on Democracy and the Internet
- The Digital Civil Society Lab

Each fellow will be affiliated with the relevant Stanford PACS initiative (either the Digital Civil Society Lab or the Program on Democracy and the Internet) and potentially also with a department or school at Stanford University.

The annual fellowship stipend is $67,000, plus the standard benefits that postdoctoral fellows at Stanford University receive, including health insurance and travel funds. The fellowship program falls under U.S. Immigration J-1 Exchange Visitor Visa activities.

The start date of the fellowship will be September 2020, unless otherwise agreed. To assume a postdoctoral fellowship, scholars must have a PhD in hand by July 1, 2020. We cannot consider applications from scholars who earned a PhD earlier than May 1, 2018.

For both of these fellowships, we encourage applications from candidates representing a broad range of disciplines including the social sciences, humanities, law, computer science and engineering.

I. Program on Democracy and the Internet

The Program on Democracy and the Internet (PDI) envisions digital technologies supporting rather than subverting democracy by maximizing the benefits and minimizing the threats through changes in policy, technology, and social and ethical technological norms.

Digital technologies are having a profound impact on democracy in the United States and around the world. New communication platforms that give voice to the previously voiceless also empower nefarious actors who seek to undermine democracy, silence journalists and minority groups, manipulate search engines, sow distrust, and more. Concerns about virality, deception, anonymity, echo chambers, and platform information monopolies pose new challenges for democracy in the digital age. Current research to understand these challenges and, on the basis of theory and evidence, craft solutions, remains nascent, fragmented, and incomplete. A strong knowledge base is critical for policy makers, corporate leaders, and technologists to make decisions that protect and promote democracy in the digital age.

The Program on Democracy and the Internet is investigating key research themes which include:

- Reform options for platforms to combat hate speech, bots, and disinformation.
- Algorithmic bias
- Deteriorating health of digital information ecosystems and its effect on democracy and civil rights
- Changes in the media landscape due to shifts caused by digital innovation.
- Impact of the internet on election campaigns and voting.

The Program on Democracy and the Internet's work draws from the social sciences, humanities, engineering, computer science, and the law to understand the challenges digital technologies pose to liberal democracies around the world.

Each fellow will collaborate with one of the PDI faculty on PDI research relevant to their field of study and current line of scholarship. The fellows will spend 20 percent of their time working on their own research and 80 percent assisting in the research of one of the PDI directors. For examples of past work, see the publications page. In addition, fellows may be asked to coordinate speaker series and seminars.

The program is led by Principal Investigators Nathaniel Persily, James B. McClatchy Professor of Law at Stanford Law School and Co-Director of the Cyber Policy Center, Francis Fukuyama, Senior Fellow at the Freeman Spogli Institute, and PACS Faculty Co-Director and Professor of Political Science, Rob Reich.

PDI is a joint initiative of the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (Stanford PACS) and the Cyber Policy Center at the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies.

For a sense of the scholarship that PDI supports, see: <https://pacscenter.stanford.edu/research/project-on-democracy-and-the-internet/projects/>.

II. Digital Civil Society Lab

The Digital Civil Society Lab (DCSL) envisions an independent civil society that thrives in the digital age through the safe, ethical and effective use of private digital resources for public benefit.

The digital age has transformed civil society participation and organization, and it has presented new challenges and threats. Our dependencies on digital software and infrastructure require new insights into how these digital systems work and how an independent civil society can engage them safely, ethically and effectively for mission.

The Digital Civil Society Lab aims to understand how digital technology has transformed civil society and shape these transformations by engaging research, practitioner and policy communities across the interconnected domains that support a thriving and independent civil society in the digital age:

- Technology: software and hardware designed for the values and interest of civil society actors
- Organizations: structures and practices that align with civil society missions and protect institutional independence from markets or governments
- Policy: legal practices and regulatory frames that protect the building blocks of civil society, including free association, speech, and privacy
- Norms: social norms and practices that promote safe and ethical data collection, generation and use, and that support the critical role of civil society in democracies

The Digital Civil Society Lab is investigating key research themes which include:

- The key dimensions of digital infrastructure and data and how they influence the role of independent civil society in democracies;
- Understanding, creating, and expanding access to software, hardware and digital practices that align with the values of civil society in democracies;
- The nature of digital data donations and/or the governance mechanisms, enterprise forms, or legal constructs that such donations require;
- Understanding interactions between global digital networks, digital activism, and traditional and emergent forms of association in civil society.

The Lab's research draws from the humanities, social sciences, engineering, computer science and the law to understand and advance the principles of civil society and democracies in the digital age.

DCSL is an initiative of the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (Stanford PACS) and is led by Lucy Bernholz, senior research scholar at Stanford PACS, and Rob Reich, professor of Political Science and faculty co-director of Stanford PACS.

For a sense of the scholarship that DCSL supports, see: <https://pacscenter.stanford.edu/research/digital-civil-society-lab/>.

Please note: Postdoctoral fellows at DCSL are expected to participate fully in a biweekly seminar series at the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society, and are expected to contribute to teaching the Digital Civil Society seminar in partnership with other DCSL faculty, scholars and postdocs.

HOW TO APPLY

To be considered for a postdoctoral fellowship with either the Program on Democracy and the Internet or with the Digital Civil Society Lab, submit an application via the online application portal.

Applicants will be asked to include the following:

- Cover letter detailing the reasons for the applicant's interest in the fellowship;
- Curriculum Vitae;
- Fellowship proposal detailing the research that the applicant would undertake while at Stanford, and how it fits within the research agenda of the specific initiative to which the applicant is applying. In this section, please disclose if you have additional funding arrangements.
- Writing sample consisting of either a dissertation chapter or a recent published paper. There are no specific page length or formatting requirements for this sample;
- Graduate transcript with proof that the applicant has completed all the requirements for the PhD, or a letter from their PhD advisor stating when they will do so;
- Two (or more) Letters of Recommendation. These should be submitted via the application portal.

CONTACT

Questions about the Program on Democracy and the Internet should be directed to Eloise Duvillier at eloise@stanford.edu.

Questions about the Digital Civil Society Lab should be directed to Heather Noelle Robinson at hnrbsn@stanford.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 1/13/2020

Date Posted: 10/11/2019

Salary: $60,000 - $69,999

eJobs ID: 7324

SUNY, Stony Brook University

Rank: Associate/Full Professor, American Politics

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

Required Qualifications:

The Department of Political Science seeks to hire in the field of American Politics beginning in the Fall 2020. We intend to review applications at the rank of Full or Associate Professor as well as those from advanced Assistant Professors who wish to be considered for a tenured appointment. The department is particularly interested in applicants with expertise in political institutions but will also consider applicants from any subfield of American politics. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field from an accredited doctoral program. Successful candidates will have a strong record of demonstrated research excellence. Advanced skills in quantitative methods and/or experiments in addition to an established track record of graduate student collaboration and mentoring are highly desirable. Additional duties include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college and university levels.

Preferred Qualifications:

Specific interests in applicants with expertise in political institutions but will also consider applicants from any subfield of American politics.

Responsibilities & Requirements:

Responsibilities will include teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels, supervision of student research and writing, carrying on a program of research, and participating in faculty governance at the departmental, college and university levels.

Special Notes:

This is a tenure track position. FLSA Exempt position, not eligible for the overtime provisions of the FLSA. Internal and external search to occur simultaneously.

Pursuant to Executive Order 161, no State entity, as defined by the Executive Order, is permitted to ask, or mandate, in any form, that an applicant for employment provide his or her current compensation, or any prior compensation history, until such time as the applicant is extended a conditional offer of employment with compensation. If such information has been requested from you before such time, please contact the Governor's Office of Employee Relations at (518) 474-6988 or via email at info@goer.ny.gov and info@goer.ny.gov.

Stony Brook University is 100% tobacco-free as of January 1, 2016. See our policy and learn more at <https://www.stonybrook.edu/tobaccofreestonybrook.edu/tobaccofree>.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.

Application Procedure:

Those interested in this position should:

1. Complete the online <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/oide-equity/resources/applicants-survey.php> Applicant Information Survey. Do not submit this survey to the department with your application. Any questions regarding the survey, please email oide@stonybrook.edu.

2. Submit a <https://www.asa.stonybrook.edu/asa/ASAFForms/Department/HRS/Document/HRSF0113State> Employment Application, cover letter, CV, and academic references at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018> or <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018>. Alternately, you may submit your application package to the departmental address below.

We will give primary consideration to all applications received by 10/28/2019, although we will continue to accept applications after that date. Interested candidates should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names of three academic references to the electronic job advertisement system at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/15018> or by mail to Chair, American Politics & Policy Search, S-701 Social and Behavioral Sciences Building, Department of Political Science, 4392 SUNY, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4392.

Inquiries regarding the position can be sent to: PoliticalScienceRecruitment@stonybrook.edu or PoliticalScienceRecruitment@stonybrook.edu.

Chair, American Politics & Policy Search
S-701 Social and Behavioral Sciences Building
Department of Political Science
4392 SUNY
Stony Brook, NY 11794-4392

Institutional Advertisement: <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/faculty-jobs/positions/faculty-librarian/current-year/Associate-Full-Professor> or <https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/faculty-jobs/positions/faculty-librarian/current-year/Associate-Full-Professor>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Date Posted: 10/8/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7308

University of Texas at Dallas

Rank: Assistant Professor

Specializations: Intelligence, International Security, Science & Technology

The Public Policy and Political Economy Program in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences at The University of Texas, Dallas is seeking applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the assistant professor rank. The hire will support a new interdisciplinary master's degree, the MS in Cyber Security, Technology, and Policy, which is collaboratively staffed with computer science and other disciplines. The goal of the degree is to prepare students to analyze cyber security and technologies issues, implementation, and analysis, within an interdisciplinary and strategic approach. We are seeking a Ph.D. in a social science or public policy-related field, who focuses on cybersecurity. Particular topics of interest include legal aspects of the regulation of technology, resilience and security, the economics of information security, the interaction of security, privacy, and technology, or analysis of cybersecurity policy, but all exceptional candidates will be considered.

The University of Texas at Dallas has the highest freshman SAT scores of any public University in Texas and was recently ranked 39th among the 100 best universities in the world under 50 years old by Times Higher Education magazine. UT Dallas is one of the youngest universities to achieve the Carnegie Commission's highest research classification of "Doctoral Universities – Highest Research Activity."

Applicants should submit letter of application, current curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation to <https://jobs.utdallas.edu/postings/13164>. Additional questions may be directed to the Search Committee Chair, Patrick Brandt (pbrandt@utdallas.edu). Review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The University of Texas at Dallas is an Equal Opportunity / Equal Access / Affirmative Action Employer and strongly encourages applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the University's faculty and administration.

Start Date: Fall 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7300

University of Virginia

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy, General Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Public Administration, Other

The Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy at the University of Virginia invites applicants to apply for a teaching faculty position. The selected applicant will teach courses as part of the Batten School's social entrepreneurship curriculum and may assume some program responsibilities in the school's social entrepreneurship center (SE@UVA). The appointment begins in August 2020. Rank is at the Assistant Professor level.

We seek candidates from a range of disciplines including political science, economics, entrepreneurship, law, business ethics, business administration, finance, or public administration. A terminal degree in one of these disciplines or a related field is required, as is teaching experience. The successful candidate's professional and/or research experience focuses on social entrepreneurship broadly defined, including but not limited to work on social enterprise, impact investing and innovative finance, or public policy related to social innovation (i.e. state-level BCorp legislation, social impact bonds, tax policy related to social enterprise, and innovative hybrid business models).

The successful candidate will have a demonstrated record of excellence in one or more of the following areas: professional experience within the social enterprise community, superior teaching and student mentoring, an interest in contributing to the scholarly community at Batten and U.Va. through collaborations with research faculty, and a research focus with a developing publication record in scholarly, practitioner, and/or policy venues.

Built upon the strong foundation of one of the nation's top public universities, the Batten School combines rigorous training in public policy with a unique emphasis on the acquisition of leadership skills. The School currently offers an MPP degree and an undergraduate major in public policy and leadership. The Batten School's SE@UVA center offers over a dozen courses to over 500 students each academic year and serves over 350 Social Entrepreneurship Minors. For more information about the center please visit www.seatuva.org.

To apply, visit <https://uva.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/UVAJobs> and search for posting number R0010558, and complete a candidate profile. Include a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, contact information for three references, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a diversity statement that describes contributions to diversity-related research, teaching, and/or service. This is a non-tenure track position. Applicant review begins November 1, 2019 and the position is open until filled. For questions about the application process please contact Rhiannon O'Coin, Academic Recruiter at rmo2r@virginia.edu

UVA assists faculty spouses and partners seeking employment in the Charlottesville area. To learn more please visit <http://provost.virginia.edu/dual-career>.

For more information about UVA and the surrounding area, please visit: <http://uvacharge.virginia.edu/guide.html>.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/1/2019

Date Posted: 10/6/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7296

Berry College

Rank: Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Government and International Studies

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Political Parties & Organizations, Electoral Behavior, Public Opinion

The Department of Government and International Studies at Berry College seeks a scholar-teacher-mentor who will engage our students in courses focusing on campaigns and elections, interest groups, public opinion, or policy (with an American or a regional focus) and will be competent to teach social science research methods. We seek an innovative teacher who will create new courses that invite students from other disciplines into the study of political science and international affairs. This Tenure-Track position begins in August 2020. The successful candidate will typically teach a 3-3 load, with their upper-level course and 2 sections of a course in our Foundations Program (American National Government, Comparative Politics, or Contemporary World Issues). Noted for its mentoring of students, the department offers an excellent undergraduate education that emphasizes the development of strong writing and critical thinking skills that will prepare students for entry into the workforce or for advanced study. We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and scholarship will add diversity to the college curriculum and engage the community, including by cultivating internship opportunities. Candidates from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. All applicants should describe in their statement of teaching philosophy their experience with, and/or commitment to, teaching a diverse student body.

Minimum Qualifications: PhD required by August 2020. An active research agenda, an interest in mentoring undergraduate research, and a demonstrated commitment to teaching undergraduates from a range of disciplines, cultures, and academic backgrounds is essential.

Berry is a selective independent college of 2,100 located adjacent to Rome, GA, midway between Atlanta, GA, and Chattanooga, TN. Berry's educational approach deliberately unites challenging academic programs with practical work experience in a residential campus community that encourages faith and emphasizes caring for the needs of others above self. This commitment to an "education of the head, heart and hands" remains as relevant today as when our founder instilled this ethic more than a century ago.

Nationally recognized for quality of learning and quality of life, Berry offers first-rate undergraduate degree programs in the sciences, humanities, arts and human sciences, as well as undergraduate and master's level opportunities in business and teacher education. The College's stunning 27,000-acre campus affords opportunities that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Berry's ongoing commitment is to provide exceptional educational experiences to talented students from a wide range of social and economic backgrounds.

The college provides benefit options with no employee costs for medical, dental, disability, and life insurance, including spouse and dependents at a reduced rate. An Equal Opportunity Institution, Berry complies with all applicable laws and provisions prohibiting discrimination in its educational and employment policies. Berry respects the essential dignity of all individuals and accordingly hires and promotes employees without regard to matters of personal identity such as ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, and political affiliation.

Berry College is committed to ensuring facilities, programs, services, and activities are accessible to everyone, including those seeking employment at Berry College. Inquiries about interview or workplace accommodations are welcomed and can be directed to Wayne Phipps, Director of Human Resources, at 706.290.2698.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, along with a current CV, copies of transcripts, a statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference to Darla Fox, Department of Government and International Studies, dfox@berry.edu. Email inquiries: esands@berry.edu. For more information on our program, please visit our website at: <https://www.berry.edu/academics/majors/political-science>.

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2019 and materials must be received by that date to ensure full consideration.

Persons applying for employment with Berry College may be required to submit a full national background check. Berry College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 7269

Hertie School

Rank: Professor of Sustainability

The Hertie School, Berlin

A European Professional School for Public Policy is recruiting a

Professor of Sustainability

Professor or Assistant Professor

The Hertie School is recruiting a Professor or Assistant Professor of Sustainability, with a research agenda in environmental as well as economic and/or social sustainability.

Relevant research areas in environmental sustainability may include (among others) biodiversity, cities and transport, pollution, agriculture and/or land use and water. An ideal candidate combines this with a research agenda in economic and/or social sustainability, which may include (among others) human well-being, inequality and poverty, inter-generational justice, environmental accounting, sustainable economic growth, environmental taxation, large-scale risk, long-term policy design, and/or evolution of norms.

The candidate will contribute to the development of the new Hertie Centre for Sustainability and will interact with faculty members with expertise in climate change and energy. Applicants should be interested in working in an interdisciplinary environment.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree relevant for the position, or expect to have this degree by the start of employment. We are looking for a candidate with a background in economics, though this does not have to be a PhD. An early career candidate will be appointed as tenure-track Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts). A more advanced candidate would initially be on a fixed contract of negotiable length prior to a tenure review. In highly exceptional circumstances, a particularly outstanding candidate may be appointed with tenure.

The expected start date is 1 September 2020.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research, teaching, and outreach at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a commitment to teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes and be able to collaborate with new centres of competence which will be set up over the next years. Those are the Jacques Delors Institute Berlin – Centre for European Affairs, the Centre for International Security Policy, the Centre on Fundamental Rights, the Centre for Sustainability, the Centre on Digital Governance, and the Hertie School Data Science Lab. The successful candidate is expected to actively contribute to the research and outreach activities of the Centre for Sustainability.

As a private university, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Germany's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community as well as to the policy world.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. It takes a family friendly workplace seriously.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 30 November 2019. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Early career candidates should include three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with their work.

To submit your application, please upload the requested documents here:

<https://hertie-school.dvnci-easy.com/en/p/en/jobs/184/professor-of-sustainability-fmdiv-professor-or-assistant-professor>

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Christian Flachsland (flachsland@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/30/2019

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7260

W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research

Rank: Researcher/Senior Researcher

Hiring Full-Time Researcher/Senior Researcher

The W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research invites Ph.D. researchers in political science, economics, sociology, public policy or a related field to apply for a full-time research position. Recent Ph.Ds. may apply for a Researcher position, and those with at least 5 years of experience and an established publication record in peer-reviewed journals may apply for a Senior Researcher position.

The Upjohn Institute is an endowed, nonprofit research organization that conducts independent, nonpartisan research on employment-related issues. The Institute offers a thriving and collaborative research environment. Our staff includes eleven Ph.Ds. who share common research interests and are excellent colleagues. The Institute's endowment allows researchers considerable freedom in developing their agenda within the Institute's mission. Research staff also seek funding from foundations or government agencies as a way of augmenting their research or becoming more involved in finding practical solutions to employment problems. Researchers receive excellent support from in-house staff, including research assistants, computer specialists, information and database specialists, and administrative assistants.

The Institute is searching for candidates who have demonstrated strong analytical skills, excellent oral and written communication skills for both academic and lay audiences, and a strong interest in addressing policy-relevant issues. The Institute offers competitive salaries and benefits. The Institute is an equal opportunity employer.

Interested applicants should submit a letter of introduction, curriculum vitae, and two research papers to hr@upjohn.org. The position is open until filled.

About Kalamazoo, Michigan

Home of the Kalamazoo Promise, Kalamazoo is a progressive metropolitan area in Southwest Michigan, located just 30 minutes from the shores of Lake Michigan. Centered halfway between Chicago and Detroit, it has a rich arts culture and a strong educational community that includes Kalamazoo College, a private liberal arts college, and Western Michigan University, a large public research institution with a nationally-recognized medical school.

Start Date: Winter 2019

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 7263

West Virginia University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Assistant Professor – Public Policy – Department of Political Science
Job Number: 13076

The Department of Political Science at West Virginia University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Public Policy. The Department welcomes applications from all qualified specialists in Public Policy, across all subfield specializations. The successful applicant must have a Ph.D. or equivalent doctoral degree in Political Science or a closely related field and demonstrate strong theoretical interests, appropriate methodological skills, an active research agenda, the potential to secure external funding for research, and potential for excellent teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The teaching load for research-active graduate faculty is two courses per semester. The successful candidate will be expected to teach classes that complement the Department's current offerings at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

The Department has a faculty of 18 and offers a full range of academic programs (B.A., M.A., and Ph.D.), and resides within the University's new interdisciplinary John D. Rockefeller IV School of Policy and Politics. West Virginia University is classified as a Carnegie R1 institution (Doctoral University-Very High Research Activity) and has about 27,000 students on the Morgantown campus. The city of Morgantown, which is often ranked among the best small cities in the United States, is conveniently located within driving distance of Pittsburgh, Columbus, Ohio, and Washington, D.C.

To apply for this position, visit <https://careers.wvu.edu>, navigate to the position title listed above, and submit a letter of application, a curriculum vita, a description of teaching interests and capabilities, and samples of written work. In addition, arrange to have three letters of recommendation sent to PolicySearch@mail.wvu.edu. Review of applications will begin on November 11, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. For additional information, please see <https://politicalscience.wvu.edu> or contact Professor John C. Kilwein at john.kilwein@mail.wvu.edu.

WVU is an Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and the recipient of an NSF ADVANCE award for gender equity. The university is committed to diversity and welcomes applications from all qualified individuals, including minorities, females, individuals with disabilities, and veterans.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 10/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 7265

Syracuse University

Rank: Assistant or Associate, Health Care Policy & Management

Subfield(s): Public Administration, International Relations, Public Policy

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs (PAIA) in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University seeks to hire a tenured or tenure track professor in the field of health care policy and management, at either the Assistant or Associate level, beginning in fall 2020.

We are interested in attracting a creative, engaging, and innovative colleague with credentials in health care policy and/or management. We welcome a variety of specializations including but not limited to the financing and delivery of health care; the organization and management of health care delivery systems; the politics of health care policy reform; and the impact of health care policy reform on the delivery of healthcare. Candidates with domestic, international, or comparative perspectives are welcome. Applicants should have an active research agenda and a demonstrated commitment to teaching excellence. Responsibilities of the position include maintaining a research program, teaching in the department's world-renowned professional master programs, teaching one or more undergraduate courses, mentoring MPA and PhD students, and engaging in service.

Our department is collegial, supportive, and interdisciplinary. We welcome applicants from a range of disciplinary backgrounds, including but not limited to public administration, public management, public policy, health administration, economics, political science, sociology, public health, social work, and other social science fields.

This recruitment is part of an ambitious Invest Syracuse Cluster Hire Initiative in the broad area of Aging, Behavioral Health, and Neuroscience. As an integral part of this investment, Syracuse University will recruit multiple candidates for faculty positions for a research cluster in the focus area of aging. Faculty hired into these positions will build on our existing strengths in the focus area and will participate in an organized research cluster that spans multiple departments in the Maxwell School, the College of Arts and Sciences, Falk College, and the College of Engineering and Computer Science. In addition, the individual will also have the opportunity to become affiliated with one or more of the University's other interdisciplinary research centers such as the University's Aging Studies Institute, Maxwell School's Center of Policy Research or the Maxwell School's Program for Advancement of Research on Conflict and Collaboration. Therefore, a track record of collaborative research output is particularly desirable, and record of success in obtaining research support, particularly from the National Institutes of Health or the National Science Foundation.

The Department of Public Administration and International Affairs at the Maxwell School is home to the world's first master of public administration program, which is ranked first among more than 250 graduate public affairs programs in the United States and has several top-ranked specialties (U.S. News & World Report). The department is also home to a top-ranked master's program in international relations (Foreign Policy magazine), as well as several other programs, including a Ph.D. in public administration, a master's degree in public health, executive master's degrees in public administration and international relations, and a wide range of certificate programs.

To be considered, candidates must complete an online faculty application (available at <http://www.sujobopps.com/postings/76528>) and attach: a letter of interest, a CV, a sample of professional writing, names and complete contact information for 3 references. Files may be no larger than 5MB, but you may submit an external link to a larger file if needed. Applications will be reviewed as they arrive with full consideration given to those received by November 1. However, applications will be considered until the position is filled.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/25/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6228

Northeastern University

Rank: URBAN INFORMATICS CLUSTER HIRE, OPEN RANK - ASSISTANT/ASSOCIATE/FULL PROFESSOR

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Open, Other

Specializations: Urban Politics, Criminal Justice, Quantitative Methods

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities at Northeastern University seeks nominations and applications for several tenured or tenure-track faculty positions in computational social science, with a focus on urban informatics, quantitative methods, or network science, with an expected start date of Fall 2020. Successful candidates will have a distinguished scholarly record using methodological approaches that leverage and work with large or complex data sources to study social phenomena, including but not limited to questions pertaining to cities and communities. We have special interest in scholars whose work includes the use of administrative, scraped, archival, or internet-gathered data. We are seeking scholars who work in spatial, network, or textual analysis, and/or use machine-learning tools. Competitive applicants will also have demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and leadership. Faculty appointments will be made in one or more of the member departments of the CSSH, including the School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Department of Economics, and the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Cross-college appointments are possible. Successful applicants will likely affiliate with one of our research centers dedicated to this work, including the Boston Area Research Initiative, the NULab for Texts, Maps, and Networks, or the Network Science Institute.

The position will support the University's commitment to innovation in experiential learning as well as the college's mission in integrating data and technology in the analysis of society, policy, and governance. Candidates should have demonstrated commitment to fostering diverse and inclusive environments as well as to promoting experiential learning, which are central to a Northeastern University education.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, research statement, teaching statement, and writing sample, as well as the names of three references. For those who would be appointed at the assistant professor level, we will request references upon receipt of application.

To apply, please go to <http://www.northeastern.edu/cssh/faculty-positions> and click on the link for full-time positions or full-time interdisciplinary positions or if viewing this description on the Northeastern University website, click "Apply to this job." Please address nominations and inquiries about the position to Professor Daniel O'Brien, at d.obrien@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin Oct. 15th and will continue until the position is filled.

The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is a leader in the Experiential Liberal Arts. Founded in 1898, Northeastern University is a dynamic and highly selective urban research university in the center of Boston. Grounded in its signature co-op program, Northeastern provides unprecedented global experiential learning opportunities. The College is strongly committed to fostering excellence through diversity and enthusiastically welcomes nominations and applications from members of groups underrepresented in academia.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/24/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6217

Georgia Institute of Technology

Rank: Assistant Professor-Public Policy

Dear Colleagues:

The Georgia Institute of Technology's School of Public Policy is seeking applications for a tenure-track position, assistant professor rank. We are seeking a Ph.D. who will teach public finance. Applicants may be from a variety of disciplinary and field perspectives in keeping with the interdisciplinary profile of our School. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

We seek to expand our existing strengths in one of the core areas of the department, including: science, technology and innovation policy; climate, energy and environmental policy; information and communication technologies, and cybersecurity policy; philosophy and ethics; and data analytics and other research methods. We also are expanding our expertise in the social policy, and urban and regional economic development areas. Our work in these areas benefits from synergy with Georgia Tech's world-class programs in the sciences, engineering, computer science, design and planning, and business. Job duties will include research, teaching and advising students, and service activities at Georgia Tech.

Applicants should submit: 1) a cover letter; 2) curriculum vitae; 3) up to three publications; 4) a research statement, including descriptions of future research plans; 5) a teaching statement, including descriptions of teaching interests; and 6) names and contact information of three academic references. Please apply using the on-line application process at <https://academicjobsonline.org>. Direct any questions by email to facsearch@pubpolicy.gatech.edu with "PubP Asst. Professor" in the subject line. Applications are due on or before December 15, 2019. An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment, and a background check must be completed prior to employment.

The School of Public Policy has 30 faculty members and we instruct students in undergraduate, master's and Ph.D. programs. See our webpage at <http://spp.gatech.edu/> for more information. Georgia Tech is a top-ranked public research university situated in the heart of Atlanta, a diverse and vibrant city with great economic and cultural strengths. The Institute is a member of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Research Alliance, and the Association of American Universities. Georgia Tech prides itself on its technology resources, collaborations, high-quality student body, and its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Georgia Tech is an equal education/employment opportunity institution dedicated to building a diverse community. We welcome all qualified applicants to apply, including women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities. Georgia Tech has policies to promote a healthy work-life balance and is aware that attracting faculty may require meeting the needs of two careers.

Sincerely yours,
Kaye Husbands Fealing Chair, School of Public Policy

Start Date:

Application Deadline: 12/15/2019

Date Posted: 9/20/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6203

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - International Development

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for junior faculty positions in international development, with an interest in program evaluation and applying scholarship to policy and practice. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by the beginning of the appointment and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/68842. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) two letters of recommendation; and 3) one writing sample. Review of applications will begin on September 26, 2019. No applications will be accepted after December 1, 2019.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/19/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6200

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Open

American Political Science Association

Rank: Congressional Fellowships for Political Scientists

The American Political Science Association Congressional Fellowship Program is currently accepting online applications for congressional fellowships for political scientists. The nine-month program in Washington, D.C., gives scholars a hands-on understanding of Congress through placements in congressional offices.

Fellows begin their fellowship year with a comprehensive one-month orientation with congressional experts and policy leaders. Fellows then work in full-time placements of their choosing in a personal office or committee in the House of Representatives or Senate.

The fellowship year also features:

- winter and spring seminar series on congress;
- visit to the district or state of a Member of Congress;
- optional study programs in Annapolis, Maryland, and Ottawa, Canada; and
- ongoing guidance and mentoring from program staff and alumni.

Orientation begins November 2020. Office placements run until August 15, 2021. Two optional programs directly precede the main fellowship program: a two-month course on Congress and Foreign Policy, taught at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, and a fellowship through the William A. Steiger fund to spend up to two months at the APSA Centennial Center carrying out a project in legislative studies.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have completed a PhD in the last 15 years or will have defended a dissertation by November 2020.

Applications are welcome from political scientists in all subfields who can demonstrate a scholarly interest in Congress and the policymaking process.

Preference is given to those without extensive Capitol Hill experience.

Application Procedure: Applications must be <https://apsa.wufoo.com/forms/qlolhl0dn0mzd/submitted> online and include:

- CV;
- 500-word personal statement;
- names and contact information for three references; and
- one sole-authored writing sample.

Applicants may apply through the same online form for the two optional pre-fellowship programs.

Submit your application for the 2020-2021 fellowship year by Tuesday, December 3, 2019. Please send questions about the program to <mailto:cfp@apsanet.org> or cfp@apsanet.org.

Start Date: November 2020

Salary: $52,500 for the 9.5-month fellowship period, plus travel allowance. Fellows who are also selected for a fellowship through the Steiger Fund will receive a stipend for the duration of the Steiger Fellowship.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/3/2019

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: $50,000 - $59,999

eJobs ID: 6172

The University of Scranton

Rank: Assistant Professor: American Politics

The Department of Political Science at The University of Scranton invites applications for a full-time tenure-track assistant professor position in American Politics to begin in August 2020.

We seek qualified applicants with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, scholarship, and service that would support the mission of the University of Scranton. We are particularly interested in candidates with expertise in political institutions and policy making processes. Teaching responsibilities include the U.S. Politics introductory course, Congress, public policy in the candidate's area of expertise, and research methods. Pre-tenure teaching load is ordinarily 3/3.

The capability to develop an active research program that involves mentoring undergraduates is preferred. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to our Public Affairs-Public Administration program.

Strong ABD candidates in Political Science or related field required; candidates with a Ph.D. in Political Science or related field at time of appointment preferred.

Apply online at <https://universityofscrantonjobs.com>. Please include in the online application 1) a letter of interest addressing qualifications, teaching philosophy and research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, 3) article/chapter length writing sample, and 4) contact information for three professional references.

Review of applications will begin on October 21, 2019. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Please contact Dr. Mike Allison, Chair of the Department of Political Science, via email at michael.allison@scranton.edu for questions about the position.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/13/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6179

California State University, Channel Islands

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): Public Law, Political Theory, Public Policy

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Political Science Department at California State University seeks applicants for the position of Assistant Professor specializing in Public Law.

--Applicants must be thoroughly prepared to teach courses in Judicial Politics, Judicial Process, Constitutional Law, Civil Liberties, Immigration Law, and the like

--Applicants whose primary field of study is Political Philosophy or Theory are discouraged from applying. However, the ability to teach Political Philosophy as a secondary focus is an asset.

Our department has a strong record of teaching and research. We offer a rich curriculum in which most aspects of the discipline and many areas of the globe are covered. Given the depth of our faculty's expertise and the range of the courses we offer, our strengths lie in the areas of American politics, international relations, comparative politics, political theory, and public law.

The program's accomplishments are not limited to its faculty. Our students regularly present their papers at national or regional conferences. The program's Model United Nations Program is one of the most successful in the nation and has been repeatedly recognized for its outstanding achievements. The department is developing a strong pre-law focus with an eye toward offering students the opportunity to engage in moot court competitions and judicial internships.

CSU Channel Islands is a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants should demonstrate the ability and commitment to effectively work with and engage a diverse student population and evidence of successful mentoring minoritized students with a special focus on Latinx, African-American, and Native American students.

Required Qualifications

--Ph.D. in Political Science

--Extensive training in judicial politics and American law

--Evidence of a commitment to student-centered education

--Evidence of a commitment to interdisciplinarity

--Evidence of an active research agenda in the subfield of public law and judicial politics

--Enthusiasm for continuing to build a strong, extra-curricular pre-law program

Preferred Qualifications

--Ability to teach in a secondary field, preferably political philosophy

--Willingness to engage and mentor students in field-appropriate research

--Active participation in the life of the department and university

--Willingness to participate in developing an MPA program and offering appropriate courses

--Ability to cope with ambiguity

Apply online: <https://www.csucifacultyjobs.com>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 9/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6161

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - Economics

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for junior faculty positions in Economics. The search is open with respect to field, but we especially encourage applications from scholars focused in education, inequality, health, crime, and urban policy issues. Applicants must expect to have completed their Ph.D. by July 31, 2020 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

The apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/68259. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae; 2) two letters of recommendation; and 3) one writing sample. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a third letter of reference and/or additional writing samples. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2019. No applications will be accepted after May 15, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6152

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate or Full Professor - Political Economy

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for tenured faculty positions in public policy, political science, and economics. The search is open with respect to rank – Associate or Full. We are interested in scholars with research focused in political institutions, economic theory, and international trade. Applicants must apply through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic jobs board at: apply.interfolio.com/68258. Applicants must submit a curriculum vitae and at least one sample publication. Review of applications will begin on October 10, 2019. No applications will be accepted after June 30, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 9/10/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6153

Stanford University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, International Relations, Public Policy

The Stanford King Center on Global Development's Postdoctoral Fellows Program offers fellowships to outstanding new PhDs who have a demonstrated ability to generate high quality, policy relevant research on critical issues related to global development and poverty alleviation.

We invite applications for multidisciplinary postdoctoral fellowships to start summer/fall 2020 for one year (and will consider two years). The Center's postdoctoral fellows program is intended for promising new and recent PhD recipients—coming from fields such as computer science, earth systems science, economics, engineering, health policy, political science, and sociology—to pursue policy relevant research on topics related to critical issues for international development and poverty alleviation.

The Center's postdoctoral fellows will be active members of the community of development researchers at Stanford University. The Center provides a competitive salary plus support for travel and research expenses.

For full consideration, candidates should submit all materials by December 1, 2019 via the application form linked from the King Center's website.

For more details and information please visit <https://kingcenter.stanford.edu/research/postdoctoralfellowsprogram>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/1/2019

Date Posted: 9/1/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6105

University of Chicago

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for junior faculty positions in Political Science. The search is open with respect to subfield. Applicants are expected to complete a Ph.D. by July 31, 2020 and demonstrate strong promise for a scholarly career.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic job board at: apply.interfolio.com/67498. Applicants are required to submit: 1) curriculum vitae, 2) two letters of recommendation, 3) one writing sample, and 4) a no more than one-page abstract from their job market paper or dissertation. Applicants may also submit additional optional documents such as: a cover letter, research statement, teaching statement, additional writing sample, and/or third letter of reference. Review of applications will begin on September 30, 2019. No applications will be accepted after May 15, 2020.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-702-1032 or email equalopportunity@uchicago.edu with their request.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 8/27/2019

Salary: Competitive
eJobs ID: 6056

Middle Georgia State University

Rank: Part-Time Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Administration, Public Policy

Middle Georgia State University has part-time employment opportunities for Political Science instructors, both online and on its campuses in Georgia (Macon, Warner Robins, Cochran, Eastman, and Dublin) for day and evening classes. Our primary need at this time is for faculty qualified to teach, and interested in teaching, American Government (POLS 1101), although opportunities to teach other courses may also be available.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: To qualify for a teaching position, a candidate is required to have a minimum of an earned master's degree in Political Science or a closely related field (such as Public Administration or Public Policy), or a master's degree in another field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in Political Science courses.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Christopher Lawrence, Chair - Department of Political Science. E-mail: christopher.lawrence@mga.edu. Informal inquiries welcome.

TO APPLY: Interested candidates should submit a letter of interest with a current curriculum vitae or resume, unofficial transcripts from both undergraduate and graduate courses, a list of 2 references with email and phone contact information, and statement of teaching philosophy to: recruitment@mga.edu.

Start Date: Spring 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/26/2019

Salary: Below $20,000

eJobs ID: 6049

University of Texas at El Paso

Rank: Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics

The University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics beginning August 2020. As a Carnegie R1 university, we seek scholars with a strong research agenda in either of these specializations to help grow the prestige of our department. The successful candidate will help to continue UTEP's strong tradition of providing under-represented students with access to a quality education and facilitating their success in professional careers. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Public Policy and/or American Behavioral Politics. The ability to teach courses in research methods (graduate and undergraduate) is desirable. Our needs in Public Policy (American or Comparative) are broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (urban and regional planning, health policy, political economy, and policy analysis, etc). Our needs in American Behavioral Politics are also broad and can include a focus in one or more areas (citizen decision-making, public opinion, media and politics, voting behavior, and race/gender and politics, etc.). A strong record of peer-reviewed publications will ultimately be required for tenure.

Required Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field. ABD applicants near completion will be considered. The degree must be completed by the time of appointment. Candidates must show promise of excellence in research and teaching to be considered; evidence of excellence in research and teaching is preferred.

Salary: Competitive and commensurate with experience.

About UTEP and El Paso: Set against the backdrop of the Franklin Mountains in the Chihuahuan Desert, The University of Texas at El Paso is located along the U.S.–Mexico border in one of the world's largest binational communities. UTEP's award-winning, sustainably designed campus landscape and unique Bhutanese architecture create an energizing and tranquil oasis in the bustling El Paso–Juárez metroplex of 2.7 million residents. El Paso is a highly livable, bicultural community of almost 700,000 people that offers affordable homes and attractive neighborhoods. It has consistently been named among the safest large U.S. cities. El Paso experiences almost 300 days of sunshine annually, and residents enjoy outdoor activities year-round. The City of El Paso is adjacent to the state of New Mexico and the country of Mexico, making it an ideal venue for academic programs and research studies on topics of national interest, such as bilingual education/language acquisition, border environment and immigration, environmental sustainability and infrastructure, health disparities, and international trade and commerce.

Application Procedure: The deadline for applications is October 21, 2019 and the review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Interested individuals must submit a curriculum vita, letter of interest, graduate transcripts, evidence of teaching quality (sample syllabi/statement of teaching philosophy), article/chapter length writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Please contact Dr. Todd A. Curry by email (tacurry@utep.edu) for questions about the position.

To apply, please visit <https://www.utep.edu/employment>
 Hiring decisions are subject to final budget approval.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 10/21/2019

Date Posted: 8/23/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 6009

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor, American Politics and Public Policy

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, International Relations

Specializations: Housing, Education Policy, Criminal Justice

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego <http://gps.ucsd.edu> (formerly known as School of International Relations and Pacific Studies) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor or tenured Associate professor in American politics and public policy, with an emphasis on political institutions and the policy making process, to begin July 1, 2020.

All applicants must have a PhD in the area of Political Science, Public Policy, or a related policy discipline conferred by the time of appointment. Please note that we are searching at both the junior and tenured levels. Successful candidates will have demonstrated research and teaching interests in American political institutions and policy-making. While we encourage applications from scholars studying all areas of Public Policy, GPS has particular interest in Health, Education, Criminal Justice, Transportation, or Housing Policy.

The School of Global Policy and Strategy at UC San Diego (UCSD) is committed to academic excellence and diversity within the faculty, staff and student body. Preferred candidates should demonstrate the highest standards of professional research, teaching, and service and contribute to our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion in higher education.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications and based on University of California pay scales. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2019 and continue until the position is filled.

To Apply: Candidates should submit: a curriculum vitae; two writing samples; a personal statement that includes a description of research, training, and teaching; a summary of past or potential contributions to diversity (see <http://facultyequity.ucsd.edu/Faculty-Applicant-C2D-Info.asp>); and three (3) letters of reference.

All applicant materials including reference information should be submitted via UCSD Academic Personnel On-Line at:

Assistant Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02210>

Associate Professor: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02211>

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Summer 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/12/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5965

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): Public Policy, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Law & Organizations

The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for a postdoctoral research position for the 2020-2021 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Post-doctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines bearing on the study of Economic Diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment (September 28, 2020 – June 11, 2021), and to interact with faculty and Ph.D. students, giving at least one research talk. Selected fellows are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019, for full consideration; however, the posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process: All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://apol-recruit.ucsd.edu/JPF02196>

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or receive a Ph.D. degree in Economics, Political Science, Economic History, Legal History, or other disciplines related to the study of Economic Diplomacy by the start of appointment.

Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on December 6, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary - Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. CCD Fellows will receive applicable UCSD benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the UCSD's background check policy.

For more information about the Center for Commercial Diplomacy fellowship program, please contact Alexandra Hubenko, Executive Director, at ahubenko@ucsd.edu

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/7/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5926

Sabancı University

Rank: Open Rank - Comparative Politics/ Public Policy (Sabancı University)

FACULTY POSITION in POLITICAL SCIENCE

Sabancı University, Istanbul, Turkey

The Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS) at Sabancı University invites applications for an open-rank, full-time or visiting position from outstanding candidates whose primary research interests involve Comparative Politics/Public Policy. We are particularly interested in scholars who conduct research in one of the following areas: Turkish Politics, policy evaluation or social policy.

The successful candidate will be expected to conduct high-impact research, undertake grant applications, supervise graduate students, engage in citizenship activities, and teach graduate and undergraduate courses. Applicants will be evaluated based on both past performance and future potential in these areas.

Sabancı University is a private, department-free, innovative academic institution located in Istanbul. The University is strongly committed to interdisciplinary research and teaching both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. The medium of instruction is English with a teaching load of two courses per semester. The University admits top-ranking students for its undergraduate programs through a centralized university entrance examination. Faculty members are provided with highly competitive salary and benefits including an annual personal research fund, health insurance, and housing on campus (or housing allowance).

Review of applications will start immediately and continue until the position is filled. The successful candidate is expected to start in September 2020.

Interested applicants should submit (i) a cover letter, (ii) a research statement, (iii) a teaching statement and related documents regarding the applicant's teaching experience and preferences, (iv) a CV, (v) two research papers, and (vi) three letters of reference using the online application form of the University at:

<https://sucrm.sabanciuniv.edu/academiccv/application.php>

For further questions, please contact:

Inci Ceydeli, Faculty Administrative Manager, inci@sabanciuniv.edu
<http://fass.sabanciuniv.edu/>

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 8/5/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5911

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, International Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the 2020-2021 academic year. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 – July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline: Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12561>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5845

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Regional Political Economy - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Specializations: East Asia, Latin American, Middle East

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs invite applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 for the Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process - All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12563>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. or expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2020 in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5847

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow - Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Other

Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Political Economy

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks up to eight visitors for the 2020-2021 academic year Visiting Fellowship Program. These awards are designed to promote basic research in the broad areas of international and comparative political economy, international organization and global governance, and globalization. Research on the causes and consequences of globalization, the political economy of foreign trade, monetary and regulatory policies, the sources of international cooperation at the global and regional level, the domestic and international politics of economic development, the political economy of human security issues, the evolution and impact of international institutions, and the politics of international law and human rights policies is of relevance.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites candidates with a background in political science, economics, modern history, sociology, anthropology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of globalization to apply. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Friday, November 29, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12564>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 5, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 11/29/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5844

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Fellow in Regional Political Economy – Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, Princeton University
Specializations: Middle East, East Asia, Latin American

The Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance (NCGG) at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs seeks two visitors or more candidates for the Visiting Fellowship Program in regional political economy for the 2020-2021 academic year. This fellows program is targeted at developing a generation of scholars able to analyze and make policy recommendations about the regional political economy in the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Center invites candidates with a background in economics, political science, contemporary history, sociology, law, business, and other disciplines bearing on the study of markets, politics, and economic development, focusing on the regions of the Middle East, East, South, or Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America to apply. Scholarly work should explore the ways in which the politics within and between a set of countries intersect with natural resource endowments, market conditions, technological and physical infrastructure, and cultural biases to explain existing patterns of economic development and to promote higher levels of development more effectively. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the fellowship (September 1, 2020 - July 1, 2021).

Application Deadline – Applicants should apply by Monday, December 9, 2019 (11:59pm EST), for full consideration, however; posting will remain open until filled.

Application Process – All candidates must use the online application process to submit materials at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/12562>.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. in one of the above-mentioned disciplines. To apply, please provide the following:

- Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests;
- Current curriculum vitae including publications;
- 2,000-word description of the proposed research project, including its specific objectives, importance, and research design;
- One writing sample (limit of 100 pages);
- Contact information for three references, who will be asked to comment specifically on the applicant's qualifications for the proposed research project. Referees will be contacted directly by email with instructions for submitting a confidential recommendation on your behalf. Letters of reference are to be submitted by the end of business day on Thursday, December 12, 2019. Complete your application well before the deadline so that references can be submitted in a timely manner.

Candidates who hold positions at academic institutions may also be required to submit:

- Home institution policy with regard to sabbatical pay;
- A confidential statement indicating salary for the current academic year (September 2019 - July 1, 2020).

Salary – Rank and salary will be contingent on qualifications. NCGG Fellows will receive applicable Princeton University benefits, a taxable moving allowance, and a $5,000 research fund.

Successful applicants will be notified of the outcome of their application in February 2020. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

For more information about the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance fellowship program, please contact Patricia Trinity, Assistant Director at ptrinity@princeton.edu.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: 12/9/2019

Date Posted: 8/1/2019

Salary: Negotiable

eJobs ID: 5846

University of Chicago

Rank: Associate/Full Professor-Development

The Harris School of Public Policy at the University of Chicago invites applications for a tenured faculty position in international economics and public policy. The position can be at the rank of tenured associate or full professor. We are searching for scholars whose research interests include at least one of: the economics of international development, political economy, energy and the environment, trade, social policy, security, and other aspects of public policy in international contexts. Research interest and experience in India are an advantage.

To apply for this position, candidates must submit their application through the University of Chicago's Interfolio academic jobs board at: apply.interfolio.com/65117. Applicants must upload a curriculum vitae and at least one sample publication. Review of applications will begin on August 5, 2019. No applications will be accepted after June 30, 2020.

Start Date:

Date Posted: 7/3/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5743

Rowan University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, Methodology

The Department of Political Science and Economics at Rowan University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor of Political Science position beginning in Fall 2020. The Department seeks candidates with expertise in public policy. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to excellence in both research and teaching, as well as the potential to secure external grant/fellowship support. Teaching responsibilities include introductory and advanced courses in public policy and American politics. A 3/3 teaching load is guaranteed for the first two years and can be renewed annually with evidence of continuing scholarship. Female candidates and candidates of color are strongly encouraged to apply. Rowan University is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or status as a protected veteran.

If you plan to attend the American Political Science Association (APSA) conference in Washington D.C. and would like to meet, please send your CV and a letter of application by August 1 to pluta@rowan.edu. We plan to meet with a limited number of applicants during the conference; however, all applicants will have equal consideration, regardless of attendance at APSA. Full applications should be submitted through the online applicant tracking system as discussed below.

Rowan University is a comprehensive state-designated research institution with approximately 15,000 students. Its main campus is located in Glassboro, N.J., 20-miles southeast of Philadelphia and it has a branch campus and medical school in Camden and a second medical school in nearby Stratford. The University boasts seven colleges—Rohrer College of Business and colleges of Communication and Creative Arts, Education, Engineering, Humanities and Social Sciences, Performing Arts, and Science and Mathematics.

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) is the second largest college at Rowan University with seven departments, seven interdisciplinary programs, and seventeen majors. The College also has a number of established graduate programs and is in the process of developing more programs at the Master's and Doctoral level. The College also houses a number of Centers and Institutes that serve both research and pedagogical functions. CHSS places a strong emphasis on exceptional teaching, research and service. Our mission is to empower, transform, and engage students and faculty, as well as the global communities in which we live. We actively support faculty research and strive to include faculty as full partners in governance within the College.

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Political Science (or related field) by August 1, 2020. Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The first full review of applications will begin on October 28, 2019. Applications must be submitted through our online applicant tracking system at <http://jobs.rowan.edu/cw/en-us/job/493760/assistant-professor-of-political-science-tenure-track>.

Applications must include a cover letter, a CV, unofficial transcripts, a writing sample, and a teaching portfolio (including a statement of teaching philosophy, courses taught, teaching evaluations, etc.). Please do not submit letters of reference at this time.

Rowan University values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Candidates must demonstrate authorization to work in the United States. All positions are contingent upon budget appropriations.

Start Date: Fall 2020

Application Deadline: Open until Filled

Date Posted: 6/11/2019

Salary: Competitive

eJobs ID: 5684