Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

Political Science Jobs for August

ADMINISTRATION

Virginia Tech

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of Public Administration and Policy

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration

Virginia Tech seeks a qualified, broadly trained individual to fill this faculty position in the areas of public management and public organizations at the associate or full level within the Center for Public Administration and Policy (CPAP) at the main campus in Blacksburg, VA, to begin in August 2022. Teaching responsibilities will include both introductory courses and advanced seminars in CPAP's MPA and PhD degree programs. The successful candidate is expected to take on a leadership role in support of CPAP programs.

CPAP is housed within the School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA). It is one unit with one faculty in three locations; courses may include students from Arlington or Richmond in addition to Blacksburg. Courses are taught in-person and using videoconferencing technology. Travel between program locations may sometimes also be involved. CPAP faculty enjoy opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching and research in collaboration with other SPIA programs and with a wide array of centers and faculty in science, technology, and the humanities across Virginia Tech.

Required Qualifications:

Applicants must hold an earned PhD in public administration, political science, public policy, public management, or a related discipline by appointment start date.

The candidate must demonstrate a commitment to building a strong research agenda and publication record, as well as playing a leadership role commensurate with experience.

Preferred Qualifications:

Graduate-level teaching and mentoring experience and an established publication record are preferred.

Demonstrated commitment to community outreach and engagement, as is expected of faculty at a land-grant institution, is a plus.

A deep commitment to diversity and inclusion demonstrated through pedagogy, research, and/or public engagement is also a plus.

University of Alaska Anchorage

Rank: Director, Institute of Social and Economic Research (Alaska)

Specializations: Economic Policy, Education Policy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Institute of Social and Economic Research (ISER) in the College of Business and Public Policy at the University of Alaska Anchorage is seeking applications for the position of Director. For 60 years, ISER has been producing research that helps people understand social and economic systems and supports informed public and private decision-making. The institute has a strong, multi-disciplinary group of faculty and research professionals, and is regularly called upon by state and federal legislators and policymakers to examine legislative and regulatory issues. In Alaska and around the circumpolar North, ISER is known for high-quality policy-oriented research in economic development, natural resource management, health, education and fiscal policy. ISER researchers are also fully engaged in Arctic policy research related to climate change and environment, energy, and rural sustainable development.

The ISER Director will coordinate research activities both within the institute and with other institutions and agencies, and will supervise a multi-disciplinary team consisting of 30 people, including faculty, administrative and research staff, and student researchers. The successful candidate's current research agenda should add to or complement ISER's focal research areas. In the director role, the institute expects the ISER Director to be recognized on and off campus as knowledgeable about Alaska public policy issues. A related expectation is the director facilitating ISER's involvement in UAA's new Master of Public Policy program. Most importantly, the director will work with institute researchers and staff to shape ISER's future research agenda in the context of the rapid social, economic, and environmental change Alaska is currently experiencing.

The following qualifications are required:

- Ph.D. or terminal degree in a discipline that is relevant to ISER's mission.
- Familiarity with policy oriented, applied research.
- Record of high-quality research and publications relevant to ISER's research foci.
- Ability to generate externally funded opportunities for the institute relevant to its mission.
- Excellent communication and organizational skills.
- Ability to generate support for and awareness of ISER across the University of Alaska, and with external agencies and constituencies.
- Demonstrated leadership and mentoring skills.
- Commitment to a shared governance approach.

The following qualifications are preferred:

- Experience leading research teams.
- Understanding of Alaska's economy, culturally diverse society, and current policy context.
- Familiarity with research developments and opportunities in Alaska, the Arctic, or in similar regions.

ISER sits within the University of Alaska Anchorage's accredited College of Business and Public Policy at University of Alaska Anchorage. As a part of the University of Alaska system, UAA is a comprehensive, accredited public institution with over 14,000 students that offers graduate, baccalaureate, and associate degrees through its main campus in Anchorage and community campuses throughout Alaska. Anchorage is a diverse, thriving, modern city of nearly 300,000 residents where over 100 languages are spoken. The community offers outstanding outdoor recreation opportunities and excellent social and cultural amenities. For more information about Anchorage, consult: <https://www.anchorage.net>.

Applicants should submit a one page cover letter explaining their interest and qualifications for the position, a maximum five page, current curriculum vita or resume, and the names, titles and contact information for three references no later than Friday, September 24, 2021.

Learn more and apply at UA Careers: <https://careers.alaska.edu/en-us/job/517449/iser-director>.

Questions regarding the position should be directed to the chair of the search committee: Dr. Marie Lowe, [mlowe@alaska.edu](mailto:m Lowe@alaska.edu).

Application review will begin September 27, 2021.

Expected start date is Jan 3, 2022.

Rank: Academic Program Manager in Political Science

Academic Program Manager in Political Science

Job Description: The Department of Political Science at Purdue is searching for a dynamic and innovative leader with strong interpersonal skills to serve as our Academic Program Manager. We seek someone committed to creating high quality educational programming and strong connections between the department and its students. The program manager is responsible for day-to-day operations of the academic programs, including scheduling, administering policies, communications, and outreach to students, faculty, alumni, and other stakeholders. The academic program manager plays a key role in recruiting students, evaluating program performance, planning programming to engage students, and supporting the missions of the department.

This is a fiscal year position located in West Lafayette, Indiana with an anticipated start date in early August.

Qualifications: A Bachelor's degree in Political Science or related social science field is required, preferably with 2-3 years of experience in program administration, preferable in higher education. Education beyond the Bachelor's degree may substitute for experience. Master's degree or Ph.D. preferred.

Strong candidates will have experience in one or more of the following: internship programs, undergraduate research, Pi Sigma Alpha, and/or Model UN. We seek someone with excellent organization, communication, planning, and problem-solving skills who can manage competing demands. Strong skills in data analysis using R, Stata or other statistical software is preferred.

Department, College, and University: Purdue's Department of Political Science is home to 23 faculty, over 400 undergraduate majors and minors, and nearly 40 masters and doctoral students. We are located in the College of Liberal Arts, a vibrant college with a strong central advising office, admissions office, and career center to help support students. Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university with an active, and collegial network of faculty, staff, post-docs, and graduate students. Political Science faculty and students are actively involved with interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP), the Center for C-SPAN Scholarship and Engagement, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, the Human Rights Program, the Purdue Policy Research Institute and many others. West Lafayette is an affordable, welcoming community with many opportunities for entertainment, dining, hiking, biking, and other outdoor activities. Please see the department's webpage for more information.

Applications: Candidates should submit a cover letter describing fit for the position, a current CV or resume, the names of three professional references, and a separate statement highlighting skills or experience in supporting diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in higher education. Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://bit.ly/3xHquev>

Review of applications will begin July 19th and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

Anticipated starting salary between $48,000 - $55,800, depending on education, experience, and job skills.

A background check is required for employment in this position. Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Equal Opportunity - Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Naval War College

Rank: Associate Professor of Professional Military Education

The Naval War College is a Professional Military Education (PME) institution serving the nation, the Department of Defense, and the U.S. Navy. U.S. and selected international graduates earn Master of Arts degrees in National Security & Strategic Studies or Defense & Strategic Studies accredited by the New England Commission of Higher Education. The College educates and develops future leaders through the development of strategic perspective, critical thinking, and cultural awareness, as well as enhancing the capability to advise senior leaders and policy makers. The College also helps to define the future Navy and its roles and missions; supports combat readiness; strengthens global maritime partnerships; and promotes ethics and leadership throughout the force. We are actively seeking candidates with diverse academic, demographic, and professional backgrounds. More information on the college can be found at www.usnwc.edu.

Office of the Provost. The position is located in the Office of the Provost. The Provost is the principal deputy to the President of the Naval War College (PNWC) and is responsible for the efficient accomplishment of missions and functions and effective employment of the faculty, academic staff, civilian personnel, and student body. The Provost acts as the chief executor for the PNWC and assumes the nonmilitary responsibilities of the PNWC in his absence. The Provost also acts as the chief operating officer (COO) and has overall responsibility for the effective functioning of the College by ensuring missions, goals, and objectives of all components of the College are satisfactorily accomplished.

Duties and Responsibilities. The Associate Professor of Professional Military Education oversees the College's accreditation process for both the Congressional and Department of Defense-mandated Joint Professional Military Education with the Joint Staff and standards and requirements for academic graduate reaccreditation with the New England Commission of Higher Education (NECHE). Works with the Associate Provost to develop accreditation reports, self-studies, and other accreditation activities. The incumbent will also serve as the Command Human Resource Protection Program (HRPP) POC to monitor human subjects research. Additionally, the incumbent will coordinate the activities and Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA) compliance of the College's Board of Advisors. The incumbent will work with the Director of Institutional Effectiveness in planning, developing, directing, and evaluation of institutional compliance efforts. This position requires travel within the continental United States. The incumbent will be recognized by colleagues and peers as an expert in Joint Professional Military Education.

Qualifications. Essential qualifications include an advanced degree in national security affairs or a related field; Joint Professional Military Education I; experience and demonstrated expertise working with either regional accreditation or Joint Professional Military Education accreditation programs as an accreditation team member or author of institutional self-studies.

Desirable qualifications include experience teaching at the graduate level, either in the classroom or virtually. Knowledge of adult learning theory, methods, strategies, best practices, techniques of instructional curriculum development, and testing and measurement are also desired.

Candidates must be U.S. citizens and be capable of obtaining a Department of Defense Secret security clearance.

Salary Considerations. Salary is competitive and is accompanied by a generous Federal Civil Service package that includes health insurance, pension and retirement saving plans (with employer matching contributions), paid vacation and sick leave, and other benefits. Rank and salary are commensurate with experience and credentials in accordance with Department of the Navy Faculty Pay Schedule. This is a non-tenure track position.

Application Procedures. Applicants must reference VA#NWC-21-08 and forward their application package to: NWC-21-08@usnwc.edu. The application package must include:

(1) cover letter and (2) curriculum vitae or resume and (3) names and contact information for three references. Applications will be accepted through 11:59 pm (EDT) July 30, 2021.

NOTICE OF VETERANS PREFERENCE: There is no formal rating system for applying veterans' preference to the excepted service; however, the Department of Defense considers veterans' preference eligibility a positive factor for hiring. Applicants eligible for veterans' preference must include that information in their cover letter or resume and attach supporting documentation (e.g., DD Form 214, "Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty" to their submissions. Although the point-preference system is not used, applicants eligible to claim 10-Point preference must submit a Standard Form (SF) 15, "Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference," and supporting documents required for specific type of preference claimed. (SF 15, which lists the types of 10-Point Preference and the required supporting documents, is available from the Office of Personnel Management Website at www.opm.gov.)

Within the Department of Defense (DoD), the appointment of retired military members within 180 days immediately following retirement date to a civilian position is subject to the provisions of 5 United States Code 3326.

Questions can be emailed to: gibbonst@usnwc.edu.

The Naval War College is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Rank: Associate Dean for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

The University of Florida, a top-ten ranked public university, welcomes applications and nominations for the inaugural role of Associate Dean for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CLAS). The Associate Dean will join the institution at a transformative time as UF strengthens its commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion as a top institutional priority. Under the leadership of Dean David E. Richardson, the successful candidate will be an unwavering diversity advocate and inspiring partner who values a liberal arts and sciences education and has demonstrated experience as a skilled administrator, advisor, and strategic leader. The Associate Dean will lead and inform the strategic discussion advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion throughout the college and will build, guide, and assess policies and practices that encourage diversity, equity, and inclusion as a means of improving the college's cultural climate and support its underrepresented populations.

Reporting to the Dean, the Associate Dean will focus on the development of a comprehensive and strategic framework to support diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts in the college; engage in continuous, systematic, and focused recruitment and retention activities to support a diverse student, faculty, and staff population. As a public institution, it is important that the campus reflect demographics that mirror the state of Florida.

Serving as a key partner and advisor to the campus community with the support of the other Associate Deans of the college, this Associate Dean will develop and implement a full range of initiatives that enhance ongoing efforts to ensure college-wide understanding, adoption, and adherence to diversity, equity, and inclusion while fostering a collaborative and nurturing culture that recognizes UF's particular history and combats racism and its impacts. The Associate Dean will serve as a thought leader with in-depth knowledge of diversity, equity, and inclusion; improve the college climate; and intentionally engage faculty, students, and staff in dialogue around critical issues to support the academic, career, and personal development of underrepresented groups.

These unprecedented times overshadowed by a global pandemic and inspired by a revitalized movement for racial justice and equity allow for innovative change in new areas. As a member of the Dean's leadership team, the Associate Dean will partner with other Associate Deans and college stakeholders and champion transparency and accountability of diversity initiatives as a shared priority at CLAS in support of UF's vision by developing significant collaborative partnerships with senior administration, faculty, staff, students, and community members to strengthen the anti-racist fabric of UF. This is a tremendous opportunity for a scholar, administrator, and strategic project manager to build a framework, presence, and advocacy for practices that foster and infuse the values of diversity, equity, and inclusion throughout the college.

All inquiries, nominations/referrals, and resumes with cover letters should be sent electronically and in confidence to Keight Tucker Kennedy or Tiffany Weber at Isaacson, Miller.

New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

Position Description:

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks candidates for three faculty positions for scholars conducting outstanding research on the subjects of race, identity, and inequality in domestic, comparative, or international contexts. The primary focus of our search is at the tenure track assistant professor level; however, we may consider more senior candidates under exceptional circumstances. The positions are to begin September 1, 2022, pending administrative approval.

This search is part of a broader cluster of recruitment efforts in Race, Identity, and Inequality that spans the Departments of Politics and Sociology in the Faculty of Arts and Science, and the Wagner School of Public Service. A primary aim of the cluster is to create a network for scholars working in these areas to collaborate across NYU. More information about this cluster and the broader cluster initiative can be found at <https://www.nyu.edu/faculty/teaching-and-learning-resources/faculty-advancement/faculty-recruitment/nyu-faculty-cluster-hiring-initiative.html#race2> and at <https://drive.google.com/file/d/1n88i-7v5yZGYxYvK54VJ9AhQgRNHRDKG/view>.

Qualifications:

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 2022, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level. NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, experience, and service an ability to contribute to this goal, and a commitment to fostering inclusivity in a university setting.

Oklahoma State University

Rank: Teaching Assistant Professor

Teaching Assistant Professor-American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Oklahoma State University (www.polsci.okstate.edu) invites applications for a Teaching Assistant Professor specializing in American politics to begin in August 2022. This position is non-tenure track but offers the potential of reappointment and promotion to Teaching Associate and Teaching Full Professor. This position is designed for instructors who prioritize good pedagogy and student mentoring. The normal teaching load is 3 :3 and includes a mix of smaller and larger classes. The primary, though not exclusive, teaching responsibility is Introduction to American Government. The successful candidate will have demonstrated the potential for effective teaching in American Politics. Candidates with previous experience teaching Introduction to American Government as instructor of record and experience teaching a mix of online and face-to-face courses are especially welcome. In addition to teaching, the position entails service responsibilities that could include social media and outreach, and participating on various departmental committees.

To be considered, candidates must have received a PhD or be nearing completion of their doctoral training (ABD) from an accredited degree program in political science or closely related degree program. Preference, however, will be given to candidates who have received their doctoral degree by the start of appointment. Initial appointment is for three years (which includes a probationary period) but can be renewed for additional terms.

Applications completed and received by Oct. 15, 2021 will be given preference.

Applicants are asked to have the following submitted through Interfolio <https://apply.interfolio.com/90122>. A letter of application outlining your interest in this position, teaching interests/experience, vitae, graduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, evidence of successful teaching, and a short teaching statement.

The department is committed to creating an inclusive space for our students, faculty, and staff and to teaching and mentoring our undergraduate and graduate scholars from various backgrounds. The department encourages applications from women and underrepresented racial/ethnic groups. About one third of our undergraduate majors are members of underrepresented groups. Among our tenure-track faculty, 9 percent are from underrepresented racial/ethnic groups and 55 percent are female. OSU is an AA/EEO/E-Verify Employer. University of California Berkeley

Rank: Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Cluster Hire in Latinx and Democracy - University of California, Berkeley

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Cluster Hire in Latinx and Democracy - University of California, Berkeley

The University of California, Berkeley seeks applicants for four tenure track (Assistant Professor) positions and one tenured (Associate or Full Professor) position in the area of "Latinx and Democracy." Successful junior candidates will be invited to join one or more of the following units: College of Letters and Science (Departments of Sociology, Demography, and Political Science), School of Social Welfare, and School of Public Health. The senior, tenured position will be in the Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program in the Department of Ethnic Studies (College of Letters and Science).

The Latinx and Democracy Cluster initiative brings together units in the social sciences and professional schools to address the US-centered Latinx experience within three overarching themes: migration and citizenship, civic and political participation, and social inclusion and wellbeing. These themes speak to central concepts in the imagining and practicing of democracy because at their core they tell us about how the state distribution of political power, through policy and practice, affects a myriad of social issues, from racial inequality to health disparities. Junior candidates for the Sociology, Political Science, Demography, and Public Health positions will be expected to be able to research and teach about the US Latinx experience (i.e. Latinx Politics, Latinx Health, Latinx Communities). Applicants at the non-tenured level should select up to two unit(s) they wish to be considered by. Should applicants at the non-tenured level wish to be considered for a joint appointment with Demography, they should select that as an additional, joint-appointment choice. Senior candidates for the Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program search will be considered at the Associate and Full Professor levels.

Public Health: Berkeley Public Health will recruit an assistant professor focused on examining the impact of public policies on the health of U.S. Latinx populations. Health policy researchers come from diverse social science backgrounds, including public policy, health policy, epidemiology, and health services research, as well as economics, sociology, demography, and political science.

Political Science: The Department of Political Science will recruit an assistant professor with a research focus on the dynamics of Latinx politics in the United States, broadly understood. This could include a focus on political participation and behavior, representation and policy responsiveness, political institutions, and/or changes in political coalitions. Although the U.S. should be a core focus, comparative approaches/perspectives are welcome. In addition to an active research agenda in this field, qualified candidates will be expected to teach courses in Latinx politics.

Social Welfare: The School of Social Welfare seeks an assistant professor committed to multi-level practice in areas such as Latinx civic and political engagement, public policy and institutions, immigration, and the social problems associated with, but not limited to, families and the feminization of poverty. An MSW is preferred and/or community-facing translational scholarly research attuned to professional practice.

Sociology: The Department of Sociology will recruit an assistant professor with a research focus on Latinx immigration and/or Latinx communities in the United States. This could include attention to racialization processes, immigration patterns and Latinx demography, civic and political participation, and Latinx social mobility. While the US Latinx experience should be a main focus, candidates who employ a transnational/transborder lens are also welcome to apply.

Demography: The Department of Demography seeks a dual-appointed assistant professor that will be shared with any of the departments/schools listed above.

Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies: The Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program in the Department of Ethnic Studies seeks a tenured (Associate or Full) professor in the Social Sciences whose dynamic research agenda focuses on the US Latinx experience. This can include a focus on US Latino communities, immigration, political participation, demography, and racialization experiences in any historical or contemporary time period. The scholar should have an established record in Latinx Studies and the Social Sciences, and will be expected to lead the new Latinxs and Democracy Cluster along with affiliated senior faculty. Qualified candidates will have a history of excellent research, teaching, and mentorship and will be expected to teach relevant social science methods courses within the program.

Villanova University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Villanova University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning August 2022. The successful candidate will have broad training in American national institutions and Congress as their primary research interest. A secondary research interest in another part of the American Politics subfield is not required but would be viewed positively, and candidates with such an interest should address it in their cover letter. The successful candidate will be expected to teach courses on Congress and other courses in American Politics at both the undergraduate and graduate level. While the successful candidate will also be expected to teach an undergraduate research methods course, we are not seeking someone principally trained as a methodologist.

While the Department is not conducting preliminary interviews at APSA, members of the search committee are available should a candidate have specific questions about the position. Candidates with such questions should contact Abigail Minor (abigail.minor@villanova.edu), who will arrange a meeting with one or more members of the committee.

For a more detailed description of the Department of Political Science, please consult <https://www1.villanova.edu/university/liberal-arts-sciences/programs/political-science.html>.

Teaching responsibilities include undergraduate and graduate (MA) courses. Teaching duties include a 3-2 teaching load for the first three years. After a successful Third Year Review, a one-semester sabbatical is available in the fourth year and the 3-2 teaching load may be continued for another three years contingent on a successful and promising record of scholarship. Ph.D. in hand is strongly preferred. ABDs will be considered; however, continued employment is subject to completion of the Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2022.

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.villanova.edu>. The online application should include a detailed letter of application indicating your interest in and suitability for the position, statements of teaching philosophy and research interests, curriculum vitae, official graduate and undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, two short writing samples, two syllabi (if available), and evidence of teaching effectiveness. All materials must be received by September 18, 2021.

Villanova University is a Catholic institution of higher learning sponsored by the Order of St. Augustine. Diversity and inclusion have been and will continue to be an integral component of the university's mission. Villanova University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and seeks candidates who understand, respect, and can contribute to its mission and values.

Purdue University

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science at Purdue seeks a Post-doctoral Research Fellow for an 11-month position to support ongoing research in areas of public opinion, political psychology, and political communication. The research fellow will maintain their own research agenda and work on collaborative projects related to one or more of the following: political emotions, social identity, political attitudes, and behavior, and/or text analysis of open-ended survey data. Opportunities for collaborative work within these broader areas will be determined based on the fellow's interests and skills. In addition, the fellow will provide mentoring and supervision of graduate and undergraduate researchers in a team-based environment, assist in the development of new lab facilities in the department, and participate in the broader intellectual life of the Department of Political Science and the College of Liberal Arts. The position may be renewable for an additional year, pending review and funding. Start date is on or before September 1.

Qualifications

The position requires a recent PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field, completed no earlier than August 2018. Candidates must show evidence that all requirements for the PhD have been met prior to the start of the position. Candidates must also have strong training in research design and quantitative methods using both R and Stata. Preference will be given to applicants with skills in one or more of the following areas: grant writing, survey methodology, causal inference, machine learning, or natural language processing.

The College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university with an active, and collegial network of faculty, post-docs, and graduate students. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP), the Center for C-SPAN Scholarship and Engagement, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, the Human Rights Program, the Purdue Policy Research Institute and many others. West Lafayette is an affordable, welcoming community with many opportunities for entertainment, dining, hiking, biking, and other outdoor activities.

Applications

Candidates should submit a cover letter describing fit for the position, CV, the names of three references, graduate transcripts, a separate statement on diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in mentoring, and a solo-authored writing sample.

Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://bit.ly/3z3IsIq>

Purdue University's Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin immediately continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range is $52,000 – $55,000 for the fiscal year with additional support for research and travel. This position is contingent on final budget approval.

A background check is required for employment in this position.

Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Equal Opportunity - Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Professor

Specializations: Asian American Politics, International Security, Foreign Policy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (DKI APCSS) is a Department of Defense executive education institution that educates, empowers, and connects current and future leaders and security practitioners from the Indo-Pacific region. The Center offers executive education programs that includes courses, workshops and dialogues in Honolulu and the broader Indo-Pacific region.

DKI APCSS addresses traditional and non-traditional security issues, including the relationship between governance and the security sector; issues associated with a free and open Indo Pacific, transnational threats such as terrorism, violent extremism, and trafficking; maritime security; crises management; cyber governance; and whole-of-society collaboration to include the role of women, peace and security. The audience of Fellows are mid- to senior-level civilian and military officials from all over the world. The capacity-building mission is accomplished through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, strategic dialogues, professional exchanges, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

FULL PROFESSOR (SPECIALTY: SECURITY IMPLICATIONS OF CLIMATE CHANGE)

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world-class security practitioner and educator to teach, facilitate discussion, and conduct research on the security implications of climate change – particularly in the Indo-Pacific region.

Responsibilities for full professor faculty members include:

- Educating, connecting, and empowering international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners on security issues
- Making positive contributions to a collegial, team-centric working environment of transparency, mutual respect, and inclusion
- Leading teams of peers to accomplish objectives
- Creating and presenting executive education content that spurs discussion, reflection, and learning among the audience
- Facilitating objective-based discussions among fellows that encourage consolidation of learning
- Contributing to distinguished visitor engagements with subject matter expertise
- Performing various administrative and institutional duties to support the executive education functions of the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center
- Occasionally conducting official travel to engage with international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners
- As assigned: developing, managing, coordinating, conducting and assessing all aspects of engagements, including courses, workshops, and dialogues

In this era of climate change, every aspect of security is affected by the changes in the environment. Climate change is exacerbating existing Indo-Pacific security challenges and introducing new, often under-appreciated, and potentially severe challenges to regional security, stability and prosperity. Access to food and water, viability of infrastructure, mass migration, ability to sustain livelihoods, and adequacy of energy resources are just some of the issues at stake. DKI APCSS is seeking a faculty member who can offer deep insight into climate change as a driver of Indo-Pacific regional security challenges: the predicted climate changes, how those changes might impact the people and nations of the region, and how fellows can conceptually frame the challenges in ways that help prepare them to best address the challenges.

Essential selection criteria for SECURITY IMPLICATIONS OF CLIMATE CHANGE full professor:

- Strong grasp of climate change models and the environmental changes they predict
- Deep understanding of how predicted environmental changes will impact traditional and non-traditional security factors: food, water, infrastructure, economy, energy and weather among others
- General understanding of Indo-Pacific security dynamics: current tension points, politics, inter- and intra-state relations, economics, energy resources, history, population/demographics, culture, etc.
- Knowledge of key public and private actors and networks that can contribute to developing strategies to contend with climate-induced security challenges
- Ability to recommend policy objectives to mitigate risks and adapt to climate change

The following are preferred attributes:

- Doctoral or Master's degree in a formal, natural or social scientific field (examples include but are not limited to Environmental Science, International Relations, Economics, Political Science)
- Experience living or working in the Indo-Pacific Region
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation
- Proven ability to function as an effective, collaborative team member
- U.S. citizen; or foreign national who has resided in the U.S. for three of the last five years and is eligible for H-1B work visa
- If a male born after December 31, 1959, must certify registration with the Selective Service System, or be exempt from having to do so under the Selective Service Law

Desirable selection criteria:

- Experience working in multinational settings at the operational, strategic, or policy level

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $126,807 - $192,315 inclusive of locality pay (19.56%) and cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 10.28% but subject to change. All faculty at the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies are employed on a limited term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years, with the possibility of renewal. Relocation expenses may be authorized.

- Application deadline: Open until filled. Cut off: 03 AUG 2021 from publication of solicitation.
- Applications will be considered against current faculty requirements.
- Application packages will be retained for one year.
- Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of Defense and will not be returned.

• Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting their advanced degree(s) and two samples of their publications.

• U.S. Citizenship is not required; however, applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.

• The Department of Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrapplications@dkiapcss.net to ensure that the Department of Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Tulane University

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, American Politics

The Department of Political Science and the Africana Studies Program at Tulane University invite applications for a tenure-line faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor with a research and teaching focus on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics in the United States. The successful candidate's research should focus on people of African descent and may fall within any of the subfields of U.S. politics, including American political thought and American political development. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests are related to U.S. public policy and governance. Other areas of research might include protest, social movements, representation, inequality, structural racism, or identity. We welcome applicants from any theoretical or methodological tradition. Appointment would begin July 1, 2022.

The successful candidate will have a tenure home in the Political Science department with a joint appointment in the Africana Studies Program with teaching and service shared equally between the two units. Most courses will be cross-listed between the two units. The Political Science department, which features a dynamic Ph.D. program, specializes in the study of political development and public policy and has strong affiliations with other interdisciplinary programs such as Gender & Sexuality Studies, Environmental Studies, U.S. Public Policy, Social Policy & Practice, and Political Economy. Political Science has recently completed an external review, which has led it to identify a strategic focus on the politics of inequality and development and has been authorized to conduct three new tenure-line faculty searches this year.

Tulane's vibrant Africana Studies Program is comprised of both joint and affiliate faculty drawn from across Tulane's academic programs and departments and centers the interdisciplinary and global study of Africa and its diasporas. This is an exciting time for growth in Africana Studies, which added two new tenure-track joint appointments last year, and the School of Liberal Arts has stated a commitment to building the program with more joint faculty positions. Additionally, the School of Liberal Arts has robust support for faculty research and programming across the disciplines. The teaching load is 2-2 and the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in Political Science and Africana Studies at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Review of applications will begin on September 1. To be considered, applications must be submitted by September 8. Required materials include a letter of interest describing qualifications and interest, current CV, writing samples, and three letters of recommendation. The PhD is required at the time of appointment. For additional information, applicants can contact J. Celeste Lay, Chair of the search committee (jlay@tulane.edu).

Specializations: American Politics, Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy

The Department of Political Science at Texas Christian University invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in American Politics with research and teaching specializations focusing on race, ethnicity, gender and/or sexuality. The successful candidate should be able to teach in our research methods sequence. This position will begin in Fall 2022, and it will be part of a multi-position DEI cluster hire by TCU's AddRan College of Liberal Arts on race, ethnicity, and social justice which also involves searches in history, sociology, and religion. AddRan College desires to build a cohort of teacher-scholars across disciplines and areas of specialization interested in teaching and conducting research on race, racism, ethnicity, and social justice. As part of the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion cluster hire, AddRan College will provide the cohort with opportunities and resources to participate in mentoring and peer-support circles, research & writing workshops, and other ongoing professional development.

Preference will be given to candidates who will have completed a Ph.D. in Political Science and have demonstrated the capacity for excellence in the classroom and success as a teacher-scholar. The successful candidate will have a 3/2 teaching load, and the salary and benefits are competitive.

To apply, upload a letter of application, CV, evidence of teaching ability, unofficial transcript, writing sample, teaching statement, research statement, and diversity statement to <https://jobs.tcu.edu/en-us/listing/>. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be sent by recommenders or dossier service to hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu. Full review of applications begins on September 1 and will continue until the position is filled. All questions regarding the application process may be directed to Human Resources at hrtalentacquisition@tcu.edu or 817-257-7790. Questions about the Department of Political Science may be directed to the search committee chair Dr. Michael Strausz (michael.strausz@tcu.edu).

The TCU political science department has 13 full-time faculty members and nearly 400 majors in three undergraduate degrees. Our teacher-scholars also run co-curricular programs such as pre-law advising, Moot Court, Model U.N., and Washington and local internships, as well as teach in and administer interdisciplinary programs including Women and Gender Studies and Comparative Race and Ethnic Studies.

A selective teaching and research university with 11,000 students, TCU is a private, secular institution located in Fort Worth, Texas. Fort Worth, the 13th largest city in the United States and part of the nation's fourth-largest metropolitan area, is a fast-growing city of rich cultural endowments, including world-class museums and performing arts facilities, and has easy access to a major international airport. TCU has been recognized for nine consecutive years as one of the "Great Colleges to Work For" by The Chronicle of Higher Education.

TCU is dedicated to achieving a diverse faculty and staff. As an AA/EEO employer, TCU recruits, hires, and promotes qualified persons in all job classifications without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, ethnic origin, disability, genetic information, covered veteran status, or any other basis protected by law.

University of Missouri-Kansas City

Rank: Assistant Teaching Professor

The Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri-Kansas City invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track Assistant Teaching Professor position in American politics effective Fall 2022, renewable annually. This position is responsible for teaching four courses per semester including teaching multiple sections of Introduction to American Government or another course in our general education curriculum. The successful candidate will also participate in service activities such as advising, curriculum development, online course development, student recruiting, and student retention.

We are particularly interested in a commitment to excellence in college teaching and engagement with underrepresented and historically marginalized students and colleagues. We are open to subfield specialization, but we especially welcome applicants that can offer a course in racial and ethnic politics.

The University of Missouri-Kansas City is a public research institution, situated at the heart of a thriving and diverse urban area, with a strong economy, an enriching culture and arts scene, excellent schools, numerous recreational amenities, and affordable cost of living. We especially encourage applications from candidates who will contribute, through their teaching and service, to the diversity and excellence of UMKC and the broader civic community.

Minimum Qualifications

A Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field and successful teaching experience at the college level. ABD will also be considered.

Commitment to Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

Diversity, equity, and inclusion are central to UMKC's mission as an urban-serving institution. Kansas City is a particularly diverse city, including African, African American, Asian, Latino, Italian, Irish, German, Native American, Slavic, Mediterranean and Middle Eastern communities. Such ethnic diversity, in addition to our thriving neighborhoods of the Westside, Northeast Kansas City, and the Eastside, fosters creativity, connection, and innovation, which is showcased across the region. Major attractions such as the Annual Ethnic Enrichment Festival, the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum, the Filipino Cultural Center, the American Jazz Museum, Guadalupe Centers and Mattie Rhodes and Kansas City Irish Fest are a small sample of the many ways our diverse city enriches us.

For the reasons enumerated above, UMKC's strategic plan prioritizes our commitment to multiculturalism, globalism, diversity and inclusion. The university's values call upon its faculty, staff, students, and community to position themselves as global citizens who seek out, embrace, and celebrate the many benefits of diversity. Such commitment is demonstrated across teaching, service and research. We welcome applicants to share in our commitment to these core values and know that you will quickly understand the beauty of calling Kansas City your home.

La Salle University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science

La Salle University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a full-time, one-year Assistant Professor position in the field of American Politics beginning in August 2021. Preference will be given to candidates who can teach classes on political behavior and/or race and ethnicity in American Politics. We encourage candidates from underrepresented groups and/or with expertise in diversity, equity, inclusion, and social justice to apply. La Salle's student body is one of the region's most economically, ethnically and racially diverse. The teaching load will be 4 courses per semester.

The Political Science Department resides in La Salle's College of Arts and Sciences and is "clustered" with the Economics Department for administrative purposes. Currently, the Chair is from the Economics Department, but faculty from both departments are eligible to serve as Chair. The Department is home for three majors: Political Science, International relations, and the Political Science, Philosophy, and Economics (PPE) major. In total, the Department has roughly 100 undergraduate students in its majors.

The Department provides our students with a strong grounding in each of the major sub-fields of political science – American politics, comparative politics, international relations, and political thought – as well as with the analytic tools and approaches needed to be successful in their careers. We educate our students to express themselves through a variety of formats, but particularly through the written word. We encourage our political science majors to become independent thinkers and pursue their own lines of research. Our faculty believes that it is important to equip students not only to understand the world, but also to think critically and make choices in pursuit of "the good life."

Essential Duties:

Teaching courses in American politics

Advising students

Providing some collegial service to the Department and University

Required Qualifications:

Ph.D. in Political Science

Previous teaching experience

Knowledge of and commitment to the mission of La Salle University.

Complete applications must include:

- Letter of Interest
- Curriculum Vitae
- Previous Teaching Evaluations

Optionally you may also choose to include:

Statement of Research Interests

Statement of Teaching Philosophy

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate - CSDP

The Center for the Study of Democratic Politics (CSDP), a program in the Princeton School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, invites applications for a postdoctoral or more senior research associate position.

The individual will be asked to participate in projects studying the role of political and electoral institutions. The postdoc will work on a variety of projects, which may include research on campaign finance, legislative behavior, presidential policymaking, and judicial politics.

A PhD is required, as well as a strong background in quantitative research, and knowledge of research on political institutions. Strong data skills, including programming in statistical packages, and experience compiling and manipulating large data sets are highly desirable.

The candidate should also be well organized, flexible, attend to detail, and respond to deadlines in a timely fashion. Applicants must apply online at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/20821> and submit a cover letter, CV, and contact information for two recommendations, one of which should be from the principal advisor of the doctorate program.

Review of applications will begin on July 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. A competitive salary, commensurate with experience, and excellent benefits will be offered. The appointment is for one year with the possibility for extension pending satisfactory performance and continued funding.

This position is subject to the university's background check policy.

We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences, and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Butler University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Butler University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor for a one-year appointment with possibility of renewal for a second year. Applicants should have expertise in politics and/or public policy in the United States and a strong commitment to excellent, inclusive undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will teach an introductory American politics survey course, research and analysis methods (basic research design/methods), US Parties and Politics, and other courses aligned with their expertise, and will help build an inclusive learning environment for our increasingly diverse student population. We are particularly interested in candidates who could teach an introductory international politics survey course. This lecturer will teach four courses per semester, with no more than six distinct course preparations per year anticipated.

Review of applications is ongoing and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following to plsearch@butler.edu: a cover letter that highlights the applicant's qualifications for this position and commitment to inclusive, excellent teaching and a curriculum vitae. Additional evidence of evidence of inclusive teaching excellence is welcome but not required at this stage. Applicants should have advanced to candidate or earned a doctorate in political science or a related field at the time of appointment. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts and to consent to a background check prior to a final offer of employment and will start August 2021.

The Butler Political Science Program, distinctively grounded in a firm commitment to social justice, democracy, and human rights, engages students in the study and practice of politics to promote the collective good at the local, national, and global level. The program defines politics broadly as the formal and informal ways societies govern themselves. The program offers an innovative curriculum that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to pursue positive social change. Political science alumni have pursued careers in electoral politics, teaching, law, government, journalism, business, and non-profit organizations, and have earned graduate and professional degrees in several fields.

Trinity College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science in American Politics

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in American Politics at the Assistant Professor level commencing in the fall of 2022. Candidates must have research expertise in the area of Congress/legislative politics, broadly defined to include the study of congressional elections. Candidates with the ability to teach courses on parties, elections, interest groups or social movements are especially encouraged to apply. Coordinating Trinity's exemplary Legislative Internship Program and teaching the associated seminar will be part of the chosen candidate's regular teaching duties. We encourage applicants who share our department's commitment to diversity and inclusion in the broadest terms.

Evidence of scholarly promise is required. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is desired, if available. Teaching load is 2/2 for the first two years (and 3/2 thereafter) with a one-semester leave every fourth year. A Ph.D. in Political Science or Public Policy should be completed or expected by August, 2022.

To ensure full consideration please submit a cover letter that includes a statement of research interests, a teaching statement that includes your approach to addressing issues of diversity, equity and inclusion, a CV, a graduate transcript, a sample of scholarly writing, and course syllabi and evaluations (if available) as well as at least three letters of reference to <https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com> <https://trincoll.peopleadmin.com> by Sept. 15, 2021.

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) whose work addresses structural racism or Black politics. Sub-field specialization is open and we welcome applications from candidates whose research and teaching addresses the Black political experience, racial oppression, discrimination, and violence from domestic (US or other countries), international, transnational, diasporic, post-colonial, normative, historical, or critical perspectives. We expect candidates to ground their work—theoretical and/or empirical—in an intersectional understanding of how interlocking or overlapping systems of oppression, domination, inequality, or hierarchies, shape the political world.

LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We would expect the successful candidate to teach courses both within our existing curriculum, but also to support and develop courses that speak directly to the Black political experience, broadly understood. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping undergraduate students become informed, analytically reflective, methodologically rigorous, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experiences, and beliefs to apply. Please read more about our commitments and our efforts at (<https://resources.lmu.edu/officeofinterculturalaffairs/>).

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<https://pa843.peopleadmin.com/postings/47472>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; and 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLJobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLJobs@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 10, 2021 but will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search. A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or related field is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2022 will be considered.

College of New Jersey

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

FULL-TIME VISITING FACULTY POSITION IN RACE AND ETHNIC POLITICS

The Department of African American Studies and the Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invite applications for a joint-appointed, 10-month, non-tenure-track visiting assistant professor starting July 31, 2021.

The successful candidate will have expertise in American Politics with an emphasis on Race and Ethnic Politics in the United States. The candidate's area of expertise should be informed by and have a strong foundation in intersectional anti-racism, structural and systemic racism, and critical race theory. Additional areas of expertise could include but are not limited to how the process of racialization shapes political behavior and public opinion, democratic engagement and responsiveness, public policy, national institutions, intergroup relations, and urban politics.

Candidates should be committed to excellent teaching and deep student engagement in a primarily undergraduate, residential, liberal arts-centered institution. The teaching load is four courses per semester. In Fall 2021, the successful candidate will teach two sections of Introduction to American Government (POL 110) and two sections of AAS/POL 270 Special Topics: Race and American Democracy. In Spring 2022, the successful candidate will teach two sections of POL 110 and two other courses based on the needs of the departments and the candidate's expertise. As of this posting, the College is planning on in-person course instruction in either a full or partial-capacity classroom environment, depending on state guidelines. The College has announced that students will be required to receive a Covid-19 vaccination before returning to campus in the fall.

To Apply

The successful candidate should have a Ph.D. or be ABD in Political Science, African American Studies, Public Policy, or a closely-related field. As TCNJ is committed to inclusion and diversity, the successful candidate should be able to articulate how they would model these values and successfully navigate a diverse campus community.

Applicants should submit the following materials using the online application system at https://tcnj.taleo.net/careersection/00_ex_faculty/jobdetail.ftl?job=21001106&lang=en:

- Cover letter describing qualifications and teaching and research interests
- Curriculum vitae
- Brief statement of teaching philosophy, including how diversity and inclusion are incorporated into the candidate's work as a teacher
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness or promise such as sample syllabi and/or student evaluations
- Unofficial graduate transcript
- Names and contact information for three references

Any questions about the position should be directed to Dr. Sarah Chartock, Chair of the Department of Political Science, and Dr.

Piper Kendrix Williams, Chair of the African American Studies Department, at rep-vap-group@tcnj.edu.

Applications received by June 18th will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled. Final offer of employment will be contingent upon successful completion of a background investigation. The successful applicant must present proof of eligibility to work in the United States.

About the Departments and the College

The Department of African American Studies has five tenure-line faculty members and approximately 13 majors. For more information about the department, visit <https://african-americanstudies.tcnj.edu/>.

The Department of Political Science has nine tenure-line faculty members and approximately 190 majors. For more information about the department and faculty, visit <https://polisci.tcnj.edu/>.

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a selective, public, primarily undergraduate institution that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. TCNJ emphasizes the residential experience for our approximately 7,000 undergraduate students, 30% of whom are self-described as members of groups traditionally underrepresented in academe. Students benefit from a 13-to-1 student-to-faculty ratio and an average class size of 21 students, which has led to TCNJ attaining a first-year to sophomore retention rate of 94% and a graduation rate of 86%. TCNJ has also received national recognition for the adoption and promotion of the teacher-scholar model for our faculty and deep engagement of our undergraduates in research, scholarship, and creative activity as well as community engagement. TCNJ was awarded, in 2006, a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ's seven schools—Arts and Communication; Business; Education; Engineering; Humanities and Social Sciences; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Science. TCNJ is located within an hour of New York City and Philadelphia. The College's campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. Boston University

Rank: Maxwell Professor in United States Citizenship

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to appoint the Maxwell Professor in United States Citizenship at the rank of advanced Associate or full Professor, with tenure, to begin in Fall 2022. Applicants in Political Science, from the subfields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, Public Policy, Political Theory, are encouraged to apply. We wish to recruit an intellectual leader with a distinguished record of scholarship who brings a critical lens on the development and meaning of citizenship.

When George B. Maxwell established this Professorship in September 1918 the First World War was not yet concluded and citizenship was — in both de jure and de facto senses — narrowly defined. Indian Reservations were being consolidated, the Espionage and Sedition Acts of WWI limited free speech, Jim Crow was in force, the 19th Amendment to the US Constitution granting women the right to vote had not been passed, and the purpose and limits of immigration were contested. The Maxwell Professorship supports scholars engaged in fostering an “intelligent understanding and appreciation of the rights, duties, inheritances and possibilities of our citizenship.” A Maxwell Chair holder could understand citizenship broadly; for example, in the context of American political development, the tensions between communitarianism and cosmopolitanism, political theories of citizenship, or in comparative perspective. In keeping with George Maxwell's vision, we seek a scholar who is engaged in both public education and academic discourse.

Boston University offers a rich and vibrant academic community for interdisciplinary research on citizenship; the Maxwell Professorship offers the opportunity to develop connections across disciplines, programs and centers. The candidate will teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. We seek candidates who prioritize inclusive practices in their scholarship, pedagogy, and campus engagement.

Please submit a letter of interest to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18615>. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a list of references and a statement about your record of inclusion. Completed applications are due on 4 October 2021.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

Assistant Professor in Politics (Tenure Track)

American Law

The Politics program at Marymount University invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level beginning in August 2021 (the successful candidate may choose to defer the start date until January, 2022). The standard teaching load is 3/3, all at the undergraduate level. Successful candidates will have demonstrated teaching experience and research interests in American law, and comparative or American politics, as well as a demonstrated teaching ability in normative theory. Preference will be given to candidates with a research focus and/or demonstrated teaching experience in one or more of the following areas: politics of underrepresented groups, gender and politics, environmental politics, mass behavior, social movements, and additional topics in comparative and American politics. The search committee prefers candidates with teaching and research experience, respect for liberal arts education within the Catholic intellectual tradition, and an interest in inquiry-based teaching. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or assurance they will complete the degree by August 2021. Applications should include a cover letter, c.v., evidence of excellence in teaching and research, and at least three letters of recommendation. The committee will begin reviewing applications on June 18, 2021, and accept applications until the position is filled.

Rank: Director, Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics at The University of Akron

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Administration, Other

Specializations: American Politics, State Politics, Research Methods

The University of Akron's Ray C. Bliss Institute of Applied Politics, in cooperation with the Department of Political Science, is seeking applicants for the position of Director. This 12-month position, starting as early as January 2022 but no later than July 1, 2022, includes an appointment as a tenured Professor or Associate Professor of Political Science.

The successful candidate will oversee the activities of the Bliss Institute, including managing its budget, supervising its full-time and part-time staff, coordinating research projects (including polling activities), administering its extensive internship program, and hosting conferences. The Director will be a faculty member of the Department of Political Science with teaching responsibilities and will be responsible for administering the Institute's academic programs, including the Master of Applied Politics [MAP] degree program and the Undergraduate and Graduate Certificate in Applied Politics. Further responsibilities include liaising with university, local, state, and national officials, engaging with the media, and promoting the overall mission of the Institute.

The successful candidate must be a highly experienced scholar with a Ph.D. in Political Science or a closely related field, with a record of publications in peer-reviewed journals and/or academic presses; have a record of teaching at the university level; and have a strong record of administrative experience. It is desirable for the candidate to have a competency in research methods with a demonstrable interest in applied politics at the state and/or national levels; experience in public policy, especially at the state and local levels; and previous experience in hosting conferences in an academic and/or governmental setting.

To apply for this position (University of Akron Job ID# 12850), you must complete the on-line application (available at: <https://www.uakron.edu/hr/jobs.dot>) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a list of three (3) professional references to your profile. Please include contact information, including email addresses, for your professional references. After submission of your application, return to the "My Activities" link and upload the required documents under the "My Cover Letters and Attachments" section.

Applicants should fully describe their qualifications and experience with reference to the minimum and preferred qualifications. This is the information on which the initial review of materials will be based. A resume will not be accepted in place of any information requested on the application. Inquiries about the position can be sent to Dr. James T. McHugh at: mchugh@uakron.edu. For assistance with your application or attachments please call Hannah Kemp-Severence in Human Resources at 330-972-8399. Open until filled, however, initial review of applications will begin on September 1, 2021.

The University of Akron is committed to providing a safe environment for all students and employees. The University endeavors to protect the health, welfare and safety of all students, employees and visitors on our campus. As such, the University will require a pre-employment background check for all applicants selected for employment.

The Department of Political Science in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for an OPEN RANK tenure-track position with research interests in the area of Black Politics and American Politics. The successful candidate will be a scholar whose research and teaching engages Black politics in the United States. Scholars' research should focus on people of African descent and fall into one of the following areas: healthcare or health policy, American political institutions, American political development, and/or American political behavior. Substantive areas of teaching should include, but not limited to, American government and politics, Black politics, healthcare or health policy, public policy, electoral politics, and/or Black social movements. We welcome applications from candidates with a range of theoretical and methodological frameworks and approaches.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. Successful candidates will demonstrate a commitment to vigorously pursuing extramurally funded research programs in their areas of expertise, actively participate in the Department's teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented minority students is highly desired.

Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black private university, provides an educational experience of exceptional quality at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels to students of high academic standing and potential, with particular emphasis upon educational opportunities for Black students. Howard University is classified as Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is a residential campus of approximately 10,000 students located in the heart of the nation's capital, Washington, DC.

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 15 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science. Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S. Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Community Development, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in political science or related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc) from an accredited institution;
- Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor;
- Effective communication and organizational skills; and
- Evidence of successful grant writing experience.

Complete applications consist of a single PDF file containing:

- 1) Cover letter addressing the qualifications listed above
- 2) Current curriculum vita
- 3) Two-page statement of research accomplishments, interests and future plans

- 4) Two-page statement of teaching experience and philosophy
- 5) A writing sample
- 6) Three letters of recommendation

Completed applications should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee, Dr. Niambi Carter, and submitted electronically via AmericanBlackPoliticsSearch@howard.edu. Screening will begin on March 15, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The desired starting date is August 16, 2021. Additional details and information can be found at <http://coas.howard.edu>.

The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, marital status, religion, disability or protected veterans status. Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations (f/m/div)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Hertie School is recruiting a tenure-track Assistant Professor of International Relations. We are looking for a scholar with demonstrated expertise in international institutions, cooperation and global governance, exploring key global challenges and regimes, such as global norms, human rights, migration, peace or trade. Experience in a range of research methods and approaches, in particular multi-method approaches, is a plus. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching IR courses in the School's Master of International Affairs program, in particular the core course on Global Politics.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree in political science or international relations (or expect to have this degree by the start of employment). We are interested in early career scholars in particular. The successful candidate will be appointed as Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts) with the possibility of tenure. The expected start date is August 1, 2022.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a strong commitment to high-quality graduate teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes. As a professional school of public policy, the Hertie School's degree programmes are exclusively at the master's and doctoral levels.

As a private non-profit graduate school of public policy, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German Academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School takes a family friendly workplace seriously. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 15 September 2021. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with the applicant's work should be provided.

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org. Please read our Privacy Policy at www.hertie-school.org/en/privacy-policy.

To apply, please go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/89257>.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Anita Gohdes, Professor of International and Cyber Security at the Hertie School (gohdes@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

University of Toronto

Rank: Associate Professor - African Politics: The Spatial Dynamics of Identity and Development

Associate Professor - African Politics: The Spatial Dynamics of Identity and Development

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts and Science at the University of Toronto invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the area of African Politics: The Spatial Dynamics of Identity and Development. The appointment will be at the rank of Associate Professor, with an expected start date of July 1, 2022, or shortly thereafter.

Applicants must have earned a PhD degree in Political Science or a related area, with a clearly demonstrated exceptional record of excellence in research and teaching. We seek candidates whose research and teaching interests complement and strengthen our existing departmental strengths. We seek an imaginative, wide-ranging, and highly published scholar of the spatial dynamics of identity and development in Africa, as well as of the associated institutions, and with demonstrated expertise in qualitative methods. In addition, we are looking for a leading scholar with direct field, policy, and organizational experience on the continent who will bolster the "big ideas, big books" tradition of our department. The successful candidate will undertake undergraduate and graduate teaching responsibilities on the University's downtown (St George) campus. Applicants are encouraged to review the research and teaching profiles of current faculty members. Please visit our home page (Department of Political Science <https://politics.utoronto.ca>) to learn more about us.

Candidates will have an established international reputation and will be expected to sustain and lead innovative and independent research at the highest international level and to maintain an outstanding, competitive, and externally funded research program. Candidates must provide evidence of research excellence which can be demonstrated by a record of sustained high-impact contributions and publications in top-ranked and field relevant presses and journals, the submitted research statement, presentations at significant conferences, distinguished awards and accolades, and other noteworthy activities that contribute to the visibility and prominence of the discipline, as well as strong endorsements from referees of high standing.

Evidence of excellence in teaching will be provided through teaching accomplishments, the teaching dossier including a strong teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations submitted as part of the application, as well as strong letters of reference.

Candidates are also expected to show evidence of a commitment to equity, diversity, inclusion, and the promotion of a respectful and collegial learning and working environment demonstrated through the application materials.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

All qualified candidates are invited to apply online by clicking the link below. Applicants must submit a cover letter; a current curriculum vitae; a research statement outlining current and future research interests; a recent writing sample of no more than 30 pages; and a teaching dossier to include a teaching statement, sample course materials, and teaching evaluations. Equity and diversity are essential to academic excellence. We seek candidates who value diversity and whose research, teaching and service bear out our commitment to equity. Candidates are therefore also asked to submit a 1-2 page statement of their contributions to equity and diversity, which might cover (but need not be limited to): research or teaching that incorporates a focus on underrepresented communities, the development of inclusive pedagogies, or the mentoring of students from underrepresented groups.

Applicants must provide the name and contact information of three references. The University of Toronto's recruiting tool will automatically solicit and collect letters of reference from each after an application is submitted (this happens overnight). Applicants remain responsible for ensuring that references submit letters (on letterhead, dated and signed) by the closing date.

Submission guidelines can be found at <http://uoft.me/how-to-apply>. Your CV and cover letter should be uploaded into the dedicated fields. Please combine additional application materials into one or two files in PDF/MS Word format. If you have any questions about this position, please contact Sari Sherman at chair.polisci@utoronto.ca.

All application materials, including reference letters, must be received by Thursday, September 2, 2021.

Diversity Statement

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous /Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ2S+ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas. As part of your application, you will be asked to complete a brief Diversity Survey. This survey is voluntary. Any information directly related to you is confidential and cannot be accessed by search committees or human resources staff. Results will be aggregated for institutional planning purposes. Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (IR/Comparative)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in international and comparative politics beginning in the fall semester of 2022. We seek a scholar whose research and teaching centers on the Middle East/North Africa region and the politics of the Islamic world. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in international politics, courses on politics in the Middle East/North Africa, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other courses in the candidate's areas of specialization. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in political science with a sub-field specialization in international and/or comparative politics.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at rdh013@bucknell.edu. Applications received by September 27, 2021 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies

Rank: Professor
Specializations: Asian American Politics, International Security, Foreign Policy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (DKI APCSS) is a Department of Defense executive education institution that educates, empowers, and connects current and future leaders and security practitioners from the Indo-Pacific region. The Center offers executive education programs that includes courses, workshops and dialogues in Honolulu and the broader Indo-Pacific region.

DKI APCSS addresses traditional and non-traditional security issues, including the relationship between governance and the security sector; issues associated with a free and open Indo Pacific, transnational threats such as terrorism, violent extremism, and trafficking; maritime security; crises management; cyber governance; and whole-of-society collaboration to include the role of women, peace and security. The audience of Fellows are mid- to senior-level civilian and military officials from all over the world. The capacity-building mission is accomplished through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, strategic dialogues, professional exchanges, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

FULL PROFESSOR (SPECIALTY: SECURITY IMPLICATIONS OF CLIMATE CHANGE)

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world-class security practitioner and educator to teach, facilitate discussion, and conduct research on the security implications of climate change – particularly in the Indo-Pacific region.

Responsibilities for full professor faculty members include:

- Educating, connecting, and empowering international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners on security issues
- Making positive contributions to a collegial, team-centric working environment of transparency, mutual respect, and inclusion
- Leading teams of peers to accomplish objectives
- Creating and presenting executive education content that spurs discussion, reflection, and learning among the audience
- Facilitating objective-based discussions among fellows that encourage consolidation of learning
- Contributing to distinguished visitor engagements with subject matter expertise
- Performing various administrative and institutional duties to support the executive education functions of the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center
- Occasionally conducting official travel to engage with international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners

•As assigned: developing, managing, coordinating, conducting and assessing all aspects of engagements, including courses, workshops, and dialogues

In this era of climate change, every aspect of security is affected by the changes in the environment. Climate change is exacerbating existing Indo-Pacific security challenges and introducing new, often under-appreciated, and potentially severe challenges to regional security, stability and prosperity. Access to food and water, viability of infrastructure, mass migration, ability to sustain livelihoods, and adequacy of energy resources are just some of the issues at stake. DKI APCSS is seeking a faculty member who can offer deep insight into climate change as a driver of Indo-Pacific regional security challenges: the predicted climate changes, how those changes might impact the people and nations of the region, and how fellows can conceptually frame the challenges in ways that help prepare them to best address the challenges.

Essential selection criteria for SECURITY IMPLICATIONS OF CLIMATE CHANGE full professor:

- Strong grasp of climate change models and the environmental changes they predict
- Deep understanding of how predicted environmental changes will impact traditional and non-traditional security factors: food, water, infrastructure, economy, energy and weather among others
- General understanding of Indo-Pacific security dynamics: current tension points, politics, inter- and intra-state relations, economics, energy resources, history, population/demographics, culture, etc.
- Knowledge of key public and private actors and networks that can contribute to developing strategies to contend with climate-induced security challenges
- Ability to recommend policy objectives to mitigate risks and adapt to climate change

The following are preferred attributes:

- Doctoral or Master's degree in a formal, natural or social scientific field (examples include but are not limited to Environmental Science, International Relations, Economics, Political Science)
- Experience living or working in the Indo-Pacific Region
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation
- Proven ability to function as an effective, collaborative team member
- U.S. citizen; or foreign national who has resided in the U.S. for three of the last five years and is eligible for H-1B work visa
- If a male born after December 31, 1959, must certify registration with the Selective Service System, or be exempt from having to do so under the Selective Service Law

Desirable selection criteria:

- Experience working in multinational settings at the operational, strategic, or policy level

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $126,807 - $192,315 inclusive of locality pay (19.56%) and cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 10.28% but subject to change. All faculty at the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies are employed on a limited term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years, with the possibility of renewal. Relocation expenses may be authorized.

- Application deadline: Open until filled. Cut off: 03 AUG 2021 from publication of solicitation.

- Applications will be considered against current faculty requirements.
- Application packages will be retained for one year.
- Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of Defense and will not be returned.
- Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting their advanced degree(s) and two samples of their publications.
- U.S. Citizenship is not required; however, applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
- The Department of Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrapplcations@dkiapcss.net to ensure that the Department of Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

St. Lawrence University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor in International Relations (two-year)

Specializations: International Political Economy, Conflict Processes, Foreign Policy

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a two-year (upon successful review after the first year) visiting assistant professor position in International Relations. We seek an individual who can teach the introductory course in International Relations as well as upper-level courses on topics of the candidate's choosing in international development, international political economy, foreign policy, conflict resolution, or other areas of expertise that do not duplicate the department's current strengths in international security and international organizations. The ability to also teach Introduction to Comparative Politics on occasion is a plus. The position begins August 2021, and the teaching load is three courses per semester.

The successful candidate will join a department of 11 full-time faculty members who are passionate about enriching our liberal arts curriculum through diverse and inclusive pedagogies and scholarly agendas. Our supportive department colleagues regularly provide feedback and mentoring to visiting faculty to foster professional development. Our St. Lawrence faculty statement of values emphasizes valuing diversity, recognizing the inherent worth of every human being, putting knowledge into action to benefit communities, pursuing truth, and carefully considering evidence (<https://www.stlawu.edu/academic-affairs/january-2017-faculty-statement-values>).

Applicants should have their Ph.D. in Political Science by August 15, 2021, but ABD candidates may be considered.

To apply, please visit: <https://employment.stlawu.edu/postings/2402>

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter indicating teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, graduate school transcript, writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate document with a statement indicating how they can contribute in tangible ways to St. Lawrence University's commitment to cultivating a diverse and inclusive community and classrooms. These documents can be uploaded in the "Applicant Documents" section of your online application.

Additionally, three confidential references are required [the required information input in the reference contact information section of your application will be utilized to send a system-derived email requesting a recommendation letter from each reference].

Review of applications will begin on July 2, 2021. Applications submitted after this date will be reviewed as needed. Questions about the position may be sent to Dr. Kristin McKie (kmckie@stlawu.edu), Search Chair.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) whose work addresses structural racism or Black politics. Sub-field specialization is open and we welcome applications from candidates whose research and teaching addresses the Black political experience, racial oppression, discrimination, and violence from domestic (US or other countries), international, transnational, diasporic, post-colonial, normative, historical, or critical perspectives. We expect candidates to ground their work—theoretical and/or empirical—in an intersectional understanding of how interlocking or overlapping systems of oppression, domination, inequality, or hierarchies, shape the political world.

LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We would expect the successful candidate to teach courses both within our existing curriculum, but also to support and develop courses that speak directly to the Black political experience, broadly understood. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping undergraduate students become informed, analytically reflective, methodologically rigorous, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experiences, and beliefs to apply. Please read more about our commitments and our efforts at (<https://resources.lmu.edu/officeofinterculturalaffairs/>).

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<https://pa843.peopleadmin.com/postings/47472>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; and 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLSjobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLSjobs@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 10, 2021 but will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search. A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or related field is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2022 will be considered.

Boston University

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to appoint the Maxwell Professor in United States Citizenship at the rank of advanced Associate or full Professor, with tenure, to begin in Fall 2022. Applicants in Political Science, from the subfields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, Public Policy, Political Theory, are encouraged to apply. We wish to recruit an intellectual leader with a distinguished record of scholarship who brings a critical lens on the development and meaning of citizenship.

When George B. Maxwell established this Professorship in September 1918 the First World War was not yet concluded and citizenship was — in both de jure and de facto senses — narrowly defined. Indian Reservations were being consolidated, the Espionage and Sedition Acts of WWI limited free speech, Jim Crow was in force, the 19th Amendment to the US Constitution granting women the right to vote had not been passed, and the purpose and limits of immigration were contested. The Maxwell Professorship supports scholars engaged in fostering an “intelligent understanding and appreciation of the rights, duties, inheritances and possibilities of our citizenship.” A Maxwell Chair holder could understand citizenship broadly; for example, in the context of American political development, the tensions between communitarianism and cosmopolitanism, political theories of citizenship, or in comparative perspective. In keeping with George Maxwell's vision, we seek a scholar who is engaged in both public education and academic discourse.

Boston University offers a rich and vibrant academic community for interdisciplinary research on citizenship; the Maxwell Professorship offers the opportunity to develop connections across disciplines, programs and centers. The candidate will teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. We seek candidates who prioritize inclusive practices in their scholarship, pedagogy, and campus engagement.

Please submit a letter of interest to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18615>. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a list of references and a statement about your record of inclusion. Completed applications are due on 4 October 2021.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

About the politics program at Marymount:

Marymount's Politics program is part of the Marymount University School of Humanities, housed in the College of Sciences and Humanities. Faculty are expected to teach high-quality student-centric undergraduate courses in face-to-face settings. The College of Sciences and Humanities is located on Marymount University's Main Campus.

Marymount University welcomes and values all members of our community. Guided by the mission of our founders, the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary (RSHM), to achieve unity through diversity, Marymount honors our diversity as a source of strength. Our differences inspire intellectual curiosity and collectively allow us to tackle the challenges of the world. We seek to foster an inclusive community in which each person's race, ethnicity, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, veteran status, age, ability, class, national origin, and immigration status are fully respected and celebrated. According to the vision of the RSHM that "ALL may have life, and have it to the FULL," we strive to create an atmosphere of mutual respect, cooperation, and civility where all community members are S.A.I.N.T.S—Safe, Accepted, Included, Needed, Treasured, and Seen.

Major duties and responsibilities

- Support and integrate the mission and core values of Marymount University and Academic Affairs, including our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
- Teach a 3/3 course load each year.
- Maintain a successful record of quality, peer reviewed scholarship.
- Maintain office hours at times which provide appropriate access to students.

Other duties

- Assume professional responsibilities as requested by the Dean of the College and/or School Director.
- Engage in on-going professional development which will include scholarship activities such as research, presentations, and participation with professional organizations.
- Contribute to the University, College of Sciences and Humanities, and School of Humanities functions and services, including assessments, and continuous improvement activities.

Job requirements

University of Richmond Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with expertise in the politics of development, broadly defined. The department has a strong preference for an area concentration in either Africa or the Middle East, which will complement its existing strengths in the politics of Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The position, to begin in 2021-2022 academic year, is intended to meet and expand curricular goals within the major; to broaden the department's research expertise; and to contribute to interdisciplinary initiatives in the School of Arts and Sciences and to the University of Richmond's mission of "preparing students for responsible leadership in a diverse world." More specifically, the position carries a 3-2 teaching load consisting of a regular offering of a survey course on the politics of development. Other courses would relate to the faculty's regional specialization, with particular preference for courses on the politics of Africa and/or the Middle East. The new hire would also share responsibility for teaching the department's ongoing offerings of Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations and, as schedule permits, contribute to departmental First Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation by August 1, 2021. Applicants should apply online at <https://richmond.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?site=1&id=2062>.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students "to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society."

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should click "Apply Now" at the top of the page and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter containing a brief summary of the candidate's research and teaching interests and indicating commitment to the teacher-scholar model, and separate research and teaching statements. The research statement should expand on the candidate's research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate's teaching philosophy, interests, experience and goals. It should also address commitment to inclusive pedagogy and to fostering thriving and inclusive intercultural community, as outlined in the President's Making Excellence Inclusive report (<https://president.richmond.edu/inclusive-excellence/report-pdfs/making-excellence-inclusive-final-report-2019.pdf>). New York University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Position Description:

The Wilf Family Department of Politics seeks candidates for three faculty positions for scholars conducting outstanding research on the subjects of race, identity, and inequality in domestic, comparative, or international contexts. The primary focus of our search is at the tenure track assistant professor level; however, we may consider more senior candidates under exceptional circumstances. The positions are to begin September 1, 2022, pending administrative approval.

This search is part of a broader cluster of recruitment efforts in Race, Identity, and Inequality that spans the Departments of Politics and Sociology in the Faculty of Arts and Science, and the Wagner School of Public Service. A primary aim of the cluster is to create a network for scholars working in these areas to collaborate across NYU. More information about this cluster and the broader cluster initiative can be found at <https://www.nyu.edu/faculty/teaching-and-learning-resources/faculty-advancement/faculty-recruitment/nyu-faculty-cluster-hiring-initiative.html#race2> and at <https://drive.google.com/file/d/1n88i-7v5yZGYxYvK54VJ9AhQgRNHRDKG/view>.

Qualifications:

Candidates are expected to possess a PhD by September 2022, in political science or a cognate discipline; to have records of excellent research; and to indicate the potential to be future disciplinary leaders in their respective fields of expertise. Candidates should also have demonstrated ability as excellent teachers at the undergraduate and/or graduate level. NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their teaching, research, experience, and service an ability to contribute to this goal, and a commitment to fostering inclusivity in a university setting.

Application Instructions:

Please apply online at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/91446>. While we will continue to review applications into October, candidates seeking the fullest consideration should submit their applications by September 10, 2021. Candidates are strongly encouraged to supply links to their professional websites; this will enhance their applications by allowing the search committee easy access to additional information that might be needed.

The Politics Department at NYU is dedicated to the goal of building a diverse and inclusive academic community. Accordingly, we strongly encourage applications from candidates who can demonstrate through their scholarship, teaching and mentoring, and/or service engagement commitment to these goals. We are particularly interested in hearing about concrete steps you have taken (or plan to take) to foster an inclusive intellectual environment in the classroom, in the department and on campus, and/or in your field more generally.

Required Applicant Documents:

- Cover letter
- CV or Resume
- Statement of Research and Goals

- Statement of Teaching
- Writing Sample
- Three Letters of Reference

The successful candidate will have expertise and substantial training in interpretive, qualitative, and/or quantitative methods, a record of research productivity, and a willingness to contribute to interdisciplinary research and teaching. We expect the successful candidate to add to the College of Social and Behavioral Science's and the Political Science department's strengths in seeking and attracting external funding grant potential. The CSBS is home to NEXUS, an interdisciplinary research institute for researchers across the University of Utah who desire to collaborate on research projects concerning society's grand challenges.

The Department of Political Science is committed to removing barriers that have been traditionally encountered by individuals from underrepresented groups, strives to recruit faculty who will further enhance our diversity, and makes every attempt to support their academic, professional, and personal success while they are here. Enhancing the diversity of our faculty to better represent diversity within the field of political science, as well as our diverse body of political science majors and students, is part of the department's strategic plan. The Department has a history of mentoring Assistant Professors from underrepresented groups and providing a supportive environment for attaining their academic and professional goals and milestones. The University of Utah recognizes that a diverse faculty benefits and enriches the educational experiences of the entire campus and greater community.

Applications should include a cover letter detailing research and teaching interests and experience, a CV, a writing sample, and three references who can be contacted for letters of recommendation. As part of the cover letter, we invite you to describe how your work and other experiences contribute to the success of underrepresented students. The University of Utah values candidates who have experience working in settings with students from diverse backgrounds and possess a strong commitment to improving access to higher education for historically underrepresented students. Applications should be submitted by a best consideration date of September 24, 2021, although those received after this date will continue to be reviewed until the position is filled.

Applications should be filed using the online system at <https://utah.peopleadmin.com/postings/119894>

The University of Utah has been classified by the Carnegie Foundation among the 115 research universities with the "highest research activity" in the nation and is the flagship of the Utah System of Higher Education. Colorado College

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Colorado College is hiring for an Assistant Professor in International Relations. We are open to areas of expertise, but particularly welcome expertise in global and transnational issues through the lenses of race, gender, and/or class. We are looking for a candidate who can teach a variety of courses in the International Relations subfield, including Introduction to International Relations and the senior capstone in International Relations. Crucial to the position is potential for excellence in scholarship as well as commitment to providing students with a liberal education.

Colorado College is committed to becoming an antiracist institution. Through our antiracism initiative, we are working to foster an intellectually rigorous and inclusive environment in which students and employees of diverse backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives can learn and work. Candidates should identify the ways in which they can contribute to these goals.

Colorado College has a distinctive academic program, the Block Plan, in which professors teach, and students take, one course at a time. Each block is three and a half weeks long, with an academic year of eight and a half blocks. The average teaching load is five blocks per year, with an additional block overseeing senior research. Faculty can apply for a limited number of release blocks, as well as various sources of funding, to pursue research. The average starting salary for Assistant Professors is $82,000 – $84,000.

Vanderbilt University

Rank: Assistant Professor

The Department of Political Science at Vanderbilt University invites applications from outstanding political scientists specializing in the political economy of conflict for a tenure-track appointment as Assistant Professor. The appointment is open with respect to substantive subfield. This position is part of a broader multi-year faculty hiring initiative in the data sciences.

Successful candidates will have an affiliation with Vanderbilt's multi-disciplinary Data Science Institute and will be expected to contribute to the research and teaching mission of the institute—especially to teach within the MA program in Data Science; and ideally to foster research collaborations with existing faculty across academic departments working on data science-related topics. The political science department is committed to building an intellectually vibrant, culturally inclusive, and academically diverse community of exceptional faculty. Minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and members of other underrepresented groups, in particular, are encouraged to apply. Vanderbilt is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. The appointment will begin Fall 2022. Salary and benefits are highly competitive. The Committee will begin reviewing files as early as September 1, 2021. To ensure full consideration, applicants should submit complete applications by September 15, 2021, but we welcome earlier applications and we may schedule formal interviews at any time. We will accept applications until we fill the position. Among the qualifications required for hire is the Ph.D. in hand or expected by August, 2022.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a research statement, a teaching statement, a writing sample, teaching evaluations (if applicable), a diversity statement, and three letters of reference electronically at: <http://apply.interfolio.com/90781>.

Colorado State University

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations

The Department of Political Science at Colorado State University invites applications for an entry-level tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations with a specialization in international environmental politics. We are open with respect to theoretical orientation and methodological approaches. This is a full-time, tenure-track, nine-month appointment, beginning August 16, 2022.

The Department defines international environmental politics broadly to include scholarship on natural resources, forms of collective action, and all interactions between humans and the natural world. This definition could include scholars whose work fits into any subfield of International Relations.

The Department values both strong teaching and research. Successful candidates will be expected to offer courses in International Relations at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including an upper-division undergraduate course in Global Environmental Politics and a graduate-level course in International Environmental Politics. Additional teaching assignments will depend on the candidate's interests and expertise as well as departmental needs. The normal teaching load is 2-2.

Faculty members are also expected to advise and mentor graduate and undergraduate students; demonstrate an active research agenda; and provide service to the department, college, university, and community. Approximately one-third of undergraduate political science majors at CSU are first-generation college students. The Department offers programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees.

The doctoral degree emphasizes the study of environmental politics and policy.

Required Job Qualifications:

- * Primary teaching and scholarly emphasis in International Relations
- * Evidence of an active research agenda focused on an aspect of International Environmental Politics, together with plans to sustain a research agenda focused on International Environmental Politics
- * Demonstrated ability to teach political science graduate-level and upper-division courses in International Environmental Politics
- * PhD in Political Science or related field by August 16, 2022
- * Evidence of teaching effectiveness

Preferred Job Qualifications:

- * Ability to enhance the Department's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion;
- * Scholarly interest in the politics of gender;
- * Demonstrated ability to contribute to one or more of the Department's new MA specializations (Environmental Politics; Power, Justice, and Democracy; and Political Analysis)
- * Ability to contribute to methods training (qualitative, quantitative, or research design).

Interested applicants must submit a cover letter which addresses how professional experiences align with identified required and preferred qualifications of the position, a current CV, and three letters of reference.

Please note, your referees will be emailed a request for a letter of reference immediately upon submission of your application. As such, applicants should allow sufficient time for their letters to be submitted by September 8, 2021 to ensure full consideration. Application materials of semi-finalist candidates, including letters of reference, will be made available for review by the entire faculty in the Department of Political Science.

If you have questions, please contact Kate Stevens at Kate.Stevens@colostate.edu

Colorado State University strives to provide a safe study, work, and living environment for its faculty, staff, volunteers and students. Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations (f/m/div)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Hertie School is recruiting a tenure-track Assistant Professor of International Relations. We are looking for a scholar with demonstrated expertise in international institutions, cooperation and global governance, exploring key global challenges and regimes, such as global norms, human rights, migration, peace or trade. Experience in a range of research methods and approaches, in particular multi-method approaches, is a plus. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching IR courses in the School's Master of International Affairs program, in particular the core course on Global Politics.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree in political science or international relations (or expect to have this degree by the start of employment). We are interested in early career scholars in particular. The successful candidate will be appointed as Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts) with the possibility of tenure. The expected start date is August 1, 2022.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a strong commitment to high-quality graduate teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes. As a professional school of public policy, the Hertie School's degree programmes are exclusively at the master's and doctoral levels.

As a private non-profit graduate school of public policy, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German Academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School takes a family friendly workplace seriously. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 15 September 2021. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with the applicant's work should be provided.

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org. Please read our Privacy Policy at www.hertie-school.org/en/privacy-policy.

To apply, please go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/89257>.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Anita Gohdes, Professor of International and Cyber Security at the Hertie School (gohdes@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (IR/Comparative)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in international and comparative politics beginning in the fall semester of 2022. We seek a scholar whose research and teaching centers on the Middle East/North Africa region and the politics of the Islamic world. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in international politics, courses on politics in the Middle East/North Africa, a course in quantitative or qualitative research methods, and other courses in the candidate's areas of specialization. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks.

We are especially interested in candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in political science with a sub-field specialization in international and/or comparative politics.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at rdh013@bucknell.edu. Applications received by September 27, 2021 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

University of Gothenburg

Rank: One or several Postdoctoral Research Fellow(s) in Political Science, with a focus on feminist foreign policy, anti-gender foreign policy and diplomacy

The research program Gender and Diplomacy (GenDip) invites applications for one or several post-doctoral fellows, to conduct research within the framework of the project “Diplomacy and the International Polarization on Gender Equality,” headed by Professor Ann Towns, Department of Political Science. The position(s) will combine research with some teaching and/or GenDip research service tasks. The successful candidate(s) will be working closely with the lead GenDip researchers and will be based in Gothenburg. These are 2-year, full time, in residence fellowships, with a flexible starting date in 2022.

About GenDip

GenDip is led by Professor Ann Towns (Director) and is financed by the Swedish Research Council, Knut & Alice Wallenberg Foundation and the University of Gothenburg.

The general aim of GenDip is to examine the changing nature of gender within diplomacy. GenDip consists of a group of researchers, PhD students, Master students and interns at the Department of Political Science of the University of Gothenburg. GenDip also coordinates a global research network and convenes international workshops biannually on gender and diplomacy.

The project “Diplomacy and the International Polarization on Gender Equality” addresses the place of diplomacy in the emerging and increasing international schisms around gender equality and LGBTQ+ rights. Polarizing developments, with foreign policies devoted either to advance or combat gender equality and LGBTQ+ rights, raises crucial questions for diplomacy scholarship. For instance, how have Ministries of Foreign Affairs (MFAs) adapted institutionally in order to pursue pro/anti-gender foreign policy? How do diplomats implement such foreign policy in practice, bilaterally and/or multilaterally, around the world? What arenas (bilateral, multilateral, geographical, etc) are prioritized for pro/anti-gender foreign policy? What kinds of diplomatically relevant interests, identities, practices, norms and/or social hierarchies, etc, are promoted, reproduced or changed in the pursuit of feminist or anti-gender foreign policy, and how? The overarching aim of this research project is to examine, compare and provide theoretically innovative analyses of how diplomacy, MFAs and diplomats of pro- and anti-gender states adapt to and manage the international polarization on gender equality. We are interested in theoretical, methodological and empirical diversity in GenDip, so we welcome proposals that are macro-, meso- or microanalytical, qualitative and/or quantitative, and with theoretical approaches that align or contrast with our own. An empirical focus on non-Western diplomatic contexts is advantageous but not required.

The GenDip website is found HERE

 Political Science

Subject area description
 Political science is a social science discipline concerned with the study of the state, nation, government, and politics and policies of government on a national and international perspective.

Job assignments

The Postdoctoral research fellow will conduct their own research within the scope of the main themes of the research project, in collaboration with the research director and with other scholars in the team. More specifically, (s)he will collect data, provide analyses and publish original research within the project.

One of GenDip’s strengths is the flexibility and collaborative spirit of everyone in the research group, simultaneously focusing on the productivity of each member and on reaching the goals of the research program. The Postdoc is expected to be an active and collaborative participant in the GenDip research environment. For this position, there is a service component (up to 20% of FTE) which includes some combination of teaching and/or doing research service (e.g. gathering and coding data for use by all GenDip members, data management, managing respondent contacts, participating in the writing of research funding applications, and more). The fellow is expected to reside in Gothenburg for the duration of the fellowship.

Eligibility

A post doctoral fellow position is open to candidates who have received a PhD in political science or related field. Priority will be given to candidates who have completed their degree no more than three years before the application deadline. Those who graduated earlier may also be given consideration, if there are special reasons.

Assessment

Candidates should have an outstanding research agenda, and a record of relevant and internationally recognized publications in the field. Applicants must have excellent written and oral proficiency in English.

Applications will be evaluated primarily on demonstrated research excellence in research on diplomacy, public administration and/or international political sociology with a particular view towards areas of relevance to the GenDip project. One or more of the following scientific skills are also meritorious;

A well-developed and innovative proposal of high scientific quality, for a research project that falls within the new GenDip project (briefly described above).

Advanced methodological skills (qualitative or quantitative).

Theoretical sophistication and innovativeness

Demonstrated research expertise in some of the following: diplomacy, foreign policy, feminist foreign policy, anti-gender politics, gender and politics, non-Western foreign policy, non-Western diplomacy.

We will make an overall assessment of the applicants’ qualifications and make a selection judged to complement the rest of the team in the best way possible for the needs of the program. Personal qualities relevant for the position are of great importance.

Employment

Fixed-term employment, two years, full time in residence, start date flexible - as early as possible - in 2022.

Specializations: Asian American Politics, International Security, Foreign Policy

The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies (DKI APCSS) is a Department of Defense executive education institution that educates, empowers, and connects current and future leaders and security practitioners from the Indo-Pacific region. The Center offers executive education programs that includes courses, workshops and dialogues in Honolulu and the broader Indo-Pacific region.

DKI APCSS addresses traditional and non-traditional security issues, including the relationship between governance and the security sector; issues associated with a free and open Indo Pacific, transnational threats such as terrorism, violent extremism, and trafficking; maritime security; crises management; cyber governance; and whole-of-society collaboration to include the role of women, peace and security. The audience of Fellows are mid- to senior-level civilian and military officials from all over the world. The capacity-building mission is accomplished through focused executive education, leader development, regional outreach engagement, strategic dialogues, professional exchanges, and policy-relevant research. The Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies is located in Honolulu, Hawaii.

FULL PROFESSOR (SPECIALTY: SECURITY IMPLICATIONS OF CLIMATE CHANGE)

The College of Security Studies is searching for a world-class security practitioner and educator to teach, facilitate discussion, and conduct research on the security implications of climate change – particularly in the Indo-Pacific region.

Responsibilities for full professor faculty members include:

- Educating, connecting, and empowering international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners on security issues
- Making positive contributions to a collegial, team-centric working environment of transparency, mutual respect, and inclusion
- Leading teams of peers to accomplish objectives
- Creating and presenting executive education content that spurs discussion, reflection, and learning among the audience
- Facilitating objective-based discussions among fellows that encourage consolidation of learning
- Contributing to distinguished visitor engagements with subject matter expertise
- Performing various administrative and institutional duties to support the executive education functions of the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center
- Occasionally conducting official travel to engage with international and U.S. leaders and security practitioners

•As assigned: developing, managing, coordinating, conducting and assessing all aspects of engagements, including courses, workshops, and dialogues

In this era of climate change, every aspect of security is affected by the changes in the environment. Climate change is exacerbating existing Indo-Pacific security challenges and introducing new, often under-appreciated, and potentially severe challenges to regional security, stability and prosperity. Access to food and water, viability of infrastructure, mass migration, ability to sustain livelihoods, and adequacy of energy resources are just some of the issues at stake. DKI APCSS is seeking a faculty member who can offer deep insight into climate change as a driver of Indo-Pacific regional security challenges: the predicted climate changes, how those changes might impact the people and nations of the region, and how fellows can conceptually frame the challenges in ways that help prepare them to best address the challenges.

Essential selection criteria for SECURITY IMPLICATIONS OF CLIMATE CHANGE full professor:

- Strong grasp of climate change models and the environmental changes they predict
- Deep understanding of how predicted environmental changes will impact traditional and non-traditional security factors: food, water, infrastructure, economy, energy and weather among others
- General understanding of Indo-Pacific security dynamics: current tension points, politics, inter- and intra-state relations, economics, energy resources, history, population/demographics, culture, etc.
- Knowledge of key public and private actors and networks that can contribute to developing strategies to contend with climate-induced security challenges
- Ability to recommend policy objectives to mitigate risks and adapt to climate change

The following are preferred attributes:

- Doctoral or Master's degree in a formal, natural or social scientific field (examples include but are not limited to Environmental Science, International Relations, Economics, Political Science)
- Experience living or working in the Indo-Pacific Region
- Proven ability in teaching and seminar facilitation
- Proven ability to function as an effective, collaborative team member
- U.S. citizen; or foreign national who has resided in the U.S. for three of the last five years and is eligible for H-1B work visa
- If a male born after December 31, 1959, must certify registration with the Selective Service System, or be exempt from having to do so under the Selective Service Law

Desirable selection criteria:

- Experience working in multinational settings at the operational, strategic, or policy level

Salary and rank are commensurate with qualifications. Salary range is $126,807 - $192,315 inclusive of locality pay (19.56%) and cost of living allowance (COLA), currently 10.28% but subject to change. All faculty at the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies are employed on a limited term, excepted-service positions, for up to three years, with the possibility of renewal. Relocation expenses may be authorized.

- Application deadline: Open until filled. Cut off: 03 AUG 2021 from publication of solicitation.

- Applications will be considered against current faculty requirements.
- Application packages will be retained for one year.
- Application materials become the property of the U.S. Department of Defense and will not be returned.
- Individuals selected for interviews will be asked to provide bona fide transcripts from the academic institutions granting their advanced degree(s) and two samples of their publications.
- U.S. Citizenship is not required; however, applicants must be eligible for an H1B or other work visa.
- The Department of Defense provides reasonable accommodation to applicants with disabilities. Applicants with disabilities who believe they require reasonable accommodation should contact the Center's Human Resources Department at hrapplcations@dkiapcss.net to ensure that the Department of Defense can consider such a request. The decision to grant an accommodation will be made on a case-by-case basis.

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: Professor of Public Policy

The University of Michigan’s Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy invites applications for a tenured or tenure-track position in International Relations, especially at the rank of associate or full professor. We welcome a broad range of applicants who have a PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or related social science or professional discipline and who conduct policy-relevant research on international politics. We are particularly interested in candidates who focus on human security broadly defined, including political/military affairs, diplomacy, development, international law and institutions, nationalism, civil and international conflict, and human rights. Among other things, successful candidates should engage with questions such as how power relationships, structural inequities, racial and ethnic divisions, and colonial legacies affect international politics. Successful candidates must demonstrate a record of outstanding research; an ability and willingness to teach core and elective courses in undergraduate, Masters, and PhD degree programs in public policy; an ability to engage effectively with public policy; and a keen interest in interacting with students, faculty, staff, and policy practitioners in an interdisciplinary professional school environment. Candidates should combine relevant substantive expertise with strong interests in public policy.

The following application materials are required: a letter of interest; curriculum vitae; a statement of research and policy interests; a statement of teaching experience and philosophy; the names of three references; and a statement describing how your work would contribute to the Ford School’s and University of Michigan’s strategic commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion (fordschool.umich.edu/dei).

Interested applicants may upload their application materials to <http://apply.interfolio.com/88641>. This is an ongoing search. First consideration will be given to applications received by October 1, 2021, but applications will be considered until the position is filled.

The University of Michigan is an AA/EO employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. The University is supportive of the needs of dual career couples.

St. Lawrence University

Specializations: International Political Economy, Conflict Processes, Foreign Policy

The Government Department at St. Lawrence University invites applications for a two-year (upon successful review after the first year) visiting assistant professor position in International Relations. We seek an individual who can teach the introductory course in International Relations as well as upper-level courses on topics of the candidate’s choosing in international development, international political economy, foreign policy, conflict resolution, or other areas of expertise that do not duplicate the department’s current strengths in international security and international organizations. The ability to also teach Introduction to Comparative Politics on occasion is a plus. The position begins August 2021, and the teaching load is three courses per semester.

The successful candidate will join a department of 11 full-time faculty members who are passionate about enriching our liberal arts curriculum through diverse and inclusive pedagogies and scholarly agendas. Our supportive department colleagues regularly provide feedback and mentoring to visiting faculty to foster professional development. Our St. Lawrence faculty statement of values emphasizes valuing diversity, recognizing the inherent worth of every human being, putting knowledge into action to benefit communities, pursuing truth, and carefully considering evidence (<https://www.stlawu.edu/academic-affairs/january-2017-faculty-statement-values>).

Applicants should have their Ph.D. in Political Science by August 15, 2021, but ABD candidates may be considered.

To apply, please visit: <https://employment.stlawu.edu/postings/2402>

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter indicating teaching and research interests, curriculum vitae, graduate school transcript, writing sample, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate document with a statement indicating how they can contribute in tangible ways to St. Lawrence University’s commitment to cultivating a diverse and inclusive community and classrooms. These documents can be uploaded in the “Applicant Documents” section of your online application.

Additionally, three confidential references are required [the required information input in the reference contact information section of your application will be utilized to send a system-derived email requesting a recommendation letter from each reference].

Review of applications will begin on July 2, 2021. Applications submitted after this date will be reviewed as needed. Questions about the position may be sent to Dr. Kristin McKie (kmckie@stlawu.edu), Search Chair.

All offers of employment are contingent upon the finalist successfully passing a background (including criminal records) check.

William & Mary

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Unit Mission Statement:

The International Relations Program serves William & Mary by offering courses and scholarly experiences that contribute to the liberal education of undergraduates. International Relations (IR) Program faculty in the Government Department offer courses, seminars, directed research and directed readings that promote understanding of political phenomena ranging from the behavior of individual citizens to relations among nations. They also help develop students' abilities to analyze the normative and empirical dimensions of international political issues. The IR Program and the Government Department each offers a bachelors degree major.

Position Summary:

The Program in International Relations at William & Mary invites applications for a one-year, non-tenure-track visiting position that will begin August 10, 2021. We seek an individual with expertise in international politics. The successful applicant will be expected to be an effective teacher and will have a 3-3 teaching load (2 preps per semester). Courses will include introduction to international politics, research methods, and a senior seminar. The successful candidate will work with the program director to determine the topic for the senior seminar course in international politics.

Required Qualifications: A Master's degree in Political Science or International Relations is required.

Preferred Qualifications: A Ph.D. or ABD is preferred at the time appointment begins (August 10, 2021).

Applicants must apply online at <https://jobs.wm.edu>. Submit a curriculum vitae, a cover letter including statement of research and teaching interests, and evidence of teaching effectiveness. You will be prompted to submit online the names and email addresses of three references who will be contacted by the system with instructions on how to submit a letter of reference.

For full consideration, submit application materials by the review date, June 25. Applications received after the review date will be considered if needed and the position will remain open until filled. Information on the degree programs in the Department of International Relations may be found here. <https://www.wm.edu/as/internationalrelations/index.php>

William & Mary values diversity and invites applications from underrepresented groups who will enrich the research, teaching and service missions of the university. The university is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer and encourages applications from women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities. William & Mary conducts background checks on applicants for employment.

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government, Latin American Politics

The Department of Government of Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for a tenure-track position, at the assistant professor level, in the subfield of comparative politics with a Latin American politics focus, beginning July 1, 2022. A qualified candidate would have a PhD in political science in hand or a nearly completed doctoral dissertation, and the capacity to teach core courses in comparative politics, Mexican politics, and other courses within the subfield of Latin American politics.

The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The teaching load at CMC is two courses per semester.

Given our commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinion, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

All applications must include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, detailed research statement, evidence of excellence in teaching, and a statement regarding teaching philosophy and demonstrated commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of backgrounds. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three or more references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their recommendation letter. Letters of recommendation should evaluate the candidate's research and teaching. Applications must be submitted electronically at the following link: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty_faculty_opening.php.

The review of applications will begin October 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

CMC is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. Combined, the members of The Claremont Colleges have more than 6,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Claremont McKenna College is an Equal Opportunity Employer, strongly committed to diversity, and encourages applications from the broadest range of individuals.

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an Assistant Professor (tenure-track) whose work addresses structural racism or Black politics. Sub-field specialization is open and we welcome applications from candidates whose research and teaching addresses the Black political experience, racial oppression, discrimination, and violence from domestic (US or other countries), international, transnational, diasporic, post-colonial, normative, historical, or critical perspectives. We expect candidates to ground their work—theoretical and/or empirical—in an intersectional understanding of how interlocking or overlapping systems of oppression, domination, inequality, or hierarchies, shape the political world.

LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We would expect the successful candidate to teach courses both within our existing curriculum, but also to support and develop courses that speak directly to the Black political experience, broadly understood. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping undergraduate students become informed, analytically reflective, methodologically rigorous, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experiences, and beliefs to apply. Please read more about our commitments and our efforts at (<https://resources.lmu.edu/officeofinterculturalaffairs/>).

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<https://pa843.peopleadmin.com/postings/47472>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; and 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. Three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLSjobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLSjobs@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 10, 2021 but will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search. A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or related field is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2022 will be considered.

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Law, Comparative Politics

Specializations: Constitutional Law & Theory, Judicial Politics, International Law & Organizations

The Department of Political Science (POLS) in the College of Arts and Sciences invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with research interests in the area of International Relations and Public Law. The successful candidate will be prepared to conduct externally-funded research in the area of international relations, comparative politics, and law and politics. We envision the successful candidate's expertise as expansive and methodologically diverse, concerned with how the law constitutes and orders political and social relationships around the world, inclusive of judicial behavior and politics, constitutional development, comparative constitutional politics, international law and courts, and law and society. The successful candidate will be expected to play a key role in our undergraduate pre-law program, the POLS Bachelor of Arts to Juris Doctor (B.A.-J.D.) joint degree program, and teach undergraduate and graduate courses in international relations, judicial politics, and comparative constitutional law.

We seek outstanding applicants with a demonstrated track record of excellence in research and teaching. Successful candidates are expected to develop vigorous, extramurally funded research programs in their areas of expertise, actively participate in the Department's teaching and curriculum development at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and mentor undergraduate and graduate students. Evidence of interest and success in mentoring underrepresented students is highly desired. Howard University, a culturally diverse, comprehensive, research intensive and historically Black private university, provides an educational experience of exceptional quality at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels to students of high academic standing and potential, with particular emphasis on educational opportunities for Black students. Howard University is classified as a Doctoral University: Higher Research Activity research by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is a residential campus of approximately 10,000 students located in the heart of the nation's capital, Washington, DC.

The Department of Political Science currently consists of 15 faculty members and offers BA, MA, and PhD degrees in political science. Founded in 1928 by Nobel laureate, diplomat Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the Department counts Vice-President Elect Kamala Harris, U.S. Representative Elijah Cummings, and U.S. Representative Charles Diggs among its many prominent graduates. The only graduate program in political science in the world with a specialization in Black politics and currently the second-largest undergraduate major, POLS is also the leading department in International Affairs, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary major, and Community Development, the undergraduate Interdisciplinary minor.

Required Qualifications:

- Ph.D. in political science or related field (e.g., government, public policy, etc) from an accredited institution;

- Record of scholarship, teaching, and professional service commensurate with the rank of assistant professor;
- Effective communication and organizational skills; and
- Evidence of successful grant writing experience.

Complete applications consist of a single PDF file containing:

- 1) Cover letter addressing the qualifications listed above
- 2) Current curriculum vita
- 3) Two-page statement of research accomplishments, interests and future plans
- 4) Two-page statement of teaching experience and philosophy
- 5) A writing sample
- 6) Three letters of recommendation

Completed applications should be addressed to the Chair of the search committee: Dr. Michael Fauntroy at IRSearch@Howard.edu. Applications can be submitted electronically via Academic Jobs Online: <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18072>.

Screening will begin on February 24, 2021 and continue until the position is filled. The desired starting date is August 16, 2021. Additional details and information can be found at <http://coas.howard.edu>.

The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, marital status, religion, disability or protected veterans status. Veterans and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Inquiries regarding provisions for persons with disabilities or veterans status, Equal Employment Opportunity and Title IX should be directed to the Office of Employee Relations and Equal Employment Opportunity at 202-806-1280

University of Richmond

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science

The University of Richmond Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor with expertise in the politics of development, broadly defined. The department has a strong preference for an area concentration in either Africa or the Middle East, which will complement its existing strengths in the politics of Asia, Europe, and Latin America. The position, to begin in 2021-2022 academic year, is intended to meet and expand curricular goals within the major; to broaden the department's research expertise; and to contribute to interdisciplinary initiatives in the School of Arts and Sciences and to the University of Richmond's mission of "preparing students for responsible leadership in a diverse world." More specifically, the position carries a 3-2 teaching load consisting of a regular offering of a survey course on the politics of development. Other courses would relate to the faculty's regional specialization, with particular preference for courses on the politics of Africa and/or the Middle East. The new hire would also share responsibility for teaching the department's ongoing offerings of Introduction to Comparative Politics and/or Introduction to International Relations and, as schedule permits, contribute to departmental First Year Seminar (FYS) offerings.

Applicants must either hold a Ph.D. in Political Science or show credible evidence that they will complete the dissertation by August

1, 2021. Applicants should apply online at <https://richmond.csod.com/ats/careersite/JobDetails.aspx?site=1&id=2062>.

The University of Richmond is a private university located just a short drive from downtown Richmond, Virginia. Through its five schools and wide array of campus programming, the University combines the best qualities of a small liberal arts college and a large university. With nearly 4,000 students, an 8:1 student-faculty ratio, and more than 90% of traditional undergraduate students living on campus, the University is remarkably student-centered, focused on preparing students “to live lives of purpose, thoughtful inquiry, and responsible leadership in a global and pluralistic society.”

The University of Richmond is committed to developing a diverse workforce and student body, and to modeling an inclusive campus community which values the expression of difference in ways that promote excellence in teaching, learning, personal development, and institutional success. Our academic community strongly encourages applications that are in keeping with this commitment. For more information on the department and its programs, please see <https://polisci.richmond.edu/>.

Applicants should click “Apply Now” at the top of the page and submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter containing a brief summary of the candidate’s research and teaching interests and indicating commitment to the teacher-scholar model, and separate research and teaching statements. The research statement should expand on the candidate’s research agenda and expertise. The teaching statement should articulate the candidate’s teaching philosophy, interests, experience and goals. It should also address commitment to inclusive pedagogy and to fostering thriving and inclusive intercultural community, as outlined in the President’s Making Excellence Inclusive report (<https://president.richmond.edu/inclusive-excellence/report-pdfs/making-excellence-inclusive-final-report-2019.pdf>). In addition, please include copies of academic transcripts. Candidates for this position may be asked, at a later date, to provide the names and contact information for three references who will be asked to submit letters of recommendation. Review of applications will commence on October 1, 2020 and continue until the position is filled.

Please address any questions about the application to Dr. Jennifer Erkulwater (jerkulwa@richmond.edu), Chair, Department of Political Science, University of Richmond, Richmond, VA 23173.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Rank: Tenure track positions in Work & Organization Studies

The Work and Organization Studies (WOS) group at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Sloan School has been authorized to hire tenure track faculty members to start July 1, 2022, or soon thereafter, as possible, whose teaching and research focus on work, employment, and organizational issues. The rank is open and both junior and senior candidates will be considered.

Faculty responsibilities include teaching courses related to Work and Organization Studies. WOS has current teaching needs in courses on organizational processes, power and influence, as well as courses on work and employment issues.

The WOS faculty is interdisciplinary and the new hire's background is open and might include Sociology, Organizational Behavior, Industrial Relations, Social Psychology, Political Science, or Economics. Candidates must possess, or be close to completion of, a Ph.D. in one of these, or another closely related field, at the start of employment.

WOS builds on the traditions of Organization Studies and the Institute for Work and Employment Research and has Ph.D. programs in both areas. We are open to a variety of styles of research (quantitative, ethnographic, field based, and lab based). (For more information about our group, go to: <https://mitsloan.mit.edu/faculty/academic-groups/work-and-organization-studies/about-us>).

The WOS group is part of the Behavioral and Policy Sciences Area, one of three major academic areas at Sloan. We encourage multidisciplinary work with colleagues in other parts of the School, and several members of the group are also members of other groups/units in the School (Communication; Economic Sociology; Technological Innovation, Entrepreneurship, and Strategy Management; System Dynamics; Global Economics and Management; and Information Technology).

Please submit applications electronically at <http://apply.interfolio.com/91034> providing a cover letter outlining interests and experience, a current CV, and one or two papers that indicate your research focus and capabilities. Applicants should also arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted via this link. Applications will be reviewed as received but are due no later than September 10, 2021.

MIT is an equal opportunity employer committed to building a culturally diverse and pluralistic intellectual community and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities.

Purdue University

Job Summary

The Department of Political Science at Purdue seeks a Post-doctoral Research Fellow for an 11-month position to support ongoing research in areas of public opinion, political psychology, and political communication. The research fellow will maintain their own research agenda and work on collaborative projects related to one or more of the following: political emotions, social identity, political attitudes, and behavior, and/or text analysis of open-ended survey data. Opportunities for collaborative work within these broader areas will be determined based on the fellow's interests and skills. In addition, the fellow will provide mentoring and supervision of graduate and undergraduate researchers in a team-based environment, assist in the development of new lab facilities in the department, and participate in the broader intellectual life of the Department of Political Science and the College of Liberal Arts. The position may be renewable for an additional year, pending review and funding. Start date is on or before September 1.

Qualifications

The position requires a recent PhD in Political Science, Public Policy, or a closely related field, completed no earlier than August 2018. Candidates must show evidence that all requirements for the PhD have been met prior to the start of the position. Candidates must also have strong training in research design and quantitative methods using both R and Stata. Preference will be given to applicants with skills in one or more of the following areas: grant writing, survey methodology, causal inference, machine learning, or natural language processing.

The College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university with an active, and collegial network of faculty, post-docs, and graduate students. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with interdisciplinary programs and centers, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP), the Center for C-SPAN Scholarship and Engagement, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, the Human Rights Program, the Purdue Policy Research Institute and many others. West Lafayette is an affordable, welcoming community with many opportunities for entertainment, dining, hiking, biking, and other outdoor activities.

Applications

Candidates should submit a cover letter describing fit for the position, CV, the names of three references, graduate transcripts, a separate statement on diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in mentoring, and a solo-authored writing sample.

Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://bit.ly/3z3lslg>

Purdue University's Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin immediately continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range is $52,000 – $55,000 for the fiscal year with additional support for research and travel. This position is contingent on final budget approval.

A background check is required for employment in this position.

Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Equal Opportunity - Purdue University is an EOE/AA employer. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

Butler University

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Butler University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor for a one-year appointment with possibility of renewal for a second year. Applicants should have expertise in politics and/or public policy in the United States and a strong commitment to excellent, inclusive undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will teach an introductory American politics survey course, research and analysis methods (basic research design/methods), US Parties and Politics, and other courses aligned with their expertise, and will help build an inclusive learning environment for our increasingly diverse student population. We are particularly interested in candidates who could teach an introductory international politics survey course. This lecturer will teach four courses per semester, with no more than six distinct course preparations per year anticipated.

Review of applications is ongoing and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following to plsearch@butler.edu: a cover letter that highlights the applicant's qualifications for this position and commitment to inclusive, excellent teaching and a curriculum vitae. Additional evidence of evidence of inclusive teaching excellence is welcome but not required at this stage. Applicants should have advanced to candidate or earned a doctorate in political science or a related field at the time of appointment. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts and to consent to a background check prior to a final offer of employment and will start August 2021.

The Butler Political Science Program, distinctively grounded in a firm commitment to social justice, democracy, and human rights, engages students in the study and practice of politics to promote the collective good at the local, national, and global level. The program defines politics broadly as the formal and informal ways societies govern themselves. The program offers an innovative curriculum that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to pursue positive social change. Political science alumni have pursued careers in electoral politics, teaching, law, government, journalism, business, and non-profit organizations, and have earned graduate and professional degrees in several fields.

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Open

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning in Fall 2022. We seek a candidate who is passionate about teaching undergraduate methods. The department is especially interested in candidates with expertise in global or domestic public policy issues, such as education, health and healthcare, urbanization, or the environment and climate change. Our preferred candidate's research will engage with substantive policy issues with a focus on social and group differences broadly defined (such as race, class, inequality, ethnicity, nationalism and national identities, sexuality, gender, disability, religion, North-South relations, etc.).

The regular teaching load for this position includes two sections of our introductory methods class and periodically a seminar in advanced methods. LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. Please read more about our commitments and our efforts at (<https://resources.lmu.edu/officeofinterculturalaffairs/>).

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<https://pa843.peopleadmin.com/postings/47474>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. A minimum of three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLSJobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLSJobs@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 10, 2021 but will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search. A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or related field is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2022 will be considered.

Mercyhurst University

Specializations: Civil Rights & Liberties, Constitutional Law & Theory, Race & Ethnic Politics

The Political Science Department invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning fall 2021. This position may be renewable or converted to tenure-track contingent on excellent performance, departmental staffing and programmatic needs, and continued administrative approval. The successful applicant will possess a strong commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching at a liberal arts university. The department is seeking a generalist who is committed to developing courses in constitutional law and civil liberties as well as contributing to our department needs in institutions, behavior, methods, gender, or racial and ethnic politics. The candidate will also serve as advisor to our pre-law society. Energy, collegiality, and a commitment to liberal arts education are highly prized attributes in our department. Preference will be given to candidates who have completed the Ph.D. or will complete it before the fall 2021 semester. Screening of applications will begin immediately and the position will remain open until filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, current vitae, transcripts (initial submissions may be unofficial copies), three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching excellence, and a one-page statement summarizing their philosophy of teaching to Jennifer Verga, administrative assistant: jverga@mercyhurst.edu. Mercyhurst is a mid-sized, Catholic, liberal arts, primarily residential university, founded by the Sisters of Mercy, with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students. Class sizes are small and the normal teaching load is 8 courses per year. For information about the political science program see the departmental website: <http://polisci.mercyhurst.edu>.

NON-ACADEMIC

University of Pennsylvania

Rank: Associate Director - Philosophy, Politics, and Economics

University Overview:

The University of Pennsylvania, the largest private employer in Philadelphia, is a world-renowned leader in education, research, and innovation. This historic, Ivy League school consistently ranks among the top 10 universities in the annual U.S. News & World Report survey. Penn has 12 highly-regarded schools that provide opportunities for undergraduate, graduate and continuing education, all influenced by Penn's distinctive interdisciplinary approach to scholarship and learning.

Penn offers a unique working environment within the city of Philadelphia. The University is situated on a beautiful urban campus, with easy access to a range of educational, cultural, and recreational activities. With its historical significance and landmarks, lively cultural offerings, and wide variety of atmospheres, Philadelphia is the perfect place to call home for work and play.

The University offers a competitive benefits package that includes excellent healthcare and tuition benefits for employees and their families, generous retirement benefits, a wide variety of professional development opportunities, supportive work and family benefits, a wealth of health and wellness programs and resources, and much more.

Job Description:

Since its inception at Penn, PPE has been popular and today it is one of the largest majors in the College of Arts and Sciences. The major offers an integrated, cross-disciplinary education that combines broad and rigorous training in the foundations of its allied disciplines.

The Associate Director promotes the activities of the Program in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics (PPE) through a variety of means, including: partnering with faculty to find, develop, prepare, and manage research grants; advising prospective and current students, including the day-to-day coordination/advising of the undergraduate major and identifying appropriate faculty mentors; facilitating PPE seminars and lectures in the BeLab; and working collaboratively with SAS Office of Advancement and staff in Development and Alumni Relations to engage students, faculty, donors, alumni and external organizations. With oversight from the SAS Office of Advancement, the Associate Director works to develop a targeted program for engaging its alumni and potential donors. This will be accomplished by focusing on creating opportunities for alumni to reconnect with the program and with one another, effectively articulating the program's mission, obtaining accurate contact information on PPE alumni, and where possible, capitalizing on opportunities to introduce PPE to a broader SAS alumni and donors audience. In consultation with the College Dean and the SAS Office of Advancement, articulate funding needs for the program.

Qualifications:

Bachelor's degree with three to five years of experience, or equivalent combination of education and experience, is required. Master's degree or PhD in PPE-related disciplines, including psychology, is strongly preferred, as is an interdisciplinary research background related to PPE. Experience in academic advising preferred. Must have the ability to communicate with a diverse population and across all levels of the organization. Strong verbal communication skills required. Must also demonstrate excellent writing and editing skills. Previous experience working with international non-profit programs and organizations and grants preferred. Strong interpersonal skills, ability to work independently, strong initiative and ability to develop programs essential. Previous budget management and fund-raising experience a plus.

Krea University

Rank: Policy Engagement Manager

Specializations: Economic Policy, India, Political Economy

Who We Are:

Inclusion Economics India Centre at Krea University (formerly EPoD India at IFMR) works in close collaboration with Inclusion Economics Yale, based at Yale University's Economic Growth Center and Mac-Millan Center. Drawing upon economics, political science, and related fields, we conduct cutting-edge research to understand how policy can promote inclusive, accountable economies and societies. Our core research focuses on gender as it relates to labor economics and broader economic empowerment; political economy and governance; and environmental economics. We also aim to build a culture of evidence and increase data literacy in the public sector, strengthening leaders' ability to identify and implement evidence-informed policies. Throughout the research life cycle, we engage closely with policy counterparts to ensure we address questions of immediate relevance, and we regularly communicate data-driven insights with policy counterparts and the general public.

The Role:

The Policy Engagement Manager will help manage Inclusion Economics India Centre's (i.e. India's) government relations, stakeholder relationships, and capacity building and communications activities across research portfolios. The position is also responsible to support strategic internal and external communication activities, in particular events and outputs to communicate effectively about i.e. India's work and impact. S/he will play an active role in trainings and external-facing events with policy stakeholders, content development for policy engagement events (workshops, policy dialogues, trainings), and developing and contributing to policy-research collaborations to build organizational and institutional capacities to use evidence. The selected candidate will work closely on communication and strategic policy engagement with staff at Inclusion Economics Yale and with teams working on affiliated research at the Governance Lab in Nepal.

Responsibilities:

- Develop and foster strategic relationships with external stakeholders, including policymakers of all levels of the government, donors, and other mission-aligned individuals and institutions.
- Proactively and independently work closely with researchers and leadership to identify, lead, and implement a targeted and integrated program of engagement and communications along with staff at Inclusion Economics Yale.
- Develop strong relations with government officials, help conceptualize new research projects that align with our portfolios, as well as identify opportunities for replicating and scaling-up of projects.
- Work with government officials to encourage and enhance the use of rigorous evidence-based policymaking in their departments, and institutionalize practices to make such policy-engagements effective.
- Represent our research and policy engagements in a variety of written and in-person forums to engage effectively in the research-to-policy space and communicate effectively about our work to external stakeholders. Written communications may include policy briefs, published articles and blogs, and reports.
- Oversee and implement all aspects pertaining to administration of external-facing policy engagements ranging from policy dialogues and conferences to workshops and trainings. This oversight includes coordinating with collaborating institutions, developing and effectively delivering content, and ensuring all administration and logistics are executed effectively.

- Draft research-policy memos, presentations, op-eds, and background notes for high-level partner meetings, and oversee immediate follow-up on such meetings, including related to basic content and data-related requests.
- Develop and implement systems to effectively organize, monitor, and systematize policy engagement efforts and auxiliary support structures.
- Build capability and capacity in the research management team for effective partnership management, deeper understanding of the policy environment, and inform and support fundraising initiatives in the organization.
- Other activities to support our strategy in India and South Asia, as requested.

Basic Qualifications:

- Master's degree in a relevant field such as economics, public policy/administration, and/or political science
- Strong understanding of research design, basic econometrics, and evaluation methodologies, as well as public policy-oriented topics and policy and implementation in South Asia – India in particular
- At least 5 years of experience in a position that includes significant external network development and stakeholder engagement
- Excellent oral and written communication skills in English and strong public speaking skills
- Demonstrated ability to communicate research findings to a non-technical audience
- Willingness to visit research project sites and engage in research content and methodology
- Ability to think creatively, innovate, strategize, set priorities, manage a workplan, and evaluate progress with minimal supervision
- Experience working across multiple projects and managing multiple internal and external relationships
- Experience managing stakeholder and policy programs, including convening policy forums, communications outputs, and thought leadership activities
- Proven track record of carrying out high-quality research, policy, and/or advocacy work

Preferred Qualifications:

- Working knowledge of Hindi
- 7 years or more of relevant experience, including at least three years of working closely with researchers and government officials in India
- Extensive experience in developing strategic engagement and communications programs, including building networks and collaborations to maximize impact on policy/reform
- Expertise in one or more of i.e. India's core research areas
- A PhD in economics, public policy or political science is desirable, but not required

This position will be based in New Delhi, India, with frequent travel throughout the country when Covid-19 restrictions are lifted.

How to Apply:

If you are interested in this position, please fill out our Screening Questionnaire (<https://forms.gle/XbBeNgprSoRxHpxN7>); you will be asked to upload a single PDF containing your CV, cover letter, writing sample, and academic transcripts. Stanford University

Rank: Executive Director

The Immigration Policy Lab (IPL) at Stanford University designs and evaluates policies to advance the integration of immigrants and refugees worldwide. By producing new evidence and translating it into creative solutions, we seek to improve refugees' and immigrants' opportunities and strengthen their host communities.

Using new data and cutting-edge analytical tools, we bring evidence to bear on the urgent problems facing immigrants, refugees, and their service providers. We engage with community-based organizations as well as local, state, national, and international government agencies to test the effectiveness of current policies. In addition, we co-design new policies, programs, and tools that ultimately affect millions of immigrants, as well as increase the economic and social prosperity of the communities in which they live. Our talented team of faculty, professional staff, postdocs, and students has created a research model that combines the quality and rigor of an academic lab with the efficiency and innovation of a civic-tech startup.

Following five years of rapid development and growth since our launch in 2016, IPL is seeking a new Executive Director (ED) to lead and advance the organization at this pivotal moment. Working in collaboration with IPL's faculty co-directors at Stanford, the ED is responsible for setting and executing the strategic vision for a globally recognized social science lab, while also managing seamless programmatic and scientific operations.

We are looking for an experienced leader with in-depth knowledge of immigration policy and/or research; who values the rigor of the scientific process; who can articulate the importance of quantitative research to diverse stakeholders and audiences; and who also will deepen IPL's focus on policy and social impact. The ED will manage the day-to-day operations of the lab and guide a team of professional staff that includes research program managers, a data scientist, a communications director, and a finance/operations manager. The ED will provide training opportunities for postdocs, graduate students, and undergraduates and continue to grow and manage an active community of affiliated researchers from top universities. The ED will also be IPL's leading public voice, whether at Stanford convenings or international summits. Further, the ED will collaborate closely with the leadership team of the IPL branch at ETH Zurich to build and implement a common vision and community across both branches.

This is a two-year fixed term position with possibility of renewal based on performance and funding. Please note that the expectation is that the position will be required to be located on campus and a regular remote position is not possible. IPL will offer some flexibility for a hybrid on-site/work from home arrangement.

This position requires a self-starting candidate with proven expertise in applied economics research who can effectively navigate India's institutional landscape and appropriately represent our work to outside stakeholders. The position will provide a talented early career researcher the opportunity to work directly with top academics and begin building their own research portfolio.

Responsibilities:

- Manage and supervise technical aspects of assigned research studies in collaboration with the research team.
- Oversee field-based team to manage research study activities, including intervention implementation, and contribute to field-based scoping, survey design, survey testing, data quality monitoring, and more.
- Clean and process incoming or secondary data and conduct econometric analysis under the direction of senior researchers.
- Manage relationships with collaborating institutions, including policy counterparts and funding organizations; work with partner institutions and governments to set priorities and coordinate project administration and logistics.
- Compile, assess and synthesize research into policy briefs, white papers, memos and academic articles with guidance and oversight of Yale-affiliated research faculty.
- Provide appropriate inputs and support for administrative requirements of the project portfolio, upon request, which may include financial management, budgeting, procurement, contract set-up and compliance, grant reporting, deliverable tracking, etc.

- Contribute to our team's overall management and strategic vision by identifying new research projects and partners and applying for additional sources of funding in partnership with research team.

Basic Qualifications:

- PhD in economics, public policy, political science, statistics, econometrics or related field by mid-2021
- Advanced coursework in empirical methods, including econometrics and economics, with strong demonstrated academic performance
- Solid understanding of research design and experience with data collection and field work
- Proven analytical skills and proficiency in Stata and/or R; experience in Python a plus
- Proven ability to manage multiple tasks and propose timely solutions with minimal supervision
- Excellent attention to detail
- Capacity to maintain an organized and structured work style in a fast-paced environment
- Ability to adapt to quickly to changing environments
- Strong interpersonal skills, and willingness to interact with a wide range of individuals ranging from Research Associates to academics, donors, research institutions, etc.
- Excellent oral and written communication skills in English and Hindi
- Ability to work in a multicultural environment
- Willingness to travel frequently and spend significant time at research project sites, as needed

Preferred Qualifications:

- Ability to independently drive research projects and produce independent, high-quality original empirical research in mutually agreed upon areas
- 3 to 5 years of field research or field research management experience in international development or related field
- Experience with research grant management and project management
- Proven success in fundraising for research studies with clear policy relevance
- Demonstrated interest in public policy and South Asia

This position will be based in Delhi, India, with frequent travel throughout the country when Covid-19 restrictions are lifted. Fellowships are one-year positions with the possibility of extension upon mutual agreement.

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Fung Global Fellows Program

Princeton University is pleased to announce the call for applications to the Fung Global Fellows Program at the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies (PIIRS). The program will select postdoctoral scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. (Note if the Covid-19 pandemic prevents a residency at Princeton, Fellows will remain in their home country and participate in the program remotely.) The number of candidates hired will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The postdoctoral appointment will be for one academic year for scholars who have received a Ph.D. at an institution outside the United States and, who at the time of application, do not have a tenure-track faculty appointment. The candidates must also demonstrate outstanding scholarly achievement and have exhibited unusual intellectual promise.

During the academic year 2022-23, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Sustainable Futures." The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. For more information about the theme of study, please see this link: <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/about/annual-research-topics>.

Applicants must apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21301>. Applications are due by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, post-doctoral applicants must have completed all Ph.D. requirements before 9/1/2022 but cannot have more than two years of postdoctoral experience prior to the start of the appointment, 9/1/2022. If a candidate has turned in a final draft of their dissertation but not yet completed their Ph.D. before the start date, they may be temporarily appointed as a Senior Research Assistant with 10% reduction in salary. Upon providing verification of their Ph.D. degree, they would be promoted in rank and salary. The postdoctoral selection will be made based on the strength of the candidates' proposed research projects, the relationship of their projects to the program theme, the candidates' scholarly records and their ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information on eligibility requirements and the Fung Global Fellows Program see <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/call-applications>. This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. ET):

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (To be submitted by your referees by the November 15, 2021 deadline.)

The program will select early-career scholars from around the world to be in residence at Princeton for an academic year and to engage in research and discussion around a common theme. The number of candidates hired at this rank will depend on the qualifications of the overall applicant pools. The fellowships will be awarded to scholars employed outside the United States who have a faculty appointment, a professional research appointment, or are an established independent scholar. They will also be expected to return to their positions at the conclusion of the fellowship. Lastly, they must have demonstrated outstanding scholarly achievement and unusual intellectual promise. Early-career scholars will be appointed at the rank of Visiting Research Scholar.

During the academic year 2022-23, the Fung Global Fellows Program theme will be "Sustainable Futures." The Fung Global Fellows Program welcomes applicants from all disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields - humanities, social science, natural science, engineering, technology, law, architecture - to examine varied notions and workable practices of sustainability. For more information about the theme of study, please see this link: <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/about/annual-research-topics>.

Applicants must apply online at: <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/21302>. Applications are due by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. EST).

To be eligible, applicants must have received their Ph.D. or equivalent no earlier than September 1, 2012. Fellowships will be awarded on the strength of a candidate's proposed research project, the relationship of the project to the program theme, the candidate's scholarly record and ability to contribute to the intellectual life of the program. For more information see: <http://piirs.princeton.edu/funggf/call-applications>.

The following items must be submitted by the applicant, in English, by November 15, 2021 (11:59 p.m. ET):

- Cover letter (1.5 pages maximum)
- Curriculum Vitae (including publications)
- Research proposal (maximum of 3 pages, single spaced)
- One writing sample (article or book chapter, maximum of 50 pages)
- For those applicants with a current faculty appointment or a professional research appointment, an official letter from the applicant's current employer affirming that, should an offer be made, the applicant would be permitted to accept it and to spend the academic year at Princeton University. If applicant is an established independent scholar, please upload a PDF stating this as applicant's current status.
- The names and email addresses for three referees, who will be contacted automatically by the online application system with an invitation to upload their letter of recommendation to the system by the application deadline. (Please note: all letters of reference should be submitted by your referees before the November 15, 2021 deadline.)

University of British Columbia

Rank: Assistant Professor in International Relations

The Department of Political Science at The University of British Columbia (Vancouver) invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in International Relations. The area of specialization is open. We are particularly interested in candidates who would expand our capacity in international relations teaching and scholarship relating to the global South, especially the Asia-Pacific and/or Africa.

The successful candidate will have a completed Ph.D. in Political Science (or related field) or be able to demonstrate that all Ph.D. requirements are sufficiently close to completion. The successful candidate is expected to have a Ph.D. for the start of the appointment. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2022.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop and maintain an active program of research leading to peer-reviewed publications and the securing of external research funding, and to contribute to the education and training of undergraduate as well as graduate students. We are particularly interested in candidates who will enhance the diversity of our department.

This position is subject to final budgetary approval. While at this time we expect in-person campus interviews to take place, should pandemic conditions change, applicants must be prepared to conduct interviews remotely. Applicants should understand that, if travel or other restrictions apply, a successful applicant may be asked to consider an offer with a deadline without having been able to make an in-person visit to campus. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

To apply, applicants must upload online the following in order at <https://poli.air.arts.ubc.ca/job-application-assistant-professor-in-international-relations-2021/>

- an application letter;
- a curriculum vitae;
- a statement (maximum 2 pages) of teaching philosophy, interests and accomplishments;
- a description of current and future research interests (maximum 2 pages).
- evidence of teaching effectiveness, e.g., summaries of teaching evaluations (official preferred), peer reviews of teaching, sample course material; and
- a 1-page statement about the applicant's experience working with a diverse student body and contributions or potential contributions to creating/advancing a culture of equity and inclusion.
- one electronic sample of research or publication similar in length to a journal article.

In addition, applicants should arrange for three confidential signed letters of recommendation to be sent separately to the Department of Political Science care of Jeff Yupiter, Assistant to the Department Head, at poli.recruitment@ubc.ca. Review of applications begins on September 15, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants are strongly encouraged to apply before this date in order to ensure their application receives full consideration.

Aarhus University

Rank: Assistant Professor in Political Science

Assistant Professor in Political Science

The Department of Political Science at Aarhus BSS, Aarhus University, invites applications for one or more assistant professor positions in Political Science.

The assistant professorship is a full-time fixed-term position for up to four years starting on January 2022 or as soon as possible hereafter subject to mutual agreement.

Job description

The successful applicant is expected to contribute significantly to the department's research and teaching environment and to the overall research strategy of the School.

We are hiring within the fields of one or more of these subjects:

- Public Administration
- Comparative Politics
- Political Behaviour
- International Relations
- Public Policy
- Political Sociology
- Political Theory

The successful applicant is expected to contribute significantly to the department's research and teaching environment and activities. We expect you to teach and supervise students at Bachelor's and Master's level and to carry out individual and group-based research of the highest international standard. We expect active participation in the activities of the department and the relevant sub section.

Your qualifications

To qualify for the position as assistant professor in Political Science you must hold a relevant PhD or have equivalent qualifications within the fields covered by the department. You must have documented teaching experience. The department will prioritize applicants who have demonstrated the ability to perform solid and original research results and whom we believe will contribute to the further development of the department's research and teaching.

Who we are

The Department of Political Science is one of the six departments at Aarhus BSS, one of the five faculties at Aarhus University. Aarhus BSS unites the business and social science-related research fields and brings them closer together to reflect the close relationship between society and the business community. As part of a Top 100 university, Aarhus BSS – and specifically the Department of Political Science – has achieved the distinguished AACSB, AMBA and EQUIS accreditations.

At the Department of Political Science, we emphasise a dynamic and flexible research and teaching profile characterised by pluralism and openness. With around 90

academic staff members and 45 PhD students, we offer a lively and ambitious research and teaching environment.

The research carried out at the department not only covers a variety of political science disciplines, but also represents a variety of methodological approaches. This not only enables us to focus on new problem areas as they appear on the national and international political arenas, but also allows us to contribute actively to the development of the discipline. We also emphasise communicating our research results to the political-administrative system and to the public in general. For more information about the Department of Political Science, please click here.

those obtained after successful completion of a period of employment as an assistant professor, but equivalent academic qualifications may also be accepted, i.e. applicants have typically 3-8 years of teaching and research experience after completion of their PhD.

It is required that non-Danish speakers within a short period (3 years as a maximum) acquire a reasonable knowledge of Danish. If necessary, the department will grant time off from teaching to attend Danish courses during the first two years of employment.

Permanent employment as associate professor at Aarhus BSS requires completion of the supervision course and the course Educational IT – Go Online provided by Centre for Teaching and Learning at Aarhus BSS or equivalent courses. If you have not completed the courses before commencement of employment, continued employment will be conditional on completion of the courses within a five year period.

The required qualifications are elaborated below:

1. Research qualifications

The department is ambitious in terms of research publications. Applicants are expected to have a well-documented international research profile with emphasis on innovative contributions in high standard, peer-reviewed publications:

The applicant must have produced and published a significant body of independent, high-quality research, and must demonstrate progression in the form of research publications that go beyond the PhD dissertation, either thematically, theoretically, methodologically and/or empirically.

Relevant outlets are journals and monographs. Publication in top political science journals or top field journals carries great weight. The same does publication of monographies at internationally recognized publishers.

A qualified applicant has at least three to five articles published or accepted for publication in high standard, international, peer-reviewed journals or fewer articles but also a book published with an internationally recognized publisher.

A significant part must have been produced after finishing the PhD degree.

Emphasis will be put on recent productivity and take into account the number of years at present academic level.

Applicants must demonstrate the capacity to carry out independent research. An applicant is expected to have published sole-authored work and must document –

In terms of evaluating the qualitative aspects of an applicant's research competences, focus is on the publications submitted for assessment.

2. Didactical/pedagogical competences and experiences

Teaching and advising students at different levels is a main activity of an associate professor at the Department of Political Science. The Department is ambitious in terms of our teaching programme at BA, MA and PhD level.

A qualified applicant must have experience from teaching several courses at different levels and on different topics. 6-8 courses are normally a minimum requirement.

All applicants submit a teaching portfolio, where didactical/pedagogical competencies are carefully documented.

3. Qualifications relating to research cooperation and management, and knowledge sharing with the public

Applicants must have some experience in research cooperation and research management. Possible editorial experience from professional journals or edited volumes, and possible experience with planning and running professional conferences, workshops etc. also carries weight as do knowledge sharing with the public or in the form of contributions to textbooks.

4. External funding

Applicants are also encouraged to provide information about their ability to attract external research funding.

Who we are

The Department of Political Science is one of the six departments at Aarhus BSS, one of the five faculties at Aarhus University. Aarhus BSS unites the business and social science-related research fields and brings them closer together to reflect the close relationship between society and the business community. As part of a Top 100

university, Aarhus BSS – and specifically the Department of Political Science – has achieved the distinguished AACSB, AMBA and EQUIS accreditations.

At the Department of Political Science, we emphasise a dynamic and flexible research and teaching profile characterised by pluralism and openness. With around 90

academic staff members and 40 PhD students, we offer a lively and ambitious research and teaching environment.

The research carried out at the department not only covers a variety of political science disciplines, but also represents a variety of methodological approaches.

This not only enables us to focus on new problem areas as they appear on the national and international political arenas, but also allows us to contribute actively to the development of the discipline. We also emphasise communicating our research results to the political-administrative system and to the public in general.

For more information about the Department of Political Science, please see here.

The evaluation process

Shortlisting is applied. This means that an appointment committee (assisted by the chair of the assessment committee) advises the head of department on which applicants are the best overall match for the department's and the faculty's recruitment needs and which possess the qualifications, competencies, experience and potential described above and in the faculty's criteria for evaluating candidates to permanent positions here.

Through the shortlisting process, the head of department selects the applicants who are to receive a thorough assessment of their professional qualifications. The assessment committee will then assess these applicants. All applicants will be notified

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Open

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning in Fall 2022. We seek a candidate who is passionate about teaching undergraduate methods. The department is especially interested in candidates with expertise in global or domestic public policy issues, such as education, health and healthcare, urbanization, or the environment and climate change. Our preferred candidate's research will engage with substantive policy issues with a focus on social and group differences broadly defined (such as race, class, inequality, ethnicity, nationalism and national identities, sexuality, gender, disability, religion, North-South relations, etc.).

The regular teaching load for this position includes two sections of our introductory methods class and periodically a seminar in advanced methods. LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. Please read more about our commitments and our efforts at (<https://resources.lmu.edu/officeofinterculturalaffairs/>).

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<https://pa843.peopleadmin.com/> postings/47474). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. A minimum of three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLJobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLJobs@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 10, 2021 but will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search. A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or related field is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2022 will be considered.

All Souls College, University of Oxford

Rank: Senior Research Fellowship in Political Science (excluding Political Theory)

Salary: £105,693 to £115,487 (and other benefits).

All Souls College invites applications for a Senior Research Fellowship tenable from 1 October 2022 (or date to be agreed) in Political Science.

All Souls is primarily a research institution, with particular strengths in the Humanities, Mathematics, and Social and Theoretical Sciences. A Senior Research Fellowship is of comparable academic standing to a statutory Professorship in the University of Oxford or to a pure-research tenured chair in the U.S. Applicants are expected to have a correspondingly distinguished record of achievement in research. Those elected may, in addition, apply within the University for the title of 'Professor'.

The College, which occupies a prime central Oxford site, has buildings dating largely from the fifteenth and eighteenth century, including an outstanding library. It has about 80 Fellows, some of whom are studying for graduate degrees, and a well-established Visiting Fellows scheme. (There are no undergraduate members.) Senior Research Fellows are members of the Governing Body of the College and expected to play an active role in its governance as well as participating actively in its intellectual life and establishing links with relevant departments in the University for which they may undertake to do some teaching if they wish.

For further particulars and to complete the online application, see the College's website: <https://www.asc.ox.ac.uk/senior-research-fellowships>

Closing date: 12 noon (UK time), Friday, 17 September 2021
 Interviews: Thursday 3 or Friday 4 March 2022

All Souls College particularly welcomes applications from women and black and minority ethnic candidates, who are under-represented in academic posts in Oxford.

Associate or Full Professor

Global Black Studies

Occidental College is inviting applications for a tenured senior faculty position in the newly established Department of Black Studies. This search is part of Occidental's new multi-year initiative to actively support the study of the life, culture, and history of the African diaspora and to support campus-wide efforts on behalf of equity and justice. We are seeking an associate or full professor in the humanities or social sciences who approaches Black Studies from a global perspective. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Africana Studies, African American Studies, African Diaspora Studies, American Studies, English, History, Sociology, Media Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, or a related discipline. We are looking for candidates who either specialize in regions outside the continental United States or take transnational and comparative approaches to the study of Black life and culture. We are especially interested in candidates who study 20th and 21st century Black migrations, cultural practices and productions, political movements, or social justice initiatives. We are seeking a scholar who is grounded in interdisciplinary Black Studies methodologies and able to offer introductory Black Studies courses as well as introductory and advanced upper division Black Studies seminars centered on the modern and contemporary African diaspora. The position will begin in August 2022.

Please submit a (1) cover letter detailing your interest in teaching Black Studies in a liberal arts college environment; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) research statement; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy that includes a discussion of your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for underrepresented students; (5) samples of scholarly work (6) sample syllabi for "Intro to Black Studies" (7) evidence of teaching success; (8) and three confidential letters of recommendation to Patricia Micciche at blackstudiesglobal@oxy.edu. Review of Applications will begin on September 10, 2021.

For a description of Occidental's Black Studies Department and its course offerings, please visit our website at: <https://www.oxy.edu/academics/areas-study/black-studies>

Occidental is a small liberal arts college in the city of Los Angeles, and it is among the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the United States. The normal teaching schedule is the equivalent of five courses per year. Occidental College policies for early career leaves for untenured faculty and sabbaticals for tenured faculty are very generous. The mission of Occidental College is to provide a gifted and diverse group of students with a total educational experience of the highest quality--one that prepares them for leadership in an increasingly complex, interdependent, and pluralistic world. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who will further Occidental's mission of excellence and equity in their teaching, scholarship, and service.

Occidental College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by State or Federal Law. Occidental is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and to fostering an inclusive, equitable, and just environment within which students, staff, administrators and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals advancing the College's strategic equity and justice goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Summer research grants, moving expenses, start-up funds, and a reduced teaching load may be available. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

We will consider for employment all qualified applicants, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact Human Resources (hr@oxy.edu).

Brown University

Rank: Professor of International and Public Affairs (Human Rights)

Watson Human Rights

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University invites applications for a tenured, senior position (associate or full professor) in the field of Human Rights. We are seeking a scholar of human rights whose work may include -- but is not limited to -- topics such as indigenous rights, civil rights for marginalized communities, gender rights and sexual violence, freedom of expression and assembly, rights to asylum from persecution and conflict, rights to due process, labor rights, environmental rights, rights to basic standards of living and healthcare, domestic and international human rights instruments and institutions, peacebuilding, and transitional justice. We are open to scholars working on domestic or international settings. This new faculty position, to begin in July 2022, stems from a broader initiative at the Watson Institute anchored in our burgeoning Center for Human Rights and Humanitarian Studies.

The faculty position will involve a joint appointment between the Watson Institute and a relevant tenure-granting disciplinary department at Brown. Such departments include Africana Studies, Sociology, Anthropology, Political Science, History, and Economics. Across all possible disciplines, we seek a theoretically innovative scholar with demonstrated success in conducting empirical research. We are especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

A successful candidate must have an outstanding record of scholarly achievement, a proven record of successful research funding, and a demonstrated commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising.

All candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter describing research completed and planned, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a short writing sample, and 4) a teaching statement. We ask that in both the cover letter and teaching statement, the candidate describe how their work fosters inclusive learning and diversity.

All candidates should also include the names of five references whom the search committee can contact at an appropriate time. The list of references can be submitted via the "additional documents" field in Interfolio.

Review of applications will begin on December 15, 2021.

Brown University

Rank: Professor of International and Public Affairs (Racialized and Ethnic Conflict/Violence)

Racialized and Ethnic Conflict/Violence

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position in racialized and ethnic conflict/violence to begin in July 2022. We are seeking applicants who research focuses on various aspects of racialized or ethnically-motivated violence, coercion, and conflict. Research of interest includes, but is not limited to, topics such as the origins and growth of white supremacy movements, the proliferation of ethnic supremacy movements globally, the policing of marginalized communities, laws and institutions that aggravate ethnic and racial conflict, ethnic conflict and civil war, and ethnically-motivated genocide.

The faculty position will involve a joint appointment between the Watson Institute and a relevant tenure-granting disciplinary department at Brown. Such departments include History, Africana Studies, Sociology, Anthropology, Political Science, and Economics. Across all possible disciplines, we seek a theoretically innovative scholar with demonstrated success in conducting empirical research. We are especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Candidates at all ranks are welcome. A successful senior candidate must have an outstanding record of scholarly achievement, a proven record of successful research funding, and a demonstrated commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising. A successful junior candidate must be engaged in a research program with the potential to influence their field, and a strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising.

Junior candidates must have completed the PhD by the time of appointment. Review of applications will begin October 15, 2021, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

All candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter describing research completed and planned, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a short writing sample, and 4) a teaching statement. We ask that in both the cover letter and teaching statement, the candidate describe how their work fosters inclusive learning and diversity.

Senior candidates should include the names of five references whom the search committee can contact at an appropriate time. The list of references can be submitted via the "additional documents" field in Interfolio.

Junior candidates should have three letters of reference and their official graduate transcript uploaded to Interfolio at the time of the application. The confidential recommendation letters should be uploaded to Interfolio by the referee.

Michigan State University

Rank: Stephen O. Murray Scholar-in-Residence

James Madison College, the undergraduate residential college with a focus on public and international affairs at Michigan State University, invites applications for the inaugural Stephen O. Murray Scholar-in-Residence. The award is made possible by a generous endowment made by Dr. Keelung Hong in honor of his partner, the scholar Steven O. Murray, who was also a graduate of James Madison College. The Scholar-in-Residence will teach and/or lecture at James Madison College and Michigan State University while also conducting research, using the Stephen O. Murray Archival Collection as well as other collections in the MSU Libraries. Murray Scholars are expected to give lectures and/or a short course and undertake research projects on Lesbian, Bisexual, Gay, Transgender and Queer + (LBGTQ+) issues, which may include a rich variety of inter- and cross-disciplinary topics. In addition, the selected Murray Scholar is expected to be in residence at JMC/MSU for some part of spring 2022 semester, to take part in the intellectual life of the community, and to play an active role in mentoring students.

Duration: The duration of the award will be arranged depending upon the availability and interests of the selected scholar and the needs of the college. The award period could range from a short-term visit of 1-3 weeks to a longer-term visit during the spring 2022 semester.

Qualifications/Eligibility:

a) Applicants should be working in fields related to LBGTQ+ studies, with a history of or interest in pursuing inter- or cross-disciplinary work and using the Stephen O. Murray Collection. The college is particularly interested in scholars whose work takes up issues of intersectionality.

b) International applicants must hold or be eligible for appropriate U.S. visa to be eligible to visit MSU's campus and receive the financial support available for Murray Scholars.

Application and Review Process:

a) Application must include a cover letter detailing their interests and expertise as well as the theme for any lectures or course to be offered, a CV, a research proposal, teaching materials (if appropriate), and names/contact information for three references.

b) Selection committee may choose to interview candidates to evaluate their lecturing/teaching potential.

c) After review of the candidates, the selection committee will submit their recommendations to the Dean who will make the final decision on the selection.

Financial Considerations: Murray Scholars will be awarded an honorarium to be determined based on the seniority of the candidate and the duration of the visit as well as activities to be undertaken. The College will also provide support for travel to/from MSU's campus, on-campus or other available lodging arrangements, and meal and incidental expenses support. Additionally, Murray Scholars may be eligible for research support, including student assistance, course materials and other related expenditures to fulfill the teaching, public presentations, and research responsibilities they have negotiated with the College.

Application materials: Please forward all materials to Katie Dyjach – dyjachk@msu.edu.

Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2021. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through cultural diversity. The university actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans, and persons with disabilities.

Brown University

Rank: Professor of Cybersecurity and International and Public Affairs

Specializations: International Security, Defense, Intelligence

The Watson Institute for International and Public Affairs at Brown University invites applications for a faculty position in “cyber and security” to begin in July 2022. We are seeking applicants whose research focuses on various aspects of the intersection between cyber technologies and human security. Research of interest includes, but is not limited to, topics such as the impact of algorithm-based surveillance on marginalized communities, the strategic manipulation of cyber information for geopolitical gain, the intersection between social media and surveillance, the implications of autonomous weapon systems and drone warfare, and the development of offensive and defensive cyber weaponry.

This faculty position will involve a joint appointment between the Watson Institute and a relevant tenure-granting disciplinary department at Brown. We are seeking applicants who have both proven technical expertise and the ability to engage existing areas of strength in the Watson Institute. We welcome applicants with doctoral degrees from all relevant disciplines, including STEM fields (e.g., Computer Science, Applied Mathematics) and the social sciences (e.g., Sociology, Economics, Political Science, Anthropology, History, Africana Studies). The Watson Institute is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute through their research, teaching, and service to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Candidates at all ranks are welcome. A successful senior candidate must have an outstanding record of scholarly achievement, a proven record of successful research funding, and a demonstrated commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising. A successful junior candidate must be engaged in a research program with the potential to influence their field, and a strong commitment to undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising.

Junior candidates must have completed the PhD by the time of appointment. Review of applications will begin November 22, 2021, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

All candidates should submit: 1) a cover letter describing research completed and planned, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a short writing sample, and 4) a teaching statement. We ask that in both the cover letter and teaching statement, the candidate describe how their work fosters inclusive learning and diversity.

Senior candidates should include the names of five references whom the search committee can contact at an appropriate time. The list of references can be submitted via the “additional documents” field in Interfolio.

Junior candidates should have three letters of reference and their official graduate transcript uploaded to Interfolio at the time of the application. The confidential recommendation letters should be uploaded to Interfolio by the referee.

Princeton University

Rank: Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships

The University Center for Human Values at Princeton University invites applications for Laurance S. Rockefeller Visiting Faculty Fellowships for the academic year 2022-23. Fellows devote an academic year in residence at Princeton to research and writing about topics involving human values in public and private life. This full-time visiting program is open to scholars in all disciplines provided their research plans qualify. In recent years fellows have been drawn from fields including philosophy, political theory, literature, history, classics, economics, and law, but this list is not meant to be exhaustive.

Fellows are expected to reside in or around Princeton, or demonstrate to the program's satisfaction the ability to be on campus on a daily basis and on short notice in order to fulfill responsibilities relating to in-person participation. Fellows are expected to be active contributors to the intellectual life of the Center. This includes participating in a weekly seminar attended by fellows and Center faculty to discuss work in progress and in various other seminars, colloquia and lectures sponsored by the Center. Fellows enjoy access to Firestone Library and to a wide range of activities throughout the University.

Candidates must have a doctorate or equivalent professional degree and a strong record of research publications appropriate to their career stage. Typically Fellows hold faculty positions at other universities or colleges; in exceptional cases we consider applications from independent scholars when there is a high level of scholarly achievement. This is not a postdoctoral fellowship program and we do not generally consider candidates who will have held the Ph.D. for less than two years at the time of appointment.

The fellowship period extends from September 1 to July 1. Fellows normally receive stipends of up to one-half their academic-year salaries (subject to a minimum and maximum set each fall). Ordinarily their home institutions provide a portion of their salaries in addition to all benefits, although this is not a requirement for appointment. Stipends for independent scholars will not exceed the maximum for fellows holding appointments elsewhere.

The main considerations in the evaluation of applications are the following:

- The significance of the proposed research and its relevance to the purposes of the University Center for Human Values (see <http://uchv.princeton.edu/> for more information);
- The quality of a candidate's previous research and the contribution the candidate is likely to make in the future through teaching and writing;
- The likelihood that the research would benefit from being conducted in the University Center environment.

HOW TO APPLY

Candidates must submit an online application at <https://www.princeton.edu/acad-positions/position/20741>.

The following materials will be required:

1. A curriculum vitae;
2. A scholarly paper (of no more than about 12,000 words) written in the past three years;
3. A statement (of no more than 1,500 words) describing the proposed research project and including a brief working title for the project; and
4. Contact information for three referees, including at least one who was not a graduate advisor. Referees will be contacted directly with instructions for uploading letters of reference.

These materials must be submitted online by the application deadline of Monday, November 1, 2021, 11:59 p.m. ET. We do not accept application materials by any other method. The selection committee begins reviewing applications immediately and incomplete applications may be at a disadvantage. Decisions are expected to be announced in March 2022.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

University of Arizona

Rank: Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa

The University of Arizona (UA) located in Tucson, Arizona seeks a qualified applicant for the position of Assistant Professor of Human Rights in the Middle East and North Africa, Tenure-Track. Candidates will be expected to have a PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline. Exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered. The position requires the ability to design and teach undergraduate and graduate courses in Middle Eastern and North African Studies and in Political Science, and the ability to mentor students.

A new assistant professor (tenure-track) position in Human Rights in the Middle East and/or North Africa, broadly defined. We are interested in a broad range of approaches to the study of human rights in the Middle East and/or North Africa with an emphasis on comparative politics or international relations. Of interest are human rights issues related to economic and social rights, gender politics, environmental justice, sustainable development, health, humanitarianism, indigenous rights, and migrants and refugees. The successful candidate will be well qualified to engage in undergraduate and graduate teaching; have an active research agenda, with research in or centrally related to the Middle East and/or North Africa; have potential for externally supported research; and have an interest in participating in outreach activities. The teaching load is typically two courses per semester. Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern language is highly desirable (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish or a related language).

The appointed candidate will hold a joint position in the School of Government and Public Policy (SGPP) and the School of Middle Eastern & North African Studies (MENAS), both in the University of Arizona College of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS). The exact percentage in each unit and tenure home will be determined at the close of the search, as appropriate for the appointed candidate.

About SGPP: The SGPP is one of the largest schools at the University of Arizona and is uniquely situated to serve as a model for public affairs education. SGPP is a multi-disciplinary school with a broad portfolio of innovative programs and degrees at the undergraduate and graduate levels. This includes undergraduate degrees in criminal justice studies, law, political science, and public management and policy. At the graduate level, SGPP offers professional Master of Public Administration and Master of Public Policy programs, as well as the fully online Master of International Security Studies degree. SGPP is also home to a residential Ph.D. program that trains students across the fields of political science, public policy, public administration, and public management.

About Middle Eastern and North African Studies: The UA features an extensive program in Middle Eastern and North African studies. MENAS offers a BA, MA and PhD, a BA in Arabic, and includes an Arabic Flagship program. Also in SBS are the American Institute for Maghrib Studies; Arizona Center for Judaic Studies; Arizona Center for Turkish Studies; and the Center for Middle Eastern Studies, a Title VI US Department of Education-funded National Resource Center. SBS/MENAS faculty are also central to the Graduate College's Roshan Graduate Interdisciplinary Program in Persian and Iranian Studies, which offers both MA and a PhD degrees.

Interdisciplinarity at the UA and the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences: The UA offers a congenial environment for interdisciplinary teaching and research about human rights. Interest in human rights-related issues is informed by the UA's location near the US border with Mexico. SBS offers an online MA and graduate certificate in Human Rights Practice, as well as a fully online BA in Human Rights Practice and three additional graduate certificates in the field. The Global Studies major includes an emphasis area in Human Rights, Migrations, and Social Movements. Of related interest are additional programs in SBS such as the BA in Food Studies; the BA in Philosophy, Politics, Economics and Law in the Department of Political Economy & Moral Science; and the School of Sociology's Care, Health & Society BS major.

Qualified Candidates will possess:

- * PhD in Political Science or a closely related discipline from an accredited institution
 - * Experience teaching courses in both Middle Eastern and/or North African Studies and Political Science
 - * Exceptional ABD applicants nearing completion will also be considered; Ph.D. is required for appointment as Assistant Professor
 - * Teaching experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body
 - * Emerging scholarly reputation
- Preferred Qualifications: Proficiency in at least one Middle Eastern Language (Arabic, Hebrew, Persian, Turkish, or a related language)

*TO APPLY FOR THIS POSITION: All applications must be fully submitted via the UArizona Talent Application system. Direct link: <https://arizona.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/4/home/requisition/4219?c=arizona>

A complete application packet will include five items:

- * a CV;
- * a Cover Letter;
- * the candidate's statement on research agenda (as Additional Document);
- * the candidate's statement on teaching pedagogy that includes details of the candidate's experience using a variety of teaching methods and/or curricular perspectives to respond to the needs of a diverse student body (as Additional Document);
- * and the names, titles, and email addresses of at least three references (as Additional Document).

Questions regarding this position should be directed to Prof. Anne H. Betteridge, Search Committee Chair, The Center for Middle Eastern Studies, The University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ 85721.(anneb@email.arizona.edu)

Please note: Applicants will be required to provide contact information for a minimum of three professional references. Please upload your reference contact list under the "Additional Document" slot within your application. Should you be selected as a finalist for this position, your references may receive an automatic email. This email will ask your references to complete a brief questionnaire in regard to your suitability for the position as well as request the attachment of a letter of recommendation. These letters of recommendation must be uploaded directly via the talent.arizona.edu website by your reference provider. Talent.arizona.edu is not compatible with any "dossier aggregate" system (e.g., Interfolio, Intellimedia).

Stanford University
Rank: post-doctoral fellowship

The Stanford Human Trafficking Data Lab is accepting applications for a post-doctoral fellowship position, open to recent graduates of PhD programs in statistics, bioinformatics, biostatistics, epidemiology, or related data science fields. The position provides opportunities to participate in rigorous, quantitative research on human trafficking, including challenging prediction problems, remote detection research, and primary data collection and analysis. The successful candidate will have strong data science skills, including experience working with large, complex data from varied sources, and Machine Learning methodologies. The underlying data are complex and these projects will require sophisticated data management and integration skills.

The Post-Doc will work in partnership with PIs Grant Miller (School of Medicine), Mike Baiocchi (School of Medicine), Trevor Hastie (Department of Statistics), and other research team members, and will contribute to study design, participate in field research, conduct data analysis, and disseminate findings through academic publications and presentations. The post-doctoral fellow will be expected to focus mainly on existing projects, but may spend up to 20% of their time on independent research. For more on the lab's projects see: <https://healthpolicy.fsi.stanford.edu/news/melding-ai-and-algorithms-health-care-and-policy-combat-human-trafficking>

Applicant Requirements

The ideal candidate will be interested in an academic research career conducting epidemiologic research related to reproductive, maternal, and infant health outcomes. The candidate will have:

- Familiarity with statistical software, (e.g., SAS, R)
- Strong training in quantitative epidemiologic methods (e.g., causal inference methods, Bayesian methods)
- Strong written and interpersonal communication skills
- Highly motivated to make a difference in maternal and perinatal health
- NOTE: Applicants need not have completed their doctoral training prior to applying, although training must be completed prior to the start of the fellowship.

Application Process

- Applications considered on a rolling basis starting immediately. Start date is as soon as July 01, 2021, but ideally no later than September 1, 2021. The position comes with competitive salary and benefits. The initial appointment is for one year, with possible renewal for another year. Our preference is for this to be a two-year commitment. We intend to begin interviewing in the middle of April; all applicants will be notified of updates.

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Rank: ASST/ASSOC/PROFESSOR

The University of Michigan's Department of Political Science and the Nam Center for Korean Studies at the International Institute seek qualified applicants for a 50/50% jointly appointed tenure-track position at the Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor rank with research and teaching interests in Korean politics. Preference will be given to the candidates who will be hired at Associate or Full rank. The successful candidate will be appointed to the Korea Foundation Professor of Korean Studies.

We seek an interdisciplinary scholar whose work sheds light on important political issues in the Korean peninsula and beyond. Korea has gone through dramatic transformations in the last decades: from colonial occupation to divided nation-building compounded by the Cold War; from a poor agrarian society to the fourteenth largest global economy grappling with inequality and environmental issues; from a military dictatorship to an electoral democracy with vibrant social movements; and from the major source of emigrants to one of the most popular immigrant destinations in East Asia. We welcome scholars whose work comparative political understanding of economic development and inequality; democratization and social movements; geopolitics and national security; globalization, immigration, and diasporas; or any other topics that are critical in contemporary Korean politics.

The anticipated starting date for this university-year appointment is August 28, 2022, and the Department of Political Science will be the tenure home.

Information on our research initiatives and scholarly interests of current faculty can be found on the Department's website: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci>, the center website: <https://ii.umich.edu/ncks>, and the International Institute's website: <https://ii.umich.edu/ii>.

All applications must be submitted electronically to: <https://lsa.umich.edu/polisci/faculty-hiring.html>. Applicants should include the following application materials in PDF format: a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a concise statement describing current and future plans for research, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, evidence of teaching excellence (if any), writing samples, graduate transcripts (for entry-level candidates), and a statement of activities contributing to diversity, equity, and inclusion in academia. Entry-level applicants should submit three reference letters. All other applicants should provide names and contact information for three references.

APSA

Rank: Call for Editor(s): Journal of Political Science Education

The American Political Science Association (APSA) invites applications and nominations for editorship of the Journal of Political Science Education (JPSE) to begin a term on August 1, 2022. Since 2017, APSA has been the official sponsor of JPSE, which is made available to the 10,000 members of the association. The journal currently receives approximately 120 submissions per year from all areas of political science education, including scholarship of teaching and learning, political science instruction, teaching, book and resource reviews, and reflections.

JPSE is an intellectually rigorous, peer-reviewed journal that publishes evidence-based and theoretically informed scholarship on teaching and pedagogical issues in political science. It aims to represent a full range of empirical and philosophical questions, issues, and approaches relevant to political science education at the two-year community college, four-year college, university, master's, and PhD levels. This includes research on teaching methods, pedagogical innovations and techniques, classroom activities, educational assessment, and curriculum development. It welcomes work from diverse methodological perspectives, and work that represents levels of analysis ranging from classroom-based studies to inter-institutional and cross-national comparisons. The journal supports research that engages with the broad scholarship of teaching and learning and improves the quality of teaching and learning in the discipline.

Please submit a proposal that includes the following:

1) Cover Letter specifying how you meet the criteria set out in this call.

- 2) Vision and Mission Statement for the journal, including:
- Any planned innovations for the journal.
 - Strategies for anticipating challenges and taking advantage of opportunities.
 - Plan for sustaining the journal over the next 5 years and beyond.
- 3) Outreach Plan to solicit submissions and reviewers, including:
- Plan for soliciting high-quality submissions and reviewers and growing readership in the US and internationally, including any goals for acceptance rates, turnaround time, and how to leverage reviewers and editorial board members.
 - Strategy for ensuring a diverse and inclusive approach to submissions, authorship, methods, subjects, reviewers, and subfield representations.
- 4) Editorial Process and Staff Organization, including:
- A management plan with clearly defined roles and responsibilities for the individual editor or editorial team.
 - Any assistance that APSA and/or other institutions will be asked to provide.
- 5) CVs of Editor-in-Chief and any additional Editorial Team Members

Applications will be evaluated according to the following criteria:

- Compelling vision for the next five years of the journal.
- Demonstrated expertise in teaching and learning, including knowledge and understanding of the body of the scholarship of teaching and learning in political science and international relations.
- Commitment to inclusion and diversity in the discipline.
- A management plan that details a viable and sustainable process for running the journal and submission process.
- Experience with publishing, reviewing, editing and/or other aspects of journal production.

We are open to applications from individuals or teams based at colleges and/or universities in the US and/or internationally. We also welcome applications from those not based at a college or university who might be considering a part-time or full-time staff position at APSA as part of the Editorship. If you have any questions about which role to apply for, please contact Jon Gurstelle, APSA Publishing Director at jgurstelle@apsanet.org.

APSA provides the following support for the editor:

- ScholarOne manuscript submission and peer review system
- Copyediting and electronic production services
- Hosting an editorial board meeting every year at the APSA Annual Meeting or virtually
- Reporting on bibliometrics (citations, downloads, Altmetric, etc.) to inform decision making.

For those applying who are employed as faculty at a college or university: financial support to be used to cover such costs as course buyouts/reassign time, graduate student support, travel expenses and/or honorariums. Please include any financial support provided by your institution.

The editorship is a four-year term beginning on August 1, 2022, with the possibility of a two-year renewal with the approval of the APSA Council. A Search Committee has been formed to help select the editor, who will then be submitted to the Publications Committee for APSA Council approval, and the selected applicant(s) will be contacted shortly thereafter. We welcome applications from all interested parties and nominations of qualified candidates.

Please direct any questions or nominations to Jon Gurstelle, APSA Publishing Director at jgurstelle@apsanet.org or Amanda Rosen, Chair of the Search Committee at amanda.rosen@usnwc.edu. Applications should be submitted to Jon Gurstelle at jgurstelle@apsanet.org. The deadline for applications is September 1, 2021.

Krea University

Rank: Post-Doctoral Research Fellow
Specializations: Economic Policy, India, Political Economy

Who We Are:

Inclusion Economics India at Krea University (formerly EPoD India at IFMR) works in close collaboration with Yale's Economic Growth Center and MacMillan Center. Drawing upon economics, political science, and related fields, we conduct cutting-edge research to understand how policy can promote inclusive, accountable economies and societies. Our core research focuses on gender as it relates to labor economics and broader economic empowerment; political economy and governance; and environmental economics. We also aim to build a culture of evidence and increase data literacy in the public sector, strengthening leaders' ability to identify and implement evidence-informed policies. Throughout the research life cycle, we engage closely with policy counterparts to ensure we address questions of immediate relevance, and we regularly communicate data-driven insights with policy counterparts and the general public.

The Role:

We are currently recruiting one or more Post-Doctoral Research Fellows to support our research in India. Final portfolio allocations will depend on candidates' interest, experience, and skillset; ideal candidates have experience and research in one of our core focus areas listed above. The position will provide the selected candidate(s) an opportunity to gain first-hand experience conducting policy-relevant economics research while contributing to an agreed upon project portfolio.

Responsibilities within the project portfolio include supporting research design and implementation, overseeing data collection and analysis, interacting with stakeholders, and managing research activities and staff. This position requires a self-starting candidate with proven expertise in applied economics research who can effectively navigate India's institutional landscape and appropriately represent our work to outside stakeholders. The position will provide a talented early career researcher the opportunity to work directly with top academics and begin building their own research portfolio.

Responsibilities:

- Manage and supervise technical aspects of assigned research studies in collaboration with the research team.
- Oversee field-based team to manage research study activities, including intervention implementation, and contribute to field-based scoping, survey design, survey testing, data quality monitoring, and more.
- Clean and process incoming or secondary data and conduct econometric analysis under the direction of senior researchers.
- Manage relationships with collaborating institutions, including policy counterparts and funding organizations; work with partner institutions and governments to set priorities and coordinate project administration and logistics.
- Compile, assess and synthesize research into policy briefs, white papers, memos and academic articles with guidance and oversight of Yale-affiliated research faculty.
- Provide appropriate inputs and support for administrative requirements of the project portfolio, upon request, which may include financial management, budgeting, procurement, contract set-up and compliance, grant reporting, deliverable tracking, etc.
- Contribute to our team's overall management and strategic vision by identifying new research projects and partners and applying for additional sources of funding in partnership with research team.

Basic Qualifications:

- PhD in economics, public policy, political science, statistics, econometrics or related field by mid-2021
- Advanced coursework in empirical methods, including econometrics and economics, with strong demonstrated academic performance
- Solid understanding of research design and experience with data collection and field work
- Proven analytical skills and proficiency in Stata and/or R; experience in Python a plus
- Proven ability to manage multiple tasks and propose timely solutions with minimal supervision

- Excellent attention to detail
- Capacity to maintain an organized and structured work style in a fast-paced environment
- Ability to adapt to quickly to changing environments
- Strong interpersonal skills, and willingness to interact with a wide range of individuals ranging from Research Associates to academics, donors, research institutions, etc.
- Excellent oral and written communication skills in English and Hindi
- Ability to work in a multicultural environment
- Willingness to travel frequently and spend significant time at research project sites, as needed

Preferred Qualifications:

- Ability to independently drive research projects and produce independent, high-quality original empirical research in mutually agreed upon areas
- 3 to 5 years of field research or field research management experience in international development or related field
- Experience with research grant management and project management
- Proven success in fundraising for research studies with clear policy relevance
- Demonstrated interest in public policy and South Asia

This position will be based in Delhi, India, with frequent travel throughout the country when Covid-19 restrictions are lifted. Fellowships are one-year positions with the possibility of extension upon mutual agreement.

How to Apply:

If you are interested in this position, please fill out our Screening Questionnaire (<https://forms.gle/XbBeNgprSoRxHpXN7>); you will be asked to upload a single PDF containing your CV, cover letter, writing sample, and academic transcripts. Label your file "Last name, First name – Post-Doctoral Research Fellow".

Occidental College

Rank: Associate or Full Professor Global Black Studies

Associate or Full Professor

Global Black Studies

Occidental College is inviting applications for a tenured senior faculty position in the newly established Department of Black Studies. This search is part of Occidental's new multi-year initiative to actively support the study of the life, culture, and history of the African diaspora and to support campus-wide efforts on behalf of equity and justice. We are seeking an associate or full professor in the humanities or social sciences who approaches Black Studies from a global perspective. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in Africana Studies, African American Studies, African Diaspora Studies, American Studies, English, History, Sociology, Media Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, or a related discipline. We are looking for candidates who either specialize in regions outside the continental United States or take transnational and comparative approaches to the study of Black life and culture. We are especially interested in candidates who study 20th and 21st century Black migrations, cultural practices and productions, political movements, or social justice initiatives. We are seeking a scholar who is grounded in interdisciplinary Black Studies methodologies and able to offer introductory Black Studies courses as well as introductory and advanced upper division Black Studies seminars centered on the modern and contemporary African diaspora. The position will begin in August 2022.

Please submit a (1) cover letter detailing your interest in teaching Black Studies in a liberal arts college environment; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) research statement; (4) a statement of teaching philosophy that includes a discussion of your demonstrated commitment to, past evidence of, and future plans for creating equitable opportunities for learning and mentoring especially for underrepresented students; (5) samples of scholarly work (6) sample syllabi for "Intro to Black Studies" (7) evidence of teaching success; (8) and three confidential letters of recommendation to Patricia Micciche at blackstudiesglobal@oxy.edu. Review of Applications will begin on September 10, 2021.

For a description of Occidental's Black Studies Department and its course offerings, please visit our website at: <https://www.oxy.edu/academics/areas-study/black-studies>

Occidental is a small liberal arts college in the city of Los Angeles, and it is among the most diverse liberal arts colleges in the United States. The normal teaching schedule is the equivalent of five courses per year. Occidental College policies for early career leaves for untenured faculty and sabbaticals for tenured faculty are very generous. The mission of Occidental College is to provide a gifted and diverse group of students with a total educational experience of the highest quality--one that prepares them for leadership in an increasingly complex, interdependent, and pluralistic world. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who will further Occidental's mission of excellence and equity in their teaching, scholarship, and service.

Occidental College is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not unlawfully discriminate against employees or applicants on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, breastfeeding or related medical condition, national origin, ancestry, citizenship, age, marital status, physical disability, mental disability, medical condition, genetic characteristic or information, military and veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by State or Federal Law. Occidental is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of the campus community and the curriculum, and to fostering an inclusive, equitable, and just environment within which students, staff, administrators and faculty thrive. Candidates who can contribute to this goal through their teaching, research, advising, and other activities are encouraged to identify their strengths and experiences in this area. Individuals advancing the College's strategic equity and justice goals and those from groups whose underrepresentation in the American professoriate has been severe and longstanding are particularly encouraged to apply.

Salary is commensurate with experience and qualifications. Summer research grants, moving expenses, start-up funds, and a reduced teaching load may be available. A comprehensive benefits package is available that includes: excellent health, dental, life, and retirement benefits; tuition benefits for the employee, spouse, domestic partner, and dependents; additional extras including use of gym facilities and the College Library. For a detailed description of benefits, please visit <https://www.oxy.edu/offices-services/human-resources/benefits-information>.

We will consider for employment all qualified applicants, including those with criminal histories, in a manner consistent with the requirements of applicable state and local laws, including the City of Los Angeles' Fair Chance Initiative for Hiring Ordinance.

Occidental College is committed to working with and providing reasonable accommodations to applicants with qualifying disabilities. If you need a reasonable accommodation because of a disability for any part of the application or employment process, please contact Human Resources (hr@oxy.edu).

Bucknell University

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science (Political Theory)

Bucknell University's Department of Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position in political theory beginning in the fall semester of 2022. We seek a scholar whose research and teaching centers on feminist political theory. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach a core course in political theory, one or more electives in feminist political thought, and other courses in the candidate's areas of specialization. We are particularly interested in candidates who can contribute courses that bring comparative and nonwestern perspectives on political theory to the curriculum. We expect to hire at the Assistant Professor level but are open to considering outstanding candidates at other ranks.

We seek candidates whose teaching and research will contribute to the department's commitment to both diversity and academic excellence. We welcome candidates who demonstrate excellence in reflective multicultural and inclusive teaching practices and who display a strong commitment to collaboration and interdisciplinarity. Evidence of teaching experience and excellence as well as the promise of being a productive scholar are critically important. The teaching load is five courses over two semesters. By the start date of the position, candidates are expected to have a Ph.D. in political science with a sub-field specialization in political theory.

For additional information and to apply, please go to careers.bucknell.edu. The application should include a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, statement of commitment to diversity, three letters of recommendation, graduate transcripts, sample publications or papers, course evaluations if available, and sample syllabi relevant to this position. Questions about the position should be addressed by email to Professor Doug Hecock at rdh013@bucknell.edu. Applications received by September 27, 2021 will receive full consideration.

About Bucknell

Bucknell University is a private, highly ranked, primarily undergraduate, national liberal arts institution that also offers strong professional programs in engineering, management, education, and music.

Bucknell University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. The university believes that students learn best in a diverse, inclusive community and is therefore committed to academic excellence through diversity in its faculty, staff, and students. Applications from members of groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education are encouraged.

Bucknell is committed to creating a climate that fosters inclusion, growth, and development for a diverse student body, and seeks candidates who are also committed to these goals.

Bucknell is committed to supporting the teacher-scholar model of faculty development. With a student-faculty ratio of about 9:1, small class sizes are a hallmark of the Bucknell educational experience. The university sponsors a range of activities to support the development of its faculty, including a Teaching-Learning Center and generous research support and leave policies.

Bucknell is located in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on the banks of the Susquehanna River. The Lewisburg area offers a combination of outdoor recreation opportunities and small-town amenities. In addition to the cultural and athletic events offered at the University and in town, the region offers strong schools and medical facilities, and an affordable cost of living. Bucknell is about three hours from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C.

Boston University

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory

The Department of Political Science at Boston University seeks to appoint the Maxwell Professor in United States Citizenship at the rank of advanced Associate or full Professor, with tenure, to begin in Fall 2022. Applicants in Political Science, from the subfields of American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy, Public Policy, Political Theory, are encouraged to apply. We wish to recruit an intellectual leader with a distinguished record of scholarship who brings a critical lens on the development and meaning of citizenship.

When George B. Maxwell established this Professorship in September 1918 the First World War was not yet concluded and citizenship was — in both de jure and de facto senses — narrowly defined. Indian Reservations were being consolidated, the Espionage and Sedition Acts of WWI limited free speech, Jim Crow was in force, the 19th Amendment to the US Constitution granting women the right to vote had not been passed, and the purpose and limits of immigration were contested. The Maxwell Professorship supports scholars engaged in fostering an "intelligent understanding and appreciation of the rights, duties, inheritances and possibilities of our citizenship." A Maxwell Chair holder could understand citizenship broadly; for example, in the context of American political development, the tensions between communitarianism and cosmopolitanism, political theories of citizenship, or in comparative perspective. In keeping with George

Maxwell's vision, we seek a scholar who is engaged in both public education and academic discourse.

Boston University offers a rich and vibrant academic community for interdisciplinary research on citizenship; the Maxwell Professorship offers the opportunity to develop connections across disciplines, programs and centers. The candidate will teach both undergraduate and graduate courses. We seek candidates who prioritize inclusive practices in their scholarship, pedagogy, and campus engagement.

Please submit a letter of interest to <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18615>. The application must also include: a curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, a list of references and a statement about your record of inclusion. Completed applications are due on 4 October 2021.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We are a VEVRAA Federal Contractor.

University of California Berkeley

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Cluster Hire in Latinx and Democracy - University of California, Berkeley

The University of California, Berkeley seeks applicants for four tenure track (Assistant Professor) positions and one tenured (Associate or Full Professor) position in the area of "Latinx and Democracy." Successful junior candidates will be invited to join one or more of the following units: College of Letters and Science (Departments of Sociology, Demography, and Political Science), School of Social Welfare, and School of Public Health. The senior, tenured position will be in the Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program in the Department of Ethnic Studies (College of Letters and Science).

The Latinx and Democracy Cluster initiative brings together units in the social sciences and professional schools to address the US-centered Latinx experience within three overarching themes: migration and citizenship, civic and political participation, and social inclusion and wellbeing. These themes speak to central concepts in the imagining and practicing of democracy because at their core they tell us about how the state distribution of political power, through policy and practice, affects a myriad of social issues, from racial inequality to health disparities. Junior candidates for the Sociology, Political Science, Demography, and Public Health positions will be expected to be able to research and teach about the US Latinx experience (i.e. Latinx Politics, Latinx Health, Latinx Communities). Applicants at the non-tenured level should select up to two unit(s) they wish to be considered by. Should applicants at the non-tenured level wish to be considered for a joint appointment with Demography, they should select that as an additional, joint-appointment choice. Senior candidates for the Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program search will be considered at the Associate and Full Professor levels.

Public Health: Berkeley Public Health will recruit an assistant professor focused on examining the impact of public policies on the health of U.S. Latinx populations. Health policy researchers come from diverse social science backgrounds, including public policy, health policy, epidemiology, and health services research, as well as economics, sociology, demography, and political science.

Political Science: The Department of Political Science will recruit an assistant professor with a research focus on the dynamics of Latinx politics in the United States, broadly understood. This could include a focus on political participation and behavior, representation and policy responsiveness, political institutions, and/or changes in political coalitions. Although the U.S. should be a core focus, comparative approaches/perspectives are welcome. In addition to an active research agenda in this field, qualified candidates will be expected to teach courses in Latinx politics.

Social Welfare: The School of Social Welfare seeks an assistant professor committed to multi-level practice in areas such as Latinx civic and political engagement, public policy and institutions, immigration, and the social problems associated with, but not limited to, families and the feminization of poverty. An MSW is preferred and/or community-facing translational scholarly research attuned to professional practice.

Sociology: The Department of Sociology will recruit an assistant professor with a research focus on Latinx immigration and/or Latinx communities in the United States. This could include attention to racialization processes, immigration patterns and Latinx demography, civic and political participation, and Latinx social mobility. While the US Latinx experience should be a main focus, candidates who employ a transnational/transborder lens are also welcome to apply.

Demography: The Department of Demography seeks a dual-appointed assistant professor that will be shared with any of the departments/schools listed above.

Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies: The Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program in the Department of Ethnic Studies seeks a tenured (Associate or Full) professor in the Social Sciences whose dynamic research agenda focuses on the US Latinx experience. This can include a focus on US Latino communities, immigration, political participation, demography, and racialization experiences in any historical or contemporary time period. The scholar should have an established record in Latinx Studies and the Social Sciences, and will be expected to lead the new Latinxs and Democracy Cluster along with affiliated senior faculty. Qualified candidates will have a history of excellent research, teaching, and mentorship and will be expected to teach relevant social science methods courses within the program.

Tulane University

Rank: Professor of Practice in Public Administration

The Tulane School of Professional Advancement (SoPA) offers working adults opportunities to develop and enhance their lives through flexible on-campus and online undergraduate and graduate degree and certificate programs. SoPA has created an innovative new graduate-level program in Public Administration that unites experts from academia and the field. The program is one of the first of its kind to be established in the last three decades and puts local and national contemporary civic sector needs at the forefront. This program also capitalizes on the experience of New Orleans and the Gulf South region in addressing economic, educational, social, and environment-related challenges and opportunities. The program's target audience includes early and mid-career working professionals currently working in government, nonprofits, or the private sector; career changers seeking to transition to positions related to the civic sector; and recent college graduates.

The Public Administration Professor of Practice is responsible for teaching and developing courses in the graduate and certificate programs in fields related to Public Administration. The position is a full time, non-tenure track faculty position; the typical teaching load for this position is eight courses per year. Responsibilities include mentoring and providing academic advisement to current and prospective students in the program. As part of this work, the Public Administration Professor of Practice will collaborate with the school administration and program director to promote the program, cultivate stakeholders from both the public and private sectors, and train, mentor and evaluate adjunct faculty.

Qualifications

REQUIRED EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE:

Masters degree (PhD Preferred) in Public Administration or a related field.

Demonstrated excellence in teaching and course development at the post-secondary level, ideally both online and "on-ground".

Deep expertise in one or more areas of focus for public administration academic programs, including environmental management, economic development, public sector data analytics, public affairs or legal affairs. Minimum 5 years of work experience in government, nonprofit, or other Public Administration-related capacities.

Demonstrated record of civic sector related thought leadership.

Demonstrated commitment to equity, diversity, and community engagement.

REQUIRED KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, ABILITIES/COMPETENCIES TYPICALLY NEEDED TO PERFORM THIS JOB SUCCESSFULLY:

Ability to develop and deliver innovative and rigorous graduate level courses related to public administration.

Ability to provide quality mentoring and academic advisement to diverse students.

Ability to support development and implementation of online courses and programs.

Ability to mentor adjunct faculty.

Ability to develop and maintain relationships with local, statewide, regional and national stakeholders, leading to student and adjunct faculty recruitment, internship and job opportunities for students and graduates, feedback on programs and curriculum, and prospective grants and donations.

Excellent written and communication skills.

Ability to work well with individuals of various ages and background.

PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS:

Experience with learning management systems, Canvas preferred.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS:

Candidates must apply in Interfolio (<https://apply.interfolio.com/86236>) and provide an updated CV and cover letter. Additional materials for submission may include sample syllabi of courses taught, teaching evaluations from courses taught, and letters of recommendation. Additional documents may be requested at a later date. Expected start date for this position is the beginning of the Fall 2021 semester but is negotiable.

For more information about the position, please contact the Public Administration Professor of Practice and Program Director, Dr. Halima Leak Francis, at halima@tulane.edu.

Ultimate recruitment for this position is subject to final budgetary approval by the University.

Department Description:

The Department of Political Science and International Relations is committed to the liberal arts tradition of intellectual curiosity, academic rigor, and a pluralistic and diverse curriculum. We provide students with a solid understanding of the theories, practices and institutions of politics, but also with an appreciation of how to create a more just and humane world. Our courses cover every corner of the globe and prepare students to be keen political observers and actors. To supplement coursework, we also provide internship, community service learning, and study abroad opportunities that encourage learning outside of the classroom. The department houses two separate majors. The Political Science major focuses attention on the shared and contending ideas, values, institutions and processes of public life. Courses range from the specific study of politics in one country or of a single institution or political process (the judiciary, Congress, the presidency or elections), to more general offerings such as courses on political theory, political development, revolution, race and ethnicity, environmental politics, research methods, human rights, and constitutional law. The International Relations major is an interdisciplinary field of study designed for students who seek a holistic understanding of international affairs. The curriculum is rooted in political science and provides students with a strong background in international relations, comparative politics, and international political economy. The department also offers a Masters of International Relations (MAIR) degree.

Detailed Position Description: The Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of San Diego invites applications for a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level with expertise in public law.

Through their research and teaching, successful candidates will be expected to increase our students' ability to examine and interrogate the roles played by the Constitution, the laws, and the judicial system in the United States. The department expects that courses offered will address the relationships between the law, politics, and structural inequity, and will include Constitutional Law (POLS 321, 322). The successful candidate will also contribute courses in other core areas of departmental curricular need. Candidates should describe their teaching interests in their cover letter.

Successful candidates should also describe how their research and/or teaching connects to one or more of the following three diversity cluster themes in the College of Arts and Sciences. (Link to Horizons Project cluster hire here: <https://www.sandiego.edu/horizon-project/>). These clusters will include new faculty from multiple academic disciplines who have research and/or teaching interests in one of the following substantive themes: Borders and Social Justice, Technology and the Human Experience, and Climate Change and Environmental Justice. These themes might intersect with political science and public law in any of the following ways:

? Borders & Social Justice. Social, political, and legal borders are erected and reinforced through private and state action in the effort to define and refine membership in social and political communities. These borders may be well articulated on maps (i.e. state, national and district boundaries) or through lived experience (e.g. Anzaldua's La Frontera or DuBois' "problem of the color line"). There is no shortage of constitutional, ethical, or theoretical questions related to the study of borders, including but not limited to: immigration law (especially in its racial intents and impacts), political gerrymandering, tribal sovereignty, theories of nationalism, and international border conflicts (as matters of both domestic & international law). Candidates with any related interests are strongly encouraged to apply.

? Technology & the Human Experience. Political scientists have always been at the forefront of addressing questions concerning technology. From the Confucian engagement with emergent modes of craftsmanship in the Warring States period, to Marxist analyses of 19th Century industrialization, to contemporary critical race analyses of structural biases in artificial intelligence, an expansive liberal arts approach to technology is essential to learn how moral and theoretical frameworks from the distant past may help us contend with the effects of technology. Developments in AI and other forms of post industrial technology present unique challenges to our understanding of democratic values and accountability, civil liberties, police practices, racial equity and criminal justice, and the use of power and authoritarian regimes. Candidates with interests in any of these areas or others that might be related to the theme are highly encouraged to apply.

? Climate Change & Environmental Justice. Countries, states, and cities are developing new legal and regulatory regimes to mitigate and adapt to climate change. These legal regimes will intersect, for good or ill, the disproportionate consequences that climate change will have for BIPOC communities in the United States and vulnerable populations around the world. Many research questions and potential courses relate to the intersection of climate change, environmental racism, individual & collective responsibility, and constitutional law. Candidates with any interests related to the law, climate change and environmental justice are strongly encouraged to apply.

Candidates must be committed to excellent, inclusive teaching and student advising. Candidates must also be committed to pursuing a scholarly agenda and will be expected to engage actively in service at the departmental, college, and/or university levels after the first year. The College of Arts and Sciences expects faculty to teach three courses per semester.

Job Requirements:

Background check: Successful completion of a pre-employment background check.

Advanced Degree : Applicants should hold a terminal degree, preferably a Ph.D. in Political Science. ABD candidates will be considered on a case-by-case basis, with the expectation of having a completed Ph.D. degree by September 2022.

Degree Verification Requirement: Persons offered employment in this position will be required to provide official education transcripts for degree verification purposes.

Posting Salary: Commensurate with experience; Excellent Benefits. The University of San Diego offers a very competitive benefits package, to include medical, dental, vision, a 6% retirement contribution by the University, tuition remission (with three year vesting period), and access to on-campus Fitness Centers. Please visit the benefits section of our website to view all of the perks and benefits that USD has to offer.

Special Application Instructions:

Candidates are encouraged to submit a cover letter and cv at their earliest convenience, but no later than August 23, 2021. Cover letters should explain how the candidate fits the job description of this position as described above. Candidates will be notified of the department's interest on a rolling basis and no later than September 10.

We will invite candidates in which the department is interested to submit (by Sept. 20) further materials including a writing sample, a statement of research interests, a summary of teaching evaluations and evidence of teaching excellence including a sample syllabus, a statement of teaching philosophy, contact information for three references who will be sent a link to upload letters, graduate transcripts (unofficial transcripts are ok), and a diversity statement, in which you address A) your values with respect to diversity, equity, and inclusion; B) your experience working with minoritized populations and/or on issues that disproportionately affect diverse populations, and C) your plans related to diversity and inclusion in your teaching and research. Search committee will begin review of full packets of submitted materials on September 20. No new materials will be considered after October 1. Questions should be directed to Search Committee Chair, Dr. Casey Dominguez, caseydominguez@sandiego.edu.

University of Massachusetts Amherst

Rank: Assistant Professor of Legal Studies/Political Science

To apply please visit: <https://careers.umass.edu/amherst/en-us/job/509281/assistant-professor-of-legal-studiespolitical-science>

Job Description

The interdisciplinary Legal Studies Program in the Department of Political Science at the University of Massachusetts Amherst invites applications for a tenure track faculty position expected to start on September 1, 2022. We are seeking talented applicants qualified for an assistant professor position. Under exceptional circumstances, highly qualified candidates at other ranks may receive consideration. We welcome applications from scholars studying law and inequality. Substantive areas could include access to justice; bias in the administration of justice; human and civil rights; social inequality and discrimination; crime and criminal justice; gender, race, and the law; the impact of terrorism; environmental and technological injustices; law and social movements; disparities in the labor force; and other interdisciplinary areas of study. We encourage applications from scholars studying American, comparative, and/or international law and inequality topics.

Requirements

The successful candidate should exhibit significant promise in scholarly publishing, a commitment to teaching excellence, and the ability to contribute to the intellectual growth of the Legal Studies Program. The capacity to secure extramural funding will be looked upon favorably.

Applicants must have earned a PhD in Political Science, Sociology, Criminology, Anthropology, or a closely related social science discipline by the starting date of the appointment.

Additional Information

Legal Studies at UMass is the oldest undergraduate liberal arts program for the study of law and society in the country, and the only one in New England at a public university. The Program is housed in the Department of Political Science and maintains its own undergraduate major. The expanding Legal Studies Program is a center for ambitious intellectual activity and research that addresses important questions about the place of law in societies around the world while helping to produce the next generation of law and society scholars. The Program also hosts the Center for Justice, Law, and Societies at UMass Amherst, a new institute dedicated to building a collaborative, interdisciplinary space for public-facing law and society research. The Department of Political Science is committed to teaching and research that crosses traditional disciplinary and sub-field boundaries and engages a broad range of methodological approaches.

Applicant Instructions

Applicants should submit the following materials:

1. A letter of interest addressed to Professor Lauren McCarthy, Search Committee Chair, Thompson Hall, 200 Hicks Way, Amherst, MA 01003 USA
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Up to three samples of written work
4. Evidence of quality teaching (such as summaries of teaching evaluations and/or a teaching statement)
5. Names and contact information for three references who are willing to submit letters upon request, through the UMass online applications system.

In addition to the materials noted above, applicants should also submit a one-page diversity statement that discusses the candidate's skills, experiences and commitment to: teaching and mentoring diverse and historically underrepresented student populations, professional service that assists in achieving equity, inclusion, and diversity, and how the candidate's past or future research addresses fundamental questions important to an increasingly diverse and global society.

Applicants are required to apply online, unless unable to do so because of lack of computer access or disability. Inquiries about the position can be addressed to Professor Lauren McCarthy, the Search Committee Chair, at mccarthy@legal.umass.edu.

Review of applications begins on September 15, 2021 and will continue until the position is filled.

About the politics program at Marymount:

Marymount's Politics program is part of the Marymount University School of Humanities, housed in the College of Sciences and Humanities. Faculty are expected to teach high-quality student-centric undergraduate courses in face-to-face settings. The College of Sciences and Humanities is located on Marymount University's Main Campus.

Marymount University welcomes and values all members of our community. Guided by the mission of our founders, the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary (RSHM), to achieve unity through diversity, Marymount honors our diversity as a source of strength. Our differences inspire intellectual curiosity and collectively allow us to tackle the challenges of the world. We seek to foster an inclusive community in which each person's race, ethnicity, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, veteran status, age, ability, class, national origin, and immigration status are fully respected and celebrated. According to the vision of the RSHM that "ALL may have life, and have it to the FULL," we strive to create an atmosphere of mutual respect, cooperation, and civility where all community members are S.A.I.N.T.S—Safe, Accepted, Included, Needed, Treasured, and Seen.

Major duties and responsibilities

- Support and integrate the mission and core values of Marymount University and Academic Affairs, including our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.
- Teach a 3/3 course load each year.
- Maintain a successful record of quality, peer reviewed scholarship.
- Maintain office hours at times which provide appropriate access to students.

Other duties

- Assume professional responsibilities as requested by the Dean of the College and/or School Director.
- Engage in on-going professional development which will include scholarship activities such as research, presentations, and participation with professional organizations.
- Contribute to the University, College of Sciences and Humanities, and School of Humanities functions and services, including assessments, and continuous improvement activities.

Job requirements

DePaul University

Rank: Instructor

The Department of Political Science at DePaul University invites applications for a full time, non-tenure-track position with primary expertise in the fields of American Politics and Public Law. Responsibilities will include teaching courses on American Institutions (the Presidency and Congress) and areas of Constitutional law and the judicial process. The successful candidate will teach a variety of upper-division courses in these and related areas of specialization and also teach introductory American Government and Political Science courses. In addition, the position will have administrative responsibilities overseeing the Department's internship program. The position will begin in the Fall Quarter of 2021.

Required Qualifications:

A Ph.D. is preferred at the time of appointment, but ABD candidates will be considered. A Juris Doctorate degree will not be considered sufficient. Experience working with students outside of the classroom, or in Washington DC, will be given preference, as will an ability to teach research methods. Candidates should electronically submit the following: (1) a letter of application (cover letter), (2) a CV, (3) an unofficial transcript of the last degree (earned or in progress), (4) syllabi and (5) complete course evaluations if available. This material should be submitted via DePaul's Faculty Opportunities website at <https://academics.depaul.edu/faculty-jobs/Pages/default.aspx>. Finalists will also be asked to submit three letters of recommendation.

The screening of applications will begin April 9, 2021 and continue until the position is filled.

About DePaul

With a total enrollment over 22,000 students, DePaul is one of the largest private non-profit universities in the nation. Yet the class size in its academic programs typically does not exceed 40 students, reflecting the value the university places on teaching excellence. Our programs provide high quality, personalized, accessible education to a diverse student body, grounded in the values of St. Vincent de Paul. Our teaching and research advance knowledge and service to society.

DePaul seeks applicants who reflect the diversity of its student body and the city of Chicago. Those with experience working with diverse faculty, staff, and students, and who can contribute to an inclusive climate are encouraged to apply. We urge candidates to provide examples of their successes in these areas. Women, members of historically underrepresented groups, and persons with disabilities are particularly encouraged to apply.

Virginia Tech

Rank: Associate or Full Professor of Public Administration and Policy

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, Administration

Virginia Tech seeks a qualified, broadly trained individual to fill this faculty position in the areas of public management and public organizations at the associate or full level within the Center for Public Administration and Policy (CPAP) at the main campus in Blacksburg, VA, to begin in August 2022. Teaching responsibilities will include both introductory courses and advanced seminars in CPAP's MPA and PhD degree programs. The successful candidate is expected to take on a leadership role in support of CPAP programs.

CPAP is housed within the School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA). It is one unit with one faculty in three locations; courses may include students from Arlington or Richmond in addition to Blacksburg. Courses are taught in-person and using videoconferencing technology. Travel between program locations may sometimes also be involved. CPAP faculty enjoy opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching and research in collaboration with other SPIA programs and with a wide array of centers and faculty in science, technology, and the humanities across Virginia Tech.

Required Qualifications:

Applicants must hold an earned PhD in public administration, political science, public policy, public management, or a related discipline by appointment start date.

The candidate must demonstrate a commitment to building a strong research agenda and publication record, as well as playing a leadership role commensurate with experience.

Preferred Qualifications:

Graduate-level teaching and mentoring experience and an established publication record are preferred.

Demonstrated commitment to community outreach and engagement, as is expected of faculty at a land-grant institution, is a plus.

A deep commitment to diversity and inclusion demonstrated through pedagogy, research, and/or public engagement is also a plus.

University of Alaska Anchorage

Rank: Director, Institute of Social and Economic Research (Alaska)

Specializations: Economic Policy, Education Policy, Public Finance & Budgeting

The Institute of Social and Economic Research (ISER) in the College of Business and Public Policy at the University of Alaska Anchorage is seeking applications for the position of Director. For 60 years, ISER has been producing research that helps people understand social and economic systems and supports informed public and private decision-making. The institute has a strong, multi-disciplinary group of faculty and research professionals, and is regularly called upon by state and federal legislators and policymakers to examine legislative and regulatory issues. In Alaska and around the circumpolar North, ISER is known for high-quality policy-oriented research in economic development, natural resource management, health, education and fiscal policy. ISER researchers are also fully engaged in Arctic policy research related to climate change and environment, energy, and rural sustainable development.

The ISER Director will coordinate research activities both within the institute and with other institutions and agencies, and will supervise a multi-disciplinary team consisting of 30 people, including faculty, administrative and research staff, and student researchers. The successful candidate's current research agenda should add to or complement ISER's focal research areas. In the director role, the institute expects the ISER Director to be recognized on and off campus as knowledgeable about Alaska public policy issues. A related expectation is the director facilitating ISER's involvement in UAA's new Master of Public Policy program. Most importantly, the director will work with institute researchers and staff to shape ISER's future research agenda in the context of the rapid social, economic, and environmental change Alaska is currently experiencing.

The following qualifications are required:

- Ph.D. or terminal degree in a discipline that is relevant to ISER's mission.
- Familiarity with policy oriented, applied research.
- Record of high-quality research and publications relevant to ISER's research foci.
- Ability to generate externally funded opportunities for the institute relevant to its mission.
- Excellent communication and organizational skills.
- Ability to generate support for and awareness of ISER across the University of Alaska, and with external agencies and constituencies.
- Demonstrated leadership and mentoring skills.
- Commitment to a shared governance approach.

The following qualifications are preferred:

- Experience leading research teams.
- Understanding of Alaska's economy, culturally diverse society, and current policy context.
- Familiarity with research developments and opportunities in Alaska, the Arctic, or in similar regions.

ISER sits within the University of Alaska Anchorage's accredited College of Business and Public Policy at University of Alaska Anchorage. As a part of the University of Alaska system, UAA is a comprehensive, accredited public institution with over 14,000 students that offers graduate, baccalaureate, and associate degrees through its main campus in Anchorage and community campuses throughout Alaska. Anchorage is a diverse, thriving, modern city of nearly 300,000 residents where over 100 languages are spoken. The community offers outstanding outdoor recreation opportunities and excellent social and cultural amenities. For more information about Anchorage, consult: <https://www.anchorage.net>.

Applicants should submit a one page cover letter explaining their interest and qualifications for the position, a maximum five page, current curriculum vita or resume, and the names, titles and contact information for three references no later than Friday, September 24, 2021.

Learn more and apply at UA Careers: <https://careers.alaska.edu/en-us/job/517449/iser-director>.

Questions regarding the position should be directed to the chair of the search committee: Dr. Marie Lowe, [mlowe@alaska.edu](mailto:m Lowe@alaska.edu).

Application review will begin September 27, 2021.

Hertie School – the University of Governance in Berlin

Rank: Assistant Professor of International Relations (f/m/div)

Subfield(s): International Relations, Public Policy, Comparative Politics

The Hertie School is recruiting a tenure-track Assistant Professor of International Relations. We are looking for a scholar with demonstrated expertise in international institutions, cooperation and global governance, exploring key global challenges and regimes, such as global norms, human rights, migration, peace or trade. Experience in a range of research methods and approaches, in particular multi-method approaches, is a plus. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching IR courses in the School's Master of International Affairs program, in particular the core course on Global Politics.

Applicants for this position must have a doctoral degree in political science or international relations (or expect to have this degree by the start of employment). We are interested in early career scholars in particular. The successful candidate will be appointed as Assistant Professor with a six-year clock (two three-year contracts) with the possibility of tenure. The expected start date is August 1, 2022.

The Hertie School seeks faculty with demonstrated capacity for research at the highest levels in their discipline. We recruit faculty who will create a climate that embraces excellence and diversity with a strong commitment to high-quality graduate teaching and innovative research of interest to the international scholarly community and policy-makers.

Candidates are expected to work well in an interdisciplinary, international environment with English as the language of instruction and operation. The successful candidate will teach courses in the School's Master, Executive, and PhD programmes. As a professional school of public policy, the Hertie School's degree programmes are exclusively at the master's and doctoral levels.

As a private non-profit graduate school of public policy, endowed and supported by the Hertie Foundation, the Hertie School offers an internationally competitive salary as well as a paid sabbatical after every five semesters. We provide excellent working conditions with outstanding financial and administrative support for research. The Hertie School is fully embedded in Berlin's vibrant research landscape and has close ties to the top institutions of the European and international teaching and research community.

The Hertie School is a diverse, international and lively community located in the heart of Berlin. We welcome all applications – irrespective of gender, nationality, ethnic or social origin, religion, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The Hertie School expressly encourages women and/or persons from ethnic groups underrepresented in German Academia to apply. Equally qualified applicants with disabilities will be given preference. The Hertie School takes a family friendly workplace seriously. Under German law, there is standard paid leave for parents after the birth or adoption of a child.

The deadline for the submission of applications is 15 September 2021. The Hertie School will review applications that include a letter of motivation, a current curriculum vitae (publication list, degrees earned, if applicable: positions held, teaching experience, research projects, awards received), two writing samples and, if applicable, teaching evaluations. Three letters of recommendation from professors familiar with the applicant's work should be provided.

For information about the Hertie School visit www.hertie-school.org. Please read our Privacy Policy at www.hertie-school.org/en/privacy-policy.

To apply, please go to: <https://apply.interfolio.com/89257>.

For questions about the position, please contact Professor Anita Gohdes, Professor of International and Cyber Security at the Hertie School (gohdes@hertie-school.org).

Strict confidentiality in the application process is assured. The Hertie School is an equal opportunity employer.

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor - Cluster Hire in Latinx and Democracy - University of California, Berkeley

The University of California, Berkeley seeks applicants for four tenure track (Assistant Professor) positions and one tenured (Associate or Full Professor) position in the area of "Latinx and Democracy." Successful junior candidates will be invited to join one or more of the following units: College of Letters and Science (Departments of Sociology, Demography, and Political Science), School of Social Welfare, and School of Public Health. The senior, tenured position will be in the Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program in the Department of Ethnic Studies (College of Letters and Science).

The Latinx and Democracy Cluster initiative brings together units in the social sciences and professional schools to address the US-centered Latinx experience within three overarching themes: migration and citizenship, civic and political participation, and social inclusion and wellbeing. These themes speak to central concepts in the imagining and practicing of democracy because at their core they tell us about how the state distribution of political power, through policy and practice, affects a myriad of social issues, from racial inequality to health disparities. Junior candidates for the Sociology, Political Science, Demography, and Public Health positions will be expected to be able to research and teach about the US Latinx experience (i.e. Latinx Politics, Latinx Health, Latinx Communities). Applicants at the non-tenured level should select up to two unit(s) they wish to be considered by. Should applicants at the non-tenured level wish to be considered for a joint appointment with Demography, they should select that as an additional, joint-appointment choice. Senior candidates for the Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program search will be considered at the Associate and Full Professor levels.

Public Health: Berkeley Public Health will recruit an assistant professor focused on examining the impact of public policies on the health of U.S. Latinx populations. Health policy researchers come from diverse social science backgrounds, including public policy, health policy, epidemiology, and health services research, as well as economics, sociology, demography, and political science.

Political Science: The Department of Political Science will recruit an assistant professor with a research focus on the dynamics of Latinx politics in the United States, broadly understood. This could include a focus on political participation and behavior, representation and policy responsiveness, political institutions, and/or changes in political coalitions. Although the U.S. should be a core focus, comparative approaches/perspectives are welcome. In addition to an active research agenda in this field, qualified candidates will be expected to teach courses in Latinx politics.

Social Welfare: The School of Social Welfare seeks an assistant professor committed to multi-level practice in areas such as Latinx civic and political engagement, public policy and institutions, immigration, and the social problems associated with, but not limited to, families and the feminization of poverty. An MSW is preferred and/or community-facing translational scholarly research attuned to professional practice.

Sociology: The Department of Sociology will recruit an assistant professor with a research focus on Latinx immigration and/or Latinx communities in the United States. This could include attention to racialization processes, immigration patterns and Latinx demography, civic and political participation, and Latinx social mobility. While the US Latinx experience should be a main focus, candidates who employ a transnational/transborder lens are also welcome to apply.

Demography: The Department of Demography seeks a dual-appointed assistant professor that will be shared with any of the departments/schools listed above.

Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies: The Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Program in the Department of Ethnic Studies seeks a tenured (Associate or Full) professor in the Social Sciences whose dynamic research agenda focuses on the US Latinx experience. This can include a focus on US Latino communities, immigration, political participation, demography, and racialization experiences in any historical or contemporary time period. The scholar should have an established record in Latinx Studies and the Social Sciences, and will be expected to lead the new Latinxs and Democracy Cluster along with affiliated senior faculty. Qualified candidates will have a history of excellent research, teaching, and mentorship and will be expected to teach relevant social science methods courses within the program.

Rank: 2-Year Post Doc at Freie University Berlin

Subfield(s): Comparative Politics, Public Policy, Other

One 2-year Post Doc (100%) to be filled on the topic of:

- Digital technology, local governance and smart cities
- Governance modes, sector variation and digitalizing decision-making in authoritarian context
- Regional focus: China

Key words:

Big Data, digitalization, local governance, decision-making, state-business relations, China, political economy

Starting Date:

October 1st 2021

Project Description:

The Post Doc will join the ERC-funded project “Governing with Data: Local Experimentation in Authoritarian China” led by Prof. Genia Kostka (Freie University Berlin). The position provides an opportunity for both independent and collaborative research within an ambitious project while working in a small research team in Berlin.

This research project aims to provide empirical and conceptual understanding of digitalising governance practices in authoritarian China. Through mixed-method, the project will achieve three objectives:

1. Study the variation in local digital governance modes and understand why these modes evolved in different ways.
2. Explore the mechanisms through which digital technologies are integrated into local decision making processes and governance structures.
3. Assess the impacts of new digital governance modes for citizens, businesses and the state.

Job Description:

Responsibilities for the Post Doc position include conducting empirical research for the ERC research project, working on joint research publications, ERC grant management, and organizing activities at the FU China Studies Institute such as workshops or events.

Salary:

The salary will be paid at an E 13 TV-L level as defined by German public sector regulations.

Minimum Requirements:

- (1) Completed doctorate by the time of appointment.
- (2) Field open to any social-science discipline, e.g. political science, economics, Chinese studies or sociology.
- (3) Empirical research focus on China.
- (4) Fluency in Chinese and English. German is not a must.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Experience or strong interest in qualitative and/or quantitative research methods.
- Research focus on digitalization/AI and political economy issues in China is a plus.
- The successful candidate must be willing to be based in Berlin

Project lead:

Prof. Dr. Genia Kostka, Institute of Chinese Studies, Free University Berlin, Fabeckstr. 23-25, 14195 Berlin. Website.

Application:

Applications quoting the reference code ERC_PostDoc_Kostka should include a brief cover letter summarizing the applicant’s qualifications for the position, a current CV, and names of two references. Applications will be considered after the submission deadline. All materials, including a private postal and e-mail address must be received no later than August 9th, 2021 at the chinastudien@geschkult.fu-berlin.de (preferably as one pdf file) or at the Institute of Chinese Studies, Freie Universität Berlin, Fabeckstr. 23-25, D-14195 Berlin.

Connecticut College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Government and International Relations

Constitutional Law and Public Policy

The Department of Government and International Relations at Connecticut College invites applicants for a tenure-track position as an Assistant Professor in the U.S. politics subfield, whose focus is on constitutional law and public policy, and who can teach a range of courses in both fields. In addition to an introductory U.S. politics course, the successful candidate must be able to teach a two-course sequence in constitutional law, including both an institutions course (e.g. separation of powers, check and balances) and a course on civil rights and civil liberties. The successful candidate’s research and teaching focus will also include public-policy making. The new hire should be able to teach an introductory public policy course, along with upper-division courses in the particular policy area in which the candidate specializes. These policy courses could, for example, focus on health, immigration, anti-poverty initiatives, education, or criminal-justice reform.

Required: ABD in Political Science. Candidates must have the Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment to be hired as an Assistant Professor; a candidate may be hired as an Instructor if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but is required to complete the Ph.D. within one year of hire.

Salary is competitive. In addition to providing ongoing support for teaching and research, the College offers the following resources for pre-tenured faculty: a 2-2 teaching load in the first year, a research fund in the first two years, and a semester’s sabbatical (at full salary) after a successful third-year review.

The College’s Board of Trustees, President, administration, faculty and staff share a commitment to diversity. To this end, the College, located in New London, CT is continuing what has been a very successful initiative to diversify its faculty, staff, and student body. We encourage applications from candidates who share this understanding and will contribute to the diversity of our college community, including members of historically underrepresented groups. The College is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Please visit our website, <http://www.conncoll.edu> ; for more information about the College and our faculty searches.

Offering two popular majors (a government major and an interdisciplinary international relations major), Government and International Relations is a collegial department with 11 full-time faculty members. There are also opportunities for collaboration with interdisciplinary programs on campus. Moreover, the College's general education program, Connections, provides ample opportunity for collaborative and interdisciplinary teaching. For an overview of this innovative curriculum, please visit http://www.conncoll.edu/connections/

Applicants should upload a letter of application, a C.V., teaching evaluations, a writing sample, graduate transcripts, and at least three letters of recommendation to <http://apply.interfolio.com/89957> . Email inquiries should be sent to Tristan Anne Borer, Chair of the Department of Government and International Relations, at tabor@conncoll.edu. Applications received by October 8th will receive full consideration.

Tulane University

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, African American Politics, American Politics

The Department of Political Science and the Africana Studies Program at Tulane University invite applications for a tenure-line faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor with a research and teaching focus on Race, Ethnicity, and Politics in the United States. The successful candidate's research should focus on people of African descent and may fall within any of the subfields of U.S. politics, including American political thought and American political development. We are especially interested in candidates whose research interests are related to U.S. public policy and governance. Other areas of research might include protest, social movements, representation, inequality, structural racism, or identity. We welcome applicants from any theoretical or methodological tradition. Appointment would begin July 1, 2022.

The successful candidate will have a tenure home in the Political Science department with a joint appointment in the Africana Studies Program with teaching and service shared equally between the two units. Most courses will be cross-listed between the two units. The Political Science department, which features a dynamic Ph.D. program, specializes in the study of political development and public policy and has strong affiliations with other interdisciplinary programs such as Gender & Sexuality Studies, Environmental Studies, U.S. Public Policy, Social Policy & Practice, and Political Economy. Political Science has recently completed an external review, which has led it to identify a strategic focus on the politics of inequality and development and has been authorized to conduct three new tenure-line faculty searches this year.

Tulane's vibrant Africana Studies Program is comprised of both joint and affiliate faculty drawn from across Tulane's academic programs and departments and centers the interdisciplinary and global study of Africa and its diasporas. This is an exciting time for growth in Africana Studies, which added two new tenure-track joint appointments last year, and the School of Liberal Arts has stated a commitment to building the program with more joint faculty positions. Additionally, the School of Liberal Arts has robust support for faculty research and programming across the disciplines. The teaching load is 2-2 and the successful candidate will be expected to teach courses in Political Science and Africana Studies at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Review of applications will begin on September 1. To be considered, applications must be submitted by September 8. Required materials include a letter of interest describing qualifications and interest, current CV, writing samples, and three letters of recommendation. The PhD is required at the time of appointment. For additional information, applicants can contact J. Celeste Lay, Chair of the search committee (jlay@tulane.edu).

Waseda University

Rank: Tenure-track position in Public Policy

Full information of the recruitment of this position is available at the following website.

<https://www.waseda.jp/fpse/pse/news-en/2021/06/25/13324/>

Waseda University, founded in 1882, is a leading private research university located in central Tokyo. As part of the University's globalization initiative, the Faculty of Political Science and Economics (FPSE) has offered English-based degree programs at both the undergraduate and graduate levels since 2010. The programs offer diverse and dynamic academic opportunities to talented students from all around the world.

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics at Waseda University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Public Policy, as described below.

1. Affiliation:

The Faculty of Political Science and Economics, Waseda University

2. Field:

Public Policy

3. Main courses to be taught:

The successful candidate will teach Public Policy and related courses including seminars for the Global Public Policy Course in the Graduate School of Political Science, and teach related topics in the Faculty of Political Science and Economics.

4. Qualifications:

Candidates must have the following qualifications:

(1) Have academic research background in Political Science (Public Policy/ Public Administration)

(2) Have research achievement including empirical analysis.

(3) Be able to conduct research and education on public policy from an international perspective including evaluation of institutional systems and policies in countries and regions other than Japan.

(4) Hold a Ph.D. degree or expect to obtain a doctoral degree by the time of appointment.

(5) Have taught or be able to teach the courses stated in "3. Main courses to be taught".

(6) Be able to teach classes in English. It is desirable that applicants are able to teach in Japanese as well.

5. Number of position openings: 1

6. Position rank and title:

The appointment will be made at the rank of Associate Professor (Tenure-track) or Assistant Professor (Tenure-track).

The rank is determined by such factors as the candidate's academic and research achievements, as well as evaluation throughout the screening process, and will be made known to the successful candidate in an interview with the Dean.

General Idea of Tenure-Track Positions at FPSE: (Details will be provided at the time of the second round of selection.)

A tenure-track position at FPSE shall be appointed either as Assistant Professor (tenure-track) or Associate Professor (tenure-track), for three years in the first term, followed by two years of reappointment and an additional two years of reappointment, for a total of up to seven years. As a general rule, the interim review shall be carried out in the second semester of their third year (sixth semester) following their appointment and completed within their first three-year term on the tenure track. When a tenure-track faculty member passes the interim review, their first reappointment of two years shall be confirmed before the end of the initial appointment (three years)

By default, the final review shall be carried out in the second semester of their fifth year (tenth semester) and completed by the end of the fifth year on the tenure track. When the tenure-track faculty member passes the final review, the faculty member will become a tenured faculty member from the following semester.

The second reappointment of two years may be granted to the tenure-track faculty member who fails the final review. The tenure-track faculty member may request an interim review or a final review at any time in or after the second semester of their second year (fourth semester) following their appointment.

If you have had an employment contract with Waseda University regardless of job title since April 1, 2013 and there is no period of at least six months without an employment contract with Waseda University to the scheduled start of this position, in principle, there is a limit to the duration of your employment contract. Therefore, the above may not be met with regard to the duration of appointment.

7. Working conditions:

Butler University

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Methodology, Public Policy

The Department of Political Science at Butler University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor for a one-year appointment with possibility of renewal for a second year. Applicants should have expertise in politics and/or public policy in the United States and a strong commitment to excellent, inclusive undergraduate teaching. The successful candidate will teach an introductory American politics survey course, research and analysis methods (basic research design/methods), US Parties and Politics, and other courses aligned with their expertise, and will help build an inclusive learning environment for our increasingly diverse student population. We are particularly interested in candidates who could teach an introductory international politics survey course. This lecturer will teach four courses per semester, with no more than six distinct course preparations per year anticipated.

Review of applications is ongoing and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit the following to plsearch@butler.edu: a cover letter that highlights the applicant’s qualifications for this position and commitment to inclusive, excellent teaching and curriculum vitae. Additional evidence of evidence of inclusive teaching excellence is welcome but not required at this stage. Applicants should have advanced to candidate or earned a doctorate in political science or a related field at the time of appointment. The selected candidate will be required to provide official transcripts and to consent to a background check prior to a final offer of employment and will start August 2021.

The Butler Political Science Program, distinctively grounded in a firm commitment to social justice, democracy, and human rights, engages students in the study and practice of politics to promote the collective good at the local, national, and global level. The program defines politics broadly as the formal and informal ways societies govern themselves. The program offers an innovative curriculum that crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary to pursue positive social change. Political science alumni have pursued careers in electoral politics, teaching, law, government, journalism, business, and non-profit organizations, and have earned graduate and professional degrees in several fields.

Loyola Marymount University

Rank: Assistant Professor - Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): Methodology, Public Policy, Open

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Loyola Marymount University invites applications for an assistant professor position beginning in Fall 2022. We seek a candidate who is passionate about teaching undergraduate methods. The department is especially interested in candidates with expertise in global or domestic public policy issues, such as education, health and healthcare, urbanization, or the environment and climate change. Our preferred candidate's research will engage with substantive policy issues with a focus on social and group differences broadly defined (such as race, class, inequality, ethnicity, nationalism and national identities, sexuality, gender, disability, religion, North-South relations, etc.).

The regular teaching load for this position includes two sections of our introductory methods class and periodically a seminar in advanced methods. LMU has a 2-2/2-3 teaching load, meaning that faculty teach two undergraduate courses per semester, with one 3 course load semester every other year. We are seeking to hire a dedicated teacher and emerging scholar who will embrace the department's mission of helping students become informed, analytically reflective, and engaged global citizens. Successful candidates must demonstrate a commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

Loyola Marymount University, a Carnegie classified R2 institution in the mainstream of American Catholic higher education, seeks outstanding applicants who value its mission and share its commitment to inclusive excellence, the education of the whole person, and the building of a just society. LMU is an equal opportunity employer committed to providing an environment free from discrimination and harassment as defined by federal, state and local law. We invite all persons in the full diversity of their being, life experience, and beliefs to apply. Please read more about our commitments and our efforts at (<https://resources.lmu.edu/officeofinterculturalaffairs/>).

Candidates should submit application materials via the LMU Human Resources online application portal (<https://pa843.peopleadmin.com/postings/47474>). Applicants must include: 1) a cover letter (outlining area of expertise, teaching and research interests, and resonance with LMU's mission); 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) a writing sample; 4) a statement of teaching philosophy that demonstrates your approach to teaching in the liberal arts tradition, and 5) if available, teaching evaluations and/or sample syllabi. A minimum of three confidential letters of recommendation should be submitted directly to POLSjobs@lmu.edu. Only online applications will be accepted. Please direct questions to Marc Cooper at POLSjobs@lmu.edu. We will begin our review of applications on September 10, 2021 but will consider applications beyond this date until we conclude our search. A PhD in Political Science, International Relations, Public Policy, or related field is required; ABD applications who anticipate completion of the doctorate by Fall 2022 will be considered.
