Resources and Guidance on

Finding a Job in Political Science

Hundreds of academic positions are advertised each year in political science. Finding the openings is the easy part; knowing how to approach the application and interview process is a little more challenging. At APSA, we have collected resources to assist candidates in the academic job search. We would like to highlight a few of these key resources here. The complete list of job resources is available online at www.apsanet.org/jobs.

eJobs: This online resource contains comprehensive online listing of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent posts.

Data on Jobs Market: APSA gathers and releases data regarding the placement of political science Ph.Ds. View this information at www.apsanet.org/content_7623.cfm.

Mentoring: Enroll in the APSA Mentoring Program online at www.apsanet.org/mentoring.

eJobs Placement Interview Services: The eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service provides space and facilities for employers who have eJobs posted to interview candidates at the APSA meeting. Many other conferences, such as the Northeastern and Western, also use the APSA online service to schedule placement interviews. Check the listings online in eJobs.

Ethics Guide: The APSA Guide to Professional Ethics in Political Science includes specific guidance on hiring and employment practices. Order a print copy or view online at www.apsanet.org/ethics.

Asking the Right Questions: APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask Program

Asking the right questions provides valuable information for career decisions. As part of the APSA Job Candidate Questions to Ask (JCQ) Program participating political science departments have agreed to answer the following questions from job candidates.

Salary

1. What is the salary structure?
2. How is salary normally negotiated?
3. How are annual increases handled?
4. Is there an automatic escalator to ensure the salaries of future hires will not outpace those of existing department members?

Service Activities

1. What are the expectations of pre-tenure and tenured faculty regarding:
 - departmental and institutional committee work,
 - professional or disciplinary activities, and
 - outreach activities to communities external to institution?

Research Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - access to research materials and equipment,
 - the employment of research assistants,
 - research expenses on/off campus, and
 - travel expenses for conferences?

2. What departmental or institutional resources are available to seek external funding and to administer external funding awards?

Teaching Support

1. What departmental or institutional resources are available to support:
 - the development of teaching expertise,
 - innovations in teaching, and
 - the introduction of new courses and new technologies?
2. What are departmental expectations regarding:
 - the average course load,
 - the number of different courses taught by faculty, and
 - advising of graduate and undergraduate students?

Tenure, Renewal, and Annual Review

1. What policies and procedures govern the granting of tenure, renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty, and annual reviews of faculty performance?
2. What are the department's expectations for successful performance leading to the granting of tenure or renewal of contracts for pre-tenure faculty?
3. What are the department's expectations for a positive annual review?

Mentoring and Faculty Support Initiatives

1. What attention does the department give to integrating new faculty into the department, the institution, and in the profession?
2. Does the department or institution have programs that address:
 - the employment of dual-career professional couples,
 - family needs of faculty and staff, and
 - issues associated with minority faculty and staff?

Health and Life Insurance

1. What are the plans offered?
2. How are benefits disbursed?
3. What are the out-of-pocket expenses?
4. Are partners and/or children covered, and to what extent?
5. What portion of my paycheck will be deducted for these benefits?

Retirement

1. How many types of retirement plans are offered?
2. What is the matching percentage of the institution?
3. Is contribution required (and how much)?

ADMINISTRATION

Harvard University

Rank: Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Non-Academic

The Environmental Science and Public Policy (ESPP) concentration seeks qualified candidates for the position of Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies (ADUS) in the ESPP program, housed administratively at the Harvard University Center for the Environment (HUCE). The ADUS will report to the ESPP Head Tutor and an interdisciplinary faculty ESPP Board of Tutors.

Job-Specific Responsibilities

Provide academic advising and mentorship to admitted Harvard students, pre-concentrators, and concentrators, and monitor student progress toward degree. Match student thesis writers with faculty advisors; identify potential problems in the thesis-writing process; help keep students on track to complete the thesis. Manage the senior capstone and thesis courses; meet regularly with students to identify issues with progress and advising. Advise ESPP and Energy & Environment secondary field students and lead discussions for their colloquium requirement.

In coordination with the Office of Career Services and other relevant offices at Harvard College, support current students in their pursuit of undergraduate research opportunities, internships, and full-time post-graduate positions after graduation. Act as a conduit to faculty to help students engage in meaningful research experiences at Harvard. Engage with students in settings outside of the classroom related to ESPP content: informal discussions after talks, field trips, journal clubs, etc. Help identify speakers for events. Represent ESPP at information/student recruiting events.

Assist with curriculum and course development, course planning, and curriculum assessment. May teach or co-teach in ESPP depending on the needs of the concentration in a given academic year.

Basic Qualifications

A Ph.D. in an environmental field (science or social sciences) with significant involvement in the policy realm.

Additional Qualifications and Skills

Documented ability to teach effectively and engage with undergraduate students; a strong commitment to education and mentoring; experience with advising and course/program development and commitment and enthusiasm for research and pedagogy in research methods; excellent communication skills.

Additional Information

To apply, candidates should submit their cover letter and resume/CV online through Harvard Careers at this link: <https://bit.ly/3PERm80>. Candidates selected for an interview will be asked to provide three letters of recommendation, including at least one that addresses teaching ability.

Mississippi State University

Rank: Professor and Head

Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, Mississippi State University. The Department of Political Science and Public Administration is searching for a Department Head at the rank of Professor, beginning July 1, 2022. Applications from Associate Professors could be considered conditional to promotion at the rank of Professor by the time of appointment. We seek an accomplished scholar to lead a dynamic program, with an energetic and productive research and teaching faculty experienced in training high-achieving undergraduate and graduate students. Candidates must have a PhD in Political Science, Public Administration, or related fields, an established research and/or extramural funding record, a commitment to academic excellence, and strong administrative skills. In providing such leadership, the Head will guide curricular revision and programmatic assessment; guide faculty through the tenure and promotion process; oversee all personnel matters; manage the budget; serve as a liaison between faculty and administration; and sustain and enhance collaborative programs with other campus units. Documented experience in departmental or college leadership positions is required. The teaching assignment is negotiable. The salary will be competitive. Degree programs offered include a BA and MA in Political Science, a NASPAA-accredited Master in Public Policy and Administration, and a PhD in Public Policy and Administration. The department consists of 16 faculty members, 236 undergraduate majors, 42 Masters students, and 35 PhD students. The department has strong ties to several research and government centers, including the Social Science Research Center, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government, and the Stennis Center for Public Service. More information on the department is available at <http://www.pspa.msstate.edu>.

Applications are to be submitted electronically by accessing <http://www.msujobs.msstate.edu/> and should include a Vita, a letter describing administrative philosophy and research interests, and supporting materials demonstrating administrative, teaching, service, and scholarly achievement, as well as a list of references. AMERICAN GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

Saint Louis University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor in Political Science – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Saint Louis University seeks applicants for a tenure track position in American politics starting in August 2023. We have multiple needs that include but are not limited to race and identity, American political development, and public policy. Previous teaching experience and a PhD in Political Science are preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered. The appointment will be at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor, depending on the candidate's qualifications. The teaching assignment is 2/2. The department offers a BA and MA and, in coordination with the Sociology/Anthropology department, a PhD in Public and Social Policy Studies.

To apply, we ask that applicants upload the following materials combined into a single pdf (see upload instructions below): (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter that includes research and teaching interests; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., recent teaching evaluations, officially produced if possible, and sample syllabi); (5) a research statement; and (6) a single-authored writing sample. Please have unofficial graduate transcripts sent to Ms. Claire Bruce at claire.bruce@slu.edu. Letters of recommendation are not required at this stage but will be accepted. We will request three letters of recommendation from shortlisted candidates after our initial review of applications. For questions about the position, please contact Dr. Steven Rogers, chair of the search committee, at steven.rogers@slu.edu, or call the department office, 314-977-3035. Review of applications will begin August 26 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application Upload Instructions: Please visit SLU's Workday portal at <https://slu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers>. When prompted to upload your Resume/CV on the "My Experience" page, please upload a single PDF of the documents requested above. SLU Workday applications must be completed in one sitting. You will not be able to revise your application once submitted.

Vaccine Protocol: Saint Louis University will require COVID-19 vaccinations for all students, staff, and faculty who are physically present on our St. Louis campuses. As a prospective and/or a new employee at Saint Louis University, you will be required to comply with the University's vaccination protocol. Proof of full vaccination will be required before the start of employment in order to work at Saint Louis University. If you are not vaccinated, you will be required to begin the vaccination process at the time of your first day of employment. Exemptions may be granted on the grounds of religious beliefs or medical circumstances.

Claremont McKenna College

Rank: The Tuohy Chair in Government and Ethics

The Department of Government at Claremont McKenna College (CMC) invites applications for the Alice Tweed Tuohy Chair in Government and Ethics for a tenured Associate or Full Professorship. The position will begin on July 1, 2023. The department is interested in candidates whose scholarship and teaching focus on the moral and ethical foundations of liberal democracy. Research and teaching topics of particular interest include the grounding of rights and republican government, the ethics and practice of civility and toleration, classical and modern ethics, democratic citizenship, political rhetoric and deliberation, political leadership, the relationship between politics and religion, the virtues and shortcomings of liberal democracy and market capitalism, and constitutionalism and the rule of law.

The ideal candidate will also be a teacher-scholar who can contribute to CMC's Open Academy Initiative, which articulates the College's foundational commitment to freedom of expression and open inquiry, diversity of viewpoint and experience, and constructive dialogue.

The teaching load is two courses per semester. The candidate must have demonstrated ability to maintain an active, high quality research program and to maintain the highest standards of excellence in teaching. The successful applicant will teach courses in their area of expertise, including one introductory course a year.

Given the College's commitment to cultivating an inclusive educational environment, we seek candidates who can demonstrate a commitment to teaching, mentoring, and inspiring students representing a broad range of socioeconomic backgrounds, political opinions, genders, races, ethnicities, nationalities, sexual orientations, and religions.

Applications should include a cover letter; curriculum vitae; research statement; teaching statement that addresses the candidate's ability to teach, mentor, and inspire students representing a broad range of backgrounds; evidence of teaching effectiveness; and a writing sample. Applicants must also submit the names and e-mail addresses of three references; an email will be automatically sent to them with a link to upload their confidential recommendation letter. Please upload application materials at: https://webapps.cmc.edu/jobs/faculty/faculty_opening.php.

Complete applications, including letters of recommendation, will be reviewed beginning October 20, 2022. Review of complete applications will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary interviews may be conducted via Zoom.

Claremont McKenna College is a highly selective undergraduate institution ranked among the top liberal arts colleges nationally. It is part of The Claremont Colleges, which also includes Pomona College, Scripps College, Harvey Mudd College, Pitzer College, Claremont Graduate University, and Keck Graduate Institute. The Claremont Colleges consortium constitutes an academic community of more than 9,000 students. Claremont is located 35 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Georgia Southern University

Rank: Visiting Instructor of Political Science

Visiting Instructor of Political Science- Search #12142

College of Behavioral and Social Sciences/Department of Political Science and International Studies

The Department of Political Science and International Studies in the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences at Georgia Southern University has an opening for a visiting instructor position of Political Science for the 2022-2023 Academic Year.

Founded in 1906, Georgia Southern University is a Carnegie Doctoral/R2 institution with a focus on public-impact research, serving about 27,000 students on three beautiful campuses in Statesboro, Savannah, and Hinesville, and via a growing online program. Through our degree offerings at the associate's, bachelor's, master's and doctoral levels, Georgia Southern offers a distinctive combination of community collaboration, world-class scholarship, innovative teaching, and hands-on learning opportunities.

To equitably serve a fast growing and highly diverse student body and to fulfill the University's commitment to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion, we actively seek candidates with a demonstrated commitment to Inclusive Excellence. Candidates whose work furthers the institution's goals and who bring to campus varied life experiences, perspectives, and backgrounds are especially encouraged to apply.

Within this setting, the Department of Political Science and International Studies' mission is to equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary to be productive, politically literate, and engaged citizens in their communities, their nation, and the world. Integrating diverse and high-quality faculty research with excellence in the classroom, our programs promote intellectual, personal, and professional student development and cultivate research, communication, and analytical skills that are in high professional demand. Students are encouraged to bring fresh perspectives and critical thinking to the classroom that will help them become politically active. Our faculty are engaged in impactful service within the University, the profession, and the community. The Department values diversity in all its forms, recognizing that democratic virtues such as engagement, tolerance, and empathy are enhanced by the inclusion of multiple voices. This position will contribute significantly to the Department's commitment to American Government, which is a Core Curriculum course and a gateway to student success.

Position Description: Reporting to the department chair, the visiting instructor of Political Science will teach a 5-5 course load. This is an academic year appointment for the months of August 2022-May 2023. All visiting positions are non-tenure track appointments, with the possibility of reappointment based on funding availability and satisfactory performance for up to two years. The second year is a terminal year, without exception. The salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Required Qualifications:

- MA in Political Science with at least 18 hours of graduate credit in American Politics.
- Evidence of college/university teaching excellence
- Effective communication skills
- Ability to teach online courses
- Willingness to engage with institutional student success initiatives.
- Commitment to engaging with best practice initiatives in instruction and pedagogy, mentoring, and curriculum design and development.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Earned Ph.D. or ABD in Political Science
- Ability to teach courses in behavioral politics

Conditions of Employment:

- * Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution.
- * All work (with limited exceptions such as research and study abroad and outside activities such as grading and email correspondence) for Georgia Southern University must be completed while the employee is physically present in the state of Georgia, unless specifically authorized by the university for a specific purpose and limited period of time within current policy.

* Faculty are expected to contribute to the vibrant university community by engaging students, participating in events, and performing other responsibilities on-campus.

* Faculty may be required to teach, conduct research, or perform service duties on any of the three campuses. Georgia Southern provides accessible transportation options between campuses.

Screening of applications begins July 11, 2022 and continues until the position is filled. The preferred position starting date is August 1, 2022. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; a curriculum vitae; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least three professional references. Other documentation may be requested. Only complete applications submitted electronically will be considered. Finalists will be required to submit to a background investigation. Applications and nominations should be sent to:

Princeton University

Rank: Senior Research Specialist, Princeton Research Lab on Politics, Race and Experimental Methods

The Department of Politics at Princeton University seeks a Senior Research Specialist for a 12-month position to support ongoing research on race and ethnic politics and experimental methods. The research specialist will maintain their own research agenda (approximately 15 hours per week) and work on collaborative projects with faculty affiliated with the newly formed Princeton Research Lab on Politics, Race, and Experimental Methods. In addition, the research specialist will provide mentoring and supervision of graduate and undergraduate researchers affiliated with the lab in a team-based environment. The research specialist will also help to manage data collection efforts, analyze data, and other research-related activities. Administrative duties will include lab management and arranging invitations and travel of external speakers. Finally, the research specialist will be expected to participate in the broader intellectual life of the Politics Department at Princeton University. Expected start date is September 6, 2022.

Responsibilities

- Research specialist's independent research projects.
- Lab management and administrative duties.
- Analyzing data, cleaning, merging, visualization, and writing and commenting scripts.
- Research and implement appropriate statistical and data analysis tools.
- Work independently to find and address data and statistical issues and potential difficulties.
- Writing articles and literature reviews.

Qualifications

- Ph.D. in political science or a closely related field strongly preferred, though candidates who are near Ph.D. completion will be considered.
- Candidates must have strong training in research design and quantitative methods using both R and Stata.
- Candidates must also have experience with experimental and quasi-experimental design and analysis and experience with survey design and implementation.
- Interest and familiarity with the literature in Black politics, and race and ethnic politics more broadly also preferred.

This is initially a one-year position with the potential of renewal up to three years.

For best consideration, apply by July 1, 2022 at this link: <https://research-princeton.icims.com/jobs/15056/senior-research-specialist/job?hub=15>.

Candidates should submit a cover letter describing fit for the position, CV, the names of three references, graduate transcripts (unofficial is sufficient), a separate statement on diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in mentoring, and a solo-authored writing sample. Qualified candidates will be invited to participate in a virtual interview process.

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, United States

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) is seeking applications for a one-year term faculty position at the Instructor rank to begin August 2022 to support the Department's teaching mission in the areas of American Politics and/or Political Theory. The position will expire in May 2023.

Position Responsibilities: Successful candidates must be able to teach our undergraduate Politics of Race, Class, and Gender course, as well as our undergraduate Research Methods and/or Introduction to Political Theory courses. Successful candidates should be able to teach both on-campus and asynchronously online, thus relocation to Richmond is strongly preferred for this position. The teaching load for this position is 4/4.

Required Qualifications: The position requires a Ph.D. or Master's Degree in political science, or a closely related field, at the time of employment. Successful candidates also will have demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU. More than 60% of Political Science majors are women, and more than 56% are from minority groups. In addition, our faculty and staff exhibit diversity of gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, age, class, nationality, religion, belief, and political affiliation, among other variables. For example, of our 19 full-time faculty members, eight identify as women, and five identify as scholars of color. See the Department's Diversity and Inclusion Statement here: <https://politicalscience.vcu.edu/about/>. VCU is a diverse public institution. In 2020, 32.7% of our freshmen identified as first-generation, 52.3% as minority, and 35.4% as historically underrepresented minorities.

The Department of Political Science is housed in VCU's College of Humanities and Sciences (CHS) (<https://chs.vcu.edu/>). Resources to support teaching faculty are available at all levels of the university (see, e.g., <https://provost.vcu.edu/faculty/faculty-resources/>).

For more detailed information and to apply, please visit: <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1886?c=vcu>

Application Instructions

Only electronic applications will be accepted. Please apply online at <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1886?c=vcu>. Applicants must upload a CV and cover letter, as well as the following supplemental documents: a teaching philosophy, and a diversity and inclusion statement. Please merge supplementary files into one PDF and upload as the "Other" document in the online application site. Please submit all required documents with your online application. Failure to provide all required documents will result in our inability to review and consider your application. Applicants are requested to submit a Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (typically between 150-300 words) providing your career aspirations and contributions toward promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion. Through this statement, you can share how your lived experiences, and academic and professional activities will impact your contributions to VCU's mission of promoting equity and inclusion. For more information and examples, see VCU's Diversity Statement.

Upon submission of your application, references will be automatically contacted and asked to provide a letter of recommendation[1]. Questions should be directed to Jason Arnold at jarnold@vcu.edu. Position is open until filled. Applications received by July 9, 2022 will receive priority consideration. Start date will be August 16, 2022.

Purdue University Fort Wayne

Rank: Post-Doctoral Teaching Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

The Department of Political Science at Purdue University Fort Wayne (PFW) welcomes qualified applications for a post-doctoral teaching fellowship. The Department of Political Science is housed in the College of Liberal Arts. The fellowship is a two-year appointment, with reappointment for the second-year contingent on positive evaluations from students and faculty through the first year, as well as the curricular needs of the program. The fellow will teach a 3/3 course load, mentor undergraduate political science majors, as well as contribute to programming and faculty-related duties of the program. The fellow will receive office space, a travel stipend, have faculty privileges to university services like institutional technology, Center for the Enhancement of Teaching and Learning, and library system among others. The fellowship is exactly equivalent to the responsibilities of a full-time position between its teaching, research, and service expectations and provides a competitive salary and benefits package.

Requirements

Applicants will be expected to have consequential teaching experience, solid teaching evaluations, and strong recommendations from their direct teaching mentors. Candidates must have earned their Ph.D. in political science after May 1, 2019, or will have earned their Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2022; completion of the doctoral degree is a requirement for the fellowship appointment. Candidates should be able to teach across different areas of political science, including introductory courses in American politics. Preference will be given to candidates who have scholarly experience and research interest in civic engagement given the department's rich history of community engagement, extensive partnerships with not-for-profits and institutions, our Certificate of Civic Engagement and Public Advocacy, and because the department's Center of Excellence, the Mike Downs Center for Indiana Politics, is a Kettering Foundation Center for Civic Life.

The Application Process

For full consideration, applicants should provide a letter of interest, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, three letters of recommendation, transcripts, details of their experience in civic engagement scholarship or teaching, and evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi and/or descriptions for courses they would be interested in teaching, including special topics courses relevant to their research area or civic engagement to https://careers.purdue.edu/FW?_ga=2.200661165.2092626911.1644960767-116241627.1620395320. The Department is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including research, teaching, and service/engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

PFW is an EEO/AA employer fully committed to achieving a diverse workforce. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply. The position is contingent on a satisfactory background records check and available funding. Purdue University will not provide visa sponsorship for this position.

Expectations

The expectation is that the fellow will teach a range of courses, including introductory-level ones that contribute to PFW's general education curriculum, the interdisciplinary courses that attract College of Liberal Arts students, and upper-level political science courses that we already teach or that the candidate would develop. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and an interest in taking an active role in the student-centered culture of the program. All candidates who are interviewed will prepare a faculty and staff presentation as well as an instructional student-centered presentation. The Department

The Department of Political Science at PFW is a dynamic department with award-winning faculty and students who have earned numerous nationally prestigious awards. Our graduates have attended elite graduate, professional, and law programs and thrive in nearly every private and public sector field. We have averaged around 75 majors in recent years and have multiple degree programs, certificates, and minors. The department's ability to provide our students with a broad curriculum across the discipline despite our marginally sized faculty has been of particular note, as has our extensive experiential learning opportunities, overseas study, and internships. We are proud of our dedication to student mentoring and community engagement. The fellow is expected to contribute to these existing strengths and provide consistency as the department faculty transitions in its makeup. The fellow will have the opportunity to work with faculty mentors and serve as mentor to students as well as they strengthen their experience for subsequent faculty or professional positions.

University of South Dakota

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Dakota invites applicants for the position of visiting assistant professor of public administration. The successful candidate will teach in our online M.S. in Administration and Executive Master of Public Administration (EMPA) programs. This is a nine-month, full-time position that may be renewed subject to budget authorization and administrative approval. The area of specialization is open, although the Department prefers candidates with expertise in public personnel management or administrative law and ethics. Because the ideal candidate will teach online graduate courses, remote work (i.e. telecommuting) may be an option. The expected workload will be three graduate courses per semester.

The University of South Dakota is the state's flagship liberal arts institution with a "higher research" (R2) Carnegie classification. We seek a candidate who possesses a commitment to excellence in teaching and student mentoring within the context of a strong liberal arts program. The successful candidate will be expected to share in the work of a vibrant department and apply his or her professional expertise in the service of the university, community and discipline. The M.S. in Administration and EMPA programs enjoy major endowments that support faculty research and professional development.

Swarthmore College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science - American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Swarthmore College invites applications for a tenure-track position in American politics at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin in the fall semester of 2023. We are particularly interested in candidates with the ability to teach a course in law and society, the courts and American politics, or constitutional law. The course load is four courses a year. More information about the Political Science Department can be found here: <https://www.swarthmore.edu/departments-political-science>

Located in the suburbs of Philadelphia and near Wilmington DE, Swarthmore College is a highly selective liberal arts college whose mission combines academic rigor with social responsibility. Swarthmore has a strong institutional commitment to diversity, and actively seeks and welcomes applications from candidates with exceptional qualifications, particularly those with demonstrable commitments to a more inclusive society and world. Applicants from traditionally underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply. For more information on Faculty Diversity and Excellence at Swarthmore, see <http://www.swarthmore.edu/faculty-diversity-excellence/information-candidates-new-faculty>

Qualifications

The successful candidate will have a PhD in political science in hand by August 2023. Candidates must demonstrate excellence in undergraduate teaching as well as research.

The strongest candidates will demonstrate an active research program and a commitment to creative teaching that can speak to, and motivate, undergraduates from diverse backgrounds.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit: (1) a cover letter that briefly describes why they want to teach Swarthmore College students, as well as a description of their research agenda; (2) a writing sample of not more than 40 pages; (3) two syllabi (one for an introductory course in American politics, and one for an upper-level course in American politics), which represent an important part of the application; (4) a C.V.; (5) a graduate school transcript; and (6) three letters of recommendation. These materials should be submitted through Interfolio apply.interfolio.com/107901.

The deadline for applications is September 20, 2022.

Effective July 21, 2021, Swarthmore is requiring all new employees to show proof of being fully vaccinated by their start date, unless they have an approved medical or religious exemption. Wesleyan University

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Quantitative Analysis Center

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, American Politics, Health Care

Wesleyan's Quantitative Analysis Center (QAC) and the Wesleyan Media Project (WMP) are seeking a one-year postdoctoral or predoctoral researcher to support research and teaching in the areas of survey research, computational social science, and applied data science. The successful candidate will work in a research group with faculty and students in a lab-based model on designing and analyzing public opinion surveys, including topics related to the candidate's own interests, and may support grant-funded work on elections and issues related to health and social policy. The individual will also teach one class per semester (two per academic year). One of the classes will be an introduction to survey research methods, and the other class should be related to the theme of "Data and Democracy," which focuses on how quantitative data and computational methods can be used to study democratic processes, information, and outcomes in both the United States and globally. Candidates should include in their statement of teaching interests or cover letter a description of a course they might teach related to the "Data and Democracy" theme. The substantive focus of the course is open, although it should relate to democratic processes, information, or outcomes, broadly defined, and include a data analysis or computational component.

Candidates with a Ph.D. in political science or related field are encouraged to apply. Applicants should have experience designing surveys and analyzing survey data and general training in quantitative analysis or computational methods. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or related field in hand by the time of appointment to be hired as a Postdoctoral Fellow; a successful candidate may be hired as an Predoctoral Fellow if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but will complete the Ph.D. in political science or related field within one year of hire.

You will be asked to upload electronic versions of the items we require, which are (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) research statement, and (4) Statement of Teaching Philosophy and Interests. In the cover letter, applicants should describe how they will embrace the college's commitment to fostering an inclusive community, as well as their experience working with individuals from historically marginalized or underserved groups.

You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of two referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation (please double-check the accuracy of the email addresses of the referees you name to ensure that you have the most up-to-date email addresses for each one).

After you have submitted all of the required documents, you will see a confirmation number. At that point, each of your referees whose email address you have provided will receive an automatically-generated email requesting that he or she submit a letter of reference for you. The deadline for applications is July 6, but applications will be considered on a rolling basis. The successful candidate can start as early as August 1st, but no later than September 1st.

Please contact Martha Besade (mbesade@wesleyan.edu) if you have questions about the application process.

College of Wooster

Rank: Assistant Professor or Associate Professor, Political Science, Tenure-Track Positions

The Department of Political Science at The College of Wooster seeks to fill three tenure-track positions in U.S. National Politics, at the level of Assistant Professor or Associate Professor, to begin Fall 2023. We are looking for broadly trained specialists in U.S. National Politics and are open to a wide variety of research and teaching interests, such as U.S. political institutions, political behavior, identity and politics, race and ethnicity, voting rights, constitutional law, civil liberties, and public policy. The department has nine full-time faculty positions in Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Theory, and U.S. National Politics. We typically graduate approximately 50 majors annually, many of whom pursue advanced study or careers in public policy, law, research, political campaigns and public service, or a wide variety of social justice and community organizing initiatives. For more information, please see: <https://wooster.edu/area/political-science/>.

The College of Wooster is an independent college of the liberal arts and sciences with a commitment to excellence in undergraduate education. We enroll a racially, socioeconomically, and culturally diverse student population of approximately 2,000 undergraduate students, of which 6% identify as Latinx; 9%, as Black/African American; 4%, as Asian; 4%, as multiracial; and 61%, as white. Fifteen percent (15%) of our students are studying on international visas. Twenty-five percent (25%) are Pell-eligible and 11% are first-generation college students. We are interested in hiring faculty who can contribute to the intellectual vibrancy of the community through culturally relevant pedagogy, curricular diversity, intercultural fluency, and a commitment to ensuring equitable outcomes for racially and ethnically minoritized and marginalized student groups.

The College of Wooster is an equal opportunity employer. For more information on our nondiscrimination policy visit: <https://www.wooster.edu/info/nondiscrimination>.

Qualifications

The successful candidates will have a demonstrated ability to teach Introduction to U.S. National Politics and upper-level courses in their area of specialty, to supervise undergraduate research projects as part of the College’s Independent Study requirement, and to contribute to teaching the College’s First-Year Seminar. Some candidates will also teach a course on research design and methods in political science. Our department is committed to ensuring that a political science education is open and inclusive and that all students can succeed in the major. To achieve this goal, we are seeking candidates who are familiar with and dedicated to inclusive pedagogical practices, curricular diversity, and intercultural fluency.

In addition, preference will be given to candidates whose research and teaching connect with one or both of the College’s general education requirements in Social Justice or Power, Privilege, Race, and Ethnicity; or with such interdisciplinary majors as Africana Studies, Women’s Gender and Sexuality Studies, and Urban Studies. Preference will also be given to those with interest or expertise in experiential learning. We prefer candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment and who have previous independent teaching experience.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching (including syllabi and summaries of student evaluations), unofficial graduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a research statement, and a statement indicating their track record with diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) efforts and how they envision contributing to such efforts at the College of Wooster. Applications received at <http://apply.interfolio.com/108152> by September 1, 2022, will receive full consideration. Please contact Prof. Jeffrey Lantis (jlantis@wooster.edu), chair of the search committee, with any questions.

Carleton College

Rank: Assistant Professor of Political Science and International Relations

The Political Science Department at Carleton College invites applicants for tenure-track Assistant Professor position in American Politics. The department seeks candidates who have expertise in all areas of American politics and can offer courses at all levels. We are particularly interested in applicants with teaching and research interests that relate to the struggle for representation and dynamic power of diverse groups in American politics; such as identity politics, political psychology and behaviors, rural and urban politics, and diverse forms of political participations in the U.S. political system. Carleton operates on a trimester calendar, with faculty teaching five courses per year. Successful candidates will normally teach one or two introductions to American politics per year. We also expect that successful applicants will be part of a rotation of teachers for a course on research methods, which is required for all majors. We would be especially interested in candidates with a demonstrated capacity for mentoring students in diverse research methods such as field research, interviewing, survey techniques that complement multivariate statistical analysis. A Ph.D. or its imminent completion is required. The appointment will begin on September 1, 2023.

The College of New Jersey (TCNJ)

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of US Politics

The Department of Political Science at The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) invites applications for a ten-month Visiting Assistant Professor position in American Politics with a specialization in American political institutions, to begin August, 2022. The successful candidate will be prepared to teach in-person Introduction to American Government and upper-level courses on Congress and the Presidency. The Department is open to areas of specialization within the field of U.S. Politics and American Political Development. We welcome candidates with teaching experience in public policy, political parties and interest groups, voting behavior, racial and ethnic politics, or gender politics. Candidates should be committed to high-quality teaching and deep student engagement in a primarily undergraduate, residential, liberal arts-centered institution. The teaching load is four in-person courses per semester. A Ph.D. is preferred, but the College will consider ABDs. Applications received by June 10, 2022, will receive full consideration, but the position will remain open until filled.

The Department of Political Science (Department of Political Science (tcnj.edu)) is a supportive and dynamic community of scholars and students. We offer minors in public policy and pre-law, which draw students from across a wide range of academic disciplines. The Department has eight tenured or tenure-track members. The Visiting position being advertised here is separate from that being conducted in the fall for a ninth tenure-track position, though candidates may apply to both positions.

Employer Qualifications:

Final offer of employment is contingent upon the successful completion of background check.

COVID-19 Testing and Compliance - The College has a mandatory COVID-19 vaccination requirement. To learn more, please read the policy here: COVID-19 Requirements and Protocols. <https://hr.tcnj.edu/covid-19-employee-info/>
About TCNJ

Founded in 1855, TCNJ is a selective public PUI that has earned national recognition for its commitment to excellence. TCNJ emphasizes the residential experience for our nearly 6,500 undergraduate students, 30% of whom are self-described as members of groups traditionally underrepresented in academe. Students benefit from a 13-to-1 student-to-faculty ratio and an average class size of 21 students, which has led to TCNJ attaining a first-year to sophomore retention rate of 94% and a graduation rate of 86%. TCNJ has also received national recognition for the adoption and promotion of the teacher-scholar model for our faculty and deep engagement of our undergraduates in research. TCNJ was awarded the inaugural “Campus-wide Award for Undergraduate Research Accomplishment” from the Council of Undergraduate Research in 2016. In part because of TCNJ’s intentional and comprehensive integration of research into our undergraduate curricula and institutional culture, an increasing number of TCNJ graduates have pursued and completed doctoral degrees over the past ten years. TCNJ was awarded, in 2006, a Phi Beta Kappa chapter—an honor shared by less than 10 percent of colleges and universities nationally. A strong liberal arts core forms the foundation for programs offered through TCNJ’s seven schools—Arts and Communication; Business; Education; Engineering; Humanities and Social Sciences; Nursing, Health, and Exercise Science; and Science. TCNJ is located within an hour, by train, of New York City and Philadelphia. The College’s campus is set on 289 tree-lined acres in suburban Ewing Township and is known for its natural beauty. For more information, visit www.tcnj.edu.

TCNJ is the proud recipient of an Inclusive Excellence grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI), which supports our work to provide access and foster success for all students, especially those traditionally underserved by higher education. TCNJ has also been a recipient of a National Science Foundation (NSF) ADVANCE grant, which has worked to support the careers of women faculty members.

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Administration

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Augustana College

Rank: Visiting, Open-rank position in Political Science

Political Science (Public Policy) – Augustana College, Rock Island, IL, invites applications for a Public Policy, Visiting, Open-rank position in the Political Science department beginning in August of the 2022-2023 academic year, with possible renewal upon mutual agreement for the 2023-2024 academic year. Augustana College is a selective liberal arts and sciences college of 2,400 students, including 19 percent first generation college students, 22 percent Pell Grant students, 23 percent students of color, and 13 percent international students. Our beautifully wooded and largely residential campus is located in Rock Island, IL, a diverse Illinois-Iowa Quad Cities metropolitan area along the Mississippi River with 400,000 residents about three hours west of Chicago.

Strengthening our diverse and inclusive community is central to the college's mission and strategic plan. We seek applicants with an interest in fostering rigorous, inclusive, and high-impact learning environments for a diverse student body. Details about Augustana College, faculty life, and the Quad Cities all are available at Teaching at Augustana.

The candidate is expected to be trained broadly in Public Policy, but strong preference will be given to individuals with research and teaching background in Environmental Policy. The successful candidate will teach courses in Public Policy, including those in their area of interest. We welcome applications from candidates who examine public policy from the perspectives of underrepresented communities, including, but not limited to, the following communities: Latinx, African-American, Native American, LGBTQI+.

In addition, the successful candidate will teach sections of Introduction to American National Government and upper division courses in American Politics. These include our current American politics courses such as American Political Participation and American Presidency. There may also be opportunities to teach an interdisciplinary course in the first year liberal arts sequence or a course during our experiential January term.

The candidate will join a diverse and active, four-member department. Each faculty colleague has interdisciplinary interests beyond political science that complement the political science curriculum such as Africana Studies, Environmental Studies, Latin American Studies, Asian Studies and more.

Preference will be given to candidates who will have completed their Ph.D. by the time of appointment, although ABD candidates will also be considered. Successful candidates will be able to demonstrate teaching effectiveness, a commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration and the value of a broadly educated person, a commitment to fostering equity and inclusion, the ability to work with students in and out of the classroom, and an investment in supporting the work of colleagues. Experience and interest in working with students and community members of many backgrounds will be an asset for applicants.

Augustana College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Augustana College provides equal opportunity to all qualified employees and applicants without regard to race, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, disability, veteran status, and any other category protected by federal, state, or local law.

A complete application will include: a cover letter indicating an interest in and understanding of teaching in a liberal arts setting, an updated curriculum vitae, copy of graduate transcripts, and a statement of the teaching philosophy. Questions may be directed to chair of the Department, Dr. Xiaowen Zhang, at xiaowenzhang@augustana.edu. To ensure full consideration, please submit all application materials by March 15, 2022. Review of applications will immediately, and will continue until the positions are filled.

Rowan University

Rank: Professor (Asst, Assoc, Full)

Subfield(s): Public Policy, American Government and Politics, International Relations

Rowan University's newly launched Catalysts for Sustainability program seeks to hire 10 new faculty to develop, advance and communicate solutions to humanity's most pressing existential threats posed by the climate and biodiversity crises.

The list below shows the positions to be filled.

- Ric Edelman College of Communication and Creative Arts: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Earth & Environment: Visiting Professor/Professor of Practice
- School of Earth & Environment: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Education: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Henry M. Rowan College of Engineering: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Humanities & Social Sciences: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- School of Nursing & Health Professions: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- College of Performing Arts: Distinguished Artist-in-Residence for Environmental Sustainability
- College of Science & Mathematics: Open-rank, Tenure-track Professor
- Provost's Fellow for a Sustainable Anthropocene

Unique Opportunity

Our catalysts will immediately be high-visibility scholars poised to reap reputational benefits as influential state and national leaders. They will gain the potential for enhanced funding and enhanced publishing. The faculty—as a cohort and as individuals—will benefit as they develop expansive external networks and connections with high-profile organizations.

Committed throughout the curriculum and community

The University-wide cohort will lead and collaborate across colleges, disciplines and communities. Each college and school on our main campus will be represented, connecting every academic division through a common purpose.

Strategic institutional values

Rowan University's strategic pillars—access, affordability, quality and serving as an economic engine—are at the center of every decision for the institution. The Catalysts for Sustainability recruiting program will be rooted in Rowan's fundamental values and the hires will demonstrate our commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion.

This program will catalyze new initiatives in sustainability research, advocacy and education while leveraging existing strengths. Successful candidates will demonstrate expertise related to the climate and biodiversity crises in one or more of the following areas: environmental justice; education and public engagement including storytelling; public policy and advocacy; discipline-specific sustainability scholarship; and sustainability practice.

Case Western Reserve University

Rank: Alexander P. Lamis Memorial Endowed Chair in U.S. Politics

The Department of Political Science at Case Western Reserve University invites applications for the Alexander P. Lamis Memorial Endowed Chair in U.S. Politics. The successful candidate will be competitive at the level of tenured associate professor (currently either as a tenured associate professor or an untenured professor with commensurate productivity and experience). We are interested in candidates across all U.S. politics subfields and methodological approaches, including but not limited to the politics of race and ethnicity, immigration, and the politics of inequality. A Ph.D. in Political Science is required.

The Lamis Chair has been established with a gift from a generous anonymous donor, to honor our late colleague Alec Lamis (PhD Vanderbilt, JD University of Maryland), a popular undergraduate teacher with interests in U.S. politics, parties and elections, judicial politics, and the politics of the U.S. South. Case Western Reserve University is a private R1 research university where Political Science faculty teach a standard 2-2 load. For more information about Professor Lamis, CWRU and the Department, see the full description (<https://politicalscience.case.edu/internship-opportunities/current-opportunities-2/>).

Candidates should submit 1) a cover letter, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) a research statement, 4) a teaching statement that includes evidence of effective teaching, 5) a publication or writing sample, 6) a diversity statement, and 7) a list of three references.

The one-page diversity statement should explain how one's research, teaching, and/or service have contributed to diversity, equity and inclusion within a scholarly field(s) and/or how individual and/or collaborative efforts have promoted structural justice inside and outside institutions of higher learning. This statement should also reflect on the ways in which the candidate's continued efforts will foster a culture of diversity, pluralism, and individual difference at Case Western Reserve University.

Candidates should upload all application materials electronically through Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/97399>. Consideration of applicants will begin on 01/10/2022 and continue until the position is filled. Inquiries about the Lamis Chair may be sent to Professor Karen Beckwith, Search Committee Chair, at karen.beckwith@case.edu.

In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. As a recipient of the national Higher Education Excellence in Diversity (HEED) award for the past ten years, CWRU has been recognized nationally as a leader in advancing equity and inclusivity. The university and the College of Arts and Sciences at CWRU are committed to creating an inclusive community where all are welcome, valued and heard. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Equity at 216.368.3066 to request a reasonable accommodation.

- Ability to effectively teach Introduction to American Government, as well as other political science courses in the major, both online and in-person.
- Ability to deliver effective online instruction.
- A commitment to excellence in teaching undergraduates.
- Dedication to teaching and mentoring students of diverse backgrounds to achieve excellence in undergraduate learning.

- A PhD in Political Science or related field, in hand or with evidence that a PhD will be awarded by Summer 2022.

Preferred Qualifications:

- An interest in online educational innovation.
- Ability to teach courses related to the politics of identity, which may include Women & Politics; Race, Ethnicity & Politics; Latinx Politics; Asian American Politics; Indigenous Politics; Religion & Politics; Immigration and/or Urban Politics.

Applicants should send a letter of application that details how the essential and (if applicable) preferred qualifications are met, a curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, sample syllabi, and any additional evidence of teaching effectiveness. Applicants should also submit a separate statement addressing how they will facilitate a diverse and inclusive learning environment both in and outside of the classroom. Finally, applicants should provide a list of at least three professional references (name, title, email address, and telephone number) who are willing to provide letters of reference. Please submit all materials electronically to polsearch@gsu.edu, indicating NTT 1101 Position in the subject line. Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled. Application materials submitted by this date will be given full consideration.

GSU is a highly diverse urban research university located in downtown Atlanta. Further information about the department can be found at politicalscience.gsu.edu. Georgia State University is an equal opportunity employer. It continues to be the policy of the University to implement affirmative action and equal opportunity for all employees, students, contractors, consultants and applicants for employment or admission without regard to race, color, religion, creed, national origin, sex, age, gender, transgender status, pregnancy, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or disability. Political science is a social science discipline concerned with the study of the state, nation, government, and politics and policies of government on a national and international perspective.

Job assignments

As a postdoctoral fellow, you are expected to conduct research in the field of comparative politics with a focus on political economy. This work combines opportunities to work with already outlined studies, as well as opportunities to independently develop your own ideas. The tasks consist partly of designing and conducting survey experiments on people's attitudes to authorities (where issues such as legitimacy and corruption are in focus), and to construct and analyze geospatial datasets where a focus is existing large-scale data on protected nature reserves. For the latter track, an example of the project's focus is an interest to analyze how issues such as ethnic power relations, leaders' ethnic/geographic origin and their political position is related to the establishment of protected areas. Here, the project will partly focus on African countries, but also welcomes a comparative focus on other regions. The work will take place in collaboration with Associate Professor Aksel Sundström at the Department of Political Science and a number of other researchers, based for instance at the University of Cape Town, the London School of Economics and the University of Oslo.

Eligibility

The eligibility criteria for employing teaching staff are set out in Chapter 4 of the Higher Education Ordinance and in the Appointment Procedure for Teaching Posts at the University of Gothenburg.

To be eligible for appointment as a postdoc, the applicant is required to have a doctoral degree, a doctoral degree in art or a foreign degree that is deemed to be equivalent to a doctoral degree. This eligibility requirement must be met before the employment decision is made.

In the first instance, those who have completed their degree no more than three years prior to the end of the application period shall be considered. Those who have completed their degree more than three years prior to the end of the application period may also be considered in the first instance if special grounds exist. Special grounds relate to leave of absence due to illness, parental leave, commissions of trust within union organisations, service within the defence services or other similar circumstances, as well as clinical service or service/assignment relevant to the subject area.

Assessment

You must have a doctoral degree in preferably political science or related discipline. We are looking for you with previous experience of research in connection with the research area described above.

The project will be based on two different approaches, (1) experimental research method and survey analysis, and (2) geospatial analysis of data. It is therefore a requirement with extensive documented experience in either experiment-based research projects (design and implementation), quantitative data analysis, and survey programming and / or extensive experience in geospatial design and data analysis.

Documented experience of STATA and / or R is a requirement. You should also be able to independently produce high-level scientific articles. Previously published self-written scientific articles are therefore a merit.

Applicants must have excellent written and oral proficiency in English.

To be successful in this position, you must have an eye for detail, good organizational skills and be able to solve problems. You need to have very high communication and collaboration skills. Great emphasis is placed on personal suitability for the position. We will make an overall assessment and the applicant who is considered to be best qualified to carry out and develop the tasks described above will be appointed to the position.

Employment

The employment is limited (temporary) for 24 months, 100% of full-time and is placed at the Department of political Science. Starting date; as soon as possible or as agreed.

Purdue University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor, Comparative Politics

Purdue's Political Science Department is seeking a visiting assistant professor for the 2022-2023 academic year in the area of comparative politics, beginning August 15, 2022. This position will teach four courses per semester on campus in West Lafayette. We seek a scholar prepared to teach introductory courses in comparative politics and who is also interested in teaching in the College's award-winning Cornerstone Liberal Arts program. Cornerstone offers an enriched first-year sequence anchored in transformative texts. It is designed to provide all students with the opportunity to broaden their understanding of the world and themselves, while strengthening the skills to read closely, write clearly, speak with confidence, and to engage with differing viewpoints and perspectives through general education courses.

The Cornerstone program enrolls several thousand students each semester from disciplines across Purdue's West Lafayette, IN, campus. Successful candidates will be responsible for teaching SCLA 10100 Transformative Texts, Critical Thinking and Communication I: Antiquity to Modernity (3 credit hour; fulfills the Written Communication and Information Literacy requirements) and/or SCLA 10200 Transformative Texts, Critical Thinking and Communication II: Modern World (3 credit hours; fulfills the Oral Communication requirement). Both courses are offered every semester and instructors have broad latitude in selecting the thematic topic for the course. We seek candidates who will engage students with broad interests in and beyond political science, and who are committed to creating a diverse, equitable, and inclusive environment in the classroom and department.

Qualifications

Must have completed all requirements for the PhD in Political Science or a closely related field prior to August 15, 2022. Postsecondary teaching experience in political science or a closely related field is required.

The College and University

Founded in 1869, Purdue is a research-intensive, PhD-granting institution and a public land-grant university. Political Science faculty members are actively involved with several interdisciplinary programs and centers on campus, including the Advanced Methods at Purdue (AMAP) cluster, the Building Sustainable Communities initiative, the Center for the Environment, the Center for Research on Diversity and Inclusion, Peace Studies, the Human Rights Program, Asian Studies, the Purdue Systems Collaboratory, and the Purdue Policy Research Institute. In addition to the major, the Department is home to graduate and undergraduate certificates and minors in environmental politics and policy, public policy, and human rights.

Applications

Candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, names of three references, graduate transcripts, a statement on diversity, equity, and inclusiveness in the classroom, and a teaching portfolio. Application materials must be submitted electronically via <https://careers.purdue.edu/job-invite/20563/>

Purdue University's Department of Political Science is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including scholarship, instruction, and engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in a separate Diversity and Inclusion Statement indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin July 8, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. Questions should be addressed to Department Head Cherie Maestas at cmaestas@purdue.edu.

The anticipated salary range is $52,000 – $55,000 for the academic year. This position is contingent on final budget approval.

A background check is required for employment in this position.

Ability to work in the US without immigration sponsorship from Purdue University.

Valparaiso University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor

Description

Valparaiso University invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor, in the Department of Political Science and International Relations. Valparaiso University ("Valpo"), a community of learning grounded in the Lutheran tradition of scholarship, freedom, and faith, prepares students to lead and serve both church and society. Located one hour southeast of Chicago on a 310-acre campus, Valpo is a comprehensive university with an enrollment of about 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Valpo is consistently recognized as one of the best private universities in the Midwest and is located in Valparaiso, Indiana, a county seat of 33,000 residents with high-quality schools and an active social community.

This one-year position begins in August 2022. We encourage candidates with expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will include three or four classes a semester and will possibly include teaching in our interdisciplinary CORE seminar for first-year students. Candidates would need to be prepared to teach our introductory course in Comparative Politics, and a variety of upper-division courses is required. Candidates with expertise in region studies would be helpful, as we offer courses on Latin America, East Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and Developed States. Ability to teach an introductory statistics course would be a bonus. Ideally, individuals will have an earned doctorate in an area of political science or international relations by the position start date, but we will consider ABD applicants that are approaching completion of their degree. The salary range is $49,000-$51,000. The College of Arts & Sciences will provide professional development support of approximately $850 for this visiting appointment to attend a disciplinary conference in 2022-2023. This position may be renewed for an additional year. Please direct inquiries about this position to Dr. Gregg B. Johnson, Chair, at Gregg.Johnson@valpo.edu.

Application Instructions

As a campus with an increasingly diverse student body, we encourage applications from individuals with a commitment to mentoring students from underrepresented communities. Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, two letters of recommendation, and contact information for three references to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/106847>. Candidates who submit names of references should expect that the search committee will contact these references, in confidence, and that credentials will be confirmed prior to hire. Employment will also require a satisfactory criminal background check. We will consider applications on a rolling basis, but the position is considered open until filled; however, applicants are encouraged to apply by May 25, 2022, for timely consideration.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

Valparaiso University shall abide by the requirements of 41 CFR §§ 60-1.4(a), 60-300.5(a) and 60-741.5(a). These regulations prohibit discrimination against qualified individuals based on their status as protected veterans or individuals with disabilities, and prohibit discrimination against all individuals based on their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Moreover, these regulations require that covered prime contractors and subcontractors take affirmative action to employ and advance in employment individuals without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, protected veteran status or disability.

Valparaiso University

Rank: VAP, International Relations and/or Comparative Politics

Visiting Assistant Professor in International Relations or Comparative Politics

Valparaiso University invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor, in the Department of Political Science and International Relations. Valparaiso University ("Valpo"), a community of learning grounded in the Lutheran tradition of scholarship, freedom, and faith, prepares students to lead and serve both church and society. Located one hour southeast of Chicago on a 310-acre campus, Valpo is a comprehensive university with an enrollment of about 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Valpo is consistently recognized as one of the best private universities in the Midwest and is located in Valparaiso, Indiana, a county seat of 33,000 residents with high-quality schools and an active social community.

This one-year position begins in August 2022. We encourage candidates with expertise in International Relations and/or Comparative Politics. Teaching responsibilities will include three or four classes a semester and will possibly include teaching in our interdisciplinary CORE seminar for first-year students. Candidates would need to be prepared to teach our introductory course in International Relations, a course titled, "War and Conflict", and other upper-division courses in the candidate's area of expertise. Candidates with expertise in Latin America need not apply due to existing staffing. Ideally, individuals will have an earned doctorate in an area of political science or international relations by the position start date, but we will consider ABD applicants that are approaching completion of their degree. The salary range is $49,000-$51,000. The College of Arts & Sciences will provide professional development support of approximately $850 for this visiting appointment to attend a disciplinary conference in 2022-2023. This position may be renewed for an additional year. Please direct inquiries about this position to Dr. Gregg B. Johnson, Chair, at Gregg.Johnson@valpo.edu.

As a campus with an increasingly diverse student body, we encourage applications from individuals with a commitment to mentoring students from underrepresented communities. Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, two letters of recommendation, and contact information for three references to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/105326>. Candidates who submit names of references should expect that the search committee will contact these references, in confidence, and that credentials will be confirmed prior to hire. Employment will also require a satisfactory criminal background check. We will consider applications on a rolling basis, but the position is considered open until filled; however, applicants are encouraged to apply by April 25, 2022, for timely consideration.

Valparaiso University does not unlawfully discriminate and aims to employ persons of various backgrounds and experiences to develop and support its diverse community. Its entire EOE policy can be found at <http://www.valpo.edu/general-counsel/policies/equal-opportunity-policy/>.

Michigan State University

Rank: Assistant Professor

Michigan State University's James Madison College seeks to fill a tenure-track assistant professor position in International Relations and quantitative methods. James Madison College provides undergraduates a rigorous liberal arts education in public affairs in a residential college setting inside of the broader R1 university. The International Relations major equips students with a dynamic interdisciplinary curriculum that reflects both the breadth and depth of international public affairs.

We seek a teacher-scholar with teaching expertise in introductory and advanced quantitative methods, with preferred expertise in technological approaches to knowing and representing international affairs such as data visualization, machine learning, spatial analysis or other emerging methods. Additionally, applicants must be able to teach about the relationship between technology and international politics, broadly defined, as well as contribute to the broader interdisciplinary curriculum of the major and the college. Applicants should demonstrate commitment to excellence in undergraduate teaching in an interdisciplinary setting; to achieving a substantial record of scholarship; and to promoting a diverse, equitable, and inclusive environment in a residential college setting. For more information on this major and the college please see the website: <https://jmc.msu.edu>.

Research areas of particular interest in the interactions between technology and international politics include, but are not limited to: artificial intelligence, climate politics, cybersecurity, energy politics, social media, state use and/or abuse of technologies in governance, and surveillance. The College is also particularly interested in expanding its coverage of Africa or Latin America.

A Ph.D. in a related field, including but not limited to Area Studies, Communications, Comparative Politics, Economics, Global Studies, International Relations, Political Science, Sociology, or related Social Science, is required by time of appointment. The College is especially interested in qualified candidates who can contribute, through their research, teaching, and/or service, to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Applicants should supply a statement addressing how their teaching and research interests would contribute to James Madison College's curriculum and mission. Supporting materials should include a CV, transcript, diversity statement, evidence of teaching approach and effectiveness, sample syllabi, and a sample of scholarship (e.g., article, dissertation chapter, conference paper). The names and contact information of three confidential references that speak to teaching expertise and scholarly promise must be provided as part of the application process. MSU will contact these references with instructions for the references on how to upload their confidential letter into MSU's application system.

Applications must be submitted electronically to the Michigan State University Human Resources website: <https://careers.msu.edu>. Please see posting number 789783 for complete instructions on how to apply. Review of applications will begin on September 15, 2022 and will continue until the position is filled. Please contact Katie Dyjach (dyjachk@msu.edu) with any questions.

Start Date: Fall 2023Application Deadline: 9/15/2022Date Posted: 6/24/2022Salary: CompetitiveeJobs ID: 10436University of Virginia*Rank: Full Professor, Department of Politics

In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia's Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a multiyear faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability, and representation, either to advance the work of the core lab on the history and principles of democracy or to contribute to one of the Initiative's other projects.

This year, with the support of the Nau Foundation, the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenured full professor who studies democracy in the subfield of international relations or the subfield of political theory. Candidates should have an active research agenda and a strong commitment to excellent teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences. To that end, the Initiative supports a variety of labs built on models of collaborative work. The Democracy Labs consist of a series of three-year, rotating labs on various topics, connected by the work of the John Nau III History and Principles of Democracy Lab (the Nau Core Lab), an interdisciplinary hub of research, teaching, and outreach. Current labs are focused on corruption and the rule of law, democracy and new media, democratic statecraft, the links between environmental and racial inequality, and race, religion, and democracy. The Democracy Initiative also supports two projects focused on community engagement and research, the Memory Project and The Equity Center. In addition to holding appointments in their home departments, each new faculty member hired under this initiative will also be a member either of the Nau Core lab or one of the Initiative's other research labs or projects.

Application review will begin September 15th, 2022, and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2023. Applicants must have received their PhD at least three years prior to the time of appointment.

TO APPLY:

Please apply through Workday, and search for R0037131. Complete an application online with the following documents:

.Cover letter of application describing (1) areas of research and teaching interest; (2) potential research collaborations; (3) your demonstrated past experience working on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or working with diverse populations (not to exceed three single spaced pages).

.Current curriculum vitae, including the names of three references

.A statement outlining what kinds of intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed two single-spaced pages)

.A research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages)

.A teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page)

Upload all materials into the resume submission field, multiple documents can be submitted into this one field. Alternatively, merge all documents into one PDF for submission. Applications that do not contain all required documents will not receive full consideration. Internal applicants must apply through their UVA Workday profile by searching 'Find Jobs'.

Valparaiso UniversityRank: Visiting Assistant Professor*Description

Valparaiso University invites applications for the position of Visiting Assistant Professor, in the Department of Political Science and International Relations. Valparaiso University ("Valpo"), a community of learning grounded in the Lutheran tradition of scholarship, freedom, and faith, prepares students to lead and serve both church and society. Located one hour southeast of Chicago on a 310-acre campus, Valpo is a comprehensive university with an enrollment of about 3,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Valpo is consistently recognized as one of the best private universities in the Midwest and is located in Valparaiso, Indiana, a county seat of 33,000 residents with high-quality schools and an active social community.

This one-year position begins in August 2022. We encourage candidates with expertise in Comparative Politics and/or International Relations. Teaching responsibilities will include three or four classes a semester and will possibly include teaching in our interdisciplinary CORE seminar for first-year students. Candidates would need to be prepared to teach our introductory course in Comparative Politics, and a variety of upper-division courses is required. Candidates with expertise in region studies would be helpful, as we offer courses on Latin America, East Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and Developed States. Ability to teach an introductory statistics course would be a bonus. Ideally, individuals will have an earned doctorate in an area of political science or international relations by the position start date, but we will consider ABD applicants that are approaching completion of their degree. The salary range is $49,000-$51,000. The College of Arts & Sciences will provide professional development support of approximately $850 for this visiting appointment to attend a disciplinary conference in 2022-2023. This position may be renewed for an additional year. Please direct inquiries about this position to Dr. Gregg B. Johnson, Chair, at Gregg.Johnson@valpo.edu.

Application Instructions

As a campus with an increasingly diverse student body, we encourage applications from individuals with a commitment to mentoring students from underrepresented communities. Please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching statement, two letters of recommendation, and contact information for three references to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/106847>. Candidates who submit names of references should expect that the search committee will contact these references, in confidence, and that credentials will be confirmed prior to hire. Employment will also require a satisfactory criminal background check. We will consider applications on a rolling basis, but the position is considered open until filled; however, applicants are encouraged to apply by May 25, 2022, for timely consideration.

Equal Employment Opportunity Statement

Valparaiso University shall abide by the requirements of 41 CFR §§ 60-1.4(a), 60-300.5(a) and 60-741.5(a). These regulations prohibit discrimination against qualified individuals based on their status as protected veterans or individuals with disabilities, and prohibit discrimination against all individuals based on their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Salve Regina University

Rank: Assistant Professor, Political Science and International Relations

Subfield(s): International Relations, International Relations, International Relations

About Salve Regina University:

Salve Regina University, ranked as one of the most transformative colleges in the United States by Money Magazine, is a comprehensive Catholic University located in the scenic coastal community of Newport, Rhode Island. The University's commitment to academic success and personal discovery extends beyond its historic campus into a dynamic world where the application of higher thinking and skill are most valued. Salve Regina offers bachelor's and master's degree programs, graduate certificates, and doctoral programs in humanities, international relations and nursing. Enrollment includes more than 2,600 undergraduate and graduate students from across the U.S. and around the world.

Job Description:

BASIC FUNCTION:

The Department of Political Science and International Relations at Salve Regina University invites applications for a tenure track, assistant professor in international relations with primary regional expertise in Africa or Latin America to begin August 2022. The department administers a B.A. in political science and an online M.A. and Ph.D. in international relations. The successful candidate will contribute to all three degree programs in their area of geographic expertise and in other international relations subjects, such as international organizations and law, public policy, security, human rights, migration, or the environment. We welcome applicants who take a variety of approaches to these topics. The position also offers opportunities for teaching in the university's undergraduate core curriculum and honors program.

ESSENTIAL DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES:

Contractual teaching load is 4-3. Duties include teaching undergraduate and graduate courses, advising undergraduate students, mentoring student research, dissertation advising, and committee service. The successful candidate is expected to engage in peer-reviewed scholarship and/or grant activity, university outreach, and collaboration with other academic departments in the teaching of cross-listed interdisciplinary undergraduate courses. Campus resources that are available for fostering the professional development of new faculty include a mentoring program, grand development support, and a Center for Teaching and Learning.

Requirements:

Candidates should have a record of teaching excellence and the promise of scholarly productivity. Candidates who have experience working in settings with students from diverse backgrounds and who are committed to improving access to higher education for students from historically underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply. A Ph.D. in political science or international relations must be completed by the time of appointment.

Additional Information:

Salve Regina University offers generous benefits to eligible employees including:

- health and dental coverage
- life insurance
- long-term disability
- 403B plan
- tuition benefits and more

Salve Regina University strives to provide equal opportunity in employment and education to all employees, students and applicants. No employee, student or applicant shall be discriminated against or harassed on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, religion, disability, age, marital or parental status, military or veteran status, genetic information or any other basis protected by applicable federal or state law, in the administration of Salve Regina's employment policies, education policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, athletic and other University administered programs. In accordance with Title IX, it does not discriminate on the basis of sex in any of its educational programs or activities. Salve Regina is also committed to making its programs and campus accessible to its visitors and compliant with all applicable non-discrimination laws.

Application Instructions:

Applicants must apply online by providing a cover letter, curriculum vitae, unofficial copy of graduate program transcript, teaching philosophy statement, statement of scholarly interests, and contact information for three references who can submit letters of recommendation after the initial screening of applications is completed. We ask that applicants discuss in the cover letter and teaching philosophy statement how their work fosters inclusive learning for diverse student populations. Pre-employment background checks and reference checks are required of successful candidates. Salve Regina University participates in E-verify.

The review of applications will begin on November 15, 2021, and will continue until the position is filled.

METHODOLOGY

University of Gothenburg

Rank: Postdoctoral researcher

Specializations: Political Economy, Environmental Policy, Quantitative Methods

Postdoctor in Political Science
Ref PAR 2022/1016

The University of Gothenburg tackles society's challenges with diverse knowledge. 56 000 students and 6 600 employees make the university a large and inspiring place to work and study. Strong research and attractive study programmes attract scientists and students from around the world. With new knowledge and new perspectives, the University contributes to a better future.

The Department of Political Science is an open and socially engaged institution, in the middle of the city and in the middle of the debate. Our research revolves around elections, democracy, corruption, forms of government, globalization, the environment and politics, as well as European issues. The department hosts research programs such as the Center for Collective Action Research (CeCAR), the QoG Institute, Varieties of Democracy (V-Dem), Governance and Local Development (GLD) and the Swedish Electoral Research Program. We have education at all levels, undergraduate advanced level and postgraduate level, as well as independent courses. Teaching is given in both Swedish and English. In total, about 1,400 people study with us. The Department of Political Science has around 160 employees.

The Department of Political Science invites applications for a postdoctoral fellow, to conduct research within two projects on comparative politics/ political economy, funded by the Swedish Research Council. This is a 2-year position.

Subject area

Political Science

Subject area description

Political science is a social science discipline concerned with the study of the state, nation, government, and politics and policies of government on a national and international perspective.

Job assignments

As a postdoctoral fellow, you are expected to conduct research in the field of comparative politics with a focus on political economy. This work combines opportunities to work with already outlined studies, as well as opportunities to independently develop your own ideas. The tasks consist partly of designing and conducting survey experiments on people's attitudes to authorities (where issues such as legitimacy and corruption are in focus), and to construct and analyze geospatial datasets where a focus is existing large-scale data on protected nature reserves. For the latter track, an example of the project's focus is an interest to analyze how issues such as ethnic power relations, leaders' ethnic/ geographic origin and their political position is related to the establishment of protected areas. Here, the project will partly focus on African countries, but also welcomes a comparative focus on other regions. The work will take place in collaboration with Associate Professor Aksel Sundström at the Department of Political Science and a number of other researchers, based for instance at the University of Cape Town, the London School of Economics and the University of Oslo.

Eligibility

The eligibility criteria for employing teaching staff are set out in Chapter 4 of the Higher Education Ordinance and in the Appointment Procedure for Teaching Posts at the University of Gothenburg.

To be eligible for appointment as a postdoc, the applicant is required to have a doctoral degree, a doctoral degree in art or a foreign degree that is deemed to be equivalent to a doctoral degree. This eligibility requirement must be met before the employment decision is made.

In the first instance, those who have completed their degree no more than three years prior to the end of the application period shall be considered. Those who have completed their degree more than three years prior to the end of the application period may also be considered in the first instance if special grounds exist. Special grounds relate to leave of absence due to illness, parental leave, commissions of trust within union organisations, service within the defence services or other similar circumstances, as well as clinical service or service/assignment relevant to the subject area.

Assessment

You must have a doctoral degree in preferably political science or related discipline. We are looking for you with previous experience of research in connection with the research area described above.

The project will be based on two different approaches, (1) experimental research method and survey analysis, and (2) geospatial analysis of data. It is therefore a requirement with extensive documented experience in either experiment-based research projects (design and implementation), quantitative data analysis, and survey programming and / or extensive experience in geospatial design and data analysis.

Documented experience of STATA and / or R is a requirement. You should also be able to independently produce high-level scientific articles. Previously published self-written scientific articles are therefore a merit.

Applicants must have excellent written and oral proficiency in English.

To be successful in this position, you must have an eye for detail, good organizational skills and be able to solve problems. You need to have very high communication and collaboration skills. Great emphasis is placed on personal suitability for the position. We will make an overall assessment and the applicant who is considered to be best qualified to carry out and develop the tasks described above will be appointed to the position.

Employment

The employment is limited (temporary) for 24 months, 100% of full-time and is placed at the Department of political Science. Starting date; as soon as possible or as agreed.

Application

To apply for a position at the University of Gothenburg, you have to create an account in our recruitment system. Submit your application via the University of Gothenburg's recruitment portal by clicking the "Apply" button. It is your responsibility to ensure that the application is complete as per the vacancy notice, and that the University receives it by the final application deadline.

The application should include the following:

A letter of application (max 3 pages), outlining how your research agenda can contribute to this project. It should clearly show the ways in which the applicant meets the requirements specified above.

A CV (including a list of publications)

One writing sample

A list of at least three references (with contact information) from whom letters of recommendation can be solicited

Applications must be received by: August 15th 2022.

The University works actively to achieve a working environment with equal conditions, and values the qualities that diversity brings to its operations.

Salaries are set individually at the University.

In accordance with the National Archives of Sweden's regulations, the University must archive application documents for two years after the appointment is filled. If you request that your documents are returned, they will be returned to you once the two years have passed. Otherwise, they will be destroyed.

In connection to this recruitment, we have already decided which recruitment channels we should use. We therefore decline further contact with vendors, recruitment and staffing companies.

Wake Forest University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow and Coordinator for Measurement and Evaluation in the Professional Schools, Program for Leadership and Character

Specializations: Education Policy, Leadership Studies, Research Methods

The Program for Leadership and Character at Wake Forest University is seeking an exceptional individual as a postdoctoral fellow and research coordinator for measurement and evaluation in the professional schools. The fellow will work with an interdisciplinary research team conducting innovative and potentially transformative research on cultivating character and leadership among students in the professional schools at Wake Forest University (e.g., School of Law, School of Medicine, and School of Divinity).

This position is supported by a multi-year grant from the Kern Family Foundation. The successful candidate will be offered up to a 4-year term, with the potential for funding beyond the initial term.

Essential Functions of the Postdoctoral Fellow:

- will report to, and work closely with, the Senior Research Scholar in the Professional Schools to design and analyze multiple research studies;
- conceptualize innovative and creative ways to measure and evaluate key constructs and facets of the Program;
- coordinate multiple studies, involving but not limited to: developing and maintaining relationships with stakeholders, ethical compliance, participant recruitment and management, administering surveys, conducting research interviews, and facilitating focus groups;
- carry out all aspects of data management of multiple quantitative and qualitative datasets;
- conduct a range of quantitative and qualitative analyses;
- contribute to, and at times lead, the writing of manuscripts (e.g., journal articles, chapters, research reports);
- manage and mentor student research assistants.

Required Education, Disposition and Skills:

- Ph.D. in a social science field, including but not limited to psychology, human development, education, sociology, economics, political science or philosophy;
- strong and demonstrated analytical skills, with experience using qualitative and/or quantitative methods in empirical research;
- excellent writing, research, and communication skills.
- have a strong work ethic;
- be highly collaborative and enjoy working as part of a research team;
- be flexible, creative and open-minded about research approaches and methodologies;
- be attentive to detail and context;
- have strong time management skills to be involved in multiple ongoing research projects (at different stages in the research process), and the ability to follow through with high work quality and consistency of effort;
- be open to being mentored and given constructive feedback;
- be interested and able to learn quickly and independently;
- be willing to follow direction and eventually take on leadership of research as experience is gained on the job.

Required Documents:

In the Cover Letter, please share your experiences and responses to the following:

- while we do not expect candidates to have necessarily worked or conducted research in the substantive area of leadership or character education, we would like you to articulate the nature of your interest in this area of research and in this particular Program;
- if you have conducted research using exclusively quantitative or qualitative methodologies, please make a case for your attitude towards using both approaches during this project, and how you intend to close any gaps in your methodological expertise (The Program is prepared to provide the successful candidate with funds to develop relevant methodological skills);
- provide examples of high-level organizational, administrative and interpersonal skills;
- provide examples (if relevant) of coordinating and managing multiple studies simultaneously.

In the Research Statement, please propose and outline some of the measurement and evaluation work you can imagine doing (or would like to do) in your role (taking into account the goals of the program from the website, and the outlined job functions and required dispositions and skills).

- Please give examples of between 2-4 research studies that you might design for the professional schools, and outline the measurement and evaluation methods and procedures you would envisage using, and any potential pitfalls you could see;
- If possible, describe how technologies, techniques and methodologies that are new and possibly uncommon in the social sciences, could be valuable in answering research questions that might be relevant to the cultivation of leadership and character in the Professional Schools;
- Talk about how the research experience and skills that you have (and any you would like to develop/get trained in), would be valuable in measurement and evaluation particularly within the context of leadership and character education in the Professional Schools.

Required documents to be submitted at the time of application (candidates are encouraged to apply by July 15th, 2022. Please note that incomplete applications will not be considered):

- Cover Letter (no more than 2 pages and addressed to the members of the search committee). Please see the requirements for the cover letter listed above.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- 2 writing samples demonstrating your research expertise (with at least 1 illustrating some of your methodological expertise)
- Research Statement (no longer than 3 pages). Please see the requirements for the research statement listed above.
- 3 confidential letters of recommendation to be sent via email to leadershipandcharacter@wfu.edu within 2 weeks of applying.

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, Research Methods, Public Finance & Budgeting

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, Maryland. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MA in Public Management program (see below). The courses will be taught online and/or onsite in Washington, DC in Fall 2022 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

- 470.854 Fundamentals of Quantitative Methods

This course trains students to be informed consumers of quantitative studies, in addition to teaching the tools of basic statistical work. The course material covers basic descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and data collection. The key learning objective is for students to develop a better understanding of the statistical and econometric results they may encounter in their careers.

- 470.631 Economics for Public Decision-making

This course aims to offer students an understanding of economics and its importance in public policymaking. The first half of the course will offer students an understanding of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, including a discussion of when markets can work to achieve policy goals and when "market failures" call for government intervention. The second half of the class will use these economic tools and theories to survey several specific policy areas, including health policy, tax policy, and the national debt.

- 470.608 Public Policy Evaluation and the Policy Process

This course introduces students to the public policymaking process, the basics of policy analysis, and the substance of some of today's major policy debates. The first half of the course focuses on establishing a framework in which to analyze public policy formulation within the United States. The class also reviews the tools for developing and implementing policy. The second half of the course turns to policy analysis of some critical contemporary issues.

- 470.605 Global Political Economy

In this course, students investigate core topics in international political economy, analyzing the security implications of each. Topics include trade relations, international finance, monetary relations, poverty, and development.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy, with a master's degree at minimum
- Two years of professional work experience within the relevant fields

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy
- 1-3 years of graduate-level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- In-person/in the classroom teaching experience.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in the public management program.

Application Instructions

PLEASE APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/107918>

Rank: Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Non-Academic

The Environmental Science and Public Policy (ESPP) concentration seeks qualified candidates for the position of Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies (ADUS) in the ESPP program, housed administratively at the Harvard University Center for the Environment (HUCE). The ADUS will report to the ESPP Head Tutor and an interdisciplinary faculty ESPP Board of Tutors.

Job-Specific Responsibilities

Provide academic advising and mentorship to admitted Harvard students, pre-concentrators, and concentrators, and monitor student

progress toward degree. Match student thesis writers with faculty advisors; identify potential problems in the thesis-writing process; help keep students on track to complete the thesis. Manage the senior capstone and thesis courses; meet regularly with students to identify issues with progress and advising. Advise ESPP and Energy & Environment secondary field students and lead discussions for their colloquium requirement.

In coordination with the Office of Career Services and other relevant offices at Harvard College, support current students in their pursuit of undergraduate research opportunities, internships, and full-time post-graduate positions after graduation. Act as a conduit to faculty to help students engage in meaningful research experiences at Harvard. Engage with students in settings outside of the classroom related to ESPP content: informal discussions after talks, field trips, journal clubs, etc. Help identify speakers for events. Represent ESPP at information/student recruiting events.

Assist with curriculum and course development, course planning, and curriculum assessment. May teach or co-teach in ESPP depending on the needs of the concentration in a given academic year.

Basic Qualifications

A Ph.D. in an environmental field (science or social sciences) with significant involvement in the policy realm.

Additional Qualifications and Skills

Documented ability to teach effectively and engage with undergraduate students; a strong commitment to education and mentoring; experience with advising and course/program development and commitment and enthusiasm for research and pedagogy in research methods; excellent communication skills.

Additional Information

To apply, candidates should submit their cover letter and resume/CV online through Harvard Careers at this link: <https://bit.ly/3PERm80>. Candidates selected for an interview will be asked to provide three letters of recommendation, including at least one that addresses teaching ability.

OPENPurdue University Fort Wayne

Rank: Post-Doctoral Teaching Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

The Department of Political Science at Purdue University Fort Wayne (PFW) welcomes qualified applications for a post-doctoral teaching fellowship. The Department of Political Science is housed in the College of Liberal Arts. The fellowship is a two-year appointment, with reappointment for the second-year contingent on positive evaluations from students and faculty through the first year, as well as the curricular needs of the program. The fellow will teach a 3/3 course load, mentor undergraduate political science majors, as well as contribute to programming and faculty-related duties of the program. The fellow will receive office space, a travel stipend, have faculty privileges to university services like institutional technology, Center for the Enhancement of Teaching and Learning, and library system among others. The fellowship is exactly equivalent to the responsibilities of a full-time position between its teaching, research, and service expectations and provides a competitive salary and benefits package.

Requirements

Applicants will be expected to have consequential teaching experience, solid teaching evaluations, and strong recommendations from their direct teaching mentors. Candidates must have earned their Ph.D. in political science after May 1, 2019, or will have earned their Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2022; completion of the doctoral degree is a requirement for the fellowship appointment. Candidates should be able to teach across different areas of political science, including introductory courses in American politics. Preference will be given to candidates who have scholarly experience and research interest in civic engagement given the department's rich history of community engagement, extensive partnerships with not-for-profits and institutions, our Certificate of Civic Engagement and Public Advocacy, and because the department's Center of Excellence, the Mike Downs Center for Indiana Politics, is a Kettering Foundation Center for Civic Life.

The Application Process

For full consideration, applicants should provide a letter of interest, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, three letters of recommendation, transcripts, details of their experience in civic engagement scholarship or teaching, and evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi and/or descriptions for courses they would be interested in teaching, including special topics courses relevant to their research area or civic engagement to https://careers.purdue.edu/FW?_ga=2.200661165.2092626911.1644960767-116241627.1620395320. The Department is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including research, teaching, and service/engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

PFW is an EEO/AA employer fully committed to achieving a diverse workforce. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply. The position is contingent on a satisfactory background records check and available funding. Purdue University will not provide visa sponsorship for this position.

Expectations

The expectation is that the fellow will teach a range of courses, including introductory-level ones that contribute to PFW's general education curriculum, the interdisciplinary courses that attract College of Liberal Arts students, and upper-level political science courses that we already teach or that the candidate would develop. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and an interest in taking an active role in the student-centered culture of the program. All candidates who are interviewed will prepare a faculty and staff presentation as well as an instructional student-centered presentation. The Department

The Department of Political Science at PFW is a dynamic department with award-winning faculty and students who have earned numerous nationally prestigious awards. Our graduates have attended elite graduate, professional, and law programs and thrive in nearly every private and public sector field. We have averaged around 75 majors in recent years and have multiple degree programs, certificates, and minors. The department's ability to provide our students with a broad curriculum across the discipline despite our marginally sized faculty has been of particular note, as has our extensive experiential learning opportunities, overseas study, and internships. We are proud of our dedication to student mentoring and community engagement. The fellow is expected to contribute to these existing strengths and provide consistency as the department faculty transitions in its makeup. The fellow will have the opportunity to work with faculty mentors and serve as mentor to students as well as they strengthen their experience for subsequent faculty or professional positions.

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellowship

The Princeton Society of Fellows in the Liberal Arts, an interdisciplinary group of scholars in the humanities and social sciences, invites applications for the 2023-26 fellowship competition. Five fellowships are to be awarded:

Two or three Open Fellowships in any discipline represented in the Society

One Fellowship in Humanistic Studies

One Fellowship in East Asian Studies

One Fellowship in Race and Ethnicity Studies

Applicants may be considered for more than one fellowship pertinent to their research and teaching. Please see the Society's website (sf.princeton.edu) for fellowship details, eligibility, disciplines and application.

Appointed in the Council of the Humanities and academic departments, postdoctoral fellows pursue their research, attend weekly seminars, and teach half-time as lecturers for a term of three years. In each of the first two years, fellows teach one course each semester; in their third year, only one course in either semester. Fellows must reside in or near Princeton during the academic year.

Applicants holding the Ph.D. at the time of application must have received the degree after January 1, 2021. Applicants not yet holding the Ph.D. must have completed a substantial portion of the dissertation – at least half - at the time of application. Successful candidates must fulfill all requirements for the Ph.D., including filing of the dissertation, by June 15, 2023. Candidates for/recipients of doctoral degrees in Education, Jurisprudence, and from Princeton University are not eligible. Applicants may apply only once to the Princeton Society of Fellows.

Selection is based on exceptional scholarly achievement and evidence of unusual promise, range and quality of teaching experience, and potential contributions to an interdisciplinary community. The Society of Fellows seeks a diverse and international pool of applicants, and especially welcomes those from underrepresented backgrounds.

Applicants are asked to submit an online application by August 2, 2022 (11:59 p.m. EDT).

These positions are subject to the University's background check policy.

Princeton University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. SUNY, Binghamton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

Binghamton University - Postdoctoral Associate in Harpur College That May Lead to Tenure Track

Binghamton University is a world-class institution that unites more than 130 broadly interdisciplinary educational programs with some of the most vibrant research in the nation. Our unique character - shaped by outstanding academics, facilities and community life - promotes extraordinary student success.

Increasing campus diversity is one of Binghamton University's most important strategic priorities. The Presidential Diversity Postdoctoral Fellowship (PDPF) was established in 2018 so that the university can recruit highly qualified candidates for research and scholarship in disciplines that have found it difficult to attract a diverse faculty. This fellowship program mirrors the goals of the SUNY PRODiG program (<https://www.suny.edu/prodig/>) which advances diversity and inclusive excellence by encouraging the recruitment, retention and promotion of outstanding scholars from different backgrounds, including individuals from groups that have been historically underrepresented in higher education.

Our goal is to develop top-tier candidates who may have the opportunity to remain at Binghamton University in a tenure track capacity when their postdoctoral work is completed. Harpur College of Arts & Sciences has fulfilled this commitment, with a track record of four tenure-track assistant professor appointments from the PDPF cohort over the past two years.

Two fellowship appointments will be made in Harpur College of Arts & Sciences for the 2022-23 academic year in two of the following areas: Africana Studies, Anthropology, Art History, Cinema, Comparative Literature, Geography, Music, Political Science, Romance Languages and Literatures, and Theatre. The college is particularly, but not exclusively, interested in scholars who can contribute to interdisciplinary programs in Digital and Data Studies (<https://www.binghamton.edu/harpur/undergraduate/digital-data.html>) and Global Public Health (degree program currently under development). Binghamton merges rigorous academics, distinguished faculty and state-of-the-art facilities to engage and challenge its 18,000 students.

The high-achieving Binghamton student body also represents a great diversity of life experiences, from first-generation college-goers to international students. Beyond their talent, these classmates share a desire to shape the future through technology, insight, intellectual exploration and community service.

Job Description:

Salary: $62,000

Fellows are appointed with the title of Postdoctoral Associate and will receive the annual salary, along with a New York State comprehensive benefits package. Each fellowship appointment is a non-renewable two-year contract. There will be a research allowance that may be used in support of scholarly expenses and conference travel to disseminate research findings. There will be a moving expenses allowance.

Responsibilities:

The fellows are expected to conduct original research, publish scholarly work, and/or engage in creative activities, as appropriate to the department wherein they will be appointed, and to teach or co-teach one or more courses per year as the instructor of record.

Fellows will receive formal mentoring, as well as constructive feedback throughout the appointment in an effort to improve their candidacy for a tenure track appointment.

Requirements:

- Applicant must receive a doctoral degree in a relevant field prior to the appointment. The expected start date is September 1, 2022, but candidates may be considered for a January 1, 2023 appointment.
- Commitment to improving campus diversity and the campus climate.
- Applicant must be authorized to work in the United States at the time of appointment. Visa sponsorship is not available.

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer

The State University of New York is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Application Instructions:

Review of applications will begin on March 21, 2022 and continue until the positions have been filled.

Persons interested in this position should apply online: <https://binghamton.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=142780>

Please submit:

1. Cover letter that describes your research and teaching interests. This letter should identify the department (Africana Studies, Anthropology, Art History, Cinema, Comparative Literature, Geography, Music, Political Science, Romance Languages and Literatures, or Theatre) that aligns with your research and teaching commitments, along with titles/rubrics of two or three possible courses that you are qualified to teach in that area,
2. CV (curriculum vitae),
3. Names and contact information of three references. References will be contacted at a later stage in the screening process and only for candidates that are under serious consideration,
4. Letter describing how your appointment would contribute to enhancing the diversity and climate of the department, Harpur College, and Binghamton University.

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Development Finance
Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Trade

The Empirical Studies of Conflict Project (ESOC) at the School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA), the Julis-Rabinowitz Center for Public Policy and Finance (JRCPPF), and the Department of Operations Research and Financial Engineering (ORFE) at Princeton University seek outstanding candidates for a postdoctoral research associate, or more senior research position, in the area of development finance starting July 1, 2022.

In addition to pursuing their own independent research, the Postdoctoral Research Associate will play a key role in supporting a new Research Community at Princeton focusing on how technical and/or financial interventions can address issues at the intersection of climate change and development in such regions as sub-Saharan Africa. Experience using data from diverse sources like nightlights and social media, in addition to administrative data, would be of particular value. The Associate could also support an ongoing ORFE project in collaboration with a major US bank, or teach an introductory course in statistics and probability for that department, contingent on interest, departmental need, and sufficient course enrollments. If teaching, the Associate would carry a secondary rank of Lecturer during the relevant semester.

The position provides an excellent opportunity for collaboration with Princeton faculty, graduate and undergraduate students. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of Princeton University.

Applicants must have received (or expect to receive) a Ph.D. between September 2019 and September 2022, in Economics, Finance, Operations Research, Data Science, Political Science, or a related field. This is a 12-month term appointment with the possibility of renewal contingent on satisfactory performance and funding.

All candidates with relevant research interests are encouraged to apply. We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences, and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

Ethics Institute at Dartmouth College Rank: Burt Dorsett '53 Postdoctoral Fellow in Ethics,

The Ethics Institute at Dartmouth College invites applications for the Burt Dorsett '53 postdoctoral fellow in ethics. The Dorsett fellowship program supports new scholars whose research addresses questions of ethics from a range of perspectives in moral philosophy, political philosophy, applied ethics, professional ethics or philosophy of law.

This is a two-year residential fellowship program. For the duration of the fellowship, Dorsett fellows are expected to pursue independent research while participating in the intellectual life of the Ethics Institute. This includes participating in the Institute's annual moral and political philosophy workshop where both junior and senior scholars come to campus to discuss new work in ethics. The Dorsett fellow will also participate in the Institute's annual student fellowship program by discussing their own research with our undergraduate fellows. The Dorsett fellow will also teach a course related to ethics in the second year. Fellows receive an annual stipend of approximately $57,960 plus benefits and an allocation for research expenses (exact funding levels will be set at the time of offer).

The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Provost's Fellowship Program, Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences.

Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Philosophy, Ethics, Political Science or a related discipline or be ABD with a Ph.D. expected before the start date of their appointment. Applicants will be selected on the basis of their academic achievement, promise in both research and teaching, and their demonstrated commitment to advancing the mission of the Ethics Institute.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in applicants who are able to work effectively with students, faculty, and staff from all backgrounds, including but not limited to: racial and ethnic minorities, women, individuals who identify with LGBTQ+ communities, individuals with disabilities, individuals from lower income backgrounds, and/or first generation college graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

To apply, submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, dissertation abstract, writing sample, and three confidential letters of recommendation to apply.interfolio.com/107477. To ensure full consideration by the search committee, applications should be submitted by November 1, 2022.

Trent University

Rank: Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership

Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership

Trent University invites applications from outstanding academics to be the inaugural Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership. Supported by a $2 million investment from the Jarislowsky Foundation, this prestigious appointment is one of five new endowed chairs at liberal arts and science universities across Canada who will form the first-ever network of its kind focused on educating tomorrow's leaders in government, politics and the public service.

Trent's Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership will be an eminent scholar of political ethics and governance appointed to the Department of Political Studies, Department of Philosophy and/or another Humanities and Social Sciences department at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor. The inaugural Chair term will be for five years (with the possibility of renewal for one additional five-year term) to be held concurrently with the Trent University faculty appointment. The appointment will commence September 1, 2022 or thereafter.

Trent University is the top-ranked primarily undergraduate university in Ontario, Canada with a record of excellence in teaching, research and community-engaged scholarship. With access to a significant annual allocation of funding from a $4 million endowment, Trent's Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership will develop an innovative program of scholarship (teaching and research) that will expand knowledge and training in the ethical practice of politics, fiduciary responsibility and democratic governance.

This is an exciting opportunity for an exceptional candidate to enhance Trent's areas of strength in political theory and ethics in alignment with Trent's strategic priorities. Trent's Jarislowsky Chair will be expected to lead a new interdisciplinary specialization in ethics, politics and governance with a particular regional emphasis on the governments, politics and public sectors of Ontario. The Chair also will be expected to establish partnerships that foster experiential learning, research and career opportunities for students.

Trent's Jarislowsky Chair will be a founding member of the national Network of Jarislowsky Chairs in Trust and Political Leadership made up of five endowed Chairs at Acadia University, l'Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières (in collaboration with l'École Nationale d'Administration Publique), Trent University, the University of Lethbridge and Vancouver Island University. The aim of the pan-Canadian network is to educate the next generation of politicians and public sector leaders in ethics, democratic values and responsible governance within the contexts of Canada's diverse citizenship, democracy and commitment to meaningful Truth and Reconciliation. The Jarislowsky Chairs network will offer innovative academic programs and experiential learning opportunities. The Jarislowsky Chairs network will work collaboratively to develop, improve and promote communities of practice in ethics and fiduciary responsibility in political and governance decision making across Canada.

Information about Trent's Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership can be found at www.trentu.ca/artsci/jarislowsky with information about the departments of Political Studies and Philosophy available at www.trentu.ca/politicalstudies and www.trentu.ca/philosophy.

To be eligible for this appointment, candidates must have a Ph.D. in Philosophy, or Political Studies, or a closely related discipline in the Humanities and Social Sciences. The successful candidate will demonstrate the ability to fulfil the teaching, research and service expectations of a tenured Trent University faculty member, including teaching undergraduate and graduate courses, maintaining a high quality internationally significant research program, and providing leadership within and beyond the university commensurate with a senior academic appointment. The successful candidate will also demonstrate the ability to fulfill the national collaborative leadership expectations of the Network of Jarislowsky Chairs in Trust and Political Leadership. Expert knowledge in the governments, politics and public sectors in the Ontario context where Trent University is located will be considered an asset.

To apply for this prestigious appointment, eligible candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, a summary of their research program (research prospectus) and samples of most significant publications, a teaching portfolio including a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of excellence in teaching and mentoring, a statement of equity, diversity and inclusion in teaching, research and service, and any other supporting materials. Candidates should also submit the names of three (3) referees who may be contacted to submit letters of reference.

Please send applications to jarislowskychair@trentu.ca attention to Chair, Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership Hiring Committee. Applications will only be accepted in PDF format via email.

Enquiries about Trent's Jarislowsky Chair in Trust and Political Leadership should be sent to Dr. Mark Skinner, Dean of Humanities and Social Sciences, markskinner@trentu.ca.

Review of applications will begin on July 8, 2022 and will be accepted until the position is filled.

Trent University is actively committed to creating a diverse and inclusive campus community and encourages applications from all qualified candidates. Trent University offers accommodation for applicants with disabilities in its recruitment processes. If you require accommodation during the recruitment process or require an accessible version of a document/publication, please contact jarislowskychair@trentu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

Drexel

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow on Regulation of New Technology

Subfield(s): Other, Other, Other

Job Summary

The Drexel University Kline School of Law's Center for Law and Transformational Technology invites applications for a two-year postdoctoral fellow, beginning September 1, 2022, with an emphasis on sociotechnical research in the areas of law, regulation, and governance at the intersection of law and technology, and the development of new technologies. Applicants from all disciplines and methodological approaches are welcome to apply. The postdoctoral fellowship begins on Sept. 1, 2022, potentially can be extended to January 1, 2023. Center for Law and Transformational Technology was created in 2021 with a seed grant from the Green Family Foundation to bring together key stakeholders, including legal and technological scholars, industry leaders, activists, regulators, and other experts from across the country and the world. The Center supports concrete efforts to gauge the legal impact of transformational technology, promote critical conversations about the role of law in technological change and bring legal experts into interdisciplinary conversations with researchers and developers at all stages of design and development. Working across industries, the Center helps educate lawyers to play a positive role navigating a technological landscape we cannot yet imagine. By facilitating international and multi-disciplinary partnerships, the Center seeks to contribute to a future in which technology moves forward hand-in-hand with society.

The Fellow will also have the opportunity to collaborate with faculty and participate in workshops and symposia from across the University. Situated in the heart of Philadelphia, Kline Law and the Center for Law and Transformational Technology offer exciting opportunities to engage with the region's intellectual and innovation communities.

Essential Functions

The Fellow will work with law faculty and faculty in cognate disciplines who work with the Center. The Fellow is expected to conduct original research, teach at least one class each year (for JD students or undergraduates studying in the Law School's newly established B.A. in Law program), and support Center activities including symposia, outreach to scholars in varied disciplines, and a student research fellow program. The Fellow is expected to participate fully in the intellectual life of the Center and of Kline Law.

Required Qualifications

- PhD or Doctorate
- PhD in one of the social sciences, JD, or SJD
- No experience required

Preferred Qualifications

Applicants should have experience and an active scholarly agenda centering on the intersection of regulation, law and/or governance with respect to emerging technologies. Preference will be given to applicants who have published in this field.

Physical Demands

- Typically sitting at a desk/table

Location

University City – Philadelphia, PA

Additional Information

This position is classified as exempt with a salary grade of I. For more information regarding Drexel's Professional Staff salary structure, <https://drexel.edu/hr/career/ducomp/salstructure/>

Wesleyan University

Rank: Postdoctoral Researcher Quantitative Analysis Center

Subfield(s): Other, American Government and Politics, Other

Specializations: Quantitative Methods, American Politics, Health Care

Wesleyan's Quantitative Analysis Center (QAC) and the Wesleyan Media Project (WMP) are seeking a one-year postdoctoral or predoctoral researcher to support research and teaching in the areas of survey research, computational social science, and applied data science. The successful candidate will work in a research group with faculty and students in a lab-based model on designing and analyzing public opinion surveys, including topics related to the candidate's own interests, and may support grant-funded work on elections and issues related to health and social policy. The individual will also teach one class per semester (two per academic year). One of the classes will be an introduction to survey research methods, and the other class should be related to the theme of "Data and Democracy," which focuses on how quantitative data and computational methods can be used to study democratic processes, information, and outcomes in both the United States and globally. Candidates should include in their statement of teaching interests or cover letter a description of a course they might teach related to the "Data and Democracy" theme. The substantive focus of the course is open, although it should relate to democratic processes, information, or outcomes, broadly defined, and include a data analysis or computational component.

Candidates with a Ph.D. in political science or related field are encouraged to apply. Applicants should have experience designing surveys and analyzing survey data and general training in quantitative analysis or computational methods. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in political science or related field in hand by the time of appointment to be hired as a Postdoctoral Fellow; a successful candidate may be hired as an Predoctoral Fellow if the candidate does not have a Ph.D. in hand at the time of appointment, but will complete the Ph.D. in political science or related field within one year of hire.

You will be asked to upload electronic versions of the items we require, which are (1) cover letter, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) research statement, and (4) Statement of Teaching Philosophy and Interests. In the cover letter, applicants should describe how they will embrace the college's commitment to fostering an inclusive community, as well as their experience working with individuals from historically marginalized or underserved groups.

You will also be asked to provide the email addresses of two referees from whom we may obtain confidential letters of recommendation (please double-check the accuracy of the email addresses of the referees you name to ensure that you have the most up-to-date email addresses for each one).

After you have submitted all of the required documents, you will see a confirmation number. At that point, each of your referees whose email address you have provided will receive an automatically-generated email requesting that he or she submit a letter of reference for you. The deadline for applications is July 6, but applications will be considered on a rolling basis. The successful candidate can start as early as August 1st, but no later than September 1st.

Please contact Martha Besade (mbesade@wesleyan.edu) if you have questions about the application process.

Note for Interfolio users:

We gladly accept letters of recommendation from Interfolio. From your Interfolio account, please use the "web delivery" method to upload your letters directly to our online application.

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Theory and/or Philosophy

Interfolio Title: Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Theory and/or Philosophy

Description

The Political Economy Project (PEP) at Dartmouth College seeks applications for a full-time one-year renewable postdoctoral fellowship with an anticipated start date of September 1, 2022. We seek qualified candidates who work on social/political philosophy, ethics, and/or history of political thought, all broadly construed. PEP is an interdisciplinary initiative focused on normative questions at the intersection of politics, economics, and philosophy. The majority of the fellow's time will be devoted to independent research. The fellow will teach two courses per year in either the Government or Philosophy Departments, at least one of which will be an introductory-level course related to political economy. The fellow is expected to attend and actively assist in planning PEP events and otherwise participate in PEP's intellectual life and the Government Department or Philosophy Department during the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. The selected candidate will hold an appointment as a Lecturer in either the Government Department or Philosophy Department and as a Postdoctoral Fellow in PEP. The initial appointment will be for one academic year, with the expectation of renewal for one further year assuming good performance. The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative and Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences. The salary is competitive and includes benefits.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in diverse applicants who can work effectively with an inclusive and diverse student body, faculty, and staff. Dartmouth is made up of individuals who identify as Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC), women, individuals who identify as LGBTQIA+, individuals with disabilities, veterans, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and first-generation college students and graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter, or a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications:

Hampden-Sydney College

Rank: Assistant Professor

Subfield(s): International Relations, Comparative Politics, Other
Specializations: International Law & Organizations, Latin American, Foreign Policy

Hampden-Sydney College invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor within the Department of Government and Foreign Affairs. Candidates should specialize in International Law and the U.S. Constitution and Foreign Affairs; additional subfields in Latin American politics and/or U.S. national security policy are highly desired. Candidates should be able to teach, as needed, Introduction to American Government and, particularly, introduction to World Politics. The ability to offer courses in Western Culture or political philosophy is a plus.

Hampden-Sydney College highly values the teacher/scholar model. Effective teaching, a commitment to scholarly productivity, willingness to engage in community service, and a dedication to student success, are all qualities required of a successful candidate. Teaching load for this position is seven courses per year.

Hampden-Sydney College is a selective liberal arts institution enrolling approximately 1000 students. Founded in 1775, it is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Our beautiful 1300-acre campus is less than 7 miles from downtown Farmville, home to Longwood University and the Moton Museum, which is listed on the U.S. Civil Rights Trail. The campus is located 65 miles west of Richmond, 50 miles east of Lynchburg, and 75 miles south of Charlottesville, providing abundant cultural, recreational and artistic resources. Hampden-Sydney is one of four liberal arts colleges in the United States dedicated to the education of men, and our mission is to educate "good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." As a community, we are dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse faculty committed to working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourage applications from women and minoritized groups. Hampden-Sydney College values diversity, prohibits discrimination, and is committed to equal opportunity for all employees and applicants for employment.

To apply, please submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, teaching philosophy, and three confidential reference letters via Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/107980>. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in political science by the time of appointment.

Questions about this position may be addressed to Dr. John Eastby at jeastby@hsc.edu or Dr. Celia Carroll Jones at ccarroll@hsc.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately, and the position will remain open until filled.

Princeton University

Rank: Postdoctoral Research Associate in Development Finance
Specializations: Economic Policy, International Political Economy, Trade

The Empirical Studies of Conflict Project (ESOC) at the School of Public and International Affairs (SPIA), the Julis-Rabinowitz Center for Public Policy and Finance (JRCPPF), and the Department of Operations Research and Financial Engineering (ORFE) at Princeton University seek outstanding candidates for a postdoctoral research associate, or more senior research position, in the area of development finance starting July 1, 2022.

In addition to pursuing their own independent research, the Postdoctoral Research Associate will play a key role in supporting a new Research Community at Princeton focusing on how technical and/or financial interventions can address issues at the intersection of climate change and development in such regions as sub-Saharan Africa. Experience using data from diverse sources like nightlights and social media, in addition to administrative data, would be of particular value. The Associate could also support an ongoing ORFE project in collaboration with a major US bank, or teach an introductory course in statistics and probability for that department, contingent on interest, departmental need, and sufficient course enrollments. If teaching, the Associate would carry a secondary rank of Lecturer during the relevant semester.

The position provides an excellent opportunity for collaboration with Princeton faculty, graduate and undergraduate students. Postdoctoral Research Associates are expected to participate actively in the intellectual life of Princeton University.

Applicants must have received (or expect to receive) a Ph.D. between September 2019 and September 2022, in Economics, Finance, Operations Research, Data Science, Political Science, or a related field. This is a 12-month term appointment with the possibility of renewal contingent on satisfactory performance and funding.

All candidates with relevant research interests are encouraged to apply. We at the School of Public and International Affairs believe that it is vital to cultivate an environment that embraces and promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion - fundamental to the success of our education and research mission. This commitment to diversity informs our efforts in recruitment and hiring as we actively seek colleagues of exceptional ability who represent a broad range of viewpoints, experiences, and value systems, and who share Princeton University's dedication to excellence.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Wake Forest University

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow and Coordinator for Measurement and Evaluation in the Professional Schools, Program for Leadership and Character

Specializations: Education Policy, Leadership Studies, Research Methods

The Program for Leadership and Character at Wake Forest University is seeking an exceptional individual as a postdoctoral fellow and research coordinator for measurement and evaluation in the professional schools. The fellow will work with an interdisciplinary research team conducting innovative and potentially transformative research on cultivating character and leadership among students in the professional schools at Wake Forest University (e.g., School of Law, School of Medicine, and School of Divinity).

This position is supported by a multi-year grant from the Kern Family Foundation. The successful candidate will be offered up to a 4-year term, with the potential for funding beyond the initial term.

Essential Functions of the Postdoctoral Fellow:

- will report to, and work closely with, the Senior Research Scholar in the Professional Schools to design and analyze multiple research studies;
- conceptualize innovative and creative ways to measure and evaluate key constructs and facets of the Program;
- coordinate multiple studies, involving but not limited to: developing and maintaining relationships with stakeholders, ethical compliance, participant recruitment and management, administering surveys, conducting research interviews, and facilitating focus groups;
- carry out all aspects of data management of multiple quantitative and qualitative datasets;
- conduct a range of quantitative and qualitative analyses;
- contribute to, and at times lead, the writing of manuscripts (e.g., journal articles, chapters, research reports);
- manage and mentor student research assistants.

Required Education, Disposition and Skills:

- Ph.D. in a social science field, including but not limited to psychology, human development, education, sociology, economics, political science or philosophy;
- strong and demonstrated analytical skills, with experience using qualitative and/or quantitative methods in empirical research;
- excellent writing, research, and communication skills.
- have a strong work ethic;
- be highly collaborative and enjoy working as part of a research team;
- be flexible, creative and open-minded about research approaches and methodologies;
- be attentive to detail and context;
- have strong time management skills to be involved in multiple ongoing research projects (at different stages in the research process), and the ability to follow through with high work quality and consistency of effort;
- be open to being mentored and given constructive feedback;
- be interested and able to learn quickly and independently;
- be willing to follow direction and eventually take on leadership of research as experience is gained on the job.

Required Documents:

In the Cover Letter, please share your experiences and responses to the following:

- while we do not expect candidates to have necessarily worked or conducted research in the substantive area of leadership or character education, we would like you to articulate the nature of your interest in this area of research and in this particular Program;
- if you have conducted research using exclusively quantitative or qualitative methodologies, please make a case for your attitude towards using both approaches during this project, and how you intend to close any gaps in your methodological expertise (The Program is prepared to provide the successful candidate with funds to develop relevant methodological skills);
- provide examples of high-level organizational, administrative and interpersonal skills;
- provide examples (if relevant) of coordinating and managing multiple studies simultaneously.

In the Research Statement, please propose and outline some of the measurement and evaluation work you can imagine doing (or would like to do) in your role (taking into account the goals of the program from the website, and the outlined job functions and required dispositions and skills).

- Please give examples of between 2-4 research studies that you might design for the professional schools, and outline the measurement and evaluation methods and procedures you would envisage using, and any potential pitfalls you could see;
- If possible, describe how technologies, techniques and methodologies that are new and possibly uncommon in the social sciences, could be valuable in answering research questions that might be relevant to the cultivation of leadership and character in the Professional Schools;
- Talk about how the research experience and skills that you have (and any you would like to develop/get trained in), would be valuable in measurement and evaluation particularly within the context of leadership and character education in the Professional Schools.

Required documents to be submitted at the time of application (candidates are encouraged to apply by July 15th, 2022. Please note that incomplete applications will not be considered):

- Cover Letter (no more than 2 pages and addressed to the members of the search committee). Please see the requirements for the cover letter listed above.
- Curriculum Vitae.
- 2 writing samples demonstrating your research expertise (with at least 1 illustrating some of your methodological expertise)
- Research Statement (no longer than 3 pages). Please see the requirements for the research statement listed above.
- 3 confidential letters of recommendation to be sent via email to leadershipandcharacter@wfu.edu within 2 weeks of applying.

University of Virginia

Rank: Full Professor, Department of Politics

In the fall of 2020, with the generous support of the John L. Nau Foundation and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the University of Virginia's Democracy Initiative and College of Arts & Sciences launched a multiyear faculty hiring project. Over four years, we will hire a dozen or more new faculty members at all ranks in the departments of Classics, History, and Philosophy, Politics, and elsewhere. Across all the searches, the Departments seek to appoint scholars whose primary research is focused on the study of the principles of democracy, democratic accountability, and representation, either to advance the work of the core lab on the history and principles of democracy or to contribute to one of the Initiative's other projects.

This year, with the support of the Nau Foundation, the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for a tenured full professor who studies democracy in the subfield of international relations or the subfield of political theory. Candidates should have an active research agenda and a strong commitment to excellent teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate levels.

The mission of the Democracy Initiative is to promote excellence in research, teaching, and public engagement on democracy at a global scale by bringing together a diverse range of scholars, government leaders, and practitioners to study and advance the prospects of democracy around the world. The Democracy Initiative is interdisciplinary and supports and advances the work of faculty, as well as graduate and undergraduate students, in the humanities, the arts, and the social sciences. To that end, the Initiative supports a variety of labs built on models of collaborative work. The Democracy Labs consist of a series of three-year, rotating labs on various topics, connected by the work of the John Nau III History and Principles of Democracy Lab (the Nau Core Lab), an interdisciplinary hub of research, teaching, and outreach. Current labs are focused on corruption and the rule of law, democracy and new media, democratic statecraft, the links between environmental and racial inequality, and race, religion, and democracy. The Democracy Initiative also supports two projects focused on community engagement and research, the Memory Project and The Equity Center. In addition to holding appointments in their home departments, each new faculty member hired under this initiative will also be a member either of the Nau Core lab or one of the Initiative's other research labs or projects.

Application review will begin September 15th, 2022, and the position will remain open until filled. The appointment begins with the fall semester of 2023. Applicants must have received their PhD at least three years prior to the time of appointment.

TO APPLY:

Please apply through Workday, and search for R0037131. Complete an application online with the following documents:

.Cover letter of application describing (1) areas of research and teaching interest; (2) potential research collaborations; (3) your demonstrated past experience working on issues of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and/or working with diverse populations (not to exceed three single spaced pages).

.Current curriculum vitae, including the names of three references

.A statement outlining what kinds of intellectual and/or institutional contributions you could envision making to the Democracy Initiative (not to exceed two single-spaced pages)

.A research statement (not to exceed three single-spaced pages)

.A teaching philosophy (not to exceed one single-spaced page)

Upload all materials into the resume submission field, multiple documents can be submitted into this one field. Alternatively, merge all documents into one PDF for submission. Applications that do not contain all required documents will not receive full consideration. Internal applicants must apply through their UVA Workday profile by searching 'Find Jobs'.

Questions about this position should be directed to Department Chair, Jennifer Lawless at jll9jx@virginia.edu, or Search Committee Chair John Owen at jmo4n@virginia.edu. Questions regarding the application process should be directed to Melanie Sponaule, Academic Recruiter, at unw5dq@virginia.edu.

The University will perform background checks on all new faculty hires prior to making a final offer of employment.

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, United States

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) is seeking applications for a one-year term faculty position at the Instructor rank to begin August 2022 to support the Department's teaching mission in the areas of American Politics and/ or Political Theory. The position will expire in May 2023.

Position Responsibilities: Successful candidates must be able to teach our undergraduate Politics of Race, Class, and Gender course, as well as our undergraduate Research Methods and/or Introduction to Political Theory courses. Successful candidates should be able to teach both on-campus and asynchronously online, thus relocation to Richmond is strongly preferred for this position. The teaching load for this position is 4/4.

Required Qualifications: The position requires a Ph.D. or Master's Degree in political science, or a closely related field, at the time of employment. Successful candidates also will have demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU. More than 60% of Political Science majors are women, and more than 56% are from minority groups. In addition, our faculty and staff exhibit diversity of gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, age, class, nationality, religion, belief, and political affiliation, among other variables. For example, of our 19 full-time faculty members, eight identify as women, and five identify as scholars of color. See the Department's Diversity and Inclusion Statement here: <https://politicalscience.vcu.edu/about/>. VCU is a diverse public institution. In 2020, 32.7% of our freshmen identified as first-generation, 52.3% as minority, and 35.4% as historically underrepresented minorities.

The Department of Political Science is housed in VCU's College of Humanities and Sciences (CHS) (<https://chs.vcu.edu/>). Resources to support teaching faculty are available at all levels of the university (see, e.g., <https://provost.vcu.edu/faculty/faculty-resources/>).

Application Instructions

Only electronic applications will be accepted. Please apply online at <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1886?c=vcu>. Applicants must upload a CV and cover letter, as well as the following supplemental documents: a teaching philosophy, and a diversity and inclusion statement. Please merge supplementary files into one PDF and upload as the "Other" document in the online application site. Please submit all required documents with your online application. Failure to provide all required documents will result in our inability to review and consider your application. Applicants are requested to submit a Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (typically between 150-300 words) providing your career aspirations and contributions toward promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion. Through this statement, you can share how your lived experiences, and academic and professional activities will impact your contributions to VCU's mission of promoting equity and inclusion. For more information and examples, see VCU's Diversity Statement.

Upon submission of your application, references will be automatically contacted and asked to provide a letter of recommendation[1]. Questions should be directed to Jason Arnold at jarnold@vcu.edu. Position is open until filled. Applications received by July 9, 2022 will receive priority consideration. Start date will be August 16, 2022.

Purdue University Fort Wayne

Rank: Post-Doctoral Teaching Fellow

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Open

The Department of Political Science at Purdue University Fort Wayne (PFW) welcomes qualified applications for a post-doctoral teaching fellowship. The Department of Political Science is housed in the College of Liberal Arts. The fellowship is a two-year appointment, with reappointment for the second-year contingent on positive evaluations from students and faculty through the first year, as well as the curricular needs of the program. The fellow will teach a 3/3 course load, mentor undergraduate political science majors, as well as contribute to programming and faculty-related duties of the program. The fellow will receive office space, a travel stipend, have faculty privileges to university services like institutional technology, Center for the Enhancement of Teaching and Learning, and library system among others. The fellowship is exactly equivalent to the responsibilities of a full-time position between its teaching, research, and service expectations and provides a competitive salary and benefits package. Requirements

Applicants will be expected to have consequential teaching experience, solid teaching evaluations, and strong recommendations from their direct teaching mentors. Candidates must have earned their Ph.D. in political science after May 1, 2019, or will have earned their Ph.D. no later than August 15, 2022; completion of the doctoral degree is a requirement for the fellowship appointment. Candidates should be able to teach across different areas of political science, including introductory courses in American politics. Preference will be given to candidates who have scholarly experience and research interest in civic engagement given the department's rich history of community engagement, extensive partnerships with not-for-profits and institutions, our Certificate of Civic Engagement and Public Advocacy, and because the department's Center of Excellence, the Mike Downs Center for Indiana Politics, is a Kettering Foundation Center for Civic Life.

The Application Process

For full consideration, applicants should provide a letter of interest, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, three letters of recommendation, transcripts, details of their experience in civic engagement scholarship or teaching, and evidence of teaching effectiveness, including sample syllabi and/or descriptions for courses they would be interested in teaching, including special topics courses relevant to their research area or civic engagement to https://careers.purdue.edu/FW?_ga=2.200661165.2092626911.1644960767-116241627.1620395320. The Department is committed to advancing diversity in all areas of faculty effort, including research, teaching, and service/engagement. Candidates should address at least one of these areas in their cover letter, indicating their past experiences, current interests or activities, and/or future goals to promote a climate that values diversity and inclusion.

PFW is an EEO/AA employer fully committed to achieving a diverse workforce. All individuals, including minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and protected veterans are encouraged to apply. The position is contingent on a satisfactory background records check and available funding. Purdue University will not provide visa sponsorship for this position.

Expectations

The expectation is that the fellow will teach a range of courses, including introductory-level ones that contribute to PFW's general education curriculum, the interdisciplinary courses that attract College of Liberal Arts students, and upper-level political science courses that we already teach or that the candidate would develop. Candidates must demonstrate a strong commitment to teaching and an interest in taking an active role in the student-centered culture of the program. All candidates who are interviewed will prepare a faculty and staff presentation as well as an instructional student-centered presentation. The Department

The Department of Political Science at PFW is a dynamic department with award-winning faculty and students who have earned numerous nationally prestigious awards. Our graduates have attended elite graduate, professional, and law programs and thrive in nearly every private and public sector field. We have averaged around 75 majors in recent years and have multiple degree programs, certificates, and minors. The department's ability to provide our students with a broad curriculum across the discipline despite our marginally sized faculty has been of particular note, as has our extensive experiential learning opportunities, overseas study, and internships. We are proud of our dedication to student mentoring and community engagement. The fellow is expected to contribute to these existing strengths and provide consistency as the department faculty transitions in its makeup. The fellow will have the opportunity to work with faculty mentors and serve as mentor to students as well as they strengthen their experience for subsequent faculty or professional positions.

Dartmouth College

Rank: Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Theory and/or Philosophy

Interfolio Title: Postdoctoral Fellow in Political Theory and/or Philosophy

Description

The Political Economy Project (PEP) at Dartmouth College seeks applications for a full-time one-year renewable postdoctoral fellowship with an anticipated start date of September 1, 2022. We seek qualified candidates who work on social/political philosophy, ethics, and/or history of political thought, all broadly construed. PEP is an interdisciplinary initiative focused on normative questions at the intersection of politics, economics, and philosophy. The majority of the fellow's time will be devoted to independent research. The fellow will teach two courses per year in either the Government or Philosophy Departments, at least one of which will be an introductory-level course related to political economy. The fellow is expected to attend and actively assist in planning PEP events and otherwise participate in PEP's intellectual life and the Government Department or Philosophy Department during the Fall, Winter, and Spring quarters. The selected candidate will hold an appointment as a Lecturer in either the Government Department or Philosophy Department and as a Postdoctoral Fellow in PEP. The initial appointment will be for one academic year, with the expectation of renewal for one further year assuming good performance. The fellow will also join the broader community of postdoctoral research fellows that includes the Dartmouth Society of Fellows, the John Sloan Dickey Fellows, the Neukom Institute Fellows, the Rockefeller Center Fellows, the Quantitative and Social Sciences Fellows, and the Mellon Postdoctoral Fellows in the Humanities and Humanistic Social Sciences. The salary is competitive and includes benefits.

Dartmouth is highly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive population of students, faculty, and staff. We are especially interested in diverse applicants who can work effectively with an inclusive and diverse student body, faculty, and staff. Dartmouth is made up of individuals who identify as Black, Indigenous, and people of color (BIPOC), women, individuals who identify as LGBTQIA+, individuals with disabilities, veterans, individuals from lower-income backgrounds, and first-generation college students and graduates. Applicants should state in their cover letter, or a separate statement, how their teaching, research, service, and/or life experiences prepare them to advance Dartmouth's commitments to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Qualifications:
PhD or ABD in Political Science, Philosophy, or a closely related field.

Application Instructions:

1. Cover Letter
2. Curriculum Vitae
3. Three Letters of Recommendation
3. Writing Sample (chapter or article length)

Review of applications will begin on June 30, 2022 and continue until the position is filled. Start date will be negotiable, though September 1 is preferred.

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Administration

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, Research Methods, Public Finance & Budgeting

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, Maryland. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MA in Public Management program (see below). The courses will be taught online and/or onsite in Washington, DC in Fall 2022 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

- 470.854 Fundamentals of Quantitative Methods

This course trains students to be informed consumers of quantitative studies, in addition to teaching the tools of basic statistical work. The course material covers basic descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and data collection. The key learning objective is for students to develop a better understanding of the statistical and econometric results they may encounter in their careers.

- 470.631 Economics for Public Decision-making

This course aims to offer students an understanding of economics and its importance in public policymaking. The first half of the course will offer students an understanding of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, including a discussion of when markets can work to achieve policy goals and when "market failures" call for government intervention. The second half of the class will use these economic tools and theories to survey several specific policy areas, including health policy, tax policy, and the national debt.

- 470.608 Public Policy Evaluation and the Policy Process

This course introduces students to the public policymaking process, the basics of policy analysis, and the substance of some of today's major policy debates. The first half of the course focuses on establishing a framework in which to analyze public policy formulation within the United States. The class also reviews the tools for developing and implementing policy. The second half of the course turns to policy analysis of some critical contemporary issues.

- 470.605 Global Political Economy

In this course, students investigate core topics in international political economy, analyzing the security implications of each. Topics include trade relations, international finance, monetary relations, poverty, and development.

Stetson University

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Political Theory, Public Administration

STETSON UNIVERSITY, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations)

Stetson University seeks two individuals – one with broad interests and training in International Relations, and the other with broad interests and training in Political Theory and/or American Politics – for positions at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science. Each must have a desire to teach in a liberal arts setting with significant personal interactions with undergraduate students. Besides teaching introductory and upper-level undergraduate courses in their appropriate subfields of the discipline, each candidate will develop courses to complement existing strengths in the Department of Political Science and in one or more related programs (e.g. International Studies; Africana Studies; Asian Studies; Gender Studies; Social Studies; Global Development; Latin American & Latino Studies; and Russian, East European and Eurasian Studies). These two 9-month, full-time appointments span August 2022-May 2023.

QUALIFICATIONS:

A Ph.D. in Political Science is preferred, but applicants who are ABD will be considered if they are at the final stage of the dissertation process. Teaching experience beyond typical teaching assistant duties in graduate school is an advantage but not required. Candidates should have a strong commitment to innovative teaching, a creative approach to pedagogical design and implementation, and a strong commitment to all aspects of diversity in our learning-centered community.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

VAP faculty teach four courses each semester. Primary teaching responsibilities for the International Relations position include introductory and upper-level courses in International Relations and related subdisciplines (e.g. migration studies, international diplomacy, international law, security studies, etc.). For the Political Theory and/or American Politics position, teaching responsibilities include introductory and upper-level courses in Political Theory and/or American Politics and related subdisciplines (e.g. American political development, judicial studies, etc.). Other courses can be based on the candidate's expertise and training.

THE DEPARTMENT:

The Department of Political Science (<http://www.stetson.edu/artsci/political-science/>) offers academically rigorous majors in both Political Science and Public Management. Departmental faculty contribute regularly to interdisciplinary programs such as International Studies; Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies; Latin American & Latino Studies; Africana Studies; the Honors Program; Environmental Science and Studies; and Public Health. We have had considerable success placing students in high-quality graduate programs in Political Science, International Affairs, Public Administration, and in prominent law schools. Faculty in the Department are committed to the teacher-scholar model, which involves teaching within a traditional liberal arts environment where the primary focus is extensive interaction with undergraduate students in a small class environment, while also maintaining an active research agenda.

THE COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES:

Stetson's College of Arts and Sciences (<http://www.stetson.edu/portal/artsci/>) is the largest and most diverse of the University's colleges and schools; it includes the humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, education, and creative arts. With nineteen academic departments and eight interdisciplinary programs, the College is the liberal arts core of the University. A great strength of the College is its faculty of approximately 140 full-time teacher-scholars. The College offers 31 undergraduate majors and 34 undergraduate minors; six graduate degrees are offered in Education, Counselor Education, and Creative Writing. Every undergraduate major requires a senior research project, giving students the opportunity to design and carry out independent research under faculty mentorship. Our academic programs are shaped by the values of social justice and civic responsibility. All of our courses and programs of study promote engaged learning, whereby students create connections between the classroom or lab and the local, regional, and global community. The academic programs of the College of Arts and Sciences prepare students to live significant lives, to interact with and positively affect the world around them.

THE UNIVERSITY:

Founded in 1883, Stetson University (<http://www.stetson.edu>) is a private, selective university comprised of a rich array of liberal arts and professional academic programs. Collectively, Stetson's faculty works with nearly 4,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs. The University's historic main campus, located in DeLand, enrolls more than 3,000 students in undergraduate programs in the College of Arts & Sciences, the School of Business Administration, and the School of Music. Stetson University College of Law, Florida's first law school, moved from the main campus to Gulfport in 1954, and, with the addition of the Tampa Law Center, serves approximately 1,000 students working full-time or part-time toward J.D. or LL.M. degrees. Graduate programs offered include Business, Accounting, Educational Leadership, Counseling, and Creative Writing. Florida's oldest private institution of higher learning, Stetson has regularly been ranked among the best regional universities in the Southeast and was the first private college in Florida to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Stetson University provides an inspiring education that engages students with rigorous academic and creative study grounded in liberal learning and promotes civic values of personal and social responsibility. Working closely with faculty and with one another, students cultivate abilities to explore issues deeply, think critically, reason empirically, speak persuasively, and connect ideas creatively. Firmly committed to inclusive excellence, our vibrant community of teacher-scholars nurtures the potential of individual students to lead lives of significance and prepares each to meet the challenges of shaping the future—locally, nationally, and globally. Stetson University affirms cultural diversity and inclusion as a core value of academic excellence.

THE COMMUNITY:

DeLand is a picturesque residential community of 39,000 located 20 miles west of Daytona Beach and 35 miles northeast of Orlando. The area offers extensive cultural as well as recreational activities.

SALARY: Salary is competitive.

STARTING DATE: August 10, 2022

APPLICATION:

Applicants must send the following materials for consideration: 1) a cover letter summarizing the candidate's interest in the position and qualifications, 2) a statement of the candidate's teaching philosophy, a representative sample of teaching evaluations, and other relevant teaching materials (e.g. syllabi, assignments, etc.), 3) a curriculum vitae, 4) copies of graduate transcripts, and 5) the names and contact information for three recommenders (at least one of which should be able to evaluate the candidate's teaching ability). Candidates who advance in the review process may be asked to provide letters of recommendation. In their materials, candidates are encouraged to highlight skills and experiences that demonstrate a commitment to social justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Review of applications will begin on March 25, 2022 and continue until the position is filled.

Application materials may be submitted electronically to the search committee at polisearch@stetson.edu or mailed to the following address:

Dr. William Russell Nylen
Chair, VAPs Search Committee

Occidental College

Rank: Part Time Non Tenure Track Faculty Instructor

Occidental College's Politics Department is seeking candidates for a non-tenure track faculty position to teach two companion law courses in the Spring 2023 semester. The first, "Lawyering for Social Justice," is a seminar on public interest law. The second, "Community Law Internship," involves preparing students for and placing them (all undergraduates) in internships with a variety of public interest law firms and nonprofit advocacy groups in the Los Angeles area. Students take both courses together. The internships take place at organizations engaged in public interest law and students' internships are a minimum of 12 hours each week, arranged at mutually convenient times. The seminar meets three hours per week and provides in-class instruction that scaffolds the internships. The instructor supports students in finding and navigating their internships and leads the seminar that provides a practical, academic, and/or legal context for the internship experience. Many students will be contemplating attending law school, but this is not the major goal of these courses.

University of Virginia

Rank: Post Doctoral Research Associate and Lecturer

Subfield(s): Political Theory, American Government and Politics, Public Law

The Program on Constitutionalism and Democracy (<https://pcd.virginia.edu/>) in the Department of Politics at the University of Virginia invites applications for up to two one-year Teaching Fellowships. PCD's mission is to promote scholarship and undergraduate teaching that is informed by political theory and that focuses on the American political tradition. PCD is directed by Professors James W. Ceaser and Rita Koganzon. For more information about the program, please consult our website.

Fellows will conduct their own research, participate in PCD programming, and teach one undergraduate course per semester, either "The American Political Tradition" (PLAP 2250) or "American Political Economy" (PLAP 3400). These courses require as background a concentration in political theory and/or an approach to American politics focusing on American political thought and American political development. The opportunity to teach an advanced seminar on a specialized topic may also be available.

Postdoctoral applicants must complete all requirements for their PhD, including a successful defense, prior to start date.

The initial appointment is for 1 year; however, the appointment may be renewed for an additional year contingent upon available funding and satisfactory performance. The position is available starting from August 2022.

Pay is competitive, and benefits are included.

Application Deadline: Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis, with those arriving by March 1, 2022 receiving priority attention. The University will perform background checks on all new hires prior to employment.

PUBLIC POLICY

Saint Louis University

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Tenure Track Assistant or Associate Professor in Political Science – American Politics

The Department of Political Science at Saint Louis University seeks applicants for a tenure track position in American politics starting in August 2023. We have multiple needs that include but are not limited to race and identity, American political development, and public policy. Previous teaching experience and a PhD in Political Science are preferred, but ABD candidates will be considered. The appointment will be at the level of Assistant or Associate Professor, depending on the candidate's qualifications. The teaching assignment is 2/2. The department offers a BA and MA and, in coordination with the Sociology/Anthropology department, a PhD in Public and Social Policy Studies.

To apply, we ask that applicants upload the following materials combined into a single pdf (see upload instructions below): (1) a curriculum vitae; (2) a cover letter that includes research and teaching interests; (3) a statement of teaching philosophy; (4) evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., recent teaching evaluations, officially produced if possible, and sample syllabi); (5) a research statement; and (6) a single-authored writing sample. Please have unofficial graduate transcripts sent to Ms. Claire Bruce at claire.bruce@slu.edu. Letters of recommendation are not required at this stage but will be accepted. We will request three letters of recommendation from shortlisted candidates after our initial review of applications. For questions about the position, please contact Dr. Steven Rogers, chair of the search committee, at steven.rogers@slu.edu, or call the department office, 314-977-3035. Review of applications will begin August 26 and will continue until the position is filled.

Application Upload Instructions: Please visit SLU's Workday portal at <https://slu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers>. When prompted to upload your Resume/CV on the "My Experience" page, please upload a single PDF of the documents requested above. SLU Workday applications must be completed in one sitting. You will not be able to revise your application once submitted.

Vaccine Protocol: Saint Louis University will require COVID-19 vaccinations for all students, staff, and faculty who are physically present on our St. Louis campuses. As a prospective and/or a new employee at Saint Louis University, you will be required to comply with the University's vaccination protocol. Proof of full vaccination will be required before the start of employment in order to work at Saint Louis University. If you are not vaccinated, you will be required to begin the vaccination process at the time of your first day of employment. Exemptions may be granted on the grounds of religious beliefs or medical circumstances.

Title: Tenure-Track or Tenured Faculty Position in International Relations/U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and International Law/International Organizations

Tokyo International University:

Tokyo International University (TIU) offers undergraduate and graduate programs both in Japanese and English. The English track degree program, called E-Track and taught entirely in English, attracts students from Japan as well as from around the world. The curriculum of the E-Track Program enables students to cultivate a broad educational background and deepen their knowledge in specialized fields of Digital Business & Innovation, Business Economics, and International Relations. E-Track also boasts comfortable class size, creating stronger bonds between students and teaching staff.

More details about TIU can be found here: <https://www.tiu.ac.jp/etrack/>

Position:

Tokyo International University is seeking to hire full-time Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professors (tenure or tenure-track) in: 1) U.S. Politics and Foreign Policy and 2) International Law/International Organizations. The appointment will start either April 1, 2023 or September 1, 2023 (negotiable).

Successful candidates should already hold a Ph.D. or have a Ph.D. in social science, political science, international relations or other related areas, in hand by the time of employment, a strong publication record or demonstrated potential for active scholarly engagement, and an ability to teach students (both undergraduate and graduate) with diverse cultural background in the university's English Track Degree Program. The annual teaching expectation is six courses distributed over two semesters. A research support budget is also provided to faculty members. Tokyo International University is an equal opportunity educational institution. All qualified individuals, including minorities and women, are encouraged to apply.

Successful candidate will be offered either a tenured or tenure-track position depending on qualifications. The tenure-track system refers to a system under which a newly hired full-time faculty member transitions to tenure status after successfully completing a track period and the tenure screening process within a maximum of five years.

Salary/Compensation/Research Support:

A competitive salary is offered. Remuneration package includes health insurance, pension, commuting allowance, annual research fund and individual research office.

Application Package:

The evaluation of applicants will start in early September 2022, and applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Candidates should submit the following documents by Google Form.

- 1) Cover letter of application
- 2) Curriculum vitae (please also include your complete contact details and contact information of three references - references will not be contacted without first notifying the applicant.)
- 3) Copy of diploma or transcript showing proof of Ph.D. or enrollment in a Ph.D. program

Please register your information and all materials on the Google form below.

<https://forms.gle/4LvNVcFHFPDFQXp9>

Selection process:

Review of applications will be taken first, and only applicants deemed suitable will be contacted and invited for the interview (in person or via Zoom). Those applicants who are invited to the interview might be requested to submit the Letter of Recommendation by relevant institutions.

Virginia Commonwealth University

Rank: Instructor

Subfield(s): American Government and Politics, Public Policy, Political Theory

Specializations: Race & Ethnic Politics, Gender Politics & Policy, United States

The Department of Political Science at Virginia Commonwealth University (VCU) is seeking applications for a one-year term faculty position at the Instructor rank to begin August 2022 to support the Department's teaching mission in the areas of American Politics and/ or Political Theory. The position will expire in May 2023.

Position Responsibilities: Successful candidates must be able to teach our undergraduate Politics of Race, Class, and Gender course, as well as our undergraduate Research Methods and/or Introduction to Political Theory courses. Successful candidates should be able to teach both on-campus and asynchronously online, thus relocation to Richmond is strongly preferred for this position. The teaching load for this position is 4/4.

Required Qualifications: The position requires a Ph.D. or Master's Degree in political science, or a closely related field, at the time of employment. Successful candidates also will have demonstrated experience working in and fostering a diverse faculty, staff, and student environment or commitment to do so as a faculty member at VCU. More than 60% of Political Science majors are women, and more than 56% are from minority groups. In addition, our faculty and staff exhibit diversity of gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, age, class, nationality, religion, belief, and political affiliation, among other variables. For example, of our 19 full-time faculty members, eight identify as women, and five identify as scholars of color. See the Department's Diversity and Inclusion Statement here: <https://politicalscience.vcu.edu/about/>. VCU is a diverse public institution. In 2020, 32.7% of our freshmen identified as first-generation, 52.3% as minority, and 35.4% as historically underrepresented minorities.

The Department of Political Science is housed in VCU's College of Humanities and Sciences (CHS) (<https://chs.vcu.edu/>). Resources to support teaching faculty are available at all levels of the university (see, e.g., <https://provost.vcu.edu/faculty/faculty-resources/>).

Application Instructions

Only electronic applications will be accepted. Please apply online at <https://vcu.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/1886?c=vcu>. Applicants must upload a CV and cover letter, as well as the following supplemental documents: a teaching philosophy, and a diversity and inclusion statement. Please merge supplementary files into one PDF and upload as the "Other" document in the online application site. Please submit all required documents with your online application. Failure to provide all required documents will result in our inability to review and consider your application. Applicants are requested to submit a Statement of Contributions to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (typically between 150-300 words) providing your career aspirations and contributions toward promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion. Through this statement, you can share how your lived experiences, and academic and professional activities will impact your contributions to VCU's mission of promoting equity and inclusion. For more information and examples, see VCU's Diversity Statement.

Upon submission of your application, references will be automatically contacted and asked to provide a letter of recommendation[1]. Questions should be directed to Jason Arnold at jarnold@vcu.edu. Position is open until filled. Applications received by July 9, 2022 will receive priority consideration. Start date will be August 16, 2022.

Harvard University

Rank: Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Administration, Non-Academic

The Environmental Science and Public Policy (ESPP) concentration seeks qualified candidates for the position of Assistant Director of Undergraduate Studies (ADUS) in the ESPP program, housed administratively at the Harvard University Center for the Environment (HUCE). The ADUS will report to the ESPP Head Tutor and an interdisciplinary faculty ESPP Board of Tutors.

Job-Specific Responsibilities

Provide academic advising and mentorship to admitted Harvard students, pre-concentrators, and concentrators, and monitor student progress toward degree. Match student thesis writers with faculty advisors; identify potential problems in the thesis-writing process; help keep students on track to complete the thesis. Manage the senior capstone and thesis courses; meet regularly with students to identify issues with progress and advising. Advise ESPP and Energy & Environment secondary field students and lead discussions for their colloquium requirement.

In coordination with the Office of Career Services and other relevant offices at Harvard College, support current students in their pursuit of undergraduate research opportunities, internships, and full-time post-graduate positions after graduation. Act as a conduit to faculty to help students engage in meaningful research experiences at Harvard. Engage with students in settings outside of the classroom related to ESPP content: informal discussions after talks, field trips, journal clubs, etc. Help identify speakers for events. Represent ESPP at information/student recruiting events.

Assist with curriculum and course development, course planning, and curriculum assessment. May teach or co-teach in ESPP depending on the needs of the concentration in a given academic year.

Basic Qualifications

A Ph.D. in an environmental field (science or social sciences) with significant involvement in the policy realm.

Additional Qualifications and Skills

Documented ability to teach effectively and engage with undergraduate students; a strong commitment to education and mentoring; experience with advising and course/program development and commitment and enthusiasm for research and pedagogy in research methods; excellent communication skills.

Additional Information

To apply, candidates should submit their cover letter and resume/CV online through Harvard Careers at this link: <https://bit.ly/3PERm80>. Candidates selected for an interview will be asked to provide three letters of recommendation, including at least one that addresses teaching ability.

University of South Dakota

Rank: Visiting Assistant Professor of Public Administration

Subfield(s): Public Administration, Public Policy, American Government and Politics

The Department of Political Science at the University of South Dakota invites applicants for the position of visiting assistant professor of public administration. The successful candidate will teach in our online M.S. in Administration and Executive Master of Public Administration (EMPA) programs. This is a nine-month, full-time position that may be renewed subject to budget authorization and administrative approval. The area of specialization is open, although the Department prefers candidates with expertise in public personnel management or administrative law and ethics. Because the ideal candidate will teach online graduate courses, remote work (i.e. telecommuting) may be an option. The expected workload will be three graduate courses per semester.

The University of South Dakota is the state's flagship liberal arts institution with a "higher research" (R2) Carnegie classification. We seek a candidate who possesses a commitment to excellence in teaching and student mentoring within the context of a strong liberal arts program. The successful candidate will be expected to share in the work of a vibrant department and apply his or her professional expertise in the service of the university, community and discipline. The M.S. in Administration and EMPA programs enjoy major endowments that support faculty research and professional development.

Johns Hopkins University

Rank: Adjunct Faculty

Subfield(s): Public Policy, Methodology, Public Administration

Specializations: Economic Policy, Research Methods, Public Finance & Budgeting

Institution Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) is a division of the Krieger School of Arts and Sciences at the Johns Hopkins University (JHU). As the nation's oldest and one of the most prestigious research universities, Johns Hopkins offers high-quality master's degrees and post-baccalaureate education to students in the mid-Atlantic region and online. In addition to the online programs, AAP also offers master's degrees and graduate certificate programs at its Washington, DC Center and at the Homewood campus in Baltimore, Maryland. AAP has approximately 18,000 enrollments each academic year. JHU is committed to hiring candidates who, through their teaching and service, will contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community.

Position Description:

The Advanced Academic Programs (AAP) division seeks non-tenure track adjunct faculty to teach several courses within the MA in Public Management program (see below). The courses will be taught online and/or onsite in Washington, DC in Fall 2022 and beyond. Candidates with online course development and teaching experience and those with experience teaching and engaging students from diverse backgrounds are of particular interest.

- 470.854 Fundamentals of Quantitative Methods

This course trains students to be informed consumers of quantitative studies, in addition to teaching the tools of basic statistical work. The course material covers basic descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and data collection. The key learning objective is for students to develop a better understanding of the statistical and econometric results they may encounter in their careers.

- 470.631 Economics for Public Decision-making

This course aims to offer students an understanding of economics and its importance in public policymaking. The first half of the course will offer students an understanding of microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, including a discussion of when markets can work to achieve policy goals and when "market failures" call for government intervention. The second half of the class will use these economic tools and theories to survey several specific policy areas, including health policy, tax policy, and the national debt.

- 470.608 Public Policy Evaluation and the Policy Process

This course introduces students to the public policymaking process, the basics of policy analysis, and the substance of some of today's major policy debates. The first half of the course focuses on establishing a framework in which to analyze public policy formulation within the United States. The class also reviews the tools for developing and implementing policy. The second half of the course turns to policy analysis of some critical contemporary issues.

- 470.605 Global Political Economy

In this course, students investigate core topics in international political economy, analyzing the security implications of each. Topics include trade relations, international finance, monetary relations, poverty, and development.

Qualifications

Minimum Qualifications:

- An advanced degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy, with a master's degree at minimum
- Two years of professional work experience within the relevant fields

Preferred Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in public policy/public administration or in a relevant field, such as public finance, economics, or political economy
- 1-3 years of graduate-level teaching experience
- Online teaching experience
- In-person/in the classroom teaching experience.
- The background to teach a wide variety of courses in the public management program.

Application Instructions

PLEASE APPLY HERE: <https://apply.interfolio.com/107918>

Associate Director D

Job Description Summary

Perry World House is a center for interdisciplinary scholarly inquiry, research, international exchange, policy engagement, and public outreach on pressing global issues. Perry World House facilitates critical conversations about global policy challenges and fosters interdisciplinary research on these topics. It organizes workshops and colloquia, welcomes distinguished visitors, and produces content for global audiences and policy leaders so that the knowledge developed at Penn can make an impact around the world.

Perry World House's mission is to bring the academic knowledge of the University of Pennsylvania to bear on some of the world's most pressing global policy challenges, and to foster international policy engagement within and beyond the Penn community.

Perry World House leverages the extraordinary range of expertise found across Penn's 12 schools and dozens of research centers, connecting Penn with policymakers, practitioners, and researchers from around the world to develop and advance innovative policy proposals.

The Director of Research will play a critical role in focusing, deepening, and strengthening Perry World House's (PWH) research agenda and impact, as PWH enters the next phase of its development. She/He/They will draw on their own research, policy, and advocacy expertise and have primary responsibility for managing Program Managers and Research and Program Fellows as they design, implement, and manage research and policy work rooted in PWH's two primary research themes: 1) Global Shifts: Urbanization, Migration, and Climate Change and 2) the Future of the Global Order: Power, Technology, and Governance and its related subthemes.

Job Description

The Research Director will manage PWH's relevant staff members on researching, writing, and producing materials for distribution or publication. Products include reports, opinion pieces, fact sheets, white papers, thought pieces, explainers, and others. S/he/they will also supervise the conceptualization and implementation of workshops, visits, and colloquia in support of PWH's research, education, and policy goals.

In addition, the Research Director plays a central role in supporting Penn faculty, visiting fellows, visiting scholars, etc. to leverage and translate their research to shape global policy outcomes to help fulfill PWH's mission of bridging academia and the policy worlds. The Research Director will work with these stakeholders to leverage their research for global policy engagement to influence key policy audiences in the U.S. and abroad.

Duties:

University Benefits

- Health, Life, and Flexible Spending Accounts: Penn offers comprehensive medical, prescription, behavioral health, dental, vision, and life insurance benefits to protect you and your family's health and welfare. You can also use flexible spending accounts to pay for eligible health care and dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars.

- Tuition: Take advantage of Penn's exceptional tuition benefits. You, your spouse, and your dependent children can get tuition assistance here at Penn. Your dependent children are also eligible for tuition assistance at other institutions.

- Retirement: Penn offers generous retirement plans to help you save for your future. Penn's Basic, Matching, and Supplemental retirement plans allow you to save for retirement on a pre-tax or Roth basis. Choose from a wide variety of investment options through TIAA and Vanguard.

- Time Away from Work: Penn provides you with a substantial amount of time away from work during the course of the year. This allows you to relax, take vacations, attend to personal affairs, recover from illness or injury, spend time with family—whatever your personal needs may be.

- Long-Term Care Insurance: In partnership with Genworth Financial, Penn offers faculty and staff (and your eligible family members) long-term care insurance to help you cover some of the costs of long-term care services received at home, in the community or in a nursing facility. If you apply when you're newly hired, you won't have to provide proof of good health or be subject to underwriting requirements. Eligible family members must always provide proof of good health and are subject to underwriting.

- Wellness and Work-life Resources: Penn is committed to supporting our faculty and staff as they balance the competing demands of work and personal life. That's why we offer a wide variety of programs and resources to help you care for your health, your family, and your work-life balance.

- Professional and Personal Development: Penn provides an array of resources to help you advance yourself personally and professionally.

- University Resources: As a member of the Penn community, you have access to a wide range of University resources as well as cultural and recreational activities. Take advantage of the University's libraries and athletic facilities, or visit our arboretum and art galleries. There's always something going on at Penn, whether it's a new exhibit at the Penn Museum, the latest music or theater presentation at the Annenberg Center, or the Penn Relays at Franklin Field to name just a few examples. As a member of the Penn community, you're right in the middle of the excitement—and you and your family can enjoy many of these activities for free.

- Discounts and Special Services: From arts and entertainment to transportation and mortgages, you'll find great deals for University faculty and staff. Not only do Penn arts and cultural centers and museums offer free and discounted admission and memberships to faculty and staff. You can also enjoy substantial savings on other goods and services such as new cars from Ford and General Motors, cellular phone service plans, movie tickets, and admission to theme parks.

- Flexible Work Hours: Flexible work options offer creative approaches for completing work while promoting balance between work and personal commitments. These approaches involve use of non-traditional work hours, locations, and/or job structures.

- Penn Home Ownership Services: Penn offers a forgivable loan for eligible employees interested in buying a home or currently residing in West Philadelphia, which can be used for closing costs or home improvements.

- Adoption Assistance: Penn will reimburse eligible employees on qualified expenses in connection with the legal adoption of an eligible child, such as travel or court fees, for up to two adoptions in your household.

Yale University

Rank: Postdoctoral Associate

The Program on Ethics, Politics and Economics (EP&E), Yale The Program on Ethics, Politics and Economics sponsors interdisciplinary teaching and research in the Social Sciences and Humanities at Yale. It is designed to foster informed debate about public policy in the light of disciplined reflection on the fundamentals of human association. The Program was created in the belief that, for all the value of specialized fields and subdisciplines, these should not displace attempts to integrate empirical, analytical and normative concerns that range over different disciplines in the modern university.

EP&E with funding from Yale's Mars Brothers Interdisciplinary Program in Business Ethics is now offering two Post-doctoral Fellowship. We welcome applications from new PhDs from political science, economics, philosophy, and business working on furthering our understanding of complex social realities from an interdisciplinary perspective.

The fellowships provide an opportunity for new PhD's to develop a strong research program in a stimulating collegial environment alongside faculty across the social sciences and humanities at Yale University. In addition to conducting their research, fellows are expected to teach one interdisciplinary undergraduate seminar, be available to meet undergraduate students of the EP&E major, and assist with advising majors on their senior essays.

Fellowships are for one year, renewable to two, at a salary of $60,000 with Yale health benefits. Applicants should have completed PhD requirements by September 2022.

Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter indicating your interest in the Post-doctoral Fellowship
- CV
- Job Market Paper or at least one scholarly writing sample (in English)
- PhD program transcript
- A preliminary syllabus for an interdisciplinary undergraduate course that integrates Ethics with either Political Science, Economics, or both disciplines.
- Two letters of recommendation

Please submit application materials electronically to apply.in-terfolio.com/103485.

The review process will begin March 1, 2022. We will continue to accept applications until the position has been filled. Please direct inquiries to Ana De La O, Director of Ethics, Politics and Economics, ana.delao@yale.edu.
