Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

ADMINISTRATION

Congressional Research Service

Rank: Assistant Director and Senior Specialist (American Law Division)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Other

Open: 08/12/2020 to 10/07/2020

Salary: $131,239 to $197,300 per year

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) seeks a senior manager to lead its American Law Division (ALD), one of CRS's five research divisions. CRS provides objective, nonpartisan, and authoritative legislative research, analysis, and consultative support exclusively to the U.S. Congress.

This position serves as head of the American Law Division, a major CRS research division. In this capacity, and reporting directly to the Director of CRS, the Assistant Director manages, within the interdisciplinary environment of CRS, a professional legal staff in its production of written products and consulting services in support of the U.S. Congress.

Working directly with congressional committees and Members of the House and Senate, attorneys within CRS's American Law Division contribute to an informed national legislature as it considers legal and policy issues of importance to the American people. Areas of research, analysis, and consultative support include all facets of law in the United States, including administrative, business, civil rights, constitutional, energy, environmental, health, immigration, intellectual property, international, labor, military, national security, procurement, tax and trade law.

The Assistant Director ensures that written and consulting work is of the highest quality and consistently meets the Service's standards of objectivity, nonpartisanship, timeliness, legislative relevance, authoritativeness, and accessibility. In addition, the Assistant Director actively collaborates with managers and staff in CRS's other research divisions to ensure that a multifaceted approach to policy issues is taken to best inform Congressional decision-making.

The Assistant Director leads implementation of the Service's agenda for legal issues within the division's areas of responsibility, including approaches, frameworks, and methodologies for addressing policy and legislative issues. This includes demonstrating personal intellectual leadership in monitoring congressional needs in the various policy areas and assuring access to the intellectual capacity needed to meet current and changing needs of the United States Congress at a sustained level of excellence. This also includes exercising overall responsibility for the oversight and management of the division's human, financial, material, and information research assets, including a staff of approximately 65 employees. In performing these activities, the Assistant Director is responsible for ensuring that the research, analytical, and consulting activities of the division are aligned with the legislative needs of Congress and with the priorities, goals, and policies of CRS for meeting those needs.

The Assistant Director also serves as one of the chief advisors to the Director, counseling the Director on all aspects of the research management and operations of CRS and recommending specific policies and procedures for improving the Service's overall quality, efficiency, and effectiveness. The Assistant Director serves as a member of the Director's senior management team and serves as a principal

CRS representative to Members, committees, and officers of the United States Congress.

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online <https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/576048300>.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Centenary College of Louisiana

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

Centenary College of Louisiana invites applications for a tenure-track political science position at the rank of assistant professor to begin August 2021. Candidates should be broadly trained in American Politics and prepared to teach a range of introductory and upper division courses including constitutional law and civil liberties, the Presidency, and public law subfields, especially public interest law. Research interests in social justice, race and minority politics, or social movements are preferred.

Candidates must also be prepared to advise the department's legal studies program. The Legal Studies minor is an interdisciplinary course of study that exposes students to a range of classes that strengthen their critical thinking and communication skills, hone their ability to interpret and apply case law, and understand the role and effect of law within various societal contexts. Centenary maintains a partnership with The LSU Paul M. Hebert Law Center that provides Centenary students who meet LSU Law admission requirements and who are interested in public interest careers an opportunity for an expedited admissions review and notification process.

Preference will be given to candidates with a strong record of teaching and a background in a liberal arts education. Engaging teaching and pedagogical skills, a record of scholarship, and a sincere commitment to student mentoring are required. The standard teaching load is six courses per year, with some opportunity to teach in immersive May and August terms, and to participate in college-wide programs such as the first year experience (TREK) program and Centenary in Paris. A completed Ph.D. by August 2021 is required.

Centenary College recognizes that diversity is essential to its goal of providing an educational environment where students explore the unfamiliar, invent new approaches to understanding, and connect their work and lives to the world at large. We thus welcome applicants who would add to the College's diversity of ideas, beliefs, experiences, and cultural backgrounds. Centenary is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Centenary College of Louisiana is a selective, residential, national liberal arts college affiliated with the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1825, it is the oldest chartered liberal arts college west of the Mississippi river and is a member of the Associated Colleges of the South.

Review of applications will begin on October 19, 2020.

To apply, send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, and transcripts for your terminal degree to Dr. Chad Fulwider either via email: hr@centenary.edu or to the address below. Additional materials may be requested as the search advances.

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University (www.polsci.okstate.edu) invites applications for a Teaching Assistant Professor specializing in American politics to begin in August 2021. This position is non-tenure track but offers the potential of reappointment and promotion to Teaching Associate and Teaching Full Professor. This position is designed for instructors who prioritize good pedagogy and student mentoring. The normal teaching load is 3 :3 and includes a mix of smaller and larger classes. The primary, though not exclusive, teaching responsibility is Introduction to American Government. The successful candidate will have demonstrated the potential for effective teaching in American Politics. Candidates with previous experience teaching Introduction to American Government as instructor of record and experience teaching a mix of online and face-to-face courses are especially welcome. In addition to teaching, the position entails service responsibilities that could include supervising the department's internship programs, advising Pi Sigma Alpha, and participating on various departmental committees.

To be considered, candidates must have received a PhD or be nearing completion of their doctoral training (ABD) from an accredited degree program in political science or closely related degree program. Preference, however, will be given to candidates who have received their doctoral degree by the start of appointment. Initial appointment is for three years (which includes a probationary period) but can be renewed for additional terms.

Applications completed and received by October 15, 2020 and will be given preference.

Applicants are asked to have the following submitted through Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/77763>. A letter of application outlining your interest in this position, teaching interests/experience; vitae; graduate transcripts; three letters of recommendation; evidence of successful teaching; and a short teaching statement.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. The department encourages applications from women and underrepresented racial/ethnic groups. About one third of our undergraduate majors are members of underrepresented groups. Among our tenure-track faculty, 9 percent are from underrepresented racial/ethnic groups and 55 percent are female. Oklahoma State University, as an equal opportunity employer, complies with all applicable federal and state laws regarding nondiscrimination and affirmative action. Oklahoma State University is committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all individuals and does not discriminate based on race, religion, age, sex, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, disability, or veteran status with regard to employment, educational programs and activities, and/or admissions. University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations, History & Politics

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in five of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2021. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the third year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. The position comes with a minimum annual salary for 2021-22 of $72,307.80, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $5,000. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2021.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 26, 2020.

The terms and conditions of this position are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 16, 2020.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 30, 2020. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. For additional information please see the University's Notice of Nondiscrimination at http://www.uchicago.edu/about/non_discrimination_statement/.

Job seekers in need of a reasonable accommodation to complete the application process should call 773-834-0681 or email dneibel@uchicago.edu with their request.

Amherst College

Rank: Assistant Professor Race and U.S. Politics

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Race & Ethnic Politics, United States

The Department of Political Science at Amherst College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position at the rank of assistant professor in the field of race and U.S. politics, with a particular focus on the Black political experience, beginning July 1, 2021. Amherst College is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff. Within the last decade, Amherst College has profoundly transformed with respect to its student body. Today, nearly one-quarter of Amherst's students are Pell grant recipients; 45 percent of our students identify as domestic students of color; and 9 percent of our students are international students. We expect the successful candidate to excel at teaching and mentoring students who are diverse with regard to race, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, nationality, sexual orientation, and religion.

Candidates' scholarship should examine racial politics in the U.S. Possible topics include but are not limited to reparations, civil rights, voter suppression, movements for racial justice, the legacies of slavery for contemporary politics, the racial policies and constituencies of political parties, the relationship between racial and ethnic identity, white privilege, police violence, and racial stratification in urban and local politics.

Faculty teach two courses each semester and benefit from ample support for research, including a pre-tenure year-long sabbatical at full pay. We seek a colleague with a record that demonstrates the potential for high-quality teaching and research, and who is committed to excellence in education at the undergraduate level of the aforementioned student body. Candidates should be comfortable teaching courses both within and outside their specialties and in directing undergraduate research projects. The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment.

Candidates are asked to submit electronically <https://apply.interfolio.com/77688> a letter of application, a CV, three confidential letters of recommendation, and a single-authored writing sample (e.g., article or dissertation/book chapter). The letter of application should describe the main contributions of the candidate's research and the candidate's approach to and experience with teaching. Finalists will be asked to offer a presentation of their research, and possibly, a brief teaching demonstration, both via Zoom. Review of applications will begin on September 14, 2020 and continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured full consideration.

Amherst College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages persons of all genders, persons of color, and persons with disabilities to apply. The college is committed to enriching its educational experience and its culture through the diversity of its faculty, administration, and staff.

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, History & Politics

The Fellowship:

The International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS) offers professors from a variety of academic backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policymaking field, providing them with an opportunity to spend their sabbatical year working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization.

The IAF-TIRS program helps close the gap between research and practice, enriching both teaching and scholarship by enabling fellows to become practitioners. The program also benefits policymakers by exposing them to critical scholarly research relevant to the foreign policy and national security issues facing the United States and the world.

The fellowship is for twelve months. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow's base salary for the academic year (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

Eligibility:

Applicants should be U.S. citizens

Applicants must be full-time tenured professors at a U.S. college or university

Applicants must have arranged a paid sabbatical with their home university

Applicants must hold a PhD

Applicants must propose to spend a year working on peace and security issues in the U.S. government, in Congress, or at an international organization.

Preference is given to candidates with no previous experience in the U.S. government or with an international organization.

*Note: fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance. No indirect costs can be deducted from the stipend award.

How to Apply:

Interested candidates who meet the program eligibility requirements can apply online now through October 31 at cfr.org/fellowships/international-affairs-fellowship-tenured-international-relations-scholars.

If you have additional questions, please contact tirs.fellowships@cfr.org.

Mills College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Public Policy and Political Science

About Mills College:

Located in Oakland, California, in the heart of the San Francisco Bay Area, Mills College is a liberal arts college for women and gender non-binary students, with graduate programs for all genders. Consistently ranked one of the top masters universities and one of the best value colleges in the West by U.S. News & World Report, Mills also has been named one of the Best Colleges in the nation by The Princeton Review. The Mills experience is distinguished by small, interactive classes, one-on-one attention from exceptional faculty, a culture of creative experimentation, and cutting-edge interdisciplinary learning opportunities which empower students to make a statement in their careers and communities. As <https://www.mills.edu/uniquely-mills/facts-about-mills.php> in the country, we have a strong record of academic success with first-generation students, students of color, Latinx students, LGBTQ students, and other underrepresented students. Mills College has recently become a Hispanic Serving Institution. Applicants with expertise and experience in supporting and promoting success for Latina/o students are encouraged to apply.

Mills College encourages diversity in hiring and particularly welcomes applications and nominations from women, gender non-binary individuals, and minorities. Mills College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce as a reflection of our commitment to equity, inclusion, and social justice and our desire to maintain the excellence of our faculty. In so doing, we offer our students not only the opportunity to learn about varied disciplines but to engage with diverse perspectives and ways of knowing and learning. For more information, please visit <https://www.mills.edu/>

Job Description:

The Department:

Mills College has a rich history of educating women and gender nonconforming leaders at the local, state, and national levels. The Politics, Economics, Policy and Law major builds on this heritage. This interdisciplinary major is designed around critical thinking, leadership, and transformational change. It provides students with the core methodological and analytic skills of its four disciplines while allowing students to explore issues that transcend disciplinary boundaries. It produces students with diverse analytical, methodological, and practical skills who can become leaders in legal, government, non-profit, or business careers or pursue graduate programs in political science, economics, sociology, public policy, politics, and law. Many of our graduates go on to become community leaders, including lawyers, advocates, city councilmembers, policy directors, legislative staff, elected officials, and nonprofit leaders.

The Position:

The Mills College Department of Public Policy and Political Science seeks applicants for the tenure track position of Assistant Professor to begin in Fall 2020. The new faculty member will support the department's interdisciplinary major, Politics, Economics, Policy, and Law (PEPL), as well as the master's degree in public policy and the political science major. The successful candidate will teach 18 credits per year, including two sections of undergraduate Law and Society, a graduate course in public policy and the law, and a variety of electives related to their area of interest. In addition, they will provide programming and formal academic advising for students in the legal track of the PEPL major, as well as serving as the college's official pre-law advisor.

Requirements:

We prefer candidates with a JD and a doctoral degree in a related field (Political Science, Sociology, Public Policy, etc.). We will also consider candidates with a JD and a relevant master's degree (MPP, MPA, etc.). We further welcome applications from candidates with a PhD in Jurisprudence, Legal Studies, or relevant interdisciplinary field. All candidates must have college-level teaching experience and an active research agenda. To complement the department's existing expertise and meet the college's needs, we are seeking someone whose research focuses on the United States. Topical areas of particular interest include judicial politics, gender and the law, health law, and criminal justice.

We seek candidates with a passion for liberal arts education and social justice, who will support our diverse student body, providing mentorship and academic support and opportunities both inside and outside the classroom. Candidates with an interest in community engaged learning are especially encouraged to apply.

Additional Information:

This is an exempt, full-time position and includes a comprehensive benefits package including medical/dental/vision/life/LTD insurance, 403(b) retirement plan with college match after a qualifying period. Faculty members also receive free admission to campus events, use of the pool, fitness center, and tennis courts. Tuition remission is also available after an introductory period. Voluntary benefits include: pet insurance, long-term care insurance and legal-assistance insurance.

Mills College does not permit discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, race, religious creed, color, national origin or ancestry, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, age, sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity. For more information on Mills' non-discrimination policy, please go to <https://www.mills.edu/policies/ada-policies/nondiscrimination-statement.php>.

All positions are subject to a background check. Prior to the first date of employment, an applicant's background check must be cleared.

Application Instructions:

To apply, submit the following documents at <https://apptrkr.com/1705390>

- Employee Application
- Cover Letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Sample of scholarly research
- Teaching portfolio (sample syllabi, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy,)

About Vassar College

Vassar College is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer with a strong commitment to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and promoting an environment of equality, inclusion, and respect for difference. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding, such as racial, ethnic, and gender minorities, are particularly encouraged to apply.

Position Summary and Responsibilities

The Department of Political Science at Vassar College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in comparative political theory with a focus on indigenous political thought beginning Fall 2021.

The Department of Political Science is committed to seeking out and hiring qualified candidates among individuals who have been and continue to be inadequately represented in the discipline and in our faculty. We invite applicants with scholarship in Native American, Pacific Island, global, and diasporic traditions of political thought in Asia, Africa and the Americas. The teaching load in the first year is four courses, and in subsequent years is either five courses or four classroom courses plus one “intensive,” a small enrollment, closely mentored experience for undergraduates. Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is expected at the time of appointment. Salary is competitive and accompanied by a full benefits package.

Qualifications

We encourage applicants to identify their scholarly interests in their application materials, and to describe how those interests guide, inform and are reflected in their current and future teaching aspirations at each level of our curriculum. To apply, candidates should submit a letter of application, a statement highlighting contributions to or future plans for promoting diversity and inclusion through teaching, research and other involvements, C.V., graduate school transcript (unofficial copies accepted for initial application), at least three letters of recommendation, reprints and preprints of peer-reviewed works or brief writing samples, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations and/or statement of teaching interests. Please apply online at employment.vassar.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=53049. For inquiries, email Fubing Su, Chair, (fusu@vassar.edu).

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

University of Cologne

Rank: Associate or Full Professor in Political Economy

The University of Cologne, Germany, invites applications for a tenured faculty position at the Associate Professor / Full Professor (W2/W3) level Associate/Full Professorship (f/m/d) (W2/W3) in Political Economy.

The professorship is part of the Cluster of Excellence “ECONtribute: Markets & Public Policy”, run jointly by the Universities of Cologne and Bonn and funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG) in the context of the Excellence Strategy. The Cluster has a goal of providing a dynamic, collaborative, and international research environment for the understanding of market functioning and failures as well as public policy responses, employing innovative research approaches. The applicants are expected to contribute to the Cluster’s research agenda (see <https://selten.institute/econtribute/>). The professorship is part of an initiative to strengthen the profile of the Cluster's research area "Political Economy". We invite applications from scholars in political science or economics with contributions to the field of political economy, including international political economy. The professorship will be located in the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne.

The position is available immediately or based on mutual agreement. Depending on previous achievements, the successful candidate qualifies for an associate professorship (W2) or a full professorship (W3). W2 positions are intended for researchers who have conducted research of excellent quality and published internationally. W3 positions are intended for researchers who also have established a track record of outstanding research and are considered leading experts in her or his field of research.

Until the end of 2025, there is no teaching obligation, but some teaching is expected. Subsequently, the successful candidate will teach courses in political science or political economy at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences. The recruitment requirements according to Section 36 of the Higher Education Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz – HG NRW) apply. The University of Cologne is committed to equal opportunities and diversity. Women are especially encouraged to apply and will be considered preferentially in accordance with the Equal Opportunities Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Landesgleichstellungsgesetz – LGG NRW). We also expressly welcome applications from people with disabilities / special needs or of equal status. The Cluster fosters family-friendly working conditions. The University of Cologne maintains its own childcare facilities on campus and the Cluster cooperates with private childcare providers. Applications should consist of the following documents: cover letter, curriculum vitae, publication list and, if available, teaching evaluations.

Applications should be submitted via the Academic Job Portal of the University of Cologne (<https://professorships.uni-koeln.de>) no later than 14.09.2020 addressing the Dean of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences. For further information, please contact Prof. Sven-Oliver Proksch (so.proksch@uni-koeln.de).

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with expertise in the politics of development, broadly defined. The department has a strong preference for an area concentration in either Africa or the Middle East, which will complement its existing strengths in the politics of Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The position, to begin in 2021-2022 academic year, is intended to meet and expand curricular goals within the major; to broaden the department's research expertise; and to contribute to interdisciplinary initiatives in the School of Arts and Sciences and to the University of Richmond's mission of "preparing students for responsible leadership in a diverse world." More specifically, the position carries a 3-2 teaching load consisting of a regular offering of a survey course on the politics of development. Other courses would relate to the faculty's regional specialization, with particular preference for courses on the politics of Africa and/or the Middle East. The new hire would also share responsibility for teaching the department's ongoing offerings of Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations and, as schedule permits, contribute to departmental First Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation by August 1, 2021. Applicants should apply online at <https://richmond.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?site=1&cid=2062>.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should click "Apply Now" at the top of the page and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter containing a brief summary of the candidate's research and teaching interests and indicating commitment to the teacher-scholar model, and separate research and teaching statements. The research statement should expand on the candidate's research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, experience and goals. It should also address commitment to inclusive pedagogy and to fostering thriving and inclusive intercultural community, as outlined in the President's Making Excellence Inclusive report (<https://president.richmond.edu/inclusive-excellence/report-pdfs/making-excellence-inclusive-final-report-2019.pdf>). In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence on October 1, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Please address any questions about the application to Dr. Jennifer Erkulwater (jerkulwa@richmond.edu), Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Richmond, Richmond, VA 23173.

Postdoctoral Scholar Employee Positions, The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD)

Department: School of Global Policy and Strategy

Salary: Commensurate with experience

Appointment: 12 months (extendable based on mutual agreement and available funding)

Start Date: September 2021

The Center for Commercial Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for two postdoctoral scholar employee positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2021, for the 2021-2022 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Postdoctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in economics, political science, economic history, legal history, and other disciplines bearing on the study of economic diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment, health conditions permitting, and to interact with faculty and Ph.D students, giving at least one research talk. Selected postdoctoral scholars are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. by September 1, 2021 in one of the above mentioned disciplines.

To apply, please provide the below by email to Lisa Lee at lisalee@ucsd.edu

1. Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests.
2. Current curriculum vitae including publications.
3. One writing sample (limit of 100 pages).
4. Three letters of recommendation sent directly to Lisa Lee at lisalee@ucsd.edu

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, but it is highly recommended that you apply before May 15, 2021 for full consideration.

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Start Date:Application Deadline: Open until FilledDate Posted: 8/5/2020Salary: AnyeJobs ID: 7962Lycoming College*Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Law at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2021. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in Public Law. Candidates with a secondary specialization in Comparative Politics are encouraged to apply.

Lycoming's small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College's interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution.

Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae along with submitting a teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript.

Letters of recommendations can be mailed to:

Attention: Missy Cashner, HR Generalist
Lycoming College
One College Place, Campus Box 861

Tecnológico de Monterrey
Assistant and Adjunct Faculty Positions

Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

School of Social Sciences and Government, Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, economics, and related social science fields. The search is also open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, empirical, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues.

Subfields of political science of interest include comparative international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical as well as applied empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. This is an open-rank search, whereby status as tenured, tenure-track, Assistant, Associate or Full Professor will be awarded on the basis of the candidates publishing record, teaching experience, and academic status. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered only if they include a letter from the chair of the committee stating a date for the defense of the doctoral dissertation, which should occur no later than June 2020.

Compensation is competitive, includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the website AcademicJobsOnline.org (see <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/5869>):

- ? Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- ? A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages) that includes potential course offerings. Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
- ? Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- ? Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages (the candidate should be the first author, preferably a refereed journal article).
- ? Three letters of recommendation written within the last year. In the case of early career scholars (2015-2019), at least one of these letters should come from the PhD advisor.

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin fall 2021. We require candidates to be broadly trained in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics and to have the ability to teach a range of introductory and upper level international relations and comparative politics courses. We are particularly interested in applicants able to teach courses in security studies, Asian politics or global health. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is also beneficial. In addition, we value inclusive pedagogical approaches that aim to engage with a diverse student community. Although not required, graduate coursework on teaching and/or other forms of pedagogical training are helpful for this position.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE:

Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, S.C. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,720 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, study abroad participation and successful graduates, Wofford is home to one of the nation's 283 Phi Beta Kappa chapters. The college community enjoys 19 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

Wofford's mission is to provide superior liberal arts education that prepares its students for extraordinary and positive contributions to society. The focus of Wofford's mission is upon fostering commitment to excellence in character, performance, leadership, service to others, and life-long learning. We enjoy a campus culture where conversation among faculty and students often spills over outside the classroom.

The Department of Government and International Affairs is a growing department with five full-time tenure-track faculty and over a hundred majors. We cover a broad scope of subject matter with an intellectual diverse faculty.

EXPECTATIONS

Wofford's faculty teach 3-1-3 load; the 1 indicates the January Interim course term in which professors may travel with students or teach on a variety of topics using experiential teaching methods. Wofford faculty are teacher-scholars with a high aptitude and interest in undergraduate teaching and advising, community outreach and a commitment to the liberal arts. To earn tenure, faculty are required to demonstrate excellence in teaching, continued scholarly development and service to the college. Therefore, faculty members are expected to engage in scholarly research and continued professional development.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

A Ph.D. in Political Science, equivalent or closely related field. One-year full-time teaching experience or its equivalent.

APPLICATION

All applications must include the following materials:

- (1) a letter of application that addresses how the candidate is prepared to meet the specific needs of Wofford College's Government and International Affairs department;
- (2) a curriculum vitae;
- (3) a statement addressing the candidate's teaching philosophy (which should include an articulation of interest in, and understanding of, working at a residential, liberal arts college and at Wofford College) and outlining teaching interests;
- (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi;
- (5) letters of support from three professional references;
- (6) an example of scholarly writing;
- (7) unofficial graduate transcripts.

All application materials should be sent to InternationalAffairsSearch@wofford.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2020 will receive full consideration. Please contact the Department Chair, Dr. Rachel Vanderhill (vanderhillrj@wofford.edu), with any questions.

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Asian American Politics, China, East Asia

The Carleton College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin September 1, 2021. We are specifically interested in candidates who have regional expertise in Chinese politics and prefer candidates who can speak both to domestic dynamics as well as China's role in a broader Asian and/or global context. Successful candidates should be able to teach a range of courses in Comparative Politics (including the introductory course) as well as offer instruction in research methods (qualitative and/or quantitative). The standard teaching load is five courses spread across three trimesters. The ideal candidate will also be interested in contributing to a vibrant college-wide culture of undergraduate research and have a commitment to attracting and retaining students from underserved groups. A PhD in hand or its imminent completion is required.

Carleton is a highly selective liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000, located in the historic and thriving town of Northfield, Minnesota. We are in commuting distance of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, whose greater metro area has a diverse population of three million people and a rich variety of cultural resources. The Political Science Department strives to introduce students—majors and non-majors alike—to a broad array of theoretical and philosophical perspectives while equipping them with the necessary analytic skills to engage with an increasingly diverse world and contribute constructively to one's community. For further information about the department, please consult the department website at carleton.edu/political-science.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, and a statement about teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment and how you would contribute to a college community that embraces a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We also require a statement about research interests, one scholarly writing sample and contact information for three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to jobs.carleton.edu. Inquiries can be directed to pteiken@carleton.edu.

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
 Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant or associate (non-tenured) professor. The employment starts in Fall semester of 2021. The openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political theory. Candidates who have a research focus on issues of public policy are strongly encouraged to apply for the positions. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field. Although the working environment in SUFE is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

The position is a full-time appointment for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years of employment. The tenure-track faculty are expected to publish research on highly reputable international journals, offer high-quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at SUFE. The rules of evaluation and promotion are standardized at the university and similar to those for tenure positions in a regular American university.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 380,000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (240K RMB housing subsidy, medical insurance, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list;
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

The deadline for accepting applications is September 31, 2020, for this round of recruitment. We will arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Wechat during November and December 2020.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, History & Politics

The Fellowship:

The International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS) offers professors from a variety of academic backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policymaking field, providing them with an opportunity to spend their sabbatical year working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization.

The IAF-TIRS program helps close the gap between research and practice, enriching both teaching and scholarship by enabling fellows to become practitioners. The program also benefits policymakers by exposing them to critical scholarly research relevant to the foreign policy and national security issues facing the United States and the world.

The fellowship is for twelve months. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow's base salary for the academic year (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

Eligibility:

Applicants should be U.S. citizens

Applicants must be full-time tenured professors at a U.S. college or university

Applicants must have arranged a paid sabbatical with their home university

Applicants must hold a PhD

Applicants must propose to spend a year working on peace and security issues in the U.S. government, in Congress, or at an international organization.

Preference is given to candidates with no previous experience in the U.S. government or with an international organization.

*Note: fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance. No indirect costs can be deducted from the stipend award.

How to Apply:

Interested candidates who meet the program eligibility requirements can apply online now through October 31 at cfr.org/fellowships/international-affairs-fellowship-tenured-international-relations-scholars.

If you have additional questions, please contact tirs.fellowships@cfr.org.

Naval War College

Rank: ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN NATIONAL SECURITY AFFAIRS AD-1701-03

Launch your scholarly career at one of the nation's largest and most vibrant graduate teaching departments in the interdisciplinary field of national and international security studies. The National Security Affairs (NSA) Department at the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island seeks to fill a tenure-track assistant professor of national security affairs with an emphasis on international security anticipated vacancy beginning in July 2021.

U.S. Naval War College. The Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

National Security Affairs Department. The NSA Department is one of the college's core academic teaching departments and is composed of scholars and practitioners engaged in a wide range of teaching, research, and outreach. You can learn more about the NSA Department at our webpage: <https://usnwc.edu/Faculty-and-Departments/Academic-Departments/National-Security-Affairs-Department>

Responsibilities. Specific responsibilities include: teaching two distinctive common core graduate-level security studies survey courses (one focuses on US strategy in Europe or the Indo-Pacific and the other US National Strategy), collaborating in the development of common core curricula including individual class sessions, developing and teaching elective courses as desired, scholarly research and publication, and college service. There is no requirement or expectation to attract external funding. Maximum teaching load excluding optional elective classes is 2/2/0 based on a 10-month trimester system. This involves teaching up to two seminar sections (single preparation) of no more than 16 students in the fall and winter trimesters, with a spring trimester and summer inter-session period devoted primarily to research, curriculum development, and college service. All positions are year-round (12-month). The college is a tenure-granting institution.

Qualifications. Qualified candidates must have a relevant and recent Ph.D. and a promising scholarly agenda in international security. Concentrations include international relations, foreign policy analysis, or U.S. foreign policy. The department is especially interested in candidates with an active research agenda on security studies, European security or security in the Indo-Pacific with an emphasis on China, and/or political economy. Candidates with Ph.D. in hand by July 2021 are encouraged to apply. Candidates must be U.S. citizens capable of obtaining a Department of Defense security clearance at the SECRET level.

Salary. Rank and salary commensurate in accordance with the Department of the Navy Faculty Schedule for assistant professor. This compensation package is accompanied by a generous federal employee benefits package that includes health insurance with employer contribution, retirement savings plan, paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits.

University of Cologne

Rank: Associate or Full Professor in Political Economy

The University of Cologne, Germany, invites applications for a tenured faculty position at the Associate Professor / Full Professor (W2/W3) level Associate/Full Professorship (f/m/d) (W2/W3) in Political Economy.

The professorship is part of the Cluster of Excellence "ECONtribute: Markets & Public Policy", run jointly by the Universities of Cologne and Bonn and funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG) in the context of the Excellence Strategy. The Cluster has a goal of providing a dynamic, collaborative, and international research environment for the understanding of market functioning and failures as well as public policy responses, employing innovative research approaches. The applicants are expected to contribute to the Cluster's research agenda (see <https://selten.institute/econtribute/>). The professorship is part of an initiative to strengthen the profile of the Cluster's research area "Political Economy". We invite applications from scholars in political science or economics with contributions to the field of political economy, including international political economy. The professorship will be located in the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Cologne.

The position is available immediately or based on mutual agreement. Depending on previous achievements, the successful candidate qualifies for an associate professorship (W2) or a full professorship (W3). W2 positions are intended for researchers who have conducted research of excellent quality and published internationally. W3 positions are intended for researchers who also have established a track record of outstanding research and are considered leading experts in her or his field of research.

Until the end of 2025, there is no teaching obligation, but some teaching is expected. Subsequently, the successful candidate will teach courses in political science or political economy at the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences. The recruitment requirements according to Section 36 of the Higher Education Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz – HG NRW) apply. The University of Cologne is committed to equal opportunities and diversity. Women are especially encouraged to apply and will be considered preferentially in accordance with the Equal Opportunities Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Landesgleichstellungsgesetz – LGG NRW). We also expressly welcome applications from people with disabilities / special needs or of equal status. The Cluster fosters family-friendly working conditions. The University of Cologne maintains its own childcare facilities on campus and the Cluster cooperates with private childcare providers. Applications should consist of the following documents: cover letter, curriculum vitae, publication list and, if available, teaching evaluations.

Applications should be submitted via the Academic Job Portal of the University of Cologne (<https://professorships.uni-koeln.de>) no later than 14.09.2020 addressing the Dean of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences. For further information, please contact Prof. Sven-Oliver Proksch (so.proksch@uni-koeln.de).

Start Date:Application Deadline: 9/14/2020Date Posted: 8/10/2020Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 7969University of Richmond*Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with expertise in the politics of development, broadly defined. The department has a strong preference for an area concentration in either Africa or the Middle East, which will complement its existing strengths in the politics of Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The position, to begin in 2021-2022 academic year, is intended to meet and expand curricular goals within the major; to broaden the department's research expertise; and to contribute to interdisciplinary initiatives in the School of Arts and Sciences and to the University of Richmond's mission of "preparing students for responsible leadership in a diverse world." More specifically, the position carries a 3-2 teaching load consisting of a regular offering of a survey course on the politics of development. Other courses would relate to the faculty's regional specialization, with particular preference for courses on the politics of Africa and/or the Middle East. The new hire would also share responsibility for teaching the department's ongoing offerings of Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations and, as schedule permits, contribute to departmental First Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation by August 1, 2021. Applicants should apply online at <https://richmond.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?site=1&cid=2062>.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should click "Apply Now" at the top of the page and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter containing a brief summary of the candidate's research and teaching interests and indicating commitment to the teacher-scholar model, and separate research and teaching statements. The research statement should expand on the candidate's research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, experience and goals. It should also address commitment to inclusive pedagogy and to fostering thriving and inclusive intercultural community, as outlined in the President's Making Excellence Inclusive report (<https://president.richmond.edu/inclusive-excellence/report-pdfs/making-excellence-inclusive-final-report-2019.pdf>). In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence on October 1, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Please address any questions about the application to Dr. Jennifer Erkulwater (jerkulwa@richmond.edu), Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Richmond, Richmond, VA 23173.

The Department of Political Science at Wellesley College invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the assistant professor level in international relations beginning in the academic year 2021-22.

We seek candidates with expertise in international/global political economy or global governance. We are open to all areas of specialization in these subfields, but are particularly interested in scholars whose research concerns issues such as trade, finance, global development, international economic organizations (global and regional), inequality, or race. The search is open as to regional expertise. In addition to teaching courses in international political economy, the successful candidate will also regularly teach a broad introduction to international relations. We would additionally be interested in candidates who could offer a research methods course.

Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching undergraduate students in a liberal arts environment. Faculty members at Wellesley teach two courses per semester.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter of no more than two pages;
- a one-page teaching statement;
- additional teaching materials (e.g., evaluations and sample syllabi);
- writing samples of research;
- a curriculum vitae; and
- three (3) letters of recommendation.

Wellesley is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community through teaching, research, and service. Familiarity with and experience using pedagogical methods that enable students across racial, ethnic, and socio-economic groups to reach their maximum potential is a valuable qualification. Where applicable, candidates should include (as relevant) how diversity, inclusion, and equity connect to their teaching, scholarship, and service.

All materials should be submitted online by visiting our application website at <https://career.wellesley.edu>. Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowships

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking fellowship applicants for the 2021–2022 academic year. The programs offer unique opportunities, domestic and overseas, for accomplished mid and senior career professionals. Selected fellows broaden their foreign policy experience by spending their fellowships in public service or research environments.

Applications are due by October 31, 2020.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It provides individuals the opportunity to spend one year in policymaking or research oriented environments. The program awards a stipend of $105,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Canada sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada, provides selected fellows the opportunity to spend six to twelve months at a Canadian institution working on U.S.-Canada relations. It awards a stipend of $95,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Japan brings a cadre of American professionals to Japan for three to twelve months to study and work on U.S.-Japan relations. The program is intended for those without substantial prior experience in Japan. The program awards a competitive stipend in yen.

The International Affairs Fellowship in India affords fellows with the opportunity to spend three to twelve months conducting research on India and U.S. relations. It is aimed at professionals who have had little prior experience in India. It awards a stipend of $90,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics offers economists hands-on experience in the U.S. government and the opportunity to apply a range of research tools to international economic policy issues. It lasts six and nine months with a stipend starting at $150,000.

Postdoctoral Scholar Employee Positions, The Center for Commerce and Diplomacy (CCD)

Department: School of Global Policy and Strategy

Salary: Commensurate with experience

Appointment: 12 months (extendable based on mutual agreement and available funding)

Start Date: September 2021

The Center for Commercial Diplomacy (CCD) at UC San Diego's School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) invites applications for two postdoctoral scholar employee positions from individuals with a Ph.D. degree or who expect to receive a Ph.D. degree by September 1, 2021, for the 2021-2022 academic year.

These awards are designed to promote high-quality research on the challenges and institutions of international economic diplomacy in a changing world. Research projects that seek to understand the causes and consequences of the institutions of economic globalization (e.g. GATT/WTO, FTAs, BITs, IMF, World Bank, Fast-Track, TPA, RTAA, etc) are particularly welcome. Commercial diplomats operate within a set of domestic and international institutions that governs their behavior in international negotiations. But we know little about the specifics of these rules and procedures, how they came into being, how they vary over time and across countries, and how they affect economic outcomes. Postdoctoral research on the institutions of economic globalization can help answer questions about the welfare and distributional consequences of these institutions and, ultimately, result in the better design of these institutions.

Outstanding scholars anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. The Center invites applications from candidates with a background in economics, political science, economic history, legal history, and other disciplines bearing on the study of economic diplomacy. Selected candidates will be required to be in residence for the duration of the appointment, health conditions permitting, and to interact with faculty and Ph.D students, giving at least one research talk. Selected postdoctoral scholars are also expected to attend CCD events and related seminars, and to post their research on the CCD website.

Applicants are required to hold a Ph.D. by September 1, 2021 in one of the above mentioned disciplines.

To apply, please provide the below by email to Lisa Lee at lisalee@ucsd.edu

1. Cover letter explaining the candidate's scholarly career, prospective or actual doctoral defense date, and academic interests.
2. Current curriculum vitae including publications.
3. One writing sample (limit of 100 pages).
4. Three letters of recommendation sent directly to Lisa Lee at lisalee@ucsd.edu

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, but it is highly recommended that you apply before May 15, 2021 for full consideration.

UC San Diego is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Crucial to the position is the potential for excellence in scholarship as well as a commitment to providing students with a liberal education.

Colorado College is committed to becoming an anti-racist institution. Through our anti-racism initiative, we are working to foster an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work.

Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals.

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The average teaching load is five blocks per year, with an addition block overseeing senior research. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research.

All requirements for the Ph.D. should be complete by the starting date of August 24, 2021.

Musashi University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The PDP Education Centre in Musashi University, Tokyo, Japan invites applications for a fixed-term position, beginning April 1, 2021 or September 1, 2021 (negotiable). The PDP Education Centre plans and governs the parallel degree programme (PDP) between the University of London (UoL) and Musashi University, in which students seek degrees from both UoL and Musashi university. The position requires an individual to teach undergraduate courses in English including International Relations (for the International Foundation Programme) and International Political Economy (for the BSc Programme). Candidates from all fields of international relations will be considered and those with teaching experience and a good research record/potential are highly encouraged to apply. Musashi University is planning to launch a new school, the International School of Liberal Arts and Sciences [provisional name], beginning April 2022, and the successful candidate is expected to be transferred to the economics and management program of the new school.

Please refer to following web sites for details about the PDP, International Relations for the International Foundation Programme, and International Political Economy for the BSc Programme.

- PDP: https://www.musashi.ac.jp/manabi/parallel_degree_programme/gaiyou.html (Japanese)

- International Relations for the International Foundation Programme: <https://london.ac.uk/courses/international-relations-0>

- International Political Economy: <https://london.ac.uk/courses/international-political-economy-ir3026>

Teaching: The candidate is responsible for teaching courses worth 20 course credits per year (7.5 contact hours per week), including the following University of London (UoL) course units:

- International Relations (International Foundation Programme) (6 course credits): <https://london.ac.uk/courses/international-relations-0>

- International Political Economy (IR3026) (6 course credits): <https://london.ac.uk/courses/international-political-economy-ir3026>

The candidate capable of teaching political science courses such as the following is desirable:

- Politics (International Foundation Programme) (6 course credits): <https://london.ac.uk/courses/politics-0>

- Introduction to Political Science (PS1172) (6 course credits): <https://london.ac.uk/courses/introduction-political-science-ps1172>

- Introduction to International Relations (IR1011) (6 course credits): <https://london.ac.uk/courses/introduction-international-relations-ir1011>

- Research: The candidate should be able to conduct research on their own initiative. The university provides research facilities such as office space and library access, as well as a generous research fund (JPY 400,000 per year).

- Service: The successful candidate is expected to contribute enthusiastically to the provision of services related to the UoL/Musashi PDP. Some participation in university-wide general administration and program development activities is also required of full-time faculty members.

The position is for an assistant professor (without tenure). The term is fixed at three years but may be renewed for a further one or two years. There is a degree of flexibility regarding the starting date. The successful candidate is expected to be available to work full-time from April 1, 2021 or September 1, 2021.

(1) Applicants must have completed a Ph.D. program in political science or related fields (including those who expect to finish by March or September 2021).

(2) Applicants must have a command of English sufficient to teach undergraduate courses in English. While we do not require candidates to have Japanese language skills, intercultural communicative competence necessary to carry out their responsibilities effectively in a Japanese university environment is desirable.

Applications must have arrived by the deadline, September 14, 2020 for full consideration. The position remains open until filled. Selection may be conducted on a rolling basis, with submitted applications examined in the order they are received.

Applicants should submit the following documents to the recruitment committee by e-mail (h-job3@mml.sec.musashi.ac.jp):

1. Cover letter.
2. Curriculum vitae including research activities and teaching experience.
3. Reprints or photocopies of three research papers considered most relevant to the position applied for.
4. List of two referees (names, positions/titles, and email addresses). Emails will be sent to your referees requesting confidential letters, when needed.

Candidates short-listed for interview may be required to submit further documentation, including copies of degree and other certificates as well as additional publications.

Review of application materials will be followed by a panel interview (short-listed candidates only). Details of subsequent stages of the approval process will be explained to candidates who are successful at the interview stage.

Short-listed candidates will be notified of the interview schedule as early as possible.

For interviewees residing in Japan, the university will provide domestic travel expenses to cover the cost of attending a scheduled interview. For those residing abroad, the university will provide travel and accommodation expenses to cover the costs of attending a scheduled interview. The amount will be determined according to the university guidelines. Due to the spread of COVID-19, interviews might be conducted online.

Written queries should be made via e-mail (h-job3@mml.sec.musashi.ac.jp) or faxed (+81-(0)3-5984-3871).

Musashi University sees the fostering of global citizens as one of its missions, in keeping with the foundational principles of the university as well as the objectives of its mid-term development plan, and as a part of those efforts is committed to expanding the diversity of its faculty. The university is an equal opportunities employer, and all applications will be considered solely on the basis of professional accomplishments and personal merit.

All application materials will be treated in the utmost confidence. Personal information therein will be used only for the selection of candidates applying for the current position and subsequently, where applicable, for necessary personnel, salary, or welfare-related paperwork; it will be used for no other purposes.

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations, History & Politics

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in five of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2021. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the third year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. The position comes with a minimum annual salary for 2021-22 of $72,307.80, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $5,000. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2021.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 26, 2020.

The terms and conditions of this position are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 16, 2020.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 30, 2020. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

The University of Chicago is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Disabled/Veterans Employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, status as an individual with a disability, protected veteran status, genetic information, or other protected classes under the law. Candidates should be able to demonstrate strong command of international relations theory, broadly construed, conduct research and teach undergraduate and graduate level classes as well as mentor students. Junior and senior scholars are encouraged to apply. Advanced doctoral candidates are expected to have their dissertation approved no later than October 1st 2021.

The language of teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem is Hebrew, though some courses are taught in English. New faculty members are expected to be able to teach in Hebrew within a few years after their arrival.

The deadline for applications is September 30th, 2020. Candidates selected by the Department of International Relations will have to compete with candidates from other departments in the Faculty of Social Sciences.

Please submit all application materials electronically here: <http://ttp.huji.ac.il/>

The applicants will be asked to upload:

- A cover letter stating your willingness to begin teaching at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in the fall of 2021;
 - A list of required and elective courses that can be taught at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem;
 - A scientific biography outlining research orientation and plans for the coming years;
 - A Curriculum Vitae, including teaching experience;
 - Copies of up to 3 recent publications (or conference papers);
- Three letters of recommendations should be sent directly using a personal e-mail address generated during the application process.

Questions about the search can be addressed to Prof. Dan Miodownik (dan.miodownik@mail.huji.ac.il).

Wofford College

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Affairs

The Department of Government and International Affairs at Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor to begin fall 2021. We require candidates to be broadly trained in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics and to have the ability to teach a range of introductory and upper level international relations and comparative politics courses. We are particularly interested in applicants able to teach courses in security studies, Asian politics or global health. The ability to teach undergraduate research methods is also beneficial. In addition, we value inclusive pedagogical approaches that aim to engage with a diverse student community. Although not required, graduate coursework on teaching and/or other forms of pedagogical training are helpful for this position.

ABOUT WOFFORD COLLEGE:

Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, S.C. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,720 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, study abroad participation and successful graduates, Wofford is home to one of the nation's 283 Phi Beta Kappa chapters. The college community enjoys 19 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

Wofford's mission is to provide superior liberal arts education that prepares its students for extraordinary and positive contributions to society. The focus of Wofford's mission is upon fostering commitment to excellence in character, performance, leadership, service to others, and life-long learning. We enjoy a campus culture where conversation among faculty and students often spills over outside the classroom.

The Department of Government and International Affairs is a growing department with five full-time tenure-track faculty and over a hundred majors. We cover a broad scope of subject matter with an intellectual diverse faculty.

EXPECTATIONS

Wofford's faculty teach 3-1-3 load; the 1 indicates the January Interim course term in which professors may travel with students or teach on a variety of topics using experiential teaching methods. Wofford faculty are teacher-scholars with a high aptitude and interest in undergraduate teaching and advising, community outreach and a commitment to the liberal arts. To earn tenure, faculty are required to demonstrate excellence in teaching, continued scholarly development and service to the college. Therefore, faculty members are expected to engage in scholarly research and continued professional development.

REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

A Ph.D. in Political Science, equivalent or closely related field. One-year full-time teaching experience or its equivalent.

APPLICATION

All applications must include the following materials:

- (1) a letter of application that addresses how the candidate is prepared to meet the specific needs of Wofford College's Government and International Affairs department;
- (2) a curriculum vitae;
- (3) a statement addressing the candidate's teaching philosophy (which should include an articulation of interest in, and understanding of, working at a residential, liberal arts college and at Wofford College) and outlining teaching interests;
- (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi;
- (5) letters of support from three professional references;
- (6) an example of scholarly writing;
- (7) unofficial graduate transcripts.

All application materials should be sent to InternationalAffairsSearch@wofford.edu. Applications received by September 30, 2020 will receive full consideration. Please contact the Department Chair, Dr. Rachel Vanderhill (vanderhillrj@wofford.edu), with any questions.

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, International Relations, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Security, History & Politics

The Fellowship:

The International Affairs Fellowship for Tenured International Relations Scholars (IAF-TIRS) offers professors from a variety of academic backgrounds practical experience in the foreign policymaking field, providing them with an opportunity to spend their sabbatical year working at a U.S. government agency, in Congress, or with an international organization.

The IAF-TIRS program helps close the gap between research and practice, enriching both teaching and scholarship by enabling fellows to become practitioners. The program also benefits policymakers by exposing them to critical scholarly research relevant to the foreign policy and national security issues facing the United States and the world.

The fellowship is for twelve months. The program will match 50 percent of the fellow's base salary for the academic year (up to a maximum of $80,000 for the year) as well as provide modest assistance for moving expenses for those who need to relocate for the fellowship.

Eligibility:

Applicants should be U.S. citizens

Applicants must be full-time tenured professors at a U.S. college or university

Applicants must have arranged a paid sabbatical with their home university

Applicants must hold a PhD

Applicants must propose to spend a year working on peace and security issues in the U.S. government, in Congress, or at an international organization.

Preference is given to candidates with no previous experience in the U.S. government or with an international organization.

*Note: fellows are considered independent contractors rather than employees of CFR and are not eligible for employment benefits, including health insurance. No indirect costs can be deducted from the stipend award.

How to Apply:

Interested candidates who meet the program eligibility requirements can apply online now through October 31 at cfr.org/fellowships/international-affairs-fellowship-tenured-international-relations-scholars.

If you have additional questions, please contact tirs.fellowships@cfr.org.

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego (<https://cpass.ucsd.edu/>) invites applications for postdoctoral positions for the 2020-21 academic year.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Qualifications Required and Preferred Academic Background: Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

Appointment length:

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment.

Salary/Stipend:

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience

Application Process:

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position as well as a curriculum vitae. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to jml110@ucsd.edu with the subject line “cPASS Postdoc Fellow”. Review of applications will be ongoing.

DePaul University

Rank: Endowed Chair in Applied Diplomacy

DePaul University invites applications for an endowed Chair in Applied Diplomacy. Successful candidates will demonstrate a record of academic accomplishment commensurate with the appointment to the rank of Full Professor with tenure. We are seeking an intellectual leader who is well-prepared to advance an innovative, transprofessional approach to the study and practice of diplomacy that is the hallmark of DePaul’s Grace School of Applied Diplomacy. The successful candidate will be a dynamic scholar with a notable record of publication, an established history of interdisciplinary approaches to the field, expertise in non-state actor and grassroots diplomatic practices, and a commitment to excellence in undergraduate and graduate teaching.

The Grace School is housed in the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences and offers both BA and MA programs in Applied Diplomacy. It places a premium on promoting collaboration among practitioners of diplomacy in multiple contexts, and as such, its curriculum is designed to prepare students to practice diplomacy not only as foreign service officers, but also as businesspeople, scientists, NGO representatives, religious leaders, international civil servants, community organizers, artists, educators, and grass roots activists. The faculty of the Grace School represent twenty-two different departments and programs from across the University. The School is privileged to be located in Chicago, a globally-engaged city that is home to a rich array of consuls and international initiatives.

Candidates will find an enriching and innovative climate at DePaul, with institutional support for cross-disciplinary, inter-departmental, and community-engaged collaboration. Faculty draw on resources and cultivate partnerships across DePaul's centers, institutes, departments, schools and programs. Our students benefit from robust study abroad and global learning exchange programs.

DePaul is deeply sensitive to the educational goals of a culturally diverse student population and committed to diversity and equality in education and employment. We seek candidates who will reflect and engage the diversity of the university and its urban community. We strongly encourage applications from people of color, women, and individuals from other historically underrepresented groups.

Review of applications will begin on February 14th. Applications and nominations will be accepted until the position is filled. Applicants are requested to provide a cover letter with a personal statement, a CV and a list of references. The start date for this position is September 1, 2020.

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science
Specializations: Asian American Politics, China, East Asia

The Carleton College Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in Comparative Politics to begin September 1, 2021. We are specifically interested in candidates who have regional expertise in Chinese politics and prefer candidates who can speak both to domestic dynamics as well as China's role in a broader Asian and/or global context. Successful candidates should be able to teach a range of courses in Comparative Politics (including the introductory course) as well as offer instruction in research methods (qualitative and/or quantitative). The standard teaching load is five courses spread across three trimesters. The ideal candidate will also be interested in contributing to a vibrant college-wide culture of undergraduate research and have a commitment to attracting and retaining students from underserved groups. A PhD in hand or its imminent completion is required.

Carleton is a highly selective liberal arts college with a student body of approximately 2,000, located in the historic and thriving town of Northfield, Minnesota. We are in commuting distance of the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, whose greater metro area has a diverse population of three million people and a rich variety of cultural resources. The Political Science Department strives to introduce students—majors and non-majors alike—to a broad array of theoretical and philosophical perspectives while equipping them with the necessary analytic skills to engage with an increasingly diverse world and contribute constructively to one's community. For further information about the department, please consult the department website at carleton.edu/political-science.

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vitae, a graduate transcript, and a statement about teaching in an undergraduate liberal arts environment and how you would contribute to a college community that embraces a diversity of people and perspectives as one of its core values. We also require a statement about research interests, one scholarly writing sample and contact information for three letters of reference. All applications should be submitted to jobs.carleton.edu. Inquiries can be directed to pteiken@carleton.edu.

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track
Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
 Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant or associate (non-tenured) professor. The employment starts in Fall semester of 2021. The openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political theory. Candidates who have a research focus on issues of public policy are strongly encouraged to apply for the positions. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field.

Although the working environment in SUFE is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

The position is a full-time appointment for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years of employment. The tenure-track faculty are expected to publish research on highly reputable international journals, offer high-quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at SUFE. The rules of evaluation and promotion are standardized at the university and similar to those for tenure positions in a regular American university.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 380,000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (240K RMB housing subsidy, medical insurance, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list;
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

The deadline for accepting applications is September 31, 2020, for this round of recruitment. We will arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Wechat during November and December 2020.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego (<https://cpass.ucsd.edu/>) invites applications for postdoctoral positions for the 2020-21 academic year.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Qualifications Required and Preferred Academic Background:

Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

Appointment length:

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment.

Salary/Stipend:

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience

Application Process:

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position as well as a curriculum vitae. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to jml110@ucsd.edu with the subject line “cPASS Postdoc Fellow”. Review of applications will be ongoing.

NON-ACADEMIC

New York University

Rank: Lab Manager - Center for Social Media and Politics

We are looking for a full-time lab manager. In this role, you will be embedded in our research teams in order to directly support the lab’s cutting-edge output. Currently, we have a portfolio of over 25 projects on a wide range of questions related to social media and politics, each of which has different substantive and methodological motivations. As the lab manager, you will have two main responsibilities. First, you will monitor and coordinate all of the lab’s research projects; second, you will provide direct support to a selected portfolio of projects. Given the nature of this position, a graduate-level background in quantitative social science and/or data science research is strongly encouraged, as is experience leading teams in a fast-paced environment.

Each project will require something different from the lab manager, ranging from coordinating with our survey vendors to training undergraduate RAs. We value initiative and adaptability, as well as a passion for the research process. While far from an exhaustive list, your responsibilities will include:

- Instituting systems of regular reporting on work performed, setting goals, tracking progress towards deliverables
- Holding meetings with research teams on each project, and reporting to Faculty Directors and Executive Director on progress
- Ensuring data tasks are regularly updated and best lab practices (e.g. coding and documentation) are followed
- Managing paper writing/revisions, writing IRB paperwork, and coordinating conference/journal submissions
- Training and supervising graduate/undergraduate RAs

The Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Center has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors. You will be given the opportunity to participate in the center's research environment, including attending conferences and seminars and working closely with a broad group of researchers associated with the lab.

The directors of CSMaP are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754><https://apply.interfolio.com/66754>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

Marquette University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Identity and Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track position in Identity and Politics at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2021. The successful candidate will have a Ph.D. in hand or have fulfilled all requirements for the degree by the start of the appointment. The position is open with respect to subfield.

Candidates' scholarship should examine racial, ethnic, and/or indigenous studies. Possible topics include, but are not limited to, how identity should be conceptualized; how identities are represented politically; the intersection of racial and ethnic identities with other identities; race and public policy; and how the politics of race and ethnicity affects democratic governance.

Marquette is a Jesuit, Catholic university and seeks candidates who will contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at <http://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php>. We enthusiastically encourage applications from women, minorities, first-generation candidates, and other underrepresented groups in the academy. We seek a colleague with a record demonstrating the potential for excellent teaching and research. Faculty are expected to conduct research and publish scholarship in leading peer-reviewed outlets. The successful candidate will teach an introductory course in her or his subfield and will have the opportunity to develop undergraduate and graduate courses in her or his areas of expertise.

The successful candidate will also offer a course for Marquette's new Race, Ethnicity, and Indigenous Studies (REIS) program on a regular basis. This course will be part of their teaching load, which will be commensurate with junior faculty in the Department of Political Science. The successful candidate will also serve on one of the two main departmental committees and engage in other departmental, university, and professional service as appropriate.

All applications for this position must be received through Marquette University's online recruiting system (<https://employment.marquette.edu/>). The applicant should upload the following:

- Letter of application
- Curriculum vitae
- List of those who will be submitting recommendation letters
- Unofficial graduate transcript

- Writing sample (of up to 50 pages)
- Evidence of teaching experience and effectiveness
- Syllabi (for courses independently taught and/or a sample syllabus for an undergraduate course in your field). This last item is optional.

Additionally, three letters of recommendation are required. Recommendation letters cannot be uploaded by the candidate. Applicants should arrange to have their recommendation letters sent either via email to poliscisearch@marquette.edu or via hard copy to the following address:

Dr. Paul Nolette, Chair
Department of Political Science
540 N. 15th Street, 468 William Wehr Bldg
Marquette University
P.O. Box 1881
Milwaukee, WI 53201-1881 (USPS); 53233 (courier)

Applications received by October 1, 2020 will be assured full consideration. However, review of applications will continue until the position is filled.

Applicants who make the list of potential candidates for interviews will be required to have their official graduate academic transcripts sent to the department chair.

Additional information about the university and department can be found at <http://www.Marquette.edu> and <http://www.Marquette.edu/polisci>.

U.S. Army War College

Rank: Assistant/Associate Professor of National Security

Objective:

The United States Army War College seeks to fill the position of Assistant/Associate Professor of National Security in the Department of National Security and Strategy in the School of Strategic Landpower.

Context:

This is a fulltime, long-term, civilian faculty position at the United States Army's most senior institution for professional military education. Initial appointment may be for up to 4 years; the first two years are probationary; the academic rank of initial appointment will be commensurate with the applicant's level of experience. Appointments may be renewed. The Army War College educates the top echelon of US military officers of all services, US government civilians, and military officers from scores of foreign countries. It develops strategic leaders by providing a rigorous curriculum of theoretical and professional subjects, leading to a Master's of Strategic Studies accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education.

Expectations:

The person selected for this position will have a leading role in planning, administering, and teaching the core course, "War, Policy, and National Security," as well as other core and elective courses of the resident education program and associated programs. They will serve as a faculty instructor for one seminar, advise students and serve as project advisor for student research projects. They will also engage in cutting-edge scholarship that advances knowledge in fields relevant to the curriculum; engage in service in support of USAWC missions. Other duties may include teaching regional studies courses and/or supporting the development and execution of the National Security Policy Program. The position comes with a generous compensation package as well as with the many benefits of working at an innovative, vibrant, and collegial military educational institution.

Finally, the applicant must be able to obtain and maintain a security clearance from the US government.

Rewards and Compensation:

The person selected would find employment at the Army War College enjoyable, satisfying, and rewarding. They would have the benefit of working at an institution dedicated to his or her scholarly focus. Additionally, the person selected would sense the urgency of the mission, collegiality of the faculty, security of the military environment, quality and diversity of the student body, and climate of cooperation and teamwork. These defining features have long appealed to civilian faculty members who have worked at the Army War College for any length of time.

Compensation is dependent on the applicant's qualifications and professional experience. We are prepared to offer a salary-and-benefits package designed to attract highly talented applicants.

Qualifications:

In order to qualify, you must meet the education and/or experience requirements described below. Your curriculum vitae or résumé must clearly describe your relevant experience. Applicants will be rated based on the placement factors and Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities (KSAs) listed below by a search committee appointed for the purpose of identifying the best-qualified candidates.

1. Must have master's degree (required) in national security studies, international relations, government, political science, history, regional studies, or related field. A PhD or equivalent evidence of extensive original scholarly research and writing is strongly preferred. Doctoral students within six months of completing the degree are eligible (and encouraged) to apply.
2. Must have an established record of superlative teaching at the undergraduate, graduate, or Senior Service College level. Experience at the graduate level is preferred.
3. Ability to prepare, teach, and lecture on subjects related to national security policy and strategy formulation, theories of war and strategy, and other subjects to include political economy, diplomacy, or regional studies.
4. Record of scholarly research and publication—or evidence of great potential for such research and publication—in areas relevant to the curriculum, to include national security policy and strategy, international relations, political science, history, political economy, regional studies, and the strategic use of military force (assurance, deterrence, coercion, and compellence).

Application:

To apply for this position, you must provide a complete application package which includes the items listed below. Applications must be postmarked or e-dated by the closing date of this job announcement. Please include the job announcement number on the application.

Army network servers have an overall limit of 10 MB per email. To ensure delivery of your application, we recommend that applicants limit overall email size to no more than 5-8 MB. You may send documents in several emails to reduce overall size.

1. Letter of application addressing the required Knowledge, Skills and Abilities, as listed in the Qualifications section above.
2. Résumé or curriculum vitae.
3. Proof of U.S. citizenship (i.e., birth certificate, passport)
4. One sample of written scholarship not to exceed 50 pages (Electronic format is preferred, as hard copies will not be returned without a self-addressed and metered envelope.)
5. Academic transcripts (undergraduate and graduate level). Unofficial transcripts are permissible for initial submission of the application, but you must provide official college transcripts upon request.
6. List of four disinterested professional references (i.e., persons who can affirm the candidate's qualifications but have no stake in the outcome of the selection)
7. Documentation supporting any request for Veteran's Preference (such as a DD Form 214 or VA statement of disability)
8. A short narrative of one page or less that describes how you would contribute to an atmosphere of diversity at the U.S. Army War College through teaching, scholarship, and/or service.

Both paper and electronic submissions are acceptable, but the latter is strongly encouraged. The preferred method of submission is by e-mail with .pdf attachments. Please note that documents submitted as part of the application may be shared beyond the Human Resources Office. Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select postdoctoral scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The postdoctoral appointment will be for one academic year for scholars who have received a Ph.D. at an institution outside the United States and, who at the time of application, do not have a tenure-track faculty appointment. The candidates must also demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and have exhibited unusual intellectual promise.

During the academic year 2021-22, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Sustainable Futures." The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. We define sustainability expansively. What does economics teach us about inclusive growth and equality of opportunity? How can countries leverage ecological sciences and engineering to scale energy sources that are sustainable and practical, encourage environmentally sound consumption patterns, promote resource renewal and protect biodiversity? What would sustainable global integration look like? How is understanding the behavior of complex systems crucial to sustainability? How can architecture and engineering build smarter and more sustainable cities? What can countries learn from sociology about supporting family structures and community institutions? How might information science and technology render virtual public spheres civil while keeping them open? How can societies use political science to improve governance, raise political participation, and manage a wide diversity of views that healthy societies must have? Above all, how can countries create and propagate consensus narratives of sustainability that balance interests?

Applicants must apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/16742>. Applications are due by November 16, 2020 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, post-doctoral applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements before 9/1/2021 but cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, 9/1/2021. If a candidate has turned in a final draft of their dissertation but not yet completed their Ph.D. before the start date, they may be temporarily appointed as a Senior Research Assistant with 10% reduction in salary. Upon providing verification of their Ph.D. degree, they would be promoted in rank and salary. The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' proposed research projects, the relationship of their projects to the program theme, the candidates' scholarly records and their ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information on eligibility requirements and the Fung Global Fellows Program see <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggfp/call-applications>. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 16, 2020:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (To be submitted by your referees by the November 16, 2020 deadline.)

Princeton University

Rank: Visiting Research Scholar, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired at this rank will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The fellowships will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar. They will also be expected to return to their positions at the conclusion of the fellowship. Lastly, they must have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and unusual intellectual promise. Early-career scholars will be appointed at the rank of Visiting Research Scholar.

During the academic year 2021-22, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be “Sustainable Futures.” The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. We define sustainability expansively. What does economics teach us about inclusive growth and equality of opportunity? How can countries leverage ecological sciences and engineering to scale energy sources that are sustainable and practical, encourage environmentally sound consumption patterns, promote resource renewal and protect biodiversity? What would sustainable global integration look like? How is understanding the behavior of complex systems crucial to sustainability? How can architecture and engineering build smarter and more sustainable cities? What can countries learn from sociology about supporting family structures and community institutions? How might information science and technology render virtual public spheres civil while keeping them open? How can societies use political science to improve governance, raise political participation, and manage a wide diversity of views that healthy societies must have? Above all, how can countries create and propagate consensus narratives of sustainability that balance interests?

Applicants must apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/16822>. Applications due by November 16, 2020 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. or equivalent no earlier than September 1, 2011. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program theme, the candidate's scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information see: <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggfp/call-applications>.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 16, 2020:

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)

- For those applicants with a current faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant's current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University. If applicant is an established independent scholar, please upload a PDF stating this as applicant's current status.
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 16, 2020 deadline.)

University of Toronto at Scarborough

Rank: Associate Professor - African Diasporas and Development in the Global South – CRC Eligible (Tier2)

The Centre for Critical Development Studies at the University of Toronto Scarborough (UTSC) invite applications for a tenure stream position in African Diasporas and Development in the Global South – CRC Eligible (Tier2). This will be a joint appointment between the Centre (49%) and the Department of Political Science (51%) or the Department of Sociology (51%), depending on the field of expertise of the successful candidate. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor and will commence on July 1st, 2021 or shortly thereafter.

An appropriately qualified individual may also be nominated for a Tier 2 Canada Research Chair.

Tier 2 Chairs are for exceptional emerging scholars. Nominees should be within ten years of receiving their PhD. Applicants who are more than 10 years from having earned their highest degree (and where career breaks exist, such as maternity, parental or extended sick leave, clinical training, etc.) may have their eligibility for a Tier 2 chair assessed through the program's Tier 2 justification process.

Applicants must have a PhD in International Development Studies, Political Science, Sociology, or a closely related field and have a demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths (<https://www.utoronto.ca/ccds/faculty>; <https://www.utoronto.ca/polisci/faculty>; <https://www.utoronto.ca/sociology/faculty>). The successful candidate's primary research and teaching focus must be on African Diasporas and Development in the Global South. Candidates with a focus on political economy, gender, race, and/or social movements and their intersections will be preferred. Candidates must have experience using qualitative community-based or field research methods. Experience as a development practitioner will also be an asset, as will lived experience related to Africa and its diaspora.

Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence as demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked field-relevant journals and/or academic presses, the submitted research statement, significant conference presentations, awards and accolades, and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

The candidate will have a demonstrated record of teaching excellence. Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application including a strong teaching statement, sample course syllabi, and the teaching evaluations, as well as strong letters of reference. Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

The successful candidate will be expected to provide intellectual leadership of, and contribute to teaching in, UTSC's evolving African Studies program (<https://www.utoronto.ca/hcs/african-studies>). The successful candidate must also be able to contribute core teaching in Critical Development Studies (<http://www.utoronto.ca/ccds/>), Political Science (<http://www.utoronto.ca/polisci/>), and/or Sociology (<https://www.utoronto.ca/sociology/>). Preference will be given to candidates whose teaching incorporates opportunities for undergraduate experiential learning and community engagement.

The successful candidate will join a vibrant intellectual community of world-class scholars at Canada's leading university. The Centre for Critical Development Studies and Departments of Political Science and Sociology at the University of Toronto Scarborough enjoy strong ties to other units within the University. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain an active research program centered at the University of Toronto Scarborough, and participate and supervise graduate students in the Graduate Department of Political Science (<https://politics.utoronto.ca>) or the Graduate Department of Sociology (<https://sociology.utoronto.ca>) on the St. George campus. Scarborough, as part of the Greater Toronto Area, is comprised of communities with amazing cultural richness and demographic diversity.

For further information on the federally endowed Canada Research Chairs Program, open to all nationalities, including eligibility criteria, please consult the Canada Research Chairs website. For more information about the CRC nomination process at the University of Toronto, contact Judith Chadwick, Assistant Vice-President, Research Services, at crc@utoronto.ca.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking <https://utoronto.taleo.net/careersection/10050/jobdetail.ftl?job=2000246&tz=GMT-04%3A00&tzname=America%2FToronto>. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; one recent publication (of no more than 30 pages); and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course syllabi, and teaching evaluations.

Applicants must also arrange to have three letters of reference sent directly by the referee via email (on letterhead and signed) to sueann-hicks@utoronto.ca by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attached documents into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sue Ann Hicks at sueann.hicks@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by August 24, 2020.

The University recognizes that scholars have varying career paths and that career interruptions due to personal circumstances can be part of an excellent academic record. Search committee members have been instructed to give careful consideration to, and be sensitive to the impact of, career interruptions in their assessments.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment, and selection processes as accessible as possible, and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities. If you require any accommodations at any point during the application process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca. In addition, the office of Health & Wellbeing Programs and Services assists with providing accommodation to persons with disabilities in the workplace.

The Canada Research Chairs Program requires institutions to collect self-identification data from all applicants, following the program's best practices. This data is important to the University's ability to ensure that researchers from diverse groups are able to benefit from participation in the program. As part of your application, you will be required to submit a brief Diversity Survey, accessed via the online application system. Applicants are encouraged to self-identify in any of the groups where applicable. While completion of the survey is required, providing answers to the individual survey questions is voluntary, and applicants can log a response indicating that they decline the survey. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Aggregated and anonymized data regarding the applicant pool will be reported only to the chair of the selection committee, the committee's equity advisor, and a small number of staff members in the Division of the Vice-President, Research and Innovation, for purposes of program administration and to meet reporting requirements.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Congressional Research Service

Rank: Assistant Director and Senior Specialist (American Law Division)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Other

Open: 08/12/2020 to 10/07/2020

Salary: $131,239 to $197,300 per year

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) seeks a senior manager to lead its American Law Division (ALD), one of CRS's five research divisions. CRS provides objective, nonpartisan, and authoritative legislative research, analysis, and consultative support exclusively to the U.S. Congress.

This position serves as head of the American Law Division, a major CRS research division. In this capacity, and reporting directly to the Director of CRS, the Assistant Director manages, within the interdisciplinary environment of CRS, a professional legal staff in its production of written products and consulting services in support of the U.S. Congress.

Working directly with congressional committees and Members of the House and Senate, attorneys within CRS's American Law Division contribute to an informed national legislature as it considers legal and policy issues of importance to the American people. Areas of research, analysis, and consultative support include all facets of law in the United States, including administrative, business, civil rights, constitutional, energy, environmental, health, immigration, intellectual property, international, labor, military, national security, procurement, tax and trade law.

The Assistant Director ensures that written and consulting work is of the highest quality and consistently meets the Service's standards of objectivity, nonpartisanship, timeliness, legislative relevance, authoritativeness, and accessibility. In addition, the Assistant Director actively collaborates with managers and staff in CRS's other research divisions to ensure that a multifaceted approach to policy issues is taken to best inform Congressional decision-making.

The Assistant Director leads implementation of the Service's agenda for legal issues within the division's areas of responsibility, including approaches, frameworks, and methodologies for addressing policy and legislative issues. This includes demonstrating personal intellectual leadership in monitoring congressional needs in the various policy areas and assuring access to the intellectual capacity needed to meet current and changing needs of the United States Congress at a sustained level of excellence. This also includes exercising overall responsibility for the oversight and management of the division's human, financial, material, and information research assets, including a staff of approximately 65 employees. In performing these activities, the Assistant Director is responsible for ensuring that the research, analytical, and consulting activities of the division are aligned with the legislative needs of Congress and with the priorities, goals, and policies of CRS for meeting those needs.

The Assistant Director also serves as one of the chief advisors to the Director, counseling the Director on all aspects of the research management and operations of CRS and recommending specific policies and procedures for improving the Service's overall quality, efficiency, and effectiveness. The Assistant Director serves as a member of the Director's senior management team and serves as a principal CRS representative to Members, committees, and officers of the United States Congress.

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online <https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/576048300>.

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

Location: Notre Dame, IN

Open Date:

Jul 31, 2020

Deadline: Oct 15, 2020 at 11:59 PM Eastern Time

Description:

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in climate change, environment and peace studies, based at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies (<https://kroc.nd.edu/>). Rank is open though preference would be given to junior and mid-career candidates. The disciplinary and regional specialization for the position is open. While the primary appointment is at the Keough School, the successful candidate could also have an affiliation with another School or College at the University of Notre Dame.

We welcome candidates working on one or more of the following themes:

- conflict resolution as it relates to the environment, natural resources and climate change
- environmental justice and social transformation
- violence induced by climate change and environmental degradation

The successful applicant is expected to play a leading role in the Kroc Institute's plans for developing a research and teaching focus on climate change and environment as they relate to conflict and peace. They would be part of a growing community of scholars within the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>) working on environmental policy in a global context. We encourage applications from scholars who can engage in interdisciplinary research and teaching, thereby contributing to the integrative mission of the Keough School. We particularly welcome scholars whose research has direct relevance to the peacebuilding practice and policy.

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/1970918>

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at <https://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/?id=link-73597>.

Equal Opportunity Employment Statement

The University of Notre Dame seeks to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality faculty, staff and administration. The University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to building a culturally diverse workplace. We strongly encourage applications from female and minority candidates and those candidates attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Moreover, Notre Dame prohibits discrimination against veterans or disabled qualified individuals, and requires affirmative action by covered contractors to employ and advance veterans and qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with 41 CFR 60-741.5(a) and 41 CFR 60-300.5(a).

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Postdoctoral Scholar

The Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab seeks postdoctoral scholars in LGBT Policy Studies (broadly defined). The ideal candidate is an empirical social scientist who has an interest in studying the causes and consequences of LGBT-related public policies (e.g., same-sex marriage, non-discrimination, 'bathroom bills', religious freedom exemptions, and others) on a range of social, economic, political, health, education, and demographic outcomes. Experience with programming in STATA and handling large datasets is required. A PhD in demography, economics, education, health services research, law/jurisprudence, LGBT studies, political science, public health, health policy, public policy, sociology, or a related field is required.

Please note that while the administrative home of these postdoctoral appointments will be in the Department of Economics, we invite applications from and plan to hire researchers in multiple disciplines.

Responsibilities include:

1. Carrying out an active research program focusing on LGBT policies and populations, including solo publications and joint papers with Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab faculty.
2. Co-developing and co-teaching a course on LGBT policies and advocacy to be co-taught with a Vanderbilt faculty member over the course of the fellowship.
3. Attending a monthly colloquium series on LGBT policies and populations.
4. Attending and helping to coordinate and facilitate an academic conference on LGBT policies and populations to be held at Vanderbilt in Spring 2022
5. Serving as a liaison to campus and community leaders on LGBT policy topics.

With generous funding from a Vanderbilt Trans-Institutional Programs Reinvestment Award (<http://vanderbilt.edu/strategicplan/trans-institutional-programs/tipshome.php>), the Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab brings together Vanderbilt experts from multiple units including: economics; education; divinity; health policy; law; medicine; MHS; political science; religious studies; gender and sexuality studies; and sociology. Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab Faculty have secured over $3 million in external funding to support research on LGBT policies and populations. Our faculty's research has been published in journals such as the Harvard Law Review, Industrial and Labor Relations Review, and The New England Journal of Medicine; covered by NBC, the New York Post, and the Washington Post; and cited in Supreme Court decisions on marriage equality and LGBT employment nondiscrimination. Our goal is to compete for NIH LGBT-focused population center funding in 5-7 years.

All postdoctoral scholars will be supervised by Vanderbilt LGBT Policy Lab Director Kitt Carpenter and one or more faculty mentors depending on discipline. For example, while candidates with economics PhDs will work closely with PI Kitt Carpenter, candidates with education PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigators Luis Leyva or Matthew Shaw; candidates with sociology PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigators Tara McKay or Rachel Donnelly; and candidates with public health or health policy PhDs may work more closely with Co-Investigator Gilbert Gonzales.

The one-year fellowships will begin 7/1/2021 (or possibly earlier if mutually agreeable), with an initial end date of 6/30/2022, and carry the possibility of a one-year renewal. [Our strong preference is for candidates to be able to spend both AY 21-22 and 22-23 at Vanderbilt.] Each position carries a twelve-month salary of $65,000, office space, health insurance, and eligibility for other benefits (<https://gradschool.vanderbilt.edu/postdoctoral/postdoctoral-scholars/benefits.php>). These in-residence positions require a physical presence in Nashville for the term of the fellowship.

Applicants should provide a cover letter describing interesting in the position and future research plans, CV, a research paper, and three references at: <https://apply.interfolio.com/77119>. Applications will be reviewed immediately and until the positions are filled.

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in climate change, environment and peace studies, based at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies. Rank is open though preference would be given to junior and mid-career candidates. The disciplinary and regional specialization for the position is open. While the primary appointment is at the Keough School, the successful candidate could also have an affiliation with another School or College at the University of Notre Dame.

We welcome candidates working on one or more of the following themes:

- conflict resolution as it relates to the environment, natural resources and climate change
- environmental justice and social transformation
- violence induced by climate change and environmental degradation

The successful applicant is expected to play a leading role in the Kroc Institute's plans for developing a research and teaching focus on climate change and environment as they relate to conflict and peace. They would be part of a growing community of scholars within the Keough School working on environmental policy in a global context. We encourage applications from scholars who can engage in interdisciplinary research and teaching, thereby contributing to the integrative mission of the Keough School. We particularly welcome scholars whose research has direct relevance to the peacebuilding practice and policy.

All applicants are required to submit a letter of interest and a CV. Junior candidates should also arrange for the submission of three letters of reference, a statement of research, and a teaching statement, which includes a summary of any teaching evaluations available.

Nominations and inquiries may be sent via email to:

Yale-NUS College

Rank: Tenure-Track faculty position in Global Affairs

Specializations: International Political Economy, Trade, International Law & Organizations

Yale-NUS College is a liberal arts and sciences college with approximately 1000 students and 110 full-time faculty. The College is a collaboration between Yale University and the National University of Singapore. Yale-NUS students are intellectually outstanding, with an acceptance rate of less than 7%, and internationally diverse, representing over seventy countries. They go through a unique and rigorous Common Curriculum in the sciences, social sciences and humanities that combines Western and Eastern traditions with contemporary skills.

The College invites applications for two tenure-track positions in Global Affairs at the rank of Assistant Professor. Preferred disciplinary fields are politics, economics, or sociology. We particularly welcome applications from scholars who can teach global governance or international political economy, and whose research concerns a transboundary issue in areas such as global public health, climate change, world trade, international finance, or international organizations.

Scholars with regional expertise outside of Asia, such as in Africa or Latin America, are welcome.

Applicants should have a relevant PhD and demonstrate an outstanding track record for their career stage.

A commitment to undergraduate education is essential. The incoming faculty member would join a committed team in developing and teaching courses in the Global Affairs major (see <https://globalaffairs.yale-nus.edu.sg/>) and Yale-NUS's flagship Common Curriculum (see <http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum>).

The appointee will be expected to begin duties in August 2021.

Yale-NUS faculty receive internationally competitive salaries and start-up grants as well as a yearly travel and research allowance, and are able to access additional funding from Yale-NUS, the National University of Singapore and Singapore's Ministry of Education. Most faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million at the heart of a vibrant region.

Applications should consist of the following: a cover letter explaining why the position at Yale-NUS is of interest; a curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications; statements on research interests, teaching experience and teaching philosophy, including how these might fit with the College's particular mission and curriculum; three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>); and other relevant documents.

Applications should be submitted via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>.

Review of applications begins September 1, 2020 and continues until September 30, 2020. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

For general enquiries, please email the Social Sciences Divisional Manager at Enquiry_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg.

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to these values. For more information about the College, please visit <https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg>

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorize the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

University of California, San Diego

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

Subfield(s): International Relations, Methodology, Other

The Center for Peace and Security Studies (cPASS) within the Division of Social Sciences at the University of California, San Diego (<https://cpass.ucsd.edu/>) invites applications for postdoctoral positions for the 2020-21 academic year.

Research at cPASS targets new and emerging security issues such as emerging modes of conflict and new modes of deterrence. cPASS is devoted to applying innovative thinking and diverse methodologies (experiments, deductive modeling, statistical analysis, case studies, archival research and “big data”) to traditional security issues made more dynamic and difficult by the increased complexity of interstate competition and conflict. We emphasize a team-based, multi-method approach to research that combines qualitative and quantitative perspectives.

Postdocs will work closely with the Center Director in conducting cPASS research activities such as data collection, analysis, preparing project reports and manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals, preparing and delivering oral presentations to diverse audiences, overseeing qualitative research or supervising project labs, and mentoring graduate and undergraduate research activities.

Qualifications Required and Preferred Academic Background: Applicants are required to have a PhD in hand at the time of appointment. A degree in Political Science, History, International Relations, Economics, or allied field is anticipated but other specialties may be appropriate, depending on an applicant’s interests and skills. Candidates will be assessed based on their expertise and knowledge of different key aspects of security studies and their ability to contribute to a diversified, integrated research team.

Appointment length:

The initial period of appointment will be for 12 months from the date of appointment. Renewal is possible with the approval of the Center Director. Some flexibility exists as to start date, but candidates should expect to be in residence in San Diego throughout the appointment.

Salary/Stipend:

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience

Application Process:

Interested applicants should provide a letter describing their qualifications and the reasons for interest in the position as well as a curriculum vitae. Additional materials may be requested after initial review. Please send all materials to jml110@ucsd.edu with the subject line “cPASS Postdoc Fellow”. Review of applications will be ongoing.

New York University

Rank: Lab Manager - Center for Social Media and Politics

We are looking for a full-time lab manager. In this role, you will be embedded in our research teams in order to directly support the lab’s cutting-edge output. Currently, we have a portfolio of over 25 projects on a wide range of questions related to social media and politics, each of which has different substantive and methodological motivations. As the lab manager, you will have two main responsibilities. First, you will monitor and coordinate all of the lab’s research projects; second, you will provide direct support to a selected portfolio of projects. Given the nature of this position, a graduate-level background in quantitative social science and/or data science research is strongly encouraged, as is experience leading teams in a fast-paced environment.

Each project will require something different from the lab manager, ranging from coordinating with our survey vendors to training undergraduate RAs. We value initiative and adaptability, as well as a passion for the research process. While far from an exhaustive list, your responsibilities will include:

- Instituting systems of regular reporting on work performed, setting goals, tracking progress towards deliverables
- Holding meetings with research teams on each project, and reporting to Faculty Directors and Executive Director on progress
- Ensuring data tasks are regularly updated and best lab practices (e.g. coding and documentation) are followed
- Managing paper writing/revisions, writing IRB paperwork, and coordinating conference/journal submissions
- Training and supervising graduate/undergraduate RAs

The Center for Social Media and Politics (CSMaP) consists of three core faculty directors covering fields of Political Science, Computer Science, and Computational Biology, as well as software engineers, data scientists, PhD students in both Political Science and Data Science, affiliated faculty both at NYU and other institutions, and undergraduates. The lab maintains a broad research agenda with many projects moving forward simultaneously. Recent publications and/or working papers have centered on the consumption of fake news, the distribution of media consumption by individuals, the links shared by IRA Troll accounts in the 2016 US election, how (competitive) authoritarian regimes respond to online opposition, and the prevalence of hate speech on Twitter.

The Center has weekly general meetings, bi-weekly post-docs meetings, and many project-specific meetings throughout the week. Centrally located in Manhattan, the lab hosts frequent visitors. You will be given the opportunity to participate in the center's research environment, including attending conferences and seminars and working closely with a broad group of researchers associated with the lab.

The directors of CSMaP are actively seeking a diverse group of students, engineers, postdocs, and faculty collaborators, and encourage applicants from all backgrounds to consider applying for this position. We believe in the importance of diversity as a key to the long range health and vibrancy of the field, as well as its ability to create a more stimulating intellectual environment.

To apply, please go to <https://apply.interfolio.com/66754><https://apply.interfolio.com/66754>

For additional information, feel free to contact any of the faculty directors: Rich Bonneau (rb133@nyu.edu), Jonathan Nagler (jonathan.nagler@nyu.edu), or Joshua Tucker (joshua.tucker@nyu.edu). Or, of course, check out our website.

POLITICAL THEORY

Dartmouth College

Rank: Post-doctoral Fellowship in Political Economy

The Political Economy Project (PEP) at Dartmouth College seeks applications for a one-year renewable postdoctoral fellowship from those working on social/political philosophy, ethics, and/or history of political thought, all broadly construed. PEP is an interdisciplinary initiative focused on normative questions at the intersection of politics, economics, and philosophy. The majority of the fellow's time will be devoted to independent research. The fellow will teach two courses per year in either the Government or Philosophy Departments, at least one of which will be an introductory-level course related to political economy. The fellow is expected to attend and actively assist in planning PEP events and otherwise participate in PEP's intellectual life and the Government Department or Philosophy Department during the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. The selected candidate will hold an appointment as a Lecturer in either the Government Department or Philosophy Department and as a Postdoctoral Fellow in PEP. The initial appointment will be for one academic year, with the expectation of renewal for one further year assuming good performance. The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative and Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences. The salary is competitive and includes benefits.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in diverse applicants who can work effectively with an inclusive and diverse student body, faculty, and staff. Dartmouth is made up of individuals who identify as Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC), women, individuals who identify as LGBTQIA+, individuals with disabilities, veterans, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and first-generation college students and graduates.

Applicants should state in their cover letter, or a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications

Candidates should have a Ph.D. prior to September 15, 2021.

Application Instructions

Candidates should submit via Interfolio a cover letter, current CV, writing sample (approximately 20-25 pages), statement of research (no more than 3 pages), three confidential letters of recommendation, and teaching portfolio. A successful candidate will show evidence of outstanding scholarship, effective teaching, and the ability to contribute to the interdisciplinary initiative of the Political Economy Project.

Application Process

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. To ensure the fullest consideration, applications should be complete and received by November 15, 2020.

This institution is using Interfolio's Faculty Search to conduct this search. Applicants to this position receive a free Dossier account and can send all application materials, including confidential letters of recommendation, free of charge.

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Theory

Description:

The Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga invites applications for one full-time tenure stream appointment in the field of Political Theory. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor and will begin on July 1, 2021, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a Ph.D. degree in Political Science or a closely related field by the time of appointment or shortly thereafter, and have a demonstrated record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and deepen our existing departmental strengths. This search is open to scholars working in any intellectual tradition in political theory. We especially welcome candidates whose research includes Black political thought, critical race theory, decolonial theory, disability studies, feminist political thought, Indigenous political thought, queer theory, or trans theory. The successful candidate will be able to teach introductory and intermediate survey courses in political theory at the undergraduate level, as well as advanced courses in their area of research at the graduate level.

Candidates must provide strong evidence of research excellence of an internationally competitive caliber, as evidenced by a record of publications in leading outlets in the field or forthcoming publications meeting high international standards, presentations at significant conferences, accolades or awards, the submitted research statement, and strong endorsements by referees of high standing. The successful candidate will be expected to mount an innovative, competitive, independent, and externally funded research program and to pursue outstanding research at the highest international level.

Evidence of excellence in teaching is required and is demonstrated by a teaching dossier that includes a teaching statement, teaching accomplishments, sample syllabi, and teaching evaluations, as well as strong endorsements from referees.

The successful applicant will teach undergraduate courses in the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto Mississauga and will also become a full member of the Graduate Department of Political Science of the University of Toronto, undertaking graduate teaching and supervision at the St. George campus. For further information on the UTM Department and on the tri-campus Graduate Department, see <https://www.utm.utoronto.ca/political-science/department-political-science> and <https://politics.utoronto.ca/>

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To be considered for this position, all qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link (or button) below. All application materials must be submitted online and must include the following:

- a cover letter (1 page) and curriculum vitae together as a single PDF, a writing sample (e.g., an article offprint),
- a teaching dossier including a teaching statement, sample syllabi, and student evaluations as well as any other relevant assessments,
- a research statement outlining current and future research interests (2 pages max),
- a diversity statement.

Equity and diversity are among UTM's core values and are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover topics such as (but not limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each once an application is submitted. Applicants, however, remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. We recommend combining attaching documents into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have questions about this position, please contact the Search Committee Chair at chair.pol.utm@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters must be received by October 14, 2020.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. For more information, please see <http://uoft.me/UP>.

Accessibility Statement

The University strives to be an equitable and inclusive community, and proactively seeks to increase diversity among its community members. Our values regarding equity and diversity are linked with our unwavering commitment to excellence in the pursuit of our academic mission.

The University is committed to the principles of the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). As such, we strive to make our recruitment, assessment and selection processes as accessible as possible and provide accommodations as required for applicants with disabilities.

If you require any accommodations at any point during the application and hiring process, please contact uoft.careers@utoronto.ca.

University of Denver

Rank: Assistant professor

The Department of Political Science consists of ten tenure-line faculty supporting the Bachelors of arts degree in political science within the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences at the University of Denver. Our undergraduate program of study serves approximately 200 majors and students across campus in the common curriculum. Our faculty value inclusive excellence: a commitment by all constituents to create an academic experience that embraces and engages diverse perspectives and communities within an atmosphere of mutual respect. Our curriculum endeavors to develop students' ability to think critically, communicate clearly, write effectively, and develop compelling analytical argumentation based on justifiable sources of empirical evidence and analytical reasoning. For information about the department, please click here: <https://www.du.edu/ahss/polisci/>

The Department of Political Science at the University of Denver invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professorship to start in Fall 2021 in the field of political theory. The ideal candidate has broad enough training in major areas of political theory to serve as the primary theorist in a robust undergraduate department. Specialization and teaching experience in the areas of modern democratic theory, feminist theory, conservative theory, or American political thought is preferred. Priority will be given to candidates who can teach in an additional sub-field of political science beyond political theory. The position requires teaching the equivalent of two courses per quarter (three quarters per year) in the Political Science department, covering a range of upper division courses in political theory, introductory courses, and common curriculum requirements. The University of Denver embraces a scholar-teacher model where faculty balance their commitment to rigorous scholarship with undergraduate education. We welcome the incorporation of experiential learning opportunities in the curriculum, such as community-engaged scholarship. The person holding this position would also be expected to contribute to University and departmental service.

Our curriculum is normally delivered via conventional "face-to-face" classes on our traditional residential campus, with most online-only courses occurring during summer sessions which faculty may elect to teach for supplemental income, pending sufficient enrollment. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, however, all courses in the Spring quarter of 2020 were delivered as online-only courses. Given the unknown course of the pandemic, faculty must be capable of teaching in conventional, hybrid, and online-only formats while the pandemic runs its course.

Required Qualifications

1. ABD or Ph.D. in Political Science or related field or interdisciplinary program (e.g. political philosophy or history of ideas). A candidate hired at the ABD level would hold the title of Instructor until completion of Ph.D.
2. Experience teaching undergraduate courses in political (or related social) science.
3. Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar) as part of a conventional in-person class.
4. Experience interacting with diverse communities or evidence of a commitment to incorporate inclusive teaching methods and/or pedagogies to effectively engage students from a wide range of backgrounds and experiences.
5. Evidence of a promising scholarly agenda in political theory that is likely to result in peer-reviewed publications.

Preferred Qualifications

1. Ph.D. in Political Science.
2. Experience as an instructor teaching Introduction to Political Thought (theory) and upper-division undergraduate courses in political theory
3. Scholarly expertise to develop an upper-division undergraduate course in an additional sub-field of political science.
4. Experience using course management software (such as Canvas or similar) to teach an online-only class.
5. Successful publication of peer-reviewed scholarship in political theory and evidence of future promise as a scholar.

Application deadline

For best consideration, please submit your application materials by September 14, 2020.

Special Instructions

Candidates must apply online through www.du.edu/jobs to be considered. Only applications submitted online will be accepted.

Salary range

Salary will be determined by the qualifications of the selected candidate balanced with departmental budget availability, internal salary equity considerations, and available market information.

Please include the following documents with your application (Please note that all documents must be uploaded as PDF files):

1. CV that indicates scholarly specialization, comprehensive exam fields, and courses you have taught before.
2. One statement of interest that articulates your scholarly agenda, teaching philosophy and methods to engage students in both conventional and online class settings, and strategies to foster inclusive excellence (in the classroom).
3. Transcripts
4. Evidence of teaching effectiveness such as syllabi, detailed descriptions of particular course assignments, grading rubrics for writing assignments, and other artifacts of teaching excellence, preferably combined into one pdf file with headers identifying discrete components.
5. Samples of written work (e.g., two chapters from dissertation or book, and/or two articles).
6. DU's online employment application requests contacts for professional/academic references who will be emailed to upload letters of recommendation (at least three preferred). Candidates using Inter-folio may arrange to send at least three letters of recommendation via email to conant@du.edu

The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff. We are an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment regardless of age, race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, military/veteran status or any other status protected by law.

All offers of employment are based upon satisfactory completion of a criminal history background check.

About Vassar College

Vassar College is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer with a strong commitment to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and promoting an environment of equality, inclusion, and respect for difference. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding, such as racial, ethnic, and gender minorities, are particularly encouraged to apply.

Position Summary and Responsibilities

The Department of Political Science at Vassar College invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in comparative political theory with a focus on indigenous political thought beginning Fall 2021.

The Department of Political Science is committed to seeking out and hiring qualified candidates among individuals who have been and continue to be inadequately represented in the discipline and in our faculty. We invite applicants with scholarship in Native American, Pacific Island, global, and diasporic traditions of political thought in Asia, Africa and the Americas. The teaching load in the first year is four courses, and in subsequent years is either five courses or four classroom courses plus one "intensive," a small enrollment, closely mentored experience for undergraduates. Ph.D. in Political Science or a related field is expected at the time of appointment. Salary is competitive and accompanied by a full benefits package.

Qualifications

We encourage applicants to identify their scholarly interests in their application materials, and to describe how those interests guide, inform and are reflected in their current and future teaching aspirations at each level of our curriculum. To apply, candidates should submit a letter of application, a statement highlighting contributions to or future plans for promoting diversity and inclusion through teaching, research and other involvements, C.V., graduate school transcript (unofficial copies accepted for initial application), at least three letters of recommendation, reprints and preprints of peer-reviewed works or brief writing samples, sample syllabi, teaching evaluations and/or statement of teaching interests. Please apply online at employment.vassar.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=53049. For inquiries, email Fubing Su, Chair, (fusu@vassar.edu).

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2020 and will continue until the position is filled.

Tecnológico de Monterrey
Assistant and Adjunct Faculty Positions

Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

School of Social Sciences and Government, Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, economics, and related social science fields. The search is also open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, empirical, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues.

Subfields of political science of interest include comparative international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical as well as applied empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. This is an open-rank search, whereby status as tenured, tenure-track, Assistant, Associate or Full Professor will be awarded on the basis of the candidates publishing record, teaching experience, and academic status. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered only if they include a letter from the chair of the committee stating a date for the defense of the doctoral dissertation, which should occur no later than June 2020.

Compensation is competitive, includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the website AcademicJobsOnline.org (see <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/5869>):

- ? Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).
- ? A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages) that includes potential course offerings. Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.
- ? Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.
- ? Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages (the candidate should be the first author, preferably a refereed journal article).
- ? Three letters of recommendation written within the last year. In the case of early career scholars (2015-2019), at least one of these letters should come from the PhD advisor.

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is ranked among the top universities in Latin America and is Mexico's top private university. For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit <http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/> The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey, and other locations. Stanford University McCoy Family Center for Ethics in Society and the Institute for Human-Centered AI

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow

We invite applications for a postdoctoral fellowship based at the McCoy Family Center for Ethics in Society (EIS) and the Institute for Human-Centered AI (HAI) beginning September 1, 2020. We will hire 1 fellow. The postdoctoral fellow will be expected to spend 50% of their time working with the Embedded Ethics program and 50% of their time on their own independent research within a cohort of postdoctoral fellows appointed at EIS and HAI.

Stanford Embedded Ethics is a collaborative program that embeds the teaching of ethics directly into the core undergraduate courses of Stanford's computer science curriculum. Working in collaboration with CS faculty and graduate students, the fellow will create curricular materials, course assignments, and teach ethics modules across three to six courses in the inaugural year of the program, and in doing so, will have the opportunity to shape the direction of this new approach to technology education at Stanford.

The postdoctoral fellow will have responsibility for (a) working with CS faculty and students to develop course materials, (b) teaching the modules, (c) providing pedagogical training for Course Assistants in CS, and (d) participating in the intellectual life of Ethics in Society and HAI.

We seek applicants with a Ph.D. in philosophy, political science, or law who have substantive normative training, and who are enthusiastic to work with computer scientists to develop ethics modules. They need not have a computer science background themselves, though of course such training is welcome. Ideal candidates would have significant teaching experience, some mathematical training, experience with cross-disciplinary research or teaching, and enthusiasm about developing ethics pedagogy.

Applicants ideally will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. at the time of application, and no later than July 31, 2020. Candidates must also be no more than three years from the awarding of their degree at the start of the fellowship (i.e., September 2017). The term of the fellowship is September 1, 2020 - August 1, 2021 and is renewable for a second year.

We welcome applications from women and members of minority groups, as well as others who would bring additional dimensions to the university's research and teaching missions. Salary is competitive.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, CV, a writing sample (no more than 25 pages double-spaced), three letters of recommendation, a one-page research statement (single spaced), and a list of classes they have taught.

Applications will be collected via Interfolio. Applications will not be accepted by email. To apply, visit: <https://ethicsinsociety.stanford.edu/postdoctoral/application-process>

If you have questions about the fellowship, please email: ethics_submissions@stanford.edu

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis and should be submitted via Interfolio by July 24, 2020.

Augustana College

Rank: Open Rank Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

About Augustana College:

Augustana College is a selective liberal arts and sciences college of 2,500 students, including 26 percent first generation college students, 23 percent Pell Grant students, 24 percent students of color, and 12 percent international students. Our beautifully wooded and largely residential campus is located in Rock Island, IL, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago. Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body. Details about Augustana College, our expectations of the faculty, the selection process, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana.

Job Description:

Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, invites applications for an open rank visiting position in American Politics beginning in August of the 2020-2021 academic year, with possible renewal upon mutual agreement for the 2021-2022 academic year.

The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American National Government and upper division courses in American Politics. These include our current American politics courses such as American Political Participation and American Presidency. In addition, it is preferred that the candidate has a second field in either Public Policy or Political Theory and can offer classes like Introduction to Political Theory or Introduction to Public Policy.

The candidate will join a diverse and active, four-member department. Each faculty colleague has interdisciplinary interests beyond political science that complement the political science curriculum such as Africana Studies, Environmental Studies, Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and more.

Requirements:

Successful candidates will be able to demonstrate teaching effectiveness and an understanding of and/or willingness to embrace the nature of a liberal arts education. Experience and interest in working with students and community members of many backgrounds will be an asset for applicants. Preference will be given to candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment, although ABD candidates will also be considered.

Additional Information:

Augustana College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Augustana College provides equal opportunity to all qualified employees and applicants without regard to race, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, veteran status, and any other category protected by federal, state, or local law.

Application Instructions:

A complete application includes: a cover letter indicating an interest in and understanding of teaching in a liberal arts setting, curriculum vitae, copy of graduate transcript, two letters of recommendation (including contact information), and a statement of teaching philosophy. Questions may be directed to the interim chair of the department, Mariano Magalhães at marianomagalheas@augustana.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Shanghai University of Finance and Economics

Rank: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Methodology, Political Theory

Job Title: Assistant and Associate Professors of Political Science - Tenure Track

School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA)
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE)

Job Type: Full-Time

Job Summary: The School of Public Economics and Administration (SPEA) at Shanghai University of Finance and Economics (SUFE) seeks applicants for two tenure-track faculty positions at the rank of assistant or associate (non-tenured) professor. The employment starts in Fall semester of 2021. The openings are in the field of comparative politics, research methodology, and political theory. Candidates who have a research focus on issues of public policy are strongly encouraged to apply for the positions. A completed Ph.D. in Political Science is required before the employment. Applicants should demonstrate their potentials to employ rigorous research methods, either quantitative or qualitative, to answer important theoretical questions in the field. Although the working environment in SUFE is international, the ability to communicate fluently in Mandarin Chinese is highly preferred.

The position is a full-time appointment for a period of six years. A tenure evaluation will be conducted after five years of employment. The tenure-track faculty are expected to publish research on highly reputable international journals, offer high-quality teaching to undergraduate and graduate students, and contribute to the development of political science at SUFE. The rules of evaluation and promotion are standardized at the university and similar to those for tenure positions in a regular American university.

We offer a globally competitive salary based on a full-time appointment and depending on experience and knowledge. The starting salary is 380,000 RMB for entry-level appointment, pending university approval. The offer also includes a broad package of fringe benefits (240K RMB housing subsidy, medical insurance, moving expenses, startup fund, and travel grants) per university regulation.

Institution background: Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, founded in 1917, is a top-ranked research university in China. The university has recruited more than 200 faculty members with overseas Ph.D. degrees. SPEA has 20 faculty members who own overseas Ph.D. degrees. The university and the school have developed a competitive and collegial environment for junior scholars trained overseas. The university has decided to establish and develop a strong political science program in the Thirteenth Five-Year Plan. The newly established Institute of Political Science has eight members who hold a Ph.D. degree from overseas.

Application documents: Your application must contain the following documents (all in English):

1. A cover letter;
2. An extensive curriculum vitae including a publication list;
3. A statement of research interest and agenda;
4. Up to three working papers;
5. And names and contact information of three references.

The deadline for accepting applications is September 31, 2020, for this round of recruitment. We will arrange on-site interviews at SUFE or other forms of interviews such as Skype and Wechat during November and December 2020.

Contact: Please send your application and request to recruit committee at polscisufe@gmail.com.

PUBLIC LAW

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor- Law and Policy

The School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) at the University of Arizona invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in law and policy/politics, beginning in fall 2020. The position is open to all law-related fields, but we are especially interested in empirically oriented scholars whose research and teaching address questions about law and race, gender, health, or environmental sustainability. The School of Government and Public Policy is a growing and vibrant academic community housing scholars of Political Science, Public Policy, and Administration and Management, and offers in person and online Bachelor's and Master's degrees, as well as an in-residence PhD. SGPP is also home to the first BA in Law degree offered in the United States. Additional information on the SGPP is available at <http://sgpp.arizona.edu/>.

SGPP is situated within the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). Outstanding UA benefits include health, dental, and vision insurance plans; life insurance and disability programs; UA/ASU/NAU tuition reduction for the employee and qualified family members; state and optional retirement plans; access to UA recreation and cultural activities; and more. Accepting a new position is a big life step. We want potential candidates and their families to be able to make informed decisions. Candidates who are considering relocation to the Tucson or Phoenix area, and have been offered an on-site interview, are encouraged to use the free services offered by Above & Beyond Relocation Services (ABRS). Ask your department contact to be introduced to ABRS prior to your visit. The University of Arizona has been recognized on Forbes 2015 list of America's Best Employers in the United States and has been awarded the 2015 Work-Life Seal of Distinction by the Alliance for Work-Life Progress. For more information about working at the University of Arizona, please click here.

A PhD in political science, public policy, or a related social science field, is required by the time of appointment. The candidate will be expected to have a demonstrated ability to conduct and publish significant empirical research. The successful candidate will be expected to teach two courses per semester at the undergraduate and/or graduate level, and to participate in outreach and contribute to departmental, college, and university service. Our faculty also help to develop innovative approaches to enhancing student engagement, increasing diversity, and expanding collaborations with community and business partners.

Candidates should submit a cover letter, statement of research and teaching interests, current curriculum Vitae, and a writing sample via this job requisition. Additionally, applicants will need to provide three letters of references. Please submit these letters of reference via email to ahackett@arizona.edu. Dartmouth College

Rank: Assistant Professor in Philosophy and/or Government

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, African American Politics, Political Philosophy & Theory

The Departments of Government and Philosophy at Dartmouth College invite applications for the position of Assistant Professor in Government and/or Philosophy. Area of Study: Social and Political Philosophy. We are especially interested in candidates whose research concerns philosophical issues related to race and ethnicity and/or African American Political Thought. We seek candidates with a strong commitment to teaching, scholarly work, engaging students in research, and building a diverse and inclusive educational environment.

Successful qualified candidates will have the option of being appointed initially as a Faculty Fellow, a two-year residential postdoctoral appointment. After this two-year period, the position will convert to a regular tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. Faculty Fellows are part of a cohort of faculty committed to increasing diversity in their disciplines. Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and/or first-generation college students and graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter, or a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Philosophy, Political Science, or a related discipline, or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment as a Faculty Fellow or Assistant Professor. Preference will be given to applicants who have held a Ph.D. for less than 3 years.

Application instructions

Applicants should submit a letter of interest, CV, dissertation abstract or research statement, at least three confidential letters of recommendation, and writing sample. The review of applications will begin on November 5, 2020, and will continue until the position is filled.

Questions may be sent to Sonu.S.Bedi@dartmouth.edu or Timothy.-P.Rosenkoetter@dartmouth.edu. Applications must be submitted electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/77981>

Yale-NUS College

Rank: Tenure-Track faculty position in Law & Liberal Arts

Yale-NUS College is a highly selective liberal arts college in Singapore. Co-founded by Yale University and the National University of Singapore, the College is committed to excellence in research and teaching in a full residential programme that integrates living and learning. Its curriculum educates students in Asian and Western intellectual traditions as well as current scientific thought. A student body of 1000 undergraduates from over 60 countries engages with 100 outstanding faculty from around the world through small classes and hands-on research. Students and faculty also have access to the wider resources of two world-leading research universities.

The College invites outstanding applications for at least one tenure-track position in the social sciences. Candidates would teach in the Double-degree Programme in Law and Liberal Arts.

Applicants should have a PhD in a relevant field, such as law and society, sociology, anthropology, politics, or history (a law degree is not expected) and demonstrate an outstanding track record for their career stage in the interdisciplinary study of law, such as (but not limited to) law and society, sociology of law, anthropology of law, law and courts, or legal history. In particular, we welcome applicants who can teach qualitative methods for interdisciplinary research on law and modules in Yale-NUS's flagship common curriculum (<http://www.yale-nus.edu.sg/curriculum/common-curriculum>), such as Comparative Social Inquiry and Modern Social Thought.

The appointee will be expected to begin duties in August 2021 in time for the start of the 2021-2022 academic year.

Faculty receive internationally competitive salaries and start-up grants as well as a yearly travel and research allowance, and are able to access additional funding from Yale-NUS, the National University of Singapore and Singapore's Ministry of Education. Most faculty qualify for highly subsidized faculty housing. Yale-NUS College is located in Singapore, a multicultural city of six million at the heart of a vibrant region.

Applications should consist of the following: a cover letter explaining why the position at Yale-NUS is of interest; a full curriculum vitae, including a complete list of publications; statements on research interests, teaching experience and teaching philosophy, including how these might fit with the College's particular mission and curriculum; and three reference letters (to be submitted by the reference writers via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>).

Applications should be submitted via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/YaleNUS>.

Review of applications begins 1 October 2020 and continue until the positions are filled.

General enquiries should be made to the Social Sciences Divisional Manager at Enquiry_SocialSciencesDiv@yale-nus.edu.sg.

Yale-NUS College achieves excellence through the diversity of its students, faculty, and staff and by embracing inclusivity, equity and global engagement. We encourage applications by diverse individuals with a demonstrated commitment to these values. For more information about the College, please visit <https://www.yale-nus.edu.sg>

Candidates should understand that by sharing information with Yale-NUS, they authorize the College to use their personal data for the purposes of this application. The College will not use their data for other purposes and ensure that their data remains secure and confidential.

Lycoming College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Lycoming College invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Law at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2021. The successful candidate will be broadly trained to teach both introductory and advanced courses in Public Law. Candidates with a secondary specialization in Comparative Politics are encouraged to apply.

Lycoming's small, liberal arts environment allows faculty members, as part of their 3-3 teaching load, to create new courses in line with their area of specialization. Candidates with an interest in teaching in the College's interdisciplinary first year seminar program are desired. Candidates should demonstrate a strong promise of teaching effectiveness and scholarly achievement, and a serious commitment to teaching undergraduates in a liberal arts environment is essential. Additional duties include advising and mentoring students, as well as service to the department and institution.

Ph.D. in political science is preferred, but ABDs in their final stages of completion will be considered.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae along with submitting a teaching portfolio, 250-word statement on why they are interested in a liberal arts academic environment, a single-authored writing sample, 3 letters of recommendation, and graduate transcript.

Letters of recommendations can be mailed to:

Attention: Missy Cashner, HR Generalist
 Lycoming College
 One College Place, Campus Box 861
 Williamsport, PA 17701

To guarantee full consideration applications should be submitted by October 1, 2020. A pre-employment drug screening will be conducted.

Congressional Research Service

Rank: Assistant Director and Senior Specialist (American Law Division)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Other

Open: 08/12/2020 to 10/07/2020

Salary: $131,239 to $197,300 per year

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) seeks a senior manager to lead its American Law Division (ALD), one of CRS's five research divisions. CRS provides objective, nonpartisan, and authoritative legislative research, analysis, and consultative support exclusively to the U.S. Congress.

This position serves as head of the American Law Division, a major CRS research division. In this capacity, and reporting directly to the Director of CRS, the Assistant Director manages, within the interdisciplinary environment of CRS, a professional legal staff in its production of written products and consulting services in support of the U.S. Congress.

Working directly with congressional committees and Members of the House and Senate, attorneys within CRS's American Law Division contribute to an informed national legislature as it considers legal and policy issues of importance to the American people. Areas of research, analysis, and consultative support include all facets of law in the United States, including administrative, business, civil rights, constitutional, energy, environmental, health, immigration, intellectual property, international, labor, military, national security, procurement, tax and trade law.

The Assistant Director ensures that written and consulting work is of the highest quality and consistently meets the Service's standards of objectivity, nonpartisanship, timeliness, legislative relevance, authoritativeness, and accessibility. In addition, the Assistant Director actively collaborates with managers and staff in CRS's other research divisions to ensure that a multifaceted approach to policy issues is taken to best inform Congressional decision-making.

The Assistant Director leads implementation of the Service's agenda for legal issues within the division's areas of responsibility, including approaches, frameworks, and methodologies for addressing policy and legislative issues. This includes demonstrating personal intellectual leadership in monitoring congressional needs in the various policy areas and assuring access to the intellectual capacity needed to meet current and changing needs of the United States Congress at a sustained level of excellence. This also includes exercising overall responsibility for the oversight and management of the division's human, financial, material, and information research assets, including a staff of approximately 65 employees. In performing these activities, the Assistant Director is responsible for ensuring that the research, analytical, and consulting activities of the division are aligned with the legislative needs of Congress and with the priorities, goals, and policies of CRS for meeting those needs.

The Assistant Director also serves as one of the chief advisors to the Director, counseling the Director on all aspects of the research management and operations of CRS and recommending specific policies and procedures for improving the Service's overall quality, efficiency, and effectiveness. The Assistant Director serves as a member of the Director's senior management team and serves as a principal CRS representative to Members, committees, and officers of the United States Congress.

CRS is fully committed to workforce diversity. Interested applicants must apply online <https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/576048300>.

University of Notre Dame

Rank: Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

Faculty Position in Environment, Climate Change and Peace

Location: Notre Dame, IN

Open Date:
Jul 31, 2020

Deadline: Oct 15, 2020 at 11:59 PM Eastern Time

Description:

The University of Notre Dame's Keough School of Global Affairs invites applications for a tenured/tenure-track position in climate change, environment and peace studies, based at the Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies (<https://kroc.nd.edu/>). Rank is open though preference would be given to junior and mid-career candidates. The disciplinary and regional specialization for the position is open. While the primary appointment is at the Keough School, the successful candidate could also have an affiliation with another School or College at the University of Notre Dame.

We welcome candidates working on one or more of the following themes:

- conflict resolution as it relates to the environment, natural resources and climate change
- environmental justice and social transformation
- violence induced by climate change and environmental degradation

The successful applicant is expected to play a leading role in the Kroc Institute's plans for developing a research and teaching focus on climate change and environment as they relate to conflict and peace. They would be part of a growing community of scholars within the Keough School (<https://keough.nd.edu>) working on environmental policy in a global context. We encourage applications from scholars who can engage in interdisciplinary research and teaching, thereby contributing to the integrative mission of the Keough School. We particularly welcome scholars whose research has direct relevance to the peacebuilding practice and policy.

To apply, visit <https://apptrkr.com/1970918>

This appointment is contingent upon the successful completion of a background check. Applicants will be asked to identify all felony convictions and/or pending felony charges. Felony convictions do not automatically bar an individual from employment. Each case will be examined separately to determine the appropriateness of employment in the particular position. Failure to be forthcoming or dishonesty with respect to felony disclosures can result in the disqualification of a candidate. The full procedure can be viewed at <https://facultyhandbook.nd.edu/?id=link-73597>.

Equal Opportunity Employment Statement

The University of Notre Dame seeks to attract, develop, and retain the highest quality faculty, staff and administration. The University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, and is committed to building a culturally diverse workplace. We strongly encourage applications from female and minority candidates and those candidates attracted to a university with a Catholic identity. Moreover, Notre Dame prohibits discrimination against veterans or disabled qualified individuals, and requires affirmative action by covered contractors to employ and advance veterans and qualified individuals with disabilities in compliance with 41 CFR 60-741.5(a) and 41 CFR 60-300.5(a).

Council on Foreign Relations

Rank: 2021-2022 International Affairs Fellowships

Subfield(s): International Relations, American Government and Politics, Public Policy

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) is seeking fellowship applicants for the 2021–2022 academic year. The programs offer unique opportunities, domestic and overseas, for accomplished mid and senior career professionals. Selected fellows broaden their foreign policy experience by spending their fellowships in public service or research environments.

Applications are due by October 31, 2020.

The International Affairs Fellowship (IAF) is the hallmark fellowship program of CFR. It provides individuals the opportunity to spend one year in policymaking or research oriented environments. The program awards a stipend of $105,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Canada sponsored by Power Corporation of Canada, provides selected fellows the opportunity to spend six to twelve months at a Canadian institution working on U.S.-Canada relations. It awards a stipend of $95,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in Japan brings a cadre of American professionals to Japan for three to twelve months to study and work on U.S.-Japan relations. The program is intended for those without substantial prior experience in Japan. The program awards a competitive stipend in yen.

The International Affairs Fellowship in India affords fellows with the opportunity to spend three to twelve months conducting research on India and U.S. relations. It is aimed at professionals who have had little prior experience in India. It awards a stipend of $90,000.

The International Affairs Fellowship in International Economics offers economists hands-on experience in the U.S. government and the opportunity to apply a range of research tools to international economic policy issues. It lasts six and nine months with a stipend starting at $150,000.

University of Chicago

Rank: Collegiate Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

Specializations: Foreign Policy, International Law & Organizations, History & Politics

The College at the University of Chicago is now accepting applications for four-year postdoctoral teaching appointments as Harper and Schmidt Fellows who hold the rank of Collegiate Assistant Professor. Collegiate Assistant Professors are members of the College Faculty whose primary professional responsibility is to teach in the general education (Core) program.

Core courses in the Humanities typically deal with fundamental issues and texts in history, philosophy, and literature. Currently, the Core is organized into eight year-long sequences: Readings in World Literature; Human Being and Citizen; Greece and Rome: Texts, Traditions, Transformations; Philosophical Perspectives on the Humanities; Media Aesthetics; Reading Cultures; Poetry and the Human; and Language and the Human. For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/humanities-course-descriptions>

Core courses in the Social Sciences explore, on the basis of significant works, the fundamental concepts and the different modes of inquiry that have defined the social sciences in the modern period. Currently, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach in five of the year-long sequences into which the Core is organized: Self, Culture and Society; Classics of Social and Political Thought; Power, Identity, and Resistance; Global Society; and Social Science Inquiry. Some Collegiate Assistant Professors also teach in the History of European Civilization Core sequence. European Civilization is taught on the basis of intensive readings of significant primary source documents.

For a description of these sequences see: <https://societyoffellows.uchicago.edu/page/social-sciences-course-descriptions>

The positions are open to scholars in all disciplines and areas of specialization who will have completed all requirements for their Ph.D. degree no later than August 31, 2021. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in teaching as well as in their original scholarship.

In most years, Collegiate Assistant Professors teach two courses (usually of identical preparation) for each of three quarters. In the third year of residence, each Collegiate Assistant Professor has the opportunity to design an independent course and each is eligible for one quarter of research sabbatical. The position comes with a minimum annual salary for 2021-22 of $72,307.80, carries full benefits, and an annual professional development fund of $5,000. The effective date for these teaching appointments is September 1, 2021.

To apply for these positions, please see our web site at <https://fellows.uchicago.edu>. The web site will be available to accept applications beginning August 26, 2020.

The terms and conditions of this position are described in the collective bargaining agreement between the University and the Service Employees International Union.

Important deadlines:

On line application deadline: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 16, 2020.

Deadline for receipt of letters of recommendations: 11:59:59 PM EDT, Friday, October 30, 2020. This includes letters of recommendation from your three recommenders or those received from a dossier service.

We seek a diverse pool of applicants who wish to join an academic community that places the highest value on rigorous inquiry and encourages diverse perspectives, experiences, groups of individuals, and ideas to inform and stimulate intellectual challenge, engagement, and exchange.

Tecnológico de Monterrey

Assistant and Adjunct Faculty Positions

Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, Mexico City, Federal District and Monterrey, Nuevo León

School of Social Sciences and Government, Mexico City, Monterrey, and other major campuses in Mexico.

The Tecnológico de Monterrey has multiple openings. We invite applications from candidates in political science, public policy, political economy, economics, and related social science fields. The search is also open with respect to specialty and approach; however, we are interested in candidates with the potential to conduct theoretically informed, empirical, and policy-relevant research for publication in top academic journals and other peer-reviewed venues.

Subfields of political science of interest include comparative international political economy, comparative politics, and international relations. Substantive areas in public policy include data sciences for public service and governance, emerging and civic technologies, forecasting sciences, simulation and modeling, poverty and social policy, inequality, public entrepreneurship, public finance and budgeting, corruption, democracy and elections, security and justice, education policy, energy policy, and environmental policy. The Tecnológico de Monterrey offers a dynamic academic environment with excellent research support.

Minimum Requirements:

Candidates must have a strong academic background and demonstrated ability in conducting theoretical as well as applied empirical research in one or more of the aforementioned areas. The Tecnológico de Monterrey also prizes an excellent background in teaching. Professors are expected to teach and mentor undergraduates as well as graduate students. This is an open-rank search, whereby status as tenured, tenure-track, Assistant, Associate or Full Professor will be awarded on the basis of the candidates publishing record, teaching experience, and academic status. Applications from ABD candidates will be considered only if they include a letter from the chair of the committee stating a date for the defense of the doctoral dissertation, which should occur no later than June 2020.

Compensation is competitive, includes incentives and support for research activities. The Tecnológico de Monterrey will provide legal assistance for foreign nationals in order to obtain work permits and visas for the candidate and his or her dependents.

Documents Required:

Applicants should send the following documents in PDF format through the website AcademicJobsOnline.org (see <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/5869>):

? Research statement for the next 3 years (no longer than three pages).

? A statement of teaching philosophy (no more than two pages) that includes potential course offerings. Finalists may be asked to provide evidence of teaching performance.

? Curriculum Vitae accompanied by a cover letter.

? Writing sample, not to exceed 50 double spaced pages (the candidate should be the first author, preferably a refereed journal article).

? Three letters of recommendation written within the last year. In the case of early career scholars (2015-2019), at least one of these letters should come from the PhD advisor.

About the Tecnológico de Monterrey:

The Tecnológico de Monterrey is ranked among the top universities in Latin America and is Mexico's top private university. For more information on the Graduate School of Government, Escuela de Gobierno y Transformación Pública, visit <http://escueladegobierno.itesm.mx/> The graduate school has campuses in Mexico City and Monterrey. Undergraduate departments and programs in political science, economics, law, and public policy are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Government at our major campuses in Mexico City, Monterrey, and other locations. Augustana College

Rank: Open Rank Visiting Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

About Augustana College:

Augustana College is a selective liberal arts and sciences college of 2,500 students, including 26 percent first generation college students, 23 percent Pell Grant students, 24 percent students of color, and 12 percent international students. Our beautifully wooded and largely residential campus is located in Rock Island, IL, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago. Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body. Details about Augustana College, our expectations of the faculty, the selection process, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana.

Job Description:

Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois, invites applications for an open rank visiting position in American Politics beginning in August of the 2020-2021 academic year, with possible renewal upon mutual agreement for the 2021-2022 academic year.

The successful candidate will teach Introduction to American National Government and upper division courses in American Politics. These include our current American politics courses such as American Political Participation and American Presidency. In addition, it is preferred that the candidate has a second field in either Public Policy or Political Theory and can offer classes like Introduction to Political Theory or Introduction to Public Policy.

The candidate will join a diverse and active, four-member department. Each faculty colleague has interdisciplinary interests beyond political science that complement the political science curriculum such as Africana Studies, Environmental Studies, Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and more.

Requirements:

Successful candidates will be able to demonstrate teaching effectiveness and an understanding of and/or willingness to embrace the nature of a liberal arts education. Experience and interest in working with students and community members of many backgrounds will be an asset for applicants. Preference will be given to candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment, although ABD candidates will also be considered.

Additional Information:

Augustana College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Augustana College provides equal opportunity to all qualified employees and applicants without regard to race, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, veteran status, and any other category protected by federal, state, or local law.

Application Instructions:

A complete application includes: a cover letter indicating an interest in and understanding of teaching in a liberal arts setting, curriculum vitae, copy of graduate transcript, two letters of recommendation (including contact information), and a statement of teaching philosophy. Questions may be directed to the interim chair of the department, Mariano Magalhães at marianomagalheas@augustana.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

University of Southern Denmark

Rank: D-IAS Assistant Professor in Public Policy and/or Welfare State Research

Specializations: History & Politics, Public Finance & Budgeting, Advanced Industrial Societies

The Danish Institute for Advanced Study (D-IAS) seeks an outstanding candidate to fill a position at the Assistant Professor level in the field of public policy and/or welfare state research.

The assistant professor will be employed at the Department of Political Science and Public Management and starts on March 1, 2021 or as soon as possible thereafter. The department resides at the University of Southern Denmark's campus in Odense.

The appointment is for four years with the possibility for a subsequent two-year employment as an Associate Professor.

We offer a uniquely ambitious research environment to this particular position, and, for the successful candidate, a position where options for tenure will be discussed during a third-year review. In addition, D-IAS offers the strongest possible support in applications for further external funding from prestigious national and European funding schemes, e.g., Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions and the ERC starting grants.

The successful candidate should have a strong international profile, a strong record of research publications, and have demonstrated exceptional potential to excel in scientific research.

We expect the candidate to actively engage in the development of the research unit as well as contribute positively to D-IAS as a whole. D-IAS

D-IAS aims to inspire ground-breaking ideas through the meeting of minds across the sciences and humanities. The D-IAS engages leading academics through its visitor program, weekly lectures, and quarterly colloquia. There is a strong focus on talent development of young researchers who work on game-changing ideas. Eminent academics are appointed as chairs, and in that capacity form the backbone of the D-IAS as they catalyze activities within their field.

More information about D-IAS activities can be found on our website www.danish-ias.dk. For further information, please contact Thorbjørn Knudsen, tok@sam.sdu.dk (responsible D-IAS Chair).

Public policy and/or welfare state research

The successful applicant will be affiliated with the Danish Centre for Welfare Studies (<https://www.sdu.dk/en/forskning/forskningsenheder/samf/daws/research/research+themes/comparative+welfare+state+politics/population+dynamics>) (DaWS) at the Department of Political Science and Public Management. DaWS does research within a broad area of fields, among others public policy, comparative social policy, welfare history, migration studies, labor market studies, sustainable development policy, political economy, political sociology and political demography. We strive to conduct high-quality research, characterized by high social impact and interdisciplinarity. Successful candidate(s) must be able and willing to support the Department of Political Science and Public Management in realizing its two overarching strategic objectives: First, we strive to produce original ideas through high-quality and pioneering research. Second, we want to address major societal challenges and to exchange knowledge with society through high-quality study programmes and genuine engagement with societal actors and the wider public. The department values a diversity of competences and academic profiles, and thus applicants must present a clear academic profile. By academic profile we understand the combined quality of research, teaching and societal engagement. For more information about the department and its strategy, please visit the website (http://www.sdu.dk/en/om_sdu/institutter_centre/i_statskundskab).

For further information please contact DaWS Professor Pieter Vanhuysse (vanhuysse@sam.sdu.dk) or Dean of the Faculty of Business and Social Sciences Jens Ringsmose (jri@sam.sdu.dk).

Application, salary, etc.

The successful applicant will be employed in accordance with the agreement between the Ministry of Finance and AC (the Danish Confederation of Professional Associations). Please check links for more information about salary (https://www.sdu.dk/en/om_sdu/international_staff/on+arrival/salary) and taxation (https://www.sdu.dk/en/om_sdu/international_staff/on+arrival/taxation).

Teaching obligations will be reduced, compared to a regular assistant professor position at SDU.

To qualify for the position as assistant professor you must have completed a PhD degree by the application deadline.

An application must include:

- Application letter
- Detailed Curriculum Vitae
- Certificates/Diplomas (Master and PhD degree)
- Information on previous teaching experience, please attach as teaching portfolio
- Complete list of publications, indicating which publications are most relevant for the position
- Up to 5 of the most relevant publications. Please attach one pdf file for each publication
- For any publication with a co-author, a co-author statement must be submitted as part of the pdf file
- Three letters of recommendation from acknowledged international researchers to be submitted directly by the references to job@pxs.sdu.dk mentioning your name and the title of the position in the subject line. And please note that these must also reach us before the application deadline
- Research and publication plan for the next three years

Application and all appendices must be in English. Please always include a copy of original diploma/certificates. To English-speaking applicants, please make sure to enter the electronic application form via the English website in order to receive further information in English.

We only accept files in pdf format no more than 10 MB per file. If you have more than one file per field, you should combine the pdf files into one single file, as each field can only contain one file. We do not accept zip files, jpg or other image files. All pdf files must be unlocked and allow binding and may not be password protected. Applications will be assessed by an assessment committee. The committee may request additional information, and if so, it is the responsibility of the applicant to provide the necessary material.

If the application does not meet the requirements mentioned above, the Faculty of Business and Social Sciences may reject your application without further notice. Applications received after the deadline will neither be considered nor evaluated.

Shortlisting and tests may be used in the assessment process.

Applications must be submitted electronically using the link "Apply online". Uploaded files must be in Adobe PDF (unlocked) Word format.

Read the guideline for the applicants (http://www.sdu.dk/en/service/ledige_stillinger/soegjob)

Each field can only contain a single file of max. 10 Mb.

We recommend that as an international applicant you take the time to visit Work in Denmark (<https://www.workindenmark.dk/Working-in-DK>) where you will find information and facts about moving to, working and living in Denmark, as well as the International Staff Office (https://www.sdu.dk/en/om_sdu/international_staff) at SDU.

D-IAS encourages all interested persons to apply, regardless of age, gender, religious affiliation or ethnic background.

You can only apply for the position through our website www.sdu.dk/en/service/ledige_stillinger.

Your application must be registered in our system on the 15/09/2020 at 23.59.59 CET at the latest.
